Strozier, Charles B. Lincoln’s Quest for Union: Public and Private Meanings. New York: Basic Books, 1982. 271pp. In a psychobiography, Strozier portrays Lincoln as a divided man in which his private life and public actions are joined in a plausible character portrait. The book is particularly strong on Lincoln’s relationship with his wife and sons.

Tarbell, Ida M. The Early Life of Abraham Lincoln. New York: McClure, 1896. 240pp; The Life of Abraham Lincoln. New York: Doubleday, 1900. 2 vols. Tarbell, the famous muckraking journalist, produced two popular biographies based on extensive primary research.

Thomas, Benjamin P. Portrait for Posterity: Lincoln and His Biographers. New Brunswick, New Jersey: Rutgers University Press, 1947. 329pp. This is a valuable critical survey and analysis of the various versions of Lincoln that biographers have produced, revealing as much about the writers and their times as their subject.

Williams, Thomas H. Lincoln and His Generals. New York: Grosset & Dunlap, 1952. 363pp. The book concentrates on Lincoln’s skills and challenges as a commander in chief. Opinionated and provocative, if not always convincing, Williams mounts a strong case for Lincoln’s superior strategic ability.

Wilson, Douglas L. Honor’s Voice: The Transformation of Abraham Lincoln. New York: Knopf, 1998. 383pp. This is a inner portrait of Lincoln’s formative years between 1831 and 1842. In Wilson’s refreshing and believable view, Lincoln is shown in his search for identity and a vocation in law and politics.

Several biographical studies on Mary Todd Lincoln also contain valuable information on Lincoln and the couple’s relationship and married life:

Baker, Jean H. Mary Todd Lincoln: A Biography. New York: W.W.Norton, 1987. 429pp. Drawing extensively on Turner’s volume of letters and the historical, cultural, and feminist context for understanding Mary Todd Lincoln, Baker’s is the best available biography that provocatively reassesses Mary’s relationship with her husband.

Evans, William A. Mrs. Abraham Lincoln: A Study of Her Personality and Her Influence on Lincoln. New York: Knopf, 1932. 377pp. This psychological study by a medical doctor of Mary Todd Lincoln’s life and personality is based on a careful examination of medical evidence. The book details her health, her influence on her husband, and an overall vindication of her reputation.

Neely, Mark E. Jr., and R.Gerald McMurtry. The Insanity File: The Case of Mary Todd Lincoln. Carbondale: Southern Illinois University Press, 1986. 203pp. In a detailed examination of the available evidence, the book addresses several areas of controversy surrounding Mary Todd Lincoln’s insanity trial, including the nature and extent of her illness, the fairness of her trial, and the motives of her son, who had her committed in 1875.

Randall, Ruth P. Mary Lincoln: Biography of a Marriage. Boston: Little, Brown, 1953. 555pp. Written by the wife of Lincoln scholar James G. Randall, this scholarly double biography of Abraham and Mary Todd Lincoln is a defense of their happy marriage and Mary Todd’s character.

Sandburg, Carl, and Paul M.Angle. Mary Lincoln: Wife and Widow. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1932. 357pp. The first part of the book tells the story of the couple’s marriage; the second collects documents, including letters and newspaper accounts.

Turner, Justin G., and Linda L. Mary Todd Lincoln: Her Life and Letters. New York: Knopf, 1972. 750pp. An invaluable factual source, the volume collects more than 600 letters interwoven with a biographical narrative beginning in 1840.

Biographical Novels

Bachelor, Irving. A Man for the Ages. New York: Grosset & Dunlap, 1919. 416pp. Mixing both fact and fancy, the novel constructs Lincoln’s youth and pioneer experiences, concluding with his courtship of Mary Todd. In Father Abraham (Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill, 1925. 419pp.) the author explores Lincoln’s influence on several characters.

Bishop, Jim. The Day Lincoln Was Shot. New York: Harper, 1955. 308pp. Although factually based, the book offers a number of fictionalized reconstructions of the events leading up to Lincoln’s assassination.

Carnahan, Walter. Hoffman’s Row. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill, 1963. 223pp. Based on an actual incident during Lincoln’s courtship of Mary Todd, the future president is challenged to a duel by a rival. A romantic story involving a runaway slave augments the factual incidents.

Colver, Anne. Lincoln’s Wife. New York: Farrar & Rinehart, 1943. 406pp. Mary Todd Lincoln narrates her own story from her courtship to her husband’s assassination. Though marred by several factual errors, the novel presents a fair portrait of Mary Todd.

Dixon, Thomas. The Southerner: A Romance of the Real Lincoln. New York: Appleton, 1913. 543pp. Lincoln is the central character in this historical romance that mixes idealization and a lifelike presentation.

DuGarm, Henry K. When Lilacs Bloom Again: A Novel Based on the Life and Times of Abraham Lincoln. Monot, North Dakota: North American Heritage Press, 1988. 358pp. Lincoln’s life is viewed from the perspective of an invented character, based on actual events with dialogue based on his actual writings.

Lancaster, Bruce. For Us the Living. New York: F. A.Stokes, 1940. 556pp. Lincoln’s early years in Indiana and Illinois during the 1820s and 1830s are described; what is known is supplemented with plausible surmises and period details.

Morrow, Honoré. Great Captain. New York: Morrow, 1930. 668pp. The author’s biographical trilogy made up of the separate volumes Forever Free (1927), With Malice Toward None (1928), and The Last Full Measure (1930) details Lincoln’s life during his presidency.

Ryan, Edward J. Comes an Echo on the Breeze. New York: Exposition Press, 1949. 202pp. Lincoln’s military experiences during the Black Hawk War is described, with appearances by other historical figures, such as Zachary Taylor and Jefferson Davis. Although accurate in its historical elements, situations and dialogue are invented.

Safire, William. Freedom. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1987. 1,125pp. Safire’s massive, panoramic novel treats the first two years of the Civil War and focuses on the complex political forces that Lincoln attempts to control as he moves towards issuing the Emancipation Proclamation.

Slotkin, Richard. Abe: A Novel of the Young Lincoln. New York: Holt, 2000. 478pp. Slotkin dramatizes the formation of Lincoln’s character in his early experiences in a brilliant reconstruction of Lincoln’s era and environment, imaginatively embellishing the facts of Lincoln’s youth and inventing plausible circumstances to reflect a believable, human figure.

Stone, Irving. Love Is Eternal: A Novel About Mary Todd Lincoln and Abraham Lincoln. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1954. 468pp. Stone dramatizes Lincoln’s married life employing actual events from Lincoln’s family and public history.

Vidal, Gore. Lincoln. New York: Random House, 1984. 657pp. Vidal provides a three-dimensional portrait of Lincoln during his presidency, supplied from a variety of sources and vantage points. The author’s interpretation is fresh, original, debatable, and never dull.

Wilson, Dorothy C. Lincoln’s Mothers. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1981. 423pp. The novel looks at Lincoln’s childhood and youth from the perspective of his natural mother, Nancy Hanks, and his stepmother Sally Bush. Keeping close to the known facts, the novel does invent a friendship between Lincoln’s two mothers.

Wilson, William E. Abe Lincoln of Pigeon Creek. New York: Whittlesey House, 1949. 288pp. Using a factual framework but with considerable invention, Lincoln’s youth in Indiana is dramatized from the arrival of his stepmother in 1817 to a riverboat trip in 1830.

Fictional Portraits

Only a few of the almost countless fictional appearances of Lincoln can be mentioned here, books of exceptional literary quality or with unusual or significant portrayals of Lincoln.

Babcock, Bernice. The Soul of Ann Rutledge: Abraham Lincoln’s Romance. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1919. 322pp. In an idealized treatment of Lincoln’s first romance with Ann Rutledge, the majority of the story is invented rather than factual; Soul of Abe Lincoln. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1923. 328pp. Set during the Civil War, the novel traces the influence of Lincoln on a young Southern couple with a realistic presentation of the Lincoln assassination.

Brown, Katharine. The Father. New York: John Day, 1928. 368pp. The abolition movement during the 1850s is the novel’s subject as a young abolitionist attracts the attention of a Springfield lawyer, Abraham Lincoln.

Churchill, Winston. The Crisis. New York: Macmillan, 1901. 522pp. Churchill’s classic Civil War novel includes depictions of such historical figures as Lincoln, Grant, and Sherman.

Fraser, George MacDonald. Flash for Freedom. London: Barrie and Jenkins, 1971. 295pp. In this installment of the author’s historical comic series involving the braggart and bully Harry Flashman, Flashy is in America during the 1840s where he encounters Congressman Lincoln, who sees through the Englishman’s deceptions and rescues him from slavehunters.

Lewis, Oscar. The Lost Years: A Biographical Fantasy. New York: Knopf, 1951. 121pp. In an intriguing historical fantasy, the novel imagines what might have happened had Lincoln survived Booth’s assassination attempt. After finishing his second term, Lincoln, unpopular and disappointed, journeys to California for a final contribution to American history.

King, Benjamin. A Bullet for Lincoln. Gretna, Louisiana: Pelican, 1993. 301pp. King’s Civil War thriller constructs a realistic alternative account of the Lincoln assassination as a conspiracy among the nation’s most powerful tycoons.

Mallon, Thomas. Henry and Clara. New York: Ticknor & Fields, 1994. 358pp. This inventive and historically authentic re-creation depicts the lives of Henry and Clara Rathbone, the young couple seated in the president’s box at Ford’s Theatre on the night of the assassination.

Seifert, Shirley. The Senator’s Lady. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1967. 377pp. This biographical novel about the romance between Stephen Douglas and Addie Cutts includes scenes from the Lincoln-Douglas debates.

Steward, Barbara, and Dwight Steward. The Lincoln Diddle. New York: Morrow, 1979. 251pp. In this imaginative fantasy, Edgar Allan Poe, disguised as a detective, first fails to prevent Lincoln’s murder then solves the mystery surrounding the conspiracy.

Whitney, Janet. Intrigue in Baltimore. Boston: Little, Brown, 1951. 296pp. The novel recreates the events and atmosphere immediately following Lincoln’s election in 1860. As Lincoln heads to Washington, the question is whether Maryland will stay loyal to the Union.

Williams, Ben Ames. House Divided. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1947. 1,514pp. Describing the events of the Civil War from the Southern perspective, the novel explores divided loyalties when a proud Southern family learns that their patriarch was also the grandfather of Abraham Lincoln.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Freedman, Russell. Lincoln: A Photobiography. New York: Ticknor & Fields, 1987. 150pp. MA. 1988 Newbery Medal winner for the most distinguished contribution to American literature, the first nonfiction book selected in over 30 years, Freedman’s well-balanced photobiography contrasts the legend with the facts and relies on quotes from original sources.

Meltzer, Milton, ed. Lincoln: In His Own Words. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1993. 226pp. MG/YA. Background commentary and quotations from Lincoln’s letters and speeches provide a personal view of his life, thoughts, and actions.

North, Sterling. Abe Lincoln: Log Cabin to White House. 1956. Reprint ed. New York: Random House, 1987. 184pp. MG/YA. Part of the Landmark Books series, North’s factual biography remains one of the best books on Lincoln for younger readers.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: Abraham Lincoln: Preserving the USA (1997). Producers: Craig Haffner and Donna E.Lusitana. A documentary look at Lincoln’s life through archival material and testimony of experts. Video.

Abraham Lincoln (1930). Director: D.W.Griffith. Walter Huston portrays Lincoln in Griffith’s first talky in a biographical film that follows his career from birth to death. The supporting cast includes Una Merkel, Kay Hammond, and Hobart Bosworth. Video.

Abraham Lincoln (1990). Producer: Peter Edwards. Concise documentary on Lincoln’s life narrated by historian James M.McPherson. Video.

Abe Lincoln in Illinois (1940). Director: John Cromwell. Raymond Massey is a standout as the lead in this film biography that chronicles Lincoln’s life from youth through his election as president. The screenplay was written by Robert Sherwood based on his Pulitzer Prize-winning play. Ruth Gordon plays Mary Todd. Video.

The Blue and the Gray (1982). Director: Andrew V.McLaglen. Gregory Peck portrays Lincoln in this television mini-series centering on the adventures of a Pinkerton agent (Stacy Keach). Janice Carroll appears as Mary Todd Lincoln and Rip Torn depicts Grant. Video.

The Civil War (1990). Director: Ken Burns. Lincoln is a central figure in Burns’s acclaimed documentary. His words are read by Sam Watterson. Video.

The Day Lincoln Was Shot (1988). Director: John Gray. Television film based on Jim Bishop’s book, starring Lance Henriksen as Lincoln, John Ashton as Ulysses S.Grant, and Rob Morrow as John Wilkes Booth. Video.

Gore Vidal’s Lincoln (1988). Director: Lamont Johnson. In this television adaptation of Vidal’s novel, Sam Waterson is convincing as Lincoln with Mary Tyler Moore as Mary Todd. Video.

Lincoln (1992). Director: Peter W.Kunhardt. Using excerpts from Lincoln’s letters, speeches, and diaries read by Jason Robards, this four-cassette documentary chronicles the Lincoln presidency and conduct of the Civil War. Video.

North and South (1985–1986). Director: Richard T.Heffron. In this television mini-series based on John Jakes’s novels, Hal Holbrook portrays Lincoln during the turmoil of the Civil War that splits apart the Hazard family. Video.

Of Human Hearts (1938). Director: Clarence Brown. Adapted from the story “Benefits Forgot,” by Honoré Morrow, this sentimental drama set just before the Civil War concerns a stern preacher (Walter Huston) who receives a lesson in human compassion from Abraham Lincoln (John Carradine). Video.

The Perfect Tribute (1991). Director: Jack Bender. In a television adaptation of Mary Raymond Shipman Andrews’s classic historical romance, a Southern teenager searching for his wounded brother encounters Lincoln (Jason Robards) in Washington following the Gettysburg Address.

Young Mr. Lincoln (1939). Director: John Ford. Acclaimed film biography of Lincoln’s early years stars Henry Fonda in the title role, with Alice Brady, Marjorie Weaver, and Ward Bond. Video.

Other Sources

Holzer, Harold, ed. Lincoln as I Knew Him: Gossip, Tributes, and Revelations from His Best Friends and Worst Enemies. Chapel Hill, North Carolina: Algonquin Books, 1999. 269pp. This is a handy and lively compilation of anecdotes on Lincoln from a wide variety of observers, including members of his family, colleagues, and critics (including his assassin), selected to bring out elements of his character and how he appeared to his contemporaries.

Miers, Earl S., ed. Lincoln Day by Day: A Chronology 1809–1865. Washington: Lincoln Sesquicentennial Commission, 1960. 3 vols. In a remarkable scholarly work, Lincoln’s daily activities are carefully annotated.

Neely, Mark E. Jr. The Abraham Lincoln Encyclopedia. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1982. 356pp. Arranging information on Lincoln’s life, thought, family, friends, associates, speeches, and biographers into a accessible reference tool, this is a browser’s delight.

Shaw, Archer H. The Lincoln Encyclopedia: The Spoken and Written Words of A. Lincoln Arranged for Ready Reference. New York: Macmillan, 1950. 395pp. Biographical details and autobiographical reflections are included in this helpful arrangement of Lincoln’s writings and speeches. The reader should be careful, however, because some spurious material is also included.

Stern, Philip Van Doren, ed. The Life and Writings of Abraham Lincoln. New York: Modern Library, 1999. 912pp. First published in 1940, this useful volume includes a 200-page biographical essay by Stern, a chronology of Lincoln’s life, and a selection of 275 documents, addresses, speeches, and letters, placed in their historical context.

See also John Wilkes Booth; Ulysses S.Grant; Andrew Johnson

285. CHARLES A.LINDBERGH JR.

1902–1974

The first aviator to make a solo, nonstop transatlantic flight, Lindbergh was born in Detroit and attended the University of Wisconsin. He left school (1922) to study flying, served as a flying cadet, was commissioned (1925) in the air force reserve, and then worked as an airmail pilot. On May 20, 1927, Lindbergh set off across the Atlantic in The Spirit of St. Louis, arriving in Paris the next day. His flight astounded the world and made him an overnight hero. He made numerous goodwill flights to promote interest in aviation. Lindbergh married (1929) Anne Morrow; the kidnapping and murder of their son (1932) led to a federal law on kidnapping. Criticized for his pro-German isolationist stance prior to World War II, he later flew combat missions in the Pacific theater. His later years were devoted to conservation issues. His autobiography The Spirit of St. Louis was awarded a Pulitzer Prize.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Autobiography of Values. William A.Jovanovich and Judith A.Schiff, eds. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1978. 423pp. Extracted from a 2,000-page manuscript Lindbergh left at his death, Lindbergh records his opinions on a variety of topics, as well as his reflections about his youth, sudden fame, and his later activities and interests.

Boyhood on the Upper Mississippi. St. Paul: Minnesota Historical Society, 1972. 50pp. Lindbergh’s early years in Minnesota are the subject of this charming reminiscence.

The Spirit of St. Louis. New York: Scribner, 1953. 562pp. Lindbergh provides a detailed account of his 1927 flight, as well as reminiscences of his boyhood and early flying and reflections on his subsequent career.

The Wartime Journals of Charles A.Lindbergh. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1970. 1,038pp. Lindbergh’s journals written from 1937 to 1945 are filled with the minutiae of his everyday life, candid opinions, and often self-serving vindications of his prewar politics and wartime activities.

We. New York: Putnam, 1927. 318pp. Lindbergh’s autobiographical reflections, published only a few months after his historic flight, presents the story of his youth and barnstorming days, as well as an account of the transatlantic flight that is less polished and accomplished but more immediate than his later account in The Spirit of St. Louis.

Recommended Biographies

Berg, A.Scott. Lindbergh. New York: Putnam, 1998. 628pp. Berg’s Pulitzer Prize-winning biography is the first to take advantage of unfettered access to Lindbergh’s private papers. The result is a fresh, penetrating, balanced narrative account with a close focus on the private man and the complex inner forces that produced both his achievements and controversy. Deservedly considered the definitive life.

Milton, Joyce. Loss of Eden: A Biography of Charles and Anne Morrow Lindbergh. New York: HarperCollins, 1993. 520pp. Milton’s dual biography based on new documentary evidence is the authoritative treatment of the couple’s relationship. The book serves as both biography and cultural history as the Lindberghs are seen against a fully developed historical context.

Other Biographical Studies

Cole, Wayne S. Charles A.Lindbergh and the Battle Against American Intervention in World War II. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1974. 298pp. Cole’s thesis in reviewing Lindbergh’s prewar beliefs and activities is that he acted out of genuine patriotic concern that it would be a mistake for the United States to enter the war on the Allied side. Cole insists that there is no evidence that Lindbergh desired to aid the Nazi war effort, and that charges of Lindbergh’s anti-Semitism, racism, and fascism are unfair.

Davis, Kenneth S. The Hero: Charles A. Lindbergh and the American Dream. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1959. 527pp. Davis, in a scholarly and authoritative examination of Lindbergh’s life and career, looks at the flyer as he conformed to and fell from the archetypal pattern of the hero as formulated by Joseph Campbell in The Hero with a Thousand Faces. Davis narrates in detail Lindbergh’s story up to America’s entry into World War II.

Gill, Brendan. Lindbergh Alone. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1977. 216pp. In a tribute published to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of Lindbergh’s flight, Gill attempts to re-create the flyer’s personality at the time of his greatest achievement.

Larson, Bruce L. Lindbergh of Minnesota: A Political Biography. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1973. 363pp. This biography of Lindbergh’s father features details of his son’s childhood and the pressures that helped formed the flyer.

Lindbergh, Anne Morrow. Diaries and Letters of Anne Morrow Lindbergh. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1972–1980. 5 vols. Anne Morrow Lindbergh’s multi-volumed collection of letters and diaries are often poetic and moving concerning her life with Lindbergh and his personal qualities.

Luckett, Perry D. Charles A.Lindbergh: A Bio-Bibliography. New York: Greenwood, 1986. 147pp. This bibliography lists the many writings devoted to various aspects of Lindbergh’s life and career, along with a detailed chronology and a concise biographical profile.

Mosley, Leonard. Lindbergh: A Biography. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1976. 446pp. The first full-scale biography written after Lindbergh’s death stresses the private, human side of Lindbergh, supported by strong use of Lindbergh’s own writings and other intimate sources. Informal rather than scholarly, the book commits some factual errors and its breezy style may be disconcerting at times.

Ross, Walter S. The Last Hero: Charles A. Lindbergh. 1968. Revised ed. New York: Harper & Row, 1976. 400pp. The value of Ross’s life is its dispassionate, factual approach that sets the record straight. A Lindbergh admirer, Ross makes a strong case for the aviator’s heroism, as well as a well-documented treatment of Lindbergh’s years of exile and controversy.

Fictional Portraits

Coburn, Andrew. Birthright. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1997. 316pp. Mixing fact and fancy, the novel imagines the fate of the Lindbergh baby who, now grown and running for high political office, learns the truth of his parentage.

Collins, Max Allan. Stolen Away. New York: Bantam, 1991. 514pp. The novel offers a highly original and speculative unraveling of the Lindbergh kidnapping.

Kilian, Michael. Dance on a Sinking Ship. New York: St. Martin’s, 1988. 419pp. Set on board an ocean liner in 1935 this espionage thriller features a cast of historical figures, including Charles Lindbergh, who is revealed as one of America’s greatest spies in an ingenious, though fanciful, explanation of Lindbergh’s apparent Nazi sympathies.

Lindbergh, Reeve. The Names of the Mountains. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1992. 237pp. In a thinly veiled autobiographical account, Lindbergh offers insights into the home life of Charles and Anne Lindbergh and their children.

Roosevelt, Elliott. A First Class Murder. New York: St. Martin’s, 1991. 261pp. In another shipboard mystery, Eleanor Roosevelt investigates poisoning aboard the Normandie in 1938 with a passenger list including Lindbergh, Jack Benny, Josephine Baker, and a teenaged John F.Kennedy.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Denenberg, Barry. An American Hero: The True Story of Charles A.Lindbergh. New York: Scholastic, 1996. 255pp. MG/YA. In a carefully researched, in-depth and candid assessment of Lindbergh’s career, the public achievement and private torments of the aviator invite the reader to contemplate the complexity of modern heroism.

Giblin, James. Charles A.Lindbergh: A Human Hero. New York: Clarion Books, 1997. 212pp. MG/YA. Meticulously researched, this detailed, sympathetic yet balanced biography tells the full story of Lindbergh’s controversial career largely through his own words and archival photos.

Randolph, Blythe. Charles Lindbergh. New York: F.Watts, 1990. 160pp. MG/YA. This is a well-written but mostly unsympathetic portrait with frequent quotes from Lindbergh’s autobiographies and the highlights of his career presented objectively.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: Lucky: The Story of Charles Lindberg (1995). Looks at the years of Lindbergh’s achievement, celebrity, and controversy using archival footage and expert testimony. Video.

Crime of the Century (1990). Director: Mark Rydell. Based on Ludovic Kennedy’s The Airman and the Carpenter (New York: Viking, 1985. 438pp.), the events of the Lindbergh kidnapping and the trial and execution of Bruno Hauptmann are dramatized. Stephen Rea and Isabella Rossellini portray the Hauptmanns and Scott N. Stevens appears as Lindbergh. Video.

Lindbergh (1990). Director: Stephen Ives. An award-winning installment of the American Experience series on PBS, the documentary faithfully traces Lindbergh’s life using rarely seen archival footage, new scholarship, and interviews with family members. Video.

The Lindbergh Kidnapping Case (1976). Director: Buzz Kulik. Anthony Hopkins portrays Bruno Hauptmann in this fact-based television drama of the kidnapping. Charles and Anne Morrow Lindbergh are played by Cliff De Young and Sian Barbara Allen. Video.

The Spirit of St. Louis (1957). Director: Billy Wilder. Jimmy Stewart is compelling and convincing in the role of the flyer in this film based on Lindbergh’s autobiography. Video.

286. FRANZ LISZT

1811–1886

Hungarian revolutionary figure and composer of romantic music, Liszt was considered one of the greatest pianists of his time. He made his debut at nine, then studied in Vienna with Czerny and Salieri. During his years as a popular piano virtuoso in Paris (1823–1825), he was influenced by Chopin, Berlioz, and Paganini. He began composing while musical director (1848–1859) to the Duke of Weimar and later moved to Rome, where he became an abbé (1865). He spent the years 1880 to 1885 in Rome, Weimer, and Budapest, teaching the next generation of famous pianists. His works include 13 symphonic poems, a form he invented, the B minor piano sonata, the Faust Symphony, and 20 Hungarian rhapsodies. His daughter, Cosima, married composer Richard Wagner.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Portrait of Liszt: By Himself and His Contemporaries. Adrian Williams, ed. New York: Oxford University Press, 1990. 746pp. Liszt’s biography is told through his own words and those of his contemporaries with a connective narrative text. This is one of the best sources of eyewitness information about Liszt’s activities and character.

Selected Letters. Adrian Williams, ed. New York: Oxford University Press, 1998. 1,064pp. This extensive selection of Liszt’s letters includes biographical sketches to identify correspondents.

Recommended Biographies

Taylor, Ronald. Franz Liszt: The Man and the Musician. New York: Universe Books, 1986. 285pp. In a clearly written, compact, and sensible factual portrait that is both accessible to the nonspecialist and useful for the specialist, Taylor reassesses the various legends surrounding Liszt and substitutes a plausible character study.

Walker, Alan. Franz Liszt. New York: Knopf, 1983–1996. 3 vols. The result of more than a quarter century of labor, Walker has produced the most detailed and authoritative study of Liszt, equally strong on Liszt’s life and music. Scholarly yet accessible to the nonspecialist and lively, despite its monumental length and careful documentation, Walker’s trilogy is at times overly defensive to preserve Liszt’s reputation, but Walker’s extraordinary research to reconstruct Liszt’s almost daily activities compensates in his study’s thoroughness and lucidity.

Watson, Derek. Liszt. New York: Macmillan, 1989. 404pp. In the best available one-volume critical study, half of Watson’s book is devoted to Liszt’s biography with the second half concerned with a critical assessment of Liszt’s work as a musician and composer. Balanced in his approach, Watson reveals a convincing individual who is obscured by neither his glamour nor his shortcomings.

Other Biographical Studies

Allsobrook, David I. Liszt: My Traveling Circus Life. Carbondale: Southern Illinois University Press, 1991. 215pp. The author documents the six months Liszt spent in England during 1840 and 1841, drawing heavily on the diaries kept by one of Liszt’s traveling companions.

Beckett, Walter. Liszt. 1956. Revised ed. London: Dent, 1963. 185pp. This brief introductory study considers both Liszt’s private and public lives but adds little new to Liszt’s depiction and repeats several errors from his secondary sources.

Burger, Ernst. Franz Liszt: A Chronicle of His Life in Pictures and Documents. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1989. 358pp. With 650 illustrations this is the most comprehensive and richest visual biography with a year-by-year account of Liszt’s activities and compositions.

Corder, Frederick. Ferenz Liszt. New York: Harper, 1925. 178pp. Corder’s brief biographical portrait focuses on Liszt’s professional activities and offers few details about his personal life. Corder met Liszt, and he does provide some interesting firsthand observations.

Hamburger, Klára. Liszt. Budapest: Corvina, 1980. 242pp. Written by a fellow Hungarian, Hamburger’s study provides a fresh perspective on Liszt’s background and some new material for viewing the musician in his contemporary and nationalistic context.

Huneker, James. Franz Liszt. 1911. Reprint ed. New York: AMS, 1971. 458pp. Huneker’s exhaustive early biography mixes fact as well as gossip, cannot be trusted, and has been superseded by later studies.

Laszlo, Zsigmond, and Béla Mátéka. Franz Liszt: A Biography in Pictures. Budapest: Corvina, 1968. 247pp. Superseded by Burger’s more comprehensive and authoritative collection of portraits, photographs, and miscellaneous manuscripts, this volume still serves as a brief, visual orientation to the man and his music.

Newman, Ernest. The Man Liszt. New York: Scribner, 1935. 313pp. Setting out to demolish the Liszt legend, Newman offers a full-length psychological study focusing mainly on his relationship with women, offering few insights about Liszt as a pianist or musician. Factually suspect and incorrect in many instances, Newman’s debunking thesis of Liszt as a social climber drives his arrangement and interpretation of the musician’s character and career.

Perényi, Eleanor. Liszt: The Artist as Romantic Hero. Boston: Little, Brown, 1974. 466pp. Perenyi’s often brilliant but uneven study of Liszt as a man, musician, and phenomenon corrects many misconceptions and is successful in placing the musician in his historical and cultural context. However, scandals predominate here, and her attempt to draw larger interpretations from scanty evidence makes the book read at times like biographical fiction.

Sitwell, Sacheverell. Liszt. 1934. Revised ed. New York: Philosophical Library, 1967. 400pp. Sitwell’s readable appreciation is undocumented and untrustworthy in its facts but does provide an evocative recreation of Liszt’s era and artistic milieu.

Biographical Novels

Harsányi, Zsolt. Immortal Franz: The Life and Loves of a Genius. New York: F.A.Stokes, 1937. 486pp. This is an idealized biographical portrait mixing actual details with invented scenes and dialogue.

Rousselot, Jean. Hungarian Rhapsody: The Life of Franz Liszt. New York: Putnam, 1961. 248pp. In a romanticized version of Liszt’s life that emphasizes his love affairs, the novel chronicles the musician’s career from childhood within a factual framework, though with some of the dates incorrect.

Winwar, Frances. The Last Love of Camille. New York: Harper, 1954. 272pp. The novel dramatizes Liszt’s relationship with Marie Duplessis in a vivid reconstruction of the period and an emphasis on Liszt’s romantic glamour.

Fictional Portraits

Kenyon, Frank W. Passionate Rebel: The Story of Hector Berlioz. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1972. 255pp. In this biographical account of the musical career of Berlioz, Liszt appears as a character, as does such other historical figures as Dumas and Paganini. The Questing Heart: A Romantic Novel about George Sand. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1964. 344pp. Liszt’s relationship with George Sand and Chopin is depicted in this well-researched and mainly factual account of the life of the French writer.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Walker, Alan. Liszt. New York: Crowell, 1973. 108pp. MG. Walker supplies a wealth of factual information on Liszt’s life, personality, and musical achievements.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Impromptu (1991). Director: James Lapine. Bohemian Paris during the 1830s is the scene for this evocative drama concerning George Sand (Judy Davis) and her relationship with Chopin (Hugh Grant). Julian Sands appears as Liszt. Video.

Liszt at Weimar (1988). Director: A documentary look at Liszt’s music in relation to the historical and cultural forces surrounding its composition and performance. Video.

Lisztomania (1975). Director: Ken Russell. Russell’s outlandish extravaganza looks at Liszt as the first rock star. Roger Daltry plays the musician with Sara Kestelman as Princess Carolyne, Imogene Claire as George Sand, and Paul Nicholas as Richard Wagner. Video.

Song of Love (1947). Director: Clarence Brown. Biographical film dramatizing the relationship of Clara and Robert Schumann (Katharine Hepburn and Paul Henreid) and Johannes Brahms (Robert Walker). Liszt appears as a character played by Henry Daniell. Video.

Song of Norway (1970). Director: Andrew L. Stone. In this film biography of Norwegian composer Edvard Grieg (Toraly Maustad). Liszt is depicted by Henry Gilbert. Video.

Song Without End: The Story of Franz Liszt (1960). Directors: Charles Vidor and George Cukor. Hollywood treatment of Liszt’s life emphasizes his scandalous love affairs. Dirk Bogarde plays the musician with Capucine as Princess Carolyne, Patricia Morison as Geoge Sand, Alexander Davion as Chopin, and Lyndon Brook as Wagner. Video.

See also Frédéric Chopin; George Sand

287. DAVID LIVINGSTONE

1813–1873

Scottish explorer and missionary in Africa, Livingstone hoped to abolish the slave trade by opening the continent to Christian commerce and missionary stations. He explored much of Africa, discovered the Zambezi River and Victoria Falls, and sought the source of the Nile. While recovering from an illness in Ujiji on Lake Tanganyika, his historic meeting with Anglo-American journalist Henry Stanley took place. He died in central Africa and is buried in Westminster Abbey.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Readers interested in the numerous primary sources can consult the many volumes of Livingstone’s own published accounts of his expeditions, several collections of his correspondence, and his lectures and journals. One of the most recent collections is David Livingstone: Letters and Documents, 1841–1872. Timothy Holmes, ed. (Bloomington: Indiana University Press, 1990. 202pp.), which makes available many items for the first time. Among the more important editions of his journals are Livingstone’s African Journal 1853–1856. I. Schapera, ed. (Berkeley: University of California Press, 1963. 2 vols.) and The Last Journals of David Livingstone in Central Africa, from 1865 to His Death. Horace Waller, ed. (London: Murray, 1874. 2 vols.).

Recommended Biographies

Jeal, Tim. Livingstone. New York: Putnam, 1973. 427pp. Politically and historically sophisticated, Jeal’s is the best modern life of Livingstone. Rejecting the sentimental depiction of previous writers, Jeal presents a far more human and complex figure. Livingstone’s achievements are duly noted but placed in their wider context and compared to other equally deserving but less lionized figures. Well researched and judicious in its assessment, the book offers the reader the clearest and most believable picture of the man and his career.

Seaver, George. David Livingstone: His Life and Letters. New York: Harper, 1957. 650pp. Seaver provides a scholarly, detailed biography largely made up of Livingstone’s own words, allowing the explorer and missionary to tell his own story.

Simmons, Jack. Livingstone and Africa. New York: Macmillan, 1954. 160pp. Simmons’s is a compact, factually reliable summary of Livingstone’s life and career that ably serves as an introduction for the general reader.

Other Biographical Studies

Blaikie, William G. The Personal Life of David Livingstone. New York: F.H.Revell, 1880. 508pp. Livingstone’s authorized biography had full access to the explorer’s private papers and the full cooperation of his wife and family to produce this solid account that remained the standard source for many years before being superseded by more recent, more critically objective treatments.

Campbell, Reginald J. Livingstone. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1930. 295pp. Campbell’s is the first modern reassessment of Livingstone’s life and career that attempted a more balanced portrait of the man with his human flaws more honestly revealed.

Coupland, Sir Reginald. Livingstone’s Last Journey. New York: Macmillan, 1946. 271pp. Based on previously untapped primary sources, Coupland provides a straightforward, factual account of Livingstone’s last expedition and Stanley’s attempt to find the explorer with a comparison of the characters of the two men.

Debenham, Frank. Way to Ilala: David Livingstone’s Pilgrimage. New York: Longman, 1955. 336pp. Of the more specialized studies, Debenham concentrates on Livingstone’s achievements as a geographer in an objective assessment filled with valuable illustrations.

Gelfand, Michael. Livingstone the Doctor: His Life and Travels: A Study in Medical History. London: Blackwell, 1957. 333pp. As the title indicates, this is a focused study of Livingstone’s medical achievements, shedding considerable light on this neglected aspect of Livingstone’s career.

Hughes, Thomas. David Livingstone. New York: Macmillan, 1889. 208pp. Of the many popular accounts published in the nineteenth century, Hughes’s is one of the best. Although dependent on Blaikie for its research, the book offers a more compressed account that is still generally reliable though sharing in the period’s uncritical promulgation of Livingstone’s heroic image.

Huxley, Elspeth. Livingstone and His African Journeys. New York: Saturday Review Press, 1974. 224pp. Huxley’s profusely illustrated biography is a lively and reliable narrative account of the high points of Livingstone’s career but leaves untouched the deeper sources of Livingstone’s ideas and motivation.

Listowel, Judith. The Other Livingstone. New York: Scribner, 1974. 292pp. Listowel’s provocative reassessment places Livingstone’s achievement in the wider context of African exploration and demonstrates how Livingstone took credit for the achievement of others. The book offers a corrective view missing in many accounts that deserves attention.

Martelli, George. Livingstone’s River: A History of the Zambezi Expedition 1858–64. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1970. 286pp. Martelli offers a revisionist character portrait based on a careful review of the facts surrounding the ill-fated Zambezi Expedition and the accounts of its participants. Although the evidence emphasizes Livingstone’s human failures, the book is fair in its assessment, and the explorer’s courage and resourcefulness are enhanced rather than diminished by looking at him clearly.

Ransford, Oliver. David Livingstone: The Dark Interior. New York: St. Martin’s, 1978. 332pp. Ransford explains Livingstone’s many contradictions by diagnosing a manic depressive disorder called cyclothymia. With his diagnosis in hand, Ransford follows Livingstone’s career to confirm it. Although the dark side of Livingstone’s personality is emphasized here, the book nevertheless supplies an intriguing exploration of Livingstone’s behavior that makes considerable sense.

Fictional Portraits

Hagerfors, Lennart. The Whales of Lake Tanganyika. New York: Grove Press, 1989. 172pp. This is a fictional retelling of Stanley’s 1871 expedition to find Livingstone from the perspective of a British sailor who offers a realistic view of both men.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Clinton, Susan. Henry Stanley and David Livingstone. Chicago: Childrens Press, 1990. 128pp. MG. Clinton’s dual biography tracks their accomplishments in the context of African exploration.

Humble, Richard. The Travels of Livingstone. New York: F.Watts, 1991. 32pp. MG. This brief account follows Livingstone’s African journeys and the difficulties he faced.

Wellman, Sam. David Livingstone: Missionary and Explorer. Philadelphia: Chelsea House, 1999. MG/YA. 207pp. Part of the Heroes of the Faith series, this is detailed biography emphasizing Livingstone’s missionary career. The book uses some fictionalization about his childhood but otherwise relies on extensive quotations from Livingstone’s diaries.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Stanley and Livingstone (1939). Director: Henry King. Heroic interpretation of Stanley’s search for Livingstone is more legendary than reliable. Spencer Tracy is the pursuer, and Cedric Hardwicke is the pursued Livingstone. Video.

See also Henry Stanley

288. DAVID LLOYD GEORGE

1863–1945

Welsh statesman, prime minister (1916–1922), and one of Britain’s greatest war leaders, Lloyd George was elected (1890) a Liberal member of Parliament and served his Welsh constituency for over 54 years. As Chancellor of the Exchequer (1908–1915) he implemented a “people’s budget” calling for a system of social insurance, which became the Parliament Act of 1911. He was munitions minister and war minister (1915–1916) before becoming Prime Minister of a coalition government. His bold, aggressive war policy set him at odds with the military leadership, but he was effective in unifying military command under Marshal Foch. He advocated a moderate course concerning war reparations at the Paris Peace Conference (1919). His later policies, particularly over Irish independence, and lack of Conservative support resulted in the downfall of his ministry. In the 1930s he was critical of appeasement policies toward Nazi Germany. He was raised to the peerage a few months before his death.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Lloyd George: Family Letters 1885–1936. Kenneth O.Morgan, ed. Cardiff: University of Wales Press, 1973. 227pp. This selection of personal letters includes Lloyd George’s diary kept as a youth.

My Darling Pussy: The Letters of Lloyd George and Frances Stevenson 1913–1941. A.J.P.Taylor, ed. London: Weidenfeld and Nicolson, 1975. 258pp. Lloyd George’s correspondence with his secretary, mistress, and second wife provides a human look at the man and their relationship.

*War Memoirs of David Lloyd George.*c Boston: Little, Brown, 1933–1937. 6 vols. Lloyd George’s monumental account of his perspectives on the events of World War I is an elaborate but only partially convincing justification of his own and British policy during the war. A dispassionate and exact defense, the volumes reveal little of Lloyd George’s emotional side.

Recommended Biographies

Gilbert, Bentley B. David Lloyd George: A Political Life. Columbus: Ohio State University Press, 1987–1992. 2 vols. Taking the story up to 1916, this is a clear, fully documented examination of Lloyd George’s political formation, development, and exercise of power. Gilbert’s study lucidly integrates complex events and influences into an accessible, balanced analysis with a number of fresh insights from previously untapped primary sources.

Grigg, John. The Young Lloyd George. Berkeley: University of California Press, 1974. 320pp.; Lloyd George: The People’s Champion, 1902–11. Berkeley: University of California Press, 1978. 391pp.; Lloyd George: From Peace to War, 1912–16. Berkeley: University of California Press, 1985. 527pp. Although denied access to Lloyd George’s private papers, Grigg’s is a superbly researched, monumental biography that sets the record straight on many episodes and is the most intimate and subtly drawn portrait available on the years covered.

Owen, Frank. Tempestuous Journey: Lloyd George, His Life and Times. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1955. 784pp. Based on the extensive Lloyd George archives, Owen presents a dramatic, comprehensive narrative account that deals with both Lloyd George’s public and private lives, both of which are firmly connected to a vivid historical and cultural background.

Rowland, Peter. David Lloyd George: A Biography. New York: Macmillan, 1976. 872pp. Rowland’s comprehensive biography with more than 200 pages devoted to Lloyd George’s life after 1922 begins with a chronological narrative and shifts to a topical approach to handle the complex events following World War I. The book is more balanced than many other studies with extensive archival research that is allowed to speak for itself.

Other Biographical Studies

Beaverbrook, Max A. The Decline and Fall of Lloyd George: And Great Was the Fall Thereof. New York: Duell, Sloan and Pearce, 1963. 320pp. In a gossipy account backed up by important documentation acquired from Lloyd George’s estate, Beaverbrook gives the insider’s view of Lloyd George’s failure to hold together his coalition government in 1922. Provides an intriguing perspective on this defining event in Lloyd George’s political career.

Campbell, John. Lloyd George: The Goat in the Wilderness 1922–31. London: Cape, 1977. 383pp. In a study of Lloyd George after he stepped down as Prime Minister in 1922, Campbell makes a strong case that despite being out of office Lloyd George remained one of the most important British political figures between the wars. Supplies a detailed perspective on this neglected, underrated chapter of Lloyd George’s life.

Cregler, Don M. Bounder from Wales: Lloyd George’s Career Before the First World War. Columbia: University of Missouri Press, 1976. 292pp. The focus here is on Lloyd George’s early political development in a scholarly and well-documented study.

Edwards, John H. David Lloyd George: The Man and the Statesman. New York: J.H.Sears, 1929. 2 vols. This authorized biography by a staunch admirer records largely what Lloyd George wanted to be presented publicly. Factual errors and exaggeration mars Edwards’s examination, which is stronger on Lloyd George’s personal side than on his political career.

George, William. My Brother and I. London: Eyre and Spottiswoode, 1958. 323pp. Lloyd George’s younger brother’s account is a study in sibling rivalry and a resentful recollection of his elder brother’s slights.

George, W.R.P. The Making of Lloyd George. Hamden, Connecticut: Archon Books, 1976. 184pp. Lloyd George’s nephew covers his uncle’s family background and early life up to his entry into Parliament in 1890, making use of previously unavailable diaries, notes, and letters.

Jones, Thomas. Lloyd George. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1951. 330pp. Chiefly concerned with Lloyd George’s political career, this is a compact, objective assessment that is ultimately sympathetic but without illusions regarding Lloyd George’s failings.

Kinnear, Michael. The Fall of Lloyd George: The Political Crisis of 1922. Toronto: Toronto University Press, 1973. 317pp. Based on an analysis of contemporary sources, Kinnear analyzes the factors leading up to Lloyd George’s resignation from the prime ministership in 1922.

Lloyd George, Frances. The Years That Are Past. London: Hutchinson, 1967. 296pp. This memoir by Lloyd George’s former secretary, mistress, and second wife is an affectionate tribute with valuable firsthand insights into Lloyd George’s postwar years.

Lloyd George, Richard. My Father, Lloyd George. New York: Crown, 1961. 248pp. The personal memories of Lloyd George’s eldest son deals frankly with his father’s marital problems and character frailties, making public for the first time some of his father’s infidelities and his son’s resentment.

Mallet, Charles. Mr. Lloyd George: A Study. New York: Dutton, 1930. 313pp. In an extremely negative assessment, Mallet mounts an often intemperate prosecution that depicts Lloyd George as a self-seeking opportunist, lacking in both personal stability and sincerity.

McCormick, Donald. The Mask of Merlin: A Critical Story of David Lloyd George. New York: Holt, 1964. 343pp. In another distinctly hostile review of Lloyd George’s personality and career, he is held responsible for the defeat of British liberalism. The book’s polemical approach limits its usefulness as a balanced assessment.

Morgan, Kenneth O. Lloyd George. London: Weidenfeld and Nicolson, 1974. 224pp. Morgan concentrates on Lloyd George’s Welsh background and its influence on his political development.

Packer, Ian. Lloyd George. New York: St. Martin’s, 1998. 144pp. A compact, sensible overview of Lloyd George’s life and political career, the book serves as a useful introduction to its subject.

Pugh, Martin. Lloyd George. New York: Longman, 1988. 206pp. Part of the Profiles in Power series, this is a concise and sensible overview of Lloyd George’s public career and impact on his era.

Sylvester, A.J. The Real Lloyd George. London: Cassell, 1947. 322pp. A member of Lloyd George’s staff, Sylvester provides a firsthand look at his aging chief but lacks the critical objectivity and distance to serve as a totally reliable account.

Thomson, Malcolm. David Lloyd George: The Official Biography. New York: Hutchinson, 1948. 470pp. Authorized by Lloyd George’s widow, this is an often dull and uninspired biography in which reticence limits revelations.

Wrigley, Chris. Lloyd George. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Blackwell, 1992. 170pp. Wrigley, an authority on Lloyd George’s relationship with the British labor movement, looks at the politician’s entire career in a compact study that summarizes current thinking regarding Lloyd George’s role in English politics in the twentieth century.

Biographical Novels

Benedictus, David. Lloyd George. London: Weidenfeld and Nicolson, 1981. 222pp. In a blend of fact and fantasy Benedictus presents a version of Lloyd George’s life up to the end of World War I that merely skims a distorted surface.

Jones, Jack. The Man David: An Imaginative Presentation Based on Fact of the Life of David Lloyd George from 1880 to 1914. London: Hamilton, 1944. 248pp. Jones dramatizes Lloyd George’s formative years and rise to political power in a blend of actual facts, imaginative embellishments, and invented situations and dialogue.

Fictional Portraits

FitzGibbon, Constantine. High Heroic. 1969. New York: W.W.Norton, 1969. 176pp. Centering on Irish leader Michael Collins, the novel dramatizes the events of the Irish struggle for independence based on a framework of history and appearances by a number of historical figures, such as Lloyd George, Churchill, and Yeats.

Flanagan, Thomas. The End of the Hunt. New York: Dutton, 1994. 627pp. Flanagan’s impressive re-creation of the Irish Uprising and the Irish Civil War features the treaty negotiations as Michael Collins must contend with the political wiles of Churchill and Lloyd George.

Linscott, Gillian. Dance on Blood. New York: St. Martin’s, 1998. 250pp. Nell Bray, the author’s suffragette, here in her series of atmospheric historical mysteries is blackmailed by Lloyd George to prevent a cache of compromising letters from falling into the hands of the Germans.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Shearman, Deirdre. David Lloyd George. New York: Chelsea House, 1988. 112pp. MG/YA. Shearman supplies a straightforward, factual review of Lloyd George’s rise to power and political career, as well as a helpful historical context to understand his actions.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A Dangerous Man: Lawrence After Arabia (1990). Director: Christopher Menaul. Ralph Fiennes portrays T.E.Lawrence in a drama set during the 1919 Paris Peace Conference as he tries to secure Arab independence. Bernard Lloyd portrays Lloyd George. Video.

Nancy Astor (1984). Director: Richard Stroud. Lisa Harrow portrays the American-born woman who became a member of the British Parliament. Brian Hawksley appears as Lloyd George with James Fox and Dan O’Herlihy. Video.

Wilson (1944). Director: Henry King. In an exceptional biographical treatment of the life of Woodrow Wilson from his days as president of Princeton to his unsuccessful attempt to persuade the United States to join the League of Nations. Alexander Knox stars in the title role. Clifford Brooke plays Lloyd George. Video.

Young Winston (1972). Director: Richard Attenborough. Based on Churchill’s My Early Life, this biographical film follows him through his schooling, and his military and journalistic career to his election to Parliament at the age of 26. Simon Ward is utterly convincing in the title role. Others in the film’s fine cast include Robert Shaw (Randolph Churchill), Anne Bancroft (Jenny Churchill), John Mills (Kitchener), and Anthony Hopkins (David Lloyd George). Video.

Other Sources

Gilbert, Martin, ed. Lloyd George. Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Prentice Hall, 1968. 182pp. Part of the Great Lives Observed series, this useful volume collects Lloyd George’s own words and various views of him from contemporaries and scholars.

289. JOHN LOCKE

1632–1704

English philosopher and founder of British empiricism, Locke greatly influenced philosophy and political theory through his writings. Accused of radicalism by the government, he went to Holland until the accession of William and Mary after the Glorious Revolution of 1688. His works include Two Treatises on Civil Government (1689), his famous Essay Concerning Human Understanding (1690), and The Reasonableness of Christianity (1695).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Correspondence of John Locke. E.S.DeBeer, ed. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1976–1989. 8 vols. The scholarly collection of Locke’s correspondence, recently completed, should help the production of a modern definitive biography.

Recommended Biographies

Cranston, Maurice. John Locke: A Biography. New York: Macmillan, 1957. 496pp. Drawing on Locke’s personal papers at Oxford, Cranston has written the standard scholarly life, which manages to arranged the essential facts of Locke’s life impartially, setting the philosopher firmly against his historical and cultural background.

Other Biographical Studies

Aaron, Richard I. John Locke. New York: Oxford University Press, 1937. 328pp. After an initial, compact summary of Locke’s life, Aaron provides an analysis of Locke’s theory of knowledge and his views on ethics, political theory, and religion.

Ayers, Michael. Locke. New York: Routledge, 1999. 64pp. Part of the excellent Great Philosophers series, Ayers offers a compact biographical summary of Locke’s life and thought that serves as useful introduction for the general reader.

Cope, Kevin L. John Locke Revisited. New York:Twayne, 1999. 147pp. Cope’s succinct introductory study supplies a chronology and a brief biographical chapter before proceeding to a review of Locke’s ideas and works.

Bourne, Henry R.F. The Life of John Locke. New York: Harper, 1876. 2 vols. The first scholarly biography, Bourne’s study is out of date in the light of more recent scholarship and the availability of Locke’s manuscripts, journals, and notebooks.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Citizen Locke (1995). Director: Agieszka Piotrowska. This is a dramatic presentation of the man and his ideas. Video.

Other Sources

Chappell, Vere, ed. The Cambridge Companion to Locke. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1994. 329pp. This wide-ranging collection of scholarly essays by various Locke experts includes an overview by Chappell on the philosopher’s life and times.

290. JACK LONDON

1876–1916

American author, London was a gold seeker during the first Klondike gold rush and a war correspondent in Mexico during World War I. His novels were highly popular in their day and include The Call of the Wild (1903), The Sea Wolf (1904), White Fang (1905), and Martin Eden (1909). A socialist, London considered his social tracts, The People of the Abyss (1903) and The Iron Heel (1907), as his most important works. He committed suicide at age 40.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

John Barleycorn: Alcoholic Memoirs. 1913. Reprint ed. New York: Oxford University Press, 1989. 237pp. London’s frank confession about his alcoholism is also a plea for prohibition.

The Letters of Jack London. Earle Labor, Robert C. Leitz, III and I. Milo Shepard, eds. Stanford, California: Stanford University Press, 1988. 3 vols. In nearly 1,500 letters, London’s life is covered from his youth to just before his death. This important scholarly collection allows the reader to correct a number of faulty impressions about London’s character and activities made by biographers prior to its availability.

Recommended Biographies

London, Joan D. Jack London and His Times: An Unconventional Biography. 1939. Revised ed. Seattle: University of Washington Press, 1968. 385pp. The writer’s daughter offers a informed look at London’s early surroundings and personal life. Her reconstruction of West Coast events and personalities brings London into sharp focus, providing fresh insights into his influences and motivations.

Sinclair, Andrew. Jack: A Biography of Jack London. New York: Harper & Row, 1977. 297pp. Sinclair’s is essentially an investigation to separate the various myths surrounding London from the facts, paying particular attention to the contradictory theories surrounding the writer’s death. Provocative in many regards, the psychological speculation is often overly pat and reductive.

Other Biographical Studies

Barltrop, Robert. Jack London: The Man, the Writer, the Rebel. London: Pluto Press, 1976. 206pp. In a strong overview of London’s life, the author provides an interesting analysis of London’s political ideas from a socialist perspective.

Hedrick, Joan. Solitary Comrade: Jack London and His Work. Chapel Hill: University of North Carolina Press, 1982. 265pp. Hedrick’s critical biography attempts to explain London’s life and art in terms of his psychological and social conflicts. Often illuminating, Hedrick’s study succeeds in offering a helpful analysis that connects London’s experiences, personality, and his works.

Kershaw, Alex. Jack London. New York: St. Martin’s, 1998. 335pp. Kershaw’s is a rousing narrative summary of London’s life and career that offers no original research but a competent synthesis of sources to fashion a fast-paced but not very penetrating account. Good on the what and the when; the book falls short on the why.

Labor, Earle. Jack London. New York: Twayne, 1974. 179pp. Although mainly a critical study of London’s works, Labor traces the connection between London’s experiences and his writing.

O’Connor, Richard. Jack London: A Biography. Boston: Little, Brown, 1964. 430pp. O’Connor’s is a competent, though somewhat plodding, summary of the essential facts of London’s life without much psychological or interpretive penetration.

Stone, Irving. Sailor on Horseback. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1938. 338pp. Stone’s early biography based on previously unavailable papers and family documents allows London to tell his own story. Not always objective or critical, this is a vivid account but hard to tell what is imagined and what is verifiable.

Walker, Franklin. Jack London and the Klondike: The Genesis of an American Writer. San Marino, California: Huntington Library, 1966. 288pp. Walker’s is a useful study of London’s Klondike experiences that helps to set the factual record straight, as well as offering insights into London’s reworking of his experiences into his art.

Biographical Novels

Fenady, Andrew J. The Summer of Jack London. New York: Walker, 1985. 173pp. It’s the summer of 1896 and London has just returned to San Francisco after a disastrous sea voyage. The novel recreates events in his life including his beginning his first novel and his affair with a society beauty. Often more fictional than factual, the novel does provide a believable character portrait of the young writer.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Dyer, Daniel. Jack London: A Biography. New York: Scholastic, 1997. 221pp. YA. Dyer’s is a balanced and exhaustive biography that emphasizes London’s early struggles and spirit of adventure and determination. The book is particularly strong on the historical context of London’s life and work.

Schroeder, Alan. Jack London. New York: Chelsea House, 1992. 127pp. YA. This is an informative and candid treatment of London’s adventurous, turbulent life that shows how London’s experiences are reflected in his novels and stories.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Jack London (1943). Director: Alfred Santell. Not biographically reliable, this treatment of London’s activities stars Michael O’Shea in the title role, supported by Susan Hayward and Virginia Mayo. Video.

Jack London (1976). Director: Michel Viotte. A film portrait that presents the author in the context of his times. Video.

Klondike Fever (1979). Director: Peter Carter. This fictional adventure yarn sends a young Jack London (Jeff East) from San Francisco to the Klondike goldfields in 1898. With Rod Steiger, Angie Dickinson, and Lorne Greene. Video.

My Jack London: A Daughter Remembers (1984). Director: Geoffrey Bell. A documentary using reminiscences of London’s daughter Becky along with family photos and film footage. Video.

291. HENRY WADSWORTH LONGFELLOW

1807–1882

One of the most popular Americans poet of his time, Longfellow created a new body of romantic American legends with such poems as Evangeline (1847), The Song of Hiawatha (1855), and The Courtship of Miles Standish (1858). Other well-known poems by Longfellow include “The Ride of Paul Revere,” “The Village Blacksmith,” “Excelsior,” and “The Wreck of the Hesperus.”

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Letters of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. Andrew Hilen, ed. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1966–1982. 6 vols. Hilen brings together all the extant letters in an impeccably edited scholarly collection that shows the writer in his many relationships.

Recommended Biographies

Arvin, Newton. Longfellow: His Life and Work. Boston: Little, Brown, 1963. 338pp. Arvin’s biographical and critical study is a model of discriminating assessment. The essential details of Longfellow’s life are presented, with the more specialized work of scholars on various aspects of the poet’s career synthesized into a coherent view.

Thompson, Lawrance. Young Longfellow 1807–43. New York: Macmillan, 1938. 443pp. Offering a scholarly reassessment of Longfellow’s youth and early years up to his second marriage, Thompson’s study sheds considerable light on the poet’s development with details that add substance and dimension to less probing, earlier treatments.

Wagenknecht, Edward. Longfellow: A Full-Length Portrait. New York: Longmans, 1955. 370pp.; Henry Wadsworth Longfellow: Portrait of an American Humanist. New York: Oxford University Press, 1966. 252pp. Both of Wagenknecht’s critical biographies, the latter a more compact revision of the first, present portraits strikingly at odds with previous studies. Bent on a balanced reassessment, the books have a strong defensive and argumentative quality as the author takes on previous misconceptions made by earlier biographers and the scorn of modern critics concerning Longfellow’s poetry.

Williams, Cecil B. Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. New York: Twayne, 1964. 221pp. Part of the compact Twayne series, Williams’s is an excellent starting point with its succinct biographical overview and sensible criticism of Longfellow’s work.

Other Biographical Studies

Gorman, Herbert. Victorian American: Henry Wadsworth Longfellow. New York: G.H.Doran, 1926. 363pp. German’s interpretive biographical portrait serves to locate the poet against his cultural milieu and his European influences that the author argues formed Longfellow’s character more than his American background.

Kennedy, W.Sloane. Henry W.Longfellow: Biography, Anecdotes, Letters, Criticism. Boston: D. Lothrop, 1882. 368pp. Kennedy’s is an early collection of materials, including primary documents and tributes from Longfellow’s contemporaries.

Longfellow, Samuel. The Life of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow with Extracts from His Journals and Correspondence. 1886–87. Reprinted. New York: Greenwood, 1969. 3 vols. The authorized biography written by the poet’s brother includes extensive extracts from Longfellow’s letters and journals with its third volume devoted to reminiscences and anecdotes by friends and associates. The volumes remain an important scholarly source.

Norton, Charles Eliot. Henry Wadsworth Longfellow: A Sketch of His Life Together with Longfellow’s Chief Autobiographical Poems. New York: Houghton Mifflin, 1907. 120pp. Norton’s brief biographical sketch is supplemented with a convenient selection of the poet’s autobiographical verses.

Underwood, Francis H. Henry Wadsworth Longfellow: A Biographical Sketch. 1882. Reprint ed. New York: Haskell House, 1973. 303pp. Longfellow’s first biographer had the assistance of the poet himself and incorporates the recollections of his associates.

Fictional Portraits

Forbes, Esther. O. Genteel Lady! Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1926. 296pp. The novel offers a portrait of the literary and philosophical circles of Concord and Boston with depictions of Longfellow, Emerson, and Thoreau.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Lukes, Bonnie L. Henry Wadsworth Longfellow: America’s Beloved Poet. Greensboro, North Carolina: Morgan Reynolds, 1998. 128pp. MG/YA. Lukes makes full use of Longfellow’s own words from his journals and letters in this informative and well-written biographical and critical study.

Peare, Catherine O. Henry Wadsworth Longfellow: His Life. New York: Holt, 1953. 116pp. MG. Highly fictionalized, Peare’s is a somewhat idealized portrait, more inspiring than careful in its documentation of Longfellow’s life and personality.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

The Adventures of Mark Twain (1944). Director: Irving Rapper. Fredric March is convincing as Twain from his years on the Mississippi, out west, and as a celebrated literary figure. Alexis Smith portrays Twain’s wife, and Davison Clark appears as Longfellow. Video.

292. LOUIS IX

1214–1270

King of France, Louis succeeded (1226) his father, Louis VIII, and was influenced during much of his reign by his mother, Blanche of Castile. He led the sixth Crusade but was captured in Egypt and ransomed. He died of plague while leading the eighth Crusade. An able administrator and diplomat, Louis curbed private feudal warfare, encouraged the use of Roman law, and negotiated favorable treaties with England and Aragón. He was canonized in 1297.

Recommended Biographies

Labarge, Margaret W. Saint Louis: Louis IX, Most Christian King of France. Boston: Little, Brown, 1968. 303pp . This is a skillful, accessible biography for the nonspecialist that treats Louis’s life and reign as well and the social, political, and religious context of his time.

Richard, Jean. Saint Louis: Crusader King of France. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1992. 354pp. Richard’s is an excellent narrative account of Louis’s life and reign that manages to make the king and saint a credible human figure. Richard carefully sifts through archival evidence, contemporary accounts, and later hagiographies to fashion a coherent and comprehensive portrait.

Other Biographical Studies

Joinville, Jean, Sire de. Life of St. Louis. New York: Sheed & Ward, 1955. 306pp. This first biography was the work of Louis’s contemporary and friend, and Joinville’s account is an important source for anecdotal information.

Jordan, William C. Louis IX and the Challenge of the Crusade: A Study in Rulership. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1979. 291pp. Considered required reading for any serious student of the thirteenth century, Jordan’s is a scholarly account of Louis’s reign and the impact of his first crusade on his life and leadership.

Perry, Frederick. St. Louis (Louis IX of France): The Most Christian King. New York: Putnam, 1900. 303pp. Perry’s is a solid historical account of Louis’s reign, strong on the cultural and political background, with few insights about Louis’s personal life.

Fictional Portraits

Connell, Evan S. Deus lo Volt! Chronicle of the Crusades. Washington, DC: Counterpoint, 2000. 462pp. Connell’s fictional approximation of a medieval chronicle presents an account of the Crusades from Pope Urban II’s call to action through Louis IX’s final personal crusade from the perspective of a knight in Louis’s service. The novel offers portraits of such historical figures as Richard the Lionheart and Saladin as well as Louis.

De Wohl, Louis. The Quiet Light. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1950. 317pp. This biographical novel on the life of Thomas Aquinas features portraits of both Frederick II and Louis IX.

293. LOUIS XIV

1638–1715

Nicknamed the “Sun King” because of the brilliance of his court, Louis XIV became king of France after the death (1643) of his father, Louis XIII, but real power was wielded by his mother, Anne of Austria, named regent, and the Prime Minister, Cardinal Mazarin. Louis married (1660) Maria Theresa of Spain. When he took control of the government after Mazarin’s death (1661), France was economically depleted by the Thirty Years War, the Fronde-uprisings (1648–1653) fomented by parlements and discontented nobles against the crown and fiscal abuses. He strengthened France financially through the use of such able ministers as Jean-Baptist Colbert and discouraged discontent among the aristocracy by keeping the nobility at court. His persecution of the Huguenots led to revocation (1685) of the Edict of Nantes. Such military escapades as the War of the Spanish Succession (1701–1714) squandered fiscal resources. Louis built the great palace at Versailles and stimulated art and literature. An archetypal absolute monarch, he is credited with saying, “L’état c’est moi” (“I am the state”).

Recommended Biographies

Bernier, Olivier. Louis XIV: A Royal Life. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1987. 373pp. A lively and accurate account of Louis’s life and reign that relies heavily on printed primary sources, Bernier deals equally with Louis as man, icon, and politician in a generally admiring portrait that is lucid in its historical analysis and convincing in its interpretation of the king.

Erlanger, Philippe. Louis XIV. New York: Praeger, 1970. 412pp. In one of the best character portraits of Louis, Erlanger surveys the king’s entire life and reign in an intimate, personal history. In the author’s view, Louis emerges as a shrewd, icy egoist whose drive for absolutism stemmed from a motive of self-defense and an obsession with his own greatness. Erlanger attributes many of the shortcomings of the king and his rule to his persistent bouts of ill health and debilitating medical treatment.

Wolf, John B. Louis XIV. New York: W.W. Norton, 1968. 678pp. Wolf covers every aspect of Louis’s life and reign using his own words from his diaries, decrees, and letters to form a portrait of the king as he appeared to his ministers, generals, and subjects. Redressing the balance of more critical assessments, Wolf extends a sympathetic yet convincing view of the king that challenges previous negative views.

Other Biographical Studies

Bertrand, Louis. The Private Life of Louis XIV. New York: L.Carrier, 1929. 189pp. An accessible, scholarly biography, Bertrand provides a number of impressionistic sketches to animate this study that attempts to look beneath the allure of Louis’s court and reputation to the actual man. The assessment is far more generous and flattering than many other accounts.

Bluche, François. Louis XIV. New York: F.Watts, 1990. 702pp. Bluche’s is a revisionist assessment of Louis’s reign that considers him a powerful cultural influence and a great statesman who shaped a colonial empire, expanded French territory, and founded the modern French state. The original French edition won the 1986 Grand Prix de l’Histoire Moët-Hennessy.

Cronin, Vincent. Louis XIV. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1965. 384pp. In a highly sympathetic assessment, Cronin focuses on the king’s human side, with his various romances occupying a large portion of the text, but treated with restraint. Louis emerges as a complex individual beset by the contradiction between his private desires and public responsibilities.

Forester, C.S. Louis XIV: King of France and Navarre. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1928. 246pp. Historical novelist Forester provides a brief, readable narrative history of Louis’s reign in which personal details are joined with historical coverage.

Hatton, Ragnhild M. Louis XIV and His World. New York: Putnam, 1972. 128pp. In an illustrated biography that compresses a great deal of material into a straightforward narrative, Hatton reevaluates the various myths surrounding the Sun King and his relationships with his family and various mistresses. Serves as a useful introduction to the subject of Louis’s personality and his age.

Lewis, W.H. Louis XIV: An Informal Portrait. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1959. 224pp. In an impressionistic psychological portrait rather than a thorough biography, Lewis traces the development of the king’s character and provides a defense of Louis’s greatness against many of the charges leveled against him by other biographers and historians.

Michel, Prince of Greece. Louis XIV: The Other Side of the Sun. New York: Harper & Row, 1983. 447pp. In a sharply negative portrait of Louis’s court and the king’s shortcomings, this appraisal finds little to suggest the glamour or greatness of Louis or his reign.

Mitford, Nancy. The Sun King. 1966. Reprint ed. New York: Penguin, 1994. 255pp. Mitford looks closely at the king’s daily routine and personal characteristics in a balanced, though overall negative, assessment. Louis is depicted as a coldly detached and self-absorbed monarch, surrounded by self-serving and scheming courtiers. The book’s strength is an animated re-creation of aristocratic society and Louis’s court world. It is lavishly illustrated.

Norton, Lucy. The Sun King and His Loves. London: Hamilton, 1983. 156pp. Norton concentrates on the four women in Louis’s life and his passion for his palace and his garden. In an intimate personal portrait there is little to suggest the factors that established Louis’s greatness as a king.

Ogg, David. Louis XIV. New York: Oxford University Press, 1959. 224pp. In a solid analysis of Louis’s reign, Ogg looks closely at the political and cultural factors that help to explain the king’s motives and behavior. More a study of Louis’s policies than his private life, the book presents a strong context for judging his rule.

Biographical Novels

Acland, Alice. The Secret Wife. New York: St. Martin’s, 1975. 203pp. Françoise d’Aubigne, Madame de Maintenon, tells her own story of her rise to prominence as Louis’s mistress and eventually his second wife.

Auchincloss, Louis. The Cat and the King. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1981. 183pp. The novel provides a convincing glimpse of daily life at Versailles during Louis’s reign from the perspective of the Due de Saint-Simon.

Chandernagor, Françoise d’Aubigne. The King’s Way. San Diego, California: Harcourt, Brace, 1984. 497pp. This autobiographical novel traces the remarkable rise to power of Françoise d’Aubigne who becomes Louis’s mistress and second wife as the powerful Madame de Maintenon. Relying on Madame de Maintenon’s own words from her letters and diaries, the novel presents her as a complex mixture of ambition and self-doubt.

Doyle, Arthur Conan. The Refugees. New York: Harper, 1893. 366p. The novel depicts the rivalry between two of Louis’s mistresses, Madame de Maintenon and the Marquise de Montespan, as well as the persecution of the Huguenots.

Hill, Pamela. The Crown and the Shadow. New York: Putnam, 1955. 314pp. Based on the life of Françoise d’Aubigne, Madame de Maintenon, the second wife of Louis XIV, the novel stays close to the historical facts with a modern interpretation of Madame de Maintenon as a proto-feminist.

Irwin, Margaret. Royal Flush: The Story of Minette. New York: St. Martin’s, 1932. 352pp. The life of Henrietta Stuart, daughter of Charles I and cousin of Louis XIV is dramatized in a vivid and revealing intimate look at both royal families and the personalities and motivations of Louis and Charles II.

Law, Janice. All the King’s Ladies. New York: St. Martin’s, 1986. 310pp. Blending actual events and figures with invention, the novel describes the rise to power of Athenais de Montespan, who becomes Louis’s mistress and attempts to control him with the aid of a sorceress.

Pell, Sylvia. The Shadow of the Sun. New York: Coward-McCann, 1978. 343pp. Louis’s tangled relationship with various women is dramatized from 1660 to 1673. Married to Maria Theresa, he is romantically involved with Louise de la Valliere, Athénais de Montespan, and Madame de Maintenon.

Plaidy, Jean. Louis the Well-Beloved. London: R. Hale, 1959. 251 pp. In an biographical portrait of the early life of Louis XV who succeeds his father to the throne at the age of five, the novel depicts Louis XIV s final years and the intrigue for control of the infant king that followed his death.

Sanders, Joan. The Marquis. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1963. 405pp. The novel looks at the relationship between Louis XIV and Madame de Montespan from the perspective of her husband who defies the king and asserts his ill treatment when the king makes his wife his mistress.

Fictional Portraits

Butler, Mildred A. Ward of the Sun King. New York: Funk and Wagnalls, 1970. 156pp. In an atmospheric and historically convincing story, a young girl brought up in a school for the impoverished children of the nobility resists her harsh treatment and flees to England and New France.

Coryn, Marjorie. Sorrow by Day. New York: Appleton-Century,1950. 312pp. In an adroit use of historical elements, the novel describes the pursuit by the king’s cousin of a Gascon nobleman who succeeds in court circles by blackmailing the king’s mistress.

Dumas, Alexandre. The Man in the Iron Mask. 1850. Reprint ed. New York: Oxford University Press, 1991. 626pp. Dumas’ s classic tale of adventure and intrigue in the court of Louis XIV turns on the imprisoned man whose identity can alter French history. The Four Musketeers are divided by the implications of their discovery. In The Vicomte de Bragelonne (1857. Reprint ed. New York: Oxford University Press, 1998. 738pp.), Dumas’s Four Musketeers are featured dealing with intrigue during the Fronde, the uprising of nobles against Cardinal Mazarin’s control over the infant Louis XIV. Alternative title: Twenty Years After.

Fuller, Iola. All the Golden Gifts. New York: Putnam, 1966. 252pp. In this historical romance set in the court of Louis XIV, a young woman becomes the king’s favorite but resists his attentions in favor of a young musketeer and a young gentleman. The period details and atmosphere of the French court are convincing.

Golon, Sergeanne. Angelique. New York: Bantam, 1971. 820pp.; Angelique and the King. New York: Bantam, 1971. 505pp.; Angelique in Revolt. New York: Bantam, 1971. 470pp. This series of historical romances follows the career of a beautiful and resourceful French woman who becomes a favorite of Louis before joining the Huguenot cause. The novels display a remarkably detailed and convincing period mastery with plausible appearances of several historical figures, including Louis XIV.

Lewis, Janet. The Ghost of Monsieur Scarron. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1959. 378pp. Based on an authentic event, the novel concerns the search and prosecution of those responsible for writing a critical pamphlet about the Sun King as a innocent bookbinder is unjustly implicated in the crime.

McIntyre, Vonda N. The Moon and the Sun. New York: Pocket Books, 1997. 421pp. In an alternative-history fable, Louis hopes to ensure his immortality by devouring the entrails of a sea-woman trapped by a Jesuit explorer. Despite the fantasy, the novel is carefully researched to recreate Versailles and Louis’s court.

Riley, Judith Merkle. The Oracle Glass. New York: Viking, 1994. 510pp. Based on the actual existence of a coven of Paris witches during the reign of Louis XIV, the novel provides a fascinating look at the dark side of Louis’s court from the perspective of a young girl with prophetic powers who exerts her control over the king and his court.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Horn, Pierre L. King Louis XIV. New York: Chelsea House, 1986. 116pp. MG/YA. Horn orients the reader well to the events of Louis’s reign and his activities.

Smith, David L. Louis XIV. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1992. 132pp. YA. Smith displays through primary and secondary sources a detailed view of the political and social context of Louis’s reign and the man who set the tone for his age.

Stearns, Monroe. Louis XIV of France: Pattern of Majesty. New York: F.Watts, 1971. 183pp. YA. Stearns offers a less flattering portrait than can be found elsewhere in a critical scrutiny of the king and his era.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

The Fifth Musketeer (1979). Director: Ken Annakin. Another remake of Dumas’s The Man in the Iron Mask features an outstanding cast, including Beau Bridges as Louis and his twin, Ursula Andress, Jose Ferrer, Cornel Wilde, Lloyd Bridges, Alan Hale Jr., Rex Harrison, and Olivia de Havilland. Video.

The Iron Mask (1929). Director: Allan Dwan. Douglas Fairbanks’s final swashbuckling turn casts him as D’Artaganan in this lavish adaptation of Dumas’s novel. William Blackwell appears as Louis and his twin. A silent film with some talking segments, the 1940 reissue features a narration by Douglas Fairbanks Jr. Video.

The Man in the Iron Mask (1939). Director: James Whale. In this version of Dumas’s swashbuckling classic, Louis Howard portrays Louis XIV with the musketeers played by Alan Hale, Warren William, Joseph Schildkraut, and Walter Kingsford. Video.

The Man in the Iron Mask (1977). Director: Mike Newell. Richard Chamberlain attempts the dual role of Louis and the mysterious prisoner in this television adaptation of Dumas’s classic musketeer adventure. He is supported by an outstanding cast of Patrick McGoohan, Louis Jourdan, Jenny Agutter, Ian Holm, and Ralph Richardson. Video.

The Man in the Iron Mask (1998). Director: Randall Wallace. The most recent adaptation of Dumas’s novel casts Leonardo DiCaprio in the dual role of Louis and lookalike with the musketeers played by Jeremy Irons, John Malkovich, Gabriel Byrne, and Gérard Depardieu. Video.

The Man in the Iron Mask (1998). Director: William Rickert. This overlooked version of Dumas’s novel released in the same year as the Leonardo DiCaprio bigger-budget version features a number of unknown actors in a smaller scale, budget drama. Nick Rickert stars as Louis with Edward Albert, Dennis Hayden, William Rickert (the film’s director), and Rex Ryon as the musketeers. Video.

The Return of the Musketeers (1989). Director: Richard Lester. Based loosely on Dumas’s Twenty Years After, Lester reassembles his well-cast musketeers—Oliver Reed, Richard Chamberlain, Frank Finlay, and Michael York—for more adventures and intrigues caused by Milady’s devious daughter. David Birkin appears as the youthful Louis and Alan Howard portrays Cromwell. Video.

The Rise of Louis XIV (1966). Director: Roberto Rossellini. Made for French television, this docudrama captures the atmosphere and events of the Sun King’s court as well as a human portrait of the king. Starring Jean-Marie Patte, Raymond Jourdan, and Dominique Vincent. Video.

Star of India (1953). Director: Arthur Lubin. Cornel Wilde stars in this costume drama concerning a French nobleman trying to regain his inheritance during the reign of Louis XIV, with John Slater portraying the Sun King.

Other Sources

Rule, John C., ed. Louis XIV. Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Prentice-Hall, 1973. 181pp. Part of the Great Lives Observed series, the book provides Louis’s own works, the views of his contemporaries, and current critical assessments of the man and his reign.

Wolf, John B., ed. Louis XIV: A Profile. New York: W.W.Norton, 1972. 265pp. This is useful volume that includes a brief biographical profile and essays by various scholars on aspects of the king’s life, personality, and reign.

294. ROBERT LOWELL

1917–1977

American poet, playwright, and translator, Lowell won the Pulitzer Prize in 1947 for his poetry collection Lord Weary’s Castle (1946) and again in 1974 for The Dolphin (1973). His autobiographical volume in verse and prose, Life Studies (1959), is one of the most influential recent examples of confessional poetry. Lowell won acclaim for his translations of Greek tragedy and various European poets. His other works include a trilogy of plays, The Old Glory (1968).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Life Studies. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1959. 90pp. Lowell’s collection of confessional poems includes an autobiographical fragment. Another section appears in his Collected Prose (New York: Farrar, Straus, 1987. 377pp.).

Recommended Biographies

Hamilton, Ian. Robert Lowell: A Biography. New York: Random House, 1982. 527pp. Based on extensive use of Lowell’s correspondence and interviews with many of the poet’s associates, Hamilton’s is a detailed, comprehensive biography that keeps Lowell’s often harrowing personal battles in clear focus with considerable sensitivity and understanding.

Mariani, Paul. Lost Puritan: A Life of Robert Lowell. New York: W.W.Norton, 1994. 527pp. Complementing Hamilton with newly available sources, including the author’s interviews with friends and relatives and Lowell’s unpublished letters, Mariani traces the various crises of Lowell’s life, examining their impact on his work. While not superseding Hamilton’s biography, Mariani adds details and perspective not found in the earlier account and a closer examination of Lowell’s poetry and artistic development.

Other Biographical Studies

Axelrod, Stephen. Robert Lowell: Life and Art. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1978. 286pp. Using the poetry as an ongoing autobiographical meditation and moral and psychological journey, Axelrod’s is a readable account with many insights on Lowell’s influences, friendships, and formative experiences.

Heymann, C.David. American Aristocracy: The Lives and Times of James Russell, Amy, and Robert Lowell. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1980. 561pp. Heymann’s group biography is particularly useful in its depiction of Lowell’s family and cultural background and the distance he went in rejecting many of its values, while retaining others. Nearly half of the book is devoted to Robert.

Meyers, Jeffrey. Manic Power: Robert Lowell and His Circle. New York: Arbor House, 1987. 228pp. Meyers supplies a group portrait and cultural history focused on Lowell’s relationship with poets Randall Jarrell, John Berryman, and Theodore Roethke. Based on previously published biographies and memoirs, this is an anecdotally rich account of the four poets’ self-destructive tendencies and mutual dependencies.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Robert Lowell: A Mania for Phrases (1988). Director: Veronica Young. Part of PBS’s Voices and Visions poetry series, Lowell’s life and works are presented and discussed by such commentators as Derek Walcott, Frank Bidart, and Anthony Hecht. Video.

Other Sources

Meyers, Jeffrey, ed. Robert Lowell: Interviews and Memoirs. Ann Arbor: University of Michigan Press, 1988. 369pp. This useful volume reprints 20 interviews with the poet as well as recollections by such writers as Norman Mailer, Seamus Heaney, Alfred Kazin, and Helen Vendler.

295. MARTIN LUTHER

1483–1546

The leader of the Protestant Reformation was born in Eisleben, Saxony, into a family of small landholders. He abandoned his law studies after undergoing a religious experience, entered an Augustinian monastery in Erfurt, and was ordained in 1507. While professor of Scripture at Wittenburg University (from 1512), Luther denounced the practice of selling indulgences in his 95 theses, which he posted on the church door. His Address to the Christian Nobility of the German Nation (1520) advocated German control of ecclesiastical matters and called for such religious reforms as clerical marriage. He was excommunicated after publicly burning a papal bull and summoned before Emperor Charles V to renounce his heresies at the Diet of Worms (1521). He refused, was outlawed, and retired to Wartburg castle, where he translated the New Testament into German and began work on the Old. Luther wrote two catechisms (1529) that formed the basis of Lutheranism. He returned to Wittenburg to direct the reform movement and to try to contain extremism. The evangelical doctrine he advocated spread throughout the Western world and marked the first challenge to the authority of the Roman Catholic church.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Luther’s letters are reprinted in volumes 48–50 of his Works. Jaroslav Pelikan, ed. (St. Louis: Concordia, 1955–1986. 55 vols.). They are also available in the Letters of Martin Luther. Margaret A. Currie, ed. (London: Macmillan, 1908. 482pp.).

Recommended Biographies

Bainton, Roland. Here I Stand: A Life of Martin Luther. Nashville, Tennessee: Abingdon Press, 1950. 336pp. Bainton’s popular biography, which has been called the most readable Luther biography in English, makes Luther’s ideas and milieu accessible for a general reader that does not neglect the findings of modern scholarship. Luther’s life and times are arranged into a series of vivid and dramatic scenes that recreates the spiritual setting of the sixteenth century.

Brecht, Martin. Martin Luther.. Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1985–93. 3 vols. Written by a Protestant church historian and incorporating the most up-to-date theological scholarship on the Reformation, Brecht’s detailed study is equally strong on Luther the man, his times, and the theological context.

Marius, Richard. Martin Luther: The Christian Between God and Death. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Belknap Press, 1999. 592pp. Relying on a close reading of Luther’s writings and contemporary documents, Marius’s critical biography is often harsh in its assessment of the man and his legacy. However, this is a provocative, well-written account that challenges previous views with a compelling, though debatable, comprehensive view of Luther’s personality and ambivalent influence.

Oberman, Heiko A. Luther: Man Between God and the Devil. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1989. 380pp. This highly acclaimed biographical study, regarded by many as the definitive modern biography, features a brilliant account of Luther’s evolution as a man, thinker, and Christian in the context of his times. Oberman stresses a darker Luther who is shown beset by depression and emotional violence. The book is equally strong on cultural, intellectual, and theological history.

Todd, John M. Luther: A Life. New York: Crossroad, 1982. 396pp. Todd’s study of Luther’s personality depicts him as a coarse, angry man with severe psychological problems. Although undocumented, the book is rich in quotes of Luther’s own words and offers a compelling human portrait of the man, as well as a clear presentation of the complex theological context of his development.

Other Biographical Studies

Boehmer, Heinrich. Martin Luther: Road to Reformation. Philadelphia: Muhlenberg Press, 1957. 449pp. Boehmer’s is an informative study that traces Luther’s formative experiences up to 1521, allowing him to speak for himself as much as possible.

Dickens, A.G. Martin Luther and the Reformation. Mystic, Connecticut: L. Verry, 1967. 184pp. This is a concise historical overview that locates Luther’s ideas and actions in their wider historical, religious, and cultural contexts. Serves as a solid, compact introduction to both the man and his era.

Edwards, Mark U. Jr. Luther’s Last Battles: Politics and Polemics 1531–46. Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1983. 254pp. As its title indicates, Edwards focuses on Luther’s later embattled career. Reliable and detailed, Edwards is expert in establishing the theological and historical context of Luther’s final years.

Erikson, Erik H. Young Man Luther: A Study in Psychoanalysis and History. New York: W.W. Norton, 1960. 288pp. Erikson’s controversial psychohistory applies his development theories of adolescence to Luther, revealing an identity crisis and a difficult relationship with his father. Criticized for its limited evidence on which to base its interpretations, Erikson’s study is nonetheless fascinating and challenging in its concepts of Luther’s youthful development.

Fife, Robert. The Revolt of Martin Luther. New York: Columbia University Press, 1957. 726pp. Fife’s scholarly biography traces Luther’s life in detail up to 1521 and sets him clearly in the context of his times.

Friedenthal, Richard. Luther: His Life and Times. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1970. 566pp. In an often sprawling, discursive account, Friedenthal connects Luther’s life and career to his historical and cultural background. Relying on contemporary documents, the book allows readers to draw their own conclusions about Luther’s character and impact.

Haile, H.G. Luther: An Experiment in Biography. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1980. 422pp. Relying almost exclusively on Luther’s own writings, the book concentrates on his relationships and creates a believable character portrait that does not overlook Luther’s vulgarities and prejudices.

Lohse, Bernhard. Martin Luther: An Introduction to His Life and Work. Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1986. 288pp. One of the best available single-volume guides to Luther and his ideas, the book records the current state of modern research on Luther and is free from a particular ideological bias, allowing the reader to form his own judgments.

Mackinnon, James. Martin Luther and the Reformation. New York: Longmans, 1925–1930. 4 vols. This is a scholarly yet readable historical biography that still serves as one of the most comprehensive and authoritative treatments of the man and his times.

Manns, Peter. Martin Luther: An Illustrated Biography. New York: Crossroad, 1982. 223pp. A useful but incomplete sympathetic account of Luther’s life and thought by a Catholic priest, the book is especially good at explaining the historical and religious context of Luther’s development.

Marius, Richard. Luther. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1974. 269pp. Written for the general reader, Marius re-examines and reinterprets commonly accepted facts about Luther and his times and provides a valuable introduction to the subject.

Ritter, Gerhard. Luther: His Life and Work. New York: Harper & Row, 1963. 256pp. In a compact, candid assessment of the man and his achievements for a general audience Ritter provides a balanced treatment that grants both Luther’s greatness and his limitations.

Rupp, Gordon. Luther’s Progress to the Diet of Worms. Chicago: Wilcox and Follett, 1951. 109pp. Rupp helpfully and authoritatively traces the development of Luther’s intellectual and theological development prior to 1517 and the posting of his Ninety-Five Theses in Wittenberg.

Schwiebert, E.C. Luther and His Times. St. Louis: Concordia, 1950. 892pp. An excellent orientation to Luther’s personality, career, and historical context, Schwiebert’s study serves as a solid introduction to the leading issues surrounding Luther’s life and times.

Thiel, Rudolf. Luther. Philadelphia: Muhlenberg Press, 1955. 492pp. In a developmental biography Thiel traces the various aspects of Luther’s character and his relationship with the Catholic Church. Serves as well as a helpful account of Luther’s times.

Todd, John M. Martin Luther: A Biographical Study. Westminster, Maryland: Newman Press, 1964. 290pp. Written from a Roman Catholic perspective for the specialist, this is a succinct and concise account of Luther’s life and career, particularly strong on Luther’s Catholic context.

Biographical Novels

Barr, Gladys H. Monk in Armour. New York: Abingdon, 1950. 256pp. Martin Luther’s life is depicted in this fictionalized biography from his boyhood to his marriage. Often oversimplified, the novel provides an idealized version of Luther’s development and the events of the beginnings of the Protestant Reformation.

Davis, William S. The Friar of Wittenburg. New York: Macmillan, 1912. 433pp. The novel covers the years between 1517 and 1521 and is narrated by a nobleman who is won over to Luther’s side and becomes involved in some of the striking scenes from his life. Luther is sympathetically treated and sugar-coated.

Ludwig, Charles. Queen of the Reformation. Minneapolis: Bethany House, 1986. 224pp. In a romantic, idealized devotional novel, Luther’s relationship with his wife, Katharina von Bora, is depicted, as well as the couple’s opposition to Catholic orthodoxy.

Fictional Portraits

Hocking, Joseph. The Sword of the Lord: A Romance of the Time of Martin Luther. New York: Dutton, 1909. 334pp. In a fictional story, an Englishman is sent to escort a lady back to England during the Reformation, and Luther is portrayed in a historically reliable fashion.

Oliver, Jane. Flame of Fire. New York: Putnam, 1961. 288pp. In a fictionalized biography of William Tyndale who produced the first English translation of the Bible, Luther appears as a character with a major impact on Tyndale’s life mission in an authentic depiction of the religious issues of the period.

Reade, Charles. The Cloister and the Hearth. 1861. Reprint ed. New York: Dutton, 1906. 703pp. In a picaresque adventure tale, Reade imagines the life of Erasmus’s parents in a series of exciting scenes set in fifteenth-century Europe and featuring an appearance by Luther.

Waltari, Mika. The Adventurer. New York: Putnam, 1950. 377pp. Set during the turmoil of the Reformation, the novel dramatizes the adventures of the young Finnish student and later doctor who encounters some of the central figures of the period, including Paracelsus and Luther.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Cowie, Leonard W. Martin Luther: Leader of the Reformation. New York: Praeger, 1969. 122pp. MG/YA. Luther’s public and private life is objectively depicted in an account that follows him from his school days to his last years. The text is interspersed with quotations from Luther and others.

O’Neill, Judith. Martin Luther. London: Cambridge University Press, 1975. 48pp. MG. This is a sensible historical/biographical overview that relates Luther’s life and the high points of his career with his historical and cultural context.

Stepanek, Sally. Martin Luther. New York: Chelsea House, 1986. 120pp. MG/YA. Stepanek provides a reliable guide to Luther and his times in an objective and fair assessment of the man and his movement.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Osborne, John. Luther. New York: Criterion Books, 1962. 102pp. The play traces Luther’s life from 1506 to 1530 as the archetypal rebel in conflict with his father, God, the church, and ultimately with himself in a sixteenth-century world full of modern correspondences.

Luther (1974). Director: Guy Green. In an adaptation of John Osborne’s play, 29 years in the life of Luther are chronicled, including his clashes with Rome, the Peasant’s Revolt, the Diet of Worms, and the launching of the Reformation. Stacy Keach stars in the tile role, with Patrick Magee, Judi Dench, and Robert Stephens. Video.

Martin Luther (1953). Director: Irving Pichel. French-made biography of Luther, starring Niall MacGinnis in the title role, with Annette Carell as Katherine von Bora, Hans Lefebvre as Charles V, and Phillip Leaver as Pope Leo X. Video.

Martin Luther (1983). Producer: Rainer Wolfhardt. In this German television presentation, Lambert Habeck portrays Luther in scenes from his life. Video.

296. ROSA LUXEMBURG

1871–1919

German revolutionary born in Russian Poland, Luxemburg was influenced in her youth by the patriotic idealism of Polish poet and playwright Adam Mickiewicz and the first Polish socialists, whose group she joined in 1887. Forced to flee Poland because of her revolutionary activities, she settled in Zurich, where she became a Marxist and founder (1892) of the Polish Socialist Party and the Social Democratic Party of Poland (1894). After acquiring German citizenship through marriage (1898), she organized workers in the German Social Democratic Party (SPD), participated in the Polish revolution of 1905, and published her most famous work, The Accumulation of Capital (1914). While in prison during World War I, she formed with Karl Liebknecht and Clara Zetkin the Spartacus League, which became the German Communist Party (1918). In 1919 Luxemburg and Liebknecht were arrested for taking part in a Spartacist uprising and murdered by soldiers while on their way to prison.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Letters of Rosa Luxemburg. Stephen E. Bonner, ed. Atlantic Highlands, New Jersey: Humanities Press, 1993. 307pp. An essential source for the biographer and a supplement for anyone interested in encountering Luxemburg directly, her correspondence is collected in this scholarly edition.

Rosa Luxemburg Speaks. Mary-Alice Waters, ed. New York: Pathfinder Press, 1970. 473pp. Drawing on excerpts from Luxemburg’s writings, this informative volume offers the reader a useful introduction to the woman through her own words.

Recommended Biographies

Bronner, Stephen E. Rosa Luxemburg: A Revolutionary for Our Times. University Park: Pennsylvania State University Press, 1997. 130pp. Bronner provides a succinct introduction to Luxemburg’s political views by placing her intellectual development in the context of Marxism and the international socialist movement.

Nettl, J.P. Rosa Luxemburg. London: Oxford University Press, 1966. 2 vols. The first truly scholarly analysis of Luxemburg’s life and career, Nettl’s lengthy, but readable, study remains definitive, drawing extensively on Luxemburg’s correspondence to trace the development of her ideas and her place in the history of socialism. A one-volume abridgement is also available (New York: Oxford University Press, 1969. 557pp.).

Ettinger, Elzbieta. Rosa Luxemburg: A Life. Boston: Beacon Press, 1986. 286pp. Concentrating more on Luxemburg’s private life and personality than Nettl’s more integrated study, Ettinger’s book is a useful supplement but, because Luxemburg’s ideas are not considered in-depth and the historical context is sketchy, is unsatisfying as a single source. Drawing on recently uncovered Polish material, Ettinger supplies a vivid portrait of Luxemburg’s passionate and contradictory nature.

Other Biographical Studies

Abraham, Richard. Rosa Luxemburg: A Life for the International. New York: Berg, 1989. 178pp. In a concise introduction to Luxemburg’s life, theories, and achievements for the general reader, Abraham’s narrative and interpretive synthesis is sometimes confusing for readers unfamiliar with Marxist ideology, and his treatment of Luxemburg’s Jewishness and femininity is superficial. Does serve as an overview of Luxemburg’s public life for those unfamiliar with the subject.

Basso, Lelio. Rosa Luxemburg: A Reappraisal. New York: Praeger, 1975. 183pp. Basso’s intellectual biography traces the development of Luxemburg’s ideas and her impact on Marxist theory. Passionate in its advocacy of Luxemburg’s importance as a thinker, the book is recommended as a sensible assessment of her intellectual achievement.

Cliff, Tony. Rosa Luxemburg. London: Bookmarks, 1959. 83pp. Cliffs succinct political biography focuses on Luxemburg’s teachings and place in the international socialist movement. An outstanding introduction that makes accessible to the nonspecialist complex political theory and socialist ideology.

Frolich, Paul. Rosa Luxemburg: Ideas in Action. London: Pluto Press, 1972. 329pp. The work of one of Luxemburg’s colleagues, Frölich’s is an insider’s view with all the emotional immediacy and bias of a devoted admirer.

Geras, Norman. The Legacy of Rosa Luxemburg. London: NLB, 1976. 210pp. In a reinterpretation of several major aspects of Luxemburg’s works and impact, Geras focuses more on her revolutionary ideas than her personality and life.

Biographical Novels

Döblin, Alfred. A People Betrayed. New York: Fromm International, 1983. 642pp. In a cinematic panorama that weaves fictional and historical characters and events, the novel captures Berlin in 1918 with details of Rosa Luxemburg’s wartime activities. In the sequel, Karl and Rosa (New York: Fromm International, 1983. 547pp.) Döblin narrates the tragic fate of Rosa Luxemburg and Karl Liebknecht who lead the proletarian revolution in Germany that erupts following World War I. Their story, told in a symphony of fictional and historical voices, becomes a moving personal tragedy as well as a political epic of Germany between the wars.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

The Great War and the Shaping of the 20th Century (1996). Director: Carl Byker. In this acclaimed PBS documentary series Nasassia Kinski provides the voice of Rosa Luxemburg in a moving segment depicting her war activities and tragic death. Video.

Rosa Luxemburg (1985). Director: Margarethe Von Trotta. Based on Luxemburg’s own writings, this German film thoughtfully dramatizes her political and personal life. Barbara Sukova is impressive as Luxemburg, with Otto Sander as Karl Liebknecht. Video.

Other Sources

Le Blanc, Paul, ed. Rosa Luxemburg: Reflections and Writings. Amherst, New York: Humanity Books, 1999. 272pp. This volume combines recollections, critical views, and excerpts from Luxemburg’s writings and speeches.

M

297. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR

1880–1964

American general and hero of World War II, MacArthur was born in Little Rock, Arkansas, was reared on army posts, and attended military school and West Point. He commanded the 42nd (Rainbow) Division and the 84th Infantry Brigade during World War I, and as superintendent of West Point (1919–1922) helped modernize the academy's military training program. He held various commands in the Philippines (1922–1925), was department commander of the Philippines (1928), and served as U.S. Army chief of staff (1930–1935). He retired from the army (1937) but was recalled (1941) to command U.S. forces in East Asia, eventually directing the campaign to liberate the Philippines. He led the postwar reconstruction of Japan as Allied supreme commander and commanded U.N. forces during the Korean conflict. His unwillingness to obey President Truman's order to limit the war to Korea led to his removal from command (1951). He retired from active service and in 1952 became the chairman of the board of the Remington Rand Corporation.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Reminiscences. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1964. 438pp. Defensive and self-serving, MacArthur's recollections were written in the last two years of his life and because of the overall tone of the author's infallibility provide an often inadvertent, unflattering illumination of MacArthur's character.

Reports of General MacArthur. Charles A. Willoughby, ed. Washington, DC: Department of the Army, 1966. 4 vols. Covering the events between 1941 and 1948 this collection of MacArthur's reports offers the general's own assessment of his wartime and postwar activities, although the army issued a disclaimer challenging the accuracy of many of MacArthur's findings.

A Soldier Speaks: Public Papers and Speeches of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur. Vorin E. Whan, ed. New York: Praeger, 1965. 367pp. This useful compilation of MacArthur's speeches, letters, and public writings is arranged chronologically from 1908 to his 1964 birthday address. Includes photographs from his entire career.

Recommended Biographies

James, D. Clayton. The Years of MacArthur. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1970–1985. 3 vols. Universally regarded as the definitive biography and acclaimed as one of the finest military biographies ever written, James's scholarly, exhaustively documented, enormously detailed treatment of MacArthur's entire career is balanced, comprehensive, and extremely readable, despite its length. However, even James, who devoted over two decades to his subject, admits that MacArthur the man remains for him a bewildering figure.

Manchester, William. American Caesar: Douglas MacArthur, 1880–1964. Boston: Little, Brown, 1978. 793pp. Based largely on James, Manchester's bestselling biography concentrates on MacArthur's character and personality and allows his many paradoxes to stand unresolved.

Perret, Geoffrey. Old Soldiers Never Die: The Life of Douglas MacArthur. New York: Random House, 1996. 663pp. This is the best one-volume biography available. Perret supplies a comprehensive, well-written, and believable human portrait of MacArthur that avoids the distortion of either undue adulation or vilification. Granting MacArthur high marks as a military commander, Perret does not avoid criticizing him for his shortcomings.

Other Biographical Studies

Blair, Clay Jr. MacArthur. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1977. 346pp. Written as a companion to the 1977 film, Blair concentrates on the World War II years with less fully developed sections on MacArthur's early and later career. More balanced than many books on the subject, Blair allows MacArthur's achievements to stand but is critical as well.

Gunther, John. The Riddle of MacArthur: Japan, Korea, and the Far East. New York: Harper, 1951. 240pp. Gunther's character study, though marred by factual errors and selectivity, is the first more complex treatment of MacArthur's complicated psyche.

Kelley, Frank R., and Cornelius Ryan. MacArthur: Man of Action. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1950. 191pp. Written before MacArthur's dismissal in 1951, the authors provide a mainly heroic portrait of the general, more as a paragon than a man. The book is undocumented and error-filled. In Star-Spangled Mikado (New York: R.M. McBride, 1947. 282pp.), the same team offers a more critical assessment of MacArthur's administration of Japan following the war.

Lee, Clark, and Richard Henschel. Douglas MacArthur. New York: Holt, 1952. 370pp. This brief, informal biographical portrait that covers MacArthur's life from his birth to 1951 includes some interesting facts about the general's early years, but is chiefly valuable for its extensive pictorial record.

Long, Gavin. MacArthur as Military Commander. Princeton, New Jersey: Van Nostrand, 1969. 243pp. Written by the general editor of the official Australian history of World War II, this military biography covers MacArthur's career from his days at West Point to the end of the Philippine campaign in a balanced, objective assessment of MacArthur's skill as a commander.

Miller, Francis T. General Douglas MacArthur: Soldier-Statesman. Philadelphia: Winston, 1951. 313pp. Revision of General Douglas MacArthur: Fighter for Freedom (1942). Miller's 1942 biographical tribute was the first in the field, and the revision serves primarily as a historical document reflecting MacArthur's public reputation both during the war and following his dismissal by Truman.

Petillo, Carol M. Douglas MacArthur: The Philippine Years. Bloomington: Indiana University Press, 1981. 301pp. This highly speculative psychobiography examines MacArthur's years in the Philippines to provide a key for understanding his motives and subsequent behavior.

Schaller, Michael. Douglas MacArthur: The Far Eastern General. New York: Oxford University Press, 1989. 320pp. In a political profile rather than a full-scale biography, Schaller argues that MacArthur was an unscrupulous, self-serving soldier whose own manipulation of his image gave him an undeserved reputation. In one of the strongest negative assessments yet written, the book de-emphasizes anything in MacArthur's favor and is far too polemical to be reliable as a full and trustworthy portrait.

Schoor, Gene. General Douglas MacArthur: A Pictorial Biography. New York: Field, 1951. 46pp. This brief illustrated biography includes over 125

photographs arranged chronologically, documenting MacArthur’s life and military career up to 1951.

Scott, Robert A. Douglas Mac-Arthur and the Century of War. New York: Facts on File, 1997. 160pp. In a useful, casebook approach, MacArthur’s life and political and military career are traced using photographs, primary sources, and historical assessments.

Smith, Robert. MacArthur in Korea: The Naked Emperor. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1982. 256pp. In a misleading title, Smith’s ranges over MacArthur’s entire career, assembling evidence to discredit the general and justify his dismissal by Truman. The book’s negative bias is as distorting as the more adulatory studies by MacArthur partisans.

Whitney, Courtney. MacArthur: His Rendezvous with Destiny. New York: Knopf, 1955. 542pp. A close associate of MacArthur throughout the war years, Whitney has the advantage of firsthand access that few others can claim, but the overall assessment of the general is as a flawless commander, and the lack of critical balance limits the book’s believability.

Willoughby, Charles A., and John Chamberlain. MacArthur, 1941–51. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1954. 441 pp. Although featuring a firsthand look at MacArthur’s command decisions by Willoughby, the general’s intelligence chief during the war, this is a highly partisan defense of MacArthur’s military career and is very much the version of events that MacArthur himself supported.

Fictional Portraits

Conroy, Robert. 1901. Novato, California: Lyford Books, 1995. 374pp. In this alternate history, the novel imagines a German invasion of the United States in 1901 with a huge cast of historical figures, including Douglas MacArthur, forced to respond to events consistently with their personalities.

Kaminsky, Stuart M. Buried Caesars. New York: Mysterious Press, 1989. 179pp. In this installment of the author’s clever historical mystery series, private eye Toby Peters is hired by General MacArthur in 1942 to find one of his aides who has absconded with papers that could destroy his political aspirations.

Slater, Ian. MacArthur Must Die. New York: D.I. Fine, 1994. 296pp. In a historical thriller, MacArthur’s life in Brisbane after his retreat from the Philippines is described, as a plot to assassinate him is launched by the Japanese.

Weaver, John D. Another Such Victory. New York: Viking, 1948. 250pp. This story of a family spending a summer in the Washington encampment of the Bonus Army features an interesting sketch of MacArthur.

Webb, James H. The Emperor’s General. New York: Broadway Books, 1999. 401pp. Webb offers a speculative inquiry into MacArthur’s postwar dealings with the Japanese. The general’s enormous ego and human failings are viewed from the perspective of a fictional aide-de-camp.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Devaney, John. Douglas MacArthur: Something of a Hero. New York: Putnam, 1979. 191pp. YA. As its title indicates, this is a balanced assessment of both sides of MacArthur’s character and achievement that does not gloss over the less-flattering aspects of the general.

Feinberg, Barbara S. Douglas MacArthur: American Hero. New York: F.Watts, 1999. 128pp. MG. Provides a full-scale chronological account of MacArthur’s life and career from childhood.

Finkelstein, Norman H. The Emperor General: A Biography of Douglas MacArthur. Minneapolis: Dillon Press, 1989. 128pp. MG. Capturing the high points of MacArthur’s life in an accessible style and with useful illustrations, this is an adequate introduction to the man and his achievements.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: General Douglas MacArthur (1995). Producer: Lou Reda. In a full-length biographical portrait, MacArthur’s remarkable career is documented as well as his considerable personality paradoxes. Video.

American Caesar (1985). Director: John McGreevy. Based on Manchester’s book, this documentary, narrated by John Huston, chronicles MacArthur’s entire career. Video.

An American Guerrilla in the Philippines (1950). Director: Fritz Lang. Tyrone Power leads a solid cast in a heroic depiction of the resistance to the Japanese after the fall of the Philippines. Robert Barrat reprises his portrayal as General MacArthur from They Were Expendable.

The Court Martial of Billy Mitchell (1955). Director: Otto Preminger. A taut courtroom drama based on the secret 1925 trial of Billy Mitchell, who condemned America’s lack of readiness for a coming war with Japan. Gary Cooper stars as Billy Mitchell, Dayton Lummis appears as MacArthur, and Rod Steiger is a standout as an attorney. Video.

Inchon! (1982). Director: Terence Young. Produced by Sung Myung Moon’s Unification Church, this is a laughable heroic epic depicting MacArthur’s triumph during the Korean War, with an odd, bravura performance by Laurence Olivier as MacArthur.

In Pursuit of Honor (1995). Director: Ken Olin. Based on a true story, the film depicts five cavalry soldiers ordered by MacArthur (James Sikking) in 1935 to destroy their mounts as part of the army’s modernization. Instead they attempt to drive 400 horses to safety in Canada. Starring Don Johnson, Craig Sheffer, and Bob Gunton. Video.

The Last Bastion (1984). Director: Chris Thomson. Robert Vaughn portrays MacArthur in this World War II television drama focusing on the political struggles among Churchill (Timothy West), Roosevelt (Warren Mitchell), and Australia’s John Curtin (Michael Blakemore). Video.

MacArthur (1977). Director: Joseph Sargent. Gregory Peck portrays MacArthur from the fall of Corregidor to his dismissal by Truman. Dan O’Herlihy plays Franklin D.Roosevelt and Ed Flanders is Truman. Video.

MacArthur: The Defiant General (1981). Producer: Arthur Holch. This is a personality profile that examines the controversies that dogged MacArthur’s career. Video.

They Were Expendable (1945). Director: John Ford. Based on the true story of a PT boat squadron in the Philippines during the Japanese invasion, Robert Barrat portrays MacArthur with a strong cast including Robert Montgomery, John Wayne, and Donna Reed. Video.

Truman (1995). Director: Frank Pierson. Based on David McCullough’s Pulitzer Prize-winning biography, Gary Sinise portrays Truman from 1917 to 1968. The film features the president’s stormy relationship with MacArthur (Daniel von Bargen). Video.

Other Sources

Winner, Lawrence S., ed. MacArthur. Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Prentice-Hall, 1971. 186pp. Part of the Great Lives Observed series, this useful volume includes excerpts from Mac Arthur’s own writings, contemporaries recollections, and scholar’s assessments.

298. NICCOLÒ MACHIAVELLI

1469–1527

Italian statesman and political theorist, Machiavelli was one of the outstanding figures of the Renaissance. He served the Republic of Florence as defense secretary and diplomat but lost his position when the Medicis came to power. His famous work is The Prince (1532), a treatise on Italian politics and the attainment of political power. Among his other works are the play, Mandragola (1524), and the brilliant History of Florence (1532).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Letters of Machiavelli. Allan Gilbert, ed. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1988. 252pp. This collection of letters is an invaluable source of information on Machiavelli’s activities, relationships, and ideas.

Recommended Biographies

De Grazia, Sebastian. Machiavelli in Hell. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1989. 497pp. De Grazia’s intellectual biography is a well-written reassessment that argues that Machiavelli should be evaluated in political rather than moral terms and in the context of his times. However, as one reviewer argues, the book “creates an appealing and familiar Machiavelli, but it does so at the price of neutralizing many of the toughest challenges he continues to offer us.”

Ridolfi, Roberto. The Life of Machiavelli. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1963. 337pp. This is the fullest and most authoritative guide to Machiavelli’s life with the first half of the book devoted to his political career and the second to his years in exile. The book helps to animate Machiavelli’s public and private life against a vivid background of historical events and politics of his era.

Other Biographical Studies

Curry, Patrick. Introducing Machiavelli. New York: Totem Books, 1996. 175pp. This is a lively overview of Machiavelli’s life and ideas intended for the generalist and student.

Prezzolini, Giuseppe. Machiavelli. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1967. 372pp. Looking first at Machiavelli’s ideas, the author devotes most of his efforts on Machiavelli’s influences with a brief overview of his experiences.

Ruffò-Fiore, Silvia. Niccolò Machiavelli. Boston: Twayne, 1982. 179pp. This critical study provides a useful summary of Machiavelli’s life and the connection between his experiences and his ideas. Suitable for the undergraduate and the general reader.

Skinner, Quentin. Machiavelli. New York: Hill & Wang, 1981. 102pp. Skinner provides a brief biographical overview as well as a helpful introduction to Machiavelli’s works and philosophy geared to the general reader.

Tarlton, Charles D. Fortune’s Circle: A Biographical Interpretation of Niccolò Machiavelli. Chicago: Quadrangle Press, 1970. 159pp. Tarlton defends Machiavelli from the charge of immorality by focusing on his ideas, his environment, and relationships. Too selective to be useful as a comprehensive overview, the book is nevertheless a stimulating analysis aimed at the general reader rather than the specialist.

Biographical Novels

Maugham, W.Somerset. Then and Now. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1946. 278pp. Maugham dramatizes the political education of Machiavelli, linking his theories from The Prince to period events.

Fictional Portraits

Bennetts, Pamela. The Borgia Prince. New York: St. Martin’s, 1968. 254pp. Cesare Borgia is shown in war and love in a temperate portrait that resists portraying him as a monster. Machiavelli is on hand to observe the prince and develop his notion of political power.

Eliot, George. Romola. 1863. Reprint ed. New York: Oxford University Press, 1998. 622pp. Eliot’s historical novel set in fifteenth-century Florence weaves a fictional story around actual events and appearances by such historical figures as Lorenzo de’Medici, Charles VIII, Savonarola, and Machiavelli.

Haasse, Hella S. The Scarlet City: A Novel of 16th-Century Italy. Chicago: Academy Chicago Publishers, 1990. 367pp. In Haase’s masterful recreation of the Italian Wars during the sixteenth century, a large cast of historical figures are featured, including Alexander VI, Cesare Borgia, Michelangelo, and Machiavelli.

See also The Borgias and Lorenzo de’Medici

299–300. JAMES MADISON (1751–1836); DOLLEY MADISON (1768–1849)

The fourth U.S. president (1809–1817), Madison was born in Port Conway, Virginia, and graduated (1771) from the College of New Jersey (now Princeton). He served in the Continental Congress (1780–1783, 1787) and in the Virginia State Legislature (1784–1786). Known as the “father of the Constitution,” Madison promoted the Annapolis Convention which led to the Constitutional Convention (1787) and co-authored the Federalist Papers, political essays supporting the Constitution. As congressman from Virginia (1789–1797) he strongly advocated the Bill of Rights. During the 1790s he helped found the Democratic-Republican Party, later the Democratic Party, and fought against passage of the Alien and Sedition Acts (1798). Madison served as Jefferson’s secretary of state (1801–1808). A trade embargo against Great Britain in his first presidential term led to the War of 1812; British troops burned the White House (1814). Madison’s postwar term was marked by a period of new prosperity and national expansion. He retired to his plantation, Montpelier, in 1817 and served as Rector of the University of Virginia from 1826.

Born to Quaker parents in Guilford County, North Carolina, Dolley Madison was raised in simplicity and married (1790) Quaker John Todd, who died in a yellow fever epidemic (1793). She left the Friends to marry (1794) James Madison and served as official White House hostess for widower Thomas Jefferson. She was known as a lavish hostess and noted for her wit, charm, and tact.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

James Madison: A Biography in His Own Words. Merrill D.Peterson, ed. New York: Harper & Row, 1974. 416pp. Using extracts from Madison’s writings, explanatory notes, and connecting text, Madison provides his own version of his life experience and ideas.

Memoirs and Letters of Dolley Madison. Lucia B. Cutts, ed. 1886. Reprint ed. Port Washington, New York: Kennikat Press, 1971. 210pp. This compilation of Dolley Madison’s writings was collected by her grandniece and serves as an indispensable primary biographical source and revealing look at her character and wit.

The Papers of James Madison. William T.Hutchinson, ed. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1962–1987. 14 vols. This still unfinished scholarly edition of Madison’s writings has replaced in accuracy and comprehensibility two previous collections: Letters and Other Writings of James Madison. William C.Rives, ed. (Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1865. 4 vols.) and The Writings of James Madison. Gaillard Hunt, ed. (New York: Putnam, 1900–1910. 9 vols.).

Recommended Biographies

Brant, Irving. James Madison. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill, 1941–1961. 6 vols. Brant’s monumental biography remains the most comprehensive gathering of facts concerning Madison’s life and is regarded as definitive, despite the author’s inability to admit his subject’s shortcomings. Exhaustively detailed on every aspect of Madison’s personal and private life, Brant’s treatment is at times ponderous. General readers may prefer Brant’s one-volume condensation, The Fourth President: A Life of James Madison (Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill, 1970. 681pp.), which eliminates the original endnotes and the author’s rebuttal of other historians’ views, but still manages to capture the spirit of the man, and includes all the important details of Madison’s life.

Ketcham, Ralph. James Madison: A Biography. New York: Macmillan, 1971. 753pp. The best available one-volume biography, Ketcham’s analysis of Madison’s life and thought is judicious and balanced and frequently at odds with Brant’s more sympathetic treatment of Madison’s personal strengths and achievements.

Moore, Virginia. The Madisons: A Biography. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1979. 568pp. This well-researched, highly readable chronological account of the Madisons’ relationship is based on the writings of both James and Dolley Madison. The pragmatic and intellectual James is contrasted with the passionate Dolley, both of whose personalities begin to merge in the later stages of their relationship.

Rutland, Robert A. James Madison: The Founding Father. New York: Macmillan, 1987. 287pp. Far less detailed than Ketcham and written for a more popular audience, Rutland’s is a succinct and balanced assessment that serves both to underscore Madison’s influence and talents but does not shy away from criticism of his leadership and capabilities.

Other Biographical Studies

Adams, John Quincy. The Lives of James Madison and James Monroe, the Fourth and Fifth Presidents of the United States. Boston: Phillips/Sampson, 1850. 432pp. This first biography of Madison is an informal portrait based on Adams’s personal acquaintance. The book retains historical significance, considering its author and his perspective on the historical era.

Anthony, Katharine. Dolley Madison, Her Life and Times. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1949. 426pp. In an undocumented, vivid account for the general reader, Dolley Madison’s life is helpfully placed in her historical and cultural context.

Banning, Lance. The Sacred Fire of Liberty: James Madison and the Founding of the Federal Republic. Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1995. 543pp. Banning’s brilliant and original intellectual biography chronicles the development of Madison’s thought from 1780 to 1792 and challenges many of the assumptions of previous biographers and historians and alters the paradigm for viewing Madison’s ideological role in the founding.

Gay, Sydney H. James Madison. 1884. Reprinted. New York: AMS Press, 1972. 342pp. Gay’s hostile account of Madison’s character and achievement surveys the highlights of his career and finds him wanting as a man, president, and war leader. The book serves as an example of the negative, pro-Federalist view of Madison that subsequent biographers have been forced to address.

Hunt, Gaillard. The Life of James Madison. 1902. Reprint ed. New York: Russell & Russell, 1968. 402pp. Written by an early editor of Madison’s writings, this is a scholarly biography that draws on the author’s familiarity with the primary material. More generous to Madison than Gay, Hunt provides a more balanced assessment but still with a strong anti-Jefferson and pro-Hamilton bias.

McCoy, Drew R. The Last of the Fathers: James Madison and the Republican Legacy. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1989. 386pp. The focus here is on the neglected period in Madison’s life, between his retirement in 1817 and his death. In a beautifully written and richly detailed topical account, McCoy broadens the intellectual portrait of Madison by showing his persistent effort to realize the founders’ vision in the development of the young nation.

Miller, William L. The Business of May Next: James Madison and the Founding. Charlottesville: University Press of Press, 1992, 296pp. In an intellectual and political biography, Miller concentrates on the critical years between 1784 and 1791 and the shaping of the Constitution and the debate over its ratification. Madison’s intellectual development is used to illuminate the moral and ideological basis for the American government.

Rives, William C. History of the Life and Times of James Madison. Boston: Little, Brown, 1859–1868. 3 vols. Rives’s early scholarly treatment of Madison’s life drew on primary sources, which he quotes from extensively. However, Rives takes Madison’s story only up to 1797, and the author’s historical and political interests cause him to lose the biographical focus for significant stretches. Clearly the work of an admirer, Rives’s bias limits his objectivity and his facts are not always reliable.

Rutland, Robert A. The Presidency of James Madison. Lawrence: University Press of Kansas, 1990. 233pp. Written by an acknowledged expert on Madison and the early years of the United States, Rutland’s succinct examination of Madison’s presidency balances praise and criticism in an overall sympathetic assessment of his administration.

Schultz, Harold S. James Madison. New York: Twayne, 1970. 241pp. This political biography offers a succinct and balanced assessment of Madison’s public career that is often at odds with Brant’s interpretation but lacks details on his personal life and cultural history.

Biographical Novels

Brown, Rita Mae. Dolley: A Novel of Dolley Madison in Love and War. New York: Bantam, 1994. 382pp. Dolley Madison tells her own story through her diary and emerges as a complex, savvy politician who must contend with a male-dominated political world in a remarkable historical reconstruction of the era and its leading figures.

Wilson, Dorothy C. Queen Dolley: The Life and Times of Dolley Madison. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1987. 373pp. In a largely faithful account of Dolley Madison’s life and times, her youth, first marriage, and her relationship with James Madison is depicted.

Fictional Portraits

Hoffmann, Peggy. My Dear Cousin. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1970. 435pp. This story of the War of 1812 describes the tragic romance between a Baltimore belle and the British ambassador, with appearances by a number of historical figures, including James and Dolley Madison.

Martin, William. Back Bay. New York: Crown, 1979. 437pp. The mysterious disappearance of a valuable tea set fashioned by Paul Revere and presented to George Washington in 1789 forms the situation to this historical novel that features appearances by a number of historical figures, including Dolley Madison.

Nevin, David. 1812. New York: Forge, 1996. 445pp. Interweaving a fictional story with an accurate historical account of the events of the War of 1812, the Madisons’ White House experiences are described.

Vidal, Gore. Burr: A Novel. New York: Random House, 1973. 430p. Told partly by Burr himself at the end of his life reflecting on the events of the Revolution and the early years of the Republic, Vidal’s endlessly provocative revisionist view, based on solid research, is often highly critical of the founding fathers. Both James and Dolley Madison are depicted.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Davidson, Mary R. Dolley Madison: Famous First Lady. New York: Chelsea House, 1992. 80pp. MG. The highlights of Dolley Madison’s life and role as first lady are chronicled in this adequate chronological narrative.

Fritz, Jean. The Great Little Madison. New York: Putnam, 1989. 149pp. MG. Blending details about Madison’s private life, his partnership with his wife, and the historical context, Fritz animates Madison’s life and era with her characteristic vividness and invitingly light, comic tone.

Leavell, J.Perry. James Madison. New York: Chelsea House, 1988. 111pp. MG/YA. Leavell’s is a solid, informative survey of Madison’s life in the context of the historical events of his era.

Malone, Mary. James Madison. Springfield, New Jersey: Enslow, 1997. 128pp. MA/YA. Although some personal information about Madison’s childhood, education, and marriage is included, the emphasis here is on Madison’s public career and intellectual contributions in a sympathetic profile.

Quakenbush, Robert M. James Madison and Dolley Madison and Their Times. New York: Pippin Press, 1992. 36pp. MG. In a humorous approach that allows both Madisons to reflect on their lives together during the creation of the Constitution and the War of 1812, the major events of their lives are presented with the author’s customary cartoonlike drawings.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Liberty!: The American Revolution (1997). Directors: Ellen Hovde and Muffie Meyer. This PBS documentary series features actors portraying the principals in dramatic readings from their letters and speeches. James Madison is played by Jefferson Mays. The companion volume is written by Thomas J.Fleming (New York: Viking, 1997. 394pp.). Video.

Magnificent Doll (1946). Director: Frank Borzage. Hollywood historical romp features Ginger Rogers as Dolley Madison—in love with both James Madison (Burgess Meredith) and Aaron Burr (David Niven)—who helps Jefferson to win the presidency and secures her own eventual role as first lady. Not convincing either as history or drama, despite a screenplay by Irving Stone.

Other Sources

Rutland, Robert A., ed. James Madison and the American Nation 1751–1836: An Encyclopedia. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1994. 509pp. This alphabetically arranged reference volume focuses on Madison’s life and times, covering most of the key events and personalities.

301. FERDINAND MAGELLAN

ca. 1480–1521

Portuguese navigator who commanded the first expedition around the world, Magellan sailed from Spain with five ships to look for a western route to the East Indies. He explored the east coast of South America and discovered and entered the strait that bears his name. He continued across the Pacific and reached the Philippines, where he was killed in a skirmish with natives. Only one ship returned to Spain, thus completing the voyage around the world.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Magellan’s Voyage around the World: Three Contemporary Accounts. Charles E.Nowell, ed. Evanston, Illinois: Northwestern University Press, 1962. 351pp. This useful volume brings together the eyewitness accounts of Antonio Pigafetta, the recollections of survivors of the circumnavigation after their return to Spain, and an account by a contemporary Portuguese historian.

Recommended Biographies

Guillemard, Francis H.H. The Life of Ferdinand Magellan and the First Circumnavigation of the Globe 1480–1521. 1890. Reprint ed. New York: AMS Press, 1971. 353pp. Guillemard’s study of Magellan’s life and the circumnavigation remains one of the most reliable and compelling treatments available. The essential evidence of Magellan’s life is collected, with documentary evidence supplied in useful appendixes. The highpoint, however, is the author’s rousing, unsurpassed narrative account of the voyage.

Parr, Charles M. So Noble a Captain: The Life and Times of Ferdinand Magellan. New York:

Crowell, 1953. 423pp, The emphasis here is on the times over Magellan’s life, but there are few better or more authoritative accounts of the background to Magellan’s voyage. Once Magellan takes center stage, the narration of his leadership during the voyage is dramatic and revealing.

Roditi, Edouard. Magellan of the Pacific. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1973. 271pp. Regarded by many as the best popular biography of Magellan in English, Roditi’s is a well-written narrative account mostly devoted to events of the voyage but with insight into Magellan’s motives and the reasons for his shift of allegiance from Portugal to Spain.

Other Biographical Studies

Joyner, Tim. Magellan. Camden, Maine: International Marine, 1992. 365pp. The work of a fisheries biologist, this is a straightforward account that relates Magellan’s achievement in the wider context of the European search for a sea route to India and draws on the author’s own sailing experiences along the coast of South America.

Zweig, Stefan. Conqueror of the Seas. New York: Viking, 1938. 335pp. Zweig’s is an impressionistic account of Magellan’s voyage with an emphasis on its challenges and drama, not always reliable or very penetrating, but still entertaining.

Fictional Portraits

Ponce de Leon, N.Baccino. Five Black Ships. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1994. 347pp. Magellan’s circumnavigation is recounted from the imagined perspective of the expedition’s jester in a narrative that stays close to the actual dates and events of the voyage.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Brewster, Scott. Ferdinand Magellan. Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Silver Burdett, 1990. 104pp. MG. An installment in the What Made Them Great series, this is a vivid account of Magellan’s voyage around the world and the events leading up to his death.

Hargrove, Jim. Ferdinand Magellan. Chicago: Childrens Press, 1990. 128pp. MG. Hargrove sets the man and his accomplishments in the political, economic, and cultural contexts of his period in a highly readable account that makes use of primary sources to add immediacy.

Steffoff, Rebecca. Ferdinand Magellan and the Discovery of the World Oceans. New York: Chelsea House, 1990. 127pp. YA. In a detailed biography, what little is known of Magellan’s early life is covered, and the voyage is vividly chronicled.

302. GUSTAV MAHLER

1860–1911

A composer and conductor born in Austrian Bohemia, Mahler studied at the University of Vienna and the Vienna Conservatory. He was conductor of the Budapest Imperial Opera (1888–1890), the Hamburg Municipal Theater (1891–1897), the Vienna State Opera (1897–1907), the New York Philharmonic (1909–1911), and the Metropolitan Opera (1908–1910). He composed his nine symphonies in the off seasons (an unfinished tenth was completed by Deryck Cooke) and wrote numerous song cycles. His later works influenced the next generation of Austrian composers, particularly Arthur Schoenberg and Alban Berg. Mahler’s symphonies are known for their startling harmonic and orchestral effects and for their use of solo and choral voices.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Blaukopf, Kurt, and Herta Blaukopf. Mahler: His Life, Work, and World. London: Thames and Hudson, 1991. 255pp. The authors collect a variety of contemporary materials, including letters, reviews, concert programs, and diary extracts, to create a view of Mahler in his own words and those of his friends, colleagues, and critics.

Selected Letters. Knud Marner, ed. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1979. 480pp. This rich sampling of Mahler’s correspondence provides invaluable insights into the composer’s character and the milieu in which he worked.

Recommended Biographies

Carr, Jonathan. Mahler: A Biography. Woodstock, New York: Overlook Press, 1998. 254pp. The most insightful and provocative single-volume study of the composer, Carr’s examination draws on source material unavailable in English and challenges many of the widely held assumptions about Mahler in a lucid and balanced account. An excellent initial choice for the student and nonspecialist.

La Grange, Henry-Louis de. Mahler. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1973. 982pp.; Gustav Mahler: Vienna: The Years of Challenge 1897–1904. New York: Oxford University Press, 1994. 892pp.; Gustav Mahler: Vienna, Triumph and Disillusion 1904–1907. New York: Oxford University Press, 2000. 1,024pp. La Grange’s tireless research has produced the most comprehensive gathering of facts surrounding every aspect of Mahler’s life and career up to 1907, with additional volumes to come. Almost microscopic in its attention to detail, La Grange provides a nearly day-by-day account. All subsequent biographers will be indebted to his efforts, though the casual reader will likely use La Grange’s monumental volumes as a reference source rather than a sustained narrative.

Mitchell, Donald. Gustav Mahler: The Early Years. 1958. Revised ed. Berkeley: University of California Press, 1980. 338pp.; Gustav Mahler: The Wunderhorn Years. Boulder. Colorado: Westview Press, 1976. 461pp.; Gustav Mahler: Songs and Symphonies of Life and Death. Berkeley: University of California Press, 1985. 659pp. Mitchell’s first volume of his multivolume study provides an exceptional, thorough, and revealing treatment of Mahler’s youth and development. His subsequent volumes are increasingly devoted less to biography than to a critical analysis of Mahler’s artistic development and musical genius.

Other Biographical Studies

Bauer-Lechner, Natalie. Recollections of Gustav Mahler. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1980. 250pp. The author, a close friend and confidante of Mahler during his early years in Vienna, provides an affectionate and believable intimate, anecdotal portrait of the composer in a series of vignettes with re-created conversations.

Blaukopf, Kurt. Gustav Mahler. New York: Praeger, 1973. 279pp. A valuable single-volume approach to Mahler’s character and artistry, and critical the reception of his work, Blaukopf emphasizes the interplay between the composer and his society with a number of provocative psychological insights on various aspects of Mahler’s personality.

Cardus, Neville. Gustav Mahler: His Mind and His Music. New York: St. Martin’s, 1965. 191pp. Largely focused on Mahler’s music rather than his life, Cardus analyses each of Mahler’s compositions chronologically, with a brief biographical context. The result presents a valuable intellectual and artistic portrait of the evolution of Mahler’s musical and imaginative genius.

Engel, Gabriel. Gustav Mahler: Song-Symphonist. New York: Bruckner Society of America, 1932. 132pp. Engel’s early biography is based on Mahler’s letters, many of which were not available when the book was written; therefore, the book’s biographical portrait is limited and incomplete, and superseded by later works.

Franklin, Peter. The Life of Mahler. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1997. 228pp. Written by a leading European conductor, this sensible critical biography helps separate the myth from the facts surrounding the composer but does presuppose some prior knowledge about Mahler’s life, circle, and music.

Gartenberg, Egon. Mahler: The Man and His Music. New York: Schirmer Books, 1978. 406pp. Dividing his study between Mahler’s life and a chronological critical analysis of his compositions, Gartenberg’s study is suitable for a wide audience, including those without a technical musical background. The book is particularly revealing on Mahler’s Viennese background.

Haylock, Julian. Gustav Mahler: An Essential Guide to His Life and Works. London: Pavilion, 1996. 106pp. Part of the Classic FM Lifelines series, this is a succinct and useful introduction to the man and his music.

Holbrook, David. Gustav Mahler and the Courage to Be. London: Vision Press, 1975. 270pp. The author examines Mahler’s Ninth Symphony and his final years as the point of entry to consider the composer’s psychological make-up and artistic genius. The book presupposes prior knowledge of Mahler’s life and music.

Kennedy, Michael. Mahler. London: Dent, 1974. 196pp. Serving as a useful brief introduction to the man, his music, and his times, Kennedy’s approach is accessible and useful to the uninitiated, general reader.

Loschnigg, Franz. The Cultural Education of Gustav Mahler. Madison: University of Wisconsin Press, 1976. 2 vols. Examining Mahler’s youth and development, Loschnigg provides an insightful survey of the cultural and intellectual context out of which the composer emerged, particularly strong on Mahler’s Jewish heritage.

Walter, Bruno. Gustav Mahler. 1937. Revised ed. New York: Greystone Press, 1941. 236pp. The recollections of Mahler’s assistant provide a unique firsthand account of Mahler’s professional life as a composer-conductor. At times self-serving, Walter glosses over certain details of his relationship with Mahler’s family circle.

Books by and about Mahler’s wife document the couple’s life together and the personal and domestic aspect of the composer’s life.

Giroud, Françoise. Alma Mahler: Or, the Art of Being Loved. New York: Oxford University Press, 1991. 162pp. Giroud’s critical biography of Alma Mahler portrays her in an unsympathetic light as a man-hungry beauty rather than the muse of other treatments. Her relationship with Mahler is the chief focus.

Keegan, Suzanne. The Bride of the Wind: The Life and Times of Alma Mahler-Werfel. New York: Viking, 1992. 346pp. In a well-organized, readable, and vivid portrait of the woman and her times, Keegan draws on a variety of factual sources to create a sympathetic but critical psychological portrait of Alma Mahler and her relationship with the several men in her life.

Mahler, Alma. Gustav Mahler: Memories and Letters. 1946. Revised ed. Donald Mitchell, ed. Seattle: University of Washington Press, 1968. 369pp. Offering her unique perspective of her 10-year marriage. Alma Mahler is often protective of her own and her husband’s reputation but includes personal details not available anywhere else.

Monson, Karen. Alma Mahler: Muse to Genius: From Fin-de-siècle Vienna to Hollywood’s Heyday. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1983. 348pp. Monson’s chronological narrative of Alma Mahler’s life and relationships depends strongly on her subject’s own recollections of her life with Mahler and makes little attempt at interpretation to solve the mystery of her appeal to so many creative figures.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Mahler (1974). Director: Ken Russell. Biographical fantasy based on Mahler’s life and his relationship with his wife. The couple is portrayed by Robert Powell and Georgina Hale. Video.

Other Sources

Blaukopf, Kurt, ed. Mahler: A Documentary Study. New York: Oxford University Press, 1976. 280pp. This fascinating collection of contemporary pictures and written documents are arranged in chronological order with valuable notes, presenting a unique look at Mahler’s milieu and career.

Lebrecht, Norman, ed. Mahler Remembered. New York: W.W.Norton, 1988. 322pp. Drawing on books, articles, memoirs, and letters of Mahler’s contemporaries, Lebrecht arranges his material chronologically to document Mahler’s life, personality, and musical accomplishment as seen through friends and associates.

303. MOSES MAIMONIDES

1135–1204

A Spanish scholar and physician, Maimonides was the foremost Jewish thinker of the Middle Ages. Forced to flee Muslim Spain because of persecution, his family fled to Egypt, where Maimonides became court physician to Saladin. His works include the Mishneh Torah, a codification of Jewish doctrine, Guide for the Perplexed, and the Moreh Nevukhim. Maimonides’s work has influenced Jewish and Christian scholars.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Letters of Maimonides. Leon D.Stitskin, ed. New York: Yeshiva University Press, 1977. 199pp. Maimonides’s collected letters are a rich source of insights into his mind and ideas. See also Epistles of Maimonides: Crisis of Leadership (Philadelphia: Jewish Publication Society, 1985. 292pp.), which reprints his most important epistles on religious persecution, the claims of Christianity and Islam, and the rational challenge to faith.

Recommended Biographies

Heschel, Abraham J. Maimonides: A Biography. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1982. 273pp. Originally published in Germany in 1935, Heschel supplies a popular introduction to Maimonides’s life and ideas in a lyrical style for which the philosopher-theologian was well known. Legends are incorporated into the account but they are identified as such. The book is particularly strong on the Muslim milieu of the period.

Zeitlin, Solomon. Maimonides: A Biography. 1935. Revised ed. New York: Bloch, 1955. 234pp. Zeitlin is more thorough than Heschel in collecting the existing evidence, supplying plausible conjectures to fill the gaps in the record. The book, however, assumes considerable familiarity with Jewish history.

Other Biographical Studies

Yellin, David. Maimonides: His Life and Works. 1903. Reprint ed. New York: Hermon Press, 1972. 193pp. Now out of date due to modern scholarship, this volume was written before new primary material helped redefine insights into Maimonides’s life and career.

Biographical Novels

Le Porrier, Herbert. The Doctor from Cordova: A Biographical Novel about the Great Philosopher Maimonides. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1979. 280pp. Maimonides narrates the story of his life in this fictional autobiography that chronicles his boyhood in Cordova, exile from Spain, travels in the Islamic world, and final service as court physician to Saladin.

Morrison, Lester M. Trial and Triumph: A Novel about Maimonides. New York: Crown, 1965. 469pp. The known events of Maimonides’s life and career are chronicled in this biographical novel that offers plausible surmises for gaps in the record.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Marcus, Rebecca B. Moses Maimonides: Rabbi, Philosopher, and Physician. New York: F.Watts, 1989. 114pp. MG. Marcus presents Maimonides’s life and ideas in a helpful summary with a solid historical background.

304. MALCOLM X

1925–1965

Born Malcolm Little in Omaha, Nebraska, militant African American leader Malcolm X was converted to the Nation of Islam while serving a prison sentence (1946–1952) and upon his release became a Muslim minister. His following in the movement equaled and even surpassed that of Muslim leader Elijah Mohammed. Malcolm formed a rival organization, the Muslim Mosque, Inc., and after a pilgrimage to Mecca, he converted to orthodox Islam and began to eschew separatism in favor of a policy supporting racial coexistence. He founded (1964) the Organization for Afro-American Unity (OAAU) and was assassinated during an OAAU meeting in a New York City auditorium.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Autobiography of Malcolm X. As told to Alex Haley. New York: Grove Press, 1965. 455pp. Dictated to Alex Haley, Malcolm X narrates his development from street criminal to Civil Rights leader. The book is regarded as a classic work on the African American experience and a revealing look at a fascinating figure. Brace Perry has challenged several facts recorded here, and his book should be consulted as a useful complement for biographical details.

Malcolm X’s correspondence and speeches are collected in several collections. The best are the following: By Any Means Necessary: Speeches, Interviews, and a Letter by Malcolm X (New York: Pathfinder Press, 1970. 184pp.); Malcolm Speaks: Selected Speeches and Statements. George Breitman, ed. (New York: Merit Publishers, 1965. 232pp.); and The Speeches of Malcolm X. Archie Epps, ed. (London: Owen, 1969. 191pp.).

Recommended Biographies

Goldman, Peter. The Death and Life of Malcolm X. New York: Harper & Row, 1973. 438pp. Contrary to other presentations of a heroic, idealized Malcolm X, Goldman reveals a far more human, limited individual. Uneven in its presentation of certain aspects of Malcolm X’s life, Goldman’s study is nevertheless provocative and challenging in attempting to answer how Malcolm X both influenced his era and was in turn shaped by his times.

Lomax, Louis E. To Kill a Black Man. Los Angeles: Holloway House, 1968. 256pp. Although undocumented and impressionistic, Lomax’s biographical comparative portrait of Malcolm X and Martin Luther King Jr. is based on firsthand knowledge of both men and is insightful as well as provocative in its interpretations. Lomax’s earlier book, When the Word is Given (Cleveland, Ohio: World, 1963. 223pp.), includes a portrait of Malcolm X during his days as a Muslim minister.

Perry, Bruce. Malcolm: The Life of a Man Who Changed Black America. New York: Talman, 1991. 542pp. Exhaustively researched, based on more than 400 interviews and Malcolm X’s FBI file, Perry’s psychohistorical analysis traces Malcolm X’s development, beginning with his abused childhood. Controversial in many of its findings and at odds with the facts recorded in the Autobiography, Perry’s examination challenges the conventional view of Malcolm X and replaces the legend that has surrounded him with a believable human portrait.

Other Biographical Studies

Breitman, George. The Last Year of Malcolm X: The Evolution of a Revolutionary. New York: Merit, 1967. 169pp. Breitman considers Malcolm X’s intellectual and political development in his final year and serves as an important supplement to the Autobiography. Drawing mainly on the speeches, Breitman chronicles the important period when Malcolm left the Nation of Islam and began to evolve a new political and moral ideology, becoming, from Breitman’s Marxist perspective, a social revolutionary.

Breitman, George, Herman Porter, and Baxter Smith. The Assassination of Malcolm X. New York: Pathfinder Press, 1976. 190pp. In a detailed look at the controversies surrounding Malcolm X’s death, the book challenges the official verdict and suggests a different interpretation of the event, while correcting several misconceptions about Malcolm’s development and ideas.

Cone, James H. Martin and Malcolm and America. Maryknoll, New York: Orbis Books, 1991. 358pp. This comparative study of the ideas of Malcolm X and Martin Luther King Jr. suggests how each man moved toward the other’s viewpoint by the time of their deaths, and makes the case that Malcolm X’s legacy is equal in importance to King’s.

Curtis, Richard. The Life of Malcolm X. Philadelphia: Macrae Smith, 1971. 164pp. This brief summary of Malcolm X’s life and thought serves as a succinct and sensitive introduction for both the general and the younger reader.

DeCaro, Louis A. On the Side of My People: A Religious Life of Malcolm X. New York: New York University Press, 1996. 363pp. In a scholarly but accessible analysis, DeCaro focuses on Malcolm’s spiritual development from his early years to his spiritual awakening, relationship with Elijah Muhammad, and his pilgrimage to Mecca. Correcting many previous interpretations, the book shows how family factors and his experiences helped determine his pro-African ideas and Sunni orthodoxy.

Dyson, Michael E. Making Malcolm: The Myth and Meaning of Malcolm X. New York: Oxford University Press, 1995. 215pp. In a series of essays, Dyson chronicles Malcolm X’s legacy, including his achievements and failures, and his influence on American popular culture. Dyson critiques every important biography of Malcolm X to show how interpretations of his life reveal as much about the biographers as they do about the man.

Wolfenstein, Eugene V. The Victims of Democracy: Malcolm X and the Black Revolution. Los Angeles: University of California Press, 1981. 422pp. The book provides a Marxist and Freudian psychoanalytical reading of Malcolm X’s life and career. Jargon-heavy and highly speculative, this examination is not for readers without a previous background in political theory and psychoanalysis, as well as a knowledge of Malcolm X’s life and ideas.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Brown, Kevin. Malcolm X: His Life and Legacy. Brookfield, Connecticut: Millbrook Press, 1995. 112pp. YA. Brown’s political biography provides useful information about the history of the Nation of Islam and the civil rights movement to help explain Malcolm X’s development. The book deals candidly with both the Black leader’s strengths and weaknesses.

Myers, Walter D. Malcolm X: By Any Means Necessary. New York: Scholastic, 1993.210pp. YA. In a frank, often impassioned, sympathetic portrait of Malcolm X and his evolution, Myers places the Black leader’s development in clear moral and personal terms in the search for self-respect that dictated his ideas.

Rummel, Jack. Malcolm X. New York: Chelsea House, 1989. 110pp. MG/YA. This is a solid account of the highlights of Malcolm X’s life and ideas set firmly in their historical and cultural context.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Baldwin, James. One Day When I Was Lost: A Scenario. New York: Dial Press, 1973. 280pp. Baldwin’s filmscript based on Alex Haley’s Autobiography dramatizes the highlights of Malcolm’s life.

A&E Biography Video: Malcolm X (1995). Producer: Ron Steinman. This installment of the Biography series presents a film portrait of Malcolm X, tracing his development as a civil rights and Black Muslim leader through excerpts from his speeches, interviews, a secret recording of an FBI agent trying to bribe Malcolm, and a never-before-seen confession of one of his assassins. Video.

The Greatest (1977). Director: Tom Gries. Muhammad Ali plays himself in this film autobiography, with James Earl Jones portraying Malcolm X. Video.

King (1978). Director: Abby Mann. Television docudrama chronicling King’s life, starring Paul Winfield in the title role, with Cicely Tyson as Coretta King and Ossie Davis as Martin Luther King Sr. Dick Anthony Williams appears as Malcolm X. Video.

Malcolm X (1972). Producer: Marvin Worth and Arnold Perl. Adapted from the Autobiography, this Oscar-nominated documentary chronicles Malcolm’s life and career with his words spoken by James Earl Jones. Video.

Malcolm X (1991). Director: Woodie King Jr. Malcolm X’s life and leadership of the Black Muslim movement is chronicled in a documentary narrated by Ossie Davis. Video.

Malcolm X (1992). Director: Spike Lee. Based on the Autobiography, Lee’s powerful biographical film is animated by strong performances by Denzel Washington as Malcolm, Angela Bassett as his wife Betty Shabazz, and Al Freeman Jr. as Elijah Muhammad. Video.

Malcolm X: Make It Plain (1994). Director: Orlando Bagwell. In this installment of PBS’s American Experience series Malcolm’s life and legacy are depicted through interviews and archival footage in a definitive film biographical portrait. A companion volume, Malcolm X: Make It Plain (New York: Viking, 1994. 245pp.), by William Strickland and Cheryll Greene is also available. Video.

The Real Malcolm X (1992). Producer: CBS News. Hosted by Dan Rather, this documentary examines Malcolm X’s life through interviews with Betty Shabazz, Dick Gregory, Andrew Young, and others and contains exclusive footage from some of his speeches. Video.

Roots: The Next Generation (1979). Directors: Georg Stanford Brown and Charles S.Dubin. In the sequel to the 1977 television mini-series, the story of Alex Haley’s ancestors is continued from the 1880s to 1967 with Haley’s (James Earl Jones) relationship with Malcolm X (Al Freeman Jr.) depicted. Video.

Other Sources

Clarke, John H., ed. Malcolm X: The Man and His Times. New York: Macmillan, 1969. 360pp. A valuable reference source, this volume collects both Malcolm’s own writings and speeches and the perspective of journalists, critics, and those who knew him to form a revealing chronological portrait.

Randall, Dudley, and Margaret G.Burroughs, eds. For Malcolm: Poems on the Life and Death of Malcolm X. Detroit: Broadside Press, 1969. 127pp. This moving collection of poems is organized topically on Malcolm X’s life, death, and legacy.

305. STÉPHANE MALLARMÉ

1842–1898

Influential French poet who taught English for a living, Mallarmé was the chief forebear of the Symbolists, a group of French poets and writers who rejected realism in favor of the metaphysical and mysterious. His best-known poems include The Afternoon of a Faun (1876), which inspired a composition by Claude Debussy, and A Throw of the Dice Will Never Eliminate Chance (1897). A selection of prose. Divagations, was published in 1897.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Selected Letters of Stéphane Mallarmé. Rosemary Lloyd, ed. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1988. 238pp. Lloyd’s introduction to this collection of the poet’s letters provides a useful overview of Mallarmé’s life and relationships. The letters concentrate on those that reveal the poet’s artistic ideas and thoughts on his life.

Recommended Biographies

Gill, Austin. The Early Mallarmé. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1979–1986. 2 vols. Gill’s detailed account of Mallarmé’s life up to 1864 is by far the most authoritative examination of the poet’s formative years. Meticulously researched, Gill’s book is aimed at the specialist and scholar.

Lloyd, Rosemary. Mallarmé: The Poet and His Circle. Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1999. 258pp. Focused by a close reading of Mallarmé’s correspondence, Lloyd presents a fascinating literary biography that traces the poet’s development, his cultural background, and his literary relationships with such figures as Gide, Valéry, and Morisot.

Millan, Gordon. A Throw of the Dice: The Life of Stéphane Mallarmé. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1994. 389pp. Millan’s is a well-researched portrait that makes accessible to the general reader the man and his poetry. Synthesizing modern scholarship and making use of new documentary evidence, the book traces Mallarmé’s artistic development and the connections with his personal experience that reveal a complex human figure, handled with understanding and sympathy.

Other Biographical Studies

Fowlie, Wallace. Mallarmé. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1953. 299pp. Fowlie devotes only a small fraction of his critical study to a consideration of Mallarmé’s biography before moving on to a detailed study of individual poems.

Mauron, Charles. Introduction to the Psychoanalysis of Mallarmé. Berkeley: University of California Press, 1963. 280pp. The work of the founder of the French school of psychocriticism locates the key to understanding the poet in his early loss of his mother and sister. These traumatic experiences are then used as the lens to view his work and mature experiences.

Michaud, Guy. Mallarmé. New York: New York University Press, 1965. 180pp. Michaud’s critical study of Mallarmé’s poetry includes useful summary commentary on his life and experiences.

St. Aubyn, Frederic C. Stéphane Mallarmé. 1969. Revised ed. New York: Twayne, 1989. 170pp. St. Aubyn’s biographical section is brief but covers the essential points before supplying a critical overview of his major poetry and prose. Serves as a valuable introduction for the student and motivated general reader.

306. EDOUARD MANET

1832–1883

A celebrated French painter who profoundly influenced the Impressionists, Manet was born in Paris and went to sea to avoid studying law. On his return, he studied art with painter Thomas Couture. Partly influenced by Goya and Velázquez, Manet introduced a new pictorial language, and his works, particularly Déjeuner sur l’herbe and Olympia (both 1863), were often severely attacked by both critics and the public. However, he commanded a strong following among fellow painters and was defended by Emile Zola. By 1900 his techniques were understood and appreciated, and his works were hung in the Louvre.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Manet by Himself. Juliet Wilson-Boreau, ed. Boston: Little, Brown, 1991. 320pp. This useful volume collects letters, Manet’s comments on art, and recorded recollections of his contemporaries, grouped by time periods.

Manet by Himself and His Contemporaries. Pierre Courthion and Pierre Cailler, eds. New York: Roy, 1960. 238pp. This valuable collection brings together many primary documents, a selection of Manet’s correspondence as well as reminiscences from his contemporaries, such as Baudelaire, Zola, and Mallarmé. The various materials are arranged chronologically with connecting extracts from a number of biographies and critical studies, many unavailable in English.

Recommended Biographies

Brombert, Beth A. Edouard Manet: Rebel in a Frock Coat. Boston: Little, Brown, 1996. 505pp. Brombert supplies a provocative, richly detailed portrait of the artist and his age with a number of fresh and stimulating insights into Manet’s complexity and social milieu, tracing the sources of the painter’s contradictions and the duality between his public and private personas.

Perutz, Vivien. Edouard Manet. Lewisburg, Pennsylvania: Bucknell University Press, 1993. 237pp. Written for the nonspecialist, the book features a brief account of Manet’s life and times followed by a chapter on the painter’s aesthetics and a detailed critical analysis of his works that incorporates recent research and the various controversies surrounding the artist and his creations.

Other Biographical Studies

Bataille, Georges. Manet. New York: Skira, 1955. 135pp. A succinct biographical and critical study, Bataille’s slim volume serves as a reliable and useful introduction to the man and his artistry.

Cachin, Françoise, and Charles S.Moffett. Manet: 1832–83. New York: Abrams, 1983. 160pp. This exhibition catalogue includes a critical analysis of Manet’s oeuvre and a portrait of the artist’s personality and temperament, as well as a detailed chronology, biographical details reflecting recent research, and unpublished letters to Zola.

Cachin, Françoise. Manet. New York: Holt, 1991. 160pp. Designed for nonspecialists, Cachin locates Manet in his social, political, and artistic contexts with numerous photos of principal works, followed by a detailed chronology.

Duret, Theodore. Manet and the French Impressionists. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1912. 256pp. The first detailed biography of Manet presents a chronological survey of his career and a firsthand portrait of the artist, making use of letters exchanged between Manet and the author. Duret provides a valuable vantage point for seeing the artist clearly, though the facts are not all reliable, and Duret’s interpretation of his friend has been qualified by later, more scholarly accounts.

Perruchot, Henri. Manet. Cleveland: World, 1962. 296pp. Featuring new material and reflecting modern scholarship, Perruchot adds considerable details concerning Manet’s early years. In Perruchot’s view, Manet should be regarded as the true father of modern art, a revolutionary despite his facade of upper-class propriety. The book presents a credible picture of the complex make up of Manet’s personality.

Fictional Portraits

Stone, Irving. Depths of Glory. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1955. 653pp. This biographical novel on the life of Camille Pissarro features the appearance of a number of contemporary artists, including Monet, Cézanne, Gauguin, Degas, Seurat, Cassatt, and Manet.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Harris, Nathaniel. The Life and Works of Manet. New York: Shooting Star Press, 1994. 79pp. MG. Harris covers the highlights of Manet’s life and artistic career and relates his artistry to his era and influences.

Spence, David. Manet: A New Realism. Hauppauge, New York: Barron’s, 1997. 32pp. MG. Part of Barron’s Great Artists series, this is sensible introduction to both the man and his art.

Wright, Patricia. Manet. New York: Dorling Kindersley, 1993. 64pp. MG. One of the innovatively designed Eyewitness Books, this informative visual guide to Manet’s life and art includes reproductions of the paintings and sketches with extensive information in captions and sidebars.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Edouard Manet: Painter of Modern Life (1983). Director: Judith Wechsler. Examines Manet’s life and works and interprets his major paintings using the artist’s own words and those of friends, including Zola, Baudelaire, Mallarmé, and others. Video.

307. THOMAS MANN

1875–1955

An outstanding German novelist of the twentieth century, Mann was born in Lübeck and was the younger brother of novelist Heinrich Mann. An outspoken critic of fascism, Mann left Hitler’s Germany for Switzerland (1933), was deprived of his German citizenship by the Nazis (1936), settled in the United States. (1938), and became a U.S. citizen (1944). He returned to Switzerland in 1953. His works include Buddenbrooks (1901), Death in Venice (1912), The Magic Mountain (1924), and the tetralogy Joseph and His Brothers (1933–1944). He was awarded the 1929 Nobel Prize in Literature.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Diaries. New York: Abrams, 1982. 471pp. The publication of Mann’s surviving diaries from the periods 1918–1921 and 1933–1955 have resulted in a radical reassessment of Mann’s life and character and new interpretations by biographers and critics. No other primary source gets closer to the man and his complex emotional and intellectual makeup.

Letters of Thomas Mann, 1889–1955. Richard and Clara Winston, eds. New York: Knopf, 1970. 690pp. Mann’s letters offer the reader a strong sense of immediacy on the personal, political, social, and cultural issues that shaped the writer.

A Sketch of My Life. New York: Knopf, 1961. 87pp. Written after receiving the Nobel Prize in 1929, Mann’s autobiographical account chronicles his life up to that point, including important details on the genesis of his books, his working methods, and views on various private and public matters.

Story of a Novel: The Genesis of Doctor Faustus. New York: Knopf, 1961. 242pp. Mann’s activities during the writing of Doctor Faustus in the 1940s are recounted with insights about the book’s composition and Mann’s relationship with the German émigré community between 1943 and 1947.

Recommended Biographies

Hayman, Ronald. Thomas Mann: A Biography. New York: Scribner, 1995. 672pp. Making use of Mann’s diaries and papers unsealed 20 years after his death, this is a detailed, comprehensive, almost daily account of Mann’s life. Hayman penetrates the writer’s various public and protective masks and demonstrates how his often tormented inner life was reflected through his fictional characters.

Prater, Donald A. Thomas Mann: A Life. New York: Oxford University Press, 1995. 554pp. Prater stresses the development of Mann’s political ideas in a comprehensive, intimate study that details Mann’s shift from a German nationalist during World War I to an opponent of Hitler and proponent of international humanism. The book largely ignores Mann’s fiction and, therefore, interestingly supplements more literary biographies such as Hayman’s and Winston’s.

Winston, Richard. Thomas Mann: The Making of an Artist 1875–1911. New York: Knopf, 1981. 325pp. Written by the translator of Mann’s Letters and Diaries this excellently written and documented account traces Mann’s life and development up to the year he wrote Death in Venice. Expertly detailing the autobiographical basis of Mann’s fiction and his intellectual influences, Winston’s critical biography is one of the best available on the early years and Mann’s development as an artist.

Other Biographical Studies

Hamilton, Nigel. The Brothers Mann: The Lives of Heinrich and Thomas Mann, 1871–1950. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1979. 422pp. This dual biographical study of Thomas and his elder brother relies mainly on their correspondence to chronicle their often stormy relationship and the various artistic and political issues that united and divided them.

Heilbut, Anthony. Thomas Mann: Eros and Literature. New York: Knopf, 1996. 636pp. Drawing extensively on the suggestions of homosexual desires revealed in Mann’s diaries, Heibut offers a psychosexual interpretation of Mann’s life. At times confusingly organized and free-ranging in pursuit of his theme, Heilbut’s study is also witty and well documented with a consistent, though somewhat reductive, view of Mann’s psychological complexes and their relation to his works.

Léser, Esther H. Thomas Mann’s Short Fiction: An Intellectual Biography. Cranbury, New Jersey: Associated University Presses, 1989. 349pp. Léser approaches Mann’s emotional and intellectual development through a close critical reading of all his short fiction, drawing heavily on Mann’s letters and diaries.

Mann, Erika. The Last Year of Thomas Mann. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1958. 119pp. This tribute to the author’s father provides invaluable firsthand data on Mann’s final year of life.

Mann, Katia. Unwritten Memories. Elisabeth Plessen and Michael Mann, eds. New York: Knopf, 1975. 165pp. In a transcription of television interviews with Mann’s wife at the age of 90, these recollections supply interesting details on the sources for Death in Venice and The Magic Mountain and sketches of the Mann family and circle of friends.

Reich-Ranicki, Marcel. Thomas Mann and His Family. London: Collins, 1989. 230pp. The author supplies a family portrait, with profiles of Thomas, Heinrich, Erika, Klaus, Golo, and Katia Mann.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Thomas Mann (1987). Producer: David Thomas and Nigel Wattis. Mann is one of 10 modern writers profiled in this documentary series originally shown on British television. Video.

Other Sources

Bürgin, Hans, and Hans-Otto Mayer. Thomas Mann: A Chronicle of His Life. University: University of Alabama Press, 1969. 290pp. Detailing the main facts of Mann’s life and literary career in an extensive monthly and even daily chronology utilizing quotes from Mann himself, this work serves as a valuable reference source.

308. KATHERINE MANSFIELD

1888–1923

New Zealand-born British author, Mansfield is considered a master of the short-story form. She first achieved recognition with the story collections, Bliss (1920) and The Garden Party (1922). Novels and Novelists (1930) is a compilation of Mansfield’s critical essays. Her collected stories were published in 1937.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Collected Letters of Katherine Mansfield. Vincent O’Sullivan and Margaret Scott, eds. New York: Oxford University Press, 1984–1996. 4 vols. A one-volume collection of Mansfield’s correspondence is available in Selected Letters. Vincent O’Sullivan, ed. (New York: Oxford University Press, 1989. 320pp.). Mansfield’s letters are indispensable as a biographical source, providing revealing insights into her relationships and personal struggles.

Journal of Katherine Mansfield. J.Middleton Murry, ed. New York: Knopf, 1927. 255pp. Scholars have demonstrated that the journal is a contrivance put together by Murry from a variety of sources and cannot be trusted as the autobiographical source it purports to be. However, with its unreliability in mind, the journal provides a fragmentary record of Mansfield’s impressions and self-analysis, and a heartbreaking history of personal suffering.

Recommended Biographies

Alpers, Antony. The Life of Katherine Mansfield. New York: Viking, 1980. 466pp. Drawing on “20 times more material” than his earlier biography, Alpers has written the fullest account of Mansfield’s life available. The book is a judicious, detailed account of both the woman and the writer. His earlier Katherine Mansfield: A Biography (New York: Knopf, 1953. 376pp.) is less authoritative, and, as the author admits in his later study, was written to spare the feelings of those still living who were associated with the writer.

Tomalin, Claire. Katherine Mansfield: A Secret Life. New York: Knopf, 1988. 292pp. Tomalin’s more selective feminist view of the writer is less detailed than Alpers but emphasizes certain aspects of Mansfield’s life, such as her medical history and her relationship with Ida Constance Baker and D.H.Lawrence, that Tomalin suggests Alpers underestimated. In Tomalin’s view, Mansfield is shown as an emblematic suffering artist and woman.

Other Biographical Studies

Baker, Ida, and Georgina Joysmith. Katherine Mansfield: The Memories of L.M.Taplinger. London: Joseph, 1971. 240pp. The recollections of a close companion of Mansfield provide a valuable firsthand, though limited, account of the writer.

Berkman, Sylvia. Katherine Mansfield: A Critical Study. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1951. 246pp. Concentrating on Mansfield’s artistic development, this critical biography demonstrates the relationship between the author’s life and her use of it in her works.

Boddy, Gillian. Katherine Mansfield: The Woman and the Writer. New York: Penguin, 1988. 323pp. Boddy’s solid introduction to the writer and her work includes a biographical portrait, extracts from Mansfield’s letters and journals, a critical essay, and a collection of representative works. Boddy helps demystify Mansfield, revealing a fully recognizable, human figure.

Daly, Saralyn R. Katherine Mansfield. New York: Macmillan, 1994. 168pp. Daly supplies a brief but insightful critical biography that challenges conventional wisdom about Mansfield’s literary development, based on the author’s close study of the early drafts of her major stories.

Fullbrook, Kate. Katherine Mansfield. Bloomington: Indiana University Press, 1986. 146pp. Part of the Key Women Writers series, Fullbrook offers mainly a critical study of Mansfield’s artistic development from a feminist perspective.

Hanson, Claire, and Andrew Gurr. Katherine Mansfield. New York: St. Martin’s, 1981. 146pp. In a brief critical study, Mansfield’s life is used chiefly as a background to her stories and for an understanding of her literary personality and the development of her aesthetic principles.

Mantz, R.E., and J.Middleton Murry. The Life of Katherine Mansfield. London: Constable, 1933. 349pp. The earliest biography of the writer, Mantz helped form Mansfield’s image that later biographers have challenged. Based in part on interviews with Mansfield’s contemporaries, Mantz also relied on Murry’s selective and expurgated editions of Mansfield’s letters and journals.

Meyers, Jeffrey. Katherine Mansfield: A Biography. New York: New Directions, 1980. 306pp. Meyers’s scholarly study focuses on Mansfield’s personal relationships in a psychological portrait that presents a darker, more complex, and less attractive view of the writer than other studies. The book is less detailed on the cultural background of Mansfield’s times.

Biographical Novels

White, Nelia G. Daughter of Time. New York: Macmillan, 1942. 272pp. A vivid, convincing, mainly faithful portrait of the artist in a fictionalized biography that chronicles Mansfield’s life from her childhood in New Zealand to her death. White is less successful in creating believable portraits of the men in Mansfield’s life.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Phillimore, Jane. Katherine Mansfield. Vero Beach, Florida: Rourke, 1990. 110pp. MG. Phillimore provides a helpful overview of Mansfield’s life and writing career, with a critical introduction that stresses her originality as a short story writer.

Steinbauer, Janine. Katherine Mansfield. Mankato, Minnesota: Creative Company, 1995. 64pp. MG. This is a brief introduction to Mansfield’s career and artistry, with excerpts from her works.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Priest of Love (1981). Director: Christopher Miles. Ian McKellen portrays D.H.Lawrence in this drama concerning the furor surrounding the publication of Lady Chatterley’s Lover and the novelist’s struggle with tuberculosis. Janet Suzman co-stars as Frieda Lawrence and Adrienne Burgess appears as Katherine Mansfield. Video.

309. MAO ZEDONG (MAO TSE-TUNG)

1893–1976

The founder and leader of the People’s Republic of China, Mao was the son of an educated Hunanese peasant. He was trained in Chinese classics and received a modern education. One of the original members of the Chinese Communist Party, Mao was ousted from the party’s central committee after leading the “Autumn Harvest Uprising” (1927), which was crushed by the Kuomintang. Mao led the Red Army on the Long March (1934–1935) to Shaanxi province to escape encirclement by Chiang Kai-shek’s Kuomintang forces. The Communists allied themselves with the Kuomintang against the Japanese during the Second Sino-Japanese War (1937–1945). The post-World War II civil war resulted in victory for the Communists, and Mao became chairman of the newly established People’s Republic. He launched the Great Leap Forward (1958), a failed economic program, and the Cultural Revolution (1966–1976) to solidify his ideological line and rid the party of revisionists. During the 1970s he favored a measure of détente with the West. His meeting with President Nixon (1972) signaled improved relations with the United States.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Mao’s writings, including articles, speeches, and letters, are available in a number of volumes, including Selected Works (Peking: Foreign Language Press, 1961–1967. 5 vols.); Mao Papers: Anthology and Bibliography. Jerome Ch’en, ed. (New York: Oxford University Press, 1970. 221pp.); and Chairman Mao Talks to the People. Stuart Schram, ed. (New York: Pantheon, 1975. 352pp.), a collection of Mao’s speeches and letters that covers the period 1956 to 1971.

The Secret Speeches of Chairman Mao. Roderick MacFarquhar, et al, eds. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1989. 561pp. This collection of Mao’s speeches offers insights into both the Chinese leader’s political ideas and public persona.

Recommended Biographies

Ch’en, Jerome. Mao and the Chinese Revolution. New York: Oxford University Press, 1965. 419pp. In an outstanding, well-documented analysis of Mao’s life and times, Ch’en places the Chinese leader in the context of other Chinese revolutionaries and traces how he was able to put his ideas into practice. Correcting a number of factual errors and misjudgments about Mao, the book provides a balanced portrait and one of the fullest appreciations of Mao’s achievements and complex character.

Rice, Edward E. Mao’s Way. Berkeley: University of California Press, 1972. 596pp. In a detailed chronological narrative of Mao’s career from his birth through 1971, Rice allows the facts to speak for themselves instead of providing analysis or interpretation. The result is one of the most comprehensively documented histories available.

Schram, Stuart. Mao Tse-tung. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1966. 351pp. Schram’s political biography has long maintained its standing as the most perceptive and judicious full-length biography. Considered a classic, the book provides an outstanding short history of Mao and the Chinese Revolution. Readers interested in the development of Mao’s political ideology should consult Schram’s The Political Thought of Mao Tse-tung (New York: Praeger, 1963. 479pp.) that includes translations of excerpts from Mao’s writings.

Short, Philip. Mao: A Life. New York: Holt, 2000. 782pp. Short’s is a masterful biography, incorporating revealing, recently available Chinese sources to shed considerable light on Mao’s early life and his complex personality. Vivid as well as judicious in its assessment, Short makes a strong bid for having written the definitive Mao biography.

Spence, Jonathan D. Mao Zedong. New York: Viking, 1999. 160pp. Spence’s compact biographical profile incorporates a good deal of modern scholarship to form an excellent, accessible account of Mao’s development against a vivid historical and cultural background.

Other Biographical Studies

Breslin, Shaun. Mao. New York: Longman, 1998. 224pp. Part of the Profiles in Power series, this is a brief overview of Mao’s life and political career. Sometimes overly compressed with assertions unproven, the book serves as a solid introduction to modern Chinese history and Mao’s considerable role in shaping it.

Chou, Eric. Mao Tse-tung: The Man and the Myth. New York: Stein and Day, 1982. 289pp. In an overall hostile assessment, Chou, a Chinese journalist who broke with Mao in the 1960s, stresses the shortcomings of the man and his leadership.

Cohen, Arthur A. The Communism of Mao Tse-tung. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1964. 210pp. In a well-documented, judicious account of Mao’s intellectual development, Cohen usefully separates the myths from the facts surrounding the Chinese leader, locating his greatness in his pragmatic talents and tactical brilliance rather than the originality of his ideas.

Devillers, Philippe. Mao. New York: Schocken, 1969. 317pp. This useful volume collects excerpts from Mao’s writings, with a succinct portrait of the man and political leader.

Fitzgerald, C.P. Mao Tse-tung and China. New York: Holmes and Meier, 1976. 166pp. Less interested in Mao the man than his achievements as a political leader, Fitzgerald’s study is a succinct history of the Chinese Communist Party from 1949 to 1975. The author’s contention that Mao was one of the greatest figures in the twentieth century lacks objectivity, making no distinction between Mao’s early and later career.

Han, Suyin. The Morning Deluge: Mao Tse-tung and the Chinese Revolution 1893–1954. Boston: Little, Brown, 1972. 571pp.; Wind in the Tower: Mao Tse-tung and the Chinese Revolution 1949–1975. Boston: Little, Brown, 1976. 404pp. Portraying Mao alternately as a sage and a saint, Han’s two-volume popular biography lacks critical perspective and documentation, reading more like biographical fiction with a dramatic vividness but with a selection of details to support her positive thesis, ignoring less flattering evidence.

Hsiao, Yü. Mao Tse-tung and I Were Beggars. Syracuse, New York: Syracuse University Press, 1959. 266pp. Supplying virtually everything we know about Mao as a young man between the ages of 19 and 28, Hsiao, Mao's schoolmate, offers his recollections, particularly the pair's travels as itinerant beggars in 1917.

Karnow, Stanley. Mao and China. 1972. Revised ed. New York: Penguin, 1990. 573pp. Karnow focuses on the Cultural Revolution and Mao's central role in it with a revealing portrait of Mao at the end of his long career.

Leys, Simon. The Chairman's New Clothes: Mao and the Cultural Revolution. New York: St. Martin's, 1977. 261pp. Like Karnow, Leys's focus is on the Cultural Revolution, seen as a tragic climax of Mao's limited vision of revolutionary reform.

Li, Zhizui. The Private Life of Chairman Mao. New York: Random House, 1994. 682pp. Written by Mao's personal physician from 1954 to the Chinese leader's death, the book provides an unprecedented firsthand, intimate portrait of Mao at the height of his power. Li includes a number of recorded conversations with Mao on political and personal matters and details of his growing paranoia and secretive personal life.

Lifton, Robert J. Revolutionary Immortality: Mao Tse-tung and the Chinese Cultural Revolution. New York: Random House, 1968. 178pp. Although not a full-scale psychobiography, Lifton examines the psychological basis for the Cultural Revolution, understandable as a form of Mao's survivor paranoia and grandiosity.

MacGregor-Hastie, Roy. The Red Barbarians: The Life and Times of Mao Tse-tung. New York: T.V. Boardman, 1961. 224pp. This assessment of the Chinese Revolution and Mao is marred by a lack of objectivity and errors of fact. The book is not reliable as a biographical or historical reference.

Meisner, Maurice. Mao's China. New York: Free Press, 1977. 416pp. This is a detailed, scholarly account of Mao's activities as Chinese leader after the Communist victory in 1949. Different from accounts that stress Mao's years in opposition, Meisner presents one of the fullest analyses of Mao's achievements and shortcomings in power.

Pálóczi-Horváth, Gyorgy. Mao Tse-tung: Emperor of the Blue Ants. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1963. 343pp. This political biography chronicles Mao's development from his peasant beginning to 1962, finding much to admire in the guerilla leader and much to censure once Mao had gained control. The book features new details from previously unavailable Russian documents.

Payne, Robert. Mao Tse-tung: Ruler of Red China. New York: Schuman, 1950. 303pp. Revised as Portrait of a Revolutionary: Mao Tse-tung (New York: Abelard-Schuman, 1961. 343pp.) and Mao Tse-tung. (New York: Weybright & Talle, 1969. 343pp.). Drawing on an interview with Mao in 1946, Payne locates Mao in the context of Chinese history but occasionally indulges in imaginative flights of fancy in a literary rather than a factual interpretation of Mao's character and career.

Pye, Lucian W. Mao Tse-tung: The Man in the Leader. New York: Basic Books, 1976. 346pp. Pye's provocative psychological examination attempts to join the private man and revolutionary leader, uncovering the roots of his behavior and motivation in his early childhood experiences. Since the details of Mao's private life are so scanty, they provide a very weak foundation for many of Pye's interpretations. However, the book does display Mao's emotional complexities better than most other biographical accounts.

Salisbury, Harrison E. The Long March: The Untold Story. New York: Harper & Row, 1985. 419pp. Based on interviews with survivors, Chinese historians, and the author's own retracing of portions of the Long March route in 1984, Salisbury supplies the fullest account of the military retreat that helped formed Mao's heroic reputation.

Snow, Edgar. Red Star over China. 1938. Revised ed. New York: Grove Press, 1968. 543pp. Snow's early and highly regarded portrait of Mao features extracts from his interviews with the Chinese leader and provides indispensable autobiographical details of Mao's early life. Snow issued three later reports on Mao and the course of the Chinese revolution based on visits to China in 1960 and 1970, which includes interviews with Chairman Mao: The Other Side of the River: Red China Today (New York: Random House, 1962. 810pp.), revised as Red China Today (New York: Random House, 1970. 749pp.), and The Long Revolution (New York: Random House, 1972. 269pp.).

Terrill, Ross. Mao: A Biography. New York: Harper & Row, 1980. 481pp. Painstakingly researched and intended for the general reader, this reliable, comprehensive account of Mao's life and political career balances both his achievements and failures. In a clear-eyed assessment, Terrill admires the early revolutionary but not the ruler of the People's Republic, a role that, according to the author, ran counter to Mao's strengths as a man and political leader.

Terrill, Ross. The White-Boned Demon: A Biography of Madame Mao Zedong. New York: Morrow, 1984. 446pp. Terrill's anecdotal biography paints a harshly critical portrait of Mao's fourth wife and the couple's relationship. In the author's view, the Cultural Revolution was largely attributed to Jiang Ching's vindictiveness and retribution for the wrongs she felt she received from party officials in the 1930s. Although many of the book's sources are clearly Jiang's enemies, Terrill's overall characterization of her seems consistent and convincing, if individual details are questionable.

Uhalley, Stephen Jr. Mao Tse-tung: A Critical Biography. New York: F.Watts, 1975. 233pp. Treating Mao's life from his boyhood, Uhalley's biography is best on the details of Mao's career prior to 1949. Following the Communists' victory, the author loses his critical focus, glossing over the shortcomings of Mao's years in power.

Wilson, Dick. The People's Emperor, Mao: A Biography of Mao Tse-tung. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1980. 530pp. In an anecdotal biography, the author attempts to humanize Mao and to join his personal and political lives using excerpts from his writings, speeches, conversations, and the views of associates. An earthy figure with clear peasant roots emerges, but the book is only partially successful in integrating all facets of Mao's personality and beliefs into a coherent whole.

Biographical Novels

Min, Anchee. Becoming Madame Mao. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 2000. 337pp. Mao's wife, Jiang Ching, tells the story of her life from her childhood, through her career as an actress, meeting Mao and accompanying him to the pinnacle of power in the Communist victory, and gaining her reputation as the "White-Boned Demon" of the Cultural Revolution to be reviled by the Chinese people in her unsuccessful drive to succeed her husband. The novel offers a fascinating look at the couple's life together and a human portrait of a figure who has often been seen as a monster.

Shih, Benjamin. Mao: A Young Man from the Yangtze Valley. Port Washington, New York: Ashley Books, 1974. 320pp. This fictionalized account is told from the perspective of an imagined daughter born in 1935 after the Long March in a mixture of fact and imagination.

Fictional Portraits

Bosse, Malcolm J. Fire in Heaven. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1985. 654pp. In the author's sequel to The Warlord (1985), Mao's rise to power is dramatized as the background to this fictional story.

Cordell, Alexander. The Dream and the Destiny. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1975. 368pp. Mao's leadership on the Long March is seen from the perspective of a young medical student.

Grant, Maxwell. Blood Red Rose. New York: Macmillan, 1986. 418pp. Set in China during the 1930s, a young American doctor must flee Shanghai and finds herself accompanying Mao on the Long March.

Tuten, Frederic. The Adventures of Mao on the Long March. New York: Marion Boyars, 1997. 121pp. Tuten's poetic, meditative novel presents Mao's thoughts and doubts on the revolution he tries to manage and its implication for the people he is leading on the Long March.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Garza, Hedda. Mao Zedong. New York: Chelsea House, 1988. 112pp. MG/YA. A solid historical biography that relates Mao's career in the context of modern Chinese history.

Marrin, Albert. Mao Tse-tung and His China. New York: Viking, 1989. 282pp. MG/YA. The two sides of Mao's complex character—heroic revolutionary and cruel ideologue—fail to coalesce satisfactorily, but the book serves as a readable overview of modern Chinese history.

Steffoff, Rebecca. Mao Zedong: Founder of the People's Republic of China. Brookfield, Connecticut: Millbrook Press, 1996. 128pp. MG. In a well-written biography of Mao's life and career, Steffoff covers the highlights in a balanced assessment.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Kundun (1997). Director: Martin Scorsese. Robert Lin portrays Mao in Scorsese’s lyrical film of the fourteenth Dalai Lama culminating in his confrontation with the Chinese government. Video.

Mao: Long March to Power (1979). Director: Don Thompson. A film look at Mao’s struggle for power, culminating in the 1949 Communist victory. Video.

Mao: Organized Chaos (1978). Director: Don Thompson. Based on archival footage, this is a documentary look at Mao’s years as Chinese ruler. Video.

Mao Tse-tung (1979). Producer: David L. Wolper. Narrated by Mike Wallace, Mao’s life is described with an emphasis on his military and political struggles. Video.

Nixon (1995). Director: Oliver Stone. In Stone’s controversial biographical portrait of Richard Nixon, Anthony Hopkins stars and Mao is played by Ric Young during the historic Nixon visit to China. Video.

Other Sources

Wilson, Dick, ed. Mao Tse-tung in the Scales of History: A Preliminary Assessment. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1977. 331pp. This valuable collection of critical essays by a number of leading Mao scholars presents views on various aspects of Mao’s life and thought.

310. MARIE ANTOINETTE

1755–1793

The daughter of Austrian Archduchess Maria Theresa and the Holy Roman Emperor Francis I, Marie Antoinette was married (1770) to the French dauphin, who became Louis XVI (1774). She was unhappy in the marriage, which remained unconsummated for seven years. Unpopular for her attempts to influence French foreign policy in favor of Austria, Marie Antoinette also became notorious for her extravagance, most notably in the scandal known as the Affair of the Diamond Necklace, and aroused hostility for her indifference to economic problems. During the French Revolution, she and the royal family tried to escape but were apprehended (1791) at Varennes. She attempted negotiations with revolutionary leaders and at the same time secretly tried to arrange Austrian intervention. She was convicted of treason by the Revolutionary Tribunal and guillotined (1793).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Secrets of Marie Antoinette: A Collection of Letters. Olivier Bernier, ed. New York: Doubleday, 1986. 326pp. Marie Antoinette’s correspondence with her mother Maria Theresa, Empress of Austria, from the former’s departure for France in 1770 until her mother’s death in 1780 reveals Marie Antoinette’s lack of true friends, her flaunting of court etiquette at Versailles, and her meddling in politics.

Recommended Biographies

Cronin, Vincent. Louis and Antoinette. New York: Morrow, 1974. 445pp. Cronin’s dual biography of the king and queen provides a revisionist interpretation in which both Louis XVI and Marie Antoinette are sympathetically depicted as innocent victims and Antoinette a kind, sincere queen with a genuine concern for the welfare of her people. A study with considerable psychological depth and believability, Cronin’s examination is nevertheless guilty of one-sidedness in its presentation, emphasizing the positive and hurrying over the less flattering evidence.

Erickson, Carolly. To the Scaffold: The Life of Marie Antoinette. New York: Morrow, 1991. 384pp. Beautifully written and thoroughly researched, Erickson’s book offers a balanced, detailed account of Marie Antoinette’s life with an emphasis on the personal aspects of her everyday activities.

Haslip, Joan. Marie Antoinette. New York: Weidenfeld and Nicolson, 1988. 306pp. A lively and mostly accurate portrait of the queen, Haslip’s qualified sympathy avoids either excessive praise or blame. The book serves as a good introduction to the personality of the queen but is not as strong on the historical and cultural context that shaped her life.

Lever, Evelyne. Marie Antoinette: The Last Queen of France. New York: Farrar, Straus, 2000. 352pp. Lever, drawing on diaries, letters, and firsthand accounts, has crafted a fast-paced, historical-biographical narrative that captures with skill Marie Antoinette’s personality, relationships, and the events that shaped her destiny.

Zweig, Stefan. Marie Antoinette: The Portrait of an Average Woman. New York: Viking, 1933. 476pp. In a detailed, psychological study, Zweig challenges the conventional view of Marie Antoinette depicting her as an ordinary woman forced by the French Revolution into playing a heroic role. Emphasizing her human qualities, Zweig restores a good deal of sympathy to his subject, though many of his more romantic interpretations have been challenged by later biographers.

Other Biographical Studies

Asquith, Annunziata. Marie Antoinette. New York: Taplinger, 1976. 232pp. A highly readable, illustrated life, the author chronicles the events of Marie Antoinette’s life from her childhood to her execution in a succinct narrative that vividly captures the highlights.

Castelot, André. Queen of France. New York: Harper, 1957. 434pp. In a documentary study that largely eschews interpretation, Castelot provides a nearly day-by-day account of Marie Antoinette’s life from age 14 to her death, interweaving recollections and reconstructed conversations from a variety of contemporary sources.

Fair, Evelyn. Marie-Antoinette and Count Axel Fersen: The Untold Love Story. Chester Springs, Pennsylvania: Dufour Editions, 1995. 256pp. Parr, like Loomis, attempts to untangle the mysteries surrounding the relationship between Marie Antoinette and Count Fersen with contrary interpretations. Although Loomis concludes that there is no evidence that the couple were in fact lovers, Farrasserts that theirs was a deeply passionate love affair.

Hearsey, John. Marie Antoinette. New York: Dutton, 1972. 296pp. Written for the general reader, Hearsey supplies a personal history of the queen, including reconstructed conversations from a variety of undocumented sources. A reliable introduction, the book includes a historical appendix listing the events of Antoinette’s life along with corresponding historical and cultural events.

Huisman, Philippe, and Marguerite Jallut. Marie Antoinette. New York: Viking, 1971. 249pp. In a lavishly illustrated biography, the authors set the events of Marie Antoinette’s life and her personality in the context of the cultural values of her times.

Loomis, Stanley. The Fatal Friendship: Marie Antoinette, Count Fersen, and the Flight to Varennes. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1972. 367pp. Focusing on the various questions surrounding Antoinette’s relationship with the Swedish nobleman, Fersen, Loomis addresses whether the pair were in fact lovers, whether Louis was aware of their relationship, and what part Fersen played in the royal family’s flight. A vivid and convincing reconstruction of events with some invented dialogue, the book provides considerable psychological depth to a portrait of the queen.

Mayer, Dorothy. Marie Antoinette: The Tragic Queen. New York: Coward-McCann, 1969. 385pp. Mayer offers a sympathetic portrait of the queen in an enjoyable, full-length biography. Without overstressing the scandalous aspects of Marie Antoinette’s life, Mayer keeps her sharply in focus through the events of the French Revolution.

Seward, Desmond. Marie Antoinette. New York: St. Martin’s, 1981. 297pp. Although more willing than Cronin to consider Marie Antoinette’s flaws, Seward argues that instead of being an incompetent meddler in state affairs she was the only important female political figure to emerge during the French Revolution and stresses her political savvy, forced by a weak husband to save the throne for her son.

Thomas, Chantal. The Wicked Queen: The Origins of the Myth of Marie-Antoinette. New York: Zone Books, 1999. 224pp. In a revealing analysis, Thomas traces the various stages in the formation of the negative myths surrounding Marie Antoinette. Separating the facts from the legends, Thomas exposes the motives of the pamphleteers’ campaign to discredit the foreign-born queen.

Biographical Novels

Beck, L.Adams. The Empress of Hearts. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1928. 300pp. Beck’s is a loving depiction of Marie Antoinette’s life and character, too idealized to be useful to the reader looking for more than a glamorous, romantic treatment.

Chapman, Hester W. Fear No More. New York:Reynal, 1968. 349pp. The fall of the king and queen are seen from the limited, though intimate, perceptions of their young son, the dauphin.

Dumas, Alexandre. Chavalier de Maison-Rouge. Boston: Little, Brown, 1894. 512pp. Marie Antoinette’s end is dramatized in this blend of historical fact and swashbuckling adventure as efforts to rescue the queen fail, and she meets her fate on the guillotine.

Dumas, Alexandra. The Countess de Charny: Or, the Fall of the French Monarchy. New York: T.B. Peterson, 1853. 392pp. The royal family’s flight to Varennes is depicted in this exciting narrative account of their failed attempt to reach freedom.

Dumas, Alexandra. The Queen’s Necklace. 1848. Reprint ed. New York: Collier, 1902. 426pp. In a fictional retelling of the diamond necklace scandal that helped discredit the queen in the public view, Dumas embroiders the historical facts with his characteristic entertaining invention.

Harding, Bertita. Farewell ‘Toinette: A Footnote to History. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill, 1938. 261pp. Harding offers a fictional reconstruction of Marie Antoinette’s wedding journey from Vienna to Versailles in a mixture of fantasy, farce, and history.

Holt, Victoria. The Queen’s Confession. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1968. 430pp. Marie Antoinette tells her own story in the form of her memoirs. Solidly researched, the novel remains close to history and provides a remarkable recreation of the period and a convincing, human portrait of the queen.

Kenyon, Frank W. Marie Antoinette. New York: Crowell, 1956. 371pp. Marie Antoinette’s life is dramatized from her arrival in France at the age of 14 to her execution. Blending the actual with the imaginary, Kenyon offers a sympathetic view of the passionate queen in the grip of historical forces she cannot control.

Prole, Lozania. Sweet Marie Antoinette. London: R.Hale, 1969. 190pp. In an often simplified and idealized biographical portrait, Marie Antoinette’s life is dramatized from her betrothal to her execution.

Fictional Portraits

Dukthas, Ann. The Prince Lost to Time. New York: St. Martin’s, 1995. 229pp. In a time-travelling adventure, the novel attempts a speculative but plausible solution to the historical mystery of the lost dauphin.

Dumas, Alexandra. The Memoirs of a Physician. 1950. Reprint ed. New York: Collier, 1902. 534pp. The decline of Louis XV and the early reign of Louis XVI are described from the perspective of a swindler who penetrates to the center of court power.

Feuchtwanger, Lion. Proud Destiny. New York: Viking, 1947. 625p. Deals with Benjamin Franklin’s Paris years and the maneuvering to get Louis XVI to assist the American cause. Meticulous in its historical reconstruction, the novel is somewhat ponderous as a drama and character study.

John, Evan. King’s Masque. New York: Dutton, 1941. 477pp. Focusing on the relationship between Marie Antoinette and Count Fersen, this panoramic historical novel covers the events of the American and French Revolution as well as the emergence of Sweden under Gustav III.

Jolis, Alan. Love and Terror. New York: Atlantic Monthly Press, 1998. 288pp. The pursuit and capture of Marie Antoinette are dramatized in this historical thriller setting the queen and Count Fersen against one of Robespierre’s agents.

Jordan, Mildred. Asylum for the Queen. New York: Knopf, 1948. 409pp. In a fanciful tale concerning a plan to free Louis XVI and Marie Antoinette from imprisonment and relocate them in the Pennsylvania wilderness, the novel provides an authentic look at the events and atmosphere in France and America during the period.

Laker, Rosalind. To Dance with Kings. New York: Doubleday, 1988. 564pp. Three generations of a French family are involved in court life during the reigns of Louis XIV, XV, and XVI until the Revolution.

Mackin, Jeanne. The Frenchwoman. New York: St. Martin’s, 1989. 387pp. In a blend of fact and fiction, Marie Antoinette’s favorite dressmaker provides the focus on this historical adventure that sends her to the log-cabin colony in America intended as a royalist refuge.

Piercy, Marge. City of Darkness, City of Light. New York: Fawcett, 1996. 479pp. The events of the French Revolution are described from the perspectives of a number of actual women participants and includes a look at the royal family.

Wheatley, Dennis. The Man Who Killed the King. New York: Putnam, 1965. 568pp. This swashbuckling adventure tale features a British agent sent to save the French royal family, which brings him into contact with the royals, the inner revolutionary circle, and a young Napoleon. The novel offers an ingenious solution to the disappearance of the dauphin.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Kieltly, Bernadine. Marie Antoinette. New York: Random House, 1955. 184pp. MG. Part of the Landmark series, this is an informative, though fictionalized, account of Marie Antoinette’s life and character.

Komroff, Manuel. Marie Antoinette. New York: J. Messner, 1967. 191pp. MG/YA. Komroff s is a generally reliable and detailed treatment of Marie Antoinette’s life and times.

MacDonald, Fiona. The World in the Time of Marie Antoinette. Parsippany, New Jersey: Dillon Press, 1998. 48pp. MG. This is a brief overview with an emphasis on the era.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Sinclair, Upton. Marie Antoinette: A Play. New York: Vanguard, 1939. 200pp. Sinclair presents Marie Antoinette’s entire life in a series of brief, significant glimpses.

A&E Biography Video: Marie Antoinette: The Tragic Queen (1996). Director: Chris Lethbridge. The documentary traces the events of Marie Antoinette’s life and the course of the French Revolution that shaped her end. Video.

Marie Antoinette (1938). Director: W.S.Van Dyke. Based on Stefan Zweig’s biography, this is a lavish Hollywood film biography, with F.Scott Fitzgerald receiving writing credit, casting Norma Shearer as Marie Antoinette, Robert Morley as Louis, andTyrone Power as Count Fersen. Video.

Marie Antoinette (1955). Director: Jean Delannoy. Michele Morgan portrays Marie Antoinette in this French film version of her life. Co-starring Richard Todd as Count Fersen and Jean Morel as Louis XVI.

La Marseillaise (1938). Director: Jean Renoir. Lise Delamare portrays Marie Antoinette and Pierre Renoir plays Louis XVI in Renoir’s dramatization of the French Revolution told as a human story.

311. CHRISTOPHER MARLOWE

1564–1593

Considered by many to be the greatest English pre-Shakespearean dramatist, Marlowe was born in Canterbury and educated at Cambridge. He went to London in 1587 and became an actor and playwright for the Lord Admiral’s Company. His most significant works are Tamburlaine the Great (1587), The Jew of Malta (1588), Edward II (1593), Dr. Faustus (1601), and the long poem Hero and Leander (1598). His dramas have heroic and tragic themes and are thought to have influenced Shakespeare’s work. Marlowe was stabbed to death during a tavern brawl, the result of what some scholars believe to be a murder plot stemming from his activities as a government agent.

Recommended Biographies

Bakeless, John. The Tragicall History of Christopher Marlowe. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1942. 2 vols. The author’s two decades of research sifting the fragmentary evidence are reflected in this exhaustive, scholarly account. The study is less to be enjoyed as a narrative than consulted as a reference. Bakeless’s earlier study, Christopher Marlowe: The Man in His Time (New York: Morrow, 1937. 404pp.), distills his preliminary findings in a more accessible and readable fashion.

Kocher, Paul H. Christopher Marlowe: A Study of His Thought, Learning, and Character. Chapel Hill: University of North Carolina Press, 1946. 344pp. This intellectual and critical biography remains close to the known facts and avoids sensational speculation in one of the finest accounts available, exploring Marlowe’s mind, character, and the intellectual and cultural milieu that shaped him.

Wraight, A.D. In Search of Christopher Marlowe: A Pictorial Biography. New York: Vanguard, 1965. 376pp. This visual biography intended for the general reader reviews Marlowe’s life and works against the background of his times, which is ably captured in the book’s many illustrations.

Other Biographical Studies

Boas, F.S. Marlowe and His Circle: A Biographical Survey. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1929. 159pp. The focus here is an indirect view of Marlowe as reflected in the author’s detailed research into the lives of the men with whom the writer associated.

Boas, F.S. Christopher Marlowe: A Biographical and Critical Study. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1940. 336pp. The author assembles through contemporary documents the factual details of Marlowe’s life that is both sensible and reliable, if not as adventuresome as other biographers.

Eccles, Mark. Christopher Marlowe in London. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1934. 185pp. Based on previously unexamined archival sources, the book focuses on Marlowe’s London circle, particularly his relationship with the poet Thomas Watson.

Henderson, Philip. And Morning in His Eyes. London: Boriswood, 1937. 352pp. Henderson’s is a thorough popular biographical portrait that fills in the gaps in the record with period details and shows Marlowe indirectly through the experiences of others. In Christopher Marlowe, (New York: Longmans, 1952, 162pp.) half of the book is devoted to Marlowe’s life and the other to his works in a solid critical examination.

Hilton, Della. Who Was Kit Marlowe? New York: Taplinger, 1977. 163pp. The answer to the book’s title is far from definitive and relies on considerable speculation in attempting to sort through the various controversies surrounding the writer’s characters, beliefs, and roles.

Hotson, Leslie. The Death of Christopher Marlowe. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1925. 76pp. Hotson’s brief monograph shows the result of his tireless scholarly detective work, shedding light on both Marlowe’s life and death by discovering the inquest record following Marlowe’s demise.

Levin, Harry. The Overreacher: A Study of Christopher Marlowe. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1952. 231pp. Although more a critical than a biographical study, Levin’s provocative assessment of Marlowe’s writings provides a coherent character portrait.

Nicholl, Charles. The Reckoning: The Murder of Christopher Marlowe. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1994. 413pp. The book enters the shady controversy over Marlowe’s “murder” with the intriguing, though highly speculative, conspiracy theory that the writer was murdered with governmental complicity in a plot against Sir Walter Raleigh.

Norman, Charles. The Muses’ Darling: The Life of Christopher Marlowe. New York: Rinehart, 1946. 272pp. In a partially fictionalized account leaning heavily towards the sentimental and idealized, Marlowe’s life is vividly, if unreliably, dramatized.

Poirier, Michel. Christopher Marlowe. London: Chatto and Windus, 1951. 215pp. Poirier offers chapters on Marlowe’s life, his personality and ideas, individual works, and qualities as a poet.

Ross Williamson, Hugh. Kind Kit: An Informal Biography of Christopher Marlowe. New York: St. Martin’s, 1973. 269pp. Closer to biographical fiction than fact, the book employs imaginary dialogue and speculation disguised as fact in a eminently readable but factually unreliable account.

Rowse, A.L. Christopher Marlowe: His Life and Work. New York: Harper & Row, 1964. 219pp. Rowse fashions a literary portrait of the man and appreciation of his works in the context of the Elizabethan world view. In the absence of evidence, Rowse is forced to rely on the questionable practice of using the works as a source for speculations about Marlowe’s life.

Biographical Novels

Burgess, Anthony. A Dead Man in Deptford. New York: Carroll & Graf, 1995. 272pp. Burgess recreates the life and times of Christopher Marlowe in a brilliant evocation of the Elizabethan age. Although he asserts that all the historical facts are verifiable, inevitably the book’s speculation concerning Marlowe’s end is open to question and controversial.

Cronyn, George W. Mermaid Tavern. New York: Knight, 1937. 416pp. In a colorful rather than strictly accurate account of Marlowe’s life, the novel invents a romantic explanation for the writer’s shady activities and demise.

De Maria, Robert. To Be a King: A Novel about Christopher Marlowe. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill, 1976. 356pp. Chronicling Marlowe’s life from childhood to Cambridge, literary London, and the Elizabethan court, the novel speculatively asserts the writer’s espionage activities as fact.

Wichelns, Lee. The Shadow of the Earth. New York: Elysian Press, 1987. 293pp. This biographical novel traces Marlowe’s life and career from his university days through his literary triumphs and his shady death in a tavern brawl. With some imaginative embellishments, the novel stays close to the known biographical facts.

Fictional Portraits

Barker, Shirley. Liza Bowe. New York: Random House, 1956. 245pp. Literary London during the Elizabethan period is the subject of this colorful portrait of the Mermaid Tavern and a young barmaid who becomes associated with virtually every important literary figure, including Shakespeare and Marlowe, and plays a role in providing Marlowe with his subject in Doctor Faustus.

Cook, Judith. The Slicing Edge of Death. New York: St. Martin’s, 1993. 234pp. Offering a credible, fictional solution to the mystery surrounding Marlowe’s death, the novel identifies the motives of several individuals for murder in a speculative conspiracy theory involving Marlowe’s espionage activities on behalf of Elizabeth and Sir Walter Raleigh.

Cowell, Stephanie. Nicholas Cooke. New York: W.W.Norton, 1993. 448pp. In the first-person account of a young boy who in 1593 runs off to London, the protagonist meets and is seduced by Marlowe who employs him as an actor. The novel is a detailed and convincing recreation of Elizabethan times and personalities.

Dhondy, Farrukh. Black Swan. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1993. 217pp. In this Elizabethan intrigue, the diaries of a physician reveals the secret life of Marlowe in an atmospheric but fanciful solution to the many mysteries surrounding the writer.

Garrett, George. Entered from the Sun. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1990. 349pp. An actor and an army veteran investigate the mystery of Marlowe’s end at a Deptford tavern, uncovering a great deal about Elizabethan life and intriguing speculations about the writer.

Goldstein, Lisa. Strange Devices of the Sun and Moon. New York: St. Martin’s, 1993. 384pp. In a historical fantasy, a young widow becomes involved in Marlowe’s espionage activities while searching for her missing son.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Life of Shakespeare (1978). Director: Mark Cunningham. In a dramatic speculation about Shakespeare’s life, Ian McShane appears as Marlowe, with Tim Curry as Shakespeare, Meg Wynn Owen as Ann Hathaway, and Patience Collier as Elizabeth. Video.

Shakespeare in Love (1998). Director: John Madden. In a delightful fantasy, the origin of two of Shakespeare’s greatest plays are imagined in the bard’s (Ralph Fiennes) passion for a young noblewoman (Gwyneth Paltrow). Rupert Everett appears as Marlowe whose death is here attributed to Shakespeare’s dangerous liaison. Video.

Other Sources

Maclure, Millar, ed. Marlowe: The Critical Heritage. Boston: Routledge, 1976. 207pp. This useful volume brings together the shifting and contrary views of Marlowe the man and the artist since his death.

312. ANDREW MARVELL

1621–1678

English metaphysical poet, Marvell was assistant to John Milton and a member of Parliament. A Puritan, he was known as one of the chief wits and satirists of his time. His brilliant lyric poetry includes “The Garden,” “The Definition of Love,” “To His Coy Mistress,” and “Horatian Ode.”

Recommended Biographies

Hunt, John Dixon. Andrew Marvell: His Life and Writings. Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1978. 206pp. Hunt’s critical biography is a comprehensive, well-illustrated survey of Marvell’s life, times, and works. Accessible for the general reader, the book serves as a reliable introduction.

Legouis, Pierre. Andrew Marvell: Poet, Puritan, Patriot. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1965. 262pp. Still the most reliable and authoritative scholarly critical biography, the essential biographical details are carefully recounted in Legouis’s abridgement of his much longer French text, first published in 1928, that incorporates subsequent scholarly findings.

Murray, Nicholas. World Enough and Time: The Life of Andrew Marvell. New York: St. Martin’s, 2000. 294pp. Murray uses the results of modern scholarship to shape a fresh assessment of Marvell that adds details to the biographical record. The author shows a strong grasp of the period and offers a solid popular biography.

Other Biographical Studies

Birrell, Augustine. Andrew Marvell. New York: Macmillan, 1905. 241pp. Despite its age, this sensible, historically based study is still useful, relying on Marvell’s own words and those of his contemporaries to animate the poet’s life against a vivid period background.

Bradbrook, M.C., and M.G.Lloyd Thomas. Andrew Marvell. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Cambridge University Press, 1940. 161pp. Surveying Marvell’s works, this critical study illuminates Marvell’s personality and career indirectly as reflected in his writing. Comprehensive in scope and rich in insight, this study retains its usefulness for the more-than-casual reader with some prior familiarity with Marvell’s period.

Craze, Michael. The Life and Lyrics of Andrew Marvell. New York: Barnes and Noble, 1979. 333pp. This collection of Marvell’s lyrics includes a brief biographical summary of the known facts about the poet’s life.

Other Sources

Ray, Robert. An Andrew Marvell Companion. New York: Garland, 1998. 214pp. Ray includes a chronology, a biographical profile, and a dictionary of people, places, and terms associated with the poet and his work in this useful, accessible reference guide.

313. KARL MARX

1818–1883

German social philosopher and the founder of modern socialism, Marx was born in Trier, the son of a Jewish lawyer who converted to Lutheranism. He studied law at Bonn and Berlin but turned to philosophy and received his Ph.D. at Jena (1841). At first a proponent of materialism, Marx demanded radical reforms while editing the magazine Reinische Zeitung. After the magazine was suppressed (1843), he moved with his wife to Paris, Brussels, and finally to London, where he spent the rest of his life in great poverty. He became a socialist, joined (1847) the Communist League, and with his lifelong friend and collaborator, Friedrich Engels, published (1848) The Communist Manifesto, which summarizes Marx’s social philosophy. In London, Marx cofounded (1864) and led the International Workingman’s Association. His theories gained primacy in Europe, especially with the publication (1867–1894) of his monumental three-volume work, Das Kapital. Marxist theory argues that as feudalism gave way to capitalism, so capitalism would inevitably be replaced by socialism and eventually, communism.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Karl Marx/Friedrich Engels: Selected Letters. The Personal Correspondence, 1844–77. Fritz J. Raddatz, ed. Boston: Little, Brown, 1982. 194pp. In a selection of only 150 of the 4,000 existing letters, Marx’s poverty and financial dependence on Engels are revealed as are the personalities of both men.

The Letters of Karl Marx. Saul K.Padover, ed. Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Prentice-Hall, 1979. 576pp. Covering Marx’s life from his youth as a college student to shortly before his death, this comprehensive selection of his correspondence is an invaluable primary source on Marx’s thought and character.

Selected Correspondence: 1845–1895/Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels. New York: International Publishers, 1942. 551pp. Marx’s human trials and character can be glimpsed in this record of his relationship with Engels.

Recommended Biographies

McLellan, David. Karl Marx: His Life and Thought. New York: Harper & Row, 1973. 498pp. A full-length personal and intellectual biography, McLellan’s examination is both lucid and balanced in its presentation and achieves a remarkable integration of the various facets of Marx’s life; Karl Marx (New York: Viking, 1975. 110pp.) is a condensation of McLellan’s longer work and serves as a useful introduction for the general reader to the man and his ideas.

Manuel, Frank E. A Requiem for Karl Marx. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1995. 255pp. Part biography and part meditation on Marx’s reputation and influence, this is a clear-eyed, lucidly written dissection of Marx’s character and ideas, which are shown originating in violent hatred. Crafted with a novelistic vividness and supported by evident expertise in political and intellectual history, Manuel’s study is a challenging reassessment and penetrating psychological portrait.

Padover, Saul K. Karl Marx: An Intimate Biography. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1978. 667pp. Focusing on Marx’s private life and intimate relationships with his parents, wife, and children and the personal forces that shaped him, Padover creates a detailed human portrait of a divided man and a complex blend of personal strengths and flaws.

Wheen, Francis. Karl Marx: A Life. New York: W.W.Norton, 2000. 448pp. In a convincing as well as entertaining account, Wheen helps to humanize Marx while disposing of a number of myths that have obscured the view of his character and development. Without an ideological bias, Wheen focuses on the whole man, not just his ideas, in an insightful and fresh reappraisal.

Other Biographical Studies

Berlin, Isaiah. Karl Marx: His Life and Environment. 1939. Reprint ed. New York: Oxford University Press, 1963. 295pp. Despite a clear anti-Communist bias, Berlin provides a succinct summary of the highlights of Marx’s life and the development of his ideas. The study is particularly strong on the social and political atmosphere in which Marx worked.

Blumenberg, Werner. Karl Marx: An Illustrated Biography. New York: Verso, 1998. 175pp. Including virtually every photograph of Marx and his associates, this visual biography considers both Marx’s private and public lives and the interconnections between the two. Serves as an excellent introduction to the man and his ideas for the nonspecialist.

Liebknrecht, Wilhelm. Karl Marx: Biographical Memoirs. 1901. Reprint ed. New York: Greenwood, 1968. 181pp. Written by a close associate, Liebknrecht’s recollections form a partial portrait rather than a full-scale biography, enlivened by many anecdotes that humanize the formidable and often remote thinker.

Mehring, Franz. Karl Marx: The Story of His Life. 1918. Reprint ed. New York: Covici Friede, 1935. 608pp. Long regarded as the definitive life until more recent scholarship offered new findings and altered interpretations, Mehring’s study still serves, despite its sycophantic tone, as one of the most comprehensive accounts of Marx’s career, his relationship with his family and friends, and the wider historical and cultural context for viewing Marx’s ideas.

Nicolaevsky, Boris, and Otto Maenchen-Helfen. Karl Marx: Man and Fighter. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1936. 391pp. The authors supply a detailed account of Marx’s family background and early years.

Payne, Robert. Marx. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1968. 582pp. In a hostile account, Payne details how Marx’s family, friends, and environment shaped him. Grudgingly acknowledging Marx’s successes, the book emphasizes his failures and flaws and scores low marks on objectivity and balance.

Raddatz, Fritz. Karl Marx: A Political Biography. Boston: Little, Brown, 1978. 335pp. Raddatz adds few fresh or original insights or revelation to a fairly standard account of Marx’s life. Unfortunately the book provides scant coverage of Marx’s early life and the development of his ideas.

Rühle, Otto. Karl Marx: His Life and Work. New York: Viking, 1929. 419pp. At times excessively psychoanalytical in its approach, the book offers a coherent, though limited, view of Marx’s character and the development of his ideas.

Schwarzschild, Leopold. The Red Prussian: The Life and Legend of Karl Marx. New York: Scribner, 1947. 422pp. Based mainly on the Marx-Engels correspondence, the author debunks any greatness associated with Marx, showing him as a petty, dishonest, and unscrupulous opportunist, a loose thinker, and a bad prophet. The book’s lack of objectivity limits its overall usefulness.

Seigel, Jerrold E. Marx’s Fate: The Shape of a Life. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1978. 451pp. In a psychohistorical approach, Seigel offers a number of new interpretations on various aspects of Marx’s life and thought framed by what the author reveals was the ultimately unsuccessful attempt by Marx to resolve his intellectual abstractions in the face of experience.

Fictional Portraits

Ackroyd, Peter. The Trial of Elizabeth Cree. New York: Doubleday, 1995. 288pp. The search for a serial killer in London’s Limehouse in 1880 is connected with the trial of a young actress accused of murdering her husband. Karl Marx, novelist George Gissing, and music hall comedian Dan Leno get involved in the investigation.

Chernaik, Judith. The Daughter: A Novel Based on the Life of Eleanor Marx. New York: Harper & Row, 1979. 216pp. Mixing fact and invention, the novel explores the life of Marx’s youngest daughter, Eleanor, a member of London’s socialist and intellectual set who committed suicide when her actor husband deserted her.

Feuer, Lewis S. The Case of the Revolutionist’s Daughter: Sherlock Holmes Meets Karl Marx. Buffalo, New York: Prometheus Books, 1983. 159pp. In an inventive historical mystery with a biographical basis, featuring a convincing period atmosphere, Sherlock Holmes is hired by Marx to find his missing daughter.

Thorne, Nicola. Sisters and Lovers. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1981. 589pp. Three Victorian sisters arrive in London in the 1850s in search of husbands, and their stories are linked to a number of historical figures, including Florence Nightingale, John Ruskin, and Karl Marx.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Alexander, Albert. Karl Marx: The Father of Modern Socialism. New York: F.Watts, 1969. 147pp. MG/YA. Alexander provides the highlights of Marx’s career, glimpses of his personality, and a solid discussion of his influence and legacy.

Feinberg, Barbara S. Marx and Marxism. New York: F.Watts, 1985. 122pp. MG. This is a useful and informative overview that makes Marx’s views accessible in the context of his times.

Kettle, Arnold. Karl Marx: Founder of Modern Communism. New York: Roy, 1964. 120pp. YA. After a succinct account of Marx’s life, Kettle, a distinguished literary critic, discusses Marx’s ideas on economics, history, and revolution in a sincere and concise appreciation, now somewhat dated by historical events.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Zinn, Howard. Marx in Soho: A Play on History. Cambridge, Massachusetts: South End Press, 1999. 55pp. Zinn’s one-man play imagines Marx coming back to life in present-day New York to see how his economic theories have fared. The play also sheds some light on Marx’s relationships with his wife and daughter.

Karl Marx and Marxism (1993). Director: Alan Horrox. This documentary looks at the man, his life, and roots of his philosophy and the development of his thinking. Video.

Other Sources

Carver, Terrell, ed. The Cambridge Companion to Marx. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1991. 357pp. This collection of essays by respected scholars begins with an overview by Carver on Marx’s life and works, followed by critiques on Marx’s philosophy.

Draper, Hal. The Marx-Engles Chronicle: A Day-to-Day Chronicle of Marx and Engels’ Life and Activity. New York: Schocken, 1985. 297pp. This is a meticulously researched, detailed chronology that records everything that is known about both men’s activities.

Foner, Philip S., ed. When Karl Marx Died: Comments in 1883. New York: International Publishers, 1973. 272pp. A collection of articles and tributes following Marx’s death in 1883, this useful volume provides the reader with a clear sense of how Marx variously appeared to his contemporaries.

McLellan, David. Karl Marx: Interviews and Recollections. Totowa, New Jersey: Barnes and Noble, 1981. 186pp. Marx’s own words and those of his contemporaries are gathered together to form an interesting multi-angled profile.

Rubel, Maximilien and Margaret Manale. Marx without Myth: A Chronological Study of His Life and Work. New York: Blackwell, 1975. 368pp. In an invaluable reference tool, the authors have divided Marx’s life into distinct periods and supplied a year-by-year chronology of Marx and his family for each period. The book is particularly helpful when read in conjunction with other biographies.

314. MARY I

1516–1558

The daughter of Henry VIII and Catherine of Aragon and the half-sister of Elizabeth I, Mary became queen (1553) after the death of her half-brother, Edward VI, and the nine-day usurpation of the throne by Lady Jane Grey. A devout Roman Catholic, she endeavored to restore Catholicism in England, and her subsequent persecution of Protestants, hundreds of whom were burnt as heretics, earned her the sobriquet “Bloody Mary.” Her alliance with and marriage to Philip II of Spain (1554) led to war with France, the loss of Calais (1558), and the hostility of the English people toward the queen. The childless Mary was succeeded by Elizabeth I.

Recommended Biographies

Erickson, Carolly. Bloody Mary. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1978. 533pp. Focusing on Mary’s personal life, Erickson portrays the queen as neither a monster nor a misunderstood heroine but a consistent woman of her times shaped by events beyond her control. Erickson’s sympathetic but balanced study refutes many myths surrounding Mary and supplies valuable cultural and historical contexts to understand her.

Loades, David M. Mary Tudor: A Life. New York: Blackwell, 1989. 410pp. Featuring new evidence from archival sources, Loades’s balanced, scholarly biography supersedes Prescott in its scholarship and interpretations. Presenting a far more complex, respected figure than previous studies, the author’s emphasis on the gender challenges Mary faced as a ruler helps to explain her successes and failures as queen and restores considerable sympathy for the queen.

Prescott, Hilda F.M. Spanish Tudor: Life of Bloody Mary. New York: Columbia University Press, 1940. 562pp.; reissued as Mary Tudor. (New York: Macmillan, 1953). In a balanced, scholarly study that has long served as the standard life, Prescott neither condones nor ignores Mary’s failures as a queen and her character flaws. Written with a dramatic, novelistic skill, the book vividly captures Mary’s compelling human story and the personal and public influences that shaped her life.

Other Biographical Studies

Loach, Jennifer. Parliament and the Crown in the Reign of Mary Tudor. New York: Oxford University Press, 1986. 262pp. This specialized study of Mary’s relationship with Parliament offers a revisionist view of Mary as a remarkably successful monarch.

Loades, David M. The Reign of Mary Tudor. New York: St. Martin’s, 1979. 444pp. In the most detailed, scholarly study of Mary’s five-and-a-half year reign, Loades examines the structure of the state, and its finances, and foreign and religious affairs, as well as includes three chapters on Mary’s personal and political affairs. Loades’s convincing evidence challenges more negative views of Mary’s reign and character and complements his later biography with essential political and historical context for a balanced view of the queen.

Maynard, Theodore. Bloody Mary. Milwaukee: Bruce, 1955. 297pp. Written from a Catholic perspective, Maynard counters the verdict of history with a defense of Mary’s reputation, asserting that she should be regarded as one of the holiest of English monarchs: a pure, courageous, pious, and honest individual whose crimes were no worse than her contemporaries’. Considerable uncritical special pleading is necessary to support this positive view.

Ridley, Jasper. The Life and Times of Mary Tudor. London: Weidenfeld and Nicolson, 1973. 224pp. Ridley’s illustrated biography serves as a solid introduction to Mary’s life and era for the nonspecialist.

Tittler, Robert. The Reign of Mary I. New York: Longman, 1983. 117pp. In a revisionist assessment, Tittler counters standard views of Mary’s failures as a person and ruler and offers evidence to support a contrary view of the queen’s successes.

Waldman, Milton. The Lady Mary: A Biography of Mary Tudor. New York: Scribner, 1972. 224pp. Only a small portion of Waldman’s biography is devoted to Mary’s reign, concentrating instead on her childhood and the difficult years of the 1530s and 1540s. Well written but undocumented, Waldman’s handling of complex events and figures is clear, if at times overly simplified.

Weir, Alison. The Children of Henry VIII. New York: Ballantine Books, 1996. 385pp. In a group portrait of Henry VIII’s children, the emphasis is on the personal over political history. The book features a detailed look at Mary’s relationship with her half-sister Elizabeth. All the Tudors are shown as complex humans with both strengths and weak

Biographical Novels

Elsna, Hebe. Prelude for Two Queens. London: Collins, 1972. 160pp. The childhood and youth of both Mary and Elizabeth Tudor are dramatized in a credible, though somewhat idealized account.

Lewis, Hilda W. I Am Mary Tudor. New York: McKay, 1972. 422pp. The reign of her father is described from the first-person perspective of Mary through her ascension to the throne in a convincing depiction of the age and an intriguing animation of Mary’s psyche.

Plaidy, Jean. The Spanish Bridegroom. New York: Putnam, 1971. 301 pp. This biographical novel dramatizes the personal and political life of Spain’s Philip II through his relationship with a number of women, including his marriage to Mary Tudor. The author’s In the Shadow of the Crown (New York: Putnam, 1988. 381pp.) is an autobiographical account of Queen Mary’s life and reign.

Zara, Louis. In the House of the King. New York: Crown, 1952. 306pp. Tracing the life of Mary’s husband, Spain’s Philip II, the novel dramatizes his career from boyhood to death, with an emphasis on the king’s amorous relationships. Invention mars the novel’s reliability as either biography or history.

Fictional Portraits

Ainsworth, William Harrison. The Tower of London. 1840. Reprint ed. New York: Dutton, 1928. 455pp. The novel offers a fictionalized account of the various claimants to the English throne on the death of Edward VI, including Mary and Elizabeth Tudor and Lady Jane Grey. With only a framework of history, the novel features mainly romantic embellishments.

Dukthas, Ann. In the Time of the Poisoned Queen. New York: St. Martin’s, 1998. 273pp. In an ingenious historical mystery, time-traveler Nicholas Segalla uncovers a elaborate plot to poison Mary.

Harper, Karen. The Poyson Garden: A Bess Tudor Mystery. New York: Delacorte, 1999. 288pp. In a historical mystery series, Elizabeth Tudor investigates the poisoning deaths of a number of her Boleyn relatives while she is watched suspiciously by her half-sister Queen Mary.

Harwood, Alice. The Lily and the Leopards. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill, 1949. 508pp. The tragically brief life of Lady Jane Grey is faithfully depicted. A companion to both Mary and Elizabeth Tudor, Lady Jane is swept up in the coup d’etat that puts her on the throne for nine days before she is executed.

Major, Charles. When Knighthood Was in Flower. New York: Grosset & Dunlap, 1898. 358pp. Major’s popular historical romance recounts Mary’s affair with the commoner, Charles Brandon.

Ross Williamson, Hugh. The Cardinal in Exile. London: Joseph, 1969. 217pp. In the sequel to The Cardinal in England (1970), Henry VIII’s cousin, who has become a cardinal, goes first to Rome where he almost becomes Pope before returning to England when Mary comes to the throne.

Wheelwright, Jere H. The Strong Room. New York: Scribner, 1948. 302pp. In a fictional intrigue plot, an English aristocrat works to prevent Mary from wedding Philip II of Spain, ingeniously connecting invention with actual historical events of the period.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Roll, Winifred. Mary I: The History of an Unhappy Tudor Queen. Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Prentice-Hall, 1980. 266pp. MA/YA. Roll’s is an extensive, well-researched, balanced, and detailed account of Mary’s childhood, rise to the throne, and reign that indulges in a minimum of speculation and is intended for the serious student of the period.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Tennyson, Alfred. Queen Mary. Boston: Osgood, 1875. 263pp. Tennyson’s historical drama presents the principal events of Mary’s reign, including Wyatt’s rebellion, her marriage to Philip II, the death of Cranmer, and the loss of Calais.

Elizabeth (1998). Director: Shekhar Kapur. In a darkly evocative portrait of Elizabeth’s succession, Kathy Burke portrays Queen Mary, with Cate Blanchett as Elizabeth and Joseph Fiennes as Robert Dudley. Video.

Elizabeth R (1972). Director: Claude Whatham, et al. Covering Elizabeth’s life from age 17 to age 70, this acclaimed series is anchored by a remarkable performance by Glenda Jackson in the title role, Daphne Slater portrays Mary, with Peter Jeffrey as Philip II. Video.

The Sword and the Rose (1953). Director: Ken Annakin. Based on Charles Mayor’s When Knighthood Was in Flower, Mary’s early romantic life is invented as she (Glynis Johns) prefers a commoner (Richard Todd) over the advances of a nobleman (Michael Gough). Features a fine performance by James Robertson Justice as Henry VIII. Video.

See also Anne Boleyn; Elizabeth I; Henry VIII; Philip II

315. MARY QUEEN OF SCOTS

1542–1587

The daughter of James V of Scotland and Mary of Guise, Mary was born at Linlithgow and became the Scottish queen six days later, upon the death of her father. She was brought up in France and married (1558) the dauphin, crowned Francis I (1559). Francis died in 1560 and Mary returned (1561) to Scotland, where she married (1565) her Catholic cousin, Henry Stuart, Lord Darnley. Their son, James (later James I of England), was born in 1566. Power struggles between the queen and the scheming, unpopular Darnley led to Darnley’s murder (1567) on the orders of the Earl of Bothwell, whom Mary later married. Public outrage and Protestant opposition to the marriage forced her to abdicate and flee to England, where, as heir presumptive of Elizabeth I, she became the focus of Catholic plots against the English throne. Imprisoned for 19 years while Parliament and Elizabeth debated her fate, Mary was finally tried and then beheaded at Fotheringay castle after evidence implicated her in a plot led by Anthony Babington.

Recommended Biographies

Donaldson, Gordon. Mary Queen of Scots. London: English Universities Press, 1974. 200pp. In a sympathetic reassessment, Donaldson provides convincing evidence to support an altered view of Mary as a savvy politician and neither the victim of her passions nor of circumstance. In Donaldson’s view, the queen’s strengths add to the complexity of her story, which this book freshly presents.

Fraser, Antonia. Mary Queen of Scots. New York: Delacorte Press, 1969. 613pp. In a convincing rehabilitation of Mary’s reputation, Fraser looks at the personal history of the queen against a vivid backdrop of sixteenth-century attitudes and politics. In Eraser’s revisionist view, Mary is presented as a sympathetically tragic figure, betrayed by those closest to her.

Henderson, T.F. Mary Queen of Scots: Her Environment and Tragedy. New York: Scribner, 1905. 2 vols. This narrative, critical biography, despite its age, has long established itself as the standard life by its judiciousness, balance, and comprehensiveness. Henderson is particularly strong on the cultural and historical conditions underlying Mary’s career and the influence of foreign affairs on her development.

Wormald, Jenny. Mary Queen of Scots: A Study in Failure. London: G.Philip, 1988. 206pp. In contrast to Donaldson’s defense of Mary, Wormald provides the prosecution’s view, impressively assembling the evidence of her character flaws, mismanagement, and misjudgments.

Other Biographical Studies

Cowan, Ian B. The Enigma of Mary Stuart. New York: St. Martin’s, 1971. 222pp. This useful book employs biographical and historical attitudes toward Mary through selected excerpts from various accounts of crucial moments of her reign and captivity. Offering no judgments, Cowan instead arranges both favorable and negative interpretations, allowing the reader to reach his or her own conclusion.

Gorman, Herbert. The Scottish Queen. New York: Farrar & Rinehart, 1932. 605pp. A highly readable, dramatic narrative biography, German’s account presents Mary as the unhappy victim of circumstances that resisted her control and conspired to produce her downfall. What is missing here is a more balanced view that grants more responsibility to Mary herself for her fate.

Lewis, Jayne E. Mary Queen of Scots: Romance and Nation. New York: Routledge, 1998. 256pp. Lewis looks at the contradictory and changing image of Mary through the century, from the Scottish and English perspectives and from the points of view of the Elizabethan, Jacobean, Georgian, Victorian, and Modern periods. The result is a fascinating account of how the queen reflects each era’s values.

Morrison, Nancy B. Mary Queen of Scots. New York: Vanguard, 1960. 286pp. This is a vivid but undocumented narrative history of the queen’s life and reign in a series of dramatized scenes in which it is difficult to separate fact from the imagination.

Strickland, Agnes. Lives of the Queens of Scotland. New York: Harper, 1851–1859. 8 vols. Strickland’s quaint Victorian study of Mary is striking in its positive depiction. Although the book’s interpretations are dated and chiefly interesting from a historical perspective, this examination does ably employ primary documents and supplies some well-founded details.

Zweig, Stefan. Mary, Queen of Scotland and the Isles. New York: Viking, 1935. 366pp. In a psychological biography written for the general reader, Zweig concentrates his attention on Mary’s passionate relationship with the Earl of Bothwell to dramatize his characterization of the queen as a victim of her intense feelings. Provocative rather than reliable, Zweig’s vivid account is nevertheless a fascinating character portrait.

Biographical Novels

Balin, Beverly. King in Hell. New York: Coward-McCann, 1971. 568pp. With a number of controversial interpretations, the novel explores the relationship between Mary and her third husband, James Hepburn, Earl of Bothwell. Contrary to historical consensus, the novel pleads Bothwell’s innocence in the death of Mary’s second husband, Lord Darnley, and accepts the validity of the Casket Letters that suggest Bothwell and Mary’s affair before Darnley’s death.

Bowen, Marjorie. Double Dallilaly. London: Cassell, 1933. 383pp. The various intrigues surrounding Mary’s tenuous grasp on the Scottish throne and her rivalry with Elizabeth I are dramatized. In Queen’s Caprice (London: Cassell, 1933. 287pp.), the crucial years of Mary’s reign are dramatized from her first meeting with Lord Darnley in 1565 to her imprisonment in Lochleven Castle in 1567. The novel’s interpretation of events fits the historical facts, although some liberties have been taken regarding motivation.

Byrd, Elizabeth. Immortal Queen. New York: Ballantine Books, 1956. 591pp. As Mary awaits her execution in 1587, her entire life is reviewed. She emerges as a complex figure shaped by her age, imperious but needy and no match for Elizabeth.

Fallon, Frederic. The White Queen. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1972. 322pp. With some liberties taken with the historical facts, the novel chronicles Mary’s troubled reign from her return to France through her relationships with Darnley and Bothwell.

George, Margaret. Mary Queen of Scotland and the Isles. New York: St. Martin’s, 1992. 870pp. In a remarkable effort of historical recreation, Mary’s life and character are convincingly examined from a variety of vantage points to arrive at a multidimensional, complex portrait.

Harwood, Alice. Seats of the Mighty: A Novel of James Stuart, brother of Mary Queen of Scots. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill, 1956. 469pp.; No Smoke without Fire. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill, 1964. 530pp. The author’s two novels look at life in Mary’s court from the perspective of her half-brother, James Stuart, Earl of Moray. The historical events before and after Mary’s fall from power are faithfully presented.

Irwin, Margaret. The Gay Galliard. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1942. 543pp. With incidents and dialogue partially drawn from contemporary records, the novel dramatizes the love affair between Mary and Bothwell and the mysterious death of Mary’s second husband, Darnley. The novel features a more sympathetic portrayal of Bothwell than most historical accounts.

Kenyon, Frank W. Mary of Scotland. New York: Crowell, 1957. 344pp. Mary’s reign, from her return to Scotland to her execution, is dramatized in a consistent but debatable interpretation of events and motives.

Kurlbaum, Margarete S. Mary, Queen of Scots. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1929. 504pp. Beginning with Mary’s arrival in Scotland, the novel provides a highly romanticized and often inaccurate account of events, full of ingenious conjectures about what people felt and thought.

Lane, Jane. Parcel of Rogues. New York: Rinehart, 1948. 448pp. Mary’s Scottish reign is chronicled from 1542 to 1581. The novel is faithful to the spirit of the times if not to every factual detail, with a plausible interpretation concerning the disputed Casket Letters.

Oliver, Jane. The Lion and the Rose. New York: Putnam, 1958. 382pp. Mary’s career from her return to Scotland to her execution is dramatized. The novel reflects the author’s conviction that Mary and Bothwell were innocent in the death of Lord Darnley.

Plaidy, Jean. Royal Road to Fotheringay. New York: Putnam, 1968. 349pp. The novel traces Mary’s entire career in France, Scotland, and England, sticking close to the historical facts with some speculation concerning motive. In The Captive Queen of Scotland (New York: Putnam, 1970. 410pp.) Mary’s captivity in England is dramatized. After the Battle of Longside, Mary flees to England for protection and is offered a succession of royal prison cells until her end at Fotheringay.

Tannahill, Reay. Fatal Majesty: A Novel of Mary Queen of Scots. New York: St. Martin’s, 1999. 466pp. Mary’s story after her return to Scotland from France is dramatized with an emphasis on the political intrigue that she faced. Mary herself is somewhat lost in the shuffle here in the rush of events.

Fictional Portraits

Byrd, Elizabeth. Maid of Honor: A Novel Set in the Court of Mary Queen of Scots. New York: St. Martin’s, 1979. 313pp. Court intrigue during Mary’s reign is described from the perspective of the queen’s maid of honor.

Dukthas, Ann. A Time for the Death of a King. New York: St. Martin’s, 1994. 226pp. In an inventive time-travel investigation, the mystery surrounding the murder of Lord Darnley is explored. Grounded in fact, the novel’s solutions to a number of mysteries involving Mary are highly speculative.

Dunnett, Dorothy. The Game of Kings. New York: Putnam, 1961. 543pp. The initial novel of the Lymond Saga is set in 1547 as Mary is spirited to France from Scotland; Queen’s Play. New York: Putnam, 1964. 432pp. Francis Crawford protects the young Mary in France during the reign of Henri II; Checkmate. New York: Putnam, 1975. 581pp. In the final installment of the author’s Lymond Saga, high court politics between France and England involves Mary Queen of Scots as Francis Crawford attempts to resolve crises with his identity and marriage.

Hill, Pamela. The Green Salamander. New York: St. Martin’s, 1977. 288pp. The story of Margaret Douglas, mother of Mary’s second husband, Darnley, is depicted as she plays a dangerous political game against rivals and conspirators in Scotland and England to secure her family’s fortune. In The Sword and the Flame (New York: St. Martin’s, 1992. 316pp.) the life of Mary of Guise, wife of Scottish King James V and mother of Mary Queen of Scots, is narrated from the perspective of a noblewoman attendant.

Oliver, Jane. Mine Is the Kingdom. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1937. 452pp. This biographical novel chronicling the life of Scotland’s James VI and England’s James I includes a look at the future king’s early life in Mary’s court.

Scott, Walter. The Abbot. 1820. Reprint ed. New York: Dutton, 1936. 470pp. In an exciting blend of romance and history, the story concerns Mary’s imprisonment at Lochleven Castle, her escape, and her supporters’ defeat at the Battle of Longside.

Westcott, Jan. The Tower and the Dream. New York: Putnam, 1974. 322pp. The rivalry between Elizabeth I and Mary is dramatized from the perspective of the actual Elizabeth Talbot, Countess of Shrewsbury, one of the most fascinating figures of the Elizabethan period.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Hahn, Emily. Mary Queen of Scots. New York: Random House, 1953. 184pp. MG. Part of the Landmark series, this is a vivid and mainly objective account of the highlights of Mary’s life and reign.

Plaidy, Jean. The Young Mary Queen of Scots. New York: Roy, 1963. 144pp. MG. Plaidy, the prolific historical novelist, documents Mary’s early years through her return to Scotland as a widow at the age of 18.

Stepanek, Sally. Mary Queen of Scots. New York: Chelsea House, 1987. 111pp. MG/YA. Part of the publisher’s World Leaders series, the highlights of Mary’s life are summarized, with some oversimplification of the complex political and cultural context and some fictionalization.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Anderson, Maxwell. Mary of Scotland. 1934. Anderson’s blank-verse drama presents episodes from Mary’s life, from her arrival in Scotland in 1561 to her imprisonment in Lochleven Castle. Anderson exalts Mary’s honor, chastity, and integrity more than history has granted and blames the unflattering events, such as Darnley’s end, the murder of Rizzio, and the betrayal of Bothwell, to the machinations of Elizabeth I.

Bolt, Robert. Vivat! Vivat Regina: A Play in Two Acts. London: Heineman, 1971. 96pp. Bolt’s study of the effects of power is focused on the clash between Mary and Elizabeth I, elaborating on the events leading up to Mary’s execution.

Drinkwater, John. Mary Stuart. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1921. 73pp. In Drinkwater’s interpretation, Mary is a noble and loving woman done in by her poor choices of men.

Masefield, John. End and Beginning. New York: Macmillan, 1933. 50pp. Masefield’s poetic drama memorializes the last few hours of Mary’s life.

Schiller, Friedrich. Mary Stuart. New York: Penguin, 1998. 150pp. Schiller’s verse drama first published in 1800 treats the conflict between Elizabeth I and Mary while the latter is in prison awaiting execution. In Schiller’s interpretation, Mary is depicted as a warm and loving woman who gains moral transcendence through suffering and accepting her fate.

Mary of Scotland (1936). Director: John Ford. In the film adaptation of Maxwell Anderson’s play, Katharine Hepburn stars as Mary, with Fredric March as Bothwell, Douglas Walton as Damley, and Florence Eldridge as Elizabeth I. Video.

Mary, Queen of Scots (1971). Director: Charles Jarrot. More colorful than historically accurate, this period drama features strong performances by Vanessa Redgrave in the title role and Glenda Jackson as Elizabeth I. With Patrick McGoohan, Timothy Dalton, Trevor Howard, Ian Holm, and Daniel Massey. Video.

Mary Stuart (1982). Director: Peter Butler. Performance by the English National Opera of Donizetti’s 1835 opera based on Schiller’s tragedy. Video.

See also Catherine de’ Medici; Elizabeth I; James I

316. COTTON MATHER

1663–1728

American Puritan clergyman and author, Mather was an advisor in Sir William Phips’s government, and helped to found Yale University. His wide scientific interest made him the first native-born American elected to London’s Royal Society. His works include Memorable Providences Relating to Witchcraft and Possessions (1689), which helped to stir up the hysteria that led to the Salem witch trials, and Magnolia Christi Americana (1702), a brilliant religious history of the colonies.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Diary of Cotton Mather. Worthington C.Ford. 1911–1912. Reprint ed. New York: Frederick Ungar, 1957. 2 vols. Mather’s private reflections are an essential source for information on his activities, ideas, and personality.

Paterna: The Autobiography of Cotton Mother. Ronald A.Bosco, ed. Delmar, New York: Scholars’ Facsimiles and Reprints, 1976. 432pp. Published in 1702, Mather’s devotional recollections were originally written as an inspirational lesson for his son.

Selected Letters of Cotton Mather. Kenneth Silverman, ed. Baton Rouge: Louisiana State University Press, 1971. 446pp. Four-fifths of the extant letters are included in this collection, arranged in a chronological and thematic scheme.

Recommended Biographies

Levin, David. Cotton Mather: The Young Life of the Lord’s Remembrancer 1663–1703. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1978. 360pp. Levin’s is a well-written and -researched account of Mather’s formative experiences, ideas, and background. Balanced in its assessment, the book helps to humanize Mather, describing his shortcomings as well as his strengths.

Silverman, Kenneth. The Life and Times of Cotton Mather. New York: Harper & Row, 1984. 479pp. Silverman’s Pulitzer Prize-winning biography is deservedly regarded as the definitive life. Based on extensive archival research, the book converts its considerable scholarship into an accessible, compelling narrative that manages a balanced portrait of a figure far more complex and interesting than conventional wisdom has suggested.

Middlekauff, Robert. The Mothers: Three Generations of Puritan Intellectuals 1596–1728. New York: Oxford University Press, 1971. 440pp. Winner of the Bancroft Prize, Middlekauff’s scholarly account of the evolution of Puritan thought in America is centered on the intellectual and spiritual lives of Richard, Increase, and Cotton Mather, drawing on their private papers, unpublished writings, sermons, and works.

Other Biographical Studies

Boas, Ralph, and Louise Boas. Cotton Mather: Keeper of the Puritan Conscience. 1928. Reprint ed. Hamden, Connecticut: Archon Books, 1964. 271pp. This is a well-written overview using frequent quotations from Mather’s writings and from his contemporaries to present a selective portrait of the man and his era.

Lovelace, Richard F. The American Pietism of Cotton Mather: Origins of American Evangelicalism. Grand Rapids, Michigan: William B.Eerdmans, 1979. 350pp. Lovelace’s intellectual and spiritual profile places Mather in his Puritan context and depicts his influence on the Evangelical movement.

Mather, Samuel. The Life of the Very Reverend and Learned Cotton Mather. 1729. Reprint ed. New York: Garrett Press, 1970. 186pp. Mather’s son offers a brief, admiring portrait of his father. The book’s perspective makes this an important source for authentic details.

Wendell, Barrett. Cotton Mather: The Puritan Priest. 1891. Reprint ed. New York: Chelsea House, 1980. 321pp. Wendell supplies a still valuable biographical profile. Although selective in its approach, the book provides insights into Mather’s private and public life against a background of New England intellectual life.

Fictional Portraits

Barker, Shirley. Peace, My Daughters. New York: Crown, 1949. 248pp. Barker’s romantic treatment of the Salem witchcraft trials features a portrait of Mather.

Breslin, Howard. The Silver Oar. New York: Crowell, 1954. 310pp. A condemned pirate narrates his perspective on the 1689 Boston Revolution against Governor Andros, with an appearance by Mather.

Elliott, Edward E. The Devil and the Mothers. San Francisco: Strawberry Hill, 1989. 375pp. This is a generally accurate version of the events of 1692 in Salem as witchcraft hysteria is fueled by the religious zeal of Cotton Mather to produce a number of executions.

Winwar, Frances. Gallows Hill. New York: Holt, 1937. 292pp. Mather is shown investigating the claims that the devil has infected townspeople in colonial Salem in a convincing depiction of period customs.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Wood, James P. The Admirable Cotton Mather. New York: Seabury Press, 1971. 164pp. MG/YA. Wood attempts to view Mather in his own terms based on contemporary values in a balanced appraisal. Some previous knowledge of colonial history will help readers’ comprehension.

317. HENRI MATISSE

1869–1954

Prolific French painter, sculptor, and lithographer, Matisse is considered, with Pablo Picasso, one of the two foremost artists of the modern period. He gave up the study of law after taking up painting during an illness in 1890 and studied with academician Bouguereau and with Gustave Moreau. Influenced by the Impressionists, Matisse’s vivid, exuberant use of color caused his style and that of his circle to be dubbed “Fauvism.” After the demise of Fauvism, Matisse continued to use color expressively. By 1909, his fame had spread worldwide. He exhibited in Russia and the United States, and in 1917 settled in Nice. Matisse designed for the ballet and illustrated the works of such authors as Baudelaire. His works include Woman with a Hat (1905), Joy of Life (1906), and The Blue Nude (1907). At age 80, he decorated the Dominican Nunnery chapel at Venice, France, and in his last years, produced brilliant paper cutouts and stencils.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Matisse on Art. Jack D.Flam, ed. New York: Phaidon, 1973. 199pp. Flam collects a number of important documents by the artist that reveal Matisse’s development in his own words.

Recommended Biographies

Barr, Alfred H. Jr. Matisse: His Art and His Public. New York: Museum of Modern Art, 1951. 591pp. The first full-scale scholarly treatment of Matisse’s life and work remains one of the best and includes indispensable source materials, including several important statements by the painter on his art. The biographical details are based in part on information obtained directly from Matisse and several close associates.

Flam, Jack D. Matisse: The Man and His Art 1869–1918. Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1986. 523pp. In the first volume of a proposed two-volume study, Flam’s biography is a worthy successor to Barr, updating the earlier book with subsequent scholarship that substantially revises Barr’s interpretation of Matisse’s life, character, and stylistic development.

Spurling, Hilary. The Unknown Matisse: A Life of Henri Matisse: The Early Years, 1869–1908. New York: Knopf, 1998. 480pp. Spurling’s groundbreaking biography based on extensive research fills in a number of gaps in the factual record and provides the most detailed account of Matisse’s early years and artistic development. Replacing previous speculation with convincing biographical evidence, Spurling’s nuanced portrait is both insightful and coherent and alters several important assumptions about the painter.

Other Biographical Studies

Herrera, Hayden. Matisse: A Portrait. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1993. 223pp. In an excellent introduction to Matisse’s life and works, Herrera’s sensible text is complemented by a number of well-chosen illustrations.

Lassaigne, Jacques. Matisse: Biographical and Critical Study. New York: Crown, 1972. 138pp. This is a concise, though mainly derivative and uncritical summary of Matisse’s career, along with selections from his work.

Russell, John. Matisse: Father & Son. New York: Abrams, 1999. 415pp. Based on recently available unpublished correspondence between Henri Matisse and his art-dealer son Pierre, Russell crafts an intimate portrait of both men’s lives.

Schneider, Pierre. Matisse. New York: Rizzoli, 1984. 752pp. This authoritative study of Matisse’s artistic development includes new biographical material, including previously unpublished letters. Schneider’s often discursive text and thematic organization makes it difficult to assemble a clear and consecutive biographical portrait of the artist, but the book is invaluable for demonstrating Matisse’s artistic evolution in its cultural context.

Watkins, Nicholas. Matisse. New York: Oxford University Press, 1985. 240pp. In a sensible, concise, chronological narrative, Watkins surveys Matisse’s career while summarizing various critical interpretations of his artistic development. Serves as an excellent introduction to the man and his genius.

Fictional Portraits

Longstreet, Stephen. The Burning Man. New York: Random House, 1958. 428pp. In an account of a young Spanish painter’s career, the novel observes the basic outline of Picasso’s life with liberal invention. Such figures as Gertrude Stein and Henri Matisse appear as named characters.

Longstreet, Stephen. The Young Men of Paris. New York: Delacorte, 1967. 275pp. In a biographical novel on the life of the artist Modigliani in bohemian Paris in the years before World War I, a number of other artists, including Picasso, Matisse, Chagall, and Utrillo, are also depicted.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Kostenevich, A.G. Henri Matisse. New York: Abrams, 1997. 92pp. MG/YA. Part of the acclaimed First Impressions series, the book orients the reader to the main details of Matisse’s career and an appreciation of his artistry, impact, and influences.

Mason, Anthony. Matisse. Hauppauge, New York: Barron’s, 1995. 32pp. MG. Mason supplies a brief introduction to Matisse’s life and development as an artist as well as his influences and impact.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Matisse (1987). Director: Didier Baussy. The film provides a portrait of the artist through archival footage and critical examinations of his art. Video.

Matisse in Nice (1986). Director: Michael Gill. This documentary follows Matisse’s career and his artistic influences when in 1917 he left Paris to live for 13 years in Nice. Video.

318. W.SOMERSET MAUGHAM

1874–1965

British author, William Somerset Maugham studied medicine and completed his internship but never practiced. In World War II he served as a secret agent for the British. He first achieved success as a popular playwright, but he is most famous for his short stories and novels, including Of Human Bondage (1915), The Moon and Sixpence (1919), and The Razor’s Edge (1944). During his later years Maugham primarily wrote essays.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Strictly Personal. 1941. Reprint ed. New York: Arno Press, 1977. 272pp. As the author explains, “This is not an account of great events, but of the small things that happened to me during the first 15 months of the war.” The book details Maugham’s stay in France until its fall.

The Summing Up. 1938. Reprint ed. New York: Arno Press, 1977. 310pp. Described as an autobiography not of his life but his mind, Maugham offers insights into his introduction to literature, his writings, and his philosophical musings.

A Writer’s Notebook. 1949. Reprint ed. Westport, Connecticut: Greenwood, 1970. 367pp. Maugham has extracted portions of the notebook he kept since 1892. Although there is little revealed about his private and personal life, this is a indispensable guide to the writer’s literary views and creative methods.

Recommended Biographies

Calder, Robert L. Willie: The Life of W.Somerset Maugham. New York: St. Martin’s, 1989. 429pp. The confidences of Maugham’s companion, Alan Searle, lends insights to the private life of the writer in this biography that contrasts with Morgan’s darker-toned portrait. Calder traces the author’s development as well as the discrepancy between his public persona and his often hidden private side.

Morgan, Ted. Somerset Maugham. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1980. 711pp. Morgan’s candid, extensively researched and detailed biography is, along with Calder’s, the best choice for a sophisticated, nuanced portrait of the writer. The use of previously restricted archival material and interviews with those who knew the writer helps the presentation of a credible psychological profile of Maugham’s often unflattering character and behavior.

Raphael, Frederic. Somerset Maugham and His World. New York: Scribner, 1977. 128pp. Raphael’s is a compact critical biography in which more than 100 photographs complement a shrewd and stylish overview of Maugham’s life and work. Serves as a valuable introduction.

Other Biographical Studies

Cordell, Richard A. Somerset Maugham: A Biographical and Critical Study. Bloomington: Indiana University Press, 1961. 274pp. Too admiring to be fully useful, Cordell’s biographical sketch that precedes a critical review of his works is further compromised by Maugham’s participation in the book’s production that resulted in some misinformation.

Curtis, Anthony. The Pattern of Maugham: A Critical Portrait. New York: Taplinger, 1974. 278pp. Curtis’s book is a solid critical introduction to Maugham’s work that includes details about the writer’s life and times in its critique.

Kanin, Garson. Remembering Mr. Maugham. New York: Atheneum, 1966. 240pp. Kanin’s journal entries reconstruct meetings and conversations with Maugham during a 25-year friendship.

Maugham, Robin. Somerset and All the Maughams. New York: New American Library, 1966. 270pp.; Escape from the Shadows. London: Hodder and Stoughton, 1972. 273pp.; Conversations with Willie. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1978. 188pp. Maugham’s nephew supplies a number of anecdotal glimpses of his famous uncle in three volumes, mixing family background, firsthand observations, and reconstructed conversations.

Pfeiffer, K.G. W.Somerset Maugham: A Candid Portrait. New York: W.W.Norton, 1959. 222pp. Less a full-length biography than a sketch by a former friend of the writer and bridge companion. As one reviewer acidly observed, the book “bears about the same relationship to biography or criticism as the Emperor’s clothes bore to Saville Row suiting.”

Other Sources

Rogal, Samuel J. A William Somerset Maugham Encyclopedia. Westport, Connecticut: Greenwood, 1997. 376pp. Rogal covers every aspect of Maugham’s life and works in this useful reference guide.

319. JOSEPH R.MCCARTHY

1908–1957

U.S. Republican Senator from Wisconsin, McCarthy was responsible for the dubbed “McCarthy era” in the mid- 1950s because of his sensational investigations into alleged American communist subversion. His Senate subcommittee investigated federal departments, the army, prominent citizens, and Hollywood personalities. McCarthy’s influence declined when he was formally censured by the Senate following the national publicity generated by the Army-McCarthy hearings. The term “McCarthyism” came to denote indiscriminate attacks made publicly and without proof.

Recommended Biographies

Herman, Arthur. Joseph McCarthy: Reexamining the Life and Legacy of America’s Most Hated Senator. New York: Free Press, 1999. 404pp. Herman’s revisionist interpretation argues that McCarthy “was making a good point badly,” and uses previously unavailable Soviet, FBI, Pentagon, National Security Agency, and Congressional archival sources to help buttress his case. Controversial in many of its views, the book nevertheless deserves a hearing if only for its provocative dissenting opinions.

Oshinsky, David M. A Conspiracy So Immense: The World of Joe McCarthy. New York: Free Press, 1983. 597pp. Although not as detailed as Reeves’s biography, Oshinsky’s is a more forceful narrative portrait that draws more convincing interpretive conclusions about the man and his era. For the reader looking for a single, well-written, researched, and argued account, this is the first choice.

Reeves, Thomas C. The Life and Times of Joe McCarthy: A Biography. New York: Stein and Day, 1982. 819pp. Reeves is the most detailed, comprehensive treatment of McCarthy’s life available. In a balanced, objective assessment, the book meticulously traces the steps in the fall of a complex man of intelligence and formidable energy.

Rovere, Richard H. Senator Joe McCarthy. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1959. 280pp. Rovere’s journalistic account is the best of the early biographers. Devoted almost exclusively to McCarthy’s Washington career, the book is knowledgeable about its milieu and the means by which McCarthy rose to power. Walter Lippmann called this portrait of McCarthy “the definitive job, and I can’t imagine what else there is to say about him.”

Other Biographical Studies

Anderson, Jackson, and Ronald May. McCarthy: The Man, the Senator, the “Ism.” Boston: Beacon Press, 1952. 416pp. This investigative report, written at the height of McCarthy’s notoriety, traces his career from his early days in Wisconsin with a strong muckraking intention to expose the man’s flaws and tactics.

Buckley, William F., and L.Brent Bozell. McCarthy and His Enemies: The Record and Its Meaning. Chicago: Regnery, 1954. 413pp. The pro-McCarthy perspective is displayed in this early defense that praises McCarthy as a courageous fighter of communism. Acknowledging McCarthy’s mistakes, the authors contend that the ends justify the means, concluding that “as long as McCarthyism fixes its goal with its present precision, it is a movement around which men of good will and stern morality can close ranks.”

Cook, Fred J. The Nightmare Decade: The Life and Times of Senator Joseph McCarthy. New York: Random House, 1971. 626pp. Cook’s polemical documentation of McCarthy’s deceptions and abuses of power lacks depth and scholarly objectivity, but as a litany of malfeasance and complicity it is a powerful indictment.

Feuerlicht, Roberta S. Joe McCarthy and McCarthyism: The Hate that Haunts America. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1972. 160pp. More concerned with the roots and legacy of McCarthyism than with the man, Feuerlicht’s is an impassioned case for the prosecution and a warning about McCarthyism’s lingering influence.

Griffith, Robert. The Politics of Fear: Joseph R. McCarthy and the Senate. Amherst: University of Massachusetts Press, 1987. 362pp. Winner of the Turner Award in American history, Griffith’s is an astute, scholarly account of the political dynamics that allowed McCarthy to operate for so long without censure. Best on the era that shaped and supported McCarthy.

Landis, Mark. Joseph McCarthy: The Politics of Chaos. Selingsgrove, Pennsylvania: Suquehanna University Press, 1987. 171pp. Landis analyzes McCarthy’s behavior using psychoanalytical and social science theories of personality development. Based on secondary sources, Landis provides an intriguing, if not always convincing, interdisciplinary approach to McCarthy’s make-up.

O’Brien, Michael. McCarthy and McCarthyism in Wisconsin. Columbia: University of Missouri Press, 1980. 269pp. O’Brien corrects the flaws in many previous biographies of McCarthy by fully treating his pre-Washington experience, helpfully illustrating that the key to understanding the man is to be found in his formative upbringing and early career in Wisconsin.

Thomas, Lately. When Even Angels Wept: The Senator Joseph McCarthy Affair—A Story without a Hero. New York: Morrow, 1973. 654pp. Thomas’s popular biography lacks documentation but attempts firsthand reconstruction of events in a series of descriptive rather than analytical vignettes. As one reviewer pointed out about the author’s “absurdly objective approach,” it is “like being objective about acne.”

Biographical Novels

Buckley, William F. The Redhunter: A Novel Base don the Life and Times of Senator Joe McCarthy. Boston: Little, Brown, 1999. 421pp. Buckley supplies a surprisingly balanced view of McCarthy’s life and times with his strengths and weaknesses equally depicted.

Fictional Portraits

Vidal, Gore. Washington, D.C. Boston: Little, Brown,1967. 377pp. Vidal’s social chronicle follows the careers of two politicians from the 1930s to the 1950s with portrayals by several historical figures, including Franklin Roosevelt and McCarthy.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Cohen, Daniel. Joseph McCarthy: The Misuse of Political Power. Brookfield, Connecticut: Millbrook Press, 1996. 128pp. MG/YA. Cohen presents a vivid account of McCarthy’s career and era that attempts a fair assessment, quoting from both McCarthy’s supporters and detractors.

Ingalls, Robert P. Point of Order: A Profile of Senator Joe McCarthy. New York: Putnam, 1981. 159pp. YA. This is an objective review of McCarthy’s career that quotes directly from his speeches and the reactions of his opponents. The reader should have a solid understanding of the American political system to follow this treatment.

Sherrow, Victoria. Joseph McCarthy and the Cold War. Woodbridge, Connecticut: Blackbirch Press, 1998. 79pp. MG. Part of the Notorious Americans and Their Times series, the book documents McCarthy’s actions and probes his motives, providing a clear account of his historical era.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: Joseph McCarthy: An American Inquisitor (1995). Directors: Richard O’Regan and Rebecca Haggarty. A film portrait tracing McCarthy’s background, political rise, and years of notoriety. Video.

Citizen Cohn (1992). Director: Frank Pierson. This chilling look at the life of Roy Cohn (James Woods), chief counsel for McCarthy, is based on Nicholas von Hoffman’s biography and dramatizes Cohn’s relationship with McCarthy (Joe Don Baker). Video.

Joseph McCarthy (1962). Director: Alan Landsberg. McCarthy’s life and political career are examined with excerpts from the U.S. Army-McCarthy hearings. Video.

McCarthy: Death of a Witchhunter (1986). Director: Emile de Antonio. Originally released as the motion picture, Point of Order, in 1964, the film, with an introduction by Paul Newman, examines McCarthy’s political rise and subsequent fall. Video.

Tail Gunner Joe (1977). Director: Jud Taylor. McCarthy’s rise to national prominence and fall is dramatized in this biographical film with Peter Boyle starring in the title role, supported by John Forsythe, Burgess Meredith, Patricia Neal, and Jean Stapleton.

Other Sources

Klingaman, William K. Encyclopedia of the McCarthy Era. New York: Facts on File, 1996. 502pp. This useful reference volume provides biographical profiles of leading personalities of the era, including an extensive chronology from 1919 to 1960 and appendixes of important documents.

320. WILLIAM MCKINLEY

1843–1901

The twenty-fifth U.S. president, McKinley was a Republican congressman and governor of Ohio before defeating (1896) Democrat William Jennings Bryan for the presidency. During his term in office, the United States fought the Spanish-American War, the Philippines revolted against American rule, Cuba became a U.S. protectorate, and the United States annexed Hawaii and fostered the Open Door policy with China. Reelected in 1900, McKinley was shot to death by an anarchist while attending the 1901 Pan-American Exposition at Buffalo, New York.

Recommended Biographies

Leech, Margaret. In the Days of McKinley. New York: Harper, 1959. 686pp. Leech, a Pulitzer Prize-winning historian, combines a biographical portrait with a vivid depiction of the period. Sympathetic but not uncritical, Leech’s book provides a revealing treatment of McKinley’s private life, particularly regarding his relationship with his wife.

Morgan, H.Wayne. William McKinley and His America. Syracuse, New York: Syracuse University Press, 1963. 595pp. Morgan’s study is the most detailed and thorough assessment of McKinley’s public career. McKinley is presented in human terms in the context of his times in a way that challenges previous treatments of his personality, leadership, and impact.

Gould, Lewis L. The Presidency of William McKinley. Lawrence: University Press of Kansas, 1980. 294pp. Gould argues that McKinley should be regarded as the first modern president and supplies a positive reassessment of his leadership and the achievements of his administration.

Other Biographical Studies

Glad, Paul W. McKinley, Bryan, and the People. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1964. 222pp. Glad’s is a reassessment of the presidential election of 1896 that discusses the economic issues, the personalities of the candidates, and the political maneuvering that led to McKinley’s victory.

Olcott, Charles S. The Life of William McKinley. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1916. 2 vols. This first biography lacks much penetration and is out of date although it is a convenient repository of useful documentary evidence.

Fictional Portraits

Conroy, Robert. 1901. Novato, California: Lyford Books, 1995. 374pp. This inventive alternative history imagines a German invasion of the United States in 1901 and includes plausible depictions of a score of historical figures, including McKinley.

Saunders, Raymond M. Fenwick Travers and the Years of Empire. Novato, California: Lyford Books, 1993. 360pp. This installment of Saunders’s comic historical series features events during the Spanish-American War and the Boxer Rebellion in China, with cameos by McKinley, “Black Jack” Pershing, and Theodore Roosevelt.

Vidal, Gore. Empire. New York: Random House, 1987. 486pp. Vidal’s depiction of America’s rise as a world power in the aftermath of the Spanish-American War features a large cast of historical figures, including McKinley, William Jennings Bryan, Randolph Hearst, and Theodore Roosevelt.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Collins, David R. William McKinley: 25th President of the United States. Ada, Oklahoma: Garrett, 1990. 322pp. MG. This is a straightforward summary of McKinley’s career and accomplishments.

Hoyt, Edwin P. William McKinley. Chicago: Reilly & Lee, 1967. 138pp. MG. This is a first-rate introduction to the period that helps make McKinley’s career comprehensible.

Kent, Zachary. William McKinley: Twenty-fifth President of the United States. Chicago: Childrens Press, 1988. 98pp. MG. Kent, like Collins, offers a competent overview of McKinley’s political career, with some details on his personality and private life.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

The Rough Riders (1997). Director: John Milius. Tom Berenger portrays the young Theodore Roosevelt during his military experience in Cuba, with Brian Keith as McKinley and a supporting cast that includes Sam Elliott, Gary Busey, Chris Noth, and George Hamilton. Video.

321. MARGARET MEAD

1901–1978

Cultural anthropologist Margaret Mead was born in Philadelphia and graduated from Barnard College (1923) and Columbia University (Ph.D. 1929), having studied with anthropologists Franz Boas and Ruth Benedict. Mead’s extensive fieldwork focused on child rearing, personality, and culture, and was primarily carried out among the peoples of the South Pacific. Her many works helped to popularize anthropology and include Coming of Age in Samoa (1928), Growing Up in New Guinea (1930), and her autobiography Blackberry Winter (1972). From 1926 until her death she was associated with the New York Museum of Natural History and after 1954 was an adjunct professor of anthropology at Columbia.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Blackberry Winter: My Earlier Years. New York: Morrow, 1972. 305pp. A lucid, witty record of her life, Mead narrates her development from the perspective of her early family life, college years, marriages, and early field work. Despite the book’s subtitle, Mead does briefly touch on her later experiences, although not in the detail that she anticipated would be provided in a second volume that she never completed.

Letters from the Field: 1925–1975. New York: Harper & Row, 1977. 343pp. In a collection of letters written from each of her major field expeditions, prefaced by introductions explaining relevant personal and scientific circumstances, Mead’s changes and growth can be glimpsed as well as her immediate impressions that would be later shaped into her scholarship.

Margaret Mead: Some Personal Views. Rhoda Mettraux, ed. New York: Walker, 1979. 286pp. Collects Mead’s question-and-answer columns published in Redbook from 1963 to 1979. Additional essays from Redbook are collected in Aspects of the Present (New York: Morrow, 1980. 319pp), which records Mead’s observations on such topics as women’s rights, peace, education, and the American family.

Recommended Biographies

Cassidy, Robert. Margaret Mead: A Voice for the Century. New York: Universe Books, 1982. 176pp. Written with Mead’s cooperation in 1977 when she realized that she would not be able to write the sequel to Blackberry Winter, Cassidy’s biography supplements Mead’s personal insights with a chronological account of her career, in which each chapter looks at some aspect of Mead’s work, showing how her life developed as a result.

Howard, Jane. Margaret Mead: A Life. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1984. 527pp. Based on extensive interviews with associates, Howard forms a composite portrait, concentrating more on Mead’s personal rather than public life, providing a detailed account of the anthropologist’s relationships. Cassidy’s biography is a better choice for those interested in Mead’s professional development, but Howard presents more data on Mead’s character and personality.

Other Biographical Studies

Bateson, Mary C. With a Daughter’s Eye: A Memoir of Margaret Mead and Gregory Bateson. New York: Morrow, 1984. 242pp. In an intimate, candid account of her parents, Mead’s daughter provides details about the relationship between her mother and Gregory Bateson and Ruth Benedict in an affectionate but honest recollection.

Freeman, Derek. Margaret Mead and Samoa: The Making and Unmaking of an Anthropological Myth. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1983. 379pp. Freeman’s controversial attack on Mead’s research in Samoa challenges the anthropologist’s methods and findings. The weakness of Freeman’s argument has been exposed by many Mead supporters, but the book has become unavoidable in examining Mead’s groundbreaking Coming of Age in Samoa.

Holmes, Lowell D. Quest for the Real Samoa: The Mead/Freeman Controversy and Beyond. South Hadley, Massachusetts: Bergin and Harvey, 1987. 209pp. The author’s own research in Samoa during the 1950s largely substantiates Mead’s earlier findings. Holmes’s judicious criticism of Freeman’s attack deserves to be read as a more measured, balanced account of the controversy.

Lapsley, Hilary. Margaret Mead and Ruth Benedict: The Kinship of Women. Amherst: University of Massachusetts Press, 1999. 416pp. Lapsley offers a sensitive account of the relationship between Mead and Ruth Benedict from their first meeting at Columbia University in the early 1920s to Benedict’s death in 1948.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Mark, Joan T. Margaret Mead, Anthropologist: Coming of Age in America. New York: Oxford University Press, 1998. 144pp. MG. Part of the Oxford Portrait in Science series, this is a lively, well-researched profile of Mead’s life and achievements that makes her work understandable for a younger reader.

Tilton, Rafael. Margaret Mead. San Diego: Lucent Books, 1994. 112pp. MG. A readable, informative, well-illustrated biography, Tilton discusses Mead’s contributions to anthropology, the controversy surrounding her reputation, as well as her three marriages and divorces.

Ziesk, Edra. Margaret Mead. New York: Chelsea House, 1990. 109pp. MG/YA. In a balanced portrait of Mead’s life and career, Ziesk traces the anthropologist’s development and her contributions to science, women’s history, and feminism.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Margaret Mead: American Anthropologist (1988). Producer: Films for the Humanities. In a film profile, Mead’s career as a scientist and thinker is documented. Video.

Margaret Mead and Samoa (1988). Director: Frank Heimans. A documentary look at the Mead/Freeman controversy. Video.

Margaret Mead: Taking Notice (1980). Director: Ann Peck. This PBS documentary uses newsreel footage, photographs, and interviews with Mead and her colleagues to trace her career and ideas. Video.

322. LORENZO DE’MEDICI

1449–1492

Italian merchant prince called “the Magnificent,” Lorenzo is one of the towering figures of the Renaissance. He was virtual ruler of Florence and eventually gained control of the city’s public funds. He was an astute politician and diplomat, a patron of the arts, literature, and learning, and a scholar and poet.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Lives of the Early Medici: As Told in Their Correspondence. Janet Ross, ed. Boston: Badger, 1911. 351pp. This still useful volume weaves together letters to cover the lives of Cosimo, Piero, and Lorenzo.

Recommended Biographies

Hook, Judith. Lorenzo de’ Medici: An Historical Biography. London: Hamilton, 1984. 206pp. Drawing on recent scholarship in Florentine economy, politics, and family histories, Hook places de’ Medici in the context of his times. Accessible for the general reader and student, Hook’s is a concise, balanced historical biography.

Ross Williamson, Hugh. Lorenzo the Magnificent. New York: Putnam, 1974. 288pp. The book takes a colorful popular life-and-times approach featuring extensive illustrations that serves as a capable introduction, though many of Ross Williamson’s characterizations and interpretations should be accepted with caution.

Other Biographical Studies

Rubinstein, Nicolai. Lorenzo de’ Medici: The Formation of His Statecraft. Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1977. 94pp. Rubinstein’s is a highly detailed, scholarly account of the politics of de’ Medici’s era and his leadership.

Stumm-Maddox, Sarah. Lorenzo de’ Medici. New York: Twayne, 1974. 173pp. This critical study examines de’ Medici as a writer, providing a close focus on his character and personality as viewed through his works.

Fictional Portraits

Eliot, George. Romola. 1863. Reprint ed. New York: Oxford University Press, 1998. 622pp. Eliot’s historical novel set in fifteenth-century Florence weaves a fictional story around actual events and appearances by such historical figures as Lorenzo, Charles VIII, Savonarola, and Machiavelli.

La Mure, Pierre. The Private Life of Mona Lisa. Boston: Little, Brown, 1976. 406pp. In a detailed and convincing recreation of Renaissance Italy, the novel imagines the life of Leonardo’s model for the Mona Lisa, while speculating why he painted the portrait and for whom. Several historical figures are featured, including Charles VIII, Savonarola, and Lorenzo de’ Medici.

Ripley, Alexandra. The Time Returns. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1985. 334pp. The novel, based on accurate details from Lorenzo’s life, imagines a love affair between the Florentine nobleman and a gentlewoman.

Stone, Irving. The Agony and the Ecstasy. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1961. 664pp. Stone’s convincing portrait of Michelangelo’s career from boyhood features his relationship with his Florentine patron, Lorenzo de’ Medici.

Shulman, Sandra. The Florentine. New York: Morrow, 1973. 314pp. Lorenzo de’ Medici’s hold on power in Florence during the 1480s is dramatized from the perspective of a young woman who disguises herself as a boy and comes into contact with several historical figures, including Leonardo da Vinci, Savonarola, Botticelli, Pico della Mirandola, and Ghirlandajo.

Woodhouse, Martin, and Robert Ross. The Medici Guns. New York: Dutton, 1975. 277pp.; The Medici Emerald. New York: Dutton, 1976. 223pp.; 17 b The Medici Hawks. New York: Dutton, 1978. 202pp. This intriguing historical series features Leonardo da Vinci in a number of fanciful adventures and portrayals of a number of period figures, including Lorenzo and Pope Sixrus IV.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Mee, Charles L. Lorenzo de’ Medici and the Renaissance. New York: American Heritage, 1969. 153pp. YA. This sound, visual biography and overview of the period serves both young adult and general readers.

See also Catherine de’ Medici

323. GOLDA MEIR

1898–1978

Israeli prime minister Golda Meir was born Golda Mabovitch in Kiev, Russia, and immigrated (1906) to Milwaukee with her family. She became a schoolteacher, involved herself with the Zionist labor movement, and in 1921 moved to Palestine with her husband, Morris Meyerson. She was head of the Histadrut (1936) and after Israeli independence (1948) served as minister to Moscow. Meir was elected to the Knesset (1949), served as minister of labor (1949–1956) and foreign minister (1956–1966), and in 1966 became secretary general of the dominant Mapai party, later the Labor Party. She succeeded (1969) Levi Eshkol as prime minister and formed a broad coalition government. Meir (the name was Hebraized from Meyerson in 1956) faced criticism for negotiating with hostile Arab nations but nevertheless retained enormous personal popularity. During her ministry, Israel fought the Yom Kippur War (1973) against Egypt and Syria. She resigned from office in 1974.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

A Land of Our Own: An Oral Autobiography. Marie Syrkin, ed. New York: Putnam, 1973. 251pp. In a collection of interviews, articles, and speeches, the first two chapters gather together a number of Meir’s biographical reflections.

My Life. New York: Putnam, 1975. 480pp. In a remarkably candid account of her life from her early days in Russia through her adolescence in America, her immigration to Palestine in the 1920s to her political career as labor and foreign minister and finally prime minister, Meir reveals the personal cost of her public service and her unflagging convictions on behalf of Israel. One of the most revealing and fascinating autobiographies of any political figure.

Recommended Biographies

Martin, Ralph G. Golda: The Romantic Years. New York: Scribner, 1988. 422pp. In the most comprehensive and authoritative account of Meir’s early years from childhood through the establishment of Israel in 1948, Martin, through interviews and archival research, establishes a detailed factual record of Meir’s development and a convincing human portrait.

Other Biographical Studies

Mann, Peggy. Golda: The Life of Israel’s Prime Minister. New York: Coward-McCann, 1971. 287pp. Written by a long time associate, this is an honest, balanced assessment of Meir’s private and public lives.

Meir, Menahem. My Mother, Golda Meir: A Son’s Evocation of Life with Golda Meir. New York: Arbor House, 1983. 254pp. The emphasis here is an intimate portrait of the woman and mother rather than the political figure. Rich in anecdotes, the book expresses a son’s moving tribute to his mother.

Slater, Robert. Golda: the Uncrowned Queen of Israel: A Pictorial Biography. New York: J.David, 1981. 277pp. This visual biography is chiefly valuable for its photographic record rather than for its text, which tends more to flattery than a balanced, objective assessment.

Syrian, Marie. Golda Meir: Israel’s Leader. New York: Putnam, 1969. 366pp. Revised ed. of Golda Meir: Woman with a Cause (New York: Putnam, 1963. 320pp.). In this early political biography written by a close associate, Syrkin attempts to isolate the character traits that account for Meir’s political successes, though covering mainly her rise to power.

Fictional Portraits

Wouk, Herman. The Glory. Boston: Little, Brown, 1994. 685pp. Wouk’s family saga interweaves a fictional story around such events as the Yom Kippur War, the Entebbe rescue, and the signing of the Camp David accord, with appearances by a number of historical figures, including Meir.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Amdur, Richard. Golda Meir: A Leader in Peace and War. New York: Fawcett Columbine, 1990. 117pp. MG. Meir’s life and character are set against a clear background of the founding of the state of Israel and its conflict with the Arab world.

Hitzeroth, Deborah. Golda Meir. San Diego: Lucent Books, 1998. 111pp. MG. Using quotes from primary and secondary sources, this informative biography chronicles the highlights of Meir’s eventful life from childhood through the heroic struggle to create and sustain Israel.

McAuley, Karen. Golda Meir. New York: Chelsea House, 1985. 112pp. MG/YA. McAuley offers a straightforward and informative summary of Meir’s public and private life with a clearly outlined historical background.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Gibson, William. Notes on How to Turn a Phoenix into Ashes: The Story of the Stage Production, with the Text of Golda. New York: Atheneum, 1978. 149pp. Told in flashbacks, Gibson dramatizes the significant events in Meir’s life in a multilayered portrait of her public and private life.

Sword of Gideon (1989). Director: Michael Anderson. A made-for-cable film depiction of the hunt for the terrorists who murdered the Israeli athletes at the 1972 Munich Olympics. Starring Steven Bauer, Michael York, Rod Steiger, and Colleen Dewhurst as Golda Meir. Video.

A Woman Called Golda (1982). Director: Alan Gibson. Judy Davis portrays the young Meir and Ingrid Bergman depicts her in maturity in an excellent made-for-television biographical drama. Leonard Nimoy. Anne Jackson, Ned Beatty, and Robert Loggia co-star. A novelization by Michael Avallone (New York: Leisure Books, 1982. 265pp.) is also available. Video.

324. HERMAN MELVILLE

1819–1891

One of world literature’s best-known writers, Melville was born in New York City into an impoverished family of distinguished Dutch and English colonial ancestry. At 15 he left school and worked at a variety of jobs before signing on as a cabin boy (1839) on a whaling ship. From 1841 to 1844 he worked on whalers and spent time in Tahiti and other Pacific islands, the literary result of which was the popular romantic novels Typee (1846), Omoo (1847), and Redburn (1849). His masterpiece, Moby Dick (1851), was not successful. By 1866, mounting debts, ill health, and the failure to win an audience for his work forced Melville to sell the Pittsfield, Massachusetts farm where he had lived since 1850. He obtained a poorly paid position as a customs inspector in New York City, a job he held for 19 years. He died in poverty and obscurity. Melville’s other well-known works include the short stories “Benito Cereno” and “Bartleby the Scrivener,” and the novella Billy Budd, published posthumously in 1924.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Letters of Herman Melville. Merrell R.Davis and William H.Gilman, eds. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1960. 398pp. This scholarly edition collects the 271 known Melville letters.

Recommended Biographies

Howard, Leon. Herman Melville: A Biography. Berkeley: University of California Press, 1951. 354pp. Based on new source material and modern scholarship, Howard’s critical biography has long served as the standard source for a reliable and comprehensive narrative account of Melville’s life. Scrupulously factual in its approach, Howard resists any speculation that exceeds the evidence. Trustworthy but limited by a lack of details, particularly on Melville’s years of obscurity.

Miller, Edwin H. Melville. New York: G.Braziller, 1975. 382pp. Miller’s psychobiography probes Melville’s psyche in a provocative, insightful interpretation that sees Melville as his own Ishmael, a psychological orphan with an unresolved Oedipal conflict. The book is excellent on Melville’s relationship with Hawthorne.

Parker, Hershel. Herman Melville: A Biography. Volume I, 1819–1851. Baltimore: Johns Hopkins University Press, 1996. 941pp. In the first volume of what promises to be the definitive biography, Parker in minute detail synthesizes the results of others’ and his own extensive research into the most comprehensive and authoritative treatment of Melville’s life to date. Taking Melville’s story up to 1851 with the publication of Moby Dick, Melville is securely rooted in his family, social, and intellectual milieu.

Robertson-Lorant, Laurie. Melville: A Biography. New York: Clarkson Potter, 1995. 710pp. Drawing on a substantial cache of recently discovered family letters, Robertson-Lorant presents a comprehensive and consistent portrait of the artist and a speculative, though plausible, account of how the events of his life were refined into his fiction. Readers impatient with the minutiae of Parker’s more documentary examination may prefer this vivid and dramatic rendering of Melville’s life in which the author’s private and public lives are sensitively portrayed.

Other Biographical Studies

Allen, Gay Wilson. Melville and His World. New York: Viking, 1971. 144pp. This pictorial biography includes a concise factual account of Melville’s life that serves the general reader as a succinct orientation to the author’s career.

Anderson, Charles R. Melville in the South Seas. New York: Columbia University Press, 1939. 522pp. In a detailed, factual record of Melville’s years at sea, based on previously unpublished sources, Anderson corrects the factual record and provides the means to evaluate the autobiographical basis for Melville’s first fiction.

Arvin, Newton. Herman Melville. New York: W. Sloane, 1950. 316pp. In an often brilliant, finely written critical biography, Arvin offers a psychological interpretation of Melville’s personality from a consistent Freudian perspective. Arvin shapes the biographical facts to fit his thesis of Melville’s torment, ignoring biographical details that do not contribute to his portrait.

Garner, Stanton. The Civil War World of Herman Melville. Lawrence: University Press of Kansas, 1993. 560pp. Focusing on Melville’s shifting moods and attitudes during the period 1859 to 1866, Garner deals with a lack of direct evidence by examining Melville indirectly through the views and circumstances of Melville’s friends, family, and neighbors and a close reading of Melville’s Battle-Pieces.

Gilman, William H. Melville’s Early Life and Redburn. New York: New York University Press, 1951. 378pp. Focusing on the period 1819 to 1841, Gilman supplies a number of new sources on Melville’s family background and documents how Melville’s voyage to Liverpool as an ordinary seaman in 1839 was considerably reworked imaginatively for his fourth novel, Redburn.

Hardwick, Elizabeth. Herman Melville. New York: Viking, 2000. 159pp. Part of the Penguin Lives series, this brief critical biography concentrates on the essence of the man and his writing in a critically perceptive overview and distillation.

Kirby, David K. Herman Melville. New York: Continuum, 1993. 192pp. Kirby presents a helpful overview of Melville’s life and works, concentrating on the external events of Melville’s career, the sequence of his work, and the writer’s internal development.

Metcalf, Eleanor Melville. Herman Melville: Cycle and Epicycle. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1953. 311pp. Melville’s granddaughter assembles her collection of family papers and letters by, to, and about her grandfather to form a biographical record with connecting commentary.

Mumford, Lewis. Herman Melville. 1929. Revised ed. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1962. 256pp. A critical biography that is particularly good on the period background, Mumford’s study is strongest on its interpretation of Melville’s works than its presentation of the facts of his life. Relying mainly on Melville’s own writings as principal sources, Mumford adds little to the factual record.

Sealts, Merton M. Jr. The Early Lives of Melville: Nineteenth-Century Biographical Sketches and Their Authors. Madison: University of Wisconsin Press, 1974. 280pp. This volume collects all the 19th-century biographical writings on Melville from reference works, newspaper articles, reminiscences requested by Melville’s granddaughter, and a fragmentary memoranda book by Melville’s wife. Sealts’s earlier book, Melville as Lecturer. (Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1957. 202pp.) documents Melville’s life between 1858 and 1861 when he abandoned his writing career for the lecture circuit, Sealts provides reviews and partial texts of these lectures reconstructed from newspaper accounts.

Weaver, Raymond. Herman Melville: Mariner and Mystic. New York: G.H.Doran, 1921. 399pp. The first Melville biography is mostly reliant on Melville’s fiction as a factual record of his life, a method that later biographers have demonstrated is problematic. With little else to go on, Weaver covers the author’s last 37 years in a single brief chapter.

Fictional Portraits

Aronin, Ben. Walt Whitman’s Secret. Chicago, Angus Books, 1955. 374pp. Whitman’s early life from the 1840s to 1860s is depicted with appearances by several literary figures, including Emerson, Thoreau, and Melville.

Busch, Frederick. The Night Inspector. New York: Harmony Books, 1999. 278pp. Busch’s darkly evocative recreation of post-Civil War New York City centers on a disillusioned Union sharpshooter whose path crosses that of Melville, working in bitter anonymity as a customs inspector.

Clarke, William K. The Robber Baroness. New York: St. Martin’s, 1979. 347pp. The early years of the notorious miser and financier Hetty Green is depicted as well as New York City in the 1850s and 1860s with appearances by several historical figures, including Herman Melville.

Duberstein, Larry. The Handsome Sailor. Sag Harbor, New York: Permanent Press, 1998. 267pp. In a fictionalized account of Melville’s largely unknown later years of silence, the author speculates that Melville’s depression was a result of a failed love affair with an actual Sarah More wood (although no evidence exists to suggest they were lovers) and his regeneration from his relationship with a fictional widow. Duberstein’s fancy is anchored by a remarkable period reconstruction.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Bixby, William. Rebel Genius: The Life of Herman Melville. New York: McKay, 1970. 133pp. MG. Informative, if somewhat idealized, Bixby relates the highpoints of Melville’s life and literary career with an emphasis on the writer’s temperament that shaped his writing and disappointments.

Keyes, Charlotte E. High on the Mainmast: A Biography of Herman Melville. New Haven, Connecticut: College & University Press, 1966. 158pp. MG/YA. Keyes’s is a well-written, well-researched biography that connects Melville’s experiences with the themes of his writings.

Steffoff, Rebecca. Herman Melville. New York: J. Messner, 1994. 156pp. YA. In an exceptional biography, the author connects Melville’s life and works in a sensitive account that serves as an ideal complement to a student’s exposure to Melville’s novels.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Herman Melville: American Writer, 1819–1891 (1993). Director: Malcolm Hossick. The film traces Melville’s life and writing career, using photographs and views of places associated with him. Video.

Herman Melville: Consider the Sea (1995). Director: Charles Olin. Poet Richard Wilbur narrates this film portrait of Melville, focusing on his personality and his obsession with the sea. Video.

Herman Melville: Damned in Paradise (1985). Director: Robert D.Squier. Narrated by John Huston, this documentary blends photographs with interviews with critics and biographers to examine Melville’s life and works. Video.

Other Sources

Gale, Robert L. A Herman Melville Encyclopedia. Westport, Connecticut: Greenwood, 1995. 536pp. In a comprehensive reference guide to Melville’s life and works, individual entries cover the author’s characters, family members, friends, and acquaintances.

Leyda, Jay. The Melville Log: A Documentary Life of Herman Melville, 1819–1891. 1951. Revised ed. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1969. 2 vols. Leyda’s massive assemblage of every existent fact about Melville, arranged chronologically, is the indispensable reference source for any biographer and allows, in Leyda’s words, “each reader the opportunity to be his own biographer of Herman Melville.”

325. H.L.MENCKEN

1880–1956

American journalist, editor, and author, Henry Louis Mencken became famous as an iconoclastic critic of American society. He wrote for the Baltimore Sun and cofounded and edited the American Mercury. Among his works are Prejudices (1919–1927), a six-volume collection of essays, and an authoritative study. The American Language (1919).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Mencken left extensive autobiographical materials. Published during his lifetime, his trilogy, Happy Days. 1940. Reprint ed. (Baltimore, Maryland: Johns Hopkins University Press, 1996. 313pp.), Newspaper Days. 1941. Reprint ed. (New York: Knopf, 1963. 313pp.), and Heathen Days. 1943. (Reprint ed. New York: AMS Press, 1987. 299pp.), constitutes an entertaining but not always factually reliable series of anecdotes ranging over significant segments of Mencken’s life. More candid are the two book-length memoirs recently published in abridged form after the 35 years following his death stipulated in Mencken’s will:

My Life as Author and Editor. Jonathan Yardley, ed. (New York: Knopf, 1993. 449pp.) covers Mencken’s career up to 1923.

Thirty-Five Years of Newspaper Work: A Memoir. Fred C.Hobson, ed. (Baltimore: Johns Hopkins University Press, 1994. 390pp.) treats his early years with the Baltimore Evening Sun, his brief stint as a war correspondent, his travels to Cuba, and his coverage of presidential candidates.

The Diaries of H.L.Mencken. Charles A.Fecher, ed. New York: Knopf, 1989. 476pp. Covering the years 1930 to 1948, Mencken’s diaries include both astute literary and social observations, candid assessment of important figures, and unsettling examples of the writer’s slurs on Jews and African Americans.

Mencken’s letters are also an important source of insight on his activities and temperament. The fullest collection is the Letters of H.L.Mencken. Guy J. Forque, ed. (Boston: Northeastern University Press, 1961. 506pp.). An additional valuable collection documenting Mencken’s relationship with the young writer he later married is Mencken and Sara: A Life in Letters: The Private Correspondence of H.L.Mencken and Sara Haardt. Marion Elizabeth Rodgers, ed. (New York: McGraw-Hill, 1987. 551pp.).

Recommended Biographies

Bode, Carl. Mencken. Carbondale: Southern Illinois University Press, 1969. 452pp. Bode’s is a strong critical biography, carefully researched and judicious in its assessment of Mencken’s public and private life, his flaws, and his literary achievements.

Hobson, Fred C. Mencken: A Life. New York: Random House, 1994. 650pp. Based on the posthumously released personal papers, Hobson’s biography looks closely at the discrepancy between the myths promulgated by Mencken and the reality. No other biography has fixed the writer with such clear and detailed focus. The book should remain the definitive life for some time to come.

Manchester, William. Disturber of the Peace: The Life of H.L.Mencken. New York: Harper, 1950. 348pp. Manchester’s authorized biography lacks critical objectivity and is as one reviewer remarked “almost painfully adulatory,” but few are better at crafting an entertaining, vivid narrative.

Other Biographical Studies

Goldberg, Isaac. The Man Mencken: A Biographical and Critical Survey. 1925. Reprint ed. New York: AMS Press, 1968. 388pp. Based on information (and misinformation) supplied by Mencken, Goldberg’s account represents the way in which the writer wanted to be seen. Not reliable due to both what it includes and what it omits.

Kemler, Edgar. The Irreverent Mr. Mencken. Boston: Little, Brown, 1950. 317pp. Like Goldberg, Kemler received assistance from Mencken in the biographical details provided, so the same caution applied to Goldberg applies here. The book concentrates on Mencken’s public career as a battle with American public opinion.

Mayfield, Sara. The Constant Circle: H.L Mencken and His Friends. New York: Delacorte, 1968. 307pp. Often blinded by her loyalties, Mayfield, a hometown friend of Mencken’s wife, supplies a highly laudatory series of recollections of limited usefulness.

Stenerson, Douglas C. H.L.Mencken: Iconoclast from Baltimore. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1971. 287pp. Stenerson’s is an intellectual history of Mencken’s ideas and development. By no means a comprehensive biographical portrait, the book does deal closely with Mencken’s personality and prejudices in the context of his era

Williams, William H.A. H.L.Mencken Revisited. New York:Twayne, 1999. 195pp. This is a critical introduction to Mencken’s life and works, based on a close reading of his books, articles, letters, and memoirs.

Fictional Portraits

Swaim, Don. The H.L.Mencken Murder Case. New York: St. Martin’s, 1988. 174pp. Mencken is featured as a sleuth in this period mystery set during the 1940s.

315. FELIX MENDELSSOHN-BARTHOLDY

1809–1847

German Romantic composer Mendelssohn is a major figure of nineteenth-century music. He wrote his famous overture to A Midsummer Night’s Dream at age 17. Among his other works are the Reformation (1832), Italian (1833), and Scottish (1842) symphonies, and the Fingal’s Cave overture (1832). Mendelssohn was also a celebrated conductor, who revived interest in Bach’s work. He helped found the Leipzig Conservatory (1843).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Felix Mendelssohn: Letters. Gisella Selden-Goth, ed. New York: Putnam, 1945. 373pp. A collection of Mendelssohn’s letters from 1821 to his death, with an emphasis on his correspondence with musical colleagues revealing his musical opinions.

Felix Mendelssohn: A Life in Letters. Rudolf Elvers, ed. New York: Fromm International, 1986. 334pp. In a selection of 125 of the more than 4,000 known letters that spans the composer’s life from age 12, the emphasis is on Mendelssohn’s private, family relationships. Includes biographical notes and a detailed chronology.

The Mendelssohns on Honeymoon: The 1837 Diary of Felix and Cécile Mendelssohn-Bartholdy Together with Letters to Their Families. Peter Ward Jones, ed. New York: Oxford University Press, 1997. 225pp. This daily record of the newlyweds offers a unique view on the composer’s activities and impressions.

Recommended Biographies

Marek, George. Gentle Genius: The Story of Felix Mendelssohn. New York: Funk & Wagnalls, 1973. 365pp. Written for the general reader, Marek’s biographical account serves as a fine introduction to the man and his music.

Warrack, John H. The New Grove Early Romantic Masters 2. New York: W.W.Norton, 1985. 314pp. This succinct profile incorporates modern research and is the first choice for the reader interested in a brief but authoritative biographical and critical account of the composer’s life and works.

Werner, Eric. Mendelssohn: A New Image of the Composer and His Age. New York: Free Press, 1963. 545pp. Based on a close examination of more than 8,000 unpublished letters written by and to the composer, Werner provides new details and corrects the factual record in the most authoritative and comprehensive study available.

Other Biographical Studies

Blunt, Wilfrid. On Wings of Song: A Biography of Felix Mendelssohn. New York: Scribner, 1974. 288pp. In an anecdotal account, Blunt examines Mendelssohn’s life against the background of nineteenth-century life. Relying on the composer’s letters and diaries, the book avoids interpretation and does not treat Mendelssohn’s music critically.

Hensel, Sebastian. The Mendelssohn Family (1729–1847) from Letters and Journals. New York: Harper, 1881. 2 vols. Hensel’s group biography includes details on the composer’s grandfather, parents, and siblings. Based on an extensive collection of family papers, Hensel’s has long served as a useful source book on Mendelssohn’s life and background.

Hiller, Ferdinand. Mendelssohn: Letters and Recollections. 1874. Revised ed. New York: Vienna House, 1972. 223pp. Hiller, a contemporary of the composer, offers a number of firsthand impressions of Mendelssohn and his relationships with Chopin and Liszt.

Jacob, Heinrich E. Felix Mendelssohn and His Times. Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Prentice-Hall, 1963. 356pp. In a nonchronological account, Jacob examines various aspects of Mendelssohn’s personality in terms of his era, setting his compositions firmly in their cultural context.

Kupferberg, Herbert. The Mendelssohns: Three Generations of Genius. New York: Scribner, 1972. 272pp. In a group biography of Mendelssohn’s distinguished family, two-thirds of the book centers on the composer’s life and is particularly strong on his Jewish background.

Lampadius, W.A. The Life of Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy. 1865. Revised ed. Boston: D. Ditson, 1887. 333pp. Originally published in Germany in 1848, this early biography includes a number of contemporary recollections of the composer.

Petitpierre, Jacques. The Romance of the Mendelssohns. London: Dobson, 1947. 251pp. The author focuses on the composer’s married life. Polko, Elise. Reminiscences of Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy: A Social and Artistic Biography. 1869. Reprint ed. Macomb, Illinois: Glenbridge, 1987. 232pp. The author, who studied singing under Mendelssohn, provides a contemporary firsthand recollection and assessment of the composer, including opinions and testimonies of many other contemporaries. Not always reliable in its use of primary sources, Polko’s account is nevertheless a touching, personal tribute.

Radcliffe, Philip. Mendelssohn. New York: Dent, 1954. 208pp. In a balanced, reliable assessment, part of the Master Musician series, Radcliffe presents a chronological account of the composer’s life and career, followed by chapters on his personality and influences, and a critique of his music by genre.

Biographical Novels

La Mure, Pierre. Beyond Desire: A Novel Based on the Life of Felix and Cécile Mendelssohn. New York: Random House, 1955. 310pp. The composer’s life is dramatized with an emphasis on Mendelssohn’s relationship with the opera singer Maria Sala and his married life. The novel also offers a convincing portrait of its era with appearances by a number of historical figures, including Chopin, Schumann, and Wagner.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Hurd, Michael. Mendelssohn. New York: Crowell, 1971. 87pp. MG. This is brief but informative and balanced introduction to the composer’s life and accomplishments.

Kupferberg, Herbert. Felix Mendelssohn: His Life, His Family, His Music. New York: Scribner, 1972. 176pp. YA. A standout profile of Mendelssohn’s life and times, this is both a highly readable and vivid presentation that integrates the details of the composer’s life with his genius and achievements.

Moshansky, Mozelle. Mendelssohn: His Life and Times. Neptune, New Jersey: Paganiniana, 1981. 144pp. YA. Like Kupferberg, Moshansky places the composer in a wider historical and cultural context that helps to make his accomplishments understandable.

327. KLEMENS VON METTERNICH

1773–1859

Austrian statesman who brokered post-Napoleonic stability in Europe, Metternich was born in Koblenz of a noble Rhenish family. He pursued a diplomatic career in Saxony, Prussia, and France, and in 1809 became Austrian foreign minister. Committed to Austrian interests, he negotiated the 1810 marriage of Archduchess Marie Louise to Napoleon and in 1812 forged a temporary alliance with France. He then allied Austria, Russia, and Prussia against Napoleon and at the Congress of Vienna (1814–1815) reinstituted a system in which a balance of power was maintained between European nations. The period between 1815–1848 is often called the “Age of Metternich.” His system relied upon political and religious censorship, espionage, and the suppression of revolutionary and nationalist movements. His power waned after 1826 and he was overthrown during the revolutions of 1848. He was forced to flee to England but returned to Austria in 1851.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Memoirs of Prince Metternich. New York: Scribner, 1880–1882. 5 vols. Prepared by Metternich’s son, this collection of autobiographical notes and primary documents is an indispensable source for all subsequent biographers. The casual reader should come to the Memoirs with prior acquaintance with the highlights of Metternich’s life and career.

Recommended Biographies

Palmer, Alan W. Metternich. New York: Harper & Row, 1972. 405pp. In an excellent critical biography, Palmer presents Metternich not as a stereotypical reactionary but as a complex individual whose policies are traced through their political and social context. Well-researched and readable, Palmer reveals both the private and public aspects of Metternich’s life.

Seward, Desmond. Metternich: The First European. New York: Viking, 1991. 300pp. This lively, highly sympathetic, interpretive biography views Metternich as the consummate statesman of his age. Relying heavily on Metternich’s personal and state papers, Seward covers Metternich’s private and family life as well as his public career.

Other Biographical Studies

Cecil, Algernon. Metternich 1773–1859: A Study of His Period and His Personality. New York: Macmillan, 1933. 344pp. In a vigorous defense of Metternich’s ideals and integrity, Cecil concentrates on Metternich’s public career and the historical forces that shaped it.

Du Coudray, Helene. Metternich. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1936. 415pp. In a readable account of Metternich’s entire life with an emphasis on his years in power, Du Coudray presents an often witty and colorful synthesis of primary and secondary source materials.

Herman, Arthur. Metternich. New York: Century, 1932. 370pp. Herman combines an account of Metternich’s diplomatic career with a brief history of European politics during his lifetime. Although attacked by Heinrich Srbik, the author of the standard biography of Metternich in German, for its interpretation and facts, Herman’s account serves the general reader as a succinct introduction to the man and his era.

Malleson, George B. The Life of Prince Metternich. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1888. 209pp. Written by an English military historian, the book makes use of Metternich’s Memoirs for most of its details supporting an interpretation of the statesman as a reactionary opponent of nationalism.

Milne, Andrew. Metternich. Totowa, New Jersey: Rowman and Littlefield, 1975. 189pp. Milne’s is a brief, sympathetic overview of Metternich’s diplomatic career that also provides a discussion of the modern trends in viewing Metternich’s life and achievement.

Sandeman, George A.C. Metternich. New York: Brentano’s, 1911. 358pp. Based on German sources, the book offers no new facts or more than a conventional interpretation, marred by several inaccuracies and an annoyingly flippant style.

Fictional Portraits

Anthony, Evelyn. Far Flies the Eagle. New York: Crowell, 1955. 208pp. European history from 1807 to 1820 is dramatized in the conflict between Napoleon and Russia’s Alexander I. The complexity of history is reduced here to dramatic simplifications with appearances by a wide range of historical figures, including Metternich.

Waldeck, R.G. Lustre in the Sky. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1946. 434pp. The scene is the Congress of Vienna as the map of Europe is redrawn after Napoleon’s defeat. The novel focuses on the Talleyrand’s public and private affairs with appearances by Alexander I and Metternich.

Zilahy, Lajos. Century in Scarlet. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1965. 411pp. Chronicling European history in the nineteenth century from the Congress of Vienna from the perspective of twin Hungarian aristocrats, Metternich is one of several historical figures who are glimpsed.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Archer, Jules. Colossus of Europe: Metternich. New York: J.Messner, 1970. 191pp. YA. This is a complete and authentic look at Metternich’s life and the social, political, and diplomatic contexts of his era. Although fictionalized, the dialogue is derived from Metternich’s memoirs.

Von der Heide, John T. Klemens van Metternich. New York: Chelsea House, 1988. 112pp. YA. Ably serves as a clear introduction to the man and the complex historical and diplomatic issues of his era.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Conquest (1937). Director: Clarence Brown. Napoleon’s relationship with the Polish Countess Walewska is depicted with Charles Boyer and Greta Garbo as the lovers. Ian Wolfe depicts Metternich. Video.

Immortal Beloved (1994). Director: Bernard Rose. In this intriguing and visually stunning film, the mystery of who is the “immortal beloved” referred to in a letter found after Beethoven’s death leads to flashbacks dramatizing the composer’s life and loves. Considerable liberties with the facts prevent the film from being viewed as a faithful account, but Gary Oldman as Beethoven is well cast as the tortured genius. Isabella Rossellini co-stars, and Barry Humphries appears as Metternich. Video.

328. MICHELANGELO BUONARROTI

1475–1564

Italian painter, sculptor, and architect, Michelangelo is celebrated as the greatest artistic genius of the Renaissance. He was born in Tuscany and as a child studied with Florentine painter Ghirlandaio and Bertoldo di Giovanni, a sculptor employed by the Medici family. Michelangelo lived with the Medicis from 1490 to 1492. In Rome he sculpted the marble Pieta (1498–1499) and sculpted David (1501–1504) in Florence. He was commissioned (1505) to design and sculpt a tomb for Pope Julius II in Rome and while there painted the ceiling of the Sistine Chapel, considered one of the most influential works in art history. After living in Florence (1515–1534), he returned to Rome to paint The Last Judgment in the Sistine Chapel (1534). His last great work was the redesign of St. Peter’s Basilica in Rome (1540–1550).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

I, Michelangelo, Sculptor: An Autobiography Through Letters. Irving and Jean Stone, eds. New York: New American Library, 1964. 256pp. The Stones use Michelangelo’s own words with connectives to approximate an autobiographical account.

Michelangelo: Life, Letters, and Poetry. New York: Oxford University Press, 1987. 182pp. This collection of the artist’s writings includes the biography of Ascanio Condivi, Michelangelo’s pupil for eleven years before the master’s death. Intended by the artist to correct errors made by Vasari with many facts supplied by Michelangelo, Condivi’s life represents what Michelangelo wished to be known and is close to an autobiography.

The Letters of Michelangelo. E.H.Ramsden, ed. Stanford, California: Stanford University Press, 1964. 2 vols. This scholarly edition of Michelangelo’s letters features a biographical introduction and chronology and appendixes identifying events, people, and places mentioned.

Recommended Biographies

Bull, George Anthony. Michelangelo: A Biography. New York: St. Martin’s, 1996. 504pp. Incorporating recent research, Bull’s comprehensive study emphasizes Michelangelo’s times, and is particularly strong on the complex politics of the period. Avoiding art criticism, Bull concentrates instead on the factual circumstances surrounding Michelangelo’s creations. Bull is also strong on the artist’s family relationships and everyday life.

Einem, Herbert von. Michelangelo. London: Methuen, 1973. 329pp. Originally published in Germany in 1959, this is a distinguished scholarly study that surveys Michelangelo’s entire career. It is particularly strong on the Renaissance context and the factual circumstances surrounding each of the artist’s commissions. Meant for a sophisticated reader with considerable prior knowledge of the artist and art history.

Hibbard, Howard. Michelangelo. New York: Harper & Row, 1974. 347pp. A short, reliable introduction to Michelangelo’s life and artistic achievements, Hibbard’s is an excellent choice for the general reader.

Murray, Linda. Michelangelo. New York: Oxford University Press, 1980. 216pp. Murray’s chronological survey of Michelangelo’s works aimed at a broad, nonscholarly audience, is particularly strong on the political and economic background of the period.

Other Biographical Studies

Beck, James H. Three Worlds of Michelangelo. New York: W.W.Norton, 1999. 269pp. Beck examines the artist from the perspective of his relationship with the three individuals who had the largest impact on his career and development: his father, Lorenzo de’ Medici, and Pope Julius II. Ending when Julius dies in 1513, when Michelangelo is only 38, Beck’s approach is limited to the artist’s early development.

Brandes, Georg. Michelangelo: His Life, His Times, His Era. New York: Frederick Ungar, 1963. 428pp. First published in Danish in 1921, Brandes’s anecdotal narrative is imaginative and lively, though it lacks documentation and an index. Often provocative in its assertions, Brandes can still be read with pleasure and benefits.

De Tolnay, Charles. Michelangelo. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1943–1960. 5 vols. Massive in its documentation, De Tolnay’s five volumes cover virtually every aspect of Michelangelo’s life and work. To be consulted rather than read through, De Tolnay’s examination provides thoughtful suggestions about the artist’s motives, character, and times, though the reader must assemble a coherent portrait beneath a mass of data.

Finlayson, Donald. Michelangelo the Man. New York: Crowell, 1935. 356pp. Although adding nothing new to the factual record, Finlayson attempts a human portrait of the artist based on a close reading of his letters and poetry. Unfortunately, the book is weakest on context, with an inaccurate and incomplete historical background.

Liebert, Robert. Michelangelo: A Psychoanalytic Study of His Life and Images. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1983. 447pp. The author, a psychoanalyst, offers a Freudian perspective in a fascinating and believable approach. Although hampered by the paucity of known facts about Michelangelo’s early life, Liebert traces how the artist’s conscious and unconscious preoccupations relate to the events of his life and his art.

Morgan, Charles H. The Life of Michelangelo. New York: Reynal, 1960. 253pp. In a narrative account drawing on contemporary sources and modern scholarship, Morgan avoids psychological surmises for a consideration of the artist in the context of his times. The book is excellent on detailing Michelangelo’s artistic methods.

Murray, Linda. Michelangelo: His Life, Work, and Times. London: Thames and Hudson, 1984. 240pp. This illustrated biography serves as a useful introduction, particularly to Michelangelo’s cultural and historical milieu.

Rizzatti, Maria Luisa. The Life and Times of Michelangelo. Philadelphia: Curtis, 1967. 75pp. This pleasing illustrated biography includes a brief sketch outlining the essential details of Michelangelo’s life and career.

Rolland, Romain. The Life of Michel Angelo. New York: Dutton, 1912. 208pp. Neither a full-scale biography nor critical study but a series of essays on the personality of the artist, Rolland’s examination veered steadily toward the sensational and hyperbolic in its psychological surmises.

Salvini, Roberto. The Hidden Michelangelo. Oxford: Phaidon Press, 1978. 191pp. In a provocative interpretation of Michelangelo’s inner conflicts based on a close analysis of his works, Salvini’s examination is often marred by subjectivity and a dense prose style. The book is inappropriate as an introduction for the uninitiated reader.

Schott, Rudolf. Michelangelo. New York: Tudor, 1963. 254pp. Schott’s probing inquiry into Michelangelo’s psyche and artistic temperament is full of interesting insights, but the book is often too far removed from the artist’s historical and cultural context to anchor its conclusions reliably. Michelangelo is seen more as a universal artistic archetype than a creation of his age.

Symonds, John Addington. The Life of Michelangelo Buonarroti. New York: Scribner, 1893. 2 vols. Long established as the standard life, Symonds’s factual investigation is based on a close study of primary and secondary sources. Although now superseded by modern scholarship, Symonds’s account retains more than historical importance for its insights into the artist’s personality and genius.

Vasari, Giorgio. Lives of the Artists. New York: Penguin, 1965. 478pp. Originally published in 1550 with a second edition in 1568, Vasari’s biographical account of Michelangelo is the first and, along with Condivi’s Life, the only contemporary account of the artist’s life. Michelangelo himself criticized the inexactitude and misrepresentations, but Vasari retains a historical interest, presenting a contemporary’s view of the artist.

Wilson, Charles. Life and Works of Michelangelo Buonarroti. London: J.Murray, 1876. 567pp. The first modern biography based primarily on documents from the Buonarroti archives, Wilson corrects many of the errors made by Vasari and Condivi in a detailed and reliable account, although the artist is often judged by a Victorian rather than a Renaissance standard, and the homosexual element in Michelangelo’s life is ignored.

Biographical Novels

Alexander, Sidney. Michelangelo, the Florentine. New York: Random House, 1957. 464pp.; The Hand of Michelangelo. Athens: Ohio University Press, 1977. 693pp.; Nicomemus: The Roman Years of Michelangelo Buonarroti. Athens: Ohio University Press, 1984. 293pp. Alexander’s trilogy chronicles Michelangelo’s entire life from his early career in Florence through his troubled years in Rome. The books supplement a portrait of Michelangelo with a history of his era in general and Renaissance Jewish history in particular through a number of fictional characters.

Stone, Irving. The Agony and the Ecstasy. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1961. 664pp. Tracing Michelangelo’s life and career from his apprenticeship at the age of 13, Stone offers a moving portrait of the artist’s torment and his age in this entertaining work based on extensive research that supports certain imaginative liberties.

Fictional Portraits

Haasse, Hella S. The Scarlet City. Chicago: Academy, 1990. 367pp. The novel dramatizes the Italian Wars during the sixteenth century in which French, Swiss, Spanish, and German armies vie for control of Italy. The Borgias, Machiavelli, Vitoria Colonna, and Michelangelo are all depicted as they are shaped by historical forces.

Otto, Whitney. The Passion Dream Book. New York: HarperCollins, 1998. 276pp. In this fanciful story, a young female artist frustrated by a lack of recognition agrees to spy on Michelangelo. Her story is connected with a descendant in the twentieth century.

Ripley, Alexandra. The Time Returns. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1985. 334pp. The life of Lorenzo de’ Medici, one of Michelangelo’s early patrons, is dramatized in a fictional story involving his relationship with a young gentlewoman. Botticelli and Michelangelo are both depicted.

Weiss, David. The Venetian. New York: Morrow, 1976. 366pp. In a biographical novel on the life of Renaissance painter Titian, the aging artist recalls his life and his relationship with a number of historical figures, including Michelangelo.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Lace, William W. Michelangelo. San Diego: Lucent Books, 1993. 112pp. MG. Lace surveys the major events of Michelangelo’s life against a convincing historical and cultural backdrop.

McLanathan, Richard B.K. Michelangelo. New York: Abrams, 1993. 92pp. MG/YA. This full-length biographical portrait links the artist firmly to his era and provides a sober but insightful appreciation of Michelangelo’s genius and achievement.

Petit, Jayne. Michelangelo: Genius of the Renaissance. New York: F.Watts, 1998. 128pp. MG. This is an informative overview of the artist’s life, achievement, and era.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: Michelangelo: Artist and Man (1994). Director: Adam Freedman. In a documentary portrait, Michelangelo’s private and public lives are described against a solid historical background. Video.

The Agony and the Ecstasy (1965). Director: Carol Reed. In a sumptuous Hollywood adaptation of Irving Stone’s novel, Charlton Heston portrays Michelangelo in conflict with Pope Julius II (Rex Harrison) over the completion of the Sistine Chapel’s ceiling. The drama is introduced by a short documentary account of the artist’s career. Video.

Michelangelo: Self-Portrait (1990). Director: Richard Lyford. An autobiographical portrait from the artist’s own writings and contemporaries’ accounts. Video.

Michelangelo: The Last Giant (1967). Director: Tom Priestley. Michelangelo’s life is described using quotes from his biographers and excerpts from his writings. Video.

329. JOHN STUART MILL

1806–1873

An influential British philosopher and economist, Mill was a precocious child, who was educated privately by his father, philosopher, economist, and historian James Mill. After abandoning the study of law, Mill worked for the East India company (1823–1858), eventually rising to the position of head of the examiner’s office. During this time he wrote for periodicals and published A System of Logic (1843) and Principles of Political Economy (1848), which affected English radical thought. His famous essay, On Liberty (1859), was written with his wife, Harriet Taylor (d.1858), and was dedicated to her. His essay, Utilitarianism, was published in 1863. Mill served as a member of Parliament from 1865 to 1868. After his retirement, he spent much time in Avignon, France, where his wife was buried and where he died. His celebrated Autobiography was published the year of his death.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Autobiography and Other Writing. Jack Stillinger, ed. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1969. 477pp. Mill’s Autobiography is a literary classic, chronicling Mill’s education and development under the strict intellectual regime of his father. Dealing mainly with his early life, Mill devotes less than a third of the book to his last thirty years.

Letters of John Stuart Mill. Hugh S.R.Elliot, ed. New York: Longmans, 1910. 2 vols. Unlike his Autobiography, Mill’s letters are free from self-consciousness and afford a rare glimpse of the man and his character that contrasts with the view presented in his essays.

Recommended Biographies

Borchard, Ruth. John Stuart Mill: The Man. London: Watts, 1957. 156pp. Borchard’s brief account of Mill’s life serves as a reliable introduction to the man and his ideas.

Packe, Michael St. John. The Life of John Stuart Mill. New York: Macmillan, 1954. 567pp. Rich in detail and documentation, Packe’s definitive life draws on the existing sources to fashion a full and comprehensive portrait of the man and his intellectual development. Eminently readable, Packe’s assessment is lucid and sensitive, synthesizing the various facts about Mill’s life into a vivid human narrative.

Other Biographical Studies

Bain, Alexander. John Stuart Mill: A Criticism with Personal Recollections. New York: Holt, 1882. 201pp. Written by a close friend, Bain’s appreciation is informed by firsthand impressions that present a believable human portrait, though many of Bain’s contentions have been subject to scholarly debate ever since they appeared, particularly the degree to which Harriet Taylor contributed to Mill’s writing and ideas.

Carlisle, Janice. John Stuart Mill and the Writing of Character. Athens: University of Georgia Press, 1991. 333pp. In Carlisle’s study of Mill’s life and work, the emphasis is on his internal conflicts and the personal sources for the contradictions in his ideas and writings.

Courtney, W.L. Life of John Stuart Mill New York: F.Whittaker, 1889. 194pp. Courtney’s early biography is based mainly on the Autobiography and accepts most of Bain’s interpretations, adding little to the record of Mill’s life and a view of his personality.

Ellery, John B. John Stuart Mill. New York: Twayne, 1964. 134pp. Ellery’s concise critical study of Mill’s life and ideas is a useful introduction.

Glassman, Peter. J.S.Mill: The Evolution of a Genius. Gainesville: University of Florida Press, 1985. 188pp. This psychological study of Mill’s development relates his writings to the circumstances of his life to demonstrate how Mill’s intellectual activities should be seen as the philosopher’s attempt to compensate for his damaged childhood.

Hayek, F.A. John Stuart Mill and Harriet Taylor. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1951. 320pp. Hayek’s annotated collection of letters and assessment of previously unavailable documentary evidence revised the view of Mill and his relationship with Harriet Taylor established by Bain and others.

Kamm, Josephine. John Stuart Mill in Love. London: Gordon and Cremonesi, 1977. 253pp. Kamm focuses on the various women in Mill’s life to trace their impact on his ideas and development.

Mazlish, Brace. James and John Stuart Mill: Father and Son in the 19th Century. New York: Basic Books, 1975. 484pp. In a double biographical portrait of father and son, Mazlish argues the importance of generational conflict in the evolution of modern ideas. The Mills are made to serve an archetypal role in a cultural Oedipal conflict. Despite the provocativeness of its assertion, Mazlish’s study is thesis-driven in which biographical evidence is made to fit a psychohistorical model.

Pappe, H.O. John Stuart Mill and the Harriet Taylor Myth. London: Cambridge University Press, 1960. 51pp. The book focuses on the controversy surrounding Mill’s reliance upon and debt to Harriet Taylor, the central critical controversy surrounding Mill. In Pappe’s view, the degree to which Taylor served as Mill’s collaborator has been overestimated.

Fictional Portraits

Disch, Thomas M., and Charles Naylor. Neighboring Lives. New York: Scribner, 1981. 294pp. Literary London during the Victorian period is depicted in the story of Thomas and Jane Carlyle but with appearances by a number of figures, including, Robert Browning, William Morris, and Mill.

Other Sources

Spencer, Herbert, et al. John Stuart Mill: His Life and Works. Boston: Osgood, 1873. 96pp. Prepared shortly after Mill’s death, this tribute volume consists of a dozen sketches by the philosopher’s contemporaries on various aspects of Mill’s character and career.

330. JOHN MILTON

1608–1674

One of the great English poets, Milton was born in London, the son of a wealthy scrivener, and was educated at St. Paul’s School and Cambridge. His early works include the poem “Il Penseroso” and the masque Comus (1634). During the English Civil War, Milton wrote Areopagitica (1644), a prose piece in defense of freedom of the press, provoked by the condemnation of his essays in favor of divorce. A pamphlet, The Tenure of Kings and Magistrates (1649), supported the Puritan cause against Charles I and secured him a position as Latin secretary for foreign affairs in Cromwell’s government. By the 1650s his already weak sight had failed; he became totally blind and had to dictate his work to secretaries. He was forced into hiding after the Restoration (1660) and some of his books were burned, but he was included in the general amnesty. His blank-verse epic poem, Paradise Lost, one of the masterpieces of English literature, appeared in 1667. His final great works were Paradise Regained and Samson Agonistes (1671).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Milton on Himself. John S.Diekhoff, ed. New York: Oxford University Press, 1939. 307pp. This useful volume gathers together the passages from Milton’s writings in which the poet comments on his life, ideas, and works.

Recommended Biographies

Brown, Cedric. John Milton: A Literary Life. New York: St. Martin’s, 1995. 212pp. Brown supplies a concise introduction to Milton’s entire literary career with a sensible reading of his works in the context of their times.

Parker, William R. Milton: A Biography. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1968. 2 vols. Parker’s 30 years of study and research has produced the standard, scholarly biography. The first volume is a chronological narrative of Milton’s life, with the second volume Parker’s scholarly notes. The arrangement allows the reader not to get bogged down in critical debates.

Shawcross, John T. John Milton: The Self and the World. Lexington: University of Kentucky Press, 1992. 358pp. Shawcross’s psychological study complements Parker’s factual study with a series of thought-provoking interpretations, including gender conflict and the homoerotic element in Milton’s life and work. The author’s probings of Milton’s psyche are anchored by chapters supplying biographical and literary overviews.

Wilson, A.N. The Life of John Milton. New York: Oxford University Press, 1983. 278pp. With a novelist’s eye for animating detail, Wilson supplies a boldly opinionated narrative that serves as well as an excellent guide to the seventeenth century. Synthesizing often dry scholarship into a believable human portrait, Wilson rescues Milton from the specialist and convincingly argues his relevance and importance for the general reader.

Other Biographical Studies

Darbishire, Helen, ed. The Early Lives of Milton. 1932. Revised ed. New York: Barnes and Noble, 1965. 353pp. This volume presents modernized texts of six biographies of Milton written in the seventeenth century.

Hill, Christopher. Milton and the English Revolution. New York: Viking, 1978. 541pp. Like Saurat’s earlier portrait, Hill stresses the revolutionary character of Milton’s thoughts and connects him with the radical elements of the English Revolution. Stimulating and fresh in its views, Hill’s revisionist focus is a worthy supplement to the more conventional interpretations offered by Parker and others.

Levi, Peter. Eden Renewed: The Public and Private Life of John Milton. New York: St. Martin’s, 1997. 332pp. In an affectionate, witty, opinionated, and entertaining popular account written by an English poet and biographer, Levi’s critical biography chooses to ignore certain elements of Milton’s life and concentrate on Milton’s artistry. Best used as a supplement to more comprehensive treatments of Milton’s life, such as Parker’s and Wilson’s.

Masson, David. The Life of John Milton. London: Macmillan, 1881–1896. 7 vols. Masson’s massive study encompasses Milton’s life as well as a detailed political, religious, and literary history of his period. More a Milton reference sourcebook Masson’s factual compilation collects useful as well as trivial data that most readers will prefer to have synthesized.

Pattison, Mark. Milton. 1879. Reprint ed. New York: AMS Press, 1968. 220pp. Pattison’s Victorian biography has the virtue of brevity compared to Masson, with some challenging interpretations if no new facts to add to the record.

Saurat, Denis. Milton: Man and Thinker. New York: Dial Press, 1925. 363pp. Saurat’s interpretative study sets out to demolish the conservative, Puritan image of Milton for a more dynamic portrait of a complex thinker and revolutionary who should be seen as one of the greatest of all philosophical poets.

Thorpe, James E. John Milton: The Inner Life. San Marino, California: Huntington Library, 1983. 191pp. Thorpe’s appreciative study chronicles Milton’s intellectual and artistic development that stresses his considerable achievements and greatness as a man and artist. There is no doubting Thorpe’s admiration, and the book’s enthusiasm is contagious.

Tillyard, E.M.W. Milton. New York: Barnes and Noble, 1930. 396pp. This critical biography stresses Milton’s early development, devoting considerably less attention to his later years. Sensible in its evocation of the intellectual underpinnings of Milton’s age, Tillyard’s examination is coherent if uninspired.

Wagenknecht, Edward. The Personality of Milton. Norman: University of Oklahoma Press, 1970. 170pp. This is a popular account of Milton’s life and work that delivers a personality profile based on the author’s close reading of primary and secondary sources. Serves the general reader as a lively, informal introduction.

Biographical Novels

Figes, Eva. The Tree of Knowledge. New York: Pantheon, 1990. 154pp. In an extended monologue narrated by one of Milton’s daughters, Milton is depicted as a cruel misogynist who is insensitive and intolerant to his daughters in a negative feminist reading of Milton and his times.

Fuller, Edmund. John Milton. 1944. Reprint ed. New York: Seabury Press, 1967. 242pp. In a fictionalized account of Milton’s life, the novel stays close to the facts of the poet’s life and is reliable, despite a fiercely Protestant viewpoint.

Graves, Robert. Wife to Mr. Milton. London: Cassell, 1944. 372pp. In a first-person narrative of Milton’s first wife, the story of their troubled relationship is told against a backdrop of the English Civil War. Audacious in its recreation of Milton’s intimate, private life, Graves anchors his fancies with convincing period details.

Fictional Portraits

Ackroyd, Peter. Milton in America. New York: Doubleday, 1997. 307pp. The novel imagines Milton’s 1660 journey to America in search of moral purity in Puritan New England. This inventive fantasy provides an occasion for an exploration of Milton’s psyche and a man who becomes a destroyer of paradise in the name of goodness.

Macaulay, Rose. The Shadow Flies. New York: Harper, 1932. 476pp. Set during the English Civil War, a young women visits poet Robert Herrick in Cambridge where she interacts with a number of literary figures, including Abraham Cowley, Richard Crashaw, and Milton.

West, Paul. Sporting with Amaryllis. Woodstock, New York: Overlook Press, 1996. 160pp. West imagines a 17-year-old Milton introduced to his muse and sexuality through the agency of an unworldly London streetwalker. This is an exhilarating evocation of the era and a fanciful but intriguing portrait of the artist as a young man.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Milton: 1608–1674 (1987). Producer: Anthony Thwaite. This film profile covers the highlights of Milton’s career with commentary on his works and personality. Video.

Milton and His Times (1985). Producer: Stephen Mantell. Milton’s development and achievement is profiled against a wider historical, political, and cultural background. Video.

Other Sources

Campbell, Gordon. A Milton Chronology. New York: St. Martin’s, 1997. 255pp. This detailed chronological record is a valuable reference source of the poet’s almost daily activities.

French, J.Milton, ed. The Life Records of John Milton. New York: Godian Press. 1966. 5 vols. In an indispensable scholarly collection of all the existent documents concerning the poet’s life, the series assembles the essential raw materials for a biographical study of Milton.

331. MOLIÈRE (JEAN-BAPTISTE POQUELIN)

1622–1673

France’s great comic dramatist was born in Paris, the son of a merchant who was upholsterer to Louis XIII. As a young man, he joined the Béjart troupe of actors and toured for 13 years with the company as actor-manager and playwright. Molière’s first success was Le Docteur Amoreuse, performed in 1658 for Louis XIV. The troupe performed under royal patronage at the Palais Royal and is the ancestor of the Comédie Francaise. Molière’s satires on hypocrisy and pointed characterizations, although popular, were castigated as impious and slanderous by some critics and authors. He also wrote farces, comedies, masks, and ballets for the court. His plays include Les Précieuses Ridicules (1659), often called the first comedy of manners, Le Tartuffe (1664), Le Misanthrope (1666), Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme (1670), and Le Malade Imaginaire (1673). Molière became fatally ill on stage while acting the lead role of the hypochondriac in the latter play.

Recommended Biographies

Fernandez, Ramon. Molière: The Man Seen Through the Plays. New York: Hill & Wang, 1958. 212pp. As the book’s title indicates, Fernandez fills in the considerable gaps in Molière’s biography with informed speculation based on a close reading of the plays. Filled with intriguing insights into Molière’s character and comic vision, Fernandez may annoy biographical purists but few other books offer such a stimulating portrait of Molière.

Howarth, W.D. Molière: A Playwright and His Audience. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1982. 325pp. Howarth’s focus is mainly historical, establishing the connection between Molière’s career and works and the cultural, historical, and artistic world in which he lived. In the absence of direct evidence, the book creates a believable social milieu that builds up an indirect portrait of the artist.

Palmer, John. Molière: His Life and Works. New York: Brewer and Warren, 1930. 518pp. Penetrating the various legends to extract the probable truths, Palmer places Molière squarely in his period, and this study remains the most reliable and comprehensive biography available in English. Palmer deals credibly with the playwright’s marriage and family relations.

Other Biographical Studies

Lewis, D.B.Wyndham. Molière: The Comic Mask. New York: Coward-McCann, 1959. 214pp. Describing Molière’s early life before proceeding through his plays and relating them to the events in Molière’s life, Lewis enlivens his narrative with fictionalized elements and accepts several debatable anecdotes as facts. The result is a highly readable but not always reliable account that portrays both the man and the artist.

Matthews, Brander. Molière: His Life and Works. New York: Scribner, 1910. 385pp. Matthew’s critical biography summarizes the details of Molière’s early life followed by a study of the works.

Tilley, Arthur A. Molière. Cambridge, England: University Press, 1921. 363pp. More a study of the playwright’s genius, the facts of Molière’s life are condensed into its first chapter, followed by a critical reading of the works.

Biographical Novels

Arnott, Peter D. Ballet of Comedians: A Novel Based on the Life of J.B.P.Molière. New York: Macmillan, 1971. 320pp. Molière is convincingly shown rebelling against his family for a life in the theater, first as an actor and later as a playwright.

Bulgakov, Mikhail. The Life of Monsieur de Molière. New York: Funk & Wagnalls, 1970. 259pp. Combining nonfictional and fictional elements but with enough fancy to be treated as a novel, Bulgakov provides an account of Molière’s life and career that alternates between the superficial and the sensational.

Dussane, Béatrix. An Actor Named Molière. New York: Scribner, 1937. 304pp. Molière is depicted running his troupe, writing, and rehearsing prior to a command performance before Louis XIV at Versailles in an evocative presentation of the man and his age.

O’Shaughnessy, Michael. Monsieur Molière, a Novel. New York: Crowell, 1959. 280pp. Stringing together a number of colorful anecdotes, the novel documents Molière’s stage career in a combination of factual material and fancy based on the playwright’s writing and historical sources.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Moeller, Philip. Molière: A Romantic Play in Three Acts. New York: Knopf, 1919. 237pp. Moeller’s play shows the playwright at various stages of his career with biographical facts distorted to fit the exigency of the drama.

Molière (1984). Director: Bill Alexander. Based on Mikhail Bulgakov’s book, the Royal Shakespeare Company follows Molière’s life as he changes from a confident theater director to a broken-down sycophant after being beset by both church and state. Starring Antony Sher. Video.

332. CLAUDE MONET

1840–1926

French landscape painter and the founder of Impressionism, Monet was encouraged in his youth to paint in the open air by the marine painter Boudin. After serving with the army in Algeria (1860–1862), he studied painting in Paris despite parental objections. His friends included such future major impressionists as Pissaro, Cézanne, Renoir, and Sisley. The term “Impressionism” was coined after Monet’s painting Impression: Sunrise (1872). Fascinated by the effects of light, Monet began in 1889 to paint series of subjects, such as Rouen Cathedral, at different times of day. His last great series were pictures of water lilies, which he painted at his home in Giverny.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Monet by Himself. Richard Kendell, ed. Boston: Little, Brown, 1990. 328pp. In a chronologically arranged selection of letters along with reproductions from his works, Monet reveals himself in many different moods and circumstances, illuminating both his work methods and financial woes.

Recommended Biographies

Mount, Charles M. Monet: A Biography. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1966. 444pp. Synthesizing valuable original research and evidence only available from French sources, Mount’s useful scholarly study is marred by a partisan defense of Monet’s first wife and a disapproval of the painter’s private life. Despite a negative assessment of the man, Mount’s documentation fills in a number of gaps in the biographical record and serves as a challenging contrast to more reverent admiring portraits.

Spaté, Virginia. Claude Monet: Life and Work. New York: Rizzoli, 1992. 348pp. In a critical biography based on a careful study of over 3,000 surviving letters, Spate portrays Monet as a far more complex individual than is conventionally presented. Monet is shown clearly in his social, historical, and artistic context.

Tucker, Paul H. Claude Monet: Life and Art. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1995. 250pp. Tucker’s narrative biography supplies a realistic life story that is both honest and objective. Tucker challenges the widely held notion of Monet’s financial constraints and relates his works to the social and political circumstances of his times.

Other Biographical Studies

Gordon, Robert, and Andrew Forge. Monet. New York: Abrams, 1983. 304pp. In a thorough record of Monet’s artistic production and his internal struggles, this critical study includes previously unpublished documents and letters.

Gwynn, Stephen. Claude Monet and His Garden: The Story of an Artist’s Paradise. New York: Macmillan, 1934. 170pp. This is an impressionistic, undocumented look at the last half of Monet’s life and his years at Giverny, including his creation of his garden and his relationship with Georges Clemenceau.

Joyce, Claire. Monet at Giverny. New York: Mayflower, 1973. 144pp. In contrast to Gwynn’s more romantic treatment, Joyce looks at Monet during the Giverny period from a more solidly documented perspective, using a number of published and unpublished sources.

Mauclair, Camille. Claude Monet. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1924. 62pp. In the first biographical profile in English, Mauclair provides a biographical sketch of the highlights of Monet’s career and aesthetic principles.

Rachman, Carla. Monet. London: Phaidon Press, 1997. 351pp. This is a handsome entry in the Art and Ideas series that reproduces the artist’s works with a text by a respected scholar, which covers both biographical and technical details about the artist.

Taylor, John Russell. The Life and Art of Claude Monet: Impressions of France. New York: Crescent Books, 1995. 160pp. With more than 150 reproductions of paintings, drawings, sketches, and rare photos, Taylor offers an informative overview of Monet’s life and work

Weeks, C.P.P. Camille: A Study of Claude Monet. London: Sidgwick and Jackson, 1962. 204pp. Based on the standard French sources, this is a highly readable portrait of the artist in the context of the Impressionist movement.

Biographical Novels

Figes, Eva. Light. New York: Pantheon, 1983. 91pp. Describing a day in the life of Monet in 1900 as he completes his “Water Lilies,” the novel employs details from the painter’s life and career as the starting point for a lyrical and meditative exploration of various themes.

Fictional Portraits

Stone, Irving. Depths of Glory. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1985. 653pp. This biographical novel chronicles the life of Camille Pissarro and Paris during the Impressionist heyday with appearances by a number of artists, including Monet, Courbet, Corot, Cézanne, Gauguin, Degas, Seurat, Cassatt, and Manet.

Weiss, David. Naked Came I: A Novel of Rodin. New York: Morrow, 1963. 660pp. The life and times of French sculptor Auguste Rodin are reliably depicted with some invented dialogue and scenes, including portraits of a number of historical figures, including Monet, Degas, Bernard Shaw, Renoir, Victor Hugo, Emile Zola, and Rainer Maria Rilke.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Patin, Sylvie. Monet: The Ultimate Impressionist. New York: Abrams, 1993. 175pp. YA. Patin includes excerpts from Monet’s letters and other writings and 236 illustrations to document Monet’s life and artistic achievement.

Waldron, Ann. Claude Monet. New York: Abrams, 1981. 92pp. YA. Part of the First Impressions series, this is an excellent introduction to Monet’s life and art, chronicling his career from his boyhood through his studies in Paris and eventual achievement as a recognized master.

Welton, Jude. Monet. New York: Dorling Kindersley, 1999. 64pp. MG. This entry in the Eyewitness Books series is a visually exciting and informative treatment of Monet’s life, art, and techniques.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Monet (1989). Director: Michael Gill. Using letters, journals, interviews, and archival film footage of Monet himself, this film profile traces the painter’s lifelong quest to capture on canvas the effects of light and color seen in nature. Video.

333. JAMES MONROE

1758–1831

The fifth U.S. president (1817–1825), Monroe was born in Westmorland County, Virginia. He dropped out of the College of William and Mary to fight in the American Revolution and after the war studied law (1780–1783) under Thomas Jefferson. He served (1782) in the Virginia legislature, in the Continental Congress under the Articles of Confederation (1783–1786), in the U.S. Senate (1790–1794), and as minister to France (1794–1796). While governor of Virginia (1799–1802), he was named special envoy to France and helped negotiate the Louisiana Purchase (1803). He served in James Madison’s cabinet as secretary of state and secretary of war during the War of 1812. Elected to the presidency as a Democratic-Republican, Monroe’s administration became known as the Era of Good Feeling because of postwar prosperity and expansion. The Rush-Bagot agreement (1817) settled Canadian boundary disputes with Great Britain, Florida was purchased from Spain (1819), the Santa Fe Trail was opened (1821), the Missouri Compromise was enacted, and the Monroe Doctrine, which opposed European intervention in the Americas, became a cornerstone of U.S. foreign policy.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Autobiography of James Monroe. Stuart G. Brown, ed. Syracuse, New York: Syracuse University Press, 1959. 236pp. Monroe’s autobiographical fragments, written at the end of his life to relieve his financial distress, were intended to convince an ungrateful nation how much it owed him.

The Writings of James Monroe. Stanislaus M. Hamilton, ed. New York: Putnam, 1898–1903. 7 vols. Monroe’s papers are collected in this multivolume scholarly edition, which is an indispensable primary source of insights into Monroe’s character and ideas.

Recommended Biographies

Ammon, Harry. James Monroe: The Quest for National Identity. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1971. 706pp. Rightfully regarded as the standard scholarly life, Ammon’s meticulously documented study deals expertly with the complex issues that shaped Monroe’s career as well as his relationships. The book is particularly strong on American diplomatic history during the era. Balanced and reliable, Ammon presents a multidimensional Monroe with both his qualities and his flaws displayed.

Cresson, W.P.P. James Monroe. Chapel Hill: University of North Carolina Press, 1946. 577pp. Completed by others after the author’s death in 1932, Cresson’s study is a thorough, scholarly yet readable reevaluation of Monroe’s character and career. At times overly defensive on Monroe’s behalf, Cresson’s is a reliable and comprehensive examination of the full course of Monroe’s life.

Cunningham, Noble. The Presidency of James Monroe. Lawrence: University Press of Kansas, 1996. 246pp. Cunningham’s is the best available examination of Monroe’s two-term presidential administration, chronicling the major domestic and foreign policy issues and Monroe’s leadership and political beliefs.

Other Biographical Studies

Adams, John Quincy. The Lives of James Madison and James Monroe: Fourth and Fifth Presidents of the United States. Boston: Phillips, Sampson, 1850. 432pp. Adams’s dual biographical sketch of Madison and Monroe treats each man separately. Adams includes his 1831 eulogy in which he pays tribute to Monroe and surveys his career as well as provides an account of Monroe’s presidency.

Morgan, George. The Life of James Monroe. 1921. Reprint ed. New York: AMS Press, 1969. 484pp. Morgan’s somewhat uneven and limited life concentrates on Monroe’s early life and diplomatic career, failing to treat his presidency in detail. Highly partisan, the book lacks a critical edge and has been superseded by later studies.

Styron, Arthur. The Last of the Cocked Hats: James Monroe and the Virginia Dynasty. Norman: University of Oklahoma Press, 1945. 480pp. In a life-and-times approach, the latter predominates, and Monroe’s personality and private life are obscured under a mass of details concerning his era.

Fictional Portraits

Carlisle, Henry. The Land Where the Sun Dies. New York: Putnam, 1975. 318pp. Chronicling the Indian removal policy masterminded by Andrew Jackson, which led to the Seminole War, Monroe appears as an ineffectual political leader.

Delmar, Vina. A Time for Titans. San Diego, California: Harcourt, Brace, 1974. 336pp. The complicated diplomatic maneuverings that led to the Louisiana Purchase are dramatized in the clash between three historical titans: Napoleon, Jefferson, and Haiti’s Toussaint L’Ouverture. Other secondary figures, such as Madison, Monroe, and Henri Christophe also are described.

Fast, Howard. Citizen Tom Paine. New York: Duell, Sloan and Pearce, 1943. 341pp. In this fictionalized biography of Thomas Paine, numerous historical figures are depicted, including Monroe, Jefferson, Washington, Napoleon, and Franklin.

West, Jessamyn. The Massacre at Fall Creek. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1975. 373pp. Based on an actual 1824 murder of Seneca Indians on the frontier of Indiana, the novel dramatizes the massacre and the subsequent trial of the men charged in the crime, with appearances by Monroe and John C. Calhoun.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Old, Wendie C. James Monroe. Springfield, New Jersey: Enslow, 1998. 128pp. MG. Old’s is a well-written account of Monroe that relates his life to the major historical events and allows his contributions to emerge.

Steffoff, Rebecca. James Monroe: 5th President of the United States. Ada, Oklahoma: Garrett, 1988. 121pp. MG. This is a reliable summary of the high points of Monroe’s life and presidential administration, emphasizing the challenges he faced. Wetzel, Charles. James Monroe. New York: Chelsea House, 1989. 111pp. MG/YA. Monroe’s life and career are usefully summarized in this informative and well-illustrated biography.

334. MARILYN MONROE

1926–1962

Movie actress and world-famous sex symbol, Monroe was bora Norma Jean Baker in Los Angeles and was raised in orphanages. She worked as a model and began to win movie roles in the 1940s. By the 1950s she had gained fame for her breathy singing voice and seductive film roles. In 1953 she posed for the first issue of Playboy magazine. Her films include The Seven-Year Itch (1955), Bus Stop (1956), Some Like It Hot (1959), and The Misfits (1960). Married for a brief time as a teenager, her second husband was baseball player Joe DiMaggio and her third was playwright Arthur Miller. After her death at 36, she became a Hollywood legend.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

My Story. New York: Stein and Day, 1974. 143pp. In a partially autobiographical account of Monroe’s life up to 1954, the book, co-written with novelist and playwright Ben Hecht, shatters the actress’s “dumb blonde” image in an honest, witty, and intelligent account that provides insight into her character.

Conversations with Marilyn. William J. Weatherby, ed. New York: Mason/Charter, 1976. 229pp. Based on the author’s 1960 talks with Monroe and observations on the set of her last film, The Misfits, Weatherby offers a number of firsthand anecdotes and reconstructions of interviews.

Marilyn: Her Life in Her Own Words: Marilyn Monroe’s Revealing Last Words and Photographs. George Barris, ed. Secaucus, New Jersey: Birch Lane Press, 1995. 163pp. Culled from conversation with Monroe in 1962 shortly before her death as the actress intended to complete her autobiographical reflections begun in My Story, Barris offers his experiences with the actress and his reconstruction of the actress’s personal reflections.

Marilyn Monroe: In Her Own Words. Roger G. Taylor, ed. New York: Putnam, 1983. 122pp. This is a compilation of various statements by Monroe from a variety of published and unpublished sources.

Recommended Biographies

Guiles, Fred L. Legend: The Life and Death of Marilyn Monroe. New York: Stein and Day, 1984. 501pp. Commonly regarded as the standard biographical treatment, Guiles updates and alters many of his conclusions in his earlier Norma Jean: The Life of Marilyn Monroe (New York: McGraw-Hill, 1969. 341pp.) with new material, interviews with friends and associates, and a more candid treatment of the actress’s death based on subsequent research.

Spoto, Donald. Marilyn Monroe: The Biography. New York: HarperCollins, 1993. 698pp. Spoto’s is an exhaustive portrait of Monroe that draws on previously unavailable sources, including previously sealed letters, diaries, and other papers. In a surprising revisionist view, Spoto dismisses the Kennedy connection in Monroe’s life and contentions that she was murdered or committed suicide, and takes the actress far more seriously and more compassionately than have other treatments.

Summers, Anthony. Goddess: The Secret Lives of Marilyn Monroe. New York: Macmillan, 1985. 415pp. Based on hundreds of interviews and extensive research, this is an absorbing, convincing biography that sheds considerable light on the circumstances surrounding Monroe’s death and Robert Kennedy’s effort to cover up his relationship with the actress. Sensible rather than sensational, Summers adds numerous factual details to a portrait of a short, tormented life.

Other Biographical Studies

Freeman, Lucy. Why Norma Jean Killed Marilyn Monroe. Chicago: Global Rights, 1992. 191pp. In a psychological analysis, Freeman looks at the factors that caused Monroe to take her own life.

Haspiel, James. Marilyn: The Ultimate Look at the Legend. New York: Holt, 1991. 207pp. Haspiel, a close friend of the star, relies on his collections of photos and letters for a intimate and personal portrait of Monroe.

Hoyt, Edwin P. Marilyn: The Tragic Venus. Radnor, Pennsylvania: Chilton, 1973. 279pp. Hoyt, who admits to never having seen any of Monroe’s films, supplies a journalistic and superficial account that arranges the details of Monroe’s biography to dramatize how money, power, and fame produced the tragedy of her life.

Kahn, Roger. Joe and Marilyn: A Memory of Love. New York: Morrow, 1986. 269pp. Chronicling the lives of DiMaggio and Monroe before, during, and after their brief marriage, Kahn debunks many myths surrounding the couple and exposes a number of unsubstantiated rumors in a balanced treatment of their relationship.

Learning, Barbara. Marilyn Monroe. New York: Crown, 1998. 464pp. Prolific celebrity biographer Learning provides a detailed psychological portrait of the actress beginning in 1951 with her early life sketchily presented in flashback. Livened by novelistic technique, the book animates a human portrait in a series of dramatic episodes that reveals Monroe as an intelligent, self-destructive perfectionist.

Mailer, Norman. Marilyn: A Biography. New York: Grossett & Dunlap, 1973. 270pp. Mailer’s “novel biography” has been described as a metaphysical coffee-table book, a sumptuously illustrated book with the author’s meditation on Monroe’s life and career including the daring Mailer touches of animation and self-obsession. Mailer continues his fascination with the actress in Of Women and Their Elegance (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1981. 288pp.), a series of imagined interviews to accompany a portfolio of photographs.

McCann, Graham. Marilyn Monroe. New Brunswick, New Jersey: Rutgers University Press, 1988. 241pp. Drawing on critical theory, feminism, and film studies, McCann’s “anti-biography” looks at Monroe’s film career from 1947 onward to examine how her image was manufactured and its personal cost, integrating Monroe’s own comments in his depiction. Often jargon-heavy and self-indulgent, the book is less a study of the person than a meditation on her public persona.

Miller, Arthur. Timebends: A Life. New York: Grove Press, 1987. 614pp. The playwright provides his view of the couple’s marriage in his autobiography.

Miracle, Berniece Baker, and Mona Rae. My Sister Marilyn: A Memoir of Marilyn Monroe. New York: Workman, 1994. 238pp. Monroe’s half-sister, whom the actress learned about when she was 12, and niece offer their recollections of their relationships. The emphasis is on the intimate private person seen in her family relations, along with photographs and letters, most of which are published here for the first time.

Rollyson, Carl E. Jr. Marilyn Monroe: A Life of the Actress. Ann Arbor, Michigan: UMI Research Press, 1986. 255pp. The author focuses on Monroe’s acting career and the relationship between her growth as an actress and her film roles in shaping her identity. Though marred by stylistic excesses and dependent on other sources for its biographical details, the book does offer an in-depth analysis of each of Monroe’s films and a rare appreciation of her acting methods.

Shevey, Sandra. The Marilyn Scandal: Her True Life Revealed by Those Who Knew Her. New York: Morrow, 1987. 326pp. This is mainly a rehash of previously peddled revelations, featuring the comments of a few associates who have broken their silence, but it offers little that is new or different. Factual errors and dubious assertions limit the book’s reliability and usefulness.

Slatzer, Robert F. The Life and Curious Death of Marilyn Monroe. New York: Pinnacle House, 1974. 348pp. The author claims to have been briefly married to Monroe in 1952, and Slatzer’s controversial account was one of the first books to challenge the finding that Monroe’s death was suicide. The book’s chief value is the reprinting of a number of documents, including Monroe’s autopsy report and will.

Spada, James. Monroe: Her Life in Pictures. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1982. 194pp. In a scrapbook approach bringing together a wide collection of photographs, Spada includes an excellent brief biographical profile.

Speriglio, Milo, and Adele Gregory. Crypt 33: The Saga of Marilyn Monroe: The Final Word. New York: Carol, 1992. 380pp. The subtitle here might be viewed as wishful thinking in yet another sensational account of Monroe’s rise to stardom with an emphasis on the actress’ underworld ties. In the authors’ version of Monroe’s end, the actress was murdered by Mafia hit men.

Steinem, Gloria. Marilyn. Photographs by George Barris. New York: Holt, 1986. 182pp. In a thoughtful series of biographical essays, Steinem concentrates on Monroe’s personality in a feminist and archetypal context. Written to accompany George Barris’s photographs and unpublished interview with the actress shortly before her death, Steinem manages a multidimensional portrait that avoids either the hyperbole or sensationalism of other accounts.

Wolfe, Donald H. The Last Days of Marilyn Monroe. New York: Morrow, 1998. 464pp. With sensational revelations concerning Monroe’s “murder” predominant here, Wolfe offers a brief account of the actress’s life before focusing on the period leading up to her death. According to Wolfe, Monroe was killed in the name of national security.

Zolotow, Maurice. Marilyn Monroe. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1960. 340pp. Although appearing too early to consider her life in full, Zolotow’s was the first scholarly biography based in part on interviews with the actress and helpfully sets the factual record straight. Attempting to reconcile Monroe’s public image with her private self, the book offers a number of psychological conjectures as well as lively animation of the actress’s career.

Biographical Novels

Korda, Michael. The Immortals. New York: Poseidon Press, 1992. 559pp. Monroe’s relationship with John F. and Robert Kennedy is dramatized in a fictional celebrity tell-all, blending actual facts with imagined pillow talk.

Oates, Joyce Carol. Blonde. New York: Ecco Press, 2000. 768pp. Oates imaginatively reconstructs the significant events in Monroe’s life and speculates on her subject’s thoughts and feelings in this impressive meditation on a wasted life.

Toperoff, Sam. Queen of Desire. New York: HarperCollins, 1992. 276pp. In a series of imagined scenes from various stages of Monroe’s life, the novel sticks to the biographical chronology and a plausible portrait of the actress as the basis for the novel’s ingenious fancy.

Fictional Portraits

Douglas, Carole Nelson, ed. Marilyn: Shades of Blonde. New York: Forge, 1997. 352pp. This is a collection of 21 short stories by various genre authors involving Monroe as a character in various realistic and fanciful guises.

German, Edward. The Marilyn Tapes. New York: Forge, 1995. 349pp. In an inventive thriller, various fictional and historical figures, including J. Edgar Hoover, Louella Parsons, the Kennedys, and the Mafia, race to secure Monroe’s secret recordings about her affairs. The action is periodically interrupted with excerpts from the tapes as Monroe tells her own story.

Rechy, John. Marilyn’s Daughter. New York: Carroll & Graf, 1988. 531pp. The novel imagines a hypothetical daughter of Monroe and Robert Kennedy who tries to uncover the truth about her parents.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Krohn, Katherine E. Marilyn Monroe: Norma Jean’s Dream. Minneapolis: Lerner, 1997. 128pp. YA. This is a reliable and balanced account of the actress’s rise to stardom and her personal struggles despite her fame.

Lefkowitz, Frances. Marilyn Monroe. New York: Chelsea House, 1995. 120pp. MG/YA. In a detailed, well-written biographical account the book offers a sympathetic view of Monroe’s talent, determination, and personal sacrifices to achieve stardom, candidly acknowledging the less flattering aspects of the actress’s life and career.

Woog, Adam. Marilyn Monroe. San Diego: Lucent Books, 1997. 96pp. MG. After a brief overview of Monroe’s life and career, the author provides a detailed account of the actress’s death and discusses the various theories that have been offered to explain it.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: Marilyn Monroe: The Mortal Goddess (1996). Director: Donatello Baglivo. Chronicles Monroe’s life and career using early family photos, home movies, and outtakes from her films, along with interviews with family, friends, and co-workers. Video.

Goodbye, Norma Jean (1976). Director: Larry Buchanan. Tawdry dramatization of Monroe’s early years and early Hollywood career. Starring Misty Rowe as Monroe. Video.

Goodnight, Sweet Marilyn (1989). Director: Larry Buchanan. In an equally sleazy sequel to Goodbye, Norma Jean, Paula Lane portrays Monroe in a ludicrous interpretation of the actress’s death. Video.

Marilyn (1963). Documentary tribute narrated by Rock Hudson uses film clips to narrate the story of Monroe’s life and career. Video.

Marilyn and Bobby: Her Final Affair (1994). Director: Bradford May. A made-for-cable-television film sensationalizing the controversial details surrounding Monroe’s relationship with Robert Kennedy. The film’s sordid climax is the scramble to cover up details following her death. Melody Anderson stars as the actress and James F.Kelly portrays Kennedy. Video.

Marilyn Monroe (1964). Producer: Art Lieberman. Narrated by Mike Wallace, this compilation of interviews, photographs, film footage, and news clips chronicles Monroe’s life from birth to death. Video.

Marilyn Monroe: Beyond the Legend (1986). Director: Gene Feldman. This documentary features interviews with Monroe’s co-stars and friends. Video.

Marilyn: The Last Word (1993). Directors: Paul Nichols, Joe Tobin. Featuring dramatic re-creations, the film deals with the controversy surrounding Monroe’s death. Video.

Marilyn: The Untold Story (1980). Directors: Jack Arnold, John Flynn, and Lawrence Schiller. Based on Norman Mailer’s biography of Monroe, Catherine Hicks delivers an Emmy-nominated performance as Monroe, with Tracey Gold as the young Norma Jean. Video.

Norma Jean & Marilyn (1996). Director: Tim Fywell. The actress portrayed by Mira Sorvino is haunted by her younger self (Ashley Judd) in this cable drama offering a psychological profile of a clashing alter ego, dramatizing the personal cost of Monroe’s stardom. Video.

Other Sources

Cunningham, Ernest W. The Ultimate Marilyn. Los Angeles: Renaissance Books, 1998. 383pp. A collection of facts about Monroe’s life and career to appeal to the trivia buff and the Monroe enthusiast.

Riese, Randall, and Neal Hitchens. The Unabridged Marilyn: Her Life from A to Z. New York: Congden and Weed, 1987. 578pp. This fascinating reference collection of various materials regarding Monroe’s life and career ranges from the trivial to the substantial, including an extensive bibliography and discography, contemporary reviews of her films, quotes about her, and three short studio biographies.

Victor, Adam. The Marilyn Encyclopedia. Woodstock, New York: Overlook Press, 1999. 341pp. Arranged into alphabetical entries, this is a detailed coverage of virtually every aspect of Monroe’s life and associations. Important information is mixed with trivia. A fan and buffs delight; others will be overwhelmed by the minutiae.

Wagenknecht, Edward, ed. Marilyn Monroe: A Composite View. Philadelphia: Chilton, 1983. 200pp. The book reprints interviews with Monroe along with reminiscences by friends and critics.

335. MICHEL DE MONTAIGNE

1533–1592

French essayist Montaigne is regarded as one of the great masters of the essay form. He was a magistrate and mayor of Bordeaux, and engaged in diplomacy during the French religious civil wars. He published three books of essays; a fourth appeared posthumously in 1595. His essays greatly influenced French and English literature.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Autobiography of Michel de Montaigne. New York: Random House, 1935. 328pp. Montaigne’s autobiographical statements from his essays, travel writings, and letters are arranged chronologically and linked with sufficient explanatory material to approximate a life story in mainly Montaigne’s own words.

Recommended Biographies

Frame, Donald M. Montaigne: A Biography. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1965. 408pp. Frame’s definitive biography is a remarkable achievement in which a lifetime of research and work on Montaigne have been skillfully synthesized into a lucid, readable, and accessible portrait of Montaigne in his cultural and historical context.

Other Biographical Studies

Hoffmann, George. Montaigne’s Career. New York: Oxford University Press, 1998. 188pp. Hoffmann’s is a specialized but informative look at Montaigne’s creative process that emphasizes his writing practices and the details of his daily life that shaped his ideas and career.

Sichel, Edith. Michel de Montaigne. New York: Dutton, 1911. 271 pp. The author allows Montaigne to speak for himself in a solid overview of his life, character, and works.

Tetel, Marcel. Montaigne. New York: Twayne, 1974. 138pp. Part of the useful Twayne series directed at undergraduates and the general reader, Tetel supplies a chronology and brief biographical comments while concentrating on Montaigne’s literary and philosophical development.

Willis, Irene C. Montaigne. New York: Knopf, 1927. 135pp. Relying on extensive extracts from Montaigne’s writings, this is less a biography than a critique of his writing and thought. Serves the general reader as a starting point for further investigation.

336. SIR THOMAS MORE

1478–1535

English statesman, writer, and Roman Catholic saint, More was educated in the household of Cardinal Morton and at Oxford, and became a successful lawyer in London. Celebrated for his brilliance, subtlety, and wit, he was a favorite of Henry VIII. He entered the king’s service in 1518, was knighted in 1521, and despite his disapproval over Henry’s divorce of Catherine of Aragon in defiance of the pope succeeded (1529) Cardinal Wolsey as lord chancellor. He resigned (1532) because of ill health and because of disagreements over the king’s policies. He refused to accept the Act of Supremacy making Henry head of the of the English church, was imprisoned (1534) in the Tower, condemned for high treason, and beheaded. He was canonized in 1935. His best-known work is Utopia (1516).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Correspondence. Elizabeth F.Rogers, ed. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1947. 584pp. This scholarly collection of the extant letters offers the most complete personal record of More’s life available.

Recommended Biographies

Ackroyd, Peter. The Life of Thomas More. New York: Nan A.Talese, 1998. 447pp. Ackroyd deepens and humanizes our view of More, challenging the conventional, simplified depiction of his sanctity and heroism of conscience. More, however, is not diminished but made credible and sympathetic in the context of a vibrantly painted Tudor background. Ackroyd’s empathy with More’s values and his age sharpens the presentation and convinces the reader of More’s uniqueness and heroism, not by ignoring the unflattering but by embracing his complexity.

Fox, Alistair. Thomas More: History and Providence. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1982. 271pp. In a fascinating intellectual biography, Fox provides a comprehensive account of the progress and evolution of More’s ideas. In a fresh and original perspective, the many contradictions and inconsistencies in More’s character and thoughts are coherently blended in a persuasive portrait.

Guy, John. The Public Career of Sir Thomas More. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1980. 220pp. In a detailed, admirably researched assessment of More’s public career from his early legal career to his resignation as Henry VIII’s lord chancellor in 1532, Guy assembles a great deal of new information about More as a state official. The book is revealing about More’s administrative achievements and the political forces that shaped his career.

Marius, Richard. Thomas More: A Biography. New York: Knopf, 1984. 562pp. In a first-rate popular biography that combines a narrative history with a novelist’s flair in imagining what More might have thought and felt, Marius darkens the conventional portrait of More, dealing harshly with the ambiguities and contradictions of his character and his private and sexual life. Marius’s interpretations are stimulating and supported by careful research and represent a contrary human portrait very different from that of the saintly and heroic image of previous studies.

Other Biographical Studies

Chambers, R.W. Thomas More. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1935. 416pp. Long held as the standard life, Chambers’s literary biography presents a masterful synthesis of sources that counters previous hagiographies with a religiously neutral account in which More is presented as a great scholar and humanist. The author’s evident loathing for Henry VIII intrudes, but the book remains a valuable study of More and his milieu.

Kenny, Anthony. Thomas More. New York: Oxford University Press, 1983. 111pp. Kenny’s concise biography serves as an excellent introduction to the man and his era.

Martz, Louis M. Thomas More: The Search for the Inner Man. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1990. 112pp. Martz’s short biographical study was written to counter the more negative portrait by Marius and restore the luster to More’s greatness. The book offers a defense of the various charges against More that attributes his flaws to the values of his day.

Monti, James. The King’s Good Servant but God’s First: The Life and Writings of Saint Thomas More. San Francisco: Ignatius Press, 1997. 490pp. More is viewed from an unabashed Roman Catholic perspective that finds evidence for his sainthood in his devotion to his family, his spiritual development, and his final persecution in which More’s conscience overcame his allegiance to the crown. More sophisticated and objective than earlier hagiographies, the book nevertheless serves as more a tribute to More’s faith than an investigation into his humanity.

Reynolds, Ernest E. The Field Is Won: The Life and Death of Saint Thomas More. Milwaukee: Bruce, 1968. 396pp. In a revision and expansion of the author’s earlier Trial of St. Thomas More (1964), based on new research with recent scholarship summarized, Reynolds concentrates on the religious aspect of More’s career. More’s beliefs are studied against their historical background along with a close analysis of his writings.

Ridley, Jasper. Statesman and Saint: Cardinal Wolsey, Sir Thomas More, and the Politics of Henry VIII. New York: Viking, 1983. 338pp. This dual biography of Thomas Wolsey and Sir Thomas More takes the measure of both men and concludes that the former was the better minister, while the latter was an intolerant fanatic and impractical idealist.

Roper, William. The Life of Sir Thomas More. 1626. Reprinted. Springfield, Illinois: Templegate, 1992. 125pp. Roper’s tribute to his father-in-law, written in 1535, offers a sketch of More’s life that is valuable for its perspective but not always factually reliable.

Biographical Novels

Beahn, John E. A Man Born Again: Saint Thomas More. Milwaukee: Bruce, 1954. 208pp. More’s rise to power and fall from favor are dramatized in this often idealized portrait of the Tudor saint.

Brady, Charles A. Stage of Fools. New York: Dutton, 1953. 381pp. Blending facts and imaginative speculation, the novel dramatizes More’s rise to political power and the ensuing break with Henry VIII. More is depicted as the lone man of principles in a corrupt and self-serving Tudor court.

Plaidy, Jean. St. Thomas Eve. New York: Putnam, 1970. 284pp. In a fully realized historical dramatization of the conflict between Henry VIII and More, the novel provides a reliable account of the events and a credible portrait of the contenders.

White, Olive B. The King’s Good Servant. New York: Macmillan, 1936. 521pp. Chronicling the last six years in More’s life, the novel dramatizes the king’s effort to convince More to support his divorce in a historically accurate presentation with believable portraits of the major and minor figures of the era.

Fictional Portraits

Benson, Robert H. The King’s Achievement. New York: P.J.Kennedy,1905. 377pp. In a sweeping, panoramic novel dramatizing the destruction caused by the Protestant Reformation in England, numerous historical characters, including More, are presented in a faithful reconstruction of the religious and political atmosphere of the era.

Matthew, Anne I. Warm Wind, West Wind. New York: Crown, 1956. 310pp. This intriguing and convincing family saga set during the reign of Henry VIII shows the impact of the new Humanist learning of Erasmus and More, who are both plausibly depicted.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Bolt, Robert. A Man for All Seasons. New York: Random House, 1962. 186pp. Bolt depicts the conflict between Henry VIII and More in a moving drama that anachronistically presents More as an early individualist and proponent of civil disobedience, while ignoring the unflattering, unheroic details of More’s character and behavior.

A Man for All Seasons (1966). Director: Fred Zimmerman. An Oscar-winning film version of Robert Bolt’s play features masterful performances by Paul Scofield as More, Robert Shaw as Henry VIII, and Wendy Hiller as More’s wife. Video.

A Man for All Seasons (1988). Director: Charlton Heston. Heston’s cable television adaptation of the London stage production of Bolt’s play has Heston in the lead as More with a strong supporting cast, including Vanessa Redgrave as More’s wife and Martin Chamberlain as Henry. Video.

See also Anne Boleyn; Henry VIII; Thomas Wolsey

337. J.PIERPONT MORGAN

1837–1913

The son of financier Junius Spencer Morgan (1813–1890), John Pierpont Morgan built the family fortune into a vast financial and industrial empire. He was born in Hartford, Connecticut, studied abroad, and after working in a New York City banking house became the New York agent and then sole manager for J.S.Morgan & Company. He developed a railroad empire, financed manufacturing and mining, controlled banks, insurance companies, shipping lines, and communications systems. In 1901 he formed U.S. Steel, the world’s first billion-dollar corporation. Many of his commercial ventures, including gold speculation during the Civil War and the sale of obsolete carbines to the Union and his lending practices and financial dominance during the panics of 1895 and 1897, aroused controversy. In 1912 he defended his activities before a congressional committee investigating the “money trust.” An avid sportsman, yachtsman, and art collector, Morgan financed many philanthropies and left legacies to the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the Pierpont Morgan Library.

Recommended Biographies

Chernow, Ron. The House of Morgan: An American Banking Dynasty and the Rise of Modern Finance. New York: Atlantic Monthly Press, 1990. 812pp. Of the several books examining the Morgan family and its business ventures, Chernow’s is the best, providing a lucid, balanced, and revealing account that penetrates the inner workings of the Morgans, and theircompanies, power, and legacy.

Sinclair, Andrew. Corsair: The Life of J.Pierpont Morgan. Boston: Little, Brown, 1981. 269pp. Although offering little new information or original research, Sinclair tells the familiar details of Morgan’s life and career in a highly readable and entertaining style that manages a coherent psychological interpretation of the financier’s personality traits.

Strouse, Jean. Morgan: American Financier. New York: Random House, 1999. 796pp. Drawing on previous untapped archival sources, Strouse constructs an insightful, fresh portrait of Morgan that differs considerably from the views presented by apologists and detractors. Looking at Morgan’s dealings and character afresh in the context of his times, the book manages a nuanced, revealing study of a complex, believable human rather than a monster or paragon.

Other Biographical Studies

Allen, Frederick L. The Great Pierpont Morgan. New York: Harper, 1949. 306pp. More a character study than a fully detailed narrative account, Allen attempts to answer the question what kind of man Morgan was. He achieves a balanced, objective answer, avoiding the distortions of Morgan advocates and enemies, focused mainly on Morgan’s public career rather than his private life.

Canfield, Cass. The Incredible Pierpont Morgan: Financier and Art Collector. New York: Harper & Row, 1974. 176pp. In a sympathetic account, Canfield summarizes the highlights of Morgan’s career before proceeding to his main focus: Morgan as art collector. The book’s many photographs support Canfield’s contention that Morgan was a formidable and talented art critic.

Carosso, Vincent P. The Morgans: Private International Bankers, 1854–1913. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1987. 888pp. In a scholarly analysis based on access to the Morgan business archives, Carosso traces in detail the development of Morgan’s business dealings and their financial and governmental influence. Exhaustive and revealing, the book is an objective and factual account that resists taking an interpretive position on Morgan and his legacy.

Corey, Lewis. The House of Morgan: A Social Biography of the Masters of Money. 1930. Reprint ed. New York: AMS Press, 1969. 479pp. In one of the best histories of Morgan’s business dealings based on official records, Corey does provide a highly critical verdict on Morgan’s financial decisions that attributes his success to a ruthless drive for power and control.

Hovey, Carl. The Life Story of J.Pierpont Morgan. New York: Sturgis and Walton, 1912. 352pp. In a eulogistic tribute, Hovey’s early biographical sketch presents Morgan as a serious and intelligent shaper of vital financial issues. Although including valuable insider’s anecdotal details, the book neglects Morgan’s private life and has little to offer about Morgan’s personality.

Hoyt, Edwin P. The House of Morgan. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1966. 428pp. Hoyt begins his study of the Morgan family dynasty in 1636, tracing the growth of American business as reflected in the Morgans’ fortunes. Sympathetic to Morgan, Hoyt differentiates him from others like Jay Gould and Jim Fisk. Based mainly on Satterlee and Corey for its details, the book is marred by factual errors and an often overly partisan perspective.

Jackson, Stanley. J.P.Morgan: A Biography. New York: Stein and Day, 1983. 332pp. Jackson concentrates on Morgan’s personal life and family relationships in an undocumented and highly speculative account.

Satterlee, Herbert L. J.Pierpont Morgan: An Intimate Portrait. New York: Macmillan, 1939. 595pp. Written by Morgan’s son-in-law, this defensive appreciation does claim serious attention because of Satterlee’s unique access to important documents denied other biographers. The book manages to collect its data into a detailed chronological narrative that is one of the fullest and most comprehensive accounts of Morgan’s doings, but without much criticism or interpretive coherence.

Wheeler, George. Pierpont Morgan and Friends: The Anatomy of a Myth. Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Prentice-Hall, 1973. 338pp. In a debunking of conventional views of Morgan’s importance as a financial power and shaper, Wheeler offers evidence and conjecture that Morgan’s financial acumen is overrated and much of his success was reactive to circumstances, compelled more by arrogance and greed than a larger vision. Lacking balance and objectivity, Wheeler rarely rises above polemical attack.

Winkler, John. Morgan the Magnificent: The Life of J.Pierpont Morgan: 1837–1913. New York: Vanguard, 1930. 313pp. Winkler’s popular biography opens with a summary chapter on the man followed by chapters on the highlights of his career. More a presentation of the facts than an interpretation, this is a useful collection of anecdotes, gossip, and facts but without needed synthesis and historical and economic context.

Fictional Portraits

Carr, Caleb. The Alienist. New York: Random House, 1994. 496pp. Carr’s inventive historical mystery is set in 1896 New York City as a psychologist attempts to find a serial killer. Several historical figures, including Theodore Roosevelt, Franz Boas, Lincoln Steffens, and Morgan, appear.

Doctorow, E.L. Ragtime. New York: Random House, 1975. 270pp. The climax of Doctorow’s groundbreaking historical fiction is set in Morgan’s New York City home, and the novel includes an unforgettable meeting between Morgan and Henry Ford.

Kruger, Mary. No Honeymoon for Death. New York: Kensington, 1995. 288pp. In this installment of the author’s historical mystery series, Morgan enlists the help of husband and wife sleuths to solve the mysterious disappearance of a fellow financier.

Longstreet, Stephen. The Bank. New York: Putnam, 1976. 377pp. The rise of a great American banking family is dramatized with appearances by a number of the leading financial figures of the Gilded Age, including Jay Gould, James Fisk, Cornelius Vanderbilt, and Morgan.

Villars, Elizabeth. One Night in Newport. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1981. 360pp. Newport, Rhode Island, in 1912 is the scene for this social drama as a mother tries to find husbands for her three daughters, and Morgan and his fellow financiers attempt to outwit each other.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Jones, Jeffrey M. J.P.Morgan Saves the Nation. Los Angeles: Sun & Moon Press, 1996. 120pp. Jones’s musical, set during the financial panic of 1907 in which Morgan battles to control the American economy, serves as the occasion for a consideration of the clash of American values.

A&E Biography Video: J.Pierpont Morgan: Emperor of Wall Street (1996). Director: Bill Harris. Using archival photographs, this documentary portrait covers the highlights of Morgan’s life and career. Video.

338. WILLIAM MORRIS

1834–1896

English author, artist, designer, and social reformer, Morris was a member of the pre-Raphaelite Brotherhood who sought to counteract the effects of industrialization by a return to the artistic aesthetic of the Medieval era. He set up Morris and Co. to make carvings, stained glass, tapestries, carpets, wallpaper, and furniture. His founding of Kelmscott Press influenced typographical and book design. He was a founder of the Socialist League. Morris’s writings include The Defense of Guenevere and Other Poems (1858) and The Dream of John Ball (1888).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Collected Letters of William Morris. Norman Kelvin, ed. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1984–1996. 4 vols. Morris’s letters are mainly business records of his continual frenzy of activities without much time for reflections or self-revelations. However, Morris does provide glimpses of his troubled marriage and his often confused political and artistic positions.

Morris, May, ed. William Morris: Artist, Writer, Socialist. 1936. Reprint ed. New York: B.Blom, 1971. 2 vols. Morris’s daughter provides an important miscellaneous collection of documents, including family records, reviews, articles, and opinions of those who knew the artist.

Recommended Biographies

Henderson, Philip. William Morris: His Life, Work, and Friends. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1967. 388pp. Profiting by new materials, Henderson provides an insightful narrative that traces the connections among Morris’s private, public, and artistic life against the context of his times. Detailing Morris’s relationship with the many important figures from various disciplines, Henderson demonstrates Morris’s centrality in the critical issues of his day.

Lindsay, Jack. William Morris: His Life and Work. New York: Taplinger, 1979. 432pp. While offering no new revelations, Lindsay’s is a respectable synthesis of scholarship that attempts to weave Morris’s complicated life and many interests and achievements into a coherent whole. The book is recommended to the reader looking for a sensible overview before proceeding to the longer treatments.

Mackail, J.W. The Life of William Morris. New York: Longmans, 1899. 2 vols. Mackail’s authorized biography has long established itself as the standard life based on the author’s access to unpublished materials, much of which has been lost, and conversations with Morris’s intimates. Mackail weaves his sources into a detailed, comprehensive chronological narrative that remains one of the most important sources of information about Morris’s activities. Reticence prevents a frank discussion of Morris’s marital and extramarital affairs, and Mackail should be supplemented by more recent biographies.

MacCarthy, Fiona. William Morris: A Life for Our Time. New York: Knopf, 1995. 780pp.

MacCarthy’s fresh evaluation of Morris, his achievements, and influence is the first choice for a single volume study. Well documented and provocative, MacCarthy’s revisionist study takes on previous biographers and, with the aid of modern scholarship, presents an engaging, complex portrait that does full credit to a complex and multidimensional genius whose private and public lives are connected coherently.

Other Biographical Studies

Arnot, Robert P. William Morris: The Man and the Myth. New York: Monthly Review Press, 1964. 131pp. Arnot’s important revisionist study of Morris as a political thinker challenges the conventional view of his ideas as muddleheaded and irrelevant, with a view of Morris as a coherent and committed revolutionary socialist.

Bradley, Ian C. William Morris and His World. New York: Scribner, 1978. 127pp. Bradley’s pictorial biography has a competently written and accessible text that summarizes the high points of Morris’s career. Serves the general reader well.

Gary, Elisabeth. William Morris: Poet, Craftsman, Socialist. New York: Putnam, 1902. 296pp. The first full-scale biography since Mackail, Cary’s brief life offers a competent review of the highlights of Morris’s career, marred by the author’s hostility to Morris’s socialism.

Clutton-Brock, Arthur. William Morris: His Work and Influence. New York: Holt, 1914. 256pp. This appreciative study asserts Morris’s importance in the formation of modernism and serves as a competent introduction to the man and his work.

Compton-Rickett, Arthur. William Morris: A Study in Personality. 1913. Reprint ed. Port Washington, New York: Kennikat Press, 1972. 325pp. Based in part on interviews with Morris’s associates, this is a study of Morris’s character as he appeared to his contemporaries. An ardent admirer, the author provides some fresh insights and anecdotes, but his sympathy does not extend sufficiently to take Morris’s political ideas seriously.

Coote, Stephen. William Morris: His Life and Work. New York: Smithmark, 1995. 224pp. Coote manages to cover in brief Morris’s life and diverse achievements with detailed coverage of Morris as designer and his leadership in the Arts and Crafts movement.

Eshleman, Lloyd W. A Victorian Rebel: The Life of William Morris. New York: Scribner, 1940. 386pp. Eshleman presents the chief facts of Morris’s life in a developmental biography emphasizing the evolution of his ideas. The book is constrained by its scholarship, and readers interested in a clearer narrative of Morris’s life and times should look elsewhere.

Faulkner, Peter. Against the Age: An Introduction to William Morris. Boston: Allen and Unwin, 1980. 193pp. Tracing Morris’s life though his achievements as a poet, craftsman, designer, and socialist, Faulkner’s is an excellent introduction to the man and his importance. The book quotes extensively from Morris’s writings and letters.

Jackson, Holbrook. William Morris: Craftsman, Socialist. 1908. Reprinted. Westport, Connecticut: Greenwood, 1971. 160pp. Contrary to many views of Morris’s political ideas as either negative or irrelevant, Jackson argues their centrality and connection with Morris’s art. The book is particularly insightful in providing the intellectual context for Morris’s development.

Noyes, Alfred. William Morris. London: Macmillan, 1908. 156pp. This short critical biography focuses mainly on Morris’s poetry and is inadequate on the other aspects of Morris’s remarkably diverse creative life and dismissive of his political ideas.

Shaw, George Bernard. William Morris As I Knew Him. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1936. 52pp. Shaw as a young man in the 1880s was befriended by Morris, and Shaw offers his reminiscences with a focus on Morris’s political and socialist convictions. Fascinating for what Shaw reveals about both Morris and himself during this period.

Stansky, Peter. William Morris. New York: Oxford University Press, 1983. 96pp. Stansky’s concise introduction to Morris’s life and achievement is an ideal first choice for readers beginning their exploration.

Thompson, E.P. William Morris: Romantic to Revolutionary. 1955. Revised ed. New York: Pantheon, 1977. 829pp. This is the most thorough account of Morris’s political development. Challenging previous writers hostile to Morris’s evolving socialism who have described his political ideas as confused and a distraction, Thompson shows how central and coherent Morris’s revolutionary ideas were.

Thompson, Paul. The Work of William Morris. 1967. Revised ed. New York: Oxford University Press, 1991. 318pp. Thompson provides a brief biographical portrait before proceeding to an examination of Morris’s various activities. Taking advantage of recent scholarship, the book considers Morris in relationship to his era.

Fictional Portraits

Cameron, William. Day Is Coming. New York: Macmillan, 1944. 573pp. Tracing the development of the socialist and craft movements in England from 1887 to 1939, the novel’s fictional hero joins Morris and features a detailed discussion of the latter’s ideals.

Savage, Elizabeth. Willowwood. Boston: Little, Brown, 1978. 214pp. Recreating the artistic world of Dante Gabriel Rossetti and the Pre-Raphaelite Brotherhood, the novel dramatizes Rossetti’s complicated emotional life and includes appearances by notable figures of his circle, including John Ruskin and Morris and his wife.

Other Sources

Salmon, Nicholas, and Derek Baker. William Morris Chronology. Boston: Thoemmes Press, 1996. 292pp. Based on letters, diaries, and memoirs, the book provides the most detailed and comprehensive account of Morris’s daily activities, along with appreciations and anecdotes by associates.

339. MOTHER TERESA

1910–1997

The founder of the Missionaries of Charity and recipient of the 1979 Nobel Peace Prize, Mother Teresa was born Agnes Gonxha Bejaxhiu in Skopje, Macedonia, of Albanian parents. She joined the Loreto order of nuns and took her vows in 1937. In 1948 she began her work with the destitute and dying of Calcutta and the following year became an Indian citizen. In 1950 she became the mother superior of the Missionaries of Charity, which founded such establishments as the Nirmal Hriday, or Home for the Dying, and a home for abandoned children and teenage girls. The order has organized food-distribution and medical treatment programs, set up clinics and a community for lepers, and provided hospices for AIDS victims. Mother Teresa received many awards during her lifetime. After her death, her body lay in state in Calcutta, and her funeral was televised internationally.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

My Life for the Poor: Mother Teresa of Calcutta. Balado Gonzalo and Jane Playfoot, eds. New York: Ballantine Books, 1987. 114pp. Collected from various interviews, Mother Teresa’s own words are arranged to approximate an autobiographical account of her childhood, family, early years in Albania, religious training, years teaching in India, her call to leave her order to serve the poor, and the growth and development of the Missionaries of Charity.

A Simple Path. New York: Ballantine Books, 1995. 202pp. Compiled with the assistance of writer Lucinda Vardey before her death, Mother Teresa’s autobiographical reflections explain her spiritual beliefs and the experiences that led her to undertake her charitable works. The book offers a candid look at Mother Teresa’s everyday life and her religious and humane values.

Recommended Biographies

Egan, Eileen. Such a Vision of the Street: Mother Teresa: The Spirit and the Work. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1985. 448pp. A detailed record of Mother Teresa’s achievements, Egan’s biography is a sympathetic though balanced appreciation that includes the author’s objections to some of Mother Teresa’s policies and actions. Based on extensive interviews and firsthand knowledge, Egan’s account is much more thorough than other tributes.

Sebba, Anne. Mother Teresa: Beyond the Image. New York: Doubleday, 1997. 297pp. Based on extensive interviews with many associates, several of whom are critical of Mother Teresa’s methods, the author achieves a balanced and evenhanded portrait that deals honestly and fairly with her subject, stressing her human qualities and the practical challenges of her ministry. The result is not to diminish Mother Teresa’s achievements but to understand them and her in human rather than saintly terms.

Spink, Kathryn. Mother Teresa: A Complete Authorized Biography. San Francisco: Harper &

Row, 1997. 306pp. Based on the author’s intimacy with Mother Teresa for more than 18 years, Spink chronicles her life from her youth to her winning the Nobel Peace Prize in 1979. The book achieves a believable, sympathetic portrait of an austere, determined woman, whose development is captured through many private and public incidents, carefully presented.

Other Biographical Studies

Allegri, Renzo. Teresa of the Poor: The Story of Her Life, Ann Arbor, Michigan: Charis Books, 1996. 175pp. Based on conversations with Mother Teresa and original research, the author provides a series of biographical sketches to illuminate Mother Teresa’s character and accomplishments, with a number of previously unpublished details.

Chawla, Navin. Mother Teresa. 1992. Reprint ed. Rockport, Massachusetts: Element, 1996. 231pp. In an uncritical appreciation, Chawla presents the background, development, and achievement of Mother Teresa, using many letters and rare photographs to tell her story, framed by the author’s struggle to comprehend Mother Teresa’s life of devotion and self-sacrifice.

Doig, Desmond. Mother Teresa: Her People and Her Work. New York: Harper & Row, 1976. 175pp. Doig’s impressionistic journalistic account of Mother Teresa in Calcutta was the first book to spread the story of her charitable work among the city’s poor. Based on interviews and firsthand observations, Doig supplies a believable portrait, but offers little on Mother Teresa’s life before her arrival in India.

Gonzalez-Balado, Jose Luis. Mother Teresa: Her Life, Her Work, Her Message: 1910–1997: A Memoir. Liquori, Missouri: Liquori, 1997. 192pp. Written by one of her co-workers, the book draws mainly on secondary sources for its review of Mother Teresa’s life and development, enlivened by firsthand insights and an insider’s knowledge of the workings of Mother Teresa’s many charities.

Le Joly, Edward, S.J. Mother Teresa of Calcutta: A Biography. San Francisco: Harper & Row, 1985. 345pp. Written by the spiritual director to the Missionaries of Charity, Le Joly’s informed and insider’s perspective provides a reliable portrait of Mother Teresa’s achievements, character, and spiritual development. The book, however, supplies few details about Mother Teresa’s life before Calcutta.

Muggeridge, Malcolm. Something Beautiful for God: Mother Teresa of Calcutta. New York: Harper & Row, 1971. 156pp. Based on a television interview, Muggeridge’s highly subjective biographical sketch and appreciation of Mother Teresa’s life and work feature her responses to a number of provocative questions.

Porter, David. Mother Teresa: The Early Years. Grand Rapids, Michigan: William B.Eerdmans, 1986. 100pp. Porter’s is a valuable look at Mother Teresa’s Albanian background and early life in Yugoslavia with useful primary sources, including those provided by Mother Teresa’s brother.

Rai, Raghu, and Navin Chawla. Faith and Compassion: The Life and Work of Mother Teresa. Rockport. Massachusetts: Element, 1996. 192pp. Written by two Hindu authors using powerful photographs, letters, and interviews, the book chronicles Mother Teresa’s spiritual development, beliefs, and achievement in a moving tribute.

Royle, Roger. Mother Teresa: A Life in Pictures. San Francisco: Harper & Row, 1992. 159pp. Royle’s is a moving visual record of Mother Teresa’s life and work with the poor.

Serrou, Robert. Teresa of Calcutta: A Pictorial Biography. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1980. 127pp. This illustrated biography concentrates on Mother Teresa’s years in India but does provide informed information on her early development.

Spink, Kathryn. The Miracle of Love: Mother Teresa of Calcutta. San Francisco: Harper & Row, 1981. 256pp. In a conversational and anecdote-rich account, Spink concentrates on the activities of the Missionaries of Charity, particularly the Co-Workers, an international layperson organization founded by Mother Teresa. Using Mother Teresa’s own words and those of individual coworkers, the book provides a detailed chronicle of Mother Teresa’s mission to the poor and suffering.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Clucas, Joan. Mother Teresa. New York: Chelsea House, 1989. 111pp. MG/YA. This is an informative, clearly written chronicle of Mother Teresa’s life that covers her early years as well as her work in India.

Greene, Carol. Mother Teresa: Friend of the Friendless. Chicago: Childrens Press, 1983. 31pp. Greene supplies a brief, appreciatory account that covers the significant events of Mother Teresa’s life.

Johnson, Linda C. Mother Teresa: Protector of the Sick. Woodbridge, Connecticut: Blackbirch Press, 1991. 64pp. MG. Part of the Library of Famous Women series, this is a full-length portrait of Mother Teresa, emphasizing her challenges and accomplishments.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: Mother Teresa: A Life of Devotion (1997). Producer: Helen Bullough. A film tribute that features interviews with those who knew and worked with Mother Teresa and extensive footage of her work in Calcutta, covering her early years in Macedonia to her winning of the Nobel Peace Prize. Video.

Mother Teresa (1986). Directors: Ann and Jeanette Petrie. Mother Teresa’s life and achievement are celebrated in this documentary portrait. Video.

The World of Mother Teresa (1981). Producer: Ann Petrie. This documentary opens with the 1979 Nobel Prize award ceremony and follows Mother Teresa as she tours the facilities she founded in Calcutta. Includes an interview. Video.

340. WOLFGANG AMADEUS MOZART

1756–1791

Austrian composer who produced some of the world’s greatest music, Mozart was born in Salzburg and was taught by his father to play the harpsichord, violin, and organ. A child prodigy, he began composing before the age of five and by six was touring European courts. By the age of 13 he had written concertos, sonatas, symphonies, a German operetta, and an Italian opera. He was concertmaster to the Archbishop of Salzburg from 1771 to 1781 and in 1787 became court composer to Emperor Joseph II in Vienna. He wrote three of his greatest symphonies, 39, 40, and 41 (the Jupiter Symphony), within a three-month period in 1788. His more than 600 works show great expressive beauty and technical perfection, and include Eine Kleine Nachtmusik (1787); the operas Don Giovanni (1787), Cosi Fan Tutte (1790), and The Magic Flute (1791); and the uncompleted Requiem (1791).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Letters of Mozart and His Family. Emily Anderson, ed. New York: St. Martin’s, 1966. 2 vols. Other collections include Mozart’s Letters. Eric Blom, ed. (Baltimore, Maryland: Penguin, 1956. 277pp.) and Mozart’s Letters: An Illustrated Selection. (Boston: Little, Brown, 1990. 254pp.).

Mozart Speaks: Views on Music, Musicians, and the World. Robert L.Marshall, ed. New York: Shirmer Books, 1995. 446pp. Passages from Mozart’s letters and contemporaries’ accounts are arranged topically so the reader can easily discover the composer’s thoughts on a variety of subjects.

Deutsch, Otto E. Mozart: A Documentary Biography, 1765–1891. Stanford, California: Stanford University Press, 1965. 680pp. An invaluable sourcebook, all the relevant documents of Mozart’s life, excluding his letters, are collected with annotations.

Recommended Biographies

Gay, Peter. Mozart. New York: Viking, 1999. 177pp. Despite its brevity, Gay’s is a lucidly written and insightful biographical profile that traces Mozart’s life in a series of developmental stages that make sense of the composer’s artistry and psychological temperament, while challenging a number of legends that have obscured a clear view.

Kuster, Konrad. Mozart: A Musical Biography. New York: Oxford University Press, 1996. 428pp. Kuster treats Mozart’s creative life through his works, chronologically examining many of his compositions while pointing out the events and relationships that affected Mozart’s development. Full of original and provocative commentary, Kuster’s study does assume a certain degree of technical expertise.

Rosselli, John. The Life of Mozart. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1998. 225pp. Rosselli’s useful, concise life places Mozart in the context of his times and uses reliable sources to explore the composer’s various relationships. The book’s musical criticism is within reach of the nonspecialist without technical knowledge.

Schenk, Erich. Mozart and His Times. New York: Knopf, 1959. 452pp. Without providing any musical criticism, Schenk presents a solid factual chronology that challenges many misconceptions committed by other biographers. Schenk’s study relies on original and extensive research to substitute a realistic view for more conventional idealized and sentimental presentations.

Solomon, Maynard. Mozart: A Life. New York: HarperCollins, 1995. 640pp. Solomon’s psychobiography attempts a coherent and integrated portrait of Mozart’s artistic and personal development based on a careful review of existing evidence. At the center of the author’s analysis is Mozart’s troubled relationship with his father that is used to explain the composer’s behavioral peculiarities and one of the important sources of Mozart’s genius. Exhilarating in its interpretive energy, Solomon’s examination does not resolve all the paradoxes and mysteries in Mozart’s career but does help the reader to see him whole, in plausible human terms.

Other Biographical Studies

Blom, Eric. Mozart. London: Dent, 1935. 388pp. Blom’s concise critical biography combines a reliable treatment of Mozart’s personality, the sequence of events that shaped him, and a valuable critique of the composer’s music.

Braunbehrens, Volkmar. Mozart in Vienna, 1781–1791. New York: Grove Weidenfeld, 1990. 481pp. This revisionist study looks at Mozart’s last 11 years, placing his musical life in its social, political, and artistic context. With new evidence, Braunbehrens challenges the notion that Mozart was uninterested in politics, unhappy in his marriage, and financially unsuccessful. Often densely written and argumentative, the book’s sociological approach adds a fresh dimension for understanding Mozart’s life and works.

Burk, John N. Mozart and His Music. New York: Random House, 1959. 453p. Devoting half the book to a consideration of Mozart’s life and half to a chronological listing of his works, this concise, readable reference tool is intended for the nonspecialist and serves as a worthwhile introduction and overview.

Davenport, Marcia. Mozart. New York: Scribner, 1932. 400pp. A lively and entertaining narrative life, Davenport’s presentation, though carefully documented, features imaginary conversations with Mozart and his associates. Scholars may challenge Davenport’s inventions and interpretations, but the general reader will enjoy the book’s vividness and drama.

Davies, Peter J. Mozart in Person: His Character and Health. New York: Greenwood, 1989. 299pp. Mozart’s life is studied clinically by a physician who looks at Mozart’s psychological and physical symptoms to help explain his life and his behavioral peculiarities, including an informed diagnosis about the causes of the composer’s death.

Einstein, Alfred. Mozart: His Character, His Work. New York: Oxford University Press, 1945. 492pp. Not a chronological biography but a series of essays on Mozart’s life, personality, and works, Einstein’s thoughtful and informed analysis provides a multidimensional approach that does assume some prior knowledge of Mozart’s life and works.

Elias, Robert. Mozart: Portrait of a Genius. Los Angeles: University of California Press, 1993. 152pp. This brief psychological and sociological study is valuable on the connections between Mozart and his cultural and historical context. Dependant on unreliable secondary sources for biographical details, Elias accepts several Mozart legends as fact.

Fischer, Hans Conrad, and Lutz Besch. The Life of Mozart: An Account in Text and Pictures. New York: St. Martin’s, 1969. 203pp. This compact visual biography integrates text and illustrations into a chronological depiction of Mozart’s life and musical career.

Ghéon, Henri. In Search of Mozart. New York: Sheed & Ward, 1934. 366pp. In a highly poetic, lyrical meditation on the source of Mozart’s genius, this intriguing book is unreliable in some of its factual details and veers toward the sentimental but does stimulate interesting consideration of the composer’s uniqueness and achievement.

Gutman, Robert W. Mozart: A Cultural Biography. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1999. 839pp. By concentrating on the connections between Mozart’s life and his cultural background, Gutman offers a fresh assessment that challenges previous versions that have characterized the composer as an outsider and vulgarian. Gutman’s Mozart is an “austere moralist of vital force, incisiveness, and strength of purpose.” The book is equally adept and provocative in analyzing Mozart’s music and how it evolved in his milieu.

Hildeshierner, Wolfgang. Mozart. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1982. 408pp. Neither a systematic nor a chronological examination, the book offers instead an extended psychological analysis interweaving biographical details, Mozart’s own words, and a critical discussion of the composer’s works. Provocative and argumentative, Hildeshierner’s observations attempt to reveal Mozart’s psyche and the sources of his genius, but the book presupposes familiarity with the man and his works.

Holmes, Edward. The Life of Mozart. 1845. Reprint ed. Da Capo Press, 1995. 364pp. One of the strongest early biographies, Holmes’s is a reliable chronicle of the composer’s life, the first to be based on Mozart’s letters and contemporary memoirs.

Hussey, Dyneley. Wolfgang Amade Mozart. 1928. Reprint ed. Freeport, New York: Books for Libraries Press, 1969. 368pp. In a highly readable and informative introductory study intended for the general reader, Hussey traces the interconnections between Mozart’s life and works.

Hutchings, Arthur. Mozart: The Man, The Musician. New York: Shirmer Books, 1976. 113pp. In a beautifully illustrated pictorial biography, Hutchings’s text divides its attention between the man and the musician with a reliable and informed assessment of the composer’s personality, development, and relationships.

Jahn, Otto. Life of Mozart. London: Novello, 1882. 3 vols. Jahn’s massive, authoritative biography is one of the landmarks of Mozart studies. Meticulously researched and documented, Jahn’s objective collection of biographical details remains an important reference source for details on Mozart’s life.

Keys, Ivor. Mozart: His Music and His Life. New York: Holmes and Meier, 1980. 248pp. Inviting and useful for the general reader, Keys chronicles the connections between Mozart’s life and works in a concise, well-written narrative biography.

Landon, H.C.Robbins. 1791: Mozart’s Last Year. New York: Schirmer Books, 1988. 240pp. Written to set the record straight on the details of Mozart’s death in response to Peter Shaffer’s controversial presentation in Amadeus, Landon presents a thorough and informed account.

Landon, H.C.Robbins. Mozart: The Golden Years, 1789–91. New York: Schirmer Books, 1989. 271pp. Broadening his early work on Mozart’s final year, Landon similarly chronicles Mozart’s last decade through the composer’s letters and a detailed reconstruction of the musical and social scene.

Levey, Michael. The Life and Death of Mozart. New York: Stein and Day, 1971. 278pp. This is a chronological description of Mozart’s life and works written for the nonspecialist. Levey focuses his attention on Mozart’s operas and their reflection on the composer’s personality and genius.

Niemetschek, Franz. Life of Mozart. 1798. Reprint ed. London: L.Hyman, 1956. 87pp. This early biography includes valuable firsthand impressions from a number of contemporaries, supplemented by primary sources. The book’s somewhat sentimentalized portrait of Mozart is not as reliable as its vivid milieu.

Ottaway, Hugh. Mozart. Detroit: Wayne State University Press, 1980. 208pp. Ottaway’s is a lucidly written, well-illustrated overview intended for the general reader that does its job of making the man and his music accessible.

Sadie, Stanley. Mozart. New York: Vienna House, 1965. 192pp. Sadie’s is a useful, concise handbook on the man and his music with a great deal of information admirably synthesized into comprehensible tables and appendixes.

Sadie, Stanley. The New Grove Mozart. New York: W.W.Norton, 1983. 247pp. In one of the best condensed studies of Mozart’s life and his works, Sadie synthesizes recent scholarship in a helpful reference format. The book’s factual orientation does not allow for conjecture or interpretation, but the reader looking for the uncontested facts should consult this valuable source.

Sitwell, Sacheverell. Mozart. New York: Appleton, 1932. 184pp. Sitwell’s brief biographical essay compresses the highlights of Mozart’s career and genius in an evocative appreciation.

Stafford, William. The Mozart Myth: A Critical Reassessment. Stanford, California: Stanford University Press, 1991. 285pp. In an objective review of the various myths surrounding the composer, Stafford traces them back to their origin and assesses their relative plausibility and accuracy.

Step toe, Andrew. Mozart. New York: Knopf, 1997. 208pp. The author uses extracts from the correspondence of Mozart’s family to narrate the composer’s life story against his social, cultural, and musical background of the late eighteenth century.

Turner, W.J. Mozart: The Man and His Works. 1938. Revised ed. London: Methuen, 1965. 376pp. Turner anchors his presentation of Mozart and his career through extensive use of the composer’s letters. Mozart is allowed, for the most part, to tell his own story.

Valentin, Erich. Mozart: A Pictorial Biography. New York. Viking, 1960. 143pp. A wide selection of illustrations is connected by a serviceable, uninspired text.

Biographical Novels

Grun, Bernard. The Golden Quill: A Novel Based on the Life of Mozart. New York: Putnam, 1956. 377pp. Told in the form of a diary written by Mozart’s sister, this fictional life of the composer follows Mozart’s career from child prodigy through his triumphs and premature death. Some liberties with the facts have been taken.

Neider, Charles. Mozart and the Archboody. New York: Penguin, 1991. 87pp. In a first-person account, Mozart writes to his father about his career frustrations and aspirations in a believable impersonation of the composer’s voice.

Weiss, David. Sacred and Profane: A Novel of the Life and Times of Mozart. New York: Morrow, 1968. 639pp. Weiss’s fictional biography follows the course of Mozart’s life and career in a chronologically reliable sequence with invented situations and conversations and a plausible, if speculative, interpretation of motives.

Weiss, David. The Assassination of Mozart. New York: Morrow, 1970. 232pp. A young American couple in 1823 set out to investigate the circumstances of Mozart’s death. Their inquiry takes them throughout Europe and encounters with individuals who help them develop a possible, though highly speculative solution to the mystery.

Fictional Portraits

Burgess, Anthony. On Mozart: A Paean for Wolfgang, Being a Celestial Colloquy, an Opera Libretto, a Film Script, a Schizophrenic Dialogue, a Bewildered Ruminati on, a Stendhalian Transcription, and a Heartfelt Homage Upon the Bicentenary of the Death of Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart. New York: Ticknor & Fields, 1992. 160pp. As Burgess’s subtitle indicates, this is a fascinating miscellany combining fictional elements, imaginative speculation, and criticism. Set in heaven as the Persian Gulf War is waged, a collection of departed composers debate about music, while the author wrangles with his alter ego about the meaning of Mozart and his music.

Bastable, Bernard. Dead, Mr. Mozart. New York: St. Martin’s, 1995. 183pp.; Too Many Notes, Mr. Mozart. New York: Carroll & Graf, 1996. 183pp. Bastable’s amusing historical mystery series imagines the composer’s life if he had not died in 1791.

Hersey, John. Antonietta. New York: Knopf, 1991. 304pp. This is the story of a Stradivarius violin that is possessed by a variety of owners, including Mozart, Berlioz, Stravinsky, and others.

Jacob, Naomi. The Irish Boy: A Romantic Biography. London: Hutchinson, 1955. 288pp. In a fictionalized account of the life and career of Irish opera singer Michael Kelly, the novel describes Kelly’s relationship with Mozart. Details of Kelly’s early years are invented, and some liberties have been taken with the facts.

Mörike, Eduard F. Mozart on the Way to Prague. New York: Pantheon, 1947. 124pp. The novel imagines an incident in Mozart’s life connected with his composition of Don Giovanni. On his way to Prague, Mozart is inspired by the country life around him. The novel is knowledgeable about the details of Mozart’s life and the atmosphere of his times.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Loewen, Nancy. Mozart. Vero Beach, Florida: Rourke, 1989. 111pp. MG. This solid, straightforward biography chronicles Mozart’s entire life.

Parouty, Michel. Mozart: From Child Prodigy to Tragic Hero. New York: Abrams, 1993. 191pp. MG/YA. Part of Abrams’s Discoveries series, this visually rich biography with 187 illustrations, most in color, traces Mozart’s life from early childhood through his triumphs in Vienna and premature death.

Thompson, Wendy. Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart. New York: Viking, 1991. 48pp. MG/YA. Although brief, this is a serious and attractive biography. Mozart’s story is described with useful historical and sociological background.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: Mozart (1995). Director: Molly Thompson. This is an informative documentary profile using archival material, location footage, and commentary by a variety of experts to capture the composer’s personality, achievement, and era. Video.

Amadeus (1984). Director: Milos Forman. Forman’s visually stunning and Oscar-winning adaptation of Peter Shaffer’s drama casts Tom Hulce as a buffoonish Mozart whose genius haunts his nemesis Antonio Salieri (F.Murray Abraham). Shaffer’s play is also available (New York: Harper & Row, 1981. 109pp.). Video.

Mozart (1987). Director: Nicholas Vazsonyi. Narrated by Sir Anthony Quayle, this film biography features shots of Mozart’s Salzburg home and locations associated with the composer. Video.

The Mozart Story (1937). Director: Karl Hard. A dramatized biography from Antonio Salieri’s perspective, starring Hans Holt, William Vedder, René Deltgen. Video.

Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart (1996). Director: Malcolm Hossick. A concise visual biography and musical overview of Mozart’s genius and his times. Video.

Other Sources

Biancolli, Louis L., ed. The Mozart Handbook: A Guide to the Man and His Music. Cleveland: World, 1954. 629pp. A collection of musical and biographical material on Mozart, including contemporary accounts and coverage of such topics as Mozart’s childhood and the women in his life.

Clive, Peter. Mozart and His Circle: A Biographical Dictionary. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1994. 242pp. Made up of several hundred biographical entries on individuals associated with the life and career of the composer.

Dimond, Peter, ed. A Mozart Diary: A Chronological Reconstruction of the Composer’s Life, 1761–1791. Westport, Connecticut: Greenwood, 1997. 231pp. Dimond compiles a daily log of Mozart’s activities based on various biographical sources,

King, Alec H. Mozart: A Biography, with a Survey of Books, Editions, and Recordings. Hamden, Connecticut: Archon Books, 1970. 114pp. Along with a brief biographical sketch, this reference tool surveys books on Mozart and recordings of his compositions.

Landon, H.C.Robbins, ed. The Mozart Compendium: A Guide to Mozart’s Life and Music. New York: W.W.Norton, 1990. 452pp. A useful reference tool with a detailed chronology, list of compositions by genre and essays on the composer’s personal life and work habits.

341. MUHAMMAD

ca. 570–632

The founder of Islam, Muhammad was born in Mecca and was a member of the ruling Kuraish tribal federation. Orphaned soon after birth, he was brought up by an uncle and became a wealthy merchant. At 40 he declared himself selected by God to be the Arab prophet of true religion. He began to preach as God’s messenger and called upon the Meccans to accept Allah as the only god. As his influence grew, hostility toward his teachings increased, and in 622 he was forced to flee Mecca to escape a murder plot. He and some of his followers settled in Yathrib, which Muhammad renamed Medina (“City of the Prophet”). This event is known as the Hegira (departure). In Medina, Muhammad founded an Islamic community and extended his territory through conquest and conversion. In 630, he captured Mecca without bloodshed and made the city the political and spiritual capital of Islam. His revelations are collected in the Muslim sacred book, the Qur’an.

Recommended Biographies

Armstrong, Karen. Muhammad: A Biography of the Prophet. San Francisco: HarperSan Francisco, 1992. 290pp. In one of the finest biographies available, Armstrong’s life is readable and sympathetic but objective in which Muhammad is treated as a complex, understandable human being seen from the perspective of his family and tribal relationships.

Cook, Michael. Muhammad. New York: Oxford University Press, 1983. 94pp. Cook’s is the best choice for the reader looking for a succinct, straightforward introduction to Muhammad’s life and ideas. The book helpfully separates the historical from the legendary in the various sources and offers a plausible synthesis.

Lings, Martin. Muhammad: His Life Based on the Earliest Sources. New York: Inner Traditions International, 1983. 359pp. This straightforward, objective chronological narrative is based on eighth-and ninth-century Arabic biographical sources and, although the book does not attempt to extricate the historical from the legendary, it does offer a convenient synthesis of important source material.

Rodinson, Maxime. Mohammed. New York: Pantheon, 1971. 360pp. Written by a French Islamicist, Rodinson’s penetrating study examines Muhammad’s development in personal and social terms as the product of his times, evolving as one of the world’s greatest thinkers and inspiring leaders. Rodinson’s Muhammad is shorn of much of his spiritual dimension, but the book is persuasive in its ability to recreate his era and the social factors that shaped his ideas and actions.

Watt, William M. Muhammad at Mecca. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1953. 418pp.; Muhammad at Medina. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1956. 418pp.; Muhammad’s Mecca: History in the Quran. Edinburgh: Edinburgh University Press, 1988. 113pp. Watt’s authoritative series of books are all painstakingly researched and objective. The first details Muhammad’s early life; the second continues his story to his death. The third probes the Qur’an for historical details on Muhammad’s life and times. An abridged version of Watt’s first two volumes is available as Muhammad: Prophet and Statesman (London: Oxford University Press, 1961. 250pp.).

Other Biographical Studies

Andrae, Tor. Mohammed: The Man and His Faith. New York: Scribner, 1936. 274pp. Based on extensive research, Andrae’s valuable study creates a believable psychological portrait of Muhammad against a solidly constructed period background.

Bennett, Clinton. In Search of Muhammad. New York: Cassell, 1998. 276pp. Bennett supplies a review of the historical and the biographical sources from the seventh century to the present, with a timeline of the main events in Muhammad’s life.

Bodley, Ronald V. The Messenger: The Life of Mohammed. New York: Doubleday, 1946. 368pp. Written for the nonspecialist and inspired by the author’s firsthand immersion in Islamic culture, Bodley corrects a number of Western misconceptions but offers his own highly fictionalized account that views Muhammad as a contemporary.

Dermenghem, Emile. The Life of Mahomet. New York: Dial Press, 1930. 352pp. A thorough and informed reconstruction of Muhammad, Dermenghem’s study employs fictional techniques to dramatize his story in which coherence and analysis are sometimes sacrificed for colorful details. Although the book presupposes some prior knowledge of Islam, the book will appeal to the general reader searching for an involving and entertaining narrative biography.

Forward, Matin. Muhammad: A Short Biography. Oxford: One World, 1997. 131pp. This is a concise though informative account of Muhammad’s life and exploration of his role in the development of Islam.

Glubb, John B. The Life and Times of Muhammad. New York: Stein and Day, 1970. 446pp. Glubb concentrates on Muhammad’s military career, and in his detailed reconstruction of his campaigns the book adds an important dimension to an appreciation of Muhammad’s career. For Glubb, Muhammad is seen not as a spiritual ascetic but as a man of his times, shown against his social, political, and religious background.

Haykal, Muhammad. The Life of Muhammad. Philadelphia: North American Trust, 1976. 639pp. First published in 1935, this biography by an Islamic scholar integrates traditional views of Muhammad with modern western historico-critical scholarship. The result is only partially successful as Haykal fails to extricate a fully realized historical Muhammad from his spiritual legend.

Ibn Ishaq, Muhammad. The Life of Muhammad. Abd al-Malik Ibn Hisham, ed. New York: Oxford University Press, 1955. 813pp. The most important early Arab biography, written in the eighth century, Ibn Ishaq’s devotional account includes Muhammad’s sayings, activities, and military campaign. Not always reliable as history, the book is the foundation text for Muslim interpretations of the prophet’s life and career.

Margoliouth, David S. Mohammed and the Rise of Islam. New York: Putnam, 1905. 481pp. This early popular study is a solid and respectable overview of Muhammad’s military and political career, accessible to the general reader.

Muir, William. The Life of Mohammed from Original Sources. 1861. Revised ed. T.H.Weir, ed. Edinburgh: J.Grant, 1923. 4 vols. Muir’s monumental study, one of the earliest scholarly treatments in English, collects and synthesizes details of Muhammad’s life and times from important Arab sources, still retains its importance as a reference source, though Weir’s interpretation is far less useful.

Newby, Gordon D. The Making of the Last Prophet: A Reconstruction of the Earliest Biography of Muhammad. Columbia: University of South Carolina Press, 1989. 265pp. The author supplements the version of Muhammad’s life offered by the 8th century chronicler Ibn Ishaq with additional details from various sources that fills in many of the gaps in Ibn Ishaq’s early account.

Biographical Novels

Hoyt, Edwin P. The Voice of Allah. New York: John Day, 1970. 468pp. Drawing from both historical and traditional sources, this sympathetic fictional biography covers the highlights of Muhammad’s career and features a wealth of information about period Arab customs.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Kelen, Betty. Muhammad: The Messenger of God. Nashville: Nelson, 1975. 278pp. MG/YA. Kelen’s is a detailed account of Muhammad’s life with a helpful period and cultural background that help make his ideas and impact understandable.

Pike, Royston. Mohammed: Prophet of the Religion of Islam. New York: Praeger, 1969. 117pp. MG. Pike helps to make Muhammad’s beliefs accessible in a fine summary of the significant events of his life and the development of his philosophy.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Mohammad: Messenger of God (1977). Also titled The Message. Director: Moustapha Akkad. Although Muhammad is not portrayed, this sincere and controversial historical epic on the founding of the Moslem religion focuses on Muhammad’s uncle, portrayed by Anthony Quinn, and the unification of Arab tribes around Muhammad’s message. Also starring Irene Papas, Michael Ansara, and Michael Forrest. Video.

342. EDVARD MUNCH

1863–1944

Norwegian painter and graphic artist, Munch’s work foreshadowed expressionism and influenced the development of modern art. He abandoned impressionism to portray themes of death, fear, and anxiety. Munch is perhaps best known for his powerful and shocking woodcuts, including the famous The Shriek (1893) and The Kiss (1895). Negative reaction to his fearsome images caused the closing of an exhibition of his works in Berlin.

Recommended Biographies

Eggum, Arne. Edvard Munch: Paintings, Sketches, and Studies. New York: C.N.Potter, 1984. 305pp. The author, the chief curator of the Munch Museum, supplies an authoritative survey of Munch’s life, career, and artistic achievement based on access to important primary sources.

Heller, Reinhold. Munch, His Life and Work. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1984. 240pp. Scholarly, well researched, and illustrated, Heller’s account of the main episodes in Munch’s life and the development of his art is enriched by placing him in the wider cultural context of his times and the network of relationships which helped frame his ideas and feelings.

Stang, Ragna T. Edvard Munch: The Man and His Art. New York: Abbeville Press, 1979. 319pp. Stang, the longtime director of the Oslo Municipal Collection and the Munch Museum and Archives, published this scholarly account shortly before her death. The story of Munch’s life is presented in a highly readable narrative that sheds considerable light on the artist’s personality and development.

Other Biographical Studies

Benesch, Otto. Edvard Munch. London: Phaidon, 1960. 143pp. The text to this beautifully illustrated collection of Munch’s works is a succinct summary of the artist’s life and development, and the book is an excellent starting point to see the range of the artist’s achievement with reliable critical and biographical commentary.

Deknatel, Frederick B. Edvard Munch. New York: Chanticleer, 1950. 120pp. This early study and catalog provides a brief essay describing Munch’s life and work based on reliable sources.

Hodin, J.P. Edvard Munch. New York: Praeger, 1972. 216pp. Based partly on the author’s interview with the artist in 1938, the book offers an analysis of Munch’s personality and artistic development with an extensive selection of reproductions. The critic Peter Gay called the book “an instructive failure” that “is too timid in the private dimension.”

Langaard, Johan H., and R.A.Revold. Edvard Munch: Masterpieces from the Artist’s Collection in the Munch Museum in Oslo. New York: Universe, 1972. 62pp. This useful volume offers a comprehensive survey of Munch’s artistic career and insights into his personality drawn from such primary sources as Munch’s diary.

Selz, Jean. E.Munch. New York: Crown, 1974. 96pp. Selz’s is a useful overview of Munch’s life and art, with many reproductions used to chronicle his career, technique, and accomplishments.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Edvard Munch (1974). Director: Peter Watkins. Based on the artist’s memoirs, this biographical film focuses on Munch’s early years. With Geir Westby, Gro Fraas, and Eli Ryg. Video.

343. BENITO MUSSOLINI

1883–1945

Dictator of Italy and leader of the Italian Fascist movement, Mussolini was the son of a blacksmith who was an ardent socialist. He was editor (1912–1914) of the socialist party newspaper and gained prominence as a leader of the revolutionary left wing of the party. When World War I broke out, he turned to nationalism and after serving in the army formed (1919) a fascist group in Milan. In 1921 the Fascist Party was organized and Mussolini elected to parliament. The Fascist militia marched (1922) on Rome, leading the king to make Mussolini premier. Called Il Duce, Mussolini formed a dictatorship, eliminating opponents, restricting the press, and ending parliamentary government. The Lateran Treaty acknowledging Vatican independence and sovereignty was signed (1929). Italy brutally conquered Ethiopia during the Italo-Ethiopian War (1935–1936), joined Hitler (1939), and declared war on the Allies (1940). After Italian defeats in Greece, Africa, and at home, Mussolini lost Fascist support and was arrested (1943). He was rescued by the Germans and made head of a Fascist puppet government in northern Italy. After the German defeat (1945), Mussolini was captured, court-martialed, and shot.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

My Autobiography. New York: Scribner, 1928. 318pp. Dictated at the height of his power and full of rhetorical flourishes and ranting, Mussolini’s selective account of his career is an unapologetic, arrogant defense of his actions but does capture his public persona and personality.

My Rise and Fall. 1948. Reprinted. Max Ascoli, ed. New York: Da Capo Press, 1998. 590pp. This autobiographical account adds to Mussolini’s earlier treatment of his own rise to power with this perspective of his defeat, written between his rescue by the Nazis and his execution, in which he attempts to justify his actions and evade personal responsibility for Italy’s collapse.

Recommended Biographies

Kirkpatrick, Ivone. Mussolini: A Study in Power. New York: Hawthorn, 1964. 701pp. Written by a British diplomat stationed in Berlin and Rome during much of Mussolini’s rule and based on interviews with him as well as extensive documentary evidence, Kirkpatrick supplies a balanced, informed analysis of the Italian leader’s personality and motives. In Kirkpatrick’s view, Mussolini was an unprincipled leader, more controlled by events than in charge of them, whose public life is connected with his private needs.

Mack Smith, Denis. Mussolini. New York: Knopf, 1982. 429pp. This political biography is generally held as the best in the field: subtle, meticulously documented, and balanced, Mack Smith’s careful, authoritative explication of Mussolini’s public career is buttressed by an insightful psychological profile. Few other studies so ably resolve Mussolini’s many contradictions into a coherent and consistent portrait.

Ridley, Jasper. Mussolini. New York: St. Martin’s, 1998. 430pp. The most recent full-length biography treats Mussolini as a far more complex individual than previous treatments. Acknowledging the sincerity of his political beliefs, Ridley traces Mussolini’s betrayal of his ideals by his grandiose dreams inextricably bound to his own ambitions and needs. Ridley achieves an admirable balance that helps explain both Mussolini’s talents and flaws.

Other Biographical Studies

Collier, Richard. Duce!: A Biography of Benito Mussolini. New York: Viking, 1971. 447pp. Collier’s journalistic narrative based on extensive interviews with eyewitnesses is packed with anecdotes that produce a varied and detailed portrait of the man. However, the book’s lack of context distorts the view, with Collier substituting drama for criticism and assessment.

Fermi, Laura. Mussolini. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1961. 477pp. Written by the wife of exiled physicist Enrico Fermi who lived under Mussolini’s rule until 1938, the book offers a psychological interpretation of the Fascist leader and a theory about his rise to power, neither of which are fully satisfying. The book does however provide a rich supply of anecdotes and an informed atmosphere of life under Mussolini.

Gallo, Max. Mussolini’s Italy. New York: Macmillan, 1973. 452pp. Despite its title, this is a biography of Mussolini constructed out of dramatized episodes in the Italian leader’s life with an emphasis on the factors that shaped him. The book’s main benefit is a view of Mussolini from his cultural and historical context, but the interpretation does not add very much to the conventional view, and the essential motivations remain shadowy.

Gregor, A.James. Young Mussolini and the Intellectual Origins of Fascism. Berkeley: University of California Press, 1979. 271pp. In Gregor’s controversial assessment of Mussolini’s early intellectual and political development, the conventional notion that Mussolini was little more than a power-hungry opportunist is challenged. Gregor sees instead a sophisticated and coherent politician whose shift from socialism to Fascism is explained in the context of other modern revolutionary movements.

Halperin, Samuel W. Mussolini and Italian Fascism. Princeton, New Jersey: Van Nostrand, 1964. 191pp. Halperin offers a brief analysis of Mussolini and modern Italian history with a coherent, though debatable, interpretation of the man and his times. The book is useful as an introduction to both.

Hibbert, Christopher. Il Duce: The Life of Benito Mussolini. Boston: Little, Brown, 1962. 367pp. Setting out to solve the enigma of Mussolini’s personality and appeal, Hibbert is only partially successful, choosing to concentrate on the Italian leader’s end and foreign policy rather than his background and rise to power. Not reliable or penetrating on the bulk of Mussolini’s life, the book is absorbing on his fall, but the reader is no closer in understanding the man in full.

Hoyt, Edwin P. Mussolini’s Empire: The Rise and Fall of the Fascist Vision. New York: Wiley, 1994. 298pp. Hoyt, in a curious defense of Mussolini’s character and achievements, paints him as an intelligent, dynamic, and courageous leader whose failings were more political than moral. To sustain sympathy, Hoyt must gloss over a number of Mussolini’s obvious character flaws. Redressing the balance of views of Mussolini as either a buffoon or a monster, Hoyt fails to convince that he was underrated and misunderstood.

Joes, Anthony J. Mussolini. New York: F.Watts, 1982. 405pp. Reflecting more recent revisionist scholarly views on the Fascists in Italy and Mussolini’s rise to power and performance, Joes grants considerable credit to Mussolini for rescuing Italy from the chaos following World War I and analyzes the factors that caused his revolutionary leadership to flounder and self-destruct. The book’s thesis is controversial, and to make his case Joes is forced to accept many Fascist assertions while ignoring contrary evidence.

MacGregor-Hastie, Roy. The Day of the Lion: The Life and Death of Fascist Italy. New York: Coward-McCann, 1964. 395pp. Based on Italian sources, many unpublished interviews, and Mussolini’s letters, the book is anecdotal and better on its details than in its attempt to explain Mussolini and his wider implications, which is often confused and uncritical.

Megaro, Gaudens. Mussolini in the Making. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1938. 347pp. Written too soon to consider the full range of Mussolini’s career, Megaro’s study of Mussolini’s intellectual development and political apprenticeship before he became the leader of the Italian Socialist Party remains a valuable source of information on the leader’s influences and his shift from socialism to fascism.

Monelli, Paolo. Mussolini: The Intimate Life of a Demagogue. New York: Vanguard, 1954. 304pp. Not a full-length historical biography, the emphasis here, as its subtitle indicates, is the private life of Mussolini. Captured with seamy details are Mussolini's many affairs and evidence of his deterioration leading up to his sordid end.

Mussolini, Rachele G. Mussolini: An Intimate Biography. New York: Morrow, 1974. 308pp. Mussolini's widow's recollection of the life and career of her husband is chiefly interesting for its details of Mussolini's private life and habits. Her unapologetic defense of her husband's attitudes and actions requires a historical reconstruction that falsifies facts and is out of touch with reality.

Pini, Giorgio. The Official Life of Benito Mussolini. London: Hutchinson, 1939. 270pp. Written by a Fascist sympathizer and editor of Mussolini's newspaper, Pini's laudatory tribute is chiefly interesting not for its biographical details, which are unreliable, but in exposing the heroic glorification of Mussolini's supporters.

Sarfatti, Margherita. The Life of Benito Mussolini. New York: F.A.Stokes, 1925. 352pp. Like Pini, Sarfatti was an intimate of Mussolini and a staff member of his newspaper and similar to Pini's later treatment the book is a propagandistic exercise in hero-worship, combining inaccuracy with partisanship.

Seldes, George. Sawdust Caesar: The Untold Story of Mussolini and Fascism. New York: Harper, 1935. 459pp. Compared with the early hagiographies of Pini and Sarfatti, Seldes's is a scathing attack on Mussolini and his regime. As a litany of Fascist abuses the book is compelling; it is less satisfactory in understanding Mussolini's rise to power and popularity among his countrymen.

Biographical Novels

Gelb, Alan. Mussolini. New York: Pocket Book, 1985. 313pp. This fictional biography traces Mussolini's rise to power and the events of World War II showing both the Italian leader's public and private sides. Although essentially faithful to history, the novel does invent scenes and conversations.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Hartenian, Lawrence R. Benito Mussolini. New York: Chelsea House, 1988. 112pp. MG/YA. This is a balanced and informative treatment of Mussolini's life, character, and times.

Lyttle, Richard B. Il Duce: The Rise and Fall of Benito Mussolini. New York: Atheneum, 1987. 213pp. YA. In a detailed, chronological narrative that traces Mussolini's life from childhood, Lyttle takes a nonjudgmental approach that lets the political and moral context speak for itself. The effect is a masterful presentation of a complex individual.

Mulvihill, Margaret. Mussolini and Italian Fascism. New York: F.Watts, 1990. 62pp. MG. Mulvihill emphasizes the conditions from which Mussolini rose to power and the political philosophy of the Fascists.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: Mussolini: Italy's Nightmare (1995). Director: Molly Thompson. Using newsreel footage and historical analysis, Mussolini's career is chronicled. Video.

Lion of the Desert (1981). Director: Moustapha Akkad. Dramatizes the true story of Libyan guerilla leader Omar Mukhtar (Anthony Quinn) who led his Bedouin horsemen to battle Mussolini (Rod Steiger) and his mechanized army to a standstill between 1911 and 1931. Also starring John Gielgud, Oliver Reed, and Irene Papas. Video.

Benito Mussolini (1962). Producer: David L. Wolper. This documentary portrait uses archival footage to depict Mussolini's life, character, and rise and fall. Video.

Mussolini (1986). Producer: David C.Rea. A documentary portrait of Mussolini's life and political career in which Sir F.W.Deakins served as historical adviser. Video.

Mussolini: The Decline and Fall of Il Duce (1985). Director: Alberto Negrin. Originally made for cable television this docudrama features Bob Hoskins as Mussolini, seen from the perspective of his daughter (Susan Sarandon) and focusing on his relationship with his son-in-law (Anthony Hopkins). Video.

Tea with Mussolini (1999). Director: Franco Zeffirelli. Claudio Spadaro appears as Mussolini in this semiautobiographical account of the director's early life during the war years. With Cher, Judi Dench, Joan Plowright, and Maggie Smith. Video.

The Warlords (1986). Producer: Lamancha Productions. This series of brief film biographies of World War II leaders, such as Hitler, De Gaulle, Stalin, and Churchill, includes a portrait of Mussolini. Video.

N

344. VLADIMIR NABOKOV

1899–1977

One of the great 20th-century novelists and a writer of extraordinary imagination, originality, and wit, Nabokov was born in St. Petersburg, Russia, immigrated to England after the Russian Revolution (1917), and graduated from Cambridge (1922). He moved to the United States (1940), was professor of Russian literature at Cornell (1948–1959), and then settled in Switzerland. He wrote in Russian under the name V. Sirin before 1940. His most famous novel is Lolita (1958), the story of a middle-aged man's passion for a 12-year-old girl. Nabokov's other works include Invitation of a Beheading (1957), Pale Fire (1962), and Invitation of a Beheading (1969). Nabokov also wrote short stories, poems, and essays, and developed an international reputation as a lepidopterist.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Selected Letters, 1940–1977. Dmitri Nabokov and Matthew J. Bruccoli, eds. San Diego, California: Harcourt, Brace, 1989. 582pp. Chronicling his life from his arrival in America to his death, Nabokov's correspondence, mainly letters to his editors, reveals little about his creative process, family relationships, or private thoughts, but the writer's twin passions: lepidoptera and literature come through clearly.

Speak Memory. New York: Putnam, 1979. 316pp. First published as Conclusive Evidence in 1947 and subsequently revised, Nabokov's autobiographical recollections mainly concern his life in Russia before the revolution, his undergraduate years at Cambridge University, and his life as a writer in Europe between 1922 and 1940 before arriving in America. One of the finest literary autobiographies ever written and an essential source to view Nabokov's own version of his developing sensibility.

Strong Opinions. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1973. 335pp. A collection of interviews and articles presents Nabokov's idiosyncratic views on various topics, including art, literature, politics, and education.

Recommended Biographies

Boyd, Brian. Vladimir Nabokov: The Russian Years. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1990. 607pp.; Vladimir Nabokov: The American Years. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1991. 783pp. Rightly regarded as the standard, authoritative life, Boyd's subtle and sympathetic two-volume study is impressively researched, based on interviews with associates and Nabokov's private files. Expertly blending a chronological narrative with a revealing cultural context and insightful criticism, Boyd portrays Nabokov in the round as a complex figure defined by his rootlessness.

Field, Andrew. VN: The Life and Art of Vladimir Nabokov. New York: Crown, 1986. 417pp. Field incorporates a good deal of his previous books, much of it verbatim, before carrying Nabokov's story forward to his death. Like his other books, Field adds to the biographical record from unpublished sources, but here he treats Nabokov with considerably more hostility, presenting the writer as narcissistic who in his later career betrays his genius through self-indulgence and arrogance.

Schiff, Stacy. Vera (Mrs. Vladimir Nabokov): Portrait of a Marriage. New York: Random House, 1999. 456pp. In a superb account of Nabokov's 52-year marriage and a nuanced portrait of the artist's wife, Schiff details the couples' literary and emotional partnership while shedding considerable light on the private, intimate side of the elusive and protective writer.

Other Biographical Studies

Field, Andrew. Nabokov: His Life in Art: A Critical Narrative. Boston: Little, Brown, 1967. 397pp. Field's first of three books on the writer is a critical study of Nabokov's artistic development. Conversational in tone and often discursive, Field provides a glimpse of the artist's many personas and a comprehensive analysis of his works, including their dominant themes and autobiographical elements. In Nabokov: His Life in Part. (New York: Viking, 1977. 285pp.) Field benefited from Nabokov's cooperation in granting access to his private papers and interviews before quarreling with Field over the final draft. The book adds considerable new information about the writer, mainly on his early life and writing career prior to his coming to America. Field includes Nabokov's own words from his conversations as a form of running commentary to the chronological narrative.

Hyde, George M. Vladimir Nabokov: America's Russian Novelist. Atlantic Highlands, New Jersey: Humanities Press, 1977. 230pp. This critical survey of Nabokov's entire artistic career is particularly valuable for demonstrating the autobiographical elements in the works and the biographical factors that helped shaped Nabokov's creative method and artistic preoccupations.

Johnson, Kurt, and Steven L. Coates. Nabokov's Blues: The Scientific Odyssey of a Literary Genius. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Zoland Books, 1999. 372pp. The authors examine the role lepidopterology played in Nabokov's life and his contributions to science. This is a lively and informative look at an important aspect of the writer's life.

Lee, Lawrence. Vladimir Nabokov. Boston: Twayne, 1976. 168pp. Lee's sensible critical survey of Nabokov's art includes a concise biographical overview.

Levy, Alan. Vladimir Nabokov: The Velvet Butterfly. Sag Harbor, New York: Permanent Press, 1984. 160pp. Reprinting interviews with Nabokov in 1970, this book is a collection of quotes by and about the novelist. Insights are mixed with factual errors, omissions, and questionable interpretations.

Ross, Charles S. Vladimir Nabokov: Life, Work, and Criticism. Fredericton, New Brunswick: York Press, 1985. 47pp. Ross's critical overview includes a brief biographical sketch and serves as a useful introduction to the man and his works for the uninitiated.

Other Sources

Alexandrov, Vladimir, ed. The Garland Companion to Vladimir Nabokov. New York: Garland, 1995. 798pp. This collection of 74 critical articles covers all aspects of Nabokov's life and works. Includes a chronology and a bibliography.

Quennell, Peter, ed. Vladimir Nabokov: His Life, His Work, His World: A Tribute. New York: Morrow, 1980. 139pp. This memorial volume offers a number of reflections about the man and his work from admirers.

345. NAPOLEON BONAPARTE

1769–1821

French general and emperor, Napoleon was born in Corsica and sent to military schools at Brienne and Paris. He became an artillery officer (1785) and won the rank of brigadier general after successfully dislodging the British from Toulon (1793). His career advanced dramatically after he dispersed a royalist Parisian uprising (1795). He was victorious against Austria in the Italian campaign (1796–1797) and became a national hero, but his attempt to crush the British empire by striking Egypt ultimately failed when the French fleet was destroyed by Nelson’s forces in Aboukis Bay (1798). Returning to Paris, Napoleon engineered the 1799 coup that made him first consul and virtual dictator. He reorganized the government, established the Code Napoleon, and in 1804 crowned himself emperor. He extended French territory during the Napoleonic Wars, lost the Battle of Trafalgar against the British navy (1805), and instituted (1806) the Continental System to cut off European trade with England. Napoleon’s disastrous Russian campaign resulted in the retreat and destruction (1812) of his grand army. An alliance of European nations defeated the French at the Battle of Leipzig (1813), and France was invaded (1814). Napoleon abdicated and was exiled to the island of Elba. He escaped, returned to France, and ruled for the Hundred Days. He was defeated at the Battle of Waterloo (1815) and exiled to St. Helena, where he died. He was married to Josephine de Beauharnais (1796–1809), whom he divorced to wed the Archduchess Marie Louise of Austria.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Letters and Documents. John E.Howard. Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1962. 540pp. This is a collection mainly of letters on military affairs and official state documents.

Memoirs. Somers et de Chain, ed. New York: Harper, 1950. 605pp. While in exile on St. Helena, Napoleon dictated an account of his career to his staff. The seven volumes have been condensed and reshaped into a chronological narrative here that is hardly objective but revealing in Napoleon’s defense of his actions.

Mind of Napoleon: A Selection of His Written and Spoken Words. J.Christopher Herold, ed. New York: Columbia University Press, 1955. 322pp. This useful collection of Napoleon’s writing and remarks offers a close look at the man’s thought process, personality, and self-assessment.

Napoleon Self-Revealed. J.M.Thompson, ed. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1934. 383pp. This is a selection of Napoleon’s letters arranged chronologically from 1784 to 1815. See also the same editor’s Napoleon’s Letters. (New York: Dutton, 1954. 312pp.).

Recommended Biographies

Chandler, David G. The Campaigns of Napoleon. New York: Macmillan, 1966. 1,172pp.; Napoleon. New York: Saturday Review Press, 1973. 224pp. The distinguished British military historian has followed his monumental authoritative and comprehensive history of Napoleon’s military campaigns with a shorter assessment of Napoleon’s military genius and character. Although neglecting the domestic side of Napoleon’s achievement, Chandler’s studies are the best choices for the reader primarily interested in Napoleon’s battlefield experience.

Cronin, Vincent. Napoleon Bonaparte: An Intimate Biography. New York: Morrow, 1971. 480pp. Based on previously unavailable material, including the notebooks of Napoleon’s closest childhood friend, the letters of an early lover, the memoirs of Napoleon’s valet, and General Bertrand’s St. Helena diary, Cronin portrays Napoleon’s personal life with an emphasis on private and civil rather than military matters. The result is a fascinating collection of intimate glimpses of Napoleon’s daily life, love affairs, and personality quirks that brings the monument or monster to believable human life.

Markham, Felix M. Napoleon and the Awakening of Europe. New York: Macmillan, 1954. 184pp.; Napoleon. New York: New American Library, 1963. 293pp. Both of Markham’s studies serve as useful compact introductions to the man and his accomplishments. The earlier book compresses Napoleon’s career to its essentials with a sensible assessment; the later examination provides a balanced and comprehensive survey of Napoleon’s military and political accomplishments.

Schom, Alan. Napoleon Bonaparte. New York: HarperCollins, 1997. 888pp. Schom’s vivid narrative history traces Napoleon’s rise and fall, his military and domestic accomplishments, and his private life in an impressive synthesis of primary and secondary sources. Any reader coming to the book with a sense of Napoleon’s greatness will come away with a much more sobered, realistic view. Schom penetrates the Napoleonic legend to reveal a limited and flawed figure.

Thompson, J.M. Napoleon Bonaparte. New York: Barnes and Noble, 1996. 463pp. Avoiding either undue admiration or censure, Thompson manages a detailed, objective portrait that follows Napoleon from his childhood through his country-by-country conquests until his final defeat. Based on Napoleon’s own words and a superbly realized historical background, Thompson achieves a multidimensional psychological and human portrait.

Other Biographical Studies

Aubry, Octave. Napoleon: Soldier and Emperor. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1938. 454pp. A popular life by a French scholar, Aubry’s summary of Napoleon’s life from his student days to his death is vigorously presented and helpfully organized. Still a valid and useful introduction for the general reader.

Barnett, Corelli. Bonaparte. New York: Hill & Wang, 1978. 224pp. Barnett, a distinguished English military historian, provides a highly critical assessment of Napoleon’s military genius. Debunking the notion of Napoleon’s greatness as a commander and strategist, Barnett attributes his successes to accident, while offering a damning catalog of his blunders. The book offers little on Napoleon’s domestic leadership, administrative, legal, and educational reforms.

Bergeron, Louis. France under Napoleon. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1981. 230pp. More strictly speaking a social history than a biography, Bergeron’s expert and concise survey of the political, administrative, social, economic, and cultural life under Napoleon is a valuable supplement to studies more narrowly focused on the man instead of his times.

Bruce, Evangeline. Napoleon and Josephine: An Improbable Marriage. New York: Scribner, 1995. 555pp. In an extremely readable account of Napoleon’s relationship with his first wife for the general reader, Bruce provides an entertaining introduction to Napoleon’s private life, based mainly on Napoleon and Josephine’s own letters and journals.

Castelot, André. Napoleon. New York: Harper & Row, 1971. 627pp. Following Napoleon’s career from childhood to his death, Castelot is objective in his assessment while animating his detailed account with fictional elements and a sometimes confusing narrative style. Undocumented, Castelot integrates his primary and secondary sources cleverly into his text. Serves as an entertaining initial source for the general reader.

Ellis, Geoffry J. Napoleon. New York: Longman, 1997. 290pp. Part of the Profiles in Power series, Ellis takes a thematic rather than a chronological approach to Napoleon’s career in an able assessment of his leadership and accomplishments. It is not intended as a first look at Napoleon, but the reader who is already familiar with the basics will profit from Ellis’s lucid examination.

Erickson, Carolly. Josephine: A Life of the Empress. New York: St. Martin’s, 1999. 432pp. Extensively researched and richly detailed, Erickson’s dramatic portrait of Josephine achieves a psychological and intimate presentation along with an accomplished background painting that brings both wife and husband to vivid life.

Fisher, H.A.L. Napoleon. New York: Holt, 1913. 256pp. Fisher’s biographical essay offers little more than an outline of Napoleon’s career and few details on his military campaigns, concentrating instead on an analysis of his character and personality. Although not free from British bias, Fisher’s brief account deliveries more lucid and interesting insights than other much longer examinations.

Fournier, August. Napoleon I: A Biography. New York: Holt, 1911. 836pp. In a respected early biography that reprints valuable documentary sources Fournier portrays an ambitious Napoleon consumed by dreams of personal glory. The author’s Austrian partisanship results in some distortion of fact, and Fournier’s hostility causes him to emphasize Napoleon’s defects over his strengths.

Guerard, Albert. Napoleon I: A Great Life in Brief. New York: Knopf, 1956. 199pp. Guerard is skillful in compressing a great deal of information about Napoleon and his times in a slim volume that will appeal to the general reader looking for a concise introduction that neither exalts nor diminishes.

Holtman, Robert B. The Napoleonic Revolution. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1967. 225pp. Napoleon is depicted as a revolutionary innovator in military, government, economics, law, and diplomacy in an objective assessment of his ideas and achievements as well as their origins and wider social context. A thematic rather than a narrative account, Holtman’s is a worthy complement to other studies of Napoleon focused on his military genius.

Home, Alistair. How Far from Austerlitz?: Napoleon 1805–1815. New York: St. Martin’s, 1997. 429pp. Horne’s assessment of Napoleon as military commander, despite the book’s title, chronicles his entire career with side glances at his private life and personality, along with vivid sketches of his associates.

Jones, R.Ben. Napoleon: Man and Myth. New York: Holmes and Meier, 1977. 221pp. Jones’s penetrating concise study attempts to explain Napoleon’s rise to power and achievement based on a fuller understanding of the cultural, historical, and political conditions that helped make his career possible. The result challenges notions of Napoleon’s greatness and destiny, substituting a realistic human assessment.

Kirchsen, Friedrich M. Napoleon. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1932. 761pp. An abridgement of the author’s nine-volume German study adapted for the general reader, Kirscheisen’s treatment is balanced and extremely readable. The book has been described as the most accurate and complete “short” biography.

Korngold, Ralph. Last Years of Napoleon: His Captivity on St. Helena. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1959. 429pp. This is an account of the daily life of Napoleon and his household during his six years’ exile, based on eyewitness accounts.

Laing, Margaret I. Josephine and Napoleon. New York: Mason/Charter, 1974. 196pp. In an attractively illustrated volume, Laing chronicles the relationship between Josephine and Napoleon, using their letters to chart their emotionally turbulent marriage.

Lefebvre, Georges. Napoleon. New York: Columbia University Press, 1969. 2 vols. Not as much a biography but a detailed historical survey of the Napoleonic period, Lefebvre’s often dense, scholarly analysis is one of the most comprehensive and insightful examinations of the social, economic, and political context needed for an understanding of Napoleon’s rise, fall, and achievements.

Maurois, André. Napoleon and His World. New York: Viking, 1964. 160pp. In a vividly written short text to accompany a varied collection of illustrations, Maurois excludes a great deal and glosses over important topics. Napoleon is idealized as a projection of values and characteristics that Maurois admires.

Rose, J.Holland. The Life of Napoleon I. New York: Macmillan, 1902. 2 vols. Long regarded as one of the best overall historical studies, Rose’s life is balanced and scrupulously documented, drawing extensively on official British records.

Seward, Desmond. Napoleon and Hitler: A Comparative Biography. New York: Viking, 1989. 319pp. Seward’s dual biography emphasizes the parallels and similarities in the two leaders’ careers and characters. To make his case, obvious differences are glossed over, and the book has errors of fact and interpretation that may mislead the general reader.

Thompson, James M. Napoleon Bonaparte: His Rise and Fall. New York: Oxford University Press, 1951. 411 pp. Written by an authority on the French Revolution, Thompson’s scholarly, though readable, biography serves better than any other book available to connect Napoleon’s early career with his times. Less concerned with Napoleon’s military affairs, Thompson concentrates on his domestic achievement in a lively and original reassessment.

Tulard, Jean. Napoleon: The Myth of a Saviour. London: Weidenfeld and Nicolson, 1984. 470pp. Tulard, an acknowledged French expert on the period, surveys Napoleon’s career with a revisionist view of the factors that account for Napoleon’s rise to power and the bourgeoisie who supported and abandoned him based on their self-interest. Tulard’s analysis provides a sensible alternative to the great-man thesis of other Napoleonic studies.

Biographical Novels

Austin, Frederick B. Forty Centuries Look Down. New York: F.A.Stokes, 1937. 373pp. Adapting Napoleon’s correspondence for much of its dialogue, the novel dramatizes the Egyptian campaign and his troubled relationship with Josephine. The Road to Glory. (New York: grosset & Dunlap, 1935. 349pp.) is told from Napoleon’s perspective and imagined thoughts. The novel describes his first Italian campaign and the beginning of his legendary reputation.

Beck, L.Adams. The Thunderer: A Romance of Napoleon and Josephine. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1927. 333pp. Napoleon is depicted as a lover and husband in this fictionalized and idealized view of his relationship with Josephine.

Burgess, Anthony. Napoleon Symphony. New York: Knopf, 1974. 365pp. Burgess’s inventive novel interprets Napoleon’s career as a comic opera or symphony in four movements, from his first campaigns through his marriage, triumphs, and defeat.

Coryn, M.S. Goodbye, My Son. New York: Appleton-Century, 1943. 582pp. Tracing the history of the Bonaparte family from the perspective of Napoleon’s mother, this is an accurate, though somewhat romantized, treatment of the facts. The author’s The Marriage of Josephine. (New York: Appleton-Century, 1945. 312pp.) in an idealized version of history and a debatable interpretation of Josephine, dramatizing her life from her imprisonment during the French Revolution through the first few years of her married life. Alone Among Men. (New York: Appleton-Century, 1947. 313pp.) is set in 1799 during the coup d’etat that made Napoleon First Consul of France, concentrating on Napoleon’s relationship with Josephine and the intrigue that brings him to supreme power.

Costain, Thomas B. The Last Love. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1963. 434pp. Based on some historical fact but with invention and liberties taken, the novel dramatizes Napoleon’s life in exile on St. Helena through his relationship with a young Englishwoman and includes flashback to his youth and campaigns.

Gerson, Noel B. The Emperor’s Ladies. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1959. 356pp. Gerson looks at Napoleon’s private and married life in a somewhat selective and sanitized version of the facts, focusing on Napoleon as husband and father.

Gibbs, Willa. Tell Your Sons: A Novel of the Napoleonic Era. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1946. 525pp. Napoleon’s career is described from the perspective of a young admirer. Despite the romantic lens of hero worship, a strong impression of Napoleon is presented.

Gulland, Sandra. The Many Lives and Secret Sorrows of Josephine B. New York: Scribner, 1999. 436pp; Tales of Passion, Tales of Woe. New York: Scribner, 1999. 370pp. The first two volumes of a projected trilogy follows Josephine’s career before meeting Napoleon and during their married life together.

Herbert, A.P. Why Waterloo? Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1953. 352pp. Based on considerable historical research, the novel tells the story of Napoleon’s exile on Elba, his escape, and the events leading up to his final defeat at Waterloo.

Kenyon, Frank W. The Emperor’s Lady: A Novel Based on the Life of the Empress Josephine. New York: Crowell, 1952. 501pp. Blending facts and invention, the novel dramatizes the life of Josephine from her life on Martinique, her imprisonment during the Revolution, and marriage to Napoleon. The author’s My Brother Napoleon: The Confessions of Caroline Bonaparte (New York: Dodd, Mead, 1971. 253pp.) is a first-person narrative by Napoleon’s sister that dramatizes Napoleon’s rise to power and years of triumph.

Krasnov, Peter N. Napoleon and the Cossacks. New York: Duffield & Green, 1931. 593 pp. The disastrous 1812 Russian campaign is dramatized with authentic period flavor from the perspective of two fictional figures as well as Napoleon and Alexander I.

Lancaster, Sheila. Mistress of Fortune. London: Hodder and Stoughton,1982. 318pp. The novel chronicles the early years of Josephine from her childhood on Martinique, through her marriage to a French aristocrat, her affair with a leader of the Revolution, and her first meeting and relationship with Napoleon. Faithful to facts, the author does invent some plausible scenes and dialogue.

Lofts, Norah. A Rose for Virtue. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1971. 348pp. Josephine’s daughter and Napoleon’s stepdaughter tells her story and her perspective on the relationship between her parents. Blending facts and speculation, the novel features an authentic period atmosphere.

Maass, Edgar. Imperial Venus: A Novel of Napoleon’s Favorite Sister. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill, 1946. 421pp. In a thorough and authentic portrait of Napoleon’s family and background, this biographical novel dramatizes the life of Maria Paolina Bonaparte, who rises in the world with her brother’s success in Haiti and Italy, and despite disfavor remains loyal to her brother in defeat.

Nezelof, Pierre. Napoleon and His Son. New York: Liveright, 1936. 474pp. Covering events from Napoleon’s second marriage to his son’s death at the age of 22, the novel observes the historical facts but does not penetrate the surface details with much insight.

Pilgrim, David. So Great a Man. New York: Harper,1937. 463pp. Covering the period 1808 to 1809 when Napoleon is at the zenith of his career, the novel employs a fictional young Frenchman who accompanies Napoleon’s mistress, Countess Walewska, from Warsaw to Paris. As a page in the emperor’s household, he becomes an observer of the leading figures of the period.

Powers, Anne. The Thousand Fires. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill, 1957. 434pp. Napoleon’s rise and fall is dramatized from the perspective of a fictional officer who joins the general staff. Events rush by in this dramatic rendering.

Rambaud, Patrick. The Battle. New York: Grove Press, 2000. 256pp. Rambaud’s acclaimed reconstruction of the bloody Battle of Essling in 1809 features a strong portrait of Napoleon, as well as characterizations of Marshalls Berthier, Lannes, and Massena, and writer Stendhal.

Schönthan, Gaby von. The Roses of Malmaison: The Turbulent Life of the Beautiful Josephine. London: Cassell, 1966. 309pp. Josephine narrates her own story in a fictional recreation that quotes directly from Napoleon’s correspondence to aid authenticity.

Winwar, Frances. The Eagle and the Rock. New York. Harper, 1963. 371pp. In a fictionalization of Napoleon’s life that stays close to the biographical sources, Winwar chronicles his career from his early military service through his triumphs and defeats.

Fictional Portraits

Only a small fraction of the countless novels in which Napoleon appears can be listed here. Selected are those books that treat Napoleon in significant or original ways.

Aragon, Louis. Holy Week. New York: Putnam, 1961. 541pp. This impressive historical panorama is set during the beginning of Napoleon’s Hundred Days, shown through its effects on a huge cast of historical figures.

Delmar, Vina. A Time for Titans. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1974. 366pp. The diplomatic maneuverings surrounding the Louisiana Purchase are dramatized in this inventive novel that centers on Napoleon, Jefferson, and Haiti’s Toussaint L’Ouverture.

Kane, Harnett T. The Amazing Mrs. Bonaparte. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1963. 301pp. Based on the true story of Baltimore’s Betsy Patterson who marries Jerome Bonaparte, Napoleon’s younger brother, before he is recalled to France alone, the novel dramatizes her life convincingly and authentically.

Komroff, Manuel. Waterloo. New York: Coward-McCann, 1936. 307pp. The Hundred Days and the climactic Battle of Waterloo are ironically and unheroically treated from the perspectives of many of the participants.

Leys, Simon. The Death of Napoleon. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1992. 129pp. This intriguing what-if historical fable explores the possibility that Napoleon does not die on St. Helena in 1821 but escapes and returns to France to confront his legacy.

Manceron, Claude. So Brief a Spring. New York: Putnam, 1958. 452pp. Based on extensive research, the events of the Hundred Days are described from the perspective of a young Frenchman with an emphasis on the political forces that sweep Napoleon back to power.

McDonough, James. The Limits of Glory: A Novel of Waterloo. Novato, California: Presidio, 1991. 300pp. In a historical faithful depiction of the famous battle, the novel offers the perspectives of the generals, combatants, and onlookers on both sides.

McKenney, Ruth. Mirage. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1956. 726pp. In a panoramic historical novel concerning Napoleon’s Egyptian campaign, fictional characters interact with historical figures and participate in actual events, and the novel includes vivid depictions of the Battle of the Pyramids and Nelson’s naval triumph at the Battle of the Nile.

Selinko, Annemarie. Desiree. New York: Morrow, 1953. 594pp. With a strong basis in fact, this historical romance dramatizes the real-life story of Desiree Clary, an early love of Napoleon. Covering Napoleon’s rise to his defeat at Waterloo, Desiree marries one of Napoleon’s generals and becomes the Queen of Sweden.

Tolstoy, Leo. War and Peace. 1872. Various editions. Napoleon emerges as the novel’s principal villain in Tolstoy’s epic treatment of the Napoleonic era from 1805 to 1820. For Tolstoy, Napoleon is the blind egoist with his soft white hands, twitching leg, and eau de cologne, incapable of recognizing his own limitations and dependency.

Wilkins, William V. Being Met Together. New York: Macmillan, 1944. 510pp. A young American comes to Europe to serve Napoleon and participates in a fictional rescue attempt at St. Helena by submarine.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Marrin, Albert. Napoleon and the Napoleonic Wars. New York: Viking, 1993. 276pp. MG/YA. Marrin interprets Napoleon’s life and career in the context of his times in what has been called “the definitive work on this period of French history” for younger readers.

McGuire, Leslie. Napoleon. New York: Chelsea House, 1986. 111pp. MG/YA. A solid biographical/historical summary of Napoleon’s career and character that emphasizes his military genius and the impact of his rule in France and throughout Europe during the period.

Weidhorn, Manfred. Napoleon. New York: Atheneum, 1986. 212pp. YA. Weidhorn emphasizes the military and political aspects of Napoleon’s life in a sophisticated treatment that does assume prior knowledge of European history.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Hardy, Thomas. The Dynasts. London: Macmillan, 1924. 325pp. Napoleon is the central figure in Hardy’s remarkable poetic drama that covers the major events between 1805 and 1812.

Trench, Herbert. Napoleon: A Play. New York: Oxford University Press, 1919. 102pp. Set during the period of the threatened French invasion of England, the play dramatizes the attempt by an Englishman to convince Napoleon of the error of his ways.

Battle of Waterloo, 1815 (1990). Producer: Henri de Turenne. Using live-action reenactments and drawings, Napoleon’s career up to the battle is illustrated. Video.

The Campaigns of Napoleon: The Story of the Napoleonic Wars (1996). Three of Napoleon’s greatest battles, Austerlitz, Borodino, and Waterloo are depicted using high-tech graphics and live-action sequences. Video.

Conquerors (1997). Directors: Nigel Maslin and Robert Marshall. Film profiles of four great leaders: Peter the Great, Napoleon, Alexander the Great, and Suleyman. Video.

Conquest (1937). Director: Clarence Brown. Charles Boyer depicts Napoleon from 1807 to 1815 and his romantic involvement with the Polish Countess Marie Walewska (Greta Garbo). Video.

Desiree (1954). Director: Henry Koster. This film version of the Selinko novel features a “method” Napoleon played by Marion Brando with Merle Oberon as Josephine, and Jean Simmons as the seamstress who rejects the emperor for another. Video.

Eagle in a Cage (1971). Director: Fielder Cook. Napoleon in exile on St. Helena is the subject of this fine British drama with Kenneth Haigh in the title role and a stellar supporting cast of John Gielgud, Ralph Richardson, and Billie Whitelaw.

Napoleon (1927). Director: Abel Gance. Gance’s silent masterwork traces Napoleon’s life from his youth through the Italian campaign, with Albert Dieudonné in the title role. Video.

Napoleon (1955). Director: Sacha Guitary. Napoleon’s youth as a soldier through his final exile is dramatized. With an impressive cast, including Orson Welles, Maria Schell, Yves Montand, and Erich von Stroheim. Video.

War and Peace (1956). Director: King Vidor. Disappointing Hollywood version of Tolstoy’s novel casts Herbert Lom as Napoleon. With Henry Fonda, Mel Ferrer, and Audrey Hepburn. Video.

War and Peace (1968) Director: Sergei Bondarchuk. This classic Russian production of the Tolstoy novel offers painstaking period recreation and impressive battle scenes. With Bondarchuk also starring as Pierre. Video.

War and Peace (1973). Director: John Da vies. Multi-part BBC production features Anthony Hopkins as Pierre, Alan Dobie as Andre, and Morag Hood as Natasha. Napoleon is portrayed by David Swift. Video.

Waterloo (1970). Director: Sergei Bondarchuk. This historical account of the Battle of Waterloo features an unusual interpretation of Napoleon by Rod Steiger. Wellington is more convincingly portrayed by Christopher Plummer. A novelization of the screenplay by Frederick E.Smith (London: H. Baker, 1970. 157pp.) is available. Video.

Young Mr. Pitt (1942). Director: Carol Reed. Herbert Lom portrays Napoleon in this biographical drama on the life of William Pitt, starring Robert Donat, Robert Morley, and John Mills.

Other Sources

Haythornthwaite, Philip J. The Napoleonic Source Book. New York: Facts on File, 1990. 414pp. This is a useful handbook to the era from the French Revolution to Waterloo with a selective biographical section on the prominent figures.

Hutt, Maurice, ed. Napoleon. Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Prentice-Hall, 1972. 180pp. This useful reference source includes Napoleon’s own reflections, the recollection of his contemporaries, and historians’ interpretation and assessment.

Nicholls, David. Napoleon: A Biographical Companion. Santa Barbara, California: ABC-CLIO, 1999. 318pp. This reference guide covers Napoleon’s life, achievement, rise and fall from power, and influences.

See also Horatio Nelson; Wellington, Duke of

346–347. NAPOLEON III (1808–1873); EMPRESS EUGÉNIE (1826–1920)

Emperor of the French from 1852 to 1870, Louis Napoleon Bonaparte was the son of Louis Bonaparte and Hortense de Beauharnais, and the nephew of Napoleon I. He spent his youth in Switzerland and Germany, and became a captain in the Swiss army. After attempting several military coups against King Louis Philippe of France, he was jailed but escaped to England (1846). He was elected President of France after the Revolution of 1848 and in 1852 dissolved the legislature and made himself emperor. His regime promoted domestic prosperity, successfully fought the Russians in the Crimean War (1854–1856), improved Franco-British relations, expanded French territory, and built the Suez Canal. However French intervention (1861–1867) in Mexico and the installation of Maximilian as Mexican emperor proved a failure. By the 1860s, opposition to Napoleon III’s repressive, corrupt government had grown. His ill-conceived war with Prussia (1870) ended with his defeat, capture, and the collapse of his empire. He was exiled to England, where he died.

Empress of the French (1853–1870) and consort of Napoleon III, Eugénie actively participated in the politics of the Second Empire, acting as regent when her husband was at war. She strongly supported the measures that led to the Franco-Prussian War, was deposed with her husband after the French defeat, and fled to England, where she settled. She was celebrated for her exceptional beauty and charm.

Recommended Biographies

Bresler, Fenton. Napoleon III: A Life. New York: Carroll & Graf, 1999. 438pp. Written for the general reader, Bresler’s fresh look at Napoleon III and his era emphasizes personalities over events. Bresler paints a complex portrait of Napoleon III, arguing that his achievement is far greater than most have been willing to grant, and the reader gets an intimate look at the man in this well-written and argued presentation.

Guerard, Albert. Napoleon III: A Great Life in Brief. New York: Knopf, 1955. 207pp. Guerard’s is the first choice for the reader looking for a concise introductory study of Louis Napoleon and his times. Lucid and balanced, Guerard ably summarizes the essential events of Napoleon’s career along with a reliable treatment of his character.

Kurtz, Harold. The Empress Eugénie. Boston: Houghton, Mifflin, 1965. 407pp. Scholarly yet readable, Kurtz’s is an authoritative study of the empress which challenges the conventional view of her as an interfering schemer who pushed her husband to disastrous decisions. Instead, Kurtz provides an objective assessment that grants to Eugénie more positives than negatives.

Ridley, Jasper. Napoleon III and Eugénie. New York: Viking, 1980. 768pp. Ridley’s is the finest joint biography of the pair available. Covering their entire lives from Louis Napoleon’s birth to Eugénie’s death in 1920, Ridley is also reliable on French history, particularly on the events between 1850 and 1870. Based on valuable primary and secondary sources, Ridley tells the personal story of the royal couple in a compelling, reliable, and extremely readable fashion.

Simpson, Frederick A. The Rise of Louis Napoleon. 1909. Revised ed. London: Cass, 1968. 400pp.; Louis Napoleon and the Recovery of France. 1923. Reprint ed. Westport, Connecticut: Greenwood, 1975. 400pp. Simpson’s scholarly and authoritative historical biography remains one of the finest comprehensive treatments of Louis Napoleon’s life and reign. The first volume covers his first 40 years in a balanced assessment based on primary and historical sources. The second volume surveys the period from 1848 to 1856 with an emphasis on the history of France during the period but with an intimate and personal view of Napoleon III.

Other Biographical Studies

Aronson, Theo. The Fall of the Third Napoleon. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill, 1970. 271pp. This is a detailed, popular account of the final six weeks of Napoleon’s reign in which objectivity is sometimes sacrificed by partisanship and for the demands of a compelling human drama.

Aubry, Octave. Eugénie: Empress of the French. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1931. 356pp. This is a highly romanticized and melodramatic look at the empress’s life and character in which Eugénie is cast in the role of a tragic heroine and victim of circumstances rather than the cause of her own failures.

Barschak, Erna. The Innocent Empress: An Intimate Study of Eugénie. New York: Dutton, 1943. 346pp. Covering her life from her adolescence to her death, Barschak provides a psychological view of the empress in a series of revealing anecdotes that are used to interpret her character. Best on Eugénie’s childhood, youth, and widowhood, Barschak is less convincing in capturing her years in power.

Bierman, John. Napoleon III and His Carnival Empire. New York: St. Martin’s, 1988. 416pp. Although offering no new information or original research, Bierman’s is a highly readable, journalistic account of the events of the Second Empire and its ruler. Lively and entertaining, the book occasionally lapses into imaginative conjecture about the figures’ motives and feelings.

Brodsky, Alyn. Imperial Charade: A Biography of Emperor Napoleon III and Empress Eugénie. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill, 1978. 330pp. Dramatizing the story of “Europe’s most successful adventurers,” Brodsky chronicles Napoleon’s rise and marriage to the equally ambitious Spanish countess through their fall from power in an unscholarly anecdotal account, marred by clichés and melodrama.

Cheetham, F.H. Louis Napoleon and the Genesis of the Second Empire. New York: J.Lane, 1909. 394pp. Cheetham’s life-and-times study is readable and detailed but incomplete and with a strong partisanship that limits its objectivity and reliability.

Corley, T.A.B. Democratic Despot: A Life of Napoleon III. New York: C.N.Potter, 1961. 402pp. Corley’s is a richly detailed, sympathetic but critical biography that focuses on the key questions of Napoleon III’s career: how he rose to power in 1848 and managed to hold onto power for two decades.

D’Auvergne, Edmund B.F. Napoleon the Third: A Biography. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1929. 255pp. In a brief, readable introduction to Napoleon III and his career, D’Auvergne concentrates on his private life with the details of his times only lightly sketched. D’Auvergne’s study would be a good choice as a first book on the subject before proceeding to more thorough and comprehensive studies.

Duff, David. Eugenie and Napoleon III. New York: Morrow, 1978. 308pp. Based entirely on secondary sources, this joint biography, written for a general reader, is a collection of colorful anecdotes but lacks objectivity and balance. The book also assumes considerable prior knowledge of the period and French culture.

Guedalla, Philip. Second Empire. New York: Putnam, 1922. 360pp. Written with wit and irony in the manner of Lytton Strachey, Guedalla’s historical survey covers the fortunes of the Bonaparte family and provides a personal narrative of Napoleon III from his birth through his career as prince, president, and emperor. Amusing and often brilliant, Guedalla’s epigrammatic style is entertaining but often impressionistic, neglecting facts in pursuit of the bon mot and amusing oddity.

McMillan, James F. Napoleon III. New York: Longman, 1991. 188pp. Part of the Profiles in Power series, this is a model of economy and clarity that takes advantage of modern scholarship to offer a balanced assessment of Napoleon’s reign and character. The book is an excellent overview of the period and sensible in its judgments.

Rheinhardt, Emil A. Napoleon and Eugénie: The Tragicomedy of an Empire. New York: Knopf, 1931. 363pp. In a fair, sympathetic psychological portrait by a Viennese poet and portrait painter, Rheinhardt supplies a reasonably accurate and believable narrative that captures the royal couple and their era.

Sencourt, Robert. The Life of the Empress Eugénie. New York: Scribner, 1931. 387pp. Sencourt’s authorized biography makes use of private family papers and archival sources previously unavailable for a comprehensive, detailed treatment of the empress’s life and the significant events of the Second Empire. Written with undiluted sympathy for the empress, little of Eugénie’s less flattering elements are dealt with, but the book, despite its lack of objectivity, does provide a compelling human portrait.

Sencourt, Robert. Napoleon III: The Modern Emperor. New York: Appleton-Century, 1933. 383pp. Drawing on a good deal of unpublished source material, Sencourt’s historical biography looks at Napoleon III as a forerunner of the modern political figure. The book’s partisanship, particularly concerning the Empress Eugenic, occasionally distorts, but Sencourt does deliver a multidimensional portrait of Louis Napoleon.

Smith, W.H.C. Napoleon III. New York: St. Martin’s, 1973. 296pp. Concentrating on the domestic and foreign policy of the Second Empire, Smith virtually ignores Louis Napoleon’s life before 1830; however, using Napoleon’s own writings, the book offers a sympathetic though balanced portrait of the man as a figure of his times. The book is an excellent choice for the reader interested primarily in the political dimension of Louis Napoleon’s life.

Thompson, James M. Louis Napoleon and the Second Empire. New York: Noonday, 1955. 342pp. Written by a recognized expert on the French Revolution, Thompson’s solid and informed examination of Louis Napoleon’s life and times is a fair assessment that grants Napoleon III his achievements as well as his human failings.

Wellman, Rita. Eugénie: Star-crossed Empress of the French. New York: Scribner, 1941. 326pp. Covering the details of Eugénie’s life from her arrival in France to her death in a series of dramatic episodes, this is a popular, entertaining treatment, more idealized than realistic in its view of the Empress and her career.

Williams, Roger L. The Mortal Napoleon III. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1972. 226pp. This specialized medical analysis examines in detail Napoleon’s illnesses with a new suggestion that he died of kidney failure rather than bladder stones as commonly assumed. Williams suggests that Napoleon’s high-serum uric acid may have contributed to his drive and obstinacy.

Biographical Novels

Aubry, Octave. The Phantom Emperor: The Romance and Tragedy of Napoleon III. New York: Harper, 1929. 351pp. In a romantically fictionalized portrait, Napoleon III is depicted as a kindly figure with the Empress Eugénie cast in the melodramatic role of the regime’s evil genius. The book’s historical details are accurate, but the interpretation is suspect.

Chapman, Hester W. Eugénie. Boston: Little, Brown, 1961. 469pp. The Empress Eugénie’s life from her childhood in Spain through her years on the French throne is dramatized from the perspective of her English governess and later companion and an eyewitness to the events of the Second Empire.

Kenyon, Frank W. That Spanish Woman. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1963. 342pp. Eugénie tells her own story with an emphasis on the glamour of the French court during the Second Empire. Imperial Courtesan. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1967. 255pp. Based on the true story of English woman Elizabeth Ann Haryett who becomes Louis Napoleon’s mistress and participates in his scheming to take the French throne as Napoleon III, the novel is a blend of fact and fancy with a believable period atmosphere.

Neumann, Alfred. Another Caesar. New York: Knopf, 1935. 589pp.; The Gaudy Empire. New York: Knopf, 1937. 552pp. Louis Napoleon’s reign during France’s Second Empire between 1856 and 1870 is dramatized, although the chronicle of events is marred by factual errors.

Fictional Portraits

Collins, Norman. Quiet Lady. New York: Harper, 1942. 432pp. Events during the Siege of Paris and the Commune are dramatized from the perspective of a young woman whose story is interspersed with monologues from both Bismarck and Napoleon III.

Costain, Thomas B. The Tontine. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1955. 2 vols. Costain’s immense historical panorama concerns the fate of two English families and a lottery-insurance scheme during the first half of the nineteenth century. In addition to following the stories of several fictional characters, the novel offers glimpses of the Bonaparte family as it falls with Napoleon I and attempts to reassert its influence through Louis Napoleon.

Moore, Brian. The Magician’s Wife. New York: Dutton, 1998. 229pp. Moore’s atmospheric and thoughtful novel features a French illusionist and his wife who are recruited by Napoleon III to further France’s interests in Algeria.

Powers, Anne. Rachel. New York: Pinnacle, 1973. 320pp. The legendary French actress Elisa Felix, known as Rachel, tells her own story of her stage career and many love affairs with such figures as Alfred de Mussel and Louis Napoleon.

Saunders, Diana. The Passion of Letty Fox. New York: D.I.Fine, 1987. 305pp. In a fanciful tale set during the Franco-Prussian War, a vaudeville performer is recruited as the public stand-in for the Empress Eugénie and becomes a target for an assassination attempt.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Juarez (1939). Director: William Dieterle. Claude Rains is impressive in the role of Napoleon III in this interesting historical film of the conflict between Juarez (Paul Muni) and the Emperor Maximilian (Brian Aherne) and the Empress Carlotta (Bette Davis). With Gale Sondergaard as Eugénie. Video.

Suez (1938). Director: Allan Dwan. This historically unreliable drama concerns Ferdinand de Lesseps’s (Tyrone Power) drive to build the Suez Canal. Loretta Young and Annabella provide his conflicting love interests. Leon Ames portrays a Napoleon III.

348. JAWAHARLAL NEHRU

1889–1964

The first prime minister of independent India and a highly skillful politician and statesman, Nehru was educated at Harrow and Cambridge. He was admitted to the English bar (1912) and for several years practiced law in India. After the British massacre of Indian nationalists at Amritsar (1919), he devoted himself to the struggle for Indian independence. He was elected president of the Indian National Congress (1929) and spent most of the years from 1930 to 1936 in prison for taking part in civil disobedience campaigns. During World War II, Nehru opposed aiding the British unless India was immediately freed, and he was imprisoned (1942–1945). After his release, Nehru negotiated the creation (1947) of two independent states: India and Pakistan. Prime minister until his death, Nehru guided India through the difficult early years of independence and despite some criticism over his foreign policy retained enormous popularity in India.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Autobiography of Jawaharlal Nehru. New York: Oxford University Press, 1990. 640pp. First published in 1936 and written by Nehru almost entirely during his imprisonment in 1934 to 1935, these autobiographical reflections provide insights into Nehru’s background, influences, and early political and intellectual development.

Freedom’s Daughter: Letters Between Indira Gandhi and Jawaharlal Nehru, 1922–39. Sonia Gandhi, ed. Delhi: CBS Publishers, 1992. 483pp. Nehru’s correspondence with his daughter provides interesting insights into his thoughts during the period and his role as a father.

Letters to Chief Ministers: 1947–64. G. Parthasarathi, ed. Delhi: Oxford University Press, 1985–1989. 5 vols. This multivolume series is an important record of Nehru’s concerns and interpretations of events throughout his years in power.

Recommended Biographies

Brecher, Michael. Nehru: A Political Biography. New York: Oxford University Press, 1959. 682pp. Based on extensive interviews with Nehru and his associates, this is a meticulously researched and sound analysis of Indian politics during the Nehru era. The book is particularly strong on Nehru’s relationship with his father and Mahatma Gandhi and offers a convincing human portrait of a complex individual. One of the best and most comprehensive single-volume studies available.

Gopal, Sarvepalli. Jawarharlal Nehru: A Biography. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1976–1984. 3 vols. Gopal’s monumental biographical/historical study leads the field as the most comprehensive and detailed examination available. Based on exclusive access to private papers and government archives, Gopal, a former senior Foreign Affairs official, provides an intimate look at decision making and Nehru’s development, nationalist leadership, and years in power. A one-volume abridged edition is available (New York: Oxford University Press, 1993. 516pp.).

Wolpert, Stanley A. Nehru: A Tryst with Destiny. New York: Oxford University Press, 1996. 546pp. In a psychological analysis, Wolpert creates a nuanced portrait of the Indian leader, tracing his intellectual and political development, and his complex relationships with his father, Mahatma Gandhi, and Lady Edwina Mountbatten. Drawing heavily on Nehru’s own writings, contemporaries’ views, and official documents, Wolpert’s well-documented, balanced, and readable narrative is an excellent choice as a thorough, provocative single-volume study.

Other Biographical Studies

Adams, Jad, and Philip Whitehead. The Dynasty: The Nehru-Gandhi Story. New York: TV Books, 1997. 390pp. Based on letters, journalistic accounts, interviews, and original research, the authors trace the Nehru and Gandhi family fortunes from 1857 through the political careers of Indira and Rajiv Gandhi both in their public and private contexts.

Akbar, M.J. Nehru: The Making of India. New York: Viking, 1988. 609pp. This journalistic account by a Moslem nationalist is filled with interesting anecdotes but is often superficial in its interpretations and selective in its approach and theme, which attempts to explain the breakdown of Indian unity into religious factionalism.

Brown, Judith M. Nehru. New York: Longman, 1999. 209pp. Part of the Profiles in Power series, Brown’s study of Nehru’s political career is not a full-scale biography but a thematic look at a number of related issues regarding modern Indian history and Nehru’s role in shaping it. Written for the nonspecialist, the book is a solid introduction to twentieth-century Indian society and politics.

Crocker, W.R. Nehru: A Contemporary’s Estimate. New York: Oxford University Press. 1969. 186pp. Written by an Australian diplomat who served in India during Nehru’s premiership, the book offers a realistic portrait of Nehru’s development, leadership, and political management during his years in power in a challenge to many of the heroic myths surrounding the Indian leader.

Edwardes, Michael. Nehru: A Political Biography. New York: Praeger, 1972. 351pp. A lucid chronicle of Nehru’s political development, Edwardes’s examination details the Indian leader’s influences, achievements, and failures, which, though offering little that is new, does synthesize a variety of sources into a readable narrative. Edwardes’s earlier Nehru: A Pictorial Biography (New York: Viking, 1962. 143pp.) presents the highlights of Nehru’s career in a useful illustrated biography.

Judd, Denis. Jawaharlal Nehru. Cardiff. 6PC, 1993. 97pp. Judd presents a brief political portrait of Nehru, including a sketch of his early life, political development, and career as nationalist leader and prime minister, with a concluding chapter on his legacy.

Moraes, F.R. Jawaharlal Nehru: A Biography. New York: Macmillan, 1956. 511pp. Written by the Indian editor of the Times of India, Moraes’s political biography is objective and not uncritical and based on interviews with many of Nehru’s contemporaries. Two-thirds of the book is devoted to pre-independence, and the study ends before Nehru’s entire political career could be assessed in full.

Mukerjee, H. The Gentle Colossus: A Study of Jawaharlal Nehru. New York: Oxford University Press, 1986. 239pp. Written by a Hindu Nationalist, Mukerjee’s study is largely an admiring apology for an Indian national hero. Lacking objectivity and critical distance, the book is unreliable in its interpretations and serves mainly to inform readers how Nehru is seen by many of his countrymen.

Nanda, B.R. Jawaharlal Nehru: Rebel and Statesman. New York: Oxford University Press, 1995. 312pp. In a collection of 16 essays on various aspect of Nehru’s life, career, and achievements, Nanda presents a reevaluation by placing Nehru in the social and political context of his times. As the founder of India’s Nehru Memorial Museum, the author shows his evident admiration for Nehru, but does raise important questions regarding his leadership, questioning whether Nehru might have prevented partition and whether his pursuit of nonalignment was a mistake.

Sheean, Vincent. Nehru: The Years of Power. New York: Random House, 1960. 306pp. This is a readable but mainly uncritical examination that does serve to make Indian politics accessible to a Western reader. Not chronologically arranged, the book is more an appreciative discursive essay on Nehru’s achievements, published before the more serious charges against Nehru’s leadership could be considered.

Shorter, B. Nehru: A Voice for Mankind. New York: J.Day, 1970. 312pp. Although selective and often superficial in its treatment of Nehru’s career, Shorter’s sympathetic tribute is enlivened by the author’s conversations with Nehru and his relatives, which features their own words on several topics.

Tyson, Geoffrey. Nehru: The Years of Power. New York: Praeger, 1966. 206pp. Divided into an initial section that lists Nehru’s domestic and foreign policy accomplishments and a second section on his influences and personal characteristics, this is a brief and reliable account of post-independence Indian politics and Nehru’s leadership.

Fictional Portraits

Murari, T.N. The Last Victory. New York: St. Martin’s, 1988. 335pp. In a sequel to the author’s The Imperial Agent, (1987) a continuation of Kipling’s adventure classic, Kim, Kimball O’Hara’s story is continued into the 1910s with appearances by Nehru and Mahatma Gandhi.

Tharoor, Shashi. The Great Indian Novel. New York: Viking, 1989. 423pp. Tharoor offers an ingenious retelling of the ancient Indian epic, the Mahabharata, to reflect twentieth-century Indian political history, with appearances by the major figures, including Nehru.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Apsler, Alfred. Fighter for Independence: Jawaharlal Nehru. New York: J.Messner, 1963. 191pp. YA. Apsler reveals a complex figure in this biographical profile that traces Nehru’s development under Gandhi and offers an accessible and informative summary of the major events in modern Indian history.

Finck, Lila. Jawaharlal Nehru. New York: Chelsea House, 1987. 112pp. MG/YA. Finck’s is a reliable account of Nehru’s life, political career, and character against a clear historical and cultural background of India’s drive for independence and the aftermath.

Lamb, Beatrice P. The Nehrus of India: Three Generations of Leadership. Chicago: Reilly & Lee, 1961. 214pp. YA. Lamb’s group biography proceeds from the birth of Nehru’s father to the political career of his daughter, Indira, up to 1967. Well written, this approach helps to make Nehru’s ideas and actions understandable in a wider historical context.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

The Dynasty (1997). Directors: Mark Anderson and Charles Bruce. Documents both the life of Mahatma Gandhi and the interlinked history of the Nehru and Gandhi families. Video.

Gandhi (1982). Director: Richard Attenborough. The Oscar-winning film biography of Gandhi (Ben Kingsley) features Roshan Seth as Nehru in a compelling, grand spectacle of India’s fight for independence. Video.

Lord Mountbatten: The Last Viceroy (1986). Director: Tony Clegg This television mini-series looks at the events leading up to Indian independence from the perspective of Mountbatten’s (Nicol Williamson) efforts to transfer British power to the new nation. Ian Richardson portrays Nehru, with Janet Suzman as Lady Mountbatten and Sam Dastor as Gandhi. A novelization by David Butler is available (New York: Pocket Books, 1986. 295pp.). Video.

See also Indira Gandhi; Mahatma Gandhi

349. HORATIO NELSON

1758–1805

British admiral and the most famous of Britain’s naval heroes, Nelson entered the navy at 12, became a captain at 20, and saw service in the West Indies, in the Baltic, and in Canada. When the British entered (1793) the French Revolutionary Wars, he was given command of the Agamemnon, was instrumental in defeating the Spanish fleet off Cape St. Vincent (1797), and won fame and honors after defeating the French fleet at the Battle of Aboukir (1798). Soon afterwards he began his scandalous affair with Lady Emma Hamilton. When the war with France was renewed (1803), Nelson blockaded the French fleet at Toulon for 22 months. The naval war culminated in the Battle of Trafalgar (1805), before which Nelson gave his famous signal, “England expects that every man will do his duty.” Nelson was fatally wounded during the battle. His spectacular victory at Trafalgar ensured British naval supremacy for the rest of the century.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Nelson’s letters and dispatches are available in a number of volumes, including The Nelson Touch: An Anthology of Lord Nelson’s Letters. Clemence Dane, ed. (London: Heinemann, 1942. 285pp.); Nelson’s Letters to His Wife and Other Documents, 1785–1831 (London: Routledge, 1958. 630pp.); Nelson’s Letters. Geoffrey Rawson, ed. (New York: Dutton, 1960. 486pp.); and The Dispatches and Letters of Vice Admiral Viscount Nelson (London: Colburn, 1845–1846. 7 vols.).

Recommended Biographies

Oman, Carola. Nelson. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1946. 748pp. Oman’s meticulously researched examination of Nelson’s life and times remains the most comprehensive work on Nelson. Filling in a number of factual details and challenging prior interpretation, Oman’s is a rich character study in a year-by-year narrative, with all the essential facts included and both the man and the era considered in depth.

Pocock, Tom. Horatio Nelson. New York: Knopf, 1988. 367pp. Richly detailed and well documented from Nelson’s papers and other manuscript sources, along with a solidly presented social background, Pocock’s readable narrative account for the general reader offers a balanced, nuanced portrait of a far more complex figure than other more admiring studies. Nelson is displayed with all his contradictions intact, a believable, human figure.

Warner, Oliver. Victory: The Life of Lord Nelson. Boston: Little, Brown, 1958. 393pp. Finding a balance between Nelson, naval commander, and his private life ashore, Warner’s is an unbiased, penetrating, and authoritative chronological life. The book is particularly strong on naval history as well as on Nelson’s professional skills and often troubled relationships with his superiors and subordinates.

Other Biographical Studies

Bradford, Ernle. Nelson: The Essential Hero. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1977. 368pp. Written by a British sailor-historian, Bradford covers Nelson’s entire life with an emphasis on his naval engagements at the Nile, Copenhagen, and Trafalgar. A compact, highly entertaining introduction by an unabashed admirer whose sea experience brings Nelson’s story to vivid life.

Browne, G.Lathom. Nelson: The Public and Private Life of Horatio Viscount Nelson. London: Unwin, 1891. 472pp. Weaving together Nelson’s own reflections and recollections by his family and friends Browne covers Nelson’s life in full in a readable biography.

Clarke, J.S., and J.MacArthur. The Life of Admiral Lord Nelson. London: Bensley, 1809. 2 vols. The earliest, official biography remains an indispensable biographical source of factual details from contemporary sources, as well as Nelson’s own autobiographical reflections of his life up to 1799. Mainly the story of Nelson’s naval achievements, the book offers only scant references to his relationship with Emma Hamilton.

Forester, C.S. Lord Nelson. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill, 1929. 353pp. The author of the Hornblower novels presents a highly readable portrait of Nelson and account of British naval history during his era. Without offering much that is new or original, Forester’s is a reliable synthesis of sources turned into a vivid, dramatic narrative history.

Hatters ley, Roy. Nelson. New York: Saturday Review Press, 1974. 223pp. This abundantly illustrated biography has a lively text that treats Nelson as a rounded, human figure who was a brilliant tactical commander, loved and respected by his men but also vain and egotistical. His career is traced chronologically.

Hibbert, Christopher. Nelson: A Personal History. Reading, Massachusetts: Addison-Wesley, 1994. 472pp. In a lively, highly readable account of Nelson’s private life, particularly his liaison with Lady Hamilton, Hibbert deemphasizes Nelson’s naval career but does fashion an entertaining narrative based on primary and reliable secondary sources. By excluding much concerning Nelson’s naval temperament and achievement, Hibbert’s is a limited view of an irascible, vain, self-deceiving figure enthralled by a woman.

Howarth, David A., and Stephen Howarth. Lord Nelson: The Immortal Memory. New York: Viking, 1989. 390pp. Written by a father and son, both respected military historians, this anecdote-rich popular biography is enthusiastically appreciative and glosses over many of Nelson’s flaws. To be enjoyed less for its critique or analysis but for its vivid, dramatic narrative approach written with flair and an eye for colorful detail.

Mahan, Alfred T. The Life of Nelson. Boston: Little, Brown, 1897. 2 vols. Abridged ed. New York: Penguin, 1942. 253pp. Mahan’s American perspective helps him approach Nelson in a much less patriotic and more balanced fashion, offering detailed, critical accounts of his naval battles and an inquiry into the depths and complexity of Nelson’s personality and leadership.

Pocock, Tom. Nelson and His World. New York: Viking, 1968. 142pp. This visual biography is an excellent first encounter with the man and his era. Pocock’s text is particularly good on Nelson’s youth and naval achievements.

Southey, Robert. The Life of Nelson. 1813. Reprint ed. Annapolis, Maryland: Naval Institute Press, 1990. 306pp. Southey’s popular treatment of Nelson’s life depends on the facts derived from Clarke and MacArthur and is a tribute to a national hero with only glimpses of a more complex, human figure, with a critical view of Nelson’s involvement with the Hamiltons.

Walder, David. Nelson: A Biography. New York: Dial Press, 1978. 538pp. Concentrating on Nelson’s private life, Walder traces the admiral’s rise and puts his affair with Lady Hamilton in its proper context. Unfortunately, the book is weakest on the source of Nelson’s naval achievements. Balanced in its interpretation, Walder presents both Nelson’s greatness and weaknesses.

Biographies of Emma Hamilton and accounts of Nelson’s relationship with the Hamiltons are available that shed light on Nelson’s private, domestic life.

Fraser, Flora. Emma, Lady Hamilton. New York: Knopf, 1987. 356pp. Regarded as the standard biography of Lady Hamilton, Fraser’s well-written portrait reveals a complex woman with far more than her beauty to recommend her to Nelson.

Hardwick, Mollie. Emma, Lady Hamilton. New York: Holt, 1970. 312pp. Carefully researched and with some new information, Hardwick’s is a sympathetic and rounded portrait of Emma Hamilton that puts her affair with Nelson in the wider context of her life and times.

Lofts, Norah. Emma Hamilton. New York: Coward-McCann, 1978. 192pp. This attractive illustrated biography offers a sympathetic but somewhat superficial portrait of Lady Hamilton.

Russell, Jack. Nelson and the Hamiltons. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1969. 448pp. Russell’s account of Nelson’s affair with Emma Hamilton is overbalanced by historical detail that breaks the book’s focus. Written for the general reader, Russell’s account does provide a convenient collection of extracts from Nelson and the Hamiltons’ letters, journals, and private papers.

Biographical Novels

Dessau, Joanna. The Blacksmith’s Daughter. London: R.Hale, 1983. 191pp. In a biographical novel that is faithful to the basic outline of Emma Hamilton’s life, her rise from humble origins, her marriage to the British diplomat Sir William Hamilton, and her affair with Lord Nelson are depicted, with a number of invented scenes and imagined dialogue.

Field, Bradda. Bride of Glory. New York: Greystone Press, 1942. 963pp. Emma Hamilton’s career is depicted, including her affair with Nelson in a biographical novel that is packed with historical and political details.

Foxell, Nigel. Loving Emma. Brighton, England: Harvester, 1986. 201pp. Climaxing with the beginning of Nelson’s affair with Lady Hamilton, the majority of this biographical novel concerns the events in the admiral’s life leading up to their first meeting. Factually reliable in part, certain liberties have been taken in the interest of the drama.

Frye, Pearl. A Game for Empire. Boston: Little, Brown, 1950. 471pp. Nelson’s naval career is dramatized from 1793 to 1798 and his triumph at the Battle of the Nile, using the admiral’s letters to aid authenticity. In The Sleeping Sword (Boston: Little, Brown, 1952. 400pp.) Frye continues her biographical account of Nelson’s career from 1799, through his affair with Lady Hamilton, to his death at Trafalgar.

Hodge, Jane Aiken. Shadow of a Lady. New York: Putnam, 1973. 317pp. In a blend of fact and fiction, the court world of Naples and Nelson’s relationship with Lady Hamilton are dramatized from the perspective of one of Emma’s friends.

Kenyon, Frank W. Emma. New York: Crowell, 1935. 314pp. Lady Hamilton’s marriage and affair with Nelson is depicted from Emma’s perspective in an often speculative interpretation of the motives and characters of the lovers.

Lewis, Paul. The Nelson Touch. New York: Holt, 1960. 267pp. Tracing Nelson’s personal and professional career from 1787 to his death, this is more an idealized treatment than a dependable biographical account.

Sontag, Susan. The Volcano Lover. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1992. 419pp. Sontag’s inventive repossession of history dramatizes the odd triangular relationship of Nelson and the Hamiltons, whose story is used as the occasion for a consideration of the causes of revolution, the condition of women, and the nature of love.

Stacton, David. Sir William: Or A Lesson in Love. New York: Putnam, 1963. 352pp. In a realistic alternative to the romantic idealization of the Nelson-Hamilton affair, Stacton looks at the couple from the perspective of Sir William Hamilton.

Styles, Showell. A Kiss for Captain Hardy. Boston: Faber and Faber, 1979. 188pp. Nelson’s naval career during his affair with Lady Hamilton is depicted, culminating in his final triumph at Trafalgar and his death.

Fictional Portraits

Kent, Alexander. The In-Shore Squadron. New York: Putnam, 1979. 256pp. The author’s naval series featuring the British captain Richard Bolitho concerns his challenges as a squadron commander and his relationship with Nelson in action that climaxes with the Battle of Copenhagen.

Lambdin, Dewey. A King’s Commander. New York: D.I.Fine, 1997. 374pp. Set during the 1790s, this installment of Lambdin’s historical naval series features Alan Lewrie in action against the French during the Battle of the Glorious First of June and alongside Nelson in a several engagements.

Pope, Dudley. Ramage at Trafalgar. London: Seeker & Warburg, 1986. 214pp. Nicholas Ramage, Pope’s naval series hero, joins Nelson’s command in the blockade of the French and Spanish off Cadiz, culminating at Trafalgar. The details concerning Nelson and the battle are truthful to history.

Shannon, Dell. The Scalpel and the Sword. New York: Morrow, 1987. 392pp. An Irish surgeon goes to sea with the Royal Navy and is on hand at the death of Nelson in an accurately described dramatization of Trafalgar and Nelson’s mortal wounding.

Styles, Showell. The Sea Officer. New York: Macmillan, 1962. 272pp. One of England’s greatest naval officers, Edward Pellew, is shown in action during the American Revolution and the French wars with appearances by a number of other historical figures, including Nelson, in a factually accurate biographical novel.

Unsworth, Barry. Losing Nelson. New York: Nan A.Talese, 1999. 338pp. Unsworth’s ingenious meditation on the life of Nelson and the power of his legend takes the form of a contemporary Londoner’s obsession with the military hero who imaginatively relives the events of Nelson’s life.

Woodman, Richard. The Bomb Vessel. New York: Walker, 1986. 215pp. In this installment of the naval series involving Nathaniel Drinkwater, the Baltic campaign against Napoleon is depicted, climaxing in the Battle of Copenhagen. In Decision at Trafalgar (New York: Walker, 1986. 209pp.), the events leading up to Trafalgar are portrayed in a historically reliable account based in part on the recorded words of the combatants like Nelson and the French Admiral Villeneuve.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Gimpel, Herbert J. Lord Nelson. New York: F. Watts, 1966. 228pp. MG. This is a careful chronicle of Nelson’s career that is better on the events and historical background than on Nelson’s private side and character. His relationship with Lady Hamilton is glossed over.

Russell, Jack. Nelson: Hero of Trafalgar. New York: Putnam, 1968. 224pp. YA. Russell, a noted expert on Nelson and his era, supplies a highly detailed and informative summary of the man, his career, and the important historical events.

Whipple, A.B.C. Hero of Trafalgar. New York: Random House, 1963. 186pp. MG/YA. Whipple traces Nelson’s life from his twelfth year to his death in this Landmark biography that emphasizes Nelson the naval hero, with Emma Hamilton left out almost entirely.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Horatio Nelson and the Battle of Trafalgar (1993). Producer: Phil Grabsky. Segment of the British television Great Commanders series that covers Nelson’s career leading up to its climax at Trafalgar. Video.

I Remember Nelson (1998). Director: Simon Langston. Multi-part British television account of Nelson’s career as seen from the perspectives of his wife, a friend, his First Officer, and a young sailor at his final battle, starring Kenneth Colley, Anna Massey, Geraldine James, Raf Vallone, and Daniel Massey. Video.

The Nelson Affair (1973). Director: James C. Jones. This British drama of the Nelson-Hamilton affair features Peter Finch in the role of Nelson, with Glenda Jackson as Emma. Solid supporting cast of Michael Jayston, Anthony Quayle, and Nigel Stock. Alternative British title: A Bequest to the Nation.

That Hamilton Woman (1941). Director: Alexander Korda. Wartime film brings together Laurence Olivier as Nelson and Vivien Leigh as Lady Hamilton in this rousing drama of their love against a backdrop of war. Video.

Other Sources

Harris, David, ed. The Nelson Almanac: A Book of Days Recording Nelson’s Life and the Events that Shaped His Era. Annapolis, Maryland: Naval Institute Press, 1998. 192pp. In a collection of biographical essays and letters arranged in diary form, each month features an article on aspects of Nelson’s life and career followed by a detailed chronology.

350. NERO

AD 37–68

Born Lucius Domitius Ahenobarbus, the infamous Roman emperor Nero was the son of Agrippina, the great-granddaughter of the emperor Augustus. He was adopted by his stepfather, Claudius I, whom he succeeded as emperor in AD 54. Nero had Claudius’s son, Britannicus, murdered (AD 55) and killed his mother (AD 59) and his wife, Octavia (AD 62). He later married his mistress, Poppaea. Nero accused the Christians of starting the fire (AD 64) that burned half of Rome, and he began the first Christian persecutions. Beginning in AD 68, Nero’s cruelty, instability, and imposition of heavy taxes led to a series of revolts, including one by his Praetorian Guard. The revolts caused Nero to commit suicide.

Recommended Biographies

Grant, Michael. Nero: Emperor in Revolt. New York: American Heritage, 1970. 272pp. Grant’s biographical profile complements a selection of illustrations that serve as a compact, lucid, introductory study by a master in the field. Grant offers a sympathetic portrait that attempts to understand Nero in the context of his times, portraying him as no more eccentric or monstrous than his contemporaries.

Griffin, Miriam. Nero: The End of a Dynasty. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1985. 320pp. Based on ancient sources, Griffin supplies a psychological analysis of Nero’s development and character that sheds light on the emperor’s background and motivation during his reign. Not for the uninitiated general reader, Griffin’s study presupposes understanding of Roman culture and terminology.

Warmington, B.H. Nero: Reality and Legend. New York: W.W.Norton, 1970. 180pp. In a critical reassessment of Nero and his reign, Warmington presents the Roman emperor stripped of his sensational legend as an understandable figure of his times who was a talented administrator and positive ruler.

Other Biographical Studies

Bishop, John. Nero: The Man and the Legend. San Diego: A.S.Barnes, 1965. 208pp. Based exclusively on the major ancient sources, in particular Tacitus, Suetonius, and Dio Cassius, Bishop’s is a highly readable introductory study for the general reader that serves to detail contemporary views of Nero with an attempt to understand the man within his historical and cultural context.

Grabsky, Phil. I, Caesar: Ruling the Roman Empire. Parkwest, New York: BBC Books, 1998. 256p. Written for the curious general reader, this companion book for an A&E television history series traces the rise and fall of the Roman Empire through the lives of several emperors, including Nero. Sweeping generalizations sometimes lead the author into errors of fact and some long-out-moded interpretations.

Henderson, Bernard W. The Life and Principate of the Emperor Nero. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1903. 529pp. In a solid, historical study, Henderson synthesizes ancient sources and modern research into a balanced narrative combining information on Nero’s life with a study of his reign and times.

Shotter, David. Nero. New York: Routledge, 1997. 104pp. Shotter’s compact overview includes a chronology and chapters on Nero’s early life and the events of his reign, as well as a critical assessment of previous studies of the emperor.

Suetonius. Nero. Bristol, England: Bristol Classical Press, 1977. 118pp. Published about A.D. 121 in The Lives of the Caesars, Suetonius’s biographical profile is one of the principal ancient sources of information on Nero. His colorful depiction emphasizing the sensational should be read with skepticism for its reliability, but few texts are better in showing how the image of Nero in the conventional view was created.

Weigall, Arthur. Nero: The Singing Emperor of Rome. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1930. 425pp. Challenging popular conceptions of Nero’s character, Weigall rehabilitates Nero’s reputation, presenting him as a lover of music and poetry and a patron of the arts who did not cause the fire to Rome and made a concerted effort to relieve the suffering it caused. Weigall is not successful in vindicating Nero of all the charges against him, and the book’s defensiveness compromises objectivity.

Biographical Novels

Comfort, Alex. Imperial Patient. London: Duckworth, 1987. 206pp. Nero is glimpsed from the perspective of a physician who, brought to Rome to treat the emperor’s wife Octavia for infertility, becomes caught up in court intrigue.

Graves, Robert. Claudius the God. New York: H. Smith and R.Haas, 1935. 538pp. In the sequel to I, Claudius, Claudius chronicles his reign as emperor with a depiction of the young Nero who will succeed him.

Kosztolanyi, Deszo. Bloody Poet. New York: Macy-Masius, 1928. 344pp. Nero is depicted as an artistic figure driven mad by his frustrated genius. Nero’s excesses are primary here in a historically unreliable presentation.

Maier, Paul L. The Flames of Rome. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1981. 443pp. The persecution of the early Christians during Nero’s reign is the book’s subject with a carefully observed historical framework for its fictional drama.

Pargeter, Edith. Hortensius, Friend of Nero. New York: Grey stone Press, 1937. 232pp. Set during the period after the fire of Rome when Nero is rebuilding the city, the novel, written in the form of a diary kept by the emperor’s friend, details Nero’s growing madness and excesses. Neither convincing nor accurate in its depiction, the novel simplifies and takes a number of liberties with the facts.

Ronalds, Mary T. Nero. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1969. 360pp. Nero tells his own story in a defense of his actions and character. Not reliable as history nor psychologically convincing, this one-sided special pleading offers a number of dubious biographical interpretations.

Sheean, Vincent. Beware of Caesar. New York: Random House, 1965. 244pp. Carefully based on actual events and historical details, the novel chronicles the political intrigues of Nero’s rule in which the emperor’s former tutor, Seneca, is implicated in a conspiracy.

Van Santvoord, Seymour. Octavia: A Tale of Ancient Rome. New York: Dutton, 1923. 458pp. In a tale that follows historical facts closely and includes a detailed depiction of Roman customs, the reigns of Caligula, Claudius, and Nero are described from the perspective of Nero’s virtuous wife.

Fictional Portraits

Gillespie, Donna. The Light Bearer. New York: Berkley, 1994. 788pp. Spanning the years between AD 52 and 96, the excesses of two Roman tyrants, Nero and Domitian, are used as a backdrop for a fictional story involving a pagan warrior priestess and a Roman nobleman in a vigorous historical romance.

Hersey, John. The Conspiracy. New York: Knopf, 1972. 274pp. Told through the secret communiques of Nero’s agents, the repression of men of letters by their former patron is presented, suggesting many contemporary parallels. The author has relied upon historical sources, but admits that this version is not meant to be taken as historically accurate.

Mason, Anita. The Illusionist. New York: Holt, 1984. 309pp. This fanciful story concerns the famous magician Simon Magus who journeys to Rome for a climactic test of his powers before Nero.

Mitchison, Naomi. The Blood of the Martyrs. New York: Whittlesey House, 1948. 499pp. The story of Nero’s persecution of the Christians is depicted from the perspective of a Roman senator’s family in a vivid portrait of the period following the Piso conspiracy to assassinate the emperor.

Sienkiewicz, Henryk. Quo Vadis? 1896. Reprint ed. New York: Hippocrene, 1992. 493pp. Set during the reign of Nero and the early years of the Christian church, this panoramic novel includes scenes of Nero’s excesses and the burning of Rome.

Waltari, Mika. The Roman. New York: Putnam, 1966. 637pp. In a fictional tale with an authentic period background, a young Roman nobleman serves Nero in the persecution of Christians after the burning of Rome before converting to the new faith.

White, Leslie Turner. Scorpus the Moor. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1962. 288pp. Nero’s Rome is portrayed from the perspective of an Arab who is forced to live by his wits and comes to the attention of the emperor in a colorful rather than historically believable period drama.

Yarbro, Chelsea Quinn. Blood Games. New York: St. Martin’s, 1979. 458pp. This installment of the author’s historical vampire series is set in Rome during Nero’s reign in which the Gothic details pale before Roman excesses.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Powers, Elizabeth. Nero. New York: Chelsea House, 1988. 112pp. MG/YA. This is an informative biography that relates Nero’s life and reign against a fully realized cultural and historical background.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

I, Claudius (1980). Director: Herbert Wise. The acclaimed BBC series based on Robert Graves’s novels is remarkably faithful to his intimate portrait of a dysfunctional first family of Imperial Rome, absolutely corrupted by power. Christopher Biggins appears as a young Nero who will succeed the aging Claudius (Derek Jacobi). Video.

Quo Vadis? (1951). Director: Mervyn LeRoy. Massive adaptation of Sienkiewicz’s novel about Christian persecution during Nero’s reign features Peter Ustinov as the emperor and Robert Taylor and Deborah Kerr as the leads. Remade for television in 1985 with Klaus Maria Brandauer as Nero. Video.

The Silver Chalice (1954). Director: Victor Saville. Film version of Thomas Costain’s novel (Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1952. 533pp.) about a young Greek sculptor who makes the cup Jesus uses at the Last Supper features the screen debut of Paul Newman and a portrayal of Nero by Jacques Aubuchon. Video.

Other Sources

Eisner, Jas, and Jamie Masters, eds. Reflections of Nero: Culture, History, and Representation. Chapel Hill: University of North Carolina Press, 1994. 239pp. Through chapters on various presentations of Nero, this useful volume illustrates the ways in which the various myths surrounding the emperor have been shaped in popular consciousness.

See also Saint Paul; Saint Peter

351. PABLO NERUDA

1904–1973

Chilean poet, diplomat, and Communist leader, Neruda was awarded the 1971 Nobel Prize in Literature during his service as Chilean ambassador to France. He died in Chile the week of the military coup that overthrew the government. Neruda’s many volumes of poetry include Twenty Love Poems and One Song of Despair (1924), Canto General (1950), and Elementary Odes (1954).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Isla Negra: A Notebook. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1982. 416pp. This is a collection of autobiographical poems written during the 1960s and represents a kind of summing up of Neruda’s life and his intentions.

Memoirs. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1977. 370pp. Called by one reviewer a “book of lapses, of airy interstices,” but still “a sort of distilled essence” of the poet and “the starting point for all future biographers,” Neruda’s recollections fail to reveal much about his private life and are far too fragmentary and selective to give the reader more than the flavor of the man.

Passions and Impressions. Matilde Neruda, ed. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1983. 396pp. This is a compilation of Neruda’s speeches and writings during the 1960s that document this period in the writer’s life.

Recommended Biographies

Teitelboim, Volodia. Neruda: An Intimate Biography. Austin: University of Texas Press, 1991. 506pp. The work of the poet’s close friend and political colleague, Teitelboim’s biography is currently die only comprehensive study of Neruda’s life available in English. The author’s firsthand view is useful and helpful, although the lack of objectivity and distance limit the book’s reliability.

Duran, Manuel, and Margery Safir. Earth Tones: The Poetry of Pablo Neruda. Bloomington: Indiana University Press, 1981. 200pp. The author surveys the life of Neruda through his work, proceeding chronologically, tracing the relationship between Neruda’s experiences and his writing. Serves as a useful introductory overview.

Other Biographical Studies

Agosín, Marjorie. Pablo Neruda. New York: Twayne, 1986. 157pp. The author prefaces her critical study with a brief biographical summary derived from the untranslated biography written by Neruda’s niece.

Bizzarro, Salvatore. Pablo Neruda: All Poets the Poet. Metuchen, New Jersey: Scarecrow Press, 1979. 192pp. The second half of the author’s critical study includes biographical information provided by Delia Del Carril and Matilde Urrutia on Neruda’s time in Spain, the years of hiding, and the poet’s last days.

Fictional Portraits

Skármeta, Antonio. Burning Patience. New York: Putnam, 1987. 118pp. Also available as The Postman: II Postino. Set in Chile during the 1970s, the novel explores the relationship between the poet and the young man who delivers his mail on Isla Negra as Neruda tutors the postman in love and poetry.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Goodnough, David. Pablo Neruda: Nobel Prize-Winning Poet. Springfield, New Jersey: Enslow, 1998. 128pp. MG. Clearly written and well-documented, Goodnough’s is a fine introduction and overview of the man, his works, and times.

Roman, Joseph. Pablo Neruda. New York: Chelsea House, 1992. 111pp. MG/YA. Serves as a solid, basic source of information about the poet, his times, and political activities. Includes English translations of some of Neruda’s poetry.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Il Postino (1994). Director: Michael Radford. In a film adaptation of Skármeta’s novel, Philippe Noiret portrays Neruda who is fancifully exiled to Italy in 1952 to explore his relationship with the Italian postman played by Massimo Troisi. Video.

352. JOHN HENRY NEWMAN

1801–1890

English clergyman and founder of the Oxford Movement, Newman was a Church of England vicar and tutor at Oxford until his conversion to Roman Catholicism (1845). He entered the Oratorians and was eventually created a cardinal. He wrote several hymns, including “Lead Kindly Light,” as well as popular and inspiring essays, poetry, religious novels, and Apologia pro Vita Sua (1864), considered a masterpiece of religious autobiography.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Letters and Diaries. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1961–1995. 31 vols. This scholarly edition of Newman’s personal writings is indispensable for biographical insights. A one-volume collection is also available in Letters of John Henry Newman: A Selection. Derek Stanford and Muriel Spark, eds. (London: P.Owen, 1957. 251pp.).

Apologia pro Vita Sua: Being a History of His Religious Opinions. Martin J.Svaglic, ed. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1967. 604pp. Newman’s classic autobiography remains the starting point for biographers and readers interested in Newman’s perspective on his spiritual progress.

Autobiographical Writings. Henry Tristram, ed. New York: Sheed and Ward, 1957. 338pp. Includes all of Newman’s autobiographical writings besides the Apologia and is an invaluable aid to the study of Newman’s life.

Recommended Biographies

Ker, Ian. John Henry Newman: A Biography. New York: Oxford University Press, 1988. 762pp. Ker’s biography remains the best available single-volume study that skillfully combines Newman’s complex personality, public career, intellectual development, and artistry into a full-length, convincing portrait.

Trevor, Meriol. Newman. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1962–1963. 2 vols. Supplementing Ward’s life with new source material and providing a more balanced account between Newman’s Anglican and Catholic life, Trevor’s is an exhaustive portrait of Newman’s personal life. A useful abridgment of Trevor’s massive study is available as Newman’s Journey (Huntington, Indiana: Our Sunday Visitor Press, 1985. 271pp.).

Ward, Wilfrid. The Life of John Henry Cardinal Newman. New York: Longmans, 1912. 2 vols. Long serving as the standard account of Newman’s life and times, Ward’s comprehensive study retains its usefulness as a important source, primarily on Newman’s postconversion career.

Other Biographical Studies

Atkins, Gaius G. Life of Cardinal Newman. New York: Harper, 1931. 338pp. Superseded by later scholarship, Atkins’s is a sober profile that attempts to encapsulate Newman’s personality, development, and impact in a short, focused account. The book is often simplistic and as one contemporary reviewer pointed out, Atkins “failed not merely to construct in his own imagination the authentic Newman but even a coherent, vital, convincing Newman.”

Dessain, Charles S. John Henry Newman. 1966. Revised ed. New York: Oxford University Press, 1980. 178pp. The work of the archivist of Newman’s Birmingham Oratory, this is an intellectual biography with a strong Catholic bias, often far too polemical to be fully satisfying.

Lapati, Americo D. John Henry Newman. New York: Twayne, 1972. 161pp. This is compact, focused critical study of Newman’s intellectual development, connecting important details about the writer’s life and character with his work. Serves as a valuable supplement to other biographies more concerned with narrating Newman’s personal story.

Martin, Brian. John Henry Newman: His Life and Work. New York: Oxford University Press, 1982. 160pp. Martin’s is a brief but full account of Newman’s life and work, suitable as a solid and sound introductory overview.

O’Faolin, Scan. Newman’s Way: The Odyssey of John Henry Newman. New York: Devin-Adair, 1952. 335pp. The author concentrates on Newman’s development up to his conversion in an often eccentric, impressionistic, and highly critical profile.

Ruggles, Eleanor. Journey into Faith: The Anglican Life of John Henry Newman. New York: W.W. Norton, 1948. 336pp. Focused on the years leading up to Newman’s conversion to Catholicism, Ruggles adds useful background information to the Apologia, and the study serves as a useful complement to Newman’s autobiographical masterpiece.

Sencourt, Robert. The Life of Newman. London: Dacre Press, 1948. 314pp. Sencourt relates Newman’s intellectual and spiritual progress in terms of its wider cultural and historical contexts in a learned and useful study that sheds light on the influences that shaped Newman’s ideas and writings.

Ward, Maisie. Young Mr. Newman. New York: Sheed & Ward, 1948. 477pp. Wilfrid Ward’s daughter complements her father’s two-volume life with an objective study of Newman’s preconversion life, based on his diary and family letters. Newly available primary material has made Ward’s account out of date.

Biographical Novels

Trevor, Meriol. Shadows and Images. New York: McKay, 1960. 273pp. Newman’s conversion to Roman Catholicism is dramatized around a fictional story of a daughter of an Anglican clergyman who becomes engaged to a Roman Catholic. Trevor, a respected Newman biographer, uses Newman’s own letters and autobiographical writings to support this treatment.

353. ISAAC NEWTON

1642–1727

A mathematician and physicist who is considered by many to be the greatest and most influential scientist who ever lived, Newton entered Cambridge University in 1661. When the university closed (1664–1666) during the years of the great plague, Newton went home to Woolsthorpe, Lincolnshire, where he made his most important discoveries. From 1669 to 1701 he taught mathematics at Cambridge, was his university’s representative in Parliament (1689–1690, 1701–1702), served as president of the Royal Society from 1703 until his death, and was knighted in 1705. His achievements include the theory of universal gravitation, the development of calculus, the derivation of Kepler’s Law of planetary motion, the binomial theorem, and theories of optics. His theories are explained in his Philosophiae Naturalis Principia Mathematica (1687).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Correspondence. H.W.Turnbull, ed. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Cambridge University Press, 1959–1977. 7 vols. Newton’s collected letters are invaluable in reconstructing his ideas, personality, and relationships, and this is an excellent scholarly edition with useful annotations.

Stukeley, William. Memoirs of Sir Isaac Newton’s Life: Being Some Account of His Family and Chiefly of the Junior Part of his Life. A.Hastings White, ed. London: Taylor and Francis, 1936. 86pp. Virtually all of the information we have about Newton’s early life has been collected from eyewitness accounts in the 1750s by the antiquarian William Stukeley. His biographical anecdotes and own recollections remain the indispensable source for all future biographers.

Recommended Biographies

Christianson, Gale E. In the Presence of the Creator: Isaac Newton and His Times. New York: Free Press, 1984. 623pp. Without the thoroughness and authority of Westfall, Christianson’s comprehensive biography is more accessible, particularly for the nonscientist. Solidly based on primary sources and modern scholarship, the book presents Newton’s life in the context of his era.

Hall, A.Rupert. Isaac Newton: Adventurer in Thought. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Blackwell, 1992. 468pp. Summarizing modern scholarship on Newton’s life and scientific methods, Hall presents a straightforward, accessible overview of a complex figure who is displayed in his various roles as historian, theologian, chemist, civil servant, and natural philosopher. Hall argues that no single intellectual key, neither Platonism nor mysticism, serves to unlock the secrets of Newton’s genius, and that Hall’s eclectic intellectual approach does more justice to Newton’s multiplicity.

Manuel, Frank E. A Portrait of Isaac Newton. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1968. 478pp. In a psychological analysis Manuel traces Newton’s development and personality, piecing together clues provided from Newton’s own writings. Offering a number of revealing and provocative insights, most notably the trauma of his father’s early death and his mother’s remarriage on Newton’s make-up, Manuel’s is a convincing and well-documented, though ultimately in many cases hypothetical, interpretation of the scientist’s life and career.

Westfall, Richard S. Never at Rest: A Biography of Isaac Newton. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1980. 908pp. Justifiably considered the definitive modern biography, Westfall’s meticulously documented examination synthesizes past and present scholarship into a richly detailed portrait of a complex man seen through his remarkable scientific work. In Westfall’s capable handling, Newton the man, the scientist, philosopher, and public figure emerges clearly. The Life of Isaac Newton (New York: Cambridge University Press, 1993. 328pp.) is an abridged edition.

Other Biographical Studies

Andrade, Edward. Sir Isaac Newton. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1958. 140pp. With the virtue of brevity, Andrade offers a informed overview of Newton’s life and scientific career in which his contributions are placed in historical context. For the reader looking for a succinct introduction, this is a first-rate choice.

Brewster, Sir David. Life of Sir Isaac Newton. New York: Harper, 1831. 366pp.; Memoirs of the Life, Writings, and Discoveries of Sir Isaac Newton. Edinburgh: Constable, 1855. 2 vols. Brewster’s early popular life of Newton did much to establish his heroic reputation. Brewster continued gathering material on Newton from the scientist’s manuscripts and Stukeley’s materials, which was not published until 1936, organized into his monumental two-volume study from which most subsequent biographers have drawn materials and against which they have measured their own interpretation.

De Morgan, Augustus. Newton: His Friend and His Niece. 1855. Reprint ed. London: Dawsons, 1968. 161pp.; Essays on the Life and Work of Newton. Chicago: Open Court, 1914. 198pp. Contrary to the heroic portrait of Newton offered by Brewster, De Morgan’s examination is a more realistic depiction, critical of the flaws of Newton’s character and behavior, particularly to his niece. De Morgan helped to initiate a more human and complex view of Newton that has dominated many treatments of his life ever since De Morgan’s books were published.

Lerner, Aaron B. Einstein and Newton: A Comparison of Two Great Scientists. New York: Lerner, 1973. 234pp. Lerner’s dual biography contrasts the lives, characters, and contributions of the two scientists. Particularly useful in explaining Einstein’s debt and challenge to Newtonian physics.

More, Louis T. Isaac Newton: A Biography. New York: Scribner, 1934. 675pp. More’s lengthy and detailed critical study is based on extensive research in the Portsmouth collection of Newton’s personal and unpublished papers and is broadened by the author’s expertise in the history of science. Cogently and lucidly presented, More’s is an insightful and balanced portrait, now superseded by later studies incorporating more recent research.

White, Michael. Isaac Newton: The Last Sorcerer. Reading, Massachusetts: Addison-Wesley, 1997. 402pp. White’s revisionist intellectual biography widens the view of Newton by attending to elements in his character and work that challenge the popular conception of the pure scientist. White shows that Newton was a practicing alchemist and a student of biblical prophecy, astrology, numerology, and natural magic. The book traces the connections between the occult and Newton’s scientific achievements and personal eccentricities.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Anderson, Margaret J. Isaac Newton: The Greatest Scientist of All Time. Springfield, New Jersey: Enslow, 1996. 128pp. MG/YA. Newton the man is presented with extensive details about his personal habits and human eccentricities and flaws. His scientific discoveries, however, receive less satisfactory attention. The book does includes a number of experiments that help readers understand the scientific principles Newton studied.

Christianson, Gale E. Isaac Newton and the Scientific Revolution. New York: Oxford University Press, 1996. 155pp. YA. Christianson, the author of a valuable adult biography of Newton, animates the scientist’s personality and work by concentrating on the pivotal events in his life, including his upbringing, education, discoveries, and setbacks. Newton’s achievement is placed in its scientific and historical context.

Maury, Jean-Pierre. Newton: The Father of Modern Astronomy. New York: Abrams, 1992. 143pp. MG/YA. In a lively summary of Newton’s life and work, the scientist’s achievement as a physicist and astronomer is discussed, with many useful illustrations.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: Sir Isaac Newton: The Gravity of Genius (1996). Producer: Peter Doyle. Newton’s life, ideas, and achievements are presented in this documentary portrait. Video.

Peter the Great (1986). Directors: Marvin Chomsky and Lawrence Schiller. Television miniseries on the life of Peter the Great (Maximillian Schell) features an appearance by Trevor Howard as Isaac Newton. Video.

Other Sources

Gjertsen, Derek. The Newton Handbook. New York: Routledge, 1986. 665pp. More than 500 short entries alphabetically arranged on various aspects of Newton’s life and times, including scientific topics, historical background, influences, and contemporaries.

354. NICHOLAS II

1868–1918

The last Russian czar, Nicholas succeeded (1894) his father, Alexander III. An ineffective and autocratic ruler, his suppression of opposition and persecution of religious minorities gave rise to revolutionary movements, including the Social Democratic Labor Party (1898), later divided into the Mensheviks and Bolsheviks. The humiliating Russian defeat in the Russo-Japanese War (1904–1905) led to further revolts and strikes. After the Revolution of 1905, Nicholas granted limited civil rights and called the first elective Duma (parliament), but these reforms were not upheld. The military defeats of World War I, discontent at home, food shortages, and the increasing unpopularity of the czarina, who had filled the court with irresponsible favorites such as the monk, Rasputin, resulted in the 1917 Russian Revolution and the czar’s abdication and arrest. In July, 1918, Nicholas and his family were shot to death in a cellar in Ekaterinburg and their bodies burned.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Complete Wartime Correspondence of Tsar Nicholas II and the Empress Alexandra: April 1914-March 1917. Joseph T.Fuhrmann, ed. Westport, Connecticut: Greenwood, 1999. 773pp. This is the first complete edition of Nicholas and Alexandra’s letters and telegrams written during World War I that offer insights on their relationship and the events that led to the collapse of the czarist regime.

A Lifelong Passion: Nicholas and Alexandra: Their Own Story. Sergei Mironenko and Andrei Maylunas, eds. New York: Doubleday, 1997. 667pp. A selection of letters and private papers of Nicholas, Alexandra, their children, relatives, and confidants, including Nicholas’s diary, are arranged chronologically to approximate an autobiographical reflection from 1881 to 1918.

Recommended Biographies

Kurth, Peter. Tsar: The Lost World of Nicholas and Alexandra. Boston: Little, Brown, 1995. 229pp. Kurth’s beautifully illustrated biography presents a comprehensive overview of the reign and private life of Nicholas, Alexandra, and their family. Evenhanded in its assessment, Kurth’s biographical essay is well documented and sensitively written.

Lieven, D.C.B. Nicholas II: Twilight of the Empire. New York: St. Martin’s, 1994. 292pp. The work of a renowned expert on imperial Russian history, Lieven’s authoritative biography emphasizes Nicholas’s dual role as emperor and politician. Nicholas’s character and motives are fully explained in the context of his times and the various social and political forces he tried unsuccessfully to master.

Massie, Robert. Nicholas and Alexandra: An Intimate Account of the Last of the Romanovs and the Fall of Imperial Russia. New York: Atheneum, 1967. 584pp. Massie’s intimate history of the royal family focuses on Nicholas and Alexandra’s concern over their hemophilic son as the key for understanding their actions, including the rise to prominence of Rasputin. The book is a marvel of research and historical synthesis that is shaped into an entertaining compelling human drama. In The Romanovs: The Final Chapter (New York: Random House, 1995. 308pp.) Massie follows the Romanovs’ story beyond 1918 in a gripping historical and forensic search for truth surrounding the execution and the exposure of the claims of several reputed royal survivors, most notably Anna Anderson, whose assertion that she was their daughter Anastasia was invalidated by DNA testing.

Warth, Robert D. Nicholas II: The Life and Reign of Russia’s Last Monarch. New York: Greenwood, 1997. 344pp. In a comprehensive political biography, Warth makes use of the 1992 opening of the State Archive of the Russian Federation to present a fresh reassessment of Nicholas’s public life. In Warth’s view, Nicholas was a conscientious and intelligent ruler whose mistakes stemmed from his stubborn determination to uphold the autocratic tradition.

Other Biographical Studies

Botkin, Gleb. The Real Romanovs. New York: F.H. Revell, 1931. 336pp. The author, the son of Nicholas’s physician, who was raised in the Romanov court world, provides an intimate, personal view of the royal family and court life. Much of the book’s final section is devoted to supporting the claim that Anna Anderson was indeed Anastasia, Nicholas’s youngest daughter.

Cowles, Virginia. The Last Tsar. New York: Putnam, 1977. 232pp. Cowles’s biographical text to accompany a selection of photographs offers little that is new or original but instead is a straightforward account of the court world of the Romanovs, repeating the conventional wisdom of Nicholas’s weakness and Alexandra’s character flaws.

Ferro, Marc. Nicholas II: Last of the Tsars. New York: Oxford University Press, 1993. 305pp. Ferro, a French historian and expert on the Russian Revolution, in a fluently written study, captures Nicholas’s personality through letters, diaries, and contemporary accounts. Ferro’s apparent acceptance of one of the wilder theories that Nicholas and his family escaped execution and lived out their remaining years in the West undermines the book’s overall credibility.

King, Greg. The Last Empress: Life and Times of Alexandra Feodorovna, Empress of Russia. Secaucus, New Jersey: Carol, 1994. 431pp. In a popular, sympathetic biography of the consort of Nicholas II, King helps to explain Alexandra’s mature behavior by considering in depth her girlhood and early development. Quoting extensively from diaries, letters, and contemporary accounts, King offers a believable portrait of a flawed but compelling human figure.

Lyons, Marvin. Nicholas II: The Last Tsar. New York: St. Martin’s, 1974. 224pp. With many previous unpublished photographs, Lyons documents Nicholas’s life from birth to his captivity and execution. With a minimal text, the illustrations are allowed to tell their own compelling story of a lost royal world.

Perry, John Curtis, and Constantine V.Pleshakov. The Flight of the Romanovs: A Family Saga. New York: Basic Books, 1999. 427pp. This group portrait and history of the Romanov family follows members from the 1860s to the 1960s. The book concentrates on the final three czars: Alexander II, Alexander III, and Nicholas II in a balanced and revealing account.

Radzinsky, Edvard. The Last Tsar: The Life and Death of Nicholas II. New York: Doubleday, 1992. 475pp. Written by a prominent Russian playwright, Radzinsky devotes two-thirds of the book to an investigation into the events leading up to the execution of Nicholas II and his family, uncovering new details from previously unavailable Soviet sources while employing a dramatist’s sense of narrative tension and suspense. The book is less sure-footed on the political and social background of Nicholas’s reign.

Richards, Guy. The Hunt for the Czar. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1970. 265pp. Richards’s journalistic account focuses on the final year of Nicholas’s reign and the controversy over his and his family’s execution. Treated as a real-life intrigue drama, the book asserts that the royal family was rescued by two American secret agents for a life of exile in the West in a dubious version of the facts.

Biographical Novels

Bowen, True. And the Stars Shall Fall. New York: Wyn, 1951. 377pp. The life of the last Russian royal family is seen through the experiences of Alexandra who is depicted sympathetically in a reasonably accurate historical account of events.

Gavin, Catherine. The Snow Mountain. New York: Pantheon, 1974. 509pp. The final years of the Romanovs are seen from the perspective of Nicholas’s eldest daughter in a convincing view with a reliable historical framework.

Hoe, Susanna. God Save the Tsar. New York: St. Martin’s, 1978. 223pp. Although imagining the escape of the Romanovs from Ekaterinburg, the novel begins with a scrupulously accurate account of what is known of the final days of Nicholas and his family and a plausible reconstruction of their relationships with one another.

Lambton, Antony. Elizabeth and Alexandra. New York: Dutton, 1986. 415pp. In a scrupulously researched, factually based account, the novel tells the story of Alexandra’s younger sister Elizabeth, who marries Nicholas II’s uncle.

Fictional Portraits

Appel, Allen. Time after Time. New York: Carroll & Graf, 1985. 377pp. In an inventive time travel story, a young history professor journeys to Russia during the revolution and becomes involved with the fate of the Romanovs.

Borovsky, Natasha. A Daughter of the Nobility. New York: Holt, 1985. 500pp. A young Russian woman becomes a friend of Nicholas’s children as the events of the Russian Revolution destroy the family.

Butler, Gwendoline. The Red Staircase. New York: Coward-McCann, 1979. 431pp. A young woman is hired as a companion to a Russian child, but she is employed to help break the power of Rasputin over the czar’s family.

Haskin, Gretchen. An Imperial Affair. New York: Dial Press, 1980. 312pp. A Russian prince attempts to rescue the Romanovs from Ekaterinburg in 1917.

Lescroart, John T. Rasputin's Revenge. New York: D.I.Fine, 1987. 285pp. In an inventive mystery with authentic period touches, Sherlock Holmes's son is summoned to Russia by Alexandra to root out an assassin who is eliminating the czar's advisers.

Pazzi, Roberto. Search for the Emperor. New York: Knopf, 1988. 195pp. This is a fanciful story about an attempt to rescue Nicholas and his family. In The Princess and the Dragon (New York: Knopf, 1990. 162pp.) the collapse of Romanov control is glimpsed from the perspective of the Grand Duke George, Nicholas's younger brother.

Solzhenitsyn, Aleksandr. November 1916: The Red Wheel/Knot II. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1998. 1,014pp. In the second volume of the author's immense historical panorama, following August 1914 (1972), Solzhenitsyn chronicles Russia at the outbreak of the revolution with an immense cast of fictional and historical characters, including Nicholas II.

Stevens, R.T. The Summer Day Is Gone. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1976. 424pp. In this invented tale, a British secret agent ingratiates himself with the Russian royal family in 1911.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Vogt, George. Nicholas II New York: Chelsea House, 1987. 116pp. MG/YA. Vogt traces Nicholas's reign and his relationship with his family in this competent biography with a strong historical component.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: Rasputin: The Mad Monk (1997). Producer: Thomas Fuchs. This profile of Rasputin traces his relationship with Nicholas II and his family. Video.

A&E Biography Video: Secrets of the Romanovs (1997). Producer: FilmRoos. Producer: Based on previously unavailable archival sources, the story of the final days of Nicholas and his family are depicted using rare footage and interviews. Video.

Anastasia: The Mystery of Anna (1986). Director: Marvin J.Chomsky. Amy Irving portrays the woman who claimed to be the Grand Duchess Anastasia, the sole surviving daughter of Nicholas (Omar Sharif) who relives her experience of her family's murder. Video.

The Last Days of the Last Tsar (1992). Director: Anatoly Ivanov. Mixing dramatic re-creations and newsreel footage, the film documents the exile and execution of Nicholas II and his family. Video.

Last of the Czars (1996). Directors: Mark Anderson and Teresa Cherfas. Featuring never-before-seen film footage and survivor interviews, the end of the Romanov dynasty is presented. Video.

Nicholas and Alexandra (1971). Director: Franklin J.Schaffner. Based on Robert Massie's book, this is an elaborate film chronicle of the final years of Nicholas's reign, with fine performances by Michael Jayston and Janet Suzman in the title roles and an all-star supporting cast, including Laurence Olivier, Michael Redgrave, Jack Hawkins, and Curt Jurgens. Video.

Rasputin (1985). Director: Elem Klimov. Russian version of Rasputin's relationship with the Romanovs. Video.

Rasputin and the Empress (1933). Director: Richard Boleslawski. Ethel, John, and Lionel Barrymore are together for the first and only time on film in this early film treatment of the Romanovs and the influence of Rasputin. Ralph Morgan depicts Nicholas II. Video.

Rasputin: Dark Servant of Destiny (1996). Director: Uli Edel. Ian McKellen portrays Nicholas and Greta Scacchi is Alexandra in this impressive production filmed in St. Petersburg. The film is dominated by Alan Rickman's haunting portrait of Rasputin. Video.

Rasputin the Mad Monk (1966). Director: Don Sharp. Christopher Lee attempts Rasputin in this version of the Romanovs' story. With Barbara Shelley, Richard Pasco, and Francis Matthews. Video.

Russia's Last Tsar (1994). Director: Robert Kenner. In a National Geographic television special, Nicholas's life and reign are documented using newly discovered photographs and archival film. Video.

Other Sources

Mironenko, Sergei, et al. Nicholas and Alexandra: The Last Imperial Family of Tsarist Russia. New York: Abrams, 1998. 400pp. The story of Nicholas and Alexandra is glimpsed through their possessions in a beautifully illustrated display of the imperial family treasures along with chapters on various aspects of their lives and society.

355. FRIEDRICH NIETZSCHE

1844–1900

Influential German philosopher, Nietzsche was born in Prussia, the son of a clergyman. He studied Greek and Latin at Bonn and Leipzig and was appointed (1869) to the chair of classical philology at Basel. He was forced to leave his post (1879) because of nervous disturbances and eye trouble. By 1889, he had suffered a complete mental breakdown. Nietzsche introduced the concept of the "superman," who transcends slavish Christianity and creates a new, heroic morality through his creative "will to power." This concept was misappropriated by the Nazi party in the 1930s and 1940s, who used it to justify their idea of Aryan supremacy. Nietzsche's most famous works include Thus Spake Zarathustra (1893–1891) and Beyond Good and Evil (1886).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Ecce Homo: How One Becomes What One Is. New York: Penguin, 1993. 141pp. Written in 1888, only a month before his final collapse into madness, Nietzsche wrote this assessment of his own development. He details the heroes he identified with and struggled against, including Schopenhauer, Wagner, and Christ and clarifies the main tenets of his beliefs. All is expressed in a mixture of styles and moods.

Nietzsche: A Self-Portrait from His Letters. Peter Fuss and Henry Shapiro, eds. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1971. 196pp. Using excerpts from Nietzsche's letters from 1866 to 1889, the editors arrange a autobiographical profile of the philosopher.

Selected Letters of Friedrich Nietzsche. Christopher Middleton, ed. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1969. 370pp. This selection of more than 200 letters emphasizes multiple sides of the philosopher and is a good introduction to many of his ideas and themes that his writings develop.

Recommended Biographies

Hayman, Ronald. Nietzsche: A Critical Life. New York: Oxford University Press, 1980. 424pp. Hayman's developmental biography relates the details of Nietzsche's life with his ideas and works in a dramatic, balanced narrative portrait. Hayman makes the often confusing multiplicity of Nietzsche's life and philosophy into an accessible and compelling pattern.

Hollingdale, R.J. Nietzsche: The Man and His Philosophy. Baton Rouge: Louisiana State University Press, 1965. 326pp. Written in part to rescue Nietzsche from both his Nazi admirers and detractors, Hollingdale attempts to see the philosopher in the context of his ideas, considering each of his works in relation to his biography and his intellectual development. Well written and balanced, the book helps the reader appreciate Nietzsche in his own terms, allowing him to speak for himself without a distorting agenda from the author.

Kaufman, Walter. Nietzsche: Philosopher, Psychologist, Antichrist. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1950. 409pp. Kaufman, the translator of Nietzsche's works into English, presents a seminal reappraisal of the philosopher's life and work that corrects previous misinterpretations of both. Nietzsche's development is insightfully traced, showing his influences, consistency, and coherence as a thinker.

Other Biographical Studies

Andreas-Salomé, Lou. Nietzsche. 1894. Redding Ridge, Connecticut: Black Swan Books, 1988. 168pp. The work of a close companion of Nietzsche during the 1880s, the book offers a number of interesting firsthand observations but is unreliable as a completely factual account of the philosopher's life.

Brinton, Crane. Nietzsche. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1941. 266pp. In a short biographical study marred by factual errors and bias, Brinton fails to extract Nietzsche from Naziism, in which he is seen as a inspiration and a symptom of a peculiarly German madness.

Chamberlain, Lesley. Nietzsche in Turin: An Intimate Biography. New York: St. Martin's, 1997. 272pp. Limited to Nietzsche's 1888 year in Turin, the last year before his descent into madness. Chamberlain details the philosopher's relationship with Wagner and his private torments in which despair was resisted by an explosive creative energy.

Sympathetic and insightful. Chamberlain’s portrait serves to connect Nietzsche’s personal experiences with his ideas.

Copleston, Frederick. Friedrich Nietzsche: Philosopher of Culture. 1942. Reprint ed. New York: Barnes and Noble, 1975. 273pp. Combining a biographical profile and a critical treatment of Nietzsche’s ideas, Copleston achieves a balanced and sympathetic portrait considering the general hostility to the man and his ideas when the book first appeared.

Danto, Arthur C. Nietzsche as Philosopher. New York: Macmillan, 1965. 250pp. Viewing Nietzsche’s life primarily through his works, Danto attempts to connect all of the philosopher’s thinking into a coherent system, resolving contradictions and inconsistencies. Often provocative, Danto makes a strong case for Nietzsche’s modern relevance.

Halévy, Daniel. The Life of Friedrich Nietzsche. New York: Macmillan, 1911. 368pp. In a clear and balanced early biographical study that is sympathetic to Nietzsche, Halévy does not gloss over the disagreeable aspects of his character.

Mügge, Maximilian A. Friedrich Nietzsche: His Life and Work. New York: Brentano’s, 1908. 458pp. This early biographical study is one of the first rigorously scholarly works that helped establish the factual record, correcting misconceptions and errors committed by Andreas-Salomé and Nietzsche’s sisters.

Nehamas, Alexander. Nietzsche: Life as Literature. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1985. 261pp. In an original and challenging interpretation of Nietzsche’s ideas and development Nehamas focuses on several paradoxes in the philosopher’s view and offers the means to resolve them in a consistent approach to Nietzsche’s outlook and temperament.

Pletsch, Carl. Young Nietzsche Becoming a Genius. New York: Free Press, 1991. 261pp. Pletsch focuses on Nietzsche’s early life and writing and the forces that shaped his development, relying heavily on Freudian analysis. After the trauma of his father’s death when Nietzsche was five, the philosopher, in Pletsch’s view, sought and rebelled against a series of actual and intellectual fathers. The book is particularly strong on Nietzsche’s relationship with Wagner.

Reyburn, H.A. Nietzsche: The Story of a Human Philosopher. London: Macmillan, 1946. 499pp. Reyburn’s psychological analysis of Nietzsche’s life and philosophy traces the sources of his ideas to his personal torments, relying on considerable speculation and conjecture to make his case.

Taylor, Quentin P. The Republic of Genius: A Reconstruction of Nietzsche’s Early Thought. Rochester. New York: University of Rochester Press, 1997. 288pp. Taylor looks at Nietzsche’s early life and writing and the personal, social, cultural, and political influences that shaped his early philosophy.

Biographical Novels

Krell. David F. Nietzsche: A Novel. Albany: State University of New York Press, 1996. 364pp. This fictionalized portrait of the philosopher focuses on his sad end after being institutionalized in 1889.

Fictional Portraits

Yalom, Irvin D. When Nietzsche Wept: A Novel of Obsession New York: Basic Books, 1992. 306pp. After the breakup of Nietzsche’s affair with Lou Salomé, his suicidal despair leads him to a fanciful meeting with pioneering psychiatrist Josef Breuer. As their relationship grows into friendship, the pair discovers that they share much in common. The meeting is invented, but the essential details of the lives of each figure have a strong factual basis.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Wagner (1983). Director: Tony Palmer. Originally a nine-hour British television mini-series, Richard Burton’s last film release is a visually stunning but overlong and confusing biographical depiction of the composer’s life with Burton in the lead and Vanessa Redgrave as Cosima Wagner. Ronald Pickup portrays Nietzsche. Video.

Other Sources

Magnum, Bernard, and Kathleen M.Higgins, eds. The Cambridge Companion to Nietzsche. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1996. 403pp. Useful for the first-time reader and specialist, this collection of critical essays explores various aspects of Nietzsche’s life, ideas, and works.

356. FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE

1823–1910

English nurse and the founder of modern nursing, Nightingale studied with the nursing sisters of St. Vincent de Paul and at the institute for Protestant deaconesses in Kaiserswirth, Germany. In 1854, during the Crimean War, she was asked by the British government to recruit and train nurses to tend wounded soldiers. She sailed with 38 nurses to Scutari, where she improved sanitary conditions and discipline in two large army hospitals. Known as “The Lady with the Lamp,” Nightingale had become a legend by the war’s end. She established (1860) the Nightingale School and Home for training nurses in London and was the first woman awarded the British Order of Merit (1907).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Ever Yours, Florence Nightingale: Selected Letters. Martha Vicinus and Bea Nergaard, eds. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1990. 461pp. This selection of Nightingale’s correspondence includes thoughtful, linking biographical essays that put her letters in the context of her activities and achievements. The woman behind the legend emerges clearly and instructively.

Florence Nightingale: Letters and Reflections. Rosemary Hartill, ed. Harrisberg, Pennsylvania: Morehouse, 1997. 160pp. In a useful collection of Nightingale’s letters and writings a very different impression of the reformer emerges that serves to humanize her and challenges the conventional wisdom of her saintliness.

“I Have Done My Duty”: Florence Nightingale in the Crimean War, 1854–56. Sue M.Goldie, ed. Iowa City: University of Iowa Press, 1987. 326pp. This collection of Nightingale’s correspondence from the Crimea offers a fascinating self-portrait during her most challenging period and an alternative view of Nightingale that strongly contrasts with the mythical figure she became in popular imagination.

Letters from Egypt. Anthony Sattin, ed. London: Weidenfeld & Nicolson, 1987. 223pp. Nightingale’s letters home during her five-month tour of Egypt in 1849–1950 has been described as the “best personal travel account of Egypt ever written.”

Nightingale’s writings are available in several volumes that illuminate her experiences, ideas, and attitudes. See particularly Notes on Nursing: What It Is and What It Is Not. 1860. (Reprinted. New York: Dover, 1969. 140pp.); “Cassandra” and Other Selections from Suggestions for Thought. Mary Poovey, ed. (New York: New York University Press, 1993. 244pp.); and Suggestions for Thought: Selections and Commentaries. Janet A.MacRae, ed. (Philadelphia: University of Pennsylvania Press, 1994. 218pp.).

Recommended Biographies

Cook, Sir Edward. The Life of Florence Nightingale. London: Macmillan, 1913. 2 vols. Cook’s official biography remains the most comprehensive, authoritative source on Nightingale’s life, making full use of the extensive private archive that he had access to for the first time. Her Crimean experience is rightly regarded as the starting point for more valuable contributions. Well balanced and critical, Cook details Nightingale’s achievements without glossing over her contradictions and failings.

Hobbs, Colleen A. Florence Nightingale. New York: Twayne, 1997. 110pp. Hobbs’s insightful critical study of Nightingale’s writings, including both her published and unpublished works on travel and nursing, her letters, and spiritual autobiography captures the complexity of her ideas and relates them to her life and accomplishments.

Small, Hugh. Florence Nightingale: Avenging Angel. New York: St. Martin’s, 1999. 221pp. Drawing on previously unavailable sources, Small presents a revisionist view of Nightingale that challenges many conventional depictions of her life and her achievement. Arguing that Nightingale’s breakdown following the Crimean War was not neurosis but guilt over the death of so many in wartime hospitals, Small adds depth to our view of Nightingale as a person and her relationships.

Woodham-Smith, Mrs. Cecil. Florence Nightingale 1820–1910. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1951. 372pp. Based on extensive research in primary material, Woodham-Smith delivers a lively, well-balanced, and readable narrative synthesis of multiple sources. Not as authoritative or as detailed as Cook, Woodham-Smith’s more succinct account will appeal to the general reader.

Other Biographical Studies

Andrews, Mary R.S. A Lost Commander: Florence Nightingale. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1929. 299pp. Andrews’s sentimental account of Nightingale’s life is written to contrast with Strachey’s more realistic portrait that underscores her saintly achievements. Indulging in a number of imaginary conversations and scenes, the book is not fully reliable but does provide many quotations from Nightingale’s letters and contemporaries’ recollections.

Dossey, Barbara M. Florence Nightingale: Mystic, Visionary, Reformer. Springhouse, Pennsylvania: Springhouse Corp., 1999. 350pp. Serves as an authoritative reference source on Nightingale’s life, her family background, her war service, and health care theories and practices.

Goldsmith, Margaret L. Florence Nightingale: The Woman and the Legend. London: Hodder and Stoughton, 1937. 320pp. In an undocumented popular account based mainly on Cook, Goldsmith provides a balanced, unsentimental portrait that serves the general reader well as a reliable introduction to the woman and her era.

Huxley, Elspeth. Florence Nightingale. New York: Putnam, 1975. 254pp. Drawing mainly on Cook and Woodham-Smith for her sources, Huxley offers little that is new or original in a straightforward narrative account that serves to make clear the considerable obstacles Nightingale faced from her family and medical profession. Usefully illustrated, the book is a serviceable introduction for the general reader.

Smith, F.B. Florence Nightingale: Reputation and Power. New York: St. Martin’s, 1982. 216pp. In a carefully researched reassessment, Smith concentrates on Nightingale’s methods and relationship with politicians, civil servants, and philanthropists to expose many unflattering aspects of the Nightingale legend and her own self-promotion. Not a full-scale biography. Smith’s is a valuable reevaluation of Nightingale’s reforms based on a thorough reading of the various Nightingale papers.

Strachey, Lytton. Eminent Victorians. New York: Modern Library, 1999. 267pp. Strachey’s essay, first published in 1918, attempts to penetrate the various levels of the Nightingale myth to offer a more human, complex, but compelling portrait of the reformer who seems far more believable as an individual than as a saint.

Biographical Novels

Gordon, Richard. The Private Life of Florence Nightingale. New York: Atheneum, 1979. 232pp. The discrepancy between Nightingale’s public persona and her true character is exposed by a muckraking journalist who manages an unsympathetic and diminished human portrait.

Terrot, Charles. The Passionate Pilgrim. New York: Harper, 1949. 231pp. The story of Nightingale’s efforts to introduce women as nurses in military hospitals during the Crimean War is dramatized in a simplified and idealized presentation within a framework of historical fact.

Fictional Portraits

Holt, Victoria. Secret for a Nightingale. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1986. 371pp. This historical romance tells the story of a widow who begins a nursing career and works alongside Nightingale in the Crimea.

Perry, Anne. A Sudden Fearful Death. New York: Fawcett, 1993. 383pp. In this installment of the author’s historical mystery series, William Monk investigates the strangling death of one of Nightingale’s nurses in London.

Rayner, Claire. Bedford Row. New York: Putnam, 1977. 278pp. In the seventh installment of the author’s Performers series, Martha Lackland travels to Scutari during the Crimean War where she encounters Nightingale in her nursing work.

Thorne, Nicola. Sisters & Lovers. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1981. 589pp. Events and personalities during the Victorian period are seen from the perspectives of three sisters, including a glimpse of Nightingale’s work during the Crimean War.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Shor, Donnali. Florence Nightingale. Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Silver Burdett, 1990. 104pp. MG. Part of the What Made Them Great series, this is a clear and straightforward account of Nightingale’s life and career.

Siegel, Beatrice. Faithful Friend: The Story of Florence Nightingale. New York: Scholastic, 1991. 128pp. MG. Siegel offers a balanced account of Nightingale’s career, with an emphasis on the adversity that she faced in trying to improve health care.

Woodham-Smith, Mrs. Cecil. Lonely Crusader: The Life of Florence Nightingale. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1951. 255pp. YA. This abridged edition of the author’s highly acclaimed adult biography eliminates some of the social and political details and treats Nightingale’s later years less fully.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Reid, Edith G. Florence Nightingale. New York: Macmillan, 1922. 118pp. Reid’s drama treats the significant events of Nightingale’s life in a sentimental and lifeless fashion.

Florence Nightingale (1990). Producer: David Wallace. Nightingale’s life and work is chronicled through photographs, drawings, and her own words, as well as interviews with authorities on her career and nursing theory. Video.

The Lady of the Lamp (1951). Director: Herbert Wilcox. This heroic biographical film portrays Nightingale’s (Anna Neagle) nursing career. Helena Pachard portrays Victoria, with Arthur Young as Gladstone.

The White Angel (1936). Director: William Dieterle. Not reliable as either biography or history, Nightingale’s career is dramatized by a miscast Kay Francis in the title role, supported by Halliwell Hobbes as Lord Raglan.

357. RICHARD M.NIXON

1913–1994

The thirty-seventh U.S. president (1969–1974), Nixon was born into a Quaker family in Yorba Linda, California. He graduated from Whittier College (1934) and received his law degree from Duke University (1937). After serving in World War II, he was elected to the House of Representatives (1946, 1948) and the Senate (1950). He first achieved prominence as a member of the House Un-American Activities Committee investigating alleged communists. Nixon was elected vice president (1952, 1956) in the Eisenhower administration but lost the 1960 presidential election to John F.Kennedy and failed to win the governorship of California (1963). He defeated (1968) Hubert Humphrey for the presidency and was reelected in 1972. He began a gradual withdrawal from Vietnam but ordered invasions of Cambodia and Laos (1970), the bombing of Hanoi, and the mining of Haiphong Harbor (1972). He pursued détente with the USSR and was the first president to visit China (1972). The Watergate scandal and the resulting impeachment hearings led to his resignation from office. He was pardoned by his successor, Gerald Ford. He retired to write his memoirs and other books, and in his later years emerged as an elder statesman.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

In the Arena: A Memoir of Victory, Defeat, and Renewal. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1990. 384pp. Nixon’s final retrospective on his career in which he settles old scores and refights old battles is an often rambling but revealing look at the man and his preoccupations. Admirers and opponents will each find much to sustain their positions.

Leaders. New York: Warner Books, 1982. 371pp. Biographical profiles of a wide selection of world leaders, including De Gaulle, MacArthur, Khrushchev, Zhou Enlai, Anwar el-Sadat, and Golda Meir, enlivened by Nixon’s description of his personal encounters with them.

RN: The Memoirs of Richard Nixon. New York: Grosset & Dunlap, 1978. 1,120pp. Informative, though selective and rarely self-revealing, Nixon’s account is mostly based on his appointment diary, in which he provides his version of the events during his presidency.

Six Crises. Garden City, Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1962. 460pp. Nixon reveals his thoughts on such personal and professional challenges as the Hiss case, the 1952 fund scandal, Eisenhower’s 1955 heart attack, Nixon’s 1958 trip to Caracas, his 1959 meetings with Khrushchev, and the 1960 election campaign.

Recommended Biographies

Ambrose, Stephen E. Nixon. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1987–1991. 3 vols. Ambrose’s absorbing, straightforward narrative chronology is the most comprehensive factual record of Nixon’s life and career. The book fairly displays both sides of Nixon, the personality details that brought about his downfall as well as his domestic and foreign policy successes, but Ambrose devotes less attention to analysis and interpretation than to set the basic record straight in an unbiased, objective manner and allows readers to reach their own conclusions.

Brodie, Fawn M. Richard Nixon: The Shaping of His Character. New York: W.W.Norton, 1981. 574pp. Brodie’s is the most factually reliable of the several psychological studies of Nixon. As its subtitle indicates, the author investigates Nixon’s development, particularly strong on his early years and political career. The study takes Nixon’s story to 1963 with only a chapter on his later years.

Morris, Roger. Richard Milhous Nixon: The Rise of an American Politician. New York: Holt, 1990. 1,005 pp. In the first of a projected three-volume biography, Morris narrates Nixon’s development and early political career up to the 1952 election. Excellently researched, authoritative in its details, and fresh in its insights, Morris amasses impressive data into a compelling, human story that brings the reader closer than any other study to an understanding of a complex individual’s formative years.

Parmet, Herbert S. Richard Nixon and His America. Boston: Little, Brown, 1990. 775pp. Parmet places Nixon’s life and career in the context of social and intellectual history in a sympathetic reappraisal. The book follows the suggestion of the author that history will be kinder to Nixon’s strengths and achievements. While critical of Nixon’s early campaigns and mixed presidential record, Parmet offers a less shadowy, less complicated, and tormented figure, stressing his rise over his fall (Watergate is covered in only six pages at the book’s close).

Other Biographical Studies

Abrahamsen, David. Nixon vs. Nixon: An Emotional Tragedy. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1977. 267pp. The author, a psychoanalyst, provides a clinical evaluation of Nixon whose self-destructive contradictions reveal a severe character disorder. Based on an analysis of Nixon’s writings, public statements, and interviews, Abrahamsen offers a number of interesting insights into Nixon’s behavior and motivation, and is far less strident and sensational than other psychohistories of the man, but the author is too far removed from his patient to offer a fully reliable, believable diagnosis.

Aitken, Jonathan. Nixon: A Life. Washington, DC: Regnery, 1993. 633pp. The first biography written with Nixon’s full cooperation, Aitken’s study features access to previously sealed private papers and extensive interviews that shed considerable fresh light on Nixon’s personality and career development, even as the core of the man eludes him.

Anson, Robert S. Exile: The Unquiet Oblivion of Richard M.Nixon. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1984. 360pp. This objective journalistic account of Nixon’s life from his resignation to his seventieth birthday in 1983 chronicles the process of Nixon’s rehabilitation based on extensive interviews, though not with Nixon himself. Scrupulous in its research, this is a valuable summary of the decade following Nixon’s fall from power.

Cavan, Sherri. 20th Century Gothic: America’s Nixon. San Francisco: Wigan Pier Press, 1979. 330pp. The author seeks a sociohistorical explanation of Nixon’s character and career as expressed in his dichotomous, gothic outlook of the struggle between the forces of good and evil. Like Wills, Cavan uses her portrait of Nixon to explore wider themes concerning the American character and the Nixonian era.

Costello, William. The Facts about Nixon: An Unauthorized Biography. New York: Viking, 1960. 306pp. Based on a careful examination of the public record, Costello concentrates on Nixon’s campaigns while vice president to present a devastating indictment of Nixon’s deceit and ruthlessness. Objective yet critical without hostility, Costello adds to the biographical record essential details of Nixon’s strengths and flaws as a politician, even as the core of his personality remains elusive.

De Toledano, Ralph. Nixon. 1956. Revised ed. New York: Duell, Sloan and Pearce, 1960. 250pp.; One Man Alone: Richard Nixon. New York: Funk & Wagnalls, 1969. 386pp. Both of the author’s biographical studies are unapologetic defenses of Nixon’s character and public career. Preaching mainly to the converted among Nixon’s supporters, De Toledano rewrites history at several important stages in Nixon’s career to diminish the negatives that a more objective, critical study must acknowledge.

Gellman, Irwin F. The Contender: Richard Nixon: The Congress Years, 1946–1952. New York: Free Press, 1999. 590pp. Focusing on Nixon’s first congressional race to his vice presidential nomination in 1952, the author refutes the charges against him as an unprincipled opportunist and the non-factually supported tenets of the conventional anti-Nixon myth. Avoiding consideration of Nixon’s personality, the book concentrates on his public career in a challenging revision of accepted wisdom regarding Nixon’s political beginnings, drawing exclusively on primary, archival sources.

Henderson, Charles P. The Nixon Theology. New York: Harper & Row, 1972. 210pp. Henderson’s psychological and moral analysis of Nixon’s beliefs and development attempts to solve the enigma of his character by demonstrating his attempt to reconcile his religious faith with his contradictory personal experience. In Henderson’s view Nixon misappropriated religious values into a strident patriotism and defense of his own political ends.

Hoyt, Edwin P. The Nixons: An American Family. New York: Random House, 1972. 307pp. This admiring genealogical study traces Nixon’s ancestors through critical periods of American history such as the American Revolution and Civil War. Nixon’s own life is presented in glowing terms from his childhood to the presidency.

Keogh, James. This Is Nixon. New York: Putnam, 1956. 191pp. This early complimentary campaign biography was intended to address the charges of Nixon’s opponents that he lacked principles and convictions. Using Nixon’s own words to complement a review of his political record, Keogh presents a portrait of the man too perfect to be credible.

Kornitzer, Béla. The Real Nixon: An Intimate Biography. Chicago: Rand McNally, 1960. 352pp. The book focuses on Nixon’s family background and early influences on his development. Ignoring the more unflattering and controversial aspects of Nixon’s character and career, Kornitzer’s highly burnished heroic portrait is chiefly valuable for the domestic details of Nixon’s personal life.

Lurie, Leonard. The Running of Richard Nixon. New York: Coward-McCann, 1972. 409pp. In a highly critical examination, Lurie traces Nixon’s development from childhood through his first term, accumulating damning evidence that supports the book’s thesis that Nixon was completely lacking in principles and honesty, driven by political expediency and a lust for power. Confirmed Nixon opponents will no doubt agree, but the book’s lack of objectivity limits its reliability and thoroughness.

Mazlish, Bruce. In Search of Nixon: A Psychohistorical Inquiry. New York: Basic Books, 1972. 187pp. Mazlish’s brief psychological sketch by a history professor serves to unite the private and public sides of Nixon’s character in a restrained but still thesis-dominated Freudian reading, drawn from Nixon’s own writings and speeches as well as secondary sources. Without more intimate access, Mazlish’s interpretation is intriguing but unverifiable.

Mazo, Earl. Richard Nixon: A Political and Personal Portrait. New York: Harper, 1959. 309pp. Based on numerous interviews with Nixon and his friends and enemies, Mazo offers a psychological portrait and an examination of his political career. Although ultimately fair and sympathetic, Mazo does not gloss over the less flattering and damning charges and concludes that Nixon lacked core political convictions.

Mazo, Earl, and Stephen Hess. Nixon: A Political Portrait. New York: Harper & Row, 1968. 326pp. This is an update of Mazo’s earlier book, adding eight new chapters bringing Nixon’s story up to his second presidential campaign. Like the previous book, the authors are balanced in their assessment, granting both Nixon’s achievements and strengths as well as his failures and flaws.

Small, Melvin. The Presidency of Richard Nixon. Lawrence: University Press of Kansas, 1999. 387pp. Arranged topically, Small’s evaluative study of the Nixon administration is a balanced assessment based on fresh archival sources.

Spalding, Henry D. The Nixon Nobody Knows. Middle Village, New York: J.David, 1972. 456pp. A flattering appreciation that stresses a warm and sympathetic man misunderstood by his critics. Nixon’s childhood and early political career, particularly the Alger Hiss case, are covered but with an emphasis on Nixon’s unblemished heroic qualities as befits a campaign biography.

Sulzberger, C.L. The World and Richard Nixon. New York: Prentice-Hall, 1987. 269pp. Nixon’s foreign policy achievements are the focus in this assessment of the Nixon presidency based on extensive interviews with the former president and world leaders. Sulzberger concludes that Nixon should be seen as an adept and farsighted statesman who made an important historical contribution to American foreign policy.

Volkan, Vamik, Norman Itzkowitz, and Andrew Dod. Richard Nixon: A Psychobiography. New York: Columbia University Press, 1997. 190pp. Based on extensive interviews with Nixon intimates, the authors explore the development of Nixon’s complex psyche in a psychobiography that draws useful connections between his unconscious and emotional make-up and his leadership style and actions.

Voorhis, Horace J. The Strange Case of Richard Nixon. New York: P.S.Ericksson, 1972. 341pp. Nixon’s congressional opponent in 1946 offers his own assessment of the man who defeated him by carefully presenting Nixon’s record on a number of political issues as well as a litany of Nixon’s campaign abuses and presidential failures.

White, Theodore H. Breach of Faith: The Fall of Richard Nixon. New York: Atheneum, 1975. 373pp. In a highly readable journalistic account, White describes the end of the Nixon presidency from Nixon’s first reaction to the news of the Watergate burglary to his resignation. Both Nixon admirers and detractors will find their conceptions challenged in this solid reporting effort. Unfortunately White’s analysis draws few connections between Nixon’s fall and earlier behavior, and his defense of Nixon’s men in the White House seems overly generous.

Wicker, Tom. One of Us: Richard Nixon and the American Dream. New York: Random House, 1991. 731pp. In an impressionist reassessment of Nixon’s life and career and its larger significance, Wicker, a former member of Nixon’s “enemies list,” rates Nixon as one of the greatest presidents and a representative, compellingly tragic figure. Wicker offers perspectives on both Nixon’s underappreciated achievements and his transgressions.

Wills, Garry. Nixon Agonistes: The Crisis of the Self-Made Man. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1970. 617pp. Wills treats Nixon as symbol in this discursive meditation on American politics and character. In the author’s view Nixon is a personification of American “classical liberalism,” self-created and ever-adaptive to the expediency of popular opinion. Frequently insightful, Wills uses his interpretation of Nixon’s personality and character to examine American values.

Woodstone, Arthur. Nixon’s Head. New York: St. Martin’s, 1972. 248pp. In a savage psychological analysis by a British journalist, selective evidence is arranged with considerable speculation to support a view of Nixon as an unstable, reactionary anal compulsive beset by a punishing self-anger. No attempt has been made here to balance his attack with any mitigation.

Woodward, Bob, and Carl Bernstein. The Final Days. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1976. 476pp. Based on extensive unnamed sources, the authors provide a behind-the-scenes look at the final weeks of the Nixon presidency. Lacking the perspective of distance and scholarly thoroughness, the book is at times a riveting narrative of hearsay evidence from unattributed sources and striking vignettes.

Fictional Portraits

Coover, Robert. The Public Burning. New York: Viking, 1977. 534pp. Set during the first year of the Eisenhower administration, Coover’s political fantasy dealing with the Rosenbergs, features a prominent role for Nixon who reminisces about his early years and is one of the most interesting figures in this dark satire.

Enrlichman, John. The China Card. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1986. 523pp. Ehrlichman’s political thriller is woven around the events of Nixon’s visit to China and offers an interesting portrait of the author’s former boss.

Maxwell, Mark. Nixoncarver. New York: St. Martin’s, 1998. 178pp. This ingenious fantasy speculates on what might have happened had Nixon met writer Raymond Carver while walking along a California beach and became friends. The inner compulsions of both men are explored.

Roth, Philip. Our Gang. New York: Bantam, 1973. 237pp. Roth’s acid political satire involves President Nixon in a deadly contest with the Boy Scouts over the abortion issue in which the author flays Nixon, his leadership, and the contemporary political scene.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Goldman, Martin S. and John A.Scott. Richard M. Nixon: The Complex President. New York: Facts on File, 1998. 146pp. MG/YA. This is an in-depth examination of Nixon’s personality and career that manages a sophisticated view of the man and his motivations, and uses Nixon’s own words and contemporary sources to make its case.

Larsen, Rebecca. Richard Nixon: Rise and Fall of a President. New York: F.Watts, 1991. 189pp. MG. Following the trend among recent adult biography, Larsen puts Watergate in perspective in assessing Nixon’s mixed record, emphasizing the positives as well as the negatives. Sympathetic but evenhanded, the book concentrates on the public Nixon but does include some information about his private life.

Nadel, Laurie. The Great Stream of History: A Biography of Richard M.Nixon. New York: Atheneum, 1991. 220pp. MG/YA. In a less than objective profile of Nixon’s life and political career, Nadel, a producer for ABC News, emphasizes the dark side of Nixon’s character in a sometimes discursive review of the former president’s flaws and failures.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Monsell, Thomas. Nixon on Stage and Screen: The Thirty-Seventh President as Depicted in Films, Television, Plays, and Opera. Jefferson, North Carolina: McFarland, 1998. 239pp. Monsell lists the various dramatic presentations that feature Nixon as a character.

Vidal, Gore. An Evening with Richard Nixon. New York: Random House, 1972. 157pp. In Vidal’s “essay-play,” Nixon’s own words are used in counterpoint to fictionalized characterizations of Kennedy, Eisenhower, and George Washington as Nixon tells the story of his life.

A&E Biography Video: Richard Nixon: Man and President (1996). Producer: Alan Goldberg. Using rare photographs and interviews with close friends and observers, this is a fresh documentary portrait of Nixon’s private and public lives. Video.

Dick (1999). Director: Andrew Fleming. This is a broad but occasionally clever comedy of a pair of high school girls (Kirsten Dunst and Michelle Williams) who wander away from their White House tour for an encounter with President Nixon (Dan Hedaya) in the midst of the Watergate investigation. Video.

Elvis Meets Nixon (1997). Director: Allan Arkush. Bob Gunton portrays Nixon and Rick Peters is Elvis Presley in this dramatization of the real-life meeting of Elvis with the president. Video.

The Final Days (1989). Director: Richard Pearce. Based on the book by Woodward and Bernstein, this teleplay written by Hugh Whitmore stars Lane Smith as Nixon, Theodore Bikel as Kissinger, David Ogden Stiers, and Ed Flanders. Video.

Kissinger and Nixon (1995). Director: Daniel Petrie. This film, based on Walter Isaacson’s Kissinger: A Biography, stars Ron Silver and Beau Bridges in the title roles. Video.

Milhous: A White Comedy (1971). Director: Emile de Antonio. A compilation of newsreel and television footage with interviews with various political critics, Nixon’s public career is presented from a hostile perspective. Video.

Nixon (1990). Producer: Elizabeth Deane. Originally broadcast as a two-part segment of PBS’s American Experience series, this definitive film portrait covers Nixon’s life from childhood through his political career up to his resignation from the presidency. Video.

Nixon (1996). Director: Oliver Stone. Although it takes some creative license and incurred the wrath of Nixon’s daughters, Stone’s biographical portrait is surprisingly sympathetic with a convincing depiction of Nixon by Anthony Hopkins. Also starring Joan Allen as Pat Nixon and Mary Steenburgen as Nixon’s mother. Video.

Nixon about Nixon (1994). Producers: Ronald M. Miller and Montgomery G.Jarman. In a series of filmed interviews, Nixon offers a number of reflections on his career and motives. Video.

Nixon: Checkers to Watergate (1976). Directors: Charles Braverman and Ken Rudolph. In a compilation of archival stills, speeches, interviews, and press conferences, Nixon’s public career is documented. Video.

President Richard M.Nixon (1991). Director: Anthony R.Potter. In a taped interview, Nixon discusses his presidency from the perspective of his long political career. Video.

President Richard Nixon—Talking with David Frost (1994). Director: Jorn Winther. In excerpts from 28 hours of recorded interviews taped in 1977, Nixon reflects on his career. Video.

The Real Richard Nixon (1995). Director: Jesse Raiford. A candid, objective film portrait. Video.

Richard Nixon Reflects (1990). Producers: MPI Home Video. In a candid 90-minute interview. Nixon reflects on John F.Kennedy, Bush, Reagan, and Gorbachev, as well as his handling of Watergate. Video.

Secret Honor (1984). Director: Robert Altman. This film version of Philip Baker Hall’s one-man stage show features a devastating portrait of a petty tyrant railing against the world and Nixon’s perceived betrayal by all. Video.

Other Sources

Bremer, Howard F. Richard M. Nixon: Chronology, Documents, and Bibliographical Aids. Dobbs Ferry, New York: Oceana, 1975. 252pp. Brener supplies a useful chronology of the important events in Nixon's life, along with a selection of documents and an annotated listing of works him.

Strober, Gerald S., and Deborah H. Nixon: An Oral History of His Presidency. New York: HarperCollins, 1994. 576pp. Interviews with many individuals inabout volved in the Nixon administration and with critics are topically arranged to form a balanced portrait of Nixon the man and politician during his presidency.

O

358. GEORGIA O'KEEFFE

1887–1986

American painter, O'Keeffe was born in Sun Prairie, Wisconsin, and worked as a commercial artist in Chicago before studying abstract design with A. W. Dow in New York. She then taught art in a Texas school. Her first exhibition (1916) was at a New York gallery, 291, owned by photographer Alfred Stieglitz, whom she married (1924). She lived much of her life in New Mexico. Known for her flower paintings and Southwestern motifs, O'Keeffe turned to abstract designs in her later years. Her works include Black Iris (1926) and Cow's Skull: Red, White, and Blue (1931).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Georgia O'Keeffe. New York: Viking, 1976. 250pp. Although not an autobiography, the artist offers a selection of her works with commentary. Guarded in her personal revelations (there is no mention made to her marriage to Stieglitz for example), O'Keeffe nevertheless is direct, witty, and at times acerbic in detailing the inspiration for her work, her artistic progress, and her attitudes.

Georgia O'Keeffe: Art and Letters. Jack Cowart, Juan Hamilton, and Sarah Greenough, eds. Boston: Little, Brown, 1989. 306pp. The catalog for the National Gallery of Art's retrospective following O'Keeffe's death includes many color reproductions, a chronology, and critical commentary on aspects of the artist's life and work, as well as a selection of 125 letters.

Lovingly, Georgia: The Complete Correspondence of Georgia O'Keeffe and Anita Pollitzer. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1990. 365pp. This record of O'Keeffe's friendship with Pollitzer covers most of the artist's life from her student days and includes revealing insights about her character and ideas not available in any other source.

Recommended Biographies

Lisle, Laurie. Portrait of an Artist: A Biography of Georgia O'Keeffe. 1980. Revised ed. Albuquerque: University of New Mexico Press, 1986. 408pp. O'Keeffe's first biographer, Lisle revised and expanded her earlier life to bring the artist's story to her death in 1986. Competent and workmanlike, Lisle corrects the factual record, and her account remains one of the most comprehensive documentations of O'Keeffe's personal life and artistic development.

Robinson, Roxana. Georgia O'Keeffe: A Life. New York: Harper & Row, 1989. 639pp. Making full use of extensive primary sources unavailable during O'Keeffe's lifetime and interviews, Robinson's life has established itself as the definitive study. The complexity of the artist's character is displayed from a decidedly feminist perspective that traces her influences and originality with skill and perceptiveness.

Other Biographical Studies

Castro, Jan G. The Art and Life of Georgia O'Keeffe. New York: Crown, 1985. 192pp. With reproductions of more than 100 paintings and photographs by the artist, this handsome visual study features a critical and biographical text documented with letters and interviews that introduces the general reader to the artist's genius and personality.

Eisler, Benita. O'Keeffe and Stieglitz: An American Romance. New York: Doubleday, 1991. 546pp. Using unpublished letters and papers as well as interviews with associates, Eisler chronicles in intimate detail the 26-year relationship between O'Keeffe and photographer Alfred Stieglitz. The interlocking careers of both figures are displayed with revelations about their troubled life together.

Hoffman, Katherine. An Enduring Spirit: The Art of Georgia O'Keeffe. Metuchen, New Jersey: Scarecrow Press, 1984. 185pp. In a critical study of O'Keeffe's artistry, Hoffman's analysis is arranged chronologically, with the connection between her life and her art established, based mainly on secondary sources. Offering little that is fresh and original, Hoffman's brief examination serves as a basic introduction to the artist and her work.

Hogrefe, Jeffrey. O'Keeffe: The Life of an American Legend. New York: Bantam, 1992. 376pp. Hogrefe's anecdote-rich biography focuses on O'Keeffe's intimate, private life, alleging early sexual abuse as the key to understanding her later relationships. Less thorough than selective, with an emphasis on the sensational, the book offers a provocative perspective on the artist's life, but should be read as an adjunct to the more authoritative efforts of Lisle and Robinson.

Patten, Christine T., and Alvaro Cardona-Hine. Miss O'Keeffe. Albuquerque: University of New Mexico Press, 1992. 201pp. Patten, a nurse and companion to the artist during her final years, offers a glimpse of O'Keeffe's daily life when she could no longer see well enough to paint.

Peters, Sarah W. Becoming O'Keeffe: The Early Years. New York: Abbeville Press, 1991. 397pp. Limited to the period between 1915 and 1930, Peters's study is strong on the artist's influences, development, and essential artistic beliefs and style. Meticulously researched, the book serves to place O'Keeffe within her larger artistic context. It is less satisfactory in its speculation about O'Keeffe's personal motivations and feelings.

Pollitzer, Anita. A Woman on Paper: Georgia O'Keeffe. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1988. 290pp. Originally begun with O'Keeffe's cooperation, which she later withdrew, charging the author with romanticizing her life, Pollitzer's biography is primarily an anecdotal memoir of their friendship and an appreciation of the artist's talent rather than a thorough, factual record of O'Keeffe's life. Best on their early friendship between 1914 and 1917.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Berry, Michael. Georgia O'Keeffe. New York: Chelsea House, 1988. 111pp. MG/YA. Part of the American Women of Achievement series, this is a candid summary of O'Keeffe's life and artistry that deals honestly with the artist's relationships.

Gherman, Beverly. Georgia O'Keeffe: The Wildness and Wonder of Her World. New York: Atheneum, 1986. 131pp. MG/YA. Gherman's intimate appreciation of O'Keeffe's genius includes a basic summary of the highlights of the artist's life.

Nicolson, Lois. Georgia O'Keeffe. San Diego: Lucent Books, 1995. 112pp. MG. Well documented and organized, Nicolson's biography includes quotations from a variety of primary sources. Unfortunately, the reproductions of her works are not in color.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Georgia O’Keeffe (1977). Director: Perry M. Adato. This PBS broadcast explores O’Keeffe’s life and works through an examination of her paintings, environment, and philosophy. Video.

Susan B. Anthony Slept Here (1995). Director: Alvin Cooperman. Written by Lynn Sherr this documentary looks at the lives and places associated with seven famous American women, including O’Keeffe. Video.

Other Sources

Merrill, Christopher, and Ellen Bradbury, eds. From the Faraway Nearby: Georgia O’Keeffe As Icon. Reading, Massachusetts: Addison-Wesley, 1992. 293pp. This collection considers O’Keeffe’s art and life from the perspective of her public image through memoirs, poetry, photographs, and essays.

359. JACQUELINE BOUVIER KENNEDY ONASSIS

1929–1994

One of the most stylish and idolized of American first ladies, Onassis was born into a socially prominent family in Southampton, New York. She attended Vassar and the Sorbonne, and worked (1951–1953) as a journalist and photographer before marrying (1953) John F. Kennedy. As first lady, she planned and directed the restoration of the White House and had Congress declare the building a national museum. She retired from public life after President Kennedy’s assassination and in 1968 married Greek shipping tycoon Aristotle Onassis. After his death (1975), she lived mainly in New York and worked as a book editor.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Uncommon Wisdom of Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis: A Portrait in Her Own Words. Bill Adler, ed. New York: Carol, 1994. 156pp. Adler collects quotes from Onassis in a helpful volume that gives voice to the often elusive and private figure.

Recommended Biographies

Birmingham, Stephen. Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy Onassis. New York: Grosset & Dunlap, 1978. 242pp. In a credible psychological analysis of Onassis’s character and development, Birmingham traces her life from childhood with an emphasis on the major events that shaped her: her parents’ divorce, her schooling, and her two marriages. Admiring but restrained in its handling of Onassis’s private life, Birmingham’s study is far from authoritative and scholarly but a distinct improvement over the typical celebrity tell-all.

Ladowsky, Ellen. Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis. New York: Random House, 1997. 208pp. This is a fresh appreciation of Jacqueline Onassis that locates her uniqueness in her ambition, intelligence, and determined fight for the safety and security of her family and herself. Regarded as important in her own right, not just as a spouse and mother, Onassis is revealed in compelling human terms.

Spoto, Donald. Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy Onassis: A Life. New York: St. Martin’s, 2000. 348pp. Spoto is skeptical of the more lurid revelations of other biographies and offers a more restrained, complex, and human portrait that is far more believable than most other treatments, despite an occasional lack of critical distance and objectivity.

Other Biographical Studies

Andersen, Christopher P. Jack and Jackie: Portrait of an American Marriage. New York: Morrow, 1996. 400p. Filled with anecdotes and gossip, this treatment of the couple’s relationship based on interviews provides few lurid details and manages an unexpectedly sympathetic view of both figures. The lives of both prior to their marriage are briefly sketched. In Jackie After Jack: Portrait of the Lady. (New York: Morrow, 1998. 472pp.) the author continues Onassis’s story during the three decades following JFK’s assassination in a tell-all that mixes documented fact and a great deal of unattributed assertions.

David, Lester. Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis: A Portrait of Her Private Years. Secaucus, New Jersey: Carol, 1994. 242pp. Davis’s chronicle of Onassis’s years after her marriage to Aristotle Onassis includes a number of revisionist revelations about her relationship with John Kennedy, most notably that she possessed a deep interest in politics and edited the president’s speeches. The book’s primary value rests in its many details of Onassis’s daily routine and personal habits.

Davis, John H. Jacqueline Bouvier: An Intimate Memoir. New York: Wiley, 1996. 208pp. Written by Onassis’s cousin, Davis’s account covers Onassis’s life up to her marriage to John Kennedy. Davis’s many anecdotes and personal details are narrated with an evident bias against Onassis’s mother.

Heymann, C. David. A Woman Named Jackie. Secaucus, New Jersey: Carol, 1989. 715pp. This book is rarely much more than a superficial catalog of Onassis’s personal failings in a jumble of insignificant, reheated gossip, intimate details from dubious sources, and farfetched conjecture.

Kelley, Kitty. Jackie Oh! Secaucus, New Jersey: L. Stuart, 1978. 352pp. Very much a sensational tell-all in a heap of facts, gossip, and rumors, Kelley dishes the dirt on Onassis’s marriages in a tabloid style with no effort to separate the real from the invented, with imagined dialogue and characterizations that carry little believability.

Klein, Edward. All Too Human: The Love Story of Jack and Jackie Kennedy. New York: Simon & Schuster. 1996. 406pp. In a somewhat breathless, journalistic account, the couple’s relationship is detailed in a blend of fact, gossip, rumor, and conjecture with imagined conversations and dramatized episodes. In Just Jackie: Her Private Years (New York: Ballantine Books, 1998. 399pp.) Klein supplies an anecdotal mix of alleged intimate facts and quotes from a wide assortment of friends and associates.

Koestenbaum, Wayne. Jackie Under My Skin: Interpreting an Icon. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1995. 291pp. The author treats Onassis as a symbol and complex “text” to be deconstructed. The result is a mixed bag of meditations of Onassis’s significance as a cultural icon. Although not a chronological biographical study, events and details of Onassis’s life are probed for their deeper significance. Less illuminating than reflective of the author’s own obsessions and pretensions.

Learner, Laurence. The Kennedy Women: The Saga of an American Family. New York: Villard Books, 1994. 933pp. Learner’s group portrait of the Kennedy daughters and spouses is a thorough and reasonably restrained series of character sketches that provides an important context for viewing Onassis’s relationship with the Kennedy clan.

Lowe, Jacques. Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis: The Making of a First Lady. Los Angeles: General Publishing Group, 1999. 128pp. This book of photographs accompanied by a brief text provides a stunning visual record of Onassis’s married life to John Kennedy.

Osborne, Claire G. Jackie: A Legend Defined. New York: Avon, 1997. 181pp. This is a largely sympathetic collection of facts about the life of Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis covering her private and public life but without the sensational revelations of other tell-alls.

Taraborrelli, J. Randy. Jackie, Ethel, Joan: Women of Camelot. New York: Warner Books, 2000. 528pp. This group portrait of the Kennedy wives looks at the private lives of the three women, their relationships, and the burden of being members of the Kennedy clan.

Thayer, Mary Van Rensselaer. Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1962. 127pp. A brief, anecdotal early biographical portrait, Thayer’s treatment is excessively admiring with an emphasis on her subject’s glamorous image. Jacqueline Kennedy: The White House Years. Boston: Little, Brown, 1971. 362pp. Covers Onassis’s life as the First Lady in a factual chronicle that enjoyed the subject’s cooperation and the use of some of her personal files. Not personally revealing, the book is more the record of Onassis’s career as White House hostess and redecorator.

Fictional Portraits

Preston, Caroline. Jackie by Josie. New York: Scribner, 1997. 314pp. This comic novel concerns a young woman who takes a job as a research assistant for a celebrity biographer rushing out an Onassis book shortly after her death. As the heroine deals with her own unfaithful husband, she learns important lessons from Onassis on dealing with a charming philandering spouse.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Anderson, Catherine C. Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis: Woman of Courage. Minneapolis: Lerner, 1995. 88pp. MG. Often excessively admiring, Anderson makes a strong case for Onassis’s courage, grace, and strength in the face of adversity in this recounting of her life story, although the true dimension of her adversity is not revealed in full.

Capeci, Anne. Meet Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis. New York: Random House, 1995. 93pp. MG. This is an easy-to-read profile that covers Onassis’s

White House years, publishing career, and relationship with her children.

Santow, Dan. Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy Onassis, 1929–1994. Danbury, Connecticut: Childrens Press, 1998. 118pp. MG. Sanlow’s is an informative profile of Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis that helps to explain the nature of her mystique and hold on people’s imagination.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis (1995). Director: Maurice Paleau. In a full-length film portrait, Onassis’s private life is the focus, from her days as the First Lady through her marriage to Aristotle Onassis and career as a book editor. Video.

The Greek Tycoon (1978). Director: J.Lee Thompson. In a fictionalization clearly based on the Onassis/Kennedy marriage, Jacqueline Bisset and Anthony Quinn portray the famous pair. Video.

Jackie (1995). Director: Charles Furneaux. Onassis’s life is traced using rare archival footage, home movies, and interviews with family and friends. Video.

Jackie Onassis: An Intimate Portrait (1993). Producer: Louise M.Gallup. A detailed personality profile focused on Onassis’s out-of-the-spotlight life. Video.

Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy (1981). Director: Steve Gethers. Made-for-television biographical portrait from Onassis’s childhood through the White House years. Starring Jaclyn Smith in the title role, with James Franciscus as JFK and James F. Kelly as Robert Kennedy. Video.

Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis (1991). Director: Maurice Paleau. A documentary examination of Onassis’s life using archival sources, home movies, and interviews with associates. Video.

Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis Remembered (1994). Producer: CBS News. A commemorative video featuring Onassis in various CBS broadcasts, including a 1960 Person to Person interview and her famous tour of the White House. Video.

Onassis: The Richest Man in the World (1988). Director: Waris Hussein. Based on the novel by Peter Evans, Aristotle Onassis’s rise from poverty is depicted with Raul Julia in the title role, Jane Seymour as Maria Callas, and Francesca Annis as Jacqueline Kennedy. Video.

A Woman Named Jackie (1994). Director: Larry Peerle. Based on Heymann’s book, this television mini-series casts Roma Downey in the title role, with Stephen Collins as JFK, Tim Ransom as Robert Kennedy, and Joss Ackland as Aristotle Onassis. Video.

Other Sources

Anthony, Carl S. As We Remember Her: Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis in the Words of Her Family and Friends. New York: HarperCollins, 1998. 288pp. Based on interviews with Onassis’s friends, family, and colleagues, including previously sealed accounts from the Kennedy Library Oral Histories, this collection of reminiscences provides a varied and multidimensional portrait.

See also John F.Kennedy; Robert F.Kennedy

360. EUGENE O’NEILL

1888–1953

Widely considered to be one of America’s greatest dramatists, O’Neill was the younger son of a popular actor. After attending Princeton for a year, he worked at a variety of jobs and in 1912 contracted tuberculosis. He began to write plays while convalescing from the disease and from 1914 to 1915 studied play writing at Harvard. O’Neill’s one-act plays were produced by the Provincetown Players in New York. His first full-length play to be produced was Beyond the Horizon (1920). O’Neill’s body of work is stylistically varied and ambitious in scope and except for the comedy, Ah, Wilderness!. (1935), inexorably tragic. His plays include Anna Christie (1921), Strange Interlude (1928), the trilogy Mourning Becomes Electra (1931), The Iceman Cometh (1946), and his autobiographical masterpiece Long Day’s Journey Into Night (1956). He received the Nobel Prize in Literature (1936).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

As Ever, Gene: The Letters of Eugene O’Neill to George Jean Nathan. Nancy L. and Eugene L. Roberts, eds. Rutherford, New Jersey: Fairleigh Dickinson University Press, 1987. 248pp. O’Neill’s correspondence with the celebrated dramatic critic covers the period from 1919 to 1949 with many revelations about the playwright’s creative methods and composition of his plays.

“Love and Admiration and Respect”: The O’Neill-Commins Correspondence. Durham, North Carolina: Duke University Press, 1986. 248pp. O’Neill’s letters to and from his editor, Saxe Commins, cover the period between 1920 and 1951 and include Commins’s memoir of the playwright, which supplies useful biographical information as well as insights into O’Neill’s personality and creative method.

Selected Letters of Eugene O’Neill. Travis Bogard and Jackson R.Bryer, eds. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 602pp. Essential to understanding O’Neill, this selection of nearly 600 letters, many published for the first time, covers a 50-year period, arranged in chronological sections with a biographical introduction, and provides the closest view a reader can expect to get of the intensely private O’Neill, while contradicting much of the conventional wisdom about the playwright, particularly his intellectual unsophistication and artistic aloofness.

Recommended Biographies

Alexander, Doris. The Tempering of Eugene O’Neill. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1962. 300pp. In a psychological study of O’Neill’s family, influences, and intellectual development, separate chapters are devoted to individual family members and figures who had a major impact on O’Neill. Alexander’s careful presentation serves as an insightful analysis of the playwright’s character and development up to his first success in 1920. In Eugene O’Neill’s Creative Struggle: The Decisive Decade, 1924–1933. (University Park: Pennsylvania State University Press, 1992. 339pp.), Alexander continues her examination of O’Neill’s life from the perspective of his plays. The book shows how O’Neill both consciously and unconsciously incorporated autobiographical experience into his art.

Black, Stephen A. Eugene O’Neill: Beyond Mourning and Tragedy. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1999. 543pp. The author, an English professor and a trained psychoanalyst, has crafted a meticulously researched and intelligently written biography that supplies fresh insights into O’Neill’s life and work. In the author’s view, O’Neill worked through his personal torments by recasting them in his plays, and the book traces the connections between the playwright’s experiences and his works.

Gelb, Arthur, and Barbara Gelb. O’Neill. 1962. Revised ed. New York: Harper & Row, 1974. 990pp. Based on extensive interviews and archival research, the Gelbs’ biography is a detailed and comprehensive gathering of factual material into a readable narrative chronology that relates the dramatist’s life to his work and is particularly strong on the literary and theatrical world of O’Neill’s time. The authors have begun a complete rewrite and reinterpretation of their ealier biography based on previously unknown or withheld material. The first volume, O’Neill: Life with Monte Cristo (New York: Applause, 2000. 758pp.) covers O’Neill’s childhood and self-destructive youth and family relations through his first Broadway triumph in 1920.

Sheaffer, Louis. O’Neill: Son and Playwright. Boston: Little, Brown, 1968. 543pp.; O’Neill: Son and Artist. Boston: Little, Brown, 1973. 750pp. Sheaffer’s monumental two-volume biography is scrupulously researched, based on interviews and the fullest use of documentary evidence that has yet been unearthed. Judicious in its interpretation, thoroughly presenting all sides to controversial points, this is biography by accumulation rather than interpretation and synthesis. One controlling theme, however, is contained in the word “son” of Sheaffer’s titles, which serves to connect the dramatist’s art and life through his attempt to come to terms with his parents and family background.

Other Biographical Studies

Boulton, Agnes. Part of a Long Story. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1958. 331pp. O’Neill’s second wife offers her view of her life with the playwright from 1917 to 1919. By no means a comprehensive treatment of these important years in O’Neill’s development, as its title reflects, Boulton’s is an uneven, impressionistic recreation of her past with occasionally illuminating immediacy.

Bowen, Crosswell. The Curse of the Misbegotten. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1959. 384pp. Bowen’s group portrait of the O’Neill clan is ruled by his thesis that the family was beset by the curse of emotional coldness. Well documented, with a great deal of family evidence to bolster its somewhat narrow thematic focus, Bowen’s study features a number of insights supplied by O’Neill’s son, Shane.

Carpenter, Frederic I. Eugene O'Neill. New York: Twayne, 1964. 191pp. As an entry in the Twayne Author series, Carpenter’s compact critical study supplies a brief biographical sketch and chronology before concentrating on the playwright’s artistry.

Clark, Barren H. Eugene O'Neill. New York: McBride, 1926. 110pp.; Eugene O'Neill: The Man and His Plays. New York: Dover, 1967. 183pp. Clark, O’Neill’s first biographer, supplies an anecdote-rich examination that has an immediacy lacking in more comprehensive and authoritative studies. Clark’s 1947 expansion of his first book relies on O’Neill’s own letters to him to document O’Neill’s years of public silence.

Frenz, Horst. Eugene O'Neill. New York: Frederick Ungar, 1971. 121 pp. Part of the Modern Literature Monograph series, Frenz’s brief presentation of O’Neill’s life and critical study of his works serves as a useful introduction.

Leech, Clifford. Eugene O'Neill. New York: Grove Press, 1963. 120pp. A compact introductory study, Leech provides the highlights of O’Neill’s life and career, as well as a criticism of his works.

Skinner, Richard Dana. Eugene O'Neill: A Poet’s Quest. New York: Longmans, 1935. 242pp. Skinner’s critical study of O’Neill’s works is presented as a developmental study of his evolving genius. While establishing a moral and intellectual continuity in O’Neill’s works, Skinner’s treatment features O’Neill’s own compositional chronology, produced at the author’s request, that sheds light on his creative method.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Coolidge, Olivia E. Eugene O'Neill. New York: Scribner, 1966. 223pp. YA. In a compact and informative biographical study, Coolidge assembles the basic facts of O’Neill’s life and career along with a summary of his plays and critical attitudes toward the playwright.

Gassner, John. Eugene O'Neill. Minneapolis: University of Minnesota Press, 1965. 48pp. YA. Part of the University of Minnesota American Writers pamphlet series written for high school students, Gassner provides a brief summary of O’Neill’s life and career and criticism of his works.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Entertaining Angels: The Dorothy Day Story (1996). Director: Michael Ray Rhodes. Moira Kelly portrays Dorothy Day in this film biography, with Martin Sheen as Peter Maurin and James Lancaster as O’Neill. Video.

Eugene O'Neill: 1888–1953 (1996). Director: Malcolm Hossick. The film traces O’Neill’s life and literary career using archival photographs and views of places associated with the playwright. Video.

Reds (1981). Director: Warren Beatty. Beatty’s romantic epic on the lives of John Reed (Beatty) and Louise Bryant (Diane Keaton) features a striking performance by Jack Nicholson as O’Neill. Video.

Other Sources

Manheim, Michael, ed. The Cambridge Companion to Eugene O'Neill. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1998. 256pp. The book presents a collection of essays dealing with various aspects of O’Neill’s life and work and his influences and relationship with the theater of his time.

Ranald, Margaret L. The Eugene O'Neill Companion. Westport, Connecticut: Greenwood, 1984. 827pp. Along with synopses of the plays and character analyses, this useful reference source features alphabetical biographical entries on many of O’Neill’s associates and family members, as well as a detailed chronology.

361. J.ROBERT OPPENHEIMER

1904–1967

American physicist, Julius Robert Oppenheimer headed the Manhattan Project, which developed the first atomic bomb. He strongly opposed construction of the hydrogen bomb on technical and moral grounds but was overruled by President Truman. Chair of the general advisory committee of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission, he was charged in 1953 with sharing atomic secrets with Soviets and his security clearance was suspended by President Eisenhower. In 1954, a special panel and the AEC judged him innocent of disloyalty but a security risk. In 1963, Oppenheimer received the Atomic Energy Commission’s Fermi award for his work in theoretical physics.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Robert Oppenheimer: Letters and Recollections. Alice K.Smith and Charles Weinart, eds. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1980. 376pp. Combining personal letters with reminiscences of those who knew and worked with Oppenheimer into a coherent narrative, this is an important source of insights into the scientist’s complex character.

Recommended Biographies

Goodchild, Peter. J.Robert Oppenheimer: Shatterer of Worlds. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1980. 301pp. The companion volume for a BBC documentary on Oppenheimer’s life, Goodchild’s is an excellent overview, well researched and balanced in its assessment.

Other Biographical Studies

Chevalier, Haakron. Oppenheimer: The Story of a Friendship. New York: G.Braziller, 1965. 219pp. The author’s account of his ambiguous relationship with Oppenheimer reads, in the view of one reviewer “like a rejected lover whose patience, after years of being scorned, has turned to fury.” By another, that the portrait “lacks depth and roundness and poses some questions about how well Chevalier really knew Oppenheimer.”

Davis, Nuel P. Lawrence and Oppenheimer. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1968. 384pp. This is a comparison of the characters, motives, and relationship of Oppenheimer and Ernest Lawrence, the inventor of the cyclotron, culled from interviews with scientists who worked with both men. Lacking in objectivity, Davis is clearly pro-Oppenheimer at the expense of Lawrence.

Kunetka, James W. Oppenheimer: The Years of Risk. Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Prentice-Hall, 1982. 292pp. Focusing exclusively on the years from 1942 to 1954, this is a thorough review of Oppenheimer’s activities during this important period. However, as a reviewer observes, “there is little analysis or reflection on the significance of Oppenheimer’s achievements, and no attempt is made to understand Oppenheimer’s inner life.”

Micheltmore, Peter. The Swift Years: The Robert Oppenheimer Story. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1969. 273pp. A highly sympathetic, lively and anecdotally rich account, the book is neither comprehensive nor analytically strong. One reviewer called the book “more an exploitation of the Oppenheimer story than a contribution to it.”

Rouzé, Michel. Robert Oppenheimer: The Man and His Theories. New York: Taplinger, 1965. 192pp. In a well-illustrated summary, the book traces the backgrounds of the scientists who contributed to the development of the atomic bomb with Oppenheimer at the center.

Stern, Philip M., with Harold Green. The Oppenheimer Case: Security on Trial. New York: Harper & Row, 1969. 591pp. This is the most detailed account of the 1954 investigation by the Atomic Energy Commission on Oppenheimer’s private life and reliability as a security risk.

Biographical Novels

Thackara, James. America’s Children. London: Chatto & Windus, 1984. 330pp. Oppenheimer’s personality and career are portrayed in this novel that imaginatively explores both actual and invented situations from his life between 1929 and 1954.

Fictional Portraits

Silman, Roberta. Beginning the World Again. New York: Viking, 1990. 410pp. This is a behind-the-scenes account of the creation of the atomic bomb as seen from the perspective of a wife of one of the Manhattan Project’s scientists.

Smith, Martin Cruz. Stallion Gate. New York: Random House, 1986. 321pp. The events at Los Alamos are described in this thriller from the perspective of a Native American guard who is ordered to find evidence that Oppenheimer is a communist spy.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Drieman, J.E. Atomic Dawn: A Biography of Robert Oppenheimer. Minneapolis: Dillon Press, 1989. 160pp. MG. Oppenheimer and his achievements are brought into focus in this straightforward account that concentrates on his early years and his leadership of the Manhattan Project and features more on Oppenheimer’s personality than other treatments.

Larsen, Rebecca. Oppenheimer and the Atomic Bomb. New York: F.Watts, 1988. 192pp. YA.

Larsen does an excellent job of introducing the man, his work, and times. Well researched and well written, the book supplies a fascinating portrait of life at Los Alamos, based on primary sources.

Royal, Denise. The Story of J.Robert Oppenheimer. New York: St. Martin’s, 1969. 196pp. YA. This is an informative profile using excerpts from Oppenheimer’s writings and the views of scientists who knew him.

Rummel, Jack. Robert Oppenheimer: Dark Prince. New York: Facts on File, 1992. 140pp. MG/YA. In a sympathetic and objective account, Rummel emphasizes the science behind Oppenheimer’s work that made the atomic bomb possible.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Kipphardt, Heinar. In the Matter of J.Robert Oppenheimer. New York: Hill & Wang, 1968. 141pp. A play based on the transcript of the 1954 hearing of the Atomic Energy Commission on the question of Oppenheimer’s security clearance.

A&E Biography Video: J.Robert Oppenheimer: Father of the Atomic Bomb (1995). Director: Mary Dore. This is an informative film profile based on archival footage and testimony from eyewitnesses and experts. Video.

The Beginning of the End (1947). Director: Norman Taurog. Hume Cronyn portrays Oppenheimer in this drama of the development of the bomb.

The Day after Trinity (1980). Director: Jon Else. A documentary account describing Oppenheimer’s role in developing the atomic bomb and his fall during the McCarthy era, using the words of people who worked with him. Video.

Day One (1989). Director: Joseph Sargent. The race to build the atom bomb and the decision to use it is dramatized in this television drama with Richard Dysart as Truman, Brian Dennehy as General Leslie Groves, and David Strathairn as J.Robert Oppenheimer. Video.

Enola Gay: The Men, the Mission, the Atomic Bomb (1980). Director: David L.Rich. The events leading up to the dropping of the atomic bomb and its aftereffects on the airmen are explored. Robert Waldren plays Oppenheimer. Video.

Fat Man and Little Boy (1989). Director: Roland Joffe. This partially fictionalized account of the atomic bomb development focuses on the human conflict between General Leslie Groves (Paul Newman) and Oppenheimer (Dwight Schultz). Video.

Hiroshima (1995). Director: Roger Spottiswoode. This innovative, semidocumentary drama of the events leading up to the dropping of the atomic bomb mixes re-creation of scenes with newsreels and archival material. The drama focuses on Truman (Kenneth Welsh), with Jeffrey DeMunn as Oppenheimer. Video.

362. GEORGE ORWELL

1903–1950

British novelist, essayist, and critic, Orwell was born Eric Arthur Blair in India. He attended Eton and from 1922 to 1927 served with the Indian imperial police in Burma. He then lived penuriously in Paris and London. In 1936 he fought in the Spanish Civil War on the Republican side and was seriously wounded. Homage to Catalonia (1938) relates his experiences during the war. Orwell’s most famous novels are Animal Farm (1946), a satirical and savage fable about communism, and Nineteen Eighty-Four (1949), which depicts a totalitarian society of the future. Other works include the autobiographical The Road to Wigan Pier (1937) and many excellent literary essays.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Collected Essays, Journalism, and Letters of George Orwell. Sonia Orwell and Ian Angus, eds. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1968. 4 vols. Arranged chronologically, this important collection of mostly previously unpublished material forms an essential documentary record for the biographer, with considerable autobiographical insights.

Down and Out in Paris and London. New York: Harper, 1933. 292pp. Orwell supplies an account of his youth trying to survive in poverty as a dishwasher in Paris and as a tramp in London.

Homage to Catalonia. London: Seeker and Warburg, 1938. 313pp. One of Orwell’s best books, the writer chronicles his experiences during the Spanish Civil War that reveals a great deal about the kind of man Orwell was personally and the evolution of his political ideas.

The Road to Wigan Pier. London: Gollancz, 1937. 264pp. Orwell’s documentary report on conditions in the north of England during the 1930s includes his reflections on socialism and its limitations as well as insights into the writer’s moral development.

Recommended Biographies

Crick, Bernard. George Orwell: A Life. Boston: Little, Brown, 1980. 473pp. The first biographer given unfettered access by Orwell’s widow to the substantial holdings of documents she controlled, supplemented with interviews of surviving eyewitnesses, Crick does a solid, judicious job of authoritatively filling in the factual record and offering a credible portrait of the man. Avoiding the discretion and partisanship of other authorized biographies, Crick’s study is fair and balanced but offers little on Orwell’s works and literary qualities.

Davidson, Peter H. George Orwell: A Literary Life. New York: St. Martin’s, 1996. 175pp. This concise but comprehensive account of Orwell’s influences, creative development, and literary career is arranged around a series of events in the author’s life that shaped his experience and work. The book is an excellent choice for the reader looking for an introduction to the man and his works or to read before tackling the much longer studies by Crick and Shelden.

Shelden, Michael. Orwell: The Authorized Biography. New York: HarperCollins, 1991. 497pp. Like Crick, Shelden had the cooperation of the Orwell estate for his biography and access to the important documentary sources among the writer’s papers. The book’s research is put to good use in an accurate, fair, chronological account that allows the writer to emerge in all his complexity and contradictions. For Shelden, Orwell is first and foremost a literary figure, and his politics take a secondary position to his literary qualities. The emphasis serves as a valuable complement to Crick’s equally exhaustive account of Orwell’s private life.

Other Biographical Studies

Atkins, John A. George Orwell: A Literary and Biographical Study. New York: Frederick Ungar, 1954. 348pp. The author, a newspaper co-worker of Orwell supplies his recollections and appreciation. Without access to the Orwell archive, Atkins’s biographical treatment is selective and often superficial on details that go beyond the author’s personal experience.

Fyvel, T.R. George Orwell: A Personal Memoir. New York: Macmillan, 1982. 221pp. The author’s recollections of his 10-year friendship with Orwell are supplemented with an appreciation of Orwell’s works and a section on the writer’s years before they met. The book serves as a useful short, general introduction to the life and work for the general reader.

Hollis, Christopher. A Study of George Orwell: The Man and His Works. Chicago: Regnery, 1956. 212pp. Hollis, a schoolmate of Orwell at Eton who also knew the author in Burma, provides a critical study of the writer’s works with valuable reminiscences. Hollis’s criticism is useful and sensible, but the biographical information is not error-free.

Ingle, Stephen. George Orwell: A Political Life. New York: St. Martin’s, 1993. 146pp. Ingle’s compact study focuses on the development and expression of Orwell’s political ideas. Treating his background and attempt to distance himself from it, his contact with the working class, and political conversion during the Spanish Civil War, Ingle makes Orwell’s sometimes contradictory ideas coherent and understandable.

Rees, Richard. George Orwell: Fugitive from the Camp of Victory. Carbondale: Southern Illinois University Press, 1961. 151pp. Written by an associate, Rees’s brief, balanced critical study of Orwell’s works includes his personal reminiscences that help create a human portrait of the man with his strengths and weaknesses presented.

Stansky, Peter, and William Abraham. The Unknown Orwell. New York: Knopf, 1972. 316pp. Portraying his youth up to 1933 as Eric Blair transformed himself into George Orwell, the authors offer a psychological analysis of Orwell’s formative years that is sensible and perceptive, although hampered by a lack of full access to the Orwell archive. In Orwell: The Transformation (New York: Knopf, 1980. 304pp.) the authors cover the years 1933 to 1938, showing Orwell’s political conversion through the effects of poverty and the Spanish Civil War, as well as the influence of the writer’s first wife, Eileen O’Shaughnessy. The authors supply a valuable biographical portrait and a coherent view of the connection between Orwell's life, ideas, and art.

Woodcock, George. The Crystal Spirit: A Study of George Orwell Boston: Little, Brown, 1966. 366pp. The author, a friend of Orwell during the writer's final decade, begins with personal memories before proceeding with a critical study of the works that draws biographical parallels. Attempting to abide by Orwell's wish that no biography be written of his life, Woodcock falls short of a fully realized life study but does give fascinating glimpses of the man and artist.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Ferrell, Keith. George Orwell: The Political Pen. New York: M.Evans, 1985. 180pp. YA. This is an astute and informative examination of Orwell's life and political philosophy, sympathetic but evenhanded in its approach. Readers should have some prior familiarity with Orwell's works.

Flynn, Nigel. George Orwell. Vero Beach, Florida: Rourke, 1990. 112pp. MG. The details of Orwell's life are ably and informatively presented, along with critical interpretations of his works.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

George Orwell (1983). Director: Nigel Williams. A film introduction to the writer's life and works, using archival material, interviews, and views of the places where he lived. Video.

George Orwell: Journalist and Novelist, 1903–1950 (1996). Director: Peter Hort. Using photographs, archival material, and views of places associated with the author, the film traces Orwell's life and literary career. Video.

Other Sources

Coppard, Audrey and Bernard Crick. Orwell Remembered. New York: Facts on File, 1984. 287pp. This is a useful collection of reminiscences and appreciations from a variety of witnesses and critics of Orwell's life and works.

Gross, Miriam, ed. The World of George Orwell. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1971. 182pp. This collection of essays by friends, associates, and critics forms a kind of composite biographical portrait that captures the complexity and contradictions of the man in a somewhat disjointed though still useful volume.

P

363. THOMAS PAINE

1737–1809

English-born writer and political theorist, Paine was the son of a Quaker. An excise officer, he was dismissed from his post for agitating on behalf of higher salaries and immigrated to America (1774). His popular and highly influential pamphlet, Common Sense (1776), urged American independence from England. The Crisis (1776–1783), a series of patriotic pamphlets, was a source of inspiration during the American Revolution. Paine returned to England (1787), where he wrote (1791, 1792) The Rights of Man, which attacked English institutions and defended the French Revolution. Prosecuted for treason, he was forced to flee to France and was elected to the French National Convention. While imprisoned (1793–1794) during the Reign of Terror, he wrote his controversial The Age of Reason, an antibiblical work. He returned to America (1802) and died in poverty.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Collected Writings of Thomas Paine. Eric Foner, ed. New York: Library of America, 1995. 905pp. This useful single-volume collection brings together Paine's best-known works, along with a reliable chronology as well as letters, articles, and pamphlets.

The Complete Writings of Thomas Paine. Philip S. Foner, ed. New York: Citadel Press, 1945. 2 vols. Despite its title, this is not a complete edition of Paine's writings, and the reader should still consult the Con way edition for reliability in textual details.

The Writings of Thomas Paine. Moncure Con way, ed. 1894. Revised ed. London: Routledge, 1996. 4 vols. Conway's scholarly edition of Paine's writing has long served as the most complete and reliable edition, supplemented by Philip S.Foner's edition.

Recommended Biographies

Aldridge, Alfred O. Man of Reason: The Life of Thomas Paine. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1959. 348pp. The author's balanced and carefully researched study, based on much previously unpublished material, is the definitive, scholarly record of Paine's career. Few other studies have displayed as well the many sides of Paine's interests and character, nor offer as judicious an assessment of his strengths and weaknesses as a man and thinker. The author's Thomas Paine's American Ideology (Newark: University of Delaware Press, 1984. 327pp.) is an intellectual biography that examines Paine's writings between 1775 and 1786, Aldridge draws parallels between the writer's experiences and his works, as well as the intellectual climate that he reflected and help to shape.

Fruchtman, Jack. Thomas Paine: Apostle of Freedom. New York: Four Walls Eight Windows, 1994. 557pp. Fruchtman's critical biography covers both Paine's life and works and corrects a number of misunderstandings concerning the man and his ideas. Strongly sympathetic, Fruchtman presents a solid case for Paine's achievements while capturing the drama of his struggles.

Hawke, David F. Paine. New York: Harper & Row, 1974. 500pp. Painstakingly researched, Hawke's sensitive and sensible survey of Paine's career and character is balanced in its display of the writer's achievements and shortcomings. Paine is shown not as an original thinker but as one who reflected the temper of his times, which the book presents clearly.

Keane, John. Tom Paine: A Political Life. Boston: Little, Brown, 1995. 644pp. Richly detailed and solidly researched, this is a balanced assessment of Paine's life and public career, particularly revealing concerning his early years in England and his decade in France. In a striking reappraisal of Paine's political theories and influences, Keane offers an insightful perspective on Paine as well his intellectual and social context.

Other Biographical Studies

Ayer, A.J. Thomas Paine. New York: Atheneum, 1988. 195pp. In an introductory study for the general reader, Ayer compactly covers the highlights of Paine's life and critically examines his political ideas and writings. Often the focus shifts from Paine to larger historical and political issues with Ayer's trenchant views on a number of topics. Readers will be better prepared by coming to Ayer after first reading Paine's writings.

Conway, Moncure. The Life of Thomas Paine. New York: Putnam, 1892. 2 vols. Although based on a careful examination of primary material, Conway's biography is marred by the author's partisanship that distorts the record in an otherwise comprehensive and detailed treatment.

Edwards, Samuel. Rebel: A Biography of Thomas Paine. New York: Praeger, 1974. 304pp. Edwards, a novelist as well as biographer, presents an entertaining popular account of Paine's life from birth to death, including the writer's tangled personal life. Relying on extensive quotations from Paine's writings, the man is vividly portrayed, but not all of the details are reliable.

Foner, Eric. Tom Paine and Revolutionary America. New York: Oxford University Press, 1976. 326pp. With only a brief sketch of Paine's life before and after 1774–1787, Foner's intellectual biography asserts a controversial thesis of the class origins of Paine's revolutionary ideas. The book serves mainly a historical purpose in detailing the Philadelphia of Paine's time and the intellectual and cultural ferment of his era, placing Paine's ideas in their social context.

Pearson, Hesketh. Tom Paine, Friend of Mankind. New York: Harper, 1937. 293pp. Beginning with Paine's arrival in America at the age of 37, Pearson's is a straightforward, sympathetic narrative biography with an emphasis on Paine the man, who is displayed through ample quotations from his writing. Often uncritical and uninformed by modern scholarship, Pearson's study for the most part allows his subject to speak for himself in a balanced, if limited, assessment.

Philip, Mark. Paine. New York: Oxford University Press, 1989. 130pp. Mainly a critical survey of Paine's major writings, biographical details here are limited to a brief introductory chapter.

Powell, David. Tom Paine: The Greatest Exile. New York: St. Martin's, 1985. 303pp. Often highly speculative, Powell imagines Paine's responses to his experiences. Taking the liberties of fictional biographers, Powell's work achieves an animated vividness, but the reliability of the account is undermined by the imagination.

Williamson, Audrey. Thomas Paine: His Life, Work and Times. New York: St. Martin's, 1973. 296pp. Incorporating a great deal of new information, particularly on Paine's early life in England and later period in France, Williamson's comprehensive life is weakest on the American years and annoyingly uses Paine as an excuse to digress on a variety of modern matters.

Biographical Novels

Fast, Howard. Citizen Tom Paine. New York: Duell, Sloan and Pearce, 1943. 341pp. Fast’s highly-regarded fictionalized biography of Paine follows him from poverty in England through his years in Revolutionary America and France. Generally reliable in its biographical and historical details, Paine is presented at times more an inspiring symbol than credible human figure.

Levin, Benjamin H. To Spit Against the Wind. New York: Citadel Press, 1970. 569pp. In this full-length fictionalized biography, Paine is depicted as an uncompromising idealist whose advanced ideas bring him little respect or success.

Fictional Portraits

Eastlake, William. The Long Naked Descent into Boston. New York: Viking, 1977. 291pp. Paine, as well as a large cast of historical figures, appear in Boston on the eve of the Revolution in this comic fantasy that emphasizes the founders’ human frailties over their virtues.

Piercy, Marge. City of Darkness, City of Light. New York: Fawcett, 1996. 479pp. Blending historical figures and fictional characters, the novel depicts the events of the French Revolution with an authentic appearance by Tom Paine.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Coolidge, Olivia E. Tom Paine, Revolutionary. New York: Scribner, 1969. 213pp. YA. This is a well-balanced and unbiased account of Paine’s career with a full depiction of the historical background.

Meltzer, Milton. Tom Paine: Voice of a Revolution. New York: F.Watts, 1996. 175pp. MG/YA. Excellent, well-researched and well-written biography that captures the man, his eventful life, and the era in France, England, and America.

Vail, John J. Thomas Paine. New York: Chelsea House, 1990. 111pp. MG/YA. Paine’s life is placed in its political and social context in an objective assessment of mainly the writer’s public career.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Fast, Howard. Citizen Tom Paine. Boston: HoughtonMifflin, 1986. 119pp. The author adapts his own novel for the stage.

Foster, Paul. Tom Paine: A Play in Two Parts. New York: Grove Press, 1968. 112pp. Foster’s is an experimental drama that offers a portrait of the enigmatic Paine in scenes from his life and testimony by those who knew him.

Shepherd, Jack. In Lambeth. London: Methuen, 1990. 52pp. Paine visits visionary poet William Blake in this dramatic confrontation of two different revolutionaries: the pragmatist Paine and the idealistic Blake.

Liberty!: The American Revolution (1997). Directors: Ellen Hovde and Muffie Meyer. This PBS documentary series features actors portraying the principals in dramatic readings from their letters and speeches. Paine is depicted by Roger Rees. The companion volume is written by Thomas J.Fleming (New York: Viking, 1997. 394pp.). Video.

364. CHARLES STEWART PARNELL

1846–1891

Irish nationalist leader, Parnell was the son of a Protestant landowner. He was elected to the British Parliament (1875) and through his filibusters obstructed parliamentary business to make the Irish question a priority topic. He united moderates and militant Fenians in the struggle for land reform and encouraged the use of boycotts to bring pressure on landlords and their agents. His efforts helped persuade Prime Minister William Gladstone to introduce the first Home Rule Bill (1866). Parnell’s political career ended after he was named (1889) correspondent in a divorce case.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Parnell: A Documentary History. Noel Kissane, ed. Dublin: National Library of Ireland, 1991. 118pp. Parnell’s life and political career are chronicled using a variety of contemporary sources in this illustrated study.

Recommended Biographies

Kee, Robert. The Laurel and the Ivy: The Story of Charles Stewart Parnell and Irish Nationalism. New York: Viking, 1994. 659pp. An Irish journalist and popular historian, Kee presents a readable, well-researched narrative in which nearly two-thirds of the book is devoted to Parnell’s formative years as a politician up to 1881. The final third focuses on his relationship with Katherine O’Shea, which is impressively handled.

Lyons, F.S.L. Charles Stewart Parnell. New York: Oxford University Press, 1977. 704pp. One of the fullest, scholarly treatments of Parnell’s character, life, and public career, Lyons examines the various myths surrounding Parnell realistically. Judicious in his assessment, Lyons supplies a masterful synthesis of various primary sources from Parnell and his associates and demonstrates an expert knowledge of the period.

Other Biographical Studies

Abels, Jules. The Parnell Tragedy. New York: Macmillan, 1966. 408pp. This readable popular life is weakened by sweeping generalizations and a lack of documentation, but the story of Parnell’s rise and fall is rendered dramatically with human immediacy.

Foster, R.F. Charles Stewart Parnell: The Man and His Family. Atlantic Highlands, New Jersey: Humanities Press, 1976. 403pp. In a fresh look at both Parnell and nineteenth-century Ireland, Foster examines Parnell’s family background and social milieu to demonstrate their influence on his personal development. The book does not examine Parnell’s wider political career, suggesting that indeed all politics is local and that to understand the man you must understand his region and family.

Haslip, Joan. Parnell: A Biography. New York: F.A.Stokes, 1937. 405pp. A solid, well-researched, and vivid narrative that focuses on Paraell’s political career after treating his family background and youth. Haslip neither glosses over the Irish leader’s weaknesses nor diminishes his achievements. The book clearly displays Parnell’s appeal to his countrymen and the pathos of his fall.

O’Brian, R.Barry. The Life of Charles Stewart Parnell, 1846–1891. 1898. Reprinted. New York: Greenwood, 1969. 2 vols. O’Brian’s early heroic portrait of the Irish leader is highly partisan but does supply a great deal of information about Parnell’s life and times.

Parnell, John H. Charles Stewart Parnell: A Memoir. New York: Holt, 1914. 312pp. Parnell’s brother supplies his admiring recollections and a valuable insider’s view of the Irish leader’s family background and his mental state during several critical periods of his public career.

Parnell, Katherine. Charles Stewart Parnell: His Love Story and Political Life. New York: Doran, 1914. 2 vols. The woman behind the Parnell scandal, whom he married in 1891 after her divorce, offers her side of their relationship, told mainly from the Irish leader’s letters. Frank in many of its intimate details, the book is less reliable in all its fact and dates and does not pretend to offer an objective

Biographical Novels

Eden, Dorothy. Never Call It Loving. New York: Coward-McCann, 1966. 319pp. Parnell’s relationship with Kitty O’Shea is dramatized with an emphasis on his private life rather than a wider examination of Parnell’s political career.

Leonard, Hugh. Parnell and the Englishwoman. New York: Atheneum, 1991. 265pp. Precise and reliable in its historical details, the novel depicts the affair between Parnell and Mrs. O’Shea and the resulting scandal.

Fictional Portraits

Flanagan, Thomas. The Tenants of Time. New York: Dutton, 1988. 824pp. Flanagan’s massive and masterful recreation of Irish events in 1867 features appearances by a large cast of historical figures, including Parnell.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Haney, John. Charles Stewart Parnell. New York: Chelsea House, 1989. 111pp. MG/YA. Haney makes Parnell’s story understandable in the context of his times and the issues surrounding Irish independence.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Captain Boycott (1947). Director: Frank Launder. Set in the 1880s, the movie dramatizes the origin of the word “boycott” in Irish resistance to the harsh treatment of an English landlord (Cecil Parker). Stewart Granger and Kathleen Ryan star as two young lovers, and Parnell is depicted by Robert Donat. Video.

Parnell (1937). Director. John M.Stahl. In the film version of Elsi Schauffler’s play (New York: S. French, 1936. 150pp.), Clark Gable unconvincingly stars in the title role with Myrna Loy as Kitty O’Shea in this disappointing treatment of Parnell’s rise and fall.

Other Sources

Boyce, D.George and Alan O’Day, eds. Parnell in Perspective. New York: Routledge, 1991. 319pp. This is a collection of essays by various scholars on Parnell’s life, his ideas, and his treatment in literature and biographies.

365. BLAISE PASCAL

1623–1662

French mathematician, physicist, and religious philosopher, Pascal was a precocious child who was taught by his father, a civil servant. During his adolescence, he wrote a well-received paper on conic sections and invented a calculating machine. His experiments greatly added to the knowledge of atmospheric pressure. He pioneered hydrodynamics and fluid mechanics, discovering the basis of hydraulics, now known as Pascal’s Law. He is also credited with founding the modern theory of probability. His Provincial Letters (1656) and the posthumously published Pensées (1670) express his religious philosophy.

Recommended Biographies

Cole, John R. Pascal: The Man and His Two Loves. New York: New York University Press, 1995. 349pp. The two sides of Pascal’s life and development, the scientific and religious, are integrated into a complete portrait of a complex human figure. Treating his upbringing and family relationships, Cole offers a plausible explanation for Pascal’s midlife spiritual conversion that establishes the links connecting the contradictions in his life and career.

Mesnard, Jean. Pascal, His Life and Works. New York: Philosophical Library, 1952. 211pp. Written as an introductory study, Mesnard’s informed analysis integrates the many sides of Pascal into a credible and consistent unity and challenges previous views. Mesnard rejects the notion that Pascal’s life divides between science and religion, arguing that his scientific inquiry did not decrease as his devotion grew. Pascal is portrayed as being excessively proud, merciless to his rivals, and anxious to gain full credit for his achievements. Mesnard’s more realistic view does not diminish the man’s genius or achievement but makes him more human and believable.

Mortimer, Ernest. Blaise Pascal: The Life and Work of a Realist. New York: Harper, 1959. 249pp. In a sympathetic yet balanced account, Mortimer places Pascal firmly in his times, detailing his relationships with Montaigne and Descartes and discussing the various intellectual and religious controversies that influenced Pascal’s development. Mortimer serves to orient the reader so that a full appreciation of Pascal’s genius is possible.

Other Biographical Studies

Bishop, Morris. Pascal, the Life of Genius. New York: Reynal and Hitchcock, 1936. 398pp. In a solid, detailed portrait, Bishop excels in depicting Pascal’s achievements as a scientist, inventor, and mathematician. The book is less satisfying on Pascal’s religious development, which is unsympathetically treated. Pascal is shown in his many parts, but Bishop falls short of adequately unifying them.

Cailliet, Emile. Pascal: The Emergence of Genius. New York: Harper, 1961. 383pp. Focusing on Pascal’s intellectual development up to 1656, Cailliet supplies an accurate and detailed portrait, incorporating modern scholarship on Pascal’s life and times. His presentation of Pascal’s religious ideas is seen from a decidedly Protestant perspective that often shifts his analysis to advocacy.

O’Connell, Marvin R. Blaise Pascal: Reasons of the Heart. Grand Rapids, Michigan: William B. Eerdmans, 1997. 210pp. Part of the Library of Religious Biography series, this is a chronological narrative of Pascal’s life and times that emphasizes the forces that compelled Pascal toward spirituality. O’Connell is particularly insightful on the Jansenist controversy that influenced Pascal’s development.

Rogers, Ben. Pascal. New York: Routledge, 1999. 64pp. This entry in the distinguished Great Philosophers series is an informative and accessible introduction to Pascal’s life and thought aimed at the general reader.

Steinmann, Jean. Pascal. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1966. 304pp. Covering adequately the many sides of Pascal’s interests, the book concentrates on his religious thinking. Often emotional in its presentation, Steinmann’s narrative is based mainly on primary sources, and his critical study of Pascal’s writings is both detailed and insightful.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Blaise Pascal (1971). Director: Roberto Rossellini. In an Italian made-for-television production, Pascal (Pierre Arditi) is shown struggling to understand the natural world while pursuing an inner quest for religious faith. Video.

366. LOUIS PASTEUR

1822–1895

French chemist and developer of pasteurization, Pasteur taught at the Sorbonne from 1867 to 1889. He researched stereochemistry and fermentation and experimented with bacteria. He developed the pasteurization process while working to keep wine, vinegar, and beer from souring. Pasteur discovered how to control silkworm disease, studied chicken cholera, and developed a vaccination technique against anthrax, which was successfully used (1885) against rabies. The Pasteur Institute, a teaching and research center on virulent and contagious diseases, was founded (1888) in Paris with Pasteur as its director.

Recommended Biographies

Debré, Patrice. Louis Pasteur. Baltimore:, Johns Hopkins University Press, 1998. 552pp. Written by a French immunologist and physician, Debré’s balanced reassessment of Pasteur’s life and accomplishments relies on Pasteur’s notebooks and writings in a well-documented narrative account. Pasteur is placed in his historical, political, and cultural context and shown in his relationship with his scientific colleagues.

Dubos, René. Louis Pasteur: Freelance of Science. Boston: Little, Brown, 1950. 418pp. The author, a distinguished scientist, provides both an excellent biography of Pasteur and a history of science in the nineteenth century. Chronicling both with a wealth of intimate detail and excerpts from Pasteur’s own work, the book’s quality stems from its ability to make the complexity of Pasteur’s work and ideas understandable for the nonscientist. In Pasteur and Modern Science (Garden City, New York: Anchor Books, 1960. 159pp.) the author condenses the essential details of Pasteur’s life and career in a brief but remarkably rich and authoritative account. This is the best choice for the reader interested in an introduction to Pasteur and his scientific era.

Duclaux, Emile. Pasteur: The History of a Mind. Philadelphia: W.B.Saunders, 1920. 363pp. Written by Pasteur’s former pupil, friend, and successor at the Pasteur Institute, Duclaux offers an invaluable insider’s view of Pasteur’s scientific discoveries and methods. The book is consciously restricted to Pasteur’s scientific life and offers few details about his private life or attitudes or relationships beyond his laboratory.

Geison, Gerald L. The Private Science of Louis Pasteur. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1995. 378pp. Geison’s controversial revisionist study by a close examination of Pasteur’s laboratory notebooks and unpublished correspondence reassesses many of Pasteur’s important discoveries with evidence of scientific misconduct. Without diminishing the scientist’s considerable strengths and genius, his flaws are exposed as the book demonstrates the discrepancy between the public view of the man and his work and a darker reality.

Vallery-Radot, René. The Life of Pasteur. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1919. 484pp. Pasteur’s son-in-law presents one of the most comprehensive records of Pasteur’s life with extensive quotations from the scientist’s letters, notes, and lectures. Although clearly a partisan view, the book’s reliance on documentary evidence of both Pasteur’s personal and scientific life makes it one of the most important and valuable sources of information on the scientist.

Other Biographical Studies

Compton, Piers. The Genius of Louis Pasteur. New York: Macmillan, 1932. 361pp. Arranged topically based on Pasteur’s work rather than chronologically, Compton enthusiastically and clearly presents the highlights of the scientist’s achievement, although he adds little that is new or original. This book serves the general reader in search of a competent introduction to the man and his genius.

Cuny, Hilaire. Louis Pasteur: The Man and His Theories. New York: P.S.Eriksson, 1963. 192pp. Cuny’s useful introductory study includes a succinct biographical account, chronology, and excerpts from Pasteur’s writings.

Dolan, Edward F. Pasteur and the Invisible Giants. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1958. 214pp. In a simplified, dramatic narrative, Dolan provides an immediate appreciation of Pasteur’s character and career, suitable for the general reader and students.

Holmes, Samuel J. Louis Pasteur. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1924. 149pp. This highly condensed yet clear summary of Pasteur’s life and scientific career is suited for the general reader and students looking for a serviceable introduction.

Nicolle, Jacques. Louis Pasteur: The Story of His Major Discoveries. New York: Basic Books, 1961. 252pp. Each of the 10 chapters deals with one of Pasteur’s discoveries, and the book makes accessible for the nonscientist Pasteur’s scientific method and genius. Although biographical details are presented incidentally rather than chronologically and in full, Nicolle does offer a useful glimpse of Pas-teur’s personality and temperament.

Reynolds, Moira D. How Pasteur Changed History: The Story of Louis Pasteur and the Pasteur Institute. Bradenton, Florida: McGuinn & McGuire, 1994. 151pp. With only a little more than half of the book devoted to Pasteur’s life and achievement, Reynolds informatively surveys the activities of the Pasteur Institute, founded in 1888. Written for the nonscientist, this is a serviceable, brief introduction to Pasteur’s scientific activities, influences, and legacy, though not his personal life.

Vallery-Radot, Pasteur. Louis Pasteur: A Great Life in Brief. New York: Knopf, 1958. 199pp. The author, Pasteur’s grandson, supplies an intimate, though reverent biographical sketch.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Birch, Beverley. Pasteur’s Fight Against Microbes. Hauppauge, New York: Barron’s, 1996. 48pp. MG. Birch’s is an informative view of Pasteur’s career and scientific contribution that helps to make his discoveries accessible.

Smith, Linda W. Louis Pasteur: Disease Fighter. Springfield, New Jersey: Enslow, 1997. 128pp. MG/YA. Well-written biography that makes Pasteur’s discoveries comprehensible without losing the impact and drama of his achievement. An activity section allows readers to explore techniques and principles.

Yount, Lisa. The Importance of Louis Pasteur. San Diego: Lucent Books, 1994. 96pp. MG/YA. Although supplying some information about Pasteur’s personal life, the focus is clearly on his scientific work, using valuable primary sources to help tell Pasteur’s story.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

The Story of Louis Pasteur (1936). Director: William Dieterle. Paul Muni is a standout as the scientist in this excellent Hollywood biographical film tracing Pasteur’s life and his most famous discoveries. Josephine Hutchinson co-stars as Mrs. Pasteur, with Holliwell Hobbes as Lister and Iphigenie Castiglioni as the Empress Eugénie. Video.

367. SAINT PATRICK

ca. 389–461

A missionary bishop said to have been born in Britain to a Christian family of Roman citizenship, Patrick is the patron saint of Ireland. He entered a monastery in Gaul and was consecrated a missionary bishop. Sent to convert Ireland to Christianity, he was especially successful in Ulster and Tara. He founded his see at Armagh. His writings include “Letter to Coroticus” and the autobiographical Confessio, written during his last years.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

St. Patrick: His Writings and Muirchu’s Life. A.B.E.Hood, ed. Totowa, New Jersey: Rowman and Littlefield, 1978. 101 pp. This slim volume collects the few works attributed to Patrick as well as an early life written in seventh century.

Recommended Biographies

Bury, John B. The Life of St. Patrick and His Place in History. 1905. Reprint ed. New York: Dover, 1998. 405pp. Bury established the historical framework by which Patrick has continued to be subsequently understood, cutting through the various legends to arrive at a historical figure, placed in the context of the spread of Christianity in the later Roman empire. Bury’s meticulous scholarly review of the scant sources is masterful, and his expertise helps fashion a credible biographical narrative.

Hanson, Richard P.C. Saint Patrick: His Origins and Career. New York: Oxford University Press, 1968. 248pp.; Life and Writings of the Historical St. Patrick. New York: Seabury Press, 1983. 138pp. Hanson’s two scholarly books on Patrick provide a solid historical outline of his times, close analysis of the existing sources, and a critical study of Patrick’s writings. Both help to separate the various legends surrounding the saint from the historical figure that can be known.

Thompson, E.A. Who Was St. Patrick? New York: St. Martin’s, 1985. 190pp. Limiting himself to what is known for sure about Patrick from his writings, Thompson assembles the few facts into a credible portrait in the context of his times. Debunking earlier lives and legends, Thompson argues that Patrick was not Ireland’s first bishop, did not work miracles, and did not drive the snakes from Ireland.

Other Biographical Studies

Bercot, David W. Let Me Die in Ireland, the True Story of Patrick. Tyler, Texas: Scroll, 1999. 192pp. Rejecting many of the traditional views of Patrick, Bercot offers an alternative view, based on research of early Christianity and plausible conjecture, in a highly fictionalized narrative account with imagined dialogue. Although it reads more like a fictional biography, Bercot’s presentation incorporates a realistic and fresh approach that serves to animate the era and Patrick in believable human terms.

Bieler, Ludwig. The Life and Legend of St. Patrick: Problems of Modern Scholarship. Dublin: Clonmore and Reynolds, 1949. 146pp. Bieler helpfully surveys scholarship on Patrick and his era as well as the validity of previous biographies.

Concannon, Mrs. Thomas. Saint Patrick. New York: Longmans, 1931. 260pp. In a readable account based on historical sources that are first assessed, Concannon synthesizes a good deal of scholarship into dramatic account emphasizing Patrick’s saintly character.

Gallico, Paul. The Steadfast Man: A Biography of St. Patrick. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1958. 238pp. Presenting the known data along with plausible conjecture, Gallico supplies a readable narrative portrait for the general reader. Included is a translation of the Confessio, rejection of most of the legends surrounding the saint, and a more realistic view of the man. Unfortunately, Gallico’s scholarship is inadequate, and the presentation of Patrick, though lively and compelling, is more hypothetical than factual.

Hopkins, Alannah. The Living Legend of St. Patrick. New York: St. Martin’s, 1989. 191pp. After a brief summary of the known facts about Patrick, the book examines the origin of the legends about Patrick and the scholarly debate over him, as well as the impact of the St. Patrick image in Ireland and the United States.

MacNeill, Eoin. St. Patrick, Apostle of Ireland. 1934. Revised ed. Dublin: Clonmore and Reynolds, 1964. 121pp. Based on a study of Patrick’s writings and historical records, MacNeill’s is a simply written devotional presentation of Patrick’s achievements as a missionary.

Simms, George O. St. Patrick: The Real Story of Patrick Who Became Ireland’s Patron Saint. Dublin: O’Brien Press, 1991. 93pp. Simms’s brief account focuses on Patrick’s writings to present a credible portrait of the man as an alternative to the many traditional legends surrounding the Irish saint.

Biographical Novels

Beahn, John E. A Man Cleansed by God. Westminster, Maryland: Newman Press, 1959. 175pp. Using Patrick’s Confessio as a guide, the novel reconstructs the saint’s experiences, filling in the gaps with plausible surmises.

Hamilton, Joan L. The Lion and the Cross. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1979. 372pp. Weaving what little is known about Patrick in fact and legend with imagined incidents and dialogue, the novel tells Patrick’s story of his enslavement in Ireland, his escape, and missionary activities.

Schofield, William G. The Deer Cry: A Novel of Patrick of Eirinn. New York: Longmans, 1948. 307pp. Based in part on Patrick’s own writings but including a number of legends, the novel constructs a biographical narrative from the saint’s youth in England, his capture by Irish marauders, life as a herdsman, escape, and his eventual return to Ireland as a missionary.

Fictional Portraits

Osborne-McKnight, Julianne. I Am of Irelaunde: A Novel of Patrick and Osian. New York: Forge, 2000. 301pp. The author connects the life of Patrick with the ancient myths of Ireland in a humanized portrait.

Parke, Godwin. The Last Rainbow. New York: Bantam, 1985. 421pp. In a fictional tale, Patrick suffers hardships and torture in preaching to the Picts. Fantasy and fact are blended together in an atmospheric novel.

Ragosta, Millie J. Druid’s Enchantment. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1985. 183pp. In a fanciful story, the daughter of the High King of Ireland meets Patrick, whose preaching challenges the power of the Druids. The novel features convincing fifth-century period details.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Corfe, Tom. St. Patrick and Irish Christianity. Minneapolis: Lerner, 1979. 51pp. MG. Corfe helpfully relates what is known about Patrick against the wider historical and religious context of his era.

Roquette, Ruth. Saint Patrick, the Irish Saint. Minneapolis: Dillon Press, 1981. 48pp. MG. This is summary of information about Patrick, both factual and legendary.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: Saint Patrick: The Man and the Myth (1996). Director: Patricia Phillips. Both what is known and the various legends surrounding Patrick are explored in this film portrait. Video.

St. Patrick: The Irish Legend (2000). Director: Robert Hughes. Patrick Bergen portrays St. Patrick in imagined scenes from his life, including his captivity, escape, and return to Ireland to convert the island to Christianity. Malcolm McDowell plays a British cardinal with whom Patrick battles. Alan Bates and Susannah York also appear. Video.

368. GEORGE S.PATTON JR.

1885–1945

U.S. general whose ruthlessness and tactical brilliance as a tank commander earned him the nickname “Old Blood and Guts,” Patton was born in San Gabriel, California, and graduated (1909) from West Point. He served in World War I as commander of a tank brigade and later in the cavalry and tank corps. During World War II he commanded (1942–1943) a corps in North Africa and the Seventh Army in Sicily. As commander of the Third Army in 1944, he swept through northern France and relieved Bastogne during the Battle of the Bulge (1945). Patton’s troops crossed the Rhine and cut a swath across Germany into Czechoslovakia. After serving as military governor of Bavaria, he was given command of the Fifteenth Army. He was fatally injured in an automobile accident in Germany.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Patton Papers. Martin Blumenson, ed. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1972–74. 2 vols. This essential collection of Patton’s writings includes his diary and letters, as well as correspondence from others. A rich documentary resource, the various paradoxes of Patton’s complex character are amply displayed.

War as I Knew It. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1947. 425pp. Patton’s World War II reflections are collected in a series of “open” letters to his wife during the African and Sicilian campaigns, as well as a terse and technical account of the Third Army’s activities written by the general after the war.

Recommended Biographies

D’Este, Carlo. Patton: A Genius for War. New York: HarperCollins, 1995. 977pp. Making full use of The Patton Papers, D’Este does supply an alternative view of Patton often at odds with the depiction by both Blumenson and Farago. Unlike the fearless win-at-any-cost warrior, D’Este portrays a deeply religious, literate romantic who cared deeply for his soldiers and who consciously created the Patton persona with which he has been identified. Half the book is devoted to Patton’s life prior to World War II, establishing a strong context for viewing his development. The book is also particularly insightful on Patton’s relationship with Eisenhower, Bradley, and Montgomery.

Farago, Ladislav. Patton: Ordeal and Triumph. New York: Oblolensky, 1963. 865pp. Farago’s comprehensive and detailed life has long established itself as the standard biography. Sympathetic yet objective, Farago incorporates anecdotal material and Patton’s own words into a multidimensional portrait. Justly praised for its accuracy and believability, the 1970 film and George C. Scott’s Oscar-winning performance were based on Farago’s biography. The author’s The Last Days of Patton (New York: McGraw-Hill, 1981. 319pp.) describes Patton’s life from the Allied victory over Germany until his death nine months later, treating the sad end of the general in an uneven account that does not meet the authoritative standard of the author’s complete life.

Other Biographical Studies

Allen, Robert S. Lucky Forward: The History of Patton’s Third U.S. Army. New York: Vanguard Press, 1947. 424pp. Written by a member of Patton’s staff, this is a detailed history of the Third Army during World War II as well as a biographical sketch of Patton. Allen is excessively partisan on behalf of his unit and its commander but does offer a vivid, firsthand operational view of Patton’s command decisions.

Anders, Curt. Warrior. The Story of General George S.Patton. New York: Putnam, 1967. 223pp. Serviceable as a brief introduction to Patton’s life and military career, Anders adds little to the established view of Patton’s character and his many paradoxes. His story is better treated in the longer, critical studies.

Ayers, Fred. Before the Colors Fade: Portrait of a Soldier. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1964. 266pp. Written by Patton’s nephew who served on the general’s staff, Ayers’s affectionate tribute, though lacking in objectivity and often inept in its military history, still has much to recommend it. The book is a valuable source of intimate, family details of Patton’s upbringing and career before World War II available nowhere else, has an insightful foreword by General Omar Bradley, and adds a number of personal details to the record, most notably correcting the oft-repeated assertion that Patton’s ivory-handled pistols were pearl-handled.

Blumenson, Martin. Patton, the Man Behind the Legend. New York: Morrow, 1985. 320pp. The editor of The Patton Papers quotes extensively from this material in a short popular biography by an undisguised Patton partisan. Readers will profit from the author’s evident expertise in military history and the source material. However, the book falls short in delivering either a new slant or a last word on the often-paradoxical Patton.

Codman, Charles R. Drive. Boston: Little, Brown, 1957. 335pp. Another of Patton’s staff officers provides his account of Patton’s military campaign based on letters Codman wrote home to his wife at the time. The result is an effective, informal, behind-the-scenes account that captures a number of sides of Patton as military commander and man, and offers a valuable collection of colorful anecdotes.

Essame, H. Patton: A Study in Command. New York: Scribner, 1974. 280pp. Essame assesses Patton’s military performance, concluding that he ranks with the greatest military commanders. To back up his assertion, Essame offers the testimony of generals he fought against and alongside (whose views of Patton’s skill are considerably more qualified). While perceptive on the details of modern warfare and Patton’s command decisions, the author is at times overly dismissive and apologetic concerning Patton’s blunders.

Hogg, Ian V. The Biography of General George S. Patton. New York: Galley Press, 1982. 160pp. The author, an expert on infantry warfare and weaponry, provides a sympathetic portrait of Patton’s career with only a brief sketch of his pre-World War II activities. The book features more than 200 illustrations.

Patton, Robert H. The Pattons: A Personal History of an American Family. New York: Crown, 1994. 320pp. Written by Patton’s grandson, this group portrait of the Pattons, based on family papers and anecdotes, covers the general’s ancestors since the sixteenth century. Patton himself is treated in detail with an emphasis on his private life and character.

Province, Charles M. The Unknown Patton. New York: Hippocrene Books, 1983. 261 pp. The work of an unabashed admirer, Province’s book is less a full-scale biography than a collection of facts and anecdotes ranging over Patton’s life and military career. Most of the material offered is far from unknown.

Sobel, Brian. The Fighting Pattons. Westport, Connecticut: Praeger, 1997. 248pp. Based on extensive interviews, Sobel delivers a dual biography of Patton and his only son who followed in his father’s footstep as a general and battle commander. The book includes intimate details supplied by Patton’s son and daughter.

Fictional Portraits

Charyn, Jerome. Captain Kidd. New York: St. Martin’s, 1999. 207pp. In a satiric, black comedy, an officer in Ration’s Third Army exploits his opportunities while serving his commander in a number of official and unofficial capacities.

Irving, Clifford. Tom Mix and Poncho Villa. New York: St. Martin’s, 1982. 568pp. This historical fantasy imagines what might have happened had cowboy actor Tom Mix joined Pancho Villa’s guerilla band. The story includes Mix and Villa’s confrontation with Patton as a young army lieutenant.

Leopold, Christopher. Blood and Guts Is Going Nuts. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1977. 245pp. This novel offers an alternative version of Patton’s final days after his dismissal as commander of the Third Army in 1945 in this mixture of mystery and political/military satire.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Carpenter, Allan. George Smith Patton Jr.: The Last Romantic. Vero Beach, Florida: Rourke, 1987. 112pp. MG. With an emphasis on Patton’s character and contradictions, the biography serves to capture skillfully the spirit of man.

Peck, Ira. Patton. New York: Scholastic, 1970. 142pp. MG/YA. Peck’s is a full account of Patton’s military career and personality that provides a balanced assessment, allowing a more complex figure to emerge.

Peifer, Charles. Soldier of Destiny: A Biography of George Patton. Minneapolis, Minnesota: Dillon Press, 1989. 126pp. MG. Peifer is accurate on the details of Patton’s career and in describing the historical events though this account is slightly fictionalized.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: General George Patton: A Genius for War. Director: Don Horan. Through archival footage, recollections of associates, and criticism by historians, this documentary profile captures the many sides of Patton, including his excesses and eccentricities. Video.

Brass Target (1978). Director: John Hough. Fanciful thriller involving a plot to kill Patton (George Kennedy) and steal millions in Nazi gold. Starring Sophia Loren, Max von Sydow, and John Cassavettes. Video.

Famous Generals (1984). Producer: Calvin Productions. This is a dual biographical portrait of Patton and Eisenhower. Video.

Ike (1979). Director: Melville Shavelson. In this made-for-television biography of Eisenhower’s war career, Robert Duvall portrays the general with Lee Remick as Kaye Summersby and Darrin McGavin as Patton. Video.

Is Paris Burning? (1966). Director: René Clement. The story of the liberation of Paris is told in a screenplay written by Gore Vidal and Francis Ford Coppola with a star-studded cast, including Jean-Paul Belmondo, Alain Delon, Simone Signoret, and with Kirk Douglas as Patton. Video.

The Last Days of Patton (1986). Director: Delbert Mann. George C.Scott reprises his portrayal of Patton in a made-for-television drama concerning the general’s controversial final days, based on Farago’s book. With Eva Marie Saint as Mrs. Patton and Richard A.Dysart as Eisenhower. Video.

Patton (1970). Director: Franklin J.Schaffner. Based on the Farago biography, this screenplay by Francis Ford Coppola and Edmund H.North is an acclaimed biographical portrait of Patton’s World War II years. The film features an Oscar-winning performance by George C.Scott in the title role with a strong performance by Karl Maiden as Omar Bradley. Video.

Patton: Old Blood and Guts (1986). Producer: Army Pictorial Center. Documents Patton’s leadership through his military campaigns of World War II. Video.

Patton: The Man Behind the Myth (1980). Producer: Arthur Holch. This is a character study that presents both the public figure and the inner man behind the image. Video.

369. SAINT PAUL

ca. AD 10-ca. AD 65

An apostle to the Gentiles and a major figure in the early Christian church, Paul was born a Jew in Tarsus and was the son of a Roman citizen. His Jewish name was Saul. He was educated in Jerusalem, became a zealous nationalist, and was active in the persecution of Christians until AD 33, when biblical text records that he was temporarily blinded by a vision of Jesus while traveling on the road to Damascus. He converted to Christianity, was baptized, and set out on a series of missionary journeys throughout the region. He was imprisoned (AD 60) in Rome but allowed to carry on his ministry. According to tradition, he was beheaded during Emperor Nero’s persecution of Christians. Paul’s epistles greatly influenced Christian belief and practice.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Perhaps the most famous letters ever written are Paul’s epistles, collected in the New Testament. The epistles offer a number of tantalizing autobiographical insights. Luke provides the initial biographical information about Paul in the Acts of the Apostles in the New Testament.

Recommended Biographies

Grant, Michael. Saint Paul. New York: Scribner, 1976. 250pp. This is a solid introductory study based on the autobiographical details derived from Paul’s letters and an account of his four evangelical journeys. By widening the historical and cultural context to consider the Jews, Greeks, and Romans, Grant helps to make comprehensible Paul’s life, work, and character.

Murphy-O’Connor, Jerome. Paul: A Critical Life. New York: Oxford University Press, 1996. 416pp. With the assumption that Luke’s account of Paul in the Acts is historically unreliable, the author turns to the evidence in Paul’s letters for its biographical, historical, and chronological deductions. Supplementing the source material is the author’s exhaustive cultural context that treats Paul from a number of intriguing viewpoints. The author conjectures that Paul was a widower who had lost his family tragically and suggests that Ephesus, not Rome, was the likely site of Paul’s imprisonment.

Roetzel, Calvin J. Paul: The Man and the Myth. Columbia: University of South Carolina Press, 1998. 245pp. Part of the Studies on Personalities of the New Testament series, Roetzel examines Paul and his theology in its cultural context. In contrast to the heroic figure of the Acts, Roetzel’s Paul is a physically weak literary artist, rather than a compelling preacher, who retained his sympathy toward Judaism and the Hellenistic culture of his childhood.

Sanders, E.P. Paul. New York: Oxford University Press, 1991. 138pp. This is a solid introductory study of Paul’s life and thought by one of the preeminent scholars on the subject whose research has substantially influenced recent scholarship.

Wilson, A.N. Paul: The Mind of the Apostle. New York: W.W.Norton, 1997. 273pp. Novelist and biographer Wilson summarizes all that is known about Paul’s life and puts it in its historical and cultural context. Often insightful and provocative, Wilson’s imaginative reconstruction of Paul’s character and his times is delightfully entertaining and instructive.

Other Biographical Studies

Bornkamm, Günther. Paul, Paulus. New York: Harper & Row, 1971. 259pp. The first half of this study reconstructs the life of Paul based on the seven epistles the author considers genuine; the second half is an interpretation of Paul’s thought, in particular the doctrine of justification by faith.

Bradford, Erml. Paul the Traveller. New York: Macmillan, 1976. 246pp. Bradford’s treatment is closer to historical fiction than biography. As one contemporary reviewer remarked, the book will please those “who like historical distortions depicted vividly.”

Glover, Terrot R. Paul of Tarsus. New York: G.H. Doran, 1925. 256pp. Based on a series of lectures, Glover’s interpretation of Paul’s life, character, and ideas is informed by the author’s wide knowledge of the Mediterranean background of the early Christian era.

Goodspeed, Edgar J. Paul: A Biography Drawn from Evidence in the Apostle’s Writing. Nashville, Tennessee: Abingdon Press, 1947. 246pp. Goodspeed, a distinguished biblical scholar, presents a judicious narrative biography based on Paul’s writings and New Testament scholarship.

Hengel, Martin, and Anna Maria Schwemer. Paul Between Damascus and Antioch: The Unknown Years. Louisville, Kentucky: Westminster Press, 1997. 530pp. The authors provide an informed speculation based on the available sources concerning one of the most obscure periods of Paul’s career between his conversion to Christianity in AD 33 and his first missionary journey in AD 46.

Hock, Ronald F. The Social Context of Paul’s Ministry: Tent-Making and Apostleship. Philadelphia:

Fortress Press, 1980. 112pp. Hock considers Paul as artisan in an effort to understand his life and travels. A solid presentation of Paul’s cultural and social background supports this often revealing inquiry into the practical details of Paul’s life.

Jewett, Robert. A Chronology of Paul’s Life. Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1979. 160pp. Through a close examination of the evidence from Paul’s letters and passages in the Acts, as well as modern scholarship, Jewett establishes a plausible chronology of Paul’s life.

Knox, Wilfred L. St. Paul. New York: Appleton, 1932. 153pp. A vividly written, popular biography, the life of Paul is presented in the context of his role in organizing and unifying the early Christian church from a historical rather than a devotional perspective.

Luedemann, Gerd. Paul, Apostle to the Gentiles: Studies in Chronology. Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1984. 311pp. The author subjects the conventional reconstruction of Paul’s life to a series of critical objections based on a variety of sources to point out the flaws in the accepted accounts and to offer alternative possibilities.

Morton, Henry C.V. In the Steps of St. Paul. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1936. 499pp. Using the Acts of the Apostles as a guide, Morton retraces Paul’s journeys in a vivid travelogue and animated recreation of Paul’s life and times.

Nock, Arthur D. St. Paul. New York: Harper, 1937. 255pp. This short biography is conservative in its approach, keeping as close as possible to the known sources. The book includes chapters on Paul’s environment and the cultural and historical setting.

Pollock, J.C. The Apostle: A Life of Paul. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1969. 244pp. Ignoring modern critical scholarship, Pollock’s biography is based on a literal reading of biblical materials. Facts derived from the New Testament are reworked into a dramatic narrative.

Riesner, Rainer. Paul’s Early Period: Chronology, Mission Strategy, Theology. Grand Rapids, Michigan: William B.Eerdmans, 1998. 512pp. In an exhaustive, scholarly work, Riesner sifts through biblical and historical sources to reach an understanding of Paul in his cultural context and a plausible chronology of his life and ministry.

Schweitzer, Albert. Paul and His Interpreters: A Critical History. New York: Macmillan, 1912. 252pp. The author assesses the various sources and versions of Paul’s life and underscores the impossibility of establishing a fully-realized historical Paul. In The Mysticism of Paul the Apostle (New York: Holt, 1931. 411pp.) Schweitzer provides a context for understanding the man and his ideas in a study of Paul’s thought, work, and influence.

Spencer, Floyd A. Beyond Damascus: A Biography of Paul the Tarsian. New York: Harper, 1934. 466pp. In a semi-fictionalized biography, Spencer combines the events of Paul’s life recorded in the Acts and Paul’s letters with an authentic period background based on ancient sources and archaeological research.

Wallace, Richard, and Wynne Williams. The Three Worlds of Paul of Tarsus. New York: Routledge, 1998. 239pp. Through an exploration of the life of Paul, the book examines the three fundamental cultural layers—regional, Hellenistic, and Roman—that shaped Paul and the early Christian church.

Biographical Novels

Asch, Sholem. The Apostle. New York: Putnam, 1943. 804pp. In a chronicle of Paul’s life and the early years of Christianity, Asch supplements the scanty biographical record derived from biblical sources with a carefully presented historical background.

Ball, Charles F. The Life and Times of the Apostle Paul. Wheaton, Illinois: Tyndale House, 1996. 200pp. This fictionalized account of Paul’s life and religious career covers his life from his conversion to Christianity to his death. The existing sources are embellished with imagined details.

Berstl, Julius. The Tentmaker. New York: Rinehart, 1952. 312pp. Paul’s early life is the dramatic focus here, depicted as a complex blend of three different cultures: Jewish, Greek, and Roman. The novel’s climax is Paul’s conversion experience on the road to Damascus.

Blythe, LeGette. Man on Fire: A Novel of the Life of St. Paul. New York: Funk & Wagnalls, 1964. 376pp. In a blend of fact, legend, and invention. Paul’s life is dramatized in a account of the early Christian church up to his martyrdom.

Buckmaster, Henrietta. And Walk in Love: A Novel Based on the Life of the Apostle Paul. New York: Random House, 1956. 404pp. The known facts are interwoven with fictional elaboration to form a believable biography of Paul from Christ’s crucifixion to Paul’s death.

Caldwell, Taylor. Great Lion of God. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1970. 629pp. Paul’s early life as the intellectual son of a wealthy Roman-Jewish family is dramatized through his conversion, travels, and martyrdom. Rich in historical material, the novel has a factual framework derived from extensive sources.

Cash, Johnny. Man in White. San Francisco: Harper & Row, 1986. 226pp. The stages of Paul’s conversion are dramatized in this fictional and devotional meditation on the apostle’s spiritual development.

De Wohl, Louis. Glorious Folly: A Novel of the Time of St. Paul. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1957. 384pp. Paul’s life is depicted from his early years as a virulent anti-Christian, through his conversion, and ministry in a fictional elaboration based on biblical fact, supposition, and conjecture.

Miller, Rex. I. Paul. New York: Duell, Sloan and Pearce, 1940. 210pp. Paul is presented as the narrator for the events of his life, including his conversion and ministry, in a novel that stays close to what is known about Paul’s life from biblical sources.

Poirier, Leon. Saint Paul: A Historical Novel of His Life. St. Louis: B.Herder, 1961. 213pp. In a devotional rendering of Paul’s life drawn from biblical sources, his experiences from his conversion to his death are depicted.

Slaughter, Frank G. God’s Warrior. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1967. 371pp. Following Paul’s career from his early years in Tarsus through his conversion and travels throughout the Mediterranean world. The facts are supplemented with plausible surmises.

Fictional Portraits

Chinn, Laurene. The Soothsayer. New York: Morrow, 1972. 240pp. Paul converts Timothy, who accompanies him in his missionary work, in a fictional tale with an authentic period atmosphere.

Maier, Paul L. The Flames of Rome. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1981. 443pp. Rome under the emperors Claudius and Nero and the early Christian church is depicted, with appearances by both Peter and Paul.

Neilson, Winthrop, and Frances Neilson. The Woman Who Loved Paul. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1978. 255pp. The novel imagines a woman who helps Paul in his mission to Corinth, Ephesus, and Rome.

Steen, John W. Barnabas. Nashville, Tennessee: Broadman, 1971. 127pp. Paul is joined by Barnabas to convert the people of Tarsus; this is a mainly fictional account.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Luce, Harry K. St. Paul. New York: Putnam, 1958. 118pp. MG. This is a straightforward presentation of Paul’s life as he reveals himself in his letters.

Pittenger, W.Norman. The Life of Saint Paul. New York: F.Watts, 1968. 141pp. MG. This book discusses the world Paul lived in, other religions of his time, sources of information about him, and his teachings and influence.

Thompson, Blanche J. Peter and Paul: The Rock and the Sword. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1964. 174pp. MG. Without relying on fictional devices, Thompson summarizes the known events and allows the participants to speak for themselves in this informative look at the founding and the early years of Christianity.

See also Saint Peter

370. WILLIAM PENN

1644–1718

English Quaker and founder of Pennsylvania, Penn wrote numerous tracts on Quaker beliefs and was briefly imprisoned for his religious nonconformity. While acting as trustee for a Quaker proprietor of West Jersey in the American colonies, Penn obtained a charter for Pennsylvania (named for Penn’s father) from Charles II and received a grant from the Duke of York (later James II), which extended the colony’s boundaries. Thousands of European Quakers immigrated to Pennsylvania in search of religious and political freedom.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Papers of William Penn. Mary M.Dunn and Richard S.Dunn, eds. Philadelphia: University of Pennsylvania Press, 1981–1987. 5 vols. This scholarly collection of Penn’s writings is an invaluable biographical and historical source.

William Penn and the Founding of Pennsylvania: A Documentary History. Jean R.Soderlund and Richard S.Dunn, eds. Philadelphia: University of Pennsylvania Press, 1983. 416pp. Published to mark the tercentenary of the founding of Pennsylvania, this useful volume brings together essential primary documents on Penn and the Pennsylvania colony.

Recommended Biographies

Dunn, Mary M. William Penn, Politics and Conscience. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1967. 206pp. Dunn’s intellectual and political biography draws the connection between Penn’s ideas and actions as reflected by a careful reading of his writings. Though often viewed as politically inconsistent, Dunn makes a strong case for the unity of Penn’s ideas and behavior based on his determined efforts on behalf of religious toleration. Few works are better at analyzing the inner dynamics of Penn’s mental make-up.

Peare, Catherine O. William Penn: A Biography. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1957. 448pp. Widely considered the definitive life, this scholarly treatment sets Penn’s personal and public life against the background of his times. Balanced in its assessment, Peare’s presentation reveals a complex individual whose many sides and paradoxes are joined in a lively and compelling human portrait.

Wildes, Harry E. William Penn. New York: Macmillan, 1974. 469pp. In a realistic and scrupulously researched biography that integrates Penn’s private and public lives, Wildes’s is a distinguished effort in which plausible and judicious deductions are offered to fill gaps in the factual record. Despite some errors of fact and documentation, the full, human story of Penn emerges in a well-written account.

Other Biographical Studies

Brailsford, Mabel R. The Making of William Penn. New York: Longmans, 1930. 367pp. Brailsford focuses on Penn’s background and development from his boyhood in Ireland, his education, and the important individuals in his life up to 1681. Well documented, Brailsford supplies a vivid recreation of the Quaker world Penn moved in and the formation of his essential character.

Endy, Melvin B. William Penn and Early Quakerism. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1973. 410pp. Penn is examined from the context of Quakerism and the religious movement he helped to shape. Endy’s interpretive study is based on solid research and serves both as an excellent summary of Penn’s religious thought and a history of early Quakerism.

Fantel, Hans. William Penn: Apostle of Dissent. New York: Morrow, 1974. 298pp. In a readable, sympathetic, popular biography, Fantel summarizes Penn’s transition from cavalier to Quaker and his political and social beliefs. In his enthusiasm for Penn’s achievement, Fantel sometimes allows speculation to exceed the evidence, and his historical judgments are occasionally superficial and misleading.

Graham, John W. William Penn, Founder of Pennsylvania. New York: F.A.Stokes, 1917. 332pp. A well-written, sympathetic biography, Graham weaves extracts from Penn’s writings and historical documents into a reliable narrative life, allowing Penn to speak for himself as much as possible with judicious surmises when primary evidence is lacking.

Hull, William I. Eight First Biographies of William Penn in Seven Languages and Seven Lands. Swarthmore, Pennsylvania: Swarthmore College Press, 1936. 136pp. Hull helpfully collects the earliest Penn biographies and provides a critical assessment.

Hull, William I. William Penn: A Topical Biography. New York: Oxford University Press, 1937. 362pp. Arranged topically rather than chronologically, Hull deals with multiple aspects of Penn’s life and character, including his homes, family, boyhood, conversion, theology, imprisonment, and statesmanship. Serves as an excellent reference tool.

Illick, Joseph E. William Penn, the Politician: His Relations with the English Government. Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1965. 267pp. Choosing to concentrate on Penn’s political rather than spiritual context, Illick summarizes the often-complicated negotiating that Penn was forced to undertake to protect his colony from government interference, and an appreciation of Penn’s political skills is clearly established.

Janney, Samuel M. The Life of William Penn: With Selections from His Correspondence and Autobiography. Philadelphia: Friends Book Association, 1851. 560pp. Long regarded as the standard life, Janney’s biography features extensive quotations from Penn’s writings and historical documents.

Vulliamy, C.E. William Penn. New York: Scribner, 1984. 302pp. This is a reliable, well-researched account of Penn’s life that sets him firmly in his historical context.

Fictional Portraits

Hoffman, Daniel. Brotherly Love. New York: Random House, 1981. 176pp. This historical verse narrative concerning Penn’s life and the rise and fall of his Pennsylvania colony is based solidly on historical fact and incorporates excerpts from colonial laws and contemporary letters. activities in the wider cultural and historical context.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Doherty, Kiernan. William Penn: Quaker Colonist. Brookfield, Connecticut: Millbrook Press, 1998. 192pp. MG/YA. This is an excellent account of Penn’s life and times that is both well-documented and vivid in its characterization of a believable and human Penn.

Foster, Genevieve. The World of William Penn. New York: Scribner, 1973. 192pp. MG. Details of Penn’s life are interspersed with the activities of others from his era, including Marquette, Joliet, La Salle, Newton, Halley, and Peter the Great.

Steffoff, Rebecca. William Penn. New York: Chelsea House, 1998. 112pp. MG/YA. A solid and informative life of Penn that locates his values and activities in the wider cultural and historical context.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

The Courageous Mr. Penn (1941). Director: Lance Comfort. A British biographical film that depicts Penn’s achievements as a Quaker and political leader. Starring Clifford Evans in the title role with Deborah Kerr as Gugliema Springelt, Dennis Arundel as Charles II, and Henry Oscar as Samuel Pepys. Video.

Other Sources

Dunn, Mary M., and Richard S.Dunn, eds. The World of William Penn. Philadelphia: University of Pennsylvania Press, 1986. 421pp. In a valuable collection of critical essays, various aspects of Penn’s life and times are treated by leading specialists.

371. SAMUEL PEPYS

1633–1703

An English public official and celebrated diarist, Pepys was a successful naval administrator and served as president of the Royal Society. His fame rests with his diary, which provides an intimate record of his life and a graphic picture of society during the early Restoration period. Written in code from 1660–1669, Pepys’s diary was first deciphered and published in 1825.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Diary of Samuel Pepys. Robert Latham and William Matthews, ed. Berkeley: University of California Press, 1970. 1970–83. 10 vols. Pepys’s diary is one of the literary treasures of the seventeenth century, allowing us to know far more about him than any other figure during the period. Various abridgements are available; one of the best is The Shorter Pepys (Berkeley: University of California Press, 1985. 1,096pp.).

The Letters of Samuel Pepys and His Family Circle. Helen T.Health, ed. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1956. 253pp. Pepys’s letters are an excellent complement to his diary, filling in areas of his life not covered by the diary and providing an interesting contrast to the private personality revealed there.

Recommended Biographies

Bryant, Arthur. Samuel Pepys. New York: Macmillan, 1933–39. 3 vols. In the most detailed, comprehensive life of the diarist, Pepys’s private and public life are integrated in an objective portrait that allows Pepys to speak for himself whenever appropriate and supplies a fully realized social and historical background to understand the man and his era. The author unfortunately ends his narrative in 1689, neglecting the last decade of Pepys’s life.

Ollard, Richard. Pepys: A Biography. New York: Holt, 1974. 374pp. Ollard’s full-length life is a worthy successor to Bryant and is informed by modern scholarship and the author’s own expertise on the seventeenth-century navy. Pepys is displayed as having a mixture of admirable and less flattering qualities in a fair, balanced portrait in which his ideas and motives are fully detailed in their period context.

Other Biographical Studies

Barber, Richard. Samuel Pepys, Esquire. Berkeley: University of California Press, 1970. 64pp. In an exhibition catalog, Barber’s text, accompanied by many illustrations, presents a workmanlike narrative of Pepys’s life.

Bradford, Gamaliel. The Soul of Samuel Pepys. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1924. 261pp. Based on a close reading of the Diary, Bradford attempts a profile of the diarist’s “soul” in a topically arranged psychological study that examines the man from a variety of interesting angles.

Cleugh, James. The Amorous Master Pepys. London: Frederick Muller, 1958. 186pp. Drawing on excerpts from the Diary, Cleugh collects the intimate, human evidence of the diarist in a limited, one-sided portrait, written for the general reader.

Drinkwater, John. Pepys: His Life and Character. New York: Doubleday, 1930. 374pp. Concentrating on Pepys’s public life, Drinkwater’s popular account serves as an excellent complement to the view offered by the Diary. Covering not just the decade of the Diary, Drinkwater spans Pepys’s entire life and connects both the private man and his public activities into a credible, sympathetic portrait.

Emden, Cecil S. Pepys Himself. New York: Oxford University Press, 1963. 146pp. The author’s character study of Pepys is derived from a close study of the Diary and letters and includes a number of credible interpretations of the diarist’s motives and personality.

Hearsey, John. Young Mr. Pepys. New York: Scribner, 1973. 306pp. Despite its title, the book’s first two chapters alone cover Pepys’s early life and times before proceeding to a more detailed summary of the years of the Diary with extensive quotes but an inadequate substitute for the work itself.

Hunt, Percival. Samuel Pepys in the Diary. Pittsburgh: University of Pittsburgh Press, 1958. 178pp. The author supplies a critical reading of Pepys’s character as it is revealed through a close examination of the Diary.

Lubbock, Percy. Samuel Pepys. New York: Scribner, 1909. 284pp. In a biographical sketch based on previously published material, mainly Wheatley, Lubbock presents the highlights of Pepys’s life and career with details surrounding the writing of the Diary.

Lucas-Dubreton, Jean. Samuel Pepys: A Portrait in Miniature. New York: Putnam, 1925. 280pp. Confined to Pepys’s life during the years recorded in the Diary, this is a highly fictionalized recreation that uses the facts as a launching pad for a highly imaginative, literary, and speculative presentation.

Moorhouse, Esther H. Samuel Pepys, Administrator, Observer, Gossip. New York: Dutton, 1909. 327pp. Based on a careful reading of the Diary and the writings of Pepys’s contemporaries, Moorhouse offers a balanced introduction to Pepys’s personality, private, and public life.

Ponsonby, Arthur. Samuel Pepys. New York: Macmillan, 1928. 160pp. An English authority on seventeenth-century diaries and diarists extends his considerable expertise to a consideration of Pepys, showing him as his contemporaries saw him and in relation to other chroniclers of his times.

Tanner, J.R. Mr. Pepys: An Introduction to the Diary, Together with a Sketch of His Later Life. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1924. 308pp. In a topical arrangement under such headings as family, books, food, music, and plays, Tanner offers a sampler of excerpts from the Diary as well as a detailed biographical portrait with an full analysis of Pepys’s career as Secretary of the Admiralty.

Taylor, Ivan E. Samuel Pepys. New York: Macmillan, 1989. 152pp. Taylor’s fine critical study of Pepys’s writings is an excellent introduction to the man, his works, and his era.

Trease, Geoffrey. Samuel Pepys and His World. New York: Scribner, 1972. 128pp. This illustrated life and times serves as a useful introduction to Pepys and the Diary for the general reader before proceeding to fuller acquaintance with both.

Wheatley, Henry B. Samuel Pepys and the World He Lived In. New York: Scribner, 1880. 311pp. Wheatley’s early biography places Pepys’s life in a wider social context and supplies details of Pepys’s life before and after the Diary decade.

Wilson, John H. The Private Life of Mr. Pepys. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1959. 249pp. Pepys as libertine, as revealed in the Diary, is the book’s focus that deals only sketchily with the years before and after the decade covered in the Diary. Out of context, Pepys’s amorous relations tend to distort the wider view of his character and career, which the author does remind his reader, but the book still provides an entertaining summary for the reader unwilling to tackle the Diary in full.

Biographical Novels

Abernethy, Cecil. Mr. Pepys of Seething Lane. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1957. 384pp. Using the Diary as its fundamental source, this novel constructs a lively and vivid narrative of Pepys’s life with only occasional invented scenes and dialogue.

Delaforce, Patrick. Pepys in Love: Elizabeth’s Story. London: Bishopgate, 1986. 248pp. This fictional account concentrates on Pepys’s domestic life as seen from the perspective of his wife.

George, Sara. The Journal of Mrs. Pepys: Portrait of a Marriage. New York: St. Martin’s, 1999. 340pp. This ingenious imaginative creation based on a careful reading of the Diary provides Elizabeth Pepys own journal entries as she reflects on her often troubled marriage and her era before her early death at the age of 29.

Fictional Portraits

Mount, Ferdinand. Jem (and Sam). New York: Carroll & Graf, 1999. 425pp. The novel provides a fictional alternative to Pepys’s famous Diary in the imagined memoir of Jem Mount, a real-life drinking companion of the diarist, who becomes his friend’s rival as their very different fortunes are compared from Mount’s envious perspective.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

The Courageous Mr. Penn (1941). Director: Lance Comfort. In this biographical portrait of William Penn (Clifford Evans) as Quaker and colonial leader, Pepys makes an appearance, played by Henry Oscar. Deborah Kerr co-stars. Video.

372–373. JUAN PERÓN (1895–1974); EVA DUARTE PERÓN (1919–1952)

President of Argentina, Peron led an army clique that helped overthrow (1943) the government of Ramon Castillo. He served as secretary of labor and social welfare, and as minister of war and vice president. Popular with the unions and the workers, he was elected president in 1946. He began a program of industrialization and social reform, and maintained a position of anti-imperialism and hostility toward the United States. After the death of his wife, Eva, with whom he co-governed, his popularity declined. Religious and military opposition to Peronist corruption and repression led to a military takeover (1955) and Peron was forced into exile. After living in Paraguay and Spain, he returned (1973) to Argentina and was reelected president. After his death, he was succeeded in office by his third wife, Isabel.

Argentine political leader born Eva Duarte, Perón was an actress before her marriage (1945) to Juan Peron. After his election as president, she ran the ministries of labor and health and formed the Eva Peron Social Aid Foundation for the needy. Known as Evita, she was a popular public figure and a fiery orator, who championed the causes of women, labor, and the poor.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

In My Own Words: Evita. New York: New Press, 1996. 119pp. Although its authenticity is disputed, these reflections, purportedly dictated by Eva Perón shortly before her death, are a series of often rambling assertions of her beliefs and opinions. In his introduction, Joseph A. Page argues for the book’s authenticity and supplies a useful summary of Evita’s life and work.

My Mission in Life. New York: Vantage Press, 1953. 216pp. Also available as Evita by Evita: Eva Duarte Peron Tells Her Own Story. (New York: Two Continents, 1978. 245pp.). Notorious for her fabrication of her own history, Eva Perón supplies a highly subjective and self-serving version of her history. Not always reliable for its facts, the book does provide a rare glimpse of her thoughts and character.

Recommended Biographies

Barnes, John. Evita: First Lady: A Biography of Eva Perón. New York: Grove Press, 1978. 195pp. Serving as a readable introduction, Barnes offers a sympathetic though balanced account of Evita’s life and career, with an emphasis on her personal life in a year-by-year narrative.

Crassweller, Robert D. Perón and the Enigmas of Argentina. New York: W.W.Norton, 1987.432pp. This is a thoughtful and skillful biography that serves to sift through the facts, gossip, and legend to present a clear picture of Perón’s personality. The book is particularly good on Perón’s early life and the cultural and historical forces that shaped him.

Fraser, Nicholas, and Marysa Navarro. Eva Perón. New York: W.W.Norton, 1980. 192pp. Well researched using important documentary evidence and interviews, this is the most objective, historically accurate biography of Eva Perón currently available. Evita is displayed in a believable human portrait, remarkably free from bias, reverence, or censure.

Page, Joseph A. Perón: A Biography. New York: Random House, 1983. 594pp. In a full-scale, exhaustive study of the Argentine president, Page covers Perón’s political and private life and debunks a number of myths surrounding him. The book supplies a detailed chronology of Perón’s career, informed by an extensive knowledge of Argentine politics. While not totally resolving all the various paradoxes of Perón and Argentina, this is the fullest and most authoritative account of the details of his life and regime.

Other Biographical Studies

Alexander, Robert J. Juan Domingo Peron: A History. Boulder, Colorado: Westview Press, 1970. 177pp. As its subtitle indicates, Alexander attempts to place Perón’s political career in its Argentine social and political context. The interpretation and details of Perón’s life and career have been largely superseded by Page’s more authoritative study.

Dujovne Ortiz, Alicia. Eva Perón: A Biography. New York: St. Martin’s, 1996. 325pp. In a popular biography with a strong emphasis on gossip and sensation, this often disjointed and overwritten impressionistic account mixes newly declassified sources from the Peron government with rumor and conjecture. The book’s major weakness, however, is an inadequate treatment of Argentine social and political history necessary to make Evita’s story understandable.

Elia, Tomás de. Evita: An Intimate Portrait of Eva Peron. New York: Rizzoli, 1997. 191pp. This lavishly illustrated biographical chronicle of Evita’s private and public life makes use of private family photographs, magazine covers, and publicity stills, as well as pictures of her jewelry and wardrobe.

Harbinson, W.A. Evita!: Saint or Sinner? New York: St. Martin’s, 1996. 216pp. As the book’s title indicates, a melodramatic quality of sensational extremes predominates in this account. Based on secondary sources, the author recycles most of the well-known stories about Evita, turning her into a one-dimensional figure. Almost a third of the book concerns Madonna and the film version of the Andrew Lloyd Webber musical.

Main, Mary. The Woman with the Whip: Eva Perón. 1952. Revised ed. as Evita: The Woman With the Whip. New York: Dodd. Mead, 1980. 268pp. Although somewhat moderated in the revision with a more sympathetic acknowledgement of her accomplishments, this is a highly critical assessment that reveals the distrust and dislike of the Argentine establishment for the woman and her influence.

Taylor, Julie M. Eva Peron: The Myths of a Woman. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1979. 175pp. Less a full-scale biography than a consideration of the Evita myth and her transformation into a popular cultural icon, Taylor examines, after a brief biographical sketch and analysis of her political milieu, the origin and expression of the various legends and images of Peron that reflect Argentine culture and political history.

Biographical Novels

Martinez, Tomás Eloy. The Peron Novel. New York: Pantheon, 1988. 357pp. In an exhilarating fictional portrait of Juan Peron, the ailing dictator is studied, from his return to Argentina after his 18 years of exile to his death. Fantasy helps penetrate the man’s public image to reveal a hollow, accidental leader.

Martinez, Tomás Eloy. Santa Evita. New York: Knopf, 1996. 371pp. The author’s inventive modernist fiction concentrates on Evita’s posthumous career as a preserved corpse battled over by her supporters and enemies. Retelling episodes from her life, Martínez’s novel is a thoughtful and artful meditation on modern mythmaking.

Fictional Portraits

Pridgen, William. Night of the Dragon’s Blood. Plataka, Florida: Hodge & Braddock, 1997. 192pp. This comic horror novel is set in 1952 as one of Evita’s former lovers discovers that she is not dead but undead and a prisoner of a cabal of Nazi vampires, led by Adolf Hitler.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

DeChancie, John. Juan Peron. New York: Chelsea House, 1987. 111pp. MG/YA. DeChancie does an excellent job of chronicling Perón’s life and career, while informing the reader about the historical and cultural factors that help make his actions understandable.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Lloyd Webber, Andrew, and Tim Rice. Evita: The Legend of Eva Peron (1919–1952). New York: Avon, 1975. 123pp. With a brief biographical sketch by Rice, the book reprints the libretto of the popular musical.

A&E Biography Video: Evita: The Woman Behind the Myth (1996). Producer: Deirdre O’Hearn. Using archival footage and testimony from a number of associates and experts, this is solid documentary portrait. Video.

Evita (1997). Director: Alan Parker. In the much-anticipated film version of the Lloyd Webber/Rice musical with a screenplay by Parker and Oliver Stone, Madonna stars in a lavish paean to a popular heroine. With Jonathan Pryce as Juan Peron and Antonio Banderas as the chorus figure Che. Video.

Evita Peron (1981). Director: Marvin J.Chomsky. Based on the Barnes biography, Faye Dunaway depicts Evita, with James Farentino as Juan Peron, in a television drama written by Ronald Harwood.

374. SAINT PETER

Died ca. AD 65

The leader of the 12 disciples and the first bishop of Rome, Peter was a native of Bethsaida, where he and his brother, Andrew, another disciple, were fishermen. His given name was Simon, and Jesus gave him the nickname Cepha (an Aramaic word meaning rock), which was translated into Greek as Petros, or Peter. His association with Jesus, denial of him after the Last Supper, and subsequent ministry and deliverance from prison are recorded in the Gospels and other books of the New Testament; some facts of his life have been gleaned from second-century sources. At the time of his martyrdom, he headed the local church in Rome and is believed to have been crucified upside down on Vatican hill.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

What little is known of Peter’s early life and relationship with Jesus Christ is contained in the New Testament, with Peter’s activities among the earliest Christians chronicled by Luke in the Acts of the Apostles, in the epistles attributed to Peter himself, and in a few references in Paul’s epistles.

Recommended Biographies

Grant, Michael. Saint Peter: A Biography. New York: Scribner, 1995. 212pp. Grant provides a helpful summary of the scant historical evidence available to form a biographical profile with the various legendary material labeled as such. Grant’s insistence on historical objectivity and synthesis of modern scholarship makes this an excellent choice for the reader interested in what can be known for sure about the apostle.

O’Connor, Daniel W. Peter in Rome: The Literary, Liturgical, and Archaeological Evidence. New York: Columbia University Press, 1969. 242pp. In the most extensive scholarly treatment of the various evidence on Peter’s residence, martyrdom, and burial in Rome, O’Connor exhaustively sifts through historical and liturgical sources as well as recent archaeological evidence to present a number of plausible insights concerning Peter’s Roman experiences and his death.

Walsh, William T. Saint Peter, the Apostle. New York: Macmillan, 1948. 307pp. In a highly readable popular study from a clearly devotional viewpoint, Walsh combines biblical evidence, traditional and legendary material, and fictional conjecture to present a sensitive and believable human portrait of Peter’s psychological and spiritual development.

Other Biographical Studies

Cullmann, Oscar. Peter: Disciple, Apostle, Martyr: A Historical and Theological Study. 1953. Revised ed. Philadelphia: Westminster Press, 1962. 252pp. In a scholarly attempt to locate Peter’s career in the context of the early Christian church, Cullman first examines the evidence to support the apostle’s preeminence and authority before looking critically at the theological implications of scriptural texts on the primacy of Peter.

Elton, Godfrey. Simon Peter. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1966. 236pp. Relying on biblical sources, Elton provides a fictionalized, devotional retelling of Jesus’ ministry from Peter’s perspective and the development of his spiritual faith. Although his sources are documented, Elton’s reconstruction of Peter’s consciousness and personality depends mainly on the imagination.

Findlay, James A. A Portrait of Peter. New York: Abingdon Press, 1935. 214pp. Findlay’s portrait is notable primarily in contrast to the conventional view of the apostle who is not shown as an impulsive and simple fisherman but a straightforward and incisive disciple and leader of the early Christians.

Foakes-Jackson, Frederick J. Peter, Prince of Apostles: A Study in the History and Tradition of Christianity. New York: G.H.Doran, 1927. 320pp. As its subtitle indicates, the author constructs a biography of Peter combining both historical fact and traditional material. Fact and legend are helpfully distinguished.

Perkins, Pheme. Peter: Apostle for the Whole Church. Columbia: University of South Carolina Press, 1994. 209pp. Perkins surveys the various sources that have formed the popular view of Peter, supplementing New Testament sources with information drawn from archaeological research.

Robertson, Archibald T. Epochs in the Life of Simon Peter. New York: Scribner, 1933. 342pp. In a competent scholarly interpretation of the New Testament sources, the author presents a biographical study of Peter that is informed by an evident grasp of the various controversies surrounding Peter’s life and role in the early church.

Biographical Novels

Douglas, Lloyd C. The Big Fisherman. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1948. 581pp. Peter’s life following the death of Jesus is narrated from a variety of perspectives, including Peter’s, in Douglas’s bestseller that combines biblical sources, traditional, fictional, and historical material, and the author’s own interpretation of various historical figures.

Frieberger, Kurt. Fisher of Men: A Novel of Simon Peter. New York: Appleton-Century, 1954. 368pp. Relying on a number of invented details to fill in the gaps in Peter’s biography, the novel follows his career from his youth in Galilee to his martyrdom in Rome, creating a believable, if highly conjectural, human portrait.

Murphy, Walter F. Upon This Rock: The Life of St. Peter. New York: Macmillan, 1987. 538pp. Narrated by a fictional follower of Jesus, Peter’s life story is presented against a vivid backdrop of the early Christian community and life during the first century. The novel’s extensive speculation beyond the canonical sources is at least plausible historically.

Slaughter, Frank G. Upon This Rock: A Novel of Simon Peter, Prince of Apostles. New York: Coward-McCann, 1963. 352pp. Peter’s life is narrated from his days as a humble fisherman, through his years with Jesus, and his leadership among the apostles and early Christians in a blend of scriptural, historical, archaeological, and imaginative sources.

Fictional Portraits

Chinn, Laurene. Marcus. New York: Morrow, 1965. 370pp. The life of the apostle Mark is dramatized, first as Jesus’ disciple and later with Paul on Cyprus and Peter in Rome in a blend of fact, tradition, and speculation.

Costain, Thomas B. The Silver Chalice. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1952. 533pp. Basil, a silversmith who fashions a vessel to house the cup used by Jesus at the Last Supper, wanders throughout the ancient world among the early Christians, including Luke, Paul, and Peter.

Douglas, Lloyd C. The Robe. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1942. 695pp. The story of the Roman soldier who wins the robe Jesus wore at the time of his death shows him on a quest to understand his own growing faith that leads to Peter and the lot of the early Christians.

Mason, Anita. The Illusionist. New York: Holt, 1983. 309pp. In this fanciful tale about Simon Magus, the famous magician meets Peter and must compete with the new Christian faith in a test of powers before the Emperor Nero.

Sienkiewicz, Henryk. Quo Vadis? 1896. Reprint ed. New York: Hippocrene, 1992. 493pp. The author connects a fictional story of a Roman patrician’s love for a captured Christian princess with a historical recreation of Rome during Nero’s reign and a view of Peter and the early Christian church.

Slaughter, Frank G. The Sins of Herod: A Novel of Rome and the Early Church. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1968. 370pp. The early years of Christianity are described from the perspective of a Roman citizen of Judea who must choose between Roman law and his growing Christian faith. A number of historical figures are presented, including Caligula, Herod, John, James, and Peter.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Pittenger, W.Norman. The Life of Saint Peter. New York: F.Watts, 1971. 116pp. MG/YA. Pittenger’s is a vivid, historically reliable account of Peter’s life, with an emphasis on early church history.

Thompson, Blanche J. Peter and Paul: The Rock and the Sword. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1964. 174pp. MG. Without recourse to fictional devices, Thompson summarizes the known events and allows the participants to speak for themselves in this informative look at the founding and the early years of Christianity.

Williams, Albert N. Simon Peter, Fisher of Men: A Fictionalized Autobiography of the Apostle Peter. New York: Association Press, 1954. 159pp. MG/YA. Although fictionalized, the book does succeed in humanizing Peter and bringing his era to life with vivid details.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

The Big Fisherman (1959). Director: Frank Borzage. Film version of Lloyd C.Douglas’s novel, starring Howard Keel, John Saxon, Herbert Lom, and Susan Kohner.

The Silver Chalice (1954). Director: Victor Saville. This film version of Thomas Costain’s novel about a young Greek sculptor who makes the cup Jesus uses at the Last Supper features the screen debut of Paul Newman and a portrayal of Nero by Jacques Aubuchon and Saint Peter by Lorne Greene. Video.

See also Jesus Christ; Saint Paul

375. PETER THE GREAT

1672–1725

A major figure in the westernization of Russia and the development of imperial Russia, Peter I became joint czar in 1682 with his half-brother, Ivan, and ruled solely beginning in 1696. He traveled in Europe (1697–1698) to learn techniques of war and industry, and hired numerous European craftsmen to work in Russia. He initiated domestic and administrative reforms, modernized the armed forces, and concluded (1700) peace with the Ottoman Empire. From 1700 to 1721, Russia and an alliance consisting of Denmark and Saxony-Poland waged the Northern War against Sweden. The war resulted in Russian domination of the Baltic Sea, where Peter built his new capital, St. Petersburg. Credited with modernizing and strengthening Russia, Peter was nevertheless brutal in his exercise of power and remains a controversial figure in Russian history.

Recommended Biographies

Anderson, M.S. Peter the Great. New York: Longman, 1995. 234pp. Part of the Profiles in Power series, Anderson gives Peter full credit for his many achievements but creates a realistic character profile in which his energy and vision are intermixed with the coarseness of his personal behavior, a lack of human affection in his private relationships, and a brutality in public affairs.

Grey, Ian. Peter the Great: Emperor of All Russia. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1960. 505pp. In an eclectic mixture of history, scholarship, and imaginative reconstruction, Grey depicts a different Peter, not the dynamic barbarian of previous views, but a dedicated and selfless Russian leader. Grey supports his interpretation with a wealth of primary source materials. Grey’s believable human portrait of the man is set against a masterful re-creation of place and time.

Klyuchevsky, Vasili. Peter the Great. New York: St. Martin’s, 1958. 282pp. First published in 1910, the work of a leading Russian expert on Peter and Russian history, Klyuchevsky’s influential historical biography remains one of the best assessments of Peter’s life, development, character, and accomplishments.

Massie, Robert. Peter the Great: His Life and World. New York: Knopf, 1980. 909pp. Massie’s award-winning narrative biography of Peter’s life and times is absorbing in its ability to dramatize Peter’s story so that it reads like a suspense novel. Peter is portrayed with nearly superhuman qualities and failings. The book offers little interpretation of events, but Massie’s compensation in narrative interest is impressive.

Other Biographical Studies

De Jonge, Alex. Fire and Water: A Life of Peter the Great. New York: Coward-McCann, 1980. 278pp. Written for the general reader, this is a anecdote-rich recapitulation of Peter’s life and times that attempts to show him as his contemporaries saw him, based largely on the diaries of foreign observers.

Graham, Stephen. Peter the Great: A Life of Peter I of Russia, Called the Great. Westport, Connecticut: Greenwood, 1971. 376pp. The emphasis in Graham’s biography is the personal side of Peter with sufficient historical details to see him in context.

Lee, Stephen J. Peter the Great. New York: Routledge, 1993. 78pp. Part of the Lancaster Pamphlet series, this topically arranged survey of various aspects of Peter’s life and reign is a useful, concise summary and assessment.

Marshall, William. Peter the Great. New York: Longman, 1996. 149pp. Marshall’s topical rather than chronological study of Peter includes chapters on the Russian background, Peter’s early life and character, warfare, and reforms. Includes some documentary records, glossaries of terms, and a genealogy of the Romanovs.

Schuyler, Eugene. Peter the Great, Emperor of Russia: A Study in Historical Biography. 1884. Reprint ed. New York: Russell & Russell, 1967. 2 vols. Despite its age, Schuyler’s remains the most detailed narrative history of Peter’s life and reign in English, though his approach is dated and his coverage uneven, with most of the attention devoted to the early years of Peter’s rule.

Summer, Benedict H. Peter the Great and the Emergence of Russia. New York: Macmillan, 1951. 216pp. After an opening chapter devoted to biographical details, Summer focuses on Peter’s achievement in modernizing Russia in a succinct and reliable assessment.

Troyat, Henri. Peter the Great. New York: Dutton, 1987. 392pp. Troyat’s popularized biography stresses Peter’s larger-than-life appetites and excesses, which are depicted in a wealth of colorful details and anecdotes. Not always reliable as history, Troyat’s approach comes close to biographical fiction by its degree of imaginative conjecture.

Biographical Novels

Hill, Pamela. Tsar’s Woman. New York: St. Martin’s, 1985. 207pp. This is the implausible but true story of the peasant woman who became Peter’s mistress, wife, and finally Catherine I, Empress of Russia.

Jones, Maurice B. Peter Called the Great. New York: F.A.Stokes, 1936. 379pp. Jones’s narrative begins with Peter’s return to Russia in 1698 after his first journey abroad and closes with his death, stressing Peter’s relationships with his wives and mistresses and his years of madness. The facts are interspersed with conjecture, and there are too many errors for the account to be fully reliable.

Markish, David. Jesters. New York: Holt, 1988. 246pp. Peter’s life and times are reflected from the perspective of three Jews who become his trusted advisers but who live at his pleasure as his “jesters.” This imaginative novel offers a believable interpretation of Peter’s reign and character.

Merezhkovsky, Dmitry. Peter and Alexis. New York: Putnam, 1906. 556pp. This massive historical reconstruction concentrates on Peter’s relationship with his son in an often moving account in which factual details are imaginatively embellished.

Price, Jeramie. Katrina. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1955. 305pp. Focusing on the relationship between Peter and his second wife, Catherine, who, though born a peasant, is raised to the throne as Catherine I. Not always reliable as history, some liberties have been taken in telling the couple’s story.

Tolstoy, Aleksy. Peter the Great. New York: Covici, 1932. 387pp. Blending historical events with invented scenes and characters, this is an epic re-creation of Peter’s reign and the transformation of Russia into a great European power. Peter’s dominating personality centers this atmospheric novel.

Fictional Portraits

Nicholson, Christina. The Power and the Passion. New York: Coward-McCann, 1977. 320pp. In a fanciful tale, the novel tracks the romantic adventures of a young woman who becomes the mistress of three monarchs: William III of England, Augustus II of Poland, and Peter the Great.

Rutherford, Edward. Russka: The Novel of Russia. New York: Crown, 1991. 760pp. This immense family saga covers more than 1,800 years of Russian history with a view of the impact of its rulers, including Ivan the Terrible, Peter, and Catherine the Great.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

McDermott, Kathleen. Peter the Great. New York: Chelsea House, 1991. 109pp. MG/YA. This biography is particularly helpful in delivering a reliable overview of Russian history, making Peter’s achievements comprehensible.

Putnam, Peter. Peter: The Revolutionary Tsar. New York: Harper & Row, 1973. 269pp. YA. Putnam emphasizes the complexity of Peter’s character in a generally accurate, objective, and anecdotally rich narrative account.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Conquerors (1997). Directors: Nigel Maslin and Robert Marshall. The film profiles four great leaders: Peter the Great, Napoleon, Alexander the Great, and Suleyman. Video.

Peter the First (1937). Director: Vladimir Petrov. A lavish Russian film biography tracing Peter’s life from the early years of his reign to his final days. Video.

Peter the Great (1992). Directors: Marvin J. Chomsky and Lawrence Schiller. Based on Massie’s book, this television miniseries stars Maximilian Schell in the title role with Laurence Olivier, Vanessa Redgrave, and Omar Sharif. Video.

Other Sources

Oliva, L.Jay, ed. Peter the Great. Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Prentice-Hall, 1970. 181pp. Part of the Great Lives Observed series, this useful collection brings together Peter’s own writings, contemporaries’ views, and modern historian’s interpretations of the czar’s character, achievement, and influence.

376. PETRARCH

130–1374

Born Francesco Petrarca, Petrarch is a major figure of Italian as well as world literature. Supported by such patrons as Cardinal Colonna and the Visconti of Milan, he spent his life in study, travel, and writing poetry, epistles, and other prose works, mainly in Latin. He helped to spread the Renaissance viewpoint through his criticism of medieval scholasticism and through his correspondence and considerable influence. He perfected the sonnet form and was one of the earliest poetic masters of the Italian vernacular. Petrarch’s inspiration for his great love lyrics was a woman referred to as “Laura,” whom he first saw in 1327, and who died of the plague in 1348.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Petrarch’s poetry provides one of the most autobiographically revealing glimpses of any creative artist. The poet is also helpfully viewed in his letters. Editions include Letters. Morris Bishop, ed. (Bloomington: Indiana University Press, 1966. 306pp.) and Letters of Old Age (Baltimore, Maryland: Johns Hopkins University Press, 1992. 2 vols.).

Recommended Biographies

Bergin, Thomas G. Petrarch. New York: Twayne, 1970. 213pp. Bergin’s critical study connects Petrarch’s works with the details of his life and a consideration of his cultural and intellectual context. Serves as an excellent introduction to the man and his art.

Mann, Nicholas. Petrarch. New York: Oxford University Press, 1984. 121pp. Like Bergin, Mann’s concise critical study is a useful introduction that makes full use of modern scholarship regarding Petrarch and his era.

Other Biographical Studies

Bishop, Morris. Petrarch and His World. Bloomington: Indiana University Press, 1963. 399pp. Bishop’s readable overview of the poet and his times is an uneven mix of useful criticism and distorting simplification. Petrarch is affectionately but realistically shown with his shortcomings intact, even as his achievements are highlighted.

Foster, Kenelm. Petrarch: Poet and Humanist. Edinburgh: Edinburgh University Press, 1984. 241pp. Foster combines biographical details with a critical reading of Petrarch’s works and influence to form a useful introduction to the writer.

Tatham, Edward H.R. Francesco Petrarca: The First Modern Man of Letters: His Life and Correspondence. New York: Macmillan, 1925–1926. 2 vols. Tatham’s exhaustive but discursive biography contains much matter but is marred by a moralistic tone and imprecision of fact and interpretation.

Trinkaus, Charles. The Poet as Philosopher: Petrarch and the Formation of Renaissance Consciousness. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1979. 147pp. Written as a lecture series, this critical study examines Petrarch’s works and their influence on Renaissance humanism. Petrarch is seen as emblematic of a profound transformation in human consciousness and individuality.

Whitfield, John H. Petrarch and the Renaissance. 1943. Reprint ed. New York: Russell & Russell, 1965. 170pp. This is a valuable, brief survey of the historical background essential for an understanding of Petrarch’s impact and influence. In Whitfield’s view, Petrarch is a bridge figure between the ancients and the moderns.

Wilkins, Ernest H. Life of Petrarch. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1961. 275pp. Based on Petrarch’s letters, this log of Petrarch’s chronological activities emphasizes his character traits and interests beyond his literary work. Unfortunately, the book rarely achieves sufficient distance to blend Petrarch’s many aspects into a coherent and convincing whole or to demonstrate how his experiences formed his ideas and personality.

377. PHILIP II

1527–1598

Crowned (1556) king of Spain after the abdication of his father, Holy Roman Emperor, Charles V, Philip ruled an empire consisting of Milan, Naples, Sicily, the Netherlands, the Franche-Comte, large areas of the New World, and the Philippine Islands. A devout Catholic, Philip used the Spanish Inquisition and religious persecution to centralize power under an absolute monarchy. His absolutist policies resulted in the revolt of the Protestant Netherlands, which was only partly subdued. He was recognized King Philip I of Portugal in 1580. English attacks on Spanish shipping and their support of the Dutch rebels led to an attempted invasion by Spain’s invincible Armada. The ignominious defeat (1588) of the Armada by the English destroyed Spanish naval supremacy. Among Philip’s four wives was Mary I of England (m. 1554).

Recommended Biographies

Kamen, Henry A.F. Philip of Spain. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1997. 384pp. Reversing the judgments of many pro-Protestant writers, Kamen presents a well-researched and -argued defense of Philip’s reign and character that treats him as a believable human being in the context of his times. Kamen’s special pleading at times undermines the credibility of his portrait, but the book’s scholarship and perceptiveness are first rate.

Parker, Geoffrey. Philip II. Boston: Little, Brown, 1978. 234pp. Based in part on Philip’s letters and administrative papers that serve to humanize him, Parker challenges the view of the Spanish monarch as a malevolent tyrant. Instead he is depicted as a hardworking, self-doubting yet competent administrator and a credible, complex individual by presenting both his strengths and weaknesses objectively.

Pierson, Peter. Philip II of Spain. London: Thames and Hudson, 1975. 240pp. The author’s provocative character profile of Philip traces the sources and influence of his conservatism and caution from his early experiences through the events of his reign. The result is one of the closest views yet attempted of Philip’s personality and temperament.

Other Biographical Studies

Grierson, Edward. The Fatal Inheritance: Philip II and the Spanish Netherlands. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1969. 390pp. Grierson focuses on a crucial event during Philip’s reign, the rebellion of the Netherlands against Spanish rule, re-creating the complex events of the period for the nonspecialist with psychological insights into Philip’s leadership, motivations, and character. In King of Two Worlds: Philip II of Spain (New York: Putnam, 1974. 240pp.) the author attempts to explain the motives of a mixed figure seen in a series of revealing glimpses in which Philip is shown as a cautious, paranoid, and bigoted man.

Parker, Geoffrey. The Grand Strategy of Philip II. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1998. 446pp. Parker’s investigation of Philip’s policy decisions focuses on three important aspects of his reign: his dealing with the Netherlands, his foreign relations with Scotland and England, and the military campaign of the Armada. The book clarifies the factors that contributed to Philip’s failures, including the king’s own idiosyncrasies.

Petrie, Charles. Philip II of Spain. New York: W.W.Norton, 1963. 318pp. Philip remains the central focus in this life and times biography aimed at the general reader. Vivid and dramatic, Petrie succeeds in animating Philip’s times but his pro-Philip interpretations are often superficial, inadequately dealing with many of the more controversial aspects of Philip’s rule and character.

Walsh, William T. Philip II. New York: Sheed & Ward, 1937. 770pp. Philip’s life story is told against a rich background of sixteenth-century history. Viewed with a strong pro-Catholic bias, Philip is sympathetically treated.

Woodward, Geoffrey. Philip II. New York: Longman, 1992. 135pp. Woodward’s is a useful, brief overview of the highlights of Philip’s reign and an assessment of his leadership and personality. Sections cover Philip’s character, governmental and economic issues, and foreign and domestic affairs. There is also a brief selection of documents.

Biographical Novels

Irwin, Margaret. Elizabeth and the Prince of Spain. London: Chatto & Windus, 1953. 255pp. In this depiction of Elizabeth of Valois’s girlhood and her interaction with Philip II, first as his lover, and, after Mary I’s death, as his wife, history forms the novel’s basic framework with a number of invented scenes and imagined dialogue.

Kesten, Hermann. I, the King. London: Routledge, 1940. 538pp. In a fictional account of Philip’s reign and personality, the novel covers the king’s life from his mid-20s to his death, with the major events of the period accurately described.

Plaidy, Jean. The Spanish Bridegroom. Philadelphia: Macrae, 1956. 288pp. In an attempt to arrive at a realistic and truthful portrait, Philip’s life is depicted through his four marriages. In The Scarlet Cloak. (London: Hale, 1969. 335pp.), the intrigue surrounding Philip’s plot to invade England and restore Catholicism is dramatized through the experiences of two Spanish brothers swept up in the events of the Armada.

Wilbur, Marguerite K. The Unquenchable Flame: The Life of Philip II. New York: Hastings House, 1952. 342pp. This is a fictionalized retelling of Philip’s life story against an authentic but simplified period background, which includes appearances by most of the important figures of Philip’s era.

Zara, Louis. In the House of the King. New York: Crown, 1952. 306pp. Tracing Philip’s life from his boyhood to his death, the novel emphasizes the king’s amorous relations and political intrigues in a vivid depiction of the era.

Fictional Portraits

Benitez Rojo, Antonio. Sea of Lentils. Amherst: University of Massachusetts Press, 1990. 201pp. This inventive modernist novel offers a number of perspectives on Spain’s colonization of America, including the deathbed reflections of Philip II.

De Wohl, Louis. The Last Crusader. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1956. 448pp. The remarkable life and times of the Spanish military hero Don Juan of Austria are dramatized in this book. The son of the Emperor Charles V, Juan spent his childhood with peasants before being recognized by Philip II as his half brother.

O’Brien, Kate. For One Sweet Grape. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1946. 340pp. Set in the court of Philip II, the novel dramatizes the relationship between the king and the Castilian princess Ana de Mendoza. Based on a historical incident, the author’s drama is mainly invented.

Ross Williamson, Hugh. The Princess a Nun. London: Joseph, 1978. 192pp. The novel retells the story of Ana de Mendoza whose loss of Philip’s favor results in her banishment.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

O’Brien, Kate. That Lady: A Romantic Drama. New York: Harper, 1949. 143pp. This is the author’s dramatic version of her novel, For One Sweet Grape.

Elizabeth (1998). Director: Shekhar Kapur. George Yiasoumi appears briefly as Philip II in this dark period drama of Elizabeth’s rise to the throne. Video.

Elizabeth R (1972). Director: Roderick Graham. This television dramatic series covers Elizabeth’s life from age 17 to 70, anchored by a remarkable performance by Glenda Jackson. Both colorful and convincing, with an portrayal of Philip II by Peter Jeffrey. Video.

Fire Over England (1937). Director: William K. Howard. In the first film pairing of Laurence Olivier and Vivien Leigh, this adventure drama depicts an English naval officer’s espionage work in the Spanish court on the eve of the Armada’s sailing. Raymond Massey depicts Philip, with Flora Robson as Elizabeth I. Video.

That Lady (1955). Director: Terrence Young. In the film version of the O’Brien novel and play, Paul Scofield depicts Philip and Olivia de Havilland plays the Spanish princess who loses the king’s favor.

Other Sources

Rule, J.C., and J.TePaske, eds. The Character of Philip II: The Problem of Moral Judgments in History. Boston: Heath, 1963. 103pp. This useful volume brings together various historical and biographical evaluations of Philip II.

See also Elizabeth I; Mary I

378. PABLO PICASSO

1881–1973

Spanish-born painter, sculptor, graphic artist, and ceramist of exceptional virtuosity, versatility, and originality, Picasso is considered one of the greatest artists of the twentieth century. At 15 he studied at the Royal Academy of Art in Barcelona and lived and worked in France from 1904. During his “blue period” (1901–1904), he produced such paintings as The Old Guitarist (1903). The works of his lyrical “rose period” (1905–1906) often depict scenes from circus life. With Braque and Gris. Picasso developed Cubism; his Les Demoiselles d’Avignon (1907) is an important early cubist work. His works of the 1920s include the cubist Three Musicians (1921) and the classical Three Women at the Fountain (1921). His large canvas, Guernica (1937), depicts the agonies of the Spanish Civil War. Notable later works include Rape of the Sabines (1963) and Young Bather with Sand Shovel (1971). He produced a brilliant series of etchings toward the end of his life.

Recommended Biographies

O’Brian, Patrick. Pablo Ruiz Picasso: A Biography. New York: Putnam, 1976. 511pp. Written for the nonspecialist, O’Brian devotes half of his comprehensive study to Picasso’s Spanish background in the years before World War I. Offering few critical insights into Picasso’s genius or art, the book’s strength comes from the author’s evident expertise with the Spanish and Catalan milieu that shaped the young artist’s development.

Penrose, Roland. Picasso: His Life and Work. New York: Harper & Row, 1959. 517pp. A well-researched, sympathetic, and penetrating biography by an English artist who knew Picasso for many years, Penrose’s study offers a year-by-year detailed account of Picasso’s life and artistic career.

Richardson, John. A Life of Picasso. New York: Random House, 1991–1996. 2 vols. With two of a projected four-volume study now complete, Richardson’s masterful biography promises to be definitive for a long time to come. The painter’s works, not his private life, are the chief focus here, though his daily activities are minutely displayed. The author supplies a meticulously researched and objective assessment of Picasso’s overall development, seen from the wider context of modern art and culture. No other study supplies such a clear-eyed perspective on the nature of Picasso’s genius and his world.

Other Biographical Studies

Boeck, Wilhelm, and Jaime Sabartès. Picasso. New York: Abrams, 1955. 524pp. Boeck’s critical survey of Picasso’s development as an artist from his beginnings is prefaced by a 60-page reminiscence of the artist by Sabartès, Picasso’s secretary and longtime companion.

Brassai. Picasso and Company. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1966. 289pp. Told in the form of a journal recording the celebrated photographer’s relationship with his friend from the period 1932 to 1947 and 1960 to 1962, Brassai’s reminiscences feature reconstructions of conversations with the artist as well as valuable photographs of the artist at work. Also available as Conversations with Picasso (Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1999. 400pp.).

Cabanne, Pierre. Pablo Picasso: His Life and Times. New York: Morrow, 1977. 606pp. Cabanne’s detailed, comprehensive account of both the man and the artist is an often-unflattering portrait, marred by errors of fact, undocumented assertions, and simplistic art criticism and history.

Cirlot, Juan-Eduardo. Picasso: Birth of a Genius. New York: Praeger, 1972. 288pp. In the text accompanying a catalog of Picasso’s donation of his early work to the city of Barcelona, Cirlot traces Picasso’s artistic development from childhood up to 1917.

Crespelle, Jean-Paul. Picasso and His Women. New York: Coward-McCann, 1969. 223pp. Picasso is viewed in relation to his two wives and many companions who influenced his life and work. At times superficial and voyeuristic, the book’s details are mostly based on previously published sources and offers little that is original.

Duncan, David D. The Private World of Pablo Picasso. New York: Harper, 1958. 171pp. Duncan’s book of photographs with short background text records Picasso throughout the process of producing two paintings. The artist’s creative process is documented.

Elgar, Frank, and Robert Maillard. Picasso. 1956. Revised ed. New York: Tudor, 1972. 247pp. The book combines a critical survey of Picasso’s art as well as a biographical chronology in which the production of the artist’s major works is connected to his experiences.

Gedo, Mary. Picasso: Art as Autobiography. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1980. 304pp. Developing a psychological profile of the artist, drawing connections between his life and his work, Gedo identifies Picasso’s dependency on others in his personal and professional life. Picasso’s youth, family, and sexual relationships are considered in combination with biographical insights, art criticism, and conjecture.

Gilot, Françoise, and Carlton Lake. Life with Picasso. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1964. 373pp. Picasso’s mistress, model, and mother of two of his children provides her frank and often painful recollections of her time with the artist, covering the period 1943 to 1953. Through reconstructed conversations, Picasso’s personality and views on art are displayed. Although Gilot clearly respects Picasso’s genius, she reveals his difficult, unflattering human limitations.

Huffington, Arianna S. Picasso: Creator and Destroyer. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1988. 558pp. Picasso’s destructive private life rather than his creative genius is the focus in this bestselling biography. Based on conversations with Françoise Gilot and Picasso’s daughter, the artist is depicted as a manipulative sadist in an often one-sided portrait.

Levy, Lorraine. Picasso. New York: Holt, 1991. 160pp. This is a brief, illustrated survey of Picasso’s career. Photographs of the artist and his world and reproductions of his most famous and lesser known works make this a worthy overview for the general reader.

Mailer, Norman. Portrait of Picasso as a Young Man: An Interpretive Biography. New York: Atlantic Monthly Press, 1995. 400pp. Covering the years between Picasso’s birth and 1914, Mailer assembles a number of eyewitness accounts to balance his novelistic freedom of psychological speculation and opinion. Although it adds nothing new to the biographical record, Mailer’s impressionistic interpretation is interesting, particularly on Picasso’s sexual obsessions, even though the young Picasso begins to resemble the young Mailer.

Olivier, Fernande. Picasso and His Friends. New York: Appleton-Century, 1965. 186pp. Picasso’s early companion provides her recollections on their relationship from 1903 to 1912, shedding light on the pre-World War I life of the artist while he was still an unknown painter but at the center of the avant-garde art movement in the Bateau-Lavoir in Paris’s Montmartre.

Palau i Fabre, Joseph. Picasso: The Early Years, 1881–1907. New York: Rizzoli, 1981. 560pp. Written by a Catalan friend of Picasso, this fascinating collection of more than 1,500 drawings, sketches, paintings, and documents is linked with background information on the artist’s life up to the age of 26. Particularly useful for the social and family context of the young artist.

Sabartès, Jaime. Picasso: An Intimate Portrait. New York: Prentice-Hall, 1948. 230pp. Picasso’s longtime secretary and companion, whose association with the painter spanned the period from 1899 and 1904 and from 1935 to 1940, provides his recollections of the artist’s personality, habits, and creative process, as well as useful details about Picasso’s early years in Spain.

Warncke, Carsten-Peter. Picasso. Köln: Taschen, 1991. 740pp. With more than 900 full-color and hundreds of black-and-white illustrations, this is an in-depth, comprehensive survey of Picasso and his works that serves as a valuable introduction to the full range of the artist’s accomplishments.

Fictional Portraits

Longstreet, Stephen. The Burning Man. New York: Random House, 1958. 428pp. The story of Julio Diaz Navarro is based in part on the facts of Picasso’s life as the young Spanish artist rises from poverty to become one of the world’s most controversial artists; The Young Men of Paris. (New York: Delacorte, 1967. 275pp.) is a biographical novel about the artist Modigliani and the Paris art world before World War I, with appearances by such figures as Picasso, Matisse, Chagall, Utrillo, and Apollinaire.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Beardsley, John. Pablo Picasso. New York: Abrams, 1991. 92pp. YA. By interweaving biographical detail with criticism, Picasso’s immense talent, dominating personality, and influence are lucidly summarized. The book also treats honestly Picasso’s difficult side, particularly his relationships with women.

Bernadac, Marie-Laure, and Paule Dubouchet. Picasso: Master of the New Idea. New York: Abrams, 1993. 191pp. YA. Filled with many illustrations, Picasso’s career is traced from his early days in Spain through his years of renown, relying on firsthand accounts of the artist by friends and associates, as well as excerpts from Picasso’s own writings.

Lyttle, Richard B. Pablo Picasso: The Man and the Image. New York: Atheneum, 1989. 246pp. YA. Integrating details on the artist’s life, work, and times into a thorough biography, Lyttle deals frankly with the less flattering side of Picasso’s personality.

Selfridge, John W. Pablo Picasso. New York: Chelsea House, 1994. 111pp. MG/YA. Part of the Hispanics of Achievement series, the author’s competent presentation of Picasso’s life and work connects his works with his early years in Spain and historical events that help shape his artistic vi

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Martin, Steve. Picasso at the Lapin Agile. New York: Grove Press, 1996. 150pp. Set in a Paris café in 1904, Picasso and Albert Einstein argue about physics and art.

A&E Biography Video: Pablo Picasso: A Primitive Soul (1999). Producer: Molly Thompson. The documentary traces the painter’s life and artistic career with location footage and presentation of a wide selection of his work. Video.

Mystery of Picasso (1956). Director: H.G. Clouzot. Exploring the man and his artistic method, this unusual film portrait shows Picasso creating several works before the camera. Video.

Pablo Picasso (1988). Producer: Films for the Humanities. This film portrait shows how the artist shaped the modern aesthetic vision and how his career spanned the great artistic movements of the twentieth century. Video.

Picasso (1985). Director: Didier Baussy. Part of the Portrait of the Artist series, this is a film profile of Picasso’s life displaying some of his most famous works in the process. Video.

Picasso: The Man and His Work (1986). Director: Edward Quinn. This film chronicle of Picasso’s life and career reveals many hitherto unknown aspects of his work and personality. Video.

Surviving Picasso (1996). Director: James Ivory. Anthony Hopkins depicts the painter as an ego-driven exploiter of women in this drama based on Arianna Huffington’s book. The film concentrates on Picasso’s 10-year affair with Françoise Gilot (Natascha McElhone). Joss Ackland appears as Matisse. Video.

Other Sources

McCully, Marilyn, ed. A Picasso Anthology: Documents, Criticism, Reminiscences. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1982. 288pp. Picasso’s creative process and attitudes toward art are revealed in a variety of source documents and statements from friends and associates on the man and his art.

McCully, Marilyn, ed. Picasso: The Early Years, 1892–1906. Washington, DC: National Gallery of Art, 1997. 430pp. This collection of essays focuses on Picasso’s formative years between the ages of 11 and 24 and the evolution of his artistic talent, historical and social background, and the influences of friends and family.

379. WILLIAM PITT

1759–1806

British statesman known as “Pitt the Younger,” Pitt was the second son of the Earl of Chatham (“Pitt the Elder”). He trained as a lawyer, entered Parliament in 1781, and became Chancellor of the Exchequer (1792). At the invitation of George III, he became prime minister—at age 24, the youngest in British history. In his first ministry (1783–1801), Pitt strengthened national finances and British interests in India and managed to stave off establishment of an unlimited regency when the king became temporarily insane (1788–1789), in order to stay in office. War with France and discontent in England forced his resignation (1801). His second ministry (1804–1806) was marked by the great British naval victory at Trafalgar (1805) and the allied defeat at Austerlitz (1805).

Recommended Biographies

Ehrman, John. The Younger Pitt: The Years of Acclaim. New York: Dutton, 1969. 710pp.; The Younger Pitt: The Reluctant Transition. Stanford, California: Stanford University Press, 1983. 689pp. With two volumes of a planned trilogy completed, bringing Pitt’s career up to 1796, Ehrman’s is a monumental scholarly study of Pitt’s public life and the complex domestic and foreign policy issues of his era. The book is less successful in animating Pitt’s private human side, and the biographical focus often gives way to a wider historical perspective.

Reilly, Robin. William Pitt the Younger. New York: Putnam, 1979. 502pp. Written for the general reader, Reilly’s treatment of Pitt’s personal life concentrates on those episodes that reveal his character and personality. As such, this well-written life serves as a valuable complement to Ehrman’s more comprehensive treatment of Pitt’s public career.

Other Biographical Studies

Evans, Eric J. William Pitt the Younger. New York: Routledge, 1997. 96pp. Evans’s succinct examination of Pitt’s career looks at the economic, domestic, and foreign policy context, as well as the political and governmental issues that shaped his public life.

Jarrett, Derek. Pitt the Younger. New York: Scribner, 1974. 224pp. In a brief, attractively illustrated biography, Jarrett concentrates almost exclusively on Pitt’s public life, with few details about his private side. While adding little new to the conventional view, Jarrett’s treatment serves as a useful introduction to Pitt’s career and era.

Mackesy, Piers. War without Victory: The Downfall of Pitt, 1799–1802. New York: Oxford University Press, 1984. 248pp. This is a study of the political struggle that brought about the fall of the Pitt ministry in 1801 and the acceptance of the Treaty of Amien in 1802. A brilliantly written narrative history for the nonspecialist, Mackesy’s study sheds considerable light on the later years of Pitt’s political career.

Rosebery, Archibald. Pitt. New York: Macmillan, 1891. 298pp. Rosebery’s interpretive biography relies on Stanhope for its details and is primarily interesting for its assessment of Pitt’s character. In Rosebery’s view, Pitt was overmatched by circumstances, and his premature prominence explains much about his subsequent failures.

Stanhope, Philip H. Life of the Right Honourable William Pitt. London: J.Murray, 1861–1862. 4 vols. The standard Victorian life is monumental in its detail, though now superseded by the authoritative, modern political biography by Ehrman.

Wilson, Philip W. William Pitt, the Younger. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1930. 347pp. In this political biography, Wilson, a former member of Parliament, writes a dramatic narrative that animates Pitt’s life and times, though he can be charged with simplification in pursuit of a clear and compelling story and vivid characterization.

Biographical Novels

Maughan, A.M. Young Pitt. New York: J.Day, 1974. 270pp. Pitt’s political career is dramatized in this biographical novel that concentrates on English parliamentary politics and Pitt’s conflict with Charles James Fox.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Noble, Iris. Rivals in Parliament: William Pin and Charles Fox. New York: J.Messner, 1970. 191pp. MG. This is a fictionalized biography more sympathetic to Fox than Pitt, who is portrayed as a cold, stiff, and austere figure.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Beau Brummell (1954). Director: Curtis Bernhardt. In this lavish period costume drama, Robert Morley portrays George III with Stewart Granger as Brummell and a supporting cast that includes Elizabeth Taylor, Peter Ustinov as the Prince Regent, and Paul Rogers as Pitt. Video.

The Madness of King George (1994). Director: Nicholas Hytner. In the film adaptation of Alan Bennett’s play, Nigel Hawthorne reprises his critically acclaimed stage performance as a compelling human George III whose illness becomes a battleground for political opportunists. A solid supporting cast includes Helen Mirren, Ian Holm, and Julian Wadman as Pitt and Jim Carter as Fox. Video.

The Young Mr. Pitt (1942). Director: Carol Reed. Robert Donat stars as the young prime minister in a depiction of Pitt’s political career. With Ramond Lovell as George III, Herbert Lorn as Napoleon, and Robert Morley as Fox.

See also George III; George IV

380. EDGAR ALLAN POE

1809–1849

A poet and short-story writer famous for his compelling tales of the mysterious and the macabre, Poe is acknowledged as one of the most original writers in American literature. Born in Boston, he was orphaned at a young age and raised by his wealthy stepfather in Richmond, Virginia. He briefly attended the University of Virginia and West Point, but was expelled (1831) from the academy for numerous infractions. During the 1830s and 1840s he edited and wrote for various publications in Richmond, Philadelphia, and New York. An alleged alcoholic, he is reported to have died after a drinking binge in Baltimore. His works include the poems “The Raven” (1845) and “Annabel Lee” (1849), and the stories “The Fall of the House of Usher” (1839), “Murders in the Rue Morgue” (1841), and “The Purloined Letter” (1844).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Letters of Edgar Allan Poe. John Ward Ostrom, ed. Cambridge, MA: Harvard University Press, 1948. 2 vols. This scholarly edition of Poe’s letters is invaluable to chart the writer’s activities, relationships, and temperament.

Thomas, Dwight, and David K.Jackson. The Poe Log: A Documentary Life of Edgar Allan Poe. Boston: G.K.Hall, 1987. 919pp. Not a biography in the traditional sense, the book provides the verifiable facts of Poe’s life as they were recorded in contemporary documents to form the basic raw data of Poe’s life and reputation.

Recommended Biographies

Quinn, Arthur Hobson. Edgar Allan Poe: A Critical Biography. New York: Appleton-Century, 1941. 804pp. This was regarded as the standard life of Poe until Silverman’s more recent biography. Still a useful study both of the life and the works.

Silverman, Kenneth. Edgar A. Poe: Mournful and Never-Ending Remembrance. New York: HarperCollins, 1991. 564pp. The first comprehensive life of Poe since Quinn, Silverman’s account has the advantage of a vast amount of scholarship since the earlier book and a more modern sensibility to deal with the various contradictions implied in Poe’s works and life. An insightful and judicious account that neither neglects the facts nor overwhelms them with an interpretative bias, the book has been called “a lasting monument among Poe studies.”

Other Biographical Studies

Allen, Hervey. Israfel: The Life and Times of Edgar Allan Poe. New York: G.H.Doran, 1926. 748pp. This is the best of the early biographies of Poe, still important for its view of Poe’s human side, though the book is marred by romanticizing and accepts speculation as fact and repeats rumors to support its psychological theories.

Bonaparte, Marie. The Life and Works of Edgar Allan Poe: A Psychoanalytical Interpretation. New York: Humanities Press, 1949. 749pp. With an introduction by Freud, this study offers a full-scale, provocative treatment from a psychoanalytical perspective.

Krutch, Joseph W. Edgar Allan Poe: A Study in Genius. New York: Knopf, 1926. 224pp. This interesting and still useful psychological study helped reestablish Poe’s reputation as one of nineteenth-century America’s leading literary figures.

Mankowitz, Wolf. The Extraordinary Mr. Poe: A Biography of Edgar Allan Poe. New York: Summit Books, 1978. 248pp. A workmanlike summary of the facts that emphasizes the unrelieved misery of Poe’s life as the key to understanding his genius.

Sinclair, David. Edgar Allan Poe. London: J.M. Dent, 1977. 272pp. This somewhat uneven account for the nonspecialist adds little new to the established portrait of Poe. Sinclair relies on analyses of the works to explain the writer’s life, quoting extensively, if at times unconvincingly, to prove his points.

Symons, Julian. The Tell-Tale Heart: A Biography of Edgar Allan Poe. New York: Harper & Row, 1978. 259pp. A respected author of mysteries as well as a critic, Symons provides a unique vantage point on the inventor of the detective story. Best for his discussion of Poe’s craftsmanship and milieu.

Wagenknecht, Edward. Edgar Allan Poe: The Man Behind the Legend. New York: Oxford University Press, 1963. 276pp. This popular, judiciously balanced life for the nonspecialist considers Poe’s works primarily in the context of his life, intending to arrive at a plausible portrait of the character and personality of the writer.

Biographical Novels

Hurwood, Bernhardt. My Savage Muse: The Story of My Life: Edgar Allan Poe, An Imaginative Work. New York: Everest House, 1980. 336pp. In this first-person novel, the author presents a plausible impersonation of Poe’s voice and memories of childhood as well as his struggle and anguish to produce his works while dealing with sizable personal demons.

Madsen, David. Black Plume: The Suppressed Memoirs of Edgar Allan Poe. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1980. 318pp. In this first-person account, Poe emerges as a prisoner of his sensual nature, indulging his passion in experiences that include opium and murder. In a fictional episode, Poe finds himself on the trail of a killer in an exercise in terror and detection that rivals those in his stories.

Marlowe, Stephen. The Lighthouse at the End of the World. New York: Dutton, 1995. 320pp. Beginning as a straightforward biographical account based on the known facts about Poe’s last days, the novel moves into the realm of surrealistic fiction. The imaginative story fills in the gap of Poe’s disappearance before his death in a Baltimore hospital with an eerie tale in which characters from Poe’s books appear.

Moore, Barbara. The Fever Called Living. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1976. 350pp. Tracing the last five years of Poe’s life, the novel attempts to penetrate the various myths surrounding Poe to create a plausible portrait of the man.

O’Neal, Cothburn. Very Young Mrs. Poe. New York: Crown, 1956. 247pp. Poe is reflected in the story of his young wife Virginia and her role in helping Poe develop his literary genius. Although faithful to the known facts, this is a somewhat idealized and romanticized portrait.

Fictional Portraits

It is not surprising that the inventor of the modern detective story whose own life presents a number of unsolved mysteries should appear in several suspense and detection novels.

Hatvary, George Egon. The Murder of Edgar Allan Poe. New York: Carroll & Graf, 1997. 211pp. This ingenious novel treats Poe’s death as a mystery in which Poe’s own creation, Auguste Dupin, travels to Baltimore to discover who in fact killed Poe.

Meyers, Manny. The Last Mystery of Edgar Allan Poe. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1978. 202pp. In 1846 a destitute Poe is recruited by New York’s superintendent of police to assist in the search for a brutal killer of two young society heiresses.

Perowne, Barry. A Singular Conspiracy. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill, 1974. 209pp. The novel speculates on what might have happened to Poe during the first four months of 1844, a blank in his history that has puzzled biographers. Here Poe journeys to Paris where he meets his champion, French poet Charles Baudelaire.

Schechter, Harold. Nevermore. New York: Pocket Books, 1999. 322pp. In Schechter’s ingenious period mystery, Davy Crockett joins forces with Edgar Allan Poe to solve a series of murders in Balti-

Steward, Barbara, and Dwight Steward. Evermore. New York: Morrow, 1978. 202pp.; The Lincoln Diddle. New York: Morrow, 1979. 251pp. The premise for these historical mysteries is that Poe did not die in 1849. He instead stages his own death and reemerges as Henri Le Rennet, detective. turned to Venice. He commanded a galley in the Venetian war against Genoa and was taken prisoner (1296) by the Genoese. During his two-year imprisonment, he dictated an account of his travels, which later inspired explorers to seek a sea passage to the Far East.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Anderson, Madelyn Klein. Edgar Allan Poe: A Mystery. New York: F.Watts, 1993. 156pp. MG. Anderson’s able biographical account presents a complex portrait of a brilliant critic, gifted poet, and writer who was fiercely opinionated, romantic, and wildly impractical.

LeVert, Suzanne. Edgar Allan Poe. New York: Chelsea House, 1992. 111pp. YA. This interesting and informative life of Poe focuses on the writer’s long struggle for literary success.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: The Mystery of Edgar Allan Poe (1997). Producer: Noah Morowitz. This is a straightforward documentary account of Poe’s life and career. Video.

Edgar Allan Poe, 1809–1849 (1996). Director: Malcolm Hossick. This brief documentary portrait traces Poes life and career using drawings, photographs, and film footage of places associated with the writer. Video.

Edgar Allan Poe: Architect of Dreams (1995). Director: Jean M.McClure. A brief examination of Poe’s life that features location shots, dramatizations from his works, and an appreciation by poet and Poe scholar Dave Smith. Video.

Edgar Allan Poe: Terror of the Soul (1994). Producer: Karen Thomas. PBS-produced biography includes interviews with Poe scholars and dramatic re-creations from his life and his works. Video.

The Loves of Edgar Allan Poe (1942). Director: Harry Lockman A bland biographical drama of Poe’s life and the women who influenced him. Shepperd Strudwick stars as the writer with Linda Darnell as Virginia Clemm.

Poe/Cooper/Irving (1987). Producer: January Productions. Part of the Meet the Classic Authors series, each of the three American writers are profiled. Video.

The Spectre of Edgar Allan Poe (1973). Director: Mohry Quandour. Based loosely on Poe’s own torments, this horror film recounts Poe’s visit to an asylum where his love Lenore is being held in the midst of murder and torture. Robert Walker Jr. stars. Video

381. MARCO POLO

ca. 1254–1324

Venetian traveler famous for his overland journey to China (1271–1275) with his father and uncle, Polo became a favorite of Kublai Khan, whom he served as an envoy throughout China and in the states of southeast Asia. Polo was appointed governor of Yangchow for three years, and in 1295 re

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Marco Polo: The Description of the World. Arthur Moule and Paul Pelliot, eds. London: Routledge, 1938. 2 vols. Marco Polo’s account of his travels is also the chief source for information concerning his life. This scholarly edition also includes a genealogy of the traveler’s family, a useful chronology, and helpful notes identifying historical figures, events, and customs. For a modernized English translation see The Travels of Marco Polo. Milton Rugoff, ed. (New York: Modern Library, 1953. 302pp.).

Recommended Biographies

Hart, Henry. Marco Polo: Venetian Adventurer. 1942. Revised ed. Norman: University of Oklahoma Press, 1967. 306pp. In a chronological narrative account, Polo’s life from birth to death is presented in a scholarly though highly readable fashion; the book is particularly strong on Polo’s European background.

Humble, Richard. Marco Polo. New York: Putnam, 1975. 232pp. In a vivid retelling of Polo’s journey to China, Humble stresses the human drama involved and the aspects of Polo’s character revealed in his writings. Humble also presents a clear and absorbing account of the period background that helps explain Polo’s motives and reactions. The book’s many illustrations are an added bonus.

Larner, John. Marco Polo and the Discovery of the World. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1999. 250pp. This is a well-researched examination of Polo’s impact in which his journeys are related to the wider context of the age of European discovery. The author relies on a close reading of Polo’s writings to unlock some aspects of his personality.

Other Biographical Studies

Collis, Maurice. Marco Polo. London: Faber and Faber, 1950. 190pp. Collis offers a critical commentary of Polo’s account of his journeys, setting Polo’s words in the wider context of what history and scholarship have revealed, a method that helps to explain the discoverer’s character and creativity.

Olschki, Leonardo. Marco Polo’s Asia. Berkeley: University of California Press, 1960. 459pp. Polo’s journeys are put in the context of earlier travelers and accounts based on the author’s considerable scholarship concerning Medieval Europe and Asia. Olschki’s wide-ranging notes on Polo’s account serve as a valuable companion reference volume with helpful information on many aspects of Polo’s life and times.

Biographical Novels

Jennings, Gary. The Journeyer. New York: Atheneum, 1984. 782pp. Based in part on his actual journey with considerable embellishment, Marco Polo narrates his adventures throughout Asia.

Marshall, Edison. Caravan to Xanadu: A Novel of Marco Polo. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1953. 371pp. Marco Polo narrates his travels in a fictionalized version of the traveler’s account, emphasizing the human drama with a credible portrait of the adventurer.

Fictional Portraits

Byrne, Donn. Messer Marco Polo. New York: Century, 1921. 147pp. Only loosely based on fact, Polo’s adventures in China are treated as an exotic, romantic tale of the traveler’s love of Kublai Khan’s daughter.

Calvino, Italo. Invisible Cities. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1974. 165pp. In a blend of fact and fantasy, the novel constructs an imagined conversation between Polo and Kublai Khan as the former entertains and instructs the latter in a tour of a symbolic landscape.

Griffiths, Paul. Myself and Marco Polo: A Novel of Changes. New York: Random House, 1990. 274pp. Griffiths’s novel imagines what Rustichello, the writer to whom Polo dictated his adventures while in prison, might have added to the manuscript.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Greene, Carol. Marco Polo: Voyager to the Orient. Chicago: Childrens Press, 1987. 109pp. MG. Greene’s is a competent evocation of Polo’s journey and the challenges he faced.

Hull, Mary. The Travels of Marco Polo. San Diego: Lucent Books, 1995. 96pp. MG. This informative narrative history of Polo’s journeys is documented with numerous quotations from primary sources.

Steffoff, Rebecca. Marco Polo and the Medieval Explorers. New York: Chelsea House, 1992. 111pp. MG/YA. Polo’s achievements are placed in their historical context in this well-written and well-researched biography/history.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

O’Neill, Eugene. Marco’s Millions. New York: Boni & Liveright, 1927. 218pp. Polo is presented as a swaggering traveling salesman who is loved in vain by Kublai Khan’s daughter in this satiric fantasy.

A&E Biography Video: Marco Polo: Journey to the East (1995). Director: Bill Harris. Polo’s background and journeys are chronicled in this informative documentary portrait. Video.

Adventures of Marco Polo (1938). Director: Archie Mayo. In a screenplay by Robert Sherwood, Gary Cooper portrays Polo in a fictional elaboration of his Asian journey. George Baber appears as Kublai Khan. Video.

Marco (1973). Director: Seymour Robbie. Musical adventure with Desi Arnaz Jr. as Polo and Zero Mostel as Kublai Khan. Video.

Marco Polo (1961). Director: Hugo Fregonese. Italian version of Polo’s life and journey with Rory

Calhoun in the title role and Camillo Pi lotto as Kublai Khan

Marco Polo (1982). Diretor: Guiliano Montaldo. Television miniseries starring Ken Marshall as Polo, Ruocheng Ying as Kublai Khan, and Burt Lancaster as Pope Gregory X.

Marco Polo (1997). Director George Erschbamer. Don Diamont portrays Marco Polo in this film version of his travels and adventures with a strong supporting cast, including Herbert Lorn, Jack Palance, and Oliver Reed. Video.

Marco the Magnificent (1965). Director: Noel Howard. This is an episodic, mostly fictional treatment of Polo’s life and adventures with Horst Buchholz in die title role and Anthony Quinn as Kublai Khan.

382. ALEXANDER POPE

1688–1744

Pope is acknowledged by many as one of the greatest poets of the eighteenth century and the greatest English verse satirist. He was born in London and suffered from a childhood tubercular condition, which left him with poor health and a spinal curvature; he never grew taller than 4 feet, 6 inches. As a Roman Catholic, he could not receive a Protestant education and after the age of 12 was largely self-taught. A prodigy in his teens, he became a fixture in London literary society by the age of 17. His works include Essay on Criticism (1711), written in heroic couplets, the mock-epic The Rape of the Lock (1714), the satirical poem The Dunciad (1728–1743), and translations of The Iliad and The Odyssey. He also wrote An Essay on Man (1734) and Moral Essays (1731–1735).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Correspondence. George Sherburn, ed. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1956. 5 vols. This scholarly edition of Pope’s correspondence is a monument of modern scholarship that reveals the many sides of the writer and his relationships with a wide artistic and social circle. A selection is also available in Letters (New York: Oxford University Press, 1960. 384pp.).

Recommended Biographies

Mack, Maynard. Alexander Pope: A Life. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1985. 975pp. Painstakingly researched by the leading Pope authority, Mack’s definitive life is a richly detailed biography as well as a literary and cultural history that brings Pope’s intellectual and poetic development into close and compelling focus.

Rosslyn, Felicity. Alexander Pope: A Literary Life. New York: St. Martin’s, 1990. 176pp. For the reader desiring a more compact treatment of Pope’s life and works than Mack’s monumental study, Rosslyn’s is a fine choice. Sympathetic but balanced in its approach, Pope’s remarkable rise to prominence is described against the compelling background of his physical and cultural challenges.

Other Biographical Studies

Ault, N. New Light on Pope. London: Methuen, 1949. 379pp. Ault takes a thematic approach, offering not a comprehensive biography but an examination of various aspects of the writer’s life, work, and relationships.

Dobrée, Bonamy. Alexander Pope. 1951. Reprint ed. New York: Greenwood, 1969. 125pp. This is a brief survey of Pope’s life and works that provides the essential details in a balanced appreciation.

Johnson, Samuel. “Pope” in Lives of the English Poets. 1781. Reprint ed. London, Oxford University Press, 1959, 2 vols. Johnson’s brief introduction to Pope’s life and poetry features astute critical assessment and remains one of the best early treatments of Pope’s characteristics as a poet.

Quennell, Peter. Alexander Pope: The Education of Genius, 1688–1728. New York: Stein and Day, 1968. 278pp. Quennell’s biography covers the first 40 years of Pope’s life, up to the publication of The Dunciad. Informed by the author’s familiarity with Pope’s social and cultural context, the book casts light on his development as a man and poet, relating Pope’s work to his experiences.

Sherburn, George. The Early Career of Alexander Pope. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1934. 326pp. Like the author’s scholarly edition of Pope’s letters, this is a scrupulously documented and authoritative account of Pope’s formative years as a writer.

Sitwell, Edith. Alexander Pope. 1930. Reprint ed. New York: W.W.Norton, 1962. 256pp. In an enthusiastic appreciation, Sitwell contributed to the revival of interest in Pope’s life and work in the twentieth century. Although offering little in the way of original research, Sitwell’s is an enthusiastic vindication of the poet that sets out to challenge conventional notions about the man and his work. Although overly defensive and biased in Pope’s favor, Sitwell helps to redress the balance in the view of Pope’s nature and achievement that had suffered from comparison with the Romantics.

Stephen, Leslie. Alexander Pope. 1880. Reprint ed. New York: AMS, 1958. 210pp. Written by the famous eighteenth-century specialist and editor of the Dictionary of National Biography, Stephen’s elegant and succinct biographical profile is a sensitive and lucid appreciation informed by the author’s considerable expertise.

Other Sources

Berry, Reginald. A Pope Chronology. Boston: G.K.Hall, 1988. 221pp. Berry supplies a detailed chronology of Pope’s activities and publications.

383. EZRA POUND

1885–1972

Influential twentieth-century poet, and a critic and translator, Pound was one of the century’s most famous and controversial literary figures. He was born in Idaho and graduated from Hamilton College (1905) and the University of Pennsylvania (M.A., 1906). He went to Europe in 1907 and during the early 1920s lived in Paris, where he was associated with the literary circle surrounding Gertrude Stein. He settled (1925) in Italy and during World War II broadcast pro-fascist and anti-Semitic propaganda to the United States for the Italians. He was tried for treason in the United States and confined (1946–1958) to a mental institution. He returned to Italy after his release. A champion of the imagist and vorticist movements, he influenced such poets as T.S.Eliot and W.B.Yeats. His major works are Homage to Sextus Propertius (1918), Hugh Selwyn Mauberley (1920), and the epic Cantos (1925–1960).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Ezra and Dorothy Pound: Letters in Captivity, 1945–46. Robert Spoo and Omar Pound, ed. New York: Oxford University Press, 1998. 448pp. When he was incarcerated in Italy at the end of World War II, Pound was allowed to write only to his wife, and the record of his correspondence affords a unique look at this troubled yet remarkably productive period of the poet’s life. The collection also includes military and FBI documents.

Selected Letters of Ezra Pound, 1907–1941. D.D. Paige, ed. New York: New Directions, 1971. 358pp. Pound’s letters offer a running commentary on the creation of literary modernism and his contact with virtually everyone of significance in literature during the period. The letters show the man in all his contradictions, full of charm, arrogance, wit, and vulgarity.

Recommended Biographies

Carpenter, Humphrey. A Serious Character: The Life of Ezra Pound. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1988. 1,005pp. Despite hostility to Pound’s artistry, Carpenter’s biography provides one of the fullest depictions of the poet’s life and one of the liveliest narratives available. Pound’s many masks are penetrated to reveal an arrogant egoist with a mixture of pretension and vulgarity whose personal, human failures dominate Carpenter’s portrayal.

Flory, Wendy S. The American Ezra Pound. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1989. 246pp. A convincing brief biography, Flory’s depiction of the poet’s motivations and inner conflicts is credible and judicious in that the poet is convincingly connected to the complex and contradictory public figure.

Tytell, John. Ezra Pound: The Solitary Volcano. New York: Anchor Press, 1987. 368pp. This is a well-researched, highly readable full-length account of a self-destructive genius. Tytell captures Pound’s many moods but is less successful in explaining the motivation behind the writer’s often erratic behavior.

Wilhelm, James J. The American Roots of Ezra Pound. Garland, 1986. 230pp.; Ezra Pound in London and Paris, 1908–1925. University Park: Pennsylvania State University Press, 1990. 360pp.; Ezra Pound: The Tragic Years, 1925–1972. University Park: Pennsylvania State University Press, 1994. 390pp. Wilhelm’s three-volume study is painstakingly researched and balanced, correcting the factual record and shedding considerable light on Pound’s character and development.

Other Biographical Studies

Ackroyd, Peter. Ezra Pound and His World. New York: Scribner, 1980. 127pp. The author’s concise and lively text accompanying a series of photographs summarizes the essential details of Pound’s life and career with occasional literary judgments on his significance as a poet and critic.

Cornell, Julien. The Trial of Ezra Pound. New York: J.Day, 1966. 215pp. Pound’s lawyer provides his view of the complicated legal maneuvering surrounding the treason charges against the poet. The book includes a transcript of the hearing to determine Pound’s competence to stand trial.

Heymann, C.David. Ezra Pound: The Last Rower: A Political Profile. New York: Viking, 1976. 372pp. The first scholar granted access to Pound’s massive FBI file, Heymann documents the writer’s growing preoccupation in the 1930s with economic issues, his increasingly violent anti-Semitic views, and support of Italy’s fascist regime during World War II. Less useful for its biographical interpretation to explain Pound’s behavior, the book provides the fullest record available of his political activities.

Levy, Alan. Ezra Pound: The Voice of Silence. Sag Harbor, New York: Permanent Press, 1983. 149pp. Written for the general reader, Levy sketches Pound’s life with a chronology, excerpts by and about the writer, and a critical treatment of selected poetry.

Meacham, Henry M. The Caged Panther: Ezra Pound at Saint Elizabeths. New York: Twayne, 1967. 222pp. After a brief sketch of the poet’s early life and activities during World War II that led to his being confined in a mental hospital, the book chronicles the 13 years Pound spent in St. Elizabeths and the efforts to secure his release in a documentary account.

Norman, Charles. Ezra Pound. 1960. Revised ed. New York: Funk and Wagnalls, 1969. 493pp. Pound’s life story up to the date of its writing is told chiefly through letters and the recollections of those who knew the poet. More a patchwork than an interpretive synthesis, the book is chiefly valuable for the multiple views of Pound offered, even if he eludes the author’s ability to bring him to comprehensible terms.

Stock, Noel. The Life of Ezra Pound. New York: Pantheon, 1970. 472pp. With access to Pound’s own collection of books and papers, Stock provides a well-documented and reliable biography that replaces the various myths and legends about the poet with fact. Often discreet about Pound’s private life and incomplete on many details, however, the book falls short of providing a fully satisfying study.

Torrey, E.Fuller. The Roots of Treason: Ezra Pound and the Secret of St. Elizabeths. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1983. 339pp. This psychological examination of Pound’s wartime activities and subsequent years confined to a mental hospital offers the assertion that Pound avoided a trial for treason by feigning madness assisted by a conspiracy among the team of psychiatrists who evaluated him. Along with unsupported charges and surmises, Torrey clarifies some obscure aspects of Pound’s years at St. Elizabeths, but the sensational and unproven undermine the book’s reliability.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Findley, Timothy. The Trials of Ezra Pound. Winnipeg: Blizzard, 1995. 78pp. In Findley’s dramatic interpretation of Pound’s treason and sanity hearings, the poet offers his own revealing analysis of his self-destruction.

Ezra Pound (1987). Director: Richard P.Rodgers. A film exploration of the poet’s life and work with commentary by Basil Bunting, James Laughlin, Alfred Kazin, and Hugh Kenner.Video.

Ezra Pound: American Odyssey (1988). Director: Lawrence Pitkethly. This film portrait explores both Pound’s artistic achievements and the controversies that surround him. Video.

Hemingway (1988). Director: Bernhard Sinkel. Stacey Keach portrays Hemingway in this television mini-series that dramatizes highlights of Hemingway’s personal, professional, and celebrity life. Pound is depicted by Geoffrey Corey. Video.

Other Sources

Nadel, Ira B., ed. The Cambridge Companion to Ezra Pound. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1999. 300pp. This useful collection of critical essays covers various aspects of Pound’s work and life, including chapters on politics, anti-Semitism, and gender issues.

384. ELVIS PRESLEY

1935–1977

The first major rock and roll star, Presley was born in Tupelo, Mississippi, and began recording in 1953. He dominated rock music during the 1950s and early 1960s with such hits as “Love Me Tender,”“Heartbreak Hotel,”“Hound Dog,”“Blue Suede Shoes,” and “Don’t Be Cruel.” A popular movie star, his many films include Jailhouse Rock (1957), Blue Hawaii (1961), and Viva Las Vegas (1964). After his death he became a cult hero and his Memphis home, Graceland, became a national shrine for his many fans.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Elvis in His Own Words. Mike Farren and Pearce Marchbank, ed. New York: Omnibus, 1977. 128pp. Extracts from the few interviews Presley granted are collected here.

Recommended Biographies

Brown, Peter H., and Pat H.Broeske. Down at the End of Lonely Street: The Life and Death of Elvis Presley. New York: Dutton, 1997. 524pp. Based on extensive interviews with associates and new documentary material, this is a comprehensive, realistic treatment of Presley’s life and career that achieves a balance between sympathy and demythologizing. A well-researched synthesis of new and previously revealed details that allows a complex portrait to emerge.

Guralnick, Peter. The Last Train to Memphis. Boston: Little, Brown, 1994. 560pp; Careless Love: The Unmaking of Elvis Presley. Boston: Little, Brown, 1999. 767pp. Praised as the finest rock-and-roll biography ever written and among the most ambitious biographical undertakings yet devoted to a major American figure of the second half of the twentieth century, Guralnick’s impressively researched, objective, and utterly engrossing life can rightfully claim to be the definitive study for some time to come. Presley is seen up close in captivating detail as well as from a wider historical and cultural context.

Hammontree, Patsy. Elvis Presley: A Bio-Bibliography. Westport, Connecticut: Greenwood, 1985. 301 pp. Scholarly and reliable, Hammontree avoids both the excesses of the fan and the debunker in this helpful reference source that covers Presley’s life and career with precision and insight.

Hopkins, Jerry. Elvis: A Biography. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1971. 448pp. The first attempt at a comprehensive, objective biography, Hopkins’s treatment is short on interpretation but factually reliable with Presley’s southern, religious, and family background fully described; Elvis: The Final Years. New York: St. Martin’s, 1980. 258pp. Completing Presley’s story, Hopkins details the singer’s sad end that manages to avoid the excesses of either the pathos of his admirers or the baths of his detractors.

Jorgensen, Ernst. Elvis Presley: A Life in Music. New York: St. Martin’s, 1998. 454pp. The author, the director of RCA’s Elvis recordings catalog, views Presley’s working life as a singer through a detailed and anecdote-rich narrative account of his studio and concert career. The result is revelatory and valuable, going beyond the image of Elvis as cultural myth and flawed icon to reveal the source and development of his musical talent.

Other Biographical Studies

Dundy, Elaine. Elvis and Gladys. New York: Macmillan, 1985. 350pp. Dundy’s psychological portrait of Presley and his mother is one of the most insightful and objective attempts to penetrate the Elvis myth and to substitute a credible human profile. Judicious in its analysis, conjectures are identified as such, taking Presley’s story only up to his mother’s death in 1958.

Frew, Tim. Elvis: His Life and Music. New York: Barnes and Noble, 1997. 176pp. This pictorial biography traces Elvis’s rise from humble beginnings in Tupelo, Mississippi, into a rock and cultural icon.

Geller, Larry. If I Can Dream: Elvis’s Own Story. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1989. 331pp. The work of Presley’s hairdresser and spiritual adviser, the biography claims to provide Elvis’s story as the “King” himself would have written it. Offbeat and lacking objectivity, the book contrasts with others in which the sordid is predominant by viewing Presley’s life as an almost mystical quest for enlightenment.

Giuliano, Geoffrey, and Deborah Lynn Black. The Illustrated Elvis Presley. Edison, New Jersey: Chartwell Books, 1994. 96pp. A photo-biography in which the illustrations provide the major illumination.

Goldman, Albert. Elvis. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1981. 598pp. In a debunking assault on the Presley myth, this is Elvis’s warts and little else: the singer as a crass, rednecked narcissist, besotted by drugs and fame, in a one-sided, condescending caricature to rival the worst and best Elvis impersonators. Goldman’s tabloid revelations are undocumented and unverifiable although the book uses a former Presley bodyguard as one of its chief sources. Greenwood, Earl, and Kathleen Tracy. The Boy Who Would Be King. New York: Dutton, 1990. 310pp. Written by Elvis’s cousin and press agent, the first eyewitness account by a blood relative, the book chronicles the singer’s childhood in Mississippi and his youth in Memphis and offers a believable, balanced treatment of Elvis’s formative years and important family background.

Harbinson, W.A. The Illustrated Elvis. New York: Grosset & Dunlap, 1976. 160pp. One of many illustrated biographies in which the photographs make more impact than the serviceable text connecting them.

Juanico, June. Elvis: In the Twilight of Memory. New York: Arcade, 1997. 319pp. Elvis’s early girlfriend recalls their relationship from 1955 to 1957 in an intimate diary-like account that alternates between treacly sweet, cliché-ridden, refreshing, and moving.

Lichter, Paul. The Boy Who Dared to Rock: The Definitive Elvis. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1978. 304pp. Compiled by an avid fan, the facts of Elvis’s life and career are summarized with little analysis other than admiration. The details concerning Presley’s drug dependency are overlooked. The book does include a useful discography, complete up to 1978, and a listing of live performances.

Marsh, Dave. Elvis. New York: Times Books, 1982. 245pp. Marsh’s critical illustrated biography keeps the music in the foreground as he objectively surveys the singer’s career, his impact, influence, and long decline after the exuberant energy of his early recordings. Includes a discography and filmography.

Presley, Priscilla Beaulieu. Elvis and Me. As told to Sandra Jarmon. New York: Putnam, 1985. 320pp. Priscilla Presley recounts her relationship with the singer from their first meeting in 1959 when she was 14 through their marriage, and divorce in 1973. A strong defensive tone is evident as others’ versions of their life together are rebutted.

West, Red, Sonny West, and Dave Hebler. As told to Steve Dunleavy. Elvis: What Happened? New York: Ballantine Books, 1977. 332pp. The first of Elvis’s inner circle to break their silence on Presley’s drug use and misbehavior, West and company offer their eyewitness testimony filtered through an evident bias that compromises the book’s reliability.

Whitmer, Peter O. The Inner Elvis: A Psychological Biography of Elvis Aaron Presley. New York: Hyperion, 1996. 480pp. Whitmer, a clinical psychologist, probes Presley’s psyche guided by a central theme that the death of his twin brother at childbirth offers the key to explain the singer’s eating disorders, dependency, sexual abnormalities, and singing talent.

Biographical Novels

Charters, Samuel B. Elvis Presley Calls His Mother After the Ed Sullivan Show. Minneapolis: Coffee House Press, 1992. 128pp. The novel captures the innocent, shy, and sensitive Elvis after his 1957 appearance on the Ed Sullivan Show in an extended monologue by the singer on the telephone to his mother.

Fictional Portraits

Baty, Keith, and Robert Graham. Elvis: The Novel. Chester Springs, Pennsylvania: Dufour Editions, 1984. 222pp. This is an alternative version of Elvis’s life with differences and similarities presented to offer an indirect, reflected portrait of the actual Presley.

Childress, Mark. Tender. New York: Harmony Books, 566pp. Elvis alter-ego, Leroy Kirby, follows the same route to stardom and destruction in this fictional take on the Elvis phenomenon.

Duff, Gerald. That’s All Right, Mama. Dallas: Baskerville, 1995. 278pp. The novel takes the form of the autobiography of Jesse Presley, Elvis’s stillborn twin brother. Serving his famous brother as a personal and professional stand-in, Elvis’s career is glimpsed through the lens of sibling rivalry.

Womack, Jack. Elvissey. New York: Tor, 1993. 319pp. This futuristic tale describes the efforts of a troubled couple who journey back in time to 1954 to kidnap the young Elvis to have him save what is left of humanity.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Daily, Robert. Elvis Presley: The King of Rock ‘n’ Roll. New York: F.Watts, 1996. 144pp. MG. Presley’s contributions and influence are stressed in this candid narrative account of his rise to fame, success, and sudden death.

Gentry, Tony. Elvis Presley. New York: Chelsea House, 1994. 127pp. MG. Sympathetic but realistic in noting the controversies in Presley’s life and career, this is a clearly written chronological account.

Wootton, Richard. Elvis! New York: Random House, 1985. 127pp. MG. Wootton covers Elvis’s life and career from his early days to his death in a well-balanced evaluation. Clearly a fan, Wootton does not glorify the aspects of Presley’s personality that eventually ruined him.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: Elvis Presley: Story of a Legend (1993). Producer: Melanie Blythe. This profile includes interviews with members of Elvis’s inner circle and rare home movies. Video.

Elvis (1979). Director: John Carpenter. Kurt Russell stars as Elvis in this made-for-television biography tracing his life from high school to his 1969 comeback. Shelley Winters appears as Gladys Presley, with Pat Hingle as Colonel Tom Parker, and Season Hubley as Priscilla. Video.

Elvis (1990). Director: James Gordon. A biographical portrait using rare newsreel footage and film clips. Video.

Elvis and Me (1990). Director: Larry Peerce. Based on the book by Priscilla Beaulieu Presley, Elvis is portrayed by Dale Midkiff (with his singing voice supplied by country star Ronnie McDowell) in this television mini-series. Susan Walters portrays Priscilla. Video.

Elvis: That’s the Way It Is (1970). Director: Denis Sanders. Informal, admiring documentary on Elvis’s preparing for his Las Vegas opening in 1969. Video.

Elvis: The Beginning (1993). Director: Steve Bassett. Interviews with Elvis’s oldest friends and first band members reconstruct the events of his first road tour. Video.

Elvis: The Complete Story (1997). Using Presley’s own words about his rise to fame, the film concentrates on his film career with interviews with many of his co-stars. Video.

Elvis in Hollywood (1993). Director: Frank Martin. Documentary look at Elvis’s film career with his 1956 screen test, production stills, outtakes, and interviews with co-stars, directors, and friends. Video.

Elvis Memories (1986). Producers: George Klein and Jerry L.Williams. With interviews, performances, and home movies, this film tribute is presented by fellow musicians, entertainers, relatives, and friends. Video.

Elvis on Tour (1972). Directors: Pierre Adidge and Robert Abel. Concert performances. Video.

Heartbreak Hotel (1988). Director: Chris Columbus. Unconvincing comedy in which Elvis (David Keith) is kidnapped and taken to the home of an avid fan (Tuesday Weld). Video.

This Is Elvis (1981). Directors: Andrew Solt and Malcolm Lee. Documentary footage is combined with dramatic recreations of events in Presley’s life. Video.

Touched by Love (1980). Director: Gus Trikonis. Based on the book To Elvis with Love by Lena Canada, this sentimental drama records a person with cerebral palsy’s pen-pal relationship with Elvis. Starring Diane Lane and Deborah Raffin. Video.

Other Sources

Coffey, Frank. The Complete Idiot’s Guide to Elvis. New York: Macmillan, 1997. 352pp. A compendium of background information, details on Presley’s performances, recordings, and films.

Cotten, Lee. All Shook Up: Elvis Day-by-Day, 1954–1977. Ann Arbor, Michigan: Pierian Press, 1985. 580pp. A daily calendar of Elvis’s activities from the beginning of his musical career to his death.

Evans, Mike. The King on the Road: Elvis on Tour, 1954–1971. New York: St. Martin’s, 1996. 208pp. This is a comprehensive guide to Elvis’s days on the road from his earliest performances to the end of his career.

Guralnick, Peter, and Ernst Jorgensen. Elvis Day by Day. New York: Ballantine Books, 1999. 384pp. The leading authorities on Presley’s life and music provide a complete account of the singer’s life using previously unavailable materials collected by Elvis Presley Enterprises.

Latham, Caroline, and Jeannie Sakol. E Is for Elvis: An A-to-Z Illustrated Guide to the King of Rock and Roll. New York: New American Library, 1990. 301pp. Topically arranged reference guide to many aspects of Presley’s life and career.

Pierce, Patricia J. The Ultimate Elvis: Elvis Presley Day by Day. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1994. 560pp. One of several chronologies detailing Presley’s public and private life in a daily calendar of his life from birth to death, along with posthumous sightings.

Quain, Kevin, ed. The Elvis Reader:: Texts and Sources on the King of Rock ‘n’ Roll. New York: St. Martin’s, 1992. 344pp. This is a rich collection of various writers’ views of Elvis the man and the myth.

Stanley, David, and Frank Coffey. The Elvis Encyclopedia. Los Angeles: General Pub. Group, 1994. 287pp. This reference compendium includes a day-by-day chronology, first-person anecdotes from friends and family, photos, letters, and private papers, as well as an Elvis quiz for the serious devotee.

Wroth, Fred L. Elvis: His Life from A to Z. Chicago: Contemporary Books, 1988. 618pp. Yet another mixture of trivial and essential data on the performer.

385. MARCEL PROUST

1871–1922

French novelist and one of the major figures of modern literature, Proust was born in Paris to wealthy bourgeois parents and was plagued by asthma as a child and neuroses as an adult. By 1907 he had retired from Parisian society and lived as a recluse in a cork-lined room, where at night he worked on the seven-part, semi-autobiographical Remembrance of Things Past (1907–1919), regarded as one of the greatest novels of the twentieth century.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Marcel Proust on Art and Literature, 1896–1919. Sylvia Townsend Warner, ed. New York: Carroll & Graf, 1984. 416pp. This critical collection presents Proust’s view on writing, art, and such literary masters as Tolstoy, Goethe, and Stendhal.

Selected Letters. Philip Kolb, ed. New York: Oxford University Press, 1983–1989. 2 vols. Kolb’s scholarly edition of Proust’s voluminous correspondence clearly shows the various guises of the writer as well as his dominant preoccupation with health. Indispensable as a biographical source with insights into the outer and inner dynamics of his ge

Recommended Biographies

Carter, William C. Marcel Proust: A Life. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 2000. 946pp. Taking into account newly available correspondence and memoirs, Carter supplies a full-scale reassessment of Proust’s life that offers fresh insights into many aspects of the writer’s activities, work, relationships, and temperament. The book is particularly strong in its careful tracing of the slow evolution of Proust’s creativity.

Hayman, Ronald. Proust: A Biography. New York: HarperCollins, 1990. 564pp. Taking advantage of Proust’s correspondence, edited by Philip Kolb, Hayman’s biography adds new details to the life record provided by Painter and draws a convincing, nuanced portrait of a complex, multisided Proust in search of a unifying identity.

Painter, George. Proust. 1959–65. Revised ed. New York: Random House, 1978. 2 vols. Regarded as the standard life, Painter’s is an exhaustive study of Proust’s life and the connections between his experiences and his writing. No other source is so packed with details or exploits as fully the primary and secondary sources. Painter is particularly strong on Proust’s creative method and the origin of his genius in his family background, upbringing, and milieu.

White, Edmund. Marcel Proust. New York: Viking, 1999. 165pp. White, a novelist, supplies a biographical overview that serves to distill Proust’s essence in a concise succession of memorable scenes from his life told with the fiction writer’s eye for detail. Elegantly written and insightful, White’s critical introduction to the man and his works is recommended for the reader looking for a good place to start on Proust.

Other Biographical Studies

Albaret, Céleste. Monsieur Proust. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1976. 387pp. Proust’s housekeeper and confidante offers her recollections of the writer from 1914 to his death. An adoring portrait, Albaret’s view passes over less flattering aspects of Proust’s personality and private life, but still definitively documents his unusual domestic routine.

Barker, Richard H. Marcel Proust: A Biography. New York: Criterion, 1958. 373pp. Based chiefly on Proust’s letters, contemporary accounts, and memoirs written by his friends. Barker supplies a nearly day-by-day chronological narrative. There is little attempt at sorting out the accuracy of the assembled facts or going beyond the facts to reach interpretive conclusions.

Bersani, Leo. Marcel Proust: The Fictions of Life and Art. New York: Oxford University Press, 1965. 269pp. Bersani’s monograph is useful in drawing convincing distinctions between Proust’s life and his works. As opposed to many others who regard Proust’s fiction as autobiography, Bersani suggests the ways in which his fiction does not necessarily reflect but responds to unresolved psychological tensions.

Brée, Germaine. The World of Marcel Proust. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1966. 295pp. This is an excellent companion volume to Proust’s life and work and is one of the better general introductions to his work in English, featuring a sketch of his life, a survey of all his published writings, and critical chapters on his masterpiece.

Cattau, Georges. Marcel Proust. New York: Funk & Wagnalls, 1968. 125pp. This is a good popular account of Proust’s life and work that ably serves the general reader as a solid introduction.

Maurois, André. The World of Marcel Proust. New York: Harper & Row, 1974. 288pp. First published in France in 1960, this pictorial biography still serves as a useful introduction for the general reader, identifying the highlights of Proust’s career and the people and places associated with his life and work.

May, Derwent. Proust. New York: Oxford University Press, 1983. 85pp. Part of the Past Masters series, May supplies a succinct critical introduction that traces the relationship between Proust’s life and his work.

Miller, Milton L. Nostalgia: A Psychoanalytic Study of Marcel Proust. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1956. 306pp. Miller’s psychological analysis of the man and the artist puts his emotional life and his work in a Freudian psychoanalytic context. Not intended for the casual, general reader, the book presumes considerable familiarity with psychoanalysis and its terminology.

Rivers, J.E. Proust and the Art of Love. New York: Columbia University Press, 1980. 327pp. Rivers mounts a convincing attack on the homosexual stereotypes that have distorted views of Proust’s life and work. Instead he asserts a view of Proust that connects his ideas on sexuality and behavior with contemporary views and modern gender research.

Sawsom, William. Proust and His World. London: Thames and Hudson, 1973. 128pp. Sawsom’s is a pictorial biography that covers the major events of Proust’s life and captures the sites associated with the author.

Shattuck, Roger. Proust. New York: Viking, 1974. 180pp. Part of the Modern Masters series, Shattuck’s is a lucid and provocative critical study that offers insights on Proust’s personality, temperament, and creative method.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Céleste (1981). Director: Percy Adlon. Based on the book by Celeste Albaret, Proust is seen through the eyes of the woman who for nine years before his death served him as cook, companion, secretary, and surrogate mother. Video.

Marcel Proust (1988). Director: David Thomas. In this installment of the London Weekend Television series, Ten Great Writers, Proust’s life and works are examined. Video.

102 Boulevard Haussman (1991). Director: Vdayan Prasad. Alan Bates interprets the writer in an extended monologue. Video.

Other Sources

Quennell, Peter, ed. Marcel Proust, 1871–1922: A Centennial Volume. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1971. 216pp. A valuable collection of critical essays on various aspects of Proust’s life, work, and world.

386. GIACOMO PUCCINI

1858–1924

Italian opera composer whose works are among the most popular in the operatic repertory, Puccini first achieved recognition with a one-act opera, Le Villi (1884). Other well-known operas by Puccini include Manon Lescaut (1893), La Bohème (1896), Tosca (1900), Madame Butterfly (1904), and Gianni Schicchi (1918).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Letters of Giacomo Puccini. Giuseppe Adami, ed. 1931. Reprint ed. New York: Vienna House, 1973. 335pp. A collection dealing with the composition and production of his operas, the letters provide insights into Puccini’s creative method as well as his views of other composers and the various singers who interpreted his works.

Recommended Biographies

Garner, Mosco. Puccini: A Critical Biography. 1959. Revised ed. New York: Holmes and Meier, 1974. 520pp. Regarded as the standard source on Puccini’s life and operas, Garner offers a Freudian perspective on the composer’s personality; however, the book’s strength is a chronological analysis of Puccini’s compositions.

Marek, George. Puccini: A Biography. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1951. 412pp. Marek’s is a highly readable, well-documented life that is based on previously unpublished evidence, which the author uses to fill in many gaps in the biographical record. The book is less successful in its criticism of the operas.

Other Biographical Studies

Dry, Wake ling. Giacomo Puccini. New York: J. Lane, 1906. 114pp. This first biographical profile features the author’s recollected conversations with the composer.

Fiorentino, Dante del. Immortal Bohemian: An Intimate Memoir of Giacomo Puccini. New York: Prentice-Hall, 1952. 232pp. Based on the author’s personal acquaintance with the composer when Puccini was 50, the book is a charming portrait, particularly valuable for the author’s firsthand glimpses.

Greenfeld, Howard. Puccini: A Biography. New York: Putnam, 1980. 299pp. The author provides a generally reliable summary of the main events of Puccini’s life but fails to penetrate very deeply to an understanding of the inner man or his creative methods.

Greenfield, Edward. Puccini: Keeper of the Seal. London: Arrow Books, 1958. 255pp. Greenfield’s is a compact overview of the main highlights of Puccini’s life joined with a sensible analysis of his work.

Jackson, Stanley. Monsieur Butterfly: The Story of Giacomo Puccini. New York: Stein and Day, 1974. 267pp. With enough novelization to be categorized as biographical fiction, Jackson offers an entertaining but not always reliable treatment of Puccini’s life, with a major emphasis on his many loves and the intrigues surrounding the writing and staging of the operas.

Seligman, Vincent. Puccini Among Friends. New York: Macmillan, 1938. 373pp. The book consists of a series of letters written by the composer to the author’s mother from 1905 with commentary, offering an interesting view of Puccini.

Specht, Richard. Giacomo Puccini: The Man, His Life, His Work. New York: Knopf, 1933. 256pp. Highly idealized and selective in its presentation, Specht’s account of Puccini’s life is not reliable.

Weaver, William. Puccini: The Man and His Music. New York: Dutton, 1977. 147pp. Weaver’s capsulated text is too abbreviated to provide more than the essentials. The book’s many illustrations, however, make up for the somewhat superficial coverage.

Wilson, Conrad. Giacomo Puccini. London: Phaidon, 1997. 239pp. Wilson puts the composer’s life and work in perspective, and this well-illustrated volume serves as a good starting place for those captivated by Puccini’s music looking for more information about the operas and their composers before moving on to more scholarly and thorough treatments.

Fictional Portraits

Paul, Barbara. A Cadenza for Caruso. New York: St. Martin’s, 1984. 146pp. Puccini is charged with murder in this mystery set in 1910. Enrico Caruso attempts to clear his friend by discovering the real killer. Despite the fanciful story, the novel does offer an authentic depiction of the New York opera world of the period.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Giacomo Puccini, 1858–1924 (1996). Director: Malcolm Hossick. A film profile touching on the main events of Puccini’s life, his work, and cultural background. Video.

Puccini (1984). Director: Tony Palmer. A dramatic presentation of a scandal that nearly ruined Puccini’s career. Starring Robert Stephens, Virginia McKenna, and Judith Howarth. Video.

Other Sources

Weaver, William, and Simonetta Puccini, eds. The Puccini Companion. New York: W.W.Norton, 1994. 436pp. This excellent reference source is an accessible collection of information about the composer’s life and work.

387. ALEKSANDR PUSHKIN

1799–1837

Russian poet and prose writer, Pushkin ranked among the foremost figures in Russian literature. Pushkin’s poetic works include Ruslan and Ludmilla (1820), The Prisoner of the Caucasus (1820), and his masterpiece, Eugene Onegin (1833). Among his other major works are the dramas The Stone Guest (1830) and Boris Godunov (1831), and the short story “The Queen of Spades” (1834). Pushkin was killed by his wife’s lover in a duel.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Pushkin on Literature. Tatiana Wolff, ed. Stanford, California: Stanford University Press, 1986. 554pp. This collection of the writer’s comments on his own writing and others takes the reader, in the words of V.S.Pritchett, “straight into the writer’s workshop.”

The Letters of Alexander Pushkin. J.Thomas Shaw, ed. Bloomington: Indiana University Press, 1963. 3 vols. The notable letters that shed light on the man and his life are included here in an invaluable collection.

Recommended Biographies

Edmonds, Robin. Pushkin: The Man and His Age. New York: St. Martin’s, 1995. 303pp. Edmonds focuses on Pushkin’s life in its historical context that makes clear the ways in which history, politics, and culture contributed to forming his genius and affecting his career.

Feinstein, Elaine. Pushkin: A Biography. Hopewell, New Jersey: Ecco Press, 1999. 309pp. The author, an English poet and novelist, presents a well-written narrative account of Pushkin’s life that serves as a fine accessible introduction for the general reader. The book documents the many contradictions in Pushkin’s personality, aided by recently uncovered sources that challenge previous assumptions and deepen our view of the man and his relationships.

Simmons, E.J. Pushkin. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1937. 485pp. Pushkin’s life and work are traced against a fully realized period background, synthesizing primary and secondary sources into a clear and thorough narrative of Pushkin’s activities and relationships.

Other Biographical Studies

Bethea, David M. Realizing Metaphors: Alexander Pushkin and the Life of the Poet. Madison: University of Wisconsin Press, 1998. 244pp. Bethea’s interesting literary biography is an effort to trace the connections between the poet’s life and his work.

Magarshack, David. Pushkin: A Biography. New York: Grove Press, 1967. 320pp. Relying mainly on translated excerpts from Pushkin’s letters and diaries, as well as quotes from friends and associates, Magarshack assembles the poet’s life in a serviceable, introductory biography, illustrated with portraits and Pushkin’s own pen sketches.

Mirsky, D.S. Pushkin. 1926. Reprint ed. New York: Haskell House, 1974. 266pp. Mirsky’s early biography has been superseded by later research.

Troyat, Henri. Pushkin. New York: Pantheon, 1950. 508pp. Troyat’s is a highly entertaining, vivid depiction of Pushkin’s life that includes a panoramic portrait of Russian life between 1799 and 1837. The emphasis here is on Pushkin the man rather than his works, and the deeper reaches of the poet’s character and motivation eludes Troyat’s grasp.

Vitale, Serena. Pushkin's Button. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1999. 355pp. Vitale's is a vivid, meticulous account of Pushkin's last few months and death, chronicling the events and the personalities that led to the poet's fatal duel.

Biographical Novels

Killens, John Oliver. Great Black Russian. Detroit, Michigan: Wayne State University Press, 1989. 393pp. Killens provides a full-length dramatization of Pushkin's life with an emphasis on his African ancestry that is suggested as the reason for the poet's unique perspective and various social conflicts.

Lambert, Lydia. Pushkin: Poet and Lower. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1946. 276pp. This is a fictionalized biography that Pushkin biographer E.J. Simmons called "Strachey strained through Maurois to emerge as the reductio ad absurdum of all impressionistic romanticized biographies."

Petrie, Glen. The Fourth King. New York: Atheneum, 433pp. Pushkin's life is chronicled from 1826 to his death with an emphasis on his marriage and its tragic consequences.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Chaney, J.R. Aleksandr Pushkin: Poet for the People. Minneapolis: Lerner, 1992. 112pp. MG/YA. This is a useful, informative appreciatory study that helps orient the reader to the main events of Pushkin's life, his most important works, and his achievement and legacy.

R

388. FRANÇOIS RABELAIS

ca. 1483–1553

French writer, physician, and monk, Rabelais is considered one of the comic geniuses of world literature. A humanist, he left the Franciscans to enter the more scholarly Benedictine order and practiced medicine in Lyons, where he also edited Latin works and composed burlesque almanacs. In Lyons, Rabelais wrote his celebrated Gargantua (1532) and Pantagruel (1532 or 1533), a robust and ribald collection of humorous tales about two legendary giants.

Recommended Biographies

Frame, Donald M. François Rabelais: A Study. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1977. 238pp. Frame's critical study of Rabelais's life, genius, and works, though demanding, is the best single source on the writer available. The book chronicles the essential facts that are known about Rabelais's life then takes the reader on a skillful tour of what can be learned from a close analysis of his works.

Plattard, Jean. Life of François Rabelais. New York: Knopf, 1931. 308pp. Although partially dated by subsequent research and modern critical views, Plattard remains the standard source for the essential facts of Rabelais's life. Readers of Plattard will want to supplement their reading by consulting Frame, Febvre, and Krailshiemer for alternative views on several points.

Other Biographical Studies

Febvre, Lucien. The Problem of Unbelief in the 16th Century: The Religion of Rabelais. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1982. 516pp. Febvre's intellectual history challenges the notion of Rabelais's atheism and anti-Christian views. The book has been praised as one of the seminal works of history published in the twentieth century. Challenging for the nonspecialist, the book is indispensable for the scholar of the period.

Krailshiemer, A.J. Rabelais and the Franciscans. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1963. 334pp. Krailshiemer's is a solid critical study that elucidates Rabelais's Franciscan training and its influence on his thinking and his work.

Lewis, D.B. Wyndham. Doctor Rabelais. New York: Sheed & Ward, 1957. 274pp. The author's enthusiasm for Rabelais leads him astray historically, filling in imaginative details when evidence fails. As one reviewer remarked, Lewis pays Rabelais "the supreme compliment of trying to imitate his style, with the consequence that many pages of this study are of impenetrable opacity and confusion."

Powys, John Cowper. Rabelais: His Life. New York: Philosophical Library, 1948. 424pp. Powys's life is a dense prose tangle with impressionistic glimpses, some factual, some farfetched, and the book cannot be relied on for its overall accuracy.

Putnam, Samuel. François Rabelais: Man of the Renaissance: A Spiritual Biography. New York: H. Smith, 1929. 530pp. Putnam fills in the considerable gaps in the biographical record with the background of his times and questionable interpretations.

Tilley, Arthur. François Rabelais. 1907. Reprint ed. Port Washington, New York: Kennikat Press, 1970. 388pp. Tilley's collection of biographical data, forming part of this study, was in its day an essential source, now out of date due to subsequent scholarship.

389. SIR WALTER RALEIGH

1554–1618

English soldier, explorer, courtier, and poet, the young Raleigh served (1569) with the Huguenot army in France and may have studied at Oxford and at the Middle Temple. After suppressing (1580) a rebellion in Ireland, he went to court, where he became a favorite of Elizabeth I. He was knighted (1585) and appointed captain (1587) of the queen's guard. He organized the colonization expeditions to America that ended with the tragedy of the "lost colony" on Roanoke Island. He was imprisoned by James I (1603) for suspected treason, and lived in the Tower of London until 1616. He was later executed on the same charge.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Letters of Sir Walter Raleigh. Agnes Latham and Joyce Youings, eds. Exeter: University of Exeter Press, 1999. 403pp. This scholarly collection of letters features excellent documentation that forms a sensible biography in its own right.

Recommended Biographies

Adamson, J.H., and H.F. Folland. The Shepherd of the Ocean: An Account of Sir Walter Raleigh and His Times. Boston: Gambit, 1969. 464pp. In a very detailed biography, the complexity of Raleigh is ably demonstrated. Quoting extensively from Raleigh's writings helps establish a rounded portrait, measured by the standards of his times.

Greenblatt, Stephen J. Sir Walter Raleigh: The Renaissance Man and His Role. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1973. 209pp. Greenblatt helpfully connects Raleigh the man of action with the writer and philosopher in a richly nuanced portrait. The book demonstrates how Raleigh was fundamentally a role-player and how his writings became a way to reconcile frustrations and conflicts in his life.

Lacey, Robert. Sir Walter Raleigh. New York: Atheneum, 1974. 415pp. Written for the general reader, this is a useful, balanced assessment of Raleigh's life, character, and career. Well illustrated and organized, the book follows Raleigh's actions and exposes a credible human being in the context of his era.

Wallace, Willard M. Sir Walter Raleigh. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1959. 327pp. In a balanced, judicious life, Raleigh's many-faceted character and interests are fully displayed against a solidly realized period background. Based on the leading authorities as well as new sources, Wallace's is an excellent choice for a concise but authoritative account.

Other Biographical Studies

Anthony, Irvin. Raleigh and His World. New York: Scribner, 1934. 339pp. Based on original sources, Anthony supplies a readable account of Raleigh's life and times in a series of vivid, dramatic vignettes. Clearly a Raleigh partisan, Anthony shows his hero as a adventurous plunger and daring opportunist.

Irwin, Margaret. That Great Lucifer: A Portrait of Sir Walter Raleigh. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1960. 320pp. Raleigh is portrayed mainly through his own words in a series of impressions rather than a full-scale chronological account. He is shown as a complicated mixture of virtues and stubbornness, against a colorful Elizabethan background.

Oakeshott, Walter F. The Queen and the Poet. New York: Barnes and Noble, 1962. 232pp. The book uses Raleigh’s poetry as the key for understanding his complicated relationship with Elizabeth I. It provides a number of valuable details concerning Raleigh’s life at court and his shifting fortune as a royal favorite.

Ross Williamson, Hugh. Sir Walter Raleigh. London: Faber and Faber, 1951. 215pp. Abriefbut balanced biographical portrait that covers Raleigh’s multiple careers as a poet, historian, scientist, philosopher, as well as sailor, soldier, and courtier.

Rowse, A.L. Sir Walter Raleigh: His Family and Private Life. New York: Harper, 1962. 348pp. Based on a discovered diary, Rowse reconstructs the history of the family of Raleigh’s wife, the Throckmortons. Rowse uses the revelations the diary suggests to provide a reassessment of Raleigh’s personality and history.

Strathmann, Ernest A. Sir Walter Raleigh: A Study in Elizabethan Skepticism. New York: Columbia University Press, 1951. 293pp. This intellectual biography considers the background and development of Raleigh’s religious and philosophical beliefs, particularly the charge of atheism leveled against him by his contemporaries. Raleigh is shown instead as a skeptic and advocate of intellectual freedom.

Thompson, Edwin J. Sir Walter Raleigh: The Last of the Elizabethans. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1936. 416pp. Thompson’s highly sympathetic biography judges Raleigh from the ethical standards of his day and displays the Elizabethan in a rounded portrait with his inconsistencies and paradoxes intact. At times overly defensive, Thompson gives short shrift to Raleigh’s enemies and fails to explain the considerable hostility that Raleigh inspired in many.

Williams, Norman L. Sir Walter Raleigh. London: Eyre and Spottiswoode, 1962. 295pp. Raleigh’s own words and those of his contemporaries are woven together along with official records, anecdotes, and eyewitness reports into a coherent narrative of Raleigh’s life.

Biographical Novels

Garrett, George. Death of the Fox. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1971. 739pp. On his final day before his execution, Raleigh recalls the events of his life in this imaginative evocation rooted in fact.

Lofts, Norah. Here Was a Man. New York: Knopf, 1936. 304pp. This is an episodic retelling of Raleigh’s life in a humanized portrait that mixes the facts with idealization.

Nye, Robert. The Voyage of the Destiny. New York: Putnam, 1982. 387pp. Raleigh narrates his final voyage in 1616 while recalling his relationship with Elizabeth as he awaits his execution on a treason charge.

Schoonover, Lawrence L. To Love a Queen. Boston: Little, Brown, 1973. 383pp. The rise and fall of Raleigh’s career are dramatized from his early obscurity through his success as the queen’s favorite and his end as a traitor, executed on the block by James I.

Sutcliff, Rosemary. Lady in Waiting. New York: Coward-McCann, 1957. 253pp. Bess Throckmorton, lady-in-waiting to the queen, becomes Raleigh’s secret bride. Their relationship endures Elizabeth’s disfavor and a treason charge from James I.

Turner, Judy. Raleigh’s Fair Bess. New York: St. Martin’s, 1974. 192pp. This book describes the marriage of Raleigh and Bess Throckmorton in a blend of fact and invention that observes the basic outline of their history and relationship with both Elizabeth I and James I.

Fictional Portraits

Burgess, Anthony. A Dead Man in Deptford. New York: Carroll & Graf, 1995. 272pp. Raleigh introduces Christopher Marlowe to the seductive pleasures of tobacco in this imaginative recounting of the playwright’s shady career as a spy.

Fletcher, Inglis. Roanoke Hundred. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill, 1948. 492pp. The founding of the first English settlement in North America on Roanoke Island is dramatized with a large cast of historical figures, including Raleigh, Sir Richard Grenville, and Sir Francis Drake.

Graham, Winston. The Grove of Eagles. 1964. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1964. 498p. In 1597 a second Spanish Armada threatens England, and the event is seen from the perspective of the son of the governor of the most vital fortress on the Cornish coast. Raleigh acts his historical part in the crisis.

Kingsley, Charles. Westward Ho! 1855. Reprint ed. New York: Dutton, 1923. 489pp. Kingsley’s classic adventure tale records the Elizabethan voyages of exploration and military engagement against the Spanish with appearances by Sir Francis Drake and Raleigh.

Marshall, Edison. The Lost Colony. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1964. 1964. 438pp. The novel speculates on the fate of the colony founded by Raleigh at Roanoke Island in North Carolina in an imaginative but plausible interpretation.

Wilson, Derek. Her Majesty’s Captain. Boston: Little, Brown, 1978. 311pp. Sir Robert Dudley, the son of Elizabeth’s favorite, the Earl of Leicester, narrates his voyage with Raleigh in action against the Spanish on the raid of Cadiz.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Aronson, Marc. Sir Walter Raleigh and the Quest for El Dorado. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 2000. 240pp. YA. This is a well-researched and insightful biography tracing Raleigh’s successes and failures, allowing a complex portrait of the man and his age to emerge.

Norman, Charles. The Shepherd of the Oceans: Sir Walter Raleigh. New York: McKay, 1952. 179pp. YA. Avoiding fictionalization and relying on frequent quotations from contemporary documents, this is a well-written and solidly documented biography that skillfully captures Raleigh’s life and times.

Trease, Geoffrey. Sir Walter Raleigh, Captain and Adventurer. New York: Vanguard Press, 1950. 248pp. YA. Trease chronicles Raleigh’s life from 1558 to his death in a vivid portrait that allows a complex, human figure to emerge against a clear historical background.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Elizabeth R (1972). Directors: Claude Whatham, et al. Both colorful and convincing, this dramatic television series covers Elizabeth’s life from age 17 to 70, anchored by a remarkable performance by Glenda Jackson. Raleigh is portrayed by Nicholas Selby. Video.

The Private Lives of Elizabeth and Essex (1939). Director: Michael Curtiz. Based on Maxwell Anderson’s play, this is a lavish costume drama concerned with the relationship between Elizabeth and one of her favorites, the Earl of Essex, with an outstanding performance by Bette Davis as Elizabeth. Should not be regarded as authentic history, however. Raleigh appears played by Vincent Price. Video.

Roanoak (1986). Director: Jan Egleson. PBS American Playhouse production dramatizing the fate of the Lost Colony. J.Kenneth Campbell portrays Raleigh. Video.

The Virgin Queen (1955). Director: Henry Koster. Bette Davis repeats her portrayal of Elizabeth I in a drama concentrating on her conflicts with Walter Raleigh (Richard Todd). Joan Collins plays Bess Throckmorton. Best for Davis’s performance. Video.

Other Sources

Mills, Jerry L. Sir Walter Raleigh: A Reference Guide. New York: Macmillan, 1986. 116pp. Mills provides an accessible guide to the details of Raleigh’s life and times, useful for the general reader and period specialist.

See also Elizabeth I; James I

390. RAPHAEL

1483–1520

One of the great Italian Renaissance painters, Raphael was influenced by Perugino, whose workshop he entered in 1494, and by Leonardo Da Vinci, Michelangelo, Masaccio, and Fra Bartolomeo. Among his many works are his famous Madonna paintings (1504–1508), the Stanza della Segnatura (1511) in the Vatican, which include the School of Athens and the Triumph of Religion, and the Sistine Chapel tapestries (1515–1516). Raphael was chief architect of the Vatican and also designed churches, palaces, and

Recommended Biographies

Cuzin, Jean Pierce. Raphael: His Life and Works. Secaucus, New Jersey: Chartwell Books, 1985. 259pp. This is a handsome collection of Raphael’s works that helps document his life and artistic achievement in a chronological survey.

Jones, Roger, and Nicholas Penny. Raphael. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1983. 256pp. Looking at Raphael’s achievements as a painter, architect, and archaeologist, the authors locate the artist’s activities in the context of his times and supply a thorough and coherent survey of the artist’s career.

Thompson, David. Raphael: The Life and Legacy. London: BBC, 1983. 256pp. Thompson’s illustrated biography serves as a valuable introduction to the man, his times, and achievement for the general reader.

Other Biographical Studies

Beck, James H. Raphael. New York: Abrams, 1994. 126pp. This is a beautifully illustrated volume of reproductions with a serviceable text that provides an introductory overview of the artist and his works.

Crowe, J.A., and G.B.Cavalcaselle. Raphael: His Life and Works. London: J.Murray, 1882–1885. 2 vols. An exhaustive collection of the available documentary evidence upon which Raphael’s biography can be based. Remains a valuable reference tool.

Fischel, Oskar. Raphael. London: K.Paul, 1948. 2 vols. Fischel’s substantial, scholarly examination traces Raphael’s artistic development through a close analysis of his work and frames his discussion by a detailed consideration of his cultural, social, and artistic context.

McCurdy, Edward. Raphael Santi. New York: Hodder and Stoughton, 1917. 206pp. Written for the general reader and nonspecialist, McCurdy’s is a useful life-and-times account that draws on the appropriate primary and secondary sources.

Oppé, Adolf P. Raphael. 1909. Revised ed. Charles Mitchell, ed. New York: Praeger, 1970. 130pp. Thoroughly researched and sensible in its conclusions, this solid, concise treatment of Raphael’s life and works remains within the bounds of the existing evidence and avoids the idealization and embellishment of many previous accounts.

Passavant, J.D. Raphael of Urbino and His Father Giovanni Santi. New York: Macmillan, 1872. 313pp. Passavant’s early research into the details of Raphael’s life and background remains an important reference source for biographers who are indebted to his findings.

Pope-Hennessy, John. Raphael. New York: New York University Press, 1970. 303pp. This series of lectures, although supplying a chronology, is topically arranged to explain Raphael’s creative method and the circumstances surrounding his commissions. A distillation of a lifetime of work on the artist, Pope-Hennessy is able to supply considerable insights into Raphael’s working methods and the character of his ideas.

Vasari, Giorgio. Lives of the Artists. 1550. Reprint ed. New York: Penguin, 1965. 2 vols. Vasari’s biographical sketch provides the only information on Raphael’s early life, although the writer had no firsthand knowledge of the painter, and the veracity of his anecdotes is suspect.

Fictional Portraits

Briggs, Jean. The Flame of the Borgias. New York: Harper & Row, 1975. 336pp. This dramatization of the relationship between Pietro Bembo and Lucrezia Borgia features an appearance by Raphael.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Ripley, Elizabeth. Raphael. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1961. 68pp. MG. Ripley’s is an informative critical introduction to Raphael’s life and art.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Raphael (1982). Director: Ann Turner. A three-tape collection that traces Raphael’s life and artistic career, shot on location in Italy at sites associated with the artist and in museums displaying his works. Video.

391. REMBRANDT

1606–1669

Dutch painter, etcher, and draftsman considered the greatest master of the Dutch school, Rembrandt Harmenszoon van Rijn first achieved distinction as a portrait painter. An influential teacher as well as an artist, Rembrandt produced more than 600 paintings, some 300 etchings, and about 2,000 drawings. Two of his most famous paintings are The Night Watch (1642) and Aristotle Contemplating the Bust of Homer (1653).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Strauss, Walter L., and Marjon van der Meulen. The Rembrandt Documents. New York: Abaris Books, 1979. 668pp. This important scholarly collection brings together the relevant documentary sources on Rembrandt’s life.

Recommended Biographies

Schama, Simon. Rembrandt’s Eyes. New York: Knopf, 1999. 640pp. Schama constructs a nuanced biographical profile compensating for the paucity of historical evidence through a close critical reading of his paintings and a superb recreation of the world in which Rembrandt moved. The book attempts to penetrate the artist’s thought processes and perspective through plausible conjecture, scholarship, and art criticism.

Schwartz, Gary. Rembrandt: His Life, His Paintings. New York: Viking, 1985. 380pp. Schwartz’s well-documented survey of Rembrandt’s life and art reveals the painter indirectly through his relations to his patrons and the ways in which the artist interpreted their literary, cultural, and religious ideas in his works. In stark contrast with previous portrayals, Rembrandt is shown in realistic, human terms as vain, unsociable, and greedy. Provocative and original, Schwartz’s reassessment presents a major challenge to the conventional view of the artist.

White, Christopher. Rembrandt and His World. New York: Viking, 1964, 144pp. In an accessible popular account, White orients the general reader to the essential details of Rembrandt’s life, art, and times. Serves as an ideal introduction.

Other Biographical Studies

Alpers, Svetlana. Rembrandt’s Enterprise: The Studio and the Market. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1988. 160pp. Alpers provides a fresh look at the artist and his milieu, examining the ways in which his relationship to his materials, his studio procedures, and the marketplace helped to shape his art.

Benesch, Otto. Rembrandt: A Biographical and Critical Study. 1957. Reprint ed. as Rembrandt. New York: Rizzoli, 1990. 139pp. In a beautifully illustrated critical biography, Benesch traces Rembrandt’s artistic development, his personality, and relationships in a judicious treatment for the general reader that avoids sentimentality and incorporates modern scholarship.

Mee, Charles L. Rembrandt’s Portrait: A Biography. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1988. 336pp. Written for a popular audience, this is a vivid narrative account of Rembrandt’s life that synthesizes other secondary sources into a realistic portrait of Rembrandt as flawed genius. Best in conveying a sense of place and time, the book is unfortunately overloaded with conjectures and a debatable emphasis on Rembrandt’s personal shortcomings.

Rosenberg, Jakob. Rembrandt: Life and Work. 1948. Revised ed. Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1980. 386pp. Lucid and comprehensive, Rosenberg provides a brief biographical portrait before proceeding to a critical survey of the paintings, grouped topically with chapters on portraiture, biblical subjects, landscape, genre, mythology, and history.

Biographical Novels

Schmitt, Gladys. Rembrandt. New York: Random House, 1961. 657pp. Rembrandt’s career is dramatized from 1623 until his death in a novel that stays close to the known facts.

Weiss, David. I. Rembrandt. New York: St. Martin’s, 1979. 342pp. Rembrandt narrates the story of his life at the age of 48 in 1654 as he undertakes some of his greatest work. The novel features a speculative friendship between the painter and the Dutch philosopher Spinoza.

Fictional Portraits

Heller, Joseph. Picture This. New York: Putnam, 1988. 352pp. Heller imagines the artist as he is working on the painting Aristotle Contemplating the Bust of Homer as a vehicle for a discursive meditation on multiple themes.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Bonafoux, Pascal. Rembrandt: Master of the Portrait. New York: Abrams, 1992. 175pp. YA. Traces the life and career along with an analysis of Rembrandt’s masterpieces and his influence.

Pescio, Claudio. Rembrandt and Seventeenth-Century Holland. New York: Bedrick, 1995. 64pp. MG. Part of the Masters of Art series, this is an excellent art book for younger readers that brings Rembrandt into sharp focus against a vivid period background.

Schwartz, Gary. Rembrandt. New York: Abrams, 1992. 92pp. YA. An excellent entry in the First Impressions series by a Rembrandt authority and biographer, the highlights of the painter’s life are chronicled with sufficient political and social history to provide a context. The book is handsomely designed and beautifully illustrated.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Rembrandt (1936). Director: Alexander Korda. Charles Laughton is a standout as the painter in this film biography. The talented supporting cast includes Gertrude Lawrence and Elsa Lancaster. Video.

Rembrandt-1669 (1977). Director: Jos Stelling. A Dutch film that re-creates Rembrandt’s final year. Starring Frans Stelling, Tom de Koff, and Aye Fil. Video.

392. PIERRE-AUGUSTE RENOIR

1841–1919

French impressionist painter known for works of shimmering, vibrant color and richness, Renoir began to earn his living in the 1870s with such portraits as Madame Charpentier and Her Children (1876). His outdoor scenes of the period include The Swing and Moulin Galette (both 1876). After traveling in Algeria and Italy, Renoir mounted an exhibition (1883), which guaranteed him financial success. Crippled by arthritis from 1903, he nevertheless produced some of his greatest paintings as well as major works of sculpture. His most celebrated paintings include Luncheon of the Boating Party (1881) and Bather (1917–1918).

Recommended Biographies

Renoir, Jean. Renoir, My Father. Boston: Little, Brown, 1962. 465pp. The second son of the painter, Jean Renoir, the renowned film director, offers his affectionate reflections on his father in a rich series of vignettes describing Renoir’s family, work habits, and circle of friends. Not precise on dates, Renoir’s impressions are nevertheless an invaluable source of information on the painter.

Vollard, Ambroise. Renoir: An Intimate Record. New York: Knopf, 1925. 248pp. The author, one of Renoir’s dealers and longtime associate, presents not a formal biography but an anecdotal reflection based on conversations with the painter on various events in his life and the author’s own firsthand observations. Vollard’s lively insider’s view succeeds in animating Renoir’s personality and character.

White, Barbara E. Renoir: His Life, Art, and Letters. New York: Abrams, 1984. 311pp. Meticulous and thorough, White supplies the clearest and most complete factual record of Renoir’s life that documents the painter’s experience with an exactitude missing from the more impressionistic accounts by the painter’s son and by Vollard. White shows a considerably darker side to Renoir’s life and temperament, displayed in letters published here for the first time that trace his artistic development and relationship to other members of the Impressionist circle.

Other Biographical Studies

Distal, Anne. Renoir: A Sensuous Vision. New York: Abrams, 1995. 175pp. Distal’s lively and insightful account of Renior’s life is enlivened by quotations from the artist himself, his friends, and family, and includes a wide selection of reproductions.

Hanson, Lawrence. Renoir: The Man, the Painter, and His World. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1968. 332pp. Suited for general readers and students, Hanson’s biography is an informed, chronological account of Renoir’s life and artistic development, concentrating on his impressionist and early postimpressionist period.

Monneret, Sophie. Renoir. New York: Holt, 1990. 160pp. Accompanying over 200 reproductions of Renoir’s painting and contemporary photographs, the text surveys Renoir’s life and work in the context of the artistic and cultural developments of his time.

Fictional Portraits

Weiss, David. Naked Came I: A Novel of Rodin. New York: Morrow, 1963. 660pp. This biographical novel on the life of French sculptor Auguste Rodin recreates his era with appearances by a number of historical figures, include Renoir, Degas, Monet, Victor Hugo, and Emile Zola.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Rayfield, Susan. Pierre-Auguste Renoir. New York: Abrams, 1998. 92pp. MG. Part of the informative First Impressions series, Rayfield chronicles Renoir’s life and career from his youth through his success, and his physically afflicted years before his death. Includes commentary from Jean Renoir and recollections from the painter himself and his friends.

393. CECIL RHODES

1853–1902

British business magnate, colonialist, and imperialist, Rhodes staked a claim in Africa’s Kimberley diamond fields and in 1880 founded the De Beers Mining Company at Kimberley. He then formed the British South Africa Company to develop the area that is now Zimbabwe. He was premier of the Cape Colony until his complicity in the Jameson Raid (1896) into the Transvaal forced his resignation. He then developed the country called Rhodesia in his honor and served as a commander during the Boer War. The Rhodes scholarships were founded with much of his £6 million fortune.

Recommended Biographies

Lockhart, J.G., and C.M.Woodhouse. Cecil Rhodes: The Colossus of Southern Africa. New York: Macmillan, 1963. 525pp. Given unrestricted access to previously unavailable material, the authors have used their primary sources to produce a fair and thorough biography that served as the standard life until the publication of the monumental study by Rotberg and Shore. Cautious in their assessment, the book fails to convincingly unite Rhodes’s considerable strengths with his weaknesses.

Roberts, Brian. Cecil Rhodes: Flawed Colossus. New York: W.W.Norton, 1988. 319pp. This is a brilliantly argued and well-researched portrait of the demythologized private man based on hitherto unused sources that deals frankly with Rhodes’s homosexuality and misogyny. Fair in his analysis of Rhodes’s character and development, Roberts’s is a superbly written, thoughtful reassessment.

Rotberg, Robert I., and Miles F.Shore. The Founder: Cecil Rhodes and the Pursuit of Power. New York: Oxford University Press, 1988. 800pp. Meticulously researched, this is the fullest and most comprehensive survey of Rhodes’s career that replaces Lockhart and Woodhouse as the definitive life. The book covers every aspect of Rhodes’s private and public life with fresh insights based on original research.

Thomas, Antony. Rhodes: Race for Africa. New York: St. Martin’s, 1997. 368pp. Thomas, who wrote the 1997 television dram b Rhodes, presents a balanced portrait that acknowledges Rhodes’s talents and drive but also traces the corruption of his idealism by power and the connection between Rhodes and the Boer War and the apartheid system. Relying for the most part on primary sources to tell Rhodes’s story, Thomas offers plausible surmises, labeled as such, for the gaps in the factual record.

Other Biographical Studies

Baker, Sir Herbert. Cecil Rhodes: By His Architect. London: Oxford University Press, 1934. 182pp. Closely associated with Rhodes from 1892 until his death, Baker was in a unique position to understand Rhodes’s aspirations in artistic and architectural matters as he attempted to realize them. The result is a different, tempered view of the empire builder than other accounts.

Flint, John E. Cecil Rhodes. Boston: Little, Brown, 1974. 268pp. Flint’s largely negative assessment of Rhodes’s ambitions and abilities serves as a valuable alternative view from the African perspective to other more heroic treatments of Rhodes’s achievements and character.

Fuller, Thomas E. The Right Honourable Cecil John Rhodes: A Monograph and Reminiscence. New York: Longmans, 1910. 276pp. Incomplete and limited in his perspective, the author, a former agent general for the Cape, offers his recollections on his association with Rhodes in an anecdotal, un-critical account that sheds light on Rhodes’s personality.

Gross, Felix. Rhodes of Africa. New York: Praeger, 1957. 433pp. The work of a South African journalist, Gross’s detailed biography draws on extensive source material to provide new insights on Rhodes’s career. Lack of documentation, however, limits the book’s usefulness, and Gross’s scholarship has largely been superseded by later studies.

Jourdan, Philip. Cecil Rhodes: His Private Life by His Private Secretary. New York: J.Lane, 1911. 292pp. Based on the author’s recollections of the eight-year period preceding Rhodes’s death, Jourdan supplies a biographical portrait filled with anecdotes and reconstructed conversations. Not always reliable in its historical facts, the book is, however, a useful complement to other accounts for its intimate view of Rhodes’s personality.

Le Sueur, Gordon. Cecil Rhodes: The Man and His Work. London: J.Murray, 1913. 345pp. Sketchy and limited in its perspective, this work by one of Rhodes’s private secretaries nevertheless offers a stock of intimate personal details to the supply.

Marlowe, John. Cecil Rhodes: The Anatomy of Empire. New York: Mason & Lipscomb, 1972. 304pp. Rhodes is presented as the embodiment of British imperialism in this often-superficial review of his life that offers little that is new and is selective in its coverage to emphasize a negative judgment.

McDonald, James G. Rhodes: A Life. New York: McBride, 1928. 428pp. An associate of Rhodes during the last 12 years, McDonald provides a partisan’s view that fails to achieve much distance on Rhodes’s accomplishments or character, but does offers firsthand views of significant episodes of Rhodes’s career.

Michell, Sir Lewis. Life and Times of the Right Honourable Cecil John Rhodes. New York: Kennerley, 1910. 2 vols. The first full-scale life by Rhodes’s friend, executor, and trustee under his will, Michell’s biography draws on his access to private and official papers to supply significant details on Rhodes’s career. However, the book finds little to criticize in the portrayal of Rhodes’s greatness, and current readers will likely prefer the more critical balance of subsequent biographies.

Millin, Sarah G. Cecil Rhodes. 1933. Revised ed. as Rhodes. London: Chatto and Windus, 1953. 406pp. Millin, a novelist, handles this biography with dramatic flair in documenting Rhodes’s career from his experiences in the mines of South Africa until his death. At times impressionistic, Millin is fair in her assessment and achieves a highly readable animation of a rounded and believable human figure.

Plomer, William. Cecil Rhodes. New York: Appleton, 1933. 179pp. Versus the hero-worship of earlier accounts, Plomer is harshly critical of Rhodes’s character and accomplishments. Granting Rhodes’s talents, he is portrayed as an exemplar of imperialism. Plomer supports his assertions with compelling evidence, and his view complements more benign verdicts on Rhodes’s legacy.

Williams, Basil. Cecil Rhodes. New York: Holt, 1921. 353pp. Based on the author’s acquaintance with Rhodes, the book supplies a character sketch and an overview of Rhodes’s career. A Rhodes apologist, Williams does not defend all of his actions, but the reader will be better served by more complete and objective treatments.

Fictional Portraits

Fish, Robert L. Rough Diamond. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1981. 356pp. Barney Barnet is an English adventurer who seeks his fortune in South Africa’s diamond fields where he meets Rhodes and participates in some of the events of the period.

Harries, Ann. Manly Pursuits. New York: Bloomsbury, 1999. 339pp. As Rhodes is close to death, an Oxford professor travels to South Africa to deliver hundreds of British songbirds to save Rhodes’s soul in this powerfully imagined tale with glimpses of Rhodes and such figures as Lewis Carroll, Oscar Wilde, and Rudyard Kipling.

Michener, James A. The Covenant. New York: Random House, 1980. 877pp. Michener’s massive panoramic portrayal of South Africa’s history interweaves a multiple family saga with actual events and appearances by many historical figures, including Rhodes, Kruger, Buller, and Shakka.

Samkange, Stanlake. On Trial for My Country. London: Heinemann, 1967. 160pp. The novel dramatizes the conflict between Rhodes and Lobengula, king of the Matabele and the maneuvering that resulted in the seizure of Matebele territory.

Smith, Wilbur. Men of Men. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1983. 518pp. The fictional Ballantyne family fortune is linked to the commercial and territorial empire founded by Rhodes.

Young, Francis Brett. The City of Gold. New York: Reynal & Hitchcock, 1939. 658pp. Southern African history is dramatized in this novel that mixes a fictional story with accurate depictions of the founding of Johannesburg, the Jameson Raid, and the events leading up to the Boer War, with appearances by Rhodes and Paul Kruger.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Gibbs, Peter. The True Story of Cecil Rhodes in Africa. Chicago: Childrens Press, 1964. 139pp. MG. This is a helpful review of Rhodes’s career, character, and the history of the region that he played an important role in shaping.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Rhodes (1997). Director: David Drury. Joe Shaw plays the young Rhodes and his father, Martin Shaw, portrays the elder in this biographical film written by biographer Antony Thomas. Filmed on location. Video.

394. RICHARD I

1157–1199

English king known as Richard Coeur de Leon (the Lionheart), Richard was the third son of Henry II and Eleanor of Aquitaine. He succeeded to the throne upon the death of his father and spent all but six months of his reign out of England, primarily on the Third Crusade. He captured Messina and Cyprus and stormed Acre, but was unable to seize Jerusalem. On the journey home, he was captured by Leopold V of Austria, handed over to Holy Roman Emperor Henry VI, and released only after paying a large ransom. He returned to England to suppress a revolt against him led by his brother, John, and to raise funds. He was killed while fighting against Philip II in France.

Recommended Biographies

Bridge, Antony. Richard the Lionheart. New York: M.Evans, 1989. 259pp. Finding a balance between the heroic image and its opposite realistic diminishment of earlier studies, Bridge supplies a sensible reevaluation of Richard’s life and career that insists on his being regarded as a complex individual, not just a brutal adventurer.

Gillingham, John. The Life and Times of Richard I. 1973. Revised ed. as Richard I. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1999. 336pp. In this reassessment of Richard’s reign and personality, the author considers the reasons for Richard’s fluctuating reputation over the centuries and offers a new interpretation of the significance of his reign in which Richard is shown as a masterful ruler. In Richard Coeur de Lion: Kingship, Chivalry and War in the Twelfth Century. (Rio Grande, Ohio: Hambleton Press, 1994. 266pp.), Gillingham places Richard’s career in the context of his times, shown in his various roles as king and military leader.

Henderson, Philip. Richard, Coeur de Lion: A Biography. New York: W.W.Norton, 1959. 256pp. Out of contemporary chronicles and modern historical research the author goes beyond Richard’s heroic image to portray a complex human figure and a man thoroughly a part of his time. Written for a general reader, this is a reliable, sensible, and absorbing narrative account of Richard’s life, character, and times.

Other Biographical Studies

Brundage, James A. Richard Lion Heart. New York: Scribner, 1974. 278pp. Brundage’s biographical study concentrates on Richard’s activities as leader of the Third Crusade in a straightforward narrative account with a final chapter offering an evaluation of his character and career. In the author’s realistic but balanced view, Richard is shown as often vain, arrogant, tyrannical, and greedy, yet also the towering hero of his age.

Howser, Harry S. Richard I in England. Garland: Tangelwüld, 1986. 109pp. Limited to the six-month period in 1194 in which Richard lived in England as king, Howser provides a damning assessment of the king’s reign, which is shown as one of the worst in English history, sparking the barons’ revolt that led to their confrontation with King John and the signing of the Magna Carta in 1215.

Norgate, Kate. Richard the Lion Heart. London: Macmillan, 1924. 349pp. Although superseded by later treatments and modern research, Norgate’s early biography is still a valuable full-length portrait of Richard’s career, personality, and time that balances acknowledgment of his achievement with a fair assessment of his character flaws and missteps.

Regan, Geoffrey. Lionhearts: Saladin and Richard I and the Era of the Third Crusade. New York: Walker, 1999. 288pp. Regan’s narrative account of the Third Crusade is focused by the dual careers of the opposing commanders, Richard and Saladin. The early lives and rise to power of both men are summarized before describing the conflict and their military decisions. Strong on the details of the combat, Regan is not always reliable as a judge of Richard’s character. Richard’s homosexuality is strongly resisted, and the author accepts much of his barbarous treatment of his enemy with little protest.

Biographical Novels

Barnes, Margaret C. The Passionate Brood. Philadelphia: Macrae Smith, 1945. 308pp. Beginning with the minstrel Blondel’s joining Richard’s service, this fictionalized account chronicles the highlights of Richard’s life through his death in a mix of facts, conjecture, and invention.

Challis, George. The Golden Knight. New York: Greystone Press, 1937. 297pp. Joining the facts with legends and invention, the novel dramatizes Richard’s imprisonment in Austria and his eventual rescue by his troubadour Blondel.

Charques, Dorothy. Men Like Shadows. New York: Coward-McCann, 1953. 343pp. In a believable recreation of the events of the Third Crusade, the novel’s perspective is that of an invented knight in Richard’s service.

Haycraft, Molly. My Lord Brother the Lion Heart. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1968. 320pp. Richard’s favorite sister Joan narrates the story of her life that includes her accompanying Richard on the Third Crusade and her attempts to find her brother when he is imprisoned in Austria.

Lofts, Norah. The Lute Player. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1951. 465pp. The story of Richard during the Third Crusade is told from the perspective of the musician Blondel, who is on hand during the sacking of Cyprus, the siege of Acre, and the battle of Arsouf, in a blend of the actual, the legendary, and the imaginary. See also Eleanor the Queen (Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1955. 249pp.) in which the story of Richard’s mother is dramatized.

Plaidy, Jean. Heart of the Lion. New York: Putnam, 1980. 331pp. The highlights of Richard’s career when he ascends to the throne are dramatized in a convincing and reliable treatment. In The Courts of Love New York: Putnam, 1988. 383pp.), Eleanor of Aquitaine, Richard’s mother, narrates the story of his life, her marriages, and the fate of her children in an authentic portrayal.

Rofheart, Martha. Lionheart! A Novel of Richard I, King of England. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1981. 410pp. Richard’s life, reign, and times are chronicled from a variety of real and imagined witnesses that stay close to the historical and biographical sources.

Shelby, Graham. The Devil Is Loose. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1974. 261pp. The dynastic conflict between Richard and his brother John is dramatized from the death of Henry II to Richard’s death with the historical incidents accurately presented. In The Kings of Vain Intent. (New York: McKay, 1971. 320pp.) the events of the Third Crusade are presented in a historically faithful dramatization.

Williams, Jay. Tomorrow’s Fire. New York: Atheneum, 1964. 364pp. Told in the form of a journal account of a troubadour in Richard’s service during the Third Crusade, the novel offers a portrait of the king as insecure and unstable.

Fictional Portraits

Adams, Doris Sutcliffe. No Man’s Son. London: R. Hale, 1961. 240pp. Set during the siege of Acre during the Third Crusade, this is a fanciful story of a poor knight’s efforts to find a husband for his daughter, in which the details of the conflict and its era are authentically presented.

Balling, L.Christian. Champion. New York: Atlantic Monthly Press, 1988. 309pp. Scenes from the life of William Marshal, Earl of Pembroke, and England’s greatest knight, are dramatized as the chivalric Marshal finds himself caught up in the dynastic struggle between Richard and his Prince John.

Bennetts, Pamela. Richard and the Knights of God. New York: St. Martin’s, 1973. 253pp. In an invented adventure tale set during the Third Crusade, supported by evident research and accurate period details, a knight saves the life of Saladin’s nephew and wins as a reward a French hostage, Latisse de Vaudemont.

Kaufman, Pamela. Shield of Three Lions. New York: Crown, 1983. 474pp.; Banners of Gold. New York: Crown, 1986. 436pp. The novels follow the adventures of Lady Alix of Wanthwaite who, disguised as a boy, becomes Richard’s page and amorous love interest during the Third Crusade and later is a hostage in Austria during Richard’s imprisonment.

Penman, Sharon K. The Queen’s Man. New York: Holt, 1996. 291pp.; Cruel as the Grave. New York: Holt, 1998. 242pp. Set in the 1190s, Penman’s historical mysteries features a young bastard son of the bishop of Chester as its detective in several detective missions for Eleanor of Aquitaine who sits on the English throne as regent in Richard’s absence while he is a prisoner in Austria.

Phillips, Jill M. The Rain Maiden. Secaucus, New Jersey: Citadel Press, 1987. 593pp. Set in the world of France’s Philip II, the novel tells the story of Isabel of Haunnault who marries the king but who is also loved by Richard.

Prescott, Hilda F.M. The Unhurrying Chase. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1925. 360pp. Prescott’s impressive historical reconstruction concerns the adventures of a young Frenchman whose lands are seized by the young Richard of Poitou, later to become king.

Scott, Walter. Ivanhoe. 1819. Reprint ed. New York: Bantam, 1997. 686pp.; The Talisman. 1825. Reprint ed. New York: Dutton, 1907. 319pp. Scott’s classic historical novels set during Richard’s reign offer a glimpse of the historical Richard and actual events around a core of fictional characters and imagined adventures.

Vidal, Gore. A Search for the King: A 12th-Century Legend. New York: Dutton, 1950. 255pp. Vidal’s first novel dramatizes the legendary activities of Blondel, Richard’s faithful minstrel, who searches for the king after he is imprisoned.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Gibbs, Christopher. Richard the Lionheart and the Crusades. New York: Bookwright Press, 1985. 60pp. MG. This is an informative account of the crusades with a strong focus on Richard’s role.

Pittenger, W.Norman. Richard the Lion-Hearted: The Crusader King. New York: F.Watts, 1970. 149pp. MG/YA. Pittenger’s is a competent life-and-times view of Richard’s reign.

Suskind, Richard. The Crusader King: Richard the Lionhearted. Boston: Little, Brown, 1973. 120pp. MG. Suskind treats fully the man and his era in an informative summary.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Ivanhoe (1952). Director: Richard Thorpe. Norman Wooland portrays Richard in this Hollywood version of Scott’s classic. Starring Robert Taylor, Elizabeth Taylor, Joan Fontaine, and George Sanders. Video.

Ivanhoe (1982). Director: Douglas Camfield. Television adaptation of the Scott novel, starring Anthony Andrews, James Mason, Sam Neill, Michael Hodern, and Julian Glover. Video.

Ivanhoe (1997). Director: Stuart Orme. Rory Edwards portrays Richard in yet another adaptation of Scott’s novel as a television miniseries starring Steven Waddington, Christopher Lee, Victoria Smurfit, and Susan Lynch. Video.

King Richard and the Crusades (1954). Director: David Butler. Based on Scott’s The Talisman, George Sanders is Richard in this plodding film treatment of the Third Crusade, with Rex Harrison as Saladin and Paula Raymond as Berengeria. Laurence Harvey plays a loyal knight determined to protect the king from assassins, and Virginia Mayo is his love interest. Video.

The Lion in Winter (1968). Director: Anthony Harvey. Acclaimed film version of James Goldman’s play (New York: Random House, 1966. 110pp.) looks at the dysfunctional royal family life of Henry II (Peter O’Toole) and Eleanor of Aquitaine (Katharine Hepburn) as they battle over the succession. Anthony Hopkins makes his film debut as Richard, and Nigel Terry portrays his brother John. Video.

395. RICHARD III

1452–1485

English king Richard III was created Duke of Gloucester at the coronation of his elder brother, Edward IV (1461), and after Edward’s death was protector of his 12-year-old nephew, Edward V. After Edward V and his brother were murdered, Richard had himself crowned king (1483). Historical evidence pointing to Richard as instigator of the murders of the two young princes is inconclusive. He instituted reforms and encouraged trade but could not defeat the forces who supported Henry Tudor’s claim to the throne. Richard was killed at Bosworth Field, after which Henry Tudor ascended the throne as Henry VII.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Richard III. A Source Book. Keith Dockray, ed. Gloucestershire, England: Sutton, 1997. 141pp. This collection of contemporary source material allows the reader to penetrate the various myths surrounding Richard to reach a more direct view of the man and the origin of his reputation.

Recommended Biographies

Kendall, Paul M. Richard the Third. New York: W.W.Norton, 1956. 602pp. Kendall’s well-researched, full-length biography sets in order the facts about Richard’s career, with particular attention to the years before his accession. Sympathetic to his subject, Kendall manages an objective view that avoids either excessive vilification or admiration or the bias of a prosecutor or defender. A brilliantly written scholarly biography, Richard is presented as a product of his times with a complex blend of strengths and flaws.

Potter, Jeremy. Good King Richard?: An Account of Richard III and His Reputation 1483–1983. London: Constable, 1983. 287pp. Potter supplies a helpful survey of past historical and biographical treatments of Richard that clearly establishes the terms of the Great Debate over one of England’s most controversial and enigmatic kings. Potter, a chairman of the Richard III Society, is an unabashed Richard apologist, but he offers both sides in the debate.

Ross, Charles. Richard III. Berkeley: University of California Press, 1983. 265pp. Ross helpfully places Richard’s behavior in the context of his times and reveals a man who was neither especially admirable nor wicked, and Ross’s analysis clearly reveals Richard’s many paradoxes. The book is noteworthy for not taking sides and allowing the reader to decide how to judge the man.

Other Biographical Studies

Cheetham, Anthony. The Life and Times of Richard III. London: Weidenfeld and Nicolson, 1972. 224pp. This illustrated biography traces Richard’s career through contemporary illustrations and a sound text that offers a balanced portrait.

Fields, Bertram. Royal Blood: Richard III and the Mystery of the Princes. New York: HarperCollins, 1998. 335pp. The author, an entertainment lawyer, applies his legal skills to the case of Richard III versus the princes and related charges against Richard and Edward IV. Weighing the evidence on both sides, the book supplies a colorful, fresh look at Richard’s career and his times for the general reader.

Gairdner, James. History of the Life and Reign of Richard the Third. 1898. Revised ed. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Cambridge University Press, 1968. 388pp. Long considered the standard life, Gairdner’s is a balanced and largely objective assessment that confirms much of the negative views presented first by Sir Thomas More and established as conventional wisdom by Shakespeare. The author was a master of the period and supports his presentation with primary sources.

Horrox, Rosemary. Richard III: A Study in Service. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1989. 358pp. The book attempts to explain why Richard failed to retain the kingship after his accession by examining the exercise of political power in the fifteenth century. Based on primary sources and modern scholarship, Horrox’s study that focuses on Richard’s policies rather than his personality offers a fresh and insightful approach for evaluating Richard’s reign and leadership.

Kendall, Paul M., ed. Richard III: The Great Debate. New York: W.W.Norton, 1992. 239pp. This volume brings together two influential source documents that helped to shape Richard’s reputation and view of his character: Sir Thomas More’s History of King Richard III and Horace Walpole’s The Life and Reign of King Richard III.

Lamb, V.B. The Betrayal of Richard III: An Introduction to the Controversy. Gloucestershire, England: Sutton, 1990. 112pp. In a survey of the life and times of Richard, Lamb examines the contemporary evidence and the development of his reputation since his death.

More, Thomas. The History of King Richard III. Richard S.Sylvester, ed. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1976. 168pp. More’s openly hostile and biased history shaped Shakespeare’s portrayal of Richard and helped establish the view of his monstrosity and villainy.

Pollard, A.J. Richard III and the Princes in the Tower. New York: St. Martin’s, 1991. 260pp. In a lavishly illustrated biography, Pollard summarizes Richard’s early life, rise to power, and the tangled facts concerning the mysterious death of his nephews. A collection of contemporary documents is included.

Rowse, A.L. Bosworth Field and the Wars of the Roses. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1966. 317pp. This popular account of the dynastic struggle between the Lancastrians and the Yorkists from 1399 to 1485 attempts to validate Shakespeare’s interpretation of the period and the personality and actions of Richard. Rowse’s evident Tudor sympathies dominate his assessment of the villainous Yorkists.

Seward, Desmond. Richard III: England’s Black Legend. New York: F.Watts, 1984. 220pp. The author recycles the major charges against Richard in a ringing denunciation of the man and his career, calling him “the most terrifying man ever to occupy the English throne.” Well researched and well written, Seward adds little new to the Great Debate but makes a strong case for the prosecution.

Weir, Alison. The Princes in the Tower. New York: Ballantine Books, 1993. 287pp. In a careful sifting of the available evidence, a reconstruction of the period, and character analysis of the leading figures (particularly Richard’s), the author concludes that Richard indeed was responsible for the death of his nephews. Solidly presented and argued, Weir offers a fresh examination of one of history’s greatest mysteries.

Biographical Novels

Anand, Valerie. Crown of Roses. New York: St. Martin’s, 1989. 404pp. In a markedly contrarian portrait of Richard, the events leading up to Richard’s accession are dramatized in a convincing portrayal of the confusing allegiances and personalities of the leading figures.

Belle, Pamela. The Lodestar. New York: St. Martin’s, 1989. 533pp. Richard’s rise to power is glimpsed through a courtier who becomes a trusted member of the Duke’s retinue, with the historical facts forming the basis of the story and conjecture filling out gaps in the record.

Bowen, Marjorie. Dickon. New York: Beagle, 1971. 255pp. Richard’s brief reign after seizing power is depicted.

Carleton, Patrick. Under the Hog. New York: Dutton, 1938. 514pp. Carleton offers a fictionalized interpretation of how Richard came to power and who he was.

Eckerson, Olive. The Golden Yoke: A Novel of the War of the Roses. New York: Coward-McCann, 1961. 415pp. In a sympathetic portrait of Richard, his relationship with Anne Neville is the focus as the lovers find themselves on opposite sides in the dynastic struggle of the Wars of the Roses.

Edwards, Rhoda. The Broken Swords. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1976. 295pp. Richard’s brief reign is depicted from a variety of eyewitnesses, including the king himself, in a credible, balanced portrait. In Fortune’s Wheel (Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1979. 273pp.), contrary to other depictions of Richard as villainous monster, he is shown here as an earnest man torn between his loyalty to his brother and the Earl of Warwick, whose daughter he loves.

Gellis, Roberta. The Dragon and the Rose. Chicago: Playboy Press, 1977. 363pp. The dynastic struggle of the Wars of the Roses is dramatized with the basic outlines of history observed.

Jarman, Rosemary H. We Speak No Treason. Boston: Little, Brown, 1971. 575pp. Richard’s enigmatic personality is captured through a series of witnesses: a woman who loves him, his jester, and a loyal man-at-arms. Written by an unapologetic Richard partisan, the novel shows Richard as sensitive, honest, and just.

Leary, Francis W. Fire and Morning. New York: Putnam, 1957.297pp. Scenes from Richard’s reign are dramatized from the perspective of a fictional gentleman and soldier who attempts to uncover the mystery surrounding the murdered princes.

Nickell, Lesley J. The White Queen. New York: St. Martin’s, 1978. 349pp. Richard’s character and career are portrayed from the perspective of Anne Neville, daughter of Warwick the Kingmaker, who becomes a pawn in the political intrigue of the period. The author fills in the historical facts with plausible surmises.

Oman, Carola. Crouchback. New York: Holt, 1929. 327pp. Richard’s personality and reign are seen mainly through the perspective of Anne Neville, Richard’s queen. Faithful to the historical record, the novel traces Richard’s rise to power, the fate of the princes in the tower, and the test of loyalty that Anne, the daughter of Richard’s enemy, Warwick, must face.

Palmer, Marian. The White Boar. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1968. 373pp. Seen through the biased perspective of two devoted friends, Richard is sympathetically portrayed as a victim brought down by court intrigue and the ambition of his rivals.

Penman, Sharon K. The Sunne in Splendour. New York: Holt, 1982. 1982. 936pp. Penman’s massive revisionist view of Richard portrays him as a stalwart supporter of his brother, Edward IV, and tragically in love with Anne Neville, a woman whom he is forbidden to marry. The book’s interpretation is debatable, but the scrupulousness of its historical and period details is beyond reproach.

Plaidy, Jean. The Sun in Splendour. New York: Putnam, 1982. 365pp. This historically reliable account of the Yorkist triumph and collapse during the Wars of the Roses chronicles the reigns of Edward IV and Richard III. In The Reluctant Queen: The Story of Anne of York (New York: Putnam, 1990. 299pp.), Anne Neville, Richard’s queen and the daughter of his political enemy, narrates her story and the events of Richard’s troubled career. See also The Goldsmith’s Wife (New York: Putnam, 1974. 318pp.) for the story of Jane Shore, Edward IV’s mistress, who offers a sympathetic portrait of Richard.

Tyler-Whittle, Michael. Richard III: The Last Plantagenet. Philadelphia: Chilton Books, 1970. 292pp. Richard’s life and career are chronicled from age seven to his death in a documentary approach that attempts to portray the real Richard, somewhere between the monster of Tudor partisans and the misunderstood hero of later apologists.

Vance, Marguerite. Song for a Lute. New York: Dutton, 1958. 160pp. Vance offers a positive reevaluation of Richard’s character through the perspective of Anne Neville. Richard is shown as a devoted husband who was determined to rule justly. To support this defense, many unflattering events and actions are excluded from view.

Fictional Portraits

Abbey, Margaret. The Son of York. London: New English Library, 1971. 144pp. The novel’s fictional story is connected to the political intrigue that brings Richard to the throne. In The Heart Is a Traitor. (London: R.Hale, 1978. 192pp.) and Blood of the Boar (London: R.Hale, 1979. 189pp.) the adventures of Catherine Newberry and her love for Richard are chronicled.

Barnes, Margaret C. The King’s Bed. Philadelphia: Macrae Smith, 1962. 286pp. A young woman is thrust onto the center stage of history when Richard spends the night before the battle of Bosworth Field at her father’s inn, and she is given the dangerous task of delivering the king’s final message. Legend, fact, and fiction are blended here.

Doherty, P.C. The Fate of Princes. New York: St. Martin’s, 1991. 192pp. Offering an intriguing solution to the fate of the princes in the Tower, this historical mystery displays the bloody politics and personalities of the Wars of the Roses and Richard’s rise to the throne.

Farrington, Robert. The Killing of Richard III. London: Chatto & Windus, 1971. 287pp. Richard’s privy clerk undertakes a series of secret missions, including an attempted kidnapping of Henry Tudor, during the rush of events leading up to the Battle of Bosworth Field.

Potter, Jeremy. A Trail of Blood. New York: McCall, 1971. 281pp. Set during the 1550s, the novel features a pair of Tudor investigators who uncover evidence about the murder of the princes in the Tower that exonerates Richard and could topple Henry VIII.

Sedley, Kate. Death and the Chapman. New York: St. Martin’s, 1992. 190pp; The Plymouth Cloak. New York: St. Martin’s, 1993. 192pp. Sedley’s historical mystery series set during the fifteenth century involves an itinerant peddler as sleuth with appearances by Richard.

Stevenson, Robert Louis. The Black Arrow. 1888. Reprinted. New York: Scribner, 1987. 328pp. Set during the Wars of the Roses, Stevenson’s classic tale of conspiracy and revenge features an appearance by Richard, Duke of Gloucester.

Tey, Josephine. The Daughter of Time. New York: Macmillan, 1952. 204pp. Tey’s classic mystery has an incapacitated Scotland Yard detective take up the case against Richard in the murder of his neph

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Shakespeare, William. Richard III. (1594). Multiple editions. Influenced by Sir Thomas More and other Tudor apologists, Shakespeare’s portrait of Richard as a seductive, Machiavellian monster set the type for the view of Richard that has dominated, despite the concerted efforts of those who have attempted to restore his reputation.

Looking for Richard (1996). Director: Al Pacino. This semi-documentary meditation on Richard’s character as presented by Shakespeare follows Pacino’s struggles to come to grips with the part. Key scenes in the play are presented with such actors as Alec Baldwin, Winona Ryder, Kevin Spacey, and F.Murray Abraham. Video.

Richard III (1955). Director: Laurence Olivier. Acclaimed film production of Shakespeare’s play featuring a gripping performance by Olivier and an exceptional supporting cast, including Cedric Hardwicke, Ralph Richardson, John Gielgud, and Claire Bloom. Video.

Richard III (1995). Director: Richard Loncraine. Shakespeare is relocated in an English fascist state during the 1930s in this inventive interpretation based on Richard Eyre’s stage adaptation. Starring Ian McKellen in a bravura performance, supported by Annette Bening, Nigel Hawthorne, Kristin Scott Thomas, Maggie Smith, and Jon Wood. Video.

Tower of London (1939). Director: Rowland V. Lee. Basil Rathbone portrays Richard on his murderous climb to power in this historical melodrama. The cast includes Boris Karloff, Barbara O’Neill, Vincent Price, and Leo G.Carroll. Video.

Tower of London (1962). Director: Roger Corman. Remake of the 1939 film with Vincent Price taking the role of Richard. Also starring Michael Pate, Joan Freeman, and Robert Brown. Video.

The Tragedy of Richard the Third (1983). Director: Jane Howell. This production from the BBC Shakespeare plays features an ensemble cast who perform the entire Wars of the Roses play cycle in a playscape set with Ron Cook as Richard and Brian Protheroe as Edward IV. Video.

Other Sources

Gillingham, John, ed. Richard III: A Medieval Kingship. New York: St. Martin’s, 1993. 154pp. Seven specialists present their views on Richard’s life and reign, covering his youth, usurpation of the crown, foreign affairs, military skill, and reputations.

Petre, James. Richard III: Crown and People. London: Richard III Society, 1985. 446pp. Reprinting articles from The Ricardian, the journal of the Richard III Society, this useful volume looks at various aspects of Richard’s life, career, and times.

396. ARMANDE-JEAN DU PLESSIS, DUC DE RICHELIEU

1585–1642

The chief minister of Louis XIII, statesman, and cardinal of the Roman Church, Richelieu became minister in 1624. A master of diplomacy and ruthlessness, he made France a great power and secured the monarchy against internal revolt. He successfully mounted the siege of the Huguenot stronghold of La Rochelle, which destroyed Huguenot political power, suppressed conspiracies of the nobles, and allied France with Sweden and Saxe-Weimar against the Holy Roman Emperor during the Thirty Years War. He strengthened the navy, encouraged colonial trade and expansion, and was a patron of the arts.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Political Testament of Cardinal Richelieu: The Significant Chapters and Supporting Selections. Madison: University of Wisconsin Press, 1964. 148pp. This useful collection of Richelieu’s writing helps the reader get a direct feel for the man and his ideas.

Recommended Biographies

Bergin, Joseph. Cardinal Richelieu: Power and the Pursuit of Wealth. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1985. 341pp.; The Rise of Richelieu. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1991. 282pp. Bergin’s two important studies concerning Richelieu’s fortune and apprenticeship are both meticulously researched and rich in original insights that challenge conventional views of the cardinal’s character and career. Both books are firmly grounded in the values of the period that help to explain the source of Richelieu’s power and genius, which the author insists was not uniquely innate but typical of his cultural and social milieu.

Treasure, G.R.R. Cardinal Richelieu and the Development of Absolutism. New York: St. Martin’s, 1972. 316pp. This scholarly political biography authoritatively explores Richelieu’s motives and character as it surveys his career, from his rise to power, his relationship to the king, the administrative and fiscal reforms he instituted, to his diplomacy during the Thirty Years War. Richelieu the man, the theologian, and the patron of the arts is also examined. See also Richelieu and Mazarin (New York: Routledge, 1998. 96pp.) for a succinct, comparative assessment of both men’s careers, characters, and achievements.

Wedgwood, C.V. Richelieu and the French Monarchy. 1949. Revised ed. New York: Collier, 1962. 155pp. Wedgwood’s carefully researched and sensible study of Richelieu’s career is a preferred introduction for the general reader looking for a competent orientation to the period and the man.

Other Biographical Studies

Auchincloss, Louis. Richelieu. New York: Viking, 1973. 263pp. This illustrated biography with a biographical profile by novelist Auchincloss concentrates on Richelieu’s character and personal details rather than his policies and statecraft, presented topically rather than chronologically. Appropriate as a useful introduction for the general reader.

Burckhardt, Carl. Richelieu and His Age. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1970. 3 vols. Burckhardt’s monumental study, originally published in four volumes in German between 1933 and 1967 is extremely detailed, though not free of error and has been superseded by subsequent research.

Church, William. Richelieu and Reason of State. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1972. 554pp. Rather than a chronological survey of Richelieu’s life and career, Church examines the political, religious, and moral values that help explain his ideas and actions. The result is a masterful, intellectual biographical portrait that serves to locate Richelieu’s motives and perspective in the context of his times.

Federn, Karl. Richelieu. Reprint ed. New York: Haskell House, 1970. 253pp. Federn’s survey of Richelieu’s career helps to reveal the man behind his multiple roles as well as the cultural, social, and historical contexts that help to explain his actions, values, and accomplishments.

Knecht, R.J. Richelieu. New York: Longman, 1991. 259pp. Part of the Profiles in Power series, this insightful examination of Richelieu’s character and career summarizes the highpoints and the contexts to help explain his motivations and policies.

Lodge, Richard. Richelieu. 1896. Reprint ed. Port Washington, New York: Kennikat Press, 1970. 235pp. Lodge’s early life-and-times study is factually reliable but dated in its interpretation of Richelieu’s achievement and influence.

Marvick, Elizabeth W. The Young Richelieu: A Psychoanalytic Approach to Leadership. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1983. 276pp. Tracing the origins of Richelieu’s leadership and behavior through a psychoanalytical examination of his childhood experiences, family background, and early relationships, Marvick provides a number of provocative but ultimately speculative insights into Richelieu’s psychic makeup and development.

O’Connell, D.P. Richelieu. Cleveland: World, 1968. 509pp. O’Connell’s vivid, dramatic narrative history focuses almost exclusively on Richelieu the diplomatist and politician, offering few details about his private life.

Tapié, Victor-Lucien. France in the Age of Louis XIII and Richelieu. New York: Praeger, 1975. 622pp. The author’s dual study of the French king and his chief minister remains one of the best one-volume studies of the period available. Less a biography of either man than a solid treatment of their times, the book does provide a keen analysis of both men and their motivations.

Fictional Portraits

Anthony, Evelyn. The Cardinal and the Queen. New York: Coward-McCann, 1968. 221pp. Based on the rumors that Richelieu was the lover of Anne of Austria, the father of Louis XIV, and was responsible for the murder of the Duke of Buckingham, the novel captures the intrigue and romance of the court of Louis XIII.

Dumas, Alexandre. The Three Musketeers. 1844. Various editions. Dumas’s classic swashbuckler casts Richelieu as the wily manipulator and adversary for D’Artagnan and his colleagues.

Mallet-Joris, Françoise. The Favourite. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1962. 282pp. Louis XIII’s relationship with a maid of honor prompts Richelieu’s enmity in a period psychological study.

Vigny, Alfred de. Cinq-Mars. 1826. Reprint ed. Boston: Little, Brown, 1907. 2 vols. This exciting historical adventure tale depicts the Marquis of Cinq-Mars’s attempt to overthrow the cardinal and a convincing portrait of Richelieu’s wiles.

Yarbro, Chelsea Quinn. A Candle for D’Artagnan. New York: Tor, 1989. 485pp. In the author’s inventive historical vampire series, this installment depicts the intrigues of Cardinal Richelieu as he struggles to hold onto power against the rising force of Mazarin.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Glossop, Pat. Cardinal Richelieu. New York: Chelsea House, 1990. 111pp. MG/YA. A solid overview of Richelieu’s life and times that serves equally well as biography and history of the period.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Bulwer Lytton, Edward. Richelieu; or The Conspiracy. 1839. Reprint ed. New York: Appleton, 1930. 263pp. Concerning the events between 1630 and 1642 in which Richelieu foils an attempt to overthrow and assassinate him, Bulwar Lytton’s verse drama shows the cardinal as courageous and adroit in matching wits with his opponents.

Cardinal Richelieu (1935). Director: Rowland V. Lee. George Arliss portrays the cardinal, and Edward Arnold is Louis VIII. Video.

The Devils (1971). Director: Ken Russell. Christopher Logue and Graham Armitage appear respectively as Richelieu and Louis XIII in Russell’s macabre, excessive interpretation of Aldous Huxley’s The Devils of Loudon. Starring Vanessa Redgrave and Oliver Reed. Video.

The Three Musketeers (1948). Director: George Sidney. Vincent Price plays Richelieu in this version of the Dumas novel with Lana Turner, Gene Kelly, June Allyson, Van Heflin, Keenan Wynn, Gig Young, and Angela Lansbury. Video.

The Three Musketeers (1973) and The Four Musketeers (1974). Director: Richard Lester. Charlton Heston is a standout as the cardinal in Lester’s witty and inventive adaptation of Dumas’s classic. Starring Micheal York, Oliver Reed, Richard Chamberlain, Frank Finlay, Christopher Lee, Faye Dunaway, and Raquel Welch. Video.

The Three Musketeers (1993). Director: Stephen Herek. Generation-X version of Dumas starring Kiefer Sutherland, Charlie Sheen, Chris O’Donnell, and Oliver Platt, with Tim Curry as Richelieu. Video.

Other Sources

Bergin, Joseph, and Laurence Brockliss, eds. Richelieu and His Age. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1992. 288pp. This collection of the research of a number of experts looks at Richelieu’s career from several different angles. Collectively, the portrait that emerges is a rounded, human view that connects his religious life and his statesmanship.

397. RAINER MARIA RILKE

1875–1926

German poet and one of the greatest lyric poets of modern German literature, Rilke attended the University of Prague, then married briefly and traveled extensively. During World War I he returned to Germany, where war service and chronic ill health compromised his work. After the war he settled in Switzerland. He died from blood poisoning after pricking his finger on a rose thorn. His poems are complex and symbolic, rich and mystical, and works include Stories of God (1904), Poems From the Book of Hours (1905), and The Duino Elegies (1923).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Letters of Rainer Maria Rilke. New York: W.W. Norton, 1969. 2 vols. Rilke’s correspondence is an indispensable biographical source, offering the reader a direct view of the poet’s personality, ideas, and creative method.

Rilke and Benvenuta: An Intimate Correspondence. Magda von Hattingberg, ed. New York: Fromm International, 1987. 148pp. Rilke’s correspondence with an admirer whom he had never met, Viennese concert pianist Magda von Hattinberg, is collected in a series of letters which the poet referred to as “the testament of my whole past and future existence.”

Recommended Biographies

Freedman, Ralph. Life of a Poet: Rainer Maria Rilke. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1996. 640pp. Combining the strength of Leppmann’s critical acumen with Prater’s objectivity, Freedman has produced a superior biographical study. With a clarity and fullness missing in most treatments, the book narrates the essential episodes in Rilke’s life, meticulously revealing the relationship between his experiences and his art. Freedman’s approach is level-headed and judicious.

Leppmann, Wolfgang. Rilke: A Life. New York: Fromm International, 1984. 421pp. Extremely valuable as a reference source, Leppmann’s meticulous collection of every factual detail available on the poet and its connection with his work is impressive, yet the approach is daunting for the casual reader despite its excellence as a character analysis. Others may be put off by the author’s jaunty style and sweeping generalizations, but the book excels in its critical acumen and psychological penetration.

Prater, Donald. A Ringing Glass: The Life of Rainer Maria Rilke. New York: Oxford University Press, 1986. 472pp. Although the author himself disclaims producing a definitive study since important documentation remains unavailable, Prater’s is a very detailed, three-dimensional portrait outlined against the chronological background out of which his writing and ideas developed. Relying mainly on direct quotation to tell Rilke’s story, Prater is an objective chronicler, primarily of the external facts of the poet’s life.

Other Biographical Studies

Butler, E.M. Rainer Maria Rilke. New York: Macmillan, 1941. 437pp. In her attempt to shed the myths to reveal the man, Butler finds little to admire about the poet or his work. A persistent hostility distorts this assessment, but the book does serve to replace the visionary image of Rilke promulgated by his admirers with a more realistic, human portrait.

Heerikhuizen, F.W. van. Rainer Maria Rilke: His Life and Work. New York: Philosophical Library, 1952. 396pp. The author narrates the story of Rilke’s life from a critical analysis of his poetry, letters, and relationships. Alternately well-documented and overly impressionistic, Heerikhuizen’s study is hard going for the nonspecialist.

Hendry, J.F. The Sacred Threshold: A Life of Rainer Maria Rilke. New York: Carcanet, 1984. 184pp. Hendry’s brief critical life draws the connections between the poet’s experiences and his work, concentrating in particular on Rilke’s affair with the pianist Magda von Hattingberg as a lens to explore the man and his creative method.

Holthusen, Hans E. Portrait of Rilke: An Illustrated Biography. New York: Herder and Herder, 1971. 175pp. The photographs are the major appeal in this visual biography that documents the highlights of Rilke’s career and surroundings.

Kleinbard, David. The Beginning of Terror: A Psychological Study of Rainer Maria Rilke’s Life and Work. New York: New York University Press, 1993. 275pp. Kleinbard traces Rilke’s development through a psychoanalytical examination of his relationships with his parents and the connection between his illness and creative genius. Not all the quotations in German are translated, which will be a source of frustration for the non-German reader.

Peters, H.F. Rainer Maria Rilke: Masks and the Man. Seattle: University of Washington Press, 1960. 226pp. Peters traces the influence of Rilke’s experience on his writings in a sensible introduction to both the man and his poetry.

Purtscher, Nora von Wydenbruck. Rilke, Man and Poet: A Biographical Study. New York: Appleton-Century, 1950. 373pp. Written by the niece of the poet’s friend and patron, Princess Marie Thurn und Taxis, to whom the Duino Elegies were dedicated, the author surveys Rilke’s entire life and supplements the conventional view with a number of revealing details.

Salis, Jean Randolphe de. Rainer Maria Rilke: The Years in Switzerland. Berkeley: University of California Press, 1964. 321pp. In a study originally published in Germany in 1936, Salis, an acquaintance of the poet, describes Rilke’s last seven years while attempting to correct the image of Rilke as a delicate and overly sensitive visionary but indulges in his own sentimental impressions of the poet’s final agonies.

Schoolfield, George C. Rilke’s Last Year. Lawrence: University of Kansas Libraries, 1969. 73pp. In examining Rilke’s death, Schoolfield broadens his biographical focus to consider the making and influence of Rilke’s reputation among his admirers.

Fictional Portraits

Weiss, David. Naked Came I: A Novel of Rodin. New York: Morrow, 1963. 660pp. Rilke served for a time as Rodin’s assistant, and he is depicted in this biographical novel on Rodin’s life and career.

398. ARTHUR RIMBAUD

1854–1891

French poet who influenced the symbolists and subsequent modern poets, Rimbaud lived with poet Paul Verlaine in London and Brussels, until Verlaine shot and wounded Rimbaud in a drunken brawl, thus ending the relationship. His works include A Season in Hell (1873) a confessional autobiography, and Les Illuminations (published 1886), a collection of prose poems.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Selected Letters. Wallace Fowlie, ed. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1966. 370pp. This selection of Rimbaud’s letters has been chosen to emphasize biographical details and his poetic beliefs.

Recommended Biographies

Nicholl, Charles. Somebody Else: Arthur Rimbaud in Africa 1880–91. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1998. 352pp. In a vivid depiction, the book assembles the fragmentary documentary evidence with a reenactment of the poet’s travels to portray Rimbaud’s wandering life in East Africa after he abandoned poetry. Winner of Britain’s 1998 Hawthornden Prize.

Petitfils, Pierre. Rimbaud. Charlottesville: University Press of Viginia, 1987. 388pp. Written by the preeminent Rimbaud scholar, Petitfils’s exhaustive and meticulous sifting of the evidence results in a detailed factual record of the poet’s experiences and activities. Preferred as the most comprehensive and accurate reference source, the book does not attempt an interpretation but presents the facts objectively.

Starkie, Enid. Arthur Rimbaud. 1938. Revised ed. New York: New Directions, 1961. 491pp. Revised three times in the light of new documentary evidence, Starkie’s detailed, scholarly life has long served as the standard authoritative source of information on Rimbaud’s life and career as well as a penetrating character analysis.

Steinmetz, Jean-Luc. Arthur Rimbaud: Presence of an Enigma. New York: Welcome Rain, 2000. 486pp. Winner of the 1991 Grand Prix de L’Academie Française, Steinmetz manages to connect the two halves of Rimbaud’s life, joining his artistic career with his wandering by an underlying consistent spiritual quest. The biography is likely to remain the standard life for some time to come.

Other Biographical Studies

Bonnefoy, Yves. Rimbaud. New York: Harper & Row, 1973. 145pp. The book is a sustained meditation on the poet through his works and life rather than a sustained biographical account. Uncovering no new biographical information, Bonnefoy does synthesize standard sources into an interesting interpretation.

Carré, Jean-Marie. A Season in Hell: The Life of Rimbaud. New York: Macaulay, 1931. 312pp. This account is divided into three parts: Rimbaud’s intellectual development, relating his early experiences to his writing up to age 19; his wanderings in Europe and Africa; and his return home and death. Establishing the basic chronology of Rimbaud’s life, Carré’s version has been superseded by subsequent scholarship.

Chadwick, C. Rimbaud. Atlantic Heights, New Jersey: Humanities Press, 1979. 151pp. In a reliable introduction to the life and work, Chadwick examines Rimbaud’s poetry after a brief biographical chapter. The book is particularly acute on Rimbaud’s personal and poetic relationship with Verlaine. Unfortunately, for the non-French reader, the extensive quotations from Rimbaud’s works are not translated.

Fowlie, Wallace. Rimbaud. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1965. 280pp. This critical study of Rimbaud’s writings includes a short and straightforward account of the poet’s short life.

Hanson, Elisabeth. My Poor Arthur: An Illumination of Arthur Rimbaud. New York: Holt, 1960. 307pp. Hanson’s biography is chiefly useful for its treatment of the known facts of Rimbaud’s life, but fails to achieve much illumination of motives, psychology, or the connection between the poet’s experiences and his works. Dominated by its thesis of Rimbaud’s mother complex, Hanson’s view is often simplistic and distorting.

Ivry, Benjamin. Arthur Rimbaud. New York: Stewart, Tabori and Chang, 1998. 136pp. Part of the short biographical outline series on significant gay and lesbian writers, artists, and performers, Ivry relates Rimbaud’s sexuality to his experiences and writing. Extremely detailed, though condensed, the book treats Rimbaud’s homosexuality not as peripheral but as the defining aspect of Rimbaud’s life and genius.

Rickword, Edgell. Rimbaud: The Boy and the Poet. New York: Knopf, 1924. 234pp. The first biography in English collects the then-known facts about Rimbaud’s life into a complete account, now superseded by subsequent scholarship.

St. Aubyn, Frederic C. Arthur Rimbaud. 1975. Revised ed. New York: Twayne, 1988. 176pp. The author’s critical introduction provides a competent orientation both to the man and his works for general readers and students.

Biographical Novels

Bercovici, Konrad. Savage Prodigal. New York: Beechhurst Press, 1948. 255pp. The novel recounts the events of Rimbaud’s life, including his relationship with Verlaine and his years of wandering in Africa and the Middle East, constructing some of the dialogue from the poet’s own words.

Reed, Jeremy. Delirium: An Interpretation of Arthur Rimbaud. San Francisco: City Lights Books, 1994. 136pp. The novel chiefly focuses on Rimbaud’s life around 1873 when he left school to begin his brief, intense poetic career.

Ullman, James R. The Day on Fire: A Novel Suggested by the Life of Arthur Rimbaud. Cleveland, Ohio: World, 1958. 701pp. Mixing fact and invention, the novel traces Rimbaud’s story from his childhood with an emphasis on the nature of the personal torments that Rimbaud reflected in his poetry.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Total Eclipse (1996). Director: Agnieszka Holland. The film version of Christopher Hampton’s play (London: Faber and Faber, 1995. 120pp.) dramatizes the destructive relationship between Rimbaud (Leonardo DiCaprio) and Paul Verlaine (David Thewlis). Video.

399. DIEGO RIVERA

1886–1957

Mexican mural painter, Rivera and his assistants produced large murals on public buildings that dealt with the life, history, and social problems of Mexico. In the United States, Rivera painted murals for buildings in San Francisco, Detroit, and New York, including a mural for Rockefeller Center that was moved to Mexico City because of the inclusion of a portrait of Lenin. A Marxist, Rivera was successful in gaining permission for Trotsky to come to Mexico. Rivera was married to the Mexican painter, Frida Kahlo.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

My Art, My Life. With Gladys March. New York: Citadel Press, 1960. 197pp. This version of Rivera’s autobiography was compiled by March from interviews, with Rivera’s comments arranged chronologically. The appendix contains recollections from the artist’s four wives.

Recommended Biographies

Hamill, Pete. Diego Rivera. New York: Abrams, 1999. 207pp. Hamill’s is a sound introduction to Rivera’s life and achievement. Without adding any new details, Hamill is able to craft a full and rounded portrait of the man, his artistry, and the complex relationships, both personal and political, that shaped him.

Marnham, Patrick. Dreaming with His Eyes Open: A Life of Diego Rivera. New York: Knopf, 1998. 350pp. Marnham continues the effort begun by Wolfe of untangling the myths from the reality surrounding Rivera’s life. Based on extensive research and providing a rich evocation of the period and place, Marnham’s study skillfully shows how the artist’s personality and culture shaped his art and substitutes a believable human figure for the often oversized legend.

Wolfe, Bertram D. The Fabulous Life of Diego Rivera. New York: Stein and Day, 1963. 457pp. Wolfe updates his earlier study to describe Rivera’s entire life, attempting to correct the “tall tales for which Diego was famous.” The book remains the standard source and the most comprehensive treatment of Rivera’s life available.

Other Biographical Studies

Arquin, Florence. Diego Rivera: The Shaping of an Artist, 1889–1921. Norman: University of Oklahoma Press, 1971. 150pp. The author, a painter and a friend of Rivera’s family, presents the artist’s early years and development in Mexico, Spain, France, and Italy in a valuable assessment of the years up to 1921.

Wolfe, Bertram D. Diego Rivera: His Life and Times. New York: Knopf, 1939. 420pp. Wolfe’s first attempt to summarize Rivera’s life and achievement, based on the author’s personal acquaintance with the painter, was substantially reworked to form the full-length, more critical view of Rivera in Wolfe’s 1963 biography.

Fictional Portraits

Poniatowska, Elena. Dear Diego. New York: Putnam, 1986. 86pp. This novella is composed of 12 letters sent to Rivera by Angelina Beloff, the painter’s abandoned common-law wife, pleading to be reunited with the artist. Although Rivera is a missing presence here, his considerable powers of attraction are compellingly registered on the imagined Angelina.

Winegardner, Mark. The Veracruz Blues. New York: Viking, 1996. 251pp. In 1946 a number of prominent major leaguers are induced to join the Mexican league for the first fully integrated baseball season in this fanciful but atmospheric tale with a number of actual figures, including Rivera, Frida Kahlo, Ernest Hemingway, and Babe Ruth.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Cockcroft, James D. Diego Rivera. New York: Chelsea House, 1991. 119pp. MG/YA. Cockcroft’s is a packed source of information on the painter’s life, work, and times that deals frankly with the personal details and the controversies surrounding Rivera.

Gonzales, Doreen. Diego Rivera: His Art, His Life. Springfield, New Jersey: Enslow, 1996. 128pp. MG/YA. While concentrating on his artistic achievement, Gonzales supplies an unflattering portrait of the artist as a self-absorbed man who damaged his relationships with his family, wives, and children.

Hargrove, Jim. Diego Rivera: Mexican Muralist. Chicago: Childrens Press, 1990. 122pp. MG. This is a thoroughly documented and well-written introduction to the artist and his work although the black-and-white photos do not do justice to the latter.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

The Cradle Will Rock (1999). Director: Tim Robbins. This account of Orson Welles’s attempt to mount a musical about a steel strike in the 1930s features Rubén Blades as Diego Rivera at work on his mural for Rockefeller (John Cusack). With Angus MacFadyen as Welles and Gary Elwes as John Housman. Video.

Diego Rivera: I Paint What I See (1989). Director: M.Lance. A film portrait of Rivera’s life and work with location shots of his murals. Video.

400. PAUL ROBESON

1898–1976

Celebrated African American actor and bass singer, Robeson won acclaim for his performances in such plays as Eugene O’Neill’s Emperor Jones, DuBose Hay ward’s Porgy, Shakespeare’s Othello, and the Jerome Kern musical, Show Boat, as well as for his concert performances and interpretations of spirituals. His communist affiliations and his winning of the Stalin Peace Prize made him a controversial figure in the United States. He lived and worked in Europe and the Soviet Union during the 1950s, returning to the United States in 1963.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Here I Stand. Boston: Beacon Press, 1958. 121pp. Robeson justifies his beliefs and actions in an impassioned, accessible, and simplified version of his life story.

Paul Robeson Speaks: Writings, Speeches, Interviews, 1918–1974. Philip S.Foner, ed. New York: Brunner/Mazel, 1978. 623pp. This is an important and useful collection of Robeson’s views from a variety of sources.

Recommended Biographies

Duberman, Martin B. Paul Robeson. New York: Knopf, 1988. 804pp. Duberman’s is the standout, definitive biography, extensively researched, comprehensive in its approach, and judicious in its assessments. A reviewer from the Nation predicted that the book “will rank among the finest biographies of any twentieth-century American figure.”

Other Biographical Studies

Gilliam, Dorothy B. Paul Robeson: All American. Washington, DC: New Republic, 1976. 216pp. Lacking much penetration, Gilliam presents the highlights of Robeson’s public career. This book serves primarily as a starting point or an accessible overview.

Graham, Shirley. Paul Robeson: Citizen of the World. New York: J.Messner, 1946. 264pp. The work of the wife of W.E.B. DuBois, this highly flattering portrait lacks objectivity and cannot be trusted in all its details.

Hoyt, Edwin P. Paul Robeson: The American Othello. Cleveland: World, 1967. 228pp. Hoyt’s is a sympathetic but critical account of Robeson’s career that deals candidly with his strengths and weaknesses, particularly, in the view of Hoyt, his political naivete.

Robeson, Eslanda G. Paul Robeson, Negro. New York: Harper, 1930. 178pp. Langston Hughes observed that this early account by Robeson’s wife was a “naively intimate book that couldn’t have been bettered by the best press agent.” Frank confession alternates with puffery, but the firsthand insights are nevertheless useful on Robeson’s private life.

Robeson, Susan. The Whole World in His Hands: A Pictorial Biography of Paul Robeson. Secaucus, New Jersey: Citadel Press, 1981. 254pp. Robeson’s granddaughter offers an affectionate testimonial, chiefly useful for the many photographs that chronicle Robeson’s career.

Fictional Portraits

Kaminsky, Stuart M. Smart Moves. New York: St. Martin’s, 1986. 212pp. In this installment of Kaminsky’s clever period mystery series, private eye Toby Peters tracks down a Nazi assassination squad bent on killing Albert Einstein, and he crosses paths with Paul Robeson who is appearing in Othello.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Ehrlich, Scott. Paul Robeson. New York: Chelsea House, 1988. 111 pp. MG/YA. Ehrlich offers an informative account of Robeson’s impact and achievement in this biographical profile that mainly focuses on his public life.

Larsen, Rebecca. Paul Robeson: Hero Before His Time. New York: F.Watts, 1989. 158pp. MG/YA. Larsen summarizes the important information on Robeson’s personal life and career, with quotes from the actor and his contemporaries, and deals frankly with the controversies. Readers should have some knowledge of the history of the period.

Wright, David K. Paul Robeson: Actor, Singer, Political Activist. Springfield, New Jersey: Enslow, 1998. 128pp. MG/YA. This is an engaging, well-written introduction to Robeson’s life that relies upon telling quotes and photographs to tell its story.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Paul Robeson (1979). Director: Lloyd Richards. A dramatic presentation of Robeson’s life, starring James Earl Jones and Burt Wallace. Video

Paul Robeson: Here I Stand (1999). Director: St. Clair Bourne. Robeson’s life and achievements are presented, narrated by Ossie Davis. Video.

Paul Robeson: The Tallest Tree in the Forest (1977). Producer: Gil Noble. A film portrait using archival footage and interviews with friends and associates. Video.

Paul Robeson—Tribute to an Artist (1982). Director: Saul J.Turell. A short documentary portrait originally released as a motion picture in 1979, narrated by Sidney Poitier. Video.

A Profile of Paul Robeson (1975). Robert N. Zagone. A documentary account of Robeson’s public career and personality using interviews with eyewitnesses and associates and archival footage. Video.

Other Sources

Stewart, Jeffrey, ed. Paul Robeson: Artist and Citizen. New Brunswick, New Jersey: Rutgers University Press, 1998. 331pp. This collection of scholarly essays touches on various aspects of Robeson’s personality and career. Includes 240 illustrations.

401. MAXIMILIEN ROBESPIERRE

1758–1794

French politician and leading figure of the French Revolution, Robespierre served on the States-General of 1789, became leader of the Jacobins, and was elected to the Commune of Paris. As deputy from Paris in the National Convention, he purged the rival moderate Girondists and was elected to the Committee of Public Safety, from which he initiated the Reign of Terror. Opposition to Robespierre’s abuse of power grew, resulting in his arrest, summary trial, and execution.

Recommended Biographies

Hardman, John. Robespierre. New York: Longman, 1999. 248pp. This entry in the Profiles in Power series, supplies a reliable, succinct survey of Robespierre’s life and revolutionary career. Serving as an excellent introduction, Hardman’s analysis traces Robespierre’s rise to power and his policies, displaying the discrepancy between his words and actions.

Jordan, David P. The Revolutionary Career of Maximilien Robespierre. New York: Free Press, 1985. 308pp. Jordan’s intellectual biography emphasizes Robespierre’s career rather than his private life. In Jordan’s well-researched and plausible analysis of the crucial events of Robespierre’s public life, he is sympathetically treated as a committed idealist. Accepting Robespierre’s own words in his defense, Jordan ultimately fails to resolve the central paradox of Robespierre’s ideals and his actions during the Reign of Terror.

Thompson, James M. Robespierre. New York: Appleton, 1936. 2 vols. Thompson’s scholarly biography remains the most comprehensive study available. Based on years of research in France and a meticulous sifting of documentary evidence, the book collects all the available evidence and uses the author’s considerable expertise in the period to reach cautious but judicious, objective conclusions about Robespierre’s motivations and psychology.

Other Biographical Studies

Gallo, Max. Robespierre the Incorruptible: A Psycho-Biography. New York: Herder & Herder, 1971. 336pp. Gallo supplies a Freudian reading of Robespierre’s character and development, locating the basis for understanding his later behavior in the traumas of his childhood.

Hampson, Norman. The Life and Opinions of Maximilien Robespierre. London: Duckworth, 1974. 313pp. Hampson’s innovative approach on viewing Robespierre’s character and career takes the form of a dialogue between a university tutor and three students—a Marxist, a civil servant, and a clergyman. The approach displays Robespierre’s many contradictions without arriving at any definitive conclusions.

Lewes, G.H. The Life of Maximilien Robespierre. London: Routledge, 1849. 328pp. The first serious biography of Robespierre in English includes letters published here for the first time. Without succeeding to reconcile the various contradictions in Robespierre’s character and career, Lewes does display his various sides in a generally objective view.

Mathiez, Albert. The Fall of Robespierre and Other Essays. New York: Knopf, 1927. 249pp. The author died before attempting the full-scale biography that his lifetime of research anticipated; however, this collection of 12 essays, based on Robespierre’s speeches, letters, and contemporary records considers various aspects of his career.

Rudé, George. Robespierre: Portrait of a Revolutionary Democrat. New York: Viking, 1975. 254pp. The author’s sympathetic political portrait depicts Robespierre as “the outstanding leader of the French Revolution who was the first great champion of democracy and people’s rights.” Rudé’s contention is supported in a series of essays that look at various aspects of Robespierre’s career. While plausible, the book’s interpretation does not satisfactorily square the image of Robespierre as democratic hero and leader of the Reign of Terror.

Biographical Novels

Coryn, M.S. The Incorruptible. New York: Appleton-Century, 1943. 247pp. Robespierre is seen from a variety of perspectives, including those of both his friends and enemies, during his last five months.

Mantel, Hilary. A Place of Greater Safety. New York: Atheneum, 1993. 749pp. Robespierre, Danton, and Desmoulins provide narrative focus in this account of the French Revolution. All are shown in their rise to power and in conflict with one another as they attempt to control the rush of events that leads to the Reign of Terror. A remarkable achievement of historical reconstruction.

Piercy, Marge. City of Darkness, City of Light. New York: Fawcett, 1996. 479pp. The events of the French Revolution are depicted from the perspectives of several fictional and historical figures, including Danton and Robespierre, in a factual, faithful reconstruction of the period.

Fictional Portraits

De Bois, Helma. The Incorruptible: A Tale of Revolution and Royalty. New York: Crown, 1965. 402pp. In a faithful chronology of the events of the French Revolution, a fictional character’s journal believably records his connections with many of the important figures, including Robespierre.

Lee, Tanith. The Gods Are Thirsty. Woodstock, New York: Overlook Press, 1996. 514pp. Camille Desmoulins, called the voice of the Revolution, is the focus for this fictionalized history that interweaves actual events with the imaginary and includes a portrayal of several central figures including Robespierre.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Carson, S.L. Maximilien Robespierre. New York: Chelsea House, 1988. 112pp. MG/YA. Carson supplies the essential information needed to understand Robespierre’s character and actions, as well as a clear depiction of the events leading up to the French Revolution and its aftermath.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Danton (1982). Director: Andrzej Wajda. The Reign of Terror is viewed through the conflict between Danton (Gerard Depardieu) and Robespierre (Wojciech Pszoniak) as they attempt to control the forces they have helped to unleash. Echoes of modern Polish history can be detected in this provocative historical film with intriguing character studies of both men. Video.

The French Revolution (1971). Producer. Learning Corp. A brief video history of the French Revolution that focuses on the enigmatic figure of Robespierre to trace how the ideals of the Revolution were compromised. Video.

Marie Antoinette (1938). Director: W.S.Van Dyke. This Hollywood biography of Marie Antoinette cast Norma Shearer in the title role, with Tyrone Power as Count Person and Robert Morley as Louis XVI. George Meeker appears as Robespierre. Video.

Napoleon (1927). Director: Abel Gance. Gance’s masterwork on the life of Napoleon depicts the events of the French Revolution and the Reign of Terror with portraits of Robespierre (Edmond Van Dyke), Desmoulins (Robert Vidalm), and Louis XVI (Louis Sance). Video.

The Reign of Terror (1949). Director: Anthony Mann. Historical melodrama concerning the scramble to possess the black book that records the names of Robespierre’s victims during the Terror. Richard Basehart portrays Robespierre, with Wade Crosby as Danton and Jess Barker as St. Just. The fictional characters are portrayed by Robert Cummings and Arlene Dahl. Video.

Other Sources

Haydon, Colin, and William Doyle, eds. Robespierre. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1999. 295pp. A collection of critical essays that attempt to explain the various contradictory views of Robespierre, including his representation in history, drama, and fiction.

Rudé, George, ed. Robespierre. Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Prentice-Hall, 1967. 181 pp. Part of the useful Great Lives Observed series, this collection brings together Robespierre’s own words, views by contemporaries, and modern critical commentary.

402. JACKIE ROBINSON

1919–1972

The first African American baseball player to play in the major leagues, Robinson was signed by Brooklyn Dodgers president Branch Rickey to play for the Montreal Royals, a Brooklyn farm club. He was brought up to the Brooklyn Dodgers in 1947 and played until 1956. A formidable player, Robinson set batting and fielding records. He became the first African American admitted to the Baseball Hall of Fame.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Baseball Has Done It. Charles Dexter, ed. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1964. 216pp. A chronological account of the integration of baseball based on Robinson’s own recollections and interviews with others. Robinson’s optimism that baseball’s success could be duplicated in society would later darken as his experience showed otherwise.

I Never Had It Made. As told to Alfred Duckett. New York: Putnam, 1972. 287pp. Based on interviews with Robinson before his death, only a quarter of the book is devoted to his baseball career and includes his realistic, sometimes bitter, recollections of his struggles against racism.

Jackie Robinson: My Own Story. As told to Wendell Smith. New York: Greenberg, 1948. 170pp. Written shortly after Robinson’s rookie season, the book records Robinson’s own assessment of his early life and the significance of his breaking the color barrier in baseball.

Rowan, Carl T., with Jackie Robinson. Wait Till Next Year: The Life Story of Jackie Robinson. New York: Random House, 1960. 339pp. Rowen, a respected African American journalist, collaborated with Robinson on an account of his life that emphasizes not his baseball career but his civil rights activities and continuing struggles after baseball.

Recommended Biographies

Falkner, David. Great Time Coming: The Life of Jackie Robinson from Baseball to Birmingham. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1995. 382pp. The first full-length biography is a balanced and objective assessment of Robinson’s life and character that includes details of his early life and the years following his retirement. Falkner offers a sensible interpretation concerning Robinson’s own understanding of his significance and an explanation of his political decisions connected to his civil rights activism.

Rampersad, Arnold. Jackie Robinson: A Biography. New York: Random House, 1997. 512pp. Granted access to Robinson’s personal papers and synthesizing journalistic, archival, and oral evidence, Rampersad has produced what should likely be the definitive biography of Robinson for some time to come. The result of the author’s diligent research is a revealing, comprehensive portrait of Robinson that puts his life and character in a wider cultural and social context. Both the man and his times are displayed more clearly than any other book on the subject.

Tygiel, Jules. Baseball’s Great Experiment: Jackie Robinson and His Legacy. New York: Oxford University Press, 1983. 392pp. Considered the definitive account of the integration of baseball, the book focuses on Robinson’s experiences but widens the perspective to include those of other black players, establishing a revealing cultural context to view Robinson’s achievement.

Other Biographical Studies

Allen, Maury. Jackie Robinson: A Life Remembered. New York: F.Watts, 1987. 260pp. Drawing on the recollections of former teammates, coaches, umpires, opponents, owners, and family members, Allen supplies a sensitive tribute and character profile. Appropriate for both adult and young adult readers.

Frommer, Harvey. Rickey & Robinson: The Men Who Broke Baseball’s Color Barrier. New York: Macmillan, 1982. 240pp. Frommer’s dual biography of Robinson and the Dodgers’ general manager traces their lives and careers up to their meeting that changed baseball and society and their relationship following Robinson’s retirement.

Mann, Arthur. The Jackie Robinson Story. New York: Grosset & Dunlap, 1956. 224pp. Written by a former sportswriter and Branch Rickey assistant, this popular account offers an uncritical summary of Robinson’s life up to his rookie season and his subsequent baseball achievements.

Robinson, Rachel. With Lee Daniels. Jackie Robinson: An Intimate Portrait. New York: Abrams, 1996. 240pp. Robinson’s wife supplies a personal account of her husband’s rise to stardom, his baseball career, and later civil rights activities. Almost half the book is devoted to Robinson’s life off the field and after his retirement. The high point of the volume is its many photographs from the family’s album.

Robinson, Sharon. Stealing Home: An Intimate Family Portrait by the Daughter of Jackie Robinson. New York: HarperCollins, 1996. 213pp. The author presents a tribute to her father that has little to say about his early struggles or his controversial break with black leaders like Malcolm X and Martin Luther King Jr. or his controversial support of Richard Nixon in 1960. Instead, Robinson as family man is emphasized with the difficulty of living in his shadow the major insight.

Roeder, William. Jackie Robinson. New York: A.S.Barnes, 1950. 183pp. In a popular factual account, Roeder chronicles Robinson’s struggles to reach the major leagues, his relationship with Branch Rickey, and some details of Robinson’s private, domestic life.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Coombs, Karen M. Jackie Robinson: Baseball’s Civil Rights Legend. Springfield, New Jersey: Enslow, 1997. 128pp. YA. Named by the San Diego Book Awards Association as the best children’s book of 1997, Coombs’s biography narrates the events of Robinson’s life and achieves a human portrait of the man, with an emphasis on his civil rights activities.

Denberg, Barry. Stealing Home: The Story of Jackie Robinson. New York: Scholastic, 1997. 116pp. MG. This is a straightforward account of Robinson’s life on and off the baseball diamond.

Robinson, Jackie, and Alfred Duckett. Breakthrough to the Big League. New York: Harper, 1965. 168pp. MG. Robinson offers his own story that emphasizes his 1949 rookie season and the steps that led up to it. Unfortunately, the book includes little on Robinson’s life after baseball.

Weidhorn, Manfred. Jackie Robinson. New York: Atheneum, 1993. 207pp. MG/YA. This is a thorough, sympathetic biography that features a vivid picture of the social milieu of his period.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: Jackie Robinson (1991). Director: Alfred E.Green. Photos, archival footage, and interviews combine to present a reliable documentary portrait of the man and his achievements. Video.

The Court Martial of Jackie Robinson (1990). Director: Larry Peerce. André Braugher stars as Robinson in this dramatization of an episode from his army service. With Daniel Stern, Ruby Dee, and Bruce Dern. Video.

Jackie Robinson: Breaking Barriers (1997). Producer: Heather Mitchell. A video tribute that includes interviews with family members, rare photographs, and game and newsreel footage. Video.

The Jackie Robinson Story (1950). Director: Alfred E.Green. Robinson plays himself in this film biography tracing his life from college to the big leagues. Ruby Dee portrays Rachel Robinson, and Minor Watson plays Branch Rickey. Video.

Soul of the Game (1996). Director: Kevin R. Sullivan. Television film depicting the lives of Sachel Paige (Delroy Lindo), Josh Gibson (Mykel Williamson), and Jackie Robinson (Blair Underwood) in the Negro League during 1954 as they compete to become the first black player in the big leagues. Edward Herrmann portrays Branch Rickey, the man who will choose among them. Video.

Other Sources

Kahn, Roger, and Jules Tygiel, eds. The Jackie Robinson Reader: Perspectives on an American Hero. New York: Dutton, 1997. 278pp. This valuable collection of writings documents the cultural impact of the man and his achievements.

Stout, Glenn, ed. Jackie Robinson Between the Baselines. San Francisco: Woodford Press, 1997. 204pp. This collection of essays accesses Robinson’s baseball career from his college days through the majors.

403. JOHN D.ROCKEFELLER

1839–1937

American industrialist, financier, and philanthropist, Rockefeller established the Standard Oil Company. He ruthlessly unified the oil industry into the Standard Oil Trust, a holding company and monopoly dissolved by a famous antitrust decision (1911) of the U.S. Supreme Court. Rockefeller was a director of the United States Steel Corporation, financed railroads and banks, and used his considerable fortune to found numerous organizations and philanthropies.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Dear Father/Dear Son: Correspondence of John D.Rockefeller and John D.Rockefeller Jr. New York: Fordham University Press. 1994. 237pp. A collection of previously unpublished letters between John D.Rockefeller senior and junior helps document the Rockefeller family fortune over the course of 50 years.

John D.Rockefeller Interviews, 1917–1920, Conducted by William O.Inglis. David F.Hawke, ed. Westport, Connecticut: Meckler, 1984. 2 vols. In the absence of a more formal autobiography, Rockefeller’s own words, collected here in a series of interviews, show his assessment of his career and his views on a variety of topics.

Random Reminiscences of Men and Events. Tarrytown, New York: Sleepy Hollow Press, 1984. 124pp. Based on interviews conducted by Frank N. Doubleday and printed in the magazine World’s Work in 1908–1909, Rockefeller’s recollections touch on his business practices, philanthropy, and philosophy.

Recommended Biographies

Chernow, Ron. Titan: The Life of John D. Rockefeller. New York: Random House, 1998. 774pp. The first biography written following the availability of an important archive of Rockefeller’s papers, Chernow’s is a masterful synthesis of research and analysis that is the most complete, credible portrait of the man and his career yet written. Both positives and negatives are fully displayed in Chernow’s sympathetic but balanced assessment that has been described as a “triumph of the art of biography.”

Hawke, David F. John D.: The Founding Father of the Rockefellers. New York: Harper & Row, 1980. 260pp. Hawke’s objective and detailed portrait presents the many sides of a complex Rockefeller that does not gloss over his flaws, even as he acknowledges his achievements and human qualities. Serves as the best brief study that connects the industrialist with the private individual.

Nevins, Allan. John D.Rockefeller: The Heroic Age of American Enterprise. New York: Scribner, 1940. 2 vols. Nevins’s impressive biography, long regarded as the standard life, was in the author’s view “an effort to illuminate without fear or favor all aspects of the work of a remarkable innovator who left a deep imprint upon both the industry and the philanthropy of his nation.” With free access to the private papers of the Rockefeller family, Nevins supplies an objective account of Rockefeller’s business career.

Nevins, Allan. Study in Power: John D. Rockefeller, Industrialist and Philanthropist. New York: Scribner, 1953. 2 vols. Retaining all the essential data of his earlier study, Nevins supplements it with subsequently available letters from Rockefeller and Standard Oil executives and revises other interpretations for a more complete account of Rockefeller’s life.

Other Biographical Studies

Flynn, John T. God’s Gold: The Story of Rockefeller and His Times. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1932. 520pp. In Flynn’s sympathetic assessment, Rockefeller’s fortune was “not only the most honestly acquired but was amassed in the building of a great constructive business and in the development of a new system of industry.” The facts of Rockefeller’s life are carefully set out as well as the background and environment that help explain his actions and character.

Tarbell, Ida M. History of the Standard Oil Company. New York: McClure, 1904. 2 vols. Tarbell’s classic muckraking study of the origin, growth, and influence of Standard Oil is an impressive achievement and still required reading. Tarbell’s Rockefeller remains enigmatic even after her realistic portrayal of a manipulative and miserly figure.

Fictional Portraits

Alexander, Lawrence. The Strenuous Life. New York: Knightsbridge, 1991. 304pp. New York City Police Commissioner Theodore Roosevelt must deal with a conspiracy that connects him with such disparate historical figures as Geronimo and John D.Rockefeller.

Ferrell, Elizabeth. Full of Thy Riches. New York: M.S.Mill, 1944. 315pp. In an unconvincing romantic tale of a young wife and her elderly husband in West Virginia’s oil country during the Civil War, a young Rockefeller is portrayed.

Longstreet, Stephen. The Bank. New York: Putnam, 1976. 377pp. The novel portrays the rise of a great American banking family from the Civil War through the 1929 Wall Street crash with appearances by a number of historical figures, including Rockefeller, Morgan, Fisk, Vanderbilt, and Gould.

Schreiner, Samuel A. Thine Is the Glory. New York: Arbor House, 1975. 470pp. The story of America’s Golden Triangle in Pittsburgh from the Gilded Age through World War II is chronicled in this family saga with appearances by Rockefeller, Carnegie, and Frick.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Coffey, Ellen G. John D.Rockefeller: Empire Builder. Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Silver Burdett, 1989. 112pp. MG. Rockefeller’s business and private life are displayed in this balanced biography that presents his sometimes ruthless business practices along with his happy family life and philanthropy.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: The Rockefellers (1994). Director: Alison Guss. This family portrait covers John D.Rockefeller’s life before moving on to the next generation. Video.

404. AUGUSTE RODIN

1840–1917

French sculptor whose works are characterized by great vitality and emotional intensity, Rodin first gained recognition with The Age of Bronze (1876), exhibited at the Salon in 1877 and purchased for the Luxembourg Gardens. Thereafter, Rodin lived and worked in a government-subsidized apartment in Paris. Among his other works are The Thinker (1879) and Adam and Eve (1881), two works originally sculpted for Rodin’s massive unfinished Gate of Hell; The Kiss (1886); and The Burghers of Calais (1894).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Rodin on Art. New York: Horizon Press, 1971. 259pp. This is a valuable collection of Rodin’s comments on his art and his fellow artists.

Recommended Biographies

Butler, Ruth. Rodin: The Shape of Genius. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1993. 591pp. Butler’s thoughtful and skillful biographical portrait is based on extensive use of Rodin’s letters and is particularly perceptive on the sculptor’s relationships and their connections to his art. More selective and interpretively focused than Grunfeld’s life, the book clarifies important aspects of Rodin’s life so that his personality and achievement become far more understandable and coherent.

Champigneulle, Bernard. Rodin. New York: Abrams, 1967. 287pp. Champigneulle’s is a useful critical overview for the nonspecialist that includes a sensible appreciation of Rodin’s achievements as an artistic innovator as well as a revealing account of the artist’s personality and private life.

Grunfeld, Frederic V. Rodin: A Biography. New York: Holt, 1987. 738pp. Regarded as the definitive study, Grunfeld’s is a remarkably detailed and meticulously researched study that integrates Rodin’s artistic development, personality, and relationships, as well as his historical and cultural contexts into a sensitive and judicious portrait. Essential for the specialist, the general reader can still enjoy and profit from this well-written and accomplished biography.

Other Biographical Studies

Cladel, Judith. Rodin. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1937. 342pp. The author, a close friend and Rodin’s secretary, supplies a respectful, influential appreciation of the sculptor, informed by letters and firsthand observations. Cladel’s earlier book, Rodin: The Man and His Art (New York: Century, 1917. 357pp.), is a more limited, selective treatment but still possesses interesting observations that have been of service to later biographers.

Descharnes, Robert, and Jean-François Chabrun. Auguste Rodin. New York: Viking, 1967. 277pp. Serving as an excellent introduction to the man, his life and times, and his works, this volume is principally valuable for its many photographs, an extensive chronology, and some new information based on previously untapped documentary sources.

Laurent, Monique. Rodin. New York: Holt, 1990. 160pp. This collection of reproductions of Rodin’s works features a brief biographical and critical overview useful for the general reader and student.

Rilke, Rainer Maria. Rodin. New York: Fine Editions Press, 1954. 75pp. Rilke served as Rodin’s secretary, and this brief essay is an important source of insights into the sculptor’s creative process, personality, and artistic development.

Biographical Novels

Delbée, Anne. Camille Claudel, une Femme. San Francisco: Mercury, 1992. 373pp. Rodin’s relationship with his longtime model and mistress Camille Claudel is dramatized in a moving account of their life together.

Weiss, David. Naked Came I: A Novel of Rodin. New York: Morrow, 1963. 660pp. Rodin’s full life is chronicled in this fictional biography that stays close to the actual details of his career, with some invented dialogue and scenes.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Pinet, Helene. Rodin: The Hands of Genius. New York: Abrams, 1992. 143pp. YA. This informative critical study with 210 illustrations, mostly in color, helpfully analyzes the evolution of Rodin’s art, his sculptural techniques, and his personality and private life.

Ripley, Elizabeth. Rodin: A Biography. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1966. 72pp. MG. Ripley covers both the main events of Rodin’s life and his evolving artistic development.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Camille Claudel (1989). Director: Bruno Nuytten. Gerarde Depardieu stars as Rodin in this intense film look at the sculptor’s relationship with his model and mistress Claudel (Isabelle Adjani). Video.

405. ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

1884–1962

Influential American first lady and humanitarian, Roosevelt was married to thirty-second president, Franklin D.Roosevelt. She encouraged youth movements and worked for minority rights and combated poverty and unemployment. She held the first press conference by a first lady and wrote a daily column titled “My Day.” Roosevelt served as U.S. delegate to the United Nations, chaired the U.N. Commission on Human Rights, and co-authored the Universal Declaration of Human Rights.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Autobiography. New York: Harper, 1961. 454pp. This volume is composed of material selected from Roosevelt’s three previous volumes of memoirs—This Is My Story, This I Remember, and On My Own—with added chapters covering the years between 1958 and 1961.

Empty Without You: The Intimate Letters of Eleanor Roosevelt and Lorena Hickok. Roger Streitmother, ed. New York: Free Press, 1998. 307pp. Challenging the conventional view of Eleanor Roosevelt, her intense and passionate relationship during a 30-year friendship with Associated Press reporter Lorena Hickok is revealed in this collection of their correspondence. More intriguing than the question of whether their relationship was physical as the editor asserts is a portrait of Roosevelt that is remarkably human, showing a vulnerable side rarely glimpsed in public.

Love, Eleanor: Eleanor Roosevelt and Her Friends. Joseph P.Lash, ed. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1982. 534pp; A World of Love: Eleanor Roosevelt and her friends, 1943–1962. Joseph P.Lash, ed. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1985. 610pp. These volumes of Roosevelt’s letters to and from her circle of friends are arranged chronologically with Lash’s commentary.

Mother and Daughter: The Letters of Eleanor Roosevelt and Anna Roosevelt. Bernard Asbell, ed. New York: Coward-McCann, 1982. 366pp. This collection of correspondence between Roosevelt and her oldest child provides interesting sidelights on the Roosevelt family life as well as displaying a warmer mother-daughter relationship than has been portrayed by many.

On My Own. New York: Harper, 1958. 241pp. Roosevelt chronicles her life after her husband’s death, with comments on the figures and events she witnessed since 1945.

This I Remember. New York: Harper, 1949. 387pp. Roosevelt continues her account of her life from 1924 to 1945, with personal yet objective insights and an intimate account of the Roosevelts’ years in power.

This Is My Story. New York: Harper, 1937. 365pp. This autobiographical account covers the years from early childhood to the 1924 Democratic election and Franklin D.Roosevelt’s election as governor of New York. Roosevelt is discreet on the painful details of her marriage.

Recommended Biographies

Cook, Blanche W. Eleanor Roosevelt. New York: Viking, 1992–99. 2 vols. Taking Eleanor Roosevelt’s story up to 1938, Cook’s controversial, highly praised reassessment of Roosevelt’s private and public lives has a strong feminist interpretation in which Eleanor is a figure of fierce strength and determination who overcame considerable obstacles to emerge in her own right as one of the greatest figures of the twentieth century. Cook achieves a nuanced human portrait that has helped to redefine the popular and critical view of Roosevelt and her influence.

Goodwin, Doris Kearns. No Ordinary Time: Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt: The Homefront in World War II. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1994. 759pp. Goodwin’s Pulitzer Prize-winning work describes the homefront during World War II from the perspectives of Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt and their associates in the White House. Based on diaries, interviews, and White House records, the book offers an unprecedented glimpse inside the first family and the Roosevelt administration during a turning point in American history. With an evident preference for Franklin, Goodwin is able to show the heroism of both figures in a humanly compelling fashion.

Lash, Joseph P. Eleanor and Franklin: The Story of Their Relationship Based on Eleanor Roosevelt’s Private Papers. New York: W.W.Norton, 1971. 765pp. Lash’s splendidly written, popular account still dominates the field. Drawing on the author’s own recollections and primary sources, Lash compassionately portrays Eleanor’s troubled childhood and her complex relationship with her husband.

Lash, Joseph P. Eleanor: The Years Alone. New York: W.W.Norton, 1972. 368pp. Lash continues the story of Roosevelt’s private and public life following the death of Franklin D.Roosevelt. Her global activities and strong influence on Democratic party politics are well documented, although Lash’s evident partisanship prevents a fully objective analysis of motives and the psychological causes for her actions.

Youngs, J.William. Eleanor Roosevelt: A Personal and Public Life. Boston: Little, Brown, 1985. 246pp. Youngs’s well-written study has the virtue of succinctness and compression. Drawing on recent scholarship and access to primary sources, the book deals frankly with Roosevelt’s private life that predominates over details about her public life.

Other Biographical Studies

Berger, Jason. A New Deal for the World: Eleanor Roosevelt and American Foreign Policy, 1920–1962. New York: Columbia University Press, 1981. 240pp. Berger’s scholarly intellectual biography traces the development of Roosevelt’s intellectual and political development and its wider policy impact over almost half a century of American history.

Black, Allida M. Casting Her Own Shadow: Eleanor Roosevelt and the Shaping of Postwar Liberalism. New York: Columbia University Press, 1996. 298pp. Focusing on Roosevelt’s political career after her husband’s death, this well-researched assessment documents her emergence as a major influence on the Democratic party and civil rights in the postwar era.

Caroli, Betty B. The Roosevelt Women. New York: Basic Books, 1998. 528pp. In a vivid group portrait of the wives, mothers, sisters, and daughters of the two Roosevelt presidents, Caroli supplies a brief biographical profile of Eleanor in the context of her membership in a fascinating family clan.

Hareven, Tamara K. Eleanor Roosevelt: An American Conscience. Chicago: Quadrangle, 1968. 326pp. Written by an Israeli, Hareven’s assessment of Roosevelt’s public career, achievement, and influence has the advantage of impartiality and distance but is hampered by the unavailability of significant primary sources at the time of its writing.

Hickok, Lorena A. Eleanor Roosevelt: Reluctant First Lady. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1962. 176pp. Journalist and close friend and suspected lover of Roosevelt offers her recollections primarily of the early White House years and her friend’s emergence as a public figure.

Lash, Joseph P. Life Was Meant to Be Lived: A Centenary Portrait of Eleanor Roosevelt. New York: W.W.Norton, 1984. 197pp. Lash’s tribute to Roosevelt achievement and influence is captured in this illustrated volume that offers a succinct biographical sketch and overview of her private and public life.

Roosevelt, Elliott, and James Brough. An Untold Story: The Roosevelts of Hyde Park. New York: Putnam, 1973. 366pp.; A Rendezvous with Destiny: The Roosevelts of the White House. New York: Putnam, 1975. 446pp.; Mother R: Eleanor Roosevelt’s Untold Story. New York: Putnam, 1977. 288pp. Elliott Roosevelt’s memoir trilogy chronicles his recollections of his parents in a narrative history from his childhood in 1916 to Eleanor’s death and challenges many assertions about Eleanor and Franklin that are contrary to his firsthand, though restricted and often biased, view.

Roosevelt, James. My Parents: A Differing View. Chicago: Playboy Press, 1970. 369pp. The eldest son of the Roosevelts provides his own recollections of his parents and family, differing mainly from the interpretations of his brother Elliott. Readers with time and interest can compare the two contrasting views. Both provide intimate firsthand glimpses, interesting anecdotes, and their own subjective biases.

Steinberg, Alfred. Mrs. R: The Life of Eleanor Roosevelt. New York: Putnam, 1958. 384pp. Before the publication of Lash’s two volumes Steinberg’s was the reigning popular, straightforward account of Eleanor’s public and private life. Lacking in penetration, the book knits together Eleanor’s story supplementing her autobiographical reflections from other undocumented sources.

Biographical Novels

Lerman, Rhoda. Eleanor. New York: Holt, 1979. 297pp. The married life of Eleanor and Franklin between 1918 and 1921 is dramatized in a well-researched credible portrayal.

Fictional Portraits

Kaminsky, Stuart M. The Fala Factor. New York: St. Martin’s, 1985. 174pp. Eleanor Roosevelt hires private eye Toby Peters in 1942 when she is convinced that her husband’s prized Scottie has been kidnapped and replaced by an imposter.

Roosevelt, Elliott. Eleanor Roosevelt Mystery Series. (1984–). Set during the White House years, Eleanor Roosevelt is the principal sleuth in this entertaining historical mystery series with appearances by a number of historical figures in unexpected situations.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Friedman, Russell. Eleanor Roosevelt: A Life of Discovery. New York: Clarion Books, 1993. 198pp. MG/YA. Ably researched and highly readable, Freedman’s photobiography covers Roosevelt’s private and public lives and deals frankly with her married life. A standout biography for younger readers.

Spangenburg, Ray, and Diane K.Moser. Eleanor Roosevelt: A Passion to Improve. New York: Facts on File, 1997. 114pp. MG. This appreciation of Roosevelt’s accomplishments traces her struggles from an unhappy childhood to her emergence as a world leader with an emphasis on her personal qualities that contributed to her achievements.

Toor, Rachel. Eleanor Roosevelt. New York: Chelsea House, 1989. 112pp. YA. Part of the American Women of Achievement series, this well-written, generally objective biography summarizes Roosevelt’s early years and private life but focuses attention on her public career.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: Eleanor Roosevelt: A Restless Spirit. Director: Harry Rasky. Both the public and private lives of Roosevelt are shown in this film portrait based on photographs, film footage, and expert testimony. Video.

Eleanor and Franklin (1976). Director: Daniel Petrie. Television miniseries based on Lash’s Pulitzer Prize-winning book features exceptional performances by Jane Alexander as Eleanor and Edward Herrmann as Franklin. Video.

Eleanor and Franklin: The White House Years (1977). Director: Daniel Petrie. Sequel to the 1976 television miniseries in which Alexander and Herrmann reprise their portrayals in scenes from the White House years. Video.

Eleanor: First Lady of the World (1982). Director: John Erman. Jean Stapleton stars as Eleanor in a made-for-television portrait of her years following her husband’s death. Richard McKenzie appears as Truman. Video.

The Eleanor Roosevelt Story (1965). Director: Richard Kaplan. Academy Award-winning documentary describing Eleanor Roosevelt’s life from childhood. Video.

Sunrise at Campobello (1960). Director: Vincent J.Donehue. Film version of the Tony Award-winning play by Dory Scharj (New York: Random House, 1958. 109pp.) stars Greer Garson as Eleanor and Ralph Bellamy as Franklin in a moving dramatization of Franklin’s battle with polio from when he is first stricken.

Other Sources

Flemion, Jess, and Colleen M.O’Connor, eds. Eleanor Roosevelt: An American Journey. San Diego: San Diego State University Press, 1987. 392pp. This collection of essays on various aspects of Roosevelt’s career and influence includes a series of political cartoons and a tribute by John F. Kennedy.

Hoff, Joan, and Marjorie Lightman, eds. Without Precedent: The Life and Career of Eleanor Roosevelt. Bloomington: Indiana University Press, 1984. 266pp. These scholarly essays consider Roosevelt’s life and career critically, challenging conventional wisdom, and granting to Eleanor Roosevelt the wider, serious consideration of her significance often missing in other accounts.

See also Franklin D.Roosevelt

406. FRANKLIN D.ROOSEVELT

1882–1945

The thirty-second U.S. president and the longest-serving commander in chief in U.S. history, Roosevelt served in the New York state senate and as assistant secretary of the Navy, and ran unsuccessfully as the Democratic vice presidential candidate (1920). After recuperating from a severe attack of polio, which left him partially paralyzed, Roosevelt returned to politics and was elected governor of New York and then president of the United States (1932). During his 12 years in office, sweeping social legislation, collectively known as the New Deal, was passed to alleviate the devastating effects of the Great Depression. During World War II, Roosevelt led the United States as part of the Allied effort against Germany and Japan.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

F.D.R.: His Personal Letters. Elliott Roosevelt, ed. New York: Duell, Sloan and Pearce, 1950. 2 vols. Covering the years 1928 to 1945, beginning with Roosevelt’s term as governor of New York to shortly before his death, this collection offers a fascinating glimpse of the man and his development in office.

Recommended Biographies

Davis, Kenneth S. FDR. New York: Putnam (vol. 1) and Random House, 1972–1986. 3 vols. Less scholarly than Friedel’s study, Davis’s three-volume biography tells Roosevelt’s story up to the completion of his first term in 1937 in a valuable life and times approach for the general reader. Although clearly an admirer, Davis is not uncritical, providing a believable human portrait against a richly detailed historical background.

Friedel, Frank B. Franklin D.Roosevelt. Boston: Little, Brown, 1952–1973. 4 vols. Long established as the standard life, Friedel’s massive study is an authoritative and exhaustive synthesis of archival and printed sources that establishes a reliable factual record and a judicious assessment of Roosevelt’s character and motives. In Franklin D. Roosevelt: A Rendezvous With Destiny (Boston: Little, Brown, 1990. 710pp.) Friedel distills the essence of the man in a fine one-volume survey of Roosevelt’s life and career.

Goodwin, Doris Kearns. No Ordinary Time: Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt: The Home front in World War II. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1994. 759pp. Goodwin’s Pulitzer Prize-winning work describes the homefront during World War II from the perspectives of Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt and their associates in the White House. Based on diaries, interviews, and White House records, the book offers an unprecedented glimpse inside the first family and the Roosevelt administration during a turning point in American history. With an evident preference for Franklin, Goodwin is able to show the heroism of both figures in a humanly compelling fashion.

Morgan, Ted. F.D.R.: A Biography. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1985. 830pp. Morgan’s well-written and well-researched popular biography concentrates on the man rather than his political career. Although careful to record the important events of Roosevelt’s life and times, Morgan keeps a firm focus on the man for a nuanced, balanced portrait of a complex individual.

Ward, Geoffrey. Before the Trumpet: Young Franklin Roosevelt, 1882–1905. New York: Harper & Row, 1985. 390pp.; A First Class Temperament: The Emergence of Franklin Roosevelt. New York: Harper & Row, 1989. 889pp. Ward’s excellent biography narrates Roosevelt’s history up to his election as governor of New York in 1928. His early years and development are traced against a vivid family and social background. Ward helps clarify how the mature Roosevelt was formed and developed.

Other Biographical Studies

Burns, James M. Roosevelt. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1956–1970. 2 vols. Burns’s political biography covers Roosevelt’s entire career and is excellent in discovering the animating detail that brings history and character to life. Despite respect for Roosevelt’s accomplishment, Burns is often harshly critical of the leader, who is depicted as a complex and deeply divided man whose many contradictions are documented.

Ferrell, Robert H. The Dying President: Franklin D.Roosevelt 1944–1945. Columbia: University of Missouri Press, 1998. 185pp. In a concise, intimate account of Roosevelt’s last year, presidential historian Ferrell supplies an authoritative analysis of Roosevelt’s medical condition and the political cover-up that kept the truth from the electorate.

Hatch, Alden. Franklin D.Roosevelt: An Informal Biography. New York: Holt, 1947. 413pp. Hatch’s novelized biography is a one-sided heroic treatment of a great leader and lovable personality. Simplistic and impressionistic, the book adds little new information, nor does it penetrate the aura of reverence that surrounded Roosevelt after his death.

Larrabee, Eric. Commander in Chief: Franklin Delano Roosevelt, His Lieutenants, and Their War. New York: Harper & Row, 1987. 723pp. The book’s focus is Roosevelt’s wartime leadership in a comprehensive group portrait of the individuals that directed America’s war effort. Larrabee demonstrates Roosevelt’s strategic skills and extraordinary ability to overcome clashing egos to preserve the Allied coalition.

Lash, Joseph P. Eleanor and Franklin: The Story of Their Relationship Based on Eleanor Roosevelt’s Private Papers. New York: W.W.Norton, 1971. 765pp. More Eleanor’s than Franklin’s story, Lash’s popular and highly readable, compelling account of their relationship follows the pair from their early years to Franklin’s death, mainly reported from Eleanor’s perspective.

Maney, Patrick J. The Roosevelt Presence: The Life and Legacy of FDR. Berkeley: University of California Press, 1998. 270pp. Maney’s concise and balanced reassessment of Roosevelt’s life and influence explores the various myths surrounding him and their reality, while arguing Roosevelt’s wider impact on modern American history. A first-rate, compact biography and critical interpretation.

McJimsey, George T. The Presidency of Franklin Delano Roosevelt. Lawrence: University Press of Kansas, 2000. 376pp. Part of the American Presidency series, this is a synthesis of the best modern scholarship for a reassessment of the Roosevelt administration. Concise and balanced, McJimsey deals with Roosevelt’s leadership style and includes a separate chapter on Eleanor Roosevelt and her emergence as a public figure and advocate of social causes.

Miller, Nathan. F.D.R.: An Intimate History. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1983. 563pp. Miller’s compact summary of Roosevelt’s life based on secondary sources is informative but limited in the interest of compression. Half the book deals with Franklin’s life before the presidency, and the war years are summarized in a mere 40 pages.

Roosevelt, Elliott, and James Brough. An Untold Story: The Roosevelts of Hyde Park. New York: Putnam, 1973. 366pp.; A Rendezvous with Destiny: The Roosevelts of the White House. New York: Putnam, 1975. 446pp. Elliott Roosevelt’s recollections of his parents form a narrative history from his childhood in 1916 to his father’s death. An additional volume deals with Eleanor’s life after the White House.

Roosevelt, James. My Parents: A Differing View. Chicago: Playboy Press, 1970. 369pp. The eldest son of the Roosevelts provides his own recollections of his parents and family, differing mainly from the interpretations of his brother Elliott. Readers with time and interest can compare the two contrasting views. Both provide intimate firsthand glimpses, interesting anecdotes, and their own subjective biases.

Schlesinger, Arthur M. Jr. The Age of Roosevelt. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1957–1960. 3 vols. The author’s masterful historical biography follows Roosevelt’s career up to 1936 with an emphasis on his leadership during the Depression.

Tugwell, Rexford G. The Democratic Roosevelt: A Biography of Franklin D.Roosevelt. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1957. 712pp. The author, a member of Roosevelt’s original “brain trust,” offers a detailed objective biography connecting Roosevelt’s political and private life based on the author’s own firsthand views.

Fictional Portraits

Charyn, Jerome. The Franklin Scare. New York: Arbor House, 1977. 326pp. The Roosevelt White House is glimpsed from the perspective of the president’s barber.

Meade, Glenn. The Sands of Sakkara. New York: St. Martin’s, 1999.436pp. In a suspenseful thriller set in 1943, based on some facts, Hitler plots to assassinate Roosevelt and Churchill as they meet in Cairo to plan the Allied invasion of Europe.

Poyer, David. The Only Thing to Fear. New York: Forge, 1995. 429pp. In a fanciful thriller set in 1945, John F.Kennedy is transferred to Roosevelt’s presidential staff and helps foil an assassination attempt.

Roosevelt, Elliott. The President’s Man. New York: St. Martin’s, 1991. 245pp.; New Deal for Death. New York: St. Martin’s, 1993. 251pp. Roosevelt in the early 1930s uses the services of Jack “Blackjack” Endicott to foil several conspiracies designed to deny Roosevelt the presidency.

Roosevelt, James, and Sam Toperoﬀ. A Family Matter. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1980. 316pp. James Roosevelt, his father’s assistant, provides a convincing insider’s view of the secret diplomatic maneuvering of the Allies during World War II.

Spike, Paul. The Night Letter. New York: Putnam, 1979. 380pp. This political thriller blends a credible reconstruction of 1940 Washington with a plot about compromising photos of Roosevelt embracing Missy LeHand.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Friedman, Russell. Franklin Delano Roosevelt. New York: Clarion Books, 1990. 200pp. MG. Newbery Award-winning biography offers a compelling, accessible personal portrait of Roosevelt in which his personal struggles put his achievements into a human context. Informative photographs are included.

Israel, Fred L. Franklin Delano Roosevelt. New York: Chelsea House, 1985. 112pp. MG/YA. Israel supplies a straightforward, reliable summary of the highlights of Roosevelt’s life and career, emphasizing the challenges he faced and his leadership skills.

Larsen, Rebecca. Franklin D.Roosevelt: Man of Destiny. New York: F.Watts, 1991. 208pp. YA. This is an in-depth and detailed look at Roosevelt’s life, career, and character. Although the tone is admiring, Larsen deals honestly with Roosevelt’s faults, including his affair with Lucy Mercer and some of his less flattering political dealings.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: FDR (1994). Director: John Alan Kane. Two-part biographical portrait covering the Depression and the war years. Video. The Democrat and the Dictator (1987). Producer: Betsy McCarthy. Bill Moyers presents a contrasting portrait of Roosevelt and Hitler, focusing on their youth, personalities, leadership styles, and political goals. Video.

Eleanor and Franklin (1976). Director: Daniel Petrie. Television miniseries based on Lash’s Pulitzer Prize-winning book features exceptional performances by Jane Alexander as Eleanor and Edward Herrmann as Franklin. Video.

Eleanor and Franklin: The White House Years (1977). Director: Daniel Petrie. Sequel to the 1976 television miniseries in which Alexander and Herrmann reprise their portrayals in scenes from the White House years. Video.

FDR (1994). Producer: David Grubin. An installment in the American Experience series, this is an exceptional film portrait that covers Roosevelt’s entire life and political career using photographs, archival footage, and expert testimony. Video.

Franklin D.Roosevelt (1982). Producer: David L. Wolper. Film profile based on archival footage. Video.

The Last Bastion (1984). Director: Chris Thomson. Warren Mitchell portrays Roosevelt in this World War II television drama focusing on the political struggle among the president, Churchill (Timothy West), MacArthur (Robert Vaughn), and Australia’s John Curtin (Michael Blakemore). Video.

Sunrise at Campobello (1960). Director: Vincent J.Donehue. Film version of the Tony Award-winning play by Dory Schary (New York: Random House, 1958. 109pp.) stars Greer Garson as Eleanor and Ralph Bellamy as Franklin in a moving dramatization of Franklin’s battle with polio, from when he is first stricken.

World War II: When Lions Roared (1994). Director: Joseph Sargent. The conduct of the war from the perspective of the Allied leaders is dramatized. Bob Hoskins portrays Churchill; Michael Caine is Stalin, and John Lithgow is Roosevelt. Video.

Other Sources

Bremer, Howard F., ed. Franklin Delano Roosevelt, 1882–1945. Dobbs Ferry, New York: Oceana, 1971. 220pp. Part of the Presidential Chronologies series, this is a detailed calendar of Roosevelt’s activities.

Graham, Otis L., and Meghan R.Wander. Franklin D.Roosevelt: His Life and Times: An Encyclopedic View. Boston: G.K.Hall, 1985. 483pp. The book’s 321 brief articles, arranged alphabetically, cover a wide range of topics on Roosevelt’s life and times.

Nash, Gerald D., ed. Franklin Delano Roosevelt. Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Prentice-Hall, 1967. 182pp. Part of the Great Lives Observed series, excerpts from Roosevelt’s writings and speeches are collected, along with contemporaries’ recollections, and historians’ assessments.

Rosenbaum, Herbert D. Franklin D.Roosevelt: The Man, the Myth, the Era, 1882–1945. New York: Greenwood, 1987. 426pp. This collection of critical essays explores multiple aspects of Roosevelt’s life and times.

See also Eleanor Roosevelt; Harry S Truman

407. THEODORE ROOSEVELT

1858–1919

The twenty-sixth U.S. president, Roosevelt won fame leading a volunteer regiment, the Rough Riders, during the Spanish-American War. He served as William McKinley’s vice president and took over the presidency after McKinley’s assassination (1901), becoming the youngest president in U.S. history. A progressive Republican, Roosevelt tried to regulate business and financial monopolies, oversaw passage of the Pure Food and Drug Act, initiated conservation programs, and began work on the Panama Canal. He was awarded the 1906 Nobel Peace Prize for mediating in the Russo-Japanese War. He served two terms in office and unsuccessfully ran again in 1912 as a Progressive Party candidate.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Autobiography. New York: Macmillan, 1913. 615pp. Roosevelt’s selective recollections (his first wife, for example, is never mentioned) are often historically unreliable, constituting the author’s defense of his actions. Yet despite its limitations, Roosevelt’s unique voice and personality are evident.

The Letters of Theodore Roosevelt. Elting E.Morrison, ed. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1951–1954. 8 vols. More reliable than his autobiography in terms of both history and biography is this scholarly collection of Roosevelt’s correspondence that provides invaluable insights into the man, his ideas, and policies.

Recommended Biographies

Brands, H.W. T.R.: The Last Romantic. New York: Basic Books, 1997. 897pp. In a meticulously researched and readable single-volume study, Brands successfully connects both the private and public aspects of Roosevelt’s life and career, relying on Roosevelt’s own words from his letters to tell his story directly. In Brands’s view, Roosevelt’s heroic public image masked private imperfections that he struggled with throughout his life.

Harbaugh, William H. The Life and Times of Theodore Roosevelt. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1961. 540pp. Avoiding the excesses of both Roosevelt’s admirers and detractors, Harbaugh’s balanced and well-researched biography and interpretation set a new critical standard in portraying Roosevelt and remains a solid choice for a thorough full-length, single-volume study.

Jeffers, H.Paul. Commissioner Roosevelt: The Story of Theodore Roosevelt and the New York City Police, 1895–1897. New York: Wiley, 1994. 285pp.; Colonel Roosevelt: Theodore Roosevelt Goes to War, 1897–1898. New York: J.Wiley, 1996. 301pp. Jeffers’s two completed volumes of a proposed multivolume popular biography cover only four years in Roosevelt’s life, but their significance in forming his character and political career is effectively argued in these well-researched, readable narratives that animate both the man and his era.

Miller, Nathan. Theodore Roosevelt. New York: Morrow, 1992. 624pp. Miller’s comprehensive one-volume biography concentrates less on the public Roosevelt than on his relations with his family, associates, and particularly his first and second wives. The result is a lucid, plausible character study in which the details of his career are given an understandable human context.

Morris, Edmund. The Rise of Theodore Roosevelt. New York: Coward-McCann, 1979. 886pp. Morris’s Pulitzer Prize-winning biography authoritatively documents Roosevelt’s life from his birth to 1901 when he assumes the presidency. The book excels in shrewdly capturing Roosevelt’s personality and development and fully integrating the private man and his many public poses.

Other Biographical Studies

Bishop, Joseph B. Theodore Roosevelt and His Time. New York: Scribner, 1920. 2 vols. Bishop’s biography tells Roosevelt’s story mainly in his subject’s own words, using excerpts from his letters. This serves as a readable narrative for the reader without the time to contend with the eight volumes of Roosevelt’s published correspondence.

Blum, John M. The Republican Roosevelt. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1954. 170pp. Blum’s compact political biography arranges the details of Roosevelt’s career as the basis for a lively and provocative interpretation that challenges conventional wisdom.

Burton, David H. Theodore Roosevelt. New York: Twayne, 1972. 236pp. Burton’s intellectual biography traces the development of his ideas and policies. In Theodore Roosevelt, American Politician: An Assessment (Madison, New Jersey: Fairleigh Dickinson University Press, 1997. 171pp.), Burton provides a political profile of Roosevelt’s principles and practices, applying the theory of decision making to his career.

Busch, Noel F. T.R.: The Story of Theodore Roosevelt and His Influence on Our Time. New York: Reynal, 1963. 346pp. Busch’s compact life offers little that is new but synthesizes the available sources into an accessible narrative. Anecdotes predominate here, and Busch’s presentation of political matters is often simplistic and misleading.

Charnwood, Godfrey R.B. Theodore Roosevelt. Boston: Atlantic Monthly Press, 1923. 232pp. Lord Charnwood admits to hero worship for his subject, but he is able to deal dispassionately with the man and his accomplishments in a series of impressionistic glimpses that simplify Roosevelt’s life into a series of clear moral choices.

Chessman, G.Wallace. Theodore Roosevelt and the Politics of Power. Boston: Little, Brown, 1969. 214pp. Chessman’s political biography offers little on Roosevelt’s private life and no new interpretations but a solid summary of his public life, suitable as an introduction for the general reader.

Cooper, John M. Jr. The Warrior and the Priest: Woodrow Wilson and Theodore Roosevelt. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1983. 442pp. Cooper’s dual biography is a well-written comparative study, alternating between incisive views and characterizations of both men at turning points of their careers. In Cooper’s view Roosevelt and Wilson are “the principal architects of modern American politics,” and the book offers a cogent case in support of his assertion.

Gardner, Joseph L. Departing Glory: Theodore Roosevelt as Ex-President. New York: Scribner, 1973. 432pp. In a well-written, moving account Gardner focuses on Roosevelt’s sad final years and political disappointments after 1908. The book offers a compelling look at Roosevelt’s frustrations in which his seemingly boundless energy was dispersed in a number of unproductive channels.

Gould, Lewis L. The Presidency of Theodore Roosevelt. Lawrence: University Press of Kansas, 1991. 355pp. In Gould’s judicious and balanced assessment, Roosevelt stands in the second rank of presidents in the category of near great. The book supports Gould’s view in an analytical narrative of Roosevelt’s administrations in their historical and political context. This book is regarded as the standard work on the subject.

Hagedorn, Hermann. Roosevelt in the Badlands. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1921. 475pp.; The Roosevelt Family of Sagemore Hill. New York: Macmillan, 1954. 435pp. Written by a devoted admirer and longtime friend, Hagedorn supplies details on Roosevelt’s ranching days in Dakota from 1883 to 1887 and his family life from his second marriage to his death. Both books collect anecdotes from a variety of sources to paint a colorful look at the nonpolitical side of Roosevelt’s life.

Lorant, Stefan. The Life and Times of Theodore Roosevelt. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1959. 640pp. Lorant’s visual biography is a standout in the genre. The 750 photographs are wisely chosen and the accompanying text is balanced, straightforward, and accurate. An excellent starting point for the reader interested in Roosevelt and his era.

McCullough, David. Mornings on Horseback. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1981. 445pp. McCullough vividly describes Roosevelt’s life from age 10 to 28, expertly and compellingly telling the fascinating story of Roosevelt’s family background, his childhood illness, and his development under the important influence of his father and mother. The book is particularly strong in the social background that helps explain Roosevelt’s values.

Pringle, Henry E. Theodore Roosevelt, a Biography. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1931. 627pp. Pringle’s Pulitzer Prize-winning biography is the work of a muckraking journalist who shocked his audience with a highly critical assessment that challenged the heroic image of Roosevelt. Pringle’s work retains a historical interest for helping to initiate a view of Roosevelt that accounts for his flaws as well as his virtues.

Putnam, Carleton. Theodore Roosevelt: The Formative Years, 1858–1884. New York: Scribner, 1958. 616pp. Putnam only completed one volume of a projected four, chronicling Roosevelt’s story up to his twenty-eighth year. Exhaustive in its factual details, the book is useful as a reference tool rather than a compelling narrative or interpretive synthesis.

Renahan, Edward J. Jr. The Lion’s Pride: Theodore Roosevelt and His Family in Peace and War. New York: Oxford University Press, 1998. 320pp. In an anecdotally rich group portrait of the Roosevelt family, Renahan explores Roosevelt’s principles of service and martial spirit as they are tested by the experiences of his sons in World War I. Based on previously unpublished family letters, papers, and interviews, the book shows a moving human side of Roosevelt’s nature in his relationship with his children.

Robinson, Corinne Roosevelt. My Brother Theodore Roosevelt. New York: Scribner, 1921. 365pp. Roosevelt’s sister offers a heartfelt tribute to her brother that is valuable for its intimate details of the pair’s childhood. Her later views of her admired older brother are wreathed in sentiment and hero-worship.

Roosevelt, Nicholas. Theodore Roosevelt: The Man as I Knew Him. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1967. 205pp. Roosevelt’s cousin provides a biographical account based on his recollections, family letters, and diaries and adds a number of intimate glimpses of the man and politician.

Thayer, William R. Theodore Roosevelt. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1919. 474pp. Thayer’s early biography draws on his intimacy with his subject, but the lack of objectivity is evident in his concluding comment that “Those of us who knew him, knew him as the most astonishing human expression of the creative spirit we had ever seen.”

Wagenknecht, Edward. The Seven Worlds of Theodore Roosevelt. New York: Longmans, 1958. 325pp. The author’s psychological character study looks at Roosevelt’s many roles, interests, and ideas to arrive at a credible profile. Lively and packed with anecdotes, Wagenknecht’s analysis is thoughtful and provocative. Readers should come prepared with a prior familiarity of the chronology of Roosevelt’s career.

Biographical Novels

Garfield, Brian. Manifest Destiny. New York: Penzler Books, 1989. 408pp. In a novel based partly on fact, Roosevelt’s ranching experiences in the Badlands following the deaths of his mother and wife are dramatized.

Gerson, Noel B. TR. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1970. 441pp. Supported by solid research and an authentic period recreation, Roosevelt’s life and times are dramatized at full length.

Wilson, Dorothy C. Alice and Edith: A Biographical Novel of the Two Wives of Theodore Roosevelt. New York: Doubleday, 1989. 400pp. Chronicling the life of Roosevelt from the perspective of his wives, the novel dramatizes the trauma of Alice’s sudden death and Roosevelt’s slow recovery before marrying a childhood friend who rejected an earlier proposal.

Fictional Portraits

Alexander, Lawrence. The Big Stick. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1986. 349pp.; Speak Softly. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1987. 250pp.; The Strenuous Life. Garden City, New York: Knightsbridge, 1991. 304pp. This inventive and entertaining historical mystery series shows Roosevelt as New York’s police commissioner investigating crimes and rubbing elbows with a diverse group of historical figures such as Geronimo, Dvorák, Lillian Russell, Edison, and Rockefeller.

Bowen, Peter. Yellowstone Kelly. Ottawa, Illinois: Jameson, 1987. 282pp.; Imperial Kelly. New York: Crown, 1992. 210pp. Bowen’s irreverent historical series featuring adventurer Luther Kelly shows him in offbeat action alongside a number of historical figures, including Roosevelt.

Can, Caleb. The Alienist. New York: Random House, 1994. 496pp. Carr’s atmospheric and authentic historical crime novel shows Roosevelt as New York’s police commissioner interacting with the novel’s main characters as they work to solve a series of baffling murders. See also the sequel The Angel of Darkness (New York: Random House, 1997. 400pp.)

Henry, Will. San Juan Hill. New York: Random House, 1962. 276pp. Henry’s classic historical adventure novel describes the fighting of the Rough Riders during the Cuban campaign in a version that is faithful to the basic historical outline and features a convincing portrayal of Roosevelt’s leadership under fire.

Jeffers, H.Paul. The Adventure of the Stalwart Companions. New York: Harper & Row, 1978. 190pp. Roosevelt biographer Jeffers arranges an 1880 meeting between Roosevelt and Sherlock Holmes as the latter tutors the future police commissioner in detective work.

Jones, Douglas C. Remember Santiago. New York: Holt, 1988. 354pp. The Cuban invasion of 1898 is depicted from a series of eyewitness accounts in a convincing historical recreation.

Schorr, Mark. Bully! New York: St. Martin’s, 1985. 196pp. In a fanciful tale, Roosevelt seeks the assistance of a former Rough Rider to thwart a conspiracy aimed at blocking Roosevelt’s presidential election.

Vidal, Gore. Empire. New York: Random House, 1987. 486pp. Vidal’s panoramic political novel is set in the aftermath of the Spanish American War and dramatizes the United States’ emergence as a world power. A large cast of historical figures, including Roosevelt, is featured.

Williams, Gordon. Pomeroy. New York: Arbor House, 1982. 299pp. This espionage novel set during the Roosevelt presidency sends an American hustler and adventurer as the president’s personal undercover agent on a dangerous mission to Edwardian London with the control of Europe hanging in the balance.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Fritz, Jean. Bully for You, Teddy Roosevelt. New York: Scholastic, 1992. 127pp. MG. Fritz’s exuberant, witty, demystifying approach to historical icons is applied to Roosevelt whose personality is dramatically displayed in a highly entertaining biography. A School Library Journal best book of the year.

Markham, Lois. Theodore Roosevelt. New York: Chelsea House, 1985. 111pp. MG. A reliable summary of the highlights of Roosevelt’s life and career.

Meltzer, Milton. Theodore Roosevelt and His America. New York: F.Watts, 1994. 191pp. YA. Meltzer provides a detailed critical appreciation of Roosevelt’s personality and accomplishments that does not gloss over his complexities and contradictions. A thoughtful and revealing biographical portrait.

Whitelaw, Nancy. Theodore Roosevelt Takes Charge. Morton Grove, Illinois: A.Whitman, 1992. 192pp. YA. In a readable account of Roosevelt’s life, the emphasis is on an appreciation of his accomplishments in the context of his era and personal challenges. Although sympathetic, Whitelaw does not ignore her subject’s shortcomings.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: Theodore Roosevelt: Roughrider to Rushmore (1995). Director: Bill Harris. This is a documentary portrait using archival footage and family interviews. Video.

The Indomitable Teddy Roosevelt (1983). Director: Harrison Engle. Mixing newsreel footage with dramatized scenes, Roosevelt’s career and character are presented. Narrated by George C.Scott, with Roosevelt portrayed by Bob Boyd. Video.

The Rough Riders (1997). Director: John Milius. Tom Berenger portrays the young Roosevelt during his military experience in Cuba. With Brian Keith as McKinley and a supporting cast that includes Sam Eliott, Gary Busey, Chris Noth, and George Hamilton. Video.

TR and His Times (1984). Producer: Janet Roach. An installment of A Walk Through the 20th Century with Bill Moyers, this is a film portrait with an emphasis on Roosevelt’s public career and era. Video.

TR: The Story of Theodore Roosevelt (1996). Producer: David Grubin. Excellent film portrait, part of the American Experience series on PBS. Video.

The Wind and the Lion (1975). Director: John Milius. Brian Keith portrays President Roosevelt who sends out the marines when a Moroccan sheik (Scan Connery) kidnaps an American woman (Candice Bergen). Loosely based on an actual incident. Video.

Other Sources

Black, Gilbert J., ed. Theodore Roosevelt, 1858–1919: Chronology, Documents, Bibliographical Aids. Dobbs Ferry, New York: Oceana, 1969. 120pp. This is a useful reference tool with an extensive chronology, a selection of important documents, and an annotated bibliography of secondary sources.

Gable, John A. Theodore Roosevelt Cyclopedia. 1941. Revised ed. New York: Greenwood, 1989. 680pp. Along with a detailed chronology, this compendium of Roosevelt’s statements is classified by subject matter.

Grantham, Dewey, ed. Theodore Roosevelt. Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Prentice-Hall, 1971. 181pp. Part of the Great Lives Observed series, this useful collection brings together Roosevelt’s own writings, contemporaries’ observations, and modern historical views.

408. DANTE GABRIEL ROSSETTI

1828–1882

English poet and painter, Rossetti was the son of poet and critic Gabriele Rossetti and the brother of poet Christina Rossetti. He was a founder of the Pre-Raphaelites, a brotherhood of artists formed in reaction against the prevailing academic style. At age 19, Rossetti published “The Blessed Damozel,” considered by many to be his best poem. A master of the sonnet form, one of his finest works is the sonnet sequence “The House of Life.” His collected works appeared in 1870. Although he produced paintings and drawings, his reputation rests primarily upon his poetry.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Letters of Dante Gabriel Rossetti. Oswald Doughty and John R.Wahl, eds. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1965–1967. 4 vols. The scholarly collection of Rossetti’s correspondence is an invaluable research source for the biographer, but overall the autobiographical revelations revealed are limited, and the artist rarely comments on his inner life, feelings, or his works in any detail.

Recommended Biographies

Dobbs, Brian, and Judy Dobbs. Dante Gabriel Rossetti: An Alien Victorian. London: Macdonald and Jane’s, 1977. 257pp. Like Riede’s study, this is a valuable, reliable overview of Rossetti’s life and career that is an excellent choice for the reader looking for a informed orientation to the subject.

Doughty, Oswald. Dante Gabriel Rossetti: A Victorian Romantic. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1949. 712pp. Doughty’s authoritative, scholarly biography still leads the field as the most comprehensive available, setting Rossetti securely against his background. Several of Doughty’s interpretations have proven controversial, but on the whole this is a balanced view that establishes the basic factual record of the artist’s life and career.

Grylls, R.Glynn. Portrait of Rossetti. Carbondale: Southern Illinois University Press, 1964. 258pp. Grylls’s study can be profitably read as a companion to Doughty for her different interpretations of several of his conclusions regarding Rossetti’s character and relationships. Based on original research, Grylls sheds light on areas of Rossetti’s life that remained shadowy in Doughty’s handling.

Riede, David. Dante Gabriel Rossetti. New York: Macmillan, 1992. 186pp. Riede’s penetrating reassessment of Rossetti’s life, art, and influence serves as an excellent compact introduction that covers the full range of the artist’s career and relationships. Riede is particularly insightful on how Rossetti helped to create his own legend with a clear eye on his market even as he espoused the concept of art for art’s sake.

Other Biographical Studies

Angeli, Helen Rossetti. Dante Gabriel Rossetti: His Friends and Enemies. 1949. Reprint ed. New York: B.Blom, 1972. 291pp. Angeli looks at Rossetti’s relationships with separate chapters devoted to each of the significant figures in his life. Written for the reader already well acquainted with Rossetti’s background and the art movement with which he is associated.

Ash, Russell. Dante Gabriel Rossetti. New York: Abrams, 1995. unpaged. This elegant volume reproduces 40 of Rossetti’s finest works in large, full-color plates and includes an illustrated introductory text that outlines the artist’s life and career and sets his art in the context of his time.

Faxon, Alicia C. Dante Gabriel Rossetti. New York: Abbeville Press, 1989. 255pp. In a beautifully illustrated biography by an art historian, Faxon concentrates on Rossetti’s paintings and their intellectual themes, his techniques, and the development of his style. The book’s art criticism includes a brief biographical summary.

Waugh, Evelyn. Rossetti: His Life and Works. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1928. 232pp. Waugh’s critical biography is an elegantly written defense of Rossetti’s artistry that includes a restrained summary of his life. A pleasure to read, Waugh’s rather idiosyncratic approach is often revealing if limited by the author’s discretion and refusal to come to a conclusion about the implications he generates.

Winwar, Frances. Poor Splendid Wings: The Rossettis and Their Circle. Boston: Little, Brown, 1933. 413pp. Rossetti is the central figure in Win war’s group portrait of the Pre-Raphaelite Brotherhood. Constructed like a novel with an eye toward drama and character, Winwar’s florid style is a distraction and often the distinction between documentation and invention is blurred.

Biographical Novels

Kitchen, Paddy. The Golden Veil. London: Hamilton, 1981. 286pp. Based on the life of Elizabeth Siddal, Rossetti’s model and mistress, the novel traces her career from her youth and her involvement in the bohemian circle that included Rossetti, Millais, Swinburne, Morris, and Holman Hunt.

Savage, Elizabeth. Willowwood. Boston: Little, Brown, 1978. 214pp. Rossetti’s complicated emotional life is the focus of this novel that portrays the artist’s relationship with Elizabeth Siddal and his circle that includes Ruskin and Morris.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Dante’s Inferno: Life of Dante Gabriel Rossetti (1969). Director: Ken Russell. Oliver Reed stars as the artist and poet whose scandalous life style is presented with Russell’s characteristic exuberance and excess. Video.

409. JEAN-JACQUES ROUSSEAU

1712–1778

Swiss-French philosopher, political theorist, and author, Rousseau wrote music articles for philosopher and critic Denis Diderot’s Encyclopédie and won fame with an essay on the corruption of human nature by the arts and sciences. Other important essays are Origin of the Inequality of Man (1754), The Social Contract (1762), influential during the French Revolution, and Confessions (1782). His novels include Héloïse (1761) and Émile (1762). Rousseau’s primary philosophy was that humans are by nature good but are corrupted by society. He advocated a humanistic and enlightened educational system that would enhance the natural interests and potential of the child.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Confessions. New York: Knopf, 1992. 306pp. Begun in 1766 and published posthumously, Rousseau’s Confessions is arguably the most famous and influential autobiography ever written. The book is a fundamental though problematic text for Rousseau’s biographers who must contend with the degree of invention employed in the author’s memories and self-assessment.

Recommended Biographies

Cranston, Maurice. Jean-Jacques: The Early Life and Work of Jean-Jacques Rousseau, 1712–1754. New York: W.W.Norton, 1983. 382pp.; The Noble Savage: Jean-Jacques Rousseau, 1754–1762. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1991. 399pp.; The Solitary Self: Jean-Jacques Rousseau in Exile and Adversity. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1997. 260pp. This is a masterful biographical trilogy that is both judicious and thorough in using all the available sources to view Rousseau clearly in a subtle, human portrait.

Green, F.C. Jean-Jacques Rousseau: A Critical Study of His Life and Writings. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Cambridge University Press, 1955. 376pp. Carefully documented and based on modern scholarship, Green’s critical biography is an excellent, learned tour of Rousseau’s mental landscape and his achievement.

Guélhenno, Jean. Jean-Jacques Rousseau. New York: Columbia University Press, 1966. 2 vols. Regarded as the standard life and a masterpiece of the biographer’s art, Guélhenno supplies one of the most comprehensive chronological studies of Rousseau’s life and development available. The author explains that his aim was to “study Rousseau’s thought in its process of development and not as a series of results.... I resolved to relive it day by day.” A marvel of scholarship, the book animates Rousseau and his ideas in a superior biographical treatment.

Other Biographical Studies

Blanchard, William H. Rousseau and the Spirit of Revolt: A Psychological Study. Ann Arbor: University of Michigan Press, 1967. 300pp. Blanchard’s psychological examination locates the origin and development of Rousseau’s ideas in his early experiences and emotional make-up. The book presupposes prior familiarity with psychoanalytic theory and terminology.

Conroy, Peter V. Jean-Jacques Rousseau. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1998. 171pp. Conroy’s succinct overview of Rousseau’s life and work provides a brief biographical sketch before proceeding to a critical reading of his writings and a final chapter on Rousseau’s legacy and influence. Recommended as a starting point for a reader’s introduction to the man and his impact.

Crocker, Lester. Jean-Jacques Rousseau. New York: Macmillan, 1968–1973. 2 vols. This provocative intellectual biography attempts to integrate Rousseau’s morals, politics, pedagogy, and social theory into a coherent psychological response stemming from his distrust of human nature, personal insecurities, and yearning for social order. Rousseau is also viewed in the context of his times.

Grimsley, Ronald. Jean-Jacques Rousseau: A Study in Self-Awareness. Cardiff: University of Wales Press, 1961. 338pp. This developmental biography traces the formation of Rousseau’s conception of self through a critical reading of his works.

Grimsley, Ronald. Rousseau and the Religious Quest. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1968. 148pp. Grimsley’s analysis of Rousseau’s religious ideas are presented looking first at the biographical details that explain his intellectual and moral development before considering the principal documents and his various notions on God, hell, and paradise.

Wokler, Robert. Rousseau. New York: Oxford University Press, 1995. 132pp. Part of the Past Masters series, this is a solid introduction to the man, his works, and ideas.

Biographical Novels

Endore, S.Guy. Voltaire! Voltaire! New York: Simon & Schuster, 1961. 507pp. The novel presents the parallel and contrasting lives of the eighteenth-century’s towering intellectual forces—Rousseau and Voltaire. With a strong basis in fact, the novel portrays the personalities of both men.

Fictional Portraits

Feuchtwanger, Lion. ’Tis Folly to Be Wise. New York: J.Messner, 1953. 367pp. The novel looks at Rousseau’s death and its connection to a fictional story.

Rebolledo, Francisco. Rasero. Baton Rouge: Louisiana State University Press, 1995. 552pp. A young Spanish nobleman visits France during the intellectual ferment of the Enlightenment where he meets such figures as Diderot, Lavoisier, Mozart, Voltaire, and Rousseau.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Webb, Robert N. Jean-Jacques Rousseau: The Father of Romanticism. New York: F.Watts, 1970. 116pp. MG/YA. This is a competent introduction to the man and his ideas, relating Rousseau to the wider historical and cultural context.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Jean-Jacques Rousseau (1997). Producer: Films for the Humanities. Rousseau’s life, personality, and thought is examined in this film portrait. Video.

410. PETER PAUL RUBENS

1577–1640

The foremost seventeenth-century Flemish painter and one of the greatest Baroque painters, Rubens lived and worked in Italy, Antwerp, Spain, England, and Brussels. From 1622 to 1625 he carried out numerous commissions for the French court. A painter celebrated for his exuberant style, rich colors, and sensuous effects, Rubens’s many works include History of Marie de Medici and Judgment of Paris, Three Graces, and Venus and Adonis, commissioned for the Spanish court. He influenced many artists, including Van Dyck and Renoir.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Letters of Peter Paul Rubens. Evanston, Illinois: Northwestern University Press, 1991. 528pp. Invaluable as a biographical source, Rubens’s collected correspondence provides insights into the man and his creative method.

Recommended Biographies

Belkin, Kristen L. Rubens. London: Phaidon, 1998. 351pp. Written by one of the editors of Rubens’s letters, Belkin provides a chronological narrative of the artist’s life that explores such themes as his artistic techniques, the role of women in his life and art, and his involvement in contemporary political and religious issues. The various threads of Rubens’s career are usefully joined here in a credible human portrait.

Lescourret, Marie-Anne. Rubens: A Double Life. Chicago: I.R.Deer, 1993. 289pp. Lescourret’s is a vivid portrait of the artist against a clear background of his times. The book helps to connect the private and public aspects of Rubens’s life and his artistic and diplomatic careers, into a coherent, psychological portrait.

White, Christopher. Rubens and His World. New York: Viking, 1968. 144pp.; Peter Paul Rubens, Man and Artist. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1987. 310pp. Both of White’s fine studies are recommended as comprehensive overviews for the general reader. White, the director of the Ashmolean Museum in Oxford, sensibly covers all aspects of Rubens’s remarkable career and his period background.

Other Biographical Studies

Avermaete, Roger. Rubens and His Times. New York: A.S.Barnes, 1968. 218pp. Contrary to most biographical interpretations, Avermaete presents Rubens’s personality and career in a decidedly negative light. According to the author, Rubens was far from the admirable individual recorded by his contemporaries and later biographers. Unfortunately, the evidence supporting Avermaete’s contentions is undocumented, making it difficult to sort out fact from speculation.

Baudouin, Frans. Pietro Paulo Rubens. New York: Abrams, 1977. 405pp. This collection of essays by the former curator of the Rubens House covers various aspects of Rubens’s career, along with nearly 300 illustrations.

Burckhardt, Jacob. Recollections of Rubens. New York: Phaidon, 1950. 374pp. Originally published in 1898, the last work of the great nineteenth-century Swiss historian, this series of critical essays examines various aspects of Rubens’s life and works. Besides analyses of Rubens’s paintings and their connection with his career, the book includes a selection from the artist’s correspondence.

Cabanne, Pierre. Rubens. New York: Tudor, 1967. 286pp. Cabanne’s critical examination of Rubens’s art and the evolution of his style and technique provides helpful information on the connection between Rubens’s life, creative method, and artistic achievement.

Cammaerts, Emile. Rubens: Painter and Diplomat. London: Faber and Faber, 1932. 293pp. This sympathetic assessment of Rubens’s multiple achievements in art and diplomacy is chiefly valuable for establishing a recognizable historical background for viewing the artist’s career.

Edwards, Samuel. Peter Paul Rubens: A Biography of a Giant. New York: McKay, 1973. 250pp. Edwards’s readable nonscholarly biography displays both the man and the artist but is marred by conjecture and limited scholarship.

Fletcher, Jennifer. Peter Paul Rubens. New York: Praeger, 1968. 90pp. This compact visual introduction to the man and his work is arranged into short chapters on Rubens’s life, diplomatic career, and artistry. Useful as an introduction for the general reader and student.

Held, Julius S. Rubens and His Circle. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1982. 207pp. This collection of 15 scholarly articles with Rubens as their focus by the premier scholar in the field of seventeenth-century Flemish art covers such topics as Rubens’s book illustrations and the iconography of his paintings.

Michel, Emile. Rubens: His Life, His Work, and His Time. New York: Scribner, 1899. 2 vols. Michel’s early comprehensive study has retained its value as a reference source, but many of the author’s contentions are unsupported, and the book should be read alongside subsequent treatments to judge reliability.

Wedgwood, C.V. The World of Rubens: 1577–1640. New York: Time-Life Books, 1967. 192pp. Directed at the general reader, the volume provides a chronological examination of Rubens’s life and works. Serves as a popular introduction to Rubens and the political events of his times.

Biographical Novels

Braider, Donald. An Epic Joy: A Novel Based on the Life of Rubens. New York: Putnam, 1971. 352pp. A convincing and biographically accurate depiction of Rubens’s life that connects his artistic achievement with his diplomatic career.

Harsányi, Zsolt. Lover of Life. New York: Putnam, 1942. 678pp. The novel traces Rubens’s artistic development, diplomatic career, and personal life from his youth to his death in a thorough, believable account.

Wallach, Ira J. The Horn and the Roses: A Novel Based on the Life of Peter Paul Rubens. New York: Boni and Gaer, 1947. 347pp. In a fictionalized biography that tracks Rubens’s rise to success in art and diplomacy, Wallach endorses the controversial theory that many of Rubens’s masterpieces were done not by him but by others in his workshop.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

McLanathan, Richard B.K. Peter Paul Rubens. New York: Abrams, 1995. 92pp. YA. Part of the impressive First Impressions series, McLanathan presents Rubens’s life and artistry through comparisons with his contemporaries and an analysis of the sources of his inspiration.

Ripley, Elizabeth. Rubens: A Biography. New York: Walck, 1957. 68pp. MG. This is a highly idealized portrait of the artist, celebrating his genius and achievement.

411. JOHN RUSKIN

1819–1900

English art critic and social theorist, Ruskin was educated by his wealthy, evangelical parents. The first of his five-volume Modern Painters appeared in 1843 and championed J.W.M.Turner. Other volumes of art criticism include The Seven Lamps of Architecture (1849) and The Stones of Venice (1851–1853). As a social theorist, his suggestions for reform included old-age pensions, nationalized education, and organized labor. Ruskin supported the Pre-Raphaelite movement and was England’s first professor of art. His autobiography Praeterita (1885–1889) was unfinished.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Praeterita. Kent, England: G.Allen, 1886–1889. 3 vols. One of the greatest literary autobiographies, Praeterita has both helped and hindered a clear assessment of Ruskin and his life. Often unreliable and misleading, Ruskin’s account of his upbringing should be read alongside an objective biographical study. An abridged edition is available as Praeterita: The Autobiography of John Ruskin (New York: Oxford University Press, 1990. 592pp.).

Recommended Biographies

Abse, Joan. John Ruskin: The Passionate Moralist. New York: Knopf, 1981. 363pp. Drawing on considerable new material, Abse supplies a richly detailed, nuanced account of Ruskin’s character and career. Connecting the various strands of Ruskin’s life and work, Abse’s is a sympathetic though objective and highly readable narrative.

Evans, Joan. John Ruskin. New York: Oxford University Press, 1954. 447pp. A superior biography by an eminent art historian who edited Ruskin’s diaries, Evans’s study balances both Ruskin’s public and private life, his work, and his personality in a fair-minded assessment.

Hilton, Tim. John Ruskin. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1985–2000. 2 vols. Hilton’s two-volume study is the modern authoritative life and the fullest account available of Ruskin’s background, development, and relationships. Hilton is particularly insightful on Ruskin’s formative years, and the author’s sympathetic approach extends beyond Ruskin to his parents and his wife, avoiding the caricatures of other treatments.

Hunt, John Dixon. The Wider Sea: A Life of John Ruskin.. New York: Viking, 1982. 512pp. Hunt’s biography excels in tracing the relationship between Ruskin’s life and work, showing the origin and connections of his ideas to his experiences. Ruskin’s career is also placed in the wider context of his times.

Other Biographical Studies

Benson, Arthur C. Ruskin: A Study in Personality. New York: Putnam, 1911. 323pp. This series of university lectures ranges over the events of Ruskin’s life, his work, and character to form an interpretation of the man that is sympathetic, discursive, and at times evasive.

Collingwood, W.G. The Life and Work of John Ruskin. London: Methuen, 1893. 2 vols. Written by Ruskin’s private secretary and completed before his subject’s death, Collingwood’s sympathetic account is uneven, with debatable interpretations, yet it does include a number of firsthand details that are not available elsewhere.

Cook, Edward T. The Life of John Ruskin. New York: Macmillan, 1911. 2 vols. Long established as the standard life, the work of Ruskin’s lifelong friend who had access to the writer’s diaries, notebooks, and letters, though superseded by modern scholarship, still retains its value as a reference source. Cook’s sympathy and discretion in certain areas prevent the volumes from achieving complete objectivity and comprehensiveness.

Kemp, Wolfgang. The Desire of My Eyes: The Life and Work of John Ruskin. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1990. 513pp. Originally published in Germany in 1983, this is more a critical study than a full-scale biography in the form of a series of idiosyncratic essays on particular aspects of Ruskin’s writings. Introducing Ruskin to readers unfamiliar with the man or his ideas, The author presents Ruskin as an influential reformer, educator, and ecologist.

Larg, David. John Ruskin. 1933. Reprint ed. New York: Haskell House, 1974. 151pp. This brief psychological sketch relies on Cook for its biographical details, which are submitted to a Freudian interpretation, centered around Ruskin’s overpowering mother, his disastrous marriage, and failed relationships.

Leon, Derrick. Ruskin: The Great Victorian. London: Routledge, 1949. 595pp. The author died before completing intended revisions of this overview of Ruskin’s life, works, and times. The book serves more as a reference source collecting details about Ruskin than a polished interpretation.

Quennell, Peter. John Ruskin: The Portrait of a Prophet. New York: Viking, 1949. 289pp. In a largely compassionate analysis of Ruskin’s personality, Quennell emphasizes the private man in a sensible, balanced assessment. Ruskin’s neurotic egotism is a tempting target for ridicule, which Quennell avoids, substituting instead a credible human portrait.

Rosenberg, John D. The Darkening Glass: A Portrait of Ruskin’s Genius. New York: Columbia University Press, 1961. 274pp. Rosenberg’s is a thoughtful intellectual biography, organized into thematic sections on art, architecture, society, wilderness, and peace.

Williams-Elis, Amabel. The Exquisite Tragedy: An Intimate Life of John Ruskin. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1929. 371pp. A popular biography relying on Cook for its biographical facts that the author synthesizes into a dramatic narrative that attempts to explain the causes of Ruskin’s frustrations and personal failures in his parents’ overbearing influence.

Biographical Novels

McDonald, Eva. John Ruskin’s Wife. London: R. Hale, 1979. 219pp. The novel dramatizes the strange marriage between Ruskin and Effie Gray and the scandal that ensues when she becomes the model for artist John Everett Millais.

Williams, Lawrence. I, James McNeill Whistler. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1972. 383pp. This fictional autobiography of the artist features the notorious lawsuit Whistler brought against Ruskin for defamation of character.

Fictional Portraits

Kitchen, Paddy. The Golden Veil. London: Hamilton, 1981. 286pp. Based on the life of Elizabeth Siddal, Rossetti’s model and mistress, the novel traces her career from her youth and her involvement in the bohemian circle that included Ruskin, Millais, Swinburne, Morris, and Holman Hunt.

Morazzoni, Martin. The Invention of Truth. New York: Knopf, 1993. 112pp. This inventive novel links the creation of the Bayeaux tapestry in the eleventh century with the visit of Ruskin to Amiens where he reflects on his life and art.

Savage, Elizabeth. Willowwood. Boston: Little, Brown, 1978. 214pp. Rossetti’s complicated emotional life is the focus of this novel that portrays the artist’s relationship with Elizabeth Siddal and his circle that includes Ruskin and Morris.

Thorne, Nicola. Sisters and Lovers. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1981. 589pp. Three Victorian sisters arrive in London in the 1850s in search of husbands, and their stories are linked to a number of historical figures, including Florence Nightingale, Karl Marx, and John Ruskin.

Other Sources

Bradley, John L. A Ruskin Chronology. New York: St. Martin’s, 1997. 129pp. Bradley supplies an extensive chronology of Ruskin’s activities, works, and the principal historical events during his lifetime.

412. BERTRAND RUSSELL

1872–1970

British philosopher, mathematician, and social reformer, Russell related logic and mathematics in his most important works, The Principals of Mathematics (1903) and the three-volume Principia Mathematica (1910–1913), written with Alfred North Whitehead. He cofounded the experimental Beacon Hill School, which influenced the founding of schools in Britain and America, and taught at various institutions in the United States. His other works include Marriage and Morals (1929), Education and the Social Order (1932), and An Inquiry into Meaning and Truth (1940). He received the Nobel Prize for Literature (1950).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Autobiography of Bertrand Russell. Boston: Little, Brown, 1967–1969. 3 vols. Russell’s voluminous autobiography mixes narrative with letters. Often selective in his recollections, Russell provides few insights into his feeling about individuals and events, concentrating instead largely on public affairs.

The Selected Letters of Bertrand Russell. Volume One: The Private Years, 1884–1914. Nicholas Griffin, ed. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1992. 553pp. Although each of the chapters of Russell’s autobiography includes a collection of letters, this is a far more revealing selection of his correspondence, covering his private and scholarly years prior to his years as a public figure beginning in World War I.

Recommended Biographies

Clark, Ronald W. The Life of Bertrand Russell. New York: Knopf, 1975. 766pp. Clark’s authoritative and comprehensive biography is the best source for data on Russell’s public and private life as well as his political, philosophical, and personal development. Based on the best available primary and secondary sources, this is likely to remain the definitive life at least until the completion of Monk’s proposed two-volume biography. In Bertrand Russell and His World (New York: Thames and Hudson, 1981. 127pp.), Clark provides a brief overview in this illustrated biography that documents Russell’s life in the context of his times.

Monk, Ray. Bertrand Russell: The Spirit of Solitude, 1872–1921. New York: Free Press, 1996. 695pp. The acclaimed biographer of Wittgenstein has begun a detailed account of Russell’s life. In an admirable integration of private and public sides, emotional and intellectual development, Monk offers a nuanced portrait of a complex and often paradoxical figure. Accessible, despite some highly technical passages on Russell’s philosophical work, Monk’s interpretive and critical treatment is lively and sensible in its judgments, and Russell emerges as a believable human figure.

Moorehead, Caroline. Bertrand Russell: A Life. New York: Viking, 1993. 596pp. In a solid, detailed overview of Russell’s life and work, Moorehead clearly displays both Russell’s achievements and flaws. Given Russell’s long life, multiple activities, and relationships, the book is a marvel of compression in which the many patterns of Russell’s complex life are followed, resulting in a vivid and compelling portrait.

Other Biographical Studies

Ayer, A.J. Bertrand Russell. New York: Viking, 1972. 168pp. Ayer's compact entry in the Modern Masters series provides a brief biographical overview of the major incidents in Russell's life, but the book's chief value is to make the philosopher's ideas accessible for the general reader.

Brink, Andrew. Bertrand Russell: A Psychobiography of a Moralist. Atlantic Highlands, New Jersey: Humanities Press, 1989. 174pp. Brink's detailed psychological analysis is particularly good on Russell's early development but is uneven in tracing the connections between the philosopher's personal traumas and his ideas and works.

Crawshaw-Williams, Rupert. Russell Remembered. New York: Oxford University Press, 1970. 163pp. Written by a close friend of Russell during his last 25 years, these recollections concentrate on Russell's personality and character, his private side among friends, and the details of everyday life. Contrary to other views, Russell is displayed as a warm, outgoing, and affectionate friend.

Gottshalk, Herbert. Bertrand Russell: A Life. New York: Roy, 1965. 128pp. The book is an inadequate introduction to Russell's life and work. Assertions are unsupported, and the book fails to communicate the basis for the author's evident reverence for his subject.

Grayling, A.C. Russell. New York: Oxford University Press, 1996. 115pp. An entry in the Past Masters series, this is a concise survey of Russell's thought, with a biographical first chapter that summarizes the important events in his life. Serves as a fine starting point for viewing the man and his ideas.

Kuntz, Paul G. Bertrand Russell. Boston: Twayne, 1986. 186pp. Kuntz's intellectual biography follows the significant events in both Russell's life and his philosophical development with an emphasis on the latter in a succinct and learned overview.

Russell, Dora. The Tamarisk Tree: My Quest for Liberty and Love. New York: Dutton, 1975. 304pp. Russell's second wife supplies her recollections of their open marriage. Her version of their relationship, which ended in 1932, differs from Russell's own account and serves as an alternative perspective to their life together.

Ryan, Alan. Bertrand Russell: A Political Life. New York: Hill & Wang, 1988. 226pp. Concentrating exclusively on Russell's public career, as well as his ideas on society, war, and peace, Ryan's is a lucid, balanced assessment. As well as detailing Russell's altruism and passionate commitment to certain causes, Ryan exposes his inconsistencies.

Tait, Katherine. My Father, Bertrand Russell. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1975. 211pp. Written by Russell's daughter by his second wife, the book vividly and candidly recounts her life with her father. Russell's flaws, his egotism, and insensitivity, are honestly detailed in the discrepancy between Russell's theory of education and morals and their effect on his daughter.

Vellacott, Jo. Bertrand Russell and the Pacifists in the First World War. New York: St. Martin's, 1981. 326pp. This specialized study focuses on Russell's opposition to World War I and the circle of conscientious objectors and pacifists with whom he was associated. Exhaustively researched, well-written, and insightful, this is the best account available of Russell's wartime activities.

Wood, Alan. Bertrand Russell: The Passionate Skeptic: A Biography. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1958. 249pp. Wood's affectionate portrait is based on much firsthand evidence as one of Russell's students and colleagues. The book is on solid ground on the details of Russell's public life and the development of his philosophical ideas, but rarely intrudes beyond the surface of the philosopher's complicated private life.

Fictional Portraits

Duffy, Bruce. The World as I Found It. New York: Ticknor and Fields, 1987. 546pp. This inventive biographical fiction on the life of philosopher Ludwig Wittgenstein details his relationship with G.E. Moore and Russell.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Tom & Viv (1994). Director Brian Gilbert. Michael Hastings co-wrote the film script based on his play (New York: Penguin, 1985. 126pp.) dramatizing T.S. Eliot's relationship with Vivienne Haigh-Wood. Willem Dafoe plays Eliot, and Miranda Richardson steals the show as the vivacious and troubled Vivienne. Nicholas Grace portrays Russell, a complicating factor in the couple's marriage. Video.

Wittgenstein (1993). Director: Derek Jarman. This experimental portrait of the Austrian philosopher Ludwig Wittgenstein (Karl Johnson) takes the form of a series of vignettes from his life, including his relationship with such figures as John Maynard Keynes (John Quentin) and Russell (Michael Gough). Video.

S

413. ANWAR EL-SADAT

1918–1981

Egyptian political leader, Sadat took part in the bloodless coup that deposed King Farouk (1952) and during the 1950s and 1960s held various government posts. Chosen as President Nasser's vice president, he became president after Nasser's death (1970). Sadat expelled Soviet military advisors, supported the Arab oil boycott against the West, and waged the Yom Kippur war with Syria against Israel (1973). During the 1970s he established closer ties with the United States and began peace negotiations with Israel, which resulted in the Camp David peace accords (1977). He shared the 1978 Nobel Peace Prize with Israeli prime minister Menachem Begin. He was assassinated by extremist army officers opposed to his peace initiatives.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

In Search of Identity: An Autobiography. New York: Harper & Row, 1978. 360pp. Sadat offers impressions and anecdotes of his life and his public career. Revealing the character of the man and his views on important historical events, the book shows evidence of haste with inaccuracies and factual errors and should be read alongside a more reliable history or biography.

Those I Have Known. New York: Continuum, 1984. 140pp. Based on taped interviews for publication in his political party's newspaper, Sadat muses on the world leaders with whom he had contact and recalls great events, including the Egyptian revolution of 1952 and the Middle East wars of 1967 and 1973, concluding with his view on the Arab-Israeli conflict and the peace initiative.

Recommended Biographies

Finkelstone, Joseph. Anwar Sadat: Visionary Who Dared. Portland, Oregon: Frank Cass, 1996. 297pp. The work of a journalist who knew Sadat in the last years of his life, Finkelstone traces Sadat's background and rise to power, as well as providing an intriguing insider's view of the complex political and diplomatic maneuvering that characterized Sadat's rule.

Israeli, Raphael, with Carol Bardenstein. Man of Defiance: A Political Biography of Anwar Sadat. New York: Barnes and Noble, 1985. 314pp. Written by a professor at Hebrew University, this political biography traces the evolution of Sadat's life and character from the traditional values he was imbued with in the village life of his boyhood through the various stages of his rise to power and his leadership years.

Other Biographical Studies

Fernández-Armesto, Felipe. Sadat and His Statescraft. London: Kensal Press, 1982. 196pp. After placing Sadat in a wider Egyptian historical context, the author provides a reliable assessment of his rule and peace efforts.

Heikal, Mohamed. Autumn of Fury: The Assassination of Sadat. New York: Random House, 1983. 290pp. Heikal's controversial analysis of the forces that ended Sadat's reign is the work of a former confidant and prominent Egyptian journalist who broke with Sadat over policy issues. As a proponent of Nasser's policies, particularly Pan-Arabism and nonalignment, Heikal judges Sadat's leadership as a failure, resulting in his isolation from the Arab world and his own people, which played a role in his death. Despite the author's clearly polemical bias, the book supplies a remarkably detailed history of the conspiracy that brought Sadat down and a provocative assessment of its origin.

Hirst, David, and Irene Beeson. Sadat. London: Faber and Faber, 1981. 203pp. This reevaluation of Sadat is harshly critical of the man and his leadership, contending that his public image as a great statesman was in stark contrast with the reality. Sadat is shown as a venal, hypocritical megalomaniac, concealing a deeply rooted inferiority complex. Although solidly documented from Sadat's own words, the book lacks balance but serves as a challenge to other presentations of a heroic Sadat.

Narayan, B.K. Anwar el Sadat: Man with a Mission. New Delhi: Vikas, 1977. 162pp. In a useful overview, Narayan supplies a personal and political portrait that attempts a balanced, although limited, account in the wider context of his times.

Sadat, Camelia. My Father and I. New York: Macmillan, 1985. 203pp. Sadat's daughter offers her account of her relationship with her father. More personally revealing than her mother's memoir, the book supplies intimate details of Sadat's private life and character as a father rather than a political figure.

Sadat, Jehan. A Woman of Egypt. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1987. 478pp. Sadat's wife weaves her recollections of her husband's political life with her own activities as a social activist on behalf of Egyptian women. Often an unreliable and selective view, the book does supply some firsthand details on the negotiations leading to the Camp David agreement.

Shoukra, Ghali. Egypt: Portrait of a President 1971–81: The Counter-Revolution in Egypt: Sadat's Road to Jerusalem. London: Zed, 1981. 465pp. In a critical assessment, Shoukra, an exiled Egyptian sociologist and intellectual, argues that Sadat betrayed the progressive goals of Nasser. In making his argument, the author provides insightful glimpses of Sadat's character, placing his actions in their socioeconomic context.

Sullivan, George. Sadat: The Man Who Changed Mid-East History. New York: Walker, 1981. 124pp. A visual biography that links a series of photographs with a serviceable, though basic, text.

Fictional Portraits

Wouk, Herman. The Glory. Boston: Little, Brown, 1994. 685pp. Wouk's panoramic chronicle of modern Israel's history includes the Six Day War, the Yom Kippur War, the Entebbe rescue, and the signing of the Camp David accords with portrayals of Sadat, Begin, and others.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Aufderheide, Patricia. Anwar Sadat. New York: Chelsea House, 1985. 112pp. MG/YA. This is a workmanlike overview of the highlights of Sadat's life seen in their wider historical and cultural contexts.

Diamond, Arthur. The Importance of Anwar Sadat. San Diego: Lucent Books, 1994. 112pp. MG/YA. An informative survey of Sadat's life and political career, concentrating on his role in the Middle East peace process.

Rosen, Deborah N. Anwar el-Sadat: Middle East Peacemaker. Chicago: Childrens Press, 1986. 152pp. MG. Rosen offers a detailed account of Sadat’s life, covering his rise to power and his achievements.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Death on the Nile: The Struggle for Peace and the Assassination of Anwar Sadat (1989). Producer: Ted Jessup. ABC News profile of Sadat’s career, his peace settlement with Israel, and the events surrounding his assassination. Video.

Sadat (1983). Director: Richard Michaels. Lou Gossett Jr. portrays Sadat in scenes from his life from the beginning of his political career to his assassination. Video.

414. GEORGE SAND

1804–1876

Born Amandine Aurore Lucie Dupin, French novelist George Sand became notorious for her unconventional lifestyle, which included a preference for wearing men’s clothing, the use of her chosen pseudonym, and open liaisons with such notable figures as Chopin and De Mussel. She wrote some 80 novels, which were widely popular and include La Mare au diable (1846), Les Matres sonneurs (1853), and Indiana (1853).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Intimate Journals of George Sand. Marie Jenny Howe, ed. Chicago: Academy Chicago, 1990. 198pp. This collection brings together Sand’s journal to Alfred de Mussel, the Piffuel journal of her composed conversations between her masculine and feminine selves, and letters and reflections. Sand’s journal writing is considered by many as her most expressive and natural self-exploration.

Letters of George Sand. Raphael L. de Beaufort, ed. 1886. Reprint ed. New York: AMS Press, 3 vols. Sand’s voluminous correspondence records her many moods, roles, and wide circle of friends and associates in an essential biographical source.

Story of My Life: The Autobiography of George Sand. Thelma Jurgrau, ed. Albany: Slate University Press of New York, 1991. 1,184pp. Mainly covering the years 1847 to 1854, Sand recounts the story of her career with unflagging energy and honesty. One of the classic literary autobiographies.

Recommended Biographies

Barry, Joseph. Infamous Woman: The Life of George Sand. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1976. 461pp. Relying primarily on Sand’s letters and autobiography, the book traces the stages of her evolving self-awareness with an emphasis on her intimate relationships rather than her writings.

Cate, Curtis. George Sand: A Biography. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1975. 812pp. Cate’s skilled and detailed account of Sand’s life and career is based on previously unpublished correspondence. Strongest on the writer’s artistic evolution and the careful untangling of the human figure behind the various legends.

Dickenson, Donna. George Sand: A Brave Man, the Most Womanly Woman. New York: St. Martin’s, 1988. 190pp. This excellent, brief biographical profile is arranged not chronologically but topically, examining Sand from a variety of perspectives. Incorporating modern scholarship, Dickenson provides a helpful analysis of the rise and fall of Sand’s reputation, penetrating the various legends and biases that have obscured the view of Sand as a person and as a literary figure.

Maurois, André. Lélia: The Life of George Sand. New York: Harper, 1953. 482pp. Maurois’s psychological, critical biography is one of the classics of the biographer’s art, rivaling the author’s other literary biographies. Although the book’s interpretation of Sand’s emotional and intellectual development is debatable and in many ways has been superseded by later studies, Maurois’s treatment is still lively, readable, and provocative.

Winegarten, Renee. The Double Life of George Sand, Woman and Writer: A Critical Biography. New York: Basic Books, 1978. 339pp. Winegarten emphasizes gender issues explaining Sand’s motives and behavior as a search to counter sexual stereotypes “to be a total person in harmony with herself.” Provocative and insightful, Winegarten’s feminist perspective serves as a useful complement to Cate’s more gender-neutral study.

Other Biographical Studies

Atwood, William G. The Lionness and the Little One: The Liaison of George Sand and Frédéric Chopin. New York: Columbia University Press, 1980. 316pp. Focusing on the stormy relationship between Sand and Chopin, Atwood documents their affair, relying almost entirely on correspondence, journals, and other writings by the pair and their contemporaries. Falling short of its intention to be fair to both figures, this account repeats the conventional view of Sand as the powerful mother figure and Chopin the weak, sickly figure of legend.

Edwards, Samuel. George Sand: A Biography of the First Modern, Liberated Woman. New York: McKay, 1972. 271pp. This popular biography emphasizes Sand the eccentric rather than the literary figure in a highly colored, cliché-ridden account of Sand’s liaisons, scandals, and oddities. It adds nothing to the biographical record.

Howe, Marie J. George Sand: The Search for Love. New York: J.Day, 1927. 351pp. Calling Sand “the most misunderstood woman in the history of literature,” Howe attempts an appreciative reassessment from an early feminist perspective. Redressing the balance of previous negative views, Howe is guilty of idealization and excessive partisanship.

Jordan, Ruth. George Sand: A Biographical Portrait. New York: Taplinger, 1976. 367pp. Less detailed than other full-length studies, Jordan places Sand in the context of her times and delivers a plausible psychological profile to help explain her motives and behavior. The book concentrates on Sand’s private life and offers few insights on her literary work.

Naginski, Isabell H. George Sand: Writing for Her Life. New Brunswick. Rutgers University Press, 1991. 281pp. This critical study of Sand’s writing life and works shifts the focus from her eccentric lifestyle and love affairs to her career that produced nearly 80 novels and 25 plays. Examining in detail Sand’s principal works, Naginski traces her artistic development and literary themes.

Schermerhorn, Elizabeth W. The Seven Strings of the Lyre: The Romantic Life of George Sand, 1804–1876. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1927. 327pp. The title refers to the seven significant lovers in Sand’s life, who are the focus of this account of her career and personality. Avoiding sensationalism and sentimentality, the book provides a sympathetic and credible narrative portrait.

Seyd, Felizia. Romantic Rebel: The Life and Times of George Sand. New York: Viking, 1940. 286pp. Seyd’s study is chiefly valuable for its historical content, relating Sand’s life and writing to the intellectual, social, and political context of her times between 1830 and 1870.

Winwar, Frances. The Life of the Heart: George Sand and Her Times. New York: Harper, 1945. 312pp. Winwar’s idealized and sentimental account takes considerable novelistic liberties to penetrate Sand’s thoughts and feelings. Factual errors also undermine the book’s reliability.

Biographical Novels

Kenyon, Frank W. The Questing Heart: A Romantic Novel about George Sand. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1964. 344pp. Based on a framework of fact with fictional embellishments, this biographical novel traces Sand’s life, career, and relationships from childhood until 1849.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Hovey, Tamara. A Mind of Her Own: The Life of the Writer George Sand. New York: Harper & Row, 1977. 211pp. MG/YA. This is a detailed account of Sand’s life and career that emphasizes her individuality and challenge of conventions.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Impromptu (1991). Director: James Lapine. George Sand, Chopin, and Liszt are on holiday as proto-beatniks in this dynamic and inventive drama, starring Judy Davis as the novelist, Hugh Grant as a wan, ethereal Chopin, and Julian Sands as Liszt. Video.

Notorious Woman (1974). Director: Waris Hussien. Television mini-series on the life of George Sand features Rosemary Harris in the title role, George Chakiris as Chopin, and Alan Howard as Prosper Mérimée.

A Song to Remember (1945). Director: Charles Vidor. Cornel Wilde stars as Chopin in this bio-pic depicting the last years of the composer’s life. Merle Oberon portrays George Sand, and Stephen Belcassy plays Liszt. The film is redeemed mainly by its music; the character portrayal here is superficial. Video.

See also Frédéric Chopin; Franz Liszt

415. MARGARET SANGER

1883–1966

Leader of the birth-control movement in the United States, Sanger attended nursing school and was active for a time in the labor movement. Her work with the poor as a public-health nurse on the Lower East Side of Manhattan convinced her of the necessity of birth control. She studied in London with Havelock Ellis, and on her return to the United States was indicted for sending contraceptive information through the mail and arrested for conducting a birth-control clinic. Sanger gradually won support from the public and the courts for the legalization of birth control. She organized the American Birth Control League and was president of the International Planned Parenthood Federation.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Margaret Sanger: An Autobiography. New York: W.W.Norton, 1938. 504pp. Sanger’s second attempt to recollect her life and career shares with her earlier book a selectivity that emphasizes her cause over full disclosure of her personal life and motives. Despite limitations and unreliability, Sanger’s assessment of her actions is still a valuable biographical source.

My Fight for Birth Control. New York: Farrar & Rinehart, 1931. 360pp. Sanger provides a selective and not always reliable account of her 17-year struggle to change birth control policies with preliminary chapters on her childhood, upbringing, marriage, and family life.

Recommended Biographies

Chesler, Ellen. Woman of Valor: Margaret Sanger and the Birth Control Movement in America. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1992. 639pp. Neither excessively admiring nor critical, Chesler’s is a balanced, well-researched biography that allows a complex human portrait to emerge. Sanger’s personal history is joined to a history of the movement that she led to form the clearest and most sensible view available of the woman and her achievement.

Kennedy, David M. Birth Control in America: The Career of Margaret Sanger. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 197K 320pp. Winner of the Bancroft Prize in American history, Kennedy’s biographical profile and social history demonstrate how Sanger’s energy and determination, as well as her foibles and vanities contributed to and hindered the birth-control movement in America. Although Sanger’s character is central to his analysis, Kennedy provides few details on her private life, concentrating instead on the challenges she faced and the social and historical background up to the beginning of World War II.

Other Biographical Studies

Douglas, Emily Taft. Pioneer of the Future. New York: Holt, 1970. 274pp. Written by a longtime birth-control advocate, Douglas’s biographical tribute to Sanger’s life and achievement provides only limited details of her personal life, her two marriages, and association with Havelock Ellis. Sanger’s leadership of the birth-control movement and her public life are predominant here in a largely uncritical appreciation.

Gray, Madeline. Margaret Sanger: A Biography of the Champion of Birth Control. New York: R. Marek, 1979. 494pp. Based on interviews and previously restricted letters and diaries, Gray sheds light on Sanger’s private life. Lacking balance, however, the book’s emphasis on Sanger’s flaws and weaknesses and the trivial details of her relationships fails to integrate satisfactorily her human side and public achievements.

Lader, Lawrence. The Margaret Sanger Story and the Fight for Birth Control. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1955. 352pp. Based on interviews with Sanger and her associates, this is a reverent account that had Sanger’s cooperation in its production (including her editing of the final manuscript). Like Sanger’s autobiographies, the book commits several inaccuracies and misrepresentations in a version of Sanger’s life and career that she wanted presented.

Biographical Novels

Gerson, Noel B. The Crusader: A Novel on the Life of Margaret Sanger. Boston: Little, Brown, 1970. 375pp. This biographical novel follows Sanger’s life and activism from the early years of the twentieth century to 1930 in a factually reliable account.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Bachrach, Deborah. Margaret Sanger. San Diego: Lucent Books, 1993. 112pp. MG/YA. Bachrach identifies Sanger’s achievement against a clearly defined social backdrop that emphasizes the challenges she faced over the issue of the reproductive rights of women.

Lader, Lawrence, and Milton Meltzer. Margaret Sanger: Pioneer of Birth Control. New York: Crowell, 1969. 174pp. YA. This is an inspiring, heroic portrayal of Sanger’s life and achievement incorporating details from Lader’s 1955 adult biography and indirectly expressing Sanger’s own view of her story.

Whitelaw, Nancy. Margaret Sanger: “Every Child a Wanted Child.” New York: Dillon Press, 1994. 160pp. YA. A well-balanced, sensitive account that covers both Sanger’s private and public lives, Whitelaw identifies the thoughtful and impulsive sides of Sanger’s character that help to explain her sometimes contradictory actions.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Margaret Sanger: A Public Nuisance (1992). Directors: Terese Svoboda and Steve Bull. Using original photographs, film footage, sound recordings, and staged events, Sanger’s public and private career is portrayed. Video.

Portrait of a Rebel: Margaret Sanger (1982). Director: Virgil W.Vogel. Sanger is depicted attempting to repeal the Comstock Act in this television drama starring Bonnie Franklin as Sanger, David Duke as William Sanger, and Richard Johnson as Havelock Ellis. Video.

416. JEAN-PAUL SARTRE

1905–1980

French philosopher, playwright, and novelist, Sartre was the leading exponent of existentialism. He served in the army during World War II and was taken prisoner but escaped and joined the resistance. His works include his monumental treatise Being and Nothingness (1943); the plays No Exit (1944) and The Condemned of Altona (1956); the novel Nausea (1938); and a trilogy of novels, The Age of Reason, The Reprieve (both 1945), and Troubled Sleep (1949). He also wrote major studies of literary figures and many essays. He refused the 1964 Nobel Prize in Literature.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

War Diaries of Jean-Paul Sartre: November 1939-March 1940. New York: Pantheon, 1984. 366pp. Sartre’s surviving diaries provide insight into his complex personality when he was 34, in one of the most human portraits of the man in which much of his later work is anticipated.

Witness to My Life: The Letters of Jean-Paul Sartre to Simone de Beauvoir, 1926–1939. Simone de Beauvoir, ed. New York: Macmillan, 1992. 448pp. This collection of correspondence between Sartre and de Beauvoir and others sheds considerable light on the pair’s relationship and Sartre’s private side.

The Words. New York: G.Braziller, 1964. 255pp. Sartre’s autobiography up to the age of 10 confesses the impact of his father’s death on his development in a partly psychological, partly ideological reconstruction of his past that has been exposed by biographer Cohen-Solal as biographically unreliable.

Recommended Biographies

Cohen-Solal, Annie. Sartre: A Life. New York: Pantheon, 1987. 591pp. Although the author decided to concentrate on Sartre’s life at the expense of his works, this is the fullest investigation of the writer’s activities, based on original research using family archives and interviews with many of the writer’s associates. Cohen-Solal’s portrait is often contrary to the version of his life and character that Sartre and his admirers have presented.

Gerassi, John. Jean-Paul Sartre: Hated Conscience of His Century. Volume One: Protestant or Protester? Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1989. 213pp. Gerassi abandoned his intention to produce a multivolume biography on the publication of Cohen-Solal’s authoritative study. In the single volume he completed, Gerassi chronicles Sartre’s life and intellectual development through the end of World War II in an intellectual biography that is candid about Sartre’s inconsistencies and shortcomings.

Hayman, Ronald. Sartre: A Life. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1987. 572pp. In a richly detailed, in-depth look at Sartre’s life and times, Hayman integrates the philosopher’s personal, literary, and political development into a full-length, credible human portrait. Sartre’s many personal shortcomings are displayed, as well as the consistency of his political and intellectual values through his many activities and relationships.

Other Biographical Studies

Beauvoir, Simone de. Adieux: A Farewell to Sartre. New York: Pantheon, 1984. 453pp. De Beauvoir’s reflections of her life with Sartre take the form of a diary she kept from 1970 to 1980 and a number of conversations with Sartre she recorded in 1974. The book captures the nature of their relationship (also discussed in de Beauvoir’s multivolume autobiography) and Sartre’s views on a number of subjects, including himself, his work, and his career as a writer.

Brée, Germaine. Camus and Sartre: Crisis and Commitments. New York: Dell, 1972. 287pp. This dual biographical profile of Sartre’s relationship with Camus is convincing in its meticulous documentation. The author concludes that Sartre was “the last of the great system-builders” who set out to rethink the world to reform it.

Fullbrook, Kate, and Edward Fullbrook. Simone de Beauvoir and Jean-Paul Sartre: The Remaking of a Twentieth-Century Legend. New York: Basic Books, 1994. 214pp. This revisionist view of the Sartre-de Beauvoir relationship challenges conventional wisdom arguing that de Beauvoir, not Sartre, “was always the driving intellectual power in the joint development of the couple’s most influential ideas.”

Thody, Philip. Jean-Paul Sartre: A Literary and Political Study. New York: Macmillan, 1960. 269pp. Thody’s critical survey of Sartre’s works connects his literary production with his experiences and traces his development from an imaginative writer to a polemicist.

Thody, Philip. Sartre: A Biographical Introduction. New York: Scribner, 1971. 160pp. Derived mainly from Sartre’s autobiographical writings, Thody’s study is best on the writer’s later years.

Thompson, Kenneth, and Margaret Thompson. Sartre: Life and Works. New York: Facts on File, 1984. 227pp. This is a straightforward, year-by-year account of Sartre’s life and work and his personal and political relations.

Wardman, Harold W. Jean-Paul Sartre: The Evolution of His Thought and Art. Lewiston, New York: Edwin Mellen Press, 1992. 439pp. Wardman’s critical literary biography traces Sartre’s intellectual and artistic development chronologically, integrating his literary production and his political and philosophical activities with his experiences and historical events.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Sartre by Himself (1984). Directors: Alexandre Astruc and Michel Contat. Made in Paris in 1976, Sartre reflects on various aspects of his life and ideas. Video.

417. FRIEDRICH SCHILLER

1759–1805

German dramatist and poet, Schiller is a major literary figure who ranks second only to Goethe as the founder of modern German literature. His major works include “Ode to Joy” (1785), the dramatic trilogy Wallenstein (1798–1799) and the plays Mary Stuart (1800) and Wilhelm Tell (1804). Schiller also produced translations of dramatic works and notable ballads and philosophical lyrics.

Recommended Biographies

Düntzer, Heinrich. The Life of Schiller. London: Macmillan, 1883. 455pp. Despite its age and often quaint, literary style, this is still one of the most authoritative and comprehensive treatments of Schiller’s life and career, following both in minute detail.

Garland, Henry B. Schiller. New York: McBride, 1950. 280pp. Garland supplies a human portrait of Schiller, dealing fully with his early struggles and the experiences that formed his character and are reflected in his works. Well written and accessible for the nonspecialist, Garland’s is a sensitive and sensible appreciation of Schiller’s genius and nature.

Other Biographical Studies

Carlyle, Thomas. Life of Schiller. 1825. Reprint ed. Columbia, South Carolina: Camden House, 1992. 288pp. Carlyle’s idiosyncratic portrait is chiefly interesting for its reflections of its author’s views on German Romanticism. The biographical details lack depth and authority.

Nevinson, Henry W. Life of Friedrich Schiller. London: Scott, 1889. 203pp. Nevinson is far more willing than Carlyle to view Schiller as a mixture of human traits, which helps create a more rounded, credible portrait. Not all aspects of Schiller’s life are covered with the same degree of care, however.

Passage, Charles E. Friedrich Schiller. New York: Frederick Ungar, 1975. 203pp. Mostly a critical study of the works, the biographical section focuses on Schiller’s personality and his relationship with Goethe. A good choice for the reader needing a competent overview.

Thomas, Calvin. The Life and Works of Friedrich Schiller. New York: Holt, 1901. 481pp. Thomas’s is a solid, scholarly study that sheds light on Schiller’s personality and his literary gifts.

Fictional Portraits

Carpentier, Alejo. The Harp and the Shadow. San Francisco: Mercury, 1990. 159pp. In this imaginative inquiry into the character and achievement of Christopher Columbus, Pius IX considers his canonization and Jules Verne and Schiller conduct a debate over his legacy.

418. ARNOLD SCHOENBERG

1874–1951

An Austrian composer and music teacher who immigrated to the United States, Schoenberg revolutionized music by introducing a 12-tone technique of composition. He founded a famous private seminar in composition and the Society for Musical Performances, at which neither critics nor applause were allowed. His many works include Transfigured Night (1899), Pierrot Lunaire (1912), and the unfinished opera, Moses and Aaron (1932–1951), considered his masterpiece.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Arnold Schoenberg Letters. Erwin Stern, ed. Berkeley: University of California Press, 1987. 309pp. Schoenberg’s letters are remarkably revealing and offer the best glimpse of the complexity of the composer’s personality, his intellect, and temperament. Readers can gain additional insights from The Berg-Schoenberg Correspondence. Juliane Brand, Christopher Hailey, and Donald Harris, eds. (New York: W.W.Norton, 1988. 497pp.), the letters between two of the most influential figures in twentieth-century music, which span the years 1911 to 1935.

Recommended Biographies

Neighbor, Oliver. “Arnold Schoenberg” in The New Grove Second Viennese School. New York: W.W.Norton, 1983. 201pp. Neighbor provides a valuable synthesis of current scholarship in an insightful critical essay that includes a succinct biographical summary.

Stuckenschmidt, Hans H. Schoenberg: His Life, World, and Work. New York: Schirmer Books, 1977. 581pp. The most comprehensive account of Schoenberg’s life and career, Stuckenschmidt employs a wealth of primary sources to present an authoritative study. The casual reader may be overwhelmed by the details, but the motivated reader will profit from the book’s extensive documentation.

Other Biographical Studies

MacDonald, Malcolm. Schoenberg. London: Dent, 1976. 289pp. Part of the Master Musicians series, this useful handbook serves as a solid, if selective, introduction and overview.

Newlin, Dika. Schoenberg Remembered: Diaries and Recollections. New York: Pendragon Press, 1980. 369pp. The book is taken from a diary kept during the years 1939 to 1941 when the author was studying with Schoenberg at the University of California, Los Angeles, and includes an account of their later relationship. An intimate glimpse of the man, the book also presents an informed account of Schoenberg’s American period.

Reich, Willi. Schoenberg: A Critical Biography. New York: Praeger, 1971. 268pp. Reich weaves documentary sources into a chronological survey of the composer’s life and works. The book provides a lucid account of Schoenberg’s stylistic development and a vivid portrait of the composer’s personality, although the organization is often confusing.

Smith, Joan A. Schoenberg and His Circle: A Viennese Portrait. New York: Schirmer Books, 1986. 319pp. This is a revealing collection of views of the composer from many individuals who knew and worked with Schoenberg.

Wellesz, Egon. Arnold Schoenberg: The Formative Years. 1925. Revised ed. New York: Galaxy, 1971. 156pp. The first biography of the composer traces Schoenberg’s life and career up to the 1920s and draws on the author’s friendship with Schoenberg and his cooperation. Remains an important source on the man and his musical development.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Arnold Schoenberg: My Evolution (1991). Director: Bill Wolfe. A biographical portrait using Schoenberg’s own words from a lecture delivered at the University of California, Los Angeles, in 1949. Video.

Other Sources

Bailey, Walter B. The Arnold Schoenberg Companion. Westport, Connecticut: Greenwood, 1998. 335pp. Bringing together insightful critical views and documents, this is a valuable collection based on the latest scholarship.

Frisch, Walter, ed. Schoenberg and His World. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1999. 350pp. This accessible reference volume includes biographical essays, surveys of Schoenberg’s music from different periods in his career, and critical examinations of his development and musical theory.

419. FRANZ SCHUBERT

1797–1828

Austrian composer Schubert studied with Salieri at the Royal Seminary and then taught at his father’s elementary school and composed in his spare time. His only musical appointment was as a teacher to the children of a Hungarian nobleman. Among Schubert’s symphonies, his Fifth (1816), Eighth (1822), and Ninth (the Unfinished, 1828) rank as some of the greatest in music history. He is also famous for his piano pieces and string quartets and especially for his more than 600 lieder.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Letters and Other Writings. Otto E.Deutsch, ed. 1928. Reprint ed. Freeport, New York: Books for Libraries Press, 1970. 143pp. A collection of mainly brief letters, the first written when Schubert was 15, the last shortly before his death. Included as well are extracts from his diary and a short allegorical story.

Deutsch, Otto E. The Schubert Reader: A Life of Franz Schubert in Letters and Documents. New York: W.W.Norton, 1947. 1.039pp. More than 1,200 documents-excerpts from letters, diaries, reviews, and programs-bearing on Schubert’s life and work are arranged chronologically and form an indispensable biographical source. The author’s Schubert: Memoirs by His Friends (New York: Macmillan, 1958. 501pp.) serves as a supplement to The Schubert Reader with a collection of memoirs by Schubert’s friends and associates and additional documents.

Recommended Biographies

Brown, Maurice J.E. Schubert: A Critical Biography. New York: St. Martin’s, 1958. 414pp. Drawing on Deutsch’s collection of primary and secondary sources, Brown’s is a comprehensive chronological account of Schubert’s career, focusing on the sequence of his compositions and their connections with Schubert’s experiences. Brown’s study is still regarded as the standard critical biography.

Brown, Maurice J.E. The New Grove Schubert. New York: W.W.Norton, 1983. 186pp. Along with a detailed authoritative chronicle of Schubert’s music arranged by type and date of composition, this useful reference source includes a succinct biographical profile, serving as a fine starting point for the reader interested in the composer’s life, music, and background.

McKay, Elizabeth N. Franz Schubert: A Biography. New York: Oxford University Press, 1996. 362pp. Incorporating new research in Germany, Austria, and the United States, McKay’s concise account of Schubert’s life, times, and music for the general reader is skillfully presented with revealing insights into Schubert’s sexuality, opium use, manic-depression, and his physical decline after he contracted syphilis. Challenging less critical views of Schubert in previous biographies, McKay makes accessible the findings that have greatly altered Schubert studies.

Other Biographical Studies

Fischer-Dieskau, Dietrich. Schubert’s Songs: A Biographical Study. New York: Knopf, 1977. 333pp. Setting Schubert’s songs against the background of his life in Vienna, the author, an expert on German lieder, traces Schubert’s musical development.

Flower, Newman. Franz Schubert: The Man and His Circle. New York: F.A.Stokes, 1928. 369pp. Without attempting any analysis of Schubert’s music, Flower focuses on the composer’s life and relationships in a well-documented and profusely illustrated account. The book includes anecdotes and details not mentioned anywhere else, based on the author’s meticulous research.

Gibbs, Christopher H. The Life of Schubert. New York: Cambridge University Press, 2000. 210pp. Gibbs traces the connections between the composer’s life and music, laying out the key biographical evidence objectively and giving sufficient information to allow readers to make their own interpretations. The result is a fair and balanced portrait.

Hilmar, Ernst. Franz Schubert in His Time. Portland, Oregon: Amadeus Press, 1988. 157pp. Hilmar’s collection of essays covers various aspects of Schubert’s life and background, though not his music. The book’s chief value rests in its skepticism of conventional wisdom regarding Schubert which Hilmar challenges, offering instead a number of fresh and provocative insights.

Hutchings, Arthur. Schubert. New York: Dutton, 1945. 233pp. Part of the Master Musicians series, this useful introductory study includes a reliable biographical overview, a critical examination of Schubert’s music, and appendixes with a detailed chronology and biographical comments by the composer’s contemporaries.

Jackson, Stephen. Franz Schubert: An Essential Guide to His Life and Works. London: Pavilion, 1996. 110pp. In a popular introduction for the nonexpert, Jackson supplies the highlights of Schubert’s life and a critical appreciation of his music.

Kobald, Karl. Franz Schubert and His Times. New York: Knopf, 1928. 277pp. Arranged topically instead of chronologically, this biographical portrait sets the composer against the background of Viennese life and his circle of friends in a series of useful essays. It is illuminating on several aspects of the composer’s private life, work method, and relationships.

Marek, George. Schubert. New York: Viking, 1986. 254pp. Marek critically reviews the existing biographical treatments of Schubert’s life and career before offering a contrary view by underscoring aspects of the composer’s life, such as his sexuality, his criminal record, and his relationship with Beethoven. The book presupposes prior knowledge of the composer’s life and work.

Osborne, Charles. Schubert and His Vienna. New York: Knopf, 1985. 209pp. Schubert’s Viennese background is the focus in this study that captures the composer indirectly through a vivid recreation of his society, culture, and time.

Reed, John. Schubert. New York: Schirmer Books, 1997. 270pp. This brief critical biography by a respected Schubert expert is an excellent choice to serve as an introduction to the man, his music, and his era. The author’s earlier book, Schubert: The Final Years (New York: St. Martin’s, 1972. 280pp.) covers the years 1825 to 1828.

Schauffler, Robert H. Franz Schubert: The Ariel of Music. New York: Putnam, 1949. 427pp. In a popular, critical biography, Schauffler’s study is divided into a section on the man and one on his music. Although relying on extensive quotations from Schubert’s letters and contemporary accounts, the book is marred by a distracting informal style and digressive, psychoanalytical speculation.

Wechsberg, Josef. Schubert: His Life, His Work, His Time. New York: Rizzoli, 1977. 224pp. In a handsomely produced illustrated biography, Wechsberg places Schubert in the political and cultural context of nineteenth-century Vienna and challenges the many myths surrounding the composer’s life and works.

Woodford, Peggy. Schubert: His Life and Times. New York: Two Continents, 1978. 159pp. In a valuable illustrated biography, Woodford summarizes Schubert’s life and career against the political and social background of his times. Includes excerpts from Schubert’s letters and recollections from friends and associates.

Biographical Novels

Härtling, Peter. Schubert: Twelve Moments Musicaux and a Novel. New York: Holmes & Meier, 1995. 248pp. Using Schubert’s lieder as a key to understanding the composer’s emotional state, this inventive novel draws the connection between Schubert’s work and his life.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Thompson, Wendy. Franz Schubert. New York: Viking, 1991. 48pp. MG. Thompson’s is a brief introduction to Schubert’s life, career, and works that serves to stimulate interest in the composer.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Franz Schubert (1996). Director: Malcolm Hossick. A brief film profile of the composer, part of the Famous Composers series. Video.

Other Sources

Clive, H.P. Schubert and His World: A Biographical Dictionary. New York: Oxford University Press, 1997. 310pp. In a series of informative entries, this useful reference volume covers multiple aspects of Schubert’s life, milieu, and associates.

Erickson, Raymond, ed. Schubert’s Vienna. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1997. 283pp. With chapters by various scholars, this book details life in Vienna during Schubert’s period, illuminating Viennese culture, society, and politics.

Gibbs, Christopher, ed. The Cambridge Companion to Schubert. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1997. 340pp. This collection of critical essays examines various aspects of the composer’s life and music.

420. ROBERT SCHUMANN

1810–1856

German composer, influential music critic, and leader of the romantic movement, Schumann’s articles championed such composers as Chopin and Brahms. He wrote brilliant piano compositions and composed songs and orchestral music. He died in a sanitarium, which he had entered after suffering a nervous breakdown in 1854. He was married to the outstanding pianist and composer, Clara Schumann. Robert Schumann’s works include the 1840 song cycles Frauenliebe und-Leben and Dichterliebe, Spring Symphony (1841), Piano Concerto in A Minor (1846), and the Rhenish Symphony (1850).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Complete Correspondence of Clara and Robert Schumann. Eva Weissweiler, ed. New York: P. Lang, 1994–1996. 2 vols. This collection of letters offers the reader insights into the couple’s private and professional lives as well as their relationship with several musical associates, including Liszt, Chopin, and Mendelssohn.

The Marriage Diaries of Robert and Clara Schumann. Gerd Nauhaus, ed. Boston: Northeastern University Press, 1993. 416pp. Covering the period 1840 to 1844, these joint diary entries illuminate the couple’s relationship and their views on intimate as well as professional matters. It includes their candid comments on musical associates, such as Liszt and Mendelssohn.

Recommended Biographies

Daverio, John. Robert Schumann: Herald of a New Poetic Age. New York: Oxford University Press, 1997. 607pp. In the most comprehensive study that incorporates new documentary evidence, Daverio supplies a judicious and nuanced portrait of a complex figure that reexamines conventional wisdom regarding the composer’s genius, career, and details of his private life. Full of fresh and original insight, Daverio’s is likely to remain the definitive life for some time to come.

Niecks, Frederick. Robert Schumann. Christina Niecks, ed. New York: Dutton, 1925. 336pp. Niecks’s reliable, balanced biographical account remains one of the best studies available on the composer. Based on the author’s own acquaintance with Schumann and interviews with his associates, the book provides a richly detailed account of every period of Schumann’s career. The author did not complete a planned second critical volume on the composer’s music, so the musical commentary here is only related to Schumann’s biographical experiences and creative method.

Taylor, Ronald. Robert Schumann: His Life and Work. New York: Universe Books, 1982. 354pp. In a well-written narrative biography for the general reader, Taylor concentrates on Schumann’s life and sets his story against the cultural and intellectual background of his time. Sensible and balanced, Taylor avoids the sentimental excesses of previous biographical treatments for a credible, human portrait.

Other Biographical Studies

Bedford, Herbert. Robert Schumann: His Life and Work. New York: Harper, 1925. 267pp. Bedford’s biographical profile sets Schumann in the context of the romantic movement, tracing the developments of his life and genius as an expression of the values of his era.

Brion, Marcel. Schumann and the Romantic Age. New York: Macmillan, 1956. 375pp. Brion’s study places Schumann in the context of German romanticism and offers not a full biography but a character sketch with musical judgments that are not always reliable.

Chissell, Joan. Schumann. London: Dent, 1948. 275pp. Chissell provides a reliable summary of Schumann’s life along with a critical appreciation of his music.

Fuller-Maitland, J.A. Schumann. 1884. Reprint ed. Port Washington, New York: Kennikat Press, 1970. 150pp. This early critical biography includes both a section on Schumann’s life and a critical analysis of his works.

Litzmann, Berthold. Clara Schumann: An Artist’s Life. London: Macmillan, 1913. 2 vols. An abridged translation of the three-volume German study published in 1902, this is an important reference source for information on both Clara and Robert Schumann with excerpts from the couple’s diaries and correspondence. Not a critical biography, Litzmann’s study allows Clara Schumann to tell her story mainly in her own words.

Ostwald, Peter. Schumann: The Inner Voices of a Musical Genius. Boston: Northeastern University Press, 1985. 390pp. The author, a practicing psychiatrist and amateur musician, traces the details of Schumann’s life with an emphasis on the composer’s medical and psychiatric history, offering an exact diagnosis of Schumann’s physical and mental condition based on primary sources. Although highly speculative, Ostwald’s view is provocative and daring, offering many revealing insights into Schumann’s personality and the origins of his many torments.

Plantings, Leon B. Schumann as Critic. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1967. 354pp. Plantings’s specialized scholarly study focuses on Schumann as editor and musical critic. By carefully documenting Schumann’s literary activities, the book provides many insights into the composer’s aesthetics, his views on contemporary music and musicians, and his mental and philosophical approach to his art.

Reich, Nancy B. Clara Schumann: The Artist and the Woman. Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1985. 346pp. The best modern study of Clara Schumann available in English, Reich’s carefully documented study sheds considerable light on her relationship with Schumann and the wider musical and literary circle of the couple.

Schauffler, Robert H. Florestan: The Life and Work of Robert Schumann. New York: Holt, 1945. 574pp. Divided into biographical and critical sections, Schauffler’s analysis of Schumann’s personality and genius is an uneven mix of primary sources, anecdotes, and psychological speculation. Written in an informal, popular style. Schauffler animates the drama of Schumann’s life, but much of the book’s interpretations are highly questionable.

Walker, Alan. Schumann. London: Faber and Faber, 1976. 128pp. This is an extremely useful succinct account of the significant details and controversies surrounding Schumann’s life and career based on modern research, and serves as an excellent starting point or synthesis for the reader looking for an orientation to the issues that continue to be debated by Schumann scholars.

Wasielewski, Joseph Wilhelm von. Life of Robert Schumann. Boston: O.Ditson, 1871. 275pp. The first Schumann biography is based on the author’s firsthand knowledge of the composer and interviews with his associates. The book also collects a number of important primary sources.

Biographical Novels

Painter, Eleanor. Spring Symphony. New York: Harper, 1941. 362pp. Drawing on Clara and Robert Schumann’s correspondence, this biographical novel focuses on their relationship in a partly factual, partly sentimental handling.

White, Hilda. Song Without End: The Love Story of Clara and Robert Schumann. New York: Dutton, 1959. 300pp. White’s fictional biography begins in 1832 and covers the years of the couple’s marriage in a romanticized treatment with invented dialogue and situations.

Fictional Portraits

La Mure, Pierre. Beyond Desire: A Novel Based on the Life of Felix and Cécile Mendelssohn. New York: Random House, 1955. 310pp. Mendelssohn’s life is dramatized with an emphasis on his relationship with the opera singer Maria Sala and his married life. The novel also offers a convincing portrait of its era with appearances by a number of historical figures, including Chopin, Schumann, and Wagner.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Dowley, Tim. Schumann: His Life and Time. New York: Hippocrene Books, 1982. 144pp. MG/YA. Dowley’s is a reliable and detailed account of the composer’s life in his wider cultural contexts that serves younger and general readers as a useful introduction.

Kyle, Elisabeth. Duet: The Story of Clara and Robert Schumann. New York: Dutton, 1959. 300pp. YA. This fictionalized biography concentrates on the early years of the Schumanns’ relationship.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Song of Love (1947). Director: Clarence Brown. Paul Henreid and Katharine Hepburn portray the Schumanns in this film portrait with Robert Walker as Johannes Brahms and Henry Daniell as Liszt. Video.

Other Sources

Todd, R.Larry, ed. Schumann and His World. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1994. 395pp. This collection of critical essays by a variety of scholars explores various aspects of Schumann’s life and music, as well as unpublished correspondence between Clara Schumann and Felix and Paul Mendelssohn.

421. ALBERT SCHWEITZER

1875–1965

Alsatian medical missionary, theologian, and musician. Schweitzer established (1913) a hospital at Lambaréné, Gabon (then French Equatorial Africa), to which he devoted his life. He was an authority on Bach and a noted performer of Bach’s organ music. Frequently honored for his inspiring humanitarian work, he was awarded the 1952 Nobel Peace Prize. His many writings include The Quest of the Historical Jesus (1906), Philosophy of Civilization (1923), From My African Notebook (1936), and Reverence for Life (tr. 1969).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Letters. 1905–1965. Hans W.Bähr, ed. New York: Macmillan, 1992. 420pp. In a rich selection of Schweitzer’s voluminous correspondence, each stage of his varied career is represented allowing a view of the man that humanizes the Schweitzer of legend.

Out of My Life and Thought: An Autobiography. New York: Holt, 1933. 274pp. This is an intimate, unsentimental self-assessment of Schweitzer’s life, career, and the process that led to his African mission. Essential for getting a sense of the man and his ideas.

Recommended Biographies

Marshall, George, and David Poling. Schweitzer: A Biography. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1971. 392pp. Confirmed in its reliability by Schweitzer’s daughter in its foreword, this is a detailed, illustrated biography that surveys Schweitzer’s many careers as philosopher, theologian, musician, and doctor. Although sympathetic, the book looks at Schweitzer clearly with his decision to work in Africa shown as a understandable human decision based on his character and past experiences.

Seaver, George. Albert Schweitzer: The Man and His Mind. 1947. Revised ed. New York: Harper, 1955. 370pp. Seaver’s well-documented, intellectual biography traces the stages of Schweitzer’s life and thought as well as his accomplishments in his various careers in Europe and Africa.

Other Biographical Studies

Augustiny, Waldemar. The Road to Lambaréné: A Biography of Albert Schweitzer. London: F.Muller, 1956. 228pp. This biography was edited and approved by Schweitzer and represents the version of Schweitzer’s story that he wanted published.

Berman, Edgar Dr. In Africa with Schweitzer. New York: New Horizon Press, 1986. 308pp. Based on the author’s 1960 stay with Schweitzer in Africa, this memoir offers details of the challenges faced as well as recollections of philosophical discussions with Schweitzer.

Brabazon, James. Albert Schweitzer: A Biography. New York: Putnam, 1975. 509pp. Staying close to the documentary sources of Schweitzer’s own writing, supplemented by interviews with associates and secondary sources, this comprehensive biography summarizes Schweitzer’s career, his philosophical and theological ideas, and his personality. Written to redress the balance after McKnight’s vitriolic attack on Schweitzer’s reputation, this is a far more sympathetic, heroic portrait.

Franck, Frederick. Days with Albert Schweitzer. New York: Holt, 1959. 178pp. A New York dentist who went to Schweitzer’s jungle hospital in 1958 to set up a dental clinic reports his impressions of Schweitzer, supplying a number of vivid details to a portrait of a dedicated humanitarian.

McKnight, Gerald. Verdict on Schweitzer: The Man Behind the Legend of Lambaréné. New York: J.Day, 1964. 254pp. Posing the opening question, “Is Schweitzer a saint or a fraud?” this debunking indictment concludes the latter in an often intemperate, biased attack. McKnight’s polemical demythologizing falls short of a balanced, realistic assessment.

Payne, Robert. The Three Worlds of Albert Schweitzer. New York: T.Nelson, 1957. 252pp. Schweitzer’s life and achievement are measured against the background of his activities in music, theology, and medicine. Sympathetic but not reverent, Payne’s account is a useful introduction to the man and his accomplishments.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Cranford, Gail. Albert Schweitzer. Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Silver Burden, 1990. 104pp. MG. Schweitzer’s entire life is covered in a lively, readable summary that includes direct quotes from Schweitzer’s writings.

Greene, Carol. Albert Schweitzer: Friend of All Life. Chicago: Childrens Press, 1993. 45pp. MG. Greene’s is a basic overview and appreciatory tribute that stresses Schweitzer’s achievement and benevolence.

Robles, Harold E. Albert Schweitzer: An Adventurer for Humanity. Brookfield, Connecticut: Millbrook Press, 1994. 64pp. MG. This is a straightforward, accessible biographical portrait that successfully animates Schweitzer’s life and accomplishments.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

The Spirit of Albert Schweitzer (1988). Producer: John Scudder. This film tribute features reminiscences by those who knew Schweitzer. Video.

422. SIR WALTER SCOTT

1771–1832

Scottish novelist and poet considered the inventor of the regional and historical novel, Scott published translations of German ballads and narrative poems, including The Lay of the Last Minstrel (1805) and The Lady of the Lake (1810). His first novel, Waverley (1814), was an immediate success and was followed by such equally popular works as Guy Mannering (1815), Rob Roy (1818), and The Heart of Midlothian (1818). His most famous work is Ivanhoe (1820).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Journal of Sir Walter Scott. W.E.K.Anderson, ed. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1972. 812pp. Scott’s diary gives a day-to-day account of his last six years of financial ruin and increasing ill health, as well as heroic fortitude.

The Letters of Sir Walter Scott. H.J.C.Grierson, ed. 1932–37. Reprinted. New York: AMS Press, 1971. 12 vols. The publication of Scott’s massive correspondence helped reshape and correct the impression of the writer popularized by Lockhart.

Recommended Biographies

Johnson, Edgar. Sir Walter Scott: The Great Unknown. New York: Macmillan, 1970. 2 vols. John-son’s excellent scholarly biography corrects the factual record and the fabrications of Lockhart. Included are sensible critical appreciations of Scott’s writings. Johnson’s enthusiasm for the man and his writing is infectious, and the reader will have a renewed appreciation for both with the aid of this impressive biography, still regarded as the standard life.

Sutherland, John. The Life of Walter Scott: A Critical Biography. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Blackwell, 1995. 386pp. Sutherland modulates Johnson’s enthusiasm for Scott and his writing with a more critical assessment that does not ignore the less favorable aspects of both. The book is particularly strong in drawing the connection between Scott’s creations and his experience and historical elements.

Wilson, A.M. The Laird of Abbotsford: A View of Sir Walter Scott. New York: Oxford University Press, 1980. 197pp. Wilson’s sympathetic reassessment of the writer whom the author contends was “the greatest single imaginative genius of the nineteenth century” takes the form of a series of topical essays exploring and relating various aspects of Scott’s life, career, and artistry.

Other Biographical Studies

Buchan, John. Sir Walter Scott. New York: Coward-McCann, 1932. 384pp. Buchan corrects some of Lockhart’s mistakes, but this lively and vivid biographical portrait is chiefly valuable as an entertaining narrative that animates Scott’s life and character against a fully realized historical and regional background.

Carswell, Donald. Scott and His Circle: With Four Portrait Studies. New York: Doubleday, 1930. 299pp. After an initial study of Scott as businessman, solicitor, sheriff, politician, and author, Carswell turns his attention to three of Scott’s friends: James Hogg, John Lockhart, and Joanna Baillie. Written to counter excessive admiration of Scott, Carswell emphasizes the writer’s human frailties and the mundane details of his life.

Clark, Arthur M. Sir Walter Scott: The Formative Years. New York: Barnes and Noble, 1970. 322pp. Clark’s study covers Scott’s early years before he wrote his novels, correcting a number of misconceptions and errors made by Lockhart and illuminating Scott’s early reading and his developing personality.

Daiches, David. Sir Walter Scott and His World. New York: Viking, 1971. 143pp. The illustrations overwhelm a brief but sensible text in which Scott’s life and literary activities are placed in the wider historical and cultural context.

Grierson, H.J.C. Sir Walter Scott. New York: Columbia University Press, 1938. 320pp. The editor of Scott’s letters offers a supplement and corrective to Lockhart’s life. Solid in its fact but dry, Grierson’s book is less to be read for pleasure than consulted as a reference source.

Gwynn, Stephen. The Life of Sir Walter Scott. Boston: Little, Brown, 1930. 384pp. This is a straightforward synthesis of Scott’s life based on Lockhart and Scott’s journals, along with critical chapters on Scott’s novels.

Lockhart, J.G. Memoirs of the Life of Sir Walter Scott, Bart. 1837. Reprint ed. New York: Dutton, 1969. 675pp. Lockhart’s much-admired biography lost considerable luster with the arrival of Edgar Johnson’s definitive study that pointed out the earlier book’s factual errors and inventions. Although it must be read with caution, Lockhart’s affectionate tribute still has the value of insights based on the author’s personal knowledge of the writer.

Pearson, Hesketh. Walter Scott: His Life and Personality. New York: Harper & Row, 1954. 295pp. Pearson’s popular biography is a highly colored and entertaining narrative, the first to draw on the scholarly editions of Scott’s letters and journal. Pope-Hennessy, Una. The Laird of Abbotsford. New York: Putnam, 1932. 310pp. Depending largely on Lockhart for its facts, Pope-Hennessy’s biographical profile is a lively, informal presentation of Scott’s writing career and character, underscoring a number of aspects of Scott’s life, particularly the hospitality of Abbotsford and the writer’s financial collapse.

Wagenknecht, Edward. Sir Walter Scott. New York: Continuum, 1991. 239pp. The first part of Wagenknecht’s study is a brief biographical portrait, followed by a chronological survey of his works, and ending with a final section devoted to the writer’s personality, interests, and habits.

Biographical Novels

Oliver, Jane. The Blue Heaven Bends over All. London: Collins, 1971. 384pp. Scott’s life and writing career are dramatized from childhood with authentic period and regional customs.

Fictional Portraits

Price, Eugenia. Bright Captivity. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1991. 631pp. The first book of the author’s Georgia trilogy is set during and following the War of 1812 and tells the story of an American woman who falls in love with and marries a British officer. They journey to England and Scotland where they meet Scott.

Scarborough, Elizabeth A. The Lady in the Loch. New York: Ace Books, 1998. 258pp. In this imaginative fantasy mystery, Scott is the newly appointed sheriff of Edinburgh who must investigate a series of grisly murders in an “alternative” Edinburgh.

423. WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE

1564–1616

English dramatist, poet, and actor-manager, Shakespeare is considered by many to be the greatest playwright in world literature. He was born and educated in Stratford-on-Avon and married Anne Hathaway, by whom he had three children. He moved to London, where he wrote and acted for the Lord Chamberlain’s Men and was a director and later part owner of the Globe and Blackfriars theatres. His first published works were the narrative poems Venus and Adonis (1593) and The Rape of Lucrece (1594). He composed 154 sonnets and 37 plays, the first of which was Henry VI (ca.1590). His last play was Two Noble Kinsmen (ca.1612).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Chambers, E.K.. William Shakespeare: A Study of Facts and Problems. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1930.2 vols. Chambers’s exhaustive scholarly collection of relevant documentary evidence concerning Shakespeare’s life is joined by the author’s analysis of the factual evidence, including a chronology of the plays. In A Short Life of Shakespeare (Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1963. 260pp.) Chambers synthesizes his documentary research into a factually reliable account of Shakespeare’s life and career.

Schoenbaum, S. Shakespeare: A Documentary Life. New York: Oxford University Press, 1975. 273pp; William Shakespeare: A Compact Documentary Life. New York: Oxford University Press, 1987. 384pp. Schoenbaum’s scholarly volumes collect the essential documentary evidence, which is woven into a factual, reliable narrative account. These are the volumes to consult to examine the sources and what reasonable biographical conclusions can be drawn from them.

Recommended Biographies

Chute, Marchette. Shakespeare of London. New York: Dutton, 1949. 397pp. Chute provides an entertaining, popular reconstruction of Shakespeare’s life and times based on contemporary source materials, which are woven into a vivid narrative animated with novelistic skill. Still an excellent choice for the general reader.

Honan, Park. Shakespeare: A Life. New York: Oxford University Press, 1998. 479pp. This is a comprehensive, well-written biographical portrait that incorporates modern scholarship into a reasonably argued, meticulously researched study. Honan sticks to the facts, filling the gaps with illuminating background details.

Schoenbaum, S. Shakespeare’s Lives. New York: Oxford University Press, 1970. 838pp. The book exhaustively and expertly surveys the various “Shakespeares,” factual, legendary, and fictional, as well the alternative Shakespeares, such as Marlowe, Bacon, and the Earl of Oxford, who have been offered as the real authors of the plays. Serving as a kind of biography of biographies, Schoenbaum’s lucid review of the existing evidence, conjecture, and fantasy is an essential summary of the controversy surrounding the repossession of the historical Shakespeare.

Wells, Stanley. Shakespeare: A Life in Drama. New York: W.W.Norton, 1995. 403pp. The author, the director of the Shakespeare Institute in England and the general editor of the “Oxford Shakespeare,” summarizes what is known about Shakespeare’s life and career in the theater before chronologically examining his plays and poems.

Other Biographical Studies

Adams, Joseph Quincy. A Life of William Shakespeare. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1923.560pp. In Adams’s scholarly account, the Elizabethan and theatrical background is brought to the foreground in order to view Shakespeare in his cultural context. The effect is to replace a mythical figure with a believable human one seen from the values and details of his time.

Bradbrook, M.C. Shakespeare: The Poet in His World. New York: Columbia University Press, 1980. 272pp. Described as an “applied biography,” Bradbrook’s study relates the known details of Shakespeare’s life and the development of English theatrical history to the wider context of the times. Full of fresh insights, the book offers plausible surmises based on a careful study of documentary sources.

Brown, Ivor. Shakespeare. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1949. 306pp. Written by a respected British drama critic and scholar, Brown presents the ascertainable facts and opinions of Shakespeare’s life along with a vivid recreation of the playwright’s times.

Burgess, Anthony. Shakespeare. New York: Knopf, 1970. 272pp. In an informal account of the main facts about Shakespeare’s life, along with a good deal of speculation, Burgess provides an entertaining, eccentric, informative narrative treatment.

Dowden, Edward. Shakespeare: A Critical Study of His Mind and Art. New York: Barnes and Noble, 1875. 434pp. One of the earliest full-scale biographical profiles, Dowden compensates for the paucity of factual evidence by arguing that the plays and poetry reveal the man, and the author constructs a subjective, speculative inner history of the stages of the playwright’s growth to maturity.

Dutton, Richard. William Shakespeare: A Literary Life. New York: St. Martin’s, 1994. 180pp. Not a conventional biography, Dutton instead traces Shakespeare’s literary career through a close examination of the works and what they reveal to us about the playwright’s creative method.

Eccles, Mark. Shakespeare in Warwickshire. Madison: University of Wisconsin Press, 1961. 182pp. Eccles focuses on Shakespeare’s background and roots in Stratford to help explain the man and his values. Careful in its documentation, the book sheds considerable light on Shakespeare’s development.

Fraser, Russell A. Young Shakespeare. New York: Columbia University Press, 1988. 247pp. Tracing the connection between Shakespeare’s life and art, Fraser interprets how the playwright lived, worked, and created in a unified, coherent portrait of his first 30 years. Full of fresh and original insights the book attempts to show how Shakespeare’s background and early memories played a key role in his developing genius.

Halliday, F.E. Shakespeare: A Pictorial Biography. New York: Viking, 1956. 147pp. A simple, straightforward summary text of what we know about Shakespeare’s life, along with conjecture, is joined to handsome illustrations of sites associated with the playwright and facsimiles of records.

Kay, Dennis. William Shakespeare: His Life and Times. New York: Twayne, 1995. 186pp. Kay presents a concise summary of Shakespeare’s life against a solid period background, tracing the context out of which the writer’s works were created.

Laroque, François. The Age of Shakespeare. New York: Abrams, 1993. 191pp. This richly detailed, lavishly illustrated biographical portrait integrates the known facts of Shakespeare’s life with his political, social, and artistic background.

Lee, Sir Sidney. Life of William Shakespeare. 1898. Reprint ed. New York: Dover, 1968. 792pp. Lee attempted to reign in the subjective excesses of Dowden and others by refocusing on what is known rather than what the plays and poems suggest about Shakespeare. Unfortunately, reliable evidence is still intermixed with the legendary.

O’Connor, Garry. William Shakespeare: A Popular Life. New York: Applause Books, 1999. 377pp. O’Connor’s impressionistic, informal biography takes a psychosexual approach, attempting to humanize the bard, setting the man clearly in his era, while freely speculating about Shakespeare’s thoughts and motives. Lists and tables at the end of the book helpfully outline facts and conjecture about Shakespeare.

Pohl, Frederick J. Like to the Lark: The Early Years of Shakespeare. New York: C.N.Potter, 1972. 195pp. Pohl raises the many questions that remain unanswered surrounding Shakespeare’s early life and offers his own intriguing but highly speculative solutions. Although conclusive answers are impossible in the absence of more factual evidence, Pohl’s energetic assurance that an authentic Shakespeare can be known is refreshing.

Quennell, Peter. Shakespeare: A Biography. Cleveland: World, 1963. 352pp. Combining documentary evidence with what can be gleaned from Shakespeare’s works and through his times, Quennell supplies a credible, nuanced portrait of the man that is more judicious and balanced than most.

Rowse, A.L. Shakespeare: A Biography. New York: Harper & Row, 1963. 484pp. Rowse concentrates on Shakespeare’s sonnets, which are mined for biographical details. Highly speculative, Rowse’s findings should be read with caution as they are more provocative than provable; Shakespeare the Man (New York: St. Martin’s, 1988. 253pp.) restates his earlier contentions and confidently identifies the dark lady of the sonnets.

Wagenknecht, Edward. The Personality of Shakespeare. Norman: University of Oklahoma Press, 1972. 190pp. Wagenknecht applies his “psychographic method” to what can be learned about Shakespeare’s character and temperament by the known facts and a close reading of the work. Highly speculative and unprovable, this is more a lively exercise in the imagination than a reliable study.

Wilson, Ian. Shakespeare: The Evidence: Unlocking the Mysteries of the Man and His Works. New York: St. Martin’s, 1995. 498pp. Wilson takes up most of the controversies surrounding Shakespeare’s life and authorship, which are addressed by reference to the documentary and historical evidence. Includes a Shakespeare family tree, chronology, and selection of documents.

Biographical Novels

Brophy, John. Gentleman of Stratford. New York: Harper, 1940. 348pp. Staying close to the known facts and drawing conclusions about Shakespeare’s character from his writing, the novel dramatizes the playwright’s career with a convincing period background.

Buckmaster, Henrietta. All the Living: A Novel of One Year in the Life of William Shakespeare. New York: Random House, 1962. 523pp. The year is 1600 in this dramatic recreation of Shakespeare’s involvement with the Dark Lady of the sonnets and his participation in the Essex conspiracy. The historical background is reliable, but Shakespeare’s activities are based on plausible conjectures.

Burgess, Anthony. Nothing Like the Sun: A Story of Shakespeare’s Love Life. New York: W.W. Norton, 1964. 234pp. Shakespeare in love is Burgess’s focus in this inventive recreation of the playwright’s life in Stratford and London, speculating about the inspiration for his poetry and the personal basis for the plays. Burgess interweaves invention, facts, and an impressive period animation.

Burton, Philip. You, My Brother: A Novel Based on the Lives of Edmund and William Shakespeare. New York: Random House, 1973. 561pp. Richly textured and solidly researched, the novel follows the activities of Shakespeare’s younger brother who, at the peak of his elder brother’s career, becomes an apprentice at the Globe and is plunged into the world of his famous sibling.

Chambrun, Clara Longworth de. Two Loves Have I. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1934. 366pp. Filling in the biographical gaps with intriguing speculation, the novel supplies a portrait of Shakespeare that answers several intriguing mysteries with plausible and dubious conjecture.

Cowell, Stephanie. The Players. New York: W.W. Norton, 1997. 353pp. Shakespeare’s apprenticeship in London is dramatized as he begins his career as an actor and playwright in the center of a lively circle that includes Marlowe and Jonson.

Fisher, Edward. Shakespeare & Son. New York: Abelard-Schuman, 1962. 214pp.; Love’s Labour’s Won. New York: Abelard-Schuman, 1963. 224pp.; The Best House in Stratford. New York: Abelard-Schuman, 1965. 220pp. Fisher’s trilogy on Shakespeare’s life and literary career follows him from the age of 15, through the lost years, until his retirement to Stratford. Although mostly speculative, the novels provide a convincing period atmosphere and a credible psychological profile.

Malpass, Eric. Sweet Will. New York: St. Martin’s, 1974. 287pp.; The Cleopatra Boy. New York: St. Martin’s, 1974. 240pp.; A House of Women. New York: St. Martin’s, 1975. 224pp. Malpass’s trilogy chronicles Shakespeare’s life from his early years in Stratford, his London theatrical success, through his retirement. What is known for certain is present, supplemented with invention and plausible surmises.

Mortimer, John. Will Shakespeare: The Untold Story. New York: Delacorte, 1977. 256pp. Blending fact, legend, and invention, the novel, told from the perspective of a one-time boy actor, chronicles Shakespeare’s rise to success.

Fictional Portraits

Barker, Shirley. Liza Bowe. New York: Random House, 1956. 245pp. In a colorful depiction of the Mermaid Tavern’s personalities and activities, many actual figures, including Marlowe, Nash, Kyd, and Shakespeare, intermingle with the novel’s fictional story of a young tavern maid and a Thames boatman.

Brahms, Caryl. No Bed for Bacon. London: M.Joseph, 1941. 224pp. History is repossessed as farce with Shakespeare depicted as a commercial hack and Francis Bacon as an ineffectual dandy.

Burgess, Anthony. A Dead Man in Deptford. New York: Carroll & Graf, 1995. 272pp. Burgess’s imaginative reconstruction of Christopher Marlowe’s life includes a brief appearance by the up-and-coming newcomer from Stratford.

Garrett, George. Entered from the Sun. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1990. 349pp. This imaginative investigation of the facts surrounding Marlowe’s death by an actor and aging army veteran includes testimony from Shakespeare and Ben Jonson.

Hayes, Tony. Murder on the Twelfth Night. Bell Buckle, Tennessee: Iris Press, 1993. 155pp. In this inventive period mystery, Shakespeare joins forces with Ben Jonson to find a murderer before Puritans can close down the theaters.

Jong, Erica. Serenissima: A Novel of Venice. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1987. 225pp. In an inventive time-travel novel, a Hollywood actress is transported back to sixteenth-century Venice where she meets Shakespeare as he is writing The Merchant of Venice.

Kellerman, Faye. The Quality of Mercy. New York: Morrow, 1989. 607pp. In this intriguing period mystery, Shakespeare is shown investigating the murder of a fellow actor and joining forces with a young Jewish woman for an excursion to Spain to help release Jews from the Inquisition.

MacInnes, Colin. Three Years to Play. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1970. 365pp. This fanciful story offers the source for Shakespeare’s As You Like It as a young actor’s experiences are transformed.

Nye, Robert. Mrs. Shakespeare: The Complete Works. London: Sinclair-Stevenson, 1993. 216pp. This comic treatment of Shakespeare’s life and times takes the form of an account written by Anne Hathaway of a week she spends with her husband in London in which she reveals that she is the Dark Lady of the sonnets and confirms her husband’s bisexuality. In The Late Mr. Shakespeare (New York: Arcade, 1999. 398pp.) Shakespeare’s life and times are narrated by an octogenarian former actor who mixes fact, fantasy, anecdotes, and gossip in an often outrageous, original treatment.

Rooke, Leon. Shakespeare’s Dog. New York: Knopf, 1983. 157pp. In a dog’s eye view of Shakespeare, the playwright’s dog, Mr. Hooker, provides a unique perspective on his master.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Shellard, Dominic. William Shakespeare. New York: Oxford University Press, 1998. 128pp. MG. Shellard covers what is known about Shakespeare’s life with a view of the political and social background of Elizabethan England.

Stanley, Diane, and Peter Vennema. Bard of Avon: The Story of William Shakespeare. New York: Morrow, 1992. 46pp. MG. A brief, reliable biography using only historically sound evidence.

Thrasher, Thomas. William Shakespeare. San Diego: Lucent Books, 1999. 108pp. MG. Thrasher’s is an informative biographical profile that connects the known facts with period details to animate the writer and his times.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: William Shakespeare: A Life of Drama (1996). Director: Rebecca Jones. A film portrait using dramatic readings, film excerpts, and location footage. Video.

Life of Shakespeare (1978). Director: Mark Cunningham. In a dramatic speculation about Shakespeare’s life, Tim Curry portrays Shakespeare, Meg Wynn Owen is Anne Hathaway, Ian McShane appears as Marlowe, and Patience Collier is Elizabeth I. Video.

Shakespeare in Love (1998). Director: John Madden. In an inventive screenplay by Marc Norman and Tom Stoppard, this lushly evocative fantasy about the origin of Romeo and Juliet features standout performances by Joseph Fiennes as the bard with inky fingernails, Gwyneth Paltrow, Geoffrey Rush, Ruppert Everett as Marlowe, and Judi Dench as Elizabeth I. Video.

William Shakespeare: Poet and Dramatist, 1564–1616 (1993). Director: Malcolm Hossick. Using contemporary drawings, paintings, and portraits, Shakespeare’s life is chronicled, including a portrait of his social and historical background. Video.

Other Sources

Bentley, Gerald E. Shakespeare: A Biographical Handbook. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1961. 256pp. This scholarly reference tool collects and comments on the relevant documentary evidence.

Boyce, Charles. Shakespeare A to Z. New York: Facts on File, 1990. 742pp. Alphabetical listings of people, places, and events associated with Shakespeare’s life and career.

Campbell, Oscar J., ed. The Reader’s Encyclopedia of Shakespeare. New York: Crowell, 1966. 1,014pp. Campbell’s detailed collection of articles covers virtually every aspect of Shakespeare’s life, writings, and reputation. Each play is covered in detail with commentary on performance history.

Fox, Levi. The Shakespeare Handbook. Boston: G.K.Hall, 1987. 264pp. Along with a chronology, the book provides chapters on Shakespeare’s life, Elizabethan and theatrical background, and a summary of the plays, films, and performances.

Kasten, David S., ed. A Companion to Shakespeare. Maiden, Massachusetts: Blackwell, 1999. 523pp. A collection of essays that examines aspects of Shakespeare’s theatrical, political, intellectual, and social background.

Martin, Michael R., and Richard C.Harrier. The Concise Encyclopedic Guide to Shakespeare. New York: Horizon Press, 1971. 450pp. Intended for the general reader, this volume offers a rich collection of background information, synopses of the plays, listings of characters, and biographical sketches of those associated with Shakespeare.

Rosenblum, Joseph, ed. Shakespeare. Pasadena, California: Salem Press, 1998. 482pp. Includes a brief biographical summary along with analytical surveys of the plays and poetry.

Wells, Stanley. A Dictionary of Shakespeare. New York: Oxford University Press, 1998. 234pp. This concise, illustrated reference source covers all aspects of Shakespeare, his time, impact, and influ

424. GEORGE BERNARD SHAW

1856–1950

Irish playwright and critic who invigorated the Victorian theatre with his witty, ironic plays of serious philosophical and social content, Shaw also worked as a journalist and music critic in London. As a drama critic, he promoted the plays of Henrik Ibsen. A dedicated socialist, Shaw became a leader of the Fabian Society and a popular public speaker on behalf of socialism. His plays include Mrs. Warren’s Profession (1893), Caesar and Cleopatra (1899), Major Barbara (1905), Man and Superman (1905), Pygmalion (1913), and Saint Joan (1923). He received the 1925 Nobel Prize for Literature.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Bernard Shaw: The Diaries, 1885–1897. Stanley Weintraub, ed. University Park: Pennsylvania State University Press, 1986. 2 vols. Shaw’s diaries are indispensable sources for revealing his formative years and the evolution of his genius.

Collected Letters. Dan H.Laurence, ed. New York: Viking, 1985–88. 4 vols. Shaw’s correspondence makes up a fascinating record of his energy, relationships, and multiple sides. The letters cover everything from his comments on his plays and their production and business matters, to his ongoing dialogue with a wide circle of friends and associates.

Shaw: An Autobiography. Stanley Weintraub, ed. New York: Weybright and Talley, 1969–1970. 2 vols. A variety of sources are arranged chronologically by Weintraub to simulate a full-scale reflection of Shaw’s life in his own words.

Recommended Biographies

Dervin, Daniel. Bernard Shaw: A Psychological Study. Lewisburg, Pennsylvania: Bucknell University Press, 1975. 350pp. Dervin traces the effects of Shaw’s early family relationships and other influences on his development in a Freudian reading that provides a useful analysis of the connections between Shaw’s experiences and his works.

Holroyd, Michael. Bernard Shaw. New York: Random House, 1988–1992. 4 vols. Holroyd’s monumental life is one of the classic literary biographies. Authoritative, perceptive as well as exhaustive, requiring more than 15 years to research and write, Holroyd synthesizes all the relevant source material into a full-length portrait that makes the man and his remarkable career comprehensible in human, artistic, and social terms. Holroyd’s single-volume abridgement, Bernard Shaw: The One-Volume Definitive Edition (New York: Random House, 1998. 704pp.) eliminates the documentation and concentrates on Shaw’s literary career and the significant moments in Shaw’s long life.

Hugo, Leon. Edwardian Shaw: The Writer and His Age. New York: St. Martin’s, 1999. 320pp. Chronicling Shaw’s life and career during Edward VII’s reign from 1901 to 1910, this is a sensible, detailed presentation of Shaw’s various interests, activities, and artistic development in the context of his times.

Peters, Sally. Bernard Shaw: The Ascent of the Superman. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1996. 328pp. Peters’s insightful, controversial interpretation of Shaw’s emotional and intellectual development focuses on the often repressed and disguised core of his makeup, including gender ambivalence and homosexuality. Many of Peters’s conclusions are highly speculative, if not extravagant, fitting Shaw’s life to the concealed pattern she has uncovered, but the book is never dull and provides a different paradigm to view Shaw’s temperament and development.

Other Biographical Studies

Brown, Ivor. Shaw in His Time. London: Nelson, 1965. 212pp. Shaw’s character, ideas, and works are reviewed against the political, social, intellectual, and artistic context of his era. Provides a useful overview in breadth rather than depth.

Chappelow, Allan. Shaw the Villager and Human Being: A Biographical Symposium. New York: Macmillan, 1962. 354pp.; “The Chucker-Out”: A Biographical Exposition and Critique. New York: AMS Press, 1969. 558pp. The author’s two volumes collect Shaw’s own words from letters, speeches, lectures, and conversations with the author as well as comments from Shaw’s neighbors at Ayot St. Lawrence.

Colbourne, Maurice. The Real Bernard Shaw. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1940. 342pp. Colbourne, a producer, actor, and admirer, attempts to synthesize Shaw’s many ideas and works into a unified philosophy. The first portion of the book provides a biographical portrait; the rest is critical commentary and interpretation.

DuCann, Charles G.L. The Loves of George Bernard Shaw. New York: Funk & Wagnalls, 1963. 300pp. This is a journalistic, arch, gossipy, and mainly hostile review of Shaw’s relationships with women. Readers looking to learn anything substantive about Shaw’s relationships with the women in his life should turn to Peters.

Ervine, St. John. Bernard Shaw: His Life, Work, and Friends. New York: Morrow, 1956. 628pp. Written by an Anglo-Irish playwright and a friend of Shaw for more than 40 years, Ervine’s biographical portrait is based on his own knowledge and the memories of others. Despite his friendship, Ervine is not uncritical, and his readable account is packed with anecdotes and personal insights.

Harris, Frank. Bernard Shaw: An Unauthorized Biography Based on Firsthand Information. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1931. 430pp. Although billed as unauthorized, the book had Shaw’s input in the form of corrections to the proofs and a postscript. Less a full-scale biography than a sketchy series of impressions based on the author’s association with the playwright.

Henderson, Archibald. George Bernard Shaw, His Life and Works: A Critical Biography. New York: Boni and Liveright, 1918. 528pp.; Bernard Shaw: Playboy and Prophet. New York: Appleton, 1932. 871pp.; George Bernard Shaw: Man of the Century. New York: Appleton-Century, 1956. 969pp. Henderson’s successively longer biographical and critical tomes in which each subsequent volume revises and supersedes the previous one draw on the author’s intimacy with Shaw and received his cooperation. The result is often a disorderly compilation of facts, naive assessment, and extravagant praise.

Irvine, William. The Universe of G.B.S. New York: Whittlesey House, 1949. 439pp. Irvine’s intellectual biography traces Shaw’s artistic and philosophical development in a sympathetic yet critical assessment. The book’s biographical coverage is sporadic and limited, but the book does provide a valuable summary of the range and nature of Shaw’s intellect.

Pearson, Hesketh. George Bernard Shaw: His Life and Personality. 1942. Revised ed. New York: Atheneum, 1963. 480pp.; G.B.S.: A Full-Length Portrait. New York: Harper, 1942. 390pp.; G.B.S.: A Postscript. New York: Harper, 1950. 191pp.

Pearson’s sequence of anecdotal biographical portraits is packed with vivid glimpses of Shaw’s personality but lacks critical distance and objectivity. Rosset, B.C. Shaw of Dublin: The Formative Years. University Park: Pennsylvania State University Press, 1964. 388pp. Rosset’s intriguing study of the impact of Shaw’s Irish childhood on his development centers on the question of the playwright’s paternity and Shaw’s fear that his mother’s adulterous relationship would be uncovered.

Shenfield, Margaret. Bernard Shaw: A Pictorial Biography. New York: Viking, 1962. 144pp. A chronological arrangement of photographs of Shaw and his milieu is connected by a straightforward, though compact summary of his life and times. This book will serve to orient general readers.

Silver, Arnold J. Bernard Shaw: The Darker Side. Stanford, California: Stanford University Press, 1982. 353pp. In a psychological profile from a Freudian perspective, Silver identifies a conflict between Shaw’s humane impulses and darker destructive passions. Their origins are traced from his childhood, his problematic relationships with his parents, and the various women in his life.

Smith, J.Percy. The Unrepentant Pilgrim: A Study of the Development of Bernard Shaw. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1965. 274pp. This documentary examination of Shaw’s literary development during his 20s and 30s relies on the playwright’s diaries, letters, and writings to trace his evolution as a writer and thinker.

Weintraub, Stanley. Private Shaw and Public Shaw: A Dual Biography of Lawrence of Arabia and George Bernard Shaw. New York: G. Braziller, 1963. 302pp. This detailed and fascinating account of Shaw’s friendship with T.E.Lawrence is based on previously unpublished material from the Shaw and Lawrence estates and sheds considerable light on Shaw’s friendship with Lawrence from the early 1920s to Lawrence’s death on a motorcycle, a gift from the Shaws, in 1935.

Weintraub, Stanley. Journey to Heartbreak: The Crucible Years of Bernard Shaw 1914–1918. New York: Weybright and Talley, 1971. 368pp. Weintraub focuses on the war years in which Shaw’s vocal opposition to the carnage created a heated debate between Shaw and his prowar opponents. Weintraub documents the many stages in their battle, as well as the intellectual and artistic impact on Shaw of his wartime attitudes.

Weintraub, Stanley. The Unexpected Shaw: Biographical Approaches to George Bernard Shaw and His Work. New York”: Frederick Ungar, 1982. 254pp. In a collection of essays and introductions, Weintraub provides biographical and critical portraits of Shaw in unfamiliar guises: as prizefighting enthusiast, art critic, actor, and Irish patriot. The book also uncovers sources for many of the plays from Shaw’s experiences, reading, and acquaintances.

Winsten, Stephen. Days with Bernard Shaw. New York: Vanguard, 1949. 327pp.; Shaw’s Corner. New York: Roy, 1952. 238pp.; Jesting Apostle: The Private Life of Bernard Shaw. New York: Dutton, 1957. 231pp. Winsten, Shaw’s neighbor at Ayot St. Lawrence, provides his perspective in a series of volumes featuring recorded conversations. The 1957 book offers a more analytical and less admiring synthesis of the author’s impressions of Shaw’s personality and attitudes.

Fictional Portraits

Linscott, Gillian. Stage Fright. New York: St. Martin’s, 1993. 188pp. In this installment of the author’s entertaining historical mystery series, suffragette Nell Bray is called in by Shaw when one of his leading ladies begins to receive threats.

Meyer, Nicholas. The West End Horror. New York: Dutton, 1976. 222pp. An 1895 murder of a theater critic launches Sherlock Holmes into a complex mystery that involves such historical figures as George Bernard Shaw and Oscar Wilde.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Coolidge, Olivia E. George Bernard Shaw. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1968. 226pp. YA. This is a skillfully written biography that covers the major events of Shaw’s life and provides a critical assessment of his works and ideas. Recommended for the general adult reader as well.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

George Bernard Shaw: A Concise Biography (1993). Director: Malcolm Hossick. This film portrait illustrates the highlights of Shaw’s life and career against the background of his times. Video.

Other Sources

Gibbs, A.M. Shaw: Interviews and Recollections. Iowa City: University of Iowa Press, 1990. 560pp. Collects multiple glimpses of Shaw from friends and associates excerpted from other works, as well as interviews with the playwright.

Hardwick, Michael, and Mollie Hardwick. The Bernard Shaw Companion. London: J.Murray, 1973. 193pp. This reference volume features a chronology of the works, plot summaries, a who’s who, a sampling of quotes, and a brief biographical profile.

Innes, Christopher D., ed. The Cambridge Companion to George Bernard Shaw. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1998. 320pp. In essays by scholars and critics, this useful collection surveys multiple aspects of Shaw’s drama, ideas, and character.

Rattray, Robert F. Bernard Shaw: A Chronicle. New York: Roy, 1951. 347pp. Details about Shaw’s life, activities, and work are arranged to form an extensive chronology from 1865 to Shaw’s death.

425. MARY SHELLEY

1797–1851

The daughter of feminist writer Mary Wollstonecraft and political philosopher William Godwin, and the wife of Romantic poet Percy Bysshe Shelley, Mary Shelley is famous for her Gothic horror novel Frankenstein (1818). She wrote other novels, including the partly autobiographical Lodore (1835), and edited her husband’s works.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Journals of Mary Wollstonecraft Shelley. Paula R.Feldman and Diane Scott-Kilvert, eds. New York: Oxford University Press, 1987. 2 vols. The journals cover the years 1814, when Mary eloped with Shelley, to 1844, seven years before her death, and along with the volumes’ notes form a coherent chronicle of the author’s life. Includes a chronology, maps of the Shelleys’s travels, and portraits and biographical profiles of the members of the Shelleys’ social circle.

The Letters of Mary Wollstonecraft Shelley. Betty T.Bennett, ed. Baltimore: Johns Hopkins University Press, 1980–1988. 3 vols. Mary Shelley’s 1,276 extant letters illuminate her personality and intellectual and artistic interests, as well as her relationship with a wide circle of famous individuals, including Byron, Keats, Scott, Washington Irving, Charles and Mary Lamb, and Disraeli.

Selected Letters of Mary Wollstonecraft Shelley. Betty T.Bennett, ed. Baltimore: Johns Hopkins University Press, 1994. 480pp. This selection of 230 of Shelley’s letters cover the period 1814, shortly after her elopement, through 1850, a few months before her death. Also includes the editor’s introductory biographical and critical portrait of the author.

Recommended Biographies

Mellor, Anne K. Mary Shelley: Her Life, Her Fiction, Her Monsters. New York: Methuen, 1988. 275pp. Mellor perceptively draws the connections between Mary Shelley’s life and her work, focusing on the origin and biographical insights contained in her most famous book. In Mellor’s view, Frankenstein reveals Shelley’s refusal to provide Mary with a normal family life as well as her unhappy childhood. The book uses Marxist and feminist theory for fresh elucidation of aspects of Shelley’s temperament and genius.

Spark, Muriel. Child of Light. 1951. Revised as Mary Shelley: A Biography. New York: Dutton, 1987. 248pp. Novelist Spark supplies an accessible account of Shelley’s life and works designed for the general reader. Dividing her book into biographical and critical sections, Spark presents an entertaining overview that summarizes the important events in Shelley’s life and development, along with a reasonable appreciation of her works.

Sunstein, Emily W. Mary Shelley: Romance and Reality. Boston: Little, Brown, 1989. 478pp. Sunstein’s is the leading scholarly biography that makes full use of primary sources and modern scholarship. The book looks clearly at Shelley’s entire life, succeeding where many other treatments fall short in demonstrating Shelley’s importance in her own right. Her years with Shelley are put in perspective after a clear examination of her upbringing, followed by a full discussion of her years after her husband’s death.

Other Biographical Studies

Dunn, Jane. Moon in Eclipse: A Life of Mary Shelley. New York: St. Martin’s, 1978. 374pp. In a popular, straightforward, though somewhat superficial biographical portrait, Dunn attempts with only limited success to draw Mary Shelley out of the shadow of her famous husband to reveal a complex woman. Her treatment of the social, literary, and political aspect of her life is cursory and simplistic.

Gerson, Noel B. Daughter of Earth and Water. New York: Morrow, 1973. 280pp. Gerson’s straightforward, popular chronological narrative of Mary Shelley’s life centers on the years up to her husband’s death, paying little attention to her years alone.

Gittings, Robert, and Jo Manton. Claire Clairmont and the Shelleys. New York: Oxford University Press, 1992. 281pp. Gittings provides the book’s account of the Shelleys’ circle of family and friends, followed by Manton’s presentation of the last 57 years of Mary Shelley’s stepsister, Claire Clairmont.

Grylls, R.Glynn. Mary Shelley: A Biography. New York: Oxford University Press, 1938. 345pp. A full-length, competent scholarly biography, Grylls’s examination helped to present Mary Shelley on her own beyond the long shadow cast by her husband. With access to previously unpublished sources, the book illuminates many aspects of the author’s life, particularly the 29 years following Shelley’s death.

Hill-Miller, Katherine. “My Hideous Progeny”: Mary Shelley, William Godwin, and the Fa-ther-Daughter Relationship. Newark: University of Delaware Press, 1995. 249pp. The author uses Shelley’s relationship with her father as the key for understanding her development and works in a psychological and critical study.

Leighton, Margaret C. Shelley’s Mary: A Life of Mary Godwin Shelley. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1973. 234pp. Leighton’s popular account of Shelley’s life and times draws on her journal and letters and is intended to lead to a fuller appreciation of the author and her work.

Marshall, Florence A. The Life and Letters of Mary Wollstonecraft Shelley. London: R.Bentley, 1889. 2 vols. In the first official biography, Marshall narrates the events of Mary Shelley’s life through long excerpts from her letters. The book, in a partisan and idealized presentation, attempts to redress previous negative or slighting assessments by Percy Shelley’s advocates, such as Trelawney, who undervalued and falsified Mary Shelley’s significance.

Neumann, Bonnie R. The Lonely Muse: A Critical Biography of Mary Wollstonecraft Shelley. Salzburg: University of Salzburg, 1979. 283pp. Neumann’s cogent reassessment allows Mary Shelley to emerge from her husband’s shadow, treating her work and development as a consistent search to transcend a dominating sense of alienation.

Nitchie, Elizabeth. Mary Shelley: Author of “Frankenstein.” New Brunswick, New Jersey: Rutgers University Press, 1953. 255pp. This compact biographical assessment looks closely at Shelley’s works to reveal features of her thought and personality. In Nitchie’s view, her later fiction represents an effort to re-explore the emotional landscape of her earlier days.

St. Clair, William. The Godwins and the Shelleys: The Biography of a Family. New York: W.W. Norton, 1989. 572pp. Despite the book’s title, the focus here is almost exclusively on William Godwin, and its discussion of the Shelleys is largely restricted to the details of the elopement and its impact on the Godwin family. The insights on Mary Shelley come largely from a fuller understanding of her upbringing by her two remarkable parents.

Walling, William A. Mary Shelley. New York: Twayne, 1972. 173pp. Walling provides no new biographical facts to the familiar record of events but does offer extended critical examination of Shelley’s works after Frankenstein to supply a fuller portrait of the artist and her achievement.

Williams, John. Mary Shelley: A Literary Life. New York: St. Martin’s, 1999. 210pp. Williams’s is a careful review of Shelley’s literary career with an emphasis on her professional relationships and the growth of her skills as a writer.

Biographical Novels

Bolton, Guy. The Olympians. Cleveland, Ohio: World, 1961. 301pp. Bolton dramatizes the events leading up to Percy Shelley’s elopement with Mary Godwin and its impact on the Godwin family.

Chernaik, Judith. Love’s Children. New York: Knopf, 1992. 229pp. This group portrait of the women connected with Percy Shelley takes the shape of journal entries by Harriet Westbrook, Fanny Godwin, Claire Clairmont, and Mary Godwin.

Fictional Portraits

Aldiss, Brian. Frankenstein Unbound. New York: Random House, 1973. 212pp. In this intriguing science fiction/horror/fantasy, a time traveler goes back to 1816 to discover that Frankenstein was not an invention of Mary Shelley but as real as his monster. Byron and the Shelleys appear as characters.

Carrere, Emmanuel. Gothic Romance. New York: Scribner, 1990. 307pp. Interweaving actual with imagined events, the novel dramatizes the events leading up to Shelley’s composition of Frankenstein.

Edwards, Anne. Haunted Summer. New York: Coward-McCann, 1972. 278p. The infamous summer holiday of 1816 in which Byron was joined in Switzerland by Percy and Mary Shelley forms the background for this fanciful gothic tale narrated by Mary.

Seymour, Miranda. Count Manfred. New York: Coward-McCann, 1977. 283p. This gothic tale includes in its cast Byron and Percy and Mary Shelley with a reliable period background and actual details from Byron’s life.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Harris, Janet. The Woman Who Created Frankenstein: A Portrait of Mary Shelley. New York: Harper & Row, 1979. 216pp. MG/YA. Mostly concerned with the creation of Shelley’s famous novel, this is a candid, well-written biography and critical study that traces the genesis of the novel, Shelley’s influences, and her themes.

Miller, Calvin C. Spirit Like a Storm: The Story of Mary Shelley. Greensboro, North Carolina: Morgan Reynolds, 1996. 122pp. YA. In a well-written biographical portrait, Miller summarizes the main events of Shelley’s life with an emphasis on the creation of Frankenstein.

Nichols, Joan K. Mary Shelley: Frankenstein’s Creator. Berkeley, California. Conari Press, 1998. 150pp. YA. Nichols deals honestly with the circumstances of Shelley’s life and vividly portrays her social and intellectual background.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Gothic (1986). Director: Ken Russell. In Russell’s phantasmagoric treatment of the night in 1816 when Mary Shelley (Natasha Richardson) conceived Frankenstein, Byron (Gabriel Byrne) is the evil genius behind their hallucinatory psychosexual experimentation. Julian Sands portrays Percy Shelley. Video.

Haunted Summer (1988). Director: Ivan Passer. Film version of Anne Edwards’s novel of the relationships among Byron (Philip Anglim), Shelley (Eric Stoltz), Mary Shelley (Alice Krige), and Claire Clairmont (Laura Dern) during their famous 1816 summer together is atmospheric but ultimately unconvincing. Video.

See also George Gordon, Lord Byron; Percy Bysshe Shelley ; Mary Wollstonecraft

426. PERCY BYSSHE SHELLEY

1792–1822

One of the great English Romantic poets, Shelley was expelled from Oxford after co-publishing a pamphlet entitled The Necessity of Atheism. Dedicated to social and political reform, his first important poem. Queen Mab (1813), advocated the destruction of established institutions as a cure for social ills. His other works include Prometheus Unbound (1820) and Adonais (1821), as well as the shorter poems “Ode to the West Wind,” “To a Skylark,” and “Ozymandias.” He was drowned in a boating accident in Italy.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Letters of Percy Bysshe Shelley. Frederick L. Jones, ed. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1964. 2 vols. This scholarly collection of the 700 extant letters cover Shelley’s life from 1803 to his final note written four days before his death and reveals multiple sides of the poet as well as his relationships.

Shelley and His Circle. Kenneth N.Cameron and Donald H.Reiman, eds. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1961–1986. 8 vols. Indispensable for the scholar and specialist these volumes collect all the existing documentary evidence on Shelley and his associates.

Recommended Biographies

Cameron, Kenneth N. The Young Shelley: Genesis of a Radical. New York: Macmillan, 1950. 437pp.; Shelley: The Golden Years. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1974. 669pp. Cameron’s heavily documented and scholarly critical biography traces clearly Shelley’s intellectual and artistic development and the connection between his life and his work. One of the many excellencies in Cameron’s achievement is its historical reconstruction that helps to make Shelley’s life and activities clear, based on his reaction to the values and standards of his times.

Holmes, Richard. Shelley: The Pursuit. New York: Dutton, 1975. 829pp. Holmes’s lively narrative will appeal to the general reader in search of an entertaining treatment of Shelley’s remarkable life. Holmes offers a believable human portrait of a complex figure who is neither bathed in an admiring glow nor vilified for his shortcomings. The author’s reflections on his efforts to uncover Shelley’s personality and spirit are discussed in his interesting meditation on the biographer’s art, Footsteps: Adventures of a Romantic Biographer (New York: Viking Press, 1985. 288pp.).

White, Newman I. Shelley. New York: Knopf, 1940. 2 vols. White’s judicious and authoritative factual narrative remains the standard, scholarly life. The result of more than 20 years of labor and access to the poet’s private papers, White documents clearly Shelley’s activities and replaces the ineffectual angel image with a believable portrait of a working poet in the context of his times. A one-volume abridgement is also available as A Portrait of Shelley (New York: Knopf, 1945. 482pp.).

Other Biographical Studies

Blunden, Edmund. Shelley: A Life Story. New York: Viking, 1947. 388pp. Blunden, himself a highly regarded poet, supplies a succinct overview of the man and his works designed for the general reader. Often highly opinionated and informal, Blunden’s insights retain their value in orienting the reader to an appreciation of Shelley’s genius.

Dowden, Edward. The Life of Percy Bysshe Shelley. 1886. Reprint ed. New York: Barnes and Noble, 1966. 602pp. Dowden’s biography, the first scholarly, full-length life, was authorized by Lady Jane Shelley and both profited from and was limited by his patron’s involvement in the project. The book provides insights based on primary material and interviews with those who knew Shelley, but the interpretation lacks critical balance and sufficient candor to challenge the prevailing conception of the ethereal tragic poet.

Fuller, Jean O. Shelley: A Biography. London: Cape, 1968. 336pp. Fuller’s is a highly opinionated review of the poet’s life and significance. Not a good first book on the subject, it is, however, a lively and provocative reassessment with many insights from its original perspective.

Gittings, Robert, and Jo Manton. Claire Clairmont and the Shelleys. New York: Oxford University Press, 1992. 281pp. Gittings provides the book’s account of the Shelleys’ circle of family and friends, followed by Manton’s presentation of the last 57 years of Mary Shelley’s stepsister, Claire Clairmont.

Hogg, Thomas J. The Life of Percy Bysshe Shelley. 1858. Reprinted. New York: Dutton, 1906. 585pp. Hogg, Shelley’s Oxford classmate who was expelled along with the poet for atheistic views, portrays his former friend from the distance of his own eventual conventionality. Initially authorized by Shelley’s heirs, their approval was withdrawn due to the unflattering light Hogg casts on their relationship.

Maurois, André. Ariel: The Life of Shelley. New York: Appleton, 1924. 334pp. Maurois’s life could be classified as biographical fiction in its idealized, dramatic presentation that indulges in a great deal of imaginative conjecture supporting a view of Shelley that later critics and biographers have worked hard to correct.

Medwin, Thomas. The Life of Percy Bysshe Shelley. 1847. Revised ed. New York: Oxford University Press, 1913. 542pp. One of the earliest biographical accounts by Shelley’s cousin and classmate at Eton, Medwin’s recollections and reconstruction of the episodes in Shelley’s life are not to be trusted and should be read with skepticism.

O’Neill, Michael. Percy Bysshe Shelley: A Literary Life. New York: St. Martin’s, 1990. 176pp. O’Neill’s book serves as a compact record of the major events of Shelley’s life and the publication information on his works. Without venturing too deeply into Shelley’s private life, this is more an account of the working poet and the intellectual, political, and social factors that shaped his art and ideas.

Peacock, Thomas Love. Peacock’s Memoirs of Shelley with Shelley’s Letters to Peacock. H.F.B. Brett-Smith, ed. London: H.Frowde, 1909. 219pp. Peacock’s recollections are selective and chiefly valuable for their alternative view of Shelley’s English activities.

Tomalin, Claire. Shelley and His World. New York: Scribner, 1980. 128pp. This compact illustrated biography includes a detailed chronology and a sensible overview of Shelley’s life and times with excerpts from the poet’s notebooks, letters, and poetry.

Trelawney, Edward J. Recollections of the Last Days of Shelley and Byron. 1858. Reprint ed. Williamstown, Massachusetts: Corner House, 1975. 304pp. Even though the author was on the scene during Shelley’s final days, Trelawney’s account is not trustworthy in its facts, interpretation of Shelley’s character, or his portrayal of Mary Shelley during this period.

Biographical Novels

Bolton, Guy. The Olympians. Cleveland: World, 1961. 301pp. Bolton dramatizes the events leading up to Percy Shelley’s elopement with Mary Godwin and its impact on the Godwin family.

Chernaik, Judith. Love’s Children. New York: Knopf, 1992. 229pp. This group portrait of the women connected with Percy Shelley takes the shape of journal entries by Harriet Westbrook, Fanny Godwin, Claire Clairmont, and Mary Godwin.

Kenyon, Frank W. The Golden Years: A Novel Based on the Life and Loves of Percy Bysshe Shelley. New York: Crowell, 1959. 312pp. Shelley’s life is dramatized from his college days, through his marriage to Harriet Westbrook and his elopement with Mary Godwin, to his death.

Fictional Portraits

Edwards, Anne. Haunted Summer. New York: Coward-McCann, 1972. 278p. The infamous summer holiday of 1816 in which Byron was joined in Switzerland by Percy and Mary Shelley forms the background for this fanciful gothic tale narrated by Mary.

Powers, Tim. The Stress of Her Regard. New York: Ace Books, 1989. 392pp. In this historical fantasy, a Regency-era doctor flees England to avoid a charge of murder. Haunted by guilt, he is aided by Keats, Byron, and Shelley in understanding his torment.

Seymour, Miranda. Count Manfred. New York: Coward-McCann & Geohegan, 1977. 283p. This gothic tale includes in its cast Byron and Percy and Mary Shelley with a reliable period background and actual details from Byron’s life.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Rush, Philip. The Young Shelley. New York: Roy, 1962. 135pp. MG. Dealing with Shelley’s schooldays, this brief biographical profile offers a summary of the poet’s adult career in an epilogue.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Gothic (1986). Director: Ken Russell. In Russell’s phantasmagoric treatment of the night in 1816 when Mary Shelley (Natasha Richardson) conceived Frankenstein, Byron (Gabriel Byrne) is the evil genius behind their hallucinatory psychosexual experimentation. Julian Sands portrays Shelley. Video.

Haunted Summer (1988). Director: Ivan Passer. Film version of Anne Edwards’s novel of the relationships between Byron (Philip Anglim), Shelley (Eric Stoltz), Mary Shelley (Alice Krige), and Claire Clairmont (Laura Dern) during their famous 1816 summer together is atmospheric but ultimately unconvincing. Video.

Percy Bysshe Shelley: Poet, 1792–1822 (1993). Director: Malcolm Hossick. A film portrait that chronicles Shelley’s life through images of the poet, his times, and places associated with him. Video.

See also George Gordon, Lord Byron; John Keats; Mary Shelley

427. RICHARD BRINSLEY SHERIDAN

1751–1816

Irish-born dramatist and politician, Sheridan is famous for his witty comedies of manners, including The Rivals (1775), The School for Scandal (1777), and The Critic (1779). He was a Whig member of Parliament and served as secretary of the treasury, treasurer of the navy, and member of the Privy Council. He was a close friend of George IV when he was the prince regent and was part-owner and director of the new Drury Lane Theatre.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Letters of Richard Brinsley Sheridan. Cecil Prince, ed. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1966. 3 vols. Essential for establishing the biographical record, Sheridan’s letters are a rich source of insights into his nature and relationships.

Recommended Biographies

O’Toole, Fintan. A Traitor’s Kiss: The Life of Richard Brinsley Sheridan. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1998. 519pp. O’Toole’s recent biography leads the field in an excellent narrative life. Unlike other treatments that emphasize Sheridan’s climb to literary fame and his rake’s progress, O’Toole concentrates more on Sheridan’s political and business career. The book succeeds in drawing a portrait of a complex man, shaped by his Irish background and reformist views, while struggling for London success. The book is particularly strong on Sheridan’s complex romantic relationships and the social and political background that makes his actions comprehensible.

Other Biographical Studies

Bingham, Madeleine. Sheridan: The Track of a Comet. New York: St. Martin’s, 1972. 383pp. Bingham’s narrative account of Sheridan’s life and career is connected by the suggestion that Sheridan was essentially an actor, able to play many roles and driven by social ambition. Somewhat oversimplified in its interpretation, the book manages a coherent portrait against a clear family and social background that makes Sheridan’s motive and behavior understandable.

Butler, E.M. Sheridan: A Ghost Story. London: Constable, 1931. 312pp. Butler’s interpretive study of Sheridan’s life and work seeks to identify his character through his various roles and guises as playwright, politician, and wit. The first section of the book reviews previous biographies and studies of Sheridan, illuminating their contradictions and failures to reveal the man fully.

Darlington, W.A. Sheridan. New York: Macmillan, 1933. 144pp. Darlington’s brief, readable biographical portrait is intended as an objective assessment based only on reliable sources. The book largely succeeds in its aim and serves as a useful introduction that balances its attention equally between Sheridan’s dramatic and political activities.

Foss, Kenelm. Here Lies Richard Brinsley Sheridan. New York: Dutton, 1940. 390pp. Foregoing a strict chronological approach for a topical one, Foss arranges his discussion of Sheridan in broad categories of his activities and interests. The book does not distinguish between hard evidence and debatable surmise, and the reader should look elsewhere for a succinct summary of Sheridan’s activities.

Gibbs, Lewis. Sheridan: His Life and His Theatre. New York: Morrow, 1948. 280pp. In a sympathetic account, Gibbs presents Sheridan in his public roles as theater manager, playwright, and politician, with an emphasis on the latter. The book is more circumspect and discreet on Sheridan’s private life.

Glasgow, Alice. Sheridan of Drury Lane: A Biography. New York: F.A.Stokes, 1940. 310pp. Closer to biographical fiction than nonfiction, Glasgow treats Sheridan as the colorful hero of a period romance. Since it is often impossible to separate fact from gossip, the reader looking for more than an entertaining narrative should approach the book with caution.

Moore, Thomas. Memoirs of the Life of the Right Honourable Richard Brinsley Sheridan. 1825. Reprint ed. Freeport, New York: Books for Libraries Press, 1971. 2 vols. Commissioned by Sheridan’s second wife, Moore’s biography makes use of the surviving papers and the author’s own personal recollection of his subject. Despite this, Moore’s treatment fails to penetrate very deeply the surface of Sheridan’s career or to reveal the man in full.

Rhodes, R.Crompton. Harlequin Sheridan: The Man and the Legends. Oxford: Blackwell, 1933. 305pp. As the book’s title indicates, Rhodes presents the various myths and masks disguising Sheridan’s true identity. Although unable to resolve all Sheridan’s contradictions, the book does clarify how he was viewed by his contemporaries.

Sherwin, Oscar. Uncorking Old Sherry: The Life and Times of Richard Brinsley Sheridan. New York: Twayne, 1960. 352pp. An informal biography that emphasizes his social milieu, Sherwin gathers the many anecdotes Sheridan prompted into an entertaining, discursive collection. The book provides little of substance on Sheridan’s career as a playwright or politician.

Biographical Novels

Walker, Joan. Marriage of Harlequin: A Biographical Novel of the Important Years in the Life of Richard Brinsley Sheridan. Toronto: McClelland & Stewart, 1962. 256pp. Walker’s fictionalized account is reasonably reliable in keeping to the biographical facts.

Fictional Portraits

Hardwick, Michael. Regency Royal. New York: Coward-McCann, 1978. 326pp. The career of George IV is presented with appearances by Sheridan as the Prince of Wales’s companion.

Plaidy, Jean. Perdita’s Prince. London: R.Hale, 1969. 346pp. Sheridan’s relationship with the Prince of Wales is shown in this novel that centers on the future George IV s love affair with actress Mary Robinson. In Goddess of the Green Room (London: R.Hale, 1971. 351pp.), the longtime affair between William, Duke of Clarence, and actress Dorothy Jordon is dramatized, featuring a depiction of Sheridan.

Other Sources

Mikhail, E.H., ed. Sheridan: Interviews and Recollections. New York: St. Martin’s, 1989. 152pp. This collection of contemporary views of Sheridan and his own words provides interesting glimpses of the man.

See also George IV

428. WILLIAM TECUMSEH SHERMAN

1820–1891

American Union general in the Civil War, Sherman was given command of the army of Tennessee and, with Ulysses S.Grant, took part in the Chattanooga Campaign. As supreme commander in the west, Sherman invaded Georgia, captured and burned Atlanta, and marched on Savannah. He pushed the Confederate army north, eventually accepting General Joseph Johnston’s surrender at Durham, North Carolina. He later served as commander of the U.S. Army and refused the Republican nomination for president.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Memoirs of General William T.Sherman. 1875. Reprint ed. New York: Library of America, 2 vols. An excellent starting point and an essential biographical source is Sherman’s own vivid, controversial account of his life.

Sherman’s Civil War: Selected Correspondence of William T.Sherman, 1860–1865. Brooks D. Simpson and Jean V.Berlin, eds. Chapel Hill: University of North Carolina Press, 1999. 948pp. This is a collection of more than 400 letters that reveal Sherman’s thoughts on his battles and campaigns, much about his complex personality, and thoughts on such subjects as race relations, military strategy, the press, and Reconstruction.

Recommended Biographies

Fellman, Michael. Citizen Sherman: A Life of William Tecumseh Sherman. New York: Random House, 1995. 486pp. Fellman, in a well-documented interpretive study that emphasizes the private Sherman and his psychological makeup, produces a provocative portrait of a complex figure.

Hirshson, Stanley P. The White Tecumseh: A Biography of General William T.Sherman. New York: Wiley, 1997. 475pp. Hirshson takes issue with the psychological speculation of Fellman and the interpretations of other historians and biographers in this strongly argued, opinionated reassessment in which the author defends Sherman against charges of racism and bad generalship. Not the ideal first Sherman biography, the book nevertheless provides a stimulating view on some of the central controversies surrounding the general’s personality and career.

Lewis, Lloyd. Sherman: Fighting Prophet. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1932. 690pp. Long serving as the standard biography, Lewis’s account remains one of the best sources available, particularly on Sherman’s life prior to 1861.

Other Biographical Studies

Athearn, Robert G. William Tecumseh Sherman and the Settlement of the West. Norman: University of Oklahoma Press, 1956. 371pp. A thorough and well-documented account of Sherman’s career in the west, Athearn’s meticulous study is the best reference source on this period of Sherman’s life.

Coburn, Mark. Terrible Innocence: General Sherman at War. New York: Hippocrene Books, 1993. 248pp. Coburn covers Sherman’s military activities from 1864 through 1865 in an informal account that displays both the general’s personality and strategies.

Liddell Hart, B.H. Sherman: Soldier, Realist, American. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1929. 456pp. Sherman the strategist of modern warfare is the focus here in a biographical portrait that attempts to reveal Sherman’s personality and achievement as a battlefield commander.

Marszalek, John F. Sherman: A Soldier’s Passion for Order. New York: Free Press, 1993. 635pp. In an insightful, though at times reductive reassessment, Marszalek offers a controversial analysis of the sources for Sherman’s ideas about warfare and his battlefield behavior in his early family background.

Merrill, James M. William Tecumseh Sherman. Chicago: Rand McNally, 1971. 445pp. Sherman’s life, character, and military career is viewed against the background of his times. Based on extensive use of Sherman’s letters, Merrill’s popular biography humanizes the view of the stern commander with an emphasis on his family relationships and private side.

Miers, Earl S. The General Who Marched to Hell. New York: Knopf, 1951. 349pp. Focused on Sherman’s 1864 campaign, this is a vividly written, objective assessment of his strategy and leadership, presenting both sides on the question of Sherman’s performance of his duties.

Vetter, Charles E. Sherman: Merchant of Terror, Advocate of Peace. Gretna, Louisiana: Pelican, 1992. 347pp. Vetter supplies an account of Sherman’s career and an intellectual profile of his ideas.

Fictional Portraits

Bass, Cynthia. Sherman’s March. New York: Villard Books, 1994. 228pp. Sherman’s campaign across Georgia in 1864 is depicted from three vantage points: Sherman’s own, that of a captain in the Union army, and that of a widowed southern farmwife and refugee.

Brick, John. Jubilee. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1956. 320pp. A New York Union officer sees action at Gettysburg before joining Sherman’s army for the battles at Lookout Mountain and Atlanta and the march to the sea in this vivid fictional account.

Churchill, Winston. The Crisis. New York: Macmillan, 1903. 522pp. In one of the best Civil War novels, a young lawyer is on hand for some of the pivotal events of the war and meets many of its major figures, including Lincoln, Grant, and Sherman.

Johnston, Terry C. The Shadow Riders. New York: St. Martin’s, 1991. 379pp. Sherman is in command of the U.S. army for the last great Indian uprising of the southern Plains tribes that culminates in the Battle of Adobe Walls.

Jones, Douglas C. The Court-Martial of George Armstrong Custer. New York: Scribner, 1976. 291pp. This intriguing what-if novel imagines Custer’s survival after the Little Bighorn and the trial for his role in the disaster. The novel takes the form of a taut, psychological courtroom drama over the issue of Custer’s character and military competence with a prominent role by Sherman.

Rawl, Miriam Freeman. From the Ashes of Ruin. Columbia, South Carolina: Summerhouse Press, 1999. 371pp. This novel exploring the devastation of Sherman’s campaign in South Carolina features the actual correspondence between Sherman and Confederate general Hampton over the rules of engagement.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Blassingame, Wyatt. William Tecumseh Sherman: Defender of the Union. Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Prentice-Hall, 1970. 143pp. MG. Despite a heroic depiction, this is a detailed account of Sherman’s military career.

Whitelaw, Nancy. William Tecumseh Sherman: Defender and Destroyer. Greensboro, North Carolina: Morgan Reynolds, 1996. 111pp. MG. Both the personal and military sides of Sherman, his strengths and weaknesses, are presented in this informative, sophisticated assessment that allows readers to draw their own conclusions.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Grant and Sherman (1997). Director: Tom DiPerna. The Union generals’ careers are covered in this useful documentary profile. Video.

Other Sources

Wheeler, Richard, ed. We Knew William Tecumseh Sherman. New York: Crowell, 1977. 130pp. Wheeler has arranged a number of firsthand accounts of Sherman chronologically.

See also Ulysses S.Grant

429. SIR PHILIP SIDNEY

1554–1586

English author and courtier, Sidney was a favorite of Elizabeth I and a model of Renaissance chivalry. He strongly influenced English poetry through such works as Arcadia (1590), Astrophel and Stella (1591), and The Defense of Poesie (1595). He served in several diplomatic missions abroad and was fatally wounded at the battle of Zutphen.

Recommended Biographies

Duncan-Jones, Katherine. Sir Philip Sidney: Courtier Poet. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1991. 350pp. This is a fresh, carefully documented and generously illustrated study that relates the events and people in the author’s life to his literary creation. Provocative in its psychological exploration, the author’s analysis challenges conventional wisdom and offers a number of intriguing, revisionist interpretations. 13 Howell, Roger. Sir Philip Sidney: The Shepherd Knight. Boston: Little, Brown, 1968. 308pp. Divided into three main sections chronicling the phases of Sidney’s career as courtier and diplomat, man of letters, and man of action, this succinct and sensible overview of the details of Sidney’s various careers creates a rounded portrait of the man and his times.13 Wallace, Malcolm W. The Life of Sir Philip Sidney. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, 1915. 428pp. Long established as the standard, scholarly life, Wallace’s is a straightforward, authoritative narrative of Sidney’s career, with important insights into his family background and schooling.

Other Biographical Studies

Addleshaw, Percy. Sir Philip Sidney. 1909. Reprint ed. Port Washington, New York: Kennikat Press, 1970. 381pp. Addleshaw’s critical assessment of Sidney’s reputation is far more negative than other interpreters, stressing his human failings and his antipathy toward Catholics.

Berry, Edward. The Making of Sir Philip Sidney. Toronto: University of Toronto Press, 1999. 256pp. Combining biography, social history, and literary criticism, Berry explores how Sidney “made” or created himself as a poet by casting representations of himself in his literary creations.

Bill, Alfred H. Astrophel: Or the Life and Death of the Renowned Sir Philip Sidney. New York: Farrar & Rinehart, 1937. 372pp. The author narrates the story of Sidney’s life set against a fully presented background of sixteenth-century history. The book is better on the times than the life.

Boas, F.S. Sir Philip Sidney, Representative Elizabethan: His Life and Writings. London: Staples Press, 1955. 204pp. Boas’s succinct critical introduction is balanced in its approach and judicious in its interpretation and serves its purpose to highlight the full range of Sidney’s ideas, works, and activities.

Bourne, Henry R.F. Sir Philip Sidney: Type of English Chivalry in the Elizabethan Age. New York: Putnam, 1891. 384pp. Bourne’s influential nineteenth-century study helped expand the factual record based on important archival and documentary sources, and his biography remained the standard source until Wallace.

Buxton, John. Sir Philip Sidney and the English Renaissance. New York: St. Martin’s, 1954. 284pp. In a realistic assessment, Buxton examines Sidney’s role as a literary patron, arguing his considerable influence on English poetry and drama. Reliable in its scholarship and sensible in its judgment, this is a valuable analysis of the literary aspects of Sidney’s career.

Connell, Dorothy. Sir Philip Sidney: The Maker’s Mind. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1977. 163pp. Connell’s brief critical study analyzes Sidney’s style, critical theory, and creative method to suggest his “habit of mind,” which is both unique to the man and representative of his age.

Denkinger, Emma M. Immortal Sidney. New York: Brentano’s, 1931. 317pp. Denkinger’s popular biography serves to orient the general reader to Sidney’s life, work, and career against a vividly depicted period background.

Greville, Fulke. Life of the Renowned Sir Philip Sidney. 1652. Revised ed. as Sir Fulke Greville’s Life of Sir Philip Sidney. Nowell Smith, ed. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1907. 279pp. The earliest biography, Greville’s highly laudatory tribute to his friend is not always factually trustworthy but remains important for its firsthand information and insights into Sidney’s character, despite its lack of objectivity.

Hamilton, A.C. Sir Philip Sidney: A Study of His Life and Work. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1977. 216pp. The book argues that Sidney deserves to be regarded as the central figure of the English Renaissance and that his political and literary activities reveal the age’s defining values.

Hamilton’s biographical summary is limited by its uncritical acceptance of many of the details concerning Sidney that have been called into question. Kimbrough, Robert. Sir Philip Sidney. New York: Twayne, 1971. 162pp. Kimbrough’s is a sensible and helpful critical introduction to Sidney’s life and artistic career and the connection between the two.

Myrick, Kenneth. Sir Philip Sidney as a Literary Craftsman. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1935. 362pp. Although chiefly a literary study, Myrick’s analysis of Sidney’s artistry does draw connections between his work and his life.

Osborn, James M. Young Philip Sidney 1572–1577. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1972. 565pp. This specialized study covers, in-depth, Sidney’s European travels in the 1570s, based on previously unpublished letters. Osborn fills in the gaps in the biographical record with a vivid portrait of the historical background.

Warren, C.Henry. Sir Philip Sidney: A Study in Conflict. New York: T.Nelson, 1936. 246pp. Warren’s interpretive biography looks at Sidney’s role as a poet as the defining aspect of his identity, subjecting the known facts about Sidney’s life to an interesting emphasis.

Wilson, Mona. Sir Philip Sidney. New York: Oxford University Press, 1932. 328pp. Although based mainly on Wallace for its facts, Wilson devotes more attention to Sidney’s literary career and fashions a competent portrait based on the quality of thought and values his works reveal. Without sentimentality or idealization, Wilson allows the documentary evidence to speak for itself.

Fictional Portraits

Birkhead, Margaret. Trust and Treason. New York: St. Martin’s, 1991. 384pp. This look at Elizabethan intrigue focuses on the prominent Woodfall family. Several prominent figures appear including Sidney, Robert Cecil, Christopher Hatton, and Frances Walsingham.

Finney, Patricia. The Firedrake’s Eye. New York: St. Martin’s, 1992. 263pp. This suspenseful Elizabethan thriller concerning a plot to assassinate Elizabeth I features appearances by a number of historical figures, such as Sidney, Raleigh, and Walsingham.

Fletcher, Inglis. Roanoke Hundred. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrili, 1948. 492pp. The founding of the first English settlement in North America on Roanoke Island off the coast of Virginia features a large cast of Elizabethan figures, including Sidney, Richard Grenville, Thomas Hariot, Richard Hooker, and Drake.

Foote, Dorothy N. The Constant Star. New York: Scribner, 1959. 340pp. Not reliable as history, the novel dramatizes the life of Frances Walsingham who marries two of Elizabethan England’s most famous men, Sidney and the Earl of Essex.

Goudge, Elizabeth. Towers in the Mist. New York: Coward-McCann, 1938. 386pp. Elizabethan Oxford is the scene of this atmospheric novel that features Sidney and Raleigh as young scholars and a royal visit by Elizabeth I.

430. FRANK SINATRA

1915–1998

A popular and enduring American singer and film actor, Sinatra gained fame as a band singer with the Harry James and Tommy Dorsey bands before becoming a teenage idol as a solo performer. He made several musical films and distinguished himself as a fine dramatic actor in such movies as From Here to Eternity (1953), The Manchurian Candidate (1960), and The Detective (1968). Sinatra made concert tours during the last three decades of his life.

Recommended Biographies

Clarke, Donald. All or Nothing at All: A Life of Frank Sinatra. New York: Fromm International, 1997. 290pp. Clarke, an expert on popular music, does not avoid the tabloid or darker, private side of Sinatra’s career but emphasizes his musical talents and development in a highly opinionated but sensible assessment. Clarke’s focus on Sinatra’s music helps to anchor this biography to the essential details of the singer’s appeal and interest.

Freedland, Michael. All the Way: A Biography of Frank Sinatra. New York: St. Martin’s, 1997. 438pp. Freedland’s comprehensive biography offers a balanced and fair portrait, avoiding the excesses of either undue admiration or vilification. Sinatra’s entire career is chronicled, with his various scandals not overwhelming a detailed examination of his musical and movie career and the source of Sinatra’s talent and achievement.

Friedwald, Will. Sinatra! The Song is You: The Singer’s Art. New York: Scribner, 1995. 557pp. Friedwald has chosen to emphasize the main reason anyone should be interested in Sinatra: his music. The book provides a meticulously detailed chronological assessment of Sinatra’s musical career based on interviews with arrangers and musicians who worked with the singer. Friedwald clearly admires Sinatra’s talent, but he is not reluctant to point out his occasional artistic mistakes.

Other Biographical Studies

Britt, Stan. Frank Sinatra: A Celebration. New York: Schirmer Books, 1995. 160pp. This illustrated tribute is organized by time periods and concludes each section with details on Sinatra’s recordings, movies, and performances. Unfortunately, alongside a good deal of Sinatra facts and trivia are a number of errors in dates and details.

Coleman, Ray. Sinatra: A Portrait of the Artist. Atlanta: Turner, 1995. 192pp. This album of photographs is linked with a serviceable text that traces the highlights of Sinatra’s long career.

Granata, Charles L. Sessions with Sinatra: Frank Sinatra and the Art of Recording. Chicago: A Cappella, 1999. 238pp. Instead of focusing on Sinatra’s personalities and relationships, Granata looks closely at Sinatra as a singer and recording artist, drawing on all the extant unedited tapes of the performer’s studio sessions. The book provides a unique history of Sinatra’s life and the evolution of his art.

Hamill, Pete. Why Sinatra Matters. Boston: Little, Brown, 1998. 185pp. Hamill’s biographical essay and cultural meditation traces Sinatra’s career through the mid-1950s. In Hamill’s view Sinatra’s life represents the fulfillment of the American dream and his significance in creating a new sound, the “urban American voice.” The book is intriguing in its focus on the larger cultural aspect of Sinatra’s talent and success.

Holder, Deborah. Completely Frank: The Life of Frank Sinatra. Bloomsbury, 1997. 191pp. This is a workmanlike summary of Sinatra’s childhood, crooning days, comeback as a movie star, and his public and private battles. Serves to orient the reader to the facts, if readers need reminding of such an overexposed life.

Kelley, Kitty. His Way: The Unauthorized Biography of Frank Sinatra. New York: Bantam, 1986. 575pp. Kelley confirms in detail the unflattering reputation of Sinatra for bad temper, errors of judgment, and excesses. Although full of matter, based on hundreds of interviews, providing a comprehensive chronicle of Sinatra’s background, his rise to fame, and the turbulent holding onto the spotlight, the book is overly slanted toward the negative so that even his good deeds and virtues are given a sinister spin. The book confirms the tabloid headlines rather than introduces any new or startling revelations.

Lahr, John. Sinatra: The Artist and the Man. New York: Random House, 1997. 156pp. Lahr, the drama critic for The New Yorker, attempts to reconcile the contradictions between the sensitive musical interpreter and the insensitive bully but succeeds mainly in accentuating the paradoxes. More penetrating and revealing are the book’s many behind-the-scenes photographs by Bob Willoughby and William Read Woodfield.

Rockwell, John. Sinatra: An American Classic. New York: Random House, 1984. 251pp. This illustrated biography features a brief text that highlights Sinatra’s climb to fame and his various romances, alleged underworld ties, and brawls. Rockwell is best when focused on Sinatra the artist, the evolution of his musical style, and his groundbreaking 1950s recordings.

Shaw, Arnold. Sinatra: Twentieth Century Romantic. New York: Holt, 1968. 371pp. Shaw’s flattering portrait chronicles Sinatra’s career from his beginning in the 1930s up to the end of his marriage to Mia Farrow. The various scandals are put into perspective, and Shaw allows readers to form their own opinions of the inner man based on the facts supplied. Called a “retrospective cameo,” Sinatra: The Entertainer (New York: Delilah Books, 1982. 155pp.) supplies a discursive appreciation of the man and his music.

Sinatra, Nancy. Frank Sinatra: My Father. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1985. 334pp.; Frank Sinatra: An American Legend. Los Angeles: General, 1998. 383pp. Nancy Sinatra’s two tribute volumes (the second a revision and update of the first) accentuates the positive in rebuttal to the various negative charges against Sinatra that you would expect from an adoring daughter. Includes equally glowing recollections from individuals such as Doris Day, Bing Crosby, and Richard Nixon.

Sullivan, Robert. Remembering Sinatra: A Life in Pictures. New York: Time, Inc., 1998. 128pp. This tribute volume published immediately following Sinatra’s death provides a visual record of Sinatra’s life and career from the photo archives of Time-Life.

Taraborrelli, J.Randy. Sinatra: Behind the Legend. Secaucus, New Jersey: Carol, 1997. 547pp. Celebrity biographer Taraborelli rehashes the well-worn scandals and adds a few new charges, such as Sinatra’s alleged affair with Jackie Kennedy.

Taraborelli’s advantage over Kitty Kelley’s expose is that he continues Sinatra’s story into the 1990s. Readers fascinated with the private life of the pop icon will be intrigued; others will likely feel they have heard this all before.

Wilson, Earl. Sinatra: An Unauthorized Biography. New York: Macmillan, 1976. 357pp. Sinatra sued Wilson, calling his biography “false, fictionalized, boring, and uninteresting.” Actually, the book is rarely boring as it is filled with anecdotes that reveal both sides of Sinatra: the charming and generous friend as well as the arrogant, vindictive enemy. Wilson fails to blend the two into a coherent development or interpretation.

Zehme, Bill. The Way You Wear Your Hat. New York: Macmillan, 1998. 385pp. Written with Sinatra’s cooperation, this selective, informal biographical profile combines extensive personal details of Sinatra’s likes and dislikes, photographs, and recollections from intimates such as Angie Dickinson, Tony Curtis, Robert Wagner, Joey Bishop, Tony Bennett, and Sinatra’s daughters Nancy and Tina Sinatra. The emphasis is on the glamorous image, not the darker side of Sinatra’s behavior and fame.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Hawes, Esme. The Life and Times of Frank Sinatra. New York: Chelsea House, 1997. 48pp. MG. Hawes covers the high points of Sinatra’s career and his impact as a singer, actor, and popular icon.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: The Rat Pack: The True Stories of the Original Kings of Cool: Frank Sinatra, Dean Martin, Sammy Davis Jr., Peter Lawford, Joey Bishop (1999). A four-part video series that offers a group portrait of the entertainers in the 1950s and 1960s. Video.

Frank Sinatra: A Passionate Life. (1998). Producer: Rick Beeman. Sinatra’s life and career are captured through songs, news and film clips, and interviews. Video.

Frank Sinatra: They Were Very Good Years (1997). Director: Ted Newsom. Multi-part video series covers Sinatra’s career in depth. Video.

The Rat Pack (1996). Director: Rob Cohen. Sinatra during the Vegas years of the 1950s and early 1960s is the focus here that deals with the singer’s support for Kennedy (William L.Petersen) that is complicated by Sinatra’s mob ties. Ray Liotta stars as Sinatra, with Joe Mantegna as Dean Martin and Don Cheadle as Sammy Davis Jr. Video.

Sinatra (1992). Director: James Sadwith. This made-for-television biopic tracks Sinatra’s life from childhood through his crooner days, movie career, and his three marriages. Philip Casnoff is convincing in the title role, supported by Olympia Dukakis, Joe Santos, Gina Gershon, and Rod Steiger. Video.

Sinatra: The Best is Yet to Come. (1999). Director: Jeff Margolis. This is a documentary film portrait covering the singer’s career from interviews, film clips, archival photos, and performance footage. Video.

Other Sources

Mustazza, Leonard. Ol’ Blue Eyes: A Frank Sinatra Encyclopedia. Westport, Connecticut: Greenwood, 1998. 436pp. Arranged alphabetically in sections on Sinatra’s music, film, radio, and television appearances, this extensive reference source includes the first published listing of Internet resources.

Peters, Richard. The Frank Sinatra Scrapbook: His Life and Times in Words and Pictures. New York: St. Martin’s, 1982. 158pp. The essential facts of Sinatra’s life and career are covered in this miscellaneous collection of photos, reprinted magazine articles, and lists of recording sessions and movies.

Petkov, Steven, and Leonard Mustazza, eds. The Frank Sinatra Reader. New York: Oxford University Press, 1995. 297pp. In a collection of magazine articles and book excerpts by music critics and journalists, various aspects of Sinatra’s career, musical development, and cultural appeal are explored.

Vare, Ethlie A., ed. Legend: Frank Sinatra and the American Dream. New York: Berkley Books, 1995. 222pp. This collection of journalistic articles and reflections by such individuals as Christopher Buckley, Harry Connick Jr., John Rockwell, Louella Parsons, and Rosalind Russell provides various perspectives on Sinatra’s life and career.

431. SITTING BULL

ca. 1831–1890

A Sioux chief, Sitting Bull led the Indian forces that defeated and massacred General Custer’s troops at the Battle of the Little Bighorn. He was later pardoned by the U.S. government and settled on a reservation. He appeared for a time in Buffalo Bill’s Wild West Show. Accused of encouraging the Sioux to refuse sale of their lands and of practicing the ghost dance religion, he was killed while allegedly resisting arrest.

Recommended Biographies

Utley, Robert M. The Lance and the Shield: The Life and Times of Sitting Bull. New York: Holt, 1993. 413pp. Using Vestal’s original notes, Utley supplements them with his own research into Sioux culture and the period to offer a fresh assessment viewing the man largely from the Lakota perspective, which has been described as the new standard against which all future lives of Sitting Bull will be measured.

Vestal, Stanley. Sitting Bull, Champion of the Sioux: A Biography. 1932. Revised ed. Norman: University of Oklahoma Press. 1980. 349pp. Vestal’s highly readable, meticulously researched biography has long served as the definitive life. The book is based on many firsthand accounts by Sitting Bull’s relatives and friends as well as a rich collection of contemporary sources.

Other Biographical Studies

Adams, Alexander B. Sitting Bull: An Epic of the Plains. New York: Putnam, 1973. 446pp. Supplementing his biographical profile of Sitting Bull with events in the history of the Sioux, Adams provides a fast-paced, popular narrative account, based on a judicious selection of primary and secondary sources.

Anderson, Gary C. Sitting Bull and the Paradox of Lakota Nationhood. New York: HarperCollins, 1996. 194pp. This is a stimulating historical study that relates Sitting Bull’s career and leadership in the wider context of westward expansion and tribal affairs during the period.

Manzione, Joseph A. “I Am Looking to the North for My Life”—Sitting Bull, 1876–1881. Salt Lake City: University of Utah Press, 1991. 172pp. Manzione supplies a carefully documented account of Sitting Bull’s activities during the five-year period following Little Bighorn up to his surrender. The book deals with the pursuit of Little Bighorn refugees and the political wrangling over what should be done with them.

Biographical Novels

Dugan, Bill. Sitting Bull. New York: Harper, 1994. 308pp. In an account that is faithful to the known facts, Sitting Bull’s career is dramatized from the 1830s to his death.

Jones, Douglas C. Arresting Sitting Bull. New York: Scribner, 1977. 249pp. Sitting Bull’s sad end and the Indian unrest that culminates in the tragedy of Wounded Knee is dramatized in this convincing and compelling reconstruction and embellishment of actual events.

Skimin, Robert. The River and the Horseman: A Novel of the Little Bighorn. New York: Herodias, 1999. 364pp. This is a vivid recreation of the life and times of both Custer and Sitting Bull culminating in their confrontation on the battlefield.

Fictional Portraits

Berger, Thomas. The Return of Little Big Man. Boston: Little, Brown, 1999. 432pp. In this sequel to Berger’s comic western classic, Jack Crabb continues his account of his eventful life after Little Bighorn with appearances by such western icons as Sitting Bull, Buffalo Bill, Wild Bill Hickok, Annie Oakley, and Wyatt Earp, all shown in Berger’s patented revisionist, demythologizing style.

Blackburn, Thomas W. A Good Day to Die. New York: Leisure Books, 1996. 269pp. The events leading up to the Battle of Wounded Knee are dramatized, including Sitting Bull’s last days, recorded by a newspaper reporter sent to the Dakota reservation to interview him.

Every, Dale Van. The Day the Sun Died. Boston: Little, Brown, 1971. 320pp. Indian affairs on the Great Plains from 1889 to Wounded Knee in 1891 are chronicled with a look at the dying Sitting Bull.

Haines, Edwin. The Winter War. Boston: Little, Brown, 1961. 247pp. The campaign against Sitting Bull after Little Bighorn is dramatized in this account of the army’s pursuit of the Sioux and the Cheyenne during the winter of 1876.

McMurtry, Larry. Buffalo Girls. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1990. 351 pp. Set in 1887 when Buffalo Bill’s Wild West Show toured Europe, Sitting Bull is glimpsed in his role as traveling western icon.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Bernotas, Bob. Sitting Bull: Chief of the Sioux. New York: Chelsea House, 1992. 111 pp. MG/YA. In a well-written account, Bernotas provides a great deal of information on tribal history and U.S. Indian policy while summarizing what we know about Sitting Bull’s background and the main events of his life.

Marrin, Albert. Sitting Bull and His World. New York: Dutton, 2000. 256pp. YA. Marrin’s informative, detailed portrait of Sitting Bull relates his career against a solidly developed period and cultural background.

St. George, Judith. To See with the Heart: The Life of Sitting Bull. New York: Putnam, 1996. 182pp. MG. This is a compelling, readable, and detailed study of Sitting Bull’s character, times, and culture.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: Sitting Bull: Chief of the Lakota Nation (1995). Director: Yann Debonne. Sitting Bull’s career is depicted using archival material and expert testimony. Video.

Buffalo Bill & the Indians, or Sitting Bull’s History Lesson (1976). Director: Robert Altman. Altman’s comic take on western legend Buffalo Bill Cody (Paul Newman) shows him as a huckster and exploiter of the west and his own past. Sitting Bull appears played by Frank Kaquitts. An impressive ensemble cast includes Geraldine Chaplin, Joel Grey, Harvey Keitel, Burt Lancaster, and Kevin McCarthy. Video.

Buffalo Girls (1995). Director: Rod Hardy. This film adaptation of Larry McMurtry’s novel concerning Calamity Jane (Anjelica Huston) and Wild Bill Hickok (Sam Elliott) includes a depiction of Sitting Bull, played by Russell Means. Video.

Son of the Morning Star (1991). Director: Mike Robe. This television adaptation of Evan S. Connell’s book follows the facts of Custer’s career faithfully, straying from the truth only in suggesting that Custer had fathered an illegitimate Indian child, a persistent myth that has been disputed. Gary Cole portrays a complex Custer with Rosanna Arquette as his wife. Sitting Bull is played by Floyd “Red Crow” Westerman. Video.

See also Crazy Horse; George Armstrong Custer

432. ADAM SMITH

1723–1790

Scottish economist. Smith is famous for his The Wealth of Nations (1776), a treatise advocating the free market that came to be regarded as the classic system of economics. Although some of his theories were negated by the Industrial Revolution, Smith’s influence on later economics has never been surpassed. An earlier philosophical work, Theory of Moral Sentiments (1759), was written while Smith was a professor at the University of Glasgow.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Correspondence of Adam Smith. Ernest Campbell Mossner and Ian S.Ross, eds. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1977. 441pp. Smith’s letters are rarely revealing about his inner feelings, ideas, or work, but they do document his activities and relationships.

Recommended Biographies

Campbell, R.H., and A.S.Skinner. Adam Smith. New York: St. Martin’s, 1982. 231pp. The authors supply a valuable introduction to the man and his works. Smith is shown as a student, teacher, and administrator, with highlights of his life in London, relationship with David Hume, and his European travels. Each of Smith’s works is analyzed suecinctly to trace the relationship between Smith’s ethical and economic theories and his influence.

Ross, Ian Simpson. The Life of Adam Smith. New York: Oxford University Press, 1995. 495pp. Written by the co-editor of Smith’s correspondence, Ross’s exhaustive, authoritative full-scale biography supplies as much information as modern research and scholarship has discovered. Ross’s thoroughness establishes this as the definitive biography.

Other Biographical Studies

Fay, Charles R. Adam Smith and the Scotland of His Day. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Cambridge University Press, 1956. 174pp. Fay compensates for a paucity of details on Smith’s life by focusing on his Scottish background. Not chronologically but topically arranged, the book is an excellent presentation of the intellectual and social milieu that helps to explain Smith’s development and achievement.

Haldane, R.B. Life of Adam Smith. London: W. Scott, 1887. 161pp. One of the first biographical portraits, Haldane adds certain details to the record from primary sources before proceeding to an evaluation of Smith’s ideas and works.

Hirst, Francis W. Adam Smith. New York: Macmillan, 1904. 240pp. Adding little new to the biographical record established by Rae, Hirst’s more compact study has mainly the virtue of its brevity to recommend it.

Rae, John. Life of Adam Smith. 1895. Expanded ed. New York: A.M.Kelley, 1965. 449pp. The first comprehensive biography, Rae’s exhaustive assemblage of facts and anecdotes has long served as the standard source. A book more to refer to than to enjoy, the 1965 expanded edition features an essay by Jacob Viner summarizing biographical research since 1985.

Scott, William R. Adam Smith as Student and Professor. New York: A.M.Kelley, 1965. 445pp. Scott’s scholarly examination of Smith’s university career up to 1764 provides previously unpublished documents from university records at Glasgow and Edinburgh that the book reprints. Essential for readers interested in this period of Smith’s career but overly specialized for the general reader.

West, E.G. Adam Smith: The Man and His Works. Indianapolis: Liberty Press, 1976. 254pp. West’s uncritical appreciation of Smith’s ideas and contribution does provide an accessible introduction but adds little to the biographical record. Good as a starting point.

433. JOHN SMITH

ca. 1580–1631

English adventurer and American colonist, Smith sailed (1606) to America, where he helped establish Jamestown in Virginia, England’s first permanent North American colony. He explored the area and developed trade relations with the Native Americans. He was captured by Chief Powhatan and was probably saved from death by the chiefs daughter, Pocahontas. Smith wrote several books on his explorations, including A Description of New England (1616) and The Generall Historic of Virginia, New-England, and the Summer Isles (1624).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Complete Works of Captain John Smith 1580–1631. Philip L.Barbour, ed. Chapel Hill: University of North Carolina Press, 1986. 3 vols. The basis of almost all information about Smith’s life and activities is contained in his accounts of his travels, the accuracy of which have continued to be debated by his biographers. Full of inaccuracies and inconsistencies, his collected works provide a fascinating personal record of his journeys and adventures.

Recommended Biographies

Barbour, Philip L. The Three Worlds of Captain John Smith. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1964. 553pp. Barbour’s authoritative synthesis of modern scholarship establishes this as the definitive treatment of Smith’s life and career. Careful in its surmises and enthusiastic yet balanced in its approach, Barbour’s study locates Smith in the context of his age and submits Smith’s own accounts to the proper test of credibility based on the careful sifting of primary and secondary sources.

Smith, Bradford. Captain John Smith: His Life and Legend. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1953. 375pp. In a readable, scholarly biography the author scrupulously reviews the evidence concerning the trustworthiness of Smith’s accounts, relying on the research of Laura Polyani Striker for the verification of much of Smith’s Hungarian and Transylvanian adventures. Although largely superseded in its scholarship by Barbour, Smith’s treatment retains its appeal and usefulness as a fair-minded and balanced account.

Vaughan, Alden T. American Genesis: Captain John Smith as the Founder of Virginia. Boston: Little, Brown, 1975. 207pp. Vaughan’s fascinating study of Smith’s life in Virginia considers the man “as a symbol of England’s early imperial impulse... a man whose career illustrates a formative stage in our national identity.” In Vaughan’s view, Smith was transformed in Virginia from a self-seeking soldier of fortune into an American prototype.

Other Biographical Studies

Bradley, Arthur G. Captain John Smith. London: Macmillan, 1905. 226pp. Relying chiefly on Smith’s own account this is a readable, though uncritical, summary of the chief events in his life.

Chatterton, E.K. Captain John Smith. New York: Harper, 1927. 286pp. Chatterton devotes a third of his biography to Smith’s experiences in eastern Europe to help substantiate his overall truthfulness, arguing that he must have relied on his personal experiences since other accounts were unavailable to him. Chatterton then goes on to consider Smith’s Jamestown experiences, accepting as authentic Smith’s account of Pocahontas.

Emerson, Everett. Captain John Smith. New York: Twayne, 1971. 143pp. Emerson’s critical biography derives its data from Barbour but does make its own contribution by seeking to discover the essence of the man from a close reading of his writings. Serves as a useful overview and introduction.

Fletcher, John G. John Smith—Also Pocahontas. New York: Brentano’s, 1928. 303pp. Fletcher presents a version of the human and realistic truth behind the various legends surrounding Smith. The result is a revisionist portrait of a considerably diminished adventurer, shown as brave, ambitious, daring, unscrupulous, and short-sighted.

Gerson, Noel B. The Great Rogue: A Biography of Captain John Smith. New York: McKay, 1966. 306pp. Gerson’s straightforward, popular biography for the general reader is a mixture of fact and legend with little effort to distinguish the two. As the title indicates, the book features a partially debunking approach.

Hillard, George S. Captain John Smith. New York: Harper, 1902. 223pp. Like Woods, Hillard’s review of Smith’s career is a sympathetic treatment that corroborates the essential details of Smith’s own account.

Lewis, Paul. The Glorious Scoundrel: A Biography of Captain John Smith. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1978. 251pp. Paul Lewis is one of many pseudonyms for the prolific popular writer Noel B. Gerson and this is an abridged rewrite of the author’s 1966 popular biography.

Simms, William G. The Life of Captain John Smith, the Founder of Virginia. New York: A.L. Burt, 1846. 374pp. Simms’s early biographical portrait closely follows Smith’s own account, supplementing the adventurer’s own words with imaginative and dramatic elaboration.

Woods, Katharine P. The True Story of Captain John Smith. New York: Doubleday, 1901. 382pp. Woods attempts to solve the issue of Smith’s veracity by comparing his account to what is known from other sources. Concluding that Smith is believable, her book helped resuscitate Smith’s reputation.

Biographical Novels

Bowman, John C. Powhatan’s Daughter. New York: Viking, 1973. 336pp. Bowman’s treatment of Smith’s relationship with Pocahontas and her subsequent life in England is a blend of fact, legend, and imaginative elaboration.

Garnett, David. Pocahontas; or, The Nonpareil of Virginia. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1933. 344pp. In a realistic portrait of life in Virginia during the era of its earliest European settlement, Pocahontas’s life is depicted, with recorded facts supplemented with romantic invention.

Gerson, Noel B. Daughter of Eve. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1958. 320pp. Smith biographer Gerson dramatizes the relationship between Smith and Pocahontas, including scenes from the early life in the Jamestown settlement and Pocahontas’s career in England as a curiosity. Considerable liberties have been taken with the biographical facts here.

Wohl, Burton. Soldier in Paradise. New York: Putnam, 1977. 345pp. Wohl gives a full-length, fictionalized portrait of Smith’s remarkable career based on his own accounts but treated from a realistic perspective in which the adventurer is portrayed as a human mix of virtues and flaws.

Fictional Portraits

Barth, John. The Sot-Weed Factor. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1967. 756pp. Earth’s wildly inventive comic treatment of colonial times features appearances by John Smith and Pocahontas with the author’s unconventional spin on history.

Bernhard, Virginia. A Durable Fire. New York: Morrow, 1990. 384pp. Impressive re-creation of life in the Jamestown settlement includes depictions of Smith, Pocahontas, and John Rolfe.

Bourne, Peter. Soldiers of Fortune. London: Hutchinson, 1962. 256pp. This group portrait of the first colonists of Virginia combines Smith’s story with those of a number of settlers from different stratas of English society during the period.

Donnell, Susan. Pocahontas. New York: Berkley, 1991. 456pp. In a speculative elaboration of Pocahontas’s relationship with Smith and her later life in England with John Rolfe, Donnell emphasizes romance over historical accuracy.

Mason, F. van Wyck. The Sea Venture. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1961. 349pp. The story of the first settlement in Bermuda founded by George Somers is connected with the details of Somers’s relief effort to aid Jamestown. Smith, Pocahontas, and Rolfe are depicted.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Fritz, Jean. The Double Life of Pocahontas. New York: Putnam, 1983. 96pp. MG. Fritz’s is an engagingly written and well-researched biographical and historical narrative that covers both Pocahontas’s life in America and England and Smith’s adventures.

Syme, Ronald. John Smith of Virginia. New York: Morrow, 1954. 192pp. MG. This is a comprehensive account of Smith’s activities as a soldier, navigator, and colonizer, with his character revealed through quotes from Smith’s own writings.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: Pocahontas: Her True Story (1995). Director: Monte Markham. Pocahontas’s relationship with John Smith is covered in this film biography of her life in America and England. Video.

Captain John Smith and Pocahontas (1953). Director: Lew Landers. Anthony Dexter stars as Smith in this predictable romantic version of the famous story, with Jody Lawrence as Pocahontas.

Pocahontas: The Legend (1995). Director: Daniele Suissa. Miles O’Keeffe portrays Smith in this live-action version of the story of his relationship with Pocahontas (Sandrine Holt). Video.

434. JOSEPH SMITH

1805–1844

The American founder of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, Smith claimed to have had a vision of golden tablets inscribed with sacred writings. He published the writings as the Book of Mormon (1829) and founded the Mormon church after he said an angel conferred priesthood upon him. Repeated persecutions forced Smith and his followers to settle in Nauvoo, Illinois, after obtaining a favorable state charter. After declaring himself a candidate for the U.S. presidency, anti-Mormons contrived his arrest on charges of treason and conspiracy. He was murdered by a mob while in jail

Autobiography and Primary Sources

History of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, Period I. History of Joseph Smith, the Prophet, by Himself. Brigham H.Roberts, ed. Salt Lake City: Deseret Book Company, 1902–1912. 6 vols. Collects primary documents, the essential writings of Smith, excerpts from his diaries, and reminiscences by associates.

Joseph Smith: Selected Sermons and Writings. Robert L.Millet, ed. New York: Paulist Press, 1989. 266pp. Includes a selection of his letters and Smith’s autobiographical reflections written in 1838 to explain himself and his principles.

Recommended Biographies

Brodie, Fawn M. No Man Knows My History: The Life of Joseph Smith, the Mormon Prophet. 1945. Revised ed. New York: Knopf, 1971. 499pp. Brodie’s groundbreaking psychobiography is a thoroughly researched, objective exploration of Smith’s character and psyche. Brodie, a former Mormon, offers credible suggestions about the cultural and psychological origin of Smith’s religious experience and his development. Brodie’s revision adds documentary evidence and additional support from psychological research to her controversial findings. Readers can also consult the volume, Reconsidering No Man Knows My History: Fawn M. Brodie and Joseph Smith in Retrospect. Newell G. Bringhurst, ed. (Utah State University Press, 1996. 192pp.), for a collection of critical essays on Brodie’s approach, her book, and its continuing importance.

Bushman, Richard L. Joseph Smith and the Beginnings of Mormonism. Urbana: University of Illinois Press, 1984. 262pp. This is the most detailed and perceptive portrait of Smith’s family background and early life up to 1831. Bushman, a Mormon and a respected historian of colonial America, traces Smith’s cultural background as well as his developing ideas that launched Mormonism. Smith is seen not as a collection of phobias but as a sincere visionary who “outgrew his culture,” and the events of Smith’s formative years are chronicled “as the participants themselves experienced them, using their own words where possible.”

Hill, Donna. Joseph Smith: The First Mormon. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1977. 527pp. Hill’s sympathetic though critical account of Smith’s life and times is well-written and documented and treats fairly, if without resolution, the controversies surrounding Smith and his teachings. The book includes an appendix of short biographical sketches of Smith’s adversaries, dissenters, and supporters.

Other Biographical Studies

Anderson, Robert D. Inside the Mind of Joseph Smith: Psychobiography and the Book of Mormon. Salt Lake City: Signature Books, 1999. 263pp. The work of a psychiatrist, Anderson’s systematic psychobiographic study traces the record of Smith’s psyche from the evidence contained in The Book of Mormon. With a solid grasp on early Mormon history Anderson provides a naturalistic explanation for the factors that possibly motivated Smith in his visionary conceptions.

Beardsley, Harry M. Joseph Smith and His Mormon Empire. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1931. 421pp. Like Riley, Beardsley supplies a psychological analysis of Smith, diagnosing him as either paranoid, schizophrenic, or a victim of dementia praecox. The book’s strength is its solid historical background with which to view Smith.

Cannon, George O. Life of Joseph Smith: The Prophet. 1888. Reprint ed. Salt Lake City: Deseret, 1986. 562pp. Although the work of a devout disciple, Cannon’s early hagiography is the first comprehensive portrait with details not reported elsewhere, drawn from firsthand accounts.

Evans, John H. Joseph Smith: An American Prophet. New York: Macmillan, 1933. 447pp. More sympathetic than other psychological and skeptical studies, Evans grants Smith’s sincerity while placing his development in its cultural and historical context and demonstrating Smith’s charismatic impact on his disciples. The book is arranged not chronologically but topically and is full of insights, although the reader should have a sense of Smith’s history before reading.

Gibbons, Francis M. Joseph Smith: Martyr: Prophet of God. Salt Lake City: Deseret, 1977. 377pp. This partisan portrait offers little criticism but does provide a useful, though biased, summary of the major events in Smith’s life.

Riley, I. Woodbridge. The Founder of Mormonism: A Psychological Study of Joseph Smith. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1902. 446pp. Riley offers a historical and psychological analysis for Smith’s ideas and behavior, tracing the roots of Mormonism to the cultural attitudes of the times, identifying possible contemporary sources of The Book of Mormon, and attributing Smith’s religious experience to epilepsy.

Smith, Lucy Mack. Biographical Sketches of Joseph Smith, the Prophet. 1853. Reprint ed. New York: Arno Press, 1969. 282pp. This memoir by Smith’s mother is one of the essential sources for his family background and activities before 1830.

Stewart, John J. Joseph Smith: The Mormon Prophet. Salt Lake City: Mercury, 1966. 257pp. Stewart’s defense of Smith’s life and teaching is chiefly interesting for its perspective on the roots of Smith’s negative reputation in his challenge to religious, political, and moral orthodoxy.

Taves, Ernest H. Trouble Enough: Joseph Smith and the Book of Mormon. Buffalo, New York: Prometheus Books, 1984. 280pp. Taves’s specialized study focuses on the origins and authorship controversy over The Book of Mormon. Based on careful stylistic analysis, Taves concludes that Smith was likely its sole author.

Biographical Novels

Card, Orson Scott. A Woman of Destiny. New York: Berkley Books, 1984. 713pp. Card provides a sympathetic view of Smith in the fictionalized account of one of his wives.

Fisher, Vardis. Children of God: An American Epic. New York: Harper, 1939. 769pp. Fisher’s panoramic narrative chronicles the founding of Mormonism from Smith’s first visions through the religious persecution in the Midwest and the epic trek west led by Brigham Young.

Furnas, Joseph C. The Devil’s Rainbow. New York: Harper, 1962. 341pp. Smith is portrayed from the perspective of a fictional protégé who records Smith’s life from his first revelation to his murder. Somewhat oversimplified, Smith is presented as a paranoiac who helps bring about his own destruction.

Fictional Portraits

Lauritzen, Jonreed. The Everlasting Fire. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1962. 474pp. Focusing on the events of the Mormon migration west through the perspective of a fictional family who endure hostility and prejudice, the novel depicts the events leading up to Smith’s murder and Brigham Young’s rise to leadership.

Lund, Gerald N. The Work and the Glory. Salt Lake City: Bookcraft, 1990–1999. 9 vols. Lund’s multivolume family saga follows the lives and fortunes of the Steed family who meet Smith in Palmyra, New York, and become linked with Mormon history.

Pryor, Elinor. And Never Yield. New York: Macmillan, 1942. 520pp. Life among the Mormons in Missouri and Illinois during the 1830s and 1840s is portrayed through the experiences of a fictional couple. The major events are faithful to the historical record.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Brigham Young: Frontiersman (1940). Director: Henry Hathaway. Vincent Price portrays Smith with Dean Jagger in the title role in this dramatization of the history of the Mormons through the founding of Salt Lake City. Tyrone Power and Linda Darnell carry the nonhistorical load. Video.

Trail of Hope (1997). Director: Lee Groberg. This insightful PBS documentary traces the history of the Mormons and their trek west. The companion volume by Heidi S.Swinton, American Prophet: The Story of Joseph Smith (Salt Lake City: Shadow Mountain, 1999. 160pp.), reprints the film’s commentary by leading historians, including Robert Remini. Video.

Other Sources

Conkling, J.Christopher. A Joseph Smith Chronology. Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret, 1979. 276pp. This useful reference guide collects the basic facts of Smith’s life without interpretation, in chronological order.

See also Brigham Young

435. BENEDICT DE SPINOZA

1623–1677

Dutch philosopher, Spinoza was expelled from the Jewish community of his native Amsterdam for his independence of thought. A rationalist and pantheist, he was influenced by Descartes but rejected Descartes’s mind-body duality theory. Spinoza’s most famous work is Ethics (1677).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Letters. Steve Barbone, Lee Rice, and Jacop Adler, eds. Indianapolis: Hackett, 1995. 404pp. Spinoza’s letters provide the essential biographical details and insights into his character.

Recommended Biographies

Gullan-Whur, Margaret. Within Reason: A Life of Spinoza. Chester Springs, Pennsylvania: Dufour Editions, 1998. 320pp. This scholarly examination traces how Spinoza’s life is reflected in his writings and carefully describes his intellectual circle and the historical and cultural context of his age.

Nadler, Steven M. Spinoza: A Life. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1999. 407pp. Based on detailed period archival research, Nadler’s well-written and authoritative life is aimed at the general reader and features a remarkable animation of seventeenth-century Dutch culture and politics and Jewish Amsterdam. Nadler explores Spinoza’s relationship to his Jewish community and the possible reasons for his excommunication in 1656. The book also supplies an accessible introduction to Spinoza’s philosophy.

Pollock, Frederick. Spinoza: His Life and Philosophy. New York: Macmillan, 1899. 427pp. Still considered one of the finest biographies of Spinoza, Pollock adds to the factual record through his use of Spinoza’s letters. It includes the earliest biographical profile of Spinoza, written by Johannes Köhler, based on firsthand knowledge of the philosopher.

Wolfson, Abraham. Spinoza: A Life of Reason. 1932. Reprint ed. New York: Philosophical Library, 1969. 347pp. Wolfson weaves the little that is known about Spinoza into an effective narrative account. Beginning with the philosopher’s ancestry, the book traces the development of his ideas and their connections with his experience and char

Other Biographical Studies

Browne, Lewis. Blessed Spinoza: A Biography of the Philosopher. New York: Macmillan, 1932. 334pp. Offering little on his philosophy, this narrative biography emphasizes Spinoza’s hardships and persecution and overall goodness, relying on surmises for most of the details on the philosopher’s youth and personality.

Martineau, James. A Study of Spinoza. London: Macmillan, 1882. 371pp. Martineau’s study includes a compact biographical survey along with a vivid depiction of his background in the marranos community, development as a thinker, and Spinoza’s scientific interests.

Roth, Leon. Spinoza. Boston: Little, Brown, 1929. 250pp. In a workmanlike general account of Spinoza’s life, character, and ideas, Roth allows the philosopher to speak for himself through extensive quotations from his works and letters connected by a running commentary.

Scruton, Roger. Spinoza. New York: Oxford University Press, 1986. 122pp. This brief introductory study synthesizes a number of secondary sources to present Spinoza’s life and ideas in an accessible but at times oversimplified fashion.

Fictional Portraits

Weiss, David. I, Rembrandt. New York: St. Martin’s, 1979. 342pp. Rembrandt narrates the story of his life at the age of 48 in 1654 as he undertakes some of his greatest work. The novel features a speculative friendship between the painter and Spinoza.

Other Sources

Garrett, Don, ed. The Cambridge Companion to Spinoza. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1996. 433pp. This useful collection of critical essays explores different aspects of Spinoza’s life and character, and the emergence of his philosophical system.

436. JOSEPH STALIN

1879–1953

Soviet dictator, Stalin was born Josif Dzhugashvili, the son of a Georgian shoemaker. He studied for the priesthood but was expelled from divinity school and became a committed Marxist and a disciple of Lenin. He changed his name to Stalin (“man of steel”) about 1913. He took power after Lenin’s death (1924) and proved equally ruthless in domestic and foreign affairs. Stalin’s mass purges during the 1930s resulted in the imprisonment, exile, and execution of millions of Soviet citizens. He invaded eastern Poland and Finland, imposed communism on the Baltic states, expanded Soviet influence into the countries of eastern Europe after World War II, and pursued hardline Cold War policies abroad.

Recommended Biographies

McNeal, Robert H. Stalin: Man and Ruler. New York: New York University Press, 1988. 389pp. In a challenging reexamination, McNeal uses the new materials that have emerged since Stalin’s death to produce a strikingly different human portrait. Without whitewashing his considerable crimes, McNeal adds dimension to the conventional portrayal of Stalin’s monstrousness, granting him political skills and understandable human traits.

Radzinsky, Edvard. Stalin: The First In-Depth Biography Based on Explosive New Documents from Russia's Secret Archives. New York: Doubleday, 1996. 607pp. This gripping narrative biography, drawing on newly available sources, traces the consistency in Stalin's development and behavior that challenges the accumulated myths that have obscured Stalin's character, motives, and behavior.

Tucker, Robert C. Stalin as Revolutionary: 1878–1929. New York: W.W.Norton, 1973. 519pp.; Stalin in Power: The Revolution from Above: 1928–1941. New York: W.W.Norton, 1990. 707pp. Tucker's two completed volumes of a projected narrative and interpretive trilogy are impressive achievements, solidly researched and argued, connecting Stalin's personal story with its wider historical, political, and cultural context.

Ulam, Adam B. Stalin: The Man and His Era. New York: Viking, 1973. 760pp. Ulam's comprehensive biography and history of the Russian Revolution and the Soviet regime up to Stalin's death supplies one of the fullest portraits available of Stalin's political development, his relationship with Lenin, the reasons for the Great Purge, and Stalin's wartime leadership. In Ulam's view, it is the banality of Stalin's evil that predominates over a more complex explanation of the man and his career.

Other Biographical Studies

Bullock, Alan. Hitler and Stalin: Parallel Lives. New York: Knopf, 1992. 1,081pp. Bullock's fascinating dual biography offers a step-by-step progression of both leaders in gaining and using power. Both are chillingly shown as products of their time, not as unique monster figures.

Carrère d'Encausse, Hélène. Stalin: Order through Terror. New York: Longman, 1981. 269pp. The author's interpretive biographical portrait offers plausible suggestions to explain Stalin's often contradictory behavior and motives.

Conquest, Robert. Stalin: Breaker of Nations. New York: Viking, 1991. 346pp. Intended for the general reader, this carefully researched and well-written portrait of the man and history of his career places Stalin in a broad historical and cultural perspective. Conquest is less successful in dealing with Stalin's ascent to power, but the book is loaded with fascinating incidents and anecdotes of Stalin's rule.

Deutscher, Isaac. Stalin: A Political Biography. 1949. Revised ed. New York: Oxford University Press, 1967. 661pp. In this massive, lucid, and highly readable political biography, Deutscher objectively assesses Stalin's part in the Russian Revolution and his subsequent leadership with psychological insight and a firm historical perspective. The emphasis here is Stalin the ruler rather than the man.

Fischer, Louis. The Life and Death of Stalin. New York: Harper, 1952. 272pp. Fischer's journalistic account based on extended stays in Russia in the 1920s and 1930s is best in its vivid depiction of the Soviet leadership circles. Stalin is shown in his political role, and the private figure remains shadowy with attempts at psychoanalytical interpretation of his personality inadequate.

Hingley, Ronald. Joseph Stalin: Man and Legend. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1974. 482pp. Hingley's revisionist study sets out to redress the balance by granting Stalin's achievement as a leader who consolidated Lenin's faltering Bolshevik state into a great world power. However, the author is as severe in dismissing the positive legends as the negative ones, substituting a realistic, fair assessment in their place.

Laqueur, Walter. Stalin: The Glasnost Revelations. New York: Scribner, 1990. 382pp. This reassessment based on previously unavailable Russian sources captures Stalin and his career from a variety of angles. The book is less successful as a sustained biographical portrait. Rather it collects a series of new and old impressions that need a fuller and more systematic interpretive unity.

Lewis, Jonathan, and Phillip Whitehead. Stalin: A Time for Judgement. New York: Pantheon, 1990. 254pp. A companion volume to a British television documentary series on Stalin's reign, the book includes excerpts from survivors of the purges.

Medvedev, Roy A. On Stalin and Stalinism. New York: Oxford University Press, 1979. 205pp. Medvedev, a Soviet historian, provides new information based on interviews of Stalin's associates and formerly restricted archival material. In the author's view, Stalin subverted the goals of the revolution, and his crimes overwhelm his achievements.

Payne, Robert. The Rise and Fall of Stalin. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1965. 767pp. Payne's overstuffed biography collects facts and legends and reaches a number of questionable conclusions based on scanty or suspect evidence. In need of editing, the book gives similar emphasis to important and unimportant details, along with repetition and contradictions.

Slusser, Robert M. Stalin in October: The Man Who Missed the Revolution. Baltimore: Johns Hopkins University Press, 1987. 281pp. Slusser's specialized study is devoted to Stalin's role in the Bolshevik Revolution between March and October 1917 and his relationship with Lenin and Trotsky. Contrary to Soviet propaganda and Stalin's own contentions, Slusser convincingly argues that Stalin's role was insignificant, a fact that prompted his purge of those that knew this to be the case.

Smith, Edward. The Young Stalin: The Early Years of an Elusive Revolutionary. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1967. 470pp. Smith reconstructs the details of Stalin's life up to the age of 37, based partly on his czarist police file. Smith hypothesizes that Stalin had contacts with and was possibly employed by the secret police. Other revelations include Stalin's early anti-Semitism and the importance of the death of Stalin's first wife in 1907 as a turning point in his career. Although much evidence has been suppressed by Stalin himself, Smith provides interesting and plausible conjectures for gaps in the record that locate the basis of Stalin's character and political successes in his earliest experiences.

Trotsky, Leon. Stalin: An Appraisal of the Man and His Influence. 1941. Revised ed. New York: Stein and Day, 1967. 516pp. Written by Stalin's great enemy whose death Stalin ordered, Trotsky's assessment of Stalin's career and character has fascinating behind-the-scenes and personal views unavailable from any other source.

Volkogonov, Dmitrii A. Stalin: Triumph and Tragedy. New York: Grove Weidenfeld, 1991. 642pp. The author eliminates any doubt about Stalin's responsibility in countless deaths, based on an examination of his personal papers with his marginal comments or initials on mass execution lists. Valuable for its unique archival material, the book is less successful as a fully realized biographical study.

Warm, Robert D. Joseph Stalin. New York: Twayne, 1969. 176pp. Serving as a concise introduction to Stalin's life and political career, Warth's is an objective and thoughtful assessment that avoids speculation and remains close to the documented evidence.

Biographical Novels

Jones, Mervyn. Joseph. New York: Atheneum, 1970. 506pp. Stalin's life is dramatized from his days as a poor seminary student through the events of the Russian Revolution, civil war, and party intrigue that makes him one of history's most powerful dictators. Blending the known and the imagined, the novel attempts to trace the psychological factors that explain Stalin's motives and behavior.

Krotkov, Yuri. The Red Monarch: Scenes from the Life of Stalin. New York: W.W.Norton, 1979. 253pp. In a chronological account of Stalin's life through a series of real and imagined vignettes, scenes include Mao's visit to the Soviet Union in 1949, the Teheran Conference, Stalin's wife's suicide, and his death.

Lourie, Richard. The Autobiography of Joseph Stalin. Washington, DC: Counterpoint, 1999. 261pp. In the 1930s as Stalin obsesses over Trotsky's rumored biography of him, the Soviet dictator offers his own version of his life story in a convincing portrayal of a man consumed by a need for power and control and devoid of any principles or humanity.

Fictional Portraits

Aksyonov, Vassily. Generations of Winter. New York: Random House, 1994. 656pp.; The Winter's Hero. Random House, 1996. 496pp. This family saga offers a convincing panoramic view of Stalin's growing power and oppression.

Littell, Robert. The Revolutionist: A Novel of Russia. New York: Bantam Books, 1988. 467pp. In a blend of fact and fiction the events of the Russian Revolution and the creation of the Soviet state are detailed up to the death of Stalin.

Meade, Glenn. Snow Wolf. New York: St. Martin's, 1996. 432pp. This inventive thriller concerns the shadowy rumors surrounding Stalin's death.

Rkybakov, Anatoli. Children of the Arbat. Boston: Little, Brown, 1988. 685pp.; Fear. Boston: Little, Brown, 1992. 686pp.; Dust and Ashes. Boston: Little, Brown, 1996. 480pp. Rybakov's remarkable Arbat Trilogy provides a detailed examination of life in Russia during Stalin's rule.

Trifonov, Yuri. Disappearance. Ann Arbor, Michigan: Ardis, 1991. 181pp. The events of the Great Terror and Stalin's purges in the 1930s are depicted through the experiences of a Russian family.

Wright, Patricia. Journey into Fire. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1977. 391pp. The survival of a Russian musician and his wife during the Russian Revolution and its aftermath is dramatized.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Caulkins, Janet. Joseph Stalin. New York: F. Watts, 1990. 160pp. MG/YA. Caulkins’s is a lucid account of Stalin’s life and Soviet history that emphasizes Stalin’s role as an agent of change.

Marrin, Albert. Stalin. New York: Viking Kestral, 1988. 244pp. MG/YA. Marrin’s is the most detailed biographical and historical account of Stalin’s life and times available for younger readers. Balanced and informative, the book manages a sophisticated view of Stalin’s character and times.

Otfinoski, Steven. Joseph Stalin: Russia’s Last Czar. Brookfield, Connecticut: Millbrook Press, 1993. 128pp. MG/YA. Covering Stalin’s entire life, this is a balanced and skillful account that allows the human side of Stalin’s character to emerge.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: Joseph Stalin: Red Terror (1996). Producer: Alison Guss. This film portrait covers both Stalin’s career and his impact through archival footage and testimony by experts. Video.

Children of the Revolution (1996). Director: Peter Duncan. This satirical Australian film imagines a passionate Stalinist (Judy Davis) who becomes the dictator’s lover and bears him a son who grows up reflecting his father’s behavior. F.Murray Abraham portrays Stalin. Video.

Hitler and Stalin (1993). Producer: CBS News. Using film clips and interviews with experts, this is a film overview of the life, relationship, and impact of the two leaders, co-hosted by Charles Kuralt and Norman Schwarzkopf. Video.

The Inner Circle (1991). Director: Andrei Konchalovsky. Based on the life of the actual projectionist who ran movies for Stalin from 1935 to the dictator’s death, this interesting film captures life within the Kremlin during Stalin’s reign. With Bob Hoskins, Tom Hulse, and Lolita Davidovich. Video.

Joseph Stalin (1963). Director: Jack Haley. In this installment of television’s Biography series hosted by Mike Wallace, Stalin’s ruthlessness is emphasized in this profile. Video.

Red Tsar (1984). Director: Julia Spark. Segment of the television program, History in Action. Video.

Stalin (1991). Director: Ivan Passer. Featuring actual Russian locations, this biographical film covers Stalin’s public and private life with a convincing portrayal by Robert Duvall in the lead role. Video.

Stalin: Man and Image (1975). Producer: Nielson-Ferns International. Canadian television production narrated by Henry Fonda. Video.

Testimony (1987). Director: Tony Palmer. This biographical portrait of composer Dmitri Shostakovich (Ben Kingsley) treats his political conflicts, with Terence Rigby as Stalin.

The Warlords (1986). Producer: Lamancha Productions. This series of brief film biographies of World War II leaders, such as Hitler, DeGaulle, Mussolini, and Churchill, includes a portrait of Stalin. Video.

World War II: When Lions Roared (1994). Director: Joseph Sargent. The conduct of the war from the perspective of the Allied leaders is dramatized. Bob Hoskins portrays Churchill; Michael Caine is Stalin, and John Lithgow is Franklin Roosevelt. Video.

Other Sources

Rappaport, Helen. Joseph Stalin: A Biographical Companion. Santa Barbara, California: ABC-CLIO, 1999. 372pp. This reference source features alphabetically arranged entries on the many figures associated with Stalin and his era.

See also Vladimir Lenin; Leon Trotsky

437. SIR HENRY M.STANLEY

1841–1904

An Anglo-American journalist and explorer, Stanley fought in the Civil War for both Union and Confederate armies and afterwards worked for the New York Herald. The newspaper sent him to Africa to find the missionary and explorer, David Livingstone. Their famous meeting took place on the shores of Lake Tanganyika. He later led several African expeditions, organized the future Independent State of the Congo, and helped to ensure British influence in Uganda.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Autobiography of Henry Morton Stanley. 1909. Reprint ed. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1970. 551 pp. Stanley’s unfinished memoir was published posthumously, edited and sanitized by Stanley’s wife who helped to preserve the positive self-image that Stanley worked hard to foster while concealing details about his background and activities. Stanley’s own accounts of his African experiences—How I Found Livingstone (New York: Scribner, 1874. 736pp.); Through the Dark Continent. (1878. Reprinted. New York: Greenwood, 1969. 2 vols.); and In Darkest Africa (New York: Scribner, 1890. 2 vols.)—are equally slanted and should be read alongside more objective accounts.

Recommended Biographies

Farwell, Byron. The Man Who Presumed: A Biography of Henry M.Stanley. New York: Holt, 1957. 334pp. This is a full-length biography that reveals the details of Stanley’s life that he concealed, including his bitter childhood, his service in the American Civil War, and his relationships. The result is a sympathetic though realistic and balanced assessment.

Hall, Richard S. Stanley: An Adventurer Explored. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1975. 400pp. Drawing on the important manuscript sources, Hall’s is the most comprehensive and authoritative biography available. As one reviewer pointed out, Hall “grasps the essence of Stanley’s heretofore elusive personality and for the first time the great explorer and journalist becomes an understandable, human figure.”

Other Biographical Studies

Anstruther, Ian. Dr. Livingstone, I Presume? New York: Dutton, 1957. 207pp. Anstruther sheds some light on Stanley’s character and does not disguise his flaws, but the account only covers in full Stanley’s life up to 1874.

Busoni, Rafaello. Stanley’s Africa. New York: Viking, 1944. 288pp. Busoni’s highly fictionalized, impressionistic narrative of Stanley’s African travels is chiefly redeemed by its illustrations.

Hird, Frank. H.M.Stanley: The Authorized Life. London: Stanley Paul, 1935. 320pp. Hird adds some documentary evidence to the picture of Stanley, but his account falls short of a fully authoritative humanized view. The book is still more a memorial than an objective study.

Sterling, Thomas. Stanley’s Way: A Sentimental Journey Through Central Africa. New York: Atheneum, 1960. 258pp. The author retraces Stanley’s steps through Africa, offering an unorthodox travelogue with often-deflating comments on Stanley’s heroics.

Wassermann, Jakob. Bula Matari: Stanley, Conqueror of a Continent. New York: Liveright, 1933. 351pp. Although depending on Stanley’s accounts for its facts, this is an often-intriguing but highly speculative early psychological profile that reveals a mixed figure.

Biographical Novels

Forbath, Peter. The Last Hero. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1988. 729pp. Scrupulous in its faithfulness to the facts, the novel dramatizes the expedition led by Stanley up the Congo to Emir Pasha’s beleaguered garrison after the fall of Khartoum in 1885.

Fictional Portraits

Hagerfors, Lennart. The Whales of Lake Tanganyika. New York: Grove Press, 1989. 172pp. This is a fictional retelling of Stanley’s 1871 expedition to find Livingstone from the perspective of a British sailor who offers a realistic view of both

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Cohen, Daniel. Henry Stanley and the Quest for the Source of the Nile. New York: Evans, 1985. 175pp. MG. Cohen summarizes Stanley’s explorations in a vivid, dramatic narrative account.

Clinton, Susan. Henry Stanley and David Livingstone. Chicago: Childrens Press, 1990. 128pp. MG. Clinton’s dual biography tracks the accomplishments of both men in the context of African exploration.

Sherman, Steven. Henry Stanley and the European Explorers of Africa. New York: Chelsea House, 1993. 111pp. MG/YA. Stanley’s explorations are described along with the discoveries of Mungo Park and David Livingstone.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Henry Morton Stanley (1976). Director: Fred Burnley. Dramatizes Stanley’s expedition in search of the headwaters of the Lualaba River, narrated by Anthony Quinn. Video.

Stanley and Livingstone (1939). Director: Henry King. This heroic interpretation of Stanley’s search for Livingstone is more legendary than reliable. Spencer Tracy is the pursuer, and Cedric Hardwicke is the pursued Livingstone. Video.

See also David Livingstone

438. GERTRUDE STEIN

1874–1946

American author and patron of the arts, Stein lived chiefly in Paris, where she encouraged, aided, and influenced such literary and artistic figures as Ernest Hemingway, F.Scott Fitzgerald, Pablo Picasso, and Henri Matisse. It was Stein who coined the phrase the “lost generation” to describe post-World War I American expatriate writers. Her longtime secretary and lover was Alice B.Toklas. Stein’s innovative writings were known for experimental syntax and include Three Lives (1909) and The Autobiography of Alice B.Toklas (1933).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Autobiography of Alice B.Toklas. 1933. New York: Modern Library, 1980. 252pp. Stein’s most popular work is her recollections and observations on expatriate life in Paris, modern art, and a number of prominent figures rendered from the perspective of her longtime companion and lover.

Everybody’s Autobiography. New York: Random House, 1937. 318pp. Stein’s sequel to The Autobiography of Alice B.Toklas is concerned chiefly with her visit to America after the success of her earlier book.

Stein’s personal writings are collected in several volumes, including Dear Sammy: Letters from Gertrude Stein and Alice B.Toklas. M.Steward, ed. (Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1977. 260pp.); The Letters of Gertrude Stein and Carl Van Vechten: 1913–1946. Edward Burns, ed. (New York: Columbia University Press, 1986. 2 vols.); and The Letters of Gertrude Stein and Thornton Wilder. Edward Burns and Ulla E.Dydo, eds. (New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1996. 452 pp.).

Recommended Biographies

Hobhouse, Janet. Everybody Who Was Anybody: A Biography of Gertrude Stein. New York: Putnam, 1975. 244pp. Hobhouse’s compact, excellently illustrated, critical biography tells the story of Stein’s life and artistic development largely through an examination of the writer’s various relationships: with her brother, Toklas, Picasso and the cubists, Hemingway, and other artists of the Lost Generation.

Mellow, James R. Charmed Circle: Gertrude Stein and Company. New York: Praeger, 1974. 528pp. Mellow’s is the most thorough and authoritative biography of Stein. As its title indicates, the book relates Stein’s life and work to the wider context of her artistic and cultural milieu. The connection helps to explain Stein’s interests and activities in the wider currents of modernism.

Wagner-Martin, Linda. “Favored Strangers” : Gertrude Stein and Her Family. New Brunswick, New Jersey: Rutgers University Press, 1995. 346pp. Drawing on previously unavailable family papers, Wagner-Martin emphasizes Stein’s German-Jewish family background, her relationship with her older brothers, Michael and Leo, and her early feminist and lesbian experiences to trace her personal and artistic development. Full of fresh anecdotes and details, the book offers an original, nuanced portrait that stands in marked contrast with previous biographical treatments.

Wineapple, Brenda. Sister Brother: Gertrude and Leo Stein. New York: Putnam, 1996. 514pp. Wineapple’s impressive biographical study of Stein’s relationship with her brother is particularly strong on the pair’s upbringing in Oakland, California, and the years up to 1910 when the formerly symbiotic pair began their long estrangement.

Other Biographical Studies

Bridgman, Richard. Gertrude Stein in Pieces. New York: Oxford University Press, 1970. 411pp. Bridgman’s critical study of Stein’s published and unpublished works traces her artistic development and relates her production to the events of her life. Although not a full-scale literary biography, the book remains one of the finest critical studies available that succeeds in providing a valuable framework for appreciating her achievement and connecting the various stages of her career.

Brinnin, John M. The Third Rose: Gertrude Stein and Her World. Boston: Little, Brown, 1959. 427pp. Brinnin’s influential critical biography is detailed and thorough, although its scholarship and reliability has been superseded by later, more careful studies that have better separated the legendary and self-serving details of Stein’s own account from the facts and offer a more acute critical assessment of her literary achievement.

Knapp, Bettina L. Gertrude Stein. New York: Continuum, 1990. 201pp. Knapp supplies a good introduction of Stein’s life and works with a succinct biographical section (mainly the years in France) followed by a survey of the writer’s important works.

Rogers, William G. When This You See Remember Me: Gertrude Stein in Person. New York: Rinehart, 1948. 247pp. Based on the author’s affectionate recollections of time spent with Stein and their correspondence that is included, Rogers supplies an intimate biographical portrait concerned mainly with the author’s personal qualities and characteristics.

Souhami, Diana. Gertrude and Alice. New York: HarperCollins, 1991. 300pp. In a balanced, dual biography that focuses on the relationship between Stein and Toklas, Souhami supplies a useful synthesis of source materials that serves as an informative, anecdotally rich introduction to the pair for the general reader.

Sprigge, Elizabeth. Gertrude Stein: Her Life and Work. New York: Harper, 1957. 277pp. The first full-scale critical biography, Sprigge’s life does provide significant factual details from archival research, but often relies uncritically on Stein’s own account to trace her subject’s development.

Stewart, Allegra. Gertrude Stein and the Present. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1967. 223pp. Stewart’s critical analysis of Stein’s writing includes a valuable biographical chapter that considers the writer’s family background, education, and scientific and philosophical interests.

Toklas, Alice B. What Is Remembered. New York: Holt, 1963. 186pp. Toklas’s autobiography is rarely analytical or revelatory but supplies interesting details on the couple’s relationship and life together, as well as the many important figures that they hosted.

Fictional Portraits

Carlile, Clancy. The Paris Pilgrims. New York: Carroll & Graf, 1999. 496pp. This documentary novel is set in Paris during Hemingway’s first stay there in 1922 and features appearances by virtually every figure associated with the expatriate scene and the Lost Generation, including Stein and Toklas.

Engel, Howard. Murder in Montparnasse. Woodstock, New York: Overlook Press, 1999. 304pp. This inventive period mystery mixes such real figures as James Joyce, Ezra Pound, Stein, and Toklas with a Hemingway-esque figure and fictional characters from The Sun Also Rises in a witty literary thriller.

Longstreet, Stephen. The Burning Man. New York: Random House, 1958. 428pp. Longstreet’s fictionalized life of a Spanish artist who closely resembles Picasso offers glimpses of a number of actual figures, including Apollinaire, Matisse, and Stein.

Roosevelt, Elliott. Murder in the Chateau. New York: St. Martin’s, 1996. 200pp. In this installment of the Eleanor Roosevelt mystery series, the first lady is in occupied France where she meets Erwin Rommel and Stein in a far-fetched period mystery.

Steward, Samuel M. Murder Is Murder Is Murder. Boston: Alyson, 1985. 189pp.; The Caravaggio Shawl. Boston: Alyson, 1989. 209pp. Steward’s mystery series employs Stein and Toklas as sleuths during the 1930s.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Greenfield, Howard. Gertrude Stein: A Biography. New York: Crown, 1973. 151pp. YA. Greenfield supplies a workmanlike summary of the highlights of Stein’s career with an emphasis on her early Paris years and her relationship with Alice B. Toklas.

La Farge, Ann. Gertrude Stein. New York: Chelsea House, 1988. 111pp. MG/YA. Part of the American Women of Achievement series, this is an informative biographical profile of Stein’s life and artistic impact.

Rogers, William G. Gertrude Stein Is Gertrude Stein Is Gertrude Stein. New York: Crowell, 1973.

237pp. YA. Stein’s life and work are set in their wider historical and cultural contexts, and the book includes firsthand recollections by the author who maintained a friendship with the writer from World War I until her death.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Martin, Marty. Gertrude Stein, Gertrude Stein, Gertrude Stein: A One-character Play. New York: Vintage Books, 1980. 60pp. The text of the popular one-person stage show starring Pat Carroll.

Gertrude Stein: When You See This, Remember Me (1970). Director: Perry M.Adato. This is a film version of Stein’s autobiography with passages from her writings, photographs, film footage, and interviews with those who knew the writer, including Virgil Thomson and Jean Genet, Video.

The Moderns (1988). Director: Alan Rudolph. Both Hemingway (Kevin O’Connor) and Stein (Elsa Raven) are portrayed in this romanticized period drama of expatriate life in 1926 Paris. Starring Keith Carradine, Linda Fiorentino, and Geraldine Chaplin. Video.

Waiting for the Moon (1986). Director: Jill Godmilow. This PBS production dramatizes the relationship between Stein (Linda Bassett) and Alice B.Toklas (Linda Hunt). Video.

Other Sources

Kellner, Bruce, ed. A Gertrude Stein Companion: Content with the Example. New York: Greenwood, 1988. 352pp. This reference volume of critical essays on Stein includes an extensive biographical dictionary of her circle, and a selection of her remarks on a variety of topics.

Simon, Linda, ed. Gertrude Stein Remembered. Lincoln: University of Nebraska Press, 1994. 195pp. Collects reminiscences from individuals who knew Stein at various points in her career from her student days in the United States to her final years in Paris.

Stendhal, Renate, ed. Gertrude Stein in Words and Pictures: A Photobiography. Chapel Hill, North Carolina: Algonquin Books, 1994. 286pp. This handsome collection of photographs is connected by selections from Stein’s own writings and others’ recollections of her.

See also Ernest Hemingway

439. STENDHAL (MARIE HENRI BEYLE)

1783–1842

French novelist and a pioneer of the psychological novel, Stendahl’s youth in Grenoble was marked by hatred of his father and of the Jesuit, Royalist atmosphere in his home. He went to Paris, where he obtained a position at the ministry of war and served as a dragoon in Napoleon’s army. During the reign of Louis Philippe he served as consul in Trieste and Civitavecchia, returning to Paris a few months before his death. His works include The Red and the Black (1830) and The Charterhouse of Parma (1839).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Life of Henry Brulard. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1986. 347pp. Stendhal’s unfinished autobiography was begun in November 1835 and abandoned the following March. The work provides valuable glimpses of the writer’s self-assessment.

The Private Diaries of Stendhal. Robert Sage, ed. New York: W.W.Norton, 1962. 556pp. Indispensable as a biographical source, Stendhal’s diaries show him to be one of the most persistently self-analytical writers.

To the Happy Few: Selected Letters. E. Boudot-Lamotte, ed. New York: Grove Press, 1955. 384pp. As with his fragmentary autobiography and diaries, Stendhal’s letters are essential sources for biographical insight into the multiple personas of the man.

Recommended Biographies

Alter, Robert, with Carol Cosman. A Lion for Love: A Critical Biography of Stendhal. New York: Basic Books, 1979. 285pp. Alter’s study, conducted with the assistance of his wife, is a superior effort of compression and judicious interpretation. Stendhal is examined in his various guises and in his careers as critic, journalist, travel writer, and novelist. Without undue simplification, the book offers a reliable means to see Stendhal whole, with his complexity intact.

Keates, Jonathan. Stendhal. New York: Carroll & Graf, 1997. 477pp. Keates, both a novelist and biographer, supplies a highly readable, richly detailed narrative biography that relates Stendhal’s development to his political and cultural background. Keates shows the connections as well as the differences between Stendhal’s life and character and his fiction. Readers already familiar with The Red and the Black and The Charterhouse of Parma will be best served by Keates’s study.

Other Biographical Studies

Fowlie, Wallace. Stendhal. New York: Macmillan, 1969. 240pp. Part of the Masters of World Literature series, this introductory critical biography is a useful synthesis of prevailing critical views that stresses the influence of Stendhal’s life and personality on his writing and philosophy.

Green, F.C. Stendhal. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Cambridge University Press, 1939. 336pp. Green’s biography is the first in English to examine the full range of Stendhal’s works and begin to draw the appropriate connections between their creation and the writer’s experiences. Conjecture is identified as such, and if the book falls short of a fully satisfying scholarly approach, it does still serve as an accessible, perceptive, and readable overview of Stendhal’s career.

Hemmings, F.W.J. Stendhal: A Study of His Novels. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1964. 232pp. Hemmings’s important critical study of Stendhal’s four great novels supplies a good deal of information about the writer’s creative process, personality, and what the novels reveal about Stendhal’s biography.

Josephson, Matthew. Stendhal: Or the Pursuit of Happiness. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1946. 489pp. Josephson’s thorough account displays the writer from various angles in a readable narrative, skillfully assembling appropriate primary material that does justice to Stendhal’s full career.

Kayser, Rudolf. Stendhal: The Life of an Egoist. New York: Holt, 1930. 278pp. Kayser’s mainly novelized biography attempts to animate Stendhal’s personality against a vivid depiction of the crucial events of his life. Selective, and with insufficient attention to Stendhal’s writing, Kayser’s treatment is more entertaining than useful in supplying a complete and reliable portrait.

May, Gita. Stendhal and the Age of Napoleon. New York: Columbia University Press, 1977. 332pp. The complex interplay between Stendhal’s personality and history is the book’s focus. May is strongest on background elements, although the core of Stendhal’s identity eludes her grasp, and the discussion of his works repeats familiar views.

Richardson, Joanna. Stendhal. New York: Coward-McCann, 1974. 344pp. Richardson stresses not Stendhal the literary figure but Stendhal the man, offering glimpses of his personality from his letters and diaries. This limited approach leaves a number of questions concerning Stendhal’s development unaddressed.

Strickland, Geoffrey. Stendhal: The Education of a Novelist. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1974. 302pp. Strickland’s intellectual biography traces the stages of Stendhal’s development as a critic, moral philosopher, and imaginative artist. Objective, concise, and lucid, Strickland’s study sets Stendhal in a broad intellectual context and supplies a provocative and coherent means to understand his development.

Tillett, Margaret G. Stendhal: The Background to the Novels. New York: Oxford University Press, 1971. 157pp. Addressed to the general reader, Tillett’s compact critical introduction supplies the necessary background for an appreciation of Stendhal’s novels, examining each in their political, social, and personal context.

Wood, Michael. Stendhal. Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1971. 208pp. Like Tillett’s study, Wood’s is a valuable introductory study that serves to orient the reader to Stendhal’s literary work, career, and life.

Fictional Portraits

Rimbaud, Patrick. The Battle. New York: Grove Press, 2000. 256pp. In Rimbaud’s acclaimed reconstruction of the bloody Battle of Essling in 1809, Stendhal is featured in a subplot, waiting in Vienna for news of the battle while consumed by passion for a beautiful Austrian woman, Anna Krauss.

440. LAURENCE STERNE

1713–1768

English novelist Sterne became an Anglican clergyman, served in a Yorkshire parish, and then went to London, where he was a great social success. The first volume of his masterpiece Tristram Shandy (1760) was denounced by such celebrated literary figures as Samuel Johnson and Horace Walpole but was widely read. Eight more volumes followed (1781–1767). After leading a rather dissolute life, during which he frequently suffered from ill health, Seme died of tuberculosis.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Letters. L.P.Curtis, ed. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1935. 495pp. Sterne’s 222 surviving letters are reprinted in this scholarly edition.

Recommended Biographies

Cash, Arthur H. Laurence Sterne. London: Methuen, 1975–1986. 2 vols. Cash’s authoritative, comprehensive life is widely regarded as the definitive modern biography. Cash’s Sterne is considerably darker and more realistic than the version offered by Cross and most other interpreters. Judicious in its views and balanced, Sterne becomes a multidimensional, complex figure in Cash’s competent presentation.

Cross, Wilbur L. The Life and Times of Laurence Sterne. 1909. Revised ed. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1929. 670pp. Before Cash, Cross’s study was the standard biography and the fullest and most authoritative presentation of Sterne’s life, career, and relationships.

Hartley, Lodwick. This is Lorence: A Narrative of the Reverend Laurence Sterne. 1943. Revised ed. as Laurence Sterne: A Biographical Essay. Chapel Hill: University of North Carolina Press, 1968. 302pp. Hartley’s informal and lively overview of Sterne’s life and works is recommended for general readers looking for an entertaining introduction.

Thomson, David. Wild Excursions: The Life and Fiction of Laurence Sterne. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1972. 325pp. Thomson’s lively and provocative critical biography attempts to resuscitate Sterne’s relevance for a modern reader even as he portrays him as an unreliable, evasive man. Many of Thomson’s views are debatable, but he is rarely dull, and the book is a good choice to sample the flavor of the man and his achievement.

Other Biographical Studies

Connely, Willard. Laurence Sterne as Yorick. London: Bodley Head, 1958. 240pp. Restricted to the last nine years of Sterne’s life, Connely provides a reliable summary for the general reader against a solid social and cultural background.

Fitzgerald, Percy H. The Life of Laurence Sterne. 1864. Revised ed. London: Downey, 1896. 2 vols. Despite some useful information about Sterne’s travels in France, Fitzgerald’s early study is marred by errors of fact and a lack of critical balance in its interpretation.

Melville, Lewis. The Life and Letters of Laurence Sterne. London: S.Paul, 1911. 2 vols. Melville’s extensive reliance on Sterne’s letters allows the author to tell his own story.

Sichel, Walter S. Sterne: A Study. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1910. 360pp. Providing little that is new or original, besides two new letters and making Sterne’s Journal to Eliza more accessible to readers, Sichel recycles familiar views of the man and an overly hostile critical estimation.

Traill, H.D. The Life of Laurence Sterne. 1882. Reprint ed. New York: AMS Press, 1968. 176pp. Traill’s brief biographical profile is incomplete, focused almost exclusively on Sterne’s years as an author.

Yoseloff, Thomas. A Fellow of Infinite Jest. New York: Prentice-Hall, 1945. 232pp. This popular biography adds nothing to the record besides evidence of the author’s own enthusiasm. While rarely very subtle or profound, Yoseloff’s straightforward narrative at least has the merits of liveliness.

Biographical Novels

Bill, Alfred H. Alas, Poor Yorick! Boston: Little, Brown, 1927. 263pp. The novel imagines three episodes from Sterne’s life.

441. WALLACE STEVENS

1879–1955

American poet whose verse is rich in imagery and ideas, Stevens worked for a Hartford insurance company from 1916 until his death. He achieved literary recognition only after winning the 1955 Pulitzer Prize for his Collected Poems. Other poetry volumes include Harmonium (1923) and Transport to Summer (1947).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Letters of Wallace Stevens. Holly Stevens, ed. New York: Knopf, 1966. 890pp. A collection of 800 letters covers 60 years of Stevens’s life from 1895 to his death, along with extracts from the poet’s unpublished journal. The letters touch on Stevens’s poetic practices, the development of his ideas on truth, imagination, and reality, and his reflections on the events of his life.

Recommended Biographies

Bates, Milton. Wallace Stevens: A Mythology of Self Berkeley: University of California Press, 1985. 319pp. Bates’s comprehensive biographical study portrays Stevens as a man of multiple identities, a role player whose many sides were refracted in the parts he scrupulously performed throughout his life. Drawing mainly on Stevens’s letters, Bates’s study is a fascinating, plausible attempt to penetrate the psyche of a closely guarded, private sensibility.

Brazeau, Peter. Parts of a World: Wallace Stevens Remembered: An Oral Biography. New York: Random House, 1983. 330pp. Stevens is portrayed from a variety of angles in this collection of reminiscences from more than 150 scholars, family members, neighbors, business associates, and friends. Rich in anecdotes and details of Stevens’s professional life and character, Stevens’s public persona rather than his private, creative life is interestingly displayed.

Richardson, Joan. Wallace Stevens. New York: Beech Tree, 1986–1988. 2 vols. By far the most comprehensive and authoritative biography, Richardson’s study shows in great detail the evolution of Stevens’s genius, his poetic development, and his often guarded and concealed multiple identities. Volume one covers Stevens’s formative years up to 1923; volume two, the years of his maturity from the publication of Harmonium in 1923 to his death. Richardson challenges a number of popular notions concerning the poet and displays with considerable skill and judiciousness his complex and often contradictory nature.

Other Biographical Studies

Lensing, George A. Wallace Stevens: A Poet’s Growth. Baton Rouge: Louisiana State University Press, 1986. 313pp. In a series of thematic chapters, Lensing traces Stevens’s development in an intellectual biography that presents the sources of the poet’s inspiration and compositional method derived from his letters, journals, notebooks, and his annotations in his books.

Morse, Samuel French. Wallace Stevens: Poetry as Life. New York: Pegasus, 1970. 232pp. Morse relates the events of Stevens’s life to his poetic development in this brief critical introduction to the poet’s ideas and creative method, authorized by Stevens’s widow and daughter. The details of Stevens’s life are exclusively those that shed light on his poetic career.

Sharpe, Tony. Wallace Stevens: A Literary Life. New York: St. Martin’s, 1999. 240pp. Sharpe’s critical intellectual biography challenges the conventional portrait of Stevens as a conservative, detached, poetry-writing insurance executive, substituting instead a man in turmoil and an important American intellectual. This scholarly work assembles a great number of anecdotes and details of Stevens’s life that are then used to help explain the significance of his ideas and his poetry. A solid grounding in Stevens’s works is essential for a full appreciation of Sharpe’s study.

Stevens, Holly. Souvenirs and Prophecies: The Young Wallace Stevens. New York: Knopf, 1977. 288pp. Stevens’s daughter supplies a revealing portrait of the poet’s formative years based largely on his journals that he began as a Harvard sophomore in 1898 to 1914 and his first published poetry. Despite heavy editing of the most personal portions of Stevens’s letters and journals, the book supplies a fascinating look at the poet’s artistic and professional development.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Wallace Stevens: Man Made Out of Words (1987). Director: Richard P.Rogers. This segment of the Voices and Visions poetry series explores Stevens’s life and work with commentary by Helen Vendler, Mark Strand, James Merrill, Joan Richardson, and Harold Bloom. Video.

Other Sources

Doggett, Frank, and Robert Battel, ed. Wallace Stevens: A Celebration. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1980. 361pp. Honoring the centennial of the poet’s birth, this valuable collection of essays focuses on Stevens’s personality and life as well as his poetry.

442. ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON

1850–1894

Scottish novelist, poet, and essayist, Stevenson was admitted to the bar but never practiced. He published essays and stories, such as “A Lodging for the Night,” in various periodicals, but his first popular success came with publication of the novels Treasure Island (1883) and the fantasy Prince Otto (1885). In 1889 Stevenson settled in Samoa with his family. Other well-known works by Stevenson include A Child’s Garden of Verses (1885), Kidnapped (1886), and The Strange Case of Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde (1886).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Letters of Robert Louis Stevenson. Bradford A. Booth and Ernest Mehew, eds. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1994–1995. 8 vols. This impressive definitive edition of Stevenson’s letters includes substantial commentary that constitutes a full biographical portrait, anchored by the writer’s own words and views of his constantly shifting moods.

Selected Letters of Robert Louis Stevenson. Ernest Mehew, ed. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1997. 626pp. Containing 317 of Stevenson’s most interesting and revealing letters, this is the recommended book for the reader unable or unwilling to tackle the more than 2,800 letters contained in the eight-volume scholarly edition.

Recommended Biographies

Bell, Ian. Dream of Exile: Robert Louis Stevenson: A Biography. New York: Holt, 1993. 296pp. Bell’s brief, sympathetic but balanced biography is the work of a Scottish journalist, and, although it does not attempt scholarly thoroughness or documentation, it does provide a sensible, judicious assessment of the writer’s personality, his circle, and literary career.

Calder, Jenni. Robert Louis Stevenson: A Life Study. New York: Oxford University Press, 1980. 362pp. Calder’s is an extremely competent, well-written account of the relationship between Stevenson’s life and work, particularly strong on the writer’s Scottish background and the biographical sources for his stories and fictional characters.

Furnas, J.C. Voyage to Windward: The Life of Robert Louis Stevenson. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1951. 478pp. Furnas’s interpretive chronological account is thorough, balanced, and unsentimental, and is one of the most readable chronicles of Stevenson’s life. Drawing on much unpublished material, and particularly strong on Stevenson’s American and Pacific activities, the book is a masterful three-dimensional portrait of a complex fig

McLynn, F.J. Robert Louis Stevenson: A Biography. New York: Random House, 1994. 587pp. Thoroughly detailed and controversial in its insights into Stevenson’s relationship with his wife, McLynn presents a complex portrait of a divided

Other Biographical Studies

Balfour, Sir Graham. Life of Robert Louis Stevenson. New York: Scribner, 1901. 2 vols. The official biography contracted by Stevenson’s wife, Balfour’s is a solid, if uninspired, account by one of the writer’s cousins. More reverent than candid, particularly on the writer’s less-respectable behavior, Balfour’s life still includes useful information not available elsewhere.

Bevan, Bryan. Robert Louis Stevenson: Poet and Teller of Tales. New York: St. Martin’s, 1992. 197pp. Bevan’s compact biography is a fine choice for a sensible, balanced overview of the writer’s life and literary career for the general reader.

Carré, Jean-Marie. The Frail Warrior: A Life of Robert Louis Stevenson. New York: Coward-McCann, 1930. 297pp. The author attempts an intermediate portrait somewhere between the angelic figure presented by Balfour and the more realistic view of Steuart. Readable and thorough, at least concerning Stevenson’s maturity, the book occasionally falters into melodrama, and, as its title indicates, Stevenson is shown as more pathetic than heroic.

Daiches, David. Robert Louis Stevenson and His World. London: Thames and Hudson, 1973. 128pp. Daiches’s illustrated biography links a series of photographs and drawings of the author, his associates, haunts, and travel destinations with a sensible biographical overview.

Davies, Hunter. The Teller of Tales: In Search of Robert Louis Stevenson. New York: Interlink Books, 1996. 321pp. Recounting Stevenson’s life as well as the author’s own visits to places where the writer lived, biographical chapters alternate with “letters” to Stevenson, informing him “what’s been happening to some of the places you once knew so well.”

Mackay, Margaret. The Violent Friend: The Story of Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1968. 566pp. The book’s biographical portrait of Stevenson’s wife is loaded with details of the writer’s private life, his travels, and illness. Long resented by Stevenson’s admirers. Fanny Stevenson emerges from the writer’s shadow, and Mackay offers a very different view of the couple’s relationship than previous treatments.

Masson, Rosaline O. I Can Remember Robert Louis Stevenson. New York: F.A.Stokes, 1922. 369pp. This collection of personal memories of the writer’s relatives, schoolmates, friends, and acquaintances supplies a number of interesting, though rarely critical or penetrating views of the writer at various stages of his development. In Life of Robert Louis Stevenson (New York: F.A. Stokes, 1923. 358pp.) Masson followed her compilation of reminiscences with a full-length biography that reinforces the romantic image of Stevenson that he helped to fashion and later biographers have challenged. The book is mainly valuable for its details of the writer’s boyhood and Edinburgh period.

Osbourne, Lloyd. An Intimate Portrait of R.L.S. New York: Scribner, 1924. 155pp. Stevenson’s stepson provides his recollection of life in the writer’s household and the family’s travels. Impressionistic and affectionate with no attempt at completeness, the book supplies an interesting collection of episodes and details of Stevenson’s personality and private life.

Pope-Hennessy, John. Robert Louis Stevenson. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1974. 320pp. The author did not live to rewrite his manuscript as intended, and the book’s unevenness is evident, particularly in the weakness of the Scottish background. However, this is still an engaging, informal biographical reassessment geared to the general reader.

Rice, Edward. Journey to Upolu: Robert Louis Stevenson, Victorian Rebel. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1974. 145pp. Rice challenges the conventional view of Stevenson as a proper Victorian with an emphasis on his rebellious side.

Saposnik, Irving S. Robert Louis Stevenson. New York: Twayne, 1974. 164pp. This critical study of Stevenson’s literary career connects his writing life with his experiences in a sensible introduction.

Steuart, J.A. Robert Louis Stevenson: Man and Writer: A Critical Biography. Boston: Little, Brown, 1924. 2 vols. Steuart’s life is one of the first that directly challenged the romantic, legendary image of Stevenson and substituted a much more realistic, frank, and rounded portrait. Stevenson’s is far more interesting and believable with his weaknesses and flaws displayed as well as his virtues, and Steuart helped to fashion a more complex view that subsequent biographers and critics have shared.

Fictional Portraits

Stern, G.B. No Son of Mine. New York: Macmillan, 1948. 327pp. A tramp is taken for Stevenson’s son, which causes him to investigate the life of his “father,” with a biographical portrait emerging indirectly using extracts from the letters and works.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Carpenter, Angelica S. Robert Louis Stevenson: Finding Treasure Island. Minneapolis: Lerner, 1997. 144pp. MG. A readable, full-length biographical portrait, Carpenter includes quotations from the letters and the writer’s observations of his travels and the events that shaped his life.

Gherman, Beverly. Robert Louis Stevenson: Teller of Tales. New York: Atheneum, 1996. 136pp. MG. This is a straightforward narrative account that emphasizes Stevenson as author, husband, world traveler, invalid, and celebrity.

Wood, James P. The Lantern Bearer: A Life of Robert Louis Stevenson. New York: Pantheon, 1965. 182pp. MG/YA. This is a colorful, well-written, and well-documented account in which the writer’s strengths and weaknesses are treated equally.

Other Sources

Hammond, J.R. A Robert Louis Stevenson Chronology. New York: St. Martin’s, 1997. 150pp. An essay on Stevenson’s family and biographical sketches of his circle are combined with a detailed chronology for quick reference to the writer’s activities.

Terry, R.C., ed. Robert Louis Stevenson: Interviews and Recollections. Iowa City: University of Iowa Press, 1996. 216pp. Terry supplies a biographical portrait from the recollections of the central figures in his life, including his wife, his mother, stepson, and literary associates, such as Henry Adams and Andrew Lang. Includes a Stevenson chronology.

443. HARRIET BEECHER STOWE

1811–1896

American author, Stowe was the sister of clergyman, abolitionist, and lecturer Henry Ward Beecher. She taught in her sister Catherine’s school in Hartford, Connecticut, and moved with her family to Cincinnati, Ohio. There, Harriet began writing and married Professor Calvin Ellis Stowe. Her widely read anti-slavery novel Uncle Tom’s Cabin (1852) stirred the conscience of Americans regarding slavery, influenced the abolitionist debate, and contributed to the outbreak of the Civil War. Stowe’s other popular works include The Minister’s Wooing (1859) and Old Town Folks (1869).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Life and Letters of Harriet Beecher Stowe. A.A. Fields, ed. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1897. 406pp. Fields, a close friend of the author, collects a wide assortment of letters and other primary documents, along with a reverent biographical commentary.

Stowe, Charles E. The Life of Harriet Beecher Stowe Compiled from Her Journals and Letters. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1889. 530pp. Stowe’s son produced this biography under the close supervision of his mother. It can be regarded as something of an autobiography, a discreet, restricted view of the writer’s life as she wished to be remembered. Chiefly valuable for its firsthand insights and selection of family letters and personal writings.

Recommended Biographies

Foster, Charles H. The Rungless Ladder: Harriet Beecher Stowe and New England Puritanism. 1954. Reprint ed. Totowa, New Jersey: Cooper Square, 1970. 278pp. Foster’s critical and intellectual biography provides a detailed account of the genesis of Uncle Tom’s Cabin and Stowe’s literary career from the perspective of her religious background.

Hedrick, Joan. Harriet Beecher Stowe: A Life. New York: Oxford University Press, 1994. 507pp. Hedrick’s well-written and thoroughly researched biography using previously unavailable materials looks at Stowe’s life and times from a feminist perspective. Her emphasis on the challenges faced by women in the nineteenth century provides a fresh assessment of Stowe’s development and achievement.

Wilson, Forrest. Crusader in Crinoline: The Life of Harriet Beecher Stowe. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1941. 706pp. Wilson’s full-length, thorough, well-documented biography has long established itself as the standard, modern life. Balanced, well written, and perceptive, the book is particularly strong in its animation of Stowe’s historical and cultural era.

Other Biographical Studies

Gerson, Noel B. Harriet Beecher Stowe: A Biography. New York: Praeger, 1976. 218pp. Gerson recounts the well-known facts of Stowe’s life without providing much insight to reveal the writer’s personality or character.

Gilbertson, Cathrene. Harriet Beecher Stowe. New York: Appleton-Century, 1937. 330pp. Gilbertson’s is one of the first balanced and objective assessments of Stowe’s life in the context of her time. Without documentation, the book is intended for the general reader and still serves as a discerning overview, particularly strong on Stowe’s religious development.

Johnston, Johanna. Runaway to Heaven: The Story of Harriet Beecher Stowe. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1963. 490pp. Based on secondary sources, Johnston supplies no new information but synthesizes existing sources into a workmanlike, if uninspired, account in which Stowe as a woman predominates over her role as an author.

Stowe, Charles E., and Lyman Beecher Stowe. Harriet Beecher Stowe: The Story of Her Life. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1911. 313pp. Reworking Charles Stowe’s 1889 work, the writer’s son and grandson collaborated on this centennial volume, which is less a full-length biography than a character study. The book explores in a number of intimate details Stowe’s development as teacher, writer, wife, mother, and public figure.

Stowe, Lyman Beecher. Saints, Sinners, and Beechers. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill, 1934. 450pp. Stowe’s grandson provides a group portrait of the father, grandfather, and 10 children of Lyman Beecher in a series of lively, revealing biographical sketches.

Wagenknecht, Edward. Harriet Beecher Stowe: The Known and the Unknown. New York: Oxford University Press, 1965. 267pp. This insightful character study examines Stowe as daughter, wife, and mother over her role as author and reformer through a close examination of her letters and writings.

Biographical Novels

Brown, Karl. The Cup Trembling. New York: Duell, Sloan, and Pearce, 1953. 312pp. Stowe’s relationship with her son, Frederick, and his Civil War service are dramatized in this character portrait that observes the basic biographical facts but offers a decidedly modern interpretation of mother and son.

Fictional Portraits

McCall, Dan. Beecher. New York: Dutton, 1979. 214pp. The scandal that surrounded Stowe’s brother, Henry Ward Beecher when he was accused of seducing one of his parishioners is dramatized with a large cast of historical figures, including his sister, Susan B. Anthony, and Victoria Woodhull.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Coil, Suzanne M. Harriet Beecher Stowe. New York: F. Watts, 1993. 173pp. MG. A richly detailed biography that is animated by excerpts from Stowe’s letters and works, the book stresses Stowe’s struggle to balance her writing career and her family responsibilities. Uncle Tom’s Cabin is not the sole focus here, with Stowe’s lesser-known works and shifting literary reputation discussed.

Fritz, Jean. Harriet Beecher Stowe and the Beecher Preachers. New York: Putnam, 1994. 144pp. MG. Fritz’s well-written, informative biography chronicles Stowe’s life in the context of her family, era, and the social movements with which she was associated. Both the strengths and weaknesses of the eccentric Beecher family are presented.

Johnston, Norma. Harriet: The Life and World of Harriet Beecher Stowe. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1994. 242pp. MG/YA. An in-depth biography, Johnston’s well-documented, balanced narrative explores Stowe’s life as well as American society during the period, and touches on aspects of Stowe’s life that are rarely mentioned in other Stowe biographies for younger readers.

444. RICHARD STRAUSS

1864–1949

German composer and conductor, Strauss was the last great Romantic composer. His first major work, the D minor symphony, was first performed in 1880. He was conductor at Meiningen and for the Berlin Philharmonic, and co-directed the Vienna State Opera. He served for a time as head of musical affairs under the Nazis but was officially exonerated of collaboration after World War II. His works include Death and Transfiguration (1889) and Thus Spake Zarathustra (1895) and the operas Der Rosenkavalier (1911) and Ariadne auf Naxos (1912).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Recollections and Reflections. Willi Schuh, ed. London: Boosey & Hawkes, 1953. 173pp. This collection of occasional pieces written from 1903 to 1948 offers glimpses of Strauss’s complex character and his creative process.

Recommended Biographies

Boyden, Matthew. Richard Strauss. Boston: Northeastern University Press, 1999. 448pp. Boyden’s chronological portrait deals frankly with Strauss’s flaws while displaying his musical genius. In the author’s view, Strauss should be seen as the last of the great nineteenth-century Romantics, not as a groundbreaking modernist, guided not by musical principles but by ego and pragmatism. This is a challenging revisionist view that offers a provocative, coherent approach to Strauss’s life as a whole.

Del Mar, Norman. Richard Strauss: A Critical Commentary on His Life and Works. Philadelphia: Chilton, 1962–1972. 3 vols. Del Mar’s monumental three-volume study is considered the definitive critical biography. Daunting in its comprehensiveness and dense in its technical analysis for the nonspecialist, the book serves more as a useful reference and critical guide than a narrative to be read from cover to cover.

Gilliam, Bryan. The Life of Richard Strauss. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1998. 202pp. Gilliam’s reliable, succinct biography covers Strauss’s early musical development and achievement, as well as the turbulent personal and professional years between the wars. Serves as an excellent introductory overview by one of the leading modern authorities on the composer.

Kennedy, Michael. Richard Strauss: Man, Musician, Enigma. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1999. 451pp. Kennedy’s comprehensive reassessment of Strauss’s life and career, drawing on diaries, letters, and interviews with surviving family members, explores the disparity between the man and the musician, between his personal aloofness and reserve and the passion of his music. In seeking answers for the discrepancies, Kennedy looks closely at Strauss’s family background, relationships, and the influence of German culture while challenging many previous interpretations.

Schuh, Willi. Richard Strauss: A Chronicle of the Early Years 1864–98. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1982. 555pp. The author, a prominent Swiss musicologist and critic, supplies the most comprehensive, authoritative biographical study of Strauss’s life and development up to his move to Berlin in 1898. Quoting extensively from letters to and from the composer, the book offers an unparalleled display of Strauss as a working musician and of his influence.

Other Biographical Studies

Ashley, Tim. Richard Strauss. London: Phaidon Press, 1999. 240pp. Ashley’s compact biographical profile emphasizes the political context of Strauss’s life and the connection between his experiences and his compositions. In a balanced assessment, Ashley deals frankly with the composer’s anti-Semitism and his allegiance to Hitler’s Third Reich.

Finck, Henry T. Richard Strauss: The Man and His Works. Boston: Little, Brown, 1917. 328pp. Finck’s early profile and assessment is a factual summary of the basic facts of Strauss’s life up to 1916, animated by a number of interesting anecdotes, and critical commentary on Strauss’s music.

Jefferson, Alan. The Life of Richard Strauss. Newton Abbot, England: David and Charles, 1973. 240pp. Based mainly on secondary sources and aimed at the nonspecialist, Jefferson treats the composer’s life sympathetically, but not uncritically, and the book is a good starting point for the general reader looking for a solid introduction to Strauss’s life. In Richard Strauss (London: Macmillan, 1975. 112pp.) the author provides a brief illustrated biography that is chiefly valuable for its many photographs of the composer, places he was associated with, and stagings of his operas.

Kennedy, Michael. Richard Strauss. 1976. Revised ed. London: Dent, 1988. 237pp. This relatively brief survey of Strauss’s life and work, part of the Master Musician series, is a useful and reliable introduction. In Kennedy’s view Strauss “remains the most misunderstood and misrepresented of the great composers of the last hundred years,” and the book presents the controversies, paradoxes in Strauss’s character, and his shifting reputation. Biographical chapters are followed by a critical appreciation of Strauss’s music.

Krause, Ernst. Richard Strauss: The Man and His Work. London: Collet’s, 1964. 587pp. This translation of Krause’s important scholarly study, originally published in Germany in 1955 and revised in 1963, remains a valuable analysis that connects Strauss’s aesthetic development to his cultural, political, and historical background.

Marek, George. Richard Strauss: The Life of a Non-Hero. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1967. 350pp. As the book’s subtitle indicates, Marek’s is a provocative, mainly negative, assessment of Strauss’s character and private life. In the author’s view, Strauss’s great promise in youth was unfulfilled, and the book attempts to trace the reasons why.

Newman, Ernest. Richard Strauss. London: J. Lane, 1908. 144pp. The first critical biographical study of Strauss and his musical career that appeared when the composer was only 44 includes a character sketch by Alfred Kalisch based on his own direct observations of Strauss.

Nice, David. Richard Strauss. London: Omnibus Press, 1994. 160pp. Part of the Illustrated Lives of the Great Composers series, this is basic illustrated overview of Strauss’s life and musical career.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Richard Strauss (1996). Director: Malcolm Hossick. A concise biographical and musical overview. Video.

Other Sources

Gilliam, Bryan, ed. Richard Strauss: New Perspectives on the Composer and His Work. Duke University Press, 1992. 289pp. Strauss’s life and works are examined and evaluated from a variety of perspectives by leading scholars.

Gilliam, Bryan, ed. Richard Strauss and His World. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1992. 425pp. This useful collection is divided into four parts: original essays by musicologists, selected Strauss correspondence, four memoirs of the composer, and critical reviews of the music and its reception.

445. IGOR STRAVINSKY

1882–1971

Russian-born composer considered by many to be the greatest twentieth-century composer, Stravinsky abandoned a career in law after meeting the composer Rimsky-Korsakov, with whom he studied. Stravinsky’s The Firebird (1910) and Petrouchka (1911) were composed for impresario Sergei Diaghilev’s Ballets Russe. The Rite of Spring, a landmark in modern music, was first performed as a ballet in 1913. He immigrated to the United States in 1939 and became an American citizen. Other works by Stravinsky include The Soldier’s Tale (1918) and Orpheus (1948).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Dearest Bubushkin: The Correspondence of Vera and Igor Stravinsky, 1921–1954. Robert Craft, ed. New York: Thames and Hudson, 1985. 239pp. This collection of letters between husband and wife are mostly from the 1930s and includes excerpts from Vera Stravinsky’s diaries, 1922–1971.

Stravinsky: An Autobiography. 1936. Reprint ed. New York: W.W.Norton, 1962. 176pp. The English translation of Chroniques de ma vie. As Stravinsky wrote in the foreword, “The aim of this volume is to set down a few recollections connected with various periods of my life... a simple account of important events side by side with facts of minor consequence.” Selective but factually reliable on the details mentioned, the book is alternately candid and guarded, often a dry chronicle of outward events.

Stravinsky: Selected Correspondence. Robert Craft, ed. New York: Knopf, 1982–1985. 3 vols. Close to three-quarters of the content are letters to Stravinsky rather than from him, with revealing and inconsequential letters linked with extensive narrative commentary by Craft. There are few major musical or personal revelations.

Recommended Biographies

Craft, Robert. Stravinsky: Chronicle of a Friendship. 1972. Revised ed. Nashville, Tennessee: Vanderbilt University Press, 1994. 608pp. Stravinsky’s longtime friend, collaborator, and editor, described as Stravinsky’s Boswell, supplies a detailed record of the two men’s relationship, and the book is the standard biographical source for the last decades of Stravinsky’s life. Factual details have been corrected from the earlier version with postscripts added that provide a rounded personal portrait. Craft’s Stravinsky: Glimpses of a Life (New York: St. Martin’s, 1993. 416pp.) is a collection of biographical and critical essays written about the composer from 1948 to 1971.

Griffiths, Paul. Stravinsky. New York: Schirmer Books, 1993. 253pp. Organized chronologically with a brief sketch of Stravinsky’s activities during the period under consideration followed by an analysis of that period’s compositions, this is an excellent overview with a sensible critical focus.

Taruskin, Richard. Stravinsky and the Russian Traditions: A Biography of the Works through “Mavra.” Berkeley: University of California Press, 1996. 2 vols. Taruskin’s remarkable scholarly assessment of Stravinsky’s works focuses on the connection between his music and Russian culture. The volumes skillfully locate the sources of the composer’s works and alter the ways we have previously understood the man and his music.

Walsh, Stephen. Stravinsky: A Creative Spring: Russia and France, 1882–1934. New York: Knopf, 1999. 698pp. In the first installment of a projected two-volume life, Walsh covers the composer’s formative years and the creation of his most famous works. Correcting many factual errors in the biographical record, Walsh emphasizes the importance of Stravinsky’s Russian roots and musical training in shaping his career.

Other Biographical Studies

Boucourechliev, André. Stravinsky. New York: Holmes and Meier, 1987. 335pp. Biographical details alternate with highly technical discussions of Stravinsky’s compositions. Daunting for the nonspecialist, Boucourechliev’s analysis is packed with lucid and discriminating judgments and revelations about Stravinsky’s private life.

Druskin, Mikhail. Igor Stavinsky: His Life, Works, and Views. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1983. 194pp. Druskin, a Russian musicologist, provides a brief overview of the composer and his work. The book’s chief interest and usefulness is its emphasis on Stravinsky’s Russian background and influences.

Oliver, Michael. Igor Stravinsky. London: Phaidon Press, 1995. 240pp. Part of the 20th Century Composers series, this is a profile of Stravinsky’s life and musical career organized in chronological units representing various stages of the composer’s work. It serves as a solid, accessible orientation to the shape and nature of Stravinsky’s achievement.

Routh, Francis. Stravinsky. London: Dent, 1975. 202pp. Part of the Master Musicians series, Routh’s study is a useful reference guide with a catalogue of the composer’s work, a chronology with a side-by-side listing of contemporary events, and a factual, rather than interpretive, summary of the major events of Stravinsky’s life.

Stravinsky, Vera, and Robert Craft. Stravinsky in Pictures and Documents. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1978. 688pp. This is a somewhat disjointed and incomplete documentary biography assembled from excerpts of various materials. The volume requires prior knowledge of the composer’s career.

Tansman, Alexandre. Igor Stravinsky: The Man and His Music. New York: Putnam, 1949. 295pp. Tansman’s early biographical and critical assessment, the work of a friend and composer, mainly considers Stravinsky’s creative methods and compositions. Both the man and his music are extensively praised, and neither receive much objective criticism.

Tierney, Neil. The Unknown Country: A Life of Igor Stravinsky. London: R.Hale, 1977. 272pp. This is an accomplished and comprehensive biography, rich in insights from the composer’s associates, but occasionally the surmises approach the level of biographical fiction. The latitude taken to fill in the gaps in the record succeeds in animating Stravinsky’s life and time, but readers should be cautious about accepting all the details as fully reliable.

Vlad, Roman. Stravinsky. New York: Oxford University Press, 1960. 232pp. The work of one of Italy’s foremost composers, Vlad’s chronological presentation of Stravinsky’s compositions is chiefly interesting for the emphasis placed on the composer’s later serial works. The biographical element is largely reserved to Stravinsky’s creative method and the experiences that impacted his creativity.

White, Eric W. Stravinsky: The Composer and His Works. Berkeley: University of California Press, 1979. 656pp. The majority of White’s scholarly examination is devoted to criticism of Stravinsky’s compositions. The biographical material is restricted mainly to the composer’s public career.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Dobrin, Arnold. Igor Stravinsky: His Life and Times. New York: Crowell, 1970. 197pp. MG. Stravinsky’s life is chronicled from his childhood in a lively portrait that illuminates both the composer’s works and the cultural background that he helped to shape.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Nijinsky (1980). Director: Herbert Ross. Stravinsky is portrayed by Ronald Pickup in this biographical film on the relationship between the Russian dancer (George De La Pena) and impresario Sergei Diaghilev (Alan Bates). Video.

“Once, at a Border... ”: Aspects of Stravinsky (1986). Director: Tony Palmer. Includes interviews with the composer, friends, family, and musical contemporaries. Video.

Stravinsky (1965). Directors: Roman Kroiter and Wolf Koenig. At the age of 80, Stravinsky reminisces about his life and career during a trip to Hamburg and a recording session of his Symphony of Psalms. Video.

Stravinsky (1996). Director: Malcolm Hossick. Part of the Famous Composers series, this is brief film profile that presents the basic outline of Stravinsky’s life, work, and achievement. Video.

446. AUGUST STRINDBERG

1849–1912

Swedish playwright and novelist whose innovative dramas influenced the modern theater, Strindberg attended the University of Uppsala until poverty forced him to abandon his studies and to take work as a tutor, journalist, and librarian. He achieved renown with the publication of The Red Room (1879), a novel that helped initiate Swedish realism. His dramas include Miss Julie (1888), The Dream Play (1902), and The Ghost Sonata (1907).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Strindberg’s Letters. Michael Robinson, ed. Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 1992. 2 vols. In a selection of 679 letters from the nearly 10,000 extant correspondences, Strindberg’s autobiographical reflections evident here are revealing and reflect his many moods and internal as well as external conflicts.

Recommended Biographies

Lagercrantz, Olof. August Strindberg. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1984. 398pp. The work of a Swedish poet, critic, and editor, Lagercrantz’s full-length portrait is a marvel of compression and judicious interpretation. Strindberg is examined frankly with his many flaws and mental instability noted and explained as the basis for his creative achievement.

Meyer, Michael. Strindberg: A Biography. New York: Random House, 1985. 651pp. Meyer, the respected biographer of Ibsen, supplies an equally exhaustive and authoritative study of the Swedish writer. Drawing on a good deal of previously unpublished material, the book offers the fullest and most complete portrait available that revises and refines the accepted view of many aspects of the playwright’s life and art.

Other Biographical Studies

Brandell, Gunnar. Strindberg in Inferno. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1974. 223pp. Restricted to Strindberg’s activities and development in the 1890s, Brandell’s is a scholarly, meticulous documentation of the crucial, formative years of the playwright’s life by one of Sweden’s foremost authorities on Strindberg.

Carlson, Harry G. Out of Inferno: Strindberg’s Reawakening as an Artist. Seattle: University of Washington Press, 1996. 390pp. In a highly readable and accessible analysis Carlson traces the factors that led to Strindberg’s psychic despair in the 1890s and his creative reemergence in 1897 through his personal renewal.

Johnson, Walter G. August Strindberg. Boston: Twayne, 1976. 221pp. One of America’s most important Strindberg experts provides a compact introductory overview of the playwright’s life and career in a series of topical chapters on Strindberg as autobiographer, poet, storyteller, dramatist, scientist, and scholar.

McGill, Vivian J. August Strindberg: The Bedeviled Viking. New York: Brentano’s, 1930. 459pp. McGill’s narrative and interpretive biography is constructed out of a close reading of Strindberg’s works for their autobiographical revelations. The result is a vivid, coherent, but questionable external and internal portrait of the playwright’s life and psyche.

Sprigge, Elizabeth. The Strange Life of August Strindberg. New York: Macmillan, 1949. 246pp. Sprigge’s is a thorough, reliable biography drawing on the playwright’s letters, his and others’ works, and interviews with his children. The book’s main achievement is to avoid a reductionism that limits Strindberg to restrictive classification. Instead, Sprigge allows the playwright’s complexity and paradoxes full display.

Strindberg, Freda Uhl. Marriage with Genius. London: Cape, 1937, 453pp. The playwright’s second wife records her view of their brief time together (1893–1897) as well as an analysis of Strindberg’s personality during a crucial period in his life. Subjective and selective in her view, the book is nonetheless a fascinating glimpse of the couple’s mutual torment.

Waal, Carla. Harriet Bosse: Strindberg’s Muse and Interpreter. Carbondale: Southern Illinois University Press, 1990. 298pp. This informative biography of Strindberg’s third wife (1901–1904) and actress who performed in many of his plays draws on previously inaccessible archival sources to document her life and relationship with the playwright.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Enquist, Per Olov. The Night of the Tribades: A Play for 1889. New York: Hill & Wang, 1977. 81pp. Enquist’s drama looks at the playwright during the rehearsal of his play, The Stranger.

Wilson, Colin. Strindberg: A Play in Two Scenes. New York: Random House, 1972. 94pp. Strindberg is captured in a series of monologues in which the playwright works over his inner life and torments.

447. SUN YAT-SEN

1866–1925

Chinese revolutionary, Sun is revered as the ideological father of modern China. He founded a revolutionary movement against the Manchus and after the Chinese revolution served as provisional president of the new republic. He later directed the Kuornintang political party. Sun’s opposition to the government of Yuan Shih-k’ai led to his exile; after his return he headed a self-proclaimed national government and in the ensuing struggle against Beijing cooperated with the Communists and organized a military academy with Chiang Kai-shek, who succeeded him on his death.

Recommended Biographies

Bergère, Marie-Claire. Sun Yat-Sen. Stanford, California: Stanford University Press, 1998. 480pp. In a fresh evaluation of the man and the principal events of his life and times, Bergère manages a balanced portrait of a far more complex figure than others have suggested.

Schiffrin, Harold Z. Sun Yat-Sen, Reluctant Revolutionary. Boston: Little, Brown, 1980. 290pp. Schiffrin has produced the standard biography, a compact summary of the author’s considerable research on Sun’s writings and synthesis of modern scholarship, including Schiffrin’s own earlier study, Sun Yat-Sen and the Origins of the Chinese Revolution (Berkeley: University of California Press, 1968. 412pp.), which exhaustively covers Sun’s development during his first 40 years.

Sharman, Lyon. Sun Yat-Sen: His Life and Its Meaning: A Critical Biography. 1934. Reprint ed. Hamden, Connecticut: Archon Books, 1965. 418pp. Sharman’s was the first reliable critical survey of Sun’s character and career, and it remains a useful, conscientious sifting of the facts from the legends and hero worship that have distorted a clear view of the man.

Other Biographical Studies

Brace, Robert. Sun Yat-Sen. London: Oxford University Press, 1969. 64pp. Despite its brevity, this is an excellent, succinct overview that serves to orient the reader both to the highlights of Sun’s life and career and the political and historical issues that help to explain his development and activities.

Martin, Bernard. Strange Vigor: A Biography of Sun Yat-Sen. London: Heinemann, 1944. 250pp. Martin’s is a reliable and highly readable account of Sun’s political career that is informed by a solid sense of the era and the complex forces that shaped Sun.

Restarick, Henry B. Sun Yat-Sen: Liberator of China. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1931. 167pp. This short account concentrates on Sun’s early life and career up to 1911 from information gained from those who knew him in Hawaii.

Fictional Portraits

Elegant, Robert S. Dynasty. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1977. 625pp. This family saga reflects Chinese history during the first 70 years of the twentieth century, with appearances by Sun Yat-Sen, Chiang Kai-Shek, and Mao Zedong.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Barlow, Jeffrey G. Sun Yat-Sen. New York: Chelsea House, 1987. 112pp. MG/YA. This is a fine, straightforward account of Sun Yat-Sen’s life and impact on modern Chinese history.

448. JONATHAN SWIFT

1667–1745

Considered the greatest prose satirist in English literature, the Irish-born Swift was ordained an Anglican priest in Ireland and left a small living to settle in England. Two satires, The Battle of the Books and A Tale of a Tub, appeared in 1704. He was made Dean of Saint Patrick’s Cathedral in Dublin (1713) and retired in Ireland (1715). He deplored the plight of the Irish poor, expressing his dismay in Drapier Letters (1724) and the later, bitterly ironic “A Modest Proposal” (1729). He satirized English society in his masterpiece Gulliver’s Travels (1726), his best-known work. Toward the end of his life he developed a brain disorder and by 1742 was declared insane.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Correspondence of Jonathan Swift. Harold Williams, ed. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1965–1972. 5 vols. The modern scholarly edition of Swift’s voluminous correspondence is an essential source of biographical details and glimpses of the various sides of Swift’s personality.

Recommended Biographies

Ehrenpreis, Irvin. Swift: The Man, His Works, and the Age. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1962–1983. 3 vols. Ehrenpreis’s monumental study has been widely acclaimed as the definitive life that should maintain its authoritativeness for some time to come. The volumes combine scrupulous scholarship and judicious interpretation in a detailed presentation of Swift’s life and social milieu, as well as a masterful analysis of his writings. Ranks with Richard Ellmann’s biography of James Joyce and Leon Edel’s biography of Henry James as one of the greatest literary biographies.

Glendinning, Victoria. Jonathan Swift: A Portrait. New York: Holt, 1999. 324pp. Foregoing a chronological approach for a discursive character portrait that surveys Swift’s many personal and professional contradictions and peculiarities, the book, though lacking the thoroughness and completeness of other accounts, compensates with close attention to the main events and relationships that defined Swift’s public persona, private life, and personality.

McMinn, Joseph. Jonathan Swift: A Literary Life. New York: St. Martin’s, 1991. 172pp. McMinn’s compact introductory account examines the full range of Swift’s writing and literary achievements with succinct commentary on the social, political, theological, and personal context to his literary career.

Nokes, David. Jonathan Swift: A Hypocrite Reversed: A Critical Biography. New York: Oxford University Press, 1985. 427pp. Nokes provides the best, up-to-date, single-volume study for the general reader. Judicious and scholarly, without sacrificing readability, Nokes’s assessment of Swift’s character and context is nuanced and insightful and serves the reader without the patience to tackle Ehrenpreis.

Other Biographical Studies

Craik, Henry. The Life of Jonathan Swift. 1882. Revised ed. London: Macmillan, 1894. 2 vols. Craik’s lengthy, scholarly biography remained the standard life until Ehrenpreis. Although superseded by modern scholarship, the book still retains its usefulness as a reference source on details on Swift’s life and personality.

Ehrenpreis, Irvin. The Personality of Jonathan Swift. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1958. 179pp. The author of the definitive life supplies a succinct preview of Swift’s character and temperament that is useful as a starting point for the reader interested in a cogent summary of the essential elements in Swift’s life.

Ewald, William B. The Masks of Jonathan Swift. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1954. 203pp. Ewald approaches Swift as the master of impersonation and role playing, and this critical study offers a perceptive analysis of Swift’s many guises in his life and his writing.

Forster, John. The Life of Jonathan Swift. New York: Harper, 1876. 477pp. Forster, Dickens’s close friend and biographer, completed only one volume, covering Swift’s life up to the year 1711. His balanced assessment is chiefly important for moderating the intemperate attacks on Swift’s life and work by such Victorian stalwarts as Macaulay and Thackeray.

Johnston, Denis. In Search of Swift. New York: Barnes and Noble, 1959. 240pp. Johnston’s provocative study attempts to separate the facts from fiction and legend surrounding various aspects of Swift’s life. His “solutions” to the various Swiftian puzzles include debatable assertions about his parentage and his relationships with Stella and Vanessa. Although supported with considerable evidence, Johnston’s controversial assertions remain hypothetical but absorbing.

Murry, John Middleton. Jonathan Swift: A Critical Biography. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1955. 508pp. Murry’s biographical profile is vivid and opinionated. Although representing no original research, the book is a sensible and lively summary of Swift’s writing, his political and social background, and the various contradictions of his private life.

Quintana, Ricardo. The Mind and Art of Jonathan Swift. 1936. Revised ed. New York: Oxford University Press, 1953. 400pp. Quintana’s sensible critical biography is carefully researched, avoids undue conjecture, and is best on Swift’s influences, his development, and his public career. The author’s Swift: An Introduction (New York: Oxford University Press, 1955. 204pp.) is a brief critical survey of the man, his personality, and works and represents the author’s reassessment based on later Swiftian research. Serves as a balanced, cautious introductory study.

Rowse, A.L. Jonathan Swift. New York: Scribner, 1975. 240pp. Although it adds little that is new or original, Rowse’s popular biography is a well-written, entertaining narrative that excels in capturing the political milieu of Swift’s era. The book is less convincing in dealing with Swift’s writing and private life.

Biographical Novels

Clewes, Winston. The Violent Friends. New York: Appleton-Century, 1945. 225pp. Swift’s relationships with the “Vanessa” and “Stella” of his writings are portrayed, from the time of his return to Ireland as Dean of St. Patrick’s in Dublin to Stella’s death. The central facts are consistent with Swift’s biography, though some liberties have been taken.

Fictional Portraits

Auchincloss, Louis. Exit Lady Masham. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1983. 169pp. Auchincloss’s portrait of court life during the reign of Queen Anne features portrayals of a number of historical figures, including Jonathan Swift.

Jong, Erica. Fanny. New York: New American Library, 1980. 505pp. Jong’s picaresque comedy features a female “Tom Jones” who meets, while working in a brothel, a number of historical figures, including Swift, Hogarth, and John Cleland.

Thackeray, William Makepeace. The History of Henry Esmond. 1852. Reprint ed. New York: Penguin, 1985. 544pp. Thackeray’s historical novel set in the early eighteenth century offers glimpses of such figures as Richard Steele, Joseph Addison, and Swift.

449. ALGERNON CHARLES SWINBURNE

1837–1909

English lyric poet with a close association with the Pre-Raphaelites, including Rossetti, Swinburne achieved fame with Atalanta in Calydon (1865), a poetic drama based on Greek tragedy. His other works include Poems and Ballads (1866), A Song of Italy (1867), and Tristram of Lyonesse (1882). An epileptic and alcoholic, Swinburne lived in virtual seclusion from 1878. His critical work helped stimulate appreciation of older English dramatists and of William Blake.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Swinburne Letters. Cecil Y.Lang, ed. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1959–1962. 6 vols. This scholarly edition of the writer’s letters has been crucial in shaping modern assessments of Swinburne’s biography and development.

Recommended Biographies

Gosse, Edmund. The Life of Algernon Charles Swinburne. New York: Macmillan, 1917. 363pp. The first significant biography of the poet and still one of the most important, Gosse’s life is a carefully researched, vivid account drawing on the author’s personal knowledge of Swinburne and the recollections of those who knew him. Gosse suppresses some of the less flattering aspects of Swinburne’s life and character, and his account needs to be supplemented with more frank, later studies.

Henderson, Philip. Swinburne: Portrait of a Poet. New York: Macmillan, 1974. 305pp. Henderson’s critical biography is a balanced attempt to measure both Swinburne’s deviance and his achievement, offering a closely focused view of the poet’s personal development and its impact on his literary work.

Lafourcade, Georges. Swinburne: A Literary Biography. 1932. Reprint ed. New York: Russell & Russell, 1967. 314pp. More candid than Gosse, Lafourcade’s is an accomplished biography that adds to the biographical record and corrects many misconceptions. Balanced, sympathetic but critical, the biography offers a believable multidimensional human view of Swinburne.

Other Biographical Studies

Fuller, Jean O. Swinburne: A Critical Biography. London: Chatto & Windus, 1968. 319pp. Fuller’s account of Swinburne’s life is dominated by its contention that the writer’s relationship with his cousin Mary Leeth is the fundamental experience of his life. The approach is selective and reductive, showing the man exclusively in the context of his sexuality.

Thomas, Donald S. Swinburne: The Poet in His World. New York: Oxford University Press, 1979. 256pp. This short, lively biography provides a compact overview that serves as a useful introduction to the poet, his career, and his times.

Watts-Dunton, Clara. The Home Life of Swinburne. New York: F.A.Stokes, 1922. 288pp. This is a valuable reminiscence, despite its reverent and defensive tone, based on the author’s firsthand observation of Swinburne’s domestic life and personal habits.

450. JOHN MILLINGTON SYNGE

1871–1909

Irish dramatist and poet, Synge was a central figure in the Irish Literary Renaissance of the late nineteenth and early twentiethth centuries. His plays reflect his experience in the Aran Islands and include In the Shadow of the Glen (1903), Riders to the Sea (1904), The Playboy of the Western World (1907), and The Tinker’s Wedding (1908). He organized the Abbey Theatre in Dublin with W.B.Yeats and others.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

*The Autobiography of J.M.Syng*e. Alan Price, ed. London: Oxford University Press, 1965. 46pp. Written mainly when the playwright was 25 and before his period of literary creativity, this autobiographical fragment is interesting for the light it sheds on Synge’s view of his formative years.

The Collected Letters of John Millington Synge: 1907–1909. Ann Saddlemyer, ed. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1983–1984. 2 vols. Synge’s letters are essential sources for the biographer to gain a clearer view of his personality and development. This scholarly collection has useful introductions and annotations.

Recommended Biographies

Greene, David H., and Edward M.Stephens. J.M. Synge 1871–1909. 1959. Revised ed. New York: New York University Press, 1989. 372pp. Making full use of Edward M.Stephens’s voluminous family memoir, Greene provides a lucid, vivid account of the writer’s development and the connection between his experiences and his writing.

Kiely, David M. John Millington Synge: A Biography. New York: St. Martin’s, 1995. 305pp. This is a rich, exhaustively researched, absorbing biography that follows Synge’s development from childhood, relating his experiences and artistic achievement to the wider cultural context of his period.

Other Biographical Studies

Gerstenberger, Donna L. John Millington Synge. 1964. Revised ed. Boston: Twayne, 1990. 144pp. Gerstenberger’s mainly critical introduction has a brief biographical summary and touches on the impact of Synge’s experiences, relationships, and milieu on his compositions.

Skelton, Robin. *J.M.Syng*e and His World. New York: Viking, 1971. 144pp. Skelton’s visual biography is an excellent introduction to the writer, his life, and background. The author’s *The Writings of J.M.Syng*e (Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill, 1971. 190pp.) is a more scholarly, analytical study of Synge’s plays, essays, and poems with fresh interpretations of their evolution and the connection between the works and Synge's experiences and artistic development.

Stephens, Edward. My Uncle John: Edward Stephens's Life of J.M.Synge. Andrew Carpenter, ed. London: Oxford University Press, 1974. 222pp. On his death, Synge's nephew left a 14-volume biographical manuscript of his uncle. This condensation presents selections with the editor's paraphrases. Stephens's insights are chiefly useful for the information they provide on Synge's background and family relations.

Other Sources

Kopper, Edward A. Jr., ed. A J.M.Synge Literary Companion. Westport, Connecticut: Greenwood, 1988. 268pp. Along with a brief biography and chronology, this valuable reference source has chapters by various specialists on Synge's prose, poems, each of his six plays, and topical coverage of Synge's relationship to the Irish Literary Renaissance and his use of language.

Mikhail, E.H., ed. J.M.Synge: Interviews and Recollections. London: Macmillan, 1977. 138pp. This useful volume collects the observations of many who knew Synge, including Yeats, Lady Gregory, George Moore, James Stephens, and Padraic Colum.

T

451. RABINDRANATH TAGORE

1861–1941

A celebrated Bengali Indian author and recipient of the 1913 Nobel Prize in Literature, Tagore produced an enormous amount of literary work, including some 50 dramas, 100 books of verse, 40 volumes of novels and short fiction, and books of essays and philosophy. His best-known work in the western world is the poetry volume, Gitanjali (1912).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

My Reminiscences. London: Macmillan, 1917. 272pp. Most of these “memory pictures” are drawn from Tagore’s boyhood and early youth. The book is purposely selective with more literary than biographical significance, and the author warns that “to take them as an attempt at autobiography would be a mistake.”

Selected Letters of Rabindranath Tagore. Krishna Dutta and Andrew Robinson, eds. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1997. 561pp. This useful collection of letters covers the years 1879 to 1941 and is arranged topically as well as chronologically, reflecting Tagore’s principal activities and concerns in each period.

Recommended Biographies

Dutta, Krishna, and Andrew Robinson. Rabindranath Tagore: The Myriad-Minded Man. New York: St. Martin’s, 1995. 493pp. Drawing on previously unpublished material, the authors supply a detailed and reliable chronicle of Tagore’s life and a nuanced, complex portrait of his personality and background that helps to explain his complicated reputation in the West and in India.

Kripalani, Krishna. Rabindranath Tagore: A Life. New York: Oxford University Press, 1962. 417pp. Based on firsthand knowledge, Kripalani’s intimate account emphasizes Tagore the man, his family life, childhood, emotional development, travel, and educational experiments. Not intended as a critical survey of the literary work, the book is, however, rich in personal details.

Other Biographical Studies

Rhys, Ernest. Rabindranath Tagore: A Biographical Study. New York: Macmillan, 1915. 157pp. Rhys’s early critical biography is the work of an evident admirer that offers a sympathetic interpretation of Tagore’s writing and his reception in the West.

Roy, Basanta K. Rabindranath Tagore: The Man and His Poetry. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1915. 223pp. This early biography intended to introduce the recent Nobel Prize winner to an American audience is sketchy in its details and superficial in its critical interpretation. Roy’s uncritical appreciation is partially redeemed by the author’s personal acquaintance with his subject.

Thompson, Edward J. Rabindranath Tagore: His Life and Work. London: Oxford University Press, 1921. 112pp.; Rabindranath Tagore: Poet and Dramatist. Oxford: Oxford University Press, 1926. 327pp. Thompson’s critical biographical studies are still useful analyses for their appreciation of the Bengali context of Tagore’s work and the connection between the writer’s life and his writing.

452. ZACHARY TAYLOR

1784–1850

The twelfth U.S. president, Taylor was a bold and resourceful military commander during the Black Hawk and Mexican Wars, and was known as “Old Rough and Ready.” His decisive defeat of Santa Anna at the battle of Buena Vista made him a national hero. Elected president as a Whig, he proved popular, although his term (1849–1850) was brief. He supported the Wilmot Proviso, which excluded slavery from territories gained as a result of the Mexican War. His death from cholera temporarily postponed a compromise between slave and free states.

Recommended Biographies

Bauer, K.Jack. Zachary Taylor: Soldier, Planter, Statesman of the Old Southwest. Baton Rouge: Louisiana State University Press, 1985. 348pp. Bauer offers reliable and serious coverage of Taylor’s full career in sections on his early years, service during the Mexican War, and presidency.

Dyer, Brainerd. Zachary Taylor. Baton Rouge: Louisiana State University Press, 1946. 455pp, Dyer’s is an excellent scholarly biography and historical study that evaluates Taylor’s personality, public career, and times, supplying a realistic, credible view of the colorful Taylor.

Hamilton, Holman. Zachary Taylor. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill, 1941–1951. 2 vols. Hamilton’s is among the most comprehensive treatment of Taylor’s life and character. Volume one takes Taylor’s story through the Mexican War; volume two treats his presidential term. Exhaustively researched and balanced in its assessment, Hamilton’s study has long served as the definitive and best biography available.

Other Biographical Studies

Howard, Oliver O. General Taylor. New York: Appleton, 1892. 386pp. This early uncritical biography focuses exclusively on Taylor’s military career with only a few pages devoted to his presidency.

McKinley, Silas B., and Silas Bent. Old Rough and Ready: The Life and Times of Zachary Taylor. New York: Vanguard Press, 1946. 329pp. This popular biography provides a competent overview of Taylor’s full career, though errors mar the book’s reliability.

Smith, Elbert B. The Presidencies of Zachary Taylor and Millard Fillmore. Lawrence: University Press of Kansas, 1988. 302pp. Smith’s is the most comprehensive, scholarly treatment of Taylor’s presidency. Based on extensive research using primary and secondary sources, the book treats Taylor’s leadership and various policies in detail.

Fictional Portraits

Eckert, Allen W. Twilight of Empire. Boston: Little, Brown, 1988. 587pp. Eckert’s “narrative history” covers the opening decades of the nineteenth century and the settlement of the American frontier with depictions of Taylor, Andrew Jackson, Lincoln, and John Reynolds.

Olsen, Theodore V. There Was a Season: A Biographical Novel of Jefferson Davis. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1972. 444pp. Restricted to Davis’s early years when he was a promising army officer, the novel dramatizes his courtship and brief marriage to Sarah Knox Taylor, the second daughter of Zachary Taylor, his commanding officer. Although based on fact, the novel invents some characters, events, and situations.

Ryan, Edward J. Comes an Echo on the Breeze. New York: Exposition Press, 1949. 202pp. Abraham Lincoln’s military experience during the 1832 Black Hawk War is featured in this novel that also displays such historical figures as Taylor and Jefferson Davis.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Collins, David R. Zachary Taylor: 12th President of the United States. Ada, Oklahoma: Garrett, 1989. 121pp. MG. Collins’s is a workmanlike account of Taylor’s life, emphasizing his military accomplishments and the presidential years.

Kent, Zachary. Zachary Taylor: Twelfth President of the United States. Chicago: Childrens Press, 1988. 98pp. MG. This is a straightforward summary of Taylor’s life and career.

Young, Bob. Old Rough and Ready: Zachary Taylor. New York: J.Messner, 1970. 191pp. MG. In an objective and unromantic treatment, Young offers a reliable account of Taylor’s family background, early years, and military and political careers.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Distant Drums (1951). Director: Raoul Walsh. Adventure yarn set during the Seminole War features a depiction of Taylor (Robert Barrat) and a cast that includes Gary Cooper and Man Aldon. Video.

Seminole (1953). Director: Budd Boetticher. Rock Hudson plays an earnest soldier trying to help an Indian tribe during the Seminole War, with an appearance by Taylor (Fay Roope).

Other Sources

Farrell, John J. Zachary Taylor: 1784–1850 and Millard Filmore, 1800–1874: Chronology, Documents, Bibliographical Aids. Dobbs Ferry, New York: Oceana, 1971. 118pp. Farrell supplies a useful reference source, linking an extensive chronology of both men with a selection of primary sources and an annotated bibliography.

453. PETER ILYICH TCHAIKOVSKY

1840–1893

Russian composer and one of the most popular composers in history, Tchaikovsky is known for the drama and emotional intensity of his music. His many famous works include the symphony Romeo and Juliet (1869); the ballets Swan Lake (1877), The Sleeping Beauty (1890), and The Nutcracker (1892); the Pathétique Symphony (No. 6, 1893); and operas, concertos, songs, piano pieces, string quartets, and numerous other compositions.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Diaries of Tchaikovsky. New York: W.W. Norton, 1945. 365pp. Tchaikovsky kept his diaries from age 33 to two years before his death. They represent a frank account of his daily experience through the most important period, biographically and musically, in the composer’s life.

Letters to His Family: An Autobiography. New York: Stein and Day, 1981. 577pp. This collection of letters covers the period from 1861, when the composer was 21, to the year of his death, and provides a unique insight into the Tchaikovsky’s life and character.

Tchaikovsky: A Self-Portrait. Aleksandra A. Orlova, ed. New York: Oxford University Press, 1990. 436pp. Compiled from letters, diaries, and articles and arranged chronologically, this is a profile of the composer and his times in his own words.

Recommended Biographies

Brown, David. Tchaikovsky. New York: W.W. Norton, 1978–1992. 4 vols. Brown’s is the leading biography both in terms of its comprehensiveness and the lucidity of its interpretation. The portrait of the composer is balanced and fair with Tchaikovsky’s career, personality, and relationships presented in detail. Well written, with a minimum of technical jargon used to analyze the music, Brown’s impressive study is essential for scholars but should not prevent a general reader’s enjoyment.

Poznansky, Alexander. Tchaikovsky: The Quest for the Inner Man. New York: Schirmer Books, 1991. 679pp. Describing his work as “historical psychology,” Poznansky’s is a provocative and fresh portrait that changes the paradigm in the conventional view of the composer in a number of essential ways. Poznansky argues that Tchaikovsky was neither a tormented homosexual nor a suicide victim, and the quest to unlock the inner man rests on a more complete understanding of nineteenth-century Russian culture that the book helps to supply. In Tchaikovsky’s Last Days: A Documentary Study (Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1997. 236pp.) Poznansky collects the relevant evidence, including a good deal of newly unrestricted material, to document the composer’s last months, helping to support the author’s contention that cholera, not suicide, was the cause of Tchaikovsky’s death.

Weinstock, Herbert. Tchaikovsky. New York: Knopf, 1943. 386pp. Weinstock’s is a sober, restrained assessment of the composer’s life and career that clears away much of the glamour and sentimentality that have clung to Tchaikovsky. In its place Weinstock substitutes a reliable chronology and a well-documented portrait in which the connections between the composer’s life and his music are made clear.

Other Biographical Studies

Abraham, Gerald E. Tchaikovsky: A Short Biography. 1945. Reprint ed. Westport, Connecticut: Hyperion Press, 1993. 144pp. Although superseded by more recent scholarship, Abraham’s is still a useful biographical profile that covers the essential facts of the composer’s life.

Evans, Edwin. Tchaikovsky. New York: Dutton, 1906. 207pp. The biographical details are derived from Modest Tchaikovsky with the majority of the book devoted to a critical survey of the composer’s work.

Garden, Edward. Tchaikovsky. New York: Octagon Books, 1973. 194pp. Part of the Master Musicians series, Garden’s introductory overview emphasizes Tchaikovsky’s musical development with sufficient biographical details to show the connection between the composer’s life and his music.

Gee, John, and Elliott Selby. The Triumph of Tchaikovsky: A Biography. New York: Vanguard, 1960. 206pp. This study explores Tchaikovsky the man rather than the musician, with an emphasis on his emotional life and homosexuality. With an immediacy derived from diaries and letters, the authors supply a mainly judicious psychological analysis to explain both the composer’s torment and achievement.

Hanson, Lawrence, and Elisabeth Hanson. Tchaikovsky: The Man Behind the Music. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1966. 385pp. The Hansons’ popular biography attempts to rehabilitate Tchaikovsky’s reputation. The book’s emphasis is biographical with little musical analysis and a certain degree of special pleading in insisting that the composer is worthy of the reader’s sympathy.

Holden, Anthony. Tchaikovsky: A Biography. New York: Random House, 1995. 490pp. Holden focuses on Tchaikovsky’s homosexuality as the key to understanding the man and his genius. The book makes a case that the composer did not die of cholera but poisoned himself on account of indiscretions with the czar’s nephew. Well written and documented, Holden offers a credible explanation for the conflict between Tchaikovsky’s private and public personas.

Kendall, Alan. Tchaikovsky: A Biography. London: Bodley Head, 1988. 257pp. Kendall’s sensible and highly readable biography explores at length the circumstances of Tchaikovsky’s death and the question whether it was self-inflicted.

Nice, David. Tchaikovsky. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1995. 192pp. Part of the Classic FM Lifelines series, this is a lively introduction to the composer’s life and music for the interested generalist with more biography than musical analysis.

Tchaikovsky, Modest. The Life and Letters of Peter Ilich Tchaikovsky. Rosa Newmarch, ed. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1924. 782pp. The composer’s brother supplies a series of biographical views and letters from various stages of Tchaikovsky’s life. Neither complete nor objective, the book’s perspective distorts a clear and balanced view of the composer’s personality.

Warrack, John H. Tchaikovsky. New York: Scribner, 1973. 287pp. This illustrated biography aimed at the general reader provides nontechnical summaries of Tchaikovsky’s major works as well as a generally reliable account of the composer’s career, relationships, creative method, and development. The author deals frankly with Tchaikovsky’s homosexuality and helpfully places him in his Russian and musical context.

Yoffe, Elkhonon. Tchaikovsky in America. New York: Oxford University Press, 1986. 216pp. Yoffe’s specialized documentary study of Tchaikovsky’s visit to America in 1891 makes use of the composer’s diaries and letters as well as contemporary newspaper accounts, supplying an interesting view of the composer’s final years.

Biographical Novels

Mann, Klaus. Pathetic Symphony: A Novel about Tchaikovsky. New York: Allen, Towne & Heath, 1948. 346pp. The composer’s life and career are dramatized through interior monologues giving the impression of what Tchaikovsky might have been thinking when composing and performing.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Clark, Elizabeth. Tchaikovsky. New York: Bookwright, 1988. 32pp. MG. This is a simple, though informative, biographical profile of the composer and an appreciatory introduction to his achievement.

Tames, Richard. Peter Ilyich Tchaikovsky. New York: F. Watts, 1991. 32pp. MG. Tames offers a brief overview of the essential details of Tchaikovsky’s career.

Thompson, Wendy. Pyotr Ilyich Tchaikovsky. New York: Viking, 1993. 48pp. YA. Thompson’s presentation of Tchaikovsky’s life and career joins an explanation of the historical and social context with critical commentary of his compositions. Tchaikovsky’s personal torments are dealt with frankly.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

The Life, Times, and Music of Peter Ilyich Tchaikovsky (1992). Director: Graham Holloway. Interweaving dramatizations and images, this is a film portrait of the composer that considers his life and art in the context of his times. Video,

The Music Lovers (1971). Director: Ken Russell. Tchaikovsky receives the notorious Russell treatment in this controversial and biographically unreliable film portrait of the composer’s torments. With Richard Chamberlain as Tchaikovsky, supported by Glenda Jackson. Video.

Peter Ilyich Tchaikovsky (1997). Director: Simon Broughton. Tchaikovsky’s life and work are presented through performance sequences, interviews, and commentary. Video.

Tchaikovsky (1984). Director: Herbert Chappell. André Previn conducts the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra and narrates this discussion of the composer’s life and work with a performance of his Symphony No. 6. Video.

Tchaikovsky (1996). Director: Malcolm Hossick. This is a brief biographical overview and appreciation of the composer’s achievement. Video.

Other Sources

Brown, David, ed. Tchaikovsky Remembered. Portland, Oregon: Amadeus Press, 1994. 248pp. After supplying a chronology of the composer’s life and work, Brown selects reminiscences by over 80 of Tchaikovsky’s friends, colleagues, and acquaintances who provide a wealth of material about the man and his music.

Kearney, Leslie, ed. Tchaikovsky and His World. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1998. 350pp. Scholars from several disciplines explore various aspects of Tchaikovsky’s music and biography with an emphasis on his later life and influence. Includes for the first time in English some of the composer’s own writings about music.

Poznansky, Alexander, ed. Tchaikovsky through Others’ Eyes. Bloomington: Indiana University Press, 1999. 311pp. This collection of views of Tchaikovsky by his contemporaries, arranged chronologically, serves as an informative collection of biographical materials.

454. TECUMSEH

ca. 1768–1813

A Shawnee Indian chief and warrior, Tecumseh sought to unite various Native American tribes against encroachment of their lands. The effort failed despite British and widespread Indian support after the defeat of Tecumseh’s brother, Tenskwatawa, at the battle of Tippecanoe (1811). Tecumseh allied himself with the British during the War of 1812 and was made a brigadier general. He died while fighting troops under command of William Henry Harrison in the Battle of the Thames.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Tecumseh: Fact and Fiction in Early Records. Carl F.Klinck, ed. Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Prentice-Hall, 1961. 246pp. This collection of excerpts from early accounts is an excellent starting point to survey the sources available.

Recommended Biographies

Edmunds, R.David. Tecumseh and the Quest for Indian Leadership. Boston: Little, Brown, 1984. 246pp. Edmunds’s biography of Tecumseh, along with his companion volume on his brother, Tenskwatawa, The Shawnee Prophet (Lincoln: University of Nebraska Press, 1984. 260pp.), are sound, scholarly accounts that cut through the mythology to reveal credible personalities in the context of their times and culture.

Gilbert, Bil. God Gave Us This Country: Tekamthi and the First American Civil War. New York: Atheneum, 1989. 369pp. Gilbert’s is a fascinating historical account of Indian-colonial affairs, fully documenting the Indian perspective on the settlers’ expansion westward and the resistance efforts of the Shawnee from the mid-eighteenth century to 1811. At the center of the narrative is Tecumseh, or Tekamthi, as he was known to his fellow tribesmen, who emerges as a rounded, believable figure.

Sugden, John. Tecumseh: A Life. New York: Holt, 1998. 492pp. Expanding the scope of his earlier Tecumseh’s Last Stand (Norman: University of Oklahoma Press, 1985. 298pp.), which dealt exclusively with his final battle, Sugden presents an intimately focused, full-length authoritative account of Tecumseh’s life and times. Scrupulous in its research and richly detailed, the book has been widely praised as the definitive study that is unlikely to be surpassed.

Other Biographical Studies

Drake, Benjamin. Life of Tecumseh and His Brother The Prophet with a Historical Sketch of the Shawanoe Indians. 1841. Reprint ed. New York: Arno Press, 1969. 235pp. The earliest full biography, Drake’s discriminating study remains an important source of generally reliable evidence, drawing on information from Tecumseh’s acquaintances.

Eckert, Allen W. A Sorrow in Our Heart: The Life of Tecumseh. New York: Konecky & Konecky, 1992. 862pp. Describing his effort as a “narrative biography,” Eckert mixes considerable research with imaginative reconstructions to characterize Tecumseh and his times. Despite questionable interpretations and embellishments that could qualify the book as historical fiction, Eckert achieves an epic magnification through the accumulation of his data.

Oskinson, John M. Tecumseh and His Times. New York: Putnam, 1938. 244pp. A popular sympathetic biography that takes Tecumseh’s and the Indian side. Poor writing and superficial distinctions make this book only marginally useful.

Tucker, Glenn. Tecumseh: Vision of Glory. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill, 1956. 399pp. Arguing that Tecumseh was “the most extraordinary Indian that has appeared in history,” Tucker alternates between reliable historical reporting and excessive adulation, allowing too many of the legends surrounding the Shawnee chief to go unquestioned.

Biographical Novels

Huston, James A. Counterpoint. Lawrenceville, Virginia: Brunswick, 1987. 629pp. The dual careers of William Henry Harrison and Tecumseh are contrasted in a chronicle of their lives leading us to the Battle of the Thames in 1813.

Thom, James Alexander. Panther in the Sky. New York: Ballantine Books, 1989. 655pp. Thom’s fictional biography of Tecumseh is an accurate and mostly reliable version of Tecumseh’s life from the Indian perspective.

Fictional Portraits

Anness, Milford E. Song of Metamoris. Caldwell, Idaho: Caxton Printers, 1964. 509pp. The novel tells the story of a young Delaware chief who works with Tecumseh to unite the tribes to fight against further encroachment by the white settlers.

Eckert, Allen W. The Frontiersmen. Boston: Little, Brown, 1967. 626pp. The first of the author’s Narratives of America series describes frontier life in the old Northwest Territory with an authentic portrayal of Tecumseh. Eckert’s Johnny Logon: Shawnee Spy (Boston: Little, Brown, 1983. 217pp.) also includes a portrait of Tecumseh.

Fuller, Iola. The Loon Feather. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1940. 419pp. Indian life in Michigan during the opening decades of the nineteenth century is depicted from the perspective of Tecumseh’s daughter in a fictional tale with realistic background elements.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Cwiklik, Robert. Tecumseh, Shawnee Rebel. New York: Chelsea House, 1992. 110pp. MG/YA. Despite an overly heroic presentation of Tecumseh’s character, this is an informative presentation that relates his activities against a solid period background.

Immell, Myra, and William H. Tecumseh. San Diego: Lucent Books, 1997. 112pp. MG/YA. This is a thorough account featuring numerous boxed quotes from primary and secondary sources.

Steffoff, Rebecca. Tecumseh and the Shawnee Confederation. New York: Facts on File, 1998. 138pp. MG/YA. Steffoff combines a biographical portrait with narrative history of Tecumseh’s times and interesting coverage of Shawnee life.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Brave Warrior (1952). Director: Spencer G. Bennet. Jay Silverheels portrays Tecumseh in this fanciful and forgettable drama with Jon Hall, Michael Ansara, and Christine Larson.

Tecumseh: The Last Warrior (1995). Director: Larry Elikann. Based on Thom’s fictional biography, Jesse Borrego portrays the noble Tecumseh in this earnest tribute. Video.

See also William Henry Harrison

455. PIERRE TEILHARD DE CHARDIN

1881–1955

French Jesuit, paleontologist, and philosopher, Teilhard spent the years 1926 to 1946 in China, where he discovered and studied Peking Man, a Pleistocene hominid. His The Phenomenon of Man, published posthumously in 1955, attempts to reconcile evolution and Christianity. Among Teilhard’s other works, all published posthumously, are The Divine Milieu (1956) and Hymn of the Universe (1964).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Several useful collections of Teilhard’s letters chronicle important stages of his carer: Letters from Egypt, 1905–1908 (New York: Herder and Herder, 1965, 256pp.); Letters from Hastings, 1908–1912 (New York: Herder and Herder, 1968. 206pp.); Letters from Paris, 1912–1914 (New York: Herder and Herder, 1967. 157pp.); The Making of a Mind: Letters from a Soldier-Priest, 1914–1919 (New York: Harper & Row, 1961. 315pp.); and Letters from a Traveller. (New York: Harper, 1962. 380pp.).

Recommended Biographies

Cuénot, Claude. Teilhard de Char din: A Biographical Study. Baltimore: Helicon, 1965. 492pp. This is the most comprehensive and authoritative presentation of Teilhard’s life that both establishes the essential chronology and lucidly interprets his spiritual and intellectual development. As a reference tool documenting Teilhard’s activities, Cuénot’s is still unsurpassed; the book is less helpful in capturing Teilhard’s personality and private side.

Lukas, Mary, and Ellen Lukas. Teilhard. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1977. 360pp. If Cuénot stresses the public life and activities of Teilhard, the Lukases offer a more intimate glimpse of his personality, relationships, and emotional life. Their journalistic approach lacks full documentation, but the treatment is overall objective and fair.

Speaight, Robert. The Life of Teilhard de Chardin. New York: Harper & Row, 1967. 360pp. In many ways Speight combines the intellectual approach taken by Cuénot and the personal stressed by the Lukases, providing the best choice for the general reader in which Teilhard the man and the thinker is made accessible and understandable.

Other Biographical Studies

Barbour, George B. In the Field with Teilhard de Chardin. New York: Herder and Herder, 1965. 160pp. Barbour worked closely with Teilhard for more than 20 years during expeditions in China, the United States, and South Africa, and these recollections are valuable for the information they provide on Teilhard’s character and the background from which his ideas were developed.

Cristiani, Leon. Pierre Teilhard de Chardin: His Life and Spirit. New York: Macmillan, 1960. 120pp. One of the first studies of Teilhard’s life and work, Cristiani provides a bare-bones biographical summary, devoting most of the attention to Teilhard’s philosophy. The book does include quotations from Teilhard’s journals and letters.

De Terra, Helmut. Memories of Teilhard de Chardin. New York: Harper & Row, 1964. 141pp. The work of a German geologist who met with Teilhard frequently, this collection of reminiscences sheds light mainly on Teilhard the scientist.

Grenet, Paul. Teilhard de Chardin: The Man and His Theories. New York: Eriksson, 1966. 176pp. This is a compact overview, combining a biographical summary, photos, essays by Teilhard, and an analysis of his theories and philosophy.

King, Ursula. Spirit of Fire: The Life and Vision of Teilhard de Chardin. Maryknoll, New York: Orbis Books, 1996. 245pp. A fine introduction to the man and his ideas, this is a lavishly illustrated biographical portrait that includes selections from Teilhard’s writings.

Lubac, Henri de. Teilhard de Chardin: The Man and His Meaning. New York: Hawthorn Books, 1965. 203pp. Lubac’s is a lucid, intellectual and spiritual portrait based on the author’s personal acquaintance with Teilhard and unpublished correspondence and notes.

Raven, Charles E. Teilhard de Chardin: Scientist and Seer. New York: Harper & Row, 1962. 221pp. With a compact summary of Teilhard’s experiences. Raven concentrates on tracing the development of his philosophy and his influences.

Fictional Portraits

Marks, Peter. Skullduggery. New York: Carroll & Graf, 1987. 284pp. This inventive novel is a speculative examination of the 1953 revelation that the Piltdown Man was a fake and the question of who was responsible for the hoax. A number of historical figures are presented, including Teilhard.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Simon, Charlie M. Faith Has Need of All the Truth: A Life of Pierre de Chardin. New York: Dutton, 1974. 180pp. YA. Simon describes Teilhard’s early life, his vocation as a Jesuit, and his career as a paleontologist giving the reader a vivid account of his life.

456. ALFRED LORD TENNYSON

1809–1892

Among the most famous English poets of the Victorian era, Tennyson was appointed poet laureate in 1850 and created a peer in 1883. His Poems (1832) include the famous “The Lotus-Eaters” and “The Lady of Shalott.” His next published volume, Poems (1842), established his reputation as a great poet and include the pieces “Locksley Hall” and “Morte d’Arthur.” Among his other works are In Memorium (1850), The Charge of the Light Brigade (1855), and Idylls of the King (1859–1885).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Letters of Alfred Lord Tennyson. Cecil Y.Lang and Edgar F.Shannon, eds. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1981–1990. 3 vols. Although Tennyson remarked that he would “as soon kill a pig as write a letter,” this is an often fascinating, meticulously edited collection of the poet’s letters, helpful in understanding the man, his relationships, and the mundane as well as substantive details of his professional life.

Recommended Biographies

Buckley, Jerome H. Tennyson: The Growth of a Poet. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1960. 289pp. Buckley’s critical biography is a judicious, readable account of Tennyson’s poetic and intellectual development. Buckley traces the various patterns linking Tennyson’s long public and poetic career and offers convincing critical evidence to support the author’s contention that Tennyson was the greatest English poet between Wordsworth and Yeats.

Martin, Robert B. Tennyson: The Unquiet Heart. New York: Oxford University Press, 1980. 643pp. In the fullest and frankest biography available, regarded by many as definitive, Martin challenges both the idealized and debunking portraits of previous studies to portray a flawed but still admirable figure who is captured against a vividly re-created Victorian background.

Ricks, Christopher. Tennyson. 1972. Revised ed. Berkeley: University of California Press, 1989. 390pp. The editor of Tennyson’s works, Ricks achieves his intention to show “the making of Tennyson the man; to establish the distinct power, subtlety, and variety of his poems along with the artistic principles and preoccupations that shaped his work; and to suggest the relationships between the man and the poet.” Shrewd in its critical judgments and highly readable, Ricks’s is a foundation text in the modern understanding of the man and his work.

Other Biographical Studies

Fausset, Hugh I’Anson. Tennyson: A Modern Portrait. New York: Appleton, 1923. 309pp. In one of the earliest modern reassessments, Fausset attempts “to disengage the man’s reality from his appearance, his spiritual significance from the sentimental picture before which for so long men and women prostrated themselves.” Fausset grants the poet’s craftsmanship and lyrical gifts but finds him wanting from a post-Victorian standard.

Henderson, Philip. Tennyson: Poet and Prophet. London: Routledge, 1978. 225pp. This critical biography is a highly readable and sympathetic portrait that asserts Tennyson’s modern relevance by his prophetic anticipation of modern anxiety and doubt. Includes an informative selection of photographs of the poet, his manuscripts, his associates, and places linked with Tennyson.

Levi, Peter. Tennyson. New York: Scribner, 1993. 370pp. Discursive and erudite, Levi’s critical biography will appeal mainly to the specialist or Tennyson enthusiast with the general reader having a much harder time untangling Levi’s impressive but often frustrating display of learning and insight. For the recondite reader, Levi has a great many insights about Tennyson’s development and achievement as a man and poet.

Nicolson, Harold. Tennyson: Aspects of His Life, Character, and Poetry. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1923. 308pp. Nicolson’s influential, revisionist interpretive biography concludes that Tennyson was “an extremely good emotional poet, but a very second-rate instructional bard...of shallow intelligence.” Nicolson’s study established the modern conventional view of the poet divided between his private and public poetic roles.

Ormond, Leonée. Alfred Tennyson: A Literary Life. New York: St. Martin’s, 1993. 221pp. Ormond surveys Tennyson’s life and career with an emphasis on his professional life and the history of his publications.

Page, Norman. Tennyson: An Illustrated Life. New York: New Amsterdam, 1993. 192pp. A short biographical account accompanies over 70 photographs and portraits of the poet at various stages of his life, and his family, friends, residences, and manuscripts.

Richardson, Joanna. The Pre-eminent Victorian: A Study of Tennyson. London: Cape, 1962. 313pp. Richardson’s study shows the revival in interest and sympathy for the Victorian period. In her view, Tennyson is seen positively in the context of his age, and the author attempts to rejoin Tennyson the lyric poet and the public spokesman.

Tennyson, Charles. Alfred Tennyson. New York: Macmillan, 1949. 580pp. Tennyson’s grandson adds to the biographical record important, previously unavailable biographical material related to the poet’s early life and details missing from Hallam Tennyson’s earlier book. A straightforward narrative account, the book emphasizes Tennyson’s personal rather than literary side.

Tennyson, Hallam. Alfred Lord Tennyson: A Memoir by His Son. New York: Macmillan, 1897. 2 vols. Tennyson’s first biography by his son arranges letters to and from the poet along with reminiscences by associates. Rarely critical or candid about Tennyson’s private life, the book retains its usefulness, not for its completeness or interpretation, but as an important source of biographical details.

Thorn, Michael. Tennyson. New York: St. Martin’s, 1993. 566pp. In a popular and at times simplified presentation, Thorn gathers many anecdotes to form a vivid and colorful view of the poet’s personality and career. The author’s interpretations are often out of step with current scholarly views that have challenged seeing Tennyson, as Thorn does, as a representative Victorian figure.

Fictional Portraits

Fleming, H.K. The Day They Kidnapped Queen Victoria. New York: St. Martin’s, 1978. 191pp. Fleming’s inventive, amusing historical thriller explores what happens when Queen Victoria’s train to Balmoral is highjacked and Disraeli heads up the rescue, implausibly recruiting Tennyson to assist.

Other Sources

Page, Norman, ed. Tennyson: Interviews and Recollections. Totawa, New Jersey: Barnes and Noble, 1983. 202pp. Page collects Tennyson’s own words as well as reminiscences by associates in a useful volume that offers interesting glimpses of various aspects of Tennyson’s life and poetic career.

Pinion, F.B. A Tennyson Companion: Life and Works. New York: St. Martin’s, 1984. 267pp. This is a useful reference volume that provides accessible information about the poet’s life and work.

457. TERESA OF AVILA

1515–1582

Spanish nun and mystic, Teresa was a leading figure in the Counter-Reformation and is a patron saint of Spain. She founded a house of reformed Carmelites—the Discalced, or Barefoot, Carmelites—and founded convents of nuns and friars. She was canonized in 1622 and was the first woman named a Doctor of the Catholic Church. Her writings include Life (1562–1565), a spiritual autobiography, and Interior Castle (1577), a discourse on the contemplative life.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Life of Saint Teresa of Avila by Herself. New York: Viking/Penguin, 1987. 316pp. Regarded as a classic spiritual autobiography, Teresa’s own account of her life is the essential starting point for any serious appreciation of her nature and impact.

The Letters of St. Teresa of Jesus. E.Allison Peers, ed. London: Sheed and Ward, 1980. 2 vols. This is a complete, scholarly edition of Teresa’s letters, an indispensable source to reveal her character and relationships.

Recommended Biographies

Lincoln, Victoria. Teresa: A Woman. Albany: State University of New York Press, 1984. 440pp. Closer to fiction than to a scholarly biography, Lincoln’s is nonetheless an often-revealing portrait of Teresa as a proto-feminist. Imaginative without violating the essential facts, Lincoln’s account offers a fresh and original human portrait.

Medwick, Cathleen. Teresa of Avila: The Progress of a Soul. New York: Knopf, 1999. 282pp. Medwick’s popular biography is a refreshing, modern reconsideration. Solid scholarship is woven into a compelling narrative account that treats Teresa as a fascinating, complex figure, more realistically grounded than in previous treatments.

Walsh, William T. St. Teresa of Avila: A Biography. Milwaukee: Bruce Publishing, 1943. 592pp. The first scholarly biography, Walsh’s study remains one of the best and most trustworthy available. Based on careful research using primary and contemporary sources, Walsh presents a credible human figure against a fully realized period background.

Other Biographical Studies

Clissold, Stephen. St. Teresa of Avila. New York: Seabury Press, 1982. 272pp. Clissold takes a psychological approach to identify the sources of Teresa’s development, examining her mysticism against the background of her family, milieu, and emotional needs.

Gross, Francis L. The Making of a Mystic: Seasons in the Life of Teresa of Avila. Albany: State University of New York Press, 1993. 285pp. Applying the concepts of developmental psychology to Teresa’s life and formative experiences, this is a provocative reassessment.

Papasogli, Giorgio. St. Teresa of Avila. New York: Society of Saint Paul, 1959. 408pp. Approved by the Catholic hierarchy, this is a generally reliable account of Teresa’s life and ideas that, despite an uncritical tone, is full of useful details about her career and era.

Fictional Portraits

Rohrbach, Peter-Thomas. Bold Encounter: A Novel Based on the Life of St. John of the Cross. Milwaukee: Bruce, 1960. 224pp. John’s life is chronicled from his student days to his meeting with Teresa and his founding of the first Discalced monastery.

458. WILLIAM MAKEPEACE THACKERAY

1811–1863

Thackeray was, along with Dickens, the preeminent novelist of the early Victorian era. His most famous work, Vanity Fair (1848), had a major impact in establishing a realistic standard for the novel. His other works include Pendennis (1850), Henry Esmond (1852), and The Newcomes (1853–1855).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Letters and Private Papers of William Makepeace Thackeray. Gordon N.Ray, ed. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1945–1946. 4 vols. Ray’s scholarly collection of Thackeray’s letters and papers is invaluable as a biographical source. One reviewer suggested that the volumes form the equivalent of a new Thackeray novel with the author as the central figure.

The Letters and Private Papers of William Makepeace Thackeray. Edgar F.Harden, ed. New York: Garland, 1994. 2 vols. Harden supplements Ray’s collection with new letters and papers uncovered since the earlier volumes first appeared that cast fresh light on virtually every stage of the writer’s career. In Selected Letters of William Makepeace Thackeray (New York: New York University Press, 1996. 416pp.), Harden selects the most revealing of Thackeray’s letters to his family and friends. Includes extracts from his diaries as well as 75 of Thackeray’s comic illustrations.

Recommended Biographies

Monsarrat, Ann. An Uneasy Victorian: Thackeray the Man 1811–1863. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1980. 461pp. Concentrating mainly on Thackeray’s career as a novelist, Monsarrat’s lively study, the only one specifically aimed at the general reader, is particularly useful on Victorian publishing practices and the novelist’s relations with his times and with Mrs. Brookfield.

Ray, Gordon N. Thackeray. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1955–1958. 2 vols. Ray’s monumental biography has long served as the definitive life. Solidly grounded by an intimate familiarity with the Thackeray canon, Ray’s detailed study serves as well as an absorbing cultural history with Thackeray’s development shown clearly against a vivid period background. Literary critic Jacob Korg has called Ray’s achievement “one of the most finished critical biographies ever written.”

Other Biographical Studies

Carey, John. Thackeray: Prodigal Genius. London: Faber and Faber, 1977. 208pp. Carey’s critical study begins with a biographical summary before proceeding topically through an examination of Thackeray’s works to identify characteristics of his personality.

Peters, Catherine. Thackeray’s Universe: Shifting Worlds of Imagination and Reality. New York: Oxford University Press, 1987. 292pp. This is a highly readable summary of Thackeray’s life and some of his works, part biography and part literary criticism, in which the autobiographical connections to the fiction are explored.

Ray, Gordon N. The Buried Life: A Study of the Relation between Thackeray’s Fiction and His Personal History. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1952. 148pp. Ray’s preliminary findings before completing his two-volume life should not be overlooked. It is a revealing study of the biographical sources in the fiction. A marvel of critical distillation and judicious analysis, the study is informed by the author’s impressive familiarity with Thackeray’s life, works, and era.

Stevenson, Lionel. The Showman of Vanity Fair: The Life of William Makepeace Thackeray. 1947. Revised ed. New York: Russell & Russell, 1968. 405pp. The first full-length, scholarly biography, Stevenson’s study covers the essential details of the writer’s life with several factual details corrected in his revision after the appearance of Ray’s edition of Thackeray’s letters and his more authoritative biography. This single volume has the virtue of compression and is still one of the best shorter biographies available.

Biographical Novels

Forster, Margaret. Memoirs of a Victorian Gentleman: William Makepeace Thackeray. New York: Morrow, 1979. 391pp. This book imagines Thackeray’s own account of his life and career, based on his letters and private papers and his recorded reflections. The novel is faithful to the biographical facts.

Fictional Portraits

Banks, Lynne Reid. Path to the Silent Country. New York: Delacorte, 1977. 230pp. Banks’s biographical novel concerns Charlotte Brontë’s years alone and her fame in London following the publication of Jane Eyre. Charlotte meets Thackeray, to whom she dedicated her novel.

459. THOMAS A BECKET

ca. 1118–1170

English martyr and archbishop of Canterbury, Becket first served as chancellor under Henry II. As archbishop, he supported the church against the monarchy and was increasingly at odds with the king. The rift culminated in Becket’s refusal to support the Constitutions of Clarendon, which limited church authority. A threatened papal interdict brought a temporary reconciliation; however, Henry’s expression of anger following Becket’s excommunication of several bishops inspired four knights of the king’s household to waylay and murder the archbishop at Canterbury Cathedral. He was canonized in 1173.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Materials for the History of Thomas Becket, Archbishop of Canterbury. J.C.Roberston, ed. 1875–1885. Reprint ed. Wiesbaden: Kraus Reprint, 1965. 7 vols. Contains an assortment of documentary evidence as well as contemporary accounts by those who knew Becket.

Recommended Biographies

Barlow, Frank. Thomas Becket. Berkeley: University of California Press, 1986. 334pp. Concentrating on Becket’s quarrel with Henry II, this is a scholarly, reliable account that carefully reviews contemporary sources but resists taking sides. The book skillfully illuminates each phase of Becket’s life and provides credible insights into his personality. Along with Knowles, Barlow’s study is the most trustworthy available.

Knowles, David. Thomas Becket. Stanford, California: Stanford University Press, 1971. 183pp. This is a brief but informative and lucidly presented study, backed up by extensive scholarship. Objec-tively and accessibly, Knowles sets Becket’s life and his clash with Henry in the context of twelfth-century Britain.

Winston, Richard. Thomas Becket. New York: Knopf, 1967. 413pp. Winston supplies a full-length, objective account of Becket’s life. Although not as scholarly or original as either Barlow or Knowles, the book serves as a solid, generally reliable overview for the general reader.

Other Biographical Studies

Duggan, Alfred. My Life for My Sheep. New York: Coward-McCann, 1955. 341pp. Highly fictionalized, Duggan’s account lacks documentation but delivers a sharply focused narrative framed by the duel between Becket and Henry II and a masterful reconstruction of the period background.

Speaight, Robert. St. Thomas of Canterbury. New York: Longmans, 1938. 220pp. The author, a member of the original company to perform T.S.Eliot’s Murder in the Cathedral, and who appeared in the role of Becket nearly 700 times, offers a psychological interpretation from a decidedly pro-Becket viewpoint.

Biographical Novels

Butler, Margaret. The Lion of England. New York: Coward-McCann, 1973. 344pp.; The Lion of Justice. New York: Coward-McCann, 1975. 280pp.; The Lion of Christ. New York: Coward-McCann, 1977. 334pp. The relationship between Becket and Henry II is chronicled from 1152 to Becket’s murder in a mixture of authentic details, history, and conjecture.

Meyer, Conrad F. The Saint: A Fictional Biography of Thomas Becket. Providence, Rhode Island: Brown University Press, 1977. 129pp. Meyer offers a generally reliable account of Becket’s life, concentrating on his troubled friendship with Henry II.

Mydans, Shelley. Thomas: A Novel of the Life, Passions, and Miracles of Becket. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1965. 439pp. This is a full-length fictionalized portrait of Becket’s life and career with invented dialogue but a trustworthy sequence of events.

Plaidy, Jean. The Plantagenet Prelude. New York: Putnam, 1976. 335pp. Plaidy chronicles the beginning of the Plantagenet dynasty with the relationship between Eleanor of Aquitaine and Henry II and the king’s friendship with Becket.

Fictional Portraits

York, Robert. The Swords of December. New York: Scribner, 1978. 216pp. This ingenious alternative interpretation of Henry II and Becket portrays both men as heretics and Becket’s murder as a ritual sacrifice. York’s thesis is more entertaining than credible, but the book offers a fresh look at Henry, Eleanor of Aquitaine, and Becket.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Corfe, Tom. Archbishop Thomas and King Henry II. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1975. 48pp. MG. This is a brief dual portrait that relates the conflict between the two men to its wider historical significance.

Duggan, Alfred. The Falcon and the Dove: A Life of Thomas Becket of Canterbury. New York: Pantheon Books, 1966. 217pp. YA. Duggan supplies a vivid evocation of the period that places the dispute between Henry and Becket in the context of the times.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Anouilh, Jean. Becket: Or the Honor of God. New York: Coward-McCann, 1960. 128pp. Although committing a number of historical inaccuracies, Anouilh’s drama offers an arresting psychological profile of both Becket and Henry.

Eliot, T.S. Murder in the Cathedral. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1935. 88pp. Eliot’s poetic drama looks at the last few weeks of Becket’s life in a highly stylized but often compelling treatment.

Fry, Christopher. Curtmantle. New York: Oxford University Press, 1961. 99pp. Fry’s verse drama covers nearly all the years of the reign of Henry II and his relationship with Becket.

Tennyson, Alfred. Becket. London: Macmillan, 1884. 213pp. Tennyson’s verse tragedy deals with the quarrel between Henry II and Becket, culminating in the latter’s murder.

Becket (1964). Director: Peter Glanville. Based on Anouilh’s play, Richard Burton portrays Becket and Peter O’Toole is Henry II in this impressive period drama. Video.

460. DYLAN THOMAS

1914–1953

Welsh poet ranked among the great twentieth-cen-tury poets, Thomas first achieved recognition with his controversial volume, Eighteen Poems (1934). His prose works include Portrait of the Artist as a Young Dog (1940) and Adventures in the Skin Trade (1955). Among his other works are A Child’s Christmas in Wales (1955) and the dramatic work, Under Milk Wood (1954), both written for the radio.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Collected Letters of Dylan Thomas. Paul Ferris, ed. London: Dent, 1985. 982pp. Ferris’s edition of Thomas’s letters replaces the earlier Selected Letters. Constantine Fitzgibbon, ed. (New York: New Directions, 1966. 420pp.) in terms of comprehensiveness and autobiographical insights. The letters show the poet’s various sides and complexity, very different from his public persona.

Portrait of the Artist as a Young Dog. Norfolk, Connecticut: New Directions, 1940. 186pp. Prose sketches describing the childhood and adolescence of a young Welshman with close correspondences to Thomas’s own experiences.

Recommended Biographies

Ferris, Paul. Dylan Thomas. New York: Dial Press, 1977. 399pp. Regarded as a classic literary biography, Ferris’s highly detailed, balanced study takes advantage of material which has become available since Fitzgibbon’s biography, supplemented by interviews with hundreds of the poet’s friends and associates. The result is a sensible, sympathetic but candid assessment of the poet and his development, and the standard source for a reliable chronological account of his life.

Fitzgibbon, Constantine. The Life of Dylan Thomas. Boston: Little, Brown, 1965. 370pp. The author was chosen by the trustees of the Dylan Thomas estate to write the official biography, and Fitzgibbon’s account is based on the author’s own association with the poet and the first full access to the letters and personal papers. Best on Thomas’s London career, the book establishes the basic biographical record, while challenging a number of conventional views of the poet regarding his drinking and carousing.

Other Biographical Studies

Ackerman, John. Dylan Thomas: His Life and Work. New York: Oxford University Press, 1964. 201pp. Ackerman’s mainly critical study of Thomas’s poetry is chiefly useful for the Welsh context offered to help explain his development. The biographical details are limited, and the coverage of Thomas’s Welsh background has been superseded by Ferris and Fitzgibbon.

Brinnin, John M. Dylan Thomas in America. Boston: Little, Brown. 1955. 245pp. The author, the organizer of Thomas’s reading tour of America, features a frank, firsthand account of the poet’s sad end in the first book-length biographical study. Brinnin is less capable in dealing with Thomas’s earlier life and the sources of his unhappiness and compulsive drinking.

Perkins, Derek C. Dylan Thomas and His World. Swansea: Domino Books, 1995. 147pp. Blending biographical and literary insights this well-illus-trated volume traces the connection between Thomas’s Welsh background and his works.

Read, Bill. The Days of Dylan Thomas. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1964. 184pp. Read’s brief chronological presentation mainly of Thomas’s early life and career before he came to America is based on Thomas’s letters and interviews with associates. The highlights of the poet’s life are vividly summarized with anecdotes and photographs. Serves as a reliable introduction.

Sinclair, Andrew. Dylan Thomas: No Man More Magical. New York: Holt, 1975. 240pp. Sinclair’s illustrated biography features little that is fresh or original in terms of biographical insights, more an appreciation than a detailed critical biography, redeemed chiefly by its photographic record.

Thomas, Caitlin. Leftover Life to Kill. Boston: Little, Brown, 1957. 239pp. The first attempt by Thomas’s wife to come to terms with her husband and their relationship offers few personal glimpses of the poet and mainly concerns her painfully over-dramatized attempt to emerge from her husband’s long shadow.

Thomas, Caitlin, with George Tremlett. Caitlin: Life with Dylan Thomas. New York: Holt, 1987. 212pp. Based on a series of recorded interviews, Caitlin Thomas’s often-harrowing recollections of her life with the poet are arranged into a vivid narrative that sheds considerable light on the poet’s personality and private life.

Tremlett, George. Dylan Thomas: In the Mercy of His Means. New York: St. Martin’s, 1992. 206pp. Tremlett’s discursive meditation on the poet, derived from his work with Thomas’s widow, adds little to the understanding of a poet about whom the author admits that “much of his writing does not appeal to me.”

Biographical Novels

Summers, John. Dylan. London: New English Library, 1970. 253pp. The novel dramatizes the poet’s life after leaving University College, Wales, and his travels before beginning his literary career.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Michaels, Sidney. Dylan. New York: Random House, 1964. 116pp. Michaels’s play is based on incidents from the poet’s life derived from Brinnin and Caitlin Thomas’s books.

Dylan Thomas (1988). Director: Alan Torjussen. Thomas’s life is examined through photographs, his readings from his work, and film footage of places associated with the poet. Video.

Other Sources

Davies, James A. A Reference Companion to Dylan Thomas. New York: Greenwood, 1998. 392pp. This useful reference volume begins with a biographical overview before proceeding to a systematic examination of his work, with a final section on critical responses

461. HENRY DAVID THOREAU

1817–1862

American writer and Transcendentalism, Thoreau is a major figure in American thought and literature. His most celebrated work is Walden (1854), a discourse on his life in harmony with nature at Walden Pond. Thoreau’s influential essay, “Civil Disobe-dience” (1849), was written after he was imprisoned overnight for refusing to pay a poll tax supporting the Mexican War that to him represented an extension of slavery.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

All of Thoreau’s writings have a strong autobiographical basis in that they record his own travels and activities. However, the degree to which they can be read strictly as self-revelation has been an ongoing critical debate.

The Correspondence of Henry David Thoreau. Walter Hardin and Carl Bode, eds. New York: New York University Press, 1958. 665pp. Collects letters written by and to Thoreau from 1836 to 1862, arranged chronologically. With introductory commentary for each year summarizing historical events and the writer’s activities, the volume forms a fragmentary but vivid biographical portrait.

Journal. John C.Broderick, ed. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1981–1992. 5 vols. Thoreau’s massive Journal has been widely praised as his greatest literary and intellectual accomplishment and is an indispensable source in gauging the man, his personality, and his ideas.

Recommended Biographies

Canby, Henry S. Thoreau. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1939. 508pp. The first truly scholarly biography, Canby’s study remained the standard source until Harding. Based on solid research, Canby’s assessment reveals a coherent pattern linking Thoreau’s various interests and many-sided personality in which the conventional view of Thoreau’s misogyny and misanthropy is challenged. Literary historian Robert Spiller called the book not only “the sanest biography of Thoreau, but it is one of the sanest I have read of anyone.”

Harding, Walter R. The Days of Henry Thoreau. New York: Knopf, 1965. 498pp. In the most detailed account of Thoreau’s life, Harding establishes the definitive record. Based on solid research, the book allows the facts to speak for themselves, although Harding’s occasional interpretations are convincing and judicious. Because the author has purposefully avoided analysis of Thoreau’s writing, the reader might want to consult Richardson for a supplemental portrait of the writer, his ideas, and his works.

Richardson, Robert D. Henry Thoreau: A Life of the Mind. Berkeley: University of California Press, 1986. 455pp. Richardson’s acclaimed intellectual biography covers Thoreau’s life from 1837 to his death and explores his development “as a writer, naturalist, and a reader.” Richardson’s internal approach represents an ideal complement to Har-ding’s chronicle of the external details of Thoreau’s life and public activities.

Other Biographical Studies

Bazalgette, Léon. Henry Thoreau: Bachelor of Nature. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1924. 357pp. The work of a French writer, this is a popularization of Thoreau’s life in which it is often difficult deciphering where Thoreau ends and Bazalgette begins, and vice versa. Grandiloquent and heroic in style, in marked contrast to the man celebrated, the book retains little usefulness today.

Bridgman, Richard. Dark Thoreau. Lincoln: University of Nebraska Press, 1982. 306pp. Bridgman’s exploration of Thoreau’s personality and its impact on his writing stresses his underlying pessimism and morbidity and often relies on a reductive and occasionally distorting psychoanalytic method to make its case.

Channing, William E. Thoreau, the Poet-Natural-ist. 1873. Enlarged ed. F.B.Sanborn, ed. Boston: Goodspeed, 1902. 357pp. The author, a friend of the writer and a member of the Concord circle, offered this early tribute of recollections that features valuable firsthand observations, as well as an extended imaginary conversation between Thoreau, Emerson, and the author.

Derleth, August. Concord Rebel: A Life of Henry David Thoreau. Philadelphia: Chilton, 1962. 206pp. The work of a popular historical novelist, Derleth’s presentation of Thoreau’s life is based on secondary sources and represents an entertaining, though rarely penetrating, synthesis and overview for the general reader.

Hough, Henry B. Thoreau of Walden. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1956. 275pp. This is a readable introduction that reviews the highlights of Thoreau’s life with anecdotes and quotations from his works. Serves to orient the nonspecialist to the man and his writing.

Lebeaux, Richard. Young Man Thoreau. Amherst: University of Massachusetts Press, 1977. 262pp.; Thoreau’s Seasons. Amherst: University of Massachusetts Press, 1984. 410pp. Together, Lebeaux’s two volumes complete a full-scale psychobiography that applies the psychoanalytic-socio-logical identity theory of ErikErickson. Controversial in its thesis of Thoreau’s identity crisis originating in oedipal conflict, the book is loaded with insights of interest to anyone looking for possible sources for Thoreau’s intellectual and emotional development.

Milder, Robert. Reimagining Thoreau. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1994. 237pp. Combining biographical and manuscript evidence, Milder presents a reconsideration of Thoreau’s career from 1837 to his death. Milder’s interesting focus is the impact of Thoreau’s efforts to resolve the conflict between himself and his community.

Salt, Henry S. Life of Henry David Thoreau. 1890. Revised ed. London: W.Scott, 1896. 153pp. The first true biography of Thoreau is by a British writer, and Salt’s undocumented account organizes fact and conjecture into a chronological and thematic account, now of mainly historical interest on nineteenth-century attitudes toward the writer.

Sanborn, Franklin B. The Life of Henry David Thoreau. 1917. Reprint ed. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1976. 541pp. Sanborn’s biography is important for the testimony he records of those who knew the writer, as well as the author’s own knowledge of Thoreau at Harvard. The book also supplies a catalog of Thoreau’s library.

Schneider, Richard J. Henry David Thoreau. Boston: Twayne, 1987. 176pp. Schneider connects Thoreau’s life and work in a reliable critical overview for the student.

Fictional Portraits

Aronin, Ben. Walt Whitman’s Secret. Chicago: Argus Books, 1955. 374pp. Thoreau’s association with Whitman is included in this biographical novel tracing the poet’s career from the 1840s to the 1860s.

Colver, Anne. Listen for the Voices. New York: Farrar & Rinehart, 1939. 387pp. Concord, Massachusetts, is the setting for this novel that connects a number of fictional characters with such actual figures as Emerson and Thoreau to capture the period and its intellectual and artistic ferment.

Ehrlich, Leonard. God’s Angry Man. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1932. 401pp. Thoreau’s meeting with the abolitionist John Brown is dramatized in this partly factual, partly imaginary account of Brown’s incendiary career.

Forbes, Esther. O, Genteel Lady! Chicago: Academy, 1986. 296pp. Longfellow, Emerson, Thoreau, and other literary celebrities meet in Concord and Boston in a series of discussions of their works and ideas.

Longstreth, Thomas M. Two Rivers Meet in Concord. Philadelphia: Westminster Press, 1946. 286pp. This novel concerns period cultural life in Concord with appearances by such figures as Emerson and Margaret Fuller. The fictional character’s relationship with Thoreau is central here.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Anderson, Peter. Henry David Thoreau: American Naturalist. New York: F.Watts, 1995. 63pp. MG. Part of the highly praised First Book series, this basic presentation of the facts of Thoreau’s life and career features a lively text and an attractive format with interesting illustrations.

Burleigh, Robert. A Man Named Thoreau. New York: Atheneum, 1985. 31pp. MG. Although in a picture book format, this is a surprisingly substantive guide to Thoreau’s life and ideas. Although concepts are simplified, there is no serious distortion.

Miller, Douglas T. Henry David Thoreau. New York: Facts on File, 1991. 114pp. YA. Arranged topically rather than chronologically, Miller’s examination of Thoreau’s personality is balanced, informative, and well written.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Lawrence, Jerome, and Robert E.Lee. The Night Thoreau Spent in Jail. New York: Hill & Wang, 1990. 104pp. This dramatization of Thoreau’s act of civil disobedience in opposition to the Mexican War is a stimulating evocation of Thoreau’s personality and ideas.

Other Sources

Borst, Raymond R., ed. The Thoreau Log: A Documentary Log. Boston: G.K.Hall, 1991. 654pp. A remarkable reference tool, Thoreau’s daily activities, those he saw and wrote to, and what he was reading are carefully recorded, challenging the conception that the writer led an isolated life. Includes brief biographies of significant people in Thoreau’s life.

Myerson, Joel, ed. The Cambridge Companion to Henry David Thoreau. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1995. 247pp. This collection of essays by a distinguished array of Thoreau specialists and critics sheds light on various aspects of the writer’s life and work, particularly how his biography informed his writing and how personal and historical influences shaped his career.

462. TITIAN

ca. 1488–1576

Born Tiziano Vecellio, Venitian painter Titian is one of the greatest Renaissance artists. Renowned for his originality, composition, and rich use of color, he received numerous commissions during his lifetime and greatly influenced later generations of painters. His works include altarpieces such as the celebrated Assumption of the Virgin (1518) and many portraits as well as mythological and historical scenes.

Recommended Biographies

Crowe, J.A., and G.B.Cavalcaselle. Titian: His Life and Times. London: J.Murray, 1877. 2 vols. The authors established the accepted documentary record on Titian’s life and career, arranging all the existing sources chronologically and using them as the basis for an authoritative biographical summary. Although additional documents have been uncovered since the book’s publication, this remains the indispensable biographical source upon which subsequent critical and biographical studies have depended.

Hope, Charles. Titian. New York: Harper & Row, 1980. 170pp. Hope’s revisionist assessment of Titian and his work is lively and insightful. Challenging accepted wisdom, including the date of Titian’s birth, Hope offers a fresh look at the painter’s development, character, influence, and the significance of his paintings. Some prior knowledge of Titian and his work will assist the reader in assessing his controversial assertions.

Rosand, David. Titian. New York: Abrams, 1978. 158pp. In an introduction to Titian’s work by the acknowledged Titian expert, the paintings are examined within a chronological framework that sheds light on the painter’s life and intellectual and artistic development. Recommended as an excellent introduction.

Other Biographical Studies

Cole, Bruce. Titian and Venetian Painting, 1450–1590. New York: HarperCollins, 1998. 272pp. In a well-illustrated, sensitive introduction to Titian’s life and work, Cole examines the painter’s development chronologically from various points of view, including his cultural, historical, and artistic background.

Gronau, Georg. Titian. New York: Scribner, 1904. 322pp. Gronau, a recognized authority on the painter, provides a critical assessment that includes biographical information as it relates to Titian’s creative method and production of his works.

Morassi, Antonio. Titian. Greenwich, Connecticut: Graphic Society, 1964. 69pp. This brief illustrated volume surveys Titian’s artistic development and career for the general reader.

Ridolfi, Carlo. The Life of Titian. Bruce Cole, Julia C. and Peter Bondanella, eds. University Park: Pennsylvania State University Press, 1996. 146pp. Written by a seventeenth-century Venetian artist and writer, Ridolfi’s life is translated into English for the first time in a critical edition that considers questions of reliability and the importance of the biography for the study of Titian and Renaissance art.

Riggs, Arthur S. Titian the Magnificent and the Venice of His Day. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill, 1946. 390pp. Riggs’s enthusiastic celebration of Titian’s genius and character takes the form of a somewhat over simplified and often uncritical chronological survey of his life aimed at the general reader.

Vasari, Giorgio. Lives of the Artists. 1550. Reprint ed. New York: Penguin, 1965. 2 vols. Vasari’s portrait of the painter is the principal source of biographical and anecdotal information on Titian and is less speculative than other profiles in Vasari’s monumental collection because of the author’s acquaintance with the painter.

Biographical Novels

Cecchi, Dario. Titian. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1958. 232pp. The details of Titian’s life and career are enhanced with invented dialogue and period details.

Weiss, David. The Venetian. New York: Morrow, 1976. 366pp. An elderly Titian recalls his long career in this fictional autobiography that is reliable in its summary of the painter’s life and work and the period background.

Fictional Portraits

Borton, Elizabeth. The Greek of Toledo: A Romantic Narrative about El Greco. New York: Crowell, 1959. 277pp. El Greco’s apprenticeship years in Italy under Titian and Tintoretto are depicted in this imaginative embellishment of the facts about the painter’s life.

Braider, Donald. Color from a Light Within: A Novel Based on the Life of El Greco. New York: Putnam, 1967. 379pp. El Greco’s apprenticeship under Titian is included in this biographical portrait of the Cretian artist.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Ripley, Elizabeth. Titian: A Biography. New York: Oxford University Press, 1962. 68pp. MG. Titian’s life story is narrated along with a representative sampling of his works that are critically analyzed.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Titian (1989). Director: Didier Baussy. This is an informative film profile that covers both the major events of the painter’s life and a critique of his works. Video.

Other Sources

Rostand, David, ed. Titian: His World and His Legacy. New York: Columbia University Press, 1982. 349pp. This collection of critical essays by leading experts touches on various aspects of Titian’s life, art, and times.

463. LEO TOLSTOY

1828–1910

Russian novelist Tolstoy is often regarded as one of the world’s greatest writers. His masterpiece is War and Peace (1862–1869), an epic novel of five families set against the background of the Napoleonic Wars. Another celebrated novel is Anna Karenina (1873–1876), the tragic story of an adulterous affair. Tolstoy’s other works include the short story, “The Death of Ivan Ilyich,” and the novels The Kreutzer Sonata (1889) and Resurrec-tion (1899–1900).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Childhood, Boyhood, Youth. New York: Knopf, 1991. 314pp. Tolstoy’s fictionalized recollections of his early years are revealing even though readers should be cautious in assuming a total autobiographical account.

Confession. New York: W.W.Norton, 1996. 95pp. Tolstoy’s recounting of his psychological crisis and religious conversion following the completion of Anna Karenina is crucial for an understanding of the man and particularly his later ideas and activities.

Tolstoy’s Diaries. R.F.Christian, ed. New York: Scribner, 1985. 2 vols. Tolstoy kept a diary from the age of 18 until shortly before his death; this selection reprints the most interesting passages that best reveal Tolstoy as a writer, moralist, social thinker, and private family man.

Tolstoy’s Letters. R.F.Christian, ed. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1978. 2 vols. This collection of 608 letters arranged chronologically covers the years 1845 to 1910. Although only a small portion of Tolstoy’s extant correspondence, the volumes are indispensable, providing a great deal of biographical material hitherto unavailable to non-Russian readers.

Recommended Biographies

Maude, Aylmer. The Life of Tolstoy. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1910. 2 vols. Maude’s early biography remains an important achievement. The author, an intimate of the writer and translator of his works, possessed unique familiarity with and access to his subject, which is put to good use in a comprehensive and detailed account.

Simmons, Ernest. Leo Tolstoy. Boston: Little, Brown, 1936. 790pp. The most scholarly of the available Tolstoy biographies. Simmons’s objective and factual approach is reliable, serving better as a reference source than to be enjoyed as an entertaining narrative.

Troyat, Henri. Tolstoy. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1967. 762pp. Troyat’s entertaining and vivid biography pushes the limit of imaginative conjecture in which Tolstoy’s life is treated like a novel with the writer as its central character. Troyat’s facts are reliable, however, and the book attempts to reconcile the various paradoxes that the writer’s life suggests with skill.

Wilson, A.N. Tolstoy. New York: W.W.Norton, 1988. 572pp. Wilson’s is an opinionated and lively intellectual biography that traces the development of Tolstoy’s artistry and ideas. Well researched and impressive in its ability to establish the essential patterns in Tolstoy’s character, Wilson’s biography is a remarkable achievement, ranking with the best literary biographies.

Other Biographical Studies

Asquith, Cynthia. Married to Tolstoy. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1961. 288pp. Asquith sees herself as “a self-appointed Counsel for the Defense” in the case against Sonya in the Tolstoy marriage battle. The book covers mostly familiar territory for the general reader, relieved by a willingness to grant that both parties shared responsibility for the misery in their marriage.

Bulgakov, V.F. The Last Year of Leo Tolstoy. New York: Dial Press, 1971. 235pp. Tolstoy’s personal secretary kept an extensive diary recording the events leading up to the writer’s death. Bulgakov’s objectivity in the conflict and strife surrounding Tolstoy’s break with his family makes this one of the most important sources for reliable information on the end of Tolstoy’s life.

Courcel, Marline de. Tolstoy: The Ultimate Reconciliation. New York: Scribner, 1988. 458pp. Offering little that is new except the questionable contention that Tolstoy’s final departure from his family represented “the ultimate reconciliation” of his contradictions and his decision to return to artistic literature, this is a psychologically oriented biography based mainly on a close reading of Tolstoy’s diaries and letters.

Crankshaw, Edward. Tolstoy: The Making of a Novelist. New York: Viking, 1974. 276pp. This illustrated biography helpfully documents Tolstoy’s life in pictures; the text, however, is remarkably hostile to the man, particularly in his later stage as a religious and moral sage.

Edwards, Anne. The Life of Countess Tolstoy. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1981. 512pp. Edwards is a strong advocate for Sonya over the novelist in their marital battle. The book offers little that is new on one of the most publicized marriages in history other than its feminist perspective.

Gustafson, Richard F. Leo Tolstoy: Resident and Stranger. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1986. 480pp. Gustafson’s critical analysis of Tolstoy’s metaphysics and ethics tracks the consistency in his thinking, countering the widely held view that Tolstoy was divided between the preconversion artist and the postconversion reformer and prophet.

Hofmann, Modest, and André Pierre. By Deeds of Truth: The Life of Leo Tolstoy. New York: Crown, 1958. 268pp. This brief overview concentrates on capturing Tolstoy’s personality and the cultural and moral atmosphere in which he developed. While offering little that is new, the book is a lively, readable summary of the highlights of Tolstoy’s life and character.

Kuzminskaya, Tatyana A. Tolstoy as I Knew Him. New York: Macmillan, 1948. 439pp. Written by Tolstoy’s sister-in-law, this account of the author’s life during the 1860s and 1870s has been called by biographer Ernest Simmons, “a veritable trea-sure-trove” of revealing glimpses of Tolstoy’s domestic affairs.

Nazaroff, Alexander I. Tolstoy: The Inconstant Genius. New York: F.A.Stokes, 1929. 332pp. Nazaroff fashions a dramatic narrative account of Tolstoy’s life for the general reader. The author prefers Tolstoy the artist rather than Tolstoy the prophet and holy man, and the division between the two is not adequately reconciled.

Rolland, Romain. Tolstoy. New York: Dutton, 1911. 312pp. Rolland’s appreciative study of Tolstoy is based on firsthand knowledge and concentrates on the writer’s later career.

Shirer, William L. Love and Hatred: The Troubled Marriage of Leo and Sonya Tolstoy. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1994. 400pp. Shirer focuses mainly on the last decades of Tolstoy’s 48-year marriage with a third of the book concerned with Tolstoy’s final year. The book attempts to be fair to both parties, but is rarely very penetrating beyond the sad details of the couple’s relationship.

Smoluchowski, Louise. Lev and Sonya: The Story of the Tolstoy Marriage. New York: Putnam, 1987. 288pp. This is credible, even-handed account of the Tolstoys’s 48-year marriage based on primary sources.

Tolstoy, Alexandra. Tolstoy: A Life of My Father. New York: Harper, 1953. 543pp. Tolstoy’s youngest daughter supplies her recollections. Alexandra was the writer’s closest companion and amanuen-sis during his final years, and her perspective is revealing on Tolstoy’s last phase, even though there is a lack of critical detachment, and the partisan battles over control of Tolstoy are still being waged.

Tolstoy, Sergei. Tolstoy Remembered by His Son. New York: Atheneum, 1962. 234pp. Tolstoy’s eldest son presents his memories of his father written before Sergei’s death in 1947. While his perspective is interesting, there is little here that is particularly striking or original.

Tolstoy, Tatyana. Tolstoy Remembered. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1977. 312pp. These recollections by Tolstoy’s daughter portray the writer as an affectionate if demanding father and generous, likable man whose passion for social justice alienated his wife and some of his children. The portrait offers an interesting, festive side to Tolstoy’s family life that is mostly obscured by the grim details of the contest of wills between husband and wife.

Biographical Novels

Parini, Jay. The Last Station: A Novel of Tolstoy’s Last Year. New York: Holt, 1990. 290pp. The novel follows Tolstoy’s last days from a variety of perspectives. Factually accurate as to events, the novel freely imagines the central figures’ conversations and thoughts.

Fictional Portraits

Okudzhava, Bulat S. The Extraordinary Adventures of Secret Agent Shipov. London: Abelard-Schuman, 1973. 214pp. Based on an actual incident in Tolstoy’s life, the novel dramatizes the czarist secret police’s investigation of the novelist’s life in 1862.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Carroll, Sara N. The Search: A Biography of Leo Tolstoy. New York: Harper & Row, 1973. 158pp. MG/YA. This is an accurate, well-written biography that documents Tolstoy’s story through excerpts from his diaries and other primary sources.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Stevens, Henry B. Tolstoy: A Play in Seven Scenes. New York: Crowell, 1928. 155pp. Stevens dramatizes a series of episodes from Tolstoy’s life from 1878 to his death that follow the biographical record and uses much of the writer’s own words.

Leo Tolstoy (1988). Director: S.Sivachenko. This Russian film biographical portrait features narration by English actors Alan Dobie and Anna Massey. Video.

Leo Tolstoy: A Brilliant Look at the Life of Leo Tolstoy (1984). Director: Sergei Gerasimov. This Russian film documents Tolstoy’s life with archival material and footage of places associated with the writer. Video.

464. ARTURO TOSCANINI

1867–1957

Italian conductor Toscanini was a cellist with minor European orchestras before achieving international recognition as one of the world’s greatest conductors. He was musical director at La Scala in Milan and conducted the New York Metropolitan and Philharmonic orchestras. The NBC Symphony Orchestra was created for him. He was known for his tempestuous personality and the electrifying performances he elicited from his musicians.

Recommended Biographies

Sachs, Harvey. Toscanini. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1978. 380pp. The book’s documentation of Toscanini’s private and public life takes advantage of all the significant sources and is the most comprehensive and balanced account of the conductor’s life available. Sachs revisits and updates aspects of Toscanini’s career and personality in Reflections on Toscanini (New York: Grove, Weidenfeld, 1991. 191pp.), a collection of essays and reviews.

Other Biographical Studies

Chotzinoff, Samuel. Toscanini: An Intimate Portrait. New York: Knopf, 1956. 148pp. This personal memoir, based on the author’s relationship with Toscanini since 1926, is a series of anecdotes mainly documenting the conductor’s idiosyncrasies. The author’s pursuit of a good story often results in falsification, and the book should be read with caution with regard to its overall truthfulness.

Haggin, B.H. Arturo Toscanini: Contemporary Recollections of the Maestro. New York: Da Capo, 1989. 297pp. This interesting volumes brings together two previous books by the author, Conversations with Toscanini (Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1959. 261pp.) and The Toscanini Musicians Knew (New York: Horizon Press, 1967.

245pp.). Both supply useful insights from Toscanini’s own perspective and by musicians who knew him.

Horowitz, Joseph. Understanding Toscanini. New York: Knopf, 1987. 492pp. Less the story of Toscanini than America’s response to him, Horowitz’s study, combining biography, cultural history, and musical criticism, has been scathingly attacked by such Toscanini experts as Harvey Sachs. Horowitz’s focus is wider than an attempt to understand Toscanini, offering a socioeconomic study of the classical music industry in which Toscanini serves as a springboard.

Marek, George. Toscanini. New York: Atheneum, 1975. 321pp. Marek’s is a readable, anecdotal survey of Toscanini’s career and character. Neither a scholarly nor a complete biography and often highly conjectural, the book is an uneven and disorganized account but can still be enjoyed though not always trusted.

Matthews, Denis. Arturo Toscanini. New York: Hippocrene Books, 1982. 176pp. This brief overview ably serves as a useful introduction for the general reader. The book features numerous illustrations and a reliable discography.

Sacchi, Filippo. The Magic Baton. New York: Putnam, 1957. 224pp. The work of an Italian journalist and a friend of the conductor, Sacchi’s account combines firsthand details and familiarity with the Italian musical scene. This is the best of the several biographical portraits by Toscanini’s friends and associates. Others include Nicotra, Tobia. Arturo Toscanini (New York: Knopf, 1929. 235pp.); Stefan, Paul. Arturo Toscanini (New York: Viking, 1936. 126pp.); and Taubman, Howard. The Maestro: The Life of Arturo Toscanini (New York: Simon & Schuster, 1951. 342pp.).

Fictional Portraits

Paul, Barbara. A Cadenza for Caruso. New York: St. Martin’s, 1984. 146pp. Puccini is charged with murder in this mystery set in 1910. Enrico Caruso attempts to clear his friend by discovering the real killer. Despite the fanciful story, the novel does offer an authentic depiction of the New York opera world of the period and an appearance by Toscanini.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Toscanini: The Maestro (1985). Director: Peter Rosen. A documentary profile using rare home movies and interviews with those who knew and worked with the conductor. Video.

465. HENRI DE TOULOUSE-LAUTREC

1864–1901

French painter and lithographer Toulouse-Lautrec is famous for his depictions of Parisian nightlife. The son of a wealthy nobleman, Lautrec fell and broke both his legs as a child, and his growth was permanently stunted. He studied in Paris and settled in the Montmartre district, where he painted popular entertainers such as the dancers and personalities of the Moulin Rouge cabaret. Influenced by Degas and by Japanese prints, his work did much to popularize the lithographic poster. His works include At the Moulin de la Galette (1892) and Seated Female Clown (1896).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Letters of Henri de Toulouse-Lautrec. Herbert D.Schimmel, ed. New York: Oxford University Press, 1991. 444pp. This collection of more than 600 letters is the most complete record of the artist’s correspondence available. The letters fill in many gaps in the record of his life and artistic development.

Recommended Biographies

Hanson, Lawrence, and Elisabeth Hanson. The Tragic Life of Toulouse-Lautrec. New York: Random House, 1956. 277pp. More a psychological than an artistic study, the Hansons supply a vivid character study that, despite the book’s title, is far from sentimental in its approach. With an eye for the telling detail, the book tracks the various stages of Lautrec’s career and his many personal disappointments.

Frey, Julia. Toulouse-Lautrec: A Life. New York: Viking, 1994. 595pp. Written by the leading expert on the painter and his work, Frey’s is among the most comprehensive and detailed biographies available, based on meticulous research and aided by previously unavailable family letters. An in-depth analysis of the environmental, family, and psychological factors that formed the artist, the book substitutes a credible, human portrait for the various distortions of previous views of his life and character.

Other Biographical Studies

Adriani, Götz. Toulouse-Lautrec. New York: Thames and Hudson, 1987. 336pp. Adriani’s text for a West German exhibition includes previously unpublished photographs and an extensive narrative chronology.

Huisman, Philippe, and M.G.Dortu. Lautrec by Lautrec. New York: Galahad Books, 1964. 274pp. The text is a straightforward account of Lautrec’s life with a number of intimate details. The bulk of the book, however, is a collection of the pictures, photographs, and correspondence the artist left to his friend and art dealer, Maurice Joyant. Particularly interesting in documenting the artist’s early years, the portrait of the man that emerges from this private material contradicts the image of the de-bauched rebel of conventional wisdom.

Mack, Gerstle. Toulouse-Lautrec. New York: Knopf, 1938. 370pp. The first full-length biography, Mack’s study continues to serve the scholar and general reader alike in its thoroughness and meticulous research. Mack surveys the artist’s life, his work, and his milieu.

Perruchot, Henri. Toulouse-Lautrec. New York: Collier, 1962. 350pp. Perruchot’s is a lively, anecdotally rich study that captures the man from a number of perspectives, informed by a solid sense of the cultural setting of the artist’s era.

Biographical Novels

La Mure, Pierre. Moulin Rouge: A Novel Based on the Life of Henri de Toulouse-Lautrec. New York: Random House, 1950. 438pp. Tracing Lautrec’s life from his boyhood to his death, La Mure’s is a sympathetic and somewhat sentimentalized treatment with an authentic period background.

Fictional Portraits

Berkman, Ted. To Seize the Passing Dream: A Novel of Whistler, His Women, and His World. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1972. 491pp. Berkman’s fictionalized biography of painter James McNeill Whistler portrays many of the literary and artistic figures of the period, including Lautrec.

Longstreet, Stephen, and Ethel Longstreet. Man of Montmartre: A Novel Based on the Life of Maurice Utrillo. New York: Funk & Wagnalls, 1958. 403pp. This fictional biography of French painter Utrillo vividly presents his life and times with appearances by figures from the artistic world, including Degas and Lautrec.

Lovesey, Peter. Bertie and the Crime of Passion. New York: Mysterious Press, 1995. 244pp. In this installment of the author’s amusing period mysteries involving the future Edward VII as an unlikely sleuth, Bertie is in Paris investigating a murder at the Moulin Rouge with Sarah Bernhardt as his assistant and Lautrec as his crime-scene sketch artist.

Stone, Irving. Lust for Life. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1934. 500pp. Stone’s remarkable fictional biography of Van Gogh includes appearances by a number of period figures, including Lautrec, Gauguin, Cézanne, Henri Rousseau, and Zola.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Bryant, Jennifer. Henri de Toulouse-Lautrec, Artist. New York: Chelsea House, 1994. 127pp. MG/YA. Part of the Great Achievers series, this informative biography emphasizes the challenges Lautrec faced from his disability.

Horwitz, Sylvia L. Toulouse-Lautrec: His World. New York: Harper & Row, 1973. 215pp. YA. Lautrec’s life and artistic career are candidly and sensitively treated, supplemented by a wide selection of the painter’s works and photographs of the artist.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Moulin Rouge (1954). Director: John Huston. Jose Ferrar is convincing as the painter in this rich evocation of period Paris. Co-starring Zsa Zsa Gabor, Eric Pohlmann, Christopher Lee, and Peter Cushing. Video.

Toulouse-Lautrec (1988). Director: Hilary Chadwick. Lautrec’s life, career, and paintings are covered in an informative film portrait of the man and his age. Video.

466. ANTHONY TROLLOPE

1815–1882

Acknowledged as one of the great English Victorian novelists, Trollope worked for the British postal service until 1867. He achieved fame with The Warden (1855), the first in a popular series of Barsetshire novels. A sharp but sympathetic observer of Victorian social and political life, Trollope is also famous for his Palliser series, which include the novels Phineas Finn (1869), The Eustace Diamonds (1873), and The Prime Minister (1876).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

An Autobiography. David Skilton, ed. New York: Penguin, 1996. 285pp. Trollope’s frank account of his writing life helped set back his reputation among his contemporaries, who were looking for inspiration rather than perspiration among their creative writers. Along with the Letters, Trollope’s memoir is indispensable in gaining the measure of the man.

The Letters of Anthony Trollope. N.John Hall, ed. Stanford, California: Stanford University Press, 1983. 2 vols. More than 1,800 letters show Trollope’s relations with his publishers, his work for the post office, and his extended trips abroad. Also included are many letters to and about Trollope by associates.

Recommended Biographies

Glendinning, Victoria. Anthony Trollope. New York: Knopf, 1993. 551pp. This is a richly detailed, shrewd assessment of the man and the novelist. Glendinning is effective in establishing the connections between Trollope’s experiences and his writing and the private man beneath his public image. The book is excellent on the social history that animates the novelist’s era and values.

Hall, N.John. Trollope: A Biography. New York: Oxford University Press, 1991. 581pp. As editor of the collected works and the letters, Hall is the recognized Trollope authority, and his biography has been hailed as definitive. Both highly readable and informative, Hall’s portrait of Trollope is one of the fullest and richest that has yet been written.

Mullen, Richard. Anthony Trollope: A Victorian in His World. London: Duckworth, 1990. 767pp. Mullen argues that Trollope embodied Victorian values, and this critical biography draws connections among his personal experiences, his era, and his works. The book is useful in calling attention to the personal issues that the novelist continued to deal with in his fiction.

Super, R.H. The Chronicler of Barsetshire: A Life of Anthony Trollope. Ann Arbor: University of Michigan Press, 1988. 528pp. Arranged into a year-by-year account, this detailed, comprehensive study emphasizes fact over interpretation and character analysis. Super adds considerably to the view of Trollope’s school days and professional life, and the book is an impressive achievement in authoritatively establishing the biographical record of the novelist.

Other Biographical Studies

Booth, Bradford. Anthony Trollope: Aspects of His Life and Work. Bloomington: Indiana University Press, 1958. 258pp. Neither a complete survey of the man nor of his works, Booth’s study attempts to establish how Trollope’s view of the world shaped his fiction, while placing his novels in the context of Victorian novel-writing and publishing practices.

Pope-Hennessey, James. Anthony Trollope. Boston: Little, Brown, 1971. 400pp. Written to help justify the revival of interest in Trollope’s work, the book is a mixture of plot summaries, critical analysis, and biographical data. More an appreciation than an analysis or interpretation with little that goes beyond what can be gleaned from An Autobiography.

Sadleir, Michael. Anthony Trollope: A Commentary. New York: Houghton Mifflin, 1927. 423pp. Sadleir’s pioneering biographical portrait and critical study helped begin the modern revival of interest in Trollope and the restoration of his reputation as a novelist. His chapter, “The Portrait of Anthony,” remains one of the best character sketches of the novelist.

Snow, C.P. Trollope: His Life and Work. New York: Scribner, 1975. 191pp. This lavishly illustrated biography records Snow’s admiration for both the man and the novelist. The text forms a useful introduction, particularly strong on Trollope’s childhood and civil service career.

Super, Robert H. Trollope in the Post Office. Ann Arbor: University of Michigan Press, 1981. 135pp. Drawing on the Post Office Records Department and Trollope’s own traveling journal, Super details the novelist’s 34-year career, in which he rose from a teenage junior clerk to a senior official. The book makes clear how important Trollope’s professional career was to his life and how his work experiences permeate his writing.

Walpole, Horace. Anthony Trollope. New York: Macmillan, 1928. 205pp. A compact, limited view of Trollope and his work, part of the English Men of Letters series, Walpole’s study is the work of an enthusiast for other converts.

Fictional Portraits

Russell, Ray. Princess Pamela. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1979. 428pp. Written in the form of a diary kept by a young Englishwoman in 1837, the year of Victoria’s succession, the novel features characterizations of a number of historical figures, including a young Anthony Trollope.

Wilson, A.N. Gentlemen in England. New York: Viking, 1986. 311pp. Wilson’s portrait of Victorian London in the 1880s features appearances by a number of actual figures, including Trollope, George Eliot, and Walter Pater.

Other Sources

Terry, R.C. A Trollope Chronology. Basinstoke, England: Macmillan, 1989. 167pp. This is a convenient reference guide to Trollope’s activities and the publication of his many works.

Terry, R.C. Oxford Reader’s Companion to Trollope. New York: Oxford University Press, 1999. 408pp. This extensive reference guide covers Trollope’s 47 novels and characters as well as details of the novelist’s private and public life in a series of alphabetically arranged entries.

Terry, R.C., ed. Trollope: Interviews and Recollections. New York: St. Martin’s, 1987. 257pp. This compendium collects a wide variety of comments on the novelist from his contemporaries.

467. LEON TROTSKY

1879–1940

Russian Communist revolutionary and a founder of the Soviet Union, Trotsky was born Lev Davidovich Bronstein. He was a chief organizer of the 1917 October Revolution, served as Lenin’s commissar for foreign affairs, and while commissar of war organized the Red Army. When Stalin came to power, he was deported and during his exile advocated international revolution and attacked Stalinism. He settled in Mexico City, where he was murdered by an alleged Stalinist agent.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Diary in Exile, 1935. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1958. 218pp. This diary kept by Trotsky during his period of exile in France and Norway is a revealing look at the private man.

My Life. New York: Grosset & Dunlap, 1966. 599pp. Trotsky narrates his own story up to 1929 in a fascinating and surprisingly candid reflection of the events and key figures of the Russian Revolution and the formation of the Soviet state. Essential reading for an understanding of Trotsky’s self-con-ception and understanding of history.

Writings of Leon Trotsky. George Breitman and Sarah Lovell, eds. New York: Pathfinder Press, 1973–1975. 12 vols. This enormous collection of Trotsky’s pamphlets, articles, letters, and interviews is an important source for information about the man and his ideas.

Recommended Biographies

Carmichael, Joel. Trotsky: An Appreciation of His Life. New York: St. Martin’s, 1975. 512pp. Blending a narrative account of Trotsky’s life with an insightful psychological analysis, Carmichael is successful in providing a balanced examination of the man and his historical role. Trotsky the man, orator, and writer predominates here, as the book helps to disentangle his character from his public persona.

Deutscher, Isaac. The Prophet Armed: Trotsky 1879–1921. New York: Oxford University Press, 1954. 540pp.; The Prophet Unarmed: Trotsky 1921–1929. New York: Oxford University Press, 1959. 490pp.; The Prophet Outcast: Trotsky 1919–1940. New York: Oxford University Press, 1963. 543pp. In by far the fullest, most detailed account of Trotsky’s life, Deutscher’s sympathy (both ideological and personal) for his subject helps humanize the man without unduly disguising his flaws. Well written, drawing on czarist and Bolshevik records, interviews with eyewitnesses, and Trotsky’s intimate correspondence with his wife and family, Deutscher’s account creates a complex portrait in which Trotsky’s ideas, development, and human strengths and weaknesses are drawn in compelling detail.

Howe, Irving. Leon Trotsky. New York: Viking, 1978. 214pp. Howe’s is a tough-minded, though fair, introductory study of Trotsky’s life and thought in which his development as a revolutionary philosopher is examined chiefly through his writing and speeches.

Volkogonov, Dmitri. Trotsky: The Eternal Revolutionary. New York: Free Press, 1996. 524pp. Serving as a more realistic counterpoint to Deutscher’s overall adulatory account, Volkogonov draws on formerly restricted Soviet archives for a sobering human portrait in which Trotsky’s revolutionary greatness and tragic shortcomings are kept in clear focus in a full-length study. The book challenges the notion that had Trotsky been successful in the battle with Stalin for control of the revolution, the outcome would have been considerably different.

Other Biographical Studies

Eastman, Max. Leon Trotsky: The Portrait of a Youth. New York: Greenberg, 1925. 181pp. Eastman, an intimate of Trotsky, supplies this portrait of his friend’s early years in a sentimental account, chiefly valuable for the anecdotes that Trotsky supplied the author.

Glotzer, Albert. Trotsky: Memoir & Critique. Buffalo, New York: Pathfinder Books, 1990. 343pp. This is an account of the author’s personal contacts with Trotsky during his exile as well as an appraisal of his character and ideas. The book supplements the biographical record with a detailed account of Trotsky’s conflict with Stalin during the 1930s.

King, David. Trotsky: A Photographic Biography. New York: Blackwell, 1986. 214pp. King’s illustrated biography is chiefly useful for its photographic record with a serviceable, though rarely penetrating text.

Payne, Robert. The Life and Death of Trotsky. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1977. 498pp. Often superficial, Payne’s entertaining presentation of Trotsky’s life and times takes the form of a series of highly colored dramatic vignettes that illuminate the man, though offering few clues to locate the source of the man’s power or weaknesses.

Serge, Victor, and Natalia Sedova-Trotsky. The Life and Death of Leon Trotsky. New York: Basic Books, 1975. 296pp. The joint work of a committed supporter and Trotsky’s second wife is a partisan study of Trotsky’s career as a political leader and Marxist theoretician in which Trotsky and Le-nin’s dictatorial abuses are excused with only Sta-~~lin~~’s crimes censured, supplemented by intimate, personal recollections.

Van Heijenoort, Jan. With Trotsky in Exile. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1978. 164pp. Serving as Trotsky’s secretary, translator, and bodyguard during his exile, the author supplies his recollections of those years, based on notes he kept at the time. The book is a valuable corrective to other accounts of Trotsky’s final days. Warth, Robert D. Leon Trotsky. Boston: Twayne, 1977. 215pp. This is an incisive, detailed introductory study of the man and his ideas, appropriate for the student and general reader looking for a concise, reliable orientation.

Wistrich, Robert S. Trotsky: Fate of a Revolutionary. New York: Stein and Day, 1982. 235pp. This is a well-documented, full-length biography that offers a balanced assessment of the man and his times, with an emphasis on the reasons for Trotsky’s fall from power.

Wyndham, Francis and David King. Trotsky: A Documentary. New York: Praeger, 1972. 204pp. The authors add to this collection of pictures, photographs, and drawings chronicling Trotsky’s life from his childhood to his death with a brief, sympathetic prose profile mainly constructed out of Trotsky’s own words.

Biographical Novels

Wolfe, Bernard. Trotsky Dead. Los Angeles: Wollstonecraft, 1975. 372pp. The author, who served as one of Trotsky’s secretaries in Mexico, provides an accurate fictional account of Trotsky’s last days.

Fictional Portraits

Burgess, Anthony. The End of the World News. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1983. 388pp. Burgess’s inventive historical fantasy interweaves the events from the lives of Freud and Trotsky into a meditation on the greatest events of the twentieth century.

Elliott, John. Blood on the Snow. New York: St. Martin’s, 1977. 334pp. The early stages of the Russian Revolution are dramatized in the events of 1905 with appearances by Trotsky, Gorky, and Lenin.

Hanlon, Emily. Petersburg. New York: Putnam, 1988. 541pp. Weaving a fictional story around the events in Russia during 1905, the novel portrays Nicholas II, Gorky, Trotsky, and other historical figures.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Archer, Jules. Trotsky: World Revolutionary. New York: J.Messner, 1973. 191pp. MG/YA. Archer presents Trotsky with both his strengths and faults and clarifies without oversimplifying the political circumstances of the Russian Revolution and its aftermath.

Garza, Hedda. Leon Trotsky. New York: Chelsea House, 1986. 112pp. MG/YA. This is a full-length, informative portrait that helps establish Trotsky’s historical significance, as well as his personal strengths and weaknesses.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Weiss, Peter. Trotsky in Exile. New York: Atheneum, 1972. 123pp. Weiss chronicles Trotsky’s last years and death in an often preachy drama.

The Assassination of Trotsky (1972). Director: Joseph Losey. Richard Burton portrays Trotsky in the days leading up to his murder. Alain Delon and Romy Schneider co-star. Video. Zina (1985). Director: Ken McMullen. This dark, cerebral film explores the psychological traumas experienced by Trotsky’s daughter (Domiziana Giordano). Philip Madoc portrays Trotsky.

See also Vladimir Lenin; Joseph Stalin

468. HARRYS TRUMAN

1884–1972

The thirty-third U.S. president, Truman was active in Kansas City politics before serving as vice president under Franklin D.Roosevelt. He became president upon Roosevelt’s death (1945). Truman accepted the German surrender, made the controversial decision to drop the atomic bomb on Japan to end the Pacific war, was involved in the establishment of the United Nations, instituted the Truman Doctrine and the Marshall Plan, and supported the establishment of NATO. His second term (1949–1953) was marked by the Korean conflict and the anti-Communist hysteria generated by Senator Joseph McCarthy.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Autobiography of Harry S.Truman. Robert H. Ferrell, ed. Boulder: Colorado Associated University Press, 1980. 153pp. Fragmentary reminiscences of Truman’s childhood, military service, and early political career written during several periods of his life are pieced together in a continuous narrative.

Memoirs. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1955–1956. 2 vols. Volume one covers Truman’s first year as president; volume two covers the remainder of the presidential years. Truman’s recollections have been called the most candid self-as-sessment of any former president in which his mind and character are frankly depicted in the story of these years as he saw them.

Off the Record: The Private Papers of Harry S. Truman. Robert H.Ferrell, ed. New York: Harper & Row, 1980. 448pp. Two-thirds of the book deal with Tuman’s presidency and include letters sent to family and friends, a diary, and several letters written in the heat of the moment but never sent. Ferrell’s text puts the writings in their historical context.

Where the Buck Stops: The Personal and Private Writings of Harry S.Truman. Margaret Truman, ed. New York: Warner Books, 1989. 388pp. This is a potpourri of anecdotes and opinions by Truman, chiefly about the presidency and occupants of the White House.

There are several valuable collections of Truman’s letters, including Letters from Father: The Truman Family’s Personal Correspondence. Margaret Truman, ed. (New York: Arbor House, 1981. 255pp.); Dear Bess: The Letters from Harry to Bess Truman, 1910–1959. Robert H.Ferrell, ed. (New York: W.W.Norton, 1983. 593pp.); and Letters Home. Monte M.Poen, ed. (New York: Putnam, 1984. 303pp.).

Recommended Biographies

Ferrell, Robert H. Harry S. Truman: A Life. Columbia: University of Missouri Press, 1994. 501pp. Recognized as the leading scholarly expert on Truman, Ferrell has written an exhaustively researched reinterpretation of the life and political career that draws contrary conclusions to the accepted view on both. By exploiting little-known sources, Ferrell sheds considerable new light on many of the key episodes in Truman’s career.

Hamby, Alonzo L. Man of the People: A Life of Harry S. Truman. New York: Oxford University Press, 1995. 760pp. Hamby takes a psychological approach to penetrate the public image and reveal a more complex personality: insecure, ambitious, divided by conflicted ideological principles, and trapped by a changing cultural ethos. Hamby’s dispassionate, coherent portrait may lack the warmth and narrative grace of other Truman biographers, but his interpretation is credible and para-digm-changing.

Jenkins, Roy. Truman. New York: Harper & Row, 1986. 232pp. Written from the perspective of an experienced political leader, Jenkins’s is a well-done and insightful, admiring but not uncritical, short biography. Although based entirely on secondary sources, the book is a valuable synthesis that humanizes Truman and animates his challenges as a world leader.

McCullough, David. Truman. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1992. 1,117pp. Winner of the Pulitzer Prize, McCullough’s masterful narrative biography is both well researched and a highly entertaining, absorbing examination of the values that shaped Truman and those he showed throughout his career. The book has been legitimately hailed as a classic presidential biography.

Miller, Richard L. Truman: The Rise to Power. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1986. 536pp. Devoted exclusively to Truman’s prepresidential political career, this is a challenging, well-documented, and well-argued reinterpretation that contradicts the conventional wisdom about Truman’s political naivete. Miller documents Truman’s accommoda-tions with the strategies and tactics of Kansas City’s Pendergast machine and his treading a fine line between principles and corruption.

Other Biographical Studies

Daniels, Jonathan. The Man from Independence. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1950. 384pp. The best of the early biographies, Daniels’s assessment is highly adulatory but filled with realistic details on Truman’s background, family, and development, gained from interviews with Truman and his associates.

Dayton, Eldorous L. Give ‘Em Hell Harry: An Informal Biography of the Terrible Tempered Mr. T. New York: Devin-Adair, 1956. 250pp. Not to be trusted in its details, gossipy, and hostile, Dayton’s hack job trades on its “no-holds barred” approach, but the effect is an undocumented character assassination.

Donovan, Robert J. Conflict and Crisis, the Presidency of Harry S. Truman, 1945–1948. New York: W.W.Norton, 1977. 473pp.; Tumultuous Years: The Presidency of Harry S. Truman, 1949–1953. New York: W.W.Norton, 1982. 444pp. A detailed, chronological account of the Truman presidency, Donovan’s study is a must for a close look at Tru-man’s leadership and decision making. Donovan shows no evident bias, allowing the reader to assess Truman’s presidency based on the record that the books ably supply.

Ferrell, Robert H. Harry S. Truman and the Modern American Presidency. Boston: Little, Brown, 1983. 220pp. Ferrell’s preliminary study of Tru-man’s political career from his first elected post to his retirement is a brief selective survey emphasizing Truman’s leadership qualities. The book falls short as a critically balanced, thorough, concise summary.

Gosnell, Harold F. Truman’s Crises: A Political Biography of Harry S. Truman. Westport, Connecticut: Greenwood, 1980. 656pp. Gosnell challenges the notion of Truman’s “accidental” genius, depicting instead a thoughtful political leader. Thoroughly researched from primary sources, this is a detailed examination of Truman’s deci-sion-making processes, relationships with admin-istrators and legislators, and use of the media in a balanced view of his political career.

Helm, William P. Harry Truman: A Political Biography. New York: Duell, Sloan and Pearce, 1947. 241pp. This early political profile covers Truman’s career from his first senate nomination in 1934 to his succession to the presidency, written by a friend “with the President’s knowledge, consent, and co-operation.” Helm manages a candid portrait of a practical politician rather than a celebration of the farm boy’s rise to success.

McCoy, Donald R. The Presidency of Harry S. Truman. Lawrence, Kansas: University Press of Kansas, 1984. 351pp. A highly regarded factual survey of the Truman presidency, McCoy’s is a balanced view, avoiding either revisionist debunking or excessive praise. The biographical details are first rate.

Miller, Merle. Plain Speaking: An Oral Biography of Harry S. Truman. New York: Putnam, 1974. 448pp. Based on a series of extensive interviews with the former president in the early 1960s, supplemented by oral testimony from eyewitnesses at various stages of Truman’s career, Miller’s is a highly entertaining presentation in which the man is honestly displayed. However, Miller is rarely probing in his questions and his commentary can be annoying and intrusive.

Pemberton, William E. Harry S. Truman: Fair Dealer and Cold Warrior. Boston: Twayne, 1989. 227pp. Pemberton’s is a sensible biographical profile and assessment of the Truman presidency. A model of lucid succinctness, this is an excellent choice for the reader looking for a brief interpretive overview of the man and his effectiveness as a leader.

Robbins, Charles. Last of His Kind: An Informal Portrait of Harry S. Truman. New York: Morrow, 1979. 159pp. Based on interviews with Truman in 1953, supplemented by archival material, such as Truman’s autobiographical notes, and the reflections of others, Robbins’s is an affectionate, rarely critical, oral portrait.

Robbins, Jhan. Bess & Harry: An American Love Story. New York: Putnam, 1980. 194pp. This is an uncritical tribute to the Trumans’s relationship, based on secondary sources.

Steinberg, Alfred. The Man from Missouri: The Life and Times of Harry S. Truman. New York: Putnam, 1962. 447pp. With a look at Truman’s forebears, Steinberg admiringly narrates the Mis-sourian’s life and career up to his political retirement. Best on the pre-Washington years of Tru-man’s early family life and World War I combat service.

Truman, Margaret. Harry S. Truman. New York: Morrow, 1972. 602pp. Truman is described through the loving and loyal eyes of his daughter. Despite a lack of critical objectivity, the book provides a series of intimate glimpses of Truman, the family man, his temperament, and private side.

Fictional Portraits

Maxwell, A.E. Steal the Sun. New York: Richard Marek, 1981. 288pp. This historical thriller concerns the events leading up to the first atomic bomb tests and Truman’s decision to use the bomb to help end World War II.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Feinberg, Barbara S. Harry S. Truman. New York: F.Watts, 1994. 144pp. YA. Based on contemporary accounts, Truman’s writings, and recent analysis of the Truman administration, Feinberg supplies a balanced, insightful portrait of the man and his career that is considerably more sophisticated in its presentation than is usual in books for younger readers.

Fleming, Thomas. Harry S. Truman, President. New York: Walker, 1993. 136pp. MG. This is a lively, informative biography, chiefly focused on Truman’s presidency and the issues he had to face.

Leavell, J.Perry. Harry S. Truman. New York: Chelsea House, 1988. 111pp. MG. Workmanlike and informative, this is a solid choice for an introduction to the man and his career.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: Harry S. Truman (1994). Director: Deidre O’Hearn. This documentary portrait features archival footage and comments by a variety of witnesses of Truman’s career and assessments of the man and his legacy. Video.

Day One (1989). Director: Joseph Sargent. The race to build the atom bomb and the decision to use it is dramatized in this television film with Richard Dysart as Truman, Brian Dennehy as General Leslie Groves, and David Strathairn as J.Robert Oppenheimer. Video.

Give ‘Em Hell, Harry! (1975). Director: Steve Binder. James Whitmore stars in a film version of his one-man show as Truman who narrates events in his life as well as his strong opinions. Video.

Harry S. Truman (1962). Director: Jack Haley Jr. This is a film profile covering Truman’s political career using archival footage. Video.

Hiroshima (1995). Director: Roger Spottiswoode. This innovative, semidocumentary drama of the events leading up to the dropping of the atom bomb mixes re-creation of scenes with newsreels and archival material. The drama focuses on Truman (Kenneth Welsh), with Jeffrey DeMunn as Oppenheimer. Video.

Truman (1995). Director: Frank Pierson. Based on David McCullough’s book, this biographical portrait follows Truman’s life from 1917 to 1968, starring Gary Sinise in the title role and Diana Scarwid as Bess Truman. Video.

Truman (1997). Producer: David Grubin. This impressive installment of the American Experience series supplies a full film portrait of Truman’s life, with commentary by his contemporaries and historians. Video.

Other Sources

Kirkendall, Richard S., ed. The Harry S.Truman Encyclopedia. Boston: G.K.Hall, 1989. 404pp. A collection of alphabetically arranged biographical and topical articles by a number of scholars and specialists covering various aspects of the man, his associates, and his political career.

See also Franklin D.Roosevelt

469. SOJOURNER TRUTH

1797–1883

An American abolitionist and a former slave, Truth left domestic employment in New York to preach emancipation and women’s rights. Although she remained illiterate, she was a highly compelling speaker. After the Civil War she worked to resettle freed slaves.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Narrative of Sojourner Truth. As told to Olive Gilbert. 1850. Reprint ed. New York: Penguin, 1998. 352pp. Truth was illiterate, and this “as-told-to” autobiography is the principal documentary record of her life. Gilbert standardized Truth’s dialectal speech and was at times an unsympathetic witness to her life story, but Truth’s personality and oratorical skills are still evident in this important record of slavery and the years immediately following emancipation.

Recommended Biographies

Mabee, Carleton, and Susan Mabee Newhouse. Sojourner Truth—Slave, Prophet, Legend. New York: New York University Press, 1993. 293pp. Uncovering neglected sources, the book provides valuable new insights on Truth’s life and the origin and credibility of many of the legends that have surrounded her. This is the first biography that has attempted to discover the best available sources about Truth’s life and to remain close to those sources in telling her story.

Painter, Nell Irvin. Sojourner Truth: A Life, a Symbol. New York: W.W.Norton, 1996. 370pp. Painter’s is a sophisticated untangling of the various levels of myth, self-invention, and distortion surrounding Truth, revealing a much more complex and compelling figure than in any previous biography. The book traces how Truth emerged from slavery fashioning new identities to serve her independent life and how her life has been subsumed by her symbolic significance for blacks and women.

Other Biographical Studies

Bernard, Jacqueline. Journey Toward Freedom: The Story of Sojourner Truth. 1967. Reprint ed. New York: Feminist Press, 1990. 267pp. Originally written for young adult readers, Bernard’s recounting of Truth’s life can serve the general adult reader as well. Blending primary source material and some fictionalization, Bernard’s narrative is generally accurate and highly engaging, aided by created dialogue and interior monologues, at some cost, however, to the book’s overall reliability.

Fauset, Arthur H. Sojourner Truth: God’s Faithful Pilgrim. 1938. Reprint ed. New York: Russell and Russell, 1971. 187pp. In a modern retelling of Truth’s autobiography, Fauset embellishes with background material and speculation concerning Truth’s thoughts and feelings while observing the essential facts as she recalled them.

Pauli, Hertha. Her Name Was Sojourner Truth. New York: Avon, 1962. 250pp. A somewhat disjointed blend of scholarship and fictionalization, Pauli seems unclear about her audience and intention. The book submits some of the legends surrounding Truth to the test of fact, while creating others through speculative leaps.

Stetson, Erlene, and Linda David. Glorying in Tribulation: The Lifework of Sojourner Truth. East Lansing: Michigan State University Press, 1994. 242pp. The authors carefully examine all the evidence surrounding Truth’s life and helpfully analyze the perspective of Truth herself, her supporters, and opponents who have fashioned our view of the person and her significance.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Krass, Peter. Sojourner Truth. New York: Chelsea House, 1988. 110pp. MG/YA. Krass provides a thoughtful and informative account of Truth’s life and achievement.

McKissack, Patricia, and Frederick L.McKissack. Sojourner Truth: Ain’t I a Woman? New York: Scholastic, 1993. 178pp. MG. The authors supply an informative narrative describing the principle events of Truth’s life, brief biographical sketches of the many people she knew and worked with, and the conditions for African Americans and women during her lifetime.

Whalin, Terry. Sojourner Truth: American Abolitionist. New York: Chelsea House, 1999. 201pp. MG/YA. This a detailed and comprehensive treatment of Truth’s life in the wider context of her times. Serves both as a fine biographical profile and history.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Sojourner Truth: “Ain’t I a Woman?” (1989). Director: Judy Chaiken. A dramatization in her own words and from those who knew her, including Frederick Douglass, Harriet Beecher Stowe, and Abraham Lincoln. Performances by Valeria Parker, Julie Harris, Roscoe Lee Browne, Rose Marie Perfect, and James Gosa. Video.

Sojourner Truth: Antislavery Activist (1992). Director: Rhonda Fabian. Adapted from the book by Peter Krass, this is a film profile that looks at Truth’s life and work in the wider historical and cultural background. Video.

470. HARRIET TUBMAN

1826–1913

American abolitionist and escaped slave, Tubman became one of the most successful “conductors” on the Underground Railroad. Nicknamed “Moses,” she helped more than 300 slaves to freedom. During the Civil War, she was a nurse, laundress, scout, and spy for the Union forces.

Recommended Biographies

Conrad, Earl. Harriet Tubman. Washington, DC: Associated Publishers, 1943. 248pp. Conrad’s life remains the standard biographical source, based on a careful gathering of documentary evidence that helpfully separates the actual woman from her considerable legend.

Other Biographical Studies

Bradford, Sarah H. Scenes in the Life of Harriet Tubman. 1869. Revised as Harriet: The Moses of Her People. New York: Lockwood, 1886. 149pp. Bradford’s was the first biographical profile of Tubman, written to gain funds to help her pay for her farm and based on Tubman’s own account. The revision is an expanded version supplemented by recollections of Tubman’s friends and family.

Franklin, John Hope. “Harriet Tubman” in Notable American Women. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1971. vol. 3. Franklin provides an extensive biographical profile that is reliable, relating her activities to the historical context.

Biographical Novels

Heidish, Marcy M. A Woman Called Moses. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1976. 308pp. Tubman narrates her own story in this fictional memoir based on facts but with some imaginative embellishment of her early years.

Fictional Portraits

Olds, Bruce. Raising Holy Hell. New York: Holt, 1995. 335pp. Abolitionist John Brown is captured from a variety of perspectives, including Tubman’s.

Parrish, Anne. A Clouded Star. New York: Harper, 1948. 242pp. The novel, based on the recollections of a participant, recreates a journey north by a group of fugitive slaves led by Tubman.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

McClard, Megan. Harriet Tubman: Slavery and the Underground Railroad. Englewood Cliffs,

New Jersey: Silver Burdett, 1991. YA. 247pp. An installment of the History of the Civil War series, this informative biography places Tubman’s abolitionist activities in their wider historical and cultural context.

Petry, Ann. Harriet Tubman: Conductor on the Underground Railroad. New York: Crowell, 1955. 247pp. MG. Considered a classic fictional biography for young people, Petry’s is a vivid narrative that underscores Tubman’s courage and challenges in conducting slaves to freedom.

Taylor, M.W. Harriet Tubman: Antislavery Activist. New York: Chelsea House, 1991. 111pp. MG/YA. This is a substantial portrait of Tubman that goes beyond the usual details of her role as a leader of the Underground Railroad to look at her activities in a wider historical context.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Harriet Tubman: Antislavery Activist (1992). Director: Rhonda Fabian. Adapted from M.W.Tay-lor’s biography, Tubman’s role before, during, and after the Civil War is depicted. Video.

A Woman Called Moses (1979). Director: Paul Wendkos. Based on Marcy Heidish’s novel, Cicely Tyson portrays Tubman in this made-for-television film. Video.

471. IVAN TURGENEV

1818–1883

Russian novelist, dramatist, and short-story writer, Turgenev is one of the foremost figures of Russian literature. His first success was “Khor and Kalinch,” a story of peasant life later included in the collection, A Sportsman’s Sketches (1852). The book, which attacks serfdom, is thought to have influenced Alexander II to emancipate the serfs. Among Turgenev’s other works are the play A Month in the Country (1850), the novel Fathers and Sons (1862), considered his masterpiece, and the short story “First Love” (1870).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Letters. David Lowe, ed. Ann Arbor, Michigan: Ardis, 1983. 2 vols. Reproducing 334 of the author’s more than 6,000 extant letters, this collection has been selected to provide a picture of the man and the artist from 1831 until his death. A one-vol-ume selection of 236 letters is also available in Turgenev’s Letters. A.V.Knowles, ed. (New York: Scribner, 1983. 299pp.), geared to reveal Turgenev’s biography.

Recommended Biographies

Magarshack, David. Turgenev: A Life. New York: Grove Press, 1954. 328pp. Magarshack’s interpretive biography is more thematically arranged than strictly chronological. The book draws sensible conclusions based on a careful sifting of the record. This is probably not the best first book to read on Turgenev, but it does offer sound and original views of its subject.

Schapiro, Leonard. Turgenev: His Life and Times. New York: Random House, 1978. 382pp. Drawing on extensive and previously untapped primary sources, Schapiro’s is a detailed chronological life that animates a human Turgenev based on his own words and the view of those who knew him.

Yarmolinsky, Avrahm. Turgenev: The Man, His Art and His Age. 1926. Revised ed. New York: Collier, 1961. 384pp. The author’s Russian sources and his attempt to place Turgenev clearly in his historical and cultural contexts make this a still-valuable biographical and critical study.

Other Biographical Studies

Lloyd, John A.T. Ivan Turgenev. 1942. Reprint ed. Port Washington, New York: Kennikat Press, 1972. 227pp. Lloyd’s biographical profile depends mainly on Turgenev’s works to help clarify aspects of his background and personality. Such an approach is fraught with errors and omissions, and Lloyd’s study has been superseded by more comprehensive and well-documented biographies.

Pritchett, V.S. The Gentle Barbarian: The Life and Work of Turgenev. New York: Random House, 1977. 243pp. Based mainly on secondary sources, Pritchett presents a lively account of the writer’s life and works for the general reader that is particularly strong on Turgenev’s writing techniques.

Troyat, Henri. Turgenev. New York: Dutton, 1988. 184pp. Troyat’s is an enjoyable, often vivid, biographical portrait that will appeal primarily to the general reader looking for a succinct, fast-paced treatment that sympathetically displays a credible human figure.

472. J.M.W.TURNER

1775–1851

English painter Joseph Mallard William Turner is considered one of the foremost English romantic painters and among the most original of the landscape artists. His work is famous for its richness of light and atmosphere and includes Sun Rising through Vapor (1807), The Fighting Téméraire (1839), and Rain, Steam, and Speed: The Great Western Railway (1844).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Collected Correspondence of J.M.W.Turner with an Early Diary and a Memoir by George Jones. John Gage, ed. New York: Oxford University Press, 1980. 315pp. Although little of Turner’s correspondence has survived, this scholarly edition of his extant letters is supplemented by a personal recollection by his friend and fellow artist George Jones and the “Diary of a Tour in Wales in 1792,” which has been shown not to be the work of Turner.

Recommended Biographies

Bailey, Anthony. Standing in the Sun: A Life of J.M.W.Turner. New York: HarperCollins, 1998. 478pp. In a thorough, balanced assessment of the artist, Bailey sheds considerable new light on the highly secretive Turner based on extensive primary and secondary sources. Not the hero of previous treatments, Bailey’s Turner is a complex mixture of character traits, fully illuminated in his social and cultural setting.

Finberg, A.J. The Life of J.M.W.Turner, R.A. 1939. Revised ed. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1961. 543pp. Regarded as the standard, factual life, Finberg’s “chronicle-biography” is a meticulously researched, almost daily account of the painter’s life based on a close examination of the painter’s sketchbooks and notebooks that form a diary kept between his fourteenth and seventy-first years. To be consulted rather than enjoyed as a compelling narrative.

Gage, John. J.M.W.Turner: A Wonderful Range of Mind. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1991. 262pp. Organized thematically rather than chronologically, Gage’s study is a sophisticated general introduction to both the artist and his works, particularly valuable in presenting the intellectual and artistic milieu of Turner’s times.

Hamilton, James. Turner: A Life. London: Hodder & Stoughton, 1997. 363pp. Hamilton’s is a solid, scholarly review of Turner’s life and work that synthesizes modern scholarship and makes rich use of contemporary memoirs of the painter. Hamilton joins the artist’s public and private sides into a coherent human whole.

Other Biographical Studies

Hamerton, Philip G. The Life of J.M.W.Turner, R.A. Boston: Roberts, 1882. 404pp. More factually reliable than Thornbury, Hamerton’s critical biography repeats many of the unsubstantiated anecdotes in the earlier book, but still serves a historical purpose reflecting Turner’s reputation by a sensitive and insightful Victorian artist and critic.

Lindsay, Jack. J.M.W.Turner: His Life and Work: A Critical Biography. Greenwich, Connecticut: New York Graphic Society, 1966. 275pp. Lindsay attempts to assemble a coherent portrait of the man and the artist seen through a Freudian and Marxist lens. The book emphasizes Turner’s inner life as revealed in his writings and paintings, in the context of Romanticism.

Reynolds, Graham. Turner. New York: Abrams, 1969. 216pp. Reynolds’s critical biography is a sensible and informed introduction that gives an overview of Turner’s artistic methods and techniques, the influences on his work, his artistic circle, and personality.

Thornbury, Walter. The Life of J.M.W.Turner, R.A., Founded on Letters and Papers Furnished by His Friends and Fellow Academicians. 1862. Revised ed. New York: Holt, 1877. 636pp. Although discursive and error-filled, this earliest biography does include a number of firsthand observations of the painter’s friends and associates as well as excerpts from Turner’s correspondence that have survived only in Thornbury’s transcriptions.

Wilton, Andrew. J.M.W.Turner: His Art and Life. New York: Rizzoli, 1979. 527pp. Supplementing a catalog of Turner’s paintings and watercolors, Wilton supplies an extensive critical survey of the painter’s life and works addressed to a more scholarly audience than his later book, Turner in His Time.

Wilton, Andrew. Turner in His Time. New York: Abrams, 1987. 256pp. Wilton covers the essential facts of Turner’s life relying as much as possible on the painter’s own words and those of his contemporaries. The book serves as an excellent introductory study for the general reader.

Biographical Novels

Noonan, Michael. The Sun Is God. New York: Delacorte, 1973. 217pp. Noonan’s fictional biography emphasizes the gap between the artist’s public and private life. The external events are factual, but they are joined with invention based on interpretive leaps.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Kenner, Robert. J.M.W. Turner. New York: Abrams, 1995. 92pp. MG. Part of the respected First Impressions series, this is a lucid study of Turner’s life and work that captures his achievement and impact on later artists.

473. MARK TWAIN

1835–1910

American author and humorist originally named Samuel Langhorne Clemens, Twain worked for a time as a riverboat pilot and took his pseudonym from the river call marking a water depth of two fathoms. While working as a journalist, he first won fame with his comic story, “The Celebrated Jumping Frog of Calaveras County” (1865). His novel, The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn (1884), is a masterpiece that influenced many subsequent American writers. Among Twain’s other works are Innocents Abroad (1869), The Adventures of Tom Sawyer (1876) and The Prince and the Pauper (1882).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Autobiography of Mark Twain. Charles Neider, ed. New York: Harperperennial, 1990. 432pp. Twain’s collection of anecdotes ranges over his entire life and is an essential biographical source, though critics have long debated the degree of invention represented here.

Mark Twain’s Notebooks and Journals. Frederick Anderson, et al., eds. Berkeley: University of California Press, 1975–1979. 3 vols. Twain’s notebooks and journals are essential for the scholar, though mainly cryptic and impenetrable for the general reader.

The Selected Letters of Mark Twain. Charles Neider, ed. New York: Harper & Row, 1982. 328pp. This selection of Twain’s letters spans his life from the age of 18 to a few months before his death and shows his development into a comic writer and satirist. It does not include his courtship letters or passages revealing aspects of Twain’s character that the editor found objectionable.

Recommended Biographies

Emerson, Everett. The Authentic Mark Twain: A Literary Biography of Samuel L. Clemens. Philadelphia: University of Pennsylvania Press, 1984. 330pp. Emerson supplies a biographical overview of Twain’s literary career based on recent scholarship. In the author’s view Twain’s career went into a steady decline following Huckleberry Finn as the novelist drifted further and further from his “authentic” self. In Mark Twain: A Literary Life (Philadelphia: University of Pennsylvania Press, 1999. 344pp.) Emerson sticks close to the works themselves to reveal the man in a well-researched, informative, and sensible assessment that allows Twain to tell his own story as much as possible.

Ferguson, J. de Lancey. Mark Twain: Man and Legend. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill, 1943. 352pp. Although focusing exclusively on Twain’s literary career, Ferguson’s study is well regarded as an overview in which the author attempts to trace “the forces which made him a writer, to tell how he wrote his books and why he wrote them as he did,” relying on Twain’s own words to tell his story.

Hoffman, Andrew. Inventing Mark Twain: The Lives of Samuel Langhorne Clemens. New York: Morrow, 1997. 572pp. Hoffman provocatively examines the relationship between the man and his persona, suggesting that the public figure we identify as Mark Twain hid an insecure, brooding figure who could be a reactionary and a racist. The book’s psychological insight is challenging and helpful in replacing a simple view of the man with a much more complex one.

Kaplan, Justin. Mr. Clemens and Mark Twain: A Biography. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1966. 424pp. Kaplan’s Pulitzer Prize-winning biography is highly detailed and well written. Beginning in 1866 when Twain was 31, Kaplan chronicles the writer’s maturity, tracing the split between the man and his mask, between the social satirist and the Gilded Age success hunter. Sophisticated and provocative in its interpretation, Kaplan’s is a justifiably admired literary biography.

Lauber, John. The Inventions of Mark Twain. New York: Hill & Wang, 1990. 340pp. Lauber’s lively, accessible survey of Twain’s life and career looks at the man and his work against his social and cultural background. Twain is seen as an Edison-like inventor, not the divided artist, but a man very much tapping into the spirit of the age.

Sanborn, Margaret. Mark Twain: The Bachelor Years. New York: Doubleday, 1990. 508pp. Sanborn’s study of Twain’s early life is the ideal complement to Kaplan’s account of the mature writer. Readable and vivid, the book relies heavily on archival sources and is very helpful in sorting through the discrepancies between the facts and Twain’s own version of his past.

Wagenknecht, Edward. Mark Twain: The Man and His Work. 1935. Revised ed. Norman: University of Oklahoma Press, 1967. 272pp. This is a fair, sensible interpretive biography that finds a middle ground between Brooks’s tragic portrait and De Veto’s comic celebration of Twain’s genius and achievement. Wagenknecht’s moderate approach makes this one of the most reliable critical biographies and is recommended for the reader looking for a coherent overview of Twain’s entire career.

Other Biographical Studies

Benson, Ivan. Mark Twain’s Western Years. Stanford, California: Stanford University Press, 1938. 218pp. This is an extensive study of Twain’s life during the years 1861 to 1866, when he lived in Nevada and California. Benson’s account is regarded as the standard source on the beginnings and early development of Twain’s writing career.

Brashear, Minnie. Mark Twain: Son of Missouri. Chapel Hill: University of North Carolina Press, 1934. 294pp. This critical study of Twain’s early years deepens an appreciation for the cultural setting of Hannibal and its impact on the writer’s development. Brashear counters the notion that Twain was a natural talent blooming in the wilderness, suggesting instead his systematic development by absorbing European cultural models as well as vernacular ones.

Brooks, Van Wyck. The Ordeal of Mark Twain. 1920. New York: Dutton, 1933. 325pp. Brooks’s groundbreaking psychological assessment of Twain’s character and career helped form the pattern for viewing the author that has dominated the subsequent biographical and critical debate. As Brooks explains, “The main idea in the book is that Mark Twain’s career was a tragedy—a tragedy for himself and a tragedy for mankind.” In his view, Twain was damaged by events of his childhood and ruined by respectability, resulting in a division between the comic performer and the pessimist.

Budd, Louis J. Our Mark Twain: The Making of His Public Personality. Philadelphia: University of Pennsylvania Press, 1983. 266pp. Supplementing the several literary biographies, Budd approaches Twain from the perspective of his public career as lecturer, newspaperman, humorist, businessman, and social commentator. Budd shows how Twain carefully crafted his public persona and was in turn shaped by his public image.

DeVoto, Bernard. Mark Twain’s America. Boston: Little, Brown, 1932. 353pp. DeVoto challenges Brooks’s argument that Twain was a frustrated, limited writer, asserting his achievement as a frontier humorist who opened up American life for literature. The book concentrates on Twain’s early life and development to celebrate his unique gift for vernacular realism.

Gabrilowitsch, Clara Clemens. My Father, Mark Twain. 1931. Reprint ed. New York: AMS Press, 1976. 292pp. Twain’s daughter offers her memories of her father as his family knew him, based in part on private letters not previously published.

Harris, Susan K. The Courtship of Olivia Langdon and Mark Twain. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1996. 202pp. Harris presents a challenging, revisionist interpretation of Twain’s much debated relationship with his wife, based on diaries and letters. Olivia Langdon Clemens is revealed as a vibrant, intellectual figure who challenged her husband in important ways.

Hill, Hamlin. Mark Twain: God’s Fool. New York: Harper, 1973. 308pp. Hill’s detailed treatment of Twain’s last decade is a sobering, unflattering portrait of the disintegration of his family and talent. Based largely on notebooks kept by Twain’s secretary, Hill’s examination offers a very different view of Twain’s happy family life established by Paine.

Howells, William Dean. My Mark Twain: Reminiscences and Criticisms. New York: Harper, 1910. 189pp. Novelist Howells’s friendship with Twain extended for more than 45 years, and his reminiscences include a number of intimate, generous, and affectionate glimpses. The second half of the book reprints criticism of Twain’s works that previously appeared in the Atlantic Monthly.

Kaplan, Justin. Mark Twain and His World. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1974. 224pp. This illustrated biography allows Kaplan to comment briefly on Twain’s entire life, particularly his early years and formative influences excluded from his Pulitzer Prize-winning biography. Highly rated as an introduction for the general reader.

Lauber, John. The Making of Mark Twain: A Biography. New York: American Heritage Press, 1985. 298pp. Covering much the same ground that Sanborn does in more detail, Lauber treats Twain’s formative years up to 1870 and helpfully separates the various legends, inventions, and facts surrounding Twain’s early life.

Lennon, Nigey. The Sagebrush Bohemian: Mark Twain in California. New York: Paragon House, 1991. 203pp. Focusing on Twain’s life during the 1860s, this is a lighthearted, anecdotal chronicle by an unapologetic partisan. Entertaining rather than penetrative or original, the book occasionally indulges in a number of questionable speculations but maintains its interest with the richness of the material presented from Twain’s early journalism.

MacNaughton, William R. Mark Twain’s Last Years as a Writer. Columbia: University of Missouri Press, 1979. 254pp. The author’s carefully researched study of Twain’s final decade challenges the view argued by Brooks and Hill of the author’s artistic failure brought on by personal despair. In MacNaughton’s view, Twain’s later work has been undervalued, his personal distress overstated, and the period rather than being atypical was a logical continuation of long-established patterns.

Meltzer, Milton. Mark Twain Himself: A Pictorial Biography. New York: Crowell, 1960. 303pp. This is a fascinating selection of photographs, drawings, and cartoons with a text composed mainly of selections from Twain’s autobiography, letters, speeches, notebooks, journalistic pieces, and fiction.

Paine, Albert B. Mark Twain: A Biography: The Personal and Literary Life of Samuel Langhorne Clemens. 1912. Reprint ed. New York: Chelsea House, 1980. 3 vols. Paine, the authorized biographer and one of the literary executors of the writer, crafted this monumental biography, which long served as the standard source and began the debate over Twain’s character and career. The author’s unequalled access to Twain and his papers gives his study its importance, while the lack of critical objectivity and slighting of Twain’s literary career are drawbacks. An abridged version of Paine’s multivolume work is available as A Short Life of Mark Twain (New York: Harper, 1920. 343pp.).

Powers, Ron. Dangerous Water: A Biography of the Boy Who Became Mark Twain. New York: Basic Books, 1999. 328pp. Written by a native of Hannibal, Missouri, Powers, a Pulitzer Prize-winning author, provides a considerably darker view of Twain’s early life up to 1858, emphasizing the author’s tragic background. Although it assumes prior knowledge of Twain’s career and work, the book is an illuminating exploration of Twain’s psyche and family and cultural influences.

Steinbrink, Jeffrey. Getting to Be Mark Twain. Berkeley: University of California Press, 1991. 221pp. This biographical portrait covers the years 1867 to 1871, from Twain’s move east to his completion of Roughing It, focusing on the writer’s relationship with his wife and father-in-law and arguing that these were the pivotal years in defining the writer. Steinbrink allows Twain to speak for himself through excerpts from his letters.

Wecter, Dixon. Sam Clemens of Hannibal. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1952. 335pp. Wecter did not live to complete a planned multivolume biography, taking Twain’s story only up to his eighteenth year and Twain’s departure from Hannibal in 1853. As one of Twain’s literary executors, Wecter had unprecedented access to unpublished Twain papers and his portrait of the writer’s formative years is still one of the most thorough and authoritative available.

Willis, Resa. Mark and Livy: The Love Story of Mark Twain and the Woman Who Almost Tamed Him. New York: Atheneum, 1992. 334pp. Focusing on Twain’s domestic life, Willis insightfully examines the role of his wife as a personal influence and editor of his work, as well as Twain’s important relationship with his children.

Biographical Novels

Hauser, Thomas. Mark Twain Remembers. New York: Barricuda Books, 1999. 207pp. Set in 1910, Mark Twain on his deathbed reflects back on a six-week period in 1856 when he was 20 years old. Mingling Twain’s own words with invention, the novel offers a version of the future novelist’s coming-of-age experience in his encounter with slavery.

Fictional Portraits

Appel, Allen. Twice Upon a Time. New York: Carroll & Graf, 1988. 351pp. In this amusing time travel fantasy, a historian is transported back to 1876 to discuss Twain’s work with the author while attempting to stop Custer’s Last Stand from happening.

Brock, Darryl. If I Never Get Back. New York: Crown, 1990. 424pp. A modern journalist is transported back in time to 1869 to join the Cincinnati Red Stockings for their legendary 64–0 season, “inventing” the bunt, hot dog, and Cracker Jack and getting a tour of New York by Mark Twain.

Carkeet, David. I Been There Before. New York: Harper & Row, 1985. 314pp. Twain is resurrected to return to his old haunts in contemporary Carson City, Nevada, and elsewhere in this inventive novel that animates the writer’s spirit, humor, and voice.

Heck, Peter J. Death on the Mississippi. New York: Berkley, 1995. 290pp.; A Connecticut Yankee in Criminal Court. New York: Berkley, 1996. 311 pp.; The Prince and the Prosecutor. New York: Berkley, 1997. 336pp. Heck’s amusing series of period mysteries, based loosely on details from Twain’s life, employs the famous writer as a sleuth.

Oates, Joyce Carol. A Bloodsmoor Romance. New York: Dutton, 1982. 615pp. The remarkable Zinn daughters are the subject of this modernist romance, which the author describes as “the other side of Little Women.” One becomes the mistress of Mark Twain.

Vidal, Gore. 1876. New York: Random House, 1976. 364pp. Twain is one of several historical figures appearing in the novel’s social portrait of the Gilded Age.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Cox, Clinton. Mark Twain: America’s Humorist, Dreamer, Prophet. New York: Scholastic, 1995. 234pp. MG. This is a sophisticated presentation of Twain’s life and ideas that emphasizes his evolving views on race and personal freedom, including archival photographs and extensive quotes from Twain’s writing.

Lyttle, Richard B. Mark Twain-The Man and His Adventures. New York: Atheneum, 1994. 230pp. MG/YA. This is the most detailed account of Twain’s life available for younger readers, enlivened by many quotes from the author and illustrations.

Meltzer, Milton. Mark Twain: A Writer’s Life. New York: F.Watts, 1985. 120pp. MG/YA. Meltzer’s informative survey of Twain’s life is a readable account with good integration of background information. Older readers may prefer the author’s Mark Twain Himself: A Pictorial Biography.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: Mark Twain: His Amazing Adventures (1995). Producer: Noah Horowitz. A film profile of Twain’s life from boyhood, with archival photographs, interviews with biographers and critics, and excerpts from his writings. Video.

The Adventures of Mark Twain (1944). Director: Irving Rapper. Fredric March is convincing as Twain from his years on the Mississippi, out west, and as a celebrated literary figure. Alexis Smith portrays Twain’s wife. Video.

The Innocents Abroad (1983). Director: Luciano Salce. This PBS adaptation of Twain’s book has Craig Wasson as the writer and a strong ensemble cast, including Brooke Adams and David Ogden Stiers. Video.

Mark Twain, American Writer, 1835–1910 (1993). Director: Malcolm Hossick. Twain’s life and literary career is documented using photographs and footage of places associated with the author. Video.

Mark Twain and Me (1991). Director: Daniel Petrie. Jason Robards portrays the aging writer and presents his relationship with his daughter and her friend. With Talia Shire, Amy Stewart, and Chris Wiggins. Video.

Mark Twain’s America (1993). Director: Donald B.Hyatt. Period photographs chronicle Twain’s life and times. Video.

Mark Twain Tonight (1961). Director. Paul Bogart. Hal Holbrook's celebrated one-man show animates the man and his opinions. Video.

Other Sources

Horn, Jason G. Mark Twain: A Descriptive Guide to Biographical Sources. Lanhom, Maryland: Scarecrow Press, 1999. 144pp. An annotated bibliography of 250 biographical sources from the earliest known to current works.

Kaplan, Justin, ed. Mark Twain, a Profile. New York: Hill & Wang, 1967. 232pp. This is a useful compendium of views on the man and his works. LeMaster, J.R., and John D. Wilson, eds. The Mark Twain Encyclopedia. New York: Garland, 1993. 848pp. Alphabetically arranged entries cover topics related to Twain's life and times, with most of the author's novels, short stories, and other writing treated in separate articles, along with entries for characters and fictional locales, aspects of Twain's literary style, and views on social, political, and moral issues.

Rasmussen, R. Kent. Mark Twain A to Z: The Essential Reference to His Life and Writings. New York: Facts on File, 1995. 552pp. An alphabetical compilation of entries on various aspects of Twain's life and works, along with numerous photographs and a chronological chart listing personal and professional activities alongside major historical and literary events.

Robinson, Forrest G., ed. The Cambridge Companion to Mark Twain. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1995. 282pp. This book features cutting-edge critical essays from prominent Twain scholars on a wide variety of biographical and literary topics and includes a Twain chronology.

V

474. MARTIN VAN BUREN

1782–1862

The eighth U.S. president (1837–1841), Van Buren served in the Senate and as governor of New York. He was Andrew Jackson’s secretary of state and vice president before easily winning the presidency. Van Buren’s term in office was marked by the financial Panic of 1837, implementation of the independent treasury system, and attempts to con-ciliate differences with Great Britain arising out of the Caroline Affair (1837) and the Aroostook War (1839). Van Buren lost a second term to William Henry Harrison and failed in two later presidential bids. A Democrat, he nevertheless supported Abraham Lincoln at the outbreak of the Civil War.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Autobiography of Martin Van Buren. John C. Fitzpatrick. 1920. Reprint ed. New York: Da Capo Press, 1973. 2 vols. Van Buren’s memoirs are the major source of information on his early life up to 1834.

Recommended Biographies

Cole, Donald B. Martin Van Buren and the American Political System. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1984. 477pp. Cole focuses exclusively on Van Buren’s political career in a reliable and objective study that is particularly lucid on his prepresidential activities.

Niven, John. Martin Van Buren: The Romantic Age of American Politics. New York: Oxford University Press, 1983. 715pp. Niven’s meticulously researched and perceptive analysis of the man and his era makes this the leading Van Buren biography in its balanced assessment.

Other Biographical Studies

Alexander, Holmes. The American Talleyrand: The Career and Contemporaries of Martin Van Buren, Eighth President. 1935. Reprint ed. New York: Russell & Russell, 1968. 430pp. This is an unsympathetic profile of Van Buren, who is credited with originating many of the corrupt practices of American political life.

Curtis, James C. The Foxat Bay: Martin Van Buren and the Presidency. Lexington: University of Kentucky Press, 1970. 233pp. Prior to the publication of Wilson’s book, this was the standard source on Van Buren’s presidency, the first scholarly assessment of Van Buren’s overall performance as chief executive.

Lynch, Denis T. An Epoch and a Man: Martin Van Buren and His Times. 1929. Reprint ed. Millwood, New York: Kennikat Press, 1971. 2 vols. Combining biography with social and political history, this is an exhaustive account in which the man and his accomplishments get lost in the accumulated details.

Mushkat, Jerome, and Joseph G.Rayback. Martin Van Buren: Law, Politics, and the Shaping of Republican Ideology. DeKalb: Northern Illinois University Press, 1997. 261pp. Using a biographical approach, the authors provide a reassessment of the development of Van Buren’s political and legal ideas that challenges conventional wisdom with fresh insights.

Remini, Robert V. Martin Van Buren and the Making of the Democratic Party. New York: Columbia University Press, 1959. 271pp. Remini examines the contributions made by Van Buren to the formation of the Democratic party from 1821 to 1828, offering fresh details on Van Buren’s activities and a positive take on his personality and political principles.

Wilson, Major L. The Presidency of Martin Van Buren. Lawrence: University Press of Kansas, 1984. 252pp. Wilson’s analysis of the Van Buren presidency is one of the most thoughtful and accomplished books on the subject. Van Buren is depicted as a skillful leader who was occasionally indecisive and passive, but whose presidency was a qualified success.

Fictional Portraits

Chase-Riboud, Barbara. Echo of Lions. New York: Morrow, 1989. 416pp. The author’s dramatization of the Amistad case features characterizations of Van Buren and John Quincy Adams.

Gerson, Noel B. The Slender Reed. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1965. 394pp. This biographical novel on the life of James Knox Polk features a depiction of Van Buren.

Pesci, David. Amistad. New York: Marlowe, 1997. 240pp. Van Buren’s role in the controversy surrounding what should be done with the slaves aboard the Amistad is characterized in Pesci’s compelling account.

Vidal, Gore. Burr: A Novel. New York: Random House, 1973. 30pp. Told partly by Burr himself at the end of his life reflecting on the events of the American Revolution and the early years of the Republic, Vidal’s endlessly provocative, revisionist view, based on solid research, is at the expense of the other founders. Washington is shown as incompetent and Jefferson as a ruthless opportunist. Some of Vidal’s assertions, such as Burr being the father of Martin Van Buren, are more inventive than historically reliable.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Ellis, Rafaela. Martin Van Buren: 8th President of the United States. Ada, Oklahoma: Garrett, 1989. 120pp. MG. Ellis’s is a competent overview of Van Buren’s life, personality, and presidential career.

Hargrove, Jim. Martin Van Buren: Eighth President of the United States. Chicago: Childrens Press, 1987. 98pp. MG. Hargrove presents the major highlights of Van Buren’s life and career in a straightforward factual account.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Amistad (1997). Director: Steven Spielberg. Spielberg’s dramatization of the controversy surrounding the slave ship Amistad that reaches the Supreme Court features Nigel Hawthorne as an op-portunistic Van Buren mostly concerned with reelection in contrast with the noble, principled John Quincy Adams (Anthony Hopkins). Video.

475. VINCENT VAN GOGH

1853–1890

Dutch postimpressionist painter and one of his-tory’s most celebrated artists, Van Gogh lived and worked in Holland and France. Famous for his richly colored and textured still lifes, café scenes, and scenes from peasant life, Van Gogh’s works include The Potato Eaters (1885), Starry Night (1889), and an incomparable series of sunflowers. Plagued by attacks of dementia, he committed suicide.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Letters of Vincent Van Gogh. Ronald de Leeuw, ed. New York: Penguin, 1998. 509pp. The artist’s letters present a remarkable, moving record of Van Gogh’s life and self-assessment. This edition is based on the expanded four-volume Dutch edition of the letters and covers an 18-year period from 1872 to 1890.

Recommended Biographies

Callow, Philip. Vincent Van Gogh: A Life. Chicago: I.R.Deer, 1990. 295pp. In a highly readable narrative account, Callow explores the development of Van Gogh’s genius and his emergence as an artist based on recent scholarship. By placing the artist’s life in its historical context, the book traces how the artist struggled to find his vocation and self-expression in the cultural milieu of his day.

Sweetman, David. Van Gogh: His Life and Art. New York: Crown, 1990. 391pp. This is a sensible and sensitive, highly detailed account of Van Gogh’s life and career that strips away the en-crusted legends surrounding the artist to see him realistically against a solid social and artistic background.

Tralbaut, Marc Edo. Vincent Van Gogh. New York: Viking, 1969. 350pp. The founder and director of the International Van Gogh Archives has written the preeminent psychological biography. Connecting the letters and the works with a balanced assessment of the artist in an accomplished narrative, Tralbaut’s study remains one of the best available.

Other Biographical Studies

Barrielle, Jean-François. The Life and Work of Vincent van Gogh. Secaucus, New Jersey: Chartwell Books, 1984. 255pp. Combining biographical details with a critical assessment of Van Gogh’s artistic development and achievement, Barrielle’s is a sensitive, reliable critical biography.

Burra, Peter J.S. Van Gogh. New York: Macmillan, 1934. 142pp. Part of the Great Lives series, this is a workmanlike introductory study of the artist and his work aimed at the general reader.

Cabanne, Pierre. Van Gogh. Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Prentice-Hall, 1963. 288pp. Weaving extensive passages from the letters, Cabanne presents a succinct overview of the artist’s development and character.

Du Quesne-Van Gogh, Elisabeth H. Personal Recollections of Vincent Van Gogh. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1913. 58pp. The artist’s younger sister provides her memories of the artist in the first published account of Van Gogh’s life, supplying important firsthand details of the artist’s relations with his family.

Elgar, Frank. Van Gogh: A Study of His Life and Work. New York: Praeger, 1958. 239pp. A rich selection of the artist’s works is joined with an astute appraisal of Van Gogh’s life and work that attempts to dispel the myth of the artist-martyr for a more sophisticated appreciation of his achievement.

Hammacher, A.M., and Renilde Hammacher. Van Gogh: A Documentary Biography. London: Thames and Hudson, 1982. 240pp. Excerpts from Van Gogh’s correspondence are linked with photographs and reproductions from the artist’s works to present a detailed chronicle.

Hanson, Lawrence, and Elisabeth Hanson. Passionate Pilgrim: The Life of Vincent Van Gogh. New York: Random House, 1955. 300pp. The Hansons provide a frank yet sympathetic treatment of Van Gogh’s life for the general reader. With almost no art criticism, the book concentrates on the man, who is portrayed realistically with his flaws honestly displayed.

Hulsker, Jan. Vincent and Theo Van Gogh: A Dual Biography. Ann Arbor, Michigan: Fuller, 1990. 470pp. Hulsker’s informative dual biography of the artist and his brother is marked by solid scholarship that sheds new light on Van Gogh and his family relationships and corrects many of the myths. The book is divided into four major stages of the brothers’ lives: their early years, first interest in art, artistic dealings, and deaths.

Leymarie, Jean. Who Was Van Gogh? Cleveland: World, 1968. 210pp. The details of Van Gogh’s life are reliably documented, along with a valuable selection of his work and an analysis of his artistry.

Lubin, A.J. Stranger on the Earth: A Psychological Biography of Vincent Van Gogh. New York: Holt, 1972. 265pp. The work of a clinical psychologist and practicing psychoanalyst, Lubin’s is a complete psychological reading of the man that examines the familial, historical, cultural, religious, literary, and artistic forces that formed his personal conflicts.

Meier-Graefe, Julius. Vincent Van Gogh: A Biographical Study. Boston: Medici Society, 1926. 2 vols. The first full-length biography of the artist is a powerful narrative synthesis depending mainly on the letters for its depiction of the conflict in Van Gogh’s life and the paradoxes in his character.

Piérard, Louis. The Tragic Life of Vincent Van Gogh. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1925. 125pp. A native of Borinage, the mining district in Belgium where Van Gogh worked as a lay preacher, the author supplies some firsthand information from those who knew the artist during this important period in his life.

Pollock, Griselda, and Fred Orton. Vincent van Gogh: Artist of His Time. New York: Dutton. 1978. 80pp. This is an exceptionally well-handled, concise overview of Van Gogh’s life and artistic achievement that serves to orient the general reader to the essential issues surrounding the artist and his development.

Wallace, Robert. The World of Van Gogh: 1853–1890. New York: Time-Life Books, 1969. 192pp. Beautifully illustrated, this is a useful introduction to the man, his times, and his art.

Zurcher, Bernard. Vincent van Gogh: Art, Life, and Letters. New York: Rizzoli, 1985. 325pp. This beautifully illustrated critical biography supplies a sensible, balanced chronicle of Van Gogh’s life and artistic development. Although repeating a good deal of familiar information, the book also adds some interesting details to the life story, while challenging a number of previously accepted notions.

Biographical Novels

Cooperstein, Claire. Johanna: A Novel of the Van Gogh Family. New York: Scribner, 1995. 270pp. The role of Van Gogh’s sister-in-law in saving his paintings is recorded in this imagined diary of the young widow of Van Gogh’s brother Theo.

Poldermans, Joost. Vincent: A Novel Based on the Life of Van Gogh. New York: Holt, 1962. 317pp. In a version of Van Gogh’s story that is stripped of romance, the painter is depicted as a misfit and an enigma to his friends and family. Based on fact, the novel does employ invented letters and dialogue.

Stone, Irving. Lust for Life. New York: Doubleday, 1934. 489pp. Although the novel uses invented dialogue, the major details of Van Gogh’s life and career are accurate in this meticulously researched, comprehensive biographical novel.

Fictional Portraits

Tuten, Frederic. Van Gogh’s Bad Café. New York: Morrow, 1997. 163pp. This inventive fantasy parallels Van Gogh’s final days leading up to his suicide with the experience of the artist’s mor-phine-addicted lover who is transported to the East Village a hundred years later.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Dobrin, Arnold. I Am a Stranger on Earth: The Story of Vincent Van Gogh. New York: F.Warne, 1975. 95pp. MG/YA. With extensive use of quotes from the artist’s letters and illustrated with his drawings and paintings, this is a substantial and thoughtful biographical portrait.

Hughes, Andrew. Van Gogh. Hauppauge, New York: Barron’s, 1994. 32pp. MG. Van Gogh’s life and career are summarized with a useful discussion of his artistic method, influences, and impact.

Tyson, Peter. Vincent Van Gogh: Artist. New York: Chelsea House, 1996. 127pp. MG/YA. Part of the Great Achievers: Lives of the Physically Challenged series, drawn exclusively from archival material, this is a sophisticated, thorough biography, despite the oddity of including Van Gogh in the “physically challenged” category.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: Vincent Van Gogh: A Stroke of Genius (1997). Producer: Kathleen Callan. A film profile that covers the details of the painter’s life, personality, and artistic achievement with location footage and expert testimony. Video. Lust for Life (1956). Director: Vincent Minelli. Kirk Douglas’s intense convincing portrait of the painter is remarkable in this filmed version of Irving Stone’s novel. Anthony Quinn portrays Paul Gauguin. Video.

Van Gogh (1992). Director: Maurice Pialat. Award-winning film portrait of Van Gogh’s final days that offers a fresh view of the painter that largely steers clear of the sensational for a more internal inner portrait. Jacques Dutronc is impressive in the lead role, with Alexandra London and Bernard Le Coq. Video.

Vincent and Theo (1990). Director: Robert Altman. Altman’s is a stunning and compelling look at the tortured relationship between the artist (Tim Roth) and his brother (Paul Rhys). Video.

Vincent: The Life and Death of Vincent Van Gogh (1987). Director: Paul Cox. John Hurt reads passages of the artist’s letters and diaries in a sensitive and informative documentary portrait. Video.

See also Paul Gauguin

476. DIEGO VELÁZQUEZ

1599–1660

Spanish painter Velázquez was court painter to Philip IV, beginning in 1623. His style was influenced by Rubens and by the Italian artists of the High Renaissance, and he, in turn had great influence on artists of the nineteenth century, from Goya to the impressionists. His masterpieces include The Drunkards, Christ on the Cross, Surrender of Breda (ca. 1635), and *Maid*s of Honor (1656–1657). Shortly before his death, he organized the marriage ceremonies of the Spanish princess Maria Theresa and Louis XIV of France.

Recommended Biographies

Brown, Jonathan. Velázquez: Painter and Courtier. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1986. 322pp. Brown’s is the best overview of the painter’s life and works that shows the connection between Velázquez’s artistic career and his life as a courtier. The gaps in the biographical record are filled with logical assumptions, and the book is excellent on the social history that helps explain the painter’s milieu and the forces that shaped his career. In Velázquez: The Technique of Genius. With Carmen Garrido. (New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1998. 224pp.), the authors, after a brief introduction to the painter’s life and career and a discussion of his materials and techniques, focus on 30 works that span Velázquez’s career to trace his artistic development.

Harris, Enriqueta. Velázquez. Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1982. 240pp. Harris includes translations of the primary early sources for details on the artist’s life by Antonio Palomino and Francisco Pacheco and uses a close analysis of the works to clarify and correct details suggested by these works. The result is a reliable assessment of both the life and artistry based on sound scholarship.

Other Biographical Studies

Gudiol, Jose. Velázquez. New York: Viking, 1974. 325pp. Gudiol’s study quotes extensively from the principal documentary sources to establish a biographical chronology while analyzing the painter’s masterpieces to trace his artistic evolution.

Justi, Karl. Diego Velázquez and His Times. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1889. 506pp. Justi’s is an informative volume that makes up for the scarcity of hard evidence on the artist’s life with social and cultural background and a close analysis of the works for their revelations about Velázquez’s creative method and genius.

Stevenson, Robert A.M. Velázquez. 1895. Reprint ed. London: G.Bell, 1962. 182pp. Stevenson’s critical study of Velázquez’s works attempts to reach conclusions on the artist’s achievement and temperament based on formal considerations.

Trapier, Elizabeth du Gué. Velázquez. New York: Hispanic Society of America, 1948. 434pp. Trapier synthesizes the available sources to reconstruct a narrative account of the artist’s life, supplemented by historical and cultural details and an examination of influences and artistic techniques.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Ripley, Elizabeth. Velázquez. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1965. 72pp. MG. Ripley summarizes the essential facts of the painter’s life and includes reproductions from different periods of his career.

Treviño, Elizabeth Borton de. I, Juan de Parega. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1965. 192pp. This Newbery Award-winning novel looks at Velázquez from the perspective of his slave, who learns to paint in secret.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Velázquez (1989). Director: Jose Antonio Páramo. Discusses the artist’s life and work. Video.

Velázquez (1991). Director: Didier Baussy. The painter’s character is revealed through examining his work in chronological order. Included are various aspects of his life and times and his relationship with Philip IV. Video.

477. GIUSEPPE VERDI

1813–1901

One of the foremost Italian opera composers, Verdi is celebrated for such enduring works as Ernani (1844), Rigoletto (1851), considered his masterpiece, Il Trovatore (1853), La Traviata (1853), La Forza del destino (1862), Aida (1871), and his great Requiem (1874). A master of dramatic composition, he produced operas of great power, subtlety, and brilliance even during his later years, including Otello (1887) and Falstaff (1893).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Letters of Giuseppe Verdi. Charles Osborne, ed. New York: Holt, 1972. 280pp. This collection of nearly 300 letters covers the composer’s life from age 30 to 87. Most are day-to-day exchanges with those connected with his work, including comments on his operas and artistic approach. However, they rarely display Verdi’s thoughts on his contemporaries or much self-assessment.

Verdi: A Documentary Study. William Weaver, ed. London: Thames and Hudson, 1977. 256pp. This useful collection of documentary sources include Verdi’s often inaccurate autobiographical narrative and a number of contemporaries’ recollections.

Verdi: The Man in His Letters. Franz Werfel and Paul Stefan, eds. New York: L.B.Fischer, 1942. 469pp. This selection of Verdi’s letters includes a copy of his will and the autobiographical narrative the composer wrote at the age of 65.

Recommended Biographies

Budden, Julian. Verdi. New York: Vintage Press, 1987. 404pp. Divided between an examination of Verdi’s life and work, Budden’s is a distinguished study that synthesizes up-to-date scholarship in a reliable and insightful presentation by the leading expert on Verdi and his operas.

Phillips-Matz, Mary Jane. Verdi: A Biography. New York: Oxford University Press, 1993. 941pp. Drawing on a wide range of sources, many previously overlooked, this is a remarkably detailed, authoritative reexamination of Verdi’s life. More complex than previously shown, the composer is portrayed frankly with his flaws clearly displayed. The book should remain the standard biography for some time to come.

Walker, Frank. The Man Verdi. New York: Knopf, 1962. 526pp. Excluding all discussion of Verdi’s music, Walker concentrates on “Verdi the man through the stories of his relationships with some of those who knew him best.” The result is an indispensable reference source, a meticulously documented, authoritative collection of facts about the composer.

Other Biographical Studies

Gatti, Carlo. Verdi: The Man and His Music. New York: Putnam, 1955. 371pp. Gatti’s is a highly detailed gathering of factual details surrounding Verdi’s life and his compositions. Mostly valuable as a reference source, the book is insufficiently objective to provide a reliable interpretative assessment of the man or his music.

Hume, Paul. Verdi: The Man and His Music. New York: Dutton, 1977. 173pp. Divided into three sec-tions—the composer’s life, plot summaries of his operas, and cast lists of important perfor-mances—Hume’s popular study aimed at a general audience is chiefly redeemed by its illustrations. Otherwise, the analysis is undistinguished and not fully reliable.

Hussey, Dyneley. Verdi. New York: Dutton, 1940. 355pp. Hussey’s critical biography is based mainly on Verdi’s letters and includes an in-depth analysis of the works.

Martin, George. Verdi: His Music, Life and Times. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1963. 633pp. This immense collection of material on the composer ranges widely over biographical details, Verdi’s social and political background, and musical criticism. More selectivity and focus would have made the book stronger, but the motivated reader will find much matter in Martin’s comprehensive survey.

Osborne, Charles. Verdi: A Life in the Theatre. New York: Knopf, 1987. 360pp. An accessible biography for the generalist, Osborne’s provides little original research but synthesizes familiar details into a narrative overview that is rarely penetrating.

Sheean, Vincent. Orpheus at Eighty. New York: Random House, 1958. 372pp. Sheean narrates the story of Verdi’s life in flashbacks from the perspective of his final year. The device helps to connect the various aspects of the man and his development into a coherent and comprehensible pattern. The book’s musical criticism is not as strong as the historical and cultural background.

Southwell-Sander, Peter S. Verdi: His Life and Times. Neptune, New Jersey: Paganiniana, 1980. 160pp. Part of the Illustrated Lives of the Great Composers series, this is a brief overview through text and photographs that serves its purpose as a popular introduction for the general reader.

Toye, Francis. Giuseppe Verdi: His Life and Works. New York: Knopf, 1931. 467pp. The first comprehensive and scholarly biographical study includes an overview of Verdi’s life and a detailed analysis of each of his 27 operas.

Wechsberg, Josef. Verdi. New York: Putnam, 1974. 255pp. Offering no new research or original insights and an often simplistic and misleading presentation, this is a popular biography of limited value beyond a basic introduction that will need to be corrected by more sophisticated treatments.

Ybarra, T.R. Verdi: Miracle Man of Opera. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1955. 312pp. This is a popular biography written by an enthusiast and is not reliable in all its details, indulging in a good deal of fictionalization to enhance the author’s own operatic style.

Fictional Portraits

Werfel, Franz. Verdi: A Novel of the Opera. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1926. 438pp. Werfel deals mainly with Verdi’s relationship with Wagner; the book mixes biographical details with romantic elements.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Malvern, Gladys. On Golden Wings. Philadelphia: Macrae Smith, 1960. 192pp. MG. This is a highly fictionalized though intimate portrait of the composer’s life and music. Although it often reads like a libretto from one of Verdi’s operas, it does adhere fairly closely to the biographical facts.

Tames, Richard. Giuseppe Verdi. New York: F. Watts, 1991. 32pp. MG. Tames offers a brief but competent life-and-times overview that covers the highlights of Verdi’s career and achievement.

Vernon, Roland. Introducing Verdi. Parsippany, New Jersey: Silver Burden, 1997. 32pp. MG. This is a well-written appreciation of Verdi’s music that touches on some details of his life and career.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Giuseppe Verdi (1996). Director: Malcolm Hossick. Part of the Famous Composer series, this is a brief biographical and musical overview of Verdi’s life and accomplishments. Video.

Verdi (1982). Director: Renato Castellani. This television miniseries traces Verdi’s career with Ronald Pickup in the title role, with Carla Fracci and interpretations of Verdi’s works by Luciano Pavarotti and Maria Callas. Video.

Other Sources

Conati, Marcello, ed. Encounters with Verdi. Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1984. 417pp. The volume gathers together recollections of Verdi by a wide circle of his contemporaries.

Weaver, William, and Martin Chusid, eds. The Verdi Companion. New York: W.W.Norton, 1979. 366pp. This is a useful collection of critical essays on various aspects of the composer’s life and works, with a chronology, a glossary of people associated with Verding, and a listing of his major works by the date of their first performance.

478. JAN VERMEER

1632–1675

Dutch painter ranked among the greatest Dutch masters and celebrated for his use of light and color, Vermeer spent his entire life in Delft, where he was twice dean of the painters’ guild. Fewer than 35 paintings can be attributed to him and forgeries of his work are frequent. His paintings include The Milkmaid (1658–1660), Girl Asleep (1657), and Young Woman With a Water Jug (1664–1665).

Recommended Biographies

Blankert, Albert. Vermeer of Delft. New York: Dutton, 1978. 176pp. Blankert includes a section of important documents related to Vermeer’s life and career along with an idiosyncratic but provocative and revealing examination of the man and his work.

Blankert, Albert, John M.Montias, and Gilles Aillaud. Vermeer. New York: Rizzoli, 1988. 231pp. This useful volume is an ideal introductory overview for the non-expert, collecting concisely the known biographical details, a critical analysis of the works, and a catalog of the paintings.

Montias, John M. Vermeer and His Milieu: A Web of Social History. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1989. 407pp. Through exhaustive archival research, Montias has added considerably to the social, historical, and biographical record of Vermeer’s life and time. Reconstructing the social and economic context of seven-teenth-century Delft, the book presents a vivid portrait of the events that would have affected the painter and influenced his art. An indispensable reference source for the scholar and more-than-ca-sual student of Vermeer.

Other Biographical Studies

Gowing, Lawrence. Vermeer. 1953. Revised ed. New York: Harper & Row, 1970. 160pp. Through a careful analysis of Vermeer’s paintings, Gowing intuitively a portrait of the man and artist, concluding that he was a far more complex figure than has been previously believed.

Koningsberger, Hans. The World of Vermeer 1632–1675. New York: Time-Life Books, 1967. 192pp. In a visually appealing introduction to the artist and his times, the book is divided into an essay on the painter and his place in Dutch seven-teenth-century art and reproductions of Vermeer’s paintings and those of his period. The factual information is reliable, and the book serves as a useful overview for the non-expert.

Slatkes, Leonard J. Vermeer and His Contemporaries. New York: Abbeville Press, 1981. 158pp. Preceded by a brief introduction outlining recent scholarship, the book offers more than 70 pages of color reproductions, as well as a close analysis of the paintings, tracing the painter’s achievement and development through comparisons with the other artists of the 1650s and 1660s who were influenced by Vermeer.

Snow, Edward A. A Study of Vermeer. Berkeley: University of California Press, 1979. 183pp. Snow offers a psychological interpretation of the artist and his paintings. A fresh and provocative approach, Snow’s study is ingenious guesswork given the lack of solid evidence, but it is nevertheless an important scholarly treatment that goes further than most in penetrating the shadowy and enigmatic Vermeer.

Swillens, P.T.A. Johannes Vermeer, Painter of Delft: 1632–1675. New York: Studio Vista, 1950. 221pp. This scholarly reference volume supplies a biographical outline in addition to a close reading of the paintings for what they may reveal about the artist’s interests and values.

Thienen, Frithjof van. Jan Vermeer of Delft. New York: Harper, 1949. 24pp. Reproductions of all of Vermeer’s paintings are joined to a compact introductory essay that gives all the known facts of the painter’s life.

Fictional Portraits

Chevalier, Tracy. Girl with a Pearl Earring. New York: Dutton, 2000. 233pp. Chevalier imaginatively enters Vermeer’s household during the 1660s as seen from the perspective of a teenaged servant who becomes the painter’s assistant and ultimately the model for one of his most famous paintings.

Laker, Rosalind. The Golden Tulip. New York: Doubleday, 1991. 585pp. This historical romance involving a woman artist in the Netherlands during the seventeenth century includes a depiction of Vermeer.

479. VICTORIA

1819–1901

Queen of Great Britain and Ireland and empress of India, Victoria succeeded (1837) to the throne after the death of William IV and reigned during the height of the British Empire. She married Albert of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha (1840), who became the dominant influence in her life. Their domestic life, as well as Victoria’s conscientiousness and strict morals, helped restore the prestige of the monarchy and establish it as a symbol of public service. Victoria’s active role in government and her sometimes adversarial relations with a succession of prime ministers affected the political life of her reign.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Queen Victoria in Her Letters and Journals: A Selection. Christopher Hibbert, ed. New York: Viking, 1985. 374pp. This selection of Victoria’s writings offers a strikingly different view of the stolid, humorless Victorian icon, revealing her humanity and animation, while tracing the evolution of a shy young princess into the powerful symbol of her era.

Recommended Biographies

Chariot, Monica. Victoria: The Young Queen. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Blackwell, 1991. 492pp. Ending her coverage with the death of Prince Albert in 1861, Chariot, in the first volume of a projected full-length study, provides a fresh and fully documented view of Victoria, with an emphasis on her personality and relationships. Her Victoria is a complex figure, flawed but granted considerably more political acumen than have previous historians.

Longford, Elizabeth. Queen Victoria: Born to Succeed. New York: Harper & Row, 1965. 635pp. Longford includes both the personal and political sides of Victoria in a full-length, psychologically based portrait. The book is particularly interesting in its gender discussion that attempts to relate the queen’s life in the context of the social history of women during the period.

St. Aubyn, Giles. Queen Victoria. New York: Atheneum, 1992. 669pp. In an admirable summary of what is known about Victoria’s life based on new information that has emerged from the full opening of the Royal Archives, the book supplies a sympathetic yet balanced portrait of the woman and her reign.

Strachey, Lytton. Queen Victoria. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1921. 423pp. In a full-scale workup of the biographical method developed in Eminent Victorians (1918), Strachey’s portrait is significant both in establishing a dominating view of the queen and by its influence on the modern biographer’s art. Looking beyond the history of her reign, Strachey concentrates on Victoria’s personality and foibles, replacing respectful reverence with a critical, though convincingly human, portrayal.

Weintraub, Stanley. Victoria: an Intimate Biography. New York: Dutton, 1987. 700pp. Weintraub’s account is well-written and impeccably researched with an emphasis on Victoria’s personal, not political, life but with sufficient historical and cultural context to make the queen’s public activities and personal values understandable. Based on a number of hitherto unavailable sources, the portrait Weintraub offers is both candid and convincing.

Woodham-Smith, Cecil. Queen Victoria: From Her Birth to the Death of the Prince Consort. New York: Knopf, 1972. 495pp. The author lived to complete only a partial study ending in the year 1861, but the details he assembled represent one of the fullest and most authoritative treatments of Victoria’s childhood, early reign, and married life.

Other Biographical Studies

Benson, E.F. Queen Victoria. New York: Longmans, 1935. 406pp. Benson combines an examination of Victoria’s personal life and character with an account of the principal events of her reign and the queen’s attitudes toward domestic and international affairs. More balanced and carefully documented than Strachey’s groundbreaking biography, Benson’s study remains an important biographical source, reliably synthesizing previously unexamined archival sources.

Bolitho, Hector. The Reign of Queen Victoria. New York: Macmillan, 1948. 437pp. Synthesizing material from his previous books, Albert the Good (1932), Victoria: The Widow and Her Son (1934), and Victoria and Albert (1938), Bolitho narrates Victoria’s life story with an emphasis on the personal rather than the political.

Cullen, Tom. The Empress Brown: The True Story of a Victorian Scandal. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1969. 250pp. Cullen focuses on the relationship between Victoria and her Scottish servant, John Brown, based on Victoria’s letters, the papers of the queen’s private secretary, and contemporary accounts. Cullen concludes that the alleged scandal is unfounded, and the book offers its own reasoned assessment of the curious dependency Victoria had on Brown.

Epton, Nina. Victoria and Her Daughters. New York: W.W.Norton, 1971. 252pp. Tracing the lives of Victoria’s five daughters, Epton examines Victoria’s qualities as a mother, relating her public image as a domestic paragon with the reality. Unscholarly and undocumented, the book is chiefly interesting for its many anecdotes, and its extensive quotations from the unpublished papers of the queen’s private secretary.

Erickson, Carolly. Her Little Majesty: The Life of Queen Victoria. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1997. 304pp. Despite an engaging, entertaining novelistic style, this brief biography falls short in its penetration and comprehensiveness. What Erickson chooses to cover is done so with a flourish and often with the omniscient power of the fiction writer.

Hibbert, Christopher. Queen Victoria: A Personal History. New York: Basic Books, 2000. 464pp. Hibbert’s is a lively reassessment that challenges conventional wisdom, presenting Victoria as shy and vulnerable as well as formidable. In a series of colorful anecdotes the book helps present a complex, human figure.

Marshall, Dorothy. The Life and Times of Victoria. New York: Praeger, 1974. 224pp. In a beautifully illustrated biography, Marshall connects the public and private life of Victoria with a carefully constructed period background. A good, brief biographical introduction for the general reader.

Sitwell, Edith. Victoria of England. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1936. 349pp. Not attempting a full history of the reign, this is a portrait of the woman and her relationships. Influenced by Strachey’s approach, Sitwell presents a series of dramatic scenes with many imaginative surmises but with few new insights.

Biographical Novels

Anthony, Evelyn. Victoria and Albert. New York: Crowell, 1958. 312pp. The novel looks at the famous royal marriage with a controversial portrait of Albert who does not claim Victoria’s blind allegiance to him. The historical background is well developed.

Harrod-Eagles, Cynthia. I, Victoria. New York: St. Martin’s, 1996. 415pp. At the end of her life, Victoria reflects back on her long reign in this fictional autobiography that attempts to humanize the portrait of the formidable queen.

Ludwig, Charles. Defender of the Faith. Minneapolis: Bethany House, 1988. 202pp. This devotional novel dramatizes Victoria’s spiritual life in scenes from her life in which her faith is tested.

Plaidy, Jean. Victoria in the Wings. London: R. Hale, 1972. 349pp.; Captive of Kensington Palace. New York: Putnam, 1976. 288pp.; The Queen and Lord M. New York: Putnam, 1977. 268pp.; The Queen’s Husband. New York: Putnam, 1978. 382pp.; The Widow of Windsor. New York: Putnam, 1974. 351pp. Plaidy’s biographical series follows Victoria’s life and times from her childhood. With Victoria Victorious (New York: Putnam, 1986. 569pp.), Plaidy offers Victoria’s own version of her life in an imagined autobiography.

Prole, Lozania. The Little Victoria. Bath, England: Chivers, 1957. 278pp. Victoria’s childhood and youth up to her marriage is dramatized in this mainly factual account with imaginary embellishments.

Whittle, Tyler. The Young Victoria. New York: St. Martin’s, 1971. 246pp.; Albert’s Victoria. New York: St. Martin’s, 1972. 263pp.; The Widow of Windsor. New York: St. Martin’s, 1973. 287pp. Whittle’s biographical trilogy follows Victoria’s entire life in a faithful account rooted in the known facts.

Fictional Portraits

Bonnet, Theodore. The Mudlark. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1949. 305pp. This inventive tale dramatizes the roles played by a London urchin and Disraeli in convincing the queen to end her 14 years of seclusion following the death of Albert.

Byrd, Elizabeth. The Long Enchantment. London: Macmillan, 1973. 250pp. A maid at Balmoral describes the-relationship between Victoria and John Brown.

Fleming, H.K. The Day They Kidnapped Queen Victoria. New York: St. Martin’s, 1978. 170pp. In an amusing fanciful story, Victoria’s train is hi-jacked, and she is kidnapped. The rescue effort is led by Disraeli with implausible assistance from Tennyson.

Mayerson, Evelyn W. Princess in Amber. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1985. 298pp. Princess Beatrice, the youngest daughter of Queen Victoria is the focus here for an interesting perspective on Victoria’s family relationships.

Prole, Lozania. The Queen’s Daughters. London: R.Hale, 1973. 206pp. This is a group fictional portrait of Victoria’s five daughters, depicting their relationships with their mother.

Routh, Jonathan. The Secret Life of Queen Victoria. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1980. 110pp. In an imagined diary, the novel records Vic-toria’s attempt to break free from her public responsibilities during a secret visit to Jamaica.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Grant, Neil. Victoria, Queen and Empress. New York: F.Watts, 1970. 233pp. MG/YA. Grant stresses Victoria’s relationship with the central male figures in her life, including Melbourne, Albert, Disraeli, and John Brown.

Green, Robert. Queen Victoria. New York: F. Watts, 1998. 64pp. MG. This is an informative, well-written biographical overview with suggestions for additional reading, Internet resources, and a genealogical family tree.

Shearman, Deirdre. Queen Victoria. New York: Chelsea House, 1986. 115pp. MG/YA. Shearman orients the reader well to the historical and cultural aspects of Victoria’s reign in this informative biographical and historical account.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Carb, David, and Walter P.Eaton. Queen Victoria. New York: Dutton, 1922. 213pp. This dramatic account of Victoria’s life from her girlhood to her Jubilee has been described as a good dramatization of Lytton Strachey’s biography.

Housman, Laurence. Victoria Regina. New York: Scribners, 1935. 469pp. This volume brings together the author’s Palace Plays that look at Victo-ria’s reign and marriage. In the playwright’s view, Victoria is the irresistible headstrong force meeting the immovable scholarly and reserved Prince. However, Albert emerges with a refreshing sense of humor.

Norris, Kathleen. Victoria: A Play in Four Acts and Twelve Scenes. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1934. 140pp. This closet drama of dramatic episodes from Queen Victoria’s life lacks a unifying dramatic principle and fails to rise much beyond a sketch.

Edward the King (1975). Director: John Carrie. The life and short reign of Edward VII is chronicled with his relationship with his parents detailed. Robert Hardy portrays Prince Albert; Annette Crosbie is Queen Victoria, and Timothy West is the Prince of Wales and later king. Video.

Evening at Osborne: A Portrait of Queen Victoria in Her Own Words (1991). Director: Richard Stroud. British actress Prunella Scales depicts the queen in this film version of the one-person stage play by Katrina Hendrey in which Victoria’s comments on her life and times are taken from her letters and journals. Video.

Mrs. Brown (1997). Director: John Madden. This is a believable, restrained look at Victoria’s relationship with Scottish servant John Brown. Judi Dench is convincing as the queen, with an equally strong performance by Billy Connolly as Brown. Video.

Sixty Glorious Years (1938). Director: Herbert Wilcox. Anna Neagle reprises her portrayal of Victoria in this sequel to Victoria the Great (1937).

Victoria Regina (1961). Director: George Schaefer. This made-for-television film tells the story of Victoria’s reign in a series of vignettes from her ascension to the throne in 1837 through the celebration of her Diamond Jubilee. Julie Harris stars as Victoria with James Donald as Prince Albert. Video.

Victoria the Great (1937). Director: Herbert Wilcox. Anna Neagle puts in a fine performance as Victoria in this biographical film that emphasizes the queen’s relationship with Prince Albert (Anton Walbrook).

Other Sources

Homans, Margaret, and Adrienne Munich, eds. Remaking Queen Victoria. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1997. 294pp. A collection of essays by scholars in a number of disciplines explores the cultural significance of Victoria.

Munich, Adrienne. Queen Victoria’s Secrets. New York: Columbia University Press, 1998. 272pp. This meditation on Victoria as cultural symbol is often fascinating and daring in its generalizing leaps, weaving together feminist, anthropological, and postcolonial approaches to the portrait of the queen and her era.

See also Albert; Benjamin Disraeli; Edward VII; William Gladstone

480. VOLTAIRE

1694–1778

Born François-Marie Arouet, French philosopher and author, Voltaire ranks among the greatest literary and historical geniuses. A towering figure of the Enlightenment, he advocated political and religious tolerance and supported the ideas of Newton and Locke. An enemy of the tyrannical French nobility, he spent much of his life in exile. His works include Letters Concerning the English Nation (1733) and Candide (1759). He also contributed to Diderot’s Encyclopedia and wrote his own Philosophical Dictionary (1764).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Correspondence and Related Documents. Theodore Besterman, ed. Toronto: University of Toronto Press, 1968–1977. 51 vols. This monumental scholarly collection of Voltaire’s 20,000 known letters is far too daunting for most general readers who may prefer to sample Voltaire’s letters in smaller doses in such volumes as Voltaire in His Letters (New York: Putnam, 1919. 270pp.) and Selected Letters of Voltaire. Richard A.Brooks, ed. (New York: New York University Press, 349pp.).

Recommended Biographies

Aldridge, A. Owen. Voltaire and the Century of Light. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1975. 443pp. Less individualistic and more accessible than Besterman, Aldridge’s is a measured, clear, and economical survey of Voltaire’s life and writings that serves as a good introduction.

Besterman, Theodore. Voltaire. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1969. 637pp. For Besterman, the editor of his letters, Voltaire is simply “the greatest of French writers,” and the book attempts to justify this view, often with a condescension and scorn for the unconvinced that is distracting. Despite Besterman’s bias, this remains an important source for information on Voltaire by one of the leading authorities on the writer.

Wade, Ira O. The Intellectual Development of Voltaire. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1969. 807pp. Tracing Voltaire’s life from birth to the 1750s, Wade’s is a comprehensive, accessible examination of the philosopher’s training and his relationship to other eighteenth-century thinkers.

Other Biographical Studies

Aldington, Richard. Voltaire. New York: Dutton, 1925. 278pp. Divided into two equal sections on Voltaire’s life and works, Aldington’s study is often brilliant, always entertaining, and serves as a stimulating introduction, although the author’s own clear prejudices compromise his judgment at various points.

Gray, John. Voltaire. New York: Routledge, 1999. 64pp. Gray’s brief biographical summary is a useful sketch by an expert but written for those with no special background in philosophy.

Hearsey, John. Voltaire. New York: Barnes and Noble, 1976. 367pp. Written for the general reader, Hearsey’s is a readable introductory account that attempts to uncover the elements and activities that helped form Voltaire’s genius. Hearsey’s reach exceeds his grasp at several points, defeated by the lack of expertise needed to cover adequately the full range of Voltaire’s achievements.

Lanson, Gustave. Voltaire. New York: Wiley, 1966. 258pp. Originally published in 1906, Lanson’s is a wide-ranging account of Voltaire’s intellectual and creative development, as well as a critical assessment of Voltaire’s imaginative work.

Morley, John. Voltaire. New York: Appleton, 1872. 263pp. An important nineteenth-century biography, Morley’s study is a balanced assessment and a careful assembling of the significant factual record.

Noyes, Alfred. Voltaire. New York: Sheed & Ward, 1936. 643pp. Noyes’s study of Voltaire’s life and work is dominated by its central thesis that the philosopher was not an enemy of the Catholic church and was in fact a deeply religious man. Noyes’s evident bias limits the reliability of his interpretation, but his portrait does serve as an interesting alternative to the rationalist view of Voltaire.

Torrey, Norman L. The Spirit of Voltaire. New York: Columbia University Press, 1938. 314pp. Not a full-length portrait, Torrey selects from the telling details and events to reveal the man and his philosophy. Although not recommended as a first book on the subject, Torrey's study is a challenging and learned analysis for the reader with a basic grasp of Voltaire's life and work.

Biographical Novels

Endore, S.Guy. Voltaire! Voltaire! New York: Simon & Schuster, 1961. 507pp. This is a dual biographical profile of Voltaire and his rival Jean-Jacques Rousseau.

Fictional Portraits

Rebolledo, Francisco. Rasero. Baton Rouge: Louisiana State University Press, 1995. 552pp. A young Spanish nobleman comes to Paris during the 17th century to interact with a number of historical figures, and he is on hand for Voltaire's death.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Voltaire (1933). Director: John G.Adolfi. George Arliss is a standout in this biographical portrait of the writer. With Margaret Lindsay, Doris Kenyon, Reginald Owen, and Alan Mowbray.

W

481. RICHARD WAGNER

1813–1883

German composer, whose influential works represent the height of musical Romanticism, Wagner first achieved success with Rienzi (1840). His other early works include Tannhäuser (1844) and

Lohengrin (1848). He was active in the Revolution of 1848 and forced to flee for eight years to Switzerland. Wagner settled in Bayreuth, where he built a theater and completed his famous Ring myth-cycle: Das Rheingold (1854), Die Walküre (1856), Siegfried (1869), and Die Götterdämmerung (1874). His last opera was Parsifal (1882).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Art, Life, and Theories of Richard Wagner Selected from His Writings. E.L.Burlingame, ed. New York: Holt, 1875. 305pp. Burlingame’s excellent selection of Wagner’s writings includes the composer’s “Autobiographical Sketch” that covers his life up to 1842.

The Diary of Richard Wagner 1865–1882: The Brown Book. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1980. 218pp. Wagner’s reflections cover his life from 1846 to 1882. See also Cosima Wagner’s Diaries. Martin Gregor-Dallin and Dietrich Mack, eds. (New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1978–1980. 2 vols.), a detailed account of the composer’s life from 1869 to Wagner’s death.

My Life. 1911. Mary Whittall, ed. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1983. 786pp. Wagner’s memoir was begun in 1864 at the request of King Ludwig II and completed in 1880. This edition restores personal details left out of prior editions. Other autobiographical reflections can be found in Wagner’s Prose Works. William Ashton Ellis, ed. (London: Kegan Paul, 1893–1899. 8 vols.).

Selected Letters of Richard Wagner. Stewart Spencer and Barry Millington, eds. New York: W.W.Norton, 1987. 858pp. Arranged chronologically in sections preceded by a biographical and historical introductory essay, this is a collection of some 500 letters that provides a rare glimpse of the composer’s development, creative process, and changing attitudes on various subjects.

Recommended Biographies

Deathridge, John, and Carl Dahlhaus. The New Grove Wagner. New York: W.W.Norton, 1984. 226pp. A model of succinct scholarship and interpretation, this slim volume offers the best general introduction to Wagner’s life and work. This is the standout reference source for the general reader.

Gál, Hans. Richard Wagner. New York: Stein and Day, 1976. 236pp. A highly readable biography, Gal’s critical study includes a compact overview of Wagner’s life and a learned, though accessible, analysis of his works. Dealing frankly with the contradictions of Wagner’s character, the book is a sophisticated assessment and a valuable guide to the man and his music.

Newman, Ernest. The Life of Richard Wagner. New York: Knopf, 1933–1946. 4 vols. Newman’s monumental biography is still regarded as the standard source. Painstakingly researched and extremely well written, Newman’s multivolumes may intimidate the general reader, but the energy expended is ably repaid by the fullest views of the composer ever attempted.

Watson, Derek. Richard Wagner: A Biography. London: Dent, 1979. 352pp. A readable and authoritative biography for both the serious student and the casual reader, Watson’s life is a synthesis of primary and secondary sources with an emphasis on Wagner’s life, personality, and social context rather than his music.

Other Biographical Studies

Anderson, Robert. Wagner: A Biography: With a Survey of Books, Editions, and Recordings. Hamden, Connecticut: Linnet Books, 1980. 154pp. Anderson’s brief biography is a useful overview, but the book’s chief importance is a thoughtful survey of biographical and critical works on the composer.

Barth, Herbert, Dietrich Mack, and Egon Voss. Wagner: A Documentary Study. New York: Oxford University Press, 1975. 256pp. This is an excellent and comprehensive collection of documents, illustrations, and photographs.

Bekker, Paul. Richard Wagner: His Life and Work. New York: W.W.Norton, 1931. 522pp. Bekker’s critical biography attempts to connect Wagner’s life with his work in which both are united in the composer’s pursuit of an emotional engagement with experience. Often dense and overly elaborate, the book is not for the uninitiated.

Chancellor, John. Wagner. Boston: Little, Brown, 1978. 308pp. Fiercely partisan, this uncritical, adulatory synthesis of others’ research is too unbalanced to offer a fully reliable assessment and provides no new information, other than the depth of the author’s devotion.

Ellis, William A. Life of Richard Wagner. London: K.Paul, 1900–1908. 6 vols. Ellis’s massive biographical study only reached the year 1859 before he abandoned the project. Although limited in its scholarship and lacking access to a number of important primary sources, the volumes are still regarded as an important factual guide to the years covered.

Gutman, Robert W. Richard Wagner: The Man, His Mind, and His Music. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1968. 490pp. Gutman’s is a highly critical biographical study that emphasizes the composer’s character flaws and anti-Semitism.

Kapp, Julius. The Women in Wagner’s Life. New York: Knopf, 1931. 284pp. The author concentrates on Wagner’s relationships with the significant women in his life, based on a careful sifting of primary source material.

Katz, Jacob. The Darker Side of Genius: Richard Wagner’s Anti-Semitism. Hanover, New Hampshire: University Press of New England, 1986. 158pp. Katz supplies an examination of the development of Wagner’s anti-Semitism with scholarly attention to detail but remaining accessible for the general reader. Wagner’s attitudes are placed in their wider social and historical context.

Mayer, Hans. Portrait of Wagner: An Illustrated Biography. New York: Herder and Herder, 1972. 175pp. Wagner’s personality is described against the social and political background of his times with more than 50 illustrations and photographs. Useful for the general reader looking for a biographical introduction.

Millington, Barry. Wagner. 1984. Revised ed. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1992. 342pp. Part of the Master Musicians series, Millington attempts to separate the facts from the various myths surrounding Wagner and fashions a compact, balanced assessment that neither downplays nor overemphasizes the various controversies surrounding the composer.

Newman, Ernest. Wagner as Man and Artist. New York: Knopf, 1924. 399pp. Newman’s first biographical study preceded his monumental life and is chiefly instructive as a compact synthesis of interpretations developed more elaborately in his four-volume study. The book is particularly incisive in pointing out the discrepancies between Wagner’s autobiographical remarks and the biographical facts.

Osborne, Charles. Wagner and His World. New York: Scribner, 1977. 128pp. Osborne’s is a basic visual introduction to the composer and his background.

Panofsky, Walter. Wagner: A Pictorial Biography. New York: Viking, 1963. 144pp. A sketchy biographical overview accompanies a selection of illustrations and photographs. Neither complete nor sophisticated enough to serve as a basic introduction, the book is chiefly a picture book.

Sabor, Rudolph. The Real Wagner. London: A. Deutsch, 1987. 312pp. Arranged topically rather than chronologically, Sabor’s is a sophisticated examination of the many controversies surrounding Wagner’s life and career and the complexity of his character. The reader who already has a clear view of the composer’s history will find many provocative and challenging insights.

Taylor, Ronald. Richard Wagner: His Life, Art, and Thought. New York: Taplinger, 1979. 285pp. This is a sensible, concise, well-researched, and well-written biography that is particularly strong on the wider historical and cultural background of Wagner’s career. The relatively simplistic musical analysis is supplemented by an appendix with excerpts from various individuals such as Shaw, Tolstoy, Debussy, Stravinsky, and Boulez on Wag-ner’s music.

Westernhagen, Curt von. Wagner: A Biography. 1968. Revised ed. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1978. 2 vols. Drawing on new documentary sources published since Newman’s study, Westernhagen’s biography synthesizes new insights into a straightforward narrative account. Although the author purports to “display the personality complete with its inner contradictions . . . and to leave judgment to the reader,” critics have complained that evidence is slanted in Wagner’s favor, with the more unflattering aspects of the composer’s character and anti-Semitic attitudes downplayed.

White, Chappell. An Introduction to the Life and Work of Richard Wagner. Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Prentice-Hall, 1967. 186pp. White’s is a sensible, compact survey of Wagner’s life and work for the general reader seeking a basic over-

Biographical Novels

Harding, Bertita. Magic Fire: Scenes around Richard Wagner. Indianapolis: Bobbs-Merrill, 1953. 457pp. The novel strings together a series of episodes from Wagner’s life using invented dialogue to present a multidimensional portrait of the composer and his times.

Richardson, Henry H. The Young Cosima. New York: W.W.Norton, 1939. 390pp. The novel tells the story of 12 years in the life of Cosima and her first marriage, ending with her decision to live with Wagner.

Fictional Portraits

Gurr, David. The Ring Master. New York: Atheneum, 1987. 739pp. Gurr’s exploration of Nazism and Hitler’s Germany uses Wagner and his Ring cycle as a touchstone to explain Hitler’s evil. Werfel, Franz. Verdi: A Novel of the Opera. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1926. 438pp. Werfel deals mainly with Verdi’s relationship with Wagner in a fictional account that mixes biographical details with romantic elements.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Padmore, Elaine. Wagner. New York: Crowell, 1973. 100pp. MG. Padmore captures both the man and his music in an account suitable for students with some musical background.

Stearns, Monroe. Richard Wagner: Titan of Music. New York: F.Watts, 1964. 306pp. MG/YA. This is a well-researched, objective biography that deals frankly with Wagner’s character flaws and questionable behavior.

Tames, Richard. Richard Wagner. New York: F. Watts, 1991. 132pp. Examines the composer’s life and achievements in the context of his era.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Lisztomania (1975). Director: Ken Russell. Rus-sell’s outlandish extravaganza looks at Franz Liszt as the first rock star. Roger Daltry plays the musician with Sara Kestelman as Princess Carolyn, Imogene Claire as George Sand, and Paul Nicholas as Wagner. Video.

Ludwig (1972). Director: Luchino Visconti. The story of the relationship between Ludwig II (Helmut Berger) and Wagner (Trevor Howard) is dramatized in this lavish depiction of the king’s madness and obsession with the composer. Video.

Song Without End (1960). Director: King Vidor. This musical biography of Franz Liszt (Dirk Borgarde) features an appearance by Lyndon Brook in the role of Wagner. Video.

Wagner (1983). Director: Tony Palmer. Originally a nine-hour British television miniseries, Richard Burton’s last film release is a visually stunning but overly long and confusing biographical depiction of the composer’s life, with Burton in the lead and Vanessa Redgrave as Cosima Wagner. Ronald Pickup portrays Nietzsche. Video.

Other Sources

Bunbridge, Peter, and Richard Sutter. The Wagner Companion. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1979. 462pp. This collection of critical essays from various scholars covers many broad categories of the composer’s career and works.

Hodson, Phillip. Who’s Who in Wagner: An A-to-Z Look at His Life and Work. New York: Macmillan, 1984. 182pp. As the title indicates, this is a series of alphabetically arranged entries covering multiple aspects of the composer’s life, work, and associates.

Millington, Barry, ed. The Wagner Compendium. New York: Schirmer Books, 1992. 431pp. This is a collection of 18 essays by noted scholars on the composer’s life, character, intellectual and musical background, opinions, creative method, and influences.

Muller, Ulrich, ed. Wagner Handbook. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1992. 711pp. An extensive collection of essays by many of the world’s leading Wagner experts. The composer’s career, cultural relationships, psychology, and influence are covered.

482. ANDY WARHOL

1927–1987

American artist and filmmaker famous for his pop art works featuring such commonplace objects as soup cans and dollar bills, Warhol also produced multi-image, silkscreen paintings of Marilyn Monroe and Jacqueline Kennedy. He and his assistants worked out of a large New York loft space known as The Factory. Warhol’s films include Chelsea Girls (1966) and Trash (1971). He also founded the celebrity magazine, Interview (1973).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Andy Warhol Diaries. Pat Hackett, ed. New York: Warner Books, 1989. 807pp. These are a series of daily telephone interviews recorded from 1976 until only five days before Warhol’s death. What began as an expense account diary grew into a shorthand continual sketch of Warhol’s world, forming often fascinating, often endlessly repetitive and self-absorbed glimpses into the life of the artist and his preoccupations.

The Philosophy of Andy Warhol: From A to B and Back Again. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1988. 241pp. Covering a variety of topics, Warhol records his views on such subjects as love, beauty, and fame. Alternately insightful, rambling, slyly candid, and aphoristic.

Recommended Biographies

Bockris, Victor. The Life and Death of Andy Warhol. New York: Bantam, 1989. 392pp. Bockris’s comprehensive life is the standard biography, well-documented and balanced, based on the author’s personal knowledge and extensive interviews with Warhol’s family, friends, and associates. Sympathetic in its handling of the artist’s personality and career, the book succeeds in presenting a complex portrait often at odds with the public persona.

Bourdon, David. Warhol. New York: Abrams, 1989. 432pp. The work of an art critic, Bourdon’s assessment of Warhol’s life and career emphasizes his artistry over his long service as a professional celebrity. With over 300 reproductions, Bourdon’s critical biography is the ideal overview of Warhol’s artistic development from commercial illustrator to one of the most significant figures in modern art.

Other Biographical Studies

Colacello, Bob. Holy Terror: Andy Warhol Close Up. New York: St. Martin’s, 1989. 514pp. Colacello’s is an intimate look at Warhol in the 1970s, the years of the author’s association with the artist during the early years of Interview magazine. The author’s close-up method reveals Warhol’s flaws but also distorts, emphasizing Warhol the celebrity to the exclusion of other considerations.

Koch, Stephen. Stargazer: Andy Warhol’s World and His Films. New York: Praeger, 1973. 155pp. Koch’s book is the definitive critical treatment of Warhol’s career as a filmmaker, tracing his development in the context of the underground, independent film circle of the period.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: Andy Warhol: A Life at the Edge (1998). Producer: Jeff Swimmer. Warhol’s artistic career and celebrityhood are both chronicled in this film profile featuring the perspectives of numerous friends and associates. Video.

Andy Warhol (1987). Director: Kim Evans. A film profile originally produced for London Weekend Television. Video.

Basquiat (1996). Director: Julian Schnabel. David Bowie depicts Warhol in this film study of artist Jean Michel Basquiat (Jeffrey Wright) in an authentic look at the New York art scene in the 1980s. Video.

I Shot Andy Warhol (1996). Director: Mary Harron. This film focuses on the actual event of Valerie Solanas’s attack on Warhol in 1968. Lili Taylor is convincing as Solanas and Jared Harris portrays Warhol. Harron’s screenplay is also available (New York: Grove Press, 1996. 224pp.). Video.

Portrait of an Artist: Andy Warhol (1987). Director: Kim Evans. British television profile looks at Warhol’s activities in art and film. Video.

Superstar: The Life and Times of Andy Warhol (1991). Director: Chuck Workman. A visual and oral biographical portrait, recording the recollections of Warhol’s friends and family. Video.

483. BOOKER T.WASHINGTON

1856–1915

An African American educator, born into slavery, Washington founded Tuskegee Institute, which, under his direction, became one of the leading black schools in the United States. His position that economic equality for African Americans must be attained before the achievement of social equality was opposed by black activist W.E.B.DuBois. Washington organized the National Negro Business League, a group committed to black economic independence. His many writings include his autobiography, Up From Slavery (1901), and The Story of the Negro (1909).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Booker T. Washington Papers. Louis R. Harlan, ed. Urbana: University of Illinois Press, 1972–1989. 14 vols. This scholarly collection of Washington’s papers is invaluable for the scholar and the biographer, collecting the essential documentary evidence.

Up from Slavery. New York: Doubleday, 1901. 330pp. Washington’s much reprinted and admired autobiography is an essential source on the educa-tor’s early life. Washington’s version of his life story was written to inspire, and the details support the book’s positivist theme of the struggle for success.

My Larger Education: Being Chapters from My Experience (New York: Doubleday, 1911. 313pp.), Washington adds to his reflections on his early life his years of success, with views of the many famous individuals with whom he had contact.

Recommended Biographies

Harlan, Louis R. Booker T. Washington: The Making of a Black Leader 1856–1901. New York: Oxford University Press, 1972. 379pp.; Booker T. Washington: The Wizard of Tuskegee 1901–1915. New York: Oxford University Press, 1983. 548pp. This Pulitzer Prize-winning study is generally regarded as the definitive life, far more critical and sophisticated in its interpretation than earlier biographies. In Harlan’s treatment, Washington is shown as a complex figure, very different from his admired public image.

Other Biographical Studies

Bontemps, Arna. Young Booker: Booker T.Wash-ington’s Early Days. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1972. 196pp. Chronicling Washington’s life from his birth to his 1895 Atlanta Compromise speech, the book is a popular, dramatic account lacking much sophistication in interpreting Washington’s development and legacy, staying close to Washing-ton’s own account.

Mathews, Basil. Booker T. Washington: Educator and Interracial Interpreter. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1948. 350pp. Although often an uncritical admirer, Mathews documents his study with important primary materials, including letters, interviews, and archival records.

Scott, Emmett, and Lyman Beecher Stowe. Booker T.Washington: Builder of a Civilization. New York: Doubleday, 1916. 331pp. Although not a comprehensive life, the book provides a full treatment of Washington’s career as an educator, relying on his own writings and the cooperation of the Tuskegee Institute.

Spencer, Samuel R. Jr. Booker T.Washington and the Negro’s Place in American Life. Boston: Little, Brown, 1955. 212pp. Spencer’s compact and highly readable portrait, although sympathetic, does suggest a more complex view of the man and his ideas. The book’s brevity, however, prevents a fully sophisticated interpretation and reassessment.

Fictional Portraits

Doctorow, E.L. Ragtime. New York: Random House, 1975. 270pp. Washington makes a memorable appearance in a confrontation with the novel’s militant Coalhouse Walker.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

McKissack, Patricia, and Frederick L.McKissack. The Story of Booker T.Washington. Chicago: Childrens Press, 1991. 31pp. MG. The book concentrates on Washington’s Tuskegee years and is fair both on his contributions and his controversial views.

Schroeder, Alan. Booker T.Washington. New York: Chelsea House, 1992. 143pp. MG/YA. Part of the Black Americans of Achievement series, this is an informative, respective, but not uncritical portrait of Washington’s rise to prominence and his ideas in the context of his times.

Troy, Don. Booker T.Washington. Chanhassen, Minnesota: Child’s World, 1999. 39pp. MG. In magazine style, this brief, illustrated biography introduces Washington’s life and accomplishments.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Booker T.Washington (1983). Director: William Greaves. Winner of the CINE Golden Eagle Award, this candid docudrama traces Washing-ton’s life in a series of scenes. Video.

Ragtime (1981). Director: Milos Forman. In this disappointing film adaptation of E.L.Doctorow’s novel, Moses Gunn appears as Washington who tries to mediate between Coalhouse Walker (Howard E.Rollins Jr.) and the authorities when the latter occupies J.P.Morgan’s mansion. Video.

Other Sources

Thombrough, Emma Lou, ed. Booker T.Washing-ton. Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Prentice-Hall, 1969. 184pp. Part of the Great Lives Observed series, this useful collection brings together excerpts from Washington’s own writings, contemporaries’ accounts, and modern critical assessments.

484. GEORGE WASHINGTON

1732–1799

The Commander-in-chief of the Continental Army during the American Revolution and the first U.S. president, Washington is often called the “Father of His Country.” He presided over the Constitutional Convention and played a major role in the adoption of the Constitution. Chosen president in 1789, Washington created a federal judiciary and a national bank. During his second term, Washington endeavored to keep the nation neutral in Britain’s war with France, implemented Jay’s Treaty with England (1794), and faced the Whiskey Rebellion (1794). He declined a third term in office.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Diaries of George Washington. Donald Jackson, ed. Charlottesville: University Press of Virginia, 1977–1979. 6 vols. Washington’s diaries lack personal revelations and his thoughts on people and events, but do supply essential information about his daily activities.

George Washington’s Diaries: An Abridgement. Dorothy Twohig, ed. (Charlottesville: University Press of Virginia, 1999, 453pp.). A one-volume selection of his diaries.

George Washington: A Biography in His Own Words. Ralph K.Andrist, ed. New York: Newsweek, 1972. 2 vols. Based on the Washington papers, Andrist arranges Washington’s own words to approximate an autobiographical account.

George Washington: In His Own Words. Maureen Harrison and Steve Gilbert, eds. New York: Barnes and Noble, 1997. 372pp. A selection for the general reader of Washington’s writings, including extracts from his 1753 journal, a selection of presidential papers, and his will.

Writings of George Washington. John Rhodehamel, ed. New York: Library of America, 1997. 1,149pp. A splendidly edited collection of Washington’s letters, speeches, diary entries, and military and presidential papers offers the reader a glimpse of the man and his character as revealed in his writings.

Writings of George Washington. Washington, DC: Government Printing Office, 1931–1944. 39 vols. This multivolume series includes only the letters from Washington. The ongoing multivolume Papers of George Washington series (Charlottesville: University of Virginia Press, 1983–1999. 9 vols.) when completed (the series has reached the year 1777) will form a more complete scholarly record of all the correspondence.

Recommended Biographies

Alden, John R. George Washington: A Biography. Baton Rouge: Louisiana State University Press, 1984. 326pp. One of the best single-volume biographies available, Alden synthesizes considerable research into an accessible, lively narrative account recommended for the general reader looking for a concise, sensible summation of the man and his career.

Cunliffe, Marcus. George Washington: Man and Monument. Boston: Little, Brown, 1958. 234pp. Cunliffe’s groundbreaking interpretive study set the standard for subsequent assessments of Washington, the man and the icon. A personality study, Cunliffe takes neither a debunking nor eulogizing approach. Instead he attempts to uncover the human figure beneath the legend.

Flexner, James T. George Washington. Boston: Little, Brown, 1965–1972. 4 vols. Along with Free-man’s monumental life, Flexner’s multivolume study is exhaustive and is regarded the definitive personal biography of Washington. Less useful for the scholar by its lack of full documentation, the account is more geared to the general reader, placing a complex, human figure in his wider social and historical context. Flexner’s one-volume abridgment, Washington: The Indispensable Man (Boston: Little, Brown, 1974. 423pp.), is a useful condensation.

Freeman, Douglas S. George Washington: A Biography. New York: Scribner, 1948–1957. 7 vols. Like his equally massive and groundbreaking biography of Robert E.Lee, Freeman’s study is a triumph of the biographer’s art. Based on unsurpassed research, the volumes recreate Washing-ton’s daily life. It remains the definitive factual treatment to which all subsequent studies owe a considerable debt. An abridgement of Freeman’s seven volumes by Richard Harwell is available as Washington (New York: Scribner, 1968. 780pp.).

Other Biographical Studies

Brookhiser, Richard. Founding Father: Rediscovering George Washington. New York: Free Press, 1996. 230pp. Described by the author as a “moral biography,” in the tradition of Plutarch, Brookhiser’s brief, interpretive study looks at the nature of Washington’s leadership and his character traits in his public and private lives.

Clark, E.Harrison. All Cloudless Glory: The Life of George Washington. Washington, DC: Regnery, 1996. 2 vols. Closer to autobiography, this is a documentary-based chronicle from his letters, diaries, and papers that allows Washington to narrate his own story, revealing the human figure beneath the myth.

Davis, Burke. George Washington and the American Revolution. New York: Random House, 1975. 497pp. Davis’s popular account of Washington’s military leadership during the Revolutionary War emphasizes the human cost and challenge that he faced, aided by eyewitness accounts.

Emery, Noemie. Washington: A Biography. New York: Putnam, 1976. 432pp. A popular biography, Emery’s life attempts to set Washington into a believable psychological and vivid historical context. Only partially successful, the book settles for sketches over more sophisticated analysis, and the interpretation is often more provocative than credible.

Ferling, John E. The First of Men: A Life of George Washington. Knoxville: The University of Tennessee Press, 1988. 598pp. Ferling emphasizes the complex, conflicted man in this demythologized study. Balanced, well documented, and readable, the book exploits significant primary research, but does occasionally enter the uncertain realm of psychological speculation.

Hughes, Rupert. George Washington. New York: Morrow, 1926–1930. 3 vols. Left unfinished by the author’s death, Hughes’s study takes Washington’s story up to 1781. The book is a highly critical, often intemperate, assault on Washington’s reputation. Hughes’s emphasis on the disagreeable, unsavory, and scandalous skews the picture of the man and his era, but the book is the most vivid of the iconoclastic studies.

Irving, Washington. The Life of George Washington. New York: Putnam, 1855–1859. 5 vols. Irving’s monumental life has chiefly a literary value although the author does attempt to see Washington as a credible human figure.

Marshall, John. Life of George Washington. Philadelphia: C.P.Wayne, 1804. 5 vols. Written by the Supreme Court Chief Justice, Marshall’s multivolume biography is more accurate than Weems’s hagiographic and mythological treatment, but Marshall’s admiration causes him to miss the man behind the monument.

McDonald, Forrest. The Presidency of George Washington. Lawrence: University Press of Kansas, 1974. 210pp. McDonald’s study of Washing-ton’s presidency includes appropriate biographical details, but focuses on Washington’s leadership and the social, political, and economic issues faced by his administration.

Nettels, Curtis P. George Washington and American Independence. Boston: Little, Brown, 1951. 333pp. Nettels’s stimulating account of the Revolutionary War years revises a number of commonly accepted views and is an excellent, informative source on Washington’s military leadership.

Randall, Willard S. George Washington: A Life. New York: Holt, 1997. 548pp. Randall adds to the already extensive coverage of Washington’s life with an emphasis on his family background and frontier activities before the Revolutionary War, attempting to reveal a recognizable human figure from the details of his formative years.

Schwartz, Barry. George Washington: The Making of an American Symbol. New York: Free Press, 1987. 250pp. Schwartz examines how the image of Washington was shaped by his contemporaries. Although not a full-scale biography, the book is nevertheless an important supplemental source that shows how Washington the icon was formed and why.

Stephenson, Nathaniel W., and Waldo H.Dunn. George Washington. New York: Oxford University Press, 1940. 2 vols. The authors’ narrative biography presents Washington realistically against a solid period background. Drawing extensively on primary documentary evidence, the book shows how Washington’s strengths and achievements can still emerge as the focus shifts from the myth to the reality.

Wall, Charles C. George Washington: Citizen-Soldier. Charlottesville: University Press of Virginia, 1980. 217pp. Wall deals primarily with the years between Washington’s military expedition to Ohio in 1754 and his resignation from command in 1783. Written by the longtime director of Mount Vernon, the book offers a unique perspective on the man as he is rarely seen.

Weems, Mason L. The Life of Washington. 1800. Reprint ed. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1967. 226pp. Published shortly after Washington’s death, Weems’s popular and influential laudatory and didactic treatment of Washington’s life retains a historical and cultural significance as the source of the many of the legends, such as the cherry tree story.

Woodward, William E. George Washington: The Images and the Man. New York: Boni and Liveright, 1926. 460pp. Woodward’s is the first of a number of revisionist, debunking reassessments of Washington that attempt to connect Washington to his cultural milieu, showing him as an opportunist whose motives were far from selfless.

Wright, Esmond. Washington and the American Revolution. New York: Collier, 1962. 222pp. Despite what the title suggests, this is a full-length biography covering both Washington’s private side and public activities. The book serves the reader looking for a competent, concise overview.

Biographical Novels

Bowen, Marjorie. The Soldier of Virginia: A Novel of George Washington. 1912. Reprint ed. New York: Kensington, 1975. 283pp. Bowen’s is an idealized, romanticized view of Washington using scenes from the French and Indian War and the Revolutionary War.

Boyce, Burke. Man from Mt. Vernon. New York: Harper & Row, 1961. 338pp.; Morning of a Hero. New York: Harper & Row, 1963. 340pp. Boyce’s novels dramatize significant portions of Washing-ton’s life. The first book chronicles the crucial events of the American Revolution; the second, Washington’s early years in the 1750s. Both books provide a rounded, realistic alternative to the idealized legend.

Clark, Mary Higgins. Aspire to the Heavens: A Portrait of George Washington. Cutchogue, New York: Buccaneer Books, 1991. 213pp. Mystery writer Clark attempts a biographical novel here that covers Washington’s career from his youth to his end, emphasizing his humanity in imaginative elaboration of the facts.

Fast, Howard. The Unvanquished. New York: Duell, Sloan and Pearce, 1942. 316pp. Washing-ton’s string of defeats during 1776 in New York are dramatized, culminating with the general’s crucial victory at Trenton.

Grey, Zane. George Washington, Frontiersman. Reprint ed. Lexington: University Press of Kentucky, 1994. 268pp. Written near the end of Grey’s career, the novel dramatizes the life of Washington from his birth to his taking command of the Continental Army in 1775. This edition includes editorial notes comparing the historical record with Grey’s treatment.

Kilian, Michael. Major Washington. New York: St. Martin’s, 1998. 353pp. Killian covers the years 1753 to 1755 in Washington’s early military career against the French in the Ohio Valley in a mixture of sound research, authentic period details, and imaginative embellishments, conjecture, and invention.

Martin, William. Citizen Washington. New York: Warren Books, 1999. 583pp. A variety of perspectives from fictional and historical figures are collected for a multidimensional portrait of Washington as a man, slave owner, military leader, and political figure.

Pier, Anthony S. The Young Man from Mount Vernon. New York: F.A.Stokes, 1940. 364pp. Covering Washington’s formative years during the 1740s and 1750s, the novel awkwardly employs two imagined historians to offer commentary on Washington’s story, assessing its truthfulness.

Wilson, Dorothy Clarke. Lady Washington. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1984. 376pp. This biographical portrait of Martha Washington dramatizes her life and times from her childhood through her 40-year marriage.

Fictional Portraits

Cooper, James Fenimore. The Spy. 1821. Reprint ed. New York: Scribner, 1931. 463pp. Washington appears in disguise behind enemy lines in this espionage novel set in Westchester County during the American Revolution.

Davis, Burke. Yorktown. New York: Rinehart, 1952. 306pp. The events leading up to the decisive battle at Yorktown are glimpsed from the perspective of a soldier active in the campaign.

Flood, Charles B. Monmouth. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1961. 349pp. This action/adventure novel is set during the fateful winter of 1777–1778 and depicts Washington at Valley Forge and on the battlefield, climaxing at the Battle of Monmouth.

Frey, Ruby F. Red Morning. New York: Putnam, 1946. 380pp. This historical romance set in the Ohio Valley during the French and Indian War features appearances by several historical figures, including Washington.

Kantor, MacKinlay. Valley Forge. New York: M. Evans, 1975. 339pp. Scrupulously researched, the novel blends fact and fiction to chronicle the winter of 1777–1778 and Washington’s attempt to keep his army together.

Kurtz, Katherine. Two Crowns for America. New York: Bantam Books, 1996. 375pp. Kurtz’s intriguing fantasy portrays a secret cabal of Freema-sons that attempts to control the outcome of the Revolution. The events are in part viewed from a member of Washington’s personal staff.

Sterne, Emma G. The Drums of Monmouth. New York: Court Book Co., 1935. 287pp. Seen from the perspective of poet Philip Freneau, the novel provides a look at Washington’s leadership during the decisive Battle of Monmouth.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Bruns, Roger. George Washington. New York: Chelsea House, 1987. 116pp. MG/YA. A readable, visually appealing biography that emphasizes Washington’s humanity with his flaws and private side intact.

Fleming, Thomas. First in the Hearts: A Biography of George Washington. New York: W.W.Norton, 1968. 136pp. MG/YA. Novelist and historian Fleming offers an accomplished portrait of the man and his era.

Meltzer, Milton. George Washington and the Birth of Our Country. New York: F. Watts, 1986. 188pp. MG/YA. Meltzer has produced another fine bio-graphical/historical presentation of Washington’s life in the context of the events surrounding the founding of the United States.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Anderson, Maxwell. Valley Forge: A Play in Three Acts. Washington, DC: Anderson, 1934. 152pp. Washington during the winter of 1776 is the focus of Anderson’s drama that imagines the general being tempted to make peace with the British.

A&E Biography Video: George Washington: Founding Father (1994). Director: Monte Markham. This film portrait traces Washington’s entire life from his early years, through the Revolutionary War and his presidency. Video.

The Crossing (2000). Director: Robert Harmon. Based on Howard Fast’s book, this drama about Washington’s daring attack on Trenton features Jeff Daniels as Washington, Roger Rees as General Hugh Mercer, and Steven McCarthy as Alexander Hamilton. Video.

George Washington (1984). Director: Buzz Kukik. Barry Bostwick stars in the title role in this made-for-television miniseries, adapted from James T.Flexner’s biography, co-starring Patty Duke as Martha Washington and Philip Casnoff as Lafayette. Video.

George Washington: The Forging of a Nation (1986), directed by William A.Graham, covers Washington’s post-Revolutionary War career. This is the sequel to the 1984 miniseries. Video.

George Washington: The Man Who Wouldn’t Be King (1992). Producer: David Sutherland. A segment of PBS’s American Experience series, this profile was written by fictional biographer William Martin. Video.

Liberty! The American Revolution (1997). Directors: Ellen Hovde and Muffie Meyer. This PBS documentary series features actors portraying the principals in dramatic readings from their letters and speeches. Washington is played by Stephen Lang. The companion volume is written by Thomas J.Fleming (New York: Viking, 1997. 394pp.) Video.

See also Benedict Arnold; Alexander Hamilton; Thomas Paine

485. DANIEL WEBSTER

1782–1852

An American statesman, lawyer, and one of the greatest orators of his time, Webster served in the House of Representative (1813–1817 and 1823–1827), where he was renowned for his brilliant speeches and public addresses. As a U.S. senator from Massachusetts (1827–1841), he became a national political figure. He supported protective tariffs, was a strong pro-Union advocate, and supported the Compromise of 1850 as a means toward preserving the Union. A leader of the Whig Party, Webster unsuccessfully ran for president in 1836. He served as secretary of state under presidents Harrison and Tyler.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Letters of Daniel Webster. C.H.Van Tyne, ed. 1902. Reprint ed. New York: Greenwood, 1969. 789pp. This selection of Webster’s letters to his family and intimates is arranged topically.

The Papers of Daniel Webster. Charles M.Witse, ed. Hanover, New Hampshire: University Press of New England, 1974–1989. 14 vols. Webster’s full correspondence is collected in the first seven volumes of this scholarly edition of his papers.

Speak for Yourself, Daniel: A Life of Webster in His Own Words. Walker Lewis, ed. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1969. 505pp. The editor has arranged

Webster’s letters chronologically to approximate an autobiography, emphasizing his human side and character, including his flaws.

Recommended Biographies

Bartlett, Irving H. Daniel Webster. New York: W.W.Norton, 1978. 333pp. In a fair assessment, Bartlett looks closely at Webster’s private side and reveals both his achievements and his human failings. Bartlett’s analysis of Webster’s character and temperament is well documented and sensibly argued, and the book is a solid choice for the reader looking for more than the details of Webster’s political career.

Baxter, Maurice G. One and Inseparable: Daniel Webster and the Union. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1984. 646pp. Baxter’s is a standout scholarly biography that treats Webster’s life, both public and private, in full, based on extensive primary research. Not as compellingly written as Rimini’s equally extensive treatment, Baxter’s study is nevertheless an impressive achievement, a judicious and insightful presentation of Webster’s life and times.

Remini, Robert V. Daniel Webster: The Man and His Times. New York: W.W.Norton, 1997. 796pp. Along with Baxter’s biography, Remini’s is one of the most comprehensive interpretive studies available. The book looks closely and realistically at both Webster’s political career and private life and vividly animates the era in American politics between the War of 1812 and the beginning of the Civil War that Webster dominated. This is a major work by a respected historian and biographer.

Other Biographical Studies

Current, Richard N. Daniel Webster and the Rise of National Conservatism. Boston: Little, Brown, 1955. 215pp. The emphasis of Current’s succinct interpretive study is the relationship between Webster’s political career and developing conservative ideas between 1820 and 1850 in the context of his times and the wider pattern of American history prior to the Civil War. This is a provocative analysis that looks at Webster clearly and knowledge-ably.

Curtis, George T. Life of Daniel Webster. New York: Appleton, 1869. 2 vols. Written by one of Webster’s literary executors, this early biography features important firsthand details, as well as letters and recollections to be found nowhere else.

Dalzell, Robert F. Jr. Daniel Webster and the Trial of American Nationalism 1843–1852. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1973. 363pp. Focusing on the last decade of Webster’s life, Dalzell examines in detail his presidential quest and offers an insightful analysis of why he failed to attain the presidency.

Fuess, Claude M. Daniel Webster. Boston: Little, Brown, 1930. 2 vols. Long regarded as the standard biography, Fuess’s two-volume study is highly detailed and readable but insufficiently critical to be completely reliable on all aspects of Webster’s life, particularly his shortcomings, which are downplayed.

Nathans, Sydney. Daniel Webster and Jacksonian Democracy. Baltimore: Johns Hopkins University Press, 1973. 249pp. Nathans provides a study of Webster’s role in presidential politics, including his opposition to Andrew Jackson and his unsuccessful pursuit of the presidency.

Peterson, Merrill D. The Great Triumvirate: Webster, Clay, and Calhoun. New York: Oxford University Press, 1987. 573pp. Peterson treats the collective political careers of the trio to characterize American history during the first half of the nineteenth century.

Biographical Novels

Morrow, Honoré. Black Daniel: The Love Story of a Great Man. New York: Morrow, 1931. 370pp. Morrow relates the love story between Webster and his second wife, Caroline LeRoy, in a sentimentalized account.

Fictional Portraits

Breslin, Howard. The Tamarack Tree. New York: Whittlesey, 1947. 438pp. An 1840 political convention on top of Mount Stratton in Vermont with Webster as the featured speaker is the dramatic occasion for this novel of small-town life.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Allen, Robert A. Daniel Webster: Defender of the Union. Milford, Michigan: Mott Media, 1989. 166pp. MG. Webster’s life as an orator and statesman is informatively chronicled with the historical context of his career examined.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Benét, Stephen Vincent, and Douglas Moore. The Devil and Daniel Webster: An Opera in One Act. New York: Farrar & Rinehart, 1939. 78pp. In the dramatic version of Benét’s story, Webster defends a New Hampshire farmer who has sold his soul to the devil.

Macleish, Archibald. Scratch. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1971. 116pp. In Macleish’s innovative alternative to Benét’s story and drama, Webster himself is put on trial for selling his soul to the devil for his 1850 vote in favor of the Fugitive Slave Law.

The Devil & Daniel Webster (1941). Director: William Dieterle. Edward Arnold plays Webster in this film adaptation of Benét’s story, with James Craig, Walter Huston, Gene Lockhart, and Jane Darwell. Video.

Gorgeous Hussy (1936). Director: Clarence Brown. In the film adaptation of Samuel Adams’s novel (New York: Grosset & Dunlap, 1934. 549pp.), a fictionalized biography of Jackson protégé Peggy Eaton (Joan Crawford), Lionel Barrymore portrays Jackson, and Sidney Toler plays Webster. Video.

Other Sources

Shewmaker, Kenneth E., ed. Daniel Webster, “The Completest Man”: Essays and Documents. Hanover, New Hampshire: University Press of New England, 1990. 311pp. Four distinguished scholars provide critical essays on different aspects of Webster’s career, along with a sampling of relevant documentary evidence.

486. ARTHUR WELLESLEY, DUKE OF WELLINGTON

1769–1852

A British general and statesman known as “the Iron Duke,” Wellington began his military career in Flanders and India. During the Napoleonic Wars, he drove the French from Spain and Portugal in the Peninsular War (1808–1814) and was victorious against Napoleon at the Battle of Waterloo (1815). He served in the Tory government and as Prime Minister (1828–1830) and passed the Catholic Emancipation Act (1829). His opposition to parliamentary reforms caused the downfall of his ministry. In 1842 he was made commander-in-chief for life.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

There are several collections of Wellington’s letters and personal public writings available: Despatches, Correspondence, and Memoranda of Field Marshal Arthur, Duke of Wellington. Arthur Richard Wellesley, ed. (London: J.Murray, 1867, 2 vols.); The Words of Wellington: Collected from His Dispatches, Letters, and Speeches. Edith Walford, ed. (New York: Scribner, 1869. 207pp.); and Wellington at War, 1794–1815: A Selection of His Wartime Letters. Antony Brett-James, ed. (New York: St. Martin’s, 1961. 337pp.).

Recommended Biographies

Hibbert, Christopher. Wellington: A Personal History. Reading, Massachusetts: Addison-Wesley, 1997. 460pp. The best single-volume biography available, Hibbert’s study chronicles both Wellington’s achievements as a military commander and political figure and presents a believable psychological profile of Wellington’s personality.

Longford, Elizabeth. Wellington. New York: Harper & Row, 1970–1973. 2 vols. Longford adds considerably to our view of the intimate, domestic side of Wellington’s life in this detailed, and carefully researched study. Sympathetic, but not uncritical, Longford’s is the most comprehensive and accomplished biography currently available.

Other Biographical Studies

Aldington, Richard. Wellington. London: Heinemann, 1946. 378pp. Aldington’s is a straightforward factual account of Wellington’s career set against a vivid period background.

Cooper, Leonard. The Age of Wellington: The Life and Times of the Duke of Wellington, 1769–1852. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1963. 308pp. The times predominate over the life in Cooper’s anecdotal study that can be charged at several places with misleading oversimplification.

Fortescue, Sir J.W. Wellington. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1925. 313pp. The work of a distinguished British military historian, Fortescue devotes his attention almost exclusively to Wellington’s military career and virtually ignores the British general’s life after Waterloo. What the book does well is provide an informed assessment of Wellington’s military leadership and strategic decisions during his 28-year army life.

Gleig, G.R. Life of Arthur, Duke of Wellington. 1865. Reprinted. New York: Dutton, 1909. 438pp. Based on the author’s close relationship with his subject, Gleig’s life is an important source for anecdotal information about Wellington’s life and military career, despite its respectful tone and lack of critical objectivity.

Guedalla, Philip. Wellington. New York: Harper, 1931. 536pp. The book covers Wellington’s life in full, but devotes most of its attention to his political career after Waterloo. Less assured on the military details, Guedalla is accomplished on the social and cultural background with which to view a convincingly human figure. The book’s focus is, however, sometimes diffused by the author’s highly man-nered style.

Maxwell, Sir Herbert. The Life of Wellington. Boston: Little, Brown, 1899. 2 vols. The first truly objective account of Wellington’s character and career, Maxwell’s is a highly detailed and impressively researched biography.

Weller, Jac. Wellington at Waterloo. New York: Crowell, 1967. 264pp.; Wellington in India. 1972. Reprint ed. Harrisburg, Pennsylvania: Stackpole Books, 1993. 338pp.; Wellington in the Peninsula. Harrisburg, Pennsylvania: Stackpole Books, 1999. 392pp. This series of military historical studies provides a full and detailed summary of Wellington’s military career from his initial commands in India through his triumph at Waterloo.

Fictional Portraits

Cornwell, Bernard. The Sharpe series. 1981-. Cornwell’s acclaimed adventure series features the exploits of British officer Richard Sharpe during the Napoleonic Wars includes frequent appearances by Wellington, who was responsible for promoting Sharpe from the ranks.

Heyer, Georgette. An Infamous Army. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1938. 415pp. Heyer’s classic period novel looks at the events of the Hundred Days culminating at Waterloo from the perspective of a group of English aristocrats, including an officer on Wellington’s staff.

Fraser, George MacDonald. Flashman. New York: Signet, 1969. 252pp. An aging Wellington conducts Flashman to a royal audience with Victoria and Albert to accept the undeserved thanks of a grateful nation for Flashy’s apparent heroism during the Afghan War in this first installment of Fra-ser’s delightfully inventive historical series.

Komroff, Manuel. Waterloo. New York: Cow-ard-McCann, 1936. 307pp. The novel offers a realistic and credible portrayal of the events during Na-poleon’s Hundred Days, culminating at Waterloo.

McDonough, James. The Limits of Glory: A Novel of Waterloo. Novato, California: Presidio, 1991. 300pp. The generals—Wellington, Napoleon, and Blücher—offer their perspectives on the strategies on the battlefield of Waterloo, supplemented by the view of other combatants in a truthful reconstruction.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

The Iron Duke (1934). Director: Victor Saville. George Arliss puts in another of his famous historical portrayals in this biographical account of Wellington’s life. Co-starring Gladys Cooper, Emlyn Williams, and Felix Aylmer. Video.

Lady Caroline Lamb (1972). Director: Robert Bolt. Despite Bolt’s script and an impressive cast, including Laurence Olivier as Wellington and Ralph Richardson as the Prince Regent, this is a flat and unconvincing treatment of the famous scandal of Lady Caroline Lamb’s (Sarah Miles) highly public affair with Byron (Richard Chamberlain). Video.

Waterloo (1970). Director: Sergei Bondarchuk. This historical account of the Battle of Waterloo features an unusual interpretation of Napoleon by Rod Steiger. Wellington is more convincingly portrayed by Christopher Plummer. A novelization of the screenplay by Frederick E.Smith (London: Pan Books, 1970. 189pp.) is available. Video.

See also Napoleon Bonaparte; Horatio Nelson

487. H.G.WELLS

1866–1946

English author and social thinker, Herbert George Wells was a biology teacher before becoming a novelist. He is famous for such enduring science fiction classics as The Time Machine (1895), The Invisible Man (1897), and The War of the Worlds (1898). His realistic novels, considered his finest achievement, include Tono-Bungay (1909) and The History of Mr. Polly (1910). Among his other works are A Modern Utopia (1905) and The Out-line of History (1920).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Correspondence of H.G.Wells. David C. Smith, ed. Brookfield, Vermont: Pickering & Chatto, 1998. 4 vols. Wells’s extensive correspondence is a detailed record of his activities and his relationship with a wide literary and social circle. Indispensable as a biographical source.

Experiment in Autobiography: Discoveries and Conclusions of a Very Ordinary Brain (Since 1866). New York: Macmillan, 1934. 218pp. Wells’s candid autobiographical reflections trace his development, views of his contemporaries, and his political and social views at various periods of his life.

Recommended Biographies

MacKenszie, Norman, and Jeanne MacKenszie. H.G.Wells: A Biography. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1973. 487pp. The authors present a balanced, detailed assessment that offers a credible psychological portrait of the contradictions in Wells’s nature that help to explain his literary career as well as his relationships.

Smith, David C. H.G.Wells, Desperately Mortal: A Biography. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1986. 634pp. Smith’s well-docu-mented, balanced study is among the most comprehensive, full-length treatments of Wells’s life based on extensive primary research. More a topical analysis than a chronological narrative, the book serves as a valuable reference tool.

West, Anthony. H.G.Wells: Aspects of a Life. New York: Random House, 1984. 404pp. Written by Wells’s son from his liaison with Rebecca West, the book is a memoir-biography that, unlike Gordon Ray’s study of the Wells- West relationship, takes his father’s side in the couple’s conflict and the writer’s quarrels with Henry James, Bernard Shaw, the Fabians, and others. Despite an often intemperate tone and bias, the book includes valuable details on Wells’s early life and personality-

Other Biographical Studies

Brome, Vincent. H.G.Wells: A Biography. New York: Longmans, 1951. 255pp. The first full-length biography, Brome’s is an anecdotal, secondhand, journalistic account, and more an impressionist sketch based on others’ recollections.

Coren, Michael. The Invisible Man: The Life and Liberties of H.G.Wells. New York: Atheneum, 1993. 240pp. Coren focuses on the dark side of Wells’s ideas and behavior, including his callous treatment of the women in his life, his alleged anti-Semitism, and his connection to fascism. The book is more an indictment than an attempt at a rounded, objective assessment.

Dickson, Lovat. H.G.Wells: His Turbulent Life and Times. New York: Atheneum, 1969. 330pp. An informal and selective biographical portrait, Dickson offers fewer than 50 pages to Wells’s last three decades, concentrating instead on the writer’s youth, and his literary success, scandalous sexual life, and literary and intellectual relationships. Dickson dismisses Wells’s social and political writing and sees his career as largely a failure, based on a lack of what he labels “moral muscle.”

Foot, Michael. H.G.: The History of Mr. Wells. Washington, DC: Counterpoint, 1995. 318pp. The author, the former leader of the British Labour Party, presents a sympathetic reassessment of Well’s life, works, and ideas in the context of social developments that the writer anticipated. In the interest of his thesis, Foot glosses over many unflattering aspects of Wells’s notions and personality.

Kagarlitski, J. The Life and Thought of H.G.Wells. New York: Barnes and Noble, 1966. 210pp. This critical study by a Russian scholar is a brief survey of Wells’s career and the connections between his life and work.

Ray, Gordon N. H.G.Wells and Rebecca West. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1974. 215pp. Ray focuses on the relationship between Wells and West in an examination written with the latter’s cooperation and with access to Wells’s 800 letters to her. West’s side of their turbulent affair and breakup is prominent here, but the book does offer an intimate portrait of Wells during a crucial period of his career.

Fictional Portraits

Alexander, Karl. Time after Time. New York: Delacorte, 1979. 341pp. Wells chases Jack the Ripper in his time machine to 1979 San Francisco in this inventive fantasy.

Hughes, David. The Man Who Invented Tomorrow. London: Constable, 1968. 191pp. 213pp. The production of a television film on Wells is the occasion for this often-funny meditation on the writer’s identity and modern relevance.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Ferrell, Keith. H.G.Wells: First Citizen of the Future. New York: M.Evans, 1983. 192pp. YA. This is thoughtful, sympathetic biography that does not slight the scandals of Wells’s private life and offers a balanced, well-researched, fact-filled account.

Nardo, Don. H.G.Wells. San Diego: Lucent Books, 1992. 111pp. MG/YA. Nardo explores the life of the author with extensive quotations from primary sources and background information.

Wood, James P. I Told You So!: A Life of H.G. Wells. New York: Pantheon, 1969. 182pp. MG/YA. Wood traces how Wells’s personal experiences were transformed into his writings.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: H.G.Wells: Time Traveler (1995). Producer: Craig Haffner. Wells’s literary career and private life are both profiled in this film biography. Video.

Time after Time (1979). Director: Nicholas Meyer. This film version of Karl Alexander’s novel casts Malcolm McDowell as Wells, Mary Steenburgen as his modern love interest, and David Warner as Jack the Ripper, whom he chases to contemporary San Francisco. Video.

Other Sources

Hammond, J.R. An H.G.Wells Chronology. New York: St. Martin’s, 1999. 192pp. This is a useful reference tool, documenting Wells’s activities in detail.

Hammond, J.R., ed. H.G.Wells: Interviews and Recollections. Totowa, New Jersey: Barnes and Noble, 1980. 121pp. Wells’s own comments on his life and work are joined with the views of his contemporaries.

488. JOHN WESLEY

1703–1791

English evangelical preacher and founder of Methodism, Wesley was greatly influenced by Martin Luther’s preface to the Epistle to the Romans, and from that derived the message of salvation that informed his preaching. He is said to have preached 40,000 sermons and to have traveled 250,000 miles. The Methodist church became a sect separate from the Anglican church, although that was not Wesley’s original intention.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Journal of John Wesley. Elizabeth Jay, ed. New York: Oxford University Press, 1987. 290pp. This is a convenient, carefully edited selection from Wesley’s journal covering the years 1735 through 1790.

Letters of John Wesley. John Telford, ed. London: Epworth, 1931. 8 vols. This is the most comprehensive collection of Wesley’s letters. A one-volume edition, Selected Letters. Frederick C.Gill, ed. (London: Epworth, 1956. 244pp.) is also available.

Recommended Biographies

Ayling, Stanley. John Wesley. Nashville, Tennessee: Abingdon, 1979. 350pp. Ayling synthesizes his sources from Wesley’s journal and letters into an objective, fair, and surprisingly irreverent overview of Wesley’s life and career, accessible and entertaining for the general reader.

Pudney, John. John Wesley and His World. New York: Scribner, 1978. 128pp. Pudney captures Wesley in the context of his culture and environment in this fully illustrated biography that is both highly readable and carefully researched from contemporary sources. Pudney challenges the usual presentation of Wesley as dour and stern.

Rack, Henry D. Reasonable Enthusiast: John Wesley and the Rise of Methodism. Philadelphia: Trinity Press, 1989. 656pp. Based on extensive scholarship that has substantially altered our view of Wesley, Rack presents a fresh assessment of a contradictory man, set firmly in the context of his times.

Other Biographical Studies

Heitzenrater, Richard P. John Wesley: His Own Biographer. Nashville, Tennessee: Abington Press, 1984. 220pp. Rather than producing an interpretive study, the author assembles materials that allow readers to draw their own conclusions about the man and his beliefs based on the many facets he presented to his age.

Piette, Maximin. John Wesley in the Evolution of Protestantism. New York: Sheed & Ward, 1937. 569pp. The work of a French Franciscan friar, the book locates Wesley’s achievement in the broadest possible context of Protestant thought from the sixteenth to the eighteenth centuries. Beginning with Luther and Zwingli, Piette turns in the second half of his survey to Wesley’s personality and theological beliefs. Although limited in its biographical focus to Wesley as religious leader, the portrait provided is insightful and solidly grounded by historical and primary research.

Southey, Robert. Life of John Wesley. 1820. Reprint ed. New York: F.A.Stokes, 1903. 374pp. Although Southey’s life of Wesley is highly critical and inaccurate in many of its details, this early assessment has considerable historical interest of a near contemporary view of the man and his times.

Biographical Novels

Drakeford, John W. Take Her, Mr. Wesley. Waco, Texas: Word Books, 1973. 142pp. Based on Wesley’s diaries and eyewitness accounts, the novel supplies a journal account of a year in Wesley’s life in the Georgia colony and his relationship with Sophia Hopkey.

Oemler, Marie C. The Holy Lover. New York: Boni & Liveright, 1927. 315pp. Based on the time he spent in Georgia, this novel portrays Wesley in unflattering terms during his first and last love affair.

Williamson, Glen. Sons of Susanna. Wheaton, Illinois: Tyndale House, 1991. 236pp. Wesley, his mother, Susanna, and brother Charles are depicted in this devotional novel that depicts Wesley’s background and the early years of Methodism.

Fictional Portraits

Andrew, Prudence. A New Creature. New York: Putnam, 1968. 331pp. Wesley is shown preaching and spreading the message of Methodism in this novel that portrays the effects of his conversion on a Bristol merchant.

Crow, Donna F. A Gentle Calling. Wheaton, Illinois: Victor Books, 1987. 199pp. Set in 1749, a British school teacher seeks her spiritual way and encounters Wesley, who provides some of her answers.

Morris, Gilbert. The Ramparts of Heaven. Wheaton, Illinois: Tyndale House, 1997. 400pp. Wesley and the Methodist movement are the subject of this devotional historical novel.

Shellabarger, Samuel. Lord Vanity. Boston: Little, Brown, 1953. 473pp. Shellabarger’s panoramic view of eighteenth-century life features appearances by a number of historical figures, including James Wolfe, Beau Nash, and Wesley.

Yerby, Frank. Jarrett’s Jade. New York: Dial Press, 1959. 342pp. This historical romance set in colonial Savannah, Georgia, features an appearance by Wesley during his service to James Oglethorpe.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Wellman, Sam. John Wesley: Founder of the Methodist Church. New York: Chelsea House, 1998. 207pp. MG/YA. Part of the Heroes of Faith series, this is a fast-paced, informative life of the founder of Methodism, emphasizing Wesley’s determination to spread his message to all classes of society.

489. EDITH WHARTON

1862–1937

American novelist and short-story writer, Wharton is noted for her subtle, ironic, and superbly crafted fictional accounts of New York society. Her most famous novels are The House of Mirth (1905), Ethan Frame (1911), and The Age of Innocence (1920; Pulitzer Prize). She also wrote travel books, literary criticism, and poetry. She was awarded the French Legion of Honor for her service during World War I.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

A Backward Glance: An Autobiography. 1934. Reprint ed. New York: Scribner, 1964. 385pp. The novelist reflects discreetly on her life, background, and relationships. Included is a fascinating and revealing chapter in which Wharton discusses her artistic methods.

The Letters of Edith Wharton. R.W.B.Lewis, ed. New York: Scribner, 1988. 654pp. Of her 4,000 existing letters, Lewis has chosen nearly 400 that show the novelist “at her epistolary best and most characteristic.” The selections illuminate Whar-ton’s daily life, writing career, and her relationship with an extensive circle of friends, including Henry James, Bernard Berenson, and Kenneth Clark.

Recommended Biographies

Benstock, Shari. No Gifts for Chance: A Biography of Edith Wharton. New York: Scribner, 1994. 546pp. In a feminist reading of Wharton’s life and character, Benstock challenges the conception of the writer as an emotionally withdrawn observer, arguing that the novelist instead should be viewed as an ambitious, determined individual who consciously fashioned both her own identity and her art. Based on previously untapped archival material, Benstock both adds to the biographical record and uses her data for a fresh, insightful portrait.

Lewis, R.W.B. Edith Wharton: A Biography. New York: Harper & Row, 1975. 592pp. Lewis’s Pulitzer Prize-winning biography is the first and still one of the best scholarly biographies based on personal papers not available to previous writers. Lewis fills in the record of a multifaceted woman along with a vivid evocation of her social background and circle.

Wolff, Cynthia G. A Feast of Words: The Triumph of Edith Wharton. New York: Oxford University Press, 1976. 453pp. Interpreting the material that Lewis uncovered in his study, Wolff presents a coherent psychological profile of Wharton’s personality and development. Wolff’s feminist perspective sheds considerable light on the challenges Wharton faced to achieve a wider identity and status as a serious writer.

Other Biographical Studies

Auchincloss, Louis. Edith Wharton: A Woman in Her Time. New York: Viking, 1971. 191pp. Auchincloss’s text to accompany a series of evocative illustrations provides a character sketch as well as brief coverage of her social background, her era, relationships, and a critique of her writing. Serves as a basic overview for the general reader.

Dwight, Eleanor. Edith Wharton: An Extraordinary Life. New York: Abrams, 1994. 296pp. With more than 300 illustrations, Dwight supplies a visual tour of Wharton’s life and world, finding in the various settings a revealing key to understanding the author’s personality and artistic method.

Kellogg, Grace. The Two Lives of Edith Wharton: The Woman and Her Work. New York: Appleton-Century, 1965. 332pp. Kellogg’s imaginative rather than scholarly biography should be read with caution. In the absence of fact the author fills in the gaps with surmises to reconstruct the inner life of her subject. The result is a provocative appreciation of Wharton’s life, personality, and work but lacking in scholarly precision and reliability.

Lawson, Richard. Edith Wharton. New York: Frederick Ungar, 1977. 118pp. Lawson’s critical introduction to some of Wharton’s works sketches the connections between the novelist’s writing and her life in a useful, though limited study.

Lubbock, Percy. Portrait of Edith Wharton. New York: Appleton-Century, 1947. 249pp. Lubbock creates his portrait from his own and others’ reminiscences. Dismissive of Wharton’s literary achievement, Lubbock’s view is incomplete, with interesting details on her social life and relationship but little on her genius and identity as a writer.

McDowell, Margaret B. Edith Wharton. Boston: Twayne, 1976. 186pp. McDowell’s compact critical study of Wharton’s fiction includes a concise overview of her life in its opening chapter, summarizing Wharton’s career and her relationship with Henry James and others.

Price, Alan. The End of the Age of Innocence: Edith Wharton and the First World War. New York: St. Martin’s, 1996. 238pp. Price supplies a detailed account of Wharton’s wartime activities, exploring the writer’s motive in devoting herself to the war effort.

Fictional Portraits

Aiken, Joan. The Haunting of Lamb House. New York: St. Martin’s, 1993. 200pp. Henry James’s English home is the locale for this ghost story that features James and writer E.F.Benson making sense of the unexplainable. Wharton, writer Hugh Walpole, and James’s brother William make appearances.

Hill, Carol DeChellis. Henry James’ Midnight Song. New York: Poseidon Press, 1993. 445pp. Wharton is one of many historical suspects in an intriguing period murder mystery set in fin-de-siècle Vienna. The novel is a tour de force of historical animation with intriguing portraits of James, Freud, and Jung.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Leach, William. Edith Wharton. New York: Chelsea House, 1987. 111pp. MG/YA. Leach’s is an accomplished treatment of Wharton’s life and her literary achievement.

Turk, Ruth. Edith Wharton: Beyond the Age of Innocence. Greensboro, North Carolina: Tudor, 1998. 72pp. MG/YA. This is an engaging, though somewhat simplified, portrait of the author that stresses the obstacles to Wharton’s literary career.

Worth, Richard. Edith Warton. New York: J. Messner, 1994. 154pp. MG/YA. Part of the Classic American Writers series, Worth outlines the major events of Wharton’s life with critical commentary on some of her most famous works and a discussion of how the values of society of her day were reflected in her writing.

Other Sources

Wright, Sarah B. Edith Wharton A to Z: The Essential Guide to the Life and Work. New York: Facts on File, 1998. 330pp. Wharton’s life, work, and associates are extensively covered through alphabetically arranged entries.

See also Henry James

490. JAMES MCNEILL WHISTLER

1834–1903

American painter, etcher, and wit, Whistler lived and worked mainly in London. He is perhaps best known for the famous portrait of his mother, Ar-rangement in Black and Gray (1872). He first achieved success with The Little White Girl (1863). His other works include Old Battersea Bridge (1872–1875) and a famous portrait of Thomas Carlyle (1873). Whistler designed interiors that foreshadowed the Art Nouveau movement and published critical essays and aphorisms. His published lecture, Ten O’clock (1888) greatly influenced art theory.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Whistler on Art: Selected Letters and Writings of James McNeill Whistler. Nigel Thorp, ed. Washington, DC: Smithsonian Institution Press, 1994. 184pp. In a collection of documents arranged chronologically, Whistler comments on art to his family, friends, and colleagues.

Recommended Biographies

Anderson, Ronald, and Anne Koval. James McNeill Whistler: Beyond the Myth. New York: Carroll & Graf, 1995. 544pp. Anderson’s is a major reassessment of the artist that challenges the conventional notion of Whistler as an irascible dandy at war with critics and his fellow artists. Anderson’s Whistler is a far more complex figure, and the book does an excellent job exploring his private as well as public side.

Weintraub, Stanley. Whistler: A Biography. New York: Weybright and Talley, 1974. 498pp. Weintraub’s is the standout Whistler biography. It is vividly written and carefully documented, making good use of primary sources. The author is at home with the era, and Whistler is realistically presented against a solid period background.

Other Biographical Studies

Fleming, Gordon H. The Young Whistler 1834–1866. London: Allen and Unwin, 1978. 264pp. Covering the first 32 years of the artist’s life, Fleming attempts to document the record, separating the facts from Whistler’s misrepresentations of his past. The author, however, provides few insights about the meaning of the facts he has unearthed related to Whistler’s formative years. In James Abbott McNeill Whistler (New York: St. Martin’s, 1991. 367pp.), an expansion and continuation of his earlier book, Fleming treats Whistler’s life in full with the same cautious reliance on facts rather than an interpretation of their meaning on Whistler’s development as a man and an artist.

Gregory, Horace. The World of James McNeill Whistler. New York: T.Nelson, 1959. 255pp. Gregory’s critical biography is a gossipy, undocumented chronicle, marred by inaccuracies and imaginative flights of fancy.

Laver, James. Whistler. 1930. Re vised ed. London: Faber and Faber, 1951. 318pp. Superseded by later biographies in terms of sources and factual details, Laver’s is a compact interpretive survey of Whis-tler’s career and character that tries to redress the realistic balance compared to the Pennells’ extravagant admiration.

McMullen, Roy. Victorian Outsider: A Biography of J.A.M.Whistler. New York: Dutton, 1973. 307pp. Describing his biography as a “descriptive evaluation,” McMullen offers a psychological interpretation of Whistler’s personality in a study intended for the general reader. Highly speculative and impressionistic, the book is more lively than reliable and is poorly documented.

Pearson, Hesketh. The Man Whistler. New York: Harper, 1952. 276pp. Pearson’s is an enjoyable, lively biographical sketch that is more a collection of anecdotes than a true biography and that rarely penetrates very deeply behind Whistler’s entertaining public persona. As the title indicates, Whistler the artist is left to others to analyze, and the result is a selective and disjointed presentation of Whistler the wit.

Pennell, Elizabeth R., and Joseph Pennell. The Life of James McNeill Whistler. 1908. Reprinted. New York: AMS Press, 1973. 2 vols. Whistler provided the authors with anecdotes, reminiscences, and correspondence shortly before his death and, accordingly, this is an important source, but should be used with care. Details unflattering to the artist are simply omitted, and Whistler was a notoriously unreliable witness; Whistler Journal (Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1921. 339pp.) is a diary record of the authors’ meetings with Whistler, supplemented by interviews and letters from his acquaintances.

Prideaux, Tom. The World of Whistler: 1834–1903. New York: Time-Life Books, 1970. 191pp. A brief biographical sketch serves as an introduction to reproductions of Whistler’s works. The painter’s milieu and the works of his colleagues and rivals are also represented.

Spalding, Frances. Whistler. Oxford: Phaidon, 1979. 80pp. Spalding offers little on Whistler’s life but does critique his artistic method as a preliminary for a presentation of a number of his works.

Sutton, Denys. Nocturne: The An of James McNeill Whistler. Philadelphia: Lippincott, 1964. 153pp. Although not a biography, Sutton does attempt to trace Whistler’s artistic development and consider his ideas against his cultural background.

Walker, John. James McNeill Whistler. New York: Abrams, 1987. 160pp. This collection of reproductions supplies only a brief text that sketches an overview of Whistler’s career.

Biographical Novels

Berkman, Ted. To Seize the Passing Dream: A Novel of Whistler, His Women, and His World. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1972. 431pp. In a convincing portrait of Whistler and his times, the artist is displayed as a far more complex and troubled figure than is usual, with his cynical, witty public persona a mask disguising self-doubt.

Williams, Lawrence. I, James McNeill Whistler: An Autobiography. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1972. 383pp. Whistler narrates his own story from the 1850s to the 1890s in a generally reliable chronicle of his activities, including his notorious lawsuit against John Ruskin for defamation of character.

Fictional Portraits

Butler, David. Lillie. New York: Warner, 1978. 435pp. This biographical novel on the life of English beauty and actress Lillie Langtry features appearances by Whistler, Oscar Wilde, Randolph Churchill, Leopold of Belgium, Millais, and Edward, Prince of Wales.

Fitzgerald, Nancy. Chelsea. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1979. 231pp. This period romance features an authentic depiction of the Victorian art scene with appearances by Whistler and Oscar Wilde.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Berman, Avis. James McNeill Whistler. New York: Abrams, 1993. 92pp. YA. Part of the acclaimed First Impressions series, this is an informative biographical profile and introduction to Whis- tler’s art and times.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Lillie (1990). Director: John Gorrie. Dramatizing the career of beauty and actress Lillie Langtry who becomes the mistress of Edward VII, Francesca Annis takes the title role with Dennis Lill as Edward, Don Fellows as Whistler, and Peter Egan as Oscar Wilde.

491. WALT WHITMAN

1819–1892

Considered by many to be one of the the greatest American poets, Whitman worked as a printer, journalist, and carpenter, and during the Civil War served as a volunteer nurse in Washington. His first volume of poetry was Leaves of Grass (1855), published at his own expense. Whitman’s unorthodox style, realistic depiction of contemporary life, and sexual candor shocked his contemporaries, but the poet’s genius was recognized by such figures as Ralph Waldo Emerson and Henry David Thoreau. Among Whitman’s other volumes are Drum-Taps (1865) and the prose collection, Democratic Vistas (1871).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Correspondence of Walt Whitman. Edwin H. Miller, ed. New York: New York University Press, 1961–1977. 6 vols. This is the scholarly comprehensive collection of Whitman’s letters. Miller in Selected Letters of Walt Whitman (Iowa City: University of Iowa Press, 1990. 320pp.) has selected 250 of the 2,800 letters in the multivolume set to form “an autobiography, but an admittedly limited one.”

Daybooks and Notebooks. William White, ed. New York: New York University Press, 1978. 3 vols. This collection reprints Whitman’s business and personal records kept between 1876 and 1891. Whitman’s Notebooks and Unpublished Prose Manuscripts. Edward F.Grier, ed. (New York: New York University Press, 1984. 6 vols.) is an essential scholarly edition of personal writings that illuminates the poet’s creative method and ideas.

The Sacrificial Years: A Chronicle of Walt Whit-man’s Experiences in the Civil War. John H. McElroy, ed. 1999. McElroy collects for the first time all of Whitman’s letters, articles, and other writings that record his reactions to the war, arranging them into a chronological sequence that approximates a diary of the poet’s war experiences.

Recommended Biographies

Allen, Gay Wilson. The Solitary Singer: A Critical Biography of Walt Whitman. 1955. Revised ed. New York: New York University Press, 1967. 616pp. Long established as the standard biography, Allen’s account is reliable, carefully documented, and balanced in its assessment. In Walt Whitman (New York: Grove Press, 1961. 192pp.) Allen supplies a concise, introductory study consisting of a succinct overview of Whitman’s life as well as excerpts from his work.

Kaplan, Justin. Walt Whitman: A Life. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1980. 432pp. In a richly detailed, acute psychological profile, Kaplan focuses on Whitman’s thoughts, works, and relationships, avoiding either undue adulation or denigration. Kaplan’s is a fine choice for the general reader who wishes a competent and insightful look at the poet’s life and times.

Loving, Jerome. Walt Whitman: The Song of Himself. Berkeley: University of California Press, 1999. 568pp. Loving, one of the preeminent Whitman scholars, sheds new light on the poet’s early background and his teaching and journalistic careers, identifies the sources for many of the anecdotes on Whitman, and corrects and extends the biographical record in an authoritative and illuminating critical biography.

Miller, Edwin H. Walt Whitman’s Poetry: A Psychological Journey. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1968. 245pp. Miller, the editor of Whitman’s correspondence, is a knowledgeable and skillful interpreter of the poet’s development who uses the poetry as an autobiographical mirror.

Zweig, Paul. Walt Whitman: The Making of the Poet. New York: Basic Books, 1984. 372pp. Zweig concentrates on the central question surrounding Whitman: how he transformed himself into an influential poet. Beginning his examination in 1848 and continuing until the end of the Civil War, Zweig brilliantly analyzes Whitman’s achievement and the cultural and intellectual background that helps to explain his progress.

Other Biographical Studies

Asselineau, Roger. The Evolution of Walt Whitman. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1960–1962. 2 vols. Asselineau’s groundbreaking biographical and critical study anticipated the continuing modern debates over Whitman’s life and work. Volume one is devoted to Whitman’s biography; volume two offers a thoughtful critical reading of his works.

Binns, Henry B. A Life of Walt Whitman. New York: Dutton, 1905. 369pp. Widely recognized as the first truly objective account of Whitman’s life, Binns’s study is more suggestive than conclusive, with some speculation that has not been sustained by later research.

Black, Stephen A. Whitman’s Journeys into Chaos: A Psychoanalytic Study of the Poetic Process. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1975. 255pp. Black’s psychoanalytic study of Whitman’s imagination concentrates on his poetic development in the years between 1855 and 1865. Highly speculative but penetrating, the analysis emphasizes the autoerotic over the homoerotic as a key to understanding Whitman’s poetry and creativity.

Callow, Philip. From Noon to Starry Night: A Life of Walt Whitman. Chicago: I.R.Deer, 1992. 394pp. In Callow’s portrait, Whitman is a man of massive contradictions and masks obscuring his true identity. The book retraces familiar ground in the story of the poet’s remarkable progress that is documented more expertly and fully by Allen, Kaplan, Loving, and Zweig.

Canby, Henry S. Walt Whitman: An American. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1943. 381pp. Canby’s is an intellectual biography, tracing the development of Whitman’s ideas and evolving personality. Not concerned with the external events of Whit-man’s life but the interior conflicts, Canby provides a stimulating and plausible psychological profile.

Carpenter, Edward. Days with Walt Whitman: With Some Notes on His Life and Works. New York: Macmillan, 1906. 186pp. Carpenter’s is the most critical treatment of the several biographies written by Whitman’s disciples. Based on interviews with the poet, the book calls attention to the conflicts in Whitman’s nature, a theme that has been explored more fully in subsequent biographies.

Cavitch, David. My Soul and I: The Inner Life of Walt Whitman. Boston: Beacon Press, 1985. 193pp. Cavitch’s psychological reading of Whit-man’s life and work sheds light on various relationship conflicts evident in his writings, locating the source of the poet’s ego assertion his attempt to resolve his feelings about his parents. Lacking the lit-erary-historical breadth of other works, the book is nevertheless an insightful study for the reader who already has a firm grasp on Whitman’s life and poetry.

Holloway, Emory. Whitman: An Interpretation in Narrative. New York: Knopf, 1926. 330pp. Hollo-way’s Pulitzer Prize-winning biography is a full-length, well-researched interpretive study that delivers a credible psychological portrait of the poet, centered on the author’s insistence on Whit-man’s heterosexuality.

Knapp, Bettina L. Walt Whitman. New York: Continuum, 1993. 240pp. Knapp supplies a brief biographical profile, followed by a critical analysis of Whitman’s poetry and prose that serves the general reader and undergraduate well in orienting them to the man and his works.

Miller, James E. Walt Whitman. New York: Twayne, 1962. 188pp. This entry in the Twayne Author series is a sensible critical introduction tracing the connection between Whitman’s life and his works and is an excellent overview for the student and the general reader.

Morris, Roy Jr. The Better Angel: Walt Whitman in the Civil War. New York: Oxford University Press, 2000. 288pp. This is the first complete account of the poet’s Civil War years that documents the importance of Whitman’s war experiences in shaping his life and work.

Perry, Bliss. Walt Whitman, His Life and Work. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1906. 318pp. Along with Binns, Perry’s is one of the strongest early interpretive studies of the poet. Well written and well researched, the book sets out to fashion an objective portrait of the man and his work that has retained its value as an sensible and informed assessment.

Reynolds, David S. Walt Whitman’s America: A Cultural Biography. New York: Knopf, 1995. 671pp. This is a detailed and often brilliant analysis that locates Whitman in the complex context of his times. By taking a wider, cultural view of Whit-man’s development, the book offers fresh insights that illuminate both the man and his era.

Rubin, Joseph J. The Historical Whitman. University Park: Pennsylvania State University Press, 1973. 406pp. Concentrating on Whitman’s early career as a journalist before 1855, Rubin establishes a colorful background to view the poet’s formative years that includes both documentary evidence and imaginative reconstructions.

Schmidgall, Gary. Walt Whitman: A Gay Life. New York: Dutton, 1997. 428pp. Schmidgall’s is a reductive homoerotic reading of Whitman’s life and work that sees the poet only in terms of his homosexual longing and conflict.

Schyberg, Frederik. Walt Whitman. New York: Columbia University Press, 1951. 387pp. The work of a Danish literary critic, the book offers a Freudian reading of Whitman’s life and work in which he is shown, not as a prophet or reformer, but principally as a great lyric poet and a lonely and often bewildered searcher.

Traubel, Horace. With Walt Whitman in Camden. 1906–1996. Multiple publishers, 9 vols. Traubel’s exhaustive transcriptions of his daily encounters with the poet during his final four years are an essential biographical source on Whitman’s views during his last years. A single-volume selection of the key passages, Walt Whitman’s Camden Conversations. Walter Teller, ed. (New Brunswick, New Jersey: Rutgers University Press, 1973. 215pp.), is also available.

Biographical Novels

Aronin, Ben. Walt Whitman’s Secret. Chicago: Argus Books, 1955. 374pp. This biographical novel traces Whitman’s career and personal life from his early years to his initial literary success following the publication of Leaves of Grass in a generally faithful account.

Erskine, John. The Start of the Road. New York: F.A.Stokes, 1938. 344pp. Erskine’s fictionalized account is based on Whitman’s life from 1848 to 1865 and speculates on an affair with a woman in New Orleans who bore the poet a son.

Overton, Grant M. The Answerers. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1921. 373pp. Overton’s fictional biography follows the main events of Whitman’s life but often lapses into sentimentality and melodrama.

Fictional Portraits

Vernon, John. Peter Doyle. New York: Random House, 1991. 417pp. Vernon’s picaresque fantasy concerning the search for Napoleon’s dismem-bered penis includes an intriguing, fanciful meeting between two of nineteenth-century America’s greatest poets, Emily Dickinson and Walt Whitman. Vernon uses his strong sense of the past to subvert history comically.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Loewen, Nancy. Walt Whitman. Mankato, Minnesota: Creative Editions, 1994. 45pp. MG. Combining biographical information with brief selections from his works, Loewen helps the reader appreciate Whitman and his poetry.

Reef, Catherine. Walt Whitman. New York: Clarion Books, 1995. 148pp. MG/YA. This is an honest, informative exploration of Whitman’s life with numerous excerpts from his writings. Reef deals with the writer’s homosexuality openly, though briefly.

Stoutenburg, Adrien, and Laura N. Baker. Listen America: A Life of Walt Whitman. New York: Scribner, 1968. 182pp. YA. This is a well-docu-mented, objective account in which Whitman is presented in the context of his times with liberal excerpts from the poet’s writings.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Beautiful Dreamers (1992). Director: John Kent Harrison. Based on Whitman’s visit to Canada in 1880, the film dramatizes the poet’s relationship with a young Canadian physician who wishes to apply the poet’s sense of human compassion on the mentally ill. Rip Torn portrays Whitman. With Colm Feore. Video.

Walt Whitman (1988). Director: Jock Smithie. Scenes from Whitman’s life are recreated with recitations from his poetry. Video.

Walt Whitman (1988). Director: Veronica Young. Part of the PBS Voices and Visions poetry series, this film exploration of Whitman’s life and work features commentary from Allen Ginsberg, Galway Kinnell, and Donald Hall. Video.

Walt Whitman: Sweet Bird of Freedom (1997). Director: Philip Schmidt. Dramatic monologue performed by Dallas McKennan filmed in Camden, New Jersey. Video.

Other Sources

Allen, Gay Wilson. The New Walt Whitman Handbook. New York: New York University Press, 1975. 423pp. This is an extremely useful reference guide to many aspects of Whitman’s work and life, particularly recommended for its analysis of the many biographies available and of the shaping of Whitman’s reputation.

Krieg, Joann P. A Whitman Chronology. Iowa City: University of Iowa Press, 1998. 207pp. Krieg supplies a detailed chronology of Whitman’s activities and publishing history.

LeMaster, J.R., and Donald D.Kummings, eds. Walt Whitman: An Encyclopedia. New York: Garland, 1998. 847pp. This extensive reference volume covers more than 750 topics on multiple aspects of Whitman’s life, attitudes, literary career, and works.

492. OSCAR WILDE

1854–1900

Irish-born author and wit, Wilde was the most famous figure in the Aesthetic Movement of the 1880s and 1890s that emphasized “art for art’s sake.” He achieved literary success and fame for his novel, The Picture of Dorian Gray (1891), poetry, children’s stories, and such sophisticated, brilliantly witty plays as Lady Windemere’s Fan (1892), A Woman of No Importance (1893), and his masterpiece, The Importance of Being Earnest (1895). Married and a devoted father of two sons, Wilde was charge with homosexual offenses, stemming from his intimacy with Lord Alfred Douglas, and sentenced to prison for two years. There he wrote his most famous poem, The Ballad of Reading Gaol (published, 1898). On his release in 1897, Wilde moved to France where ill health and bankruptcy affected his final years.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Letters of Oscar Wilde. Rupert Hart-Davis, ed. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1962. 958pp. Beginning with his years at Oxford, this collection of more than 1,000 letters to Wilde’s family, friends, and acquaintances includes the writer’s remarkable survey of his career and defense, De Profundis. In More Letters of Oscar Wilde. Rupert Hart-Davis, ed. (New York: Vanguard, 1985. 215pp.) Hart-Da-vis adds a supplement of 164 letters to the record of Wilde’s correspondence, which has been called Wilde’s most impressive achievement after The Importance of Being Earnest.

Selected Letters of Oscar Wilde. New York: Oxford University Press, 1979. 406pp. This selection of Wilde’s letters cover his entire career and provide the reader unwilling to tackle the letters in full an excellent sampling.

Recommended Biographies

Ellmann, Richard. Oscar Wilde. New York: Knopf, 1988. 680pp. Ellmann’s definitive biography is a masterpiece of the biographer’s art. Meticulously researched, sympathetic to Wilde’s achievements and sensitive to the writer’s flaws, this is a brilliantly written and unsurpassed narrative account that manages to present Wilde’s well-known story with a focus and freshness that tower over other versions.

Knox, Melissa. Oscar Wilde: A Long and Lovely Suicide. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1994. 185pp. Knox provides a full-length psychoanalytic biography that explores the links among Wilde’s formative years, his relationships, and his psychological development to reveal both his creativity and self-destructive behavior. The book offers a number of original, provocative (and debatable) insights that challenge conventional interpretations.

Schmidgall, Gary. The Stranger Wilde: Interpreting Oscar. New York: Dutton, 1994. 494pp. The author stresses the importance of Wilde’s homosexuality and his era’s homophobia in shaping his life and career in a well-researched and persuasive critical biography. Schmidgall’s vantage point is a useful one that offers a number of fresh and original insights,

Other Biographical Studies

Douglas, Alfred. Oscar Wilde and Myself. New York: Duffield, 1914. 306pp.; Oscar Wilde: A Summing Up. London: Richards Press, 1961. 140pp. The author’s two biographical accounts, the latter published after his death, offer Douglas’s self-defense in his relationship with Wilde. The books reveal little about their friendship but much about the disillusionment and betrayal Douglas felt.

Gide, André. Oscar Wilde. London: W.Kimber, 1951. 96pp. Gide’s recollections serve as a more critical corrective to the largely sympathetic portraits of Wilde in exile written by his admirers. Gide is considerably less flattering in his view.

Harris, Frank. Oscar Wilde: His Life and Confessions. Garden City, New York: Garden City Publishing, 1930. 470pp. Harris’s book is as much about the author as Wilde. Harris casts himself in the role of the writer’s staunch defender while lesser figures abandoned him. This imaginative version of Wilde’s career is not trustworthy and should be read with caution by those more interested in Wilde than Harris.

Holland, Vyvyan B. Oscar Wilde: A Pictorial Biography. New York: Viking, 1960. 144pp. Wilde’s son supplies a brief, straightforward overview accompanying nearly 150 illustrations.

Housman, Laurence. Echo de Paris: A Study from Life. New York: Appleton, 1924. 71pp. This brief recollection reconstructs a conversation with Wilde in 1899 in dramatic form, capturing both the brilliance of Wilde the conversationalist and the pathos of his final days in exile.

Hyde, H.Montgomery. Oscar Wilde: A Biography. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1975. 410pp. Hyde, an English barrister, collects his extensive research to treat mainly the events leading up to Wilde’s trials, the court cases, the imprisonment, and the last years. Hyde’s earlier books, The Trials of Oscar Wilde (1948. Reprint ed. New York: Dover, 1973. 366pp.) and Oscar Wilde: The Aftermath (New York: Farrar, Straus, 1963. 221pp.) are the preliminary findings, reworked and combined into his biographical study.

Jullian, Philippe. Oscar Wilde. New York: Viking, 1968. 420pp. A lively but unscholarly biography by a French writer, Jullian’s study draws on previously untapped resources to display the multiplicity of Wilde’s personality and a vivid portrait of the fin-de-siècle aesthetic movement. In the author’s view, Wilde’s downfall was self-inflicted through self-indulgence.

O’Sullivan, Vincent. Aspects of Wilde. New York: Holt, 1936. 231pp. This is a sympathetic character study based largely on remarks made by Wilde to the author during the years of their friendship in Paris after the writer’s release from prison.

Pearson, Hesketh. Oscar Wilde: His Life and Wit. New York: Harper, 1946. 345pp. Pearson’s popular biography is sympathetic and objective, resisting the sensationalism of previous accounts but occasionally indulging in sentimentality. The book’s chief success is its series of colorful anecdotes that help display Wilde in the round. Pearson’s attempts at psychological analysis are less persuasive.

Sherard, Robert H. Life of Oscar Wilde. New York: Dodd, Mead, 1906. 403pp. This first biography of Wilde is the work of a friend and is admittedly an apology and defense intended to clear the writer’s name. The result is a selective, uncritical eulogy.

Stokes, John. Oscar Wilde: Myths, Miracles, and Imitations. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1996. 216pp. Taking a thematic rather than a conventional chronological approach, Stokes explores Wilde in his biographical, literary, and historical contexts with an emphasis on his shifting image in the popular imagination. Includes an interesting chapter on Wilde’s portrayal in plays and films based on his life.

Winwar, Frances. Oscar Wilde and the Yellow Nineties. New York: Harper, 1940. 381pp. Winwar began the series of more objective biographies of Wilde with this attempt to trace his life against the background of his times and its intellectual and social background.

Biographical Novels

Ackroyd, Peter. The Last Testament of Oscar Wilde. New York: Harper & Row, 1983. 185pp. During his final year, Wilde reflects on his life in this convincing first-person narrative that is both moving and insightful.

Elfman, Claire. The Case of the Pederast’s Wife. Chester Springs, Pennsylvania: Dufour Editions, 2000. 188pp. The novel looks at Wilde’s life and era from the perspective of his wife Constance who comes under the treatment of a young doctor with new ideas derived from Freud to explore the trauma of Wilde’s trial on his wife.

Hall, Desmond. I Give You Oscar Wilde: A Biographical Novel. New York: New American Library, 1965. 343pp. Wilde’s career from the 1880s is depicted in a balanced, sympathetic portrait that mixes fact and fancy with invented details and conversations.

Reilly, Robert. The God of Mirrors. Boston: Atlantic Monthly Press, 1986. 403pp. Focused on Wilde’s relationship with Lord Alfred Douglas and the famous trials, Reilly supplements the facts with imagination and conjecture to capture the emotional contours of Wilde’s experiences.

Fictional Portraits

Berkman, Ted. To Seize the Passing Dream: A Novel of Whistler, His Women, and His World. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1972. 431pp. Berkman’s biographical portrait of Whistler features a convincing depiction of his artistic circle and personalities, including Wilde, Beardsley, Rossetti, Swinburne, Degas, and Proust.

Brown, Russell. Sherlock Holmes and the Mysterious Friend of Oscar Wilde. New York: St. Martin’s, 1988. 176pp. Sherlock Holmes comes to the aid of Wilde in helping a Swedish inventor avoid blackmailers in this Victorian-era mystery that ingeniously connects the famous detective with figures and circumstances out of Wilde’s life.

Buruma, Ian. Playing the Game. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1991. 234pp. This inventive biographical portrait of the great Indian cricketer, K.S. Ranjitsinhji, features imagined conversations with such figures as Wilde and Benjamin Disraeli.

Butler, David. Lillie. New York: Warner, 1978. 435pp. This biographical novel on the life of English beauty and actress Lillie Langtry features appearances by Whistler, Wilde, Randolph Churchill, Leopold of Belgium, Millais, and the Prince of Wales.

Fitzgerald, Nancy. Chelsea. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1979. 231pp. This period romance features an authentic depiction of the Victorian art scene with appearances by Whistler and Wilde.

Harries, Ann. Manly Pursuits. New York: Bloomsbury, 1999. 339pp. As Cecil Rhodes is close to death, an Oxford professor travels to South Africa to deliver hundreds of British songbirds to salve Rhodes’s soul in this powerfully imagined tale with glimpses of Rhodes and such figures as Lewis Carroll, Oscar Wilde, and Rudyard Kipling.

Meyer, Nicholas. The West End Horror. New York: Dutton, 1976. 222pp. An 1895 murder of a theater critic launches Sherlock Holmes on a complex mystery that involves such historical figures as George Bernard Shaw and Wilde.

Satterthwait, Walter. Wilde West. New York: St. Martin’s, 1991. 374pp. While on his American lecture tour, Wilde is charged in a series of murders in an inventive, comic mystery combining actual details of Wilde’s life with considerable fancy.

Vernon, John. All for Love: Baby Doe and the Silver Dollar. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1995. 235pp. The story of Baby Doe Tabor’s remarkable career is depicted with an appearance by Wilde on his American tour.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Nunokawa, Jeff. Oscar Wilde. New York: Chelsea House, 1995. 119pp. YA. Part of the Lives of Notable Gay Men and Lesbian series, this scholarly biographical profile begins with Wilde’s conviction and imprisonment, followed by flashbacks to the process that led to the writer’s downfall.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Bentley, Eric. Lord Alfred’s Lover. Toronto: Personal Library, 1981. 127pp. Alfred Douglas in the last months of his life in 1945 looks back on his relationship with Wilde in this dramatization that combines facts about the writer’s life with imagined conversations.

Eagleton, Terry. Saint Oscar. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Blackwell, 1997. 225pp. Eagleton presents Wilde as a “hero of modernism” with his Irish background emphasized in this dramatization of actual and imagined scenes from his life.

Hare, David. The Judas Kiss. New York: Grove Press, 1998. 115pp. Hare places Wilde’s trial for “acts of gross indecency” in both its personal and political context and deepens the view of the author as a man of firmly held principles.

Kaufman, Moises. Gross Indecency: The Three Trials of Oscar Wilde. New York: Vintage Books, 1998. 143pp. Fashioning the trial transcripts into a concise drama, Kaufman explores how social forces, homophobia, and Wilde’s personality combined to affect the outcome.

Forbidden Passion: The Oscar Wilde Movie (1987). Director: Henry Herbert. Michael Gambon portrays Wilde during his sad final days in this British film. Video.

Lillie (1990). Director: John Gorrie. Dramatizing the career of beauty and actress Lillie Langtry who becomes the mistress of Edward VII, Francesca Annis takes the title role with Dennis Lill as Edward, Don Fellows as Whistler, and Peter Egan as Wilde.

Oscar Wilde (1960). Director: Gregory Ratoff. Robert Morley is convincing as the writer in this drama that focuses on Wilde’s trials. With John Neville, Ralph Richardson, Dennis Price, and Alexander Knox.

Oscar Wilde: Spendthrift of Genius (1986). Director: Scan O’Mordha. With a script by Richard Ellmann, this film portrait includes the only known recording of Wilde reading from “The Ballad of Reading Gaol.” Video.

Salame’s Last Dance (1989). Director: Ken Russell. Russell’s flamboyant depiction of Wilde’s play features Nicholas Grace as the writer and performances by Glenda Jackson, Stratford Johns, and Douglas Hodge. Video.

The Trials of Oscar Wilde (1960). Director: Ken Hughes. Based on Montgomery Hyde’s book and John Furnell’s play, The Stringed Lute (New York: Rider, 1955. 198pp.), Peter Finch portrays Wilde in his suit against the Marquis of Queensbury and his subsequent trial for indecency. Also starring John Fraser, Lionel Jeffries, Nigel Patrick, and James Mason. Video.

Wilde (1998). Director: Brian Gilbert. Adapted from Richard Ellmann’s book, the film dramatizes scenes from the writer’s life with Stephen Fry as Wilde, Jude Law as Bosie Douglas, Tom Wilkinson as the Marquess of Queensbury, and Jennifer Ehle as Constance Wilde. Stefan Rudnick’s Wilde: A Novel (Los Angeles, California: Dove Books, 1998. 179pp.) is a novelization inspired by the screenplay by Julian Mitchell. Video.

Other Sources

Beckson, Karl E. The Oscar Wilde Encyclopedia. New York: AMS Press, 1998. 456pp. Alphabetically arranged entries cover Wilde’s art, biography, historical events, and social mores in a rich and accessible reference work.

Holland, Merlin. The Wilde Album. New York: Holt, 1998. 192pp. Wilde’s grandson assembles press clippings, cartoons, photographs, and theater programs to document the writer’s emergence as a media celebrity. The accompanying text examines Wilde’s life with an emphasis on his background and relationships.

Mikhail, E.H. Oscar Wilde: Interviews and Recollections. New York: Barnes and Noble, 1979. 2 vols. Wilde is captured from a variety of angles and perspectives from both his friends, foes, and contemporary accounts.

Page, Norman. An Oscar Wilde Chronology. Boston: G.K.Hall, 1991. 105pp. Page supplies a monthly and often daily account of Wilde’s activities as well as a biographical glossary of his circle.

493. WILHELM II

1859–1941

Emperor of Germany and king of Prussia, Wilhelm was the grandson of Queen Victoria of England. His determination to maintain and extend the royal prerogative in governing German affairs resulted in the resignation of his chancellor, Otto von Bismarck. Wilhelm strengthened the Triple Alliance and promoted the nationalistic imperialism that contributed to World War I. Forced to abdicate after the war, he found asylum in Holland.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Kaiser’s Memoirs/Wilhelm II. New York: Harper, 1922. 365pp. Wilhelm’s self-serving account of his life should be read alongside a more objective account to measure the discrepancies and judge Wilhelm’s perspective.

Recommended Biographies

Balfour, Michael. The Kaiser and His Times. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1964. 524pp. Balfour sets Wilhelm in the context of German history and his family background in an highly readable, reliable account by an expert in the period. The book successfully balances the presentation of Wil-helm’s character and personality with a revealing portrait of his age and the political, social, economic, and diplomatic forces that the kaiser was ultimately unable to control.

Cecil, Lamar. Wilhelm II: Prince and Emperor. Chapel Hill: University of North Carolina Press, 1989–1996, 2 vols. Based on meticulous archival research, Cecil supplies a comprehensive psychological and political profile that is exceptional ly detailed and incisive in its interpretive analysis.

Palmer, Alan. The Kaiser: Warlord of the Second Reich. New York: Scribner, 1978. 276pp. Although written for the generalist, Palmer’s readable narrative portrait is solidly documented using the standard published and manuscript sources that are synthesized and compressed into a believable, fair portrait of the man. Although Wilhelm’s considerable character deficiencies predominate, Palmer is able to suggest his depth and complexity that are lacking in several other biographies.

Röhl, John C.G. Young Wilhelm: The Kaiser’s Early Life, 1859–1888. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1998. 979pp. Röhl’s is by far the most scholarly and comprehensive treatment of Wilhelm’s boyhood, youth, and formative years. Röhl’s earlier historical study, Germany without

Bismarck: The Crisis of Government in the Second Reich 1890–1900 (Berkeley: University of California Press, 1967. 304pp.) explores Wilhelm’s early reign and his dispute with Bismarck.

Other Biographical Studies

Cowles, Virginia. The Kaiser. New York: Harper & Row, 1963. 445pp. This biography is so riddled with errors that even the date of Wilhelm’s death is incorrect. Offering little more than a recycled synthesis of borrowed sources, Cowles’s Wilhelm lacks depth and believability.

Davis, A.N. The Kaiser I Knew: My 14 Years with the Kaiser. New York: Harper, 1918. 300pp. The Kaiser’s American dentist offers this early biographical portrait. Gossipy and constructed from fragmentary conversations, the book, despite its jingoistic tone, does provide some illumination of Wilhelm’s complex personality.

Kohut, Thomas A. Wilhelm II and the Germans: A Study in Leadership. New York: Oxford University Press, 1991. 331pp. In a psychoanalytic approach Kohut focuses on the relationship between Wilhelm and his parents as the source for his policies and behavior.

Kürenberg, Joachim von. The Kaiser: A Life of Wilhelm II, Last Emperor of Germany. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1955. 461pp. The author, a German nobleman who was a confidant of the kaiser, supplies a number of firsthand glimpses of Wilhelm in old age and records conversations revealing the former kaiser’s views on men and events.

Ludwig, Emil. Kaiser Wilhelm II. New York: Putnam, 1926. 459pp. Ludwig constructs from memoirs and documentary evidence a credible psychological profile of Wilhelm, a young man of considerable promise who came to power too soon and never fully matured and whose character flaws helped determine German and world history.

Müller, George A. von. The Kaiser and His Court. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1964. 430pp. The author as chief of the naval cabinet had frequent contact with Wilhelm, and his recollections and assessments are recorded in diary entries from the assassination of Franz Ferdinand to Wilhelm’s abdication. The book graphically presents Wilhelm’s un-steadiness as a leader and growing isolation and ir-relevance during the war years.

Nowak, Karl F. Kaiser and Chancellor: The Opening Years of the Reign of Kaiser Wilhelm II. New York: Macmillan, 1930. 290pp. This is a detailed look at the first two years of Wilhelm’s reign and the widening breach between the kaiser and Bismarck, which culminated in the dismissal of the chancellor. Based on official documents and conversatons with the kaiser, Nowak supplies a convincing character study of a man dominated by his mother and ill-prepared to rule.

Van der Kiste, John. Kaiser Wilhelm II: Germany’s Last Emperor. New York: Sutton, 1999. 272pp. This is a concise biographical profile written for the general reader and serving as a reliable overview that attempts to capture the complexity of Wil-helm’s character and the era that he unsuccessfully attempted to dominate.

Waite, Robert. Kaiser and Führer: A Comparative Study of Personality and Politics. Toronto: University of Toronto Press, 1998. 511pp. Waite takes a psychological approach in this comparative study of the personal lives and politics of Wilhelm II and Adolf Hitler, contrasting their intellectual worlds, wartime strategies, and their crucial early developments.

Whittle, Tyler. The Last Kaiser: A Biography of Wilhelm II, German Emperor and King of Prussia. New York: Times Books, 1977. 368pp. This popular biography is written from the English royal fam-ily’s point of view with a great deal on Wilhelm’s youth and his admiration for his grandmother, Queen Victoria. The book is far less assured dealing with Wilhelm in his mature years and the complex events leading up to World War I.

Wilson, Lawrence. The Incredible Kaiser: A Portrait of William II. New York: A.S.Barnes, 1965. 196pp. Wilson’s study lacks penetration and depth, substituting instead a facile and often-melodra-matic presentation that is too one-dimensional to be believable.

Fictional Portraits

Butler, David. Lusitania. New York: Random House, 1982. 578pp. The sinking of the Lusitania in 1915 is described from a variety of perspectives in Germany, England, and America, including Wil-helm’s.

Conroy, Robert. 1901. Novato, California: Lyford Books, 1995. 374pp. This inventive alternative history imagines a German invasion of the United States in 1901 and plausible depictions of a score of historical figures, including Wilhelm.

Fagyas, Maria. Court of Honor. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1978. 377pp. Life in Wilhelm’s court prior to World War I is the subject of this novel involving a scandal among the Prussian military.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Edward the King (1975). Director: John Gorrie. Video. The life and short reign of Edward VII are chronicled with his relationship with his parents detailed. Robert Hardy portrays Prince Albert; Annette Crosbie is Queen Victoria, and Timothy West is the Prince of Wales and later king. Wilhelm appears played by Christopher Neame. The book on which the screenplay was based is available by David E.Butler, Edward the King (New York: Pocket Books, 1974–1975. 2 vols.). Video.

Other Sources

Röhl, John C.G., and N.Sombart, eds. Kaiser Wilhelm II: New Interpretations. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1982. 319pp. This collection of scholarly views based on recent research provides a collective portrait on Wilhelm’s character and reign.

494. WILLIAM THE CONQUEROR

ca. 1028–1087

English king William I was duke of Normandy when, in 1066, he invaded England and defeated King Harold at Hastings in what is often referred to as the Norman Conquest. William harshly suppressed rebellions that broke out after his coronation and created a strong feudal government. The Domesday Book was compiled by his order (1086). Considered one of the greatest English monarchs, William I is a pivotal figure in world history.

Recommended Biographies

Douglas, David. William the Conqueror: The Norman Impact upon England. Berkeley: University of California Press, 1964. 476pp. Douglas ably explores William’s administrative, military, and diplomatic achievements in a scholarly and thorough assessment by a leading historian of the period. The work is both a study of Anglo-Norman history and a reliable biographical portrait.

Russell, Phillips. William the Conqueror. New York: Scribner, 1933. 334pp. In Russell’s reassessment, William’s greatest achievement was not the conquest of England but his earlier subjugation of Normandy. William’s early years are connected to the leading incidents of his later life in a lively, accurate narrative account.

Other Biographical Studies

Ashley, Maurice. The Life and Times of William I. London: Weidenfeld and Nicolson, 1973. 224pp. This is a handsomely illustrated biography with Ashley’s biographical essay that covers the important details of William’s life and reign. Useful as an introduction to the subject.

Barlow, Frank. William I and the Norman Conquest. Mystic, Connecticut: L.Verry, 1965. 206pp. Barlow’s is a helpful overview of William’s life and time suited for the general reader. The book is particularly strong on social historical details.

Benton, Sarah H. The Life of William the Conqueror from the Early Chronicles. New York: Dial Press, 1927. 298pp. William’s life is retold largely from French sources, illustrated with prints and photographs. Little attempt is made to sort out the facts from the legends, including both with an emphasis on the colorful and the picturesque.

Freeman, Edward. William the Conqueror. New York: Macmillan, 1894. 200pp. This is a heroic portrait of William, celebrating his greatness as he ascends to the English throne. Despite uncritical partisanship in William’s favor, the book provides extensive coverage of William’s life before 1066 and the details of the invasion and conquest.

Lloyd, Alan. The Making of the King, 1066. New York: Holt, 1966. 243pp. Drawing on the An-glo-Saxon Chronicles, early English histories, and modern research, Lloyd fashions a competent narrative history of the Norman Conquest focused on the lives of William, Harold II, and Harald III of Norway.

Slocombe, George. William, the Conqueror. New York: Putnam, 1961. 271pp. Although undocumented and unscholarly, this is an accurate and straightforward synthesis of the facts derived from the chronicles and modern authorities, with the gaps in the record filled in with assumptions of feelings and motivations.

Biographical Novels

Anand, Valerie. The Norman Pretender. New York: Scribner, 1979. 410pp. The novel dramatizes the final years of Saxon England that climaxes with William’s victory at Hastings in a convincing portrait of the era and its central figures, including William, Edward the Confessor, and Harold II. In The Disputed Crown (New York: Scribner, 1982. 297pp.), Anand describes the two decades following William’s victory and the continuing conflict between Saxons and Normans.

Heyer, Georgette. The Conqueror. London: Heinemann, 1931. 405pp. Heyer’s fictional biography reconstructs William’s life from birth through his victory in 1066, depicting him as a shrewd and driven man who inspires a loyal following.

Lewis, Hilda W. Wife to the Bastard. New York: D. McKay, 1967. 352pp. Matilda, the first woman to be crowned queen of England, is portrayed in this novel that presents her relationship with William.

Lewis’s Harold Was My King (New York: D. McKay, 1970. 246pp.) looks at the events of the Norman Conquest and its aftermath from the perspective of a knight loyal to Harold.

Lide, Mary. Fortune’s Knave: The Making of William the Conqueror. New York: St. Martin’s, 1993. 269pp. William’s formative years from 1035 to 1054 are covered in this carefully researched novel that manages a plausible and human drama out of William’s rise to power.

Muntz, Hope. The Golden Warrior: The Story of Harold and William. New York: Scribner, 1949. 354pp. This is a dual fictional portrait of Harold and William and the events leading up to the Battle of Hastings, based on contemporary sources.

Plaidy, Jean. The Bastard King. New York: Putnam, 1979. 319pp. William’s rise to the English throne is dramatized with a concentration on his relationship with Matilda of Flanders and the fate of his children.

Todd, Catherine. Bond of Honour. New York: St. Martin’s, 1981. 223pp. William’s life and career are captured through letters, diaries, and imagined conversations in a believable portrait with a vivid re-creation of the era and the battles that climaxes with William gaining the English throne.

Wingate, John. William, the Conqueror: An Historical Novel. New York: F.Watts, 1983. 355pp. Wingate’s is a detailed recreation of William’s progress to the English throne that is generally reliable in its history and convincing in its interpretation of personalities and motives.

Fictional Portraits

Gerson, Noel B. The Conqueror’s Wife. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1957. 285pp. Gerson’s focus is on William’s wife, Matilda of Flanders, in an admittedly fictional version of their life together.

Holland, Cecelia. The Firedrake. New York: Atheneum, 1966. 243pp. William and the events of the Norman invasion and conquest are authentically described from the perspective of an itinerant Irish knight who serves the Norman cause.

Lytton, Edward Bulwer. Harold: The Last of the Saxon Kings. New York: Dutton, 1970. 456pp. Although focused on the final days of Edward the Confessor and the scramble for power that brings Harold to the throne, this classic historical novel provides a portrait of William and his victory at Hastings.

Prescott, Hilda P.M. Son of Dust. London: Constable, 1932. 364pp. Prescott’s classic historical novel is set in William’s Norman court before the conquest.

Sprague, Rosemary. Red Lion and Gold Dragon. Philadelphia: Chilton Books, 1967. 264pp. Events of the Norman Conquest are seen from the perspective of a Saxon who fights with Harold at Hastings and wins the respect of William after the battle.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Green, Robert. William the Conqueror. New York: F.Watts, 1998. 64pp. MG. This is an informative profile of William and the forces that led to his conquest in 1066 and the impact of his victory on An-glo-Saxon culture.

495. TENNESSEE WILLIAMS

1911–1983

One of America’s foremost dramatists whose plays have become classics of the American theater, Williams first gained success with the productions of The Glass Menagerie (1945) and A Streetcar Named Desire (1947; Pulitzer Prize). Other plays include Summer and Smoke (1948), Cat on a Hot Tin Roof (1955; Pulitzer Prize), and Night of the Iguana (1961).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Conversations with Tennessee Williams. Albert J. Devlin, ed. Jackson: University Press of Mississippi, 1986. 369pp. Devlin has collected dozens of interviews with Williams recorded from 1940 to 1981, filled with insights about his life and work, as well as contradictions and misleading information.

Memoirs. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1975. 264pp. Ranging over his past and present, the playwright releases a deluge of anecdotes and opinions. Often coy and discrete on personal details, Williams offers some insights about the influences that shaped his life and his plays.

Recommended Biographies

Hayman, Ronald. Tennessee Williams: Everyone Else Is an Audience. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1993. 286pp. Hayman’s critical biography traces the relationship between Williams’s life and his art. The book is insightful on the autobiographical sources and the thematic interconnections of Williams’s plays, stories, and films.

Leverich, Lyle. Tom: The Unknown Tennessee Williams. New York: Crown, 1995. 644pp. The first book in a projected two-volume biography traces Williams’s life from his birth to the opening of The Glass Menagerie in 1945. Leverich amasses a remarkable factual record, more detailed and authoritative than any previous account. Although sympathetic, the author does not skirt the less-flat-tering side of his subject’s character and behavior, and the result is a balanced, thorough, and convincing partial portrait. If the second volume can achieve the same high standard, Leverich’s will certainly become the definitive biography for some time to come.

Other Biographical Studies

Maxwell, Gilbert. Tennessee Williams and Friends: An Informal Biography. Cleveland: World, 1965. 333pp. The book is a series of recollections by a friend who knew Williams from the beginning of his career. Rich in anecdotes, Maxwell’s presentation shows a believable human figure very different from the public and legendary figure of other treatments.

Rader, Dotson. Tennessee: Cry of the Mean. New York: Doubleday, 1985. 348pp. One of Williams’s loyal friends during his last decade presents a tormented, frustrated artist. Rader’s suggestion that Williams was a disappointed political radical is unconvincing, and the book is overly thesis-domi-nated to be fully reliable.

Smith, Bruce. Costly Performances: Tennessee Williams: The Last Stage. New York: Paragon House, 1990. 262pp. Smith’s is a journalistic, exploitative tell-all concerning the playwright’s sad end, full of accounts of drug and alcohol abuse and the wastage of a great literary talent.

Spoto, Donald. The Kindness of Strangers: The Life of Tennessee Williams. Boston: Little, Brown, 1985. 409pp. Spoto’s popular biography is comprehensive, arranging the facts into a reliable sequence, but the book fails to penetrate convincingly the surface details to reveal a credible psychological portrait. Too often the book relies uncritically on Williams’s own version of his past.

Tischler, Nancy. Tennessee Williams: Rebellious Puritan. New York: Citadel Press, 1961. 319pp. This early critical biography of the playwright’s first 50 years is still one of the better studies available. The book is a critically astute attempt to connect the man and his work, unified by the central conflict indicated by the book’s subtitle.

Williams, Dakin, and Shepherd Mead. Tennessee Williams: An Intimate Biography. New York: Arbor House, 1983. 352pp. Williams’s younger brother supplies his recollections, supplemented by letters, interviews, and his mother’s and brother’s own memoirs. The chief importance of the book is the author’s intimate knowledge of Williams’s family background. On the playwright’s life outside the family circle, the book is much less reliable and comprehensive.

Williams, Edwina Dakin. Remember Me to Tom. As told to Lucy Freeman. New York: Putnam, 1963. 255pp. Williams’s mother provides her defensive recollections of the playwright’s childhood, adolescence, and eventual success as a writer. Full of anecdote and sentiment, the author draws on letters and journals as well as her often unreliable memory.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: Tennessee Williams: Wounded Genius (1998). Producer: Paul Budline. This film portrait documents how Williams’s early experiences gave him the material for his work but also provided the source for the personal problems that would be his downfall. Williams’s brother, biographers, and friends offer their perspectives, and the playwright is seen in excerpts from television interviews. Video.

Tennessee Williams: Orpheus of the American Stage (1994). Director: Merrill Brockway. This film study of the playwright’s life and work includes excerpts from his most celebrated scenes, footage from interviews, as well as reminiscences from Gore Vidal and Edward Albee. Video.

Other Sources

Leavitt, Richard F., ed. The World of Tennessee Williams. New York: Putnam, 1978. 168pp. A varied selection of illustrations, including previously unpublished photographs, letters, rehearsal notes, manuscripts, review clippings, and memorabilia. The biographical text is the work of a longtime friend of the playwright.

Roudane, Matthew C., ed. The Cambridge Companion to Tennessee Williams. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1998. 275pp. This collection of 13 original essays from leading scholars covers Williams’s work from his early apprentice years through his last play, with additional coverage of biographical issues, his short stories, and po-

496. WILLIAM CARLOS WILLIAMS

1883–1963

Considered one of the twentieth century’s most important and original American poets, Williams was also a physician who practiced medicine in New Jersey for over 40 years. His works include Poems (1909), Sour Grapes (1921), Paterson (1946–1958), and Pictures from Breughel (1963; Pulitzer Prize). He also wrote essays, including “In the American Grain” (1925), short stories, and novels.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Autobiography. New York: Random House, 1951. 402pp. Williams’s informal and honest reflections cover his childhood and youth, his training as a doctor, and his efforts to succeed as a writer. A fascinating glimpse of a multifaceted man and an indispensable biographical source.

Interviews with William Carlos Williams: “Speaking Straight Ahead” Linda Welshimer, ed. New York: New Directions, 1976. 108pp. Williams discusses his theories of poetic meter and diction, as well as his contemporaries Pound and Eliot, and his comments on a variety of topics are arranged alphabetically by subject.

I Wanted to Write a Poem: The Autobiography of the Works of a Poet. Edith Head, ed. Boston: Beacon Press, 1958. 99pp. This original and unusual “descriptive bibliography” includes Williams’s recollections of his discovery of poetry and his first attempts to write poems.

The Selected Letters of William Carlos Williams. John C.Thirwall, ed. New York: New Directions, 1984. 352pp. Spanning 54 years of the poet’s life, this remarkably candid collection of letters reveals a great deal about the nature of the man, his conception of poetry, and his fellow poets.

Recommended Biographies

Mariani, Paul. William Carlos Williams: A New World Naked. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1981. 874pp. Exhaustively researched, Mariani’s authoritative study assembles from a mountain of facts the essential record of Williams’s life. Less successful as an interpretation of those facts, Mariani’s account is the fullest treatment of the man and his career available.

Whittemore, Reed. William Carlos Williams: Poet from Jersey. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1975. 404pp. Although far less detailed than Mariani, Whittemore’s account reads more like a series of sketches than a finished portrait, but the book does attempt to shape the various facts by a controlling theme: Williams’s Americanism and the conflict between his service to medicine and modernism. The book’s reach exceeds its grasp but still is an important critical work that attempts to draw essential connections between the man and his work.

Other Biographical Studies

Fischer-Wirth, Ann W. William Carlos Williams and Autobiography: The Woods of His Own Nature. University Park: Pennsylvania State University Press, 1989. 216pp. The author treats Wil-liams’s works in their autobiographical context and attempts to explore the identity of the private poet through them. The result is a fascinating and revealing analysis that sheds considerable light on the inner tensions that shaped both Williams’s personality and his work.

Whitaker, Thomas R. William Carlos Williams. New York: Twayne, 1968. 183pp. Whitaker’s is a fine critical introduction to Williams’s work that considers the poet’s development and influences.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Baldwin, Neil. To All Gentleness: William Carlos Williams, the Doctor-Poet. New York: Atheneum, 1984. 223pp. YA. Although using some invented scenes and reconstructed dialogue, this is a full and compelling documentation of the poet’s life, achievement, and personality.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

William Carlos Williams (1988). Director: Richard P.Rogers. An installment of the PBS Voices and Vision series this is a film profile of the poet’s life and works. Video.

497. WOODROW WILSON

1856–1924

Wilson was president of Princeton and governor of New Jersey before his election in 1912 as the twenty-eighth U.S. president. Wilson’s achievements during his two terms in office include the Underwood Tariff (1913), establishment of the Federal Reserve System and the Federal Trade Commission (both in 1914), the Clayton Anti-Trust Act (1914), the Federal Child Labor Law (1916), and the Federal Farm Loans Act. The seventeenth (1913), eighteenth (1919), and nineteenth (1920) amendments were also passed, and the United States entered World War I.Wilson’s Fourteen Points set forth provisions for postwar peace, and he secured adoption of the League of Nations (1918). He was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize in 1919.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

A President in Love: The Courtship Letters of Woodrow Wilson and Edith Bolling Galt. Edwin Tribble, ed. Boston: Little, Brown, 1981. 225pp. This is a excellently edited collection of Wilson’s intimate correspondence with his second wife from their first meeting in 1915 to their wedding eight months later. Remarkable for their candor and passion, the collection is a revealing look at the human side of the otherwise austere and seemingly distant Wilson.

The Papers of Woodrow Wilson. Arthur S.Link, et. al., eds. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1966–94. 69 vols. This monumental scholarly series is the repository of all of Wilson’s important personal and governmental papers and is invaluable for the scholar and biographer.

Recommended Biographies

Cooper, John M. Jr. The Warrior and the Priest: Woodrow Wilson and Theodore Roosevelt. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1983. 442pp. Cooper’s dual biography is a well-written comparative study, alternating between incisive views and characterizations of both men at turning points of their careers. In Cooper’s view, Roosevelt and Wilson are “the principal architects of modern American politics,” and the book offers a cogent case in support of his assertion.

Heckscher, August. Woodrow Wilson. New York: Scribner, 1991. 743pp. Heckscher’s is the most thorough and accurate single volume biography available. Covering Wilson’s personality, political philosophy, and public career, Heckscher’s account is both detailed and persuasive, thoroughly documented and judicious in its conclusions.

Link, Arthur S.Wilson. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1947–65. 5 vols. Link’s multivolume study takes an account of Wilson’s life and career up to 1917 and the United States’s entry into World War I. Meticulously researched by a scholar who has devoted his career to the subject, Link’s biography is regarded as the standard, authoritative source on the years covered. A one-volume overview by the author, Woodrow Wilson: A Profile (New York: Hill & Wang, 1968. 197pp.), is an excellent introductory study.

Walworth, Arthur. Woodrow Wilson. 1958. Reprint ed. New York: W.W.Norton, 1978. 438pp. This Pulitzer Prize-winning biography is a thorough and comprehensive assessment of the man and his career, emphasizing the private and intellectual sides of Wilson’s personality. For the author, Wilson’s religious background helps to define both the man and his values, and the image of Wilson the prophet serves as the thematic link to connect his entire career.

Weinstein, Edwin A. Woodrow Wilson: A Medical and Psychological Study. Princeton, New Jersey: Princeton University Press, 1981. 399pp. Offering a revaluation of Wilson’s life from a medical and psychological viewpoint, Weinstein examines through extensive primary research the impact of Wilson’s health on events during his political career. The book has been called a must-read for anyone wishing to understand Wilson’s character.

Other Biographical Studies

Auchincloss, Louis. Woodrow Wilson. New York: Viking, 2000. 176pp. In the author’s view, Wilson was “the greatest idealist who ever occupied the White House,” and this succinct biographical portrait shows the private man, his ideas, and public challenges in a series of vividly realized character sketches.

Baker, Ray S. Woodrow Wilson: Life and Letters. New York: Doubleday, 1927–1939. 8 vols. The work of Wilson’s press secretary at the Versailles Peace Conference, Baker’s massive documentary study is a rich sourcebook of diaries, letters, and papers arranged into a detailed chronology to be consulted rather than read through for pleasure.

Blum, John M. Woodrow Wilson and the Politics of Morality. Boston: Little, Brown, 1956. 215pp. Blum’s brief interpretive study finds much to criticize in Wilson’s temperament and leadership. Provocative and controversial in its analysis, the book serves as a valuable complement to other studies that choose to cast Wilson in a more tragic and heroic role.

Bragdon, Henry W. Woodrow Wilson: The Academic Years. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1967. 579pp. This is a scholarly and authoritative treatment of Wilson’s student days and career as a teacher and administrator. The bulk of the book is devoted to Wilson’s presidency of Princeton and his gaining a national reputation for educational innovation. The book makes a convincing argument on how Wilson’s academic career influenced his later political career.

Clements, Kendrick A. The Presidency of Woodrow Wilson. Lawrence: University Press of Kansas, 1992. 303pp. Synthesizing recent scholarship, Clements’s is an excellent account of the Wilson presidency and an analysis of reasons for the successes and failures of his domestic and foreign policy initiatives.

Ferrell, Robert H. Woodrow Wilson and World War I, 1917–1921. New York: Harper & Row, 1985. 346pp. Ferrell’s is a masterful survey of Wilson as a war leader and peacemaker. Balanced but critical of Wilson’s achievement, the book praises Wilson’s ability to mobilize the nation to contribute to the Allied victory but criticizes his performance as a statesman and postwar politician.

Freud, Sigmund, and William C.Bullitt. Thomas Woodrow Wilson: A Psychological Study. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1967. 307pp. This curious combination of psychoanalysis and political criticism attempts to connect Wilson’s inner neuroses and public actions in a often cruel and reductive attack.

Garraty, John A. Woodrow Wilson: A Great Life in Brief. New York: Knopf, 1956. 206pp. This concise, objective overview summarizes the outstanding events in Wilson’s life and presents a believable psychological portrait.

Osborn, George C. Woodrow Wilson: The Early Years. Baton Rouge: Louisiana State University Press, 1968. 345pp. Ending with Wilson’s appointment to the presidency of Princeton, Osborn’s is a thorough, scholarly chronicle of Wilson’s formative, prepolitical years. Osborn examines the influences of family, teachers, and friends upon the young man, as well as the nature and origin of his character strengths and weaknesses that will be evident in his political career.

Schulte Nordholt, J.W. Woodrow Wilson: A Life for World Peace. Berkeley: University of California Press, 1991. 495pp. The work of a Dutch historian, Schulte’s study traces the development of Wilson’s political philosophy and its application during his presidency. Although offering a refreshing European perspective, the book is marred at several places by a lack of general knowledge of American history.

Shachtman, Tom. Edith & Woodrow: A Presidential Romance. New York: Putnam, 1981. 299pp. An unscholarly but lively story of Wilson’s relationship with his second wife, Shachtman supplies a personal portrait of the president supported by extensive excerpts from the letters and diaries.

Smith, Gene. When the Cheering Stopped: The Last Years of Woodrow Wilson. New York: Morrow, 1964. 307pp. Smith chronicles Wilson’s illness during the final two years of his presidency and his unsuccessful attempt to gain support for the League of Nations. Scholars have criticized Smith’s characterizations and treatment of complex issues, but the general reader will find the poignancy of the human drama compelling and satisfying.

Fictional Portraits

Butler, David. Lusitania. New York: Random House, 1982. 578pp. The sinking of the Lusitania in 1915 is described from a variety of perspectives in Germany, England, and America, including Wilson’s.

Pilpel, Robert H. To the Honor of the Fleet. New York: Atheneum, 1979. 459pp. Wilson appears as a character in this historical thriller involving a secret plan to help keep America out of World War I, culminating in the Battle of Jutland.

Shellabarger, Samuel. Tolbecken. Boston: Little, Brown, 1956. 370pp. Shellabarger’s family saga set in the nineteenth century and during World War I includes scenes of period undergraduate life at Princeton with Wilson as its president.

Vidal, Gore. Hollywood. New York: Random House, 1990. 437pp. Wilson is only one of several historical figures used to portray America life during the 1920s in Vidal’s social panorama.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Leavell, J.Perry. Woodrow Wilson. New York: Chelsea House, 1987. 116pp. MG/YA. Leavell’s is a straightforward factual and informative review of Wilson’s life and times.

Randolph, Sallie G. Woodrow Wilson: President. New York: Walker, 1992. 124pp. MG/YA. Randolph covers Wilson’s entire life in this sophisticated and informative biography that emphasizes his personal side with sufficient historical background to make his challenges and actions understandable.

Rogers, James T. Woodrow Wilson: Visionary for Peace. New York: Facts on File, 1997. 96pp. YA. Usable by young adults and general readers, this entry in the Makers of America series presents a succinct, reliable overview of Wilson’s life, personality, and career.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: Woodrow Wilson: Reluctant Warrior (1996). Director: Paul Budline. This is an informative full-length biographical profile. Video.

Wilson (1944). Director: Henry King. Alexander Knox is a standout in the title role in this film biography dramatizing Wilson’s life from his days as president of Princeton through the White House years. Co-starring Charles Coburn, Geraldine Fitzgerald, Cedric Hardwicke, and Vincent Price. Video.

Woodrow Wilson (1962). Installment of the Biography television program hosted by Mike Wallace. Video.

Other Sources

Vexler, Robert I., ed. Woodrow Wilson, 1856–1924: Chronology, Documents, Bibliographical Aids. Dobbs Ferry, New York: Oceana, 1969. 123pp. Vexler provides a detailed chronology, a sample of important documentary evidence, and an annotated bibliography on sources.

498. LUDWIG WITTGENSTEIN

1889–1951

Austrian philosopher Wittgenstein profoundly influenced recent British and American philosophy with his two chief works, Tractatus Logico-Philosophicus (1921) and Philosophical Investigations (1953). His work focuses on the philosophy of logical positivism and language philosophy. Wittgenstein was professor of philosophy at Cambridge from 1929 to 1947.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Ludwig Wittgenstein, Cambridge Letters. Brian McGuinness and G.H.Von Wright, eds. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Blackwell, 1995. 349pp. Wittgenstein’s correspondence with members of his Cambridge circle, such as Bertrand Russell, G.E.Moore, and John Maynard Keynes, offers an intriguing look at the philosopher’s character and his relationships.

Recommended Biographies

McGuinness, Brian. Wittgenstein: A Life: Young Ludwig 1889–1921. Berkeley: University of California Press, 1988. 322pp. The first volume of an anticipated two-volume life is an authoritative and exhaustive survey of Wittgenstein’s early years up to 1921, based on previously untapped sources. Although highly detailed in terms of the facts uncovered, the book is somewhat restrained in interpreting Wittgenstein’s personality.

Monk, Ray. Ludwig Wittgenstein: The Duty of Genius. New York: Free Press, 1990. 645pp. Monk’s is a impressive biography that uses Wittgenstein’s private papers, his diaries, and letters to provide insights into his personality and ideas. Judicious and balanced. Monk creates a highly sympathetic portrait of a compelling human figure.

Other Biographical Studies

Bartley, William W. Wittgenstein. 1973. Revised ed. LaSalle, Illinois: Open Court, 1985. 218pp. Concentrating on the “mystery years” of Wittgenstein’s life, the decade after the end of World War I, Bartley both provides a corrective to the factual record and a good deal of speculation based on slender evidence. In Bartley’s view, Wittgenstein’s homosexuality led to intense guilt and suffering over his sexual desires, which explains his mood of self-hatred and suicidal despair during the period.

Hacker, P.M.S. Wittgenstein. New York: Routledge, 1999. 64pp. Hacker, a recognized expert on the philosopher, supplies an accessible, compact biographical summary of Wittgenstein’s life and thought in this helpful introduction for the general reader.

Biographical Novels

Duffy, Bruce. The World as I Found It. New York: Ticknor & Fields, 1987. 546pp. Duffy traces Wittgenstein’s career from the years before World War I through 1951. The novel is faithful to the facts of the philosopher’s life and offers a believable portrait of Wittgenstein and his relationships with the English philosophers Bertrand Russell and G.E.Moore.

Fictional Portraits

Collins, Randall. The Case of the Philosopher’s Ring. New York: Crown, 1978. 152pp. Sherlock Holmes is dispatched to Cambridge to deal with a threat to Wittgenstein’s life in this evocative period mystery with portraits of the members of the philosopher’s university circle, including Bertrand Russell and John Maynard Keynes.

Eagleton, Terry. Saints and Scholars. New York: Verso, 1987. 145pp. Eagleton’s novel imagines a fanciful meeting in 1916 with Wittgenstein, Irish revolutionary James Connolly, Marxist philosopher Nikolai Bakhtin, and Leopold Bloom, the fictional hero of James Joyce’s Ulysses, for philosophical debate on political and social issues.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Wittgenstein (1993). Director: Derek Jarman. This experimental portrait of Wittgenstein (Karl Johnson) takes the form of a series of vignettes from his life, including his relationship with such figures as John Maynard Keynes (John Quentin) and Bertrand Russell (Michael Gough). Video.

Other Sources

Rhees, Rush, ed. Recollections of Wittgenstein. New York: Oxford University Press, 1984. 236pp. This collection of reminiscences by Wittgenstein’s students and friends includes revealing insights not available in any other source.

Sluga, Hans and David G.Stern, eds. The Cambridge Companion to Wittgenstein. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1996. 509pp. This collection of original essays by an international team of scholars sheds light on the development of Wittgenstein’s ideas and work.

499. MARY WOLLSTONECRAFT

1759–1797

English writer and champion of women’s rights, Wollstonecraft was an early proponent of educational equality for women. Her famous tract, Vindication of the Rights of Women (1792), is the first great feminist document. Her daughter was Mary Godwin Shelley, the author of Frankenstein.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Collected Letters of Mary Wollstonecraft. Ralph M.Wardle, ed. Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1979. 439pp. Wollstonecraft’s 346 surviving letters are mainly to Gordon Imlay and her husband, William Godwin, and record the details of her daily life and private feelings.

Recommended Biographies

Flexner, Eleanor. Mary Wollstonecraft: A Biography. New York: Coward-McCann, 1972. 307pp. Flexner’s is a carefully documented critical biography that portrays an emotionally and intellectually complex woman, examining in detail the development of her ideas and the biographical connections between her life and her works.

Sunstein, Emily W. A Different Face: The Life of Mary Wollstonecraft. New York: Harper & Row, 1975. 383pp. Sunstein emphasizes the darker side of Wollstonecraft’s life and temperament, supplying a credible psychological portrait based on the letters and an autobiographical reading of her works.

Tomalin, Claire. The Life and Death of Mary Wollstonecraft. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1975. 216pp. Tomalin offers a sympathetic, though critical, assessment of Wollstonecraft’s life and works that adds new details and corrections to the biographical record. Far from being a feminist saint, Tomalin’s Wollstonecraft is a complex blend of strengths and weaknesses, as well as a compellingly human figure.

Other Biographical Studies

George, Margaret. One Woman’s “Situation”: A Study of Mary Wollstonecraft. Urbana: University of Illinois Press, 1970. 174pp. George offers the first sustained feminist reading of Wollstonecraft’s life and ideas. Based on a close reading of Woll-stonecraft’s writing, George traces their autobiographical connections and offers a psychological interpretation to explain her motives for rebelling against the standards of the times.

Godwin, William. Memoirs of Mary Wollstonecraft. 1927. Reprinted. New York: Haskell House, 1969. 351pp. This critical edition of Godwin’s memoirs of his wife, written shortly after Woll-stonecraft’s death, supplements Godwin’s text with hitherto unpublished letters and extensive notes assessing Godwin’s account and identifying many of its references.

Lorch, Jennifer. Mary Wollstonecraft: The Making of a Radical Feminist. New York: St. Martin’s, 1990. 127pp. Including a brief biographical overview, Lorch concentrates on Wollstonecraft’s development as a thinker, her influences, and modern relevance.

Nixon, Edna. Mary Wollstonecraft: Her Life and Times. London: Dent, 1971. 271pp. Nixon’s is a straightforward, reliable account of Wollstone-craft’s life with an emphasis on her personality as glimpsed both from her works and her relationships.

Pennell, Elizabeth R. Life of Mary Wollstonecraft. Boston: Roberts, 1884. 360pp. The first full-length biography, Pennell’s is a pioneering reassessment that helped to rehabilitate Wollstonecraft’s reputation and importance. Drawing mainly on William Godwin’s memoirs, the book is incomplete and limited in its sources but retains an historical interest as an early feminist reading of Wollstonecraft’s career.

St. Clair, William. The Godwins and the Shelleys: The Biography of a Family. New York: W.W. Norton, 1989. 572pp. Despite the book’s title, the focus here is almost exclusively on William Godwin, and its discussion of the Shelleys is largely restricted to the details of Mary Godwin’s elopement with Percy Shelley and its impact on the Godwin family.

Wardle, Ralph M. Mary Wollstonecraft: A Critical Biography. 1951. Revised ed. Lincoln: University of Nebraska Press, 1966. 366pp. In the first scholarly biography based on hitherto untapped printed and manuscript sources, Wardle’s critical study constructs a mainly reliable chronological narrative that relates Wollstonecraft’s life and ideas to her work and the context of her times.

Biographical Novels

Detre, Jean. A Most Extraordinary Pair. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1975. 328pp. Mixing actual and invented letters and journal entries, the novel dramatizes Wollstonecraft’s romance with William Godwin up to her death in childbirth in a blend of accurate reporting and speculative fancy.

Sherwood, Frances. Vindication. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1993. 435pp. Sherwood offers a fictionalized biographical portrait of Wollstonecraft with many deviations from the facts in a modern repossession of Wollstonecraft’s history and circle.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Miller, Calvin C. Mary Wollstonecraft and the Rights of Women. Greensboro, North Carolina: Morgan Reynolds, 1999. 112pp. This is an informative biography that relates Wollstonecraft’s experiences with her developing political and feminist beliefs.

See also Mary Shelley

500. THOMAS WOLSEY

ca. 1475–1530

English statesman and cardinal, Wolsey was the lord chancellor to Henry VIII. He negotiated a treaty of universal peace between England and the principal European states and was twice a candidate for the papacy. Wolsey’s failure to quickly secure Henry’s divorce from Catherine of Aragon incurred the king’s anger and his urging of a French marriage on the king aroused the enmity of Anne Boleyn. He lost the chancellorship, was arrested on a false charge, and died en route to London.

Recommended Biographies

Ferguson, Charles W. Naked to Mine Enemies: The Life of Cardinal Wolsey. Boston: Little, Brown, 1958. 543pp. Aimed at the general reader, though based on scholarly research, Ferguson sets Wolsey’s personal history against a vivid period background and a social history of the early Tudor era.

Harvey, Nancy L. Thomas Cardinal Wolsey. New York: Macmillan, 1980. 238pp. Serving as a reliable introductory study for the general reader, Harvey’s account follows the trajectory of Wolsey’s career quoting extensively from primary sources.

Pollard, A.F. Wolsey. New York: Longmans, 1929. 393pp. Pollard covers Wolsey’s political career and makes a balanced and judicious case for his place in English history by a great authority on the subject. The book traces both Wolsey’s achievements and depicts the less attractive sides of his character.

Other Biographical Studies

Cavendish, George. The Life and Death of Cardinal Wolsey. Richard S.Sylvester, ed. New York: Oxford University Press, 1959. 304pp. This biographical profile by Wolsey’s contemporary, first published in 1557, is sympathetic, granting him considerable loyalty to Henry VIII and strength of character.

Guy, John. The Cardinal’s Court: The Impact of Thomas Wolsey in Star Chamber. Totowa, New Jersey: Rowman and Littlefield, 1977. 191pp. Guy’s specialized study examines in detail Wolsey’s court relations based on a careful review of archival sources. The book gives the reader already familiar with the general outlines of Wolsey’s career an authoritative view of his skills as a politician and the challenges he faced.

Gwyn, Peter. The King’s Cardinal: The Rise and Fall of Thomas Wolsey. London: Barrie & Jenkins, 1990. 666pp. Gwyn’s is a controversial revisionist portrait that, in the words of one reviewer, “tells us what Wolsey was not, not what he did.” The book constructs a new model for viewing the chancellor with a selective presentation of details that challenges conventional views.

Ridley, Jasper. Statesman and Saint: Cardinal Wolsey, Sir Thomas More, and the Politics of Henry VIII. New York: Viking, 1983. 338pp. This dual biography of Wolsey and Sir Thomas More takes the measure of both men and concludes that the former was the better minister, while the latter was an intolerant fanatic and impractical idealist.

Taunton, Ethereal L. Thomas Wolsey: Legate and Reformer. New York: J.Lane, 1902. 253pp. The author, a Catholic priest, offers an extremely positive assessment of Wolsey’s strength of character and effectiveness as a political leader, based on a careful review of government documents.

Williams, Neville. The Cardinal and the Secretary. New York: Macmillan, 1976. 278pp. Williams’s book is a dual biography of Wolsey and Thomas Cromwell, his successor as chief minister to Henry VIII. The rise to power of both men is chronicled with their comparative strengths and limitations examined.

Fictional Portraits

Clynes, Michael. The Roger Shallot mystery series. 1991– . Wolsey appears frequently in Clynes’s series of Tudor period mysteries involving Sir Roger Shallot and his employer Benjamin Daunbey. Titles include The White Rose Murders (1991), The Grail Murders (1993), A Brood of Vipers (1994), and The Gallows Murder (1996).

Lide, Mary. Command of the King. London: Grafton Books, 1990. 287pp. This tale, set during the early 1500s, offers a convincing look at Wolsey, Tudor life, and the court intrigues of the period.

Plaidy, Jean. The King’s Secret Matter. New York: Putnam, 1995. 284pp. Wolsey figures prominently in this fictional depiction of the secret negotiations to arrange Henry’s divorce from Catherine of Aragon.

Riley, Judith Merkle. The Serpent Garden. New York: Viking, 1996. 467pp. Henry VIII and Wolsey hatch a plot to put an English heir onto the French throne in this fanciful story involving a woman painter with a convincing period flavor.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Anne of the Thousand Days (1969). Director: Charles Jarrott. The relationship between Henry VIII (Richard Burton) and Anne Boleyn (Genevieve Bujold) is given a lavish, though historically inaccurate treatment, in this Hollywood spectacle. Anthony Quayle portrays Wolsey. See Edward Fenton’s Anne of the Thousand Days (New York: New American Library, 1970. 160pp.) for the novelization based on the screenplay. Video.

A Man for All Seasons (1966). Director: Fred Zimmerman. An Oscar-winning film version of Robert Bolt’s play features masterful performances by Paul Scofield as More, Robert Shaw as Henry VIII, and Wendy Hiller as More’s wife. Orson Welles appears briefly as Wolsey. Video.

A Man for All Seasons (1988). Director: Charlton Heston. Heston’s cable television adaptation of the London stage production of Bolt’s play has Heston in the lead as More with a strong supporting cast, including Vanessa Redgrave as More’s wife, Martin Chamberlain as Henry, and John Gielgud as Wolsey. Video.

Six Wives of Henry VIII (1971). Directors: Naomi Capon and John Glenister. In this acclaimed English television miniseries with installments on each of Henry’s wives, Keith Mitchell has been praised as the definitive Henry. The king’s six wives are played by Annette Crosby, Dorothy Tutin, Elvi Hale, Anne Stallybrass, Angela Pleasence, and Rosalie Crutchley. Wolsey is portrayed by John Baskombe. Video.

See also Anne Boleyn; Henry VIII; Sir Thomas More

501. VIRGINIA WOOLF

1882–1941

English novelist and essayist considered a major innovator in twentieth-century fiction, Woolf belonged to a circle of writers, artists, and critics known as the Bloomsbury Group. Known for her use of stream-of-consciousness, Woolf’s novels include Mrs. Dalloway (1925), To the Lighthouse (1927), and The Waves (1931). The Common Reader (1925) and The Second Common Reader (1933) are among the collections of her brilliant critical essays. Woolf is also celebrated for her published lecture, “A Room of One’s Own” (1929). After battling mental illness, she committed suicide by drowning.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

The Diary of Virginia Woolf. Anne O.Bell, ed. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1977–1984. 5 vols. Woolf’s daily record of her life and feelings is an indispensable biographical source and a literary treasure, legitimately regarded as one of the very greatest diaries ever produced.

A Moment’s Liberty: The Shorter Diary. Anne O. Bell, ed. (San Diego: Harcourt, Brace, 1990. 516pp.). This is an abridged edition of the earlier published diary.

The Letters of Virginia Woolf. Nigel Nicolson, ed. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1975–1980. 6 vols. Woolf’s letters provide a remarkable access to Woolf’s personality, relationships, and genius. One of the great letter collections.

Congenial Spirits: The Selected Letters of Virginia Woolf. Joanne T.Banks, ed. (San Diego: Harcourt, Brace, 1989. 472pp.). This collection includes some newly discovered letters.

Moments of Being: Unpublished Autobiographical Writings. Jeanne Schnikind, ed. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1976. 207pp. This volume supplements Woolf’s autobiographical volumes, A Room of One’s Own (1929) and Three Guineas (1938) with five fragmentary memoirs written between 1907 and 1940, mostly dealing with the writer’s first 30 years.

A Passionate Apprentice: The Early Journals, 1897–1909. Mitchell A.Leaska, ed. San Diego: Harcourt, Brace, 1990. 444pp. These seven notebooks written before Woolf launched her career as a writer illuminates the future artist’s daily routine, family background, and developing sensibility.

Recommended Biographies

Bell, Quentin. Virginia Woolf: A Biography. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1972. 2 vols. Bell’s monumental biography stands above all others in terms of its comprehensiveness and authoritative insider’s view. The work of Woolf’s nephew, Bell’s study takes full advantage of his intimacy with his aunt and access to important family papers.

Gordon, Lyndall. Virginia Woolf: A Writer’s Life. New York: W.W.Norton, 1984. 341pp. Gordon’s innovative study applies Woolf’s own narrative technique to her life by focusing on a series of epiphanic moments that shaped her sensibility and art. The result is a revealing analysis of Woolf’s inner life and the process she used to help transform the modern novel.

King, James. Virginia Woolf. New York: W.W. Norton, 1995. 699pp. King’s is an insightful literary biography that explores the relationship between her life and her writings. An excellent, sophisticated introduction to Woolf’s character and writing for the beginner and a refreshing reassessment for the specialist.

Lee, Hermione. Virginia Woolf. New York: Knopf, 1997. 893pp. This is a discerning and thoroughly absorbing account of Woolf’s life and development. Although Lee has uncovered few new facts, she synthesizes her sources into a sensitive and penetrating examination that succeeds in allowing Woolf’s human story and complexity to emerge. Lee replaces the image of the frail victim with a credible figure full of vitality and contradictions.

Other Biographical Studies

Dally, Peter. The Marriage of Heaven and Hell: Manic Depression and the Life of Virginia Woolf. New York: St. Martin’s, 1999. 225pp. British psychiatrist Dally offers a psychobiographical diagnosis that suggests that Woolf suffered from cyclothymic disorder, a seasonal manic depression. This condition is applied to a simplified summary of the events of Woolf’s life.

Dunn, Jane. A Very Close Conspiracy: Vanessa Bell and Virginia Woolf. Boston: Little, Brown, 1990. 338pp. Dunn’s look at the Stephen sisters sheds light on both women’s personality, their family background, and relationship. In a thematically arranged analysis the author demonstrates how their kinship and sibling rivalries illuminate possible explanations for Woolf’s interests and temperament.

Leaska, Mitchell A. Granite and Rainbow: The Hidden Life of Virginia Woolf. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1998. 513pp. Less a biography than a series of critical observations on various aspects of Woolf’s life and work, Leaska, a recognized authority on the writer, has many perceptive things to say particularly about the author’s emotional and sexual life and its relation to the creative process.

Lehman, John. Virginia Woolf and Her World. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1977. 128pp. This is a illustrated biography with a brief text that provides a workmanlike overview of the highlights of Woolf’s life and literary career.

Mepham, John. Virginia Woolf: A Literary Life. New York: St. Martin’s, 1991. 222pp. Mepham’s brief critical biography narrates the story of Woolf’s writing career as a series of experiments reflecting the writer’s developing sensibility and quest for a meaningful view of her life.

Pippett, Aileen. The Moth and the Star: A Biography of Virginia Woolf. Boston: Little, Brown, 1955. 368pp. Pippett’s early biography is comprehensive but limited in its sources and therefore more impressionistic than subsequent studies, more an accomplished sketch than a complete portrait.

Poole, Roger. The Unknown Virginia Woolf. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1995. 289pp. Poole offers a new interpretation of Woolf’s mental history based on a close reading of Woolf’s diaries, letters, and novels, as well as how Woolf’s sexuality helps to inform her works.

Reid, Panthea. Art and Affection: A Life of Virginia Woolf. New York: Oxford University Press, 1996. 570pp. Reid’s is an in-depth psychological reading of Woolf’s life and career that locates the source of her torment in a lack of maternal love and a lifelong rivalry with her sister, Vanessa Bell. Correcting a number of misconceptions about Woolf’s childhood and relationships, particularly with her husband, the book challenges many preconceptions and substitutes a fresh and coherent interpretation.

Rose, Phyllis. Woman of Letters: A Life of Virginia Woolf. New York: Oxford University Press, 1978. 298pp. Rose connects the details of Woolf’s life with her works in a critical biography that empathetically follows the writer’s considerable psychic distress and the personal challenges she faced to create her art from a feminist perspective.

Spater, George, and Ian Parsons. A Marriage of True Minds: An Intimate Portrait of Leonard and Virginia Woolf. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1977. 210pp. Drawing mainly on Leonard Woolf’s private papers and autobiography, the authors chronicle the Woolfs’ 28-year marriage with a great deal of domestic details and a number of previously unpublished photographs from the family album.

Fictional Portraits

Cunningham, Michael. The Hours. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1998. 229pp. Woolf’s suicide is movingly narrated in Cunningham’s Pulitzer Prize-winning novel that mixes a number of interlinked stories in a modern repossession of Woolf’s Mrs. Dalloway.

Hawkes, Ellen. The Shadow and the Moth: A Novel of Espionage with Virginia Woolf. New York: St. Martin’s, 1983. 279pp. Virginia Woolf in 1917 recovering from a mental breakdown and suicide attempt gets involved in a complex mystery prompted by the downing death of a Belgian refugee. Other members of the Bloomsbury circle, including Leonard Woolf, Roger Fry, and Clive and Vanessa Bell are also involved.

Nunez, Sigrid. Mitz: The Marmoset of Bloomsbury. New York: HarperCollins, 1998. 116pp. The domestic life of Virginia and Leonard Woolf in the 1930s is imaginatively reflected through their pet marmoset.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Asbee, Sue. Virginia Woolf. Vero Beach, Florida: Rourke, 1990. 110pp. MG/YA. This is a brief survey of Woolf’s life and a critical analysis of her major works.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Tom & Viv (1994). Director: Brian Gilbert. Michael Hastings co-wrote the filmscript based on his play (New York: Penguin, 1985. 126pp.) dramatizing Eliot’s relationship with Vivienne Haigh-Wood. Willem Dafoe plays Eliot, and Miranda Richardson steals the show as the vivacious and troubled Vivienne. Joanna McCollum appears as Woolf. Video.

Virginia Woolf (1997). Producer: Bob Portway. A look at Woolf’s life and writing techniques through excerpts from her works. Video.

Virginia Woolf (1988). Director: David Thomas. Eileen Aitkins portrays the author in a dramatized reading from her works with commentary on the writer’s life and achievement. Video.

Other Sources

Bishop, Edward. A Virginia Woolf Chronology. Boston: G.K.Hall, 1989. 268pp. A valuable reference source, this is an extensive chronology that allows the reader to follow with ease the development of Woolf’s writing, related to her reading and domestic and social life.

Hussey, Mark. Virginia Woolf A to Z. New York: Facts on File, 1995. 452pp. Alphabetical entries cover every aspect of Woolf’s work and her life.

Noble, Joan R., ed. Recollections of Virginia Woolf. 1972. Reprint ed. Athens: Ohio University Press, 1994. 207pp. Noble collects a rich assortment of firsthand views of the writer.

Stape, J.H., ed. Virginia Woolf: Interviews and Recollections. Iowa City: University of Iowa Press, 1995. 195pp. Multiple perspectives on Virginia Woolf are collected from 42 relatives, close friends, acquaintances, and fellow writers.

502. WILLIAM WORDSWORTH

1770–1850

One of the greatest English poets of the Romantic movement and England’s poet laureate, Wordsworth spent much of his life in the Lake District, about which he wrote. He collaborated with Samuel Taylor Coleridge on Lyrical Ballads (1798), which includes Wordsworth’s famous “Tintern Abbey.” Among his other works are the autobiographical The Prelude (1805) and Poems in Two Volumes (1807), which includes “Ode: Intimations of Immortality,” the poem “Daffodils,” and the sonnet “The World is Too Much with Us.”

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Wordsworth can be usefully viewed through several collections of his letters including The Letters of William and Dorothy Wordsworth. Ernest de Selincourt, ed. (Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1967–1993. 8 vols.); The Love Letters of William and Mary Wordsworth. Beth Darlington, ed. (Ithaca, New York: Cornell University Press, 1981. 265pp.); and Letters of William Wordsworth: A New Selection. Alan G.Hill, ed. (New York: Oxford University Press, 1984. 330pp.).

Reed, Mark L. Wordsworth: The Chronology of the Early Years 1770–99. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1967. 369pp.; Wordsworth: The Chronology of the Middle Years 1800–15. Cambridge, Massachusetts: Harvard University Press, 1975. 782pp. Reed’s remarkable collection of all the documented facts of Wordsworth’s activities up to the year 1815 is fashioned into a daily log giving the reader unprecedented access to the poet’s personal experiences and making available the data of his life story.

Recommended Biographies

Gill, Stephen. William Wordsworth: A Life. New York: Oxford University Press, 1989. 525pp. Incorporating modern interpretations and scholarship, Gill’s is the preferred single- volume critical biography. Extending if not fully superseding the view of the poet provided by Moorman, Gill is masterful in relating the details of Wordsworth’s life with his work in a sophisticated but highly readable narrative account.

Moorman, Mary. William Wordsworth: A Biography. Oxford: Clarendon Press, 1957–1965. 2 vols. Moorman’s detailed, comprehensive, and scholarly study remains the most complete record of Wordsworth’s life. Avoiding the tendency of other biographies, Moorman balances her study with equal attention to the poet’s years of great acclaim but poetic decline, finding not a radical break between the young poet of the revolution and the Tory apologist of the establishment but a coherence and unity.

Williams, John. William Wordsworth: A Literary Life. New York: St. Martin’s, 1996. 208pp. Williams’s brief biographical and critical study traces Wordsworth’s artistic development, while challenging a number of commonly held views, particularly the notion that the poet’s youth was untroubled. Williams looks closely at the dominant patterns in the poet’s entire career, and the book provides a fresh assessment of both the man and his works.

Other Biographical Studies

Davies, Hunter. William Wordsworth: A Biography. New York: Atheneum, 1980. 367pp. In a popular condensation of the poet’s life, Davies manages an accessible guided tour for the general reader. Based mainly on Moorman, the standard modern biography, this is a lively, informal summary of the highlights with a breezy, irreverent style that some may find infectious, others annoying.

Halliday, F.E. Wordsworth and His World. London: Thames and Hudson, 1970. 143pp. This visual biography blends a brief text with pictures of Wordsworth and the people and places associated with him. The highlights of the poet’s life are covered with the poetry related to the places illustrated.

Harper, George M. William Wordsworth: His Life, Works and Influence. New York: Scribner, 1916. 2 vols. The first comprehensive, scholarly biography, Harper’s is a diligently researched chronological study. Praised as “the finest critical presentment of Wordsworth’s personality, period, work, and influence that has appeared,” Harper’s study was the standard biography throughout the first half of the twentieth century.

Legouis, Emile. The Early Life of William Wordsworth, 1770–98. 1897. Reprinted. New York: Russell & Russell, 1965. 480pp. Legouis’s study of Wordsworth’s formative years and the autobiographical connection to The Prelude began the critical debate over the degree that the poem can be read as a accurate reflection of the poet’s life, an issue that has dogged Wordsworth studies ever since.

Mahoney, John L. William Wordsworth: A Poetic Life. New York: Fordham University Press, 1997. 375pp. Mahoney’s biographical study examines Wordworth’s literary achievement and life through a close reading of several key and representative poems. Mahoney finds an underlying unity connecting Wordsworth’s entire career, while drawing attention to the key transformative moments in his private and creative life.

Meyer, George W. Wordsworth’s Formative Years. Ann Arbor: University of Michigan Press, 1943. 265pp. Focusing on the poet’s life up to 1798. Meyer turned not to The Prelude but to the letters and Wordsworth’s early poetry as a more accurate gauge of the poet’s actual development.

Wordsworth, Christopher. Memoirs of William Wordsworth. Boston: Ticknor Reed, 1851. 2 vols. This tribute written by Wordsworth’s nephew shortly after the poet’s death is a partial portrait, primarily celebrating Wordsworth’s Victorian laureate status. Discreet on the poet’s years in France and initial sympathy toward the revolution, the book seeks out to burnish a reputation rather than reveal a life.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Bober, Natalie. William Wordsworth: The Wandering Poet. Nashville, Tennessee: T.Nelson, 1975. 191pp. MG/YA. Bober’s is an extensive presentation of Wordsworth’s life that captures his poetic method and impact.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Clouds of Glory (1988). Director: Ken Russell. David Warner portrays the poet, with David Hemmings as Coleridge and Felicity Kendall as Dorothy in this multipart British television series on the life of the poet. Video.

Wordsworth, 1770–1850 (1988). Director: Richard Mervyn. Wordsworth’s life is briefly chronicled with readings from his works. Narrated by John Gielgud. Video.

Other Sources

Pinion, F.B. A Wordsworth Chronology. Boston: G.K.Hall, 1988. 255pp. Not as detailed or as thorough as Reed’s two volumes, Pinion’s is a useful reference source on Wordsworth’s activities and compositions after 1815.

See also Samuel Taylor Coleridge

503. SIR CHRISTOPHER WREN

1623–1723

English architect Wren had an early career as a professor of astronomy and brilliant mathematician. He designed many new buildings after the Great Fire of London (1666), including St. Paul’s Cathedral. His other buildings include Oxford’s Sheldonian Theatre, London’s Chelsea Hospital, and the Temple Bar in London. He also designed residences. Wren’s work had great influence on church architecture in England and abroad.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Wren, Christopher Jr. Life and Works of Sir Christopher Wren from the Parentalia, or Memoirs by His Son Christopher. Ernest J.Enthoven. New York: S.Buckley, 1903. 368pp. Assembled by Wren’s son, this is an essential collection of documentary evidence on the architect and his family, including transcriptions of original sources now lost. The accompanying biographical account is untrustworthy, however, written to commemorate rather than reveal.

Recommended Biographies

Beard, Geoffrey W. The Work of Christopher Wren. London: Bloomsbury Books, 1987. 240pp. Aimed at the general reader, this is a highly readable, accessible illustrated presentation of the biographical facts and an introduction to Wren’s accomplishments.

Little, Bryan D.G. Sir Christopher Wren: A Historical Biography. London: R.Hale, 1975. 288pp. Little’s is a fascinating chronological narrative account of Wren’s life that compensates for the lack of hard evidence about Wren’s life by attempting to demonstrate the ways in which social and political events shaped his career and his art.

Summerson, John. Sir Christopher Wren. New York: Macmillan, 1951. 159pp. Part of the Brief Lives series, Summerson supplies for the general reader a concise biographical and critical introduction that adequately presents Wren’s achievements in an accessible fashion.

Whinney, Margaret. Christopher Wren. New York: Praeger, 1971. 216pp. This is a major evaluation of the man and his work, equally accomplished in its presentation of Wren’s character and temperament as his achievement. Accessible for the general reader, the book has something to offer the specialist as well.

Other Biographical Studies

Bennett, J.A. The Mathematical Science of Christopher Wren. New York: Cambridge University Press, 1982. 148pp. Bennett’s is a specialized, scholarly study that looks closely at Wren’s scientific activities, an area of Wren’s life that has not received appropriate attention.

Chambers, James. Christopher Wren. New York: Sutton, 1998. 128pp. Part of the Pocket Biographies series, this is a good, basic overview of Wren’s life and achievements that serves to orient the general reader in a concise summary.

Downes, Kerry. The Architecture of Wren. New York: Universe Books, 1982. 139pp. Although the book does not pretend to offer a comprehensive coverage of Wren’s architectural development, this is a major study that has been called “the best single book on Wren.” More an interpretation than a biography, Downes’s study does offer insights on the man as well as his genius.

Hutchinson, Harold F. Sir Christopher Wren: A Biography. New York: Stein and Day, 1976. 191pp. Too brief to serve as more than an introduction, Hutchinson does attend to Wren’s early scientific career before shifting to his architectural accomplishments.

Sekler, Eduard F. Wren and His Place in European Architecture. New York: Macmillan, 1956. 217pp. The biographical details presented serve mainly to place Wren’s achievement in a chronological sequence. A quarter of this specialized study is devoted to reproductions of original plans and drawings and photographs of his buildings.

Weaver, Lawrence. Sir Christopher Wren, Scientist, Scholar and Architect. New York: Scribner, 1923. 173pp. Although brief, Weaver’s is a reliable overview of the few documented facts concerning Wren’s life, contemporary sources on his personality, and a competent review of his achievements.

Whitaker-Wilson, Cecil. Sir Christopher Wren: His Life and Times. New York: McBride, 1932. 268pp. Written to honor the tercentenary of his birth, this is a tribute volume that pads the meager biographical details with an evocation of life in London during the architect’s lifetime.

Biographical Novels

Weiss, David. Myself, Christopher Wren. New York: Coward-McCann, 1974. 922pp. Weiss’s massive biographical novel traces Wren’s career from 1636 to 1708, following him through the English Civil War, the Restoration, the rebuilding of London after the Great Fire, and his struggle to complete St. Paul’s Cathedral. With invented scenes and dialogue, the novel remains close to the facts of Wren’s life and the events of the period.

Fictional Portraits

Laker, Rosalind. Circle of Pearls. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1990. 519pp. Wren’s career as an architect is tied with this tale of a Royalist gentlewoman during the English Civil War.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Gould, Heywood. Sir Christopher Wren: Renaissance Architect, Philosopher, and Scientist. New York: F.Watts, 1970. 216pp. MG/YA. This is a substantial and informative biography that covers the full range of Wren’s achievements, while relating his development to the wider historical and political context.

Weir, Rosemary. The Man Who Built a City: A Life of Sir Christopher Wren. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1971. 208pp. MG/YA. Although fictionalized, this is a detailed portrait of the man, his genius, and his times.

504. FRANK LLOYD WRIGHT

1867–1959

Widely considered the greatest American architect, Wright became known for his “prairie style,” featuring strong, horizontal lines, low roofs, and open floorplans. Famous examples of this style are located in the Chicago and Phoenix areas. He was the first U.S. architect to introduce open planning in houses. Other buildings designed by Wright include the Larkin Office Building (Buffalo, 1904), the “Falling Water” house (Pennsylvania, 1936–1937), and the Guggenheim Museum (New York, 1946–1959).

Autobiography and Primary Sources

An Autobiography. New York: Duell, Sloan and Pearce, 1943. 561pp. Wright’s often self-serving and unreliable recollections presented here are nevertheless a rich source of information on the man’s perspective on his career, his taste, personality, and architectural views. Wright’s biographer, Robert Twombly, has called the book “difficult, revealing, inaccurate, but compelling.”

Letters to Apprentices. Fresno: Press at California State University, 1982. 211pp.; Letters to Architects. Fresno: Press at California State University, 1984. 227pp.; Letters to Clients. Fresno: Press at California State University, 1986. 320pp. Wright’s letters arranged by recipients are an important reference source for the architect’s strong views and remarkable and maddening personality traits.

Recommended Biographies

Gill, Brendan. Many Masks: A Life of Frank Lloyd Wright. New York: Putnam, 1987. 544pp. Gill, in a witty, irreverent, and candid assessment, alternates between admiration for the architect and disapproval of the man. As the book’s title indicates, the focus is on Wright’s various invented selves, contradictions, and paradoxes. Includes 300 photographs and drawings, as well as previously unpublished letters.

Secrest, Meryle. Frank Lloyd Wright. New York: Knopf, 1992. 634pp. Secrest narrates Wright’s life in full with a particular attention to detailing the architect’s private side and family relationships that is strongest on the women in Wright’s life, particularly the architect’s life with his third wife, Olgivanna, and their working partnership. Extensively researched and drawing on the archives of the Wright Memorial Foundation, the book provides fresh insights into Wright’s turbulent career and often contradictory personality.

Twombly, Robert C. Frank Lloyd Wright: His Life and His Architecture. New York: Wiley, 1979. 444pp. The author has reworked and expanded his earlier book, Frank Lloyd Wright: An Interpretive Biography (New York: Harper & Row, 1973. 373pp), to present a sensible, balanced examination of the architect and his work that relates the various private crises and public scandals in Wright’s life to his projects and artistic development.

Other Biographical Studies

Blake, Peter. The Master Builders: Le Corbusier, Mies Van der Rohe, Frank Lloyd Wright. New York: W.W.Norton, 1976. 399pp. Blake’s multiple portraits of the leading figures of modern architecture are sensible and objective accounts that relate the career of each to the intellectual and artistic ideas that they helped to define.

Brooks, H.Allen. Frank Lloyd Wright and the Prairie School. New York: G.Braziller, 1984. 120pp. Brooks’s text for a catalog exhibition of drawings and photographs summarizes Wright’s early breakthrough contributions to domestic architecture.

Farr, Finis. Frank Lloyd Wright: A Biography. New York: Scribner, 1961. 293pp. The first full-length biography is a compact and chronological, popular study that emphasizes Wright the man throughout a career filled with both triumphs and setbacks.

Johnson, Donald L. Frank Lloyd Wright Versus America: The 1930s. Cambridge, Massachusetts: MIT Press, 1990. 436pp. Johnson provides extensive coverage of Wright’s life and work between 1928 and 1941, offering one of the most detailed accounts available of the architect’s “second golden age.”

Muschamp, Herbert. Man about Town: Frank Lloyd Wright in New York City. Cambridge, Massachusetts: MIT Press, 1983. 214pp. Limited to Wright’s final period between 1935 and 1959, Muschamp chronicles the impact of New York on the architect’s development. Muschamp’s thesis about the importance New York played in Wright’s career challenges accepted views.

Scully, Vincent J. Frank Lloyd Wright. New York: G.Braziller, 1960. 125pp. Scully’s informed, concise assessment of Wright’s career offers suggestions about the various influences that shaped his ideas and the contexts out of which his work evolved, with affinities as diverse as Whitman and Nietzsche.

Smith, Norris K. Frank Lloyd Wright: A Study in Architectural Content. Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Prentice-Hall, 1966. 178pp. In Smith’s revisionist appraisal of Wright’s career and achievement, the architect is seen not as a modernist but as a romantic conservative, a Utopian deeply rooted in American mythology.

Tafel, Edgar. Apprentice to Genius: Years with Frank Lloyd Wright. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1979. 228pp. Tafel, an architect and Wright associate, shares his reminiscences mainly about the Depression era that grants the architect genius but exposes his unpleasant personality as an arrogant, blustering braggart.

Wright, John Lloyd. My Father Who Is on Earth. New York: Putnam, 1946. 231pp. Wright’s son supplies anecdotal reminiscences as an “unconventional portrait of an unconventional man.” Although the book details Wright’s shortcomings as a family man, a fully believable Wright eludes the grasp of his son.

Wright, Olgivanna Lloyd. The Shining Brow: Frank Lloyd Wright. New York: Horizon, 1966. 300pp. Wright’s third wife offers her recollections of their relationship from the 1920s with an emphasis on Wright’s private rather than public life. Frank Lloyd Wright: His Life, His Works, His Words (New York: Horizon, 1966. 224pp.) focuses on her husband’s work in a chronological account of the various projects Wright undertook during the years of their marriage.

Biographical Novels

Levin, Meyer. The Architect. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1981. 413pp. Based on the early life of the architect, Levin’s novel traces Wright’s development of his art, his main passion that dominates an unconventional private life.

Fictional Portraits

Miles, Keith. Murder in Perspective: An Architectural Mystery. New York: Walker, 1997. 250pp. This murder mystery features an appearance by Wright during the building of the Arizona Biltmore in Phoenix in the 1920s.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Boulton, Alexander O. Frank Lloyd Wright: An Illustrated Biography. New York: Rizzoli, 1993. 128pp. YA. This handsomely designed, large volume is an excellent introduction to Wright’s life and work that deals frankly with the architect’s private life.

McDonough, Yona Z. Frank Lloyd Wright. New York: Chelsea House, 1992. 111pp. MG/YA. This is a competent, informative overview of Wright’s life and art.

Rubin, Susan G. Frank Lloyd Wright. New York: Abrams, 1994. 92pp. MG/YA. Part of the acclaimed First Impressions series, Rubin covers both the significant events of Wright’s life and his development as an architect, with numerous photographs of his most famous projects.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Muldoon, Paul. Shining Brow. Boston: Faber and Faber, 1993. 86pp. Commissioned by the Madison Opera as a libretto for American composer Daron Aric Hagen, Muldoon’s dramatic poem tells the story of Wright’s genius and his affair with the wife of a wealthy client.

Frank Lloyd Wright (1998). Director: Ken Burns. This is an impressive film treatment of Wright’s life and achievement that covers both his private life, personality, and public career with views of many of his most famous buildings. Video.

Frank Lloyd Wright: American Architect (1988). Producer: Films for the Humanities. A documentary film portrait that covers Wright’s life, career, and accomplishments. Video.

Frank Lloyd Wright: Portrait of an Artist (1983). Director: Murray Grigor. This film portrait traces the development of Wright’s architectural vision and includes recordings of the architect’s reflections. Video.

Frank Lloyd Wright: The Mike Wallace Interviews (1994). Director: Bob Eisenhardt. These interviews were filmed in 1957 with a taped introduction and conclusion by Wallace in 1994. Video.

Other Sources

Brooks, H.Allen. Writings on Wright: Selected Comment on Frank Lloyd Wright. Cambridge, Massachusetts: MIT Press, 1981. 229pp. Various clients, critics, and associates offer their recollections of Wright’s genius, achievement, and legacy.

Tafel, Edgar. About Wright: An Album of Recollections by Those Who Knew Him. New York: J. Wiley, 1993. 326pp. This is a rich collection of reminiscences from clients, builders, apprentices, and family members forming an intimate portrait of the architect. With letters and photographs never before published.

505–506. WILBUR WRIGHT (1867–1912); ORVILLE WRIGHT (1871–1948)

American aeronautical engineers Wilbur and Orville Wright are renowned for building and flying the first successful powered heavier-than-air aircraft, flown at Kitty Hawk, North Carolina, in 1903. They initially experimented with gliders, for which Wilbur invented the first aileron, and built and experimented with a wind tunnel. After Kitty Hawk, the Wrights built several biplanes and won fame with record-breaking flights in the United States and France.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Miracle at Kitty Hawk: The Letters of Wilbur and Orville Wright. Fred C.Kelly, ed. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1951. 482pp. This collection of some 500 letters has extensive biographical interest, focusing less on the technical side of the Wrights’s aviation work contained in The Papers and more on their collaboration, daily activities, and personalities.

The Papers of Wilbur and Orville Wright. Marvin W.McFarland, ed. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1953. 2 vols. Containing some 1,200 letters, notes, diagrams, and rare photographs, this important collection of primary materials documents the Wrights’s progress and relationship, essential for the biographer and the historian of aviation.

How We Invented the Airplane. Fred C.Kelly, ed. New York: McKay, 1953. 78pp. Testimony written by Orville Wright for a governmental lawsuit provides a brief, detailed account of the stages leading up to the first airplane flight from his perspective.

Recommended Biographies

Crouch, Tom D. The Bishop’s Boys: A Life of Wilbur and Orville Wright. New York: W.W. Norton, 1989. 606pp. Balancing both the story of the Wrights’ technical achievement with the most sophisticated and credible look at their background, temperament, and development, Crouch’s well-researched study is a compelling biography of both men and their family and as a history of early aviation.

Howard, Fred. Wilbur and Orville: A Biography of the Wright Brothers. New York: Knopf, 1987. 530pp. Howard’s is a thorough, well-documented account that places the Wrights’ achievement in a wide historical context and continues their story beyond 1909 and the legal wrangling that followed their triumphant flight. Sensible in its interpretations of the brothers and detailed in documenting their story, the biography is an excellent portrait of the men and their times.

Kelly, Fred C. The Wright Brothers: A Biography Authorized by Orville Wright. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1943. 340pp. Reflecting both information gained from Orville Wright and his editorial input, Kelly’s undocumented narrative account comes close to an autobiography and as such continues to claim interest. Readers looking for the full story behind the winning of lawsuits against aviaton pioneer Glenn Hammond Curtiss for patent disputes and Orville’s perspective should look elsewhere.

Other Biographical Studies

Combs, Harry, with Martin Caidin. Kill Devil Hill: Discovering the Secret of the Wright Brothers. Boston: Houghton Mifflin, 1979. 389pp. Combs, an experienced pilot and aeronautical engineer, supplies an accessible summary of the technical achievements of the Wright brothers for the nonspecialist. The book is less useful as a critical and realistic evaluation of the Wrights’ personalities and development.

Freudenthal, Elsbeth E. Flight into History: The Wright Brothers and the Air Age. Norman: University of Oklahoma Press, 1949. 268pp. Fred C. Kelly’s review of Freudenthal’s effort to reassess the Wrights’ achievement in the wider context of aviation history stated that “For persistent inaccuracy, basic misconceptions, and distortions, this book should set some kind of record.” In the author’s view, the Wrights are seen less as innovators than in practical exploiters of the work of others, and this thesis dominants the book’s somewhat slanted presentation of the facts.

McMahon, John R. The Wright Brothers: Fathers of Flight. Boston: Little, Brown, 1930. 308pp. More myth than a reliable biography, McMahon’s treatment imagines conversations and reduces the actual story of the Wrights’ achievement to a romanticized pleasing pattern of the eventual rewards of pluck and native ingenuity. Orville Wright attempted to suppress its publication.

Walsh, John E. One Day at Kitty Hawk: The Untold Story of the Wright Brothers and the Airplane. New York: Crowell, 1975. 305pp. Surveying the Wrights' activities up to 1909, Walsh argues that Wilbur was the preeminent force behind the brothers' efforts, a fact that has been obscured by his early death and Orville's self-serving manipulation of the facts through Kelly's biography, a thesis that later biographers have disputed.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Freedman, Russell. The Wright Brothers: How They Invented the Airplane. New York: Holiday House, 1991. 129pp. MG/YA. Profusely illustrated, this is a lively and informative account of the Wright brothers' background and technical achievements. A 1992 Newbery Honor Book.

Haynes, Richard M. The Wright Brothers. Englewood Cliffs, New Jersey: Silver Burdett, 1991. 143pp. MG. This biography relies on extensive quotes from the Wrights' letters and writings to trace their lives and demonstrate their accomplishments.

Welch, Becky. The Wright Brothers: Conquering the Sky. New York: Fawcett Columbine, 1992. 120pp. MG. Welch's is a competent narrative account of the Wrights' achievement.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: Wilbur & Orville: Dreams of Flying (1994). Producer: Gino Del Guercio. The Wrights' background and achievement are profiled using archival material and rare photos and film footage. Video.

The Winds of Kitty Hawk (1978). Director: E.W. Swackhamer. David Huffman plays Orville and Michael Moriarty is Wilbur in this dramatization of the brothers' attempt to be the first into the air. Video.

The Wright Stuff (1996). Producer: Nancy Porter. In an installment of PBS's American Experience series, the Wrights are viewed in a full-length biographical portrait. Video.

Other Sources

Renstrom, Arthur G. Wilbur & Orville Wright: A Chronology. Washington, DC: Library of Congress, 1975. 234pp. Renstrom supplies a detailed chronology of the Wrights' activities based on a careful review of all the relevant source material.

Y

507. WILLIAM BUTLER YEATS

1865–1939

Irish poet and playwright, Yeats is considered one of the world's greatest lyric poets and a major figure of twentieth-century literature. Irish nationalism is an important element of his early works, such as The Wanderings of Oisín (1889). Among his other poems are "The Lake Isle of Innisfree," "The Second Coming," "The Tower," and "Sailing to Byzantium." Yeats was a cofounder of the Abbey Theatre and his dramatic works include The Hour Glass (1904) and Deirdre (1907). Yeats was a member of the Irish senate and winner of the 1923 Nobel Prize in Literature.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Autobiographies. William H.O'Donnell and Douglas N.Archibald, eds. New York: Simon & Schuster, 1999. 560pp. Consisting of six autobiographical works that Yeats combined into a single memoir of his first 58 years, this is a fascinating, though selective and creative, series of recollections. The editors provide useful explanatory notes to help clarify the discrepancy between Yeats's version and the facts.

The Collected Letters of W.B.Yeats. John Kelly, ed. New York: Oxford University Press, 1986–. 3 vols. This collection has substantially expanded our view and altered many assumptions about Yeats's life, personality, and ideas, reflected in the first volume of R.F.Foster's impressive new biography of the poet's formative years. While awaiting the completion of this scholarly collection, which has reached the year 1904, the reader can still rely on the Letters of W.B.Yeats. Allan Wade, ed. (London: R.Hart-Davis, 1954. 938pp.).

Memoirs. Denis Donoghue, ed. New York: Macmillan, 1973. 318pp. This work reprints the first draft of Yeats's autobiography written in 1915 and 1916 and his journal from 1908 to 1930. More immediate and less artistically reworked than his Autobiographies, this is, like Yeats's letters, an indispensable source of biographical details.

Recommended Biographies

Alldritt, Keith. W.B.Yeats: The Man and the Milieu. New York: Clarkson Potter, 1997. 388pp. More concerned with Yeats's public life and relationships, Alldritt succinctly covers the writer's entire life in the context of his times. Rejecting the notion of Yeats as a mystic dreamer, the book portrays him as ambitious and preoccupied with status and money.

Ellmann, Richard. Yeats: The Man and the Masks. New York: Macmillan, 1948. 331pp. Ellmann's book has long been regarded as the finest critical biography available. Emphasizing Yeats's intellectual and literary development through his many identity shifts, Ellmann ably tracks the inner drama of Yeats's life. The author's The Identity of Yeats (New York: Oxford University Press, 1954. 343pp.) is an equally impressive critical study of Yeats's poetic development.

Foster, R.F. W.B.Yeats: A Life. New York: Oxford University Press, 1997. 640pp. The first volume of Foster's masterful, authoritative study narrates the story of Yeats's life up to 1914. Drawing on modern scholarship, particularly John Kelly's scholarly edition of Yeats's letters, Foster's meticulously detailed account is the fullest and most comprehensive portrait of the artist that has been produced and promises when completed to become the standard biographical source for some time to come.

Jeffares, A.Norman. W.B.Yeats: A New Biography. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1989. 374pp. Re-visioning his 1949 biography in the light of new sources and scholarship, Jeffares's is a reliable, well-documented, comprehensive, and intimate narrative treatment of Yeats's life that would well serve the reader as an excellent general introduction. One particular merit is the collection of photographs provided.

Other Biographical Studies

Brown, Terence. The Life of W.B.Yeats: A Critical Biography. Maiden, Massachusetts: Blackwell, 1999. 410pp. Brown's is an able, judicious account of the relationship among Yeats's life, personality, and artistic career. The book is particularly insightful on Yeats's poetry and his evolving sensibility and cultural background.

Hone, Joseph. W.B.Yeats: 1865–1939. 1943. Revised ed. New York: Macmillan, 1962. 535pp. The first comprehensive biography, Hone's factual record has been long superseded, but the book does draw on the author's 30-year friendship with his subject and a firsthand view of Irish intellectual life from the 1880s.

Jeffares, A.Norman. W.B.Yeats: Man and Poet. New Haven, Connecticut: Yale University Press, 1949. 365pp. More objective and critically astute than Hone's authorized biography, Jeffares provides a more complete and thoroughly documented account of Yeats's career with an emphasis on his development as a poet and the relationship between his life and his work. The author's 1989 revision, discussed above, incorporates more recent scholarship.

Mac Liammóir, Micheál, and Eavan Boland. W.B. Yeats and His World. New York: Scribner, 1978. 144pp. This is a fine illustrated biography combining photographs of the poet, his associates, and sites with a sensible text that covers the highpoints of Yeats's career and accomplishments.

Macrae, Alasdair. W.B.Yeats: A Literary Life. New York: St. Martin's, 1995. 204pp. Macrae's literary biography stresses Yeats's public activities; relationship with family, friends, and colleagues; and publishing history with a discussion of his works and politics in their historical context.

Maddox, Brenda. Yeats's Ghosts: The Secret Life of W.B.Yeats. New York: HarperCollins, 1999. 474pp. Maddox begins her study in 1917, when the poet was 51, and concentrates on his relationship with his wife, Georgie Hyde-Lees, and their mutual fascination with automatic writing and the occult. In the author's view, Yeats's wife used her husband's fascination with her as a medium to control him and make him dependent on her.

Murphy, William M. Family Secrets: W.B.Yeats and His Relatives. Syracuse, New York: Syracuse University Press, 1995. 534pp. In a sequel to the author's acclaimed biography of John Butler Yeats, Prodigal Father (1978). Murphy provides one of the most detailed and revealing studies of Yeats's family background and his relationship with his parents and his siblings, based on previously untapped primary sources.

Tuohy, Frank. Yeats. New York: Macmillan, 1976. 232pp. Tuohy approaches Yeats from his historical, social, and intellectual context with a wealth of background detail to help explain the writer's activities and interests. Written for the nonspecialist, the book succeeds in providing the general reader with a solid introduction to the man, the writer, and his times.

Fictional Portraits

Fitzgibbon, Constantine. High Heroic. New York: W.W.Norton, 1969. 176pp. Irish revolutionary leader Michael Collins’s life is the subject here with portrayals by a number of historical figures, including Yeats.

Spellman, Cathy C. An Excess of Love. New York: Delacorte, 1985. 526pp. Two sisters get involved in the Irish independence movement in this novel featuring appearances by a large cast of historical figures, including Michael Collins, James Connolly, Scan O’Casey, Eamon De Valera, Constance Markievicz, and Yeats.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Spivak, Gayatri. Myself Must I Remake: The Life and Poetry of W.B.Yeats. New York: Crowell, 1974. 201 pp. YA. This is a sophisticated portrait of the poet’s development that presupposes a background in Irish and English literary history.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

Young Cassidy (1965). Director: Jack Cardiff. This colorful look at Dublin life during 1910 features Rod Taylor as playwright Scan O’Casey and an appearance by Yeats, played by Michael Redgrave. A fine supporting cast includes Julie Christie, Maggie Smith, Edith Evans, and Jack MacGowran.

Other Sources

McCready, Sam. A William Butler Yeats Encyclopedia. Westport, Connecticut: Greenwood, 1997. 484pp. This valuable reference volume is a comprehensive record of Yeats’s life and work through 1,000 alphabetically arranged entries on his writings, allusions, and people and places with whom he was associated.

Mikhail, E.H. W.B.Yeats: Interviews and Recollections. New York: Barnes and Noble, 1977. 2 vols. This is a rich and varied collection of views on the poet by friends, associates, and contemporaries.

508. BRIGHAM YOUNG

1801–1877

American Mormon leader Brigham Young spent three years as a missionary in England before assuming the Mormon leadership after the death of founder Joseph Smith (1844). Young led the great Mormon migration west from Nauvoo, Illinois, to Utah, where he directed the settlement of Salt Lake City. Under his direction, the city became a prosperous community. Young was the first governor of Utah but lost his post after the U.S. military expedition against the Mormons, known as the Utah War.

Autobiography and Primary Sources

Diary of Brigham Young, 1857. Ernest L.Cooley, ed. Salt Lake City, Utah: Tanner Trust Fund, 1980. 105pp. This is the only one of Young’s diaries and journals to be published, covering several months in 1857.

Letters of Brigham Young to His Sons. Dean C. Jessee, ed. Salt City, Utah: Deseret, 1974. 375pp. This collection of letters offers a revealing personal portrait of the man.

Manuscript History of Brigham Young. Elden J. Watson, ed. Salt Lake City, Utah: Elden J.Watson, 1968–1971. 2 vols. Contemporary documents from the 1850s have been assembled to record Young’s public career.

Recommended Biographies

Arrington, Leonard J. Brigham Young: American Moses. New York: Knopf, 1985. 522pp. The author, a Mormon historian, has used unprecedented access to archival sources to produce the most detailed, authoritative study of Young. In the author’s provocative assessment, Young embodied the “supreme American paradox,” uniting “the business genius of a Rockefeller with the spiritual sensitivi-ties of an Emerson, the lusty enjoyment of the plea-sures of good living with the tenderness of a Florence Nightingale.”

Bringhurst, Newell G. Brigham Young and the Expanding American Frontier. Boston: Little, Brown, 1986. 246pp. Bringhurst’s narrative biography traces the steps by which Young became a Mormon and his rise to leadership in the aftermath of Joseph Smith’s murder. Young’s achievements are placed in the context of frontier history. Serves as a solid introductory study for the general reader and student.

Other Biographical Studies

Gates, Susa Young, with Lean D.Widtsoe. The Life Story of Brigham Young. New York: Macmillan, 1930. 388pp. Young’s daughter organizes her recollections into a biographical profile of her father, dealing with his character and family life. Although intended as a vindication of her father’s memory, the book is a rich source of unique, anecdotal details of Young’s domestic life.

Hirshson, Stanley P. The Lion of the Lord: A Biography of Brigham Young. New York: Knopf, 1969. 391pp. Lack of objectivity mars this debunking study that portrays Young as a charlatan and a liar. The author’s attack on polygamy dominates this treatment that never fully resolves the contradictions in Young’s character or his multiple roles into a plausible psychological portrait.

Nibley, Preston. Brigham Young: The Man and His Work. Salt Lake City, Utah: Deseret, 1936. 551pp. Nibley’s documentary chronicle covers Young’s life, using extensive excerpts from his sermons and letters.

Werner, Morris R. Brigham Young. New York: Harcourt, Brace, 1925. 487pp. The author offers an entertaining, dramatic narrative account of Young’s life and Mormon history that goes back to Joseph Smith and the founding of Mormonism. All sides of Young’s enigmatic character are well depicted with extensive quotations from his sermons.

Biographical Novels

Fisher, Vardis. Children of God: An American Epic. New York: Harper, 1939. 769pp. Fisher’s panoramic narrative chronicles the founding of Mormonism from Smith’s first visions through the religious persecution in the Midwest and the epic trek west led by Brigham Young.

Furnas, Joseph C. The Devil’s Rainbow. New York: Harper, 1962. 341pp. Young’s rise to leadership of the Mormons is portrayed in this fictional account of Joseph Smith’s life from his first revelation to his murder.

Fictional Portraits

Bailey, Paul. For Time and All Eternity. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1964. 400pp. The government’s campaign against the Mormon practice of polygamy is dramatized in this story of Mormon woman. Young is depicted.

Bowen, Peter. Kelly Blue. New York: Crown, 1991. 264pp. This humorous western tale concerns the adventures of an army scout, Indian fighter, and adventurer who is pursued by Brigham Young and is in the thick of the fighting during the Indian wars of the 1870s.

Jones, Cleo. Sister Wives. New York: St. Martin’s, 1984. 474pp. Mormon practices during the 1850s are dramatized from the perspective of a woman who rebels from her fate as her husband’s third wife. Actual events and appearances by several historical figures, including Young, Mark Twain, and James Buchanan, are blended with the novel’s invented story.

Lauritzen, Jonreed. The Everlasting Fire. Garden City, New York: Doubleday, 1962. 474pp. Focusing on the events of the Mormon migration west through the perspective of a fictional family who endure hostility and prejudice, the novel depicts the events leading up to Smith’s murder and Brigham Young’s rise to leadership.

Reife, A.R. Salt Lake City. New York: New American Library, 1989. 351pp. The founding of Salt Lake City and the early years of the Mormons in Utah are depicted from the perspective of a Young follower who must contend with Indians, hostile settlers, an unforgiving landscape, and the govern-ment’s determination to suppress the Mormons.

Recommended Juvenile Biographies

Bernotas, Bob. Brigham Young. New York: Chelsea House, 1992. 111pp. MG/YA. Bernotas’s is an informative biographical/historical overview that traces the major events of Young’s career in their wider historical context.

Simon, Charman. Brigham Young: Mormon and Pioneer. New York: Childrens Press, 1998. 42pp. MG. This is a brief, though helpful, objective account of Young’s life, that deals frankly with polygamy and religious intolerance.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

A&E Biography Video: Brigham Young: Architect of Faith (1995). Young's life is profiled in a balanced, objective view. Video.

Brigham Young: Frontiersman (1940). Director: Henry Hathaway. Vincent Price portrays Smith with Dean Jagger in the title role in this dramatization of the history of the Mormons through the founding of Salt Lake City. Tyrone Power and Linda Darnell carry the nonhistorical load. Video.

Trail of Hope (1997). Director: Lee Groberg. This insightful PBS documentary traces the history of the Mormons and their trek west. The companion volume by Heidi S. Swinton, American Prophet: The Story of Joseph Smith (Salt Lake City: Shadow Mountain, 1999. 160pp.), reprints the film's commentary by leading historians, including Robert Remini. Video.

See also Joseph Smith

Z

509. EMILE ZOLA

1840–1902

French novelist Emile Zola was a major exponent of literary naturalism. He first won success with the novel Thérèse Raquin (1867). His series of 20 novels, Les Rougon-Macquart (1871–1893), includes The Dram-Shop (1877), Nana (1880), and Germinal (1885). An ardent advocate of social reform and an anti-Catholic, Zola wrote numerous diatribes against the clergy and the church. His pamphlet, J'accuse (1898), attacked the army in the Dreyfus affair, in which documents had been forged to imprison an army officer for treason.

Recommended Biographies

Brown, Frederick. Zola: A Life. New York: Farrar, Straus, 1995. 888pp. Brown's monumental study matches the man, capturing both the private and public lives of a complex figure as well as his social, political, and intellectual world. Based on new research and documentary evidence, Brown's adds both breadth and depth to our view of the writer, and the book is likely to remain the standard life for some time to come.

Hemmings, F.W.J. The Life and Times of Emile Zola. New York: Scribner, 1977. 192pp. Hemmings's is an excellent, brief scholarly biography that relates aspects of Zola's life to their sociohistorical context and their reflection in his works. The book is a wonder of critical and scholarly compression, achieving a full and convincing human portrait.

Richardson, Joanna. Zola. New York: St. Martin's, 1978. 283pp. Richardson's readable critical biography traces the evolution of Zola's creativity and the connection between his life and his works. Recommended for the general reader looking for a good introduction.

Schom, Alan. Emile Zola: A Biography. New York: Holt, 1988. 303pp. For readers without the patience and persistence needed to tackle Brown's massive study, Schom's full-length portrait is an excellent alternative. Judicious in its treatment and informed by a solid presentation of time and place, the book skillfully presents Zola's remarkable progress from obscurity to the center of his age's controversies.

Other Biographical Studies

Josephson, Matthew. Zola and His Times. Garden City, New York: Garden City Pub. Co., 1928. 558pp. Although now superseded by subsequent scholarship and biographies, Josephson's masterfully documented study can still serve as a useful biographical presentation that shows the various sides of Zola's character set against a solid period background.

Lapp, John S. Zola Before the Rougon-Macquart. Toronto: University of Toronto Press, 1964. 171 pp. The author limits his focus to Zola's formative years, ably chronicling the experiences that led to his first creative work and evolution of his creative ideas that shaped his first masterpieces.

Nelson, Brian. Zola and the Bourgeoisie. New York: Barnes and Noble, 1983. 230pp. Nelson's mainly critical study presents an interesting and revealing portrait of Zola's relationship to his times, showing that despite the novelist's attack on bourgeois values, his relationship to them is far more complicated. The social theme that the book traces is used as means of seeing Zola's career as a logical progression and unified whole.

Walker, Philip. Emile Zola. New York: Humanities Press, 1968. 118pp. Walker's brief biographical and critical profile is an informed and concise overview intended for the student and the generalist. Walker, Philip. Zola. Boston: Routledge, 1985. 257pp. This is an admiring though critical biographical portrait that is not exhaustive but readable and informative. Serves mainly the general reader looking for a solid introduction.

Wilson, Angus. Emile Zola: An Introductory Study of His Novels. 1952. Revised ed. London: Seeker and Warburg, 1964. 148pp. Wilson's lively introduction to Zola's life and work began an important reevaluation of the novelist and his achievement. This compact study retains its usefulness as a sensible critical overview of one novelist's view of another.

Biographical Films and Theatrical Adaptations

I Accuse! (1958). Director: Jose Ferrer. With a screenplay written by Gore Vidal, this dramatic account of the Dreyfus affair features Jose Ferrer as Dreyfus and Emyl Williams as Zola, his defender.

The Life of Emile Zola (1937). Director: William Dieterle. Paul Muni puts in a stellar performance as the writer in a biographical portrait focused on the Dreyfus scandal. A strong supporting cast includes Gale Sondergaard, Gloria Holden, and Joseph Schildkraut. Video.

Prisoner of Honor (1991). Director: Ken Russell. Russell's unique treatment of the Dreyfus affair is unreliable historically but still fascinating. A strong cast includes Richard Dreyfuss, Oliver Reed, Peter Firth, Brian Blessed, and a portrayal of Zola by Martin Friend. Video.

This page intentionally left blank.

Author Index

Numbers refer to entry numbers.

Aaron, Richard I, John Locke, 289

Abbey, Anne Merton, Kathryn: In the Court of Six Queens, 221

Abbey, Margaret, Blood of the Boar , 395;

The Heart Is a Traitor, 395;

The Son of York, 395

Abbott, John S, Christopher Carson: Familiarly Known as Kit Carson, 76;

The Life and Adventures of Rear-Admiral John Paul Jones, Commonly Called Paul Jones, 255

Abels, Jules, Man on Fire: John Brown and the Cause of Liberty, 58;

The Parnell Tragedy, 364

Abernethy, Cecil, Mr. Pepys of Seething Lane, 371

Abraham, Gerald E, Tchaikovsky: A Short Biography, 453

Abraham, Richard, Rosa Luxemburg: A Life for the International, 296

Abrahams, William M, Imperial Waltz, 174

Abrahamsen, David, Nixon vs. Nixon: An Emotional Tragedy, 357

Abse, Joan, John Ruskin: The Passionate Moralist, 411

Ackerman, John, Dylan Thomas: His Life and Work, 460

Ackroyd, Peter, Blake, 38;

Dickens, 134;

English Music, 134, 226;

Ezra Pound and His World, 383;

The Last Testament of Oscar Wilde, 492;

The Life of Thomas More, 336;

Milton in America, 330;

T.S.Eliot: A Life, 159;

The Trial of Elizabeth Cree, 313

Acland, Alice, The Secret Wife, 293

Adair, Gene, George Washington Carver, 78;

Thomas Alva Edison: Inventing the Electric Age, 153

Adams, Alexander B, Geronimo: A Biography, 194;

John James Audubon: A Biography, 15;

Sitting Bull: An Epic of the Plains, 431

Adams, Bluford, E Pluribus Barnum: The Great Showman and the Making of U.S. Popular Culture, 24

Adams, Cynthia, The Mysterious Case of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, 143

Adams, Doris Sutcliffe, No Man's Son, 394

Adams, Jad, and Philip Whitehead, The Dynasty: The Nehru-Gandhi Story, 182, 348

Adams, John Quincy, The Lives of James Madison and James Monroe: Fourth and Fifth Presidents of the United States, 333;

The Lives of James Madison and James Monroe, the Fourth and Fifth Presidents of the United States, 299–300

Adams, John Quincy, and Charles Francis Adams, The Life of John Adams, 2

Adams, Joseph Quincy, A Life of William Shakespeare, 423

Adams, Mildred, Garcia Lorca: Playwright and Poet, 184

Adams, Ramon F, A Fitting Death for Billy the Kid, 36

Adams, Richard, Traveller, 279

Adams, Samuel H, The Gorgeous Hussy, 242;

Incredible Era: The Life and Times of Warren Gamaliel Harding, 212

Adams, William H, The Paris Years of Thomas Jefferson, 247

Adams, William S, Edwardian Portraits, 154

Adamson, J.H., and H.F.Folland, The Shepherd of the Ocean: An Account of Sir Walter Raleigh and His Times, 389

Addleshaw, Percy, Sir Philip Sidney, 429

Ades, Dawn, Dali and Surrealism, 120

Adicks, Richard, A Court of Owls, 43

Adriani, Götz, Toulouse-Lautrec, 465

Agnew, James B, Eggnog Riot, 123

Agosin, Marjorie, Pablo Neruda, 351

Aguilera Malta, Demetrio, Manuela, La Caballeresa Del Sol, 41

Aiken, Joan, The Haunting of Lamb House, 245, 489

Aimsworth, William Harrison, The Tower of London, 314;

Windsor Castle, 221, 40

Aird, Hazel B, Henry Ford: Young Man with Ideas, 168

Aitken, Jonathan, Nixon: A Life, 357

Akbar, M.J, Nehru: The Making of India, 348

Akers, Charles W, Abigail Adams: An American Woman., 1

Aksyonov, Vassily, Generations of Winter, 436

Albaret, Celeste, Monsieur Proust, 385

Aldanov, Mark, For Thee the Best, 67

Alden, John R, George Washington: A Biography, 484

Alden, Laura, Houdini, 23!

Alderman, Clifford, The Dark Eagle: The Story of Benedict Arnold, 11

Aldington, Richard, D.H.Lawrence: Portrait of a Genius, But...., 277;

Lawrence of Arabia: A Biographical Enquiry, 278;

Voltaire, 480;

Wellington, 486

Aldiss, Brian, Frankenstein Unbound, 425, 67

Aldridge, A.Owen, Voltaire and the Century of Light, 480

Aldridge, Alfred O, Benjamin Franklin: Philosopher and Man, 173;

Man of Reason: The Life of Thomas Paine, 363

Aldridge, James, Heroes of the Empty View, 278;

One Last Glimpse, 166, 219

Aleshire, Peter, The Fox and the Whirlwind: General George Crook and Geronimo: A Paired Biography, 194

Alexander, Albert, Karl Marx: The Father of Modern Socialism, 313

Alexander, Doris, The Tempering of Eugene O'Neill, 360

Alexander, Holmes, The American Talleyrand: The Career and Contemporaries of Martin Van Buren, Eighth President, 474

Alexander, John T, Catherine the Great: Life and Legend, 83

Alexander, Karl, Papa and Fidel, 219;

Time after Time, 487

Alexander, Lawrence, The Big Stick, 150, 407;

Speak Softly, 407;

The Strenuous Life, 194, 403, 407

Alexander, Robert J, Juan Domingo Peron: A History, 372–373

Alexander, Sidney, The Hand of Michelangelo, 328;

Marc Chagall: A Biography, 86;

Michelangelo, the Florentine, 328;

Nicodemus: The Roman Years of Michelangelo Buonarroti, 328

Alexandrov, Vladimir, ed, The Garland Companion to Vladimir Nabokov, 344

Ali, Tariq, An Indian Dynasty: The Story of the Nehru-Gandhi Family, 182

Allan-Olney, Mary, The Private Life of Galileo, 181

Aldritt, Keith, W.B.Yeats: The Man and the Milieu, 507

Allegri, Renzo, Teresa of the Poor: The Story of Her Life, 339

Allen, Felicity, Jefferson Davis: Unconquerable Heart , 123

Allen, Frederick L, The Great Pierpont Morgan, 337

Allen, Gay Wilson, Melville and His World, 324;

The New Walt Whitman Handbook, 491;

The Solitary Singer: A Critical Biography of Walt Whitman, 491;

Waldo Emerson: A Biography, 162;

Walt Whitman, 491

Allen, Hervey, Israfel: The Life and Times of Edgar Allan Poe, 380

Allen, Jerry, The Sea Years of Joseph Conrad, 106;

The Thunder and the Sunshine: A Biography of Joseph Conrad, 106

Allen, Maury, Jackie Robinson: A Life Remembered, 402

Allen, Robert A, Daniel Webster: Defender of the Union, 485;

William Jennings Bryan: Golden-Tongued Orator, 61

Allen, Robert S, Lucky Forward: The History of Patton's Third U.S. Army, 368

Allis, Marguerite, The Bridge, 26;

Free Soil, 58

Allsobrook, David I, Liszt: My Traveling Circus Life, 286

Almedingen, E.M, Charlemagne: A Study, 89;

The Emperor Alexander I, 7;

St. Francis of Assist: A Great Life in Brief, 171;

The Young Catherine, 83

Almedingen, Marthe Edith von, Catherine: Empress of Russia, 83

Alpers, Antony, Katherine Mansfield: A Biography, 308;

The Life of Katherine Mansfield, 308

Alpers, Svetlana, Rembrandt's Enterprise: The Studio and the Market, 391

Alter, Judy, Jessie: A Novel Based on the Life of Jessie Benton Frémont, 176;

Libbie, 119;

Sam Houston, 232

Alter, Robert, with Carol Cosman, A Lion for Love: A Critical Biography of Stendhal, 439

Altsheler, Joseph A, The Shades of the Wilderness: A Story of Lee's Great Stand, 279

Ambrose, Stephen E, Crazy Horse and Custer: The Parallel Lives of Two American Warriors, 115, 119;

Eisenhower, 157;

Ike: Abilene to Berlin, 157;

Nixon, 357;

The Supreme Commander: The War Years of General Dwight D.Eisenhower, 157;

The Victors: Eisenhower and His Boys, 157

Amburn, Ellis, Subterranean Kerouac: The Hidden Life of Jack Kerouac, 269

Amdur, Richard, Golda Meir: A Leader in Peace and War, 323

Amis, Kingsley, Rudyard Kipling and His World, 274

Ammon, Harry, James Monroe: The Quest for National Identity, 333

Amoia, Alba, Feodor Dostoevsky, 141

Anand, Valerie, Crown of Roses, 395;

The Disputed Crown, 494;

The Norman Pretender, 494

Anastaplo, George, Abraham Lincoln: A Constitutional Biography, 284

Anders, Curt, Warrior: The Story of General George S.Patton, 368

Andersen, Christopher P, Jack and Jackie: Portrait of an American Marriage, 267, 359

Anderson, Alison, Hidden Latitudes, 151

Anderson, Barbara, Kierkegaard: A Fiction, 272

Anderson, Catherine C, Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis: Woman of Courage, 359

Anderson, Charles R, Melville in the South Seas, 324

Anderson, Chester G, James Joyce and His World, 257

Anderson, David D, William Jennings Bryan, 61

Anderson, Fulton, Francis Bacon: His Career and His Thought, 21

Anderson, Gary C, Sitting Bull and the Paradox of Lakota Nationhood, 431

Anderson, Jackson, and Ronald May, McCarthy: The Man, the Senator, the "Ism", 319

Anderson, M.S, Peter the Great, 375

Anderson, Madelyn Klein, Edgar Allan Poe: A Mystery, 380

Anderson, Margaret J, Isaac Newton: The Greatest Scientist of All Time, 353

Anderson, Maxwell, Anne of the Thousand Days, 221, 40;

Mary of Scotland, 315;

Valley Forge: A Play in Three Acts, 484

Anderson, Nancy S., and Dwight Anderson, The Generals: Ulysses S.Grant and Robert E.Lee, 206, 279

Anderson, Paul L., Swords in the North, 258

Anderson, Peter, Henry David Thoreau: American Naturalist, 461;

John James Audubon: Wildlife Artist, 15

Anderson, Robert, Wagner: A Biography: With a Survey of Books, Editions, and Recordings, 481

Anderson, Robert D, Inside the Mind of Joseph Smith: Psychobiography and the Book of Mormon, 434

Anderson, Ronald, and Anne Koval, James McNeill Whistler: Beyond the Myth, 490

Anderson, William, Dante the Maker, 121

Andrade, Edward, Sir Isaac Newton, 353

Andrae, Tor, Mohammed: The Man and His Faith, 341

Andreas-Salomé, Lou, Nietzsche, 355

Andrew, Prudence, A New Creature, 488

Andrews, Kenneth R, Drake's Voyages, 144

Andrews, Mary R.S, A Lost Commander: Florence Nightingale, 356

Andrews, Robert, Death in a Promised Land, 273

Andronik, Catherine M, Prince of Humbug: The Life of P.T.Barnum, 24

Angeli, Helen Rossetti, Dante Gabriel Rossetti: His Friends and Enemies, 408

Angell, Hildegarde, Simón Bolívar: South American Liberator, 41

Annandale, Barbara, The Bonnet Laird's Daughter, 254

Anness, Milford E, Song of Metamoris, 454

Anouilh, Jean, Becket: Or the Honor of God, 459;

The Lark, 249

Anson, Robert S, Exile: The Unquiet Oblivion of Richard M.Nixon, 357

Anstruther, Ian, Dr. Livingstone, I Presume?, 437

Anthony, Carl S, As We Remember Her: Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis in the Words of Her Family and Friends, 359;

Florence Harding: The First Lady, the Jazz Age, and the Death of America's Most Scandalous President, 212

Anthony, Evelyn, All the Queen's Men, 160;

Anne Boleyn, 40;

The Cardinal and the Queen, 396;

Charles the King, 117, 90;

Far Flies the Eagle, 327, 7;

Rebel Princess, 83;

Royal Intrigue, 83;

Victoria and Albert, 479, 5

Anthony, Irvin, Raleigh and His World, 389

Anthony, Katharine, Catherine the Great: Life and Legend, 83;

Dolley Madison, Her Life and Times, 299–300;

Louisa May Alcott, 6;

Susan B.Anthony: Her Personal History and Her Era, 9

Antrobus, John, Hitler in Liverpool, 224

Anzelewsky, Fedja, Dürer: His Art and Life, 149

Apostolou, Anna, A Murder in Macedon: A Mystery of Alexander the Great, 8;

A Murder in Thebes, 8

Appel, Allen, Time after Time, 280, 354;

Twice Upon a Time, 473

Apple, Max, The Propheteers, 138

Apsler, Alfred, Fighter for Independence: Jawaharlal Nehru, 348;

Ivan the Terrible, 241

Aradi, Zsolt, James Itucek, and James C.O'Neill, Pope John XXIII: An Authoritative Biography, 250

Aragon, Louis, Holy Week, 345

Archer, Jules, Colossus of Europe: Metternich, 327;

A House Divided: The Lives of Ulysses S. Grant and Robert E.Lee, 279;

Trotsky: World Revolutionary, 467

Ardoin, John, Callas at Juilliard: The Master Classes, 69;

The Callas Legacy, 69

Armitage, Angus, Copernicus: The Founder of Modern Astronomy, 112;

Sun, Stand Thou Still: The Life and Work of Copernicus, Astronomer, 112

Armitage, Merle, George Gershwin: Man and Legend, 195

Armitage, Merle, ed, George Gershwin, 195

Armstrong, Edward, The Emperor Charles V, 92

Armstrong, H.C, Gray Wolf, Mustafa Kemal: An Intimate Study of a Dictator, 13

Armstrong, Karen, Muhammad: A Biography of the Prophet, 341

Arnold, Denis, and Nigel Fortune, eds, The Beethoven Reader, 30

Arnold, Isaac N, The Life of Benedict Arnold: His Patriotism and His Treason, 11

Arnold, Michael, The Archduke, 174

Arnold, Thomas Jackson, Early Life and Letters of General Thomas J.Jackson , 243

Arnot, Robert P, William Morris: The Man and the Myth, 338

Arnott, Anne, The Secret Country of C.S.Lewis, 283

Arnott, Peter D, Ballet of Comedians: A Novel Based on the Life of J.B.P.Molière, 331

Aronin, Ben, Walt Whitman's Secret, 324, 461, 491

Aronson, Marc, Sir Walter Raleigh and the Quest for El Dorado, 389

Aronson, Theo, The Fall of the Third Napoleon, 346–347;

The King in Love: Edward VII's Mistresses, 154

Arquin, Florence, Diego Rivera: The Shaping of an Artist, 1889–1921, 399

Arrington, Leonard J, Brigham Young: American Moses, 508

Arthur, Stanley C, Audubon: An Intimate Life of the American Woodsman, 15

Arvin, Newton, Hawthorne, 215;

Herman Melville, 324;

Longfellow: His Life and Work, 291

Asbee, Sue, T.S.Eliot, 159;

Virginia Woolf 501

Asch, Sholem, The Apostle, 369;

The Nazarene, 248

Ash, Maureen, Alexander the Great: Ancient Empire Builder, 8

Ash, Russell, Dante Gabriel Rossetti, 408

Ashby, LeRoy, William Jennings Bryan: Champion of Democracy, 61

Ashcroft, Mary E, The Magdalene Gospel, 248

Ashe, Geoffrey, Gandhi, 183

Asher, Michael, Lawrence: The Uncrowned King of Arabia, 278

Ashley, Maurice, Charles I and Oliver Cromwell: A Study in Contrasts and Comparisons, 117, 90;

Charles II: The Man and the Statesman, 91;

The Greatness of Oliver Cromwell, 117;

The Life and Times of William I, 494;

Oliver Cromwell and His World, 117

Ashley, Maurice, ed, Cromwell, 117

Ashley, Tim, Richard Strauss, 444

Ashton, Helen, Footman in Powder, 191, 193;

Parson Austen's Daughter, 19

Ashton, Robert, ed, James I by His Contemporaries: An Account of His Career and Character as Seen by Some of His Contemporaries, 244

Ashton, Rosemary, George Eliot: A Life, 158;

The Life of Samuel Taylor Coleridge: A Critical Biography, 102

Asimov, Isaac, Christopher Columbus: Navigator to the New World, 104

Asprey, Robert B, Frederick the Great: Magnificent Enigma, 175

Asquith, Annunziata, Marie Antoinette, 310

Asquith, Cynthia, Married to Tolstoy, 463

Asselineau, Roger, The Evolution of Walt Whitman, 491

Atheam, Robert G, William Tecumseh Sherman and the Settlement of the West, 428

Atherton, Gertrude, The Conqueror: Being the True and Romantic Story of Alexander Hamilton, 209

Atkins, Gaius G, Life of Cardinal Newman, 352

Atkins, John A, George Orwell: A Literary and Biographical Study, 362

Attridge, Derek, ed, The Cambridge Companion to James Joyce, 257

Atwood, William G, Fryderyk Chopin: Pianist from Warsaw, 95;

The Lionness and the Little One: The Liaison of George Sand and Frédéric Chopin, 414, 95

Aubry, Octave, Eugénie: Empress of the French, 346–347;

Napoleon: Soldier and Emperor, 345;

The Phantom Emperor: The Romance and Tragedy of Napoleon III, 346–347

Auchincloss, Louis, The Cat and the King, 293;

Edith Wharton: A Woman in Her Time, 489;

Exit Lady Masham, 448;

Richelieu, 396;

Woodrow Wilson, 497

Aufderheide, Patricia, Anwar Sadat, 413

Augustijn, Cornelius, Erasmus: His Life, Works, and Influence, 163

Augustiny, Waldemar, The Road to Lambaréné: A Biography of Albert Schweitzer, 421

Ault, N, New Light on Pope, 382

Austen-Leigh, J.E, A Memoir of Jane Austen, 19

Austen, W., and R.A.Austen, Jane Austen: Her Life and Letters, 19

Austin, Frederick B, Forty Centuries Look Down, 345

Autxier, Philippe A, Beethoven: The Composer as Hero, 30

Avermaete, Roger, Rubens and His Times, 410

Avi-hai, Avraham, Ben-Gurion, State Builder: Principles and Pragmatism 1948–63, 32

Axelrad, Jacob, Anatole France: A Life without Illusions, 170;

Patrick Henry: The Voice of Freedom, 222

Axelrod, Stephen, Robert Lowell: Life and Art, 294

Ayer, A.J, Bertrand Russell, 412;

Thomas Paine, 363

Ayer, Eleanor H, Adolf Hitler, 224;

Charles Dickens, 134

Ayers, Fred, Before the Colors Fade: Portrait of a Soldier, 368

Ayers, Michael, Locke, 289

Ayling, Stanley, Edmund Burke: His Life and Opinions, 64;

George the Third, 191;

John Wesley, 488

Babcock, Bernice, Soul of Abe Lincoln, 284;

The Soul of Ann Rutledge: Abraham Lincoln's Romance, 284

Bach, Steven, Marlene Dietrich: Life and Legend, 137

Bachelor, Irving, Father Abraham, 284;

In the Days of Poor Richard, 173;

A Man for the Ages, 284

Bachrach, Deborah, Margaret Sanger, 415

Backscheider, Paula R, Daniel Defoe: His Life, 128

Badeau, Adam, Grant in Peace: From Appomattox to Mount McGregor: A Personal Record, 206;

Military History of Ulysses S.Grant, 206

Bailey, Anthony, Major André, 11;

Standing in the Sun: A Life of J.M.W.Turner, 472

Bailey, Paul, For Time and All Eternity, 508

Bailey, Walter B, The Arnold Schoenberg Companion, 418

Baily, Leslie, Gilbert and Sullivan, 197–198

Bain, Alexander, John Stuart Mill: A Criticism with Personal Recollections, 329

Bainbridge, Beryl, Young Adolf, 224

Baines, Jocelyn, Joseph Conrad: A Critical Biography, 106

Bainton, Roland, Erasmus of Christendom, 163;

Here I Stand: A Life of Martin Luther, 295

Bair, Dierdre, Samuel Beckett: A Biography, 29

Baird, Henry M, The Huguenots and Henry of Navarre, 220

Baird, Julia, John Lennon, My Brother, 281

Bakeless, John, Christopher Marlowe: The Man in His Time, 311;

Daniel Boone: Master of the Wilderness, 42;

The Tragical! History of Christopher Marlowe, 311

Baker, Carlos, Emerson Among the Eccentrics: A Group Portrait, 162;

Ernest Hemingway: A Life Story, 219

Baker, George P, Constantine the Great and the Christian Revolution, 108;

Justinian, 260–261

Baker, Ida, and Georgina Joysmith, Katherine Mansfield: The Memories of L.M.Taplinger , 308

Baker, Jean H, Mary Todd Lincoln: A Biography, 284

Baker, Kevin, Dreamland, 177

Baker, Leonard, Brandeis and Frankfurter: A Dual Biography, 51

Baker, Ray S, Woodrow Wilson: Life and Letters, 497

Baker, Sir Herbert, Cecil Rhodes: By His Architect, 393

Bakewell, Michael, Lewis Carroll: A Biography, 75

Balabanoff, Angelica, Impressions of Lenin, 280

Balcavage, Dynise, Ludwig van Beethoven: Composer, 30

Balchin, Nigel, The Borgia Testament, 45–47

Bald, R.C, John Donne: A Life, 140

Balderston, John L, A Goddess to a God, 100, 258

Baldwin, James, One Day When I Was Lost: A Scenario, 304

Baldwin, Lewis V, There Is a Balm in Gilead: The Cultural Roots of Martin Luther King Jr, 273

Baldwin, Neil, Edison: Inventing the Century, 153;

To All Gentleness: William Carlos Williams, the Doctor-Poet, 496

Balfour, Michael, The Kaiser and His Times, 493

Balfour, Sir Graham, Life of Robert Louis Stevenson, 442

Balin, Beverly, King in Hell, 315

Ball, Charles F, The Life and Times of the Apostle Paul, 369

Balling, L.Christian, Champion, 394

Balogh, Penelope, Freud: A Biographical Introduction, 177

Balsdon, J.P.V.D, Julius Caesar: A Political Biography, 258

Bamford, Susannah, The Gilded Cage, 202

Banfield, Susan, Charlemagne, 89;

Charles de Gaulle, 124;

Joan of Arc, 249

Banks, Lynne Reid, Dark Quartet: The Story of the Brontës, 53–57;

Path to the Silent Country, 458, 53–57

Banks, Polan, The Gentleman from America, 173

Banks, Russell, Cloudsplitter, 58

Banning, Lance, The Sacred Fire of Liberty: James Madison and the Founding of the Federal Republic, 299–300

Bannister, Don, Long Day at Shiloh, 206

Banta, Melissa, Frederick Douglass, 142

Banville, John, Doctor Copernicus, 112

Bar-Zohar, Michael, Ben-Gurion: The Armed Prophet, 32

Barbaud, Pierre, Haydn, 216

Barber, Richard, Samuel Pepys, Esquire, 371

Barbi, Michele, Life of Dante, 121

Barbour, George B, In the Field with Teilhard de Chardin, 455

Barbour, Philip L, The Three Worlds of Captain John Smith, 433

Barea, Arturo, Lorca: The Poet and His People, 184

Baring, Maurice, Sarah Bernhardt, 34

Barish, Evelyn, Emerson: The Roots of Prophecy, 162

Barke, James, Crest of the Broken Wave, 65;

Song in the Green Thorn Tree, 65;

Well of the Silent Harp, 65;

The Wind that Shakes the Barley, 65;

Wonder of All the Gay World, 65

Barker, John W, Justinian and the Later Roman Empire, 260–261

Barker, Juliet R, The Brontës, 53–57;

The Brontës: A Life in Letters., 53–57

Barker, Richard H, Marcel Proust: A Biography, 385

Barker, Shirley, Liza Bowe, 311, 423;

Peace, My Daughters, 316

Barker, Thomas M., ed, Frederick the Great and the Making of Prussia, 175

Barlow, Frank, Thomas Becket, 459;

William land the Norman Conquest, 494

Barlow, Jeffrey G, Sun Yat-Sen, 447

Barltrop, Robert, Jack London: The Man, the Writer, the Rebel, 290

Barnes, John, Evita: First Lady: A Biography of Eva Peron, 372–373

Barnes, Julian, Flaubert's Parrot, 167

Barnes, Margaret C, Briefly Gaudy Hour, 40;

The King's Bed, 395;

Lady on the Coin, 91;

Mary of

Carisbrooke, 90;

My Lady of Cleves, 221;

The Passionate Brood, 394;

With All My Heart, 91

Barnett, Corelli, Bonaparte, 345

Barnett, Louise K, Touched by Fire: The Life, Death, and Mythic Afterlife of George Armstrong Custer, 119

Baron, Alexander, The Golden Princess, 113

Barr, Alfred H. Jr, Matisse: His Art and His Public, 317

Barr, Gladys H, The Master of Geneva: A Novel Based on the Life of John Calvin, 70;

Monk in Armour, 295;

The Pilgrim Prince, 63

Barreiro, Jose, The Indian Chronicles, 104

Barrell, John, The Infection of Thomas De Quincey: A Psychopathology of Imperialism, 125

Barrés, Philippe, Charles de Gaulle, 124

Barrett, William E, Lady of the Lotus, 62

Barrielle, Jean-François, The Life and Work of Vincent van Gogh, 475

Barrington, E, Anne Boleyn, 40

Barron, Stephanie, Jane and the Genius of the Place, 19;

Jane and the Man of the Cloth, 19;

Jane and the Unpleasantness at Scargrave Manor, 19;

Jane and the Wandering Eye, 19

Barry, Desmond, The Chivalry of Crime, 246

Barry, Joseph, Infamous Woman: The Life of George Sand, 414

Barry, Kathleen, Susan B.Anthony: A Biography of a Singular Feminist, 9

Barschak, Erna, The Innocent Empress: An Intimate Study of Eugenic, 346–347

Bart, Benjamin F, Flaubert, 167

Barth, Edna, I'm Nobody! Who Are You?: The Story of Emily Dickinson, 135

Barth, Herbert, Dietrich Mack, and Egon Voss, Wagner: A Documentary Study, 481

Barth, John, The Sot-Weed Factor, 433

Bartlett, Donald L., and James B.Steele, Empire! The Life, Legend, and Madness of Howard Hughes, 233

Bartlett, Irving H, Daniel Webster, 485;

John C. Calhoun, 68

Bartley, William W, Wittgenstein, 498

Barton, Margaret, Garrick, 187

Barton, William E, The Life of Abraham Lincoln, 284;

Life of Clara Barton, 26

Barzun, Jacques, Berlioz and His Century: An Introduction to the Age of Romanticism, 33;

Berlioz and the Romantic Century, 33

Baskerville, Stephen W, Of Laws and Limitations: An Intellectual Portrait of Louis Dembitz Brandeis, 51

Bass, Cynthia, Sherman's March, 428

Bassett, John S, The Life of Andrew Jackson, 242

Bassnett, Susan, Elizabeth I: A Feminist Perspective, 160

Basso, Lelio, Rosa Luxemburg: A Reappraisal, 296

Bastable, Bernard, Dead, Mr. Mozart, 340;

Too Many Notes, Mr. Mozart, 340

Bastian, F, Defoe's Early Life, 128

Bataille, Georges, Manet, 306

Batchelor, John, The Life of Joseph Conrad: A Critical Biography, 106

Bate, Walter Jackson, Coleridge, 102;

John Keats, 265;

Samuel Johnson, 254

Bates, Ernest S., and John V.Dittimore, Mary Baker Eddy: The Truth and the Tradition, 152

Bates, H.C, The Plot, 91

Bates, Milton, Wallace Stevens: A Mythology of Self, 441

Bateson, Mary C, With a Daughter's Eye: A Memoir of Margaret Mead and Gregory Bateson, 321

Baticle, Jeannine, Goya: Painter of Terrible Splendor, 205

Battestin, Martin C., and Ruth Battestin, Henry Fielding: A Life, 165

Battiscombe, Georgina, Queen Alexandra, 154

Baty, Keith, and Robert Graham, Elvis: The Novel, 384

Baudot, François, Coco Chanel, 87

Baudouin, Frans, Pietro Paulo Rubens, 410

Bauer, Johann, Kafka and Prague, 262

Bauer, K. Jack, Zachary Taylor: Soldier, Planter, Statesman of the Old Southwest, 452

Bauer-Lechner, Natalie, Recollections of Gustav Mahler, 302

Baumann, Hans, I Marched with Hannibal, 211;

Sons of the Steppe: The Story of How the Conqueror Genghis Khan Was Overcome, 190

Baxt, George, The Alfred Hitchcock Murder Case, 223;

The Bette Davis Murder Case, 96;

The Marlene Dietrich Murder Case , 137

Baxter, Maurice G, One and Inseparable: Daniel Webster and the Union, 485

Baym, Nina, The Shape of Hawthorne's Career, 215

Bazalgette, Leon, Henry Thoreau: Bachelor of Nature, 461

Beach, Susan Hicks, A Cardinal of the Medici, 81

Beaglehole, J.C, The Life of Captain Cook, 109

Beahn, John E, A Man Born Again: Saint Thomas More, 336;

A Man Cleansed by God, 367

Beal, John Robinson, The Secret Speech: The Failure of Comrade Khrushchev's Leadership, 271

Bean, Amelia, Time for Outrage, 36

Beard, Geoffrey W, The Work of Christopher Wren, 503

Beardsley, Harry M, Joseph Smith and His Mormon Empire, 434

Beardsley, John, Pablo Picasso, 378

Beasley, Norman, Mary Baker Eddy, 152

Beauman, Nicole, E.M.Forster: A Biography, 169

Beauvoir, Simone de, Adieux: A Farewell to Sartre, 416

Beavan, Bryan, King James VI of Scotland and I of England, 244

Beaverbrook, Max A, The Decline and Fall of Lloyd George: And Great Was the Fall Thereof, 288

Bebbington, David W, William Ewart Gladstone: Faith and Politics in Victorian Britain, 199

Beck, James H, Raphael, 390;

Three Worlds of Michelangelo, 328

Beck, L.Adams, Anne Boleyn, 40;

The Empress of Hearts , 310;

The Thunderer: A Romance of Napoleon and Josephine, 345

Becker, Beril, Paul Gauguin: The Calm Madman, 189

Beckerman, Michael, ed, Dvorák and His World, 150

Beckett, Walter, Liszt, 286

Beckson, Karl E, The Oscar Wilde Encyclopedia, 492

Bedell, Madelon, The Alcotts: Biography of a Family, 6

Bedford, Herbert, Robert Schumann: His Life and Work, 420

Bedford, Sybille, Aldous Huxley: A Biography, 236

Bedini, Silvio, ed, The Christopher Columbus Encyclopedia, 104

Beeman, Richard R, Patrick Henry: A Biography, 222

Beer, Thomas, Stephen Crane: A Study in American Letters, 114

Beja, Morris, James Joyce: A Literary Life, 257

Bekker, Paul, Richard Wagner: His Life and Work, 481

Belaunde, Victor Andrés, Bolivar and the Political Thought of the Spanish American Revolution, 41

Belfer, Lauren, City of Light, 101

Belfrage, Cedric, My Master Columbus, 104

Belkin, Kristen L, Rubens, 410

Bell, Aubrey F.G, Cervantes, 84

Bell, Craig A., Alexandre Dumas: A Biography and Study, 148

Bell, Ian, Dream of Exile: Robert Louis Stevenson: A Biography, 442

Bell, Quentin, Virginia Woolf: A Biography, 501

Bell-Villada, Gene H, Borges and His Fiction: A Guide to His Mind and Art, 44

Belle, Pamela, The Lodestar, 395

Beller, Steven, Franz Joseph, 174

Bellonci, Maria, The Life and Times of Lucrezia Borgia, 45–47

Bellringer, Alan W, George Eliot, 158

Bemis, Samuel Flagg, John Quincy Adams and the Foundations of American Foreign Policy, 3;

John Quincy Adams and the Union, 3

Benedictus, David, Lloyd George, 288

Benesch, Otto, Edvard Munch, 342;

Rembrandt: A Biographical and Critical Study, 391

Benét, Stephen Vincent, John Brown's Body, 58

Benét, Stephen Vincent, and Douglas Moore, The Devil and Daniel Webster: An Opera in One Act, 485

Benfey, Christopher E.G, Degas in New Orleans: Encounters in the Creole World of Kate Chopin and George Washington Cable, 129;

The Double Life of Stephen Crane, 114;

Emily Dickinson: Lives of a Poet, 135

Benitez Rojo, Antonio, Sea of Lentils, 377

Benkovitz, Miriam J, Aubrey Beardsley: An Account of His Life, 28

Bennet, E.A, C.G.Jung, 259

Bennett, Alan, The Madness of George III, 191

Bennett, Barbara J, Stonewall Jackson: Lee's Greatest Lieutenant, 243

Bennett, Clinton, In Search of Muhammad, 341

Bennett, Daphne, King Without Crown, 5

Bennett, J.A, The Mathematical Science of Christopher Wren, 503

Bennett, Lerone, What Manner of Man: A Biography of Martin Luther King Jr, 273

Bennett, Mildred R, World of Willa Gather, 80

Bennetts, Pamela, The Borgia Prince, 298, 45–47;

Richard and the Knights of God, 394

Benson, Arthur C, Ruskin: A Study in Personality, 411

Benson, E.F, Queen Victoria, 479

Benson, Ivan, Mark Twain 's Western Years, 473

Benson, Robert H, The King's Achievement, 336

Benstock, Shari, No Gifts for Chance: A Biography of Edith Wharton, 489

Bentley, Barbara, Mistress Nancy, 222

Bentley, Eric, Lord Alfred's Lover, 492;

The Recantation of Galileo Galilei: Scenes from History Perhaps, 181

Bentley, G.E. Jr, Blake Records, 38;

Blake Records Supplement, 38

Bentley, Gerald E, Shakespeare: A Biographical Handbook, 423

Bentley, Phyllis, The Brontës and Their World, 53–57;

Freedom, Farewell!, 258

Bentley-Taylor, D, Augustine: Wayward Genius., 16

Benton, Kenneth, Death on the Appian Way, 98

Benton, Sarah H, The Life of William the Conqueror from the Early Chronicles, 494

Bercot, David W, Let Me Die in Ireland, the True Story of Patrick, 367

Bercovici, Konrad, Savage Prodigal, 398

Berdyae, Nicholas, Dostoevsky: An Interpretation, 141

Beren, Michael K, The Last Patrician: Bobby Kennedy and the End of the American Aristocracy, 268

Berenson, Bernard, Caravaggio: His Incongruity and His Fame, 12

Berg, A.Scott, Lindbergh, 285

Berger, Jason, A New Deal for the World: Eleanor Roosevelt and American Foreign Policy, 1920–1962, 405

Berger, Thomas, Little Big Man, 119;

The Return of Little Big Man, 431

Bergère, Marie-Claire, Sun Yat-Sen, 447

Bergeron, David M, Royal Family, Royal Lovers: King James of England and Scotland, 244

Bergeron, Louis, France under Napoleon, 345

Bergin, Joseph, Cardinal Richelieu: Power and the Pursuit of Wealth, 396;

The Rise of Richelieu, 396

Bergin, Joseph, and Laurence Brockliss, eds, Richelieu and His Age, 396

Bergin, Thomas G, Boccaccio, 39;

Dante, 121;

Petrarch, 376

Bergonzi, Bernard, Gerard Manley Hopkins, 229;

T.S.Eliot, 159

Berkman, Sylvia, Katherine Mansfield: A Critical Study, 308

Berkman, Ted, To Seize the Passing Dream: A Novel of Whistler, His Women, and His World, 28, 465, 490, 492

Berlin, Isaiah, Karl Marx: His Life and Environment, 313

Berman, Avis, James McNeill Whistler, 490

Berman, Edgar Dr, In Africa with Schweitzer, 421

Bernadac, Marie-Laure, and Paule Dubouchet, Picasso: Master of the New Idea, 378

Bernard, Jacqueline, Journey Toward Freedom: The Story of Sojourner Truth, 469

Bernardy, Françoise de, Albert and Victoria, 5

Bernau, George, Promises to Keep, 267

Bernhard, Virginia, A Durable Fire, 433

Bernier, Olivier, Lafayette: Hero of Two Worlds, 276;

Louis XIV: A Royal Life, 293

Bernotas, Bob, Brigham Young, 508;

Sitting Bull: Chief of the Sioux, 431

Bernstein, Irving, Guns or Butter: The Presidency of Lyndon Johnson, 252

Bernstein, Jeremy, Albert Einstein and the Frontiers of Physics, 156;

Einstein, 156

Berry, Edward, The Making of Sir Philip Sidney, 429

Berry, Faith, Langston Hughes: Before and Beyond Harlem, 234

Berry, Michael, Georgia O'Keeffe, 358

Berry, R.M, Leonardo's Horse, 282

Berry, Reginald, A Pope Chronology, 382

Berryman, John, Stephen Crane, 114

Bersani, Leo, Marcel Proust: The Fictions of Life and Art, 385

Bersani, Leo, and Ulysse Dutoit, Caravaggio's Secrets, 72

Berstl, Julius, The Tentmaker, 369

Bertault, Philippe, Balzac and the Human Comedy, 23

Bertrand, Louis, The Private Life of Louis XIV, 293

Beschloss, Michael R, Eisenhower: A Centennial Life, 157

Besier, Rudolf, The Barretts of Wimpole Street, 59–60

Bessett, Lisa, Very Truly Yours, Charles L. Dodgson, Alias Lewis Carroll: A Biography, 75

Bessy, Maurice, Charlie Chaplin, 88

Best, Gary D, Herbert Hoover: The Postpresidential Years, 1933–1964, 227

Besterman, Theodore, Voltaire, 480

Bethea, David M, Realizing Metaphors: Alexander Pushkin and the Life of the Poet, 387

Bettmann, Otto L, Johann Sebastian Bach as His World Knew Him, 20

Beucken, Jean de, Cézanne: A Pictorial Biography, 85

Beuf, Maria Luigi, Cesare Borgia: the Machiavellian Prince, 45–47

Bevan, Bryan, The Real Francis Bacon: A Biography, 21;

Robert Louis Stevenson: Poet and Teller of Tales, 442

Beveridge, Albert J, Abraham Lincoln: 1809–1858, 284

Beyea, Basil, The Golden Mistress, 66;

Notorious Eliza, 209, 66

Bhatia, Krishan, Indira: A Biography of Prime Minister Gandhi, 182

Bianchi, Martha D, The Life and Letters of Emily Dickinson, 135

Biancolli, Louis L., ed, The Mozart Handbook: A Guide to the Man and His Music, 340

Bidermanas, Izis, and Roy McMullen, The World of Marc Chagall, 86

Bidou, Henri, Chopin, 95

Biel, Timothy L, Charlemagne, 89

Bieler, Ludwig, The Life and Legend of St. Patrick: Problems of Modern Scholarship, 367

Bielschowsky, Albert, Life of Goethe, 200

Bierman, John, Napoleon III and His Carnival Empire, 346–347

Bill, Alfred H, Alas, Poor Yorick!, 440;

Astrophel: Or the Life and Death of the Renowned Sir Philip Sidney, 429

Bindman, David, Hogarth, 226

Bingham, Caroline, The Making of a King: The Early Years of James VI and I, 244

Bingham, Madeleine, Sheridan: The Track of a Comet, 427

Bingham, Millicent Todd, Emily Dickinson: A Revelation, 135

Binns, Henry B, A Life of Walt Whitman, 491

Birch, Beverley, Pasteur's Fight Against Microbes, 366

Birkenfeld, Günther, Augustus, 17

Birkenhead, Frederick W.F.S, Rudyard Kipling, 274

Birkhead, Margaret, Trust and Treason, 429

Birley, Anthony, Marcus Aurelius: A Biography, 18

Birmingham, Stephen, Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy Onassis, 359

Birney, Hoffman, The Dice of God, 119

Birrell, Augustine, Andrew Marvell, 312

Bishop, Edward, A Virginia Woolf Chronology, 501

Bishop, Jim, The Day Christ Died, 248;

The Day Lincoln Was Shot , 284, 43;

The Days of Martin Luther King Jr, 273

Bishop, John, Nero: The Man and the Legend, 350

Bishop, Joseph B, Theodore Roosevelt and His Time., 407

Bishop, Morris, Pascal, the Life of Genius, 365;

Petrarch and His World, 376

Bixby, William, Rebel Genius: The Life of Herman Melville, 324

Bizzarro, Salvatore, Pablo Neruda: All Poets the Poet, 351

Black, Allida M, Casting Her Own Shadow: Eleanor Roosevelt and the Shaping of Postwar Liberalism, 405

Black, Gilbert J., ed, Theodore Roosevelt, 1858–1919: Chronology, Documents, Bibliographical Aids, 407

Black, Stephen A, Eugene O'Neill: Beyond Mourning and Tragedy, 360;

Whitman's Journeys into Chaos: A Psychoanalytic Study of the Poetic Process, 491

Blackburn, Thomas W, A Good Day to Die, 431

Blackwelder, Bernice, Great Westerner: The Story of Kit Carson, 76

Blaikie, William G, The Personal Life of David Livingstone, 287

Blair, Clay Jr, MacArthur, 291

Blair, Joan, and Clay Blair, The Search for JFK, 267

Blake, John, All You Needed Was Love: The Beatles After the Beatles, 281

Blake, Michael, Marching to Valhalla: A Novel of Custer's Last Days, 119

Blake, Peter, The Master Builders: Le Corbusier, Mies Van der Rohe, Frank Lloyd Wright, 504

Blake, Robert, Disraeli, 139

Blanchard, William H, Rousseau and the Spirit of Revolt: A Psychological Study, 409

Blankert, Albert, Vermeer of Delft, 478

Blankert, Albert, John M.Montias, and Gilles Aillaud, Vermeer, 478

Blankfort, Michael, Behold the Fire, 278

Blasco-Ibanez, Vicente, Sonnica, 211

Blassingame, Wyatt, William Tecumseh Sherman: Defender of the Union, 428

Blaug, Mark, John Maynard Keynes: Life, Ideas, Legacy, 270

Blaukopf, Kurt, Gustav, 302

Blaukopf, Kurt, ed, Mahler: A Documentary Study, 302

Blech, William James, The Angel: A Novel Based on the Life of Alexander I of Russia, 7

Bled, Jean-Paul, Franz Joseph, 174

Blevins, Winfred, Stone Song: A Novel of the Life of Crazy Horse, 115

Blinder, Martin, Fluke, 212

Blom, Eric, Mozart, 340

Bloom, Peter, The Life of Berlioz, 33

Bloom, Ursula, The Romance of Charles Dickens, 134

Blotner, Joseph, Faulkner: A Biography, 164

Bluche, François, Louis XIV, 293

Blum, Carol, Diderot: The Virtue of a Philosopher, 136

Blum, John M, The Republican Roosevelt, 407;

Woodrow Wilson and the Politics of Morality, 497

Blumberg, Rhoda, The Remarkable Voyages of Captain Cook, 109

Blumenberg, Werner, Karl Marx: An Illustrated Biography , 313

Blumenson, Martin, Patton, the Man Behind the Legend, 368

Blunden, Edmund, Shelley: A Life Story, 426;

Thomas Hardy, 213

Blunden, Godfrey, Charco Harbour, 109

Blunt, Wilfrid, On Wings of Song: A Biography of Felix Mendelssohn, 315

Blythe, LeGette, Man on Fire: A Novel of the Life of St. Paul, 369

Boas, F.S, Christopher Marlowe: A Biographical and Critical Study, 311;

Marlowe and His Circle: A Biographical Survey, 311;

Sir Philip Sidney, Representative Elizabethan: His Life and Writings, 429

Boas, Louise Schutz, Elizabeth Barrett Browning, 59–60

Boas, Ralph, and Louise Boas, Cotton Mother: Keeper of the Puritan Conscience, 316

Boase, T.S.R, St. Francis of Assisi, 171

Bobbé, Doroihie, Abigail Adams: The Second First Lady, 1

Bober, Natalie, Abigail Adams: Witness to a Revolution, 1;

A Restless Spirit: The Story of Robert Frost, 178;

Thomas Jefferson: Man on a Mountain, 247;

William Wordsworth: The Wandering Poet, 502

Bobrick, Benson, Fearful Majesty: The Life and Times of Ivan the Terrible, 241

Bockris, Victor, The Life and Death of Andy Warhol, 482

Boddy, Gillian, Katherine Mansfield: The Woman and the Writer, 308

Bode, Carl, Mencken, 325

Bodenheimer, Rosemarie, Real Life of Mary Ann Evans: George Eliot, Her Letters and Fiction, 158

Bodley, Ronald V, The Messenger: The Life of Mohammed, 341

Boeck, Wilhelm, and Jaime Sabartès, Picasso, 378

Boehmer, Heinrich, Martin Luther: Road to Reformation, 295

Boitani, Piero, and Jill Mann, eds, The Cambridge Chaucer Companion, 93

Bold, Alan N, A Burns Companion, 65

Bolitho, Hector, Albert, Prince Consort, 5;

The Reign of Queen Victoria, 479

Bolt, Robert, A Man for All Seasons, 221, 336;

State of Revolution, 280;

Vivat! Vivat Regina: A Play in Two Acts, 315

Bolton, Guy, The Olympians, 425, 426

Bonafoux, Pascal, Rembrandt: Master of the Portrait, 391

Bonaparte, Marie, The Life and Works of Edgar Allan Poe: A Psychoanalytical Interpretation, 380

Bond, Alma H, The Autobiography of Maria Callas, 69

Bonham Carter, Violet, Winston Churchill as I Knew Him, 97

Bonnefoy, Yves, Rimbaud, 398

Bonner, Gerald, St. Augustine of Hippo., 16

Bonnet, Theodore, The Mudlark, 139, 479

Bonsanti, Giorgio, Caravaggio, 72

Bontemps, Arna, Free at Last, 142;

The Story of George Washington Carver, 78;

Young Booker: Booker T.Washington’s Early Days, 483

Booth, Bradford, Anthony Trollope: Aspects of His Life and Work, 466

Booth, Martin, The Doctor, the Detective and Arthur Conan Doyle: A Biography of Arthur Conan Doyle, 143;

Dreaming of Samarkand, 278

Borchard, Ruth, John Stuart Mill: The Man, 329

Borden, Lucille P, Sing to the Sun, 171

Bornet, Vaughn D, The Presidency of Lyndon B. Johnson, 252

Bornkamm, Günther, Jesus of Nazareth, 248;

Paul, Paulus, 369

Borovsky, Natasha, A Daughter of the Nobility, 354

Borst, Raymond R., ed, The Thoreau Log: A Documentary Log, 461

Borton, Elizabeth, The Greek of Toledo: A Romantic Narrative about El Greco, 207, 462

Bosse, Malcolm J, Fire in Heaven, 309;

The Vast Memory of Love, 165;

The Warlord, 309

Boswell, James, Life of Samuel Johnson, 254

Botkin, Gleb, The Real Romanovs, 354

Boucourechlicv, André, Chopin: A Pictorial Biography, 95;

Stravinsky, 445

Boulton, Agnes, Part of a Long Story, 360

Boulton, Alexander O, Frank Lloyd Wright: An Illustrated Biography, 504

Bourdon, David, Warhol, 482

Bourke, Vernon J, Aquinas’s Search for Wisdom, 10

Bourne, Henry R.F, The Life of John Locke, 289;

Sir Philip Sidney: Type of English Chivalry in the Elizabethan Age, 429

Bourne, Peter, Soldiers of Fortune, 433

Boumiquel, Camille, Chopin, 95

Boussard, Jacques, The Civilization of Charlemagne, 89

Bouwsma, William J, John Calvin: A 16th-Century Portrait, 70

Bova, Ben, Orion and the Conqueror, 8

Bowen, Catherine Drinker, Francis Bacon: The Temper of a Man, 21;

John Adams and the American Revolution, 2;

The Most Dangerous Man in America: Scenes from the Life of Benjamin Franklin, 173

Bowen, Croswell, The Curse of the Misbegotten, 360

Bowen, Marjorie, Dickon, 395;

Double Dallilafy, 315;

Queen’s Caprice, 315;

The Soldier of Virginia: A Novel of George Washington, 484

Bowen, Peter, Kelly Blue, 508;

Yellowstone Kelly, 407

Bowen, True, And the Stars Shall Fall, 354

Bowers, Claude G, Jefferson and Hamilton: The Struggle for Democracy in America, 247;

Jefferson in Power: The Death Struggle of the Federalists, 247;

The Spanish Adventures of Washington Irving, 239;

The Young Jefferson: 1743–1789, 247

Bowers, John, Stonewall Jackson: Portrait of a Soldier, 243

Bowlby, John, Charles Darwin: A New Life, 122

Bowle, John, Charles I: A Biography, 90;

Henry VIII: A Biography, 221

Bowler, Peter J, Charles Darwin: The Man and His Influence, 122

Bowman, John C, Powhatan’s Daughter, 433

Boyce, Burke, Man from Mt. Vernon, 484;

Morning of a Hero, 484

Boyce, Charles, Shakespeare A to Z, 423

Boyce, D.George and Alan O’Day, eds, Parnell in Perspective, 364

Boyd, Brian, Vladimir Nabokov: The Russian Years, 344

Boyd, James, Drums, 255

Boyd, Malcolm, Bach, 20

Boyd, Malcolm, and John Butt, eds, J.S.Bach, 20

Boyd, William Y, Bolivar: Liberator of a Continent: A Dramatized Biography, 41

Boyden, Matthew, Richard Strauss, 444

Boydston, Jo Ann, ed, Guide to the Works of John Dewey, 132

Boyer, Richard, The Legend of John Brown: A Biography and a History, 58

Boylan, Brian R, Benedict Arnold: The Dark Eagle, 11

Boyle, Nicholas, Goethe: The Poet and the Age. Volume One: The Poetry of Desire (1749–1790). Volume Two: Revolution and Renunciation (1790–1803), 200

Boynton, Henry W, James Fenimore Cooper, 111

Brabazon, James, Albert Schweitzer: A Biography, 421

Brabson, Fay W, Andrew Johnson: A Life in Pursuit of the Right Course, 1808–1875, 251

Bradbrook, M.C, Shakespeare: The Poet in His World, 423

Bradbrook, M.C., and M.G.Lloyd Thomas, Andrew Marvell, 312

Braddy, Nella, Anne Sullivan Macy: The Story Behind Helen Keller, 266

Bradford, Ernle, Christopher Columbus, 104;

Cleopatra, 100;

Drake, 3 44;

Hannibal, 211;

Julius Caesar: The Pursuit of Power, 258;

Nelson: The Essential Hero, 349;

Paul the Traveller, 369

Bradford, Gamaliel, Lee the American, 279;

The Soul of Samuel Pepys, 371

Bradford, Sarah, Cesare Borgia: His Life and Times, 45–47;

Disraeli, 139

Bradford, Sarah H, Scenes in the Life of Harriet Tubman, 470

Bradley, Arthur G, Captain John Smith, 433

Bradley, Bruce, James Joyce's Schooldays, 257

Bradley, Ian C, William Morris and His World, 338

Bradley, John L., A Ruskin Chronology, 411

Bradshaw, Gillian, The Bearkeeper's Daughter, 260–261

Brady, Charles A, Stage of Fools, 336

Brady, Frank, James Boswell: The Later Years 1769–95, 48

Bragdon, Henry W, Woodrow Wilson: The Academic Years, 497

Brahms, Caryl, No Bed for Bacon, 423

Braider, David, Rage in Silence: A Novel Based on the Life of Goya, 205

Braider, Donald, Color from a Light Within: A Novel Based on the Life of El Greco, 207, 462;

An Epic Joy: A Novel Based on the Life of Rubens, 410;

Solitary Star: A Biography of Sam Houston, 232

Brailsford, Mabel R, The Making of William Penn, 370

Bramble, Mark, Barnum: A Musical Suggested by the Life of P.T.Barnum, 24

Bramly, Serge, Leonardo: Discovering the Life of Leonardo da Vinci, 282

Branca, Vittore, Boccaccio: The Man and His Works, 39

Branch, Taylor, Parting the Waters: America in the King Years, 1954–63, 273;

Pillar of Fire: America in the King Years, 1963–65, 273

Brand, Eric, William Gladstone, 199

Brandell, Gunnar, Strindberg in Inferno, 446

Brandes, Georg, Michelangelo: His Life, His Times, His Era, 328

Brandi, Karl, The Emperor Charles V: The Growth and Destiny of a Man and of a World Empire, 92

Brandon, Ruth, The Life and Many Deaths of Harry Houdini, 231

Brandon, William E, The Men and the Mountain: Frémont's Fourth Expedition, 176

Brands, H.W., T.R.: The Last Romantic. , 407

Brandt, Clare, The Man in the Mirror: A Life of Benedict Arnold, 11

Brant, Irving, The Fourth President: A Life of James Madison, 299–300;

James Madison, 299–300

Brant, Morley, Jesse James: The Man and the Myth, 246

Brashear, Minnie, Mark Twain: Son of Missouri, 473

Brassai, Conversations with Picasso, 378;

Picasso and Company, 378

Braunbehrens, Volkmar, Mozart in Vienna, 1787–1791, 340

Brazeau, Peter, Parts of a World: Wallace Stevens Remembered: An Oral Biography, 441

Brecher, Michael, Nehru: A Political Biography, 348

Brecht, Bertolt, Galileo, 181

Brecht, Martin, Martin Luther., 295

Bredvold, Louis J, The Intellectual Milieu of John Dryden, 146

Brée, Germaine, Camus, 71;

Camus and Sartre: Crisis and Commitments, 416;

The World of Marcel Proust, 385

Breihan, Carl W, The Complete and Authentic Life of Jesse James, 246;

The Day Jesse James Was Killed, 246;

The Escapades of Frank and Jesse James, 246

Breitman, George, The Last Year of Malcolm X: The Evolution of a Revolutionary, 304

Breitman, George, Herman Porter, and Baxter Smith, The Assassination of Malcolm X, 304

Bremer, Howard F, Richard M.Nixon: Chronology, Documents, and Bibliographical Aids, 357

Bremer, Howard F., ed, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, 1882–1945, 406

Brendon, Piers, Ike: His Life and Times, 157;

Winston Churchill: A Biography, 97

Brenet, Michel, Haydn, 216

Brennan, Kristine, Diana, Princess of Wales, 133

Brennecke, Ernst, The Life of Thomas Hardy, 213

Brenner, Jacques, Nephew to the Emperor: A Novel Based on the Life of Beethoven, 30

Brent, Peter L., Charles Darwin, “A Man of Enlarged Curiosity”, 122;

Genghis Khan, 190;

T.E.Lawrence, 278

Breslauer, George W, Khrushchev and Brezhnev as Leaders, 271

Bresler, Fenton, Napoleon III: A Life, 346–347

Breslin, Howard, The Silver Oar, 316;

The Tamarack Tree, 485

Breslin, Shaun, Mao, 309

Bret, David, Maria Callas: The Tigress and the Lamb, 69

Brewer, Derek, Chaucer and His World, 93

Brewerton, George D, Overland with Kit Carson: A Narrative of the Old Spanish Trail in 1848, 76

Brewster, Scott, Ferdinand Magellan, 301

Brewster, Sir David, Life of Sir Isaac Newton, 353

Brian, Denis, Einstein: A Life, 156

Brian, Denis, ed, The True Gen: An Intimate Portrait of Ernest Hemingway by Those Who Knew Him, 219

Briand, Paul Jr, Daughter of the Sky: The Story of Amelia Earhart, 151

Briant, Pierre, Alexander the Great: Man of Action-Man of Spirit, 8

Brick, John, Jubilee, 428

Bridge, Ann, The Dark Moment, 13

Bridge, Antony, Richard the Lionheart, 394;

Theodora: Portrait in a Byzantine Landscape, 260–261

Bridgman, Richard, Dark Thoreau, 461;

Gertrude Stein in Pieces, 438

Brien, Alan, Lenin, 280

Briggs, Jean, The Flame of the Borgias, 390, 45–47

Brill, Marlene Torg, John Adams: Second President of the United States, 2

Brindley, Louise, In the Shadow of the Brontës, 53–57

Bringhurst, Newell G, Brigham Young and the Expanding American Frontier, 508

Brininstool, E.A., ed, Crazy Horse: The Invincible Oglala Sioux Chief: The “Inside Stories,” by Actual Observers, of a Most Treacherous Deed Against a Great Indian Leader, 115

Brink, Andrew, Bertrand Russell: A Psychobiography of a Moralist, 412

Brink, Randall, Lost Star: The Search for Amelia Earhart, 151

Brinnin, John M, Dylan Thomas in America, 460;

The Third Rose: Gertrude Stein and Her World, 438

Brinton, Crane, Nietzsche, 355

Brion, Marcel, Schumann and the Romantic Age, 420

Britt, Stan, Frank Sinatra: A Celebration, 430

Brittain, Vera, Valiant Pilgrim: The Story of John Bunyan and Puritan England, 63

Brock, D.Hayward, A Ben Jonson Companion, 256

Brock, Darryl, If I Never Get Back, 473

Brock, Roy, Ghost on Horseback: The Incredible Ataturk, 13

Brockway, Robert W, Young Carl Jung, 259

Brod, Max, Franz Kafka: A Biography, 262;

The Master, 248

Broderick, Francis L, W.E.B.Du Bois: Negro Leader in a Time of Crisis, 147

Brodie, Fawn M, No Man Knows My History: The Life of Joseph Smith, the Mormon Prophet, 434;

Reconsidering No Man Knows My History: Fawn M.Brodie and Joseph Smith in Retrospect, 434;

Richard Nixon: The Shaping of His Character, 357;

Thomas Jefferson: An Intimate History, 247

Brodrick, James, Galileo: The Man, His Work, His Misfortunes, 181;

Saint Ignatius Loyola: The Pilgrim Years, 238

Brodsky, Alyn, Imperial Charade: A Biography of Emperor Napoleon III and Empress Eugénie, 346–347

Brogan, Hugh, Kennedy, 267

Brombert, Beth A, Edouard Manet: Rebel in a Frock Coat, 306

Brome, Vincent, Freud and His Early Circle, 177;

H.G.Wells: A Biography, 487;

Jung, 259

Brommel, Bernard, Eugene V.Debs: Spokesman for Labor and Socialism, 126

Bronner, Stephen E., Albert Camus: The Thinker, the Artist, the Man, 71;

Camus: Portrait of a Moralist, 71;

Rosa Luxemburg: A Revolutionary for Our Times, 296

Brook-Shepherd, Gordon, Uncle of Europe: The Social and Diplomatic Life of Edward VII, 154

Brooke, John, King George III, 191

Brookhiser, Richard, Alexander Hamilton, American, 209;

Founding Father: Rediscovering George Washington, 484

Brooks, H.Allen, Frank Lloyd Wright and the Prairie School, 504;

Writings on Wright: Selected Comment on Frank Lloyd Wright, 504

Brooks, Paul, The House of Life: Rachel Carson at Work, 77

Brooks, Polly S, Cleopatra: Goddess of Egypt, Enemy of Rome, 100

Brooks, Van Wyck, Helen Keller: Sketch for a Portrait, 266;

The Life of Emerson, 162;

The Ordeal of Mark Twain, 473

Brophy, Brigid, Beardsley and His World, 28;

Black and White: A Portrait of Aubrey Beardsley, 28

Brophy, John, Gentleman of Stratford, 423

Brough, James, The Ford Dynasty: An American Story, 168;

The Prince and the Lily, 154

Brown, Cedric, John Milton: A Literary Life, 330

Brown, D.Clayton, Dwight D.Eisenhower, 157

Brown, David, Tchaikovsky, 453

Brown, David A, Leonardo da Vinci: Origins of a Genius, 282

Brown, David, ed, Tchaikovsky Remembered, 453

Brown, David S, Thomas Jefferson: A Biographical Companion, 247

Brown, Dec, Wave High the Banner: A Novel Based on the Life of Davy Crockett, 116

Brown, E.K, Willa Gather: A Critical Biography, 80

Brown, Esther, Gaul Is Divided, 258

Brown, Fern G., James A.Garfield: 20th President of the United States, 185

Brown, Frederick, Zola: A Life, 509

Brown, Ivor, Dr. Johnson and His World, 254;

Jane Austen and Her World, 19;

Shakespeare, 423;

Shaw in His Time, 424

Brown, John, John Bunyan: His Life, Times, and Work, 63

Brown, John Mason, Daniel Boone: The Opening of the Wilderness, 42

Brown, Jonathan, Claude Debussy: An Essential Guide to His Life and Works, 127;

Velázquez: Painter and Courtier, 476;

Velázquez: The Technique of Genius, 476

Brown, Judith M, Gandhi: Prisoner of Hope, 183;

Nehru, 348

Brown, Karl, The Cup Trembling, 443

Brown, Katharine, The Father, 284

Brown, Kevin, Malcolm X: His Life and Legacy, 304

Brown, Malcolm, and Julia Cave, A Touch of Genius: The Life of T.E.Lawrence, 278

Brown, Maurice J.E, The New Grove Schubert, 419;

Schubert: A Critical Biography, 419

Brown, Peter, Augustine of Hippo, 16

Brown, Peter H, Life of Goethe, 200

Brown, Peter H., and Pat H.Broeske, Down at the End of Lonely Street: The Life and Death of Elvis Presley, 384;

Howard Hughes: The Untold Story, 233

Brown, Rita Mae, Dolley: A Novel of Dolley Madison in Love and War, 299–300

Brown, Robert R, “And One Was a Soldier”: The Spiritual Pilgrimage of Robert E.Lee, 279

Brown, Russell, Sherlock Holmes and the Mysterious Friend of Oscar Wilde, 492

Brown, Stuart G, Alexander Hamilton, 209

Brown, Terence, The Life of W.B.Yeats: A Critical Biography, 507

Brown, Virson, Great Upon the Mountain: The Story of Crazy Horse, Legendary Mystic and Warrior, 115

Brown, Warren, John C.Calhoun, 68;

Robert E. Lee, 279

Browne, G.Lathom, Nelson: The Public and Private Life of Horatio Viscount Nelson, 349

Browne, Janet, Charles Darwin: Voyager, 122

Browne, Lewis, Blessed Spinoza: A Biography of the Philosopher, 435

Browning, Robert, Justinian and Theodora, 260–261

Bruccoli, Matthew J, Some Sort of Epic Grandeur, 166

Bruce, Evangeline, Napoleon and Josephine: An Improbable Marriage, 345

Bruce, Marie Louise, Anne Boleyn, 40;

The Making of Henry VIII, 221

Bruce, Robert, Sun Yat-Sen, 447

Bruce, Robert V, Alexander Graham Bell and the Conquest of Solitude, 31

Brundage, James A, Richard Lion Heart, 394

Bruns, Roger, George Washington, 484;

Jesse James: Legendary Outlaw, 246;

Julius Caesar, 258

Bryan, George B, An Ibsen Companion, 237

Bryan, George S, Edison: The Man and His Work, 153;

The Great American Myth, 43

Bryant, Arthur, King Charles II, 91;

Samuel Pepys, 371

Bryant, Dorothy, Anita, Anita, 186

Bryant, Jennifer, Henri de Toulouse-Lautrec, Artist, 465

Buchan, John, Augustus, 17;

Julius Caesar, 258;

Midwinter, 254;

Oliver Cromwell, 117;

Sir Walter Scott, 422

Buckle, Richard, and John Taras, George Balanchine, Ballet Master: A Biography, 22

Buckley, Fiona, The Doublet Affair, 160;

Queen’s Ransom, 160;

To Shield the Queen: A Mystery at Queen Elizabeth I’s Court, 160

Buckley, Jerome H, Tennyson: The Growth of a Poet, 456

Buckley, William F, The Redhunter: A Novel Based on the Life and Times of Senator Joe McCarthy, 319

Buckley, William F., and L.Brent Bozell, McCarthy and His Enemies: The Record and Its Meaning, 319

Buckman, Peter, Lafayette: A Biography, 276

Buckmaster, Henrietta, All the Living: A Novel of One Year in the Life of William Shakespeare, 423;

And Walk in Love: A Novel Based on the Life of the Apostle Paul, 369

Budd, Louis J, Our Mark Twain: The Making of His Public Personality, 473

Budden, Julian, Verdi, 477

Budgen, Frank, James Joyce and the Making of Ulysses, 257

Buell, Augustus C, Paul Jones: Founder of the American Navy, 255

Buisseret, David, Henry IV, 220

Bulfinch, Thomas, Bulfinch: The Legends of Charlemagne, 89

Bulgakov, Mikhail, The Life of Monsieur de Mo Here, 331

Bulgakov, V.F, The Last Year of Leo Tolstoy, 463

Bull, George Anthony, Michelangelo: A Biography, 328

Bullett, Gerald, George Eliot: Her Life and Her Books, 158

Bullock, Alan, Hitler, a Study in Tyranny, 224;

Hitler and Stalin: Parallel Lives, 224, 436

Bullough, Donald A, The Age of Charlemagne, 89

Bulwer Lytton, Edward, Richelieu; or The Conspiracy, 396

Bunbridge, Peter, and Richard Sutter, The Wagner Companion, 481

Buranelli, Vincent, Thomas Alva Edison, 153

Burch, Joann J, Fine Print: A Story about Johann Gutenberg, 208;

Isabella of Castille: Queen on Horseback, 240;

Jefferson Davis: President of the Confederacy, 123

Burchill, Julie, Diana, 133

Burckhardt, Carl, Richelieu and His Age, 396

Burckhardt, Jacob, The Age of Constantine the Great, 108;

Recollections of Rubens, 410

Burdett, Osbert, The Brownings, 59–60;

The Two Carlyles, 73

Burger, Ernst, Franz Liszt: A Chronicle of His Life in Pictures and Documents, 286

Burgess, Anthony, Abba Abba, 265;

A Dead Man in Deptford, 311, 389, 423;

The End of the World News, 177, 259, 467;

Flame into Being: The Life and Work of D.H.Lawrence, 277;

Man of Nazareth, 248;

Napoleon Symphony, 345;

Nothing Like the Sun: A Story of Shakespeare’s Love Life, 423;

On Mozart: A Paean for Wolfgang, Being a Celestial Colloquy, an Opera Libretto, a Film Script, a Schizophrenic Dialogue, a Bewildered Ruminaton, a Stendhalian Transcription, and a Heartfelt Homage Upon the Bicentenary of the Death of Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, 340;

Shakespeare, 423

Bürgin, Hans, and Hans-Otto Mayer, Thomas Mann: A Chronicle of His Life, 307

Burk, John N, Mozart and His Music, 340

Burke, John, Winged Legend: The Story of Amelia Earhart, 151

Burke, Kathleen, Louisa May Alcott, 6

Burleigh, Robert, A Man Named Thoreau, 461

Burlingame, Michael, The Inner World of Abraham Lincoln, 284

Burlingame, Roger, Henry Ford: A Great Life in Brief, 168

Burner, David, Herbert Hoover: A Public Life, 227

Burnett, Robert, The Life of Paul Gauguin, 189

Burns, James M, Roosevelt, 406

Burns, Ron, Enslaved, 247;

Roman Nights, 18;

Roman Shadows, 98

Burns, Walter N, The Saga of Billy the Kid, 36

Burnshaw, Stanley, Robert Frost Himself, 178

Burra, Peter J.S, Van Gogh, 475

Burrows, Donald, Handel, 210

Burrows, Donald, ed, The Cambridge Companion to Handel, 210

Burstein, Andrew, The Inner Jefferson: Portrait of a Grieving Optimist, 247

Burton, David H, Theodore Roosevelt, 407

Burton, David Henry, Clara Barton: In the Service of Humanity, 26

Burton, Humphrey, Leonard Bernstein, 35

Burton, Philip, You, My Brother: A Novel Based on the Lives of Edmund and William Shakespeare, 423

Burton, Richard D. E, Baudelaire in 1859: A Study in the Sources of Poetic Creativity, 21

Burton, William W., ed, Conversations with Bernstein, 35

Buruma, Ian, Playing the Game, 139, 492

Bury, John B, A History of the Later Roman Empire from the Death of Theodosius to the Death of Justinian, 260–261;

The Life of St. Patrick and His Place in History, 367

Busch, Frederick, The Mutual Friend, 134;

The Night Inspector, 324

Busch, Noel F, T.R.: The Story of Theodore Roosevelt and His Influence on Our Time, 407

Bush, Catherine, Elizabeth I, 160;

Gandhi, 183

Bush, Douglas, John Keats: His Life and Writings, 265

Bush, Ronald, T.S.Eliot: A Study in Character and Style, 159

Bushman, Richard L., Joseph Smith and the Beginnings of Mormonism, 434

Bushnell, David, ed, The Liberator Simón Bolívar: Man and Image, 41

Bushnell, Oswald Andrew, The Return of Lono: A Novel of Captain Cook's Last Voyage, 109

Buskin, Richard, Princess Diana: Her Life Story 1961–1997, 133

Busoni, Raffaello, The Man Who Was Don Quixote: The Story of Miguel Cervantes, 84;

Stanley's Africa, 437

Butler, David, Edward VII: Prince of Hearts, 154;

Lillie, 490, 492;

Lusitania, 493, 497

Butler, E.M, Rainer Maria Rilke, 397;

Sheridan: A Ghost Story, 427

Butler, Francelia, Indira Gandhi, 182

Butler, Gwendoline, The Red Staircase, 354

Butler, Margaret, The Lion of Christ, 459;

The Lion of England, 459;

The Lion of Justice, 459

Butler, Mildred A, Ward of the Sun King, 293

Butler, Ruth, Rodin: The Shape of Genius, 404

Butler, Susan, East to the Dawn: The Life of Amelia Earhart, 151

Butson, Thomas G, Ivan the Terrible, 241

Butt, John, ed, The Cambridge Companion to Bach, 20

Butterfield, Herbert, George III and the Historians, 191

Butterworth, Neil, Dvorák: His Life and Times, 150;

Haydn, 216

Buxton, John, Sir Philip Sidney and the English Renaissance, 429

Byrd, Elizabeth, Immortal Queen, 315;

The Long Enchantment , 479;

Maid of Honor: A Novel Set in the Court of Mary Queen of Scots, 315

Byrd, Max, Jackson, 242;

Jefferson, 247;

Jefferson: A Novel, 1, 2

Byrne, Donn, Messer Marco Polo, 381

Byrne, Janet, A Genius for Living: The Life of Frieda Lawrence, 211

Byron, William, Cervantes: A Biography, 84

Cabanne, Pierre, Pablo Picasso: His Life and Times, 378;

Rubens, 410;

Van Gogh, 475

Cabot, James E, A Memoir of Ralph Waldo Emerson, 162

Cachin, Françoise, Gauguin: The Quest for Paradise, 189

Cachin, Françoise, Manet, 306

Cachin, Françoise, and Charles S.Moffett, Manet: 1832–83, 306

Cade, Jared, Agatha Christie and the Eleven Missing Days, 96

Cady, Edwin H, Stephen Crane, 114

Cailliet, Emile, Pascal: The Emergence of Genius, 365

Cain, Michael, Mary Cassatt, 79

Cairns, David, Berlioz, 33

Calder, Jenni, Robert Louis Stevenson: A Life Study, 442

Calder, Robert L, Willie: The Life of W.Somerset Maugham, 318

Caldwallader, Sylvanus, Three Years with Grant, 206

Caldwell, Robert G, James A.Garfield: Party Chieftain, 185

Caldwell, Taylor, The Earth Is the Lord, 190;

Great Lion of God, 369;

A Pillar of Iron, 98

Califano, Joseph A, The Triumph and Tragedy of Lyndon Johnson: The White House Years, 252

Calitri, Charles J, The Goliath Head: A Novel about Caravaggio, 72

Callaghan, Morley, A Time for Judas, 248

Callahan, North, Peggy, 11

Callas, Evangelia, with Lawrence G.Blochman, My Daughter, Maria Callas, 69

Callas, Jackie, Sisters, 69

Callow, Philip, Chekhov: The Hidden Ground, 94;

From Noon to Starry Night: A Life of Walt Whitman, 491;

Lost Earth: A Life of Cézanne, 85;

Son and Lover: The Young Lawrence, 277;

Vincent Van Gogh: A Life, 475

Calloway, Stephen, Aubrey Beardsley, 28

Calvert, F., and C.Gascoine Hartley, El Greco: An Account of His Life and Work, 207

Calvino, Italo, Invisible Cities, 381

Cameron, Kenneth N, Shelley: The Golden Years, 426;

The Young Shelley: Genesis of a Radical, 426

Cameron, William, Day Is Coming, 338

Cammaerts, Emile, Rubens: Painter and Diplomat, 410

Camp, Deborah, Belle Starr, 246

Campbell, Gordon, A Milton Chronology, 330

Campbell, Harry M, John Dewey, 132

Campbell, Ian, Thomas Carlyle, 73

Campbell, James, Recovering Benjamin Franklin: An Exploration of a Life of Science and Service, 173

Campbell, James D, Samuel Taylor Coleridge: A Narrative of the Events of His Life, 102

Campbell, John, Lloyd George: The Goat in the Wilderness 1922–31, 288

Campbell, Oscar J., ed. The Reader's Encyclopedia of Shakespeare, 423

Campbell, R.H., and A.S.Skinner, Adam Smith, 432

Campbell, Reginald J, Livingstone, 287

Canadeo, Anne, Warren G.Harding: 29th President of the United States, 212

Canavaggio, Jean, Cervantes, 84

Canby, Henry S, Thoreau, 461;

Walt Whitman: An American, 491

Canfield, Cass, The Incredible Pierpont Morgan: Financier and Art Collector, 337

Cannon, George O, Life of Joseph Smith: The Prophet, 434

Cannon, John, The Road to Haworth, 53–57

Cantwell, Robert, Nathaniel Hawthorne: The American Years, 215

Capeci, Anne, Meet Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, 359

Capps, Robert S, Hannibal's Lieutenant, 211

Caraman, Phillip, Ignatius Loyola: A Biography of the Founder of the Jesuits, 238

Carb, David, and Walter P.Eaton, Queen Victoria, 479

Card, Orson Scott, Pastwatch: The Redemption of Christopher Columbus, 104;

A Woman of Destiny, 434

Cardus, Neville, Gustav Mahler: His Mind andHis Music, 302

Carey, John, John Donne: Life, Mind, and Art, 140;

Thackeray: Prodigal Genius, 458

Carkeet, David, I Been There Before, 473

Carleton, Patrick, Under the Hog, 395

Carlile, Clancy, The Paris Pilgrims, 219, 257, 438

Carlisle, Henry, The Jonah Man, 162;

The Land Where the Sun Dies, 242, 333

Carlisle, Henry, and Olga Carlisle, The Idealists, 280

Carlisle, Janice, John Stuart Mill and the Writing of Character, 329

Carlisle, Rodney P, Hearst and the New Deal: The Progressive as Reactionary, 217

Carlson, Harry G, Out of Inferno: Strindberg's Reawakening as an Artist, 446

Carlson, Oliver, and Ernest Sutherland Bates, Hearst: Lord of San Simeon, 217

Carlton, Charles, Charles I: The Personal Monarch, 90

Carlyle, Thomas, The History of Friedrich II of Prussia, 175;

Life of Schiller, 417

Carmichael, Joel, Trotsky: An Appreciation of His Life, 467

Carnahan, Walter, Hoffman's Row, 284

Carnegie, Sacha, Kasia and the Empress, 83

Carner, Mosco, Puccini: A Critical Biography, 386

Carnovale, Norbert, George Gershwin, 195

Caro, Robert, The Years of Lyndon Johnson: The Path to Power, 252

Caroli, Betty B, The Roosevelt Women, 405

Carosso, Vincent P, The Morgans: Private International Bankers, 1854–1913, 337

Carpenter, Allan, George Smith Patton Jr.: The Last Romantic, 368

Carpenter, Angelica S, Robert Louis Stevenson: Finding Treasure Island, 442

Carpenter, Edward, Days with Walt Whitman: With Some Notes on His Life and Works, 491

Carpenter, Frederic I, Eugene O'Neill, 360

Carpenter, Humphrey, Jesus, 248;

A Serious Character: The Life of Ezra Pound, 383;

W.H. Auden: A Biography, 14

Carpenter, John A, Ulysses S.Grant, 206

Carpentier, Alejo, The Harp and the Shadow, 104, 417

Carr, Caleb, The Alienist, 337, 407

Carr, Edward H, Dostoevsky (1821–1881): A New Biography, 141

Carr, Francis, Ivan the Terrible, 241

Carr, John Dickson, The Life of Arthur Conan Doyle, 143

Carr, Jonathan, Mahler: A Biography, 302

Carr, Robyn, The Braeswood Tapestry, 91;

*Chelynn*e, 91

Carras, Mary C, Indira Gandhi in the Crucible of Leadership: A Political Biography, 182

Carré, Jean-Marie, The Frail Warrior: A Life of Robert Louis Stevenson, 442;

A Season in Hell: The Life of Rimbaud, 398

Carrère d’Encausse, Hélène, Lenin: Revolution and Power, 280;

Stalin: Order through Terror, 436

Carrere, Emmanuel, Gothic Romance, 425

Carrier, Irene, James VI and I: King of Great Britain, 244

Carrington, Charles, Rudyard Kipling: His Life and Work, 274

Carrithers, Michael, The Buddha, 62

Carroll, Malachy G, Time Cannot Dim, 10

Carroll, Sara N, The Search: A Biography of Leo Tolstoy, 463

Carse, James P, The Gospel of the Beloved Disciple, 248

Carson, Julia, Mary Cassatt, 79

Carson, S.L., Maximilien Robespierre, 401

Carswell, Catherine, The Life of Robert Burns, 65;

The Savage Pilgrimage: A Narrative of D.H. Lawrence, 277;

The Tranquil Heart: Portrait of Giovanni Boccaccio, 39

Carswell, Donald, Scott and His Circle: With Four Portrait Studies, 422

Carter, David A, Salvador Dali, 120

Carter, Forrest, Watch for Me on the Mountain, 194

Carter, William C, Marcel Proust: A Life, 385

Carter, Winifred, Dr. Johnson’s Dear Mistress, 254

Carver, Terrell, ed, The Cambridge Companion to Marx, 313

Gary, Elisabeth, William Morris: Poet, Craftsman, Socialist, 338

Casey, Jane B, I, Krupskaya: My Life with Lenin, 280

Cash, Arthur H, Laurence Sterne, 440

Cash, Johnny, Man in White, 369

Cassady, Carolyn, Off the Road: My Years with Cassady, Kerouac, and Ginsberg, 269

Cassidy, Robert, Margaret Mead: A Voice for the Century, 321

Cassirer, Ernst, Kant’s Life and Thought, 264

Castel, Albert E, The Presidency of Andrew Johnson, 251

Castelot, André, Napoleon, 345;

Queen of France, 310

Castleman, Harry, and Walter J.Podrazik, All Together Now, 281

Castor, Henry, The Year of the Spaniard, 114

Castro, Jan G, The Art and Life of Georgia O’Keeffe, 358

Cate, Curtis, George Sand: A Biography, 414;

The War of Two Emperors, 7

Cater, Harold D, Washington Irving at Sunnyside, 239

Cattau, Georges, Marcel Proust, 385

Catton, Bruce, Grant Moves South, 206;

Grant Takes Command, 206;

U.S. Grant and the American Military Tradition, 206

Caulkins, Janet, Joseph Stalin, 436

Cavallini, Giuliani, Catherine of Siena, 82

Cavan, Seamus, Daniel Boone and the Opening of the Ohio Country, 42

Cavan, Sherri, 20th Century Gothic: America’s Nixon, 357

Cavendish, George, The Life and Death of Cardinal Wolsey, 500

Cavitch, David, My Soul and I: The Inner Life of Walt Whitman, 491

Cecchi, Dario, Titian, 462

Cecil, Algernon, Metternich 1773–1859: A Study of His Period and His Personality, 327

Cecil, David, A Portrait of Jane Austen, 19

Cecil, Lamar, Wilhelm II: Prince and Emperor, 493

Celsi, Teresa N, John C.Calhoun and the Roots of War, 68

Cerasini, Marc, Diana, Queen of Hearts, 133

Chabannes, Jacques, St. Augustine., 16

Chadha, Yogesh, Gandhi: A Life, 183

Chadwick, Bruce, The Two American Presidents: A Dual Biography of Abraham Lincoln and Jefferson Davis, 123, 284

Chadwick, C, Rimbaud, 398

Chagall, Bella, Burning Lights, 86

Chalberg, John, Emma Goldman: American Individualist, 202

Challis, George, The Bait and the Trap, 45–41;

The Golden Knight, 394

Chalmers, Kenneth, Béla Bartók, 25

Chamberlain, Lesley, Nietzsche in Turin: An Intimate Biography, 355

Chamberlin, E.R, Cesare Borgia, 45–47;

The Emperor., 89;

The Fall of the House of Borgia, 45–47

Chambers, E.K, Matthew Arnold: A Study, 12;

Samuel Taylor Coleridge: A Biographical Study, 102

Chambers, James, Christopher Wren, 503

Chambers, Jessie, D.H.Lawrence: A Personal Record, 111

Chambers, Lenoir, Stonewall Jackson, 243

Chambers, R.W, Thomas More, 336

Chambrun, Clara Longworth de, Two Loves Have 1,423

Champigneulle, Bernard, Rodin, 404

Chancellor, Frank, Prince Consort, 5

Chancellor, John, Audubon, 15;

Wagner, 481

Chandemagor, Françoise d’Aubigne, The King’s Way, 293

Chandler, David G, The Campaigns of Napoleon, 345

Chancy, J.R, Aleksandr Pushkin: Poet for the People, 387

Chancy, Lindsay, and Michael Cieply, The Hearsts: Family and Empire: The Later Years, 217

Channing, William E, Thoreau, the Poet-Naturalist, 461

Chaplin, Charles Jr, My Father: Charlie Chaplin, 88

Chapman, Hester W, Anne Boleyn, 40;

Eugénie, 346–347;

Fear No More, 310;

The Tragedy of Charles II in the Years 1630–1660, 91

Chapman, R.W, Jane Austen: Facts and Problems, 19

Chapman, Robin, The Duchess’s Diary, 84

Chappell, Vere, ed, The Cambridge Companion to Locke, 289

Chappelow, Allan, Shaw the Villager and Human Being: A Biographical Symposium, 424;

“The Chucker-Out”:. A Biographical Exposition and Critique, 424

Chaput, W.J, The Man on the Train, 97

Charles-Roux, Edmonde, Chanel, 87

Chariot, Monica, Victoria: The Young Queen, 419

Charmley, John, Churchill: The End of Glory: A Political Biography, 97

Chamwood, Godfrey R.B, Abraham Lincoln, 284

Charnwood, Godfrey R. B, Theodore Roosevelt, 407

Charpentier, John, Coleridge: The Sublime Somnambulist, 102

Charques, Dorothy, Men Like Shadows, 394

Charters, Ann, Kerouac: A Biography, 269

Charters, Samuel B, Elvis Presley Calls His Mother After the Ed Sullivan Show, 384

Charyn, Jerome, Captain Kidd, 368;

The Franklin Scare, 406

Chase-Riboud, Barbara, Echo of Lions, 3, 474;

Portrait of a Nude Woman as Cleopatra, 100;

Sally Hemings, 1, 2, 247

Chatterton, E.K, Captain John Smith, 433

Chawla, Navin, Mother Teresa, 339

Cheetham, Anthony, The Life and Times of Richard III, 395

Cheetham, F.H, Louis Napoleon and the Genesis of the Second Empire, 346–347

Ch’en, Jerome, Mao and the Chinese Revolution, 309

Chenevix Trench, Charles, The Royal Malady, 191

Cheney, Glenn A, Mahatma Gandhi, 183

Chernaik, Judith, The Daughter: A Novel Based on the Life of Eleanor Marx, 313;

Love’s Children, 425, 426

Chernow, Ron, The House of Morgan: An American Banking Dynasty and the Rise of Modern Finance, 337;

Titan: The Life of John D. Rockefeller, 403

Cherny, Robert, A Righteous Cause: The Life of William Jennings Bryan, 61

Chesler, Ellen, Woman of Valor: Margaret Sanger and the Birth Control Movement in America, 415

Chessman, G.Wallace, Theodore Roosevelt and the Politics of Power, 407

Chesterton, G.K, Saint Thomas Aquinas, 10;

St. Francis of Assist, 171

Chevalier, Haakron, Oppenheimer: The Story of a Friendship, 361

Chevalier, Tracy, Girl with a Pearl Earring, 478

Chiaventone, Frederick J, A Road We Do Not Know: A Novel of Custer at the Little Big Horn, 119

Chidsey, Donald Barr, Reluctant Cavalier, 144

Childress, Mark, Tender, 384

Chinard, Gilbert, Honest John Adams, 2

Chinn, Laurene, Marcus, 374;

The Soothsayer, 369

Chissell, Joan, Chopin, 95;

Schumann, 420

Chitham, Edward, A Life of Anne Brontë, 53–57;

A Life of Emily Brontë, 53–57

Chodzín, Sherab, The Awakened One: A Life of Buddha, 62

Chotzinoff, Samuel, Eroica: A Novel Based on the Life of Ludwig van Beethoven, 30;

Toscanini: An Intimate Portrait, 464

Chou, Eric, Mao Tse-tung: The Man and the Myth, 309

Christianson, Gale E., In the Presence of the Creator: Isaac Newton and His Times, 353;

Isaac Newton and the Scientific Revolution, 353

Christopher, Milbourne, Houdini: The Untold Story, 231

Christy, Jim, The Long, Slow Death of Jack Kerouac, 269

Chubb, Thomas C, Dante and His World, 121;

The Life of Giovanni Boccaccio, 39

Chunli, Qu, The Life of Confucius, 105

Church, William, Richelieu and Reason of State, 396

Churchill, Randolph S, Winston S.Churchill, 97

Churchill, Winston, The Crisis, 206, 284, 428;

Richard Carvel, 255

Chute, Marchette, Ben Jonson of Westminster, 256;

Geoffrey Chaucer of England, 93;

Shakespeare of London, 423

Cirlot, Juan-Eduardo, Picasso: Birth of a Genius, 378

Citati, Pietro, Kafka, 262

Cladel, Judith, Rodin, 404;

Rodin: The Man and His Art, 404

Clapham, John, Dvorák, 150

Clark, Arthur M, Sir Walter Scott: The Formative Years, 422

Clark, Barrett H, Eugene O'Neill, 360

Clark, E.Harrison, All Cloudless Glory: The Life of George Washington, 484

Clark, Elizabeth, Tchaikovsky, 453

Clark, James C, The Murder of James A.Garfield: The President's Last Days and the Trial and Execution of His Assassin, 185

Clark, Kenneth, Leonardo da Vinci, 282

Clark, Leon P, Lincoln: A Psycho-Biography, 284

Clark, Mary Higgins, Aspire to the Heavens: A Portrait of George Washington, 484

Clark, Robert A., ed, The Killing of Chief Crazy Horse: Three Eyewitnesses, 115

Clark, Ronald W, Benjamin Franklin: A Biography, 173;

Bertrand Russell and His World , 412;

Edison: The Man Who Made the Future, 153;

Einstein: The Life and Times, 156;

Freud: The Man and the Cause, 177;

Lenin, 280;

The Life of Bertrand Russell, 412;

The Survival of Charles Darwin: A Biography of a Man and an Idea, 122

Clark, Thekla, Wystan and Chester: A Personal Memoir of W.H.Auden and Chester Kallman, 14

Clark, Tom, Jack Kerouac, 269;

Junkets on a Sad Planet: Scenes from the Life of John Keats, 265

Clarke, Anne, Lewis Carroll: A Biography, 75

Clarke, Asia Booth, The Unlocked Book: A Memoir of John Wilkes Booth, 43

Clarke, Donald, All or Nothing at All: A Life of Frank Sinatra, 430

Clarke, Isabel C, Elizabeth Barrett Browning: A Portrait, 59–60

Clarke, J.S., and J.MacArthur, The Life of Admiral Lord Nelson, 349

Clarke, John, The Life and Times of George III, 191

Clarke, John H., ed, Malcolm X: The Man and His Times, 304;

Marcus Garvey and the Vision of Africa, 188

Clarke, William K, The Robber Baroness, 324, 74

Clarson-Leach, Robert, Berlioz: His Life and Times, 33

Clay, Thomas Hart, and Ellis P.Oberholtzer, Henry Clay, 99

Cleaves, Freeman, Old Tippecanoe: William Henry Harrison and His Time, 214

Clement, Catherine, Gandhi: The Power of Pacifism, 183

Clements, Kendrick A, The Presidency of Woodrow Wilson, 497

Cleugh, James, The Amorous Master Pepys, 371;

Tuscan Spring: A Novel about Sandro Botticelli, 49

Clewes, Howard, I, the King, 92

Clewes, Winston, The Violent Friends, 448

Cliff, Tony, Lenin, 280;

Rosa Luxemburg, 296

Clifford, James L, Dictionary Johnson: Samuel Johnson's Middle Years, 254;

Young Sam Johnson, 254

Cline, Donald, Alias Billy the Kid: The Man Behind the Legend, 36

Clingham, Greg, ed, The Cambridge Companion to Samuel Johnson, 254

Clinton, Susan, Henry Stanley and David Livingstone, 287, 437;

Herbert Hoover, Thirty-first President of the United States, 227

Clissold, Stephen, St. Teresa of Avila, 457

Clive, H.P, Schubert and His World: A Biographical Dictionary, 419

Clive, Mary, Jack & the Doctor, 140

Clive, Peter, Mozart and His Circle: A Biographical Dictionary, 340

Clou, John, A Caravan to Camul, 190

Cloulas, Ivan, The Borgias, 45–47

Clucas, Joan, Mother Teresa, 339

Clutton-Brock, Arthur, William Morris: His Work and Influence, 338

Clyman, Toby W., ed, A Chekhov Companion, 94

Clynes, Michael, The Roger Shallot mystery series. 1991–500

Cobb, Carl W, Federico Garcia Lorca, 184

Coburn, Andrew, Birthright, 285

Coburn, Mark, Terrible Innocence: General Sherman at War, 428

Cockcroft, James D, Diego Rivera, 399

Codman, Charles R, Drive, 368

Cody, John, After Great Pain: The Inner Life of Emily Dickinson, 135

Coelho, Tony, John Quincy Adams, 3

Coetzee, J.M, The Master of Petersburg, 141

Coffey, Ellen G, John D. Rockefeller: Empire Builder, 403

Coffey, Frank, The Complete Idiot's Guide to Elvis, 384

Cogan, Charles G, Charles de Gaulle: A Brief Biography with Documents, 124

Cohen, Arthur A, The Communism of Mao Tse-tung, 309

Cohen, Daniel, Henry Stanley and the Quest for the Source of the Nile, 437;

Joseph McCarthy: The Misuse of Political Power, 319

Cohen, Joan L, Buddha, 62

Cohen, Morton N, Lewis Carroll: A Biography, 75

Cohen-Solal, Annie, Sartre: A Life, 416

Coil, Suzanne M, Harriet Beecher Stowe, 443

Coit, Margaret L, John C.Calhoun: American Portrait, 68

Coit, Margaret L., ed, John C.Calhoun, 68

Colacello, Bob, Holy Terror: Andy Warhol Close Up, 482

Colbourne, Maurice, The Real Bernard Shaw, 424

Cole, Bruce, Titian and Venetian Painting, 1450–1590, 462

Cole, Donald B, Martin Van Buren and the American Political System, 474;

The Presidency of Andrew Jackson, 242

Cole, John R, Pascal: The Man and His Two Loves, 365

Cole, Michael D, John F.Kennedy, 267;

Walt Disney: Creator of Mickey Mouse, 138

Cole, Wayne S, Charles A.Lindbergh and the Battle Against American Intervention in World War II, 285

Coleman, McAlister, Eugene V.Debs: A Man Unafraid, 126

Coleman, Ray, John Lennon: The Definitive Biography, 281;

John Winston Lennon, 281;

Sinatra: A Portrait of the Artist, 430

Coles, Sydney F.A, Franco of Spain: A Full-Length Biography, 172

Coletta, Paolo E, William Jennings Bryan, 61

Collier, James L, Duke Ellington, 161

Collier, Peter, and David Horowitz, The Fords: An American Epic, 168

Collier, Richard, Duce!: A Biography of Benito Mussolini, 343

Colliue, E.G, Gladstone, 199

Collingwood, Stuart Dodgson, The Life and Letters of Lewis Carroll, 75

Collingwood, W.G, The Life and Work of John Ruskin, 411

Collins, David R, Grover Cleveland: 22nd and 24th President of the United States, 101;

William McKinley: 25th President of the United States, 320;

Zachary Taylor: 12th President of the United States, 452

Collins, Max Allan, Flying Blind: A Novel of Amelia Earhart, 151;

Stolen Away, 285;

True Crime, 228

Collins, Norman, Quiet Lady, 346–347;

The Quiet Lady, 37

Collins, Philip, ed, Dickens: Interviews and Recollections, 134

Collins, Randall, The Case of the Philosopher's Ring, 498

Collis, John S, Christopher Columbus, 104

Collis, Maurice, Cortés and Montezuma, 113;

Marco Polo, 381

Collison-Morley, Lacy, The Story of the Borgias, 45–47

Colum, Mary and Padraic, Our Friend James Joyce, 257

Colver, Anne, Lincoln's Wife, 284;

Listen for the Voices, 162, 461

Colvert, James B, Stephen Crane, 114

Colvin, Sidney, John Keats: His Life and Poetry, His Friends, Critics, and After-Fame, 265;

Keats, 265

Combs, Harry, with Martin Caidin, Kill Devil Hill: Discovering the Secret of the Wright Brothers, 505–506

Combüchen, Sigrid, Byron: A Novel, 67

Comfort, Alex, Imperial Patient, 350

Como, Jame T., ed, C.S.Lewis at the Breakfast Table and Other Reminiscences, 283

Compton, Piers, The Genius of Louis Pasteur, 366

Compton-Rickett, Arthur, William Morris: A Study in Personality, 338

Compton, Susan P, Chagall, 86

Conati, Marcello, ed, Encounters with Verdi, 477

Concannon, Mrs. Thomas, Saint Patrick, 367

Condon, Richard, The Abandoned Woman, 193

Cone, Carl B, Burke and the Nature of Politics, 64

Cone, James H, Martin and Malcolm and America, 304

Conkin, Paul, Big Daddy from the Pedernales: Lyndon Baines Johnson, 252

Conkling, J.Christopher, A Joseph Smith Chronology, 434

Conley, Robert J, Geronimo: An American Legend, 194

Connell, Dorothy, Sir Philip Sidney: The Maker's Mind, 429

Connell, Evan S, Deus lo Volt! Chronicle of the Crusades, 292;

Son of the Morning Star: Custer and the Little Big Horn, 119

Connelly, Thomas L., The Marble Man: Robert E. Lee and His Image in American Society, 279

Connely, Willard, Laurence Sterne as Yorick, 440

Conord, Bruce W, John Lennon, 281

Conot, Robert, A Streak of Luck, 153

Conquest, Robert, Stalin: Breaker of Nations, 436;

V.I.Lenin, 280

Conrad, Earl, Harriet Tubman, 470

Conrad, Jessie, Conrad and His Circle, 106

Conroy, Peter V., Jean-Jacques Rousseau, 409

Conroy, Robert, 1901, 297, 320, 493

Conroy, Sarah B, Refinements of Love: A Novel about Clover and Henry Adams, 101, 245

Conway, Moncure, The Life of Nathaniel Hawthorne, 215;

The Life of Thomas Paine, 363

Cook, Blanche W, Eleanor Roosevelt, 405

Cook, Don, Charles De Gaulle: A Biography, 124

Cook, Edward T, The Life of John Ruskin, 411

Cook, Fred J, The Nightmare Decade: The Life and Times of Senator Joseph McCarthy, 319

Cook, Judith, The Slicing Edge of Death, 311

Cook, Michael, Muhammad, 341

Cook, Sir Edward, The Life of Florence Nightingale, 356

Cooke, Jacob E, Alexander Hamilton, 209

Cooke, Jacob E., ed, Alexander Hamilton: A Profile, 209

Cooke, John Esten, Henry St. John, Gentleman, 222;

A Life of General Robert E.Lee, 279;

Stonewall Jackson: A Military Biography, 243;

The Virginia Comedians, 222

Cooley, Martha, The Archivist, 159

Coolidge, Olivia E, Caesar's Gallic War, 258;

Eugene O 'Neill, 360;

George Bernard Shaw, 424;

The Three Lives of Joseph Conrad, 106;

Tom Paine, Revolutionary, 363

Coombs, Karen M, Jackie Robinson: Baseball's Civil Rights Legend, 402

Cooper, Barry, ed, The Beethoven Compendium: A Guide to Beethoven's Life & Music, 30

Cooper, James Fenimore, Mercedes of Castille, 104;

The Pilot, 255;

The Spy, 484

Cooper, John M. Jr, The Warrior and the Priest: Woodrow Wilson and Theodore Roosevelt, 407, 497

Cooper, Leonard, The Age of Wellington: The Life and Times of the Duke of Wellington, 1769–1852, 486

Cooper, Martin, Beethoven: The Last Decade 1817–27, 30

Cooperstein, Claire, Johanna: A Novel of the Van Gogh Family, 475

Coote, Stephen, Royal Survivor: The Life of Charles II, 91;

William Morris: His Life and Work, 338

Coover, Robert, The Public Burning, 357

Cope, Kevin L., John Locke Revisited, 289

Copeland, Edward, and Juliet McMaster, eds, The Cambridge Companion to Jane Austen, 19

Copleston, Frederick, Friedrich Nietzsche: Philosopher of Culture, 355

Coppard, Audrey and Bernard Crick, Orwell Remembered, 362

Coray, Henry W, Son of Tears: A Novel on the Life of Saint Augustine, 16

Corbett, Sir Julian, Sir Francis Drake, 144

Cordell, Alexander, The Dream and the Destiny, 309

Cordell, Richard A, Somerset Maugham: A Biographical and Critical Study, 318

Corder, Frederick, Ferenz Liszt, 286

Coren, Michael, The Invisible Man: The Life and Liberties of H.G.Wells, 487

Corey, Lewis, The House of Morgan: A Social Biography of the Masters of Money, 337

Corfe, Tom, Archbishop Thomas and King Henry II, 459;

St. Patrick and Irish Christianity, 367

Corke, Helen, D.H.Lawrence: The Croyden Years, 277

Corle, Edwin, Billy the Kid, 36

Corley, T.A.B, Democratic Despot: A Life of Napoleon III, 346–347

Cornell, Julien, The Trial of Ezra Pound, 383

Cornish, Dorothy Helen, These Were the Brontës, 53–57

Cornwell, Bernard, The Sharpe series., 486

Cornwell, John, Coleridge: Poet and Revolutionary 1772–1804, 102

Corryingham, Mary, I, Jane Austen: A Re-creation in Rime Royal Based on the Letters of Jane Austen, Her Novels and the Comments of Her Biographers, 19

Corvo, Baron Frederick, Chronicles of the House of Borgia, 45–47

Coryn, M.S, Goodbye, My Son, 345;

The Incorruptible, 401

Coryn, Marjorie, Sorrow by Day, 293

Costain, Thomas B, The Chord of Steel: The Story of the Invention of the Telephone, 31;

The Last Love, 345;

The Silver Chalice, 248, 374;

The Tontine, 346–347

Costello, Peter, James Joyce: The Years of Growth, 1882–1915, 257

Costello, William, The Facts about Nixon: An Unauthorized Biography, 357

Costigan, Giovanni, Sigmund Freud: A Short Biography, 177

Cotes, Peter, and Thelma Niklaus, The Little Fellow: The Life and Work of Charles Spencer Chaplin, 88

Cott, Jonathan, and Christine Doudna, eds, The Ballad of John and Yoko, 281

Gotten, Lee, All Shook Up: Elvis Day-by-Day, 1954–1977, 384

Cottingham, John, Descartes, 131

Cottingham, John, ed, The Cambridge Companion to Descartes, 131

Cottrell, Leonard, Hannibal: Enemy of Rome, 211

Coughlain, Neil, Young John Dewey: An Essay in American Intellectual History, 132

Coughlan, Robert, The Private World of William Faulkner, 164

Coulter, Stephen, The Devil Inside: A Novel of Dostoevsky's Life, 141

Coulton, G.G, Chaucer and His England, 93

Coupland, Sir Reginald, Livingstone's Last Journey, 287

Courcel, Marline de, Tolstoy: The Ultimate Reconciliation, 463

Courtney, W.L., Life of John Stuart Mill, 329

Cousins, Margaret, The Story of Thomas Alva Edison, 153

Cowan, Ian B, The Enigma of Mary Stuart, 315

Coward, Barry, Oliver Cromwell, 117

Cowell, Stephanie, Nicholas Cooke, 311;

The Players, 423

Cowie, Leonard W, Martin Luther: Leader of the Reformation, 295

Cowles, Fleur, The Case of Salvador Dali, 120

Cowles, Virginia, Gay Monarch: The Life and Pleasures of Edward VII, 154;

The Kaiser, 493;

The Last Tsar, 354

Cox, Clinton, Fiery Vision: The Life and Death of John Brown, 58;

Mark Twain: America's Humorist, Dreamer, Prophet, 473

Cox, Don R, Arthur Conan Doyle, 143

Cox, Leland H, William Faulkner: A Biographical and Reference Guide, 164

Crabb, Alfred L, Home to Kentucky: A Novel of Henry Clay, 99;

Home to the Hermitage: A Novel of Andrew and Rachel Jackson, 242;

Supper at the Maxwell House, 251

Crabbe, John, Hector Berlioz: Rational Romantic, 33

Craft, Robert, Stravinsky: Chronicle of a Friendship, 445;

Stravinsky: Glimpses of a Life, 445

Craik, Henry, The Life of Jonathan Swift, 448

Cramer, Jeffrey S, Robert Frost Among His Poems: A Literary Companion to the Poet's Own Biographical Contexts and Associations, 178

Crane, Verner, Benjamin Franklin and a Rising People, 173

Crane, William D, Patriotic Rebel: John C. Calhoun, 68

Cranford, Gail, Albert Schweitzer, 421

Crankshaw, Edward, Bismarck, 37;

Khrushchev: A Career, 271;

Tolstoy: The Making of a Novelist, 463

Cranston, Maurice, Jean-Jacques: The Early Life and Work of Jean-Jacques Rousseau, 1712–1754, 409;

John Locke: A Biography, 289;

The Noble Savage: Jean-Jacques Rousseau, 1754–1762, 409;

The Solitary Self:

Jean-Jacques Rousseau in Exile and Adversity, 409

Crassweller, Robert D, Peron and the Enigmas of Argentina, 372–373

Crawshay-Williams, Rupert, Russell Remembered, 412

Craze, Michael, The Life and Lyrics of Andrew Marvel I, 312

Creasey, John, The Masters of Bow Street, 165

Creel, George, Sam Houston: Colossus in Buckskin, 232

Creel, H.G, Confucius: The Man and the Myth, 105

Cregler, Don M, Bounder from Wales: Lloyd George's Career Before the First World War, 288

Crespelle, Jean-Paul, Chagall, 86;

Picasso and His Women, 378

Cresson, W.P.P, James Monroe, 333

Crick, Bernard, George Orwell: A Life, 362

Cristiani, Leon, Pierre Teilhard de Chardin: His Life and Spirit, 455

Crocker, Lester, The Embattled Philosopher: A Biography of Denis Diderot, 136;

Jean-Jacques Rousseau, 409

Crocker, W.R, Nehru: A Contemporary's Estimate, 348

Crompton, Margaret, George Eliot: The Woman, 158

Cronin, Anthony, Samuel Beckett: The Last Modernist, 29

Cronin, Vincent, Catherine: Empress of All the Russias, 83;

Louis and Antoinette, 310;

Louis XIV , 293;

Napoleon Bonaparte: An Intimate Biography, 345

Cronon, Edward D, Black Moses: The Story of Marcus Garvey and the Universal Negro Improvement Association, 188

Cronyn, George W, Mermaid Tavern, 311

Crook, Elizabeth, Promised Lands, 232;

The Raven 's Bride, 232

Crosby, Travis L, The Two Mr. Gladstones: A Study in Psychology and History, 199

Crosland, Margaret, Colette: The Difficulty of Loving: A Biography, 103;

Madame Colette: A Provincial in Paris, 103

Cross, Amanda, Poetic Justice, 14

Cross, Colin, Who Was Jesus?, 248

Cross, J.W, George Eliot's Life as Related in Her Letters and Journals, Arranged and Edited by Her Husband, 158

Cross, Thomas N, East and West: A Biography of Rudyard Kipling, 274

Cross, Wilbur L, The History of Henry Fielding, 165;

The Life and Times of Laurence Sterne, 440

Crossan, John D, Jesus: A Revolutionary Biography, 248

Crouch, Tom D, The Bishop's Boys: A Life of Wilbur and Orville Wright, 505–506

Crow, Donna F, A Gentle Calling, 488

Crowe, J.A., and G.B.Cavalcaselle, Raphael: His Life and Works, 390;

Titian: His Life and Times, 462

Crowley, Aidan, De Gaulle: A Biography, 124

Crowley, Duane, Riddle Me a Murder, 93

Crowley, Vivianne, Jung: A Journey of Transformation: Exploring His Life and Experiencing His Ideas, 259

Crowther, James G, Francis Bacon: The First Statesman of Science, 21

Croy, Homer, Jesse James Was My Neighbor, 246

Crozier, Brian, De Gaulle, 124;

Franco, 172

Csampaï, Attila, ed, Callas: Image of a Legend, 69

Cuénot, Claude, Teilhard de Chardin: A Biographical Study, 455

Cullen, Tom, The Empress Brown: The True Story of a Victorian Scandal, 479

Cullmann, Oscar, Peter: Disciple, Apostle, Martyr: A Historical and Theological Study, 374

Cummins, John G, Francis Drake: The Lives of a Hero, 144

Cunliffe, Marcus, George Washington: Man and Monument, 484

Cunningham, Ernest W, The Ultimate Marilyn, 334

Cunningham, Michael, The Hours, 501

Cunningham, Noble, In Pursuit of Reason: The Life of Thomas Jefferson, 247;

The Presidency of James Monroe, 333

Cuny, Hilaire, Louis Pasteur: The Man and His Theories, 366

Curie, Eve, Madame Curie: A Biography, 118

Curle, Richard, The Last Twelve Years of Joseph Conrad, 106

Curran, Constantine P, James Joyce Remembered, 257

Current, Richard N, Daniel Webster and the Rise of National Conservatism, 485

Currey, Cecil B, Road to Revolution: Benjamin Franklin in England 1765–75, 173

Currie, Harold W, Eugene V.Debs, 126

Currimbhoy, Nayana, Indira Gandhi, 182

Curry, Patrick, Introducing Machiavelli, 298

Curtis, Anthony, The Pattern of Maugham: A Critical Portrait, 318

Curtis, George T, Life of Daniel Webster, 485

Curtis, James C, Andrew Jackson and the Search for Vindication, 242;

The Fox at Bay: Martin Van Buren and the Presidency, 474

Curtis, Richard, The Life of Malcolm X, 304

Cuthbert, Father, Life of St. Francis of Assisi, 171

Cutting, Elisabeth B, Jefferson Davis, Political Soldier, 123

Cuzin, Jean Pierre, Raphael: His Life and Works, 390

Cwiklik, Robert, Albert Einstein and the Theory of Relativity, 156;

Tecumseh, Shawnee Rebel, 454

Dabney, Robert L, Life and Campaigns of Lieut.-Gen. Thomas J.Jackson, 243

Daiches, David, James Boswell and His World, 48;

Robert Burns, 65;

Robert Louis Stevenson and His World, 442;

Sir Walter Scott and His World, 422

Daily, Robert, Elvis Presley: The King of Rock 'n' Roll, 384

Dakin, Edwin F, Mrs. Eddy: The Biography of a Virginal Mind, 152

Dale, Alzina S, T.S.Eliot: The Philosopher Poet, 159

Dallek, Robert, Lone Star Rising: Lyndon Johnson and His Times, 1908–1960, 252

Dally, Peter, The Marriage of Heaven and Hell: Manic Depression and the Life of Virginia Woolf, 501

D'Alton, John F, Horace and His Age, 230

Daly, Saralyn R, Katherine Mansfield, 308

Dalzell, Robert F. Jr, Daniel Webster and the Trial of American Nationalism 1843–1852, 485

Dance, Stanley, The World of Duke Ellington, 161

Dandrea, Don, Orlok, 190

Dangerfield, George, Victoria's Heir: The Education of a Prince, 154

Daniels, Jonathan, The Man from Independence, 468

Daniels, Kathleen, Minna's Story: The Secret Love of Doctor Sigmund Freud, 177

Danielsson, Bengt, Gauguin in the South Seas, 189

Danilova, Alexandra, Choura: The Memoirs of Alexandr Danilova, 22

Dann, Jack, The Memory Cathedral: A Secret History of Leonardo da Vinci, 282

Dan to, Arthur C, Nietzsche as Philosopher, 355

Darbishire, Helen, ed, The Early Lives of Milton, 330

Darby, Catherine, The Love Knot, 93

Dargan, Edwin P, Anatole France: 1844–96, 170

Dark, Sidney, and Rowland Grey, W.S.Gilbert: His Life and Letters, 197–198

Darlington, W.A, Sheridan, 427

Darwin, Francis, The Life of Charles Darwin, 122

D'Auvergne, Edmund B.F, Napoleon the Third: A Biography, 346–347

Davenat, Colette, Deborah and the Siege of Paris, 220

Davenport-Hines, Richard, Auden, 14

Davenport, Marcia, Garibaldi: Father of Modern Italy, 186;

Mozart, 340

Daverio, John, Robert Schumann: Herald of a New Poetic Age, 420

David E.Butler., Edward the King, 199

David, Lester, Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis: A Portrait of Her Private Years, 359

David, Lester, and Irene David, Bobby Kennedy: The Making of a Folk Hero, 268;

Ike and Mamie: The Story of the General and His Lady, 157

David, Saul, Prince of Pleasure: George IV and the Making of the Regency, 193

Davidson, Arthur F, Alexandre Dumas (père): His Life and Works, 148

Davidson, Eugene, The Making of Hitler: The Birth and Rise of Nazism, 224;

The Unmaking of Hitler, 224

Davidson, Margaret, Helen Keller, 266;

The Story of Alexander Graham Bell: Inventor of the Telephone, 31

Davidson, Mary R, Dolley Madison: Famous First Lady, 299–300

Davidson, Miles H, Columbus Then and Now: A Life Reexamined, 104

Davidson, Peter H, George Orwell: A Literary Life, 362

Davies, Hunter, The Beatles: The Authorized Biography, 281;

The Teller of Tales: In Search of Robert Louis Stevenson, 442;

William Wordsworth: A Biography, 502

Davies, James A, A Reference Companion to Dylan Thomas, 460

Davies, Margaret, Colette, 103

Davies, Marion, The Times We Had: Life with William Randolph Hearst, 217

Davies, Peter J, Mozart in Person: His Character and Health, 340

Davies, Stan G, James Joyce: A Portrait of the Artist, 257

Davis, A.N, The Kaiser I Knew: My 14 Years with the Kaiser, 493

Davis, Allen F, American Heroine: The Life and Legend of Jane Addams, 4

Davis, Britton, The Truth about Geronimo, 194

Davis, Burke, George Washington and the American Revolution, 484;

Gray Fox: Robert E.Lee and the Civil War, 279;

Old Hickory: A Life of Andrew Jackson, 242;

They Called Him Stonewall: A Life of Lt. General T.J.Jackson, C.S.A, 243;

To Appomattox: Nine April Days, 279;

To Appomattox: Nine April Days, 1865, 206;

Yorktown, 484

Davis, Christopher, A Peep into the 20th Century, 153

Davis, Daniel S, Marcus Garvey, 188

Davis, Genevieve, A Passion in the Blood, 45–47

Davis, J.Frank, The Road to San Jacinto, 232

Davis, John H, Jacqueline Bouvier: An Intimate Memoir, 359;

The Kennedys: Dynasty and Disaster, 267

Davis, Kenneth S, FDR, 406;

The Hero: Charles A. Lindbergh and the American Dream, 285;

Soldier of Democracy: A Biography of Dwight Elsenhower, 157

Davis, Lenwood G, I Have a Dream: The Life and Times of Martin Luther King Jr, 273

Davis, Linda H, Badge of Courage: The Life of Stephen Crane, 114

Davis, Michael, William Blake: A New Kind of Man, 38

Davis, Nuel P, Lawrence and Oppenheimer, 361

Davis, Paul, Charles Dickens A to Z. The Essential Reference to His Life and Work, 134

Davis, Richard W, Disraeli, 139

Davis, Varina H, Jefferson Davis: Ex-President of the Confederate States of America: A Memoir by His Wife, 123

Davis, William C, Jefferson Davis: The Man and His Hour, 123;

Three Roads to the Alamo: The Lives and Fortunes of David Crockett, James Bowie, and William Barret Travis, 116

Davis, William S, The Friar of Wittenburg, 295

Dawson, Nelson L, Louis D.Brandeis, Felix Frankfurter, and the New Deal, 51

Dawson, Nelson L., ed, Brandeis and America, 51

Dawson, Raymond, Confucius, 105

Dayton, Eldorous L, Give 'Em Hell Harry: An Informal Biography of the Terrible Tempered Mr. T, 468

De Beer, Sir Gavin, Hannibal: Challenging Rome's Supremacy, 211

De Bois, Helma, The Incorruptible: A Tale of Revolution and Royalty, 401

De Bruhl, Marshall, Sword of San Jacinto: A Life of Sam Houston, 232

De Camp, L.Sprague, An Elephant for Aristotle, 8

De Grazia, Sebastian, Machiavelli in Hell, 298

De Jonge, Alex, Baudelaire, Prince of Clouds: A Biography, 27;

Doestoevsky and the Age of Intensity, 141;

Fire and Water: A Life of Peter the Great, 375

De La Bedoyère, Michael, Francis: A Biography of the Saint of Assisi, 171

De La Haye, Amy, and Shelley Tobin, Chanel: The Couturiere at Work, 87

De La Torre, Lillian, Dr. Sam Johnson: Detector, 254

De Madariaga, Isabel, Catherine the Great: A Short History; 83;

Russia in the Age of Catherine the Great, 83

De Maria, Robert, To Be a King: A Novel about Christopher Marlowe, 311

De Morgan, Augustus, Newton: His Friend and His Niece, 353

De Polnay, Peter, Garibaldi: The Legend and the Man, 186

De Santiliana, Giorgio, The Crime of Galileo, 181

De Santis, Florence, Gershwin, 195

De Terra, Helmut, Memories of Teilhard de Chardin, 455

De Toledano, Ralph, J.Edgar Hoover: The Man in His Time, 228;

Nixon, 357;

RFK: The Man Who Would Be President, 268

De Tolnay, Charles, Michelangelo, 328

De Wohl, Louis, Glorious Folly: A Novel of the Time of St. Paul, 369;

The Golden Thread, 238;

The Joyful Beggar: A Novel of St. Francis of Assist, 171;

The Last Crusader, 377, 92;

Lay Siege to Heaven: A Novel of Saint Catherine of Siena , 82;

The Living Wood, 108;

The Quiet Light, 10, 292;

The Restless Flame, 16;

Set All Afire: A Novel of St. Francis Xavier, 238

Deacon, Lois, and Terry Coleman, Providence and Mr. Hardy, 213

Dean, Winton, The New Grove Handel, 210

Deathridge, John, and Carl Dahlhaus, The New Grove Wagner, 481

Debenham, Frank, Way to Ilala: David Livingstone's Pilgrimage, 287

Debo, Angie, Geronimo: The Man, His Time, His Place, 194

Debré, Patrice, Louis Pasteur, 366

DeCaro, Louis A, On the Side of My People: A Religious Life of Malcolm X, 304

DeChancie, John, Juan Peron, 372–373

De'Firenze, Rina, Mystery of the Mona Lisa, 282

Dekker, George, James Fenimore Cooper: The American Scott, 111

Deknatel, Frederick B, Edvard Munch, 342

DeKoven, Mrs. Reginald (Anna), The Life and Letters of John Paul Jones, 255

Del Mar, Norman, Richard Strauss: A Critical Commentary on His Life and Works, 444

DeLaforce, Patrick, Pepys in Love: Elizabeth's Story, 371

Delany, Paul, D.H.Lawrence's Nightmare: The Writer and His Circle in the Years of the Great War, 277

Delavenay, Emile, D.H.Lawrence: The Man and His Work: The Formative Years 1885–1919, 277

Delay, Jean, The Youth of André Gide, 196

Delbée, Anne, Camille Claudel, une Femme, 404

Delillo, Don, Libra, 267

Delmar, Vina, Beloved, 123;

A Time for Titans, 247, 333, 345

Deloach, Cartha D, Hoover's FBI: The Inside Story by Hoover's Trusted Lieutenant, 228

Delogu, Giuseppe, Caravaggio, 72

Delves-Broughton, Josephine, Heart of a Queen, 160

DeMaria, Robert, The Life of Samuel Johnson: A Critical Biography, 254

Demaris, Ovid, The Director: An Oral Biography of J.Edgar Hoover, 228

Denenberg, Barry, An American Hero: The True Story of Charles A.Lindbergh, 285;

Stealing Home: The Story of Jackie Robinson, 402;

The True Story of J.Edgar Hoover and the FBI, 228

Denkinger, Emma M, Immortal Sidney, 429

Dent, Edward J, Handel, 210

Derleth, August, Concord Rebel: A Life of Henry David Thoreau, 461;

Emerson, Our Contemporary, 162

Dermenghem, Emile, The Life of Mahomet, 341

Derouet, Christian, and Vivian E.Barnett, Kandinsky in Paris 1934–44, 263

Derr, Mark, The Frontiersman: The Real Life and Many Legends of Davy Crockett, 116

Dervin, Daniel, Bernard Shaw: A Psychological Study, 424

Descharnes, Robert, Salvador Dali, the Work, the Man , 120

Descharnes, Robert, and Jean-François Chabrun, Auguste Rodin, 404

Deslandres, Yvonne, Delacroix: A Pictorial Biography, 130

Desmond, Adrian, and James Moore, Darwin: The Life of a Tormented Evolutionist, 122

Desmond, Alice, Alexander Hamilton's Wife, 209

Dessain, Charles S, John Henry Newman, 352

Dessau, Joanna, Absolute Elizabeth, 160;

The Blacksmith's Daughter, 349;

Lord of the Ladies, 67;

The Red-Haired Brat, 160

D'Este, Carlo, Patton: A Genius for War, 368

Detre, Jean, A Most Extraordinary Pair, 499

Deutelbaum, Marshall, and Leland Poague, eds, A Hitchcock Reader, 223

Deutsch, Otto E, Handel: A Documentary Biography, 210

Deutscher, Isaac, Lenin's Childhood, 280;

The Prophet Armed: Trotsky 1879–1921, 467;

The Prophet Outcast: Trotsky 1919–1940, 467;

The Prophet Unarmed: Trotsky 1921–1929, 467;

Stalin: A Political Biography, 436

Devaney, John, Douglas MacArthur: Something of a Hero, 297

Devillers, Philippe, Mao, 309

Devon, Louis, Aide to Glory, 206

DeVoto, Bernard, Mark Twain's America, 473

DeVries, Kelly, Joan of Arc: A Military Leader, 249

Dexter, Charles, The Street of Kings, 244

Dhondy, Farrukh, Black Swan, 311

Di Giovanni, Norman T., ed, In Memory of Borges, 44

Diamond, Arthur, Charlie Chaplin, 88;

The Importance of Anwar Sadat, 413

Diaz del Castillo, Bernal, The Discovery and Conquest of Mexico, 113

Diaz-Plaja, Fernando, Cervantes: The Life of a Genius, 84

Dickens, A.G, Martin Luther and the Reformation, 295

Dickens, Charles, The Life of Our Lord, 248

Dickens, Homer, The Films of Marlene Dietrich, 137

Dickenson, Donna, George Sand: A Brave Man, the Most Womanly Woman, 414

Dickinson, Donald C, A Bio-Bibliography of Langston Hughes, 1920–67, 234

Dickinson, Henry W, Robert Fulton: Engineer and Artist, His Life and Works, 179

Dickson, Lovat, H.G.Wells: His Turbulent Life and Times, 487

Dieckmann, Liselotte, Johann Wolfgang Goethe, 200

Diehl, Charles, Theodora: Empress of Byzantium, 260–261

Dietschy, Marcel, A Portrait of Claude Debussy, 127

Diliberto, Gioia, A Useful Woman: The Early Life of Jane Addams, 4

Dillon, Millicent, After Egypt: Isadora Duncan and Mary Cassatt, 79

Dimond, Peter, ed, A Mozart Diary: A Chronological Reconstruction of the Composer's Life, 1761–1791, 340

Dinsmore, Charles A, Life of Dante Alighieri, 121

DiPerna, Paula, The Discoveries of Mrs. Christopher Columbus: His Wife's Vision, 104

Dippie, Brian W, Custer's Last Stand: The Anatomy of an American Myth, 119

Disch, Thomas M., and Charles Naylor, Neighboring Lives, 329, 73

Distal, Anne, Renoir: A Sensuous Vision, 392

Dixon, Thomas, The Man in Gray, 279;

The Man in Gray: A Romance of North and South, 58;

The Southerner: A Romance of the Real Lincoln, 284;

The Victim: A Romance of the Real Jefferson Davis, 123

Dobbs, Brian, and Judy Dobbs, Dante Gabriel Rossetti: An Alien Victorian, 408

Dobbs, Michael, Last Man to Die, 224

Döblin, Alfred, A People Betrayed, 296

Dobrée, Bonamy, Alexander Pope, 382

Dobrin, Arnold, I Am a Stranger on Earth: The Story of Vincent Van Gogh, 475;

Igor Stravinsky: His Life and Times, 445

Dobson, Austin, Fielding, 165;

Hogarth, 226;

Life of Oliver Goldsmith, 203

Doctorow, E.L., Ragtime, 168, 177, 202, 231, 337, 483

Dodd, Susan, Mamaw, 246

Dodd, Valerie A, George Eliot: An Intellectual Life, 158

Dodd, William E, Jefferson Davis, 123

Dodge, Stephen C, Christopher Columbus and the First Voyages to the New World, 104

Dodge, Theodore A, Hannibal, 211

Doenecke, Justus D, The Presidencies of James A. Garfield and Chester A.Arthur, 185

Doggett, Frank, and Robert Battel, ed, Wallace Stevens: A Celebration, 441

Doherty, Kiernan, William Penn: Quaker Colonist, 370

Doherty, P.C, The Fate of Princes, 395;

The Serpent Among the Lilies, 249

Doig, Desmond, Mother Teresa: Her People and Her Work, 339

Dolan, Edward F, Pasteur and the Invisible Giants, 366

Dolan, Mary, Hannibal of Carthage, 211

Dommemuth-Costa, Carol, Agatha Christie: Writer of Mystery, 96

Donald, David H, Lincoln, 284

Donaldson, Gordon, Mary Queen of Scots, 315

Donaldson, Scott, By Force of Will: The Life and Art of Ernest Hemingway, 219;

Fool for Love, 166

Donaldson, Scott, ed, The Cambridge Companion to Hemingway, 219

Donn, Linda, Freud and Jung: Years of Friendship, Years of Loss, 259

Donnell, Susan, Pocahontas, 433

Donovan, Robert J, Conflict and Crisis, the Presidency of Harry S.Truman, 1945–1948, 468;

Tumultuous Years: The Presidency of Harry S. Truman, 1949–1953, 468

Dooley, Brian, Robert Kennedy: The Final Years, 268

Doriani, Beth M, Emily Dickinson: Daughter of Prophecy, 135

Dormann, Genevieve, Colette: A Passion for Life, 103

Dorr, Rheta Childe, Susan B.Anthony: The Woman Who Changed the Mind of a Nation, 9

Dörries, Hermann, Constantine the Great, 108

Dossey, Barbara M, Florence Nightingale: Mystic, Visionary, Reformer, 356

Dostoevsky, Aimee, Fyodor Dostoevsky, 141

Dostoevsky, Anna, Dostoevsky: Reminiscences, 141

Dottin, Paul, The Life and Strange and Surprising Adventures of Daniel Defoe, 128

Doughty, Oswald, Dante Gabriel Rossetti: A Victorian Romantic, 408;

Perturbed Spirit: The Life and Personality of Samuel Taylor Coleridge, 102

Douglas, Alfred, Oscar Wilde: A Summing Up, 492;

Oscar Wilde and Myself, 492

Douglas, Carole Nelson, Good Morning, Irene, 34;

Irene at Large, 34

Douglas, Carole Nelson, ed, Marilyn: Shades of Blonde, 334

Douglas, David, William the Conqueror: The Norman Impact upon England, 494

Douglas, Emily Taft, Pioneer of the Future, 415

Douglas, Lloyd C, The Big Fisherman, 374;

The Robe, 248, 374

Douglas, R.Langston, Leonardo da Vinci: His Life and His Pictures, 282

Dowden, Edward, The Life of Percy Bysshe Shelley, 426;

Shakespeare: A Critical Study of His Mind and Art, 423

Dowdey, Clifford, Lee, 279;

The Proud Retreat, 123

Dowley, Tim, Bach, 20;

Schumann: His Life and Time, 420

Downes, Kerry, The Architecture of Wren, 503

Downes, Randolph C, The Rise of Warren Gamaliel Harding, 1865–1920, 212

Downing, Frederick J, To See the Promised Land: The Faith Pilgrimage of Martin Luther King Jr, 273

Downs, Brian W, Ibsen: The Intellectual Background, 237

Doyle, Adrian M, Conan, The True Conan Doyle, 143

Doyle, Arthur Conan, The Refugees, 293

Drake, Benjamin, Life of Tecumseh and His Brother The Prophet with a Historical Sketch of the Shawanoe Indians, 454

Drake, Stillman, Galileo at Work: His Scientific Biography, 181

Drakeford, John W, Take Her, Mr. Wesley, 488

Drane, Mrs. Augusta T, The History of Saint Catherine of Siena and Her Companions, 82

Draper, Hal, The Marx-Engles Chronicle: A Day-to-Day Chronicle of Marx and Engels' Life and Activity, 313

Draper, Lyman C, The Life of Daniel Boone, 42

Dreiser, Helen, My Life with Dreiser, 145

Dreiser, Vera, My Uncle Theodore, 145

Drieberg, Trevor, Indira Gandhi: A Profile in Courage, 182

Drieman, J.E, Atomic Dawn: A Biography of Robert Oppenheimer, 361

Driemen, John E, Winston Churchill: An Unbreakable Spirit , 97

Drinkwater, John, Mary Stuart, 315;

Oliver Cromwell: A Play, 117;

Pepys: His Life and Character, 371;

The Pilgrim of Eternity: Byron: A Conflict, 67;

Robert Burns: A Play, 65;

Robert E.Lee: A Play, 279

Drinnon, Richard, Rebel in Paradise: A Biography of Emma Goldman, 202

Drosnin, Michael, Citizen Hughes, 233

Druon, Maurice, Alexander the God, 8

Druskin, Mikhail, Igor Stavinsky: His Life, Works, and Views, 445

Dry, Wakeling, Giacomo Puccini, 386

Dryden, John, All for Love, 100

Du Bois, Shirley G, His Day Is Marching On: A Memoir of W.E.B.Du Bois, 147

Du Bois, W.E.B, John Brown, 58

Du Coudray, Helene, Metternich, 327

Du Maurier, Daphne, Golden Lads: Sir Francis Bacon, Anthony Bacon, and Their Friends, 21;

The Infernal World of Branwell Brontë, 53–57;

The Winding Stair: Francis Bacon, His Rise and Fall, 21

Du Quesne-Van Gogh, Elisabeth H, Personal Recollections of Vincent Van Gogh, 475

Duberman, Martin B, Mother Earth: An Epic Drama of Emma Goldman's Life, 202;

Paul Robeson, 400;

Visions of Kerouac: A Play, 269

Duberstein, Larry, The Handsome Sailor, 324

Dubos, René, Louis Pasteur: Freelance of Science, 366

Dubowski, Cathy E, Andrew Johnson: Rebuilding the Union, 251;

Clara Barton: Healing the Wounds, 26

DuCann, Charles G.L, The Loves of George Bernard Shaw, 424

Duclaux, Emile, Pasteur: The History of a Mind, 366

Duclaux, Mary, Victor Hugo, 235

Ducornet, Rikki, The Jade Cabinet, 75

Dudden, F.Homes, Henry Fielding: His Life, Works, and Times, 165

Dudon, Paul, St. Ignatius of Loyola, 238

Duff, David, Eugenie and Napoleon III, 346–347;

Victoria and Albert, 5

Duff, Gerald, That's All Right, Mama, 384

Duff, John J, A.Lincoln: Prairie Lawyer, 284

Duffy, Bruce, The World as I Found It, 412, 498

Duffy, Christopher, The Army of Frederick the Great, 175

Dugan, Bill, Crazy Horse, 115;

Geronimo, 194;

Sitting Bull, 431

DuGarn, Henry K., When Lilacs Bloom Again: A Novel Based on the Life and Times of Abraham Lincoln, 284

Duggan, Alfred, The Falcon and the Dove: A Life of Thomas Becket of Canterbury, 459;

Julius Caesar: A Great Life in Brief, 258;

My Life for My Sheep, 459;

Three's Company, 17;

Winter Quarters, 258

Dugger, Ronnie, The Politician: The Life and Times of Lyndon Johnson: The Drive to Power from the Frontier to Master of the Senate, 252

Dujovne Ortiz, Alicia, Eva Peron: A Biography, 372–373

Dukthas, Ann, In the Time of the Poisoned Queen, 314;

The Prince Lost to Time, 310;

A Time for the Death of a King, 315;

The Time of Murder at Mayerling, 174

Dulles, Foster Rhea, The American Red Cross: A History, 26

Dumas, Alexandre, Chavalier de Maison-Rouge, 310;

The Countess de Charny: Or, the Fall of the French Monarchy, 310;

The Man in the Iron Mask, 293;

The Memoirs of a Physician, 310;

Queen Margot, 81;

Queen Margot: Or Marguerite de Valois, 220;

The Queen's Necklace, 310;

The Three Musketeers, 396;

Twenty Years After, 117;

The Vicomte de Bragelonne, 293

Dumas, Alexandre (fils), Les Quarant Cing, 81

Dumesnil, Maurice, Claude Debussy: Master of Dreams, 127

Dunaway, David K, Aldous Huxley Recollected: An Oral History, 236;

Huxley in Hollywood, 236

Duncan, Alice S, Sir Francis Drake and the Struggle for an Ocean Empire, 144

Duncan, David D, The Private World of Pablo Picasso, 378

Duncan-Jones, Katherine, Sir Philip Sidney: Courtier Poet, 429

Dundy, Elaine, Elvis and Gladys, 384

Dunlop, Ian, Degas, 129

Dunn, Jane, Moon in Eclipse: A Life of Mary Shelley, 425;

A Very Close Conspiracy: Vanessa Bell and Virginia Woolf, 501

Dunn, Mary M, William Penn, Politics and Conscience, 370

Dunn, Mary M., and Richard S.Dunn, eds, The World of William Penn, 370

Dunnett, Dorothy, Checkmate, 315, 81;

The Game of Kings, 315;

Queen's Play, 315, 81;

The Ringed Castle, 241

Düntzer, Heinrich, The Life of Schiller, 417

Dupuy, Trevor N, The Military Life of Frederick the Great of Prussia, 175;

The Military Life of Julius Caesar, Emperor, 258

Duquesne, Jacques, Jesus: An Unconventional Biography, 248

Duran, Manuel, Cervantes, 84

Duran, Manuel, and Margery Safir, Earth Tones: The Poetry of Pablo Neruda, 351

Duret, Théodore, Manet and the French Impressionists, 306

Durfee, David A., ed, William Henry Harrison, 1773–1841;

John Tyler, 1790–1862: Chronology, Documents, Bibliographical Aids, 214

Durston, Christopher, James I, 244

Dussane, Béatrix, An Actor Named Molière, 331

Dutta, Krishna, and Andrew Robinson, Rabindranath Tagore: The Myriad-Minded Man, 451

Dutton, Richard, William Shakespeare: A Literary Life, 423

Dvorák, Otakar, Antonin Dvorák, My Father, 150

Dwight, Eleanor, Edith Wharton: An Extraordinary Life, 489

Dwight, Sereno E, Life of President Edwards, 155

Dwyer, Frank, Henry VIII, 221;

James I, 244;

John Adams, 2

Dwyer, John, Stonewall, 243

Dyer, Brainerd, Zachary Taylor, 452

Dyer, Daniel, Jack London: A Biography, 290

Dyer, Frank L., and Thomas C.Martin, Edison: His Life and Inventions, 153

Dykhuizen, George, The Life and Mind of John Dewey, 132

Dyson, Michael E, I May Not Get There with You: The True Martin Luther King Jr, 273;

Making Malcolm: The Myth and Meaning of Malcolm X, 304

Eady, Carol Maxwell, Her Royal Destiny, 221

Eagleton, Terry, Saint Oscar, 492;

Saints and Scholars, 498

East, Robert A, John Quincy Adams: The Critical Years, 1785–1794, 3

Eastlake, William, The Long Naked Descent into Boston, 363

Eastman, Max, Lean Trotsky: The Portrait of a Youth, 467

Easton, Malcolm, Aubrey and the Dying Lady: A Beardsley Riddle, 28

Easwaran, Eknath, Gandhi, the Man: The Story of His Transformation, 183

Eaton, Clement, Henry Clay and the Art of American Politics, 99;

Jefferson Davis, 123

Eaton, Horace A, Thomas De Quincey: A Biography, 125

Eaton, John, and John Reid, The Life of Andrew Jackson, 242

Eberwein, Jane D, An Emily Dickinson Encyclopedia, 135

Ebon, Martin, Nikita Khrushchev, 271

Eccles, Mark, Christopher Marlowe in London, 311;

Shakespeare in Warwickshire, 423

Eckerson, Olive, The Golden Yoke: A Novel of the War of the Roses, 395;

My Lord Essex, 160, 21

Eckert, Allen W, The Court Martial of Daniel Boone, 42;

The Frontiersman, 42;

The Frontiersmen, 454;

Johnny Logan: Shawnee Spy, 454;

A Sorrow in Our Heart: The Life of Tecumseh, 454;

Twilight of Empire, 452;

Wilderness Empire, 42

Edel, Leon, Henry James: The Conquest of London, 1870–81, 245;

Henry James: The Master, 1901–16, 245;

Henry James: The Middle Years, 1882–95, 245;

Henry James: The Treacherous Years, 1895–1901, 245;

Henry James: The Untried Years, 1843–70, 245

Edelman, Maurice, David: The Story of Ben-Gurion, 32;

Disraeli in Love, 139;

Disraeli Rising, 199

Eden, David, Gilbert & Sullivan: The Creative Conflict, 197–198

Eden, Dorothy, Never Call It Loving, 364

Eden, Matthew, The Murder of Lawrence of Arabia, 278

Edgar, Pelham, Henry James: Man and Author, 245

Edmonds, Robin, Pushkin: The Man and His Age, 387

Edmunds, R.David, The Shawnee Prophet, 454;

Tecumseh and the Quest for Indian Leadership, 454

Edwardes, Michael, Nehru: A Political Biography, 348

Edwards, Anne, Ever After: Diana and the Life She Led, 133;

Haunted Summer, 425, 426, 67;

The Hesitant Heart, 135;

The Life of Countess Tolstoy, 463

Edwards, Ethel, Carver of Tuskegee, 78

Edwards, Graham, The Last Days of Charles I, 90

Edwards, John H, David Lloyd George: The Man and the Statesman, 288

Edwards, Mark U. Jr, Luther's Last Battles: Politics and Polemics 1531–46, 295

Edwards, Owen D, The Quest for Sherlock Holmes: A Biographical Study of Arthur Conan Doyle, 143

Edwards, Rhoda, The Broken Swords, 395;

Fortune's Wheel, 395

Edwards, Samuel, George Sand: A Biography of the First Modern, Liberated Woman, 414;

Peter Paul Rubens: A Biography of a Giant, 410;

Rebel: A Biography of Thomas Paine, 363;

Victor Hugo: A Tumultuous Life, 235

Edwards, William H, The Tragedy of Edward VII: A Psychological Study, 154

Egan, Eileen, Such a Vision of the Street: Mother Teresa: The Spirit and the Work, 339

Egan, Fero, Frémont: Explorer for a Restless Nation, 176

Egan, Louise, Thomas Edison: The Great American Inventor, 153

Eggum, Arne, Edvard Munch: Paintings, Sketches, and Studies, 342

Ehrenpreis, Irvin, The Personality of Jonathan Swift, 448;

Swift: The Man, His Works, and the 'Age, 448

Ehrlich, Ev, Grant Speaks, 206

Ehrlich, Leonard, God's Angry Man, 461, 58

Ehrlich, Scott, Paul Robeson, 400

Ehrlichman, John, The China Card, 357

Ehrman, John, The Younger Pitt: The Reluctant Transition, 379;

The Younger Pitt: The Years of Acclaim, 379

Eiker, Karl V, Star of Macedon, 8

Einem, Herbert von, Michelangelo, 328

Einhard, and Notker the Stammerer, Two Lives of Charlemagne, 89

Einstein, Alfred, Mozart: His Character, His Work, 340

Eisenhower, David, Eisenhower: At War, 1943–45, 157

Eisenhower, Susan, Mrs. Ike: Memories and Reflections on the Life of Mamie Eisenhower, 157

Eisler, Benita, Byron: Child of Passion, Fool of Fame, 67;

O'Keeffe and Stieglitz: An American Romance, 358

Eisner, Jas, and Jamie Masters, eds, Reflections of Nero: Culture, History, and Representation, 350

Eissler, Kurt R, Goethe: A Psychoanalytical Study 1775–86, 200;

Leonardo da Vinci: Psychoanalytic Notes on the Enigma, 282

Elbert, Sarah, A Hunger for Home: Louisa May Alcott and Little Women, 6

Elegant, Robert S, Dynasty, 447

Elfinan, Claire, The Case of the Pederast's Wife, 492

Elgar, Frank, Van Gogh: A Study of His Life and Work, 475

Elgar, Frank, and Robert Maillard, Picasso, 378

Elia, Tomás de, Evita: An Intimate Portrait of Eva Peron, 372–373

Elias, Robert, Mozart: Portrait of a Genius, 340;

Theodore Dreiser: Apostle of Nature, 145

Eliot, George, Romola, 298, 322

Eliot, Marc, Walt Disney: Hollywood's Dark Prince, 138

Eliot, T.S, Murder in the Cathedral, 459

Ellery, John B, John Stuart Mill, 329

Ellington, Mercer, with Stanley Dance, Duke Ellington in Person: An Intimate Memoir, 161

Elliott, John H, Berlioz, 33

Elliott, Anthony, The Mourning of John Lennon, 281

Elliott, Edward E, The Devil and the Mothers, 316

Elliott, John, Blood on the Snow, 280, 467

Elliott, Lawrence, George Washington Carver: The Man Who Overcame, 78;

I Will Be Called John: A Biography of Pope John XXIII, 250;

The Long Hunter: A New Life of Daniel Boone, 42

Ellis, Amanda Mae, Elizabeth, the Woman, 160

Ellis, David, D.H.Lawrence: Dying Game, 1922–1930, 211

Ellis, Geoffry J, Napoleon, 345

Ellis, Joseph J, American Sphinx: The Character of Thomas Jefferson, 247;

Passionate Sage: The Character and Legacy of John Adams, 2

Ellis, Rafaela, Martin Van Buren: 8th President of the United States, 474

Ellis, William A, Life of Richard Wagner, 481

Ellmann, Richard, The Identity of Yeats, 507;

James Joyce, 257;

Oscar Wilde, 492;

Yeats: The Man and the Masks, 507

Ellsberg, Edward, Captain Paul, 255

Ellwood, Sheelagh M, Franco, 172

Elsna, Hebe, The King's Bastard, 91;

Prelude for Two Queens, 314

Elton, Godfrey, Simon Peter, 374

Emanuel, James A, Langston Hughes, 234

Emboden, William, Sarah Bernhardt, 34

Emden, Cecil S, Pepys Himself, 371

Emerson, Everett, The Authentic Mark Twain: A Literary Biography of Samuel L.Clemens, 473;

Captain John Smith, 433;

Mark Twain: A Literary Life, 473

Emery, Noemie, Alexander Hamilton: An Intimate Portrait, 209;

Washington: A Biography, 484

Endore, S.Guy, King of Paris, 148;

Voltaire! Voltaire!, 409;

Voltaire! Voltaire!, 480

Endy, Melvin B, William Penn and Early Quakerism, 370

Engel, Gabriel, Gustav Mahler: Song-Symphonist, 302

Engel, Howard, Murder in Montparnasse, 219, 438

Englebert, Omer, Saint Francis of Assisi, 171

Enquist, Per Olov, The Night of the Tribades: A Play for 1889, 446

Enslin, Morton S, The Prophet from Nazareth, 248

Epler, Percy H, The Life of Clara Barton, 26

Epstein, Jerry, Remembering Charlie: A Pictorial Biography, 88

Epstein, Joel J, Francis Bacon: A Political Biography, 21

Epstein, Norrie, Friendly Dickens, 134

Epstein, Sam, Charles de Gaulle: Defender of France, 124

Epton, Nina, Victoria and Her Daughters, 479

Erickson, Carolly, Bloody Mary, 314;

The First Elizabeth, 160;

Great Catherine, 83;

Great Harry, 221;

Her Little Majesty: The Life of Queen Victoria, 479;

Josephine: A Life of the Empress, 345;

Mistress Anne, 40;

To the Scaffold: The Life of Marie Antoinette, 310

Erickson, Raymond, ed, Schubert's Vienna, 419

Erickson, Steve, Arc d'X, 247

Erikson, Erik H, Young Man Luther: A Study in Psychoanalysis and History, 295

Erlanger, Philippe, Louis XIV, 293

Erlanger, Rachel, Lucrezia Borgia: A Biography, 45–47

Erskine, John, Give Me Liberty: The Story of an Innocent Man, 222;

The Start of the Road, 491

Ervine, St. John, Bernard Shaw: His Life, Work, and Friends, 424

Escoffier, Jeffrey, John Maynard Keynes, 270

Eshleman, Lloyd W, A Victorian Rebel: The Life of William Morris, 338

Eskow, Dennis, Lyndon Baines Johnson, 252

Essame, H, Patton: A Study in Command, 368

Esslin, Martin, Brecht: The Man and His Work, 52

Estergreen, M.Morgan, Kit Carson: A Portrait in Courage, 76

Etherington-Smith, Meredith, The Persistence of Memory: A Biography of Dali, 120

Ettinger, Elzbieta, Rosa Luxemburg: A Life, 296

Ettlinger, L.D., and Helen Ettlinger, Botticelli, 49

Evans, Barbara, and Gareth Lloyd, The Scribner Companion to the Brontës, 53–57

Evans, Edwin, Tchaikovsky, 453

Evans, Eric J, William Pin the Younger, 379

Evans, Jean, The Phoenix Rising, 90, 91

Evans, Joan, John Ruskin, 411

Evans, John H, Joseph Smith: An American Prophet, 434

Evans, Mike, The King on the Road: Elvis on Tour, 1954–1971, 384

Evans, Rowland, and Robert Novak, Lyndon B. Johnson: The Exercise of Power, 252

Evans, William A, Mrs. Abraham Lincoln: A Study of Her Personality and Her Influence on Lincoln, 284

Everitt, David, The Story of Pat Garrett and Billy the Kid, 36

Every, Dale Van, The Day the Sun Died, 431

Ewald, William B, The Masks of Jonathan Swift, 448

Ewen, David, George Gershwin: His Journey to Greatness, 195

Ewen, Frederic, Bertolt Brecht: His Life, His Art, and His Times, 52

Eyck, Erich, Bismarck and the German Empire, 37

Eyck, Frank, The Prince Consort: A Political Biography, 5

Fabre-Luce, Alfred, The Trial of Charles de Gaulle, 124

Fackler, Elizabeth, Billy the Kid, 36

Fadiman, Edwin, The Voice and the Light, 249

Fagyas, Maria, Court of Honor, 493

Fahie, John J, Galileo: His Life and Work, 181

Fairclough, Adam, To Redeem the Soul of America: The Southern Christian Leadership Conference and Martin Luther King Jr, 273

Fairley, Barker, A Study of Goethe, 200

Falk, Candace, Love, Anarchy, and Emma Goldman, 202

Falkner, David, Great Time Coming: The Life of Jackie Robinson from Baseball to Birmingham, 402

Falkner, Leonard, John Adams: Reluctant Patriot of the Revolution, 2;

Painted Lady: Eliza Jumel, Her Life and Times, 66

Falkus, Christopher, The Life and Times of Charles II, 91

Fallon, Frederic, The White Queen, 315

Fanning, Jim, Walt Disney, 138

Fantel, Hans, William Penn: Apostle of Dissent, 370

Faragher, John Mack, Daniel Boone: The Life and Legend of an American Pioneer, 42

Farago, Ladislav, Patton: Ordeal and Triumph., 368

Fargnoli, A.Nicholas, James Joyce A to Z: The Essential Reference to the Life and Work, 257

Farnan, Dorothy J, Auden in Love, 14

Farquharson, A.S.L., Marcus Aurelius: His Life and World, 18

Fair, Evelyn, Marie-Antoinette and Count Axel Fersen: The Untold Love Story, 310

Fair, Finis, Frank Lloyd Wright: A Biography, 504

Farr, Judith, I Never Came to You in White, 135;

The Passion of Emily Dickinson, 135

Farrell, John C, Beloved Lady: A History of Jane Addams's Ideas on Reform and Peace, 4

Farrell, John J, Zachary Taylor: 1784–1850 and Millard Filmore, 1800–1874: Chronology, Documents, Bibliographical Aids, 452

Farrington, Benjamin, Francis Bacon: Pioneer of Planned Science, 21

Farrington, Robert, The Killing of Richard III, 395

Farwell, Byron, The Man Who Presumed: A Biography of Henry M.Stanley, 437;

Stonewall: A Biography of General Thomas J.Jackson, 243

Fassett, Agatha, Béla Bartók: The American Years, 25

Fast, Howard, The American, 101, 126, 61;

Citizen Tom Paine, 173, 333, 363;

Freedom Road, 206;

Max, 88;

Torquemada, 240;

The Unvanquished, 209, 484

Faulk, Odie B, The Geronimo Campaign, 194

Faulkner, John, My Brother Bill: An Affectionate Reminiscence, 164

Faulkner, Peter, Against the Age: An Introduction to William Morris, 338

Fauset, Arthur H, Sojourner Truth: God's Faithful Pilgrim, 469

Fausold, Martin L., The Presidency of Herbert C. Hoover, 227

Fausset, Hugh l'Anson, Samuel Taylor Coleridge, 102;

Tennyson: A Modern Portrail, 456

Fawcett, Anthony, John Lennon: One Day at a 77me, 281

Fax, Elton C, Garvey: The Story of a Pioneer Black Nationalist, 188

Faxon, Alicia C, Dante Gabriel Rossetti, 408

Fay, Bernard, Franklin: The Apostle of Modern Times, 173

Fay, Charles R, Adam Smith and the Scotland of His Day, 432

Febvre, Lucien, The Problem of Unbelief in the 16th Century: The Religion of Rabelais, 388

Federn, Karl, Richelieu, 396

Feinberg, Barbara S, Douglas MacArthur: American Hero, 297;

Harry S.Truman, 468;

Marx and Marxism, 313

Feinstein, Elaine, Loving Brecht, 52;

Pushkin: A Biography, 387

Felix, David, Keynes, 270

Fellman, Michael, Citizen Sherman: A Life of William Tecumseh Sherman, 428

Fellows, Otis E, Diderot, 136

Fenady, Andrew J, The Summer of Jack London, 290

Fenton, Charles A, The Apprenticeship of Ernest Hemingway: The Early Years, 219

Fergus, Jan, Jane Austen: A Literary Life, 19

Ferguson, Charles W, Naked to Mine Enemies: The Life of Cardinal Wolsey, 500

Ferguson, J. de Lancey, Mark Twain: Man and Legend, 473;

Pride and Passion: Robert Burns 1759–96, 65

Fergusson, Francis, Dante, 121

Ferling, John E, The First of Men: A Life of George Washington, 484;

John Adams: A Life, 2

Fermi, Laura, Mussolini, 343

Fernandez Alvarez, Manuel, Charles V: Elected Emperor and Hereditary Ruler, 92

Fernandez-Armesto, Felipe, Columbus, 104;

Ferdinand and Isabella, 240;

Sadat and His Statescraft, 413

Fernandez, Ramon, Molière: The Man Seen Through the Plays, 111

Ferrarra, Orestes, The Borgia Pope: Alexander VI, 45–47

Ferrell, Elizabeth, Full of Thy Riches, 403

Ferrell, Keith, George Orwell: The Political Pen, 362;

H.G.Wells: First Citizen of the Future, 487

Ferrell, Robert H, The Dying President: Franklin D.Roosevelt 1944–1945 , 406;

Harry S.Truman: A Life, 468;

Harry S.Truman and the Modern American Presidency, 468;

The Presidency of Calvin Coolidge, 110;

Woodrow Wilson and World War I, 1917–1921, 497

Ferrero, Guglielmo, Julius Caesar, 258

Ferris, Paul, Dr. Freud, a Life, 177;

Dylan Thomas, 460

Ferro, Marc, Nicholas II: Last of the Tsars, 354

Fest, Joachim C, Hitler, 224

Festa-McCormack, Diana, Honoré de Balzac, 23

Feuchtwanger, E.J, Gladstone, 199

Feuchtwanger, Lion, Proud Destiny, 173, 310;

This Is the Hour, 205;

Tis Folly to Be Wise, 409

Feuer, Lewis S, The Case of the Revolutionist's Daughter: Sherlock Holmes Meets Karl Marx, 313

Feuerlicht, Roberta S, Joe McCarthy and McCarthyism: The Hate that Haunts America, 319;

The Life and World of Henry VIII, 221

Ffinch, Michael, Gilbert and Sullivan, 197–198

Fido, Martin, Rudyard Kipling, 274

Field, Andrew, Nabokov: His Life in Art: A Critical Narrative, 344;

Nabokov: His Life in Part, 344;

VN: The Life and Art of Vladimir Nabokov, 344

Field, Bradda, Bride of Glory, 349

Fields, Bertram, Royal Blood: Richard III and the Mystery of the Princes, 395

Fife, Robert, The Revolt of Martin Luther, 295

Figes, Eva, Light, 332;

The Tree of Knowledge, 330

Filson, John, The Discovery, Settlement, and Present State of Kentucke (Daniel Boone), 42

Finberg, A.J, The Life of J.M.W.Turner, R.A, 472

Finck, Henry T, Richard Strauss: The Man and His Works, 444

Finck, Lila, Jawaharlal Nehru, 348

Findlay, James A, A Portrait of Peter, 374

Findley, Timothy, Pilgrim, 259;

The Trials of Ezra Pound, 383

Finkelstein, Norman H, The Emperor General: A Biography of Douglas MacArthur, 297

Finkelstone, Joseph, Anwar Sadat: Visionary Who Dared, 413

Finlayson, Donald, Michelangelo the Man, 328

Finlayson, Iain, The Moth and the Candle: A Life of James Boswell, 48

Finney, Patricia, The Firedrake's Eye, 160, 429;

Unicorn's Blood, 160

Finocchiario, Maurice A., ed, The Galileo Affair: A Documentary History, 181

Fiorentino, Dante del, Immortal Bohemian: An Intimate Memoir of Giacomo Puccini, 386

Firth, John B, Constantine the Great: The Reorganization of the Empire and the Triumph of the Church, 108

Fischel, Oskar, Raphael, 390

Fischer-Dieskau, Dietrich, Schubert's Songs: A Biographical Study, 419

Fischer, Hans Conrad, and Lutz Besch, The Life of Mozart: An Account in Text and Pictures, 340

Fischer, Louis, The Life and Death of Stalin, 436;

The Life of Lenin, 280;

The Life of Mahatma Gandhi, 183

Fischer-Wirth, Ann W, William Carlos Williams and Autobiography: The Woods of His Own Nature, 496

Fish, Robert L., Rough Diamond, 393

Fisher, Aileen and Olive Rabe, We Dickinsons: The Life of Emily Dickinson as Seen through the Eyes of Her Brother Austin, 135

Fisher, Edward, The Best House in Stratford, 256, 423;

Love's Labour's Won, 423;

Shakespeare & Son, 423

Fisher, Frances H, Written in the Stars: A Novel about Albrecht, 149

Fisher, H.A.L., Napoleon, 345

Fisher, Leonard E, Galileo, 181

Fisher, Vardis, Children of God: An American Epic, 434, 508

Fishwick, Marshall W, Lee After the War, 279

Fitz-Gerald, Christine M, William Henry Harrison: Ninth President of the United States, 214

Fitzgerald, Allan, et al., eds, Augustine through the Ages: An Encyclopedia, 16

FitzGerald, Brian, Daniel Defoe: A Study in Conflict, 128

Fitzgerald, C.P, Mao Tse-tung and China, 309

Fitzgerald, Nancy, Chelsea, 490, 492

Fitzgerald, Percy H, The Life of David Garrick, 187;

The Life of George the Fourth: Including His Letters and Opinions, 193;

The Life of Laurence Sterne, 440

FitzGibbon, Constantine, High Heroic, 288

Fitzgibbon, Constantine, High Heroic, 507, 97;

The Life of Dylan Thomas, 460

Fitzhugh, Robert T, Robert Burns: The Man and the Poet, 65

Fitzsimons, Raymond, Death and the Magician: The Mystery of Houdini, 231

Flam, Jack D, Matisse: The Man and His Art 1869–1918, 317

Flamarion, Edith, Cleopatra: The Life and Death of aPharoah, 100

Flammang, James M, Robert Fulton: Inventor and Steamboat Builder, 179

Flanagan, Thomas, The End of the Hunt, 288, 97;

The Tenants of Time, 364

Fleming, Alice M, P.T.Barnum: The World's Greatest Showman, 24

Fleming, Gordon H, James Abbott McNeill Whistler, 490;

The Young Whistler 1834–1866, 490

Fleming, H.K, The Day They Kidnapped Queen Victoria, 456, 479

Fleming, Thomas, Benjamin Franklin, 173;

Duel: Alexander Hamilton, Aaron Burr, and the Future of America, 209, 66;

First in the Hearts: A Biography of George Washington, 484;

Harry S.Truman, President, 468;

The Man Who Dared the Lightning: A New Look at Benjamin Franklin, 173;

Thomas Jefferson, 247

Flemion, Jess, and Colleen M.O'Connor, eds, Eleanor Roosevelt: An American Journey, 405

Fletcher, Ian, Aubrey Beardsley, 28

Fletcher, Inglis, Roanoke Hundred, 144, 389, 429

Fletcher, Jennifer, Peter Paul Rubens, 410

Fletcher, John G, John Smith—Also Pocahontas, 433

Flexner, Eleanor, Mary Wollstonecraft: A Biography, 499

Flexner, James T, George Washington, 484;

Steamboats Come True: American Inventors in Action, 179;

The Traitor and the Spy: Benedict Arnold and John André, 11;

Washington: The Indispensable Man, 484;

The Young Hamilton: A Biography, 209

Flint, John E, Cecil Rhodes, 393

Flood, Charles B, Hitler: The Path to Power, 224;

Lee: The Last Years, 279;

Monmouth, 209, 484

Flory, Wendy S, The American Ezra Pound, 383

Flower, Newman, Franz Schubert: The Man and His Circle, 419;

George Frideric Handel: His Personality and His Times, 210

Flynn, John T, God's Gold: The Story of Rockefeller and His Times, 403

Flynn, Nigel, George Orwell, 362

Foakes-Jackson, Frederick J, Peter, Prince of Apostles: A Study in the History and Tradition of Christianity, 374

Folsing, Albrecht, Albert Einstein: A Biography, 156

Foner, Eric, Tom Paine and Revolutionary America, 363

Foner, Philip S, Frederick Douglass, 142

Foner, Philip S., ed, When Karl Marx Died: Comments in 1883, 313

Foot, Michael, H.G.: The History of Mr. Wells, 487

Foote, Dorothy N, The Constant Star, 429

Foote, Shelby, Shiloh, 206

Forbath, Peter, The Last Hero, 437

Forbes, Esther, O, Genteel Lady!, 291;

O, Genteel Lady!, 461

Ford, Alice, John James Audubon, 15

Ford, Barbara, Walt Disney: A Biography, 138

Ford, Ford Madox, The Fifth Queen, 221

Foreman, Leonard L., The Road to San Jacinto, 116

Forester, C.S, Lord Nelson, 349;

Louis XIV: King of France and Navarre, 293;

To the Indies, 104

Forrest, Anthony, The Pandora Secret, 179

Forshay, Ella M, John James Audubon, 15

Forster, John, The Life and Times of Oliver Goldsmith, 203;

The Life of Charles Dickens, 134;

The Life of Jonathan Swift, 448

Forster, Margaret, Elizabeth Barren Browning, 59–60;

Lady’s Maid, 59–60;

Memoirs of a Victorian Gentleman: William Makepeace Thackeray, 458

Fortescue, Sir J.W, Wellington, 486

Fortini, Arnaldo, Francis of Assisi, 171

Forward, Matin, Muhammad: A Short Biography, 341

Foss, Kenelm, Here Lies Richard Brinsley Sheridan, 427

Foss, Michael, The Search for Cleopatra, 100

Foster, Charles H, The Rungless Ladder: Harriet Beecher Stowe and New England Puritanism, 443

Foster, Genevieve, The World of William Penn, 370

Foster, Kenelm, Petrarch: Poet and Humanist, 376

Foster, Leila M, Benjamin Franklin: A Biographical Companion, 173

Foster, Paul, Tom Paine: A Play in Two Parts, 363

Foster, R.F, Charles Stewart Parnell: The Man and His Family, 364;

W.B.Yeats: A Life, 507

Foucher, Alfred, The Life of the Buddha According to the Ancient Texts and Monuments of India, 62

Fournier, August, Napoleon I: A Biography, 345

Fowler, Richard H, Robert Burns, 65

Fowlie, Wallace, André Gide: His Life and Art, 196;

Mallarmé, 305;

Rimbaud, 398;

Stendhal, 439

Fox, Alistair, Thomas More: History and Providence, 336

Fox, Levi, The Shakespeare Handbook, 423

Fox, Ralph, Genghis Khan, 190;

Lenin: A Biography, 280

Fox, Robin Lane, The Search for Alexander, 8

Foxell, Nigel, Loving Emma, 349

Fradin, Dennis B, Patrick Henry: “Give Me Liberty or Give Me Death”, 222

Frame, Donald M, Françoise Rabelais: A Study, 388;

Montaigne: A Biography, 335

France, Anatole, Life of Joan of Arc, 249

France, Peter, Diderot, 136

Franchere, Ruth, Stephen Crane: The Story of an American Writer, 114

Francis, Claude, and Fernande Gontier, Creating Colette, 103

Franck, Frederick, Days with Albert Schweitzer, 421

Frank, Bruno, The Days of the King, 175;

A Man Called Cervantes, 84

Frank, Joseph, Dostoevsky, 141

Frank, Katherine, A Chainless Soul: A Life of Emily Brontë, 53–57

Frank, Philip, Einstein: His Life and Times, 156

Frank, Tenny, Catullus and Horace: Two Poets in Their Environment, 230

Frank, Waldo, Birth of a World: Bolivar in Terms of His People, 41

Frankfurter, Felix, ed, Mr. Justice Brandeis, 51

Franklin, John Hope, “Harriet Tubman” in, Notable American Women, 470

Franklin, Peter, The Life of Mahler, 302

Franklin, V.P, Martin Luther King Jr, 273

Fraser, Antonia, Cromwell: The Lord Protector, 117;

Mary Queen of Scots, 315;

Royal Charles: Charles H and the Restoration, 91;

The Wives of Henry VIII, 221, 40

Fraser, Flora, Emma, Lady Hamilton, 349;

The Unruly Queen: The Life of Queen Caroline, 193

Fraser, George MacDonald, Flash for Freedom, 284;

Flashman, 486;

Flashman and the Angel of the Lord, 58;

Flashman and the Redskins, 194;

Royal Flash, 37

Fraser, John L., John Constable 1776–1837: The Man and His Mistress., 107

Fraser, Nicholas, and Marysa Navarro, Eva Peron, 372–373

Fraser, Rebecca, The Brontës: Charlotte Brontë and Her Family, 53–57

Fraser, Russell A, Young Shakespeare, 423

Frazier, Nancy, William Randolph Hearst: Press Baron, 217

Fredman, John, Does the Queen Still Live?, 144

Fredriksen, Paula, Jesus of Nazareth, King of the Jews: A Jewish Life and the Emergence of Christianity , 248

Freedland, Michael, All the Way: A Biography of Frank Sinatra, 430

Freedman, Jonathan, ed, The Cambridge Companion to Henry James, 245

Freedman, Ralph, Life of a Poet: Rainer Maria Rilke, 397

Freedman, Russell, The Life and Death of Crazy Horse, 115;

Lincoln: A Photobiography, 284;

The Wright Brothers: How They Invented the Airplane, 505–506

Freedman, Suzanne, Louis Brandeis: The People’s Justice, 51

Freeman, David, The Last Days of Alfred Hitchcock, 223

Freeman, Derek, Margaret Mead and Samoa: The Making and Unmaking of an Anthropological Myth, 321

Freeman, Douglas S, George Washington: A Biography, 484;

Lee of Virginia, 279;

R.E.Lee: A Biography, 279;

Washington , 484

Freeman, Edward, William the Conqueror, 494

Freeman, Lucy, Why Norma Jean Killed Marilyn Monroe, 334

Freeman, William, Oliver Goldsmith, 203

French, A.P., ed, Einstein: A Centenary Volume, 156

French, J.Milton, ed, The Life Records of John Milton, 330

Frenz, Horst, Eugene O’Neill, 360

Freud, Ernst, Lucie Freud, and Use Gribrich-Simitis, eds, Sigmund Freud: His Life in Pictures and Words, 177

Freud, Sigmund, Dostoevsky and Parricide, 141;

Leonardo da Vinci and a Memory of His Childhood, 282

Freud, Sigmund, and William C.Bullitt, Thomas Woodrow Wilson: A Psychological Study, 497

Freudenthal, Elsbeth E, Flight into History: The Wright Brothers and the Air Age, 505–506

Frew, Tim, Elvis: His Life and Music, 384

Frevin, Leslie, Blonde Venus: A Life of Marlene Dietrich, 137

Frey, John A, A Victor Hugo Encyclopedia, 235

Frey, Julia, Toulouse-Lautrec: A Life, 465

Frey, Ruby F, Red Morning, 484

Frieberger, Kurt, Fisher of Men: A Novel of Simon Peter, 374

Fried, Albert, The Prescott Chronicles, 162

Friedel, Frank B, Franklin D.Roosevelt, 406;

Franklin D.Roosevelt: A Rendezvous With Destiny, 406

Friedel, Robert D, Edison’s Electric Light: Biography of an Invention, 153

Friedenthal, Richard, Goethe: His Life and Times, 200;

Leonardo da Vinci: A Pictorial Biography, 282;

Luther: His Life and Times, 295

Friedlander, Walter F, Caravaggio Studies (Michelangelo Carvaggio), 72

Friedman, Russell, Eleanor Roosevelt: A Life of Discovery, 405;

Franklin Delano Roosevelt, 406

Friedmann, Paul, Anne Boleyn: A Chapter of English History 1527–36, 40

Friedwald, Will, Sinatra! The Song is You: The Singer’s Art, 430

Friend, Llerena, Sam Houston: The Great Designer, 232

Frisch, Walter, ed, Brahms and His World, 50;

Schoenberg and His World, 418

Fritz, Jean, Bully for You, Teddy Roosevelt, 407;

Can’t You Make Them Behave, King George?, 191;

The Double Life of Pocahontas, 433;

The Great Little Madison, 299–300;

Harriet Beecher Stowe and the Beecher Preachers, 443;

Make Way for Sam Houston, 232;

Stonewall, 243;

Traitor: The Case of Benedict Arnold, 11;

What’s the Big Idea, Ben Franklin?, 173;

Where Do You Think You’re Going, Christopher Columbus?, 104;

Where Was Patrick Henry on the 29th of May, 222;

Why Not, Lafayette?, 276

Froemngen, Hanns, Kemal Ataturk: A Biography, 13

Frolich, Newton, 1492, 104, 240

Frolich, Paul, Rosa Luxemburg: Ideas in Action, 296

Frommer, Harvey, Rickey & Robinson: The Men Who Broke Baseball’s Color Barrier, 402

Frost, Lawrence A, The Custer Album: A Pictorial Biography, 119;

The Edison Album: A Pictorial Biography of Thomas Alva Edison, 153

Frost, Mark, The List of 7, 143;

The Six Messiahs, 143

Froude, J.A., Bunyan, 63;

Froude's Life of Carlyle, 73;

Lord Beaconsfield, 139;

My Relations with Carlyle, 73;

Thomas Carlyle: A History of the First 40 Years of His Life, 1795–1835, 73;

Thomas Carlyle, 1834–81: A History of His Life in London, 73

Fruchtman, Jack, Thomas Paine: Apostle of Freedom, 363

Frugoni, Chiari, Francis of Assist, 171

Fry, Christopher, Curtmantle, 459

Fry, Roger, Cézanne: A Study of His Development, 85

Frye, Pearl, Gallant Captain: A Biographical Novel Based on the Life of John Paul Jones, 255;

A Game for Empire, 349

Fuess, Claude M, Calvin Coolidge: The Man from Vermont, 110;

Daniel Webster, 485

Fuhrmann, Manfred, Cicero and the Roman Republic, 98

Fullford, Roger, George the Fourth, 193;

The Prince Consort, 5;

The Trial of Queen Caroline, 193

Fullbrook, Kate, Katherine Mansfield, 308

Fullbrook, Kate, and Edward Fullbrook, Simone de Beauvoir and Jean-Paul Sartre: The Remaking of a Twentieth-Century Legend, 416

Fuller, Edmund, John Milton, 330;

A Star Pointed North, 142

Fuller, Iola, All the Golden Gifts, 293;

The Loon Feather, 454

Fuller, J.F.C, The Generalship of Ulysses S.Grant, 206;

Grant and Lee: A Study in Personality and Generalship, 206, 279;

Julius Caesar: Man, Soldier, and Tyrant, 258

Fuller, Jamie, The Diary of Emily Dickinson, 135

Fuller, Jean O, Shelley: A Biography, 426;

Swinburne: A Critical Biography, 449

Fuller-Maitland, J.A, Schumann, 420

Fuller, Thomas E, The Right Honourable Cecil John Rhodes: A Monograph and Reminiscence, 393

Furbank, P.N, Diderot: A Critical Biography, 136;

E.M.Forster: A Life, 169

Furnas, J.C, The Road to Harpers Ferry, 58;

Voyage to Windward: The Life of Robert Louis Stevenson, 442

Furnas, Joseph C, The Devil's Rainbow, 434, 508

Fusero, Clemente, The Borgias, 45–47

Fusi, Juan Pablo, Franco: A Biography, 172

Fussell, Paul, Samuel Johnson and the Life of Writing, 254

Fyvel, T.R, George Orwell: A Personal Memoir, 362

Gaarder, Jostein, That Same Flower: Fiona Aemilia's Letter to Saint Augustine , 16

Gable, John A, Theodore Roosevelt Cyclopedia, 407

Gabrilowitsch, Clara Clemens, My Father, Mark Twain, 473

Gadney, Reg, Constable and His World, 107

Gaeddert, Louann B, All-in-All: A Biography of George Eliot, 158

Gage, John, J.M.W.Turner: A Wonderful Range of Mind, 472

Gairdner, James, History of the Life and Reign of Richard the Third, 395

Gal, Allon, Brandeis of Boston, 51

Gál, Hans, Johannes Brahms: His Work and Personality, 50;

Richard Wagner, 481

Galante, Pierre, Mademoiselle Chanel, 87

Galatopoulos, Stelios, Callas: Sacred Monster, 69

Gale, Robert L, An F.Scott Fitzgerald Encyclopedia, 166;

A Henry James Encyclopedia, 245;

A Herman Melville Encyclopedia, 324;

A Nathaniel Hawthorne Encyclopedia, 215

Gall, Lothar, Bismarck: The White Revolutionary, 37

Gallagher, Gary W., ed, Lee the Soldier, 279

Gallico, Paul, The Steadfast Man: A Biography of St. Patrick, 367

Gallo, Max, Mussolini's Italy, 343;

Robespierre the Incorruptible: A Psycho-Biography, 401

Gammond, Peter, ed, Duke Ellington: His Life and Music, 161

Ganoczy, Alexandre, The Young Calvin, 70

García Lorca, Francisco, In the Green Morning: Memories of Federico, 184

Garcia Marquez, Gabriel, The General in His Labyrinth, 41

Garcia y Roberston, Rodrigo, American Woman, 119

Garden, Edward, Tchaikovsky, 453

Garden, Nancy, Dove and Sword: A Novel of Joan of Arc, 249

Gardiner, Patrick L, Kierkegaard, 272

Gardiner, Samuel R, Oliver Cromwell, 117

Gardner, Edmund G, Saint Catherine of Siena: A Study in Religion, Literature, and History of the 14th Century in Italy, 82

Gardner, John, The Life and Times of Chaucer, 93

Gardner, Joseph L, Departing Glory: Theodore Roosevelt as Ex-President, 407

Garfield, Brian, Manifest Destiny, 407;

The Paladin: A Novel Based on Fact, 97

Garland, Henry B, Schiller, 417

Garner, John L., Cesare Borgia: A Study of the Renaissance, 45–47

Garner, Stanton, The Civil War World of Herman Melville, 324

Garnett, David, Pocahontas; or, The Nonpareil of Virginia, 433

Garraty, John A, Woodrow Wilson: A Great Life in Brief, 497

Garrett, Don, ed, The Cambridge Companion to Spinoza, 435

Garrett, Gare, The Wild Wheel: The World of Henry Ford, 168

Garrett, George, Death of the Fox, 160, 21, 244, 389;

Entered from the Sun, 256, 311, 423;

The King of Babylon Shall Not Come Against You, 273;

The Succession: A Novel of Elizabeth and James, 160;

The Succession: A Novel of Elizabeth and James, 244

Garrett, Martin, A Browning Chronology: Elizabeth Barren and Robert Browning, 59–60

Garrett, Pat F, The Authentic Life of Billy the Kid, the Noted Desperado of the Southwest, 36

Garrow, David J, Bearing the Cross: Martin Luther King Jr. and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, 273

Gartenberg, Egon, Mahler: The Man and His Music, 302

Gartner, Carol B, Rachel Carson, 77

Garvey, Amy Jacques, Garvey and Garveyism, 188

Garza, Hedda, Francisco Franco, 172;

Lean Trotsky, 467;

Mao Zedong, 309

Gaskell, Elizabeth, The Life of Charlotte Brontë, 53–57

Gassier, Pierre, Goya: A Witness of His Times, 205

Gassier, Pierre, and Juliet Wilson, Life and Complete Works of Francisco Goya, 205

Gassner, John, Eugene O'Neill, 360

Gates, Susa Young, with Leah D.Widtsoe, The Life Story of Brigham Young, 508

Gattégno, Jean, Lewis Carroll: Fragments of a Looking-Glass, 75

Gatti, Carlo, Verdi: The Man and His Music, 477

Gauguin, Pola, My Father, Paul Gauguin, 189

Gaukroger, Stephen, Descartes: An Intellectual Biography, 131

Gaunt, Peter, Oliver Cromwell, 117

Gaustad, Edwin S, Sworn on the Altar of God: A Religious Biography of Thomas Jefferson, 247

Gavin, Catherine, The House of War, 13;

The Snow Mountain, 354

Gavoty, Benard, Frédéric Chopin, 95

Gaxotte, Pierre, Frederick the Great, 175

Gay, Kathryn, and Martin K.Gay, The Importance of Emma Goldman, 202

Gay, Peter, Freud: A Life for Our Time, 177;

Mozart, 340

Gay, Sydney H, James Madison, 299–300

Gedo, Mary, Picasso: Art as Autobiography, 378

Geduld, Harry M., ed, Charlie Chaplin's Own Story, 88

Gee, John, and Elliott Selby, The Triumph of Tchaikovsky: A Biography, 453

Gehring, Wes D., ed, Charlie Chaplin: A Bio-Bibliography, 88

Geiringer, Karl, Brahms: His Life and Work, 50;

Johann Sebastian Bach: The Culmination of an Era, 20

Geiringer, Karl, and Irene Geiringer, Haydn: A Creative Life in Music, 216

Geison, Gerald L., The Private Science of Louis Pasteur, 366

Gelb, Alan, Mussolini, 343

Gelb, Arthur, and Barbara Gelb, O'Neill, 360

Gelderman, Carol, Henry Ford: The Wayward Capitalist, 168

Gelfand, Michael, Livingstone the Doctor: His Life and Travels: A Study in Medical History, 287

Geller, Larry, If I Can Dream: Elvis's Own Story, 384

Gellis, Edith B, Portia: The World of Abigail Adams, 1

Gellis, Roberta, The Dragon and the Rose, 395

Gellman, Irwin F, The Contender: Richard Nixon: The Congress Years, 1946–1952, 357

Gelzer, Matthias, Caesar: Politician and Statesman, 258

Gentry, Curt, J.Edgar Hoover: The Man and His Secrets, 228

Gentry, Tony, Elvis Presley, 384

George, Don, Sweet Man: The Real Duke Ellington, 161

George, Margaret, The Autobiography of Henry VIII, 221;

Mary Queen of Scotland and the Isles, 315;

The Memoirs of Cleopatra, 100;

One Woman's "Situation": A Study of Mary Wollstonecraft, 499

George, Sara, The Journal of Mrs. Pepys: Portrait of a Marriage, 371

George, W.R.P., The Making of Lloyd George, 288

George, William, My Brother and I, 288

Gerard, Francis, The Scarlet Beast, 211

Geras, Norman, The Legacy of Rosa Luxemburg, 296

Gerassi, John, Jean-Paul Sartre: Hated Conscience of His Century. Volume One: Protestant or Protester?, 416

Gerber, Philip, Theodore Dreiser, 145

Gérin, Winifred, Anne Brontë, 53–57;

Branwell Brontë, 53–57;

Charlotte Brontë: The Evolution of Genius, 53–57;

Emily Brontë: A Biography, 53–57

Gerostergios, Asterios, Justinian the Great: The Emperor and Saint, 260–261

Gerson, Noel B, The Anthem, 200;

The Conqueror's Wife, 494;

The Crusader: A Novel on the Life of Margaret Sanger, 415;

Daughter of Earth and Water, 425;

Daughter of Eve, 433;

The Emperor's Ladies, 345;

Give Me Liberty: A Novel of Patrick Henry, 222, 255;

The Golden Lyre, 8;

The Great Rogue: A Biography of Captain John Smith, 433;

Harriet Beecher Stowe: A Biography, 443;

Kit Carson: Folk Hero and Man, 76;

The Naked Maja, 205;

Old Hickory, 242;

The Prodigal Genius: The Life and Times of Honoré de Balzac, 23;

Sam Houston: A Biographical Novel, 232;

The Slender Reed, 474;

Statue in Search of a Pedestal: A Biography of the Marquis de Lafayette, 276;

That Egyptian Woman, 100;

Theodora, 260–261;

TR?, 407;

The Yankee from Tennessee, 251

Gerstenberger, Donna L., John Millington Synge, 450

Gessner, Robert, Treason, 11

Geva, Tamara, Split Seconds: A Remembrance, 22

Geymonat, Ludovico, Galileo Galilei: A Biography and Inquiry into His Philosophy of Science, 181

Ghéon, Henri, In Search of Mozart, 340

Gherman, Beverly, Georgia O'Keeffe: The Wildness and Wonder of Her World, 358;

Robert Louis Stevenson: Teller of Tales, 442

Gibbon, Edward, The History of the Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire, 108, 260–261

Gibboney, Douglas L., Stonewall Jackson at Gettysburg, 243

Gibbons, Francis M., Joseph Smith: Martyr: Prophet of God, 434

Gibbs, A.M., Shaw: Interviews and Recollections, 424

Gibbs, Christopher, Richard the Lionheart and the Crusades, 394

Gibbs, Christopher, ed, The Cambridge Companion to Schubert, 419

Gibbs, Christopher H, The Life of Schubert, 419

Gibbs, Lewis, Sheridan: His Life and His Theatre, 427

Gibbs, Peter, The True Story of Cecil Rhodes in Africa, 393

Gibbs, Willa, A Fig in Winter, 18;

Tell Your Sons: A Novel of the Napoleonic Era, 345

Giblin, James, Charles A.Lindbergh: A Human Hero, 285

Gibson, Ian, The Death of Lorca, 184;

Federico Garcia Lorca: A Life, 184;

The Shameful Life of Salvador Dali, 120

Gibson, James, Thomas Hardy: A Literary Life, 213

Gibson, James, ed, Thomas Hardy: Interviews and Recollections, 213

Gibson, William, American Primitive: The Words of John and Abigail Adams Put into a Sequence for the Theater, with Addenda in Rhyme, 1, 2;

The Miracle Worker, 266;

Monday After the Miracle, 266;

Notes on How to Turn a Phoenix into Ashes: The Story of the Stage Production, with the Text of Golda, 323

Gide, André, Oscar Wilde, 492

Giedion-Welker, Carola, Paul Klee, 275

Gies, Frances, Joan of Arc: The Legend and the Reality, 249

Gifford, Barry, and Lawrence Lee, Jack's Book: An Oral Biography of Jack Kerouac, 269

Giglio, James N, The Presidency of John F.Kennedy, 267

Gilbert, Bentley B, David Lloyd George: A Political Life, 288

Gilbert, Bil, God Gave Us This Country: Tekamthi and the First American Civil War, 454

Gilbert, Martin, Churchill: A Life, 97;

Winston S. Churchill, 97

Gilbert, Martin, ed, Lloyd George, 288

Gilbert, Stuart, Reflections on James Joyce: Stuart Gilbert's Paris Journal, 257

Gilbertson, Cathrene, Harriet Beecher Stowe, 443

Gilchrist, Alexander, Life of William Blake, 38

Giles, Janice Holt, The Kentuckians, 42;

Savanna, 232

Gilkes, Lillian B, Cora Crane: A Biography of Mrs. Stephen Crane, 114

Gill, Austin, The Early Mallarmé, 305

Gill, Brendan, Lindbergh Alone, 285;

Many Masks: A Life of Frank Lloyd Wright, 504

Gill, Gillian, Agatha Christie: The Woman and Her Mysteries, 96;

Mary Baker Eddy, 152

Gill, Stephen, William Wordsworth: A Life, 502

Gillès, Daniel, Chekhov: Observer without Illusion, 94

Gillespie, Donna, The Light Bearer, 350

Gilliam, Bryan, The Life of Richard Strauss, 444

Gilliam, Bryan, ed, Richard Strauss and His World, 444;

Richard Strauss: New Perspectives on the Composer and His Work, 444

Gilliam, Dorothy B, Paul Robeson: All American, 400

Gillies, Malcolm, The Bartók Companion, 25;

Bartók Remembered, 25

Gillingham, John, The Life and Times of Richard I, 394;

Richard Coeur de Lion: Kingship, Chivalry and War in the Twelfth Century, 394

Gillingham, John, ed, Richard III: A Medieval Kingship , 395

Gilman, Sander L, Franz Kafka: The Jewish Patient, 262

Gilman, William H, Melville's Early Life and Redburn, 324

Gilot, Françoise, and Carlton Lake, Life with Picasso, 378

Gimpel, Herbert J, Lord Nelson, 349

Ginger, John, The Notable Man: The Life and Times of Oliver Goldsmith, 203

Ginger, Ray, The Bending Cross: A Biography of Eugene Victor Debs, 126

Gippius, Vasilii, Gogol, 201

Giroud, Françoise, Alma Mahler: Or, the Art of Being Loved, 302;

Marie Curie: A Life, 118

Gitlin, Todd, The Murder of Albert Einstein, 156

Gittings, Robert, John Keats, 265;

Young Thomas Hardy, 213

Gittings, Robert, and Jo Manton, Claire Clairmont and the Shelleys, 425, 426;

The Second Mrs. Hardy, 213;

The Story of John Keats, 265

Giuliano, Geoffrey, Two of Us: John Lennon & Paul McCartney Behind the Myth, 281

Giuliano, Geoffrey, and Deborah Lynn Black, The Illustrated Elvis Presley, 384

Gjertsen, Derek, The Newton Handbook, 353

Glad, Paul W, McKinley, Bryan, and the People, 320, 61;

The Trumpet Soundeth: William Jennings Bryan and His Democracy, 1896–1912, 61;

William Jennings Bryan: A Profile (, 61

Glasgow, Alice, Sheridan of Drury Lane: A Biography, 427;

The Twisted Tendril: A Story of 1865, 43

Glassgold, Peter, The Angel Max, 202

Glassman, Bruce S., John Lennon and Paul McCartney: Their Magic and Their Muse, 281

Glassman, Peter, J.S.Mill: The Evolution of a Genius, 329

Glatzer, Nahum, The Loves of Franz Kafka, 262

Gleig, G .R, Life of Arthur, Duke of Wellington, 486

Glendinning, Nigel, Goya and His Critics, 205

Glendinning, Sally, Thomas Gainsborough: Artist of England, 180

Glendinning, Victoria, Anthony Trollope, 466;

Jonathan Swift: A Portrait, 448

Glossop, Pat, Cardinal Richelieu, 396

Glotzer, Albert, Trotsky: Memoir & Critique, 467

Glover, Terrot R, Paul of Tarsus, 369

Glubb, John B, The Life and Times of Muhammad, 341

Gluyas, Constance, My Lord Foxe, 90

Gocek, Matilda A, Benedict Arnold: A Reader's Guide and Bibliography, 11

Godwin, William, Memoirs of Mary Wollstonecraft, 499

Goebel, Dorothy B, William Henry Harrison: A Political Biography, 214

Goerner, Fred G, The Search for Amelia Earhart, 151

Gold, Alison, Clairvoyant: The Imagined Life of Lucia Joyce, 257;

The Devil's Mistress: The Diary of Eva Braun , 224

Gold, Arthur, and Robert Fizdale, The Divine Sarah: A Life of Sarah Bernhardt, 34

Gold, Gerald, Gandhi: A Pictorial Biography, 183

Goldberg, Isaac, George Gershwin: A Study in American Music, 195;

The Man Mencken: A Biographical and Critical Survey, 325

Goldberg, Jake, Miguel de Cervantes, 84

Golder, Frank A, John Paul Jones in Russia, 255

Goldman, Albert, Elvis, 384;

The Lives of John Lennon, 281

Goldman, Eric F, The Tragedy of Lyndon Johnson, 252

Goldman, Martin, Crazy Horse: War Chief of the Oglala Sioux, 115;

John F.Kennedy: Portrait of a President, 267

Goldman, Martin S. and John A.Scott, Richard M. Nixon: The Complex President, 357

Goldman, Peter, The Death and Life of Malcolm X, 304

Goldsmith, Margaret L, Florence Nightingale: The Woman and the Legend, 356

Goldsmith, Marice, Alan McKay, and James Woudhuysen, eds, Einstein: The First Hundred Years, 156

Goldstein, Donald M., and Katherine V.Dillon, Amelia: The Centennial Biography of an Aviation Pioneer, 151

Goldstein, Lisa, Strange Devices of the Sun and Moon, 311

Golon, Sergeanne, Angelique, 293;

Angelique and the King, 293;

Angelique in Revolt, 293

Gomara, Francesco Lopez de, Cortés: The Life of the Conqueror by His Secretary , 113

Gonzales, Doreen, Diego Rivera: His Art, His Life, 399

Gonzalez-Balado, José Luis, Mother Teresa: Her Life. Her Work, Her Message: 1910–1997: A Memoir, 339

Gooch, George P, Catherine the Great and Other Studies, 83;

Frederick the Great: The Ruler, the Writer, the Man, 175

Goodchild, Peter, J. Robert Oppenheimer: Shatterer of Worlds, 361

Goodnough, David, Pablo Neruda: Nobel Prize-Winning Poet, 351;

Simón Bolívar: South American Liberator, 41

Goodspeed, Edgar J, Paul: A Biography Drawn from Evidence in the Apostle's Writing, 369

Goodwin, Doris Kearns, No Ordinary Time: Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt: The Homefront in World War II, 405, 406

Goodwin, Richard, The Hinge of the World, 181

Gopal, Sarvepalli, Jawarharlal Nehru: A Biography, 348

Gordon, Lois G, The World of Samuel Beckett: 1906–1946, 29

Gordon, Lyndall, Charlotte Brontë: A Passionate Life, 53–57;

Eliot's Early Years, 159;

A Private Life of Henry James: Two Women and His Art, 245;

T.S.Eliot: An Imperfect Life, 159;

Virginia Woolf: A Writer's Life, 501

Gordon, Mary, Joan of Arc, 249

Gordon, Richard, The Private Life of Florence Nightingale, 356

Gordon, Robert, and Andrew Forge, Degas, 129;

Monet, 332

Gorham, Charles, The Gold of Their Bodies, 189;

Wine of Life: A Novel about Balzac, 23

German, Edward, The Marilyn Tapes, 228, 334

German, Herbert, Hawthorne: A Study in Solitude, 215;

James Joyce, 257;

The Scottish Queen, 315;

Victorian American: Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, 291

Gosnell, Harold F, Truman's Crises: A Political Biography of Harry S.Truman, 468

Goss, Madeleine, Brahms the Master, 50

Gosse, Edmund, Henrik Ibsen, 237;

The Life and Letters of John Donne, Dean of Saint Paul's, 140;

The Life of Algernon Charles Swinburne, 449

Gottschalk, Louis R, Lafayette, 276

Gottshalk, Herbert, Bertrand Russell: A Life, 412

Goudge, Elizabeth, The Child from the Sea, 91;

My God and My All: The Life of St. Francis of Assist, 171;

Towers in the Mist, 429

Gould, Cecil, Leonardo: The Artist and the Non-Artist, 282

Gould, Heywood, Sir Christopher Wren: Renaissance Architect, Philosopher, and Scientist, 503

Gould, Jean, Jane, 19

Gould, Lewis L, The Presidency of Theodore Roosevelt, 407;

The Presidency of William McKinley, 320

Gourfinkel, Nina, Lenin, 280;

Portrait of Lenin: An Illustrated Biography, 280

Gourley, Catherine, Wheels of Time: A Biography of Henry Ford, 168

Gouzenko, Igor, The Fall of a Titan, 204

Gowing, Lawrence, Vermeer, 478

Grabher, Gudrun, Roland Hagenbuchle, and Cristanne Miller, eds, The Emily Dickinson Handbook, 135

Grabsky, Phil, I, Caesar: Ruling the Roman Empire, 17, 350

Gradenwitz, Peter, Leonard Bernstein: The Infinite Variety of a Musician, 35

Graham, Frank Jr, Since Silent Spring, 77

Graham, John W, William Penn, Founder of Pennsylvania, 370

Graham, Kenneth, Henry James: A Literary Life, 245

Graham, Lorenz, John Brown: A Cry for Freedom, 58

Graham, Otis L., and Meghan R.Wander, Franklin D.Roosevelt: His Life and Times: An Encyclopedic View, 406

Graham, Shirley, Paul Robeson: Citizen of the World, 400

Graham, Stephen, Ivan the Terrible: The Life of Ivan IV of Russia, 241;

Peter the Great: A Life of Peter I of Russia, Called the Great, 375

Graham, Winston, The Grove of Eagles, 389

Granata, Charles L, Sessions with Sinatra: Frank Sinatra and the Art of Recording, 430

Grandgent, Charles H, Dante, 121

Grant, Elliott M, The Career of Victor Hugo, 235

Grant, Maxwell, Blood Red Rose, 309

Grant, Michael, Cleopatra, 100;

Constantine the Great: The Man and His Times, 108;

Jesus: An Historian's Review of the Gospels, 248;

Julius Caesar, 258;

Nero: Emperor in Revolt, 350;

The Roman Emperors: A Biographical Guide to the Rulers of Imperial Rome 31BC-AD 476, 18;

Saint Paul, 369;

Saint Peter: A Biography, 374

Grant, Neil, Benjamin Disraeli: Prime Minister Extraordinary, 139;

Charles V: Holy Roman Emperor, 92;

Victoria, Queen and Empress, 479

Grant, R.G, Winston Churchill: An Illustrated Biography, 97

Grantham, Dewey, ed, Theodore Roosevelt, 407

Granzotto, Gianni, Christopher Columbus, 104

Graves, Richard P, Lawrence of Arabia and His World, 278

Graves, Robert, Claudius the God, 350;

Count Belisarius, 260–261;

I, Claudius, 17;

King Jesus, 248;

Lawrence and the Arabs, 278;

Wife to Mr. Milton, 330

Gray, Austin K, Teresa: Or Her Demon Lover, 67

Gray, John, Voltaire, 480

Gray, Madeline, Margaret Sanger: A Biography of the Champion of Birth Control, 415

Gray, Richard, The Life of William Faulkner: A Critical Biography, 164

Grayling, A.C, Russell, 412

Grebanier, Bernard, The Uninhibited Byron, 67

Green, Amy B., and Howard E.Green, Remembering Walt: Favorite Memories of Walt Disney, 138

Green, Carl R., and William R.Sanford, Billy the Kid, 36

Green, F.C, Jean-Jacques Rousseau: A Critical Study of His Life and Writings, 409;

Stendhal, 439

Green, John, Dakota Days, 281

Green, Julien, God's Fool: The Life and Times of Francis of Assist, 171

Green, Peter, Alexander of Macedon: 365–323 B.C.: A Historical Biography, 8

Green, Robert, Alexander the Great, 8;

Cleopatra, 100;

Hannibal, 211;

King George III, 191;

Queen Elizabeth I, 160;

Queen Victoria, 479;

William the Conqueror, 494

Green, Roger L., Lewis Carroll, 75

Green, Roger L., and Walter Hooper, C.S.Lewis: A Biography, 283

Greenberg, Rodney, George Gershwin, 195

Greenblatt, Miriam, John Quincy Adams: 6th President of the United States, 3

Greenblatt, Stephen J, Sir Walter Raleigh: The Renaissance Man and His Role, 389

Greene, Carol, Albert Schweitzer: Friend of All Life, 421;

Marco Polo: Voyager to the Orient, 381;

Marie Curie: Pioneer Physicist, 118;

Mother Teresa: Friend of the Friendless, 339;

Simón Bolívar: South American Liberator, 41

Greene, David H., and Edward M.Stephens, J.M. Synge 1871–1909, 450

Greenfeld, Howard, F.Scott Fitzgerald, 166;

Gertrude Stein: A Biography, 438;

Marc Chagall, 86;

Paul Gauguin, 189;

Puccini: A Biography, 386

Greenfield, Edward, Puccini: Keeper of the Seal, 386

Greenwood, Earl, and Kathleen Tracy, The Boy Who Would Be King, 384

Gregg, Pauline, King Charles I, 90

Gregor, A.James, Young Mussolini and the Intellectual Origins of Fascism, 343

Gregorovius, Ferdinand, Lucrezia Borgia: A Chapter from the Morals of the Italian Renaissance, 45–47

Gregory, Horace, The World of James McNeill Whistler, 490

Gregory, Jack, and Rennard Strickland, Sam Houston with the Cherokees, 1829–1833, 232

Grene, Marjorie, Descartes, 131

Grenet, Paul, Teilhard de Chardin: The Man and His Theories, 455

Gresham, Douglas, Lenten Lands: My Childhood with Joy Davidman and C.S.Lewis, 283

Gresham, William L., Houdini, the Man Who Walked through Walls, 231

Gresset, Michel, A Faulkner Chronology, 164

Greville, Fulke, Life of the Renowned Sir Philip Sidney, 429

Grey, Charles, The Early Years of His Royal Highness the Prince Consort, 5

Grey, Ian, Catherine the Great: Autocrat and Empress of All Russia, 83;
Ivan the Terrible, 241;

Peter the Great: Emperor of All Russia, 375

Grey, J.David, The Jane Austen Companion, 19

Grey, Zane, George Washington, Frontiersman, 484

Gribble, Francis, Dumas: Father and Son, 148

Grierson, Edward, The Fatal Inheritance: Philip II and the Spanish Netherlands, 377;

King of Two Worlds: Philip II of Spain, 377

Grierson, H.J.C., Sir Walter Scott, 422

Griffin, Henry W., Clive Staples Lewis: A Dramatic Life, 283

Griffin, Miriam, Nero: The End of a Dynasty, 350

Griffin, Peter, Along With Youth: Hemingway, the Early Years, 219;

Less Than a Treason: Hemingway in Paris, 219

Griffin, William H., and Harry C.Minchin, The Life of Robert Browning, with Notices of His Writing, His Family, and His Friends, 59–60

Griffith, Gwilym O, John Bunyan, 63

Griffith, Robert, The Politics of Fear: Joseph R. McCarthy and the Senate, 319

Griffiths, Paul, Bartók, 25;

Myself and Marco Polo: A Novel of Changes, 381;

Stravinsky, 445

Grigg, John, Lloyd George: From Peace to War, 1912–16, 288;

Lloyd George: The People's Champion, 1902–11, 288;

The Young Lloyd George, 288

Grimble, Ian, Robert Burns: An Illustrated Biography, 65

Grimes, Roberta, My Thomas: A Novel of Martha Jefferson's Life, 247

Grimsley, Ronald, Jean-Jacques Rousseau: A Study in Self-Awareness, 409;

Rousseau and the Religious Quest, 409;

Søren Kierkegaard: A Biographical Introduction, 272

Grinnell-Milne, Duncan, The Triumph of Integrity: A Portrait of Charles de Gaulle, 124

Grohmann, Will, Paul Klee, 275;

Wassily Kandinsky: Life and Work, 263

Gronau, Georg, Titian, 462

Gross, Albert C, Henry of Navarre, 220

Gross, David C, A Justice for All the People: Louis D.Brandeis, 51

Gross, Felix, Rhodes of Africa, 393

Gross, Francis L., The Making of a Mystic: Seasons in the Life of Teresa of Avila, 457

Gross, Joel, Sarah, 34

Gross, Miriam, ed, The World of George Orwell, 362

Grosskurth, Phyllis, Byron: The Flawed Angel, 67

Grossman, James, James Fenimore Cooper, 111

Grossman, Leonid, Dostoevsky: A Biography, 141

Grosvenor, Edwin, Morgan Wesson, and Robert V.

Bruce, Alexander Graham Bell: The Life and Times of the Man Who Invented the Telephone, 31

Grousset, René, Conqueror of the World, 190

Gruber, Howard E, Darwin on Man: A Psychological Study of Scientific Creativity, Together with Darwin's Early and Unpublished Notebooks, 122

Grun, Bernard, The Golden Quill: A Novel Based on the Life of Mozart, 340

Grunfeld, Frederic V., Rodin: A Biography, 404

Grylls, R.Glynn, Mary Shelley: A Biography, 425;

Portrait of Rossetti, 408

Guardini, Romano, The Conversion of Augustine., 16

Gudiol, José, Domenikos Theotokopoulos, El Greco, 1541–1614, 207;

Velázquez, 476

Guedalla, Philip, Second Empire, 346–347;

Wellington, 486

Guélhenno, Jean, Jean-Jacques Rousseau, 409

Guelzo, Allen C, Abraham Lincoln: Redeemer President, 284

Guerard, Albert, André Gide, 196;

Napoleon I: A Great Life in Brief, 345;

Napoleon III: A Great Life in Brief, 346–347

Guild, Thelma S., and Harvey L.Carter, Kit Carson: A Pattern for Heroes, 76

Guiles, Fred L., Legend: The Life and Death of Marilyn Monroe, 334;

Norma Jean: The Life of Marilyn Monroe, 334

Guillemard, Francis H.H, The Life of Ferdinand Magellan and the First Circumnavigation of the Globe 1480–1521, 301

Guillemin, Henri, Joan, Maid of Orleans, 249

Guinard, Paul, El Greco: A Biographical and Critical Study, 207

Gullan-Whur, Margaret, Within Reason: A Life of Spinoza, 435

Gulland, Sandra, The Many Lives and Secret Sorrows of Josephine B, 345

Gunderson, Robert G, The Log Cabin Campaign, 214

Gunther, John, Julius Caesar, 258;

The Riddle of Mac Arthur: Japan, Korea, and the Far East, 297

Gupte, Pranay, Mother India: A Political Biography of Indira Gandhi, 182

Guralnick, Peter, Careless Love: The Unmaking of Elvis Presley, 384;

The Last Train to Memphis, 384

Guralnick, Peter, and Ernst Jorgensen, Elvis Day by Day, 384

Gurr, David, The Ring Master, 224, 481

Gustafson, Richard F, Leo Tolstoy: Resident and Stranger, 463

Guthman, Edwin O, We Band of Brothers, 268

Gutman, Robert W., Mozart: A Cultural Biography, 340;

Richard Wagner: The Man, His Mind, and His Music, 481

Guttmacher, Larry, Crazy Horse: Sioux War Chief, 115

Guy, John, The Cardinal's Court: The Impact of Thomas Wolsey in Star Chamber, 500;

The Public Career of Sir Thomas More, 336

Guyer, Paul, ed, The Cambridge Companion to Kant, 264

Guzzetti, Paula, A Family Called Brontë, 53–57

Gwyn, Peter, The King's Cardinal: The Rise and Fall of Thomas Wolsey, 500

Gwynn, Stephen, Claude Monet and His Garden: The Story of an Artist's Paradise, 332;

The Life of Sir Walter Scott, 422;

Oliver Goldsmith, 203

Haasse, Hella S. In a Dark Wood Wandering, 249;

The Scarlet City, 328;

The Scarlet City: A Novel of 16th-Century Italy, 298, 45–47

Habsburg, Otto von, Charles V, 92

Hacker, Louis, The World of Andrew Carnegie, 74

Hacker, Louis M, Alexander Hamilton in the American Tradition, 209

Hacker, P.M.S, Wittgenstein, 498

Hackett, Francis, Henry the Eighth, 221;

Queen Anne Boleyn, 40

Hadden, J.Cuthbert, Haydn, 216

Haedrich, Marcel, Coco Chanel: Her Life, Her Secrets, 87

Haeger, Diane, Courtesan, 81;

The Secret Wife of King George IV, 193

Hagedorn, Hermann, The Roosevelt Family of Sagamore Hill, 407;

Roosevelt in the Badlands, 407

Hagen, Victor Wolfgang von, The Four Seasons of Manuela: The Love Story of Manuela Sáenz and Simón Bolívar, 41

Hagerfors, Lennart, The Whales of Lake Tanganyika, 287, 437

Haggard, H.Rider, Cleopatra, 100

Haggard, Virginia, My Life with Chagall, 86

Haggin, B.H, Arturo Toscanini: Contemporary Recollections of the Maestro, 464;

Conversations with Toscanini, 464;

The Toscanini Musicians Knew, 464

Hahl-Koch, Jelena, Kandinsky, 263

Hahn, Emily, Mary Queen of Scots, 315

Haigh, Christopher, Elizabeth I, 160

Haight, Gordon S, George Eliot: A Biography, 158;

George Eliot and John Chapman, with Chapman's Diaries, 158

Haile, H.G, Artist in Chrysalis: A Biographical Study of Goethe in Italy, 200;

Luther: An Experiment in Biography, 295

Haines, Edwin, The Exquisite Siren, 11;

The Winter War, 431

Haire-Sargeant, Lin, H.—: The Story of Heathcliff's Journey Back to Wuthering Heights, 53–57

Haislip, Harvey, Sailor Named Jones: A Novel of America's Greatest Captain, 255

Hakutani, Yoshinobu, Young Dreiser, 145

Halberstam, David, The Unfinished Odyssey of Robert Kennedy, 268

Haldane, R.B, Life of Adam Smith, 432

Hale, Nancy, Mary Cassatt, 79

Halévy, Daniel, The Life of Friedrich Nietzsche, 355

Halkin, Léon-E, Erasmus: A Critical Biography, 163

Hall, A.Rupert, Isaac Newton: Adventurer in Thought, 353

Hall, Desmond, I Give You Oscar Wilde: A Biographical Novel, 492

Hall, N.John, Trollope: A Biography, 466

Hall, Richard S, Stanley: An Adventurer Explored, 437

Hall, Robert Lee, Benjamin Franklin and a Case of Artful Murder, 226;

Benjamin Franklin and a Case of Christmas Murder, 173;

The King Ed- ward Plot, 154;

Murder at Drury Lane, 187;

Murder at San Simeon, 217, 88

Halliday, F.E., Doctor Johnson and His World, 254;

Shakespeare: A Pictorial Biography, 423;

Thomas Hardy: His Life and Work, 213;

Wordsworth and His World, 502

Halperin, John, The Life of Jane Austen, 19

Halperin, Samuel W., Mussolini and Italian Fascism, 343

Hamann, Brigitte, Hitler's Vienna: A Dictator's Apprenticeship, 224

Hamblin, Robert W., and Charles A.Peek, eds, A William Faulkner Encyclopedia, 164

Hamburger, Klára, Liszt, 286

Hamburger, Michael, ed, Beethoven: Letters, Journals, and Conversations, 30

Hamby, Alonzo L., Man of the People: A Life of Harry S.Truman, 468

Hamerton, Philip G., The Life of J.M.W.Turner, R.A, 472

Hamill, Pete, Diego Rivera, 399;

Why Sinatra Matters, 430

Hamilton, A.C., Sir Philip Sidney: A Study of His Life and Work, 429

Hamilton, Holman, Zachary Taylor, 452

Hamilton, Ian, A Gift Imprisoned: The Poetic Life of Matthew Arnold, 12;

Robert Lowell: A Biography, 294

Hamilton, James, Turner: A Life, 472

Hamilton, Joan L., The Lion and the Cross, 367

Hamilton, John, Billy the Kid, 36

Hamilton, Nigel, The Brothers Mann: The Lives of Heinrich and Thomas Mann, 1871–1950, 307;

JFK: Reckless Youth, 267

Hamilton, Virginia, W.E.B. Du Bois: A Biography, 147

Hammacher, A.M., and Renilde Hammacher, Van Gogh: A Documentary Biography, 475

Hammond, J.R., An H.G.Wells Chronology, 487;

A Robert Louis Stevenson Chronology, 442

Hammond, J.R., ed, H.G.Wells: Interviews and Recollections, 487

Hammond, N.G.L., The Genius of Alexander the Great, 8

Hammond, Paul, John Dryden: A Literary Life, 146

Hammontree, Patsy, Elvis Presley: A Bio-Bibliography, 384

Hampson, Norman, The Life and Opinions of Maximilien Robespierre, 401

Han, Suyin, The Morning Deluge: Mao Tse-tung and the Chinese Revolution 1893–1954, 309;

Wind in the Tower: Mao Tse-tung and the Chinese Revolution 1949–1975, 309

Hanchett, William, The Lincoln Murder Conspiracies, 43;

Out of the Wilderness: The Life of Abraham Lincoln, 284

Hands, Timothy, A George Eliot Chronology, 158

Hancy, John, Cesare Borgia, 45–47;

Charles Stewart Parnell, 364;

Vladimir Ilich Lenin, 280

Hanlon, Emily, Petersburg, 467

Hannah, Barbara, Jung: His Life and Work: A Biographical Memoir, 259

Hannay, Alastair, and Gordon D.Marino, eds, The Cambridge Companion to Kierkegaard, 272

Hannibal, Edward, Blood Feud, 268

Hansel, Robert R., The Life of Saint Augustine, 16

Hansen, Ron, The Assassination of Jesse James by the Coward, Robert Ford, 246;

Hitler's Niece, 224

Hanson, Claire, and Andrew Gurr, Katherine Mansfield, 308

Hanson, Elisabeth, My Poor Arthur: An Illumination of Arthur Rimbaud, 398

Hanson, Lawrence, The Life of Samuel Taylor Coleridge: The Early Years, 102;

Mortal Victory: A Biography of Paul Cézanne, 85;

Renoir: The Man, the Painter, and His World, 392

Hanson, Lawrence, and Elisabeth Hanson, The Four Brontës: The Lives and Works of Charlotte, Branwell, Emily and Anne Brontë, 53–57;

Marian Evans and George Eliot, 158;

Noble Savage: The Life of Paul Gauguin, 189;

Passionate Pilgrim: The Life of Vincent Van Gogh, 475;

Tchaikovsky: The Man Behind the Music, 453;

The Tragic Life of Toulouse-Lautrec, 465

Hanson, Lawrence, and Elizabeth Hanson, Necessary Evil: The Life of Jane Welsh Carlyle, 73

Hanson, Richard P.C., Saint Patrick: His Origins and Career, 367

Harbaugh, William H, The Life and Times of Theodore Roosevelt . , 407

Harbinson, W.A, Evita!: Saint or Sinner?, 372–373;

The Illustrated Elvis, 384

Harding, Bertita, Farewell 'Toinette: A Footnote to History, 310;

Golden Fleece: The Story of Franz Joseph and Elizabeth of Austria, 174;

Magic Fire: Scenes around Richard Wagner, 481

Harding, Walter R, The Days of Henry Thoreau, 461

Hardman, John, Robespierre, 401

Hardoff, Richard G., ed, The Surrender and Death of Crazy Horse: A Source Book about a Tragic Episode in Lakota History, 115

Hardwick, Elizabeth, Herman Melville, 324

Hardwick, Michael, Regency Royal, 193, 427

Hardwick, Michael, and Mollie Hardwick, The Bernard Shaw Companion, 424;

Dickens Encyclopedia, 134

Hardwick, Mollie, Blood Royal, 40;

Emma, Lady Hamilton, 349;

Mrs. Dizzy: The Life of Mary Anne Disraeli, Vicountess Beaconsfield, 139

Hardy, Evelyn, Thomas Hardy: A Critical Biography, 213

Hardy, Thomas, The Dynasts, 345

Hardy, W.G, The City of Libertines, 258

Hare, David, The Judas Kiss, 492

Hare, Richard, Maxim Gorky—Romantic Realist and Conservative Revolutionary, 204

Hareven, Tamara K, Eleanor Roosevelt: An American Conscience, 405

Hargreaves, Mary W.M, The Presidency of John Quincy Adams, 3

Hargrove, Jim, Diego Rivera: Mexican Muralist, 399;

Ferdinand Magellan, 301;

Martin Van Buren: Eighth President of the United States, 474

Harlan, Judith, Sounding the Alarm: A Biography of Rachel Carson, 11

Harlan, Louis R, Booker T.Washington: The Making of a Black Leader 1856–1901, 483

Harper, George M, William Wordsworth: His Life, Works and Influence, 502

Harper, Ida Husted, Life and Work of Susan B.Anthony, 9

Harper, Karen, The Poyson Garden: A Bess Tudor Mystery, 160, 314;

The Tidal Poole: An Elizabeth I Mystery, 160

Harper, M.A, For the Love of Robert E.Lee, 279

Harper, Robert S, The Road to Baltimore . , 99

Harr, John Ensor, Dark Eagle: A Novel of Benedict Arnold and the American Revolution, 11

Harries, Ann, Manly Pursuits, 274, 393, 492, 75

Harrigan, Steve, The Gates of the Alamo, 116, 232

Harris, Brayton, Johann Gutenberg and the Invention of Printing, 208

Harris, Cyril, Street of Knives, 66

Harris, David, ed, The Nelson Almanac: A Book of Days Recording Nelson's Life and the Events that Shaped His Era, 349

Harris, Edward D, John C.Frémont and the Great Western Reconnaissance, 176

Harris, Enriqueta, Velázquez, 476

Harris, Frank, Bernard Shaw: An Unauthorized Biography Based on Firsthand Information, 424;

Oscar Wilde: His Life and Confessions, 492

Harris, Jacqueline L., Henry Ford, 168

Harris, Janet, The Woman Who Created Frankenstein: A Portrait of Mary Shelley, 425

Harris, Nathaniel, The Life and Works of Manet, 306

Harris, Neil, Humbug: The Art of P.T.Barnum, 24

Harris, Susan K., The Courtship of Olivia Langdon and Mark Twain, 473

Harrison, Ada M. and Derek Stanford, Anne Brontë: Her Life and Work, 53–57

Harrison, Barbara, and Daniel Terries, A Ripple of Hope: The Life of Robert F.Kennedy, 268

Harrison, Carey, Freud: A Novel, 177

Harrison, George B, John Bunyan: Study in Personality, 63

Harrison, Ray, A Season for Death, 154

Harrod-Eagles, Cynthia, Anne, 7;

I, Victoria, 479

Harrod, Roy F, The Life of John Maynard Keynes, 270

Harsányi, Zsolt, Immortal Franz: The Life and Loves of a Genius, 286;

Lover of Life, 410;

The Star-Gazer, 181

Hart, Henry, Marco Polo: Venetian Adventurer, 381

Hart, Scott, Eight April Days, 279

Hartenian, Lawrence R, Benito Mussolini, 343

Hartley, Janet M, Alexander I, 7

Hartley, Lodwick, This is Lorence: A Narrative of the Reverend Laurence Sterne, 440

Härtling, Peter, Schubert: Twelve Moments Musicaux and a Novel, 419

Hartog, Leo de, Genghis Khan: Conqueror of the World, 190

Harvey, Harry B, Claude of France: The Story of Debussy, 127

Harvey, Nancy L., Thomas Cardinal Wolsey, 500

Harvey, Robert, Ignatius Loyola: A General in the Church Militant, 238

Harwood, Alice, The Lily and the Leopards, 314;

No Smoke Without Fire, 244;

Seats of the Mighty: A Novel of James Stuart, brother of Mary Queen of Scots, 315;

So Merciful a Queen, So Cruel a Woman, 160

Haskin, Gretchen, An Imperial Affair, 354

Haskins, James, India Under Indira and Rajiv Gandhi, 182

Haslip, Joan, Catherine the Great: A Biography, 83;

Lucrezia Borgia: A Study, 45–47;

Marie Antoinette, 310;

Parnell: A Biography, 364

Haspiel, James, Marilyn: The Ultimate Look at the Legend , 334

Hasse, John E, Beyond Category: The Life and Genius of Duke Ellington, 161

Hastings, Michael, The Devil's Spy, 278;

Tom and Viv, 159

Hatch, Alden, Franklin D.Roosevelt: An Informal Biography, 406;

A Man Named John: The Life of Pope John XXIII, 250

Hattersley, Roy, Nelson, 349

Hatton, Ragnhild M, Louis XIV and His World, 293

Hatvary, George Egon, The Murder of Edgar Allan Poe, 380

Hauck, Richard B, Crockett: A Bio-Bibliography, 116

Hauner, Milan, Hitler: A Chronology of His Life and Times, 224

Hauser, Thomas, Mark Twain Remembers, 473

Hawes, Esme, The Life and Times of Frank Sinatra, 430

Hawke, David F, John D.: The Founding Father of the Rockefellers, 403;

Paine, 363

Hawkes, Ellen, The Shadow and the Moth: A Novel of Espionage with Virginia Woolf, 501

Hawthorne, Hildegarde, No Road Too Long, 176

Haycox, Ernest, Bugles in the Afternoon, 119

Haycraft, Molly, My Lord Brother the Lion Heart, 394

Haydon, Colin, and William Doyle, eds, Robespierre, 401

Hayek, F.A, John Stuart Mill and Harriet Taylor, 329

Hayes, John, Gainsborough: Paintings and Drawings, 180

Hayes, Tony, Murder on the Twelfth Night, 423

Haykal, Muhammad, The Life of Muhammad, 341

Haylock, Julian, Gustav Mahler: An Essential Guide to His Life and Works, 302

Hayman, Ronald, Brecht: A Biography, 52;

Hitler & Geli, 224;

Kafka: A Biography, 262;

Nietzsche: A Critical Life, 355;

Proust: A Biography, 385;

Sartre: A Life, 416;

Tennessee Williams: Everyone Else Is an Audience, 495;

Thomas Mann: A Biography, 307

Haynes, Richard M, The Wright Brothers, 505–506

Hays, Peter L, Ernest Hemingway, 219

Hays, Tony, Murder in the Latin Quarter, 257

Haythornthwaite, Philip J, The Napoleonic Source Book, 345

Headington, Christopher, Johann Sebastian Bach: An Essential Guide to His Life and Works, 20

Hearsey, John, Marie Antoinette, 310;

Voltaire, 480;

Young Mr. Peppys, 371

Hearst, Patricia, and Cordelia F.Biddle, Murder at San Simeon, 217

Hearst, William Randolph Jr., with Jack Casserly, The Hearsts: Father and Son, 217

Heaven, Constance, The Queen and the Gypsy, 160

Hebblethwaite, Peter, Pope John XXIII: Shepherd of the Modern World, 250

Hecht, Hans, Robert Burns: The Man and His Work, 65

Hecht, Marie B, John Quincy Adams: A Personal History of an Independent Man, 3;

Odd Destiny: The Life of Alexander Hamilton, 209

Heck, Peter J, A Connecticut Yankee in Criminal Court, 473;

Death on the Mississippi, 473;

The Prince and the Prosecutor, 473

Heckscher, August, Woodrow Wilson, 497

Hedges, William, Washington Irving: An American Study, 1802–1832, 239

Hedley, Arthur, Chopin, 95

Hedrick, Joan, Harriet Beecher Stowe: A Life, 443;

Solitary Comrade: Jack London and His Work, 290

Heer, Friedrich, Charlemagne and His World, 89

Heerikhuizen, F.W. van, Rainer Maria Rilke: His Life and Work, 397

Heffer, Simon, Moral Desperado: A Life of Thomas Carlyle, 73

Hegemann, Werner, Frederick the Great, 175

Heiberg, Hans, Ibsen: A Portrait of the Artist, 237

Heiden, Konrad, Der Fuehrer: Hitler's Rise to Power, 224

Heidish, Marcy M, A Woman Called Moses, 470

Heikal, Mohamed, Autumn of Fury: The Assassination of Sadat, 413

Heilbut, Anthony, Thomas Mann: Eros and Literature, 307

Heitzenrater, Richard P, John Wesley: His Own Biographer, 488

Held, Julius S, Rubens and His Circle, 410

Heller, Deane Fons, Hero of Modern Turkey: Ataturk, 13

Heller, Erich, Franz Kafka, 262

Heller, Joseph, Picture This, 391

Heller, Reinhold, Munch, His Life and Work, 342

Hellman, George, Washington Irving: Esquire, Ambassador at Large from the New World to the Old, 239

Helm, Everett, Bartók, 25

Helm, William P, Harry Truman: A Political Biography, 468

Hemmings, F.W.J., Baudelaire the Damned, 27;

King of Romance: A Portrait of Alexandre Dumas, 148;

The Life and Times of Emile Zola. 509;

Stendhal: A Study of His Novels, 439

Henderson, Archibald, Bernard Shaw: Playboy and Prophet, 424;

George Bernard Shaw, His Life and Works: A Critical Biography, 424;

George Bernard Shaw: Man of the Century, 424

Henderson, Bernard W, The Life and Principate of the Emperor Nero, 350

Henderson, Charles P, The Nixon Theology, 357

Henderson, Daniel, Boone of the Wilderness, 42

Henderson, G.F.R., Stonewall Jackson and the American Civil War, 243

Henderson, Philip, And Morning in His Eyes, 311;

Christopher Marlowe., 311;

Richard. Coeur de Lion: A Biography, 394;

Swinburne: Portrait of a Poet, 449;

Tennyson: Poet and Prophet, 456;

William Morris: His Life, Work, and Friends, 338

Henderson, T.F, Mary Queen of Scots: Her Environment and Tragedy, 315

Hendrick, Burton J, The Lees of Virginia: Biography of a Family, 279;

The Life of Andrew Carnegie, 74

Hendrickson, Robert A, Hamilton, 209;

The Rise and Fall of Alexander Hamilton, 209

Hendry, J.F, The Sacred Threshold: A Life of Rainer Maria Rilke, 397

Hengel, Martin, and Anna Maria Schwemer, Paul Between Damascus and Antioch: The Unknown Years, 369

Henry, Joanne L, Robert Fulton, Steamboat Builder, 179

Henry, Will, Death of a Legend, 246;

No Survivors, 115, 119;

San Juan Hill, 407

Hensel, Sebastian, The Mendelssohn Family (1729–1847) from Letters and Journals, 315

Herbert, A.P, Why Waterloo?, 345

Heren, Louis, No Hail, No Farewell, 252

Heritier, Jean, Catherine de' Medici, 81

Herlin, Hans, Grishin, 280

Herman, Arthur, Joseph McCarthy: Reexamining the Life and Legacy of America's Most Hated Senator, 319;

Metternich, 327

Herman, George, Carnival of Saints, 282, 45–47;

A Comedy of Murders, 282;

Tears of the Madonna, 282

Hermann, Spring, Geronimo: A Freedom Fighter, 194

Herndon, Booton, Ford: An Unconventional Biography of the Men and Their Times, 168

Herndon, William H., and Jesse W.Weik, Herndon's Lincoln: The True Story of a Great Life, 284

Herr, Pamela, Jessie Benton Frémont: A Biography, 176

Herrera, Hayden, Matisse: A Portrait, 317

Herrick, Francis, Audubon the Naturalist: A History of His Life and Time, 15

Herrin, Lamar, The Unwritten Chronicles of Robert E.Lee, 243, 279

Herrmann, Dorothy, Helen Keller: A Life, 266

Hersch, Virginia, Bird of God: The Romance of El Greco, 207;

To Seize a Dream, 130

Hersey, John, Antonietta, 33, 340;

The Conspiracy, 350

Hersh, Seymour M, The Dark Side of Camelot, 267

Heschel, Abraham J, Maimonides: A Biography, 303

Hesse, Hermann, Siddhartha, 62

Hesseltine, William B, Ulysses S.Grant: Politician, 206

Hession, Charles H, John Maynard Keynes: A Personal Biography of the Man who Revolutionized Capitalism and the Way We Live, 270

Hewish, John, Emily Brontë: A Critical and Biographical Study, 53–57

Hewlett, Dorothy., Adonais: A Life of John Keats, 265

Hewlett, Margaret, Elizabeth Barren Browning: A Life, 59–60

Heydenreich, Ludwig H, Leonardo da Vinci, 282

Heyen, William, Crazy Horse in Stillness: Poems, 115

Heyer, Georgette, Beauvallet, 144;

The Conqueror, 494;

The Great Roxthythe, 91;

An Infamous Army, 486;

Royal Escape, 91

Heyes, Eileen, Adolf Hitler, 224

Heymann, C.David, American Aristocracy: The Lives and Times of James Russell, Amy, and Robert Lowell, 294;

Ezra Pound: The Last

Rower: A Political Profile, 383;

RFK: A Candid Biography of Robert F.Kennedy, 268;

A Woman Named Jackie, 359

Heywood, Joseph, The Domino Conspiracy, 271

Hibbard, Howard, Caravaggio, 72;

Michelangelo, 328

Hibben, Paxton, The Peerless Leader: William Jennings Bryan, 61

Hibbert, Christopher, Charles I, 90;

Disraeli and His World, 139;

Garibaldi and His Enemies: The Clash of Arms and Personalities in the Making of Italy, 186;

George III: A Personal History, 191;

George IV: Prince of Wales, 1762–1811, 193;

Gilbert & Sullivan and Their Victorian World, 197–198;

Il Duce: The Life of Benito Mussolini, 343;

Nelson: A Personal History, 349;

The Personal History of Samuel Johnson, 254;

Queen Victoria: A Personal History, 479;

The Royal Victorians: King Edward VII, His Family and Friends, 154;

The Virgin Queen: Elizabeth I, Genius of the Golden Age, 160;

Wellington: A Personal History, 486

Hickok, Lorena A, Eleanor Roosevelt: Reluctant First Lady, 405

Higgins, David, Portrait of Emily Dickinson: The Poet and Her Prose, 135

Higgins, Jack, Luciano's Luck, 157

Higham, Charles, The Adventures of Conan Doyle: The Life of the Creator of Sherlock Holmes, 143;

Howard Hughes: The Secret Life, 233;

Marlene: The Life of Marlene Dietrich, 137

Higham, Florence, Charles I: A Study, 90

Highfield, Roger, and Paul Carter, The Private Lives of Albert Einstein, 156

Hightower, Paul N, Galileo: Astronomer and Physicist, 181

Highwater, Jamake, The Sun, He Dies: A Novel about the End of the Aztec World, 113

Hildeshiemer, Wolfgang, Mozart, 340

Hill, Carol DeChellis, Henry James' Midnight Song, 177, 245, 259, 489

Hill, Christine M, Langston Hughes: Poet of the Harlem Renaissance, 234

Hill, Christopher, God's Englishman: Oliver Cromwell and the English Revolution, 117;

Lenin and the Russian Revolution, 280;

Milton and the English Revolution, 330;

A Tinker and a Poor Man: John Banyan and His Church, 63

Hill, Donna, Joseph Smith: The First Mormon, 434

Hill, Hamlin, Mark Twain: God's Fool, 473

Hill-Miller, Katherine, “My Hideous Progeny”: Mary Shelley, William Godwin, and the Father-Daughter Relationship, 425

Hill, Pamela, The Crown and the Shadow, 293;

The Green Salamander, 315;

Here Lies Margot, 92;

The Sword and the Flame, 315;

Tsar's Woman, 375

Hillard, George S, Captain John Smith, 433

Hiller, Ferdinand, Mendelssohn: Letters and Recollections, 315

Hills, George, Franco: The Man and His Nation, 172

Hilmar, Ernst, Franz Schubert in His Time, 419

Hilton, Delia, Who Was Kit Marlowe?, 311

Hilton, Tim, John Ruskin, 411

Hilty, James W, Robert Kennedy: Brother Protector, 268

Himmelfarb, Gertrude, Darwin and the Darwinian Revolution, 122

Hingley, Ronald, Dostoyevsky: His Life and Work, 141;

Joseph Stalin: Man and Legend, 436;

A New Life of Anton Chekhov, 94

Hinks, R.P, Michelangelo Merisi da Caravaggio: His Life, His Legend, His Works, 72

Hinnant, Charles H, Thomas Hobbes, 225

Hird, Frank, H.M.Stanley: The Authorized Life, 437

Hirshson, Stanley P, The Lion of the Lord: A Biography of Brigham Young, 508;

The White Tecumseh: A Biography of General William T. Sherman, 428

Hirst, David, and Irene Beeson, Sadat, 413

Hirst, Francis W, Adam Smith, 432

Hitchcock, H.Wiley and Stanley Sadie, eds, The New Grove Dictionary of American Music, 195

Hitzeroth, Deborah, Golda Meir, 323

Hjortsberg, William, Nevermore, 143, 231

Hoàng, Michel, Genghis Khan, 190

Hobbs, Colleen A, Florence Nightingale, 356

Hobhouse, Hermione, Prince Albert: His Life and Work, 5

Hobhouse, Janet, Everybody Who Was Anybody: A Biography of Gertrude Stein, 438

Hobson, Fred C, Mencken: A Life, 325

Hock, Ronald F, The Social Context of Paul's Ministry: Tent-Making and Apostleship, 369

Hocking, Joseph, The Sword of the Lord: A Romance of the Time of Martin Luther, 295

Hodge, Jane Aiken, Only a Novel: The Double Life of Jane Austen, 19;

Shadow of a Lady, 349

Hodgkin, Thomas, Charles the Great, 89

Hodin, J.P, Edvard Munch, 342

Hodson, Phillip, Who's Who in Wagner: An A-to-Z Look at His Life and Work, 481

Hoe, Susanna, God Save the Tsar, 354

Hoehling, Mary D, The Real Sherlock Holmes: Arthur Conan Doyle, 143

Hoeltje, Hubert, Inward Sky: The Mind and Heart of Nathaniel Hawthorne, 215

Hoff, Joan, and Marjorie Lightman, eds, Without Precedent: The Life and Career of Eleanor Roosevelt, 405

Hoff Wilson, Joan, Herbert Hoover: Forgotten Progressive, 227

Hoffman, Andrew, Inventing Mark Twain: The Lives of Samuel Langhorne Clemens, 473

Hoffman, Banesh, and Helen Dukas, Albert Einstein: Creator and Rebel, 156;

Albert Einstein: The Human Side, 156

Hoffman, Daniel, Brotherly Love, 370

Hoffman, Katherine, An Enduring Spirit: The Art of Georgia O'Keeffe, 358

Hoffmann, George, Montaigne's Career, 335

Hoffmann, Peggy, My Dear Cousin, 299–300

Hofling, Charles K, Custer and the Little Big Horn: A Psychobiographical Inquiry, 119

Hofmann, Modest, and André Pierre, By Deeds of Truth: The Life of Leo Tolstoy, 463

Hogan, Ray, Soldier in Buckskin, 76

Hogg, Ian V, The Biography of General George S. Patton, 368

Hogg, Thomas J, The Life of Percy Bysshe Shelley, 426

Hogrefe, Jeffrey, O'Keeffe: The Life of an American Legend, 358

Hogwood, Christopher, Handel, 210

Holbrook, David, Gustav Mahler and the Courage to Be, 302

Holbrook, Sabra, Lafayette: Man in the Middle, 276

Holden, Anthony, Diana: Her Life and Her Legacy, 133;

Tchaikovsky: A Biography, 453

Holder, Deborah, Completely Frank: The Life of Frank Sinatra, 430

Holl, Adolf, The Last Christian, 171

Holland, Cecelia, The Bear Flag, 176;

The Bear Flag: A Novel of the Birth of California, 76;

City of God: A Novel of the Borgias, 45–47;

The Firedrake, 494

Holland, Merlin, The Wilde Album, 492

Holland, Tom, Lord of the Dead: The Secret History of Byron, 67

Holland, Vyvyan B, Goya: A Pictorial Biography, 205;

Oscar Wilde: A Pictorial Biography, 492

Hollingdale, R.J, Nietzsche: The Man and His Philosophy, 355

Hollis, Christopher, Lenin, 280;

Lenin: Portrait of a Professional Revolutionary, 280;

Saint Ignatius, 238;

A Study of George Orwell: The Man and His Works, 362

Holloway, Emory, Whitman: An Interpretation in Narrative, 491

Hollyday, Frederic B.M., ed, Bismarck, 37

Holme, Thea, The Carlyles at Home, 73;

Caroline: A Biography of Caroline of Brunswick, 193

Holmes, Edward, The Life of Mozart, 340

Holmes, Lowell D, Quest for the Real Samoa: The Mead/Freeman Controversy and Beyond, 321

Holmes, Marjorie, The Messiah, 248;

Three from Galilee, 248;

Two from Galilee, 248

Holmes, Oliver Wendall, Ralph Waldo Emerson, 162

Holmes, Paul, Brahms: His Life and Times, 50;

Debussy, 127

Holmes, Richard, Coleridge: Darker Reflections, 1804–1834, 102;

Coleridge: Early Visions, 1772–1804, 102;

Footsteps: Adventures of a Romantic Biographer, 426;

Shelley: The Pursuit, 426

Holmes, Samuel J, Louis Pasteur, 366

Holmes, William G, The Age of Justinian and Theodora, 260–261

Holoman, D.Kern, Berlioz, 33

Holroyd, Michael, Bernard Shaw, 424;

Bernard Shaw: The One-Volume Definitive Edition, 424

Holsapple, Lloyd B, Constantine the Great, 108

Holst, Hermann E. von, John C.Calhoun, 68

Holt, Rackham, George Washington Carver: An American Biography, 78

Holt, Victoria, The Queen's Confession, 310;

Secret for a Nightingale, 356

Holthusen, Hans E, Portrait of Rilke: An Illustrated Biography, 397

Holtman, Robert B, The Napoleonic Revolution, 345

Holton, Gerald and Yehuda Eikana, eds, Albert Einstein: Historical and Cultural Perspectives, 156

Holtzman, Filia, The Young Maxim Gorky 1868–1902, 204

Holzer, Harold, ed, Lincoln as I Knew Him: Gossip, Tributes, and Revelations from His Best Friends and Worst Enemies, 284

Homans, Margaret, and Adrienne Munich, eds, Remaking Queen Victoria, 479

Homans, Peter, Jung in Context: Modernity and the Making of a Psychology, 259

Honan, Park, Jane Austen: Her Life, 19;

Matthew Arnold: A Life, 12;

Shakespeare: A Life, 423

Hone, Joseph, W.B.Yeats: 1865–1939, 507

Honig, Edwin, Federico Garcia Lorca, 184

Hoobler, Dorothy, Cleopatra, 100

Hoobler, Thomas, and Dorothy Hoobler, Confucianism, 105

Hoog, Michel, Paul Gauguin: Life and Work, 189

Hook, Judith, Lorenzo de' Medici: An Historical Biography, 322

Hook, Sidney, John Dewey: An Intellectual Portrait, 132

Hooper, Walter, Through Joy and Beyond: A Pictorial Biography of C.S.Lewis, 283

Hooper, Walter, ed, C.S.Lewis: A Companion and Guide, 283

Hope, Charles, Titian, 462

Hope, Charlotte, The Young Sarah Bernhardt, 34

Hopkins, Alannah, The Living Legend of St. Patrick, 367

Hopkins, Annette B, The Father of the Brontës, 53–57

Hopkins, Jerry, Elvis: A Biography, 384;

Elvis: The Final Years, 384

Hopkins, Samuel, The Life and Character of the Late Reverend Mr. Jonathan Edwards, President of the College of New Jersey, 155

Horn, Jason G, Mark Twain: A Descriptive Guide to Biographical Sources, 473

Horn, Pierre L, King Louis XIV, 293;

Marquis de Lafayette, 276

Horn, Stanley F., ed, The Robert E.Lee Reader, 279

Home, Alistair, How Far from Austerlitz?: Napoleon 1805–1815, 345

Home, Gerald, Black and Red: W.E.B.Du Bois and the Afro-American Response to the Cold War, 1944–1963, 147

Home, Herbert, Botticelli: Painter of Florence, 49

Horowitz, Joseph, Understanding Toscanini, 464

Horrox, Rosemary, Richard III: A Study in Service, 395

Horwitz, Sylvia L., Toulouse-Lautrec: His World, 465

Hotchner, A.E, Papa Hemingway: A Personal Memoir, 219

Hotson, Leslie, The Death of Christopher Marlowe, 311

Hough, Emerson, 54–40 or Fight, 68;

The Way to the West and the Lives of These Early Americans: Boone, Crockett, Carson, 76

Hough, Frank O, Renown, 11

Hough, Henry B, Thoreau of Walden, 461

Hough, Ralph, Captain James Cook, 109

Hough, Richard, Edward and Alexandra: Their Private and Public Lives, 154;

Victoria and Albert, 5;

Winston and Clementine: The Triumphs and the Tragedies of the Churchills, 97

Houghton, Richard Monckton Milnes, Life, Letters, and Literary Remains of John Keats, 265

Housman, Laurence, Angels & Ministers, 139;

Echo de Paris: A Study from Life, 492;

Victoria Regina, 479, 5

Houston, Jane Dimmitt, The Faith and the Flame, 81

Houston, John Porter, Victor Hugo, 235

Houston, Peter, A Sketch of the Life and Character of Daniel Boone, 42

Houston, S.J, James I, 244

Hovey, Carl, The Life Story of J.Pierpont Morgan, 337

Hovey, Tamara, A Mind of Her Own: The Life of the Writer George Sand, 414

Howard, Donald R, Chaucer: His Life, His Work, His World, 93

Howard, Fred, Wilbur and Orville: A Biography of the Wright Brothers, 505–506

Howard, Jane, Margaret Mead: A Life, 321

Howard, Leon, Herman Melville: A Biography, 324

Howard, Oliver O, General Taylor, 452

Howarth, David A., and Stephen Howarth, Lord Nelson: The Immortal Memory, 349

Howarth, W.D, Molière: A Playwright and His Audience, 331

Howe, Irving, Leon Trotsky, 467

Howe, Marie J, George Sand: The Search for Love, 414

Howell, Roger, Cromwell, 117

Howells, William Dean, My Mark Twain: Reminiscences and Criticisms, 473

Howser, Harry S, Richard I in England, 394

Hoyle, Fred, Nicholaus Copernicus: An Essay on His Life and Work, 112

Hoyt, Edwin P, He Freed the Minds of Men: René Descartes, 131;

The House of Morgan, 337;

The Last Stand: A Novel about George Armstrong Custer and the Indians of the Plains, 119;

Marilyn: The Tragic Venus, 334;

Mussolini's Empire: The Rise and Fall of the Fascist Vision, 343;

The Nixons: An American Family, 357;

Paul Robeson: The American Othello, 400;

The Voice of Allah, 341;

William McKinley, 320

Hsiao, Yii, Mao Tse-tung and I Were Beggars, 309

Hubatsch, Walther, Frederick the Great of Prussia: Absolutism and Administration, 175

Hudson, Derek, Lewis Carroll, 75;

Lewis Carroll: An Illustrated Biography, 75

Huff, Theodore, Charlie Chaplin, 88

Huffington, Arianna S, Picasso: Creator and Destroyer, 378

Hughes, Andrew, Van Gogh, 475

Hughes, David, The Man Who Invented Tomorrow, 487

Hughes, Gervase, Dvorák: His Life and Music, 150

Hughes, Glyn, Brontë, 53–57

Hughes-Hallet, Lucy, Cleopatra: Histories, Dreams, and Distortions, 100

Hughes, Kathryn, George Eliot: The Last Victorian, 158

Hughes, Rosemary, Haydn, 216

Hughes, Rupert, George Washington, 484

Hughes, Thomas, David Livingstone, 287

Hugo, Leon, Edwardian Shaw: The Writer and His Age, 424

Huisman, Philippe, and M.G.Dortu, Lautrec by Lautrec, 465

Huisman, Philippe, and Marguerite Jallut, Marie Antoinette, 310

Hull, Anthony, Goya: Man Among Kings, 205

Hull, Mary, The Travels of Marco Polo, 381

Hull, Raymona, Nathaniel Hawthorne: The English Experience 1853–64, 215

Hull, William I, Eight First Biographies of William Penn in Seven Languages and Seven Lands, 370;

William Penn: A Topical Biography, 370

Hulme, George, The Life and Death of Adolf Hitler, 224

Hulsker, Jan, Vincent and Theo Van Gogh: A Dual Biography, 475

Humble, Richard, Marco Polo, 381;

The Travels of Livingstone, 287

Hume, Paul, Verdi: The Man and His Music, 477

Hume, Robert D, Henry Fielding and the London Theatre 1728–37, 165

Humphrey, Judy, Genghis Khan, 190

Huneker, James, Chopin: The Man and His Music, 95;

Franz Liszt, 286

Hunt, Frazier, The Tragic Days of Billy the Kid, 36

Hunt, Gaillard, John C.Calhoun, 68;

The Life of James Madison, 299–300

Hunt, Herbert J, Honoré de Balzac: A Biography, 23

Hunt, John Dixon, Andrew Marvell: His Life and Writings, 312;

The Wider Sea: A Life of John Ruskin., 411

Hunt, Percival, Samuel Pepys in the Diary, 371

Huntford, Roland, Sea of Darkness, 104

Hurd, Michael, Mendelssohn, 315

Hurst, Quentin, Henry of Navarre, 220

Hurwood, Bernhardt, My Savage Muse: The Story of My Life: Edgar Allan Poe, An Imaginative Work, 380

Hussey, Dyneley, Verdi, 477;

Wolfgang Amade Mozart, 340

Hussey, Mark, Virginia Woolf A to Z, 501

Hussman, Lawrence Jr, Dreiser and His Fiction, 145

Huston, James A, Counterpoint, 214, 454

Hutchings, Arthur, Mozart: The Man, The Musician, 340;

Schubert, 419

Hutchinson, Harold F, Sir Christopher Wren: A Biography, 503

Hutchinson, Jane C, Albrecht Dürer: A Biography, 149

Hutchinson, Roger, All the Sweets of Being: A Life of James Boswell, 48

Hutheesing, Krishna, Dear to Behold: An Intimate Portrait of Indira Gandhi, 182

Hutt, Maurice, ed, Napoleon, 345

Hutton, Edward, Giovanni Boccaccio: A Biographical Study, 39

Hutton, Ronald, Charles II: King of England, 91

Hutton, Timothy, Keats and His World, 265

Huxley, Elspeth, Florence Nightingale, 356;

Livingstone and His African Journeys, 287

Huxley, Julian, and H.B.D.Kettlewell, Charles Darwin and His World, 122

Huxley, Laura Archera, This Timeless Moment: A Personal View of Aldous Huxley, 236

Huyghe, René, Delacroix, 130

Hyde, George M, Vladimir Nabokov: America's Russian Novelist, 344

Hyde, H.Montgomery, Henry James at Home, 245;

Oscar Wilde: A Biography, 492;

Solitary

in the Ranks: Lawrence of Arabia as Airman and Private Soldier, 278;

The Trials of Oscar Wilde, 492

Hyma, Albert, The Life of Desiderius Erasmus, 163

Hyman, Tom, Seven Days to Petrograd, 280

Hyslop, Lois Boe, Baudelaire: Man of His Time, 27

Ibn Ishaq, Muhammad, The Life of Muhammad, 341

Idell, Albert E, Rogers ' Folly, 24

Illick, Joseph E, William Penn, the Politician: His Relations with the English Government, 370

Immell, Myra, and William H, Tecumseh, 454

Infield, Glenn B, Eva and Adolf, 224

Ing, Janet, Johann Gutenberg and His Bible: A Historical Study, 208

Ingalls, Robert P, Point of Order: A Profile of Senator Joe McCarthy, 319

Ingle, Stephen, George Orwell: A Political Life, 362

Innes, Christopher D., ed, The Cambridge Companion to George Bernard Shaw, 424

Innes, Hammond, The Last Voyage: Captain Cook's Lost Diary, 109

Inoue, Yashushi, Confucius: A Novel, 105

Ireland, Karin, Albert Einstein, 156

Iremonger, Lucille, How Do I Love Thee, 59–60;

Love and the Princesses, 191;

My Sister, My Love, 67

Irvine, William, Apes, Angels, and Victorians: The Story of Darwin, Huxley, and Evolution, 122;

The Universe of G.B.S., 424

Irvine, William, and Park Honan, The Book, the Ring, and the Poet: A Biography, 59–60

Irving, Clifford, Tom Mix and Pancho Villa, 368

Irving, Clive, Promise the Earth, 278

Irving, Pierre M, The Life and Letters of Washington Irving, 239

Irving, Washington, A History of the Life and Voyages of Christopher Columbus, 104;

The Life of George Washington, 484;

Oliver Goldsmith: A Biography, 203

Irwin, George, Samuel Johnson: A Personality in Conflict, 254

Irwin, Margaret, Elizabeth and the Prince of Spain, 160, 377;

Elizabeth, Captive Princess, 160;

The Gay Galliard, 315;

Princess Elizabeth trilogy., 160;

The Proud Servant, 90;

Royal Flush: The Story of Minette, 293, 91;

The Stranger-Prince, 90;

That Great Lucifer: A Portrait of Sir Walter Raleigh, 389;

Young Bess, 160

Isbister, J.N, Freud: An Introduction to His Life and Work, 177

Israel, Fred L, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, 406

Israel, Paul, Edison: A Life of Invention, 153

Israeli, Raphael, with Carol Bardenstein, Man of Defiance: A Political Biography of Anwar Sadat, 413

Ives, E.W, Anne Boleyn, 40

Ivry, Benjamin, Arthur Rimbaud, 398

Jablonski, Edward, Gershwin, 195

Jablonski, Edward, and Lawrence D.Stewart, The Gershwin Years, 195

Jackson, Anna Mary, Life and Letters of General Thomas J.Jackson, 243

Jackson, Holbrook, William Morris: Craftsman, Socialist, 338

Jackson, John W., and Peter Costello, John Stanislaus Joyce: The Voluminous Life and Genius of James Joyce's Father, 257

Jackson, Kathy M, Walt Disney: A Bio-Bibliography, 138

Jackson, Stanley, J.P.Morgan: A Biography, 337;

Monsieur Butterfly: The Story of Giacomo Puccini, 386

Jackson, Stephen, Franz Schubert: An Essential Guide to His Life and Works, 419

Jacob, Heinrich E, Felix Mendelssohn and His Times, 315;

Joseph Haydn: His Art, Times, and Glory, 216

Jacob, Naomi, The Irish Boy: A Romantic Biography, 340

Jacob, Rachel, ed, The Cambridge Companion to Dante, 121

Jacobs, Arthur, Arthur Sullivan: A Victorian Musician, 197–198

Jacobsen, Joel, Such Men as Billy the Kid: The Lincoln County War Reconsidered, 36

Jaeger, Henrik B, Henrik Ibsen, 1828–88: A Critical Biography, 237

Jaffe, Aniela, From the Life and Work of C.G.Jung, 259

Jagger, Peter J, Gladstone: The Making of a Christian Politician, 199

Jagger, Peter J., ed, Gladstone, 199

Jahn, Otto, Life of Mozart, 340

Jakes, John, The Americans, 74;

Homeland, 126, 26;

Love and War, 6;

The Titans, 26

Jakoubek, Robert E, Martin Luther King Jr., 273

James, Alan, Gilbert and Sullivan, 197–198

James, Bessie R., and Marquis James, Six Feet Six: The Heroic Story of Sam Houston, 232

James, Burnett, Brahms: A Critical Study, 50

James, D.Clayton, The Years of MacArthur, 297

James, Henry, Hawthorne, 215

James, Lawrence, The Golden Warrior: The Life and Legend of Lawrence of Arabia, 278

James, Marquis, Andrew Jackson, 242;

The Raven: A Biography of Sam Houston, 232

James, Robert Rhodes, Prince Albert: A Biography, 5

Janda, James, Iñigo: The Life of St. Ignatius Loyola for Young Readers, 238

Janetschek, Ottokar, The Emperor Franz Joseph, 174

Janney, Samuel M, The Life of William Penn: With Selections from His Correspondence and Autobiography, 370

Janouch, Gustav, Conversations with Kafka, 262

Jardim, Anne, The First Henry Ford: A Study in Personality and Business Leadership, 168

Jardine, Lisa, and Alan Stewart, Hostage to Fortune: The Troubled Life of Francis Bacon, 21

Jarman, Rosemary H, We Speak No Treason, 395

Jaro, Benita K, The Door in the Wall, 258

Jarrett, Derek, The Ingenious Mr. Hogarth, 226;

Pitt the Younger, 379

Jarvis, Charles E, Visions of Kerouac, 269

Jaspers, Karl, Kant, 264

Jayaker, Pupul, Indira Gandhi: An Intimate Biography, 182

Jeal, Tim, Livingstone, 287

Jean-Aubry, Georges, The Sea Dreamer: A Definitive Biography of Joseph Conrad, 106

Jeffares, A.Norman, W.B.Yeats: A New Biography, 507;

W.B.Yeats: Man and Poet, 507

Jeffers, H.Paul, The Adventure of the Stalwart Companions, 407;

Colonel Roosevelt: Theodore Roosevelt Goes to War, 1897–1898, 407;

Commissioner Roosevelt: The Story of Theodore Roosevelt and the New York City Police, 1895–1897, 407

Jefferson, Alan, The Life of Richard Strauss, 444;

Richard Strauss, 444

Jefferson, Alfred C, Anatole France: The Politics of Skepticism, 170

Jehl, Francis, Menlo Park: Reminiscences, 153

Jelusich, Mirko, Caesar, 258

Jenkins, Elizabeth, Elizabeth the Great, 160;

Henry Fielding, 165;

Jane Austen: A Biography, 19

Jenkins, MacGregor, Emily Dickinson: Friend and Neighbor, 135

Jenkins, Roy, Gladstone: A Biography, 199;

Truman, 468

Jennings, Francis, Benjamin Franklin, Politician, 173

Jennings, Gary, Aztec, 113;

The Jourmeyer, 381

Jennings, John Edward, The Sea Eagles, 255

Jerman, B.R, The Young Disraeli, 139

Jessop, Augustus, John Donne, Sometime Dean of Saint Paul's, 140

Jewell, Derek, Duke: A Portrait of Duke Ellington, 161

Jewett, Robert, A Chronology of Paul's Life, 369

Jezer, Marty, Rachel Carson, 77

Jobert, Barthelmy, Delacroix, 130

Joes, Anthony J, Mussolini, 343

John, Evan, King Charles I, 90;

King's Masque, 310

John, Pearson, Edward the Rake: An Unwholesome Biography of Edward VII, 154

Johnson, Charles, Dreamer, 273

Johnson, Donald L, Frank Lloyd Wright Versus America: The 1930s, 504

Johnson, Edgar, Charles Dickens: His Tragedy and Triumph, 134;

Sir Walter Scott: The Great Unknown, 422

Johnson, Eyvind, The Days of His Grace, 89

Johnson, Gerald W, The First Captain: The Story of John Paul Jones, 255

Johnson, Hubert C, Frederick the Great and His Officials, 175

Johnson, John J, Simón Bolívar and Spanish American Independence, 41

Johnson, Joyce, Minor Characters, 269

Johnson, Kurt, and Steven L.Coates, Nabokov's Blues: The Scientific Odyssey of a Literary Genius, 344

Johnson, Lee, Delacroix, 130;

The Paintings of Eugene Delacroix: A Critical Catalog, 130

Johnson, Linda C, Mother Teresa: Protector of the Sick, 339

Johnson, Marion, The Borgias, 45–47

Johnson, Paul, Elizabeth I: A Biography, 160

Johnson, Samuel, “Dryden” in Lives of the English Poets , 146;

“Pope” in Lives of the English Poets, 382

Johnson, Stephen, Ludwig van Beethoven: An Essential Guide to His Life and Works, 30

Johnson, Thomas H, Emily Dickinson: An Interpretive Biography, 135

Johnson, Walter G, August Strindberg, 446

Johnson, Wendell S, W.H.Auden, 14

Johnston, Denis, In Search of Swift, 448

Johnston, Johanna, The Heart that Would Not Hold: A Biography of Washington Irving, 239;

Runaway to Heaven: The Story of Harriet Beecher Stowe, 443

Johnston, Mary, Cease Firing, 279;

1492, 104;

The Long Roll, 243

Johnston, Norma, Harriet: The Life and World of Harriet Beecher Stowe, 443;

Louisa May: The World and Work of Louisa May Alcott, 6

Johnston, Terry C, The Shadow Riders, 428

Joinville, Jean, Sire de, Life of St. Louis, 292

Jolis, Alan, Love and Terror, 310

Jones, A.H.M, Augustus, 17

Jones, Arnold H, Constantine and the Conversion of Europe, 108

Jones, Benjamin M, Henry Fielding. Novelist and Magistrate, 165

Jones, Cleo, Sister Wives, 508

Jones, Douglas C, Arresting Sitting Bull, 431;

The Court-Martial of George Armstrong Custer, 119, 428;

Remember Santiago, 26, 407

Jones, Ernest, The Life and Work of Sigmund Freud, 111

Jones, Francis A, The Life Story of Thomas Alva Edison, 153

Jones, J.William, Life and Letters of Robert Edward Lee, 279;

Personal Reminiscences, Anecdotes and Letters of General Robert E.Lee, 279

Jones, Jack, The Man David: An Imaginative Presentation Based on Fact of the Life of David Lloyd George from 1880 to 1914, 288

Jones, James Rees, Charles II: Royal Politician, 91

Jones, James Sawyer, The Life of Andrew Johnson: Seventeenth President of the United States, 251

Jones, Jeffrey M, J.P.Morgan Saves the Nation, 337

Jones, Maurice B, Peter Called the Great, 375

Jones, Mervyn, Joseph, 436

Jones, R.Ben, Napoleon: Man and Myth, 345

Jones, Roger, and Nicholas Penny, Raphael, 390

Jones, Ted, Grant's War: A Novel of the Civil War, 206

Jones, Thomas, Lloyd George, 288

Jong, Erica, Fanny, 448;

Serenissima: A Novel of Venice, 423

Jordan, David P, The Revolutionary Career of Maximilien Robespierre, 401

Jordan, Jan, Dim the Flaring Lamps: A Novel of the Life of John Wilkes Booth, 43;

Give Me the Wind, 242

Jordan, Mildred, Asylum for the Queen, 310

Jordan, Ruth, George Sand: A Biographical Portrait, 414;

Nocturne: A Life of Chopin, 95

Jordan, William C, Louis IX and the Challenge of the Crusade: A Study in Rulership, 292

Jorgensen, Ernst, Elvis Presley: A Life in Music, 384

Jorgenson, Theodore, Henrik Ibsen: Life and Drama, 237

Josephson, Matthew, Edison, 153;

Stendhal: Or the Pursuit of Happiness, 439;

Victor Hugo: A Realistic Biography of the Great Romantic, 235;

Zola and His Times, 509

Jourdan, Philip, Cecil Rhodes: His Private Life by His Private Secretary, 393

Joyce, Claire, Monet at Giverny, 332

Joyce, Stanislaus, The Complete Dublin Diary of Stanislaus Joyce, 257;

My Brother's Keeper, 257

Joyner, Tim, Magellan, 301

Juan Arbo, Sebastian, Cervantes: The Man and His Time, 84

Juanico, June, Elvis: In the Twilight of Memory, 384

Judd, Cameron, Boone: A Novel Based on the Life and Times of Daniel Boone, 42;

Crockett of Tennessee: A Novel Based on the Life and Times of Davy Crockett, 116

Judd, Denis, Jawaharlal Nehru, 348

Judson, Karen, Andrew Jackson, 242

Jullian, Philippe, Edward and the Edwardians, 154;

Oscar Wilde, 492

Justi, Karl, Diego Velázquez and His Times, 476

Kadlecek, Edward, and Mabell Kadlecek, To Kill an Eagle: Indian Views on the Death of Crazy Horse, 115

Kagan, Andrew, Marc Chagall, 86

Kagarlitski, J, The Life and Thought of H.G.Wells, 487

Kahn, Arthur D, The Education of Caesar: A Biography, 258

Kahn, Roger, Joe and Marilyn: A Memory of Love, 334

Kahn, Roger, and Jules Tygiel, eds, The Jackie Robinson Reader: Perspectives on an American Hero, 402

Kalupahana, David J., and Indrani Kalupahana, The Way of Siddhartha: A Life of Buddha, 62

Kamen, Gloria, Charlie Chaplin, 88;

Kipling: Storyteller of East and West, 274

Kamen, Henry A.F, Philip of Spain, 377

Kamensky, Aleksandr, Chagall: The Russian Years 1907–22, 86

Kaminski, Thomas, The Early Career of Samuel Johnson, 254

Kaminsky, Stuart M, Buried Caesars, 297;

The Fala Factor, 405;

High Midnight, 219;

The Howard Hughes Affair, 233, 52;

The Man Who Shot Lewis Vance, 88;

The Melting Clock, 120;

Never Cross a Vampire, 164;

Smart Moves, 156, 400

Kamm, Josephine, John Stuart Mill in Love, 329

Kane, Harnett T, The Amazing Mrs. Bonaparte, 345;

Bride of Fortune, 123;

The Gallant Mrs. Stonewall, 243;

The Lady of Arlington, 279

Kanin, Garson, Remembering Mr. Maugham, 318

Kantha, Sachi Sri, An Einstein Dictionary, 156

Kantor, MacKinlay, Valley Forge, 484

Kaplan, Fred, Dickens: A Biography, 134;

Henry James: The Imagination of Genius, 245;

Thomas Carlyle: A Biography, 73

Kaplan, Justin, Mark Twain and His World, 473;

Mr. Clemens and Mark Twain: A Biography, 473;

Walt Whitman: A Life, 491

Kaplan, Justin, ed, Mark Twain, a Profile, 473

Kaplan, Lawrence, Oliver Cromwell, 117

Kapp, Julius, The Women in Wagner's Life, 481

Kapr, Albert, Johann Gutenberg: The Man and His Invention, 208

Karasowski, Moritz, Frédéric Chopin: His Life and Letters, 95

Karig, Walter, Don't Tread on Me, 255

Karl, Frederick R, Franz Kafka: Representative Man, 262;

George Eliot: Voice of a Century, 158;

Joseph Conrad: The Three Lives, 106;

William Faulkner: American Writer, 164

Karlin, Daniel, The Courtship of Robert Browning and Elizabeth Barren, 59–60

Karlinsky, Simon, The Sexual Labyrinth of Nikolai Gogol, 201

Karnow, Stanley, Mao and China, 309

Karp, Walter, Charles Darwin and the Origin of Species, 122

Karsner, David, Debs: His Authorized Life and Letters, 126

Kasten, David S., ed, A Companion to Shakespeare, 423

Kastner, Joseph, John James Audubon, 15

Katz, Jacob, The Darker Side of Genius: Richard Wagner's Anti-Semitism, 481

Kaufman, Fred S, Custer Passed Our Way, 119

Kaufman, Moises, Gross Indecency: The Three Trials of Oscar Wilde, 492

Kaufman, Pamela, Banners of Gold, 394;

Shield of Three Lions, 394

Kaufman, Walter, Nietzsche: Philosopher, Psychologist, Antichrist, 355

Kaun, Alexander, Maxim Gorky and His Russia, 204

Kaus, Gina, Catherine: Portrait of an Empress, 83

Kay, Dennis, William Shakespeare: His Life and Times, 423

Kay-Robinson, Denys, The First Mrs. Thomas Hardy, 213

Kay, Susan, Legacy, 160

Kay, W.David, Ben Jonson: A Literary Life, 256

Kaye, Tony, Lyndon B.Johnson, 252

Kayser, Rudolf, Stendhal: The Life of an Egoist, 439

Kazantzakis, Nikos, Alexander the Great, 8;

The Last Temptation of Christ, 248;

Saint Francis, 171

Keane, John, Tom Paine: A Political Life., 363

Kearney, Leslie, ed, Tchaikovsky and His World, 453

Kearns, Doris, Lyndon Johnson and the American Dream, 252

Keates, Jonathan, Handel: The Man and His Music, 210;

Stendhal, 439

Keating, H.R.F., ed, Agatha Christie: First Lady of Crime, 96

Keats, John, Howard Hughes, 233

Kee, Robert, The Laurel and the Ivy: The Story of Charles Stewart Parnell and Irish Nationalism, 364

Keegan, Suzanne, The Bride of the Wind: The Life and Times of Alma Mahler-Werfel, 302

Keene, Ann T, Will a Gather, 80

Keleman, Pál, El Greco Revisited, 207

Kelen, Betty, Confucius: In Life and Legend, 105;

Gautama Buddha, 62;

Muhammad: The Messenger of God, 341

Kelleck, Harold, Houdini: His Life Story, 231

Keller, Allan, Thunder at Harpers Ferry, 58

Kellerman, Faye, The Quality of Mercy, 423

Kelley, Frank R., and Cornelius Ryan, MacArthur: Man of Action, 297;

Star-Spangled Mikado, 297

Kelley, Kitty, His Way: The Unauthorized Biography of Frank Sinatra, 430;

Jackie Oh!, 359

Kellner, Bruce, ed, A Gertrude Stein Companion: Content with the Example, 438

Kellogg, Grace, The Two Lives of Edith Wharton: The Woman and Her Work, 489

Kelly, Fred C, The Wright Brothers: A Biography Authorized by Orville Wright, 505–506

Kelsey, Harry, Sir Francis Drake: The Queen's Pirate, 144

Kemler, Edgar, The Irreverent Mr. Mencken, 325

Kemp, Martin, Leonardo da Vinci: The Marvellous Works of Nature and Man, 282

Kemp, Wolfgang, The Desire of My Eyes: The Life and Work of John Ruskin, 411

Kendall, Alan, David Garrick: A Biography, 187;

George Gershwin: A Biography, 195;

The Life of Beethoven, 30;

Tchaikovsky: A Biography, 453

Kendall, Martha E., John James Audubon, 15;

Susan B. Anthony: Voice for Women's Voting Rights, 9

Kendall, Paul M, Richard the Third, 395

Kendall, Paul M., ed, Richard III: The Great Debate, 395

Keneally, Thomas, Blood Red, Sister Rose, 249;

Confederates, 243

Kennedy, David M, Birth Control in America: The Career of Margaret Sanger, 415

Kennedy, Lucy, Mr. Audubon's Lady, 15

Kennedy, Michael, Mahler, 302;

Richard Strauss, 444;

Richard Strauss: Man, Musician, Enigma, 444

Kennedy, Roger G, Burr, Hamilton, and Jefferson: A Study in Character, 209, 247, 66

Kennedy, W.Sloane, Henry W.Longfellow: Biography, Anecdotes, Letters, Criticism, 291

Kennelly, Ardyth, The Spur, 43

Kenner, Hugh, The Invisible Poet: T.S.Eliot, 159

Kenner, Robert, J.M.W.Turner, 472

Kenny, Anthony, Thomas More, 336

Kent, Alexander, The In-Shore Squadron, 349

Kent, George O, Bismarck and His Times, 37

Kent, Madeleine F, The Corsair: A Biographical Novel of Jean Lafitte, Hero of the Battle of New Orleans, 242

Kent, Zachary, Andrew Johnson: Seventeenth President of the United States, 251;

Calvin Coolidge: Thirtieth President of the United States, 110;

Grover Cleveland: Twenty-Second and Twenty-Fourth President of the United States, 101;

James Cook, 109;

John Quincy Adams: Sixth President of the United States, 3;

William McKinley: Twenty-fifth President of the United States, 320;

Zachary Taylor: Twelfth President of the United States, 452

Kenyon, Frank W, The Absorbing Fire: The Byron Legend, 67;

The Consuming Flame: The Story of George Eliot, 158, 73;

The Duke's Mistress: The Story of Mary Ann Clarke , 191;

Emma, 349;

The Emperor's Lady: A Novel Based on the Life of the Empress Josephine, 345;

The Golden Years: A Novel Based on the Life and Loves of Percy Bysshe Shelley, 426;

Marie Antoinette, 310;

Mary of Scotland, 315;

The Naked Sword: The Story of Lucrezia Borgia, 45–47;

Passionate Rebel: The Story of Hector Berlioz, 286, 33;

The Questing Heart: A Romantic Novel about George Sand, 414, 95;

Shadow in the Sun: A Novel of Elizabeth I, the Virgin Queen, 160;

That Spanish Woman, 346–347

Keogh, James, This Is Nixon, 357

Ker, Ian, John Henry Newman: A Biography, 352

Kerby, Mona, Frederick Douglass, 142

Kershaw, Alex, Jack London, 290

Kershaw, Ian, Hitler: 1889–1936: Hubris, 224

Kert, Bernice, The Hemingway Women, 219

Kesten, Hermann, Ferdinand and Isabella, 240;

I, the King, 377

Kesting, Jürgen, Maria Callas, 69

Ketcham, Ralph, James Madison: A Biography, 299–300

Kettle, Arnold, Karl Marx: Founder of Modern Communism, 313

Keyes, Charlotte E, High on the Mainmast: A Biography of Herman Melville, 324

Keys, Ivor, Mozart: His Music and His Life, 340

Khrushchev, Sergei, Khrushchev on Khrushchev: An Inside Account of the Man and His Era, 271

Kiely, Bernadine, Marie Antoinette, 310

Kiely, David M, John Millington Synge: A Biography, 450

Kilian, Michael, Dance on a Sinking Ship, 285;

Major Washington, 484

Killens, John Oliver, Great Black Russian, 387

Killingray, Margaret, Constantine, 108

Kimball, Marie, Jefferson, 247

Kimball, Robert, and Alfred Simon, The Gershwins, 195

Kimbrough, Robert, Sir Philip Sidney, 429

Kimmel, Stanley, The Mad Booths of Maryland, 43

Kinderman, William, Beethoven, 30

King, Alec H, Mozart: A Biography, with a Survey of Books, Editions, and Recordings, 340

King, Benjamin, A Bullet for Lincoln, 284, 43;

A Bullet for Stonewall, 243

King, Coretta Scott, My Life with Martin Luther King Jr, 273

King, David, Trotsky: A Photographic Biography, 467

King, Francis H, E.M.Forster and His World, 169

King, Greg, The Last Empress: Life and Times of Alexandra Feodorovna, Empress of Russia, 354

King, James, Virginia Woolf, 501;

William Blake: His Life, 38

King, Joan, Impressionist: A Novel of Mary Cassatt, 79

King, Martin Luther, Sr, Daddy King: An Autobiography, 273

King, Norman, The Prince and the Princess: The Love Story, 133

King, Perry Scott, Jefferson Davis, 123

King, Ursula, Spirit of Fire: The Life and Vision of Teilhard de Char din, 455

Kingsley, Charles, Westward Ho!, 144;

Westward Ho!, 389

Kingsmill, Hugh, Johnson without Boswell: A Contemporary Portrait of Samuel Johnson, 254;

Matthew Arnold, 12

Kinkead-Weekes, Mark, D.H.Lawrence: Triumph to Exile, 1912–1922, 277

Kinnear, Michael, The Fall of Lloyd George: The Political Crisis of 1922, 288

Kinross, Patrick Balfour, Ataturk: A Biography of Mustafa Kemal, Father of Modern Turkey, 13

Kinstler, Clysta, The Moon under Her Feet, 248

Kipphardt, Heinat, In the Matter of J. Robert Oppenheimer, 361

Kirby, David K, Herman Melville, 324

Kirchaisen, Friedrich M, Napoleon, 345

Kirk, Russell, Edmund Burke: A Genius Reconsidered, 64

Kirkendall, Richard S., ed, The Harry S.Truman Encyclopedia, 468

Kirkpatrick, Ivone, Mussolini: A Study in Power, 343

Kirstein, Lincoln, The New York City Ballet, 22

Kitchen, Paddy, Gerard Manley Hopkins, 229;

The Golden Veil, 408, 411

Kittredge, Mary, Frederick the Great, 175;

Jane Addams, 4

Kjetsaa, Geir, Fyodor Dostoevsky: A Writer's Life, 141

Klein, Edward, All Too Human: The Love Story of Jack and Jackie Kennedy, 267, 359

Kleinbard, David, The Beginning of Terror: A Psychological Study of Rainer Maria Rilke's Life and Work, 397

Klingaman, William K, Encyclopedia of the McCarthy Era, 319

Klyuchevsky, Vasilii, Peter the Great, 375

Knaggs, John R, The Bugles Are Silent: A Novel of the Texas Revolution, 232

Knapp, Bettina L., The Brontës: Branwell, Anne, Emily, Charlotte, 53–57;

Gertrude Stein, 438;

Stephen Crane, 114;

Walt Whitman, 491

Knecht, R.J., Catherine de Medici, 81;

Richelieu, 396

Knight, Arthur, and Kit Knight, Kerouac and the Beats: A Primary Sourcebook, 269

Knight, Frida, Beethoven and the Age of Revolution, 30

Knight, Joseph, David Garrick, 187

Knightley, Phillip, and Colin Simpson, The Secret Lives of Lawrence of Arabia, 278

Knowles, David, Thomas Becket, 459

Knowles, Owen, ed, A Conrad Chronology, 106

Knowlson, James, Damned to Fame: The Life of Samuel Beckett, 29

Knox, Melissa, Oscar Wilde: A Long and Lovely Suicide, 492

Knox, Wilfred L., St. Paul, 369

Kobal, John, Marlene Dietrich, 137

Kobald, Karl, Franz Schubert and His Times, 419

Koch, Adrienne, ed, Jefferson, 247

Koch, Eric, Icon in Love: A Novel of Goethe, 200

Koch, Stephen, Stargazer: Andy Warhol's World and His Films, 482

Kocher, Paul H, Christopher Marlowe: A Study of His Thought, Learning, and Character, 311

Koenig, Louis W, Bryan: A Political Biography of William Jennings Bryan, 61

Koestenbaum, Wayne, Jackie Under My Skin: Interpreting an Icon, 359

Koestler, Arthur, The Sleepwalkers: A History of Man's Changing Vision of the Universe, 112

Koht, Halvden, Life of Ibsen, 237

Kohut, Thomas A, Wilhelm II and the Germans: A Study in Leadership, 493

Komroff, Manuel, Disraeli, 139;

Feast of Jesters, 7;

Marie Antoinette, 310;

Waterloo, 345, 486

Konefsky, Samuel J, The Legacy of Holmes and Brandeis: A Study in the Influence of Ideas, 51

Konig, Hans, Columbus: His Enterprise, 104

Koningsberger, Hans, The World of Vermeer 1632–1675, 478

Kopper, Edward A. Jr., ed, A J.M.Synge Literary Companion , 450

Korda, Michael, The Immortals, 267, 334

Korman, Keith, Secret Dreams, 177, 259

Korngold, Ralph, Last Years of Napoleon: His Captivity on St. Helena, 345

Kornitzer, Bela, The Real Nixon: An Intimate Biography, 357

Kort, Michael, Nikita Khrushchev, 271

Koslow, Jules, Ivan the Terrible, 241

Kosner, Alice, The Voice of the People: William Jennings Bryan, 61

Kossak, Zofia, Blessed Are the Meek: A Novel About St. Francis of Assisi, 171

Kossoff, David, The Book of Witnesses, 248

Kossoff, Philip, Valiant Heart: A Biography of Heinrich Heine, 218

Kostenevich, A.G, Henri Matisse, 317

Kostyal, K.M, Stonewall Jackson: A Life Portrait, 243

Kosztolanyi, Deszo, Bloody Poet, 350

Kousoulas, D.George, The Life and Times of Constantine the Great, 108

Krailshaimer, A.J, Rabelais and the Franciscans, 388

Kramer, Dale, ed, The Cambridge Companion to Thomas Hardy, 213

Kramnick, Isaac, The Rage of Edmund Burke: Portrait of an Ambivalent Conservative, 64

Kraske, Robert, Harry Houdini: Master of Magic, 231

Krasnov, Peter N, Napoleon and the Cossacks, 345, 7

Krass, Peter, Sojourner Truth, 469

Krause, Ernst, Richard Strauss: The Man and His Work, 444

Krell, David F, Nietzsche: A Novel, 355

Kretzmann, Norman, and Eleanore Stump, eds, The Cambridge Companion to Aquinas, 10

Krieg, Joann P, A Whitman Chronology, 491

Kripalani, Krishna, Rabindranath Tagore: A Life, 451

Kristy, Davida, George Balanchine: American Ballet Master, 22

Krohn, Katherine E, Marilyn Monroe: Norma Jean's Dream, 334

Krotkov, Yuri, The Nobel Prize, 271;

The Red Monarch: Scenes from the Life of Stalin, 436

Kruger, Mary, No Honeymoon for Death, 337

Krull, Marianne, Freud and His Father, 177

Krupskaya, Nadezhda, Reminiscences of Lenin, 280

Krutch, Joseph W, Edgar Allan Poe: A Study in Genius, 380;

Samuel Johnson, 254

Kundera, Milan, Immortality, 200

Kunetka, James W, Oppenheimer: The Years of Risk, 361

Kunhardt, Philip B. Jr., Philip B.Kunhardt, III, and Peter W.Kunhardt, Lincoln: An Illustrated Biography, 284

Kunhardt, Philip B. Jr., Philip B.Kunhardt III, and Peter W.Kunhardt, P.T.Barnum: America's Greatest Showman, 24

Kuntz, Paul G, Bertrand Russell, 412

Kupferberg, Herbert, Felix Mendelssohn: His Life, His Family, His Music, 315;

The Mendelssohns: Three Generations of Genius, 315

Kürenberg, Joachim von, The Kaiser: A Life of Wilhelm II, Last Emperor of Germany, 493

Kurlbaum, Margarete S, Mary, Queen of Scots, 315

Kurth, Peter, Tsar: The Lost World of Nicholas and Alexandra, 354

Kurtz, Harold, The Empress Eugénie, 346–347

Kurtz, Katherine, Two Crowns for America, 484

Kurzman, Dan, Ben-Gurion: Prophet of Fire, 32

Kuster, Konrad, Mozart: A Musical Biography, 340

Kuzminskaya, Tatyana A, Tolstoy as I Knew Him, 463

Kyle, Elisabeth, Duet: The Story of Clara and Robert Schumann, 420;

Great Ambitions: A Story of the Early Years of Charles Dickens, 134

La Farge, Ann, Gertrude Stein, 438

La Fuye, Maurice de, and Emile A.Babeau, Apostle of Liberty: A Life of La Fayette, 276

La Grange, Henry-Louis de, Gustav Mahler: Vienna: The Years of Challenge 1897–1904, 302;

Gustav Mahler: Vienna, Triumph and Disillusion 1904–1907, 302;

Mahler, 302

La Mure, Pierre, Beyond Desire: A Novel Based on the Life of Felix and Cécile Mendelssohn, 315, 420, 95;

Clair de Lune: A Novel About Claude Debussy, 127;

Moulin Rouge: A Novel Based on the Life of Henri de Toulouse-Lautrec, 129, 465;

The Private Life of Mono Lisa, 282, 322

Labarge, Margaret W, Saint Louis: Louis IX, Most Christian King of France, 292

Labor, Earle, Jack London, 290

Lace, William W, Michelangelo, 328

Lacey, Robert, Ford: The Men and the Machines, 168;

The Life and Times of Henry VIII, 221;

Sir Walter Raleigh, 389

Lacey, W.K, Cicero and the End of the Roman Republic, 98

Lacouture, Jean, De Gaulle, 124

Lader, Lawrence, The Margaret Sanger Story and the Fight for Birth Control, 415

Lader, Lawrence, and Milton Meltzer, Margaret Sanger: Pioneer of Birth Control, 415

Ladowsky, Ellen, Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, 359

Laffitte, Sophie, Chekhov: 1860–1904, 94

Lafourcade, Georges, Swinburne: A Literary Biography, 449

Lagercrantz, Olof, August Strindberg, 446

Lago, Mary, E.M.Forster: A Literary Life, 169

Lahey, Gerald F, Gerard Manley Hopkins, 229

Lahr, John, Sinatra: The Artist and the Man, 430

Laing, Margaret I, Josephine and Napoleon, 345;

The Next Kennedy, 268

Lake, Carlton, In Quest of Dali, 120

Laker, Rosalind, Circle of Pearls, 503;

The Golden Tulip, 478;

The Sugar Pavilion, 193;

To Dance with Kings, 310

Laki, Peter, ed, Bartók and His World, 25

Lamb, Beatrice P, The Nehrus of India: Three Generations of Leadership, 348

Lamb, Harold, Alexander of Macedon: The Journey to the World's End, 8;

Charlemagne: The Legend and the Man, 89;

Genghis Khan and the Mongol Horde, 190;

Genghis Khan: Emperor of All Men, 190;

Hannibal: One Man Against Rome, 211;

Theodora and the Emperor: The Drama of Justinian, 260–261

Lamb, V.B, The Betrayal of Richard III: An Introduction to the Controversy, 395

Lambdin, Dewey, A King's Commander, 349

Lambert, Lydia, Pushkin: Poet and Lover, 387

Lambton, Antony, Elizabeth and Alexandra, 354

Lampadius, W.A, The Life of Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy, 315

Lancaster, Bruce, For Us the Living, 284;

The Secret Road, 11

Lancaster, Sheila, Mistress of Fortune, 345

Lancel, Serge, Hannibal, 211

Landau, Elaine, Robert Fulton, 179

Landis, Mark, Joseph McCarthy: The Politics of Chaos, 319

Landon, H.C.Robbins, Beethoven: His Life, Work, and World, 30

Landon, H.C.Robbins, Handel and His World, 210

Landon, H.C.Robbins, Haydn: A Documentary Study, 216;

Haydn: Chronicle and Works, 216;

Mozart: The Golden Years, 1789–91, 340;

1791; Mozart's Last Year, 340

Landon, H.C.Robbins, and David Wyn Jones, Haydn: His Life and Music, 216

Landon, H.C.Robbins, and Henry Raynor, Haydn, 216

Landon, H.C.Robbins, ed, The Mozart Compendium: A Guide to Mozart's Life and Music, 340

Landström, Björn, Columbus: The Story of Don Cristóbal Colón, Admiral of the Ocean, 104

Lane, Jane, Parcel of Rogues, 315;

The Severed Crown, 117, 90;

The Young and Lonely King, 90

Lane, Margaret, The Brontë Family: A Reconsideration of Mrs. Gaskell's Life of Charlotte Brontë, 53–57;

Samuel Johnson & His World, 254

Lang, Andrew, Maid of France, 249

Lang, Paul H, George Frideric Handel, 210

Langaard, Johan H., and R.A.Revold, Edvard Munch: Masterpieces from the Artist's Collection in the Munch Museum in Oslo, 342

Langdon, Helen, Caravaggio: A Life, 12

Langenfeld, Robert, ed, Reconsidering Aubrey Beardsley, 28

Langland, Elizabeth, Anne Brontë: The Other One, 53–57

Langston, Robert, The Childhood and Youth of Charles Dickens, 134

Lanson, Gustave, Voltaire, 480

Lapati, Americo D, John Henry Newman, 352

Lapp, John S, Zola Before the Rougon-Macquart, 509

Lapsley, Hilary, Margaret Mead and Ruth Benedict: The Kinship of Women, 321

Laqueur, Walter, Stalin: The Glasnost Revelations, 436

Larg, David, Giuseppe Garibaldi: A Biography, 186;

John Ruskin, 411

Larner, John, Marco Polo and the Discovery of the World, 381

Laroque, François, The Age of Shakespeare, 423

Larrabee, Eric, Commander in Chief: Franklin Delano Roosevelt, His Lieutenants, and Their War, 406

Larreta, Antonio, The Last Portrait of the Duchess of Alba, 205

Larsen, Gaylord, Dorothy and Agatha, 96

Larsen, Jens Peter, and Georg Feder, The New Grove Haydn, 216

Larsen, Lyle, Dr. Johnson's Household, 254

Larsen, Rebecca, Franklin D. Roosevelt: Man of Destiny, 406;

Oppenheimer and the Atomic Bomb, 361;

Paul Robeson: Hero Before His Time, 400;

Richard Nixon: Rise and Fall of a President, 357

Larson, Arthur, Eisenhower: The President Nobody Knew, 157

Larson, Bruce L., Lindbergh of Minnesota: A Political Biography, 285

Lash, Joseph P., Eleanor and Franklin: The Story of Their Relationship Based on Eleanor Roosevelt's Private Papers, 405, 406;

Eleanor: The Years Alone, 405;

Helen and Teacher: The Story of Helen Keller and Anne Sullivan Macy, 266;

Life Was Meant to Be Lived: A Centenary Portrait of Eleanor Roosevelt, 405

Laski, Marghanita, George Eliot and Her World, 158;

Jane Austen, 19

Lassaigne, Jacques, El Greco, 207;

Matisse: Biographical and Critical Study, 317

Lászlo, Zsigmond, and Béla Mátéka, Franz Liszt: A Biography in Pictures, 286

Latham, Aaron, Crazy Sundays: F.Scott Fitzgerald in Hollywood, 166

Latham, Caroline, and Jeannie Sakol, E Is for Elvis: An A-to-Z Illustrated Guide to the King of Rock and Roll, 384

Latham, Jean Lee, Far Voyager: The Story of James Cook, 109

Latham, Peter, Brahms, 50

Lathrop, George P., A Study in Hawthorne, 215

Latner, Richard B., The Presidency of Andrew Jackson: White House Politics 1829–37, 242

Latour, Anny, The Borgias, 45–47

Latzko, Andreas, Lafayette: A Life, 276

Lauber, John, The Inventions of Mark Twain, 473;

The Making of Mark Twain: A Biography, 473

Laurent, Monique, Rodin, 404

Lauritzen, Jonreed, The Everlasting Fire, 434, 508

La Valley, Albert J., ed, Focus on Hitchcock, 223

Laver, James, Whistler, 490

Lavine, Sigmund A., Wandering Minstrels We: The Story of Gilbert and Sullivan, 197–198

Lavisse, Ernest, The Youth of Frederick the Great, 175

Law, Alice, Patrick Branwell Brontë, 53–57

Law, Janice, All the King's Ladies, 293

Lawler, Mary, Marcus Garvey, 188

Lawlor, John, C.S.Lewis: Memories and Reflections, 283

Lawlor, Laurie, Daniel Boone, 42

Lawrence, Austin H., Duke Ellington and His World, 161

Lawrence, Jerome, and Robert E.Lee, Inherit the Wind, 61;

The Night Thoreau Spent in Jail, 461

Lawson, Richard, Edith Wharton, 489

Lazenby, J.F., Hannibal's War: A Military History of the Second Punic War, 211

Le Blanc, Paul, ed, Rosa Luxemburg: Reflections and Writings, 296

Le Clair, Robert C., The Young Henry James: 1843–70, 245

Le Comte, Edward, Grace to a Witty Sinner: A Life of Donne, 140

Le Faye, Deirdre, Jane Austen, 19

Le Hardouin, Maria, Colette: A Biographical Study, 103

Le Joly, Edward, S.J., Mother Teresa of Calcutta: A Biography, 339

Le Pinchon, Yann, Gauguin: Life, Art, and Inspiration, 189

Le Porrier, Herbert, The Doctor from Cordova: A Biographical Novel about the Great Philosopher Maimonides, 303

Le Sueur, Gordon, Cecil Rhodes: The Man and His Work, 393

Le Targat, François, Kandinsky, 263

Le Vot, André, F.Scott Fitzgerald: A Biography, 166

Leach, Karoline, In the Shadow of the Dreamchild: A New Understanding of Lewis Carroll, 75

Leach, William, Edith Wharton, 489

Leacock, Stephen, Charles Dickens: His Life and Work, 134

Learner, Laurence, The Kennedy Women: The Saga of an American Family, 359

Leaming, Barbara, Marilyn Monroe, 334

Lear, Linda J., Rachel Carson: Witness for Nature, 77

Leary, Francis W., Fire and Morning, 395

Leaska, Mitchell A., Granite and Rainbow: The Hidden Life of Virginia Woolf, 501

Leavell, J.Perry, Harry S.Truman, 468;

James Madison, 299–300;

Woodrow Wilson, 497

Leavitt, Richard F., ed, The World of Tennessee Williams, 495

Lebeaux, Richard, Thoreau's Seasons, 461;

Young Man Thoreau, 461

Lebesque, Morvan, Portrait of Camus: An Illustrated Biography, 11

Lebrecht, Norman, ed, Mahler Remembered, 302

Lechner, Michael, My Beautiful White Roses, 171

Leckie, Ross, Hannibal, 211

Leckie, Shirley A., Elizabeth Bacon Custer and the Making of a Myth, 119

Ledwidge, Sir Bernard, De Gaulle, 124

Lee, Clark, and Richard Henschel, Douglas MacArthur, 297

Lee, Hermione, Virginia Woolf, 501;

Willa Cather: Double Lives, 80

Lee, Lawrence, Vladimir Nabokov, 344

Lee, Maurice, Government by Pen: Scotland Under James VI and I, 244

Lee, R.Alton, Dwight D.Eisenhower: Soldier and Statesman , 157

Lee, Robert E. Jr, Recollections and Letters of General Robert E.Lee, 219

Lee, Sir Sidney, King Edward VII: A Biography, 154;

Life of William Shakespeare, 423

Lee, Stephen J., Peter the Great, 375

Lee, Tanith, The Gods Are Thirsty, 401

Leech, Clifford, Eugene O'Neill, 360

Leech, Margaret, In the Days of McKinley, 320

Leech, Margaret, and Harry J.Brown, The Garfield Orbit, 185

Leekley, John, The Blue and the Gray, 279

Lefcourt, Peter, Di and I, 133

Lefebvre, Georges, Napoleon, 345

Leff, Leonard J., Hitchcock and Selznick: The Rich and Strange Collaboration of Alfred Hitchcock and David O.Selznick in Hollywood, 223

Lefkowitz, Frances, Marilyn Monroe, 334

Legouis, Emile, The Early Life of William Wordsworth, 1770–98, 502

Legouis, Pierre, Andrew Marvell: Poet, Puritan, Patriot, 312

Lehman, John, Virginia Woolf and Her World, 501

Lehr, Helene, Star of the North: A Novel Based on the Life of Catherine the Great, 83

Leigh, Gertrude, New Light on the Youth of Dante, 121

Leighton, Margaret C., Shelley's Mary: A Life of Mary Godwin Shelley, 425

Lellenberg, Jon L., ed, The Quest for Sir Arthur Conan Doyle: Thirteen Biographers in Search of a Life, 143

LeMaster, J.R., and Donald D.Kummings, eds, Walt Whitman: An Encyclopedia, 491

LeMaster, J.R., and John D.Wilson, eds, The Mark Twain Encyclopedia , 473

Lengyel, Emil, They Called Him Atatürk, 13

Lennon, Adria, Jorge Luis Borges, 44

Lennon, Cynthia, A Twist of Lennon, 281

Lennon, Florence Becker, The Life of Lewis Carroll, 75;

Victoria Through the Looking-Glass: The Life of Lewis Carroll, 75

Lennon, Nigey, The Sagebrush Bohemian: Mark Twain in California, 473

Lensing, George A., Wallace Stevens: A Poet's Growth, 441

Leon, Derrick, Ruskin: The Great Victorian, 411

Leonard, Hugh, Parnell and the Englishwoman, 364

Leopold, Christopher, Blood and Guts Is Going Nuts, 368

Leppmann, Wolfgang, Rilke: A Life, 397

Lerman, Rhoda, Eleanor, 405

Lerner, Aaron B., Einstein and Newton: A Comparison of Two Great Scientists, 156, 353

Lescourret, Marie-Anne, Rubens: A Double Life, 410

Lescroart, John T., Rasputin's Revenge, 354

Léser, Esther H., Thomas Mann's Short Fiction: An Intellectual Biography, 307

Leslie, Charles R., Memoirs of the Life of John Constable, Esq.. R.A., Composed Chiefly of His Letters, 107

Leslie, Doris, The Great Corinthian: A Portrait of the Prince Regent, 193;

The Prime Minister's Wife, 139

Leslie, Shane, George IV, 193

Lesznai, Lajos, Bartók, 25

Letton, Jennette and Francis, The Young Elizabeth, 160

Lever, Evelynne, Marie Antoinette: The Last Queen of France, 310

Leverich, Lyle, Tom: The Unknown Tennessee Williams, 495

LeVert, Suzanne, Edgar Allan Poe, 380

Levey, Michael, The Life and Death of Mozart, 340

Levi, Peter, Eden Renewed: The Public and Private Life of John Milton, 330;

Horace: A Life, 230;

Tennyson, 456

Levin, Benjamin H, To Spit Against the Wind, 173, 363

Levin, Dan, Stormy Petrel: The Life and Work of Maxim Gorky, 204

Levin, David, Cotton Mother: The Young Life of the Lord's Remembrancer 1663–1703, 316

Levin, Harry, The Overreacher: A Study of Christopher Marlowe, 311

Levin, Meyer, The Architect, 504

Levin, Pamela, Susan B. Anthony: Fighter for Women's Rights, 9

Levin, Phyllis L., Abigail Adams: A Biography, 1

Levine, Daniel, Jane Addams and the Liberal Tradition, 4

Levine, I.E., Lenin: The Man Who Made a Revolution, 280;

Oliver Cromwell, 117

Levine, Jacques, Hitler's Secret Diaries, 224

Levine, Lawrence W., Defender of the Faith: William Jennings Bryan: The Last Decade, 1915–1925, 61

Levy, Alan, Ezra Pound: The Voice of Silence, 383;

Vladimir Nabokov: The Velvet Butterfly, 344

Levy, Lorraine, Picasso, 378

Lewes, G.H., The Life and Works of Goethe, 200;

The Life of Maximilien Robespierre, 401

Lewin, Moshe, Lenin's Last Struggle, 280

Lewis, Ada Cook, The Longest Night, 81

Lewis, Cynthia Copeland, Hello, Alexander Graham Bell Speaking: A Biography, 31

Lewis, D.B. Wyndham, Doctor Rabelais, 388;

The Hooded Hawk: Or the Case of Mr. Boswell, 48;

Molière: The Comic Mask, 331

Lewis, David C., W.E.B. Du Bois: Biography of a Race, 1868–1919, 147

Lewis, David L., King: A Biography, 273

Lewis, Edith, Willa Cather Living: A Personal Record, 80

Lewis, Hilda W., Call Lady Purbeck, 244;

Catherine, 91;

Harold Was My King, 494;

I Am Mary Tudor, 221, 314;

Wife to Great Buckingham, 244;

Wife to the Bastard, 494

Lewis, Janet, The Ghost of Monsieur Scarron, 293

Lewis, Jayne E., Mary Queen of Scots: Romance and Nation, 315

Lewis, Jonathan, and Phillip Whitehead, Stalin: A Time for Judgement, 436

Lewis, Lloyd, Captain Sam Grant, 206;

Sherman: Fighting Prophet, 428

Lewis, Oscar, The Lost Years: A Biographical Fantasy, 284

Lewis, Paul, The Glorious Scoundrel: A Biography of Captain John Smith, 433;

The Nelson Touch, 349

Lewis, Preston, The Demise of Billy the Kid, 36

Lewis, R.W.B., Edith Wharton: A Biography, 489;

The Jameses: A Family Narrative, 245

Lewis, Rupert, Marcus Garvey: Anti-Colonial Champion, 188

Lewis, W.H., Louis XIV: An Informal Portrait, 293

Lewisohn, Ludwig, ed, Goethe: The Story of a Man, 200

Leyda, Jay, The Melville Log: A Documentary Life of Herman Melville, 1819–1891, 324;

The Years and Hours of Emily Dickinson, 135

Leymarie, Jean, Who Was Van Gogh?, 475

Leys, Simon, The Chairman's New Clothes: Mao and the Cultural Revolution, 309;

The Death of Napoleon, 345

Li, Zhizui, The Private Life of Chairman Mao, 309

Licht, Fred, Goya: The Origins of the Modern Temper in Art, 205

Lichter, Paul, The Boy Who Dared to Rock: The Definitive Elvis, 384

Liddell Hart, B.H., Colonel Lawrence: The Man Behind the Legend, 278;

Great Captains Unveiled, 190;

Sherman: Soldier, Realist, American, 428

Lide, Mary, Command of the King, 500;

Fortune's Knave: The Making of William the Conqueror, 494

Liebert, Robert, Michelangelo: A Psychoanalytic Study of His Life and Images, 328

Liebknacht, Wilhelm, Karl Marx: Biographical Memoirs, 313

Lieven, D.C.B., Nicholas II: Twilight of the Empire, 354

Lifton, Robert J., Revolutionary Immortality: Mao Tse-tung and the Chinese Cultural Revolution, 309

Lightbown, Ronald, Sandro Botticelli: Life and Work, 49

Lightman, Alan P., Einstein's Dreams, 156

Lillegard, Dee, James A. Garfield: Twentieth President of the United States, 185

Lilley, Stephen R., Hernando Cortés, 113

Lin, Yutang, ed, The Wisdom of Confucius, 105

Linakis, Steven, Diva: The Life and Death of Maria Callas, 69

Lincoln, C.Eric, ed, Martin Luther King Jr.: A Profile, 273

Lincoln, Victoria, Charles: A Novel, 134;

Teresa: A Woman, 457

Lindbergh, Anne Morrow, Diaries and Letters of Anne Morrow Lindbergh, 285

Lindbergh, Reeve, The Names of the Mountains, 285

Lindop, Grevel, The Opium Eater: A Life of Thomas De Quincey, 125

Lindsay, Jack, Cézanne: His Life and Art, 85;

Charles Dickens: A Biographical and Critical Study, 134;

Cleopatra, 100;

Hogarth: His Art and His World, 226;

J.M.W. Turner: His Life and Work: A Critical Biography, 472;

Thomas Gainsborough, His Life and Art, 180;

William Blake: His Life and Work, 38;

William Morris: His Life and Work, 338

Lindsay, Kathleen, Enchantress of the Nile, 100

Lindsay, Maurice, The Burns Encyclopedia, 65;

Robert Burns: The Man, His Work, the Legend, 65

Lindsay, Philip, The Gentle Knight, 93;

Here Comes the King, 221

Lindsey, Karen, Divorced, Beheaded, Survived: A Feminist Reinterpretation of the Wives of Henry VIII, 221, 40

Ling, Trevor, The Buddha: Buddhist Civilization in India and Ceylon, 62

Lingeman, Richard R., Theodore Dreiser, 145

Lings, Martin, Muhammad: His Life Based on the Earliest Sources, 341

Linington, Elizabeth, The Kingbreaker, 117

Link, Arthur S., Wilson, 497;

Woodrow Wilson: A Profile, 497

Linklater, Eric, Ben Jonson and King James: Biography and Portrait, 256

Linn, James Weber, Jane Addams: A Biography, 4

Linscott, Gillian, Dance on Blood, 288;

Stage Fright, 424

Linson, Corwin K., My Stephen Crane, 114

LiPira, Benedict S., Giuseppe Garibaldi: A Biography of the Father of Modern Italy, 186

Lipking, Lawrence I., Samuel Johnson: The Life of an Author, 254

Lipsky, George A., John Quincy Adams: His Theory and Ideas, 3

Lisle, Laurie, Portrait of an Artist: A Biography of Georgia O'Keeffe, 358

Liss, Peggy K., Isabel the Queen: The Life and Times, 240

Lister, R.P., Genghis Khan, 190

Lister, Raymond, William Blake: An Introduction to the Man and His Work, 38

Listowel, Judith, The Other Livingstone, 287

Liszt, Franz, Life of Chopin, 95

Littell, Robert, The Revolutionist: A Novel of Russia, 280, 436

Little, Bryan D.G., Sir Christopher Wren: A Historical Biography, 503

Littlefield, Roy Everett, III, William Randolph Hearst: His Role in American Progressivism, 217

Litvinoff, Barnett, Ben-Gurion of Israel, 32

Litzmann, Berthold, Clara Schumann: An Artist's Life, 420

Liu, Wu-Chi, Confucius, His Life and Time, 105

Liversidge, Douglas, St. Francis of Assist, 171

Livesay, Harold C., Andrew Carnegie and the Rise of Big Business, 74

Livy, The War with Hannibal: Books XXI–XXX of The History of Rome from Its Foundation, 211

Lloyd, Alan, Franco, 172;

The King Who Lost America: A Portrait of the Life and Times of George III, 191;

The Making of the King, 1066, 494

Lloyd, Christopher, Sir Francis Drake, 144

Lloyd George, Frances, The Years That Are Past, 288

Lloyd George, Richard, My Father, Lloyd George, 288

Lloyd, John A.T., Ivan Turgenev, 471

Lloyd, Rosemary, Mallarmé: The Poet and His Circle, 305

Lloyd Webber, Andrew, and Tim Rice, Evita: The Legend of Eva Perón, 372–373

Loach, Jennifer, Parliament and the Crown in the Reign of Mary Tudor, 314

Loades, David M, Mary Tudor: A Life, 314;

The Reign of Mary Tudor, 314

Lock, F.P, Edmund Burke: 1730–1784, 64

Lock, John, and Canon W.T.Dixon, A Man of Sorrow: The Life, Letters, and Times of Patrick Brontë, 53–57

Lockhart, J.G, Memoirs of the Life of Sir Walter Scott, Bart, 422

Lockhart, J.G., and C.M.Woodhouse, Cecil Rhodes: The Colossus of Southern Africa, 393

Lockhart, John G, Life of Robert Burns, 65

Lockspeiser, Edward, Debussy: His Life and Mind, 127

Lockyer, Roger, James VI and I, 244

Lodge, Henry Cabot, Alexander Hamilton, 209

Lodge, Richard, Richelieu, 396

Loewen, Nancy, Mozart, 340;

Walt Whitman, 491

Lofaro, Michael A, The Life and Adventures of Daniel Boone, 42

Lofaro, Michael A. and Joe Cummings, Crockett at Two Hundred: New Perspectives on the Man and the Myth, 116

Lofaro, Michael A., ed, Davy Crockett: The Man, The Legend, The Legacy 1786–1986, 116

Lofts,Norah, Anne Boleyn, 40;

The Concubine, 40;

Crown of Aloes, 240;

Emma Hamilton, 349;

Here Was a Man, 389;

The King’s Pleasure, 221;

The Lute Player, 394;

A Rose for Virtue, 345

Logan, Rayford W., ed, W.E.B.Du Bois: A Profile, 147

Lohse, Bernhard, Martin Luther: An Introduction to His Life and Work, 295

Lomask, Milton, Aaron Burr, 66;

Andrew Johnson: President on Trial, 251;

Odd Destiny: A Life of Alexander Hamilton, 209

Lomax, Louis E, To Kill a Black Man, 304;

When the Word is Given, 304

London, Joan D, Jack London and His Times: An Unconventional Biography, 290

Long, Armistead L, Memoirs of Robert E.Lee, 279

Long, Elgen and Marie K, Amelia Earhart: The Mystery Solved, 151

Long, Gavin, MacArthur as Military Commander, 297

Long, Jeff, Empire of Bones: A Novel of Sam Houston and the Texas Revolution, 232

Long, John C, Bryan: The Great Commoner, 61;

George III: The Story of a Complex Man, 191

Long, Robert E.,James Fenimore Cooper, 111

Longfellow, Samuel, The Life of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow with Extracts from His Journals and Correspondence, 291

Longford, Elizabeth, The Life of Byron, 67;

Queen Victoria: Born to Succeed, 479;

Wellington, 486

Longford, Frank P, Francis of Assisi: A Life for All Seasons, 171

Longgood, William F, Ike: A Pictorial Biography, 157

Longstreet, Stephen, The Bank, 337, 403;

The Burning Man, 317, 378, 438;

Eagles Where I Walk, 11;

The Young Men of Paris, 317, 378

Longstreet, Stephen, and Ethel Longstreet, Man of Montmartre: A Novel Based on the Life of Maurice Utrillo, 465

Longstreth, Thomas M, Two Rivers Meet in Concord, 461

Longworth, Polly, Emily Dickinson: Her Letter to the World, 135;

The World of Emily Dickinson, 135

Looby, Chris, Benjamin Franklin, 173

Loomis, Stanley, The Fatal Friendship: Marie Antoinette, Count Fersen, and the Flight to Varennes, 310

Loomis, Vincent V., and Jeffrey L.Ethell, Amelia Earhart: The Final Story, 151

Lopez, Claude-Anne, Mon Cher Papa: Franklin and the Ladies of Paris, 173

Lopez, Claude-Anne, and Eugenia W.Herbert, The Private Franklin: The Man and His Family , 173

Lorant, Stefan, The Life and Times of Theodore Roosevelt, 407

Lorch, Jennifer, Mary Wollstonecraft: The Making of a Radical Feminist, 499

Lorenz, Lincoln, John Paul Jones: Fighter for Freedom and Glory, 255

Loschnigg, Franz, The Cultural Education of Gustav Mahler, 302

Loth, David G, The People’s General: The Personal Story of Lafayette, 276

Lottman, Herbert, Albert Camus: A Biography, 71;

Flaubert: A Biography, 167

Lottman, Herbert R, Colette: A Life, 103

Lounsbury, Thomas R, James Fenimore Cooper, 111;

Studies in Chaucer: His Life and Writings, 93

Lourie, Richard, The Autobiography of Joseph Stalin, 436

Love, Robertus, The Rise and Fall of Jesse James, 246

Lovelace, Richard F, The American Pietism of Cotton Mother: Origins of American Evangelicalism, 316

Lovell, Mary S, The Sounds of Wings: The Life of Amelia Earhart, 151

Lovesey, Peter, Bertie and the Crime of Passion, 154, 34, 465;

Bertie and the Seven Bodies, 154;

Bertie and the Tinman, 154

Loving, Jerome, Walt Whitman: The Song of Himself, 491

Lowe, David A., ed, Callas: As They Saw Her, 69

Lowe, Jacques, Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis: The Making of a First Lady, 359

Lowell, Amy, John Keats, 265

Lowrie, Walter, Kierkegaard, 272

Loyn, H.R., and J.Percival, eds, The Reign of Charlemagne, 89

Loyrette, Henri, Degas: The Man and His Art, 129

Lubac, Henri de, Teilhard de Chardin: The Man and His Meaning, 455

Lubbock, Percy, Portrait of Edith Wharton, 489;

Samuel Pepys, 371

Lubin, A.J, Stranger on the Earth: A Psychological Biography of Vincent Van Gogh, 475

Lucas-Dubreton, Jean, Alexandre Dumas: The Fourth Musketeer, 148;

The Borgias, 45–47;

Samuel Pepys: A Portrait in Miniature, 371

Luce, Harry K, St. Paul, 369

Lucie-Smith, Edward, Joan of Arc, 249

Luckett, Perry D, Charles A.Lindbergh: A Bio-Bibliography, 285

Ludwig, Charles, Defender of the Faith, 479;

George Frideric Handel: Composer of Messiah, 210;

Queen of the Reformation, 295

Ludwig, Emil, Bolívar: The Life of an Idealist, 41;

Cleopatra: The Story of a Queen, 100;

Kaiser Wilhelm 11, 493

Luedemann, Gerd, Paul, Apostle to the Gentiles: Studies in Chronology, 369

Lukacs, John, The Hitler of History, 224

Lukas, Mary, and Ellen Lukas, Teilhard, 455

Luke, Mary M, The Ivy Crown: A Biographical Novel of Queen Katherine Parr, 221

Lukes, Bonnie L, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow: America’s Beloved Poet, 291

Lund, Gerald N, The Work and the Glory, 434

Lundberg, Ferdinand, Imperial Hearst: A Social Biography, 217

Lundquist, James, Theodore Dreiser, 145

Lurie, Leonard, The Running of Richard Nixon, 357

Luthin, Reinhard H, The Real Abraham Lincoln: A Complete One-Volume History of His Life and Times, 284

Lutz, Alma, Susan B.Anthony: Rebel, Crusader, Humanitarian, 9

Lynch, Daniel, Yellow, 217

Lynch, Denis T, An Epoch and a Man: Martin Van Buren and His Times, 474;

Grover Cleveland: A Man Four-Square, 101

Lynn, Kenneth S, Charlie Chaplin and His Times, 88;

Hemingway, 219

Lynn, Margaret, Free Soil, 58

Lyon, Peter, Eisenhower: Portrait of a Hero, 157

Lyons, Eugene, Our Unknown Ex-President: A Portrait of Herbert Hoover, 227

Lyons, F.S.L, Charles Stewart Parnell, 364

Lyons, James K, Bertolt Brecht in America, 52

Lyons, Marvin, Nicholas II: The Last Tsar, 354

Lyons, Timothy J., ed, Charlie Chaplin: A Guide to References and Resources, 88

Lyttle, Richard B, Ernest Hemingway, 219;

Il Duce: The Rise and Fall of Benito Mussolini, 343;

Mark Twain-The Man and His Adventures, 473;

Pablo Picasso: The Man and the Image, 378

Lytton, Edward Bulwer, Harold: The Last of the Saxon Kings, 494

Maass, Edgar, Imperial Venus: A Novel of Napoleon’s Favorite Sister, 345

Mabee, Carleton, and Susan Mabee Newhouse, Sojourner Truth—Slave, Prophet, Legend, 469

Mabie, Mary L, Prepare Them for Caesar, 258

Mac Liammóir, Micheál, and Eavan Boland, W.B. Yeats and His World, 507

MacAlpine, Ida, and Richard Hunter, George III and the Mad Business, 191

Macaulay, Rose, The Shadow Flies, 330

Macaulay, Thomas Babington, The Life of Frederick the Great, 175;

Lord Bacon, 21

Macbeth, George, Dizzy’s Woman, 139

MacCaffrey, Wallace T, Elizabeth I, 160

MacCarthy, Fiona, William Morris: A Life for Our Time, 338

MacDonald, Fiona, The World in the Time of Marie Antoinette, 310

MacDonald, Hugh, Berlioz, 33

MacDonald, Isobel, The Buried Self, 12

MacDonald, Malcolm, Brahms, 50;

Schoenberg, 418

MacDonogh, Giles, Frederick the Great: A Life in Deed and Letters, 175

MacFie, A.L., Ataturk, 13

MacGregor-Hastie, Roy, The Day of the Lion: The Life and Death of Fascist Italy, 343;

The Red Barbarians: The Life and Times of Mao Tse-tung, 309

MacHamer, Peter K., ed, The Cambridge Companion to Galileo, 181

Machann, Clifton, Matthew Arnold: A Literary Life, 12

MacInnes, Colin, Three Years to Play, 423

Mack, Gerstle, Paul Cézanne, 85;

Toulouse-Lautrec, 465

Mack, John E, A Prince of Our Disorder: The Life of T.E.Lawrence, 278

Mack, Maynard, Alexander Pope: A Life, 382

Mack Smith, Denis, Garibaldi: A Great Life in Brief, 186;

Mussolini, 343

Mack Smith, Denis, ed, Garibaldi, 186

Mackail, J.W., The Life of William Morris, 338

Mackay, James A., Alexander Graham Bell: A Lile, 31;

Andrew Carnegie: His Life and Times, 74;

I Have Not Yet Begun to Fight: A Life of John Paul Jones, 255;

R.B.: A Biography of Robert Burns, 65

Mackay, Margaret, The Violent Friend: The Story of Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson, 442

MacKenszie, Norman, and Jeanne MacKenszie, H.G.Wells: A Biography, 487

Mackenzie, Alexander S, The Life of Paul Jones, 255

Mackenzie, Catherine D, Alexander Graham Bell: The Man Who Contracted Space, 31

MacKenzie, Norman, and Jeanne MacKenzie, Dickens: A Life, 134

Mackesy, Piers, War without Victory: The Downfall of Pitt, 1799–1802, 319

Mackin, Jeanne, The Frenchwoman, 310

Mackinnon, James, Martin Luther and the Reformation, 295

Mackrell, Alice, Coco Chanel, 87

MacLachlan, James H, Galileo Galilei: First Physicist, 181

MacLean, Alastair, Lawrence of Arabia, 278

MacLean, Alistair, Captain Cook, 109

Macleish, Archibald, Scratch, 485

Macleod, Alison, City of Light, 70;

The Heretic, 70;

The Hireling, 70;

The Muscovite, 241;

The Portingale, 91

MacIure, Millar, ed, Marlowe: The Critical Heritage, 311

MacManus, Francis, Boccaccio, 39

MacMullen, Ramsay, Constantine, 108

MacNaughton, William R, Mark Twain’s Last Years as a Writer, 473

MacNeill, Eoin, St. Patrick, Apostle of Ireland, 367

MacPherson, C.B, Burke, 64

Macrae, Alasdair, W.B.Yeats: A Literary Life, 507

Madariaga, Salvador de, Christopher Columbus, 104;

Hernán Cortés: Conqueror of Mexico, 113;

Simón Bolívar, 41

Maddox, Brenda, D.H.Lawrence: The Story of a Marriage, 211;

Nora: The Real Life of Molly Bloom, 257;

Yeats’s Ghosts: The Secret Life of W.B.Yeats, 507

Maddox, Conroy, Dali, 120

Madsen, Axel, Chanel: A Woman of Her Own, 87

Madsen, David, Black Plume: The Suppressed Memoirs of Edgar Allan Poe, 380

Magarshack, David, Chekhov: A Life, 94;

Dostoevsky, 141;

Gogol: A Life, 201;

Pushkin: A Biography, 387;

Turgenev: A Life, 471

Magnum, Bernard, and Kathleen M.Higgins, eds, The Cambridge Companion to Nietzsche, 355

Magnus, Philip, Edmund Burke: A Life, 64;

Gladstone: A Biography, 199;

King Edward the Seventh, 154

Maguire, Robert A, Exploring Gogol, 201

Mahan, Alfred T, The Life of Nelson, 349

Maheu, Robert, and Richard Hack, Next to Hughes: Behind the Power and Tragic Downfall of Howard Hughes by His Closest Advisor, 233

Mahler, Alma, Gustav Mahler: Memories and Letters, 302

Mahoney, Irene, Madame Catherine, 81;

Royal Cousin: The Life of Henri IV of France, 220

Mahoney, John L., William Wordsworth: A Poetic Life, 502

Mahoney, Richard D, Sons and Brothers: The Days of Jack and Bobby Kennedy, 267, 268

Maier, Paul L, The Flames of Rome, 350, 369

Mailer, Norman, The Gospel According to the Son, 248;

Marilyn: A Biography, 334;

Of Women and Their Elegance, 334;

Portrait of Picasso as a Young Man: An Interpretive Biography, 378

Mailloux, Peter, A Hesitation Before Birth: The Life of Franz Kafka, 262

Main, Mary, The Girl Who Was Never Queen: A Biographical Novel of Princess Charlotte of Wales, 193;

The Woman with the Whip: Eva Peron, 372–373

Maine, Basil, Chopin, 95

Mainwaring, John, Memoirs of the Life of George Frederic Handel, 210

Major, Charles, When Knighthood Was in Flower, 221, 314

Maland, Charles J, Chaplin and American Culture: The Evolution of a Star Image, 88

Malhotra, Inder, Indira Gandhi: A Personal and Political Biography, 182

Malin, James C, John Brown and the Legend of Fifty-Six, 58

Malleson, George B, The Life of Prince Metternich, 327

Mallet, Charles, Mr. Lloyd George: A Study, 288

Mallet-Joris, Françoise, The Favourite, 396

Mallet, Michael E, The Borgias: The Rise and Fall of a Renaissance Dynasty, 45–47

Mallon, Thomas, Henry and Clara, 284

Malm, Dorothea, The Woman Question, 9

Malone, Dumas, Jefferson and His Time, 247

Malone, Mary, James Madison, 299–300

Malpass, Eric, The Cleopatra Boy, 256, 423;

A House of Women, 423;

Sweet Will, 423

Malvern, Gladys, On Golden Wings, 477

Manber, David, Wizard of Tuskegee: The Life of George Washington Carver, 78

Manceron, Claude, So Brief a Spring, 345

Manchester, William, American Caesar: Douglas MacArthur, 1880–1964, 297;

Disturber of the Peace: The Life of H.L.Mencken, 325;

The Last Lion, Winston Spencer Churchill: Alone 1932–1940, 97;

The Last Lion, Winston Spencer Churchill: Visions of Glory, 1874–1932, 97;

One Brief Shining Moment: Remembering Kennedy, 267

Mander, Rosalie, Mrs. Browning: The Story of Elizabeth Barrett Browning, 59–60

Maney, Patrick J, The Roosevelt Presence: The Life and Legacy of FDR, 406

Mango, Andrew, Ataturk: The Biography of the Founder of Modern Turkey, 13

Manheim, Michael, ed, The Cambridge Companion to Eugene O’Neill, 360

Mankowitz, Wolf, Dickens of London, 134;

The Extraordinary Mr. Poe: A Biography of Edgar Allan Poe, 380

Mann, Arthur, The Jackie Robinson Story, 402

Mann, Barry, Sigmund Freud, 177

Mann, Erika, The Last Year of Thomas Mann, 307

Mann, Heinrich, Young Henry of Navarre, 220

Mann, Katia, Unwritten Memories, 307

Mann, Klaus, Pathetic Symphony: A Novel about Tchaikovsky, 453

Mann, Nicholas, Petrarch, 376

Mann, Peggy, Golda: The Life of Israel’s Prime Minister, 323

Mann, Thomas, Lotte in Weimar, 200

Mannering, Douglas, The Life and Works of Degas, 129

Mannin, Ethel E, Red Rose: A Novel Based on the Life of Emma Goldman, 202

Manns, Peter, Martin Luther: An Illustrated Biography, 295

Mantel, Hilary, A Place of Greater Safety, 401

Mantz, R.E., and J.Middleton Murry, The Life of Katherine Mansfield, 308

Manuel, Frank E, A Portrait of Isaac Newton, 353;

A Requiem for Karl Marx, 313

Manvell, Roger, Charlie Chaplin, 88

Manzione, Joseph A, “I Am Looking to the North for My Life ”—Sitting Bull, 1876–1881, 431

Mapp, Alf J, Thomas Jefferson: A Strange Case of Mistaken Identity, 247

Marable, Manning, W.E.B.DuBois: Black Radical Democrat, 147

Marcantel, Pamela, An Army of Angels: A Novel of Joan of Arc, 249

Marchand, Leslie A, Byron: A Biography, 67;

Byron: A Portrait, 67

Marcus, Rebecca B, Moses Maimonides: Rabbi, Philosopher, and Physician, 303

Marcuse, Ludwig, Soldier of the Church: A Life of Ignatius of Loyola, 238

Marek, George, Beethoven: Biography of a Genius, 30;

The Eagles Die: Franz Joseph, Elizabeth, and Their Austria, 174;

Gentle Genius: The Story of Felix Mendelssohn, 315;

Puccini: A Biography, 386;

Richard Strauss: The Life of a Non-Hero, 444;

Schubert, 419;

Toscanini, 464

Marek, George, and Maria Gordon-Smith, Chopin, 95

Margoliouth, David S, Mohammed and the Rise of Islam, 341

Margoliouth, Herschel M, William Blake, 38

Mariani, Paul, Lost Puritan: A Life of Robert Lowell, 294;

William Carlos Williams: A New World Naked, 496

Marius, Richard, Luther, 295;

Martin Luther:: The Christian Between God and Death, 295;

Thomas More: A Biography, 336

Mark, Grace, The Dream Seekers, 126, 4

Mark, Joan T, Margaret Mead, Anthropologist: Coming of Age in America, 321

Markham, Felix M, Napoleon and the Awakening of Europe, 345

Markham, Lois, Helen Keller, 266;

Theodore Roosevelt, 407

Markish, David, Jesters, 375

Marks, Elaine, Colette, 103

Marks, Peter, Skullduggery, 455

Marks, Richard L., Cortés: The Great Adventurer and the Fate of Aztec Mexico, 113

Markus, Julia, Dared and Done: The Marriage of Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning, 59–60

Marlow, Joyce, The Oak and the Ivy: An Intimate Biography of William and Catherine Gladstone, 199

Marlowe, Derek, A Single Summer with Lord B, 67

Marlowe, John, Cecil Rhodes: The Anatomy of Empire, 393

Marlowe, Stephen, Colossus: A Novel about Goya and a World Gone Mad, 205;

The Death and Life of Miguel de Cervantes: A Novel, 84;

The Lighthouse at the End of the World, 380;

The Memoirs of Columbus, 104

Marnham, Patrick, Dreaming with His Eyes Open: A Life of Diego Rivera, 399

Marquis, Samuel S, Henry Ford: An Interpretation, 168

Martin, Albert, Aztecs and Spaniards: Cortés and the Conquest of Mexico, 113;

Mao Tse-tung and His China, 309;

Napoleon and the Napoleonic Wars, 345;

The Sea King: Sir Francis Drake and His Times, 144;

Sitting Bull and His World, 431;

Stalin, 436;

Unconditional Surrender: U.S.Grant and the Civil War, 206

Marsh, Dave, Elvis, 384

Marshall, Dorothy, The Life and Times of Victoria, 479

Marshall, Edison, Caravan to Xanadu: A Novel of Marco Polo, 381;

The Conqueror: A Novel of Alexander the Great, 8;

Cortez and Marina, 113;

The Lost Colony, 389

Marshall, Florence A, The Life and Letters of Mary Wollstonecraft Shelley, 425

Marshall, George, and David Poling, Schweitzer: A Biography, 421

Marshall, George N, Buddha: The Quest for Serenity: A Biography, 62

Marshall, John, Life of George Washington, 484

Marshall, William, Peter the Great, 375

Marszalek, John F, Sherman: A Soldier's Passion for Order, 428

Martelli, George, Livingstone's River: A History of the Zambezi Expedition 1858–64, 287

Martin, Bernard, Strange Vigor: A Biography of Sun Yat-Sen, 447

Martin, Brian, John Henry Newman: His Life and Work, 352

Martin, Christopher, The Brontës, 53–57;

Charles Dickens, 134

Martin du Gard, Roger, Recollections of André Gide, 196

Martin, George, Verdi: His Music, Life and Times, 477

Martin, Henry Desmond, The Rise of Chingis Khan and His Conquest of North China, 190

Martin, James Kirby, Benedict Arnold, Revolutionary Hero: An American Warrior, 11

Martin, Marty, Gertrude Stein, Gertrude Stein, Gertrude Stein: A One-character Play , 438

Martin, Michael R., and Richard C.Harrier, The Concise Encyclopedic Guide to Shakespeare, 423

Martin, Ralph G, Golda: The Romantic Years, 323

Martin, Robert B, Gerard Manley Hopkins: A Very Private Life, 229;

Tennyson: The Unquiet Heart, 456

Martin, Robert Stuart, Accidental Indies, 104

Martin, Steve, Picasso at the Lapin Agile, 156, 378

Martin, Theodore, The Life of His Royal Highness the Prince Consort, 5

Martin, Tony, Race First: The Ideological and Organizational Struggle of Marcus Garvey and the Universal Negro Improvement Association, 188

Martin, Waldo S. The Mind of, Frederick Douglass, 142

Martin, Wednesday, Marlene Dietrich, 137

Martin, William, Back Bay, 299–300;

Citizen Washington, 484

Martineau, James, A Study of Spinoza, 435

Martínez, Tomás Eloy, The Peron Novel, 372–373;

Santa Evita, 372–373

Martinich, Aloysius, Hobbes: A Biography, 225

Martz, Louis M, Thomas More: The Search for the Inner Man, 336

Marvick, Elizabeth W, The Young Richelieu: A Psychoanalytic Approach to Leadership, 396

Marwell, Jonathan, The Trials of Counsel: Francis Bacon in 1621, 21

Masani, Zareer, Indira Gandhi: A Biography, 182

Masefield, John, Basilissa: A Tale of the Empress Theodora, 260–261;

Conquer: A Tale of the Nika Rebellion in Byzantium, 260–261;

End and Beginning, 315

Maser, Werner, Hitler: Legend, Myth, and Reality, 224

Mason, Alpheus T, Brandeis: A Free Man's Life, 51

Mason, Anita, The Illusionist, 350, 374

Mason, Anthony, Cézanne, 85;

Matisse, 317

Mason, F. van Wyck, Brimstone Club, 173;

Golden Admiral, 144;

The Sea Venture, 433

Mason, Francis, I Remember Balanchine: Recollections of a Ballet Master by Those Who Knew Him, 22

Mason, Philip, Kipling: The Glass, the Shadow, and the Fire, 274

Massie, Allan, Augustus, 100, 17;

Caesar, 258;

The Caesars, 17, 258;

Colette, 103

Massie, Robert, Nicholas and Alexandra: An Intimate Account of the Last of the Romanovs and the Fall of Imperial Russia, 354;

Peter the Great: His Life and World, 375

Masson, David, De Quincey, 125;

The Life of John Milton, 330

Masson, Rosaline O, I Can Remember Robert Louis Stevenson , 442;

Life of Robert Louis Stevenson, 442

Masters, Edgar Lee, Lee: A Dramatic Poem, 279;

Lincoln the Man, 284

Masur, Gerhard, Simón Bolívar, 41

Mather, Edward, Nathaniel Hawthorne: A Modest Man, 215

Mather, Samuel, The Life of the Very Reverend and Learned Cotton Mather, 316

Mathew, David, James I, 244

Mathews, Basil, Booker T.Washington: Educator and Interracial Interpreter, 483

Mathews, Nancy M, Mary Cassatt: A Life, 79

Mathews, Nieves, Francis Bacon: The History of a Character Assassination, 21

Mathieson, Theodore, The Devil and Ben Franklin, 173

Mathiez, Albert, The Fall of Robespierre and Other Essays, 401

Mathison, Richard R, His Weird and Wanton Ways: The Secret Life of Howard Hughes, 233

Matt, Leonard von, St. Francis of Assisi: A Pictorial Biography, 171

Matt, Leonard von, and Hugo Rahner, St Ignatius of Loyola: A Pictorial Biography, 238

Mathew, Anne I, Warm Wind, West Wind, 336

Matthew, H.C.G, Gladstone: 1809–74, 199

Matthews, Brander, Molière: His Life and Works, 331

Matthews, Denis, Arturo Toscanini, 464

Matthews, Thomas S, Great Tom: Notes Toward the Definition of T.S.Eliot, 159

Matthews, Tom, Always Inventing, 31

Matthiessen, F.O, Theodore Dreiser, 145

Mauclair, Camille, Claude Monet, 332

Maude, Aylmer, The Life of Tolstoy, 463

Maugham, Robin, Conversations with Willie, 318;

Somerset and All the Maughams, 318

Maugham, W.Somerset, Then and Now, 298, 45–47

Maughan, A.M, The King's Malady: The Young Pitt, 191;

Young Pitt, 379

Maurat, Charlotte, The Brontës' Secret, 53–57

Mauriac, François, De Gaulle, 124

Maurois, André, Ariel: The Life of Shelley, 426;

Byron, 67;

Frédéric Chopin., 95;

King Edward and His Times, 154;

Lélia: The Life of George Sand, 414;

Napoleon and His World, 345;

Olympio: The Life of Victor Hugo, 235;

Prometheus: The Life of Balzac, 23;

The Titans: A Three-Generation Biography of the Dumas, 148;

The World of Marcel Proust, 385

Mauron, Charles, Introduction to the Psychoanalysis of Mallarmé, 305

Maury, Jean-Pierre, Newton: The Father of Modern Astronomy, 353

Maxwell, A.E, Steal the Sun, 468

Maxwell, Gilbert, Tennessee Williams and Friends: An Informal Biography , 495

Maxwell, Mark, Nixoncarver, 357

Maxwell, Robin, The Queen's Bastard, 160;

The Secret Diary of Anne Boleyn, 160, 40

Maxwell, Sir Herbert, The Life of Wellington, 486

May, Derwent, Proust, 385

May, Florence, The Life of Johannes Brahms, 50

May, Gita, Stendhal and the Age of Napoleon, 439

Mayer, Dorothy, Marie Antoinette: The Tragic Queen, 310

Mayer, Hans, Portrait of Wagner: An Illustrated Biography, 481

Mayer, Henry, A Son of Thunder: Patrick Henry and the American Republic, 222

Mayer, Robert, I, J.F.K., 267

Mayerson, Evelyn W, Princess in Amber, 199, 479

Mayfield, Sara, The Constant Circle: H.L. Mencken and His Friends, 325;

Exiles from Paradise: Zelda and Scott Fitzgerald, 166;

Mona Lisa: the Woman in the Portrait: A Fictional Biography, 282

Maynard, John, Browning's Youth, 59–60

Maynard, Theodore, Bloody Mary, 314;

Richest of the Poor: The Life of St. Francis of Assisi, 171;

Saint Ignatius and the Jesuits, 238

Mayo, Bernard, Henry Clay: Spokesman of the New West, 99

Mazlish, Bruce, In Search of Nixon: A Psychohistorical Inquiry , 357;

James and John Stuart Mill: Father and Son in the 19th Century, 329

Mazo, Earl, Richard Nixon: A Political and Personal Portrait, 357

Mazo, Earl, and Stephen Hess, Nixon: A Political Portrait, 357

McAleer, John, Ralph Waldo Emerson: Days of Encounter, 162;

Theodore Dreiser, 145

McAuley, Karen, Golda Meir, 323

McCabe, John, Charlie Chaplin, 88

McCabe, Joseph, Goethe: The Man and His Character, 200

McCall, Dan, Beecher, 443;

Beecher: A Novel, 9

McCann, Graham, Marilyn Monroe, 334

McCarthy, Patrick, Camus: A Critical Study of His Life and Work, 71

McCauley, Martin, ed, Khrushchev and Khrushchevism, 271

McCay, Mary A, Rachel Carson, 77

McClard, Megan, Harriet Tubman: Slavery and the Underground Railroad, 470

McClary, Ben H., ed, Washington Irving and the House of Murray: Geoffrey Crayon Charms the British 1817–56, 239

McConica, James, Erasmus, 163

McConnell, Alan, Tsar Alexander I: Paternalistic Reformer, 7

McConnor, Vincent, I Am Vidocq, 148, 23

McCormick, Donald, The Mask of Merlin: A Critical Story of David Lloyd George, 288

McCoy, Donald R, Calvin Coolidge: The Quiet President , 110;

The Presidency of Harry S. Truman, 468

McCoy, Drew R, The Last of the Fathers: James Madison and the Republican Legacy, 299–300

McCready, Sam, A William Butler Yeats Encyclopedia, 407

McCreary, Lew, Mount's Mistake, 153

McCulloch, John H, The Splendid Renegade, 255

McCullough, Colleen, Caesar: Let the Dice Fly, 258;

Caesar's Women, 258

McCullough, David, Mornings on Horseback, 407;

Truman, 468

McCully, Marilyn, ed, A Picasso Anthology: Documents, Criticism, Reminiscences, 378;

Picasso: The Early Years, 1892–1906, 378

McCurdy, Edward, The Mind of Leonardo da Vinci, 282;

Raphael Santi, 390

McDaniel, Melissa, Ernest Hemingway, 219

McDermott, Kathleen, Peter the Great, 375

McDonagh, Don, George Balanchine, 22

McDonald, Eva, John Ruskin's Wife, 411

McDonald, Forrest, Alexander Hamilton: A Biography, 209;

The Presidency of George Washington, 484;

The Presidency of Thomas Jefferson, 247

McDonald, James G, Rhodes: A Life, 393

McDonald, Roger, Mr. Darwin's Shooter, 122

McDonough, James, The Limits of Glory: A Novel of Waterloo, 345, 486

McDonough, Yona Z, Frank Lloyd Wright, 504

McDowell, Frederick P.W, E.M.Forster, 169

McDowell, Margaret B, Edith Wharton, 489

McElroy, Robert, Grover Cleveland, the Man and Statesman: An Authorized Biography, 101;

Jefferson Davis: The Unreal and the Real, 123

McElwee, William, The Wisest Fool in Christendom: The Reign of King James I and VI, 244

McFarland, Philip J, Sojourners, 239

McFarlane, James, ed, The Cambridge Companion to Ibsen, 237

McFeely, William S, Frederick Douglass, 142;

Grant: A Biography, 206

McGill, Vivian J, August Strindberg: The Bedeviled Viking, 446

McGrail, Anna, Mrs. Einstein, 156

McGrath, Alistair E, A Life of John Calvin: A Study in the Shaping of Western Culture, 70

McGrath, William J, Freud's Discovery of the Psychoanalytic Movement, 177

McGuinness, Brian, Wittgenstein: A Life: Young Ludwig 1889–1921, 498

McGuinness, Frank, Innocence: The Life and Death of Michelangelo Merisis, Caravaggio, 72

McGuire, Leslie, Catherine the Great, 83;

Napoleon, 345

McGuire, William, and R.F.C.Hull, C.G.Jung Speaking: Interviews and Encounters, 259

McGuirk, Carol, Benjamin Disraeli, 139

McIntyre, Ian, Dirt & Deity: A Life of Robert Burns , 65

McIntyre, Vonda N, The Moon and the Sun, 293

McJimsey, George T, The Presidency of Franklin Delano Roosevelt, 406

McKay, Elizabeth N, Franz Schubert: A Biography, 419

McKee, Alexander, The Queen's Corsair: Drake's Journey of Circumnavigation, 144

McKendrick, Melveena, Cervantes, 84;

Ferdinand and Isabella, 240

McKenney, Ruth, Mirage, 345

McKinley, Silas B., and Silas Bent, Old Rough and Ready: The Life and Times of Zachary Taylor, 452

McKissack, Pat, W.E.B.Du Bois, 147

McKissack, Patricia, and Frederick L.McKissack, Sojourner Truth: Ain't I a Woman?, 469;

The Story of Booker T.Washington, 483

McKittrick, Eric L., Andrew Johnson and Reconstruction, 251

McKittrick, Eric L., ed, Andrew Johnson: A Profile, 251

McKnight, Gerald, Verdict on Schweitzer: The Man Behind the Legend of Lambaréné, 421

McKown, Robin, The World of Mary Cassatt, 79

McLanathan, Richard B.K, Leonardo da Vinci, 282;

Michelangelo, 328;

Peter Paul Rubens, 410

McLaughlin, Jack, Jefferson and Monticello: The Biography of a Builder, 247

McLeave, Hugh, A Man and His Mountain: The Life of Paul Cézanne, 85

McLellan, David, Karl Marx, 313;

Karl Marx: His Life and Thought , 313;

Karl Marx: Interviews and Recollections, 313

McLynn, F.J, Robert Louis Stevenson: A Biography, 442

McLynn, Frank, Carl Gustav Jung, 259

McMahon, John R, The Wright Brothers: Fathers of Flight, 505–506

McMahon, Thomas, Loving Little Egypt, 153, 168, 217, 31

McMillan, James F, Napoleon III, 346–347

McMinn, Joseph, Jonathan Swift: A Literary Life, 448

McMullen, Roy, Degas: His Life, Times, and Work, 129;

Victorian Outsider: A Biography of J.A.M.Whistler, 490

McMurry, Linda O, George Washington Carver: Scientist and Symbol, 78

McMurtry, Larry, Anything for Billy, 36;

Buffalo Girls, 431;

Crazy Horse, 115

McMurtry, Larry, and Diana Ossana, Pretty Boy Floyd, 228

McNally, Dennis, Desolate Angel: Jack Kerouac, the Beat Generation, and America, 269

McNally, Terence, Master Class, 69

McNamara, Tom, Henry Lunt and the Ranger, 255

McNeal, Robert H, Stalin: Man and Ruler, 436

McNeil, Helen, Emily Dickinson, 135

McPherson, James M, Abraham Lincoln and the Second American Revolution, 284

McSpadden, J.Walker, Storm Center: A Novel about Andy Johnson , 251

McSweeney, Kerry, George Eliot (Marian Evans): A Literary Life, 158

Meacham, Henry M, The Caged Panther: Ezra Pound at Saint Elizabeths, 383

Meade, Glenn, The Sands of Sakkara, 406;

Snow Wolf, 436

Meade, Robert D, Patrick Henry, 222

Medlicott, W.N, Bismarck and Modern Germany, 37

Medvedev, Roy A, Khrushchev, 271;

On Stalin and Stalinism, 436

Medwick, Cathleen, Teresa of Avila: The Progress of a Soul, 457

Medwin, Thomas, The Life of Percy Bysshe Shelley, 426

Mee, Charles L, Erasmus: The Eye of the Hurricane, 163;

Lorenzo de' Medici and the Renaissance, 322;

Rembrandt's Portrait: A Biography, 391

Meeker, Clare Hodgson, Partner in Revolution: Abigail Adams, 1

Meer, Frederick van der, Augustine the Bishop: Life and Work of a Father of the Church, 16

Megaro, Gaudens, Mussolini in the Making, 343

Mehring, Franz, Karl Marx: The Story of His Life, 313

Mehta, Ved, Mahatma Gandhi and His Apostles, 183

Meier, Christian, Caesar, 258

Meier-Graefe, Julius, Dostoevsky: The Man and His Work, 141;

Vincent Van Gogh: A Biographical Study, 475

Meier, John P., A Marginal Jew, 248

Meigs, Cornelia, Invincible Louisa: The Story of the Author of Little Women, 6;

Jane Addams, Pioneer for Social Justice, 4

Meigs, William M, The Life of John Caldwell Calhoun, 68

Meir, Menahem, My Mother, Golda Meir: A Son's Evocation of Life with Golda Meir, 323

Meisner, Maurice, Mao's China, 309

Meissner, William W, Igngtius of Loyola: The Psychology of a Saint, 238

Melchior, Ib, Eva, 224

Mellor, Anne K, Mary Shelley: Her Life, Her Fiction, Her Monsters, 425

Mellow, James R, Charmed Circle: Gertrude Stein and Company, 438;

Hemingway: A Life Without Consequences, 219;

Invented Lives: F. Scott and Zelda Fitzgerald, 166;

Nathaniel Hawthorne in His Times, 215

Meltzer, Milton, Andrew Jackson and His America, 242;

Benjamin Franklin: The New America?, 173;

Columbus and the World Around Him, 104;

George Washington and the Birth of Our Country, 484;

Langston Hughes: A Biography, 234;

The Many Lives of Andrew Carnegie, 74;

Mark Twain: A Writer's Life, 473;

Mark Twain Himself: A Pictorial Biography, 473;

Theodore Roosevelt and His America, 407;

Thomas Jefferson, 247;

Tom Paine: Voice of a Revolution, 363

Meltzer, Milton, ed, Lincoln: In His Own Words, 284

Melville, Herman, Israel Potter, 255;

Israel Potter: His Fifty Years of Exile, 173

Melville, Lewis, The Life and Letters of Laurence Sterne, 440

Mendelsohn, Jane, I Was Amelia Earhart, 151

Mendelson, Edward, Early Auden, 14;

Later Auden, 14

Meneghini, G.B., with Renzo Allegri, My Wife Maria Callas, 69

Mephram, John, Virginia Woolf: A Literary Life, 501

Merezhkovsky, Dmitry, Peter and Alexis, 375;

The Romance of Leonardo da Vinci, 282

Mermin, Dorothy, Elizabeth Barren Browning: The Origins of a New Poetry, 59–60

Merrill, Christopher, and Ellen Bradbury, eds, From the Faraway Nearby: Georgia O'Keeffe As Icon, 358

Merrill, James M, William Tecumseh Sherman, 428

Mertins, Louis, Robert Frost: Life and Talks-Walking, 178

Mesnard, Jean, Pascal, His Life and Works, 365

Messick, Hank, John Edgar Hoover: An Inquiry into the Life and Times of John Edgar Hoover and the Continuing Partnership of Crime, Business, and Politics, 228

Metcalf, Eleanor Melville, Herman Melville: Cycle and Epicycle, 324

Mews, Siegfried, et al, eds, A Bertolt Brecht Reference Companion, 52

Meyer, Bernard C, Houdini: A Mind in Chains: A Psychoanalytic Portrait, 231;

Joseph Conrad: A Psychoanalytic Biography, 106

Meyer, Conrad F, The Saint: A Fictional Biography of Thomas Becket, 459

Meyer, Franz, Marc Chagall, 86

Meyer, George W, Wordsworth's Formative Years, 502

Meyer, Michael, Ibsen: A Biography, 237;

Strindberg: A Biography, 446

Meyer, Nicholas, The Seven Per-Cent Solution, 177;

The West End Horror, 424, 492

Meyer, Susan E, Edgar Degas, 129;

Mary Cassatt, 79

Meyers, Jeffrey, D.H.Lawrence: A Biography, 211;

Hemingway: A Biography, 219;

Joseph Conrad: A Biography, 106;

Katherine Mansfield: A Biography, 308;

Manic Power: Robert Lowell and His Circle, 294;

Robert Frost: A Biography, 178;

Scott Fitzgerald: A Biography, 166

Meyers, Jeffrey, ed, Robert Lowell: Interviews and Memoirs, 294

Meyers, Manny, The Last Mystery of Edgar Allan Poe, 380

Meynell, Esther, The Little Chronicle of Magdalena Bach , 20

Meynell, Wilfrid, Benjamin Disraeli: An Unconventional Biography, 139

Michael, Prince of Greece, Sultana, 7

Michaels, Barbara, Other Worlds, 143, 231;

The Problem of the Evil Editor, 143;

The Problem of the Missing Miss, 143;

The Problem of the Spiteful Spiritualist, 143

Michaels, Sidney, Dylan, 460

Michalos, Peter, Psyche, 177

Michaud, Guy, Mallarmé, 305

Michel, Emile, Rubens: His Life, His Work, and His Time, 410

Michel, Prince of Greece, Louis XIV: The Other Side of the Sun, 293

Michelet, Jules, Joan of Arc: Or, the Maid of Orleans, 249

Michell, Sir Lewis, Life and Times of the Right Honourable Cecil John Rhodes, 393

Michelmore, Peter, The Swift Years: The Robert Oppenheimer Story, 361

Michener, James A, Caribbean, 144, 73;

The Covenant, 393;

The Eagle and the Raven, 232;

Texas, 232

Middlekauff, Robert, Benjamin Franklin and His Enemies, 173;

The Mathers: Three Generations of Puritan Intellectuals 1596–1728, 316

Middlemas, Keith, The Life and Times of Edward VII, 154

Miers, Earl S, The General Who Marched to Hell, 428;

Robert E.Lee: A Great Life in Brief, 279

Miers, Earl S., ed, Lincoln Day by Day: A Chronology 1809–1865, 284

Mikhail, E.H, Oscar Wilde: Interviews and Recollections, 492;

W.B.Yeats: Interviews and Recollections, 507

Mikhail, E.H., ed, Goldsmith: Interviews and Recollections, 203;

J.M.Synge: Interviews and Recollections, 450;

James Joyce: Interviews and Recollections, 257;

Sheridan: Interviews and Recollections, 427

Mikusch, Dagobert von, Mustapha Kemal: Between Europe and Asia: A Biography, 13

Milder, Robert, Reimagining Thoreau, 461

Miles, Barry, Jack Kerouac, King of the Beats: A Portrait, 269

Miles, Keith, Murder in Perspective: An Architectural Mystery, 504

Miles, Rosalind, Ben Jonson: His Life and Work, 256;

I, Elizabeth: The Word of a Queen, 160

Milford, Nancy, Zelda: A Biography, 166

Millan, Gordon, A Throw of the Dice: The Life of Stéphane Mallarmé, 305

Miller, Arthur, Timebends: A Life, 334

Miller, Betty Bryson, Robert Browning: A Portrait, 59–60

Miller, Calvin C, Mary Wollstonecraft and the Rights of Women, 499;

Spirit Like a Storm: The Story of Mary Shelley , 425

Miller, Charles H, Auden: An American Friendship, 14

Miller, Diane Disney, The Story of Walt Disney, 138

Miller, Douglas T, Henry David Thoreau, 461

Miller, Edwin H, Melville, 324;

Salem Is My Dwelling Place: A Life of Nathaniel Hawthorne, 215;

Walt Whitman's Poetry: A Psychological Journey, 491

Miller, Francis T, General Douglas MacArthur: Soldier-Statesman, 297

Miller, James E, T.S.Eliot's Personal Waste Land: Exorcism of the Demons, 159;

Walt Whitman, 491

Miller, John C, Alexander Hamilton: Portrait in Paradox, 209;

The Wolf by the Ears: Thomas Jefferson and Slavery, 247

Miller, Merle, Ike the Soldier: As They Knew Him, 157;

Lyndon: An Oral Biography, 252;

Plain Speaking: An Oral Biography of Harry S.Truman, 468

Miller, Milton L, Nostalgia: A Psychoanalytic Study of Marcel Proust, 385

Miller, Nathan, F.D.R.: An Intimate History, 406;

Theodore Roosevelt , 407

Miller, Perry, Jonathan Edwards, 155

Miller, Rex, I, Paul, 369

Miller, Richard L., Truman: The Rise to Power, 468

Miller, Townsend, The Castle and the Crown: Spain 1451–1555, 240

Miller, William L, The Business of May Next: James Madison and the Founding , 299–300

Miller, William R, Martin Luther King Jr.: His Life, Martyrdom, and Meaning for the World, 273

Millgate, Michael, Thomas Hardy: A Biography, 213

Millin, Sarah G, Cecil Rhodes, 393

Millington, Barry, Wagner, 481

Millington, Barry, ed, The Wagner Compendium, 481

Mills, Charles K, A Mighty Afternoon, 119

Mills, Jerry L, Sir Walter Raleigh: A Reference Guide, 389

Milmine, Georgine, The Life of Mary Baker G. Eddy and the History of Christian Science, 152

Milne, Andrew, Metternich, 327

Milne, Hamis, Bartók: His Life and Times, 25

Milton, George F, The Age of Hate: Andrew Johnson and the Radicals, 251

Milton, Joyce, Loss of Eden: A Biography of Charles and Anne Morrow Lindbergh, 285;

Tramp: The Life of Charlie Chaplin, 88

Min, Anchee, Becoming Madame Mao, 309

Minta, Stephen, On a Voiceless Shore: Byron in Greece, 67

Minter, David, William Faulkner: His Life and Work, 164

Miracle, Berniece Baker, and Mona Rae, My Sister Marilyn: A Memoir of Marilyn Monroe, 334

Mironenko, Sergei, et al, Nicholas and Alexandra: The Last Imperial Family of Tsarist Russia, 354

Mirsky, D.S, Pushkin, 387

Mirsky, Reba P, Brahms, 50;

Haydn, 216

Mitchell, Broadus, Alexander Hamilton, 209;

Alexander Hamilton: A Concise Biography, 209

Mitchell, Donald, Gustav Mahler: Songs and Symphonies of Life and Death, 302;

Gustav Mahler: The Early Years, 302;

Gustav Mahler: The Wunderhorn Years, 302

Mitchell, Robert A, The Buddha: His Life Retold, 62

Mitchell, Silas W, Hugh Wynne, Free Quaker, 276

Mitchell, Thomas, Cicero, 98

Mitchell, Yvonne, Colette: A Taste for Life, 103

Mitchison, Naomi, The Blood of the Martyrs, 350

Mitford, Nancy, Frederick the Great, 175;

The Sun King, 293

Mizener, Arthur, The Far Side of Paradise: A Biography of F.Scott Fitzgerald, 166

Mochulsky, Konstantin, Dostoevsky: His Life and Work, 141

Mockler, Anthony, Francis of Assist: The Wandering Years, 171

Moeller, Philip, Molière: A Romantic Play in Three Acts, 331

Moers, Ellen, Two Dreisers, 145

Moggridge, Donald E, Keynes, 270;

Maynard Keynes: An Economist's Biography, 270

Mohan, Anand, Indira Gandhi: A Personal and Political Biography, 182

Moir, Alfred, Caravaggio, 72

Momaday, N.Scott, The Ancient Child, 36

Monaghan, Jay, The Life of General George Armstrong Custer , 119

Monelli, Paolo, Mussolini: The Intimate Life of a Demagogue, 343

Monfredo, Miriam Grace, Through a Gold Eagle, 58

Monk, Ray, Bertrand Russell: The Spirit of Solitude, 1872–1921, 412;

Ludwig Wittgenstein: The Duty of Genius, 498

Monneret, Sophie, Renoir, 392

Monsarrat, Ann, An Uneasy Victorian: Thackeray the Man 1811–1863, 458

Monsell, Thomas, Nixon on Stage and Screen: The Thirty-Seventh President as Depicted in Films, Television, Plays, and Opera, 357

Monson, Karen, Alma Mahler: Muse to Genius: From Fin-de-siècle Vienna to Hollywood's Heyday, 302

Montagu, Basil, The Life of Francis Bacon, 21

Monti, James, The King's Good Servant but God's First: The Life and Writings of Saint Thomas More, 336

Montias, John M, Vermeer and His Milieu: A Web of Social History, 478

Monypenny, William F., and G.E.Buckle, The Life of Benjamin Disraeli, Earl of Beaconsfield, 139

Moody, A.David, ed, The Cambridge Companion to T.S.Eliot, 159

Mooney, Booth, LBJ: An Irreverent Chronicle, 252

Moore, Barbara, The Fever Called Living, 380

Moore, Brian, The Magician's Wife, 346–347

Moore, Doris Langley, The Late Lord Byron, 67

Moore, Edward, Dante and His Early Biographers, 121

Moore, Harry T, The Priest of Love: A Life of D.H. Lawrence, 277

Moore, Harry T., and Warren Roberts, D.H.Lawrence and His World, 277

Moore, Jack B, W.E.B.Du Bois, 147

Moore, John R, Daniel Defoe: Citizen of the Modern World, 128

Moore, John T, Hearts of Hickory: A Story of Andrew Jackson and the War of 1812, 242

Moore, Ruth, Charles Darwin: A Great Life in Brief, 122

Moore, Thomas, Memoirs of the Life of the Right Honourable Richard Brinsley Sheridan, 427

Moore, Virginia, The Madisons: A Biography, 299–300

Moorehead, Alan, Darwin and the Beagle, 122

Moorehead, Caroline, Bertrand Russell: A Life, 412

Moorhead, John, Justinian, 260–261

Moorhouse, Esther H, Samuel Pepys, Administrator, Observer, Gossip, 371

Moorman, Mary, William Wordsworth: A Biography, 502

Moraes, Dom F, Indira Gandhi, 182

Moraes, F.R, Jawaharlal Nehru: A Biography, 348

Moran, Charles, Churchill: The Struggle for Survival 1940–65, 97

Moran, Philip R., ed, Calvin Coolidge, 1872–1933: Chronology, Documents, Bibliographical Aids, 110;

Warren G.Harding, 1865–1923: Chronology, Documents, Bibliographical Aids, 212

Morassi, Antonio, Titian, 462

Morazzoni, Martin, The Invention of Truth, 411

More, Louis T, Isaac Newton: A Biography, 353

More, Thomas, The History of King Richard III, 395

Morgan, Charles H, The Life of Michelangelo, 328

Morgan, David T, The Devious Dr. Franklin, Colonial Agent: Benjamin Franklin's Years in London, 173

Morgan, Edwin, Flower of Evil: A Life of Charles Baudelaire , 21

Morgan, George, The Life of James Monroe, 333;

The True Patrick Henry, 222

Morgan, H.Wayne, William McKinley and His America, 320

Morgan, Helene, Charlotte Brontë: The Self Concealed, 53–57

Morgan, Howard W, Eugene V.Debs: Socialist for President, 126

Morgan, Janet, Agatha Christie: A Biography, 96

Morgan, John S, Robert Fulton, 179

Morgan, Kenneth O, Lloyd George, 288

Morgan, Ted, Churchill: Young Man in a Hurry 1874–1915, 97;

F.D.R.: A Biography, 406;

Somerset Maugham, 318

Mörike, Eduard F, Mozart on the Way to Prague, 340

Morin, Relman, Dwight D.Eisenhower: A Gauge of Greatness, 157

Morison, Samuel E, Admiral of the Ocean Sea: A Life of Christopher Columbus, 104;

Christopher Columbus, Mariner, 104;

John Paul Jones: A Sailor's Biography, 255

Morley, John, Burke, 64;

The Life of William Ewart Gladstone, 199;

Voltaire, 480

Morley, Sheridan, Marlene Dietrich, 137

Morris, Edmund, The Rise of Theodore Roosevelt., 407

Morris, Gilbert, The Ramparts of Heaven, 488

Morris, Jan, Lincoln: A Foreigner's Quest, 284

Morris, May, ed, William Morris: Artist, Writer, Socialist, 338

Morris, Roger, Richard Milhous Nixon: The Rise of an American Politician, 357

Morris, Roy Jr, The Better Angel: Walt Whitman in the Civil War, 491

Morrison, Kathleen, Robert Frost: A Pictorial Chronicle, 178

Morrison, Lester M, Trial and Triumph: A Novel about Maimonides, 303

Morrison, Nancy B, Haworth Harvest: The Lives of the Brontës, 53–57;

Mary Queen of Scots, 315;

The Private Life of Henry VIII, 221

Morrissey, Muriel, Courage is the Price: The Biography of Amelia Earhart, 151

Morrow, Honoré, Black Daniel: The Love Story of a Great Man, 485;

Great Captain, 284;

The Last Full Measure, 43;

Let the King Beware, 191, 64

Morse, Samuel French, Wallace Stevens: Poetry as Life, 441

Mortimer, Ernest, Blaise Pascal: The Life and Work of a Realist, 365

Mortimer, John, Will Shakespeare: The Untold Story, 423

Morton, Andrew, Diana: Her True Story in Her Own Words, 133

Morton, Henry C.V, In the Steps of St. Paul, 369

Morton, Marian J, Emma Goldman and the American Left: "Nowhere at Home.", 202

Moshansky, Mozelle, Mendelssohn: His Life and Times, 315

Mosley, Leonard, Disney's World: A Biography, 138;

Lindbergh: A Biography, 285

Mossberg, Barbara Antonia Clarke, Emily Dickinson: When a Writer Is a Daughter, 135

Motion, Andrew, Keats, 265

Mount, Charles M, Monet: A Biography, 332

Mount, Ferdinand, Jem (and Sam), 371

Moura, Jean, and Paul Louvet, Calvin: A Modern Biography, 70

Mousnier, Roland, The Assassination of Henry IV, 220

Moutsatsos, Kiki F., The Onassis Women: An Eye-witness Account, 69

Muckenhoupt, Margaret, Sigmund Freud: Explorer of the Unconscious, 177

Mügge, Maximilian A., Friedrich Nietzsche: His Life and Work, 355

Muggeridge, Malcolm, Something Beautiful for God: Mother Teresa of Calcutta, 339

Muir, Marie, Dear Mrs. Boswell, 48

Muir, William, The Life of Mohammed from Original Sources, 341

Mukerjee, H, The Gentle Colossus: A Study of Jawaharlal Nehru, 348

Muldoon, Paul, Shining Brow, 504

Mullen, Richard, Anthony Trollope: A Victorian in His World, 466

Müller, George A. von, The Kaiser and His Court, 493

Muller, Ulrich, ed, Wagner Handbook, 481

Mulvihill, Margaret, Mussolini and Italian Fascism, 343

Mumford, Lewis, Herman Melville, 324

Mundy, Talbot, Queen Cleopatra: A Novel, 100

Munich, Adrienne, Queen Victoria's Secrets, 479

Munsterer, Hans Otto, The Young Brecht, 52

Muntz, Hope, The Golden Warrior: The Story of Harold and William, 494

Murad, Anatol, Franz Joseph I of Austria and His Empire, 174

Murari, T.N, The Last Victory, 348

Murdoch, Derrick, The Agatha Christie Mystery, 96

Murdoch, William, Chopin: His Life, 95

Murgia, Adelaide, The Life and Times of Chopin. , 95

Murphy, Arthur, The Life of David Garrick, 187

Murphy, Bruce A, The Brandeis/Frankfurter Connection: The Secret Political Activities of Two Supreme Court Justices, 51

Murphy-O'Connor, Jerome, Paul: A Critical Life, 369

Murphy, Walter F, Upon This Rock: The Life of St. Peter, 374

Murphy, William M, Family Secrets: W.B.Yeats and His Relatives, 507;

Prodigal Father, 507

Murray, Brian, Charles Dickens, 134

Murray, Earl, Flaming Sky, 119

Murray, Linda, The Dark Fire, 72;

Michelangelo, 328;

Michelangelo: His Life, Work, and Times, 328

Murray, Nicholas, A Life of Matthew Arnold, 12;

World Enough and Time: The Life of Andrew Marvell, 312

Murray, Robert H, Edmund Burke: A Biography, 64

Murray, Robert K, The Harding Era: Warren G. Harding and His Administration, 212

Murry, John Middleton, Fyodor Dostoevsky: A Critical Study, 141;

Jonathan Swift: A Critical Biography, 448;

Son of Woman: The Story of D.H.Lawrence, 277

Muschamp, Herbert, Man about Town: Frank Lloyd Wright in New York City, 504

Musgrave, Michael, ed, The Cambridge Companion to Brahms, 50

Mushkat, Jerome, and Joseph G.Rayback, Martin Van Buren: Law, Politics, and the Shaping of Republican Ideology, 474

Muslin, Hyman L., and Thomas H.Jobe, Lyndon Johnson: The Tragic Self, a Psychohistorical Portrait, 252

Mussolini, Rachele G, Mussolini: An Intimate Biography, 343

Mustazza, Leonard, Ol' Blue Eyes: A Frank Sinatra Encyclopedia, 430

Mydans, Shelley, Thomas: A Novel of the Life, Passions, and Miracles of Becket, 459

Myer, Valerie Grosvenor, Jane Austen: Obstinate Heart, 19

Myers, Paul, Leonard Bernstein, 35

Myers, Walter D, Malcolm X: By Any Means Necessary, 304

Myerson, Joel, ed, The Cambridge Companion to Henry David Thoreau, 461

Myrick, Kenneth, Sir Philip Sidney as a Literary Craftsman, 429

Nadeau, Maurice, The Greatness of Flaubert, 167

Nadel, Ira B., ed, The Cambridge Companion to Ezra Pound, 383

Nadel, Laurie, The Great Stream of History: A Biography of Richard M.Nixon, 357

Nadler, Steven M, Spinoza: A Life, 435

Nagel, Paul C, The Adams Women: Abigail and Louisa Adams, Their Sisters and Daughters, 1;

Descent from Glory: Four Generations of the John Adams Family, 2;

John Quincy Adams: A Public Life, a Private Life, 3;

The Lees of Virginia: Seven Generations of an American Family, 279

Naginski, Isabell H, George Sand: Writing for Her Life, 414

Najder, Zdzislaw, Joseph Conrad: A Chronicle, 106

Nanda, B.R, Jawaharlal Nehru: Rebel and Statesman, 348;

Mahatma Gandhi: A Biography, 183

Narayan, B.K, Anwar el Sadat: Man with a Mission, 413

Narayan, R.K, Waiting for the Mahatma, 183

Nardo, Don, The Age of Augustus, 17;

Charles Darwin, 122;

Cleopatra, 100;

H.G.Wells, 487;

The Importance of Julius Caesar, 258

Nasaw, David, The Chief: The Life of William Randolph Hearst, 217

Nash, George N, The Life of Herbert Hoover, 227

Nash, Gerald D., ed, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, 406

Nash, Jay R, Citizen Hoover: A Critical Study of the Life and Times of J.Edgar Hoover and His FBI, 228

Nash-Marshall, Joan of Arc: A Spiritual Biography, 249

Nathans, Sydney, Daniel Webster and Jacksonian Democracy, 485

Nathanson, Jerome, John Dewey: The Reconstruction of the Democratic Life, 132

Navarro Ledesma, Francisco, Cervantes: The Man and the Genius , 84

Navasky, Victor S, Kennedy Justice, 268

Nazaroff, Alexander I, Tolstoy: The Inconstant Genius, 463

Neal, Steve, The Eisenhowers: Reluctant Dynasty, 157

Neale, J.E, The Age of Catherine de ' Medici, 81;

Queen Elizabeth, 160

Neely, Mark E. Jr, The Abraham Lincoln Encyclopedia, 284;

The Last Best Hope of Earth: Abraham Lincoln and the Promise of America, 284

Neely, Mark E. Jr., and R.Gerald McMurtry, The Insanity File: The Case of Mary Todd Lincoln, 284

Nehamas, Alexander, Nietzsche: Life as Literature, 355

Nehls, Edward, ed, D.H.Lawrence: A Composite Biography, 211

Nehru, Jawaharlal, Mahatma Gandhi, 183

Neider, Charles, Mozart and the Archboody, 340

Neighbor, Oliver, “Arnold Schoenberg”, 418

Neilson, Winthrop, and Frances Neilson, The Woman Who Loved Paul, 369

Neilson, Winthrop, and Frances Winthrop, Edge of Greatness, 173

Neiman, Fraser, Matthew Arnold, 12

Neimark, Anne E, Sigmund Freud: The World Within, 111

Nelson, Brian, Zola and the Bourgeoisie, 509

Nelson, Gerald B., and Glory James, Hemingway, Life and Works, 219

Nelson, Truman, The Surveyor, 58

Nelson, Walter H, Buddha: His Life and His Teaching, 62

Nembhard, Lenford, Trials and Triumphs of Marcus Garvey , 188

Nenneman, Richard A, Persistent Pilgrim: The Life of Mary Baker Eddy, 152

Nettels, Curtis P, George Washington and American Independence, 484

Nettl, J.P, Rosa Luxemburg, 296

Nettl, Paul, The Beethoven Encyclopedia: His Life and Art from A to Z, 30

Neu, Jerome, ed, The Cambridge Companion to Freud, 177

Neumann, Alfred, Another Caesar, 346–347

Neumann, Bonnie R, The Lonely Muse: A Critical Biography of Mary Wollstonecraft Shelley, 425

Neumann, Werner, Bach: A Pictorial Biography, 20

Nevin, David, Dream West, 176;

1812, 242, 299–300

Nevins, Allan, Frémont: Pathmarker of the West, 176;

Grover Cleveland: A Study in Courage, 101;

John D.Rockefeller: The Heroic Age of American Enterprise, 403;

Study in Power: John D.Rockefeller, Industrialist and Philanthropist, 403

Nevins, Allan, and Frank E.Hill, Ford: Decline and Rebirth 1933–62, 168;

Ford: The Times, the Man, the Company, 168

Nevinson, Henry W, Goethe: Man and Poet, 200;

Life of Friedrich Schiller, 417

Newby, Gordon D, The Making of the Last Prophet: A Reconstruction of the Earliest Biography of Muhammad, 341

Newfield, Jack, Robert Kennedy: A Memoir, 268

Newlin, Dika, Schoenberg Remembered: Diaries and Recollections , 418

Newman, Donald J., ed, James Boswell, Psychological Interpretations, 48

Newman, Ernest, The Life of Richard Wagner, 481;

The Man Liszt, 286;

Richard Strauss, 444;

Wagner as Man and Artist, 481

Newton, A.Edward, Doctor Johnson: A Play, 254

Newton, Peter M, Freud: From Youthful Dream to Mid-Life Crisis, 177

Neyland, James, George Washington Carver, 78

Nezelof, Pierre, Napoleon and His Son, 345

Nibley, Preston, Brigham Young: The Man and His Work, 508

Nice, David, Richard Strauss, 444;

Tchaikovsky, 453

Nicholl, Charles, The Reckoning: The Murder of Christopher Marlowe, 311;

Somebody Else: Arthur Rimbaud in Africa 1880–91, 398

Nicholls, David, Napoleon: A Biographical Companion, 345

Nichols, Joan K, Mary Shelley: Frankenstein’s Creator, 425

Nichols, Roger, Debussy Remembered, 127;

The Life of Debussy, 127

Nicholson, Christina, The Power and the Passion, 375

Nicholson, Meredith, The Cavalier of Tennessee, 242

Nicholson, Stuart, ed, Reminiscing in Tempo: A Portrait of Duke Ellington, 161

Nicholson, William, Shadowlands, 283

Nickell, Lesley J, The White Queen, 395

Nicolaevsky, Boris, and Otto Maenchen-Helfen, Karl Marx: Man and Fighter, 313

Nicolay, John G., and John Hay, Abraham Lincoln: A History, 284

Nicole, Christopher, The Secret Memoirs of Lord Byron, 67

Nicolle, Jacques, Louis Pasteur: The Story of His Major Discoveries, 366

Nicolson, Harold, Tennyson: Aspects of His Life, Character, and Poetry, 456

Nicolson, Lois, Georgia O’Keeffe, 358

Nicosia, Gerald, Memory Babe: A Critical Biography of Jack Kerouac, 269

Nicotra, Tobia, Arturo Toscanini, 464

Niecks, Frederick, Robert Schumann, 420

Niemann, Walter, Brahms, 50

Niemetschek, Franz, Life of Mozart, 340

Nissenson, Aaron, Song of Man: A Novel Based on the Life of Eugene V.Debs, 126

Nitchie, Elizabeth, Mary Shelley: Author of “Frankenstein.”, 425

Niven, John, John C.Calhoun and the Price of Union: A Biography, 68;

Martin Van Buren: The Romantic Age of American Politics, 474

Nixon, Edna, Mary Wollstonecraft: Her Life and Times, 499

Noble, Iris, Empress of all Russia, 83;

Great Lady of the Theatre: Sarah Bernhardt, 34;

Labor’s Advocate: Eugene V.Debs, 126;

Rivals in Parliament: William Pitt and Charles Fox, 379

Noble, Joan R., ed, Recollections of Virginia Woolf, 501

Nock, Arthur D, St. Paul, 369

Noffke, Suzanne, Catherine of Siena: Vision through a Distant Eye, 82

Nohl, Ludwig, Life of Haydn, 216

Nokes, David, Jane Austen: A Life, 19;

Jonathan Swift: A Hypocrite Reversed: A Critical Biography, 448

Nolan, Alan T, Lee Considered: Robert E.Lee and Civil War History, 279

Nolan, Frederick W, The West of Billy the Kid, 36

Nolan, Jeannette C, Soldier, Statesman and Defendant Aaron Burr, 66

Noll, Richard, The Aryan Christ: The Secret Life of Carl Jung, 259

Noonan, Michael, The Sun Is God, 472

Norden, Pierre, Conan Doyle: A Biography, 143

Norgate, Kate, Richard the Lion Heart, 394

Norman, Charles, Ezra Pound, 383;

Mr. Oddity: Samuel Johnson, LL.D., 254;

The Muses’ Darling: The Life of Christopher Marlowe, 311;

The Shepherd of the Oceans: Sir Walter Raleigh, 389

Norman, Philip, Shout! The Beatles in Their Generation, 281

Normand, Jean, Nathaniel Hawthorne: An Approach to an Analysis of Artistic Creation, 215

Norris, Kathleen, Victoria: A Play in Four Acts and Twelve Scenes, 479, 5

North, Sterling, Abe Lincoln: Log Cabin to White House, 284

Norton, Charles Eliot, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow: A Sketch of His Life Together with Longfellow’s Chief Autobiographical Poems, 291

Norton, Lucy, The Sun King and His Loves, 293

Norton-Taylor, Duncan, God’s Man: A Novel on the Life of John Calvin, 70

Nottingham, Theodore J, The Curse of Cain: The Untold Story of John Wilkes Booth, 43

Novick, Sheldon M, Henry James: The Young Master, 245

Nowak, Karl F, Kaiser and Chancellor: The Opening Years of the Reign of Kaiser Wilhelm II, 493

Nowell-Smith, Simon, ed, The Legend of the Master: Henry James, 245

Noyes, Alfred, Horace: A Portrait, 230;

Voltaire, 480;

William Morris, 338

Nunez, Sigrid, Mitz: The Marmoset of Bloomsbury, 501

Nunokawa, Jeff, Oscar Wilde, 492

Nutting, Anthony, Lawrence of Arabia: The Man and the Motives, 278

Nye, Nelson Coral, Pistols for Hire, 36

Nye, Robert, The Late Mr. Shakespeare, 423;

The Memoirs of Lord Byron, 67;

Mrs. Shakespeare: The Complete Works, 423;

The Voyage of the Destiny, 389

Oakeshott, Walter F, The Queen and the Poet, 389

Oates, Joyce Carol, Blonde, 334;

A Bloodsmoor Romance, 473

Oates, Stephen B, Abraham Lincoln: The Man Behind the Myth, 284;

Let the Trumpet Sound: The Life of Martin Luther King Jr., 273;

To Purge This Land with Blood: A Biography of John Brown, 58;

William Faulkner: The Man and the Artist, 164;

With Malice Toward None: The Life of Lincoln, 284;

A Woman of Valor: Clara Barton and the Civil War, 26

Oberman, Heiko A, Luther: Man Between God and the Devil, 295

Obeyesekere, Gananath, The Apotheosis of Captain Cook: European Mythmaking in the Pacific, 109

O’Brein, Eoin, The Beckett Country: Samuel Beckett’s Ireland, 29

O’Brian, Edna, James Joyce, 257

O’Brian, Patrick, Pablo Ruiz Picasso: A Biography, 378

O’Brian, R.Barry, The Life of Charles Stewart Parnell, 1846–1891, 364

O’Brien, Conor Cruise, The Great Melody: A Thematic Biography and Commented Anthology of Edmund Burke, 64

O’Brien, Dan, The Contract Surgeon, 115

O’Brien, John Maxwell, Alexander the Great: The Invisible Enemy: A Biography, 8

O’Brien, Justin, Portrait of André Gide: A Critical Biography, 196

O’Brien, Kate, For One Sweet Grape, 377;

That Lady: A Romantic Drama, 377

O’Brien, Michael, McCarthy and McCarthyism in Wisconsin, 319

O’Brien, Sharon, Willa Gather, 80;

Willa Gather: The Emerging Voice, 80

O’Brien, Steven, Alexander Hamilton, 209;

Ulysses S.Grant, 206

O’Connell, D.P, Richelieu, 396

O’Connell, Marvin R, Blaise Pascal: Reasons of the Heart, 365

O’Connor, Daniel W, Peter in Rome: The Literary, Liturgical, and Archaeological Evidence, 374

O’Connor, Garry, Campion’s Ghost, 140;

William Shakespeare: A Popular Life, 423

O’Connor, Patrick, Dietrich: Style and Substance, 137

O’Connor, Richard, Jack London: A Biography, 290;

The Vandal, 260–261

O’Dell, Scott, Hill of the Hawk, 76;

The Road to Damietta, 171

O’Donnell, Kenneth P., and David F.Powers, “Johnny, We Hardly Knew Ye”: Memories of John Fitzgerald Kennedy, 267

Oemler, Marie C, The Holy Lover, 488

O’Faolin, Scan, Newman’s Way: The Odyssey of John Henry Newman, 352

Ogg, David, Louis XIV, 293

Okudzhava, Bulat S, The Extraordinary Adventures of Secret Agent Shipov, 463

Olcott, Charles S, The Life of William McKinley, 320

Old, Wendie C, Duke Ellington: Great of Jazz, 161;

James Monroe, 333;

Thomas Jefferson, 247

Oldenbourg, Zoë, Catherine the Great, 83

Older, Mrs. Fremont, William Randolph Hearst: American, 217

Olds, Bruce, Raising Holy Hell, 470, 58

O’Leary, Daniel F, Bolívar and the War of Independence, 41

Oliva, L.Jay, ed, Peter the Great, 375

Oliver, Charles M, Ernest Hemingway A to Z: The Essential Reference to His Life and Work, 219

Oliver, Jane, The Blue Heaven Bends over All, 422;

Flame of Fire, 29 5;

The Lion and the Rose, 315;

Mine Is the Kingdom, 244, 315

Oliver, Michael, Igor Stravinsky, 445

Olivier, Fernande, Picasso and His Friends, 378

Ollard, Richard, The Image of the King: A Biography of Charles I and Charles II, 90, 91;

Pepys: A Biography, 371

Olschki, Leonardo, Marco Polo's Asia, 381

Olsen, Sidney, Young Henry Ford: A Picture History of the First 40 Years, 168

Olsen, Theodore V, There Was a Season: A Biographical Novel of Jefferson Davis, 123, 452

O'Malley, John W, The First Jesuits, 238

Oman, Carola, Crouchback, 395;

David Garrick, 187;

Nelson, 349

O'Meara, John J, The Young Augustine: The Growth of St. Augustine's Mind Up to His Conversion., 16

Ondaatje, Michael, The Collected Works of Billy the Kid, 36

O'Neal, Cothburn, Very Young Mrs. Poe, 380

O'Neill, Eugene, Marco's Millions, 381

O'Neill, Judith, Martin Luther, 295

O'Neill, Michael, Percy Bysshe Shelley: A Literary Life, 426

Oppé, Adolf P, Raphael, 390

Orczy, Emma, The Scarlet Pimpernel, 193

Orel, Harold, The Final Years of Thomas Hardy, 1912–1928, 213;

A Kipling Chronology, 274

Orel, Harold, ed, Gilbert and Sullivan: Interviews and Recollections, 197–198;

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle: Interviews and Recollections, 143

Ormond, Leonée, Alfred Tennyson: A Literary Life, 456

Orr, Alexandra, Life and Letters of Robert Browning, 59–60

Orr, Leonard, and Ted Billy, eds, A Joseph Conrad Companion, 106

Osborn, George C, Woodrow Wilson: The Early Years, 497

Osborn, James, John Dryden: Some Biographical Facts and Problems, 146

Osborn, James M, Young Philip Sidney 1572–1577, 429

Osborne, Angela, Abigail Adams, 1

Osborne, Charles, The Life and Crimes of Agatha Christie, 96;

Schubert and His Vienna, 419;

Verdi: A Life in the Theatre, 477;

W.H.Auden: The Life of a Poet , 14;

Wagner and His World, 481

Osborne, Claire G, Jackie: A Legend Defined, 359

Osborne, John, Luther, 295

Osborne-McKnight, Julianne, I Am of Irelaunde: A Novel of Patrick and Osian, 367

Osbourne, Lloyd, An Intimate Portrait of R.L.S., 442

O'Shaughnessy, Michael, Monsieur Molière, a Novel, 331

Oshinsky, David M, A Conspiracy So Immense: The World of Joe McCarthy, 319

Oskinson, John M, Tecumseh and His Times, 454

Ostwald, Peter, Schumann: The Inner Voices of a Musical Genius, 420

O'Sullivan, Timothy, Thomas Hardy: An Illustrated Biography, 213

O'Sullivan, Vincent, Aspects of Wilde, 492

Otero, Miguel A, The Real Billy the Kid with New Light on the Lincoln County War, 36

Otfinoski, Steven, John Wilkes Booth and the Civil War, 43;

Joseph Stalin: Russia's Last Czar, 436

O'Toole, Fintan, A Traitor's Kiss: The Life of Richard Brinsley Sheridan, 427

O'Toole, G.J.A, The Cosgrove Report, 43;

Poor Richard's Game, 173

Ottaway, Hugh, Mozart, 340

Otto, Whitney, The Passion Dream Book, 328

Oursler, Fulton, The Greatest Story Ever Told, 248

Overton, Grant M, The Answerers, 491

Owen, Dean, The Sam Houston Story, 232

Owen, Frank, Tempestuous Journey: Lloyd George, His Life and Times, 288

Ozment, Steven, The Bürgermeister's Daughter, 163

Pach, Chester J, The Presidency of Dwight D.Eisenhower, 157

Packe, Michael St. John, The Life of John Stuart Mill, 329

Packer, Ian, Lloyd George, 288

Padmore, Elaine, Wagner, 481

Padover, Saul K, Karl Marx: An Intimate Biography, 313

Page, Elizabeth, The Tree of Liberty, 209, 222, 247

Page, H. A, Thomas De Quincey: His Life and Writings with Unpublished Correspondence, 125

Page, Joseph A, Perón: A Biography, 372–373

Page, Norman, Auden and Isherwood: The Berlin Years, 14;

A Dr. Johnson Chronology, 254;

A Kipling Companion, 274;

An Oscar Wilde Chronology, 492;

Tennyson: An Illustrated Life, 456

Page, Norman, ed, D.H.Lawrence: Interviews and Recollections, 277;

Dr. Johnson: Interviews and Recollections, 254;

Henry James: Interviews and Recollections, 245;

Tennyson: Interviews and Recollections, 456

Page, Stanley W, Lenin and World Revolution, 280

Page, Thomas N, Robert E.Lee: Man and Soldier, 279

Pagliaro, Harold E, Henry Fielding: A Literary Life, 165

Pain, Nesta, George III at Home, 191

Paine, Albert B, Mark Twain: A Biography: The Personal and Literary Life of Samuel Langhorne Clemens, 473;

A Short Life of Mark Twain, 473

Paine, Lauran, Bolívar the Liberator, 41

Painter, Eleanor, Spring Symphony, 420

Painter, George, Proust, 385

Painter, George D, André Gide: A Critical Biography, 196

Painter, Nell Irvin, Sojourner Truth: A Life, a Symbol, 469

Pais, Abraham, “Subtle is the Lord...”: The Science and Life of Albert Einstein, 156

Palau i Fabre, Joseph, Picasso: The Early Years, 1881–1907, 378

Paléologue, Maurice, The Enigmatic Tsar, 7

Palmer, Alan, Bismarck, 37;

The Kaiser: Warlord of the Second Reich, 493

Palmer, Alan W, Alexander I: Tsar of War and Peace, 7;

The Life and Times of George IV, 193;

Metternich, 327;

Twilight of the Habsburgs: The Life and Times of Emperor Franz Joseph, 174

Palmer, Bruce, Horseshoe Bend, 242

Palmer, John, Molière: His Life and Works, 331

Palmer, John L, Ben Jonson, 256

Palmer, Marian, The White Boar, 395

Palmer, Tony, Charles II: Portrait of an Age, 91

Palmer, William J, The Detective and Mr. Dickens, 134;

The Highwayman and Mr. Dickens, 134;

The Hoyden and Mr. Dickens, 134

Pálóczi-Horváth, Gyorgy, Mao Tse-tung: Emperor of the Blue Ants, 309

Palomino, Antonio, Lives of the Eminent Spanish Painters and Sculptors, 207

Paludan, Phillip S, The Presidency of Abraham Lincoln, 284

Pang, May, Loving John, 281

Panofsky, Walter, Wagner: A Pictorial Biography, 481

Papasogli, Giorgio, St. Teresa of Avila, 457

Paper, Lewis, Brandeis, 51

Pappe, H.O, John Stuart Mill and the Harriet Tay-lor Myth, 329

Pares, Richard, King George III and the Politicians, 191

Paret, Peter, Frederick the Great: A Profile, 175

Parfitt, George, John Donne: A Literary Life, 140

Pargeter, Edith, Hortensius, Friend of Nero, 350

Parini, Jay, Bay of Arrows, 104;

The Last Station: A Novel of Tolstoy's Last Year, 463;

Robert Frost: A Life, 178

Park, Paul, The Gospel of Corax, 248

Parke, Godwin, The Last Rainbow, 367

Parker, Derek, John Donne and His World, 140

Parker, Emmett, Albert Camus: The Artist in the Arena, 71

Parker, Geoffrey, The Grand Strategy of Philip II, 377;

Philip II, 377

Parker, Hershel, Herman Melville: A Biography. Volume I, 1819–1851, 324

Parker, Thomas H.L, John Calvin: A Biography, 70

Parker, William R, Milton: A Biography, 330

Parkes, Henry B, Jonathan Edwards: The Fiery Puritan, 155

Parmet, Herbert S, Eisenhower and the American Crusades, 157;

Jack: The Struggles of John F. Kennedy, 267;

JFK: The Presidency of John F. Kennedy, 267;

Richard Nixon and His America, 357

Parmet, Herbert S., and Marie B.Hecht, Aaron Burr: Portrait of an Ambitious Man, 66

Parnell, John H, Charles Stewart Parnell: A Memoir, 364

Parnell, Katherine, Charles Stewart Parnell: His Love Story and Political Life, 364

Parouty, Michel, Mozart: From Child Prodigy to Tragic Hero, 340

Parr, Charles M, So Noble a Captain: The Life and Times of Ferdinand Magellan, 301

Parris, John, The Lion of Caprera: A Biography of Giuseppe Garibaldi, 186

Parrish, Anne, A Clouded Star, 470

Parry, Edward A, Queen Caroline, 193

Parry, Richard, That Fateful Lightning: A Novel of Ulysses S.Grant, 206

Parsons, Lynn H, John Quincy Adams, 3;

John Quincy Adams: A Bibliography, 3

Parsons, William B, Robert Fulton and the Submarine, 179

Partington, Norman, The Sunshine Patriot: A Novel of Benedict Arnold, 11

Parton, James, The Life and Times of Aaron Burr, 66;

Life and Times of Benjamin Franklin, 173;

Life of Andrew Jackson, 242

Pasachoff, Naomi E, Alexander Graham Bell: Making Connections, 31

Passage, Charles E, Friedrich Schiller, 417

Passavant, J.D, Raphael of Urbino and His Father Giovanni Santi, 390

Passuth, Laszlo, Tlaloc Weeps for Mexico, 113

Pate, Alexs, Amistad, 3

Pater, Walter, Marius the Epicurean, 18

Patin, Sylvie, Monet: The Ultimate Impressionist, 332

Patten, Christine T., and Alvaro Cardona-Hine, Miss O'Keeffe, 358

Patterson, Harry, Dillinger, 228

Patterson, Lillie, Martin Luther King Jr. and the Freedom Movement, 273

Pattison, Mark, Milton, 330

Patton, Robert H, The Pattons: A Personal History of an American Family, 368

Paul, Barbara, A Cadenza for Caruso, 386, 464

Paul, Herbert, Matthew Arnold, 12

Paulding, James K, The Lion of the West, 116

Pauli, Hertha, Her Name Was Sojourner Truth, 469

Paulsen, S, Immanuel Kant: His Life and Doctrine, 264

Paulson, Ronald, Hogarth: His Life, Art, and Times , 226

Pawel, Ernst, The Nightmare of Reason: A Life of Franz Kafka, 262;

The Poet Dying: Heinrich Heine's Last Year in Paris, 218

Payne, Robert, Alexander the God, 8;

Caravaggio: A Novel, 72;

Dostoevsky: A Human Portrait, 141;

Gershwin, 195;

The Great Man: A Portrait of Winston Churchill, 97;

Leonardo, 282;

The Life and Death of Adolf Hitler, 224;

The Life and Death of Lenin, 280;

The Life and Death of Mahatma Gandhi, 183;

The Life and Death of Trotsky, 467;

The Lord Jesus, 248;

Mao Tse-tung, 309;

Mao Tse-tung: Ruler of Red China, 309;

Marx, 313;

Portrait of a Revolutionary: Mao Tse-tung, 309;

The Rise and Fall of Stalin, 436;

The Three Worlds of Albert Schweitzer, 421;

The Yellow Robe: A Novel of the Life of Buddha, 62

Payne, Robert, and Nikita Romanoff, Ivan the Terrible, 241

Payne, Stanley G, The Franco Regime, 172

Pazzi, Roberto, Search for the Emperor, 354

Peacock, Thomas Love, Peacock's Memoirs of Shelley with Shelley's Letters to Peacock, 426

Peake, Thomas R, Keeping the Dream Alive: A History of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference from King to the 1980s, 273

Pearce, Carol A, Amelia Earhart, 151

Peare, Catherine O, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow: His Life, 291;

William Penn: A Biography, 370

Pearl, Leon, Descartes, 131

Pearsall, Derek, The Life of Geoffrey Chaucer: A Critical Biography, 93

Pearsall, Ronald, Conan Doyle: A Biographical Solution, 143

Pearson, Hesketh, Conan Doyle: His Life and Art, 143;

Dickens: His Character, Comedy, and Career, 134;

Dizzy: The Life and Personality of Benjamin Disraeli, 139;

G.B.S.: A Full-Length Portrait, 424;

G.B.S.: A Postscript, 424;

George Bernard Shaw: His Life and Personality, 424;

Gilbert: His Life and Strife, 197–198;

Henry of Navarre: The King Who Dared, 220;

Johnson and Boswell: The Story of Their Lives, 254, 48;

The Man Whistler, 490;

Merry Monarch: The Life and Likeness of Charles II, 91;

Oscar Wilde: His Life and Wit, 492;

Tom Paine, Friend of Mankind, 363;

Walter Scott: His Life and Personality, 422

Pecher, Erich, Pope John XXIII: A Pictorial Biography, 250

Peck, Ira, Patton, 368

Peddie, John, Hannibal's War, 211

Peel, Robert, Mary Baker Eddy, 152

Pei, Mario, Swords of Anjou, 89

Peifer, Charles, Soldier of Destiny: A Biography of George Patton, 368

Pell, Sylvia, The Shadow of the Sun, 293

Pellegreno, Ann H, World Flight: The Earhart Trial, 151

Pelling, Henry, Winston Churchill, 97

Pelta, Kathy, Discovering Columbus: How History Is Invented, 104

Peltonen, Markku, ed, The Cambridge Companion to Bacon, 21

Pemberton, William E, Harry S.Truman: Fair Dealer and Cold Warrior, 468

Penman, Sharon K, Cruel as the Grave, 394;

The Queen's Man, 394;

The Sunne in Splendour, 395

Pennell, Elizabeth R, Life of Mary Wollstonecraft, 499

Pennell, Elizabeth R., and Joseph Pennell, The Life of James McNeill Whistler, 490;

Whistler Journal, 490

Penrose, Roland, Picasso: His Life and Work, 378

Perényi, Eleanor, Liszt: The Artist as Romantic Hero, 286

Perez Sanchez, Alfonso E., and Eleanor A.Sayre, Goya and the Spirit of the Enlightenment, 205

Perkins, Derek C, Dylan Thomas and His World, 460

Perkins, Pheme, Peter: Apostle for the Whole Church, 374

Pernoud, Régine, Joan of Arc: By Herself and Her Witnesses, 249

Pernoud, Régine, and Marie-Veronique Clin, Joan of Arc: Her Story, 249

Perowne, Barry, A Singular Conspiracy, 27, 380

Perret, Geoffrey, Eisenhower, 157;

Old Soldiers Never Die: The Life of Douglas MacArthur, 297;

Ulysses S.Grant: Soldier and President, 206

Perrin, Robert, Jewels, 154

Perrotta, Paul C, Pope John XXIII: His Life and Character, 250

Perruchot, Henri, Gauguin, 189;

Manet, 306;

Toulouse-Lautrec, 465

Perry, Anne, A Sudden Fearful Death, 356

Perry, Bliss, Walt Whitman, His Life and Work, 491

Perry, Bruce, Malcolm: The Life of a Man Who Changed Black America, 304

Perry, Frederick, St. Louis (Louis IX of France): The Most Christian King, 292

Perry, John Curtis, and Constantine V.Pleshakov, The Flight of the Romanovs: A Family Saga, 354

Perutz, Leo, Leonardo's Judas, 282

Perutz, Vivien, Edouard Manet, 306

Pesci, David, Amistad, 474;

Amistad: The Thunder of Freedom, 3

Pescio, Claudio, Rembrandt and Seventeenth-Century Holland, 391

Peskin, Allan, Garfield, 185

Peters, Catherine, Thackeray's Universe: Shifting Worlds of Imagination and Reality, 458

Peters, DeWitt C, The Life and Adventures of Kit Carson, the Nestor of the Rocky Mountains, 76

Peters, H.F, Rainer Maria Rilke: Masks and the Man, 397

Peters, Margot, Unquiet Soul: A Biography of Charlotte Brontë, 53–57

Peters, Maureen, Henry VIII and His Six Wives, 221, 40;

Katheryn, the Wanton Queen, 221

Peters, Richard, The Frank Sinatra Scrapbook: His Life and Times in Words and Pictures, 430

Peters, Sally, Bernard Shaw: The Ascent of the Superman, 424

Peters, Sarah W, Becoming O'Keeffe: The Early Years, 358

Peterson, Helen S, Henry Clay: Leader in Congress, 99

Peterson, Merrill D, The Great Triumvirate: Webster, Clay, and Calhoun, 485, 68, 99;

The Jefferson Image in the American Mind, 247;

Thomas Jefferson and the New Nation: A Biography, 247

Peterson, Merrill D., ed, Thomas Jefferson: A Reference Biography, 247

Peterson, Norma L, The Presidencies of William Henry Harrison and John Tyler, 214

Petersson, Torsten, Cicero: A Biography, 98

Petillo, Carol M, Douglas MacArthur: The Philippine Years, 297

Petit, Jayne, Michelangelo: Genius of the Renaissance, 328

Petitfils, Pierre, Rimbaud, 398

Petitot, Hyacinthe, The Life and the Spirit of Thomas Aquinas, 10

Petitpierre, Jacques, The Romance of the Mendelssohns, 315

Petkov, Steven, and Leonard Mustazza, eds, The Frank Sinatra Reader, 430

Petre, James, Richard III: Crown and People, 395

Petrie, Charles, Philip II of Spain, 377

Petrie, Glen, The Fourth King, 387

Petrillo, Daniel J, Robert F.Kennedy, 268

Petry, Ann, Harriet Tubman: Conductor on the Underground Railroad, 470

Peyser, Joan, Bernstein: A Biography, 35;

The Memory of All That: The Life of George Gershwin, 195

Pfeiffer, K.G, W.Somerset Maugham: A Candid Portrait, 318

Pflanze, Otto, Bismarck and the Development of Germany, 37

Pflaum, Rosalynd, Grand Obsession: Madame Curie and Her World, 118;

Marie Curie and Her Daughter Irene, 118

Phelan, James, Howard Hughes: The Hidden Years, 233

Philip, Cynthia O, Robert Fulton: A Biography, 179

Philip, Mark, Paine, 363

Phillimore, Jane, Katherine Mansfield, 308

Phillips, Gene D, Alfred Hitchcock, 223

Phillips, Jill M, The Rain Maiden, 394;

Walford's Oak, 102

Phillips-Matz, Mary Jane, Verdi: A Biography, 477

Phillips, William D., and Carla R.Phillips, The Worlds of Christopher Columbus, 104

Pichois, Claude, Baudelaire, 27

Pick, John, Gerard Manley Hopkins: Priest and Poet, 229

Pidoll, Carl von, Eroica: A Novel about Beethoven, 30

Pieper, Josef, Guide to Thomas Aquinas, 10

Pier, Anthony S, The Young Man from Mount Vernon, 484

Piérard, Louis, The Tragic Life of Vincent Van Gogh, 475

Pierce, Patricia J, The Ultimate Elvis: Elvis Presley Day by Day, 384

Piercy, Marge, City of Darkness. City of Light, 310, 363, 401

Pierson, Peter, Philip II of Spain, 377

Piette, Maximin, John Wesley in the Evolution of Protestantism, 488

Pike, Royston, Mohammed: Prophet of the Religion of Islam, 341

Pilgrim, David, So Great a Man, 345, 7

Pilling, John, ed, The Cambridge Companion to Beckett, 29

Pilpel, Robert H, Between Eternities, 18;

To the Honor of the Fleet, 497

Pinet, Helene, Rodin: The Hands of Genius, 404

Pini, Giorgio, The Official Life of Benito Mussolini, 343

Pinion, F.B, A D.H.Lawrence Companion, 277;

A George Eliot Companion, 158;

A Jane Austen Companion, 19;

A T.S.Eliot Companion: Life and Works, 159;

A Tennyson Companion: Life and Works, 456;

A Wordsworth Chronology, 502

Piper, Henry D, F.Scott Fitzgerald: A Critical Portrait, 166

Pippett, Aileen, The Moth and the Star: A Biography of Virginia Woolf, 501

Pitkin, Thomas M, The Captain Departs: Ulysses S.Grant's Last Campaign, 206

Pittenger, W.Norman, Henry VIII of England, 221;

The Life of Saint Paul, 369;

The Life of Saint Peter, 374;

Richard the Lion-Hearted: The Crusader King, 394

Plaidy, Jean, The Bastard King, 494;

Captive of Kensington Palace, 479;

The Captive Queen of Scotland, 315;

The Courts of Love , 394;

Epitaph for Three Women, 249;

Evergreen Gallant, 220, 81;

Goddess of the Green Room, 193, 427;

The Goldsmith's Wife , 395;

A Health Unto His Majesty, 91;

Heart of the Lion, 394;

Here Lies Our Sovereign Lord, 91;

In the Shadow of the Crown, 221;

Indiscretions of the Queen, 193;

The Italian Woman, 81;

Katharine: The Virgin Widow, 221;

The King's Pleasure, 40;

The King's Secret Matter, 221, 40, 500;

The Lady in the Tower, 40;

Light on Lucrezia, 45–47;

Louis the Well-Beloved, 293;

Madame Serpent, 81;

Madonna of the Seven Hills, 45–47;

The Murder in the Tower, 244;

Murder Most Royal, 221, 40;

Myself, My Enemy, 90;

Perdita's Prince, 191, 193, 427;

The Plantagenet Prelude, 459;

The Pleasures of Love, 91;

The Prince and the Quakeress, 191;

The Queen and Lord M, 479;

Queen Jezebel, 220, 81;

Queen of This Realm: The Story of Queen Elizabeth I, 160;

The Queen's Husband, 479, 5;

The Regent's Daughter, 193;

The Reluctant Queen: The Story of Anne of York, 395;

The Rose without a Thorn, 221;

Royal Road to Fotheringay, 315;

The Scarlet Cloak, 377;

The Shadow of the Pomegranate, 221;

The Sixth Wife, 221;

The Spanish Bridegroom, 314, 377;

St. Thomas Eve, 336;

The Sun in Splendour, 395;

Sweet Lass of Richmond, 193;

The Third George, 191;

The Three Crowns, 91;

Uneasy Lies the Head, 221;

Victoria in the Wings, 479;

Victoria Victorious, 199, 479, 5;

The Wandering Prince, 91;

The Widow of Windsor, 199, 479;

The Young Mary Queen of Scots, 315

Plain, Nancy, Mary Cassatt: An Artist's Life, 79

Plantings, Leon B, Schumann as Critic, 420

Plath, James, and Frank Simons, ed, Remembering Ernest Hemingway, 219

Platonov, Sergei, Ivan the Terrible, 241

Plattard, Jean, Life of François Rabelais, 388

Pletsch, Carl, Young Nietzsche Becoming a Genius, 355

Plomer, William, Cecil Rhodes, 393

Plumb, John H, First Four Georges, 191, 193

Plumbtre, George, Edward VII, 154

Poage, George R, Henry Clay and the Whig Party, 99

Pocock, Tom, Horatio Nelson, 349;

Nelson and His World, 349

Pohl, Frederick J, Like to the Lark: The Early Years of Shakespeare, 423

Pohlsander, Hans A, The Emperor Constantine, 108

Poirier, Leon, Saint Paul: A Historical Novel of His Life, 369

Poirier, Michel, Christopher Marlowe, 311

Poldermans, Joost, Vincent: A Novel Based on the Life of Van Gogh, 475, 85

Polikoff, Barbara G, Herbert C.Hoover, 31st President of the United States, 227

Poling, Clark V, Kandinsky: Russian and Bauhaus Years , 263

Polko, Elise, Reminiscences of Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy: A Social and Artistic Biography, 315

Pollard, A.F, Henry VIII, 221;

Wolsey, 500

Pollard, A.J, Richard III and the Princes in the Tower, 395

Pollitt, Josephine, Emily Dickinson: The Human Background of Her Poetry, 135

Pollitzer, Anita, A Woman on Paper: Georgia O'Keeffe, 358

Pollock, Frederick, Spinoza: His Life and Philosophy, 435

Pollock, Griselda, and Fred Orton, Vincent van Gogh: Artist of His Time, 475

Pollock, J.C, The Apostle: A Life of Paul, 369

Polybius, The Histories, 211

Pomerance, Bernard, We Need to Dream All This Again, 115

Ponce de Leon, N.Baccino, Five Black Ships, 301

Ponente, Nello, Klee: Biographical and Critical Study, 275

Poniatowska, Elena, Dear Diego, 399

Ponsonby, Arthur, Samuel Pepys, 371

Poole, Roger, The Unknown Virginia Woolf, 501

Pope, Dudley, Ramage at Trafalgar, 349

Pope-Hennessy, James, Anthony Trollope, 466

Pope-Hennessy, John, Raphael, 390;

Robert Louis Stevenson, 442

Pope-Hennessy, Una, Charles Dickens, 134;

The Laird of Abbotsford , 422

Poplawski, Paul, D.H.Lawrence: A Reference Companion, 211;

A Jane Austen Encyclopedia, 19

Porte, Joel, Representative Man: Ralph Waldo Emerson in His Time, 162

Porter, David, Mother Teresa: The Early Years, 339

Porter, Donald, Jubilee Jim and the Wizard of Wall Street, 206

Porter, Horace, Campaigning with Grant, 206

Portillo, José Lopez, They Are Coming: The Conquest of Mexico, 113

Posse, Abel, The Dogs of Paradise, 104, 240

Possony, S.T, Lenin: The Compulsive Revolutionary, 280

Potter, G.R., and M.Greengross, John Calvin, 70

Potter, James L, Robert Frost Handbook, 178

Potter, Jeremy, Good King Richard?: An Account of Richard III and His Reputation 1483–1983, 395;

A Trail of Blood, 395

Pottle, Frederick A, James Boswell: The Earlier Years 1740–69, 48

Pound, Reginald, Albert: A Biography of the Prince Consort, 5

Powell, David, Tom Paine: The Greatest Exile, 363

Powers, Anne, Rachel, 346–347;

The Thousand Fires, 345

Powers, Elizabeth, Nero, 350

Powers, Richard G, Secrecy and Power: The Life of J.Edgar Hoover, 228

Powers, Ron, Dangerous Water: A Biography of the Boy Who Became Mark Twain, 473

Powers, Tim, The Stress of Her Regard, 265, 426, 67

Powys, John Cowper, Rabelais: His Life, 388

Poyer, David, The Only Thing to Fear, 267, 406

Poznansky, Alexander, Tchaikovsky: The Quest for the Inner Man, 453;

Tchaikovsky's Last Days: A Documentary Study, 453

Poznansky, Alexander, ed, Tchaikovsky through Others' Eyes, 453

Pozzi, Gianni, Chagall, 86

Prater, Donald, A Ringing Glass: The Life of Rainer Maria Rilke, 397

Prater, Donald A, Thomas Mann: A Life, 307

Prawer, S.S, Heine's Jewish Comedy, 218

Predmore, Richard L, Cervantes, 84

Prescott, Hilda F.M, The Man on a Donkey, 221;

Mary Tudor, 314;

Son of Dust, 494;

Spanish Tudor: Life of Bloody Mary, 314;

The Unhurrying Chase, 394

Prescott, William H, History of the Conquest of Mexico, 113;

The History of the Reign of Ferdinand and Isabella, 240

Presley, Priscilla Beaulieu, Elvis and Me, 384

Preston, Caroline, Jackie by Josie, 359

Preston, Dickson J, Young Frederick Douglass: The Maryland Years, 142

Preston, Paul, Franco: A Biography, 172

Preston, Peter, A D.H.Lawrence Chronology, 277

Prevas, John, Hannibal Across the Alps: The Enigma Reexamined, 211

Prezzolini, Giuseppe, Machiavelli, 298

Price, Alan, The End of the Age of Innocence: Edith Wharton and the First World War, 489

Price, Eugenia, Bright Captivity, 422

Price, Jeramie, Katrina, 375

Prideaux, Tom, The World of Delacroix, 130;

The World of Whistler: 1834–1903, 490

Pridgen, Tim, West Goes the Road, 66

Pridgen, William, Night of the Dragon’s Blood, 372–373

Priestley, J.B, Anton Chekhov, 94;

The Prince of Pleasure and His Regency, 193

Prieto, Luis B, Simón Bolívar: Educator, 41

Pringle, Henry E, Theodore Roosevelt, a Biography, 407

Prior, James, The Life of Oliver Goldsmith, 203;

Memoir of the Life and Character of the Right Hon. Edmund Burke, 64

Pritchard, William, Frost: A Literary Life Reconsidered, 178

Pritchett, V.S, Balzac, 23;

Chekhov: A Spirit Set Free, 94;

The Gentle Barbarian: The Life and Work of Turgenev, 471

Procter, Ben, William Randolph Hearst: The Early Years, 1863–1910 , 217

Prokosch, Frederic, The Missolonghi Manuscript, 67

Prole, Lozania, The Little Victoria, 479;

The Queen’s Daughters, 479;

Sweet Marie Antoinette, 310

Province, Charles M, The Unknown Patton, 368

Pryor, Elinor, And Never Yield, 434

Pryor, Elizabeth Brown, Clara Barton: Professional Angel, 26

Pudney, John, John Wesley and His World, 488;

Lewis Carroll and His World, 75

Pugh, Martin, Lloyd George, 288

Purcell, Mary, The First Jesuit: Saint Ignatius of Loyola, 238

Purtscher, Nora von Wydenbruck, Rilke, Man and Poet: A Biographical Study, 397

Pushkin, Alexander, The Captain’s Daughter, 83

Putnam, Carleton, Theodore Roosevelt: The Formative Years, 1858–1884, 407

Putnam, George P, Soaring Wings: A Biography of Amelia Earhart, 151

Putnam, Peter, Peter: The Revolutionary Tsar, 375

Putnam, Samuel, François Rabelais: Man of the Renaissance: A Spiritual Biography, 388

Pyarelai, Mahatma Gandhi, 183

Pye, Lucian W, Mao Tse-tung: The Man in the Leader, 309

Pye, Michael, The Buddha, 62

Quain, Kevin, ed, The Elvis Reader: Texts and Sources on the King of Rock ‘n’ Roll, 384

Quakenbush, Robert M, James Madison and Dolley Madison and Their Times , 299–300

Quarles, Benjamin, Frederick Douglass, 142

Quennell, Peter, Alexander Pope: The Education of Genius, 1688–1728, 382;

Byron in Italy, 67;

Byron: The Years of Fame, 67;

Hogarth’s Progress, 226;

John Ruskin: The Portrait of a Prophet, 411;

Shakespeare: A Biography, 423

Quennell, Peter, ed, Marcel Proust, 1871–1922: A Centennial Volume, 385;

Vladimir Nabokov: His Life, His Work, His World: A Tribute, 344

Quinn, Arthur Hobson, Edgar Allan Poe: A Critical Biography, 380

Quinn, Susan, Marie Curie: A Life, 118

Quinones, Ricardo J, Dante Alighieri, 121

Quintana, Ricardo, The Mind and Art of Jonathan Swift, 448

Raboff, Ernest, Albrecht Dürer, 149

Raby, Peter, Aubrey Beardsley and the Nineties, 28

Rachman, Carla, Monet, 332

Rack, Henry D, Reasonable Enthusiast: John Wesley and the Rise of Methodism, 488

Radcliffe, Philip, Mendelssohn, 315

Raddatz, Fritz, Karl Marx: A Political Biography, 313

Rader, Dotson, Tennessee: Cry of the Heart, 495

Rady, Martyn, Emperor Charles V, 92

Radzinsky, Edvard, The Last Tsar: The Life and Death of Nicholas II, 354;

Stalin: The First In-Depth Biography Based on Explosive New Documents from Russia’s Secret Archives, 436

Rae, John, Life of Adam Smith, 432

Rae, John B., ed, Henry Ford, 168

Raeff, Marc, ed, Catherine the Great: A Profile, 83

Ragosta, Millie J, Druid’s Enchantment, 367

Rai, Raghu, and Navin Chawla, Faith and Compassion: The Life and Work of Mother Teresa, 339

Railton, Stephen, Fenimore Cooper: A Study of His Life and Imagination, 111

Raina, Vimala, Ambapali, 62

Rambaud, Patrick, The Battle, 345, 439

Rampersad, Arnold, The Art and Imagination of W.E.B.DuBois, 147;

Jackie Robinson: A Biography, 402;

The Life of Langston Hughes, 234

Ranald, Margaret L, The Eugene O’Neill Companion, 360

Randall, Dudley, and Margaret G.Burroughs, eds, For Malcolm: Poems on the Life and Death of Malcolm X, 304

Randall, Henry S, The Life of Thomas Jefferson, 247

Randall, James G, Lincoln: The President, 284

Randall, Marta, John F.Kennedy, 267

Randall, Ruth P, Mary Lincoln: Biography of a Marriage, 284

Randall, Willard S, Benedict Arnold: Patriot and Traitor, 11;

George Washington: A Life, 484;

A Little Revenge: Benjamin Franklin and His Son, 173;

Thomas Jefferson: A Life, 247

Randi, James, and Bert R.Sugar, Houdini: His Life and Art, 231

Randolph, Blythe, Amelia Earhart, 151;

Charles Lindbergh, 285

Randolph, Sallie G, Woodrow Wilson: President, 497

Ransford, Oliver, David Livingstone: The Dark Interior, 287

Raphael, Frederic, Somerset Maugham and His World, 31S

Raphael, Frederick, Byron, 67

Rappaport, Helen, Joseph Stalin: A Biographical Companion, 436

Rascovich, Mark, Falkenhorst, 37

Rasmussen, R.Kent, Mark Twain A to Z: The Essential Reference to His Life and Writings, 473

Ratchnevsky, Paul, Genghis Khan: His Life and Legacy, 190

Rattray, Robert F, Bernard Shaw: A Chronicle, 424

Raven, Charles E, Teilhard de Chardin: Scientist and Seer, 455

Rawl, Miriam Freeman, From the Ashes of Ruin, 428

Rawson, Elizabeth, Cicero: A Portrait, 98

Ray, Gordon N, The Buried Life: A Study of the Relation between Thackeray’s Fiction and His Personal History, 458;

H.G.Wells and Rebecca West, 487;

Thackeray, 458

Ray, Robert, An Andrew Marvel I Companion, 312;

A John Donne Companion, 140

Rayfield, Donald, Anton Chekhov: A Life, 94

Rayfield, Susan, Pierre-Auguste Renoir, 392

Raymond of Capua, The Life of Catherine of Siena, 82

Rayner, Claire, Bedford Row, 356

Razzi, Jim, Custer and Crazy Horse: A Story of Two Warriors, 119

Read, Bill, The Days of Dylan Thomas, 460

Reade, Brian, Beardsley, 28

Reade, Charles, The Cloister and the Hearth, 163, 295

Rebolledo, Francisco, Rasero, 136, 205, 409, 480

Receveur, Betty Layman, Oh, Kentucky!, 42

Rechy, John, Marilyn’s Daughter, 268, 334

Reddaway, William F, Frederick the Great and the Rise of Prussia, 175

Redinger, Ruby V, George Eliot: The Emergent Self, 158

Redlich, Fritz, Hitler: Diagnosis of a Destructive Prophet, 224

Redlich, Joseph, Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria: A Biography, 174

Redondi, Pietro, Galileo: Heretic, 181

Reece, B.Carroll, The Courageous Commoner: A Biography of Andrew Johnson, 251

Reed, Jeremy, Delirium: An Interpretation of Arthur Rimbaud, 398

Reed, John, Schubert, 419;

Schubert: The Final Years, 419

Reed, T.J, Goethe, 200

Reedy, George, Lyndon B.Johnson: A Memoir, 252

Reef, Catherine, Walt Whitman, 491

Rees, Douglas, Lightning Time: A Novel, 58

Rees, Richard, George Orwell: Fugitive from the Camp of Victory, 362

Reeves, Richard, President Kennedy: Profile of Power, 267

Reeves, Thomas C, The Life and Times of Joe McCarthy: A Biography, 319;

A Qestion of Character: A Life of John F.Kennedy, 267

Regan, Geoffrey, Lionhearts: Saladin and Richard I and the Era of the Third Crusade, 394

Reich, Nancy B, Clara Schumann: The Artist and the Woman, 420

Reich-Ranicki, Marcel, Thomas Mann and His Family, 307

Reich, Willi, Schoenberg: A Critical Biography, 418

Reichart, Walter A, Washington Irving and Germany, 239

Reid, Edith G, Florence Nightingale, 356

Reid, Panthea, Art and Affection: A Life of Virginia Woolf, 501

Reid, Robert, Marie Curie, 118

Reid, T.Wemyss, ed, The Life of William Ewart Gladstone, 199

Reife, A.R, Salt Lake City, 508

Reik, Miriam M, The Golden Lands of Thomas Hobbes, 225

Reilly, Robert, The God of Mirrors, 492

Reilly, Robin, William Pitt the Younger, 379

Reiners, Ludwig, Frederick the Great, 175

Reinhardt, Richard, The Ashes of Smyrna, 13

Reith, Herman R, René Descartes: The Story of a Soul, 131

Remini, Robert V, Andrew Jackson, 242;

Andrew Jackson and the Course of American Democracy, 1833–1845, 242;

Andrew Jackson and the Course of American Empire, 1767–1821, 242;

Andrew Jackson and the Course of American Freedom, 1822–1832, 242;

Daniel Webster: The Man and His Times, 485;

Henry Clay: Statesman for the Union, 99;

The Life of Andrew Jackson, 242;

Martin Van Buren and the Making of the Democratic Party, 474

Renan, Ernest, The Life of Jesus, 248

Renault, Mary, Alexander the God, 8;

Fire from Heaven, 8;

Funeral Games, 8;

The Nature of Alexander, 8;

The Persian Boy, 8

Rehnan, Edward J. Jr, The Lion's Pride: Theodore Roosevelt and His Family in Peace and War, 407

Renoir, Jean, Renoir, My Father, 392

Renstrom, Arthur G, Wilbur & Orville Wright: A Chronology, 505–506

Restarick, Henry B, Sun Yat-Sen: Liberator of China, 447

Reston, James Jr, Galileo: A Life, 181

Retan, Walter, The Story of Davy Crockett, 116

Rewald, John, Cézanne: A Biography, 85

Reyburn, H.A, Nietzsche: The Story of a Human Philosopher, 355

Reynolds, David S, Walt Whitman's America: A Cultural Biography, 491

Reynolds, Ernest E, The Field Is Won: The Life and Death of Saint Thomas More, 336;

Trial of St. Thomas More, 336

Reynolds, Graham, Constable: The Natural Painter, 107;

Turner, 472

Reynolds, Michael S, Hemingway: The Final Years, 219;

Hemingway: The 1930s, 219;

Hemingway: The Paris Years, 219;

The Young Hemingway, 219

Reynolds, Moira D, How Pasteur Changed History: The Story of Louis Pasteur and the Pasteur Institute, 366

Rhees, Rush, ed, Recollections of Wittgenstein, 498

Rheinhardt, Emil A, Napoleon and Eugénie: The Tragicomedy of an Empire, 346–347

Rhodes, R.Crompton, Harlequin Sheridan: The Man and the Legends, 427

Rhys, Ernest, Rabindranath Tagore: A Biographical Study, 451

Rice, Arnold S, Herbert Hoover, 1874–1964: Chronological-Documents-Bibliographical Aids, 227

Rice, Edward, Journey to Upolu: Robert Louis Stevenson, Victorian Rebel, 442

Rice, Edward E, Mao's Way, 309

Rice, James L, Dostoevsky and the Healing Art, 141

Rich, Doris L, Amelia Earhart: A Biography, 151

Richard, Jean, Saint Louis: Crusader King of France, 292

Richards, Guy, The Hunt for the Czar, 354

Richards, Leonard L, The Life and Times of Congressman John Quincy Adams, 3

Richards, William C, The Last Billionaire, 168

Richardson, Henry H, The Young Cosima, 481

Richardson, Joan, Wallace Stevens, 441

Richardson, Joanna, Baudelaire, 27;

Colette, 103;

Fanny Brawne: A Biography, 265;

George the Magnificent: A Portrait of King George IV, 193;

The Pre-eminent Victorian: A Study of Tennyson, 456;

Sarah Bernhardt and Her World, 34;

Stendhal, 439;

Victor Hugo, 235;

Victoria and Albert, 5;

The Young Lewis Carroll, 75;

Zola, 509

Richardson, John, A Life of Picasso, 378

Richardson, Martha, Francisco Goya, 205

Richardson, Robert D, Emerson: The Mind on Fire, 162;

Henry Thoreau: A Life of the Mind, 461

Richter, Werner, Bismarck, 37

Rickarby, Laura A, Ulysses S.Grant and the Strategy of Victory, 206

Ricketts, Harry, Rudyard Kipling: A Life, 274

Ricks, Christopher, Tennyson, 456

Rickword, Edgell, Rimbaud: The Boy and the Poet, 398

Ridley, Jane, Young Disraeli 1804–1846, 139

Ridley, Jasper, Elizabeth I: The Shrewdness of Virtue, 160;

Garibaldi, 186;

Henry VIII, 221;

The Life and Times of Mary Tudor, 314;

Mussolini, 343;

Napoleon III and Eugénie, 346–347;

Statesman and Saint: Cardinal Wolsey, Sir Thomas More, and the Politics of Henry VIII, 336, 500

Ridolfi, Carlo, The Life of Titian, 462

Ridolfi, Roberta, The Life of Machiavelli, 298

Riede, David, Dante Gabriel Rossetti, 408

Riese, Randall, and Neal Hitchens, The Unabridged Marilyn: Her Life from A to Z, 334

Riesner, Rainer, Paul's Early Period: Chronology, Mission Strategy, Theology, 369

Riggs, Arthur S, Titian the Magnificent and the Venice of His Day, 462

Riggs, David, Ben Jonson: A Life, 256

Riley, I.Woodbridge, The Founder of Mormonism: A Psychological Study of Joseph Smith, 434

Riley, Judith Merkle, The Master of All Desires, 81;

The Oracle Glass, 293;

The Serpent Garden, 221, 500

Rilke, Rainer Maria, Rodin, 404

Rinaldi, Ann, Finishing Becca: A Story of Peggy Shippen and Benedict Arnold, 11;

Mine Eyes Have Seen, 58

Ripley, Alexandra, The Time Returns, 322, 328, 49

Ripley, Clements, Clear for Action: A Novel about John Paul Jones, 222, 255

Ripley, Elizabeth, Botticelli: A Biography, 49;

Dürer: A Biography, 149;

Gainsborough: A Biography, 180;

Goya: A Biography, 205;

Raphael, 390;

Rodin: A Biography, 404;

Rubens: A Biography, 410;

Titian: A Biography, 462;

Velázquez, 476

Risjord, Norman K, Thomas Jefferson, 247

Ritter, Gerhard, Frederick the Great: A Historical Profile, 175;

Luther: His Life and Work, 295

Riva, Maria, Marlene Dietrich: By Her Daughter, 137

Rivers, Caryl, Camelot, 267

Rivers, J.E, Proust and the Art of Love, 385

Rives, William C, History of the Life and Times of James Madison, 299–300

Rizzatti, Maria Luisa, The Life and Times of Dante, 121;

The Life and Times of Michelangelo, 328

Rkybakov, Anatoli, Children of the Arbat, 436;

Dust and Ashes, 436;

Fear, 436

Roark, Garland, Hellfire Jackson, 232

Roazen, Paul, Freud and His Followers, 177

Robb, Graham, Balzac: A Life, 23;

Victor Hugo, 235

Robb, Peter, M: The Man Who Became Caravaggio, 72

Robbins, Charles, Last of His Kind: An Informal Portrait of Harry S.Truman, 468

Robbins, Jhan, Bess & Harry: An American Love Story, 468

Robbins, Keith, Churchill, 97

Robert, Marthe, As Lonely as Franz Kafka, 262;

From Oedipus to Moses: Freud's Jewish Identity, 177

Roberts, Brian, Cecil Rhodes: Flawed Colossus, 393

Roberts, Cecil, The Remarkable Young Man, 265

Roberts, David, A Newer World: Kit Carson, John C.Frémont, and the Claiming of the American West, 176, 76

Roberts, Elizabeth Madox, The Great Meadow, 42

Roberts, Gerald, Gerard Manley Hopkins: A Literary Life, 229

Roberts, Kenneth, Arundel, 11;

Rabble in Arms, 11

Roberts, Margaret, Saint Catherine of Siena and Her Times, 82

Robertson, Archibald T, Epochs in the Life of Simon Peter, 374

Robertson, David, Booth: A Novel, 43

Robertson, Don, The River and the Wilderness, 243

Robertson, George C, Hobbes, 225

Robertson, James I. Jr, Stonewall Jackson: The Man, the Soldier, the Legend, 243

Robertson, John G, Goethe, 200

Robertson-Lorant, Laurie, Melville: A Biography, 324

Robertson, Ritchie, Heine, 218

Robeson, Eslanda G, Paul Robeson, Negro, 400

Robeson, Susan, The Whole World in His Hands: A Pictorial Biography of Paul Robeson, 400

Robinson, Corinne Roosevelt, My Brother Theodore Roosevelt, 407

Robinson, Donald W, Chaplin: His Life and Art, 88;

Chaplin: The Mirror of Opinion, 88

Robinson, Forrest G., ed, The Cambridge Companion to Mark Twain, 473

Robinson, Jackie, and Alfred Duckett, Breakthrough to the Big League, 402

Robinson, Nicholas K., Edmund Burke: A Life in Caricature, 64

Robinson, Paul, Bernstein, 35

Robinson, Phyllis, Willa: The Life of Willa Gather, 80

Robinson, Rachel. With Lee Daniels, Jackie Robinson: An Intimate Portrait, 402

Robinson, Roxana, Georgia O'Keeffe: A Life, 358

Robinson, Sharon, Stealing Home: An Intimate Family Portrait by the Daughter of Jackie Robinson , 402

Robles, Harold E., Albert Schweitzer: An Adventurer for Humanity, 421

Robson, Luca St. Clair, Walk in My Soul, 232

Robson, Michael, St. Francis of Assist: The Legend and the Life, 171

Robyns, Gwen, The Mystery of Agatha Christie, 96

Rockwell, John, Sinatra: An American Classic, 430

Rodgers, Judith, Winston Churchill . 97

Rodinson, Maxime, Mohammed, 341

Rodis-Lewis, Geneviève, Descartes: His Life and Thought, 131

Roditi, Edouard, Magellan of the Pacific, 301

Rodriguez Monegal, Emir, Jorge Luis Borges: A Literary Biography, 44

Roeder, Ralph, Catherine de ' Medici and the Lost Revolution, 81

Roeder, William, Jackie Robinson, 402

Roessner, Michaela, The Stars Dispose, 81

Roetzel, Calvin J, Paul: The Man and the Myth, 369

Rofheart, Martha, The Alexandrian, 100;

Glendower Country, 93;

Lionheart! A Novel of Richard I, King of England, 394

Rogal, Samuel J, A William Somerset Maugham Encyclopedia, 318

Rogers, Ben, Pascal, 365

Rogers, James T, Woodrow Wilson: Visionary for Peace, 497

Rogers, Pat, Henry Fielding: A Biography, 165;

The Samuel Johnson Encyclopedia, 254

Rogers, Teresa, George Washington Carver: Nature 's Trailblazer, 78

Rogers, William G, Gertrude Stein Is Gertrude Stein Is Gertrude Stein, 438;

When This You See Remember Me: Gertrude Stein in Person, 438

Rogow, Arnold A, A Fateful Friendship: Alexander Hamilton and Aaron Burr, 209, 66;

Thomas Hobbes: Radical in the Service of Reaction, 225

Rogow, Roberta, The Problem of the Missing Miss, 75

Röhl, John C.G, Germany without Bismarck: The Crisis of Government in the Second Reich 1890–1900, 493;

Young Wilhelm: The Kaiser's Early Life, 1859–1888, 493

Röhl, John C.G., and N.Sombart, eds, Kaiser Wilhelm II: New Interpretations, 493

Rohrbach, Peter-Thomas, Bold Encounter: A Novel Based on the Life of St. John of the Cross, 457

Rojas, Carlos, The Garden of Janus, 84

Roll, Winifred, Mary I: The History of an Unhappy Tudor Queen, 314

Rolland, Remain, The Life of Michel Angela, 328;

Mahatma Gandhi: The Man Who Became One with the Universal Being, 183;

Tolstoy, 463

Rolle, Andrew F, John Charles Frémont: Character as Destiny, 176

Rollins, H.E, The Keats Circle, 265

Rollyson, Carl E. Jr, Marilyn Monroe: A Life of the Actress, 334

Roman, Joseph, Pablo Neruda, 351

Ronalds, Mary T, Nero, 350

Ronan, Colin A, Galileo, 181

Rooke, Leon, Shakespeare's Dog, 423

Roosevelt, Elliott, Eleanor Roosevelt Mystery Series., 405;

A First Class Murder, 285;

Murder and the First Lady, 252;

Murder at the Palace, 97;

Murder in the Chateau, 438;

Murder in the East Room, 88;

Murder in the Executive Mansion, 164, 219;

The President's Man, 406;

The White House Pantry Murder, 97

Roosevelt, Elliott, and James Brough, Mother R: Eleanor Roosevelt's Untold Story, 405;

A Rendezvous with Destiny: The Roosevelts of the White House, 405, 406;

An Untold Story: The Roosevelts of Hyde Park, 405, 406

Roosevelt, James, My Parents: A Differing View, 405, 406

Roosevelt, James, and Sam Toperoff, A Family Matter, 406, 97

Roosevelt, Nicholas, Theodore Roosevelt: The Man as I Knew Him, 407

Root, Harvey W, The Unknown Barnum, 24

Roots, Ivan A., ed, Cromwell: A Profile, 117

Roper, William, The Life of Sir Thomas More, 336

Roquette, Ruth, Saint Patrick, the Irish Saint, 367

Rosand, David, Titian, 462

Rose, J.Holland, The Life of Napoleon I, 345

Rose, Jonathan, Otto von Bismarck, 37

Rose, Norman, Churchill: The Unruly Giant, 97

Rose, Phyllis, Woman of Letters: A Life of Virginia Woolf, 501

Rosebery, Archibald, Pitt, 379

Rosen, Deborah N, Anwar el-Sadat: Middle East Peacemaker, 413

Rosen, Edward, Copernicus and the Scientific Revolution, 112

Rosen, Norma, John and Anzia: An American Romance, 132

Rosenbaum, Herbert D, Franklin D.Roosevelt: The Man, the Myth, the Era, 1882–1945, 406

Rosenbaum, Ron, Explaining Hitler: The Search for the Origins of His Evil, 224

Rosenberg, Deena, Fascinating Rhythm: The Collaboration of George and Ira Gershwin, 195

Rosenberg, Jakob, Rembrandt: Life and Work, 391

Rosenberg, John D, The Darkening Glass: A Portrait of Ruskin's Genius, 411

Rosenblum, Joseph, ed, Shakespeare, 423

Rosenfeld, Alvin H, Imagining Hitler, 224

Roskin, Alexander, From the Banks of the Volga: The Life of Maxim Gorky, 204

Ross, Charles, Richard III, 395

Ross, Charles S, Vladimir Nabokov: Life, Work, and Criticism, 344

Ross, Ian Simpson, The Life of Adam Smith, 432

Ross, Ishbel, Angel of the Battlefield: The Life of Clara Barton, 26;

The General's Wife: The Life of Mrs. Ulysses S.Grant, 206

Ross, James R, I, Jesse James, 246

Ross, Maggie, Milena, 262

Ross, Michael, Alexandre Dumas, 148

Ross, Walter S, The Last Hero: Charles A. Lindbergh, 285

Ross Williamson, Hugh, The Cardinal in Exile, 314;

Catherine de ' Medici, 81;

The Florentine Woman, 81;

Kind Kit: An Informal Biography of Christopher Marlowe, 311;

Lorenzo the Magnificent, 322;

The Princess a Nun, 377;

Sir Walter Raleigh, 389

Rosselli, John, The Life of Mozart, 340

Rosset, B.C, Shaw of Dublin: The Formative Years, 424

Rossetti, William Michael, Life of John Keats, 265

Rossignol, Rosalyn, Chaucer: A to Z: The Essential Reference to His Life and Works, 93

Rosslyn, felicity, Alexander Pope: A Literary Life, 382

Rostand, David, ed, Titian: His World and His Legacy, 462

Rotberg, Robert I., and Miles F.Shore, The Founder: Cecil Rhodes and the Pursuit of Power, 393

Roth, Leon, Spinoza, 435

Roth, Philip, Our Gang, 357

Röthel, Hans Konrad, and Jean K.Benjamin, Kandinsky, 263

Roudane, Matthew C., ed, The Cambridge Companion to Tennessee Williams, 495

Rousseau, John J., and Rami Arav, Jesus and His World: An Archaeological and Cultural Dictionary, 248

Rousselot, Jean, Hungarian Rhapsody: The Life of Franz Liszt, 286, 33;

Hungarian Rhapsody: The Life of Franz Liszt . 95

Routh, Francis, Stravinsky, 445

Routh, Jonathan, The Secret Life of Queen Victoria, 479

Rouzé, Michel, Robert Oppenheimer: The Man and His Theories, 361

Rovere, Richard H, Senator Joe McCarthy, 319

Row, Arthur, Sarah the Divine, 34

Rowland, Peter, David Lloyd George: A Biography, 288

Rowse, A.L., Bosworth Field and the Wars of the Roses, 395;

Christopher Marlowe: His Life and Work, 311;

Jonathan Swift, 448;

Matthew Arnold: Poet and Prophet, 12;

The Poet Auden: A Personal Memoir, 14;

Shakespeare: A Biography, 423;

Shakespeare the Man, 423;

Sir Walter Raleigh: His Family and Private Life, 389

Roy, Basanta K, Rabindranath Tagore: The Man and His Poetry, 451

Royal, Denise, The Story of J.Robert Oppenheimer, 361

Royall, Margaret S, Andrew Johnson—Presidential Scapegoat: A Biographical Re-evaluation, 251

Royle, Roger, Mother Teresa: A Life in Pictures, 339

Rubel, Maximilien and Margaret Manale, Marx without Myth: A Chronological Study of His Life and Work, 313

Rubin-Dorsky, Jeffrey, Adrift in the Old World: The Psychological Pilgrimage of Washington Irving, 239

Rubin, Joseph J, The Historical Whitman, 491

Rubin, Nancy, Isabella of Castile: The First Renaissance Queen, 240

Rubin, Susan G, Frank Lloyd Wright, 504

Rubinstein, Nicolai, Lorenzo de’ Medici: The Formation of His Statecraft, 322

Ruchames, Louis, John Brown: The Making of a Revolutionary., 58

Rudé, George, Robespierre: Portrait of a Revolutionary Democrat, 401

Rudé, George, ed, Robespierre, 401

Rudwick, Elliott, W.E.B.Du Bois: Voice of the Black Protest Movement, 147

Ruffo-Fiore, Silvia, Niccolò Machiavelli, 298

Ruggles, Eleanor, Gerard Manley Hopkins: A Life, 229;

Journey into Faith: The Anglican Life of John Henry Newman, 352

Rühle, Otto, Karl Marx: His Life and Work, 313

Rule, J.C., and J.TePaske, eds, The Character of Philip II: The Problem of Moral Judgments in History, 377

Rule, John C, ed, Louis XIV, 293

Rummel, Jack, Langston Hughes, 234;

Malcolm X, 304;

Robert Oppenheimer: Dark Prince, 361

Rupp, Gordon, Luther’s Progress to the Diet of Worms, 295

Rusch, Kristine Katherine, Hitler’s Angel, 224

Rush, Philip, The Young Shelley, 426

Rushmore, Robert, The Life of George Gershwin, 195

Rusk, Ralph L., The Life of Ralph Waldo Emerson, 162

Russell, Dora, The Tamarisk Tree: My Quest for Liberty and Love, 412

Russell, Edward F.L., Caroline, the Unhappy Queen, 193

Russell, Francis, Adams: An American Dynasty, 2;

The Shadow of Blooming Grove: Warren G. Harding and His Times, 212

Russell, G.W.E, Matthew Arnold, 12

Russell, Greg, John Quincy Adams and the Public Virtue of Diplomacy, 3

Russell, Jack, Nelson and the Hamiltons, 349;

Nelson: Hero of Trafalgar, 349

Russell, John, Matisse: Father & Son, 317

Russell of Liverpool (Edward F.L.), Henry of Navarre: Henry IV of France, 220

Russell, Pamela R, The Woman Who Loved John Wilkes Booth, 43

Russell, Phillips, William the Conqueror, 494

Russell, Ray, Princess Pamela, 466

Rutherford, Edward, Russka: The Novel of Russia, 241, 375, 83

Rutland, Robert A, James Madison: The Founding Father, 299–300;

The Presidency of James Madison, 299–300

Rutland, Robert A., ed, James Madison and the American Nation 1751–1836: An Encyclopedia, 299–300

Ryall, Tom, Alfred Hitchcock and the British Cinema, 223

Ryals, Clyde de L. The Life of Robert Browning: A Critical Biography, 59–60

Ryan, Alan, Bertrand Russell: A Political Life, 412

Ryan, Edward J, Comes an Echo on the Breeze, 123, 284, 452

Sabartès, Jaime, Picasso: An Intimate Portrait, 378

Sabatier, Paul, Life of Saint Francis of Assisi, 171

Sabatini, Rafael, The Birth of Mischief, 175;

Columbus, 104

Sabin, Edwin L, Kit Carson Days (1809–1868), 76

Sabin, Louis, Patrick Henry: Voice of American Revolution, 222

Sabor, Rudolph, The Real Wagner, 481

Sacchi, Filippo, The Magic Baton, 464

Sachs, Hanns, Freud: Master and Friend, 177

Sachs, Harvey, Reflections on Toscanini, 464;

Toscanini, 464

Sackville-West, Edward, A Flame in Sunlight: The Life and Work of Thomas De Quincey, 125

Sackville-West, Vita, Saint Joan of Arc, 249

Sadat, Camelia, My Father and I, 413

Sadat, Jehan, A Woman of Egypt, 413

Saddhatissa, Hammalawa, Before He Was Buddha: The Life of Siddhartha, 62

Sadie, Stanley. Handel, 210;

Mozart, 340;

The New Grove Mozart, 340

Sadleir, Michael, Anthony Trollope: A Commentary, 466

Safire, William, Freedom, 284;

Scandalmonger, 209, 247

Sagan, Françoise, Dear Sarah Bernhardt, 34

Sagar, Keith M, A D.H.Lawrence Handbook, 277;

D.H.Lawrence: Life into Art, 277;

The Life of D.H.Lawrence, 277

Sahgal, Nayantara, Indira Gandhi: Her Road to Power, 182

Saint John, Robert, Ben-Gurion: A Biography, 32;

Ben-Gurion: Builder of Israel, 32;

Ben-Gurion: The Biography of an Extraordinary Man, and expanded to cover the last years of Ben-Gurion’s life., 32

Saintsbury, George, Dryden, 146;

Matthew Arnold, 12

Salas, Xavier de, Goya, 205

Sale, Kirkpatrick, The Conquest of Paradise: Christopher Columbus and the Columbian Legacy, 104

Sale, Richard, The White Buffalo, 115

Salinger, Pierre, John F.Kennedy, Commander in Chief, 267;

With Kennedy, 267

Salis, Jean Randolphe de, Rainer Maria Rilke: The Years in Switzerland, 397

Salisbury, Harrison E, The Long March: The Untold Story, 309

Salmon, Nicholas, and Derek Baker, William Morris Chronology, 338

Salt, Henry S, Life of Henry David Thoreau, 461

Salvatore, Nick, Eugene V.Debs: Citizen and Socialist, 126

Salvini, Roberto, The Hidden Michelangelo, 328

Samkange, Stanlake, On Trial for My Country, 393

Sammons, Jeffrey L., Heinrich Heine: A Modern Biography, 218

Samples, Gordon, Lust for Fame: The Stage Career of John Wilkes Booth, 43

Samson, Jim, and John Rink, eds, Chopin Studies, 95

Samson, Jim, ed, The Cambridge Companion to Chopin, 95

Samuel, Maurice, Web of Fury: A Novel of the Borgia Fury, 45–47

San Lazzaro, Gualtieri di, Klee: A Study of His Life and Work, 275

Sanborn, Franklin B, The Life and Letters of John Brown: Liberator of Kansas and Martyr of Virginia., 58;

The Life of Henry David Thoreau, 461

Sanborn, Margaret, Mark Twain: The Bachelor Years, 473;

Robert E.Lee, 279

Sandberg, Peter Lars, Dwight D.Eisenhower, 157

Sandburg, Carl, Abraham Lincoln: The Prairie Years, 284;

Abraham Lincoln: The Prairie Years and the War Years, 284;

Abraham Lincoln: The War Years, 284

Sandburg, Carl, and Paul M.Angle, Mary Lincoln: Wife and Widow, 284

Sandeman, George A. C, Metternich, 327

Sanderlin, George W, The Sea-Dragon: Journals of Francis Drake’s Voyage Around the World, 144

Sanders, Dennis, and Len Loyallo, The Agatha Christie Companion: The Complete Guide to Agatha Christie’s Life and Work , 96

Sanders, E.P, The Historical Figure of Jesus, 248;

Paul, 369

Sanders, Joan, The Marquis, 293

Sanders, Leonard, Star of Empire: A Novel of Old San Antonio, 232

Sandison, David, Ernest Hemingway: An Illustrated Biography, 219;

Jack Kerouac: An Illustrated Biography, 269

Sandoz, Mari, Crazy Horse: The Strange Man of the Oglalas: A Biography, 115

Sandys, Celia, Churchill Wanted Dead or Alive, 97;

The Young Churchill: The Early Years of Winston Churchill, 97

Sanford, William R, Davy Crockett: Defender of the Alamo, 116;

Kit Carson: Frontier Scout, 76

Santow, Dan, Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy Onassis, 1929–1994, 359

Saposnik, Irving S, Robert Louis Stevenson, 442

Saramago, José, The Gospel According to Jesus Christ, 248

Sarde, Michèle, Colette: Free and Unfettered, 103

Sarfatti, Margherita, The Life of Benito Mussolini, 343

Sargent, Pamela, Ruler of the Sky: A Novel of GenghisKhan, 190

Sartre, Jean-Paul, Baudelaire, 27;

The Family Idiot: Gustave Flaubert 1821–1857, 167;

The Freud Scenario, 111

Satterlee, Herbert L., J.Pierpont Morgan: An Intimate Portrait, 337

Satterthwait, Walter, Escapade, 143, 231;

Wilde West, 492

Saunders, Diana, The Passion of Letty Fox, 346–347

Saunders, Raymond M, Fenwick Travers and the Years of Empire, 320

Saurat, Denis, Milton: Man and Thinker, 330

Sava, George, The Emperor Story: A Historical Romance, 7

Savage, Douglas, The Court Martial of Robert E. Lee, 123, 279;

The Sons of Grady Rourke, 36

Savage, Elizabeth, Willowwood, 338, 408, 411

Sawsom, William, Proust and His World, 385

Saxon, A.H, P.T.Barnum: The Legend and the Man. New York: Columbia University Press, 1989. 437pp., 24

Saxton, Martha, Louisa May: A Modern Biography of Louisa May Alcott, 6

Sayer, George, Jack: C.S.Lewis and His Times, 283

Sayers, Dorothy L., The Emperor Constantine: A Chronicle, 108

Saylor, Steven, Catalina's Riddle, 98;

A Murder on the Appian Way, 98;

Roman Blood, 98;

The Venus Throw, 98

Scarborough, Elizabeth A, The Lady in the Loch, 422

Scarisbrick, Jack J, Henry VIII, 221

Schachner, Nathan, Aaron Burr: A Biography, 66;

Alexander Hamilton, 209;

Thomas Jefferson: A Biography, 247;

The Wanderer: A Novel of Dante and Beatrice, 121

Schaffner, Nicholas, Beatles Forever, 281

Shaller, Michael, Douglas MacArthur: The Far Eastern General, 297

Schama, Simon, Rembrandt's Eyes, 391

Schapiro, Leonard, Turgenev: His Life and Times, 471

Schauffler, Robert H, Florestan: The Life and Work of Robert Schumann, 420;

Franz Schubert: The Ariel of Music, 419;

The Unknown Brahms: His Life, Character, and Works, Based on New Material, 50

Schechter, Harold, Nevermore, 116, 380

Schenk, Erich, Mozart and His Times, 340

Schermerhorn, Elizabeth W, The Seven Strings of the Lyre: The Romantic Life of George Sand, 1804–1876, 414

Scherr, Barry P, Maxim Gorky, 204

Schevill, Rudolph, Cervantes, 84

Schickel, Richard, The Disney Version: The Life, Times, Art, and Commerce of Walt Disney, 138

Schiff, Stacy, Vera (Mrs. Vladimir Nabokov): Portrait of a Marriage, 344

Schiffrin, Harold Z, Sun Yat-Sen and the Origins of the Chinese Revolution, 447;

Sun Yat-Sen, Reluctant Revolutionary, 447

Schiller, Friedrich, The Maiden of Orleans: A Romantic Tragedy, 249;

Mary Stuart, 315

Schirokauer, Alfred, Lucrezia Borgia: A Dramatic Biography, 45–47

Schlesinger, Arthur M. Jr, The Age of Roosevelt, 406;

Robert Kennedy and His Times, 268;

A Thousand Days: John F.Kennedy in the White House, 267

Schlicke, Paul, ed, Oxford Reader's Companion to Dickens, 134

Schlinder, Anton, Beethoven as I Knew Him: A Biography, 30

Schlipp, Paul A., ed, Albert Einstein: Philosopher-Scientist, 156

Schlosser, Johann Aloys, Beethoven: The First Biography, 1827, 30

Schmidgall, Gary, The Stranger Wilde: Interpreting Oscar, 492;

Walt Whitman: A Gay Life, 491

Schmitt, Gladys, Rembrandt, 391

Schneider, Daniel J, The Consciousness of D.H. Lawrence: An Intellectual Biography, 211

Schneider, Pierre, Matisse, 317

Schneider, Richard J, Henry David Thoreau, 461

Schoeck, Richard J, Erasmus of Europe: The Making of a Humanist, 1467–1500, 163

Schoenbaum, S, Shakespeare's Lives, 423

Schoenbrun, David, The Three Lives of Charles de Gaulle, 124

Schofield, William G, The Deer Cry: A Novel of Patrick of Eirinn, 367

Scholderer, Victor, Johann Gutenberg: The Inventor of Printing, 208

Schom, Alan, Emile Zola: A Biography, 509;

Napoleon Bonaparte, 345

Schönthan, Gaby von, The Roses of Malmaison: The Turbulent Life of the Beautiful Josephine, 345

Schönzeler, Hans H, Dvorák, 150

Schoolfield, George C, Rilke's Last Year, 397

Schoonover, Lawrence, The Burnished Blade, 249;

The Prisoner of Tordesillas, 240, 92;

The Queen's Cross: A Biographical Romance of Queen Isabella of Spain, 240;

The Revolutionary, 255, 83

Schoonover, Lawrence L., To Love a Queen, 160, 389

Schoor, Gene, General Douglas MacArthur: A Pictorial Biography, 297

Schopp, Claude, Alexandre Dumas: Genius of Life, 148

Schorr, Mark, Bully!, 407

Schott, Rudolf, Michelangelo, 328

Schram, Stuart, Mao Tse-tung, 309;

The Political Thought of Mao Tse-tung, 309

Schreiner, Samuel A, Thine Is the Glory, 403, 74

Schroeder, Alan, Booker T.Washington, 483;

Jack London, 290

Schuh, Willi, Richard Strauss: A Chronicle of the Early Years 1864–98, 444

Schulberg, Budd, The Disenchanted, 166

Schulman, Arlene, Robert F.Kennedy: Promise for the Future , 268

Schulman, Bruce J, Lyndon B.Johnson and American Liberalism: A Brief Biography with Documents, 252

Schulte Nordholt, J.W, Woodrow Wilson: A Life for World Peace, 497

Schultz, Duane, Glory Enough for All: The Battle of the Crater, 206

Schultz, Harold S, James Madison, 299–300

Schuman, Michael, Lyndon B.Johnson, 252;

Martin Luther King Jr.: Leader for Civil Rights, 273

Schur, Max, Freud: Living and Dying, 177

Schurz, Carl, Life of Henry Clay, 99

Schuyler, Eugene, Peter the Great, Emperor of Russia: A Study in Historical Biography, 375

Schwartz, Barry, George Washington: The Making of an American Symbol, 484

Schwartz, Charles M, Gershwin: His Life and Music, 195

Schwartz, Gary, Rembrandt, 391;

Rembrandt: His Life, His Paintings, 391

Schwarz, Melissa, Geronimo: Apache Warrior, 194

Schwarzenfeld, Gertrude von, Charles V: Father of Europe, 92

Schwarzschild, Leopold, The Red Prussian: The Life and Legend of Karl Marx, 313

Schweitzer, Albert, J.S.Bach, 20;

Paul and His Interpreters: A Critical History, 369;

The Quest of the Historical Jesus: A Critical Study of Its Progress from Reimarus to Wrede, 248

Schwicbert, E.C, Luther and His Times, 295

Schyberg, Frederik, Walt Whitman, 491

Scott, Emmett, and Lyman Beecher Stowe, Booker T.Washington: Builder of a Civilization, 483

Scott, John A., and Robert Alan, John Brown of Harper's Ferry, 58

Scott, Michael, Maria Meneghini Callas, 69

Scott, Otto J, James I, 244

Scott, Robert A, Douglas MacArthur and the Century of War, 297

Scott, T.Kermit, Augustine: His Thought in Context., 16

Scott, W.S, Jeanne d'Arc, 249

Scott, Walter, The Abbot, 315;

The Fortunes of Nigel, 244;

Ivanhoe, 394;

Life of John Dryden, 146;

The Talisman, 394;

Woodstock: Or the Cavalier, 117, 91

Scott, William R, Adam Smith as Student and Professor, 432

Scruton, Roger, Kant, 264;

Spinoza, 435

Scully, Vincent J, Frank Lloyd Wright, 504

Sealts, Merton M. Jr, The Early Lives of Melville: Nineteenth-Century Biographical Sketches and Their Authors, 324;

Melville as Lecturer, 324

Seaman, Frederic, The Last Days of John Lennon: A Personal Memoir, 281

Seaver, George, Albert Schweitzer: The Man and His Mind, 421;

David Livingstone: His Life and Letters , 287

Sebba, Anne, Mother Teresa: Beyond the Image, 339

Secrest, Meryle, Frank Lloyd Wright, 504;

Leonard Bernstein: A Life, 35;

Salvador Dali, 120

Sedgwick, Henry D, Henry of Navarre, 220;

Horace: A Biography, 230;

La Fayette, 276;

Marcus Aurelius, 18

Sedley, Kate, Death and the Chapman, 395;

The Plymouth Cloak, 395

Sefton, James E, Andrew Johnson and the Uses of Constitutional Power, 251

Seifert, Shirley, Captain Grant, 206;

Farewell, My General, 219;

Never No More: The Story of Rebecca Boone, 42;

The Proud Way, 123;

The Senator's Lady, 284

Seigel, Jerrold E, Marx's Fate: The Shape of a Life, 313

Sekirin, Peter, Dostoevsky Archive: Firsthand Accounts of the Novelist from Contemporaries' Memoirs and Rare Periodicals, Most Translated into English for the First Time, with a Detailed Chronology and Annotated Bibliography, 141

Sekler, Eduard F, Wren and His Place in European Architecture, 503

Sela, Owen, The Petrograd Consignment, 280

Seldes, George, Sawdust Caesar: The Untold Story of Mussolini and Fascism , 343

Selfridge, John W, Pablo Picasso, 378

Seligman, Vincent, Puccini Among Friends, 386

Selinko, Annemarie, Desiree, 345

Sellars, Jane, Charlotte Brontë, 53–57

Sellier, Marie, Cézanne from A to Z, 85

Sells, A.Lytton, Oliver Goldsmith, His Life and Works, 203

Selvin, David F, Eugene Debs, Rebel, Labor Leader, Prophet: A Biography, 126

Selwyn, Francis, Sergeant Verity and the Blood Royal, 154

Selz, Jean, E.Munch, 342

Sencourt, Robert, The Life of Newman, 352;

The Life of the Empress, 346–347;

Napoleon III: The Modern Emperor, 346–347;

T.S.Eliot: A Memoir, 159

Serafini-Sauli, Judith P, Giovanni Boccaccio, 39

Serage, Nancy, The Prince Who Gave Up a Throne, 62

Serge, Victor, and Natalia Sedova-Trotsky, The Life and Death of Leon Trotsky, 467

Sergeant, Elizabeth S, Robert Frost: The Trial by Existence, 178;

Willa Gather: A Memoir, 80

Seroff, Victor, Debussy: Musician of France, 127

Serrou, Robert, Teresa of Calcutta: A Pictorial Biography, 339

Service, Robert, Lenin: A Political Life, 280

Setchkarev, Vsevolod, Gogol: His Life and Works, 201

Seton, Anya, Katherine, 93;

My Theodosia, 66;

Washington Irving, 239

Settle, William A. Jr, Jesse James Was His Name: Or, Fact and Fiction Concerning the Careers of the Notorious James Brothers of Missouri, 246

Severance, John B, Gandhi: Great Soul, 183;

Winston Churchill: Soldier, Statesman, Artist, 97

Sewall, Richard B, The Life of Emily Dickinson, 135

Seward, Desmond, Caravaggio: A Passionate Life, 72;

The First Bourbon: Henri IV, King of France and Navarre, 220;

Marie Antoinette, 310;

Metternich: The First European, 327;

Napoleon and Hitler: A Comparative Biography, 345;

Richard III: England's Black Legend, 395

Seward, Ingrid, Diana: An Intimate Portrait, 133

Seyd, Felizia, Romantic Rebel: The Life and Times of George Sand, 414

Seymour, Miranda, Count Manfred, 425, 426, 67;

Daughter of Shadows, 45–47;

A Ring of Conspirators: Henry James and His Literary Circle, 1895–1915, 245

Seymour-Smith, Martin, Hardy, 213;

Rudyard Kipling, 274

Shaara, Jeff, Gods and Generals, 243, 279;

Gone for Soldiers: A Novel of the Mexican War, 206;

The Last Full Measure, 206

Shaara, Michael, The Killer Angels, 279

Shachtman, Tom, Edith & Woodrow: A Presidential Romance, 497

Shackford, James A, David Crockett: The Man and the Legend, 116

Shackleton Bailey, D.R, Cicero, 98;

Profile of Horace, 230

Shakespeare, William, Henry VI, part I, 249;

Henry VIII, 221;

Julius Caesar, 258;

Richard III, 395

Shanks, Lewis P, Flaubert's Youth, 1821–1845, 167

Shannon, Dell, The Scalpel and the Sword, 349

Shannon, Richard, Gladstone, 199

Shannon, William V, The Heir Apparent: Robert Kennedy and the Struggle for Power, 268

Sharman, Lyon, Sun Yat-Sen: His Life and Its Meaning: A Critical Biography, 447

Sharp, Daryl, The Secret Raven: Conflict and Transformation in the Life of Franz Kafka, 262

Sharpe, Kevin, The Personal Rule of Charles I, 90

Sharpe, Tony, T.S.Eliot: A Literary Life, 159;

Wallace Stevens: A Literary Life, 441

Sharratt, Michael, Galileo: Decisive Innovator, 181

Sharrock, Roger, John Bunyan, 63

Shatner, William, and Michael Tobias, Believe, 143, 231

Shatruck, Roger, Proust, 385

Shaw, Archer H, The Lincoln Encyclopedia: The Spoken and Written Words of A.Lincoln Arranged for Ready Reference, 284

Shaw, Arnold, Sinatra: Twentieth Century Romantic, 430

Shaw, George Bernard, Caesar and Cleopatra, 258;

Great Catherine: A Thumbnail Sketch of Russian Court Life in the XVIII Century (Whom Glory Still Adores), 83;

Saint Joan, 249;

William Morris As I Knew Him, 338

Shaw, Peter, The Character of John Adams, 2

Shawcross, John T, John Milton: The Self and the World, 330

Sheaffer, Louis, O'Neill: Son and Playwright, 360

Shearman, Deirdre, David Lloyd George, 288;

Queen Victoria, 479

Shedd, Margaret C, Malinche and Cortés, 113

Sheean, Vincent, Beware of Caesar, 350;

Nehru: The Years of Power, 348;

Orpheus at Eighty, 477

Shelby, Graham, The Devil Is Loose, 394;

The Kings of Vain Intent, 394

Shelden, Michael, Orwell: The Authorized Biography, 362

Shellabarger, Samuel, Captain from Castile, 113;

Lord Vanity, 488;

Prince of Foxes, 45–47;

Tolbecken, 497

Shellard, Dominic, William Shakespeare, 423

Shenfield, Margaret, Bernard Shaw: A Pictorial Biography, 424

Shennan, Andrew, De Gaulle, 124

Shepherd, Jack, The Adams Chronicles: Four Generations of Greatness, 1, 2, 3, 99;

Cannibals of the Heart: A Personal Biography of Louisa Catherine and John Quincy Adams, 3;

In Lambeth, 363, 38

Sherard, Robert H, Life of Oscar Wilde, 492

Sherburn, George, The Early Career of Alexander Pope, 382

Sherburne, John H, The Life and Character of the Chevalier John Paul Jones, a Captain in the Navy of the United States during their Revolutionary War, 255

Sheridan, Alan, André Gide: A Life in the Present, 196

Sherman, Steven, Henry Stanley and the European Explorers of Africa, 437

Sherr, Lynn, Failure Is Impossible: Susan B.Anthony in Her Own Words, 9

Sherrow, Victoria, Joseph McCarthy and the Cold War, 319

Sherry, Norman, Conrad and His World, 106

Sherwin, Oscar, Goldy: The Life and Times of Oliver Goldsmith, 203;

Uncorking Old Sherry: The Life and Times of Richard Brinsley Sheridan, 427

Sherwood, Frances, Vindication, 38, 499

Shevey, Sandra, The Marilyn Scandal: Her True Life Revealed by Those Who Knew Her, 334

Shewmaker, Kenneth E., ed, Daniel Webster, “The Completest Man”: Essays and Documents, 485

Shih, Benjamin, Mao: A Young Man from the Yangtze Valley, 309

Shippen, Katherine B, Andrew Carnegie and the Age of Steel, 74

Shirer, William L, Love and Hatred: The Troubled Marriage of Leo and Sonya Tolstoy, 463

Shirley, Andrew, The Rainbow: A Portrait of John Constable, 107

Shor, Donnali, Florence Nightingale, 356

Shore, Nancy, Amelia Earhart, 151

Short, Philip, Mao: A Life, 309

Shorter, B, Nehru: A Voice, for Mankind, 348

Shorto, Russell, Geronimo and the Struggle for Apache Freedom, 194

Shotter, David, Augustus Caesar, 17;

Nero, 350

Shotton, Pete, John Lennon in My Life, 281

Shoukra, Ghali, Egypt: Portrait of a President 1971–81: The Counter-Revolution in Egypt: Sadat's Road to Jerusalem, 413

Shrimpsley, Bernard, Lion Rampant, 244

Shub, David, Lenin: A Biography, 280

Shukman, Harold, Lenin and the Russian Revolution, 280

Shulman, Alix, To the Barricades: The Anarchist Life of Emma Goldman, 202

Shulman, Sandra, The Florentine, 322, 49

Sichel, Edith, Catherine de' Medici and the French Reformation, 81;

Michel de Montaigne, 335

Sichel, Walter S, Sterne: A Study, 440

Siegel, Beatrice, Faithful Friend: The Story of Florence Nightingale, 356

Sienkiewicz, Henryk, Quo Vadis?, 350, 374

Siepmann, Jeremy, Chopin: The Reluctant Romantic, 95

Silberger, Julius J, Mary Baker Eddy: An Interpretive Biography of the Founder of Christian Science, 152

Silman, Roberta, Beginning the World Again, 361

Silver, Arnold J, Bernard Shaw: The Darker Side, 424

Silverman, Kenneth, Edgar A.Poe: Mournful and Never-Ending Remembrance, 380;

Houdini!!! The Career of Ehrich Weiss, 231;

The Life and Times of Cotton Mother, 316

Silverman, Saul N., ed, Lenin, 280

Silverstein, John J, David Ben-Gurion, 32

Simmons, Clara Ann, John Paul Jones: America's Sailor, 255

Simmons, E. J, Pushkin, 387

Simmons, Ernest, Dostoevski: The Making of a Novelist, 141;

Leo Tolstoy, 463

Simmons, Ernest J, Chekhov: A Biography, 94

Simmons, Jack, Livingstone and Africa, 287

Simmons, Simone, Diana: The Secret Years, 133

Simms, George O, St. Patrick: The Real Story of Patrick Who Became Ireland's Patron Saint, 367

Simms, William G, The Life of Captain John Smith, the Founder of Virginia, 433

Simon, Charlie M, The Andrew Carnegie Story, 74;

Faith Has Need of All the Truth: A Life of Pierre de Chardin, 455

Simon, Charnan, Brigham Young: Mormon and Pioneer, 508

Simon, Edith, The Making of Frederick the Great, 175

Simon, Linda, ed, Gertrude Stein Remembered, 438

Simonds, William A, Edison: His Life, His Work, His Genius, 153;

Henry Ford: His Life, His Work, His Genius, 168

Simpson, Brooks D, Ulysses S.Grant: Triumph over Adversity, 206

Simpson, Frederick A, Louis Napoleon and the Recovery of France, 346–347;

The Rise of Louis Napoleon, 346–347

Sims, Bennett B, Confucius, 105

Sinatra, Nancy, Frank Sinatra: An American Legend, 430;

Frank Sinatra: My Father, 430

Sinclair, Andrew, The Available Man: The Life Behind the Masks of Warren Gamaliel Harding, 212;

Corsair: The Life of J.Pierpont Morgan, 337;

Dylan Thomas: No Man More Magical, 460;

Jack: A Biography of Jack London, 290

Sinclair, David, Edgar Allan Poe, 380

Sinclair, Upton, Marie Antoinette: A Play, 310

Singal, Daniel J, William Faulkner: The Making of a Modernist, 164

Sis, Peter, Starry Messenger, 181

Sisman, Elaine R., ed, Haydn and His World, 216

Sitwell, Edith, Alexander Pope, 382;

Victoria of England, 479

Sitwell, Sacheverell, Liszt, 286;

Mozart, 340

Sixsmith, E.K.G, Eisenhower as Military Commander, 157

Skármeta, Antonio, Burning Patience, 351

Skelton, Renee, Charles Darwin and the Theory of Natural Selection, 122

Skelton, Robin, J.M.Synge and His World, 450;

The Writings of J.M.Synge, 450

Skemp, Sheila L, Benjamin and William Franklin: Father and Son, Patriot and Loyalist, 173

Skidelsky, Robert, John Maynard Keynes. Volume One: Hopes Betrayed 1883–1920, 270;

Keynes, 270

Skimin, Robert, Gray Victory, 279;

The River and the Horseman: A Novel of the Little Bighorn, 119, 431;

Ulysses: A Biographical Novel of U.S.Grant, 206

Skinner, Cornelia Otis, Madame Sarah, 34

Skinner, Quentin, Machiavelli, 298

Skinner, Richard Dana, Eugene O'Neill: A Poet's Quest, 360

Sklar, Robert, F.Scott Fitzgerald: The Last Laocoön, 166

Skrynnikov, Ruslan G, Ivan the Terrible, 241

Skvorecky, Josef, Dvorák in Love: A Light-Hearted Dream, 150

Slate, Sam J, As Long as the Rivers Run, 242

Slater, Ian, Mac Arthur Must Die, 297

Slater, Robert, Golda: the Uncrowned Queen of Israel: A Pictorial Biography, 323

Slatkes, Leonard J, Vermeer and His Contemporaries, 478

Slatzer, Robert F, The Life and Curious Death of Marilyn Monroe, 334

Slaughter, Frank G, Constantine: The Miracle of the Flaming Cross, 108;

God's Warrior, 369;

The Sins of Herod: A Novel of Rome and the Early Church, 374;

Stonewall Brigade, 243;

Upon This Rock: A Novel of Simon Peter, Prince of Apostles, 374

Slavitt, David R, Alice at 80: A Novel, 75

Slocombe, George, William, the Conqueror, 494

Slocombe, George E, The White Plumed Henry: King of France, 220

Slonim, Marc, The Three Loves of Dostoevsky, 141

Slotkin, Richard, Abe: A Novel of the Young Lincoln, 284

Sluga, Hans and David G.Stern, eds, The Cambridge Companion to Wittgenstein, 498

Slusser, Robert M, Stalin in October: The Man Who Missed the Revolution, 436

Small, Hugh, Florence Nightingale: Avenging Angel, 356

Small, Melvin, The Presidency of Richard Nixon, 357

Smith, A.C.H, Edward and Mrs. Simpson, 97

Smith, Bradford, Captain John Smith: His Life and Legend, 433

Smith, Bruce, Costly Performances: Tennessee Williams: The Last Stage, 495

Smith, D.Howard, Confucius, 105

Smith, Dave, Disney A to Z: The Updated Official Encyclopedia , 138

Smith, David C, H.G.Wells, Desperately Mortal: A Biography, 487

Smith, David L, Louis XIV, 293

Smith, E.A, George IV, 193

Smith, Edward, The Young Stalin: The Early Years of an Elusive Revolutionary, 436

Smith, Elbert B, The Presidencies of Zachary Taylor and Millard Fillmore, 452

Smith, F.B, Florence Nightingale: Reputation and Power, 356

Smith, Gene, American Gothic: The Story of America's Legendary Theatrical Family: Junius, Edwin, and John Wilkes Booth, 43;

Lee and Grant: A Dual Biography, 206, 279;

The Shattered Dream: Herbert Hoover and the Great Depression, 227;

When the Cheering Stopped: The Last Years of Woodrow Wilson, 497

Smith, George, Ben Jonson, 256

Smith, Grahame, Charles Dickens: A Literary Life, 134

Smith, J.Percy, The Unrepentant Pilgrim: A Study of the Development of Bernard Shaw, 424

Smith, Joan A, Schoenberg and His Circle: A Viennese Portrait, 418

Smith, John H, Constantine the Great, 108;

Francis of Assisi, 171;

Joan of Arc, 249

Smith, Lacey B, Henry VIII: The Mask of Royalty, 221

Smith, Linda W, Louis Pasteur: Disease Fighter, 366

Smith, Louise A, Mary Baker Eddy, 152

Smith, Lucy Mack, Biographical Sketches of Joseph Smith, the Prophet, 434

Smith, Martin Cruz, Stallion Gate, 361

Smith, Norris K, Frank Lloyd Wright: A Study in Architectural Content, 504

Smith, Page, Jefferson: A Revealing Biography, 247;

John Adams, 2

Smith, Paul, Disraeli: A Brief Life, 139

Smith, Preserved, Erasmus: A Study of His Life, Ideals, and Place in History, 163

Smith, Richard N, An Uncommon Man: The Triumph of Herbert Hoover, 221

Smith, Robert, MacArthur in Korea: The Naked Emperor, 297

Smith, Robert C, The Wounded Jung: Effects of Jung's Relationships on His Life and Work, 259

Smith, Sally Bedell, Diana in Search of Herself: Portrait of a Troubled Princess, 133

Smith, W.H.C, Napoleon III, 346–347

Smith, Warren T, Augustine: His Life and Thought., 16

Smith, Wilbur, Men of Men, 393

Smoluchowski, Louise, Lev and Sonya: The Story of the Tolstoy Marriage, 463

Snow, C.P, Trollope: His Life and Work, 466

Snow, Edgar, The Long Revolution, 309;

The Other Side of the River: Red China Today, 309;

Red China Today, 309;

Red Star over China, 309

Snow, Edward A, A Study of Vermeer, 478

Snyder, Franklyn B, The Life of Robert Burns, 65

Snyder, Louis L, Blood and Iron Chancellor, 37

Snyder, Louis L., and Ida Mae Brown, Frederick the Great: Prussian Warrior and Statesman, 175

Snyder, Louis L., ed, Frederick the Great, 175

Soares, Jo, A Samba for Sherlock, 34

Sobel, Brian, The Fighting Pattons, 368

Sobel, Dava, Galileo's Daughter: A Historical Memoir of Science, Faith, and Love, 181

Sobel, Robert, Coolidge: An American Enigma, 110

Soliman, Patricia B, Coco: The Novel, 87

Solomon, Eric, Stephen Crane in England: A Portrait of the Artist, 114

Solomon, Maynard, Beethoven, 30;

Mozart: A Life, 340

Solt, Andrew, and Sam Egan, Imagine: John Lennon, 281

Solzhenitsyn, Aleksandr, Lenin in Zurich, 280;

November 1916: The Red Wheel/Knot II, 354

Somerlott, Robert, Death of the Fifth Sun, 113

Somerset, Anne, Elizabeth I, 160

Somfai, László, Joseph Haydn: His Life in Contemporary Pictures, 216

Sonneck, Oscar G., ed, Beethoven: Impressions by Contemporaries, 30

Sonnieshen, C.L., ed, Geronimo and the End of the Apache Wars, 194

Sontag, Susan, The Volcano Lover, 349

Sorell, Tom, Descartes, 131

Sorell, Tom, ed, The Cambridge Companion to Hobbes, 225

Sorenson, Charles E., with Samuel T.Williamson, My Forty Years with Ford, 168

Sorenson, Theodore C, Kennedy, 267

Souhami, Diana, Gertrude and Alice, 438

Southern, Pat, Augustus, 17

Southey, Robert, Life of John Wesley, 488;

The Life of Nelson, 349

South well-Sander, Peter S, Verdi: His Life and Times, 477

Sova, Dawn B, Agatha Christie A to Z: The Essential Reference to Her Life and Writings, 96

Sowards, J.Kelley, Desiderius Erasmus, 163

Spada, James, Monroe: Her Life in Pictures, 334

Spalding, Frances, Whistler, 490

Spalding, Henry D, The Nixon Nobody Knows, 357

Spangenburg, Ray, and Diane K.Moser, Eleanor Roosevelt: A Passion to Improve, 405

Spann, Meno, Franz Kafka, 262

Spark, Muriel, Child of Light, 425

Spark, Muriel, and Derek Stanford, Emily Brontë: Her Life and Work, 53–57

Spate, Virginia, Claude Monet: Life and Work, 332

Spater, George, and Ian Parsons, A Marriage of True Minds: An Intimate Portrait of Leonard and Virginia Woolf, 501

Speaight, Robert, The Life of Teilhard de Chardin, 455;

St. Thomas of Canterbury, 459

Specht, Richard, Giacomo Puccini: The Man, His Life, His Work, 386

Spector, Jack, Delacroix: The Death of Sardanapalus, 130

Spedding, James, An Account of the Life and Times of Francis Bacon, 21;

Letters and Life of Francis Bacon, 21

Spellman, Cathy C, An Excess of Love, 507

Spence, David, Gauguin: Escape to Eden, 189;

Manet: A New Realism, 306

Spence, Jonathan D, Mao Zedong, 309

Spencer, Floyd A, Beyond Damascus: A Biography of Paul the Tarsian, 369

Spencer, Hanna, Heinrich Heine, 218

Spencer, Herbert, et al, John Stuart Mill: His Life and Works, 329

Spencer, Philip, Flaubert: A Biography, 167

Spencer, Samuel R. Jr, Booker T.Washington and the Negro's Place in American Life, 483

Spender, Stephen, ed, W.H.Auden: A Tribute, 14

Speriglio, Milo, and Adele Gregory, Crypt 33: The Saga of Marilyn Monroe: The Final Word, 334

Spicer, Bart, Brother to the Enemy, 11

Spike, Paul, The Night Letter, 406

Spiller, Robert E, Fenimore Cooper: Critic of His Times, 111

Spink, Kathryn, The Miracle of Love: Mother Teresa of Calcutta, 339;

Mother Teresa: A Complete Authorized Biography, 339

Spitta, Philip, Johann Sebastian Bach, 20

Spivak, Gayatri, Myself Must I Remake: The Life and Poetry of W.B.Yeats, 507

Spoto, Donald, Blue Angel: The Life of Marlene Dietrich, 137;

The Dark Side of Genius: The Life of Alfred Hitchcock, 223;

Diana: The Last Year , 133;

The Hidden Jesus, 248;

Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy Onassis: A Life, 359;

The Kindness of Strangers: The Life of Tennessee Williams, 495;

Marilyn Monroe: The Biography, 334

Sprague, Rosemary, George Eliot: A Biography, 158;

Red Lion and Gold Dragon, 494

Sprigge, Elizabeth, Gertrude Stein: Her Life and Work, 438;

The Strange Life of August Strindberg, 446

Sproat, Robert, Chinese Whispers, 190

Spurling, Hilary, The Unknown Matisse: A Life of Henri Matisse: The Early Years, 1869–1908, 317

Spurr, Harry A, The Life and Writings of Alexandre Dumas, 148

St. Aubyn, Frederic C, Arthur Rimbaud, 398;

Stéphane Mallarmé, 305

St. Aubyn, Giles, Edward VII: Prince and King, 154;

Queen Victoria, 479

St. Clair, William, The Godwins and the Shelleys: The Biography of a Family, 425, 499

St. George, Judith, Crazy Horse, 115;

To See with the Heart: The Life of Sitting Bull, 431

St. Germain, Mark, Camping with Henry and Tom: A Play, 153, 168, 212

Stacton, David, The Judges of the Secret Court, 43;

Sir William: Or A Lesson in Love, 349

Stafford, Mark, W.E.B.Du Bois, 147

Stafford, William, The Mozart Myth: A Critical Reassessment, 340

Stainton, Leslie, Lorca: A Dream of Life, 184

Stallman, R.W, Stephen Crane: A Biography, 114

Stancioff, Nadia, Maria: Callas Remembered, 69

Stang, Ragna T, Edvard Munch: The Man and His Art, 342

Stanhope, Philip H, Life of the Right Honourable William Pitt, 379

Stanley, David, and Frank Coffey, The Elvis Encyclopedia, 384

Stanley, Diane, Joan of Arc, 249;

Leonardo da Vinci, 282

Stanley, Diane, and Peter Vennema, Bard of Avon: The Story of William Shakespeare, 423

Stanley, Edward, The Rock Cried Out, 66

Stanley, Glenn, ed, The Cambridge Companion to Beethoven, 30

Stansky, Peter, Gladstone: A Progress in Politics, 199;

William Morris, 338

Stansky, Peter, and William Abraham, The Unknown Orwell, 362

Stape, J.H., ed, The Cambridge Companion to Joseph Conrad, 106;

E.M.Forster: Interviews and Recollections, 169;

Virginia Woolf: Interviews and Recollections, 501

Starkey, David, The Reign of Henry VIII: Personalities and Politics, 221

Starkey, Larry, Wilkes Booth Came to Washington, 43

Starkie, Enid, Arthur Rimbaud, 398;

Baudelaire, 27;

Flaubert: The Making of the Master, 167

Stashower, Daniel, The Adventure of the Ectoplasmic Man, 231;

The Dime Museum Murders, 231;

Teller of Tales: The Life of Arthur Conan Doyle, 143

Stassinopoulos, Arianna, Maria Callas: The Woman Behind the Legend, 69

Stavis, Barrie, Harpers Ferry: A Play about John Brown, 58;

John Brown: The Sword and the Word, 5 8;

Lamp at Midnight: A Play about Galileo, 181

Steadman, Ralph, Sigmund Freud, 177

Stearns, Monroe, Augustus Caesar: Architect of Empire, 17;

Charlemagne: Monarch of the Middle Ages, 89;

Louis XIV of France: Pattern of Majesty, 293;

Richard Wagner: Titan of Music, 481

Stedman, Jane W, W.S.Gilbert: A Classic Victorian and His Theatre, 197–198

Steed, Janna T, Duke Ellington: A Spiritual Biography, 161

Steegmuller, Francis, Flaubert and Madame Bovary: A Double Portrait, 167;

O Rare Ben Jonson, 256

Steel, Ronald, In Love with Night: The American Romance with Robert Kennedy, 268

Steen, John W, Barnabas, 369

Steen, Thorvald, Don Carlos, 122

Stefán, Paul, Anton Dvorrák, 150;

Arturo Toscanini, 464

Steffoff, Rebecca, Charles Darwin and the Evolution Revolution, 122;

Ferdinand Magellan and the Discovery of the World Oceans, 301;

Herman Melville, 324;

James Monroe: 5th President of the United States, 333;

Mao Zedong: Founder of the People's Republic of China, 309;

Marco Polo and the Medieval Explorers, 381;

Tecumseh and the Shawnee Confederation, 454;

William Henry Harrison, 9th President of the United States, 214;

William Penn, 370

Stein, Jean, and George Plimpton, American Journey: The Times of Robert Kennedy, 268

Stein, Judith, The World of Marcus Garvey: Race and Class in Modern Society, 188

Steinbauer, Janine, Katherine Mansfield, 308

Steinberg, Alfred, The Man from Missouri: The Life and Times of Harry S.Truman, 468;

Mrs. R: The Life of Eleanor Roosevelt, 405;

Sam Johnson's Boy: A Close-Up of the President from Texas, 252

Steinbrink, Jeffrey, Getting to Be Mark Twain, 473

Steinem, Gloria, Marilyn, 334

Steinke, Ann E, Marie Curie and the Discovery of Radium, 118

Steinmann, Jean, Pascal, 365

Steinmetz, Jean-Luc, Arthur Rimbaud: Presence of an Enigma, 398

Stendhal, Renate, ed, Gertrude Stein in Words and Pictures: A Photobiography, 438

Stenerson, Douglas C, H.L.Mencken: Iconoclast from Baltimore, 325

Stepanek, Sally, John Calvin, 70;

Martin Luther, 295;

Mary Queen of Scots, 315

Stephen, Leslie, Alexander Pope, 382;

Samuel Johnson, 254

Stephens, Edward, My Uncle John: Edward Stephens's Life of J.M.Synge, 450

Stephenson, Nathaniel W, Lincoln: An Account of His Personal Life, 284

Stephenson, Nathaniel W., and Waldo H.Dunn, George Washington, 484

Step toe, Andrew, Mozart, 340

Sterling, Philipp, Sea and Earth: The Life of Rachel Carson, 11

Sterling, Thomas, Stanley's Way: A Sentimental Journey Through Central Africa, 437

Stern, G.B, No Son of Mine, 442

Stern, J.P., ed, The World of Franz Kafka, 262

Stern, Madeleine B, Louisa May Alcott, 6

Stern, Paul J, C.G.Jung: The Haunted Prophet, 259

Stern, Philip M., with Harold Green, The Oppenheimer Case: Security on Trial, 361

Stern, Philip Van Doren, The Drums of Morning, 58;

The Man Who Killed Lincoln: The Story of John Wilkes Booth and His Part in the Assassination, 43;

Robert E.Lee: The Man and the Soldier, 279

Stern, Philip Van Doren, ed, The Life and Writings of Abraham Lincoln, 284

Sterne, Emma G, The Drums of Monmouth, 484

Stetson, Erlene, and Linda David, Glorying in Tribulation: The Lifework of Sojourner Truth, 469

Steuart, J.A, Robert Louis Stevenson: Man and Writer: A Critical Biography, 442

Stevens, Anthony, On Jung, 259

Stevens, David, The Waters of Babylon: A Novel about Lawrence After Arabia, 278

Stevens, Halsey, The Life and Music of Béla Bartók, 25

Stevens, Henry B, Tolstoy: A Play in Seven Scenes, 463

Stevens, Holly, Souvenirs and Prophecies: The Young Wallace Stevens, 441

Stevens, Paul, Ferdinand and Isabella, 240

Stevens, R.T, The Summer Day Is Gone, 354

Stevens, Rita, Calvin Coolidge: 30th President of the United States, 110

Stevenson, Augusta, Clara Barton: Founder of the American Red Cross, 26

Stevenson, Lionel, The Showman of Vanity Fair: The Life of William Makepeace Thackeray, 458

Stevenson, Robert A.M, Velázquez, 476

Stevenson, Robert Louis, The Black Arrow, 395

Steward, Barbara, and Dwight Steward, Evermore, 380;

The Lincoln Diddle, 284, 43

Steward, Samuel M, The Caravaggio Shawl, 438;

Murder Is Murder Is Murder, 438

Stewart, Allegra, Gertrude Stein and the Present, 438

Stewart, Anna B, Enter David Garrick, 187

Stewart, Desmond, T.E.Lawrence, 278

Stewart, Gail, Alexander the Great, 8

Stewart, Gale B, F.: The Importance of Scott Fitzgerald, 166

Stewart, J.I.M, Thomas Hardy: A Critical Biography, 213

Stewart, Jeffrey, ed, Paul Robeson: Artist and Citizen, 400

Stewart, John J, Joseph Smith: The Mormon Prophet, 434

Stewart, Randall, Nathaniel Hawthorne: A Biography, 215

Stewart, Stanley N, The King James Version, 244

Stiles, T.J, Jesse James, 246

Stirling-Maxwell, William, Annals of the Artists of Spain, 207

Stock, Noel, The Life of Ezra Pound, 383

Stockton, David, Cicero: A Political Biography, 98

Stoffel, Stephanie L, Lewis Carroll in Wonderland: The Life and Times of Alice and Her Creator, 15

Stokes, John, Oscar Wilde: Myths, Miracles, and Imitations, 492

Stone, George Winchester Jr., and George M. Karhl, David Garrick: A Critical Biography, 187

Stone, Irving, Adversary in the House, 126;

The Agony and the Ecstasy, 322, 328;

Depths of Glory, 129, 306, 332, 85;

Immortal Wife, 176;

Love Is Eternal: A Novel About Mary Todd Lincoln and Abraham Lincoln, 284;

Lust for Life, 465, 475;

The Origin: A Biographical Novel of Charles Darwin, 122;

The Passions of the Mind, 177, 259;

The President's Lady: A Novel about Rachel and Andrew Jackson, 242;

Sailor on Horseback, 290;

Those Who Love, 1, 2

Stone, Norman, Hitler, 224

Stone, Wilfred, The Cave and the Mountain: A Study of E.M.Forster, 169

Stoppard, Tom, Travesties, 257, 280

Storr, Anthony, and Anthony Stevens, Freud & Jung: A Dual Introduction, 177;

Freud & Jung: A Dual Introduction, 259

Stourzh, Gerald, Alexander Hamilton and the Idea of Republican Government, 209

Stout, Glenn, ed, Jackie Robinson Between the Baselines, 402

Stoutenburg, Adrien and Laura N.Baker, Listen America: A Life of Walt Whitman, 491

Stowe, Charles E., and Lyman Beecher Stowe, Harriet Beecher Stowe: The Story of Her Life, 443

Stowe, Lyman Beecher, Saints, Sinners, and Beechers, 443

Stowe, Richard S, Alexandre Dumas Père, 148

Strachey, Lytton, Eminent Victorians, 356;

Queen Victoria, 479, 5

Strage, Mark, Women of Power: Catherine de' Medici, 81

Strakhovsky, Leonid I, Alexander I of Russia: The Man Who Defeated Napoleon, 7

Strathmann, Ernest A, Sir Walter Raleigh: A Study in Elizabethan Skepticism, 389

Strauss, David F, The Life of Jesus: Critically Examined, 248

Stravinsky, Vera, and Robert Craft, Stravinsky in Pictures and Documents, 445

Strawson, John, Churchill and Hitler: In Victory and Defeat, 97

Street, James H, The Velvet Doublet, 104

Strickland, Agnes, Lives of the Queens of Scotland, 315

Strickland, Geoffrey, Stendhal: The Education of a Novelist, 439

Strindberg, Freda Uhl, Marriage with Genius, 446

Strober, Gerald S., and Deborah H. Nixon: An Oral History of His Presidency, 357

Strode, Hudson, Jefferson Davis, 123

Strouse, Jean, Morgan: American Financier, 337

Strozier, Charles B, Lincoln's Quest for Union: Public and Private Meanings, 284

Strum, Philippa, Louis D.Brandeis: Justice for the People, 51

Stryker, Lloyd P, Andrew Johnson: A Study in Courage, 251

Stubbs, Jean, Eleanora Duse, 34

Stuckenschmidt, Hans H, Schoenberg: His Life, World, and Work, 418

Stukeley, William, Memoirs of Sir Isaac Newton's Life: Being Some Account of His Family and Chiefly of the Junior Part of his Life, 353

Sturgis, Matthew, Aubrey Beardsley: A Biography, 28

Sturm-Maddox, Sarah, Lorenzo de' Medici, 322

Stwertka, Eve, Duke Ellington: A Life in Music, 161

Styles, Showell, A Kiss for Captain Hardy, 349;

The Sea Officer, 349

Styron, Arthur, The Cast-iron Man: John C. Calhoun and American Democracy, 68;

The Last of the Cocked Hats: James Monroe and the Virginia Dynasty, 333

Subercaseaux, Benjamin, Jemmy Button, 122

Suetonius, Nero, 350

Sufrin, Mark, Stephen Crane, 114

Sugden, John, Sir Francis Drake, 144;

Tecumseh: A Life, 454;

Tecumseh's Last Stand, 454

Sugimoto, Kenji, Albert Einstein: A Photographic Biography, 156

Sullivan, George, Sadat: The Man Who Changed Mid-East History, 413

Sullivan, Herbert, and Newman Flower, Sir Arthur Sullivan: His Life, Letters, and Diaries, 197–198

Sullivan, Kevin, Joyce Among the Jesuits, 257

Sullivan, Robert, Remembering Sinatra: A Life in Pictures, 430

Sulzberger, C.L., The World and Richard Nixon, 357

Summer, Benedict H, Peter the Great and the Emergence of Russia, 375

Summers, Anthony, Goddess: The Secret Lives of Marilyn Monroe, 334;

Official and Confidential: The Secret Life of J.Edgar Hoover, 228

Summers, John, Dylan, 460

Summerson, John, Sir Christopher Wren, 503

Sumner, Richard, Mistress of the Boards, 91

Sunstein, Emily W, A Different Face: The Life of Mary Wollstonecraft, 499;

Mary Shelley: Romance and Reality, 425

Super, R.H, The Chronicler of Barsetshire: A Life of Anthony Trollope, 466

Super, Robert H, Trollope in the Post Office, 466

Suriano, Gregory R., ed, Gershwin in His Time: A Biographical Scrapbook, 1919–1937, 195

Suskind, Richard, The Crusader King: Richard the Lionhearted, 394

Sutcliff, Rosemary, Lady in Waiting, 389

Sutherland, James, Daniel Defoe: A Critical Study, 128;

Defoe, 128

Sutherland, John, The Life of Walter Scott: A Critical Biography, 422

Sutton, Denys, Edgar Degas, Life and Work, 129;

Nocturne: The Art of James McNeill Whistler, 490

Sutton, William A., ed, Newdick's Season of Frost: An Interrupted Biography of Robert Frost, 178

Swafford, Jan, Johannes Brahms: A Biography, 50

Swaim, Don, The H.L.Mencken Murder Case, 325

Swanberg, W.A, Citizen Hearst: A Biography of William Randolph Hearst, 217;

Dreiser, 145

Sward, Keith, The Legend of Henry Ford, 168

Sweeney, J.Gray, Columbus of the Woods: Daniel Boon and the Typology of Manifest Destiny, 42

Sweet, Frederick A, Miss Mary Cassatt, Impressionist from Pennsylvania, 79

Sweetman, David, Paul Gauguin: A Life, 189;

Van Gogh: His Life and Art, 475

Swetnam, George, Andrew Carnegie, 74

Swillens, P.T.A, Johannes Vermeer, Painter of Delft:1632–1675, 478

Swinburne, Algernon C, A Study of Ben Jonson, 256

Sylvester, A.J., The Real Lloyd George, 288

Syme, Ronald, Captain John Paul Jones: America's Fighting Seaman, 255;

John Smith of Virginia, 433

Symonds, John Addington, Ben Jonson, 256;

Giovanni Boccaccio as Man and Author, 39;

The Life of Michelangelo Buonarroti, 328

Symons, Julian, Conan Doyle: Portrait of an Artist, 143;

The Tell-Tale Heart: A Biography of Edgar Allan Poe, 380;

Thomas Carlyle: The Life and Ideas of a Prophet, 73

Syrkin, Marie, Golda Meir: Israel's Leader, 323

Szulc, Tad, Chopin in Paris: The Life and Times of the Romantic Composer, 95

Tachau, Frank, Kemal Ataturk, 13

Tafel, Edgar, About Wright: An Album of Recollections by Those Who Knew Him, 504;

Apprentice to Genius: Years with Frank Lloyd Wright, 504

Taggard, Genevieve, The Life and Mind of Emily Dickinson, 135

Tail, Katherine, My Father, Bertrand Russell, 412

Taleb, Mirza, Hannibal: Man of Destiny, 211

Talon, Henri, John Bunyan: The Man and His Works, 63

Tames, Richard, Giuseppe Verdi, 477;

Peter Ilyich Tchaikovsky, 453;

Richard Wagner, 481

Tannahill, Reay, Fatal Majesty: A Novel of Mary Queen of Scots, 315

Tanner, J.R, Mr. Pepys: An Introduction to the Diary, Together with a Sketch of His Later Life, 371

Tansman, Alexandre, Igor Stravinsky: The Man and His Music, 445

Taper, Bernard, Balanchine: A Biography, 22

Tapié, Victor-Lucien, France in the Age of Louis XIII and Richelieu, 396

Taplin, Gardner B, The Life of Elizabeth Barren Browning, 59–60

Tappan, George L., Andrew Johnson—Not Guilty, 251

Taraborrelli, J.Randy, Jackie, Ethel, Joan: Women of Camelot, 359;

Sinatra: Behind the Legend, 430

Taranow, Gerda, Sarah Bernhardt: The Art Within the Legend, 34

Tarbell, Ida M, The Early Life of Abraham Lincoln, 284;

History of the Standard Oil Company, 403;

The Life of Abraham Lincoln, 284

Tarlton, Charles D, Fortune's Circle: A Biographical Interpretation of Niccolò Machiavelli, 298

Tarr, Judith, Lord of the Two Lands, 8;

Throne of his, 100

Taruskin, Richard, Stravinsky and the Russian Traditions: A Biography of the Works through “Mavra.”, 445

Tate, Allen, Jefferson Davis, 123;

Jefferson Davis: His Rise and Fall, 123;

Stonewall Jackson: The Good Soldier, 243

Tate, Mary Jo, and Matthew J.Brucoli, F.Scott Fitzgerald A to Z: The Essential Reference to His Life and Work, 166

Tatham, Edward H.R, Francesco Petrarca: The First Modern Man of Letters: His Life and Correspondence, 376

Tatum, Stephen, Inventing Billy the Kid: Visions of the Outlaw in America, 1881–1891, 36

Taubman, Howard, The Maestro: The Life of Arturo Toscanini, 464

Taunton, Ethereal L, Thomas Wolsey: Legate and Reformer, 500

Taves, Ernest H, Trouble Enough: Joseph Smith and the Book of Mormon, 434

Taylor, A.J.P, Bismarck: The Man and the Statesman, 37

Taylor, Anna, The Gods Are Not Mocked, 258

Taylor, David, Farewell to Valley Forge, 276;

Mistress of the Forge, 209;

Storm the Last Rampart, 11

Taylor, Ina, Woman of Contradictions: The Life of George Eliot, 158

Taylor, Ivan E, Samuel Pepys, 371

Taylor, John M, Garfield of Ohio: The Available Man, 185

Taylor, John Russell, Hitch: The Life and Times of Alfred Hitchcock, 223;

The Life and Art of Claude Monet: Impressions of France, 332

Taylor, Julie M, Eva Perón: The Myths of a Woman, 372–373

Taylor, M.W, Harriet Tubman: Antislavery Activist, 470

Taylor, Quentin P, The Republic of Genius: A Reconstruction of Nietzsche's Early Thought, 355

Taylor, Rachel A, Leonardo da Vinci the Florentine: A Study in Personality, 282

Taylor, Robert, Loving Belle Starr, 246

Taylor, Ronald, Franz Liszt: The Man and the Musician, 286;

Richard Wagner: His Life, Art, and Thought, 481;

Robert Schumann: His Life and Work, 420

Tchaikovsky, Modest, The Life and Letters of Peter Ilich Tchaikovsky, 453

Tebbel, John, The Life and Good Times of William Randolph Hearst, 217

Teitelboim, Volodia, Neruda: An Intimate Biography, 351

Tellechea Idigoras, J.Ignacio, Ignatius of Loyola: The Pilgrim Saint, 238

Temperley, Nicholas. “Chopin,” in, Early Romantic Masters I, 95

Tendulkar, D.G, Mahatma: Life of Mohandas Karamchand Gandhi, 183

Tennant, Roger, Joseph Conrad: A Biography, 106

Tennyson, Alfred, Becket, 459;

Queen Mary, 314

Tennyson, Charles, Alfred Tennyson, 456

Tennyson, Hallam, Alfred Lord Tennyson: A Memoir by His Son, 456

Terrill, Ross, Mao: A Biography, 309;

The White-Boned Demon: A Biography of Madame Mao Zedong, 309

Terrot, Charles, The Passionate Pilgrim, 356

Terry, Charles Sanford., Bach: A Biography, 20

Terry, R.C, Oxford Reader's Companion to Trollope, 466;

A Trollope Chronology, 466

Terry, R.C., ed, Robert Louis Stevenson: Interviews and Recollections, 442;

Trollope: Interviews and Recollections, 466

Terzian, James P, The Many Worlds of Herbert Hoover, 227

Tessitore, John, The Hunt and the Feast: A Life of Ernest Hemingway, 219

Tetel, Marcel, Montaigne, 335

Teveith, Shabtai, Ben-Gurion: The Burning Ground: 1886–1948, 32

Tey, Josephine, The Daughter of Time, 395

Thacher, John B, Christopher Columbus: His Life, His Work, His Remains as Revealed by Original Printed and Manuscript Records, 104

Thackara, James, America's Children, 361

Thackeray, William Makepeace, The History of Henry Esmond, 448

Thane, Elswyth, Young Disraeli, 139

Tharoor, Shashi, The Great Indian Novel, 348

Thayer, Alexander W, Thayer's Life of Beethoven, 30

Thayer, Bonita E, Emily Dickinson, 135

Thayer, James S, The Earhart Betrayal, 151

Thayer, Mary Van Rensselaer, Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy, 359

Thayer, William R, Theodore Roosevelt, 407

Theen, Rolf H.W, Lenin: Genesis and Development of a Revolutionary, 280

Theissen, Gerd, and Annette Merz, The Historical Jesus: A Comprehensive Guide, 248

Theoharis, Athan G, The Boss: J.Edgar Hoover and the Great American Inquisition, 228;

J. Edgar Hoover, Sex, and Crime: An Historical Antidote, 228

Thiel, Rudolf, Luther, 295

Thienen, Frithjof van, Jan Vermeer of Delft, 478

Thody, Philip, Albert Camus 1913–1960: A Biographical Study, 11;

Huxley: A Biographical Introduction, 236;

Jean-Paul Sartre: A Literary and Political Study, 416;

Sartre: A Biographical Introduction, 416

Thorn, James Alexander, Panther in the Sky, 454

Thomas, Alfred, Hopkins the Jesuit: The Years of Training, 229

Thomas, Antony, Rhodes: Race for Africa, 393

Thomas, Benjamin P, Abraham Lincoln: A Biography, 284;

Portrait for Posterity: Lincoln and His Biographers, 284

Thomas, Bob, Walt Disney .An American Original, 138

Thomas, Caitlin, Leftover Life to Kill, 460

Thomas, Caitlin, with George Tremlett, Caitlin: Life with Dylan Thomas, 460

Thomas, Calvin, Goethe, 200;

The Life and Works of Friedrich Schiller, 417

Thomas, Chantal, The Wicked Queen: The Origins of the Myth of Marie-Antoinette, 310

Thomas, D.M, Eating Pavlova, 177;

Flying in to Love, 267;

The White Hotel, 111

Thomas, Donald, Lewis Carroll: A Portrait with Background, 75

Thomas, Donald S, Henry Fielding, 165;

Mad Hatter Summer, 75;

Robert Browning: A Life within Life, 59–60;

Swinburne: The Poet in His World, 449

Thomas, Dwight, and David K.Jackson, The Poe Log: A Documentary Life of Edgar Allan Poe, 380

Thomas, Edward J, The Life of Buddha as Legend and History, 62

Thomas, Emory M, Robert E.Lee: A Biography, 279

Thomas, Hugh, Conquest: Montezuma, Cortés, and the Fall of Old Mexico, 113

Thomas, John, The True Story of Lawrence of Arabia, 278

Thomas, John L., ed, John C.Calhoun: A Profile, 68

Thomas, Lately, The First President Johnson: The Three Lives of the Seventeenth President of the United States of America, 251;

When Even Angels Wept: The Senator Joseph McCarthy Affair—A Story without a Hero, 319

Thomas, Lowell, With Lawrence in Arabia, 278

Thomas, Robert D, “With Bleeding Footsteps”: Mary Baker Eddy’s Path to Religious Leadership, 152

Thompson, Blanche J, Peter and Paul: The Rock and the Sword, 369, 374

Thompson, David, Raphael: The Life and Legacy, 390

Thompson, E.A, Who Was St. Patrick?, 367

Thompson, E.P, William Morris: Romantic to Revolutionary, 338

Thompson, E.V, Republic: A Novel of Texas, 232

Thompson, Edward J, Rabindranath Tagore: His Life and Work, 451;

Rabindranath Tagore: Poet and Dramatist, 451

Thompson, Edwin J, Sir Walter Raleigh: The Last of the Elizabethans, 389

Thompson, Grace E, The Prince of Scandals: The Story of George the Fourth, of His Amours and Mistresses, 193

Thompson, J.M, Napoleon Bonaparte, 345

Thompson, James M, Louis Napoleon and the Second Empire, 346–347;

Napoleon Bonaparte: His Rise and Fall, 345;

Robespierre, 401

Thompson, Josiah, Kierkegaard, 272

Thompson, Kenneth, and Margaret Thompson, Sartre: Life and Works, 416

Thompson, Lawrance, Robert Frost, 178;

Robert Frost: A Biography, 178;

Young Longfellow 1807–43, 291

Thompson, Paul, The Work of William Morris, 338

Thompson, Robert E., and Hortense Myers, Robert F.Kennedy: The Brother Within, 268

Thompson, Wendy, Claude Debussy, 127;

Franz Schubert , 419;

Haydn, 216;

The Illustrated Lives of the Great Composers: Handel, 210;

Ludwig von Beethoven, 30;

Pyotr Ilyich Tchaikovsky, 453;

Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, 340

Thomson, Belinda, Gauguin, 189

Thomson, David, Wild Excursions: The Life and Fiction of Laurence Sterne, 440

Thomson, Elizabeth, and David Gutman, eds, The Lennon Companion: 25 Years of Comment, 281

Thomson, George M, Sir Francis Drake, 144

Thomson, Malcolm, David Lloyd George: The Official Biography, 288

Thomson, Peter, and Glendyr Sacks, eds, The Cambridge Companion to Brecht, 52

Thomson, Valentine, Knight of the Seas: The Adventurous Life of John Paul Jones, 255

Thomson, Virgil, The Mother of Us All, 9

Thorn, Michael, Tennyson, 456

Thornbrough, Emma Lou, ed, Booker T.Washington, 483

Thornbury, Walter, The Life of J.M.W.Turner, R.A., Founded on Letters and Papers Furnished by His Friends and Fellow Academicians, 472

Thorne, Nicola, Affairs of Love, 177;

Sisters & Lovers, 356;

Sisters and Lovers, 313, 411

Thorp, Roderick, Jenny and Barnum: A Novel of Love, 24

Thorpe, Helen, Elizabeth: Queen & Woman, 160

Thorpe, James E, John Milton: The Inner Life, 330

Thrasher, Thomas, William Shakespeare, 423

Thurman, Judith, Secrets of the Flesh: A Life of Colette, 103

Tibbetts, John C., ed, Dvorák in America, 1892–1895, 150

Tidwell, William A., et al, Come Retribution: The Confederate Secret Service and the Assassination of Lincoln, 43

Tierney, Neil, The Unknown Country: A Life of Igor Stravinsky, 445

Tillett, Margaret G, Stendhal: The Background to the Novels, 439

Tilley, Arthur, François Rabelais, 388

Tilley, Arthur A, Molière, 331

Tillyard, E.M.W, Milton, 330

Tilton, Rafael, The Importance of Clara Barton, 26;

Margaret Mead, 321

Timmermans, Felix, The Perfect Joy of St. Francis, 171

Tingay, Graham, Julius Caesar, 258

Tinker, Chauncey B, Young Boswell, 48

Tischler, Nancy, Tennessee Williams: Rebellious Puritan, 495

Tisdall, E.E.P, Restless Consort: The Invasion of Albert the Conqueror, 5

Tittler, Robert, The Reign of Mary I, 314

Todd, A.L, Justice on Trial: The Case of Louis D. Brandeis, 51

Todd, Catherine, Bond of Honour, 494

Todd, Helen, A Man Named Grant, 206

Todd, John M, Luther: A Life, 295;

Martin Luther: A Biographical Study, 295

Todd, Oliver, Albert Camus: A Life, 71

Todd, R.Larry, ed, Schumann and His World, 420

Toklas, Alice B, What Is Remembered, 438

Toland, John, Adolf Hitler, 224;

Hitler: The Pictorial Documentary of His Life, 224

Tolstoy, Aleksy, Peter the Great, 375;

Prince of Outlaws, 241

Tolstoy, Alexandra, Tolstoy: A Life of My Father, 463

Tolstoy, Leo, War and Peace, 345, 7

Tolstoy, Sergei, Tolstoy Remembered by His Son, 463

Tolstoy, Tatyana, Tolstoy Remembered, 463

Tomalin, Claire, The Invisible Woman: The Story of Nelly Ternan and Charles Dickens, 134;

Jane Austen: A Life, 19;

Katherine Mansfield: A Secret Life, 308;

The Life and Death of Mary Wollstonecraft, 499;

Shelley and His World, 426

Tomlinson, Janis A, Francisco Goya v Lucientes 1746–1828, 205

Tompert, Ann, The Greatest Showman on Earth: A Biography of P.T.Barnum, 24

Tompson, William J, Khrushchev: A Political Life, 271

Toor, Rachel, Eleanor Roosevelt, 405

Topalian, Elyse, V.I.Lenin, 280

Topcroff, Sam, Queen of Desire, 334

Torrell, Jean-Pierre, Saint Thomas Aquinas, 10

Torrey, E.Fuller, The Roots of Treason: Ezra Pound and the Secret of St. Elizabeths, 383

Torrey, Norman L, The Spirit of Voltaire, 480

Toumanova, Nina A, Anton Chekhov: The Voice of Twilight Russia, 94

Tourney, Leonard, Knaves Templar, 140

Tower, Charlemagne Jr, The Marquis de La Fayette in the American Revolution, 276

Townsend, Larry, Czar! A Novel of Ivan the Terrible, 241

Townsend, Sue, The Queen and I, 133

Toye, Francis, Giuseppe Verdi: His Life and Works, 477

Toynbec, Paget J, Dante Alighieri: His Life and Work, 121

Trachtenberg, Inge, An Arranged Marriage, 177

Trafzer, Clifford E, The Kit Carson Campaign: The Last Great Navaho War, 76

Traill, H.D, Coleridge, 102;

The Life of Laurence Sterne, 440

Tralbaut, Marc Edo, Vincent Van Gogh, 475

Trani, Eugene P., and David L.Wilson, The Presidency of Warren Gamaliel Harding, 212

Tranter, Nigel, Unicorn Rampant, 21, 244

Trapier, Elizabeth du Gué, Velázquez, 476

Trapp, Frank A, The Attainment of Delacroix, 130

Traubel, Horace, Walt Whitman’s Camden Conversations, 491;

With Walt Whitman in Camden, 491

Travis, Dempsey J, The Duke Ellington Primer, 161

Treadgold, Donald W, Lenin and His Rivals: The Struggle for Russia’s Future 1898–1906, 280

Trease, Geoffrey, The Phoenix and the Flame: D.H.Lawrence: A Biography, 277;

Samuel Pepys and His World, 371;

Sir Walter Raleigh, Captain and Adventurer, 389

Treasure, G.R.R, Cardinal Richelieu and the Development of Absolutism, 396;

Richelieu and Mazarin, 396

Trefousse, Hans L, Andrew Johnson: A Biography, 251

Trelawney, Edward J, Recollections of the Last Days of Shelley and Byron, 426

Trell, Max, The Small Gods and Mr. Barnum, 24

Tremain, Rose, Restoration: A Novel of Seventeenth-Century England, 91

Tremlett, George, Dylan Thomas: In the Mercy of His Means, 460

Trench, Herbert, Napoleon: A Play, 345

Trevelyan, George M, Garibaldi, 186

Treviño, Elizabeth Borton de, I, Juan de Parega, 476

Trevor, Meriol, Newman, 352;

Pope John, 250;

Shadows and Images, 352

Trevor-Roper, Hugh, The Last Days of Hitler, 224

Trifonov, Yuri, Disappearance, 436

Trilling, Lionel, E.M.Forster: A Study, 169;

Matthew Arnold, 12

Trinkaus, Charles, The Poet as Philosopher: Petrarch and the Formation of Renaissance Consciousness , 376

Triplett, Frank, The Life, Times, and Treacherous Death of Jesse James, 246

Trollope, Anthony, The Life of Cicero, 98

Trotsky, Leon, Stalin: An Appraisal of the Man and His Influence, 436;

The Young Lenin, 280

Troy, Don, Booker T. Washington, 483

Troyat, Henri, Alexander of Russia: Napoleon's Conqueror, 7;

Catherine the Great, 83;

Chekhov, 94;

Divided Soul: The Life of Gogol, 201;

Firebrand: The Life of Dostoevsky, 141;

Flaubert, 167;

Gorky, 204;

Ivan the Terrible, 241;

Peter the Great, 375;

Pushkin, 387;

Tolstoy, 463;

Turgenev, 471

Truett, John A, To Die in Dinetaḥ: The Dark Legacy of Kit Carson, 76

Truffaut, François, and Helen G.Scott, Hitchcock, 223

Truman, Margaret, Harry S.Truman, 468

Tryhall, J.W.D, El Caudillo: A Political Biography of Franco, 172

Tuck, Richard, Hobbes, 225

Tucker, George Holbert, Jane Austen the Woman: Some Biographical Insights, 19

Tucker, Glenn, Tecumseh: Vision of Glory, 454

Tucker, Mark, Ellington: The Early Years, 161

Tucker, Mark, ed, The Duke Ellington Reader, 161

Tucker, Paul H, Claude Monet: Life and Art, 332

Tucker, Robert C, Stalin as Revolutionary: 1878–1929, 436;

Stalin in Power: The Revolution from Above: 1928–1941, 436

Tugwell, Rexford G, The Democratic Roosevelt: A Biography of Franklin D.Roosevelt, 406;

Grover Cleveland, 101

Tulard, Jean, Napoleon: The Myth of a Saviour, 345

Tully, James, The Crimes of Charlotte Brontë, 53–57

Tuohy, Frank, Yeats, 507

Turk, Ruth, Edith Wharton: Beyond the Age of Innocence, 489

Turnbull, Andrew, Scott Fitzgerald, 166

Turner, Arlin, Nathaniel Hawthorne, 215

Turner, Judy, Raleigh's Fair Bess, 389

Turner, Justin G., and Linda L, Mary Todd Lincoln: Her Life and Letters, 284

Turner, Paul D.L, The Life of Thomas Hardy: A Critical Biography, 213

Turner, Richard A, Inventing Leonardo, 282

Turner, Steve, Angelheaded Hipster: A Life of Jack Kerouac, 269

Turner, W.J, Berlioz: The Man and His Work, 33;

Mozart: The Man and His Works, 340

Turton, Godfrey, My Lord of Canterbury, 221

Tuska, Jon, Billy the Kid: A Bio-Bibliography, 36

Tuten, Frederic, The Adventures of Mao on the Long March, 309;

Van Gogh's Bad Café, 475

Tuttle, W.M., ed, W.E.B.Du Bois, 147

Twain, Mark, The Personal Reflections of Joan of Arc, 249

Twombly, Robert C, Frank Lloyd Wright: An Interpretive Biography, 504;

Frank Lloyd Wright: His Life and His Architecture, 504

Tygiel, Jules, Baseball's Great Experiment: Jackie Robinson and His Legacy, 402

Tylden-Wright, David, Anatole France, 170

Tyler, Moses C, Patrick Henry, 222

Tyler, Natalie C, The Friendly Jane Austen: A Well-Mannered Introduction to a Lady of Sense & Sensibility, 19

Tyler, Royall, The Emperor Charles V, 92

Tyler-Whittle, Michael, Bertie, Albert Edward, Prince of Wales, 154;

Richard III: The Last Plantagenet, 395;

The Widow of Windsor, 199

Tynan, Kathleen, Agatha, 96

Tyson, Alan, and Joseph Kerman, The New Grove Beethoven, 30

Tyson, Geoffrey, Nehru: The Years of Power, 348

Tyson, Peter, Vincent Van Gogh: Artist, 475

Tytell, John, Ezra Pound: The Solitary Volcano, 383

Uglow, Jennifer, George Eliot, 158;

Hogarth: A Life and a World, 226

Uhalley, Stephen Jr, Mao Tse-tung: A Critical Biography, 309

Ujfalussy, József, Béla Bartók, 25

Ulam, Adam B, Stalin: The Man and His Era, 436

Ullman, James R, The Day on Fire: A Novel Suggested by the Life of Arthur Rimbaud, 398

Underwood, Francis H, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow: A Biographical Sketch, 291

Undset, Sigrid, Catherine of Siena, 82

Unger, Irwin, and Debi Unger, LBJ: A Life, 252

Unruh, Fritz von, The Saint, 82

Unsold, Joachim, Franz Kafka: A Writer's Life, 262

Unsworth, Barry, Losing Nelson, 349

Untermeyer, Louis, Heinrich Heine: Paradox and Poet: The Life, 218

Ure, Percy N, Justinian and His Age, 260–261

Uris, Leon, Redemption, 97

Urofsky, Melvin I, Louis D.Brandeis and the Progressive Tradition, 51;

A Mind of One Piece: Brandeis and American Reform, 51

Urwin, Gregory J, Custer Victorious: The Civil War Battles of George A.Custer, 119

Utley, Robert M, Billy the Kid: A Short and Violent Life, 36;

Cavalier in Buckskin: George Armstrong Custer, 119;

Custer and the Great Controversy: The Origin and Development of a Legend (, 119;

The Lance and the Shield: The Life and Times of Sitting Bull, 431

Vail, John J, David Ben-Gurion, 32;

Thomas Paine, 363

Vail, Philip, The Great American Rascal: The Turbulent Life of Aaron Burr, 66;

The Twisted Saber: A Biographical Novel of Benedict Arnold, 11

Valenti, Jack, A Very Human President, 252

Valentin, Erich, Mozart: A Pictorial Biography, 340

Valentinov, Nikolay, The Early Years of Lenin, 280;

Encounters with Lenin, 280

Vallas, Léon, Claude Debussy: His Life and Works, 127

Vallentin, Antonina, El Greco, 207;

Leonardo da Vinci: The Tragic Pursuit of Perfection, 282;

Poet in Exile: The Life of Heinrich Heine, 218;

This I Saw: The Life and Times of Goya, 205

Vallery-Radot, Pasteur, Louis Pasteur: A Great Life in Brief, 366

Vallery-Radot, René, The Life of Pasteur, 366

Van de Water, Frederick F, Glory Hunter: A Life of General Custer, 119

Van der Kiste, John, Kaiser Wilhelm II: Germany's Last Emperor, 493

Van der Post, Laurens, Jung and the Story of Our Time, 259

Van Deusen, Glyndon G, The Life of Henry Clay, 99

Van Doren, Carl, Benjamin Franklin, 173;

The Secret History of the American Revolution, 11

Van Doren, Mark, Nathaniel Hawthorne, 215

Van Dyke, Paul, Catherine de' Medici, 81

Van Heijenoort, Jan, With Trotsky in Exile, 467

Van Rjndt, Philippe, The Trial of Adolf Hitler, 224

Van Santvoord, Seymour, Octavia: A Tale of Ancient Rome, 350

Vance, Marguerite, Song for a Lute, 395

Vanden Heuvel, William J., and Milton Gwirtzman, On His Own: Robert F.Kennedy 1964–1968, 268

Vandiver, Frank, Mighty Stonewall, 243

Vare, Ethlie A., ed, Legend: Frank Sinatra and the American Dream, 430

Vasari, Giorgio, Lives of the Artists, 328, 390, 462

Vaughan, Alden T, American Genesis: Captain John Smith as the Founder of Virginia, 433

Vaughan, David J, Give Me Liberty: The Uncompromising Statesmanship of Patrick Henry, 222

Vaughan, Robert, Over There, 157

Vaughan, Roger W.B, The Life and Labours of Saint Thomas Aquin, 10

Veglahn, Nancy, Dance of the Planets: The Universe of Nicolas Copernicus, 112

Vellacott, Jo, Bertrand Russell and the Pacifists in the First World War, 412

Venable, Clarke, All the Brave Rifles, 232

Venturi, Lionella, Cézanne, 85

Vercors, Anne Boleyn, 40

Verneuil, Louis, The Fabulous Life of Sarah Bernhardt, 34

Vernon, John, All for Love: Baby Doe and the Silver Dollar, 492;

Peter Doyle, 135, 491

Vernon, Roland, Introducing Bach, 20;

Introducing Verdi, 477

Vestal, Stanley, Kit Carson, the Happy Warrior of the Old West, 76;

Sitting Bull, Champion of the Sioux: A Biography, 431

Vetter, Charles E, Sherman: Merchant of Terror, Advocate of Peace, 428

Vexler, Robert I, Grover Cleveland, 1837–1908: Chronology, Documents, Bibliographical Aids, 101

Vexler, Robert I., ed, Woodrow Wilson, 1856–1924: Chronology, Documents, Bibliographical Aids, 497

Vezzosi, Alessandro, Leonardo da Vinci: The Mind of the Renaissance, 282

Victor, Adam, The Marilyn Encyclopedia, 334

Vidal, Gore, Burr: A Novel, 209, 247, 299–300, 474, 66;

Creation, 105;

1876, 473;

Empire, 217, 245, 320, 407, 61;

An Evening with Richard Nixon, 357;

Hollywood, 497;

Hollywood: A Novel of America in the 1920s, 212;

Lincoln, 284;

A Search for the King: A 12th-Century Legend, 394;

Washington, D.C., 319

Vigny, Alfred de, Cinq-Mars, 396

Villard, Oswald G, John Brown 1800–59: A Biography Fifty Years Later, 58

Villars, Elizabeth, One Night in Newport, 231, 337

Villiers, Alan, Captain James Cook, 109

Vining, Elizabeth G, Take Heed of Loving Me, 140

Viola, Herman J, Andrew Jackson, 242;

Giuseppe Garibaldi, 186

Vioux, Marcelle, Henry of Navarre: Le Vert-Galant, 220

Vipont, Elfida, Towards a High Attic: The Early Life of George Eliot, 158

Virginskii, V.S, Robert Fulton 1765–1815, 179

Virtanen, Reino, Anatole France, 170

Vitale, Serena, Pushkin's Button, 387

Vlad, Roman, Stravinsky, 445

Vladimirtsov, B.Y., The Life of Chingis Khan, 190

Vogt, George, Nicholas II, 354

Volboudt, Pierre, Kandinsky, 263

Volkan, Vamik D., and Norman Itzkowitz, The Immortal Atatürk: A Psychobiography, 13

Volkan, Vamik, Norman Itzkowitz, and Andrew Dod, Richard Nixon: A Psychobiography, 357

Völker, Klaus, Brecht: A Biography, 52

Volkmann, Hans, Cleopatra: A Study in Politics and Propaganda, 100

Volkogonov, Dmitri, Trotsky: The Eternal Revolutionary, 467

Volkogonov, Dmitrii A, Lenin: A New Biography, 280;

Stalin: Triumph and Tragedy, 436

Vollard, Ambroise, Paul Cézanne: His Life and Art, 85;

Renoir: An Intimate Record, 392

Von der Heide, John T, Klemens von Metternich, 327

Von Eckhardt, Hans, Ivan the Terrible, 241

Von Frank, Albert J, An Emerson Chronology, 162

Voorhis, Horace J, The Strange Case of Richard Nixon, 357

Voss, Frederick, Picturing Hemingway: A Writer in His Time, 219

Vrooman, Jack R, René Descartes: A Biography, 131

Vulliamy, C.E, James Boswell, 48;

William Penn, 370

Waal, Carla, Harriet Bosse: Strindberg's Muse and Interpreter, 446

Wachhorst, Wyn, Thomas Alva Edison: An American Myth, 153

Wade, Ira O, The Intellectual Development of Voltaire, 480

Wade, Linda R, Warren G.Harding: Twenty-Ninth President of the United States, 212

Wade, Mary D, Benedict Arnold, 11;

I Am Houston, 232

Wadsworth, Ginger, Rachel Carson: Voice for the Earth, 77

Wagenbach, Klaus, Franz Kafka: Pictures of a Life, 262

Wagenknecht, Edward, Edgar Allan Poe: The Man Behind the Legend, 380;

Harriet Beecher Stowe: The Known and the Unknown, 443;

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow: Portrait of an American Humanist, 291;

Longfellow: A Full-Length Portrait , 291;

Mark Twain: The Man and His Work, 473;

Nathaniel Hawthorne: Man and Writer, 215;

The Personality of Chaucer, 93;

The Personality of Milton, 330;

The Personality of Shakespeare, 423;

The Seven Worlds of Theodore Roosevelt, 407;

Sir Walter Scott, 422;

Washington Irving: Moderation Displayed, 239;

Willa Gather, 80

Wagenknecht, Edward, ed, Marilyn Monroe: A Composite View, 334

Wagner, Geoffrey, Wings of Madness: A Novel of Charles Baudelaire, 27

Wagner, John, and Esther Wagner, The Gift of Rome, 98

Wagner-Martin, Linda, “Favored Strangers”: Gertrude Stein and Her Family, 438

Wain, John, Samuel Johnson: A Biography, 254

Waite, Helen Elmira, How Do I Love Thee: The Story of Elizabeth Barrett, 59–60

Waite, Robert, Kaiser and Führer: A Comparative Study of Personality and Politics, 493;

The Psychopathic God, Adolf Hitler, 224

Walch, Timothy, Pope John XXIII, 250

Waldeck, R.G, Lustre in the Sky, 327, 7

Walder, David, Nelson: A Biography, 349

Walder, Francis, The Negotiators, 81

Waldman, Milton, Biography of a Family: Catherine de' Medici and Her Children, 81;

The Lady Mary: A Biography of Mary Tudor, 314

Waldmann, Susann, Goya and the Duchess of Alba, 205

Waldron, Ann, Claude Monet, 332;

Francisco Goya, 205

Waldstreicher, David, Emma Goldman, 202

Waliszewski, Kazimierz, Ivan the Terrible, 241

Walker, Alan, The Chopin Companion: Profiles of the Man and the Musician, 95;

Franz Liszt, 286;

Liszt, 286;

Schumann, 420

Walker, Alexander, Dietrich, 137

Walker, Barbara, To Set Them Free: The Early Years of Mustafa Kemal Atatürk, 13

Walker, Frank, The Man Verdi, 477

Walker, Franklin, Jack London and the Klondike: The Genesis of an American Writer, 290

Walker, Joan, Marriage of Harlequin: A Biographical Novel of the Important Years in the Life of Richard Brinsley Sheridan, 427

Walker, John, James McNeill Whistler, 490

Walker, Philip, Emile Zola, 509;

Zola, 509

Walker, Ralph, Kant, 264

Walker, Warren S, James Fenimore Cooper: An Introduction and Interpretation, 111

Walker, Williston, John Calvin: The Organizer of Reformed Protestantism 1509–64, 70

Wall, Charles C, George Washington: Citizen-Soldier, 484

Wall, Joseph Frazier, Andrew Carnegie, 74

Wallace, Irving, The Fabulous Showman: The Life and Times of P.T.Barnum, 24

Wallace, Richard, and Wynne Williams, The Three Worlds of Paul of Tarsus, 369

Wallace, Robert, The World of Van Gogh: 1853–1890, 475

Wallace, Willard M, Sir Walter Raleigh, 389;

Traitorous Hero: The Life and Fortunes of Benedict Arnold, 11

Wallach, Ira J, The Horn and the Roses: A Novel Based on the Life of Peter Paul Rubens, 410

Wallach, Janet, Chanel: Her Style and Her Life, 87

Waller, Bruce, Bismarck, 37

Walling, William A, Mary Shelley, 425

Walpole, Horace, Anthony Trollope, 466

Walsh, John E, Darkling I Listen: The Last Days and Death of John Keats, 265;

The Hidden Life of Emily Dickinson, 135;

Into My Own: The English Years of Robert Frost, 178;

Night on Fire: The First Complete Account of John Paul Jones ' Greatest Battle, 255;

One Day at Kitty Hawk: The Untold Story of the Wright Brothers and the Airplane, 505–506

Walsh, Stephen, Stravinsky: A Creative Spring: Russia and France, 1882–1934, 445

Walsh, William T, Isabella of Spain: The Last Crusader, 240;

Philip II, 377;

Saint Peter, the Apostle, 374;

St. Teresa of Avila: A Biography, 457

Waltari, Mika, The Adventurer, 295;

The Roman, 350

Walter, Bruno, Gustav Mahler, 302

Walter, Gérard, Caesar: A Biography, 258

Walton, Izaak, The Life of John Donne, 140

Walworth, Arthur, Woodrow Wilson, 497

Walworth, Nancy Z, Augustus Caesar, 17;

Constantine, 108

Wandell, Samuel H., and Meade Minnigerode, Aaron Burr: A Biography Compiled from Rare, and in Many Cases, Unpublished Sources, 66

Ward, Aileen, John Keats:. 265

Ward, Charles E, The Life of John Dryden, 146

Ward, Geoffrey, Before the Trumpet: Young Franklin Roosevelt, 1882–1905, 406;

A First Class Temperament: The Emergence of Franklin Roosevelt, 406

Ward, Geoffrey, and Ken Burns, et al, Not for Our Selves Alone: The Story of Elizabeth Cady Stanton & Susan B.Anthony, 9

Ward, John W, Andrew Jackson: Symbol for an Age, 242

Ward, Maisie, Robert Browning and His World, 59–60;

Young Mr. Newman, 352

Ward, Theodora, The Capsule of the Mind: Chapters in the Life of Emily Dickinson, 135

Ward, Wilfrid, The Life of John Henry Cardinal Newman, 352

Wardle, Ralph M, Mary Wollstonecraft: A Critical Biography, 499;

Oliver Goldsmith, 203

Wardman, Harold W, Jean-Paul Sartre: The Evolution of His Thought and Art, 416

Ware, Susan, Still Missing: Amelia Earhart and the Search for Modern Feminism, 151

Warmington, B.H, Nero: Reality and Legend, 350

Warncke, Carsten-Peter, Picasso, 378

Warner, Charles D, Washington Irving, 239

Warner, Francis, Virgil and Caesar: A Play, 17

Warner, Marina, Joan of Arc: Image of Female Heroism, 249

Warner, Oliver, Victory: The Life of Lord Nelson, 349

Warner, Rex, The Converts: A Historical Novel, 16;

The Young Caesar, 258

Warnicke, Retha M, The Rise and Fall of Anne Boleyn: Family Politics at the Court of Henry VIII, 40

Warrack, John H, The New Grove Early Romantic Masters 2, 315;

Tchaikovsky, 453

Warren, C.Henry, Sir Philip Sidney: A Study in Conflict, 429

Warren, Harris G, Herbert Hoover and the Great Depression, 227

Warren, Robert Penn, John Brown: The Making of a Martyr, 58

Warth, Robert D, Joseph Stalin, 436;

Lean Trotsky, 467;

Nicholas II: The Life and Reign of Russia's Last Monarch, 354

Washington, Booker T, Frederick Douglass, 142

Wasielewski, Joseph Wilhelm von, Life of Robert Schumann, 420

Wasserman, George, John Dryden, 146

Wassermann, Jakob, Alexander in Babylon, 8;

Bula Matari: Stanley, Conqueror of a Continent, 437

Waterhouse, Ellis, Gainsborough, 180

Watkins, Nicholas, Matisse, 317

Watson, Derek, Liszt, 286;

Richard Wagner: A Biography, 481

Watson, Francis, Daniel Defoe, 128

Watt, William M, Muhammad at Mecca, 341

Watts, Cedric, Joseph Conrad: A Literary Life, 106

Watts-Dunton, Clara, The Home Life of Swinburne, 449

Watts, Steven, The Magic Kingdom: Walt Disney and the American Way of Life, 138

Waugh, Evelyn, Rossetti: His Life and Works, 408

Weaver, John D, Another Such Victory, 297

Weaver, Lawrence, Sir Christopher Wren, Scientist, Scholar and Architect, 503

Weaver, Raymond, Herman Melville: Mariner and Mystic, 324

Weaver, William, Puccini: The Man and His Music, 386

Weaver, William, and Martin Chusid, eds, The Verdi Companion, 477

Weaver, William, and Simonetta Puccini, eds, The Puccini Companion, 386

Webb, James H, The Emperor's General, 297

Webb, Robert N, Genghis Khan: Conqueror of the Medieval World, 190;

Jean-Jacques Rousseau: The Father of Romanticism, 409

Weber, Carl, Hardy of Wessex, 213

Weber, Gerda, Lenin: Life and Works, 280

Wechsberg, Josef, Schubert: His Life, His Work, His Time, 419;

Verdi, 477

Wecter, Dixon, Sam Clemens of Hannibal, 473

Wedgwood, C.V, Oliver Cromwell, 117;

Richelieu and the French Monarchy, 396;

The World of Rubens: 1577–1640, 410

Weeks, C.P.P, Camille: A Study of Claude Monet, 332

Weems, Mason L., The Life of Washington, 484

Wehr, Gerhard, Jung: A Biography, 259;

Portrait of Jung: An Illustrated Biography, 259

Weidhorn, Manfred, Jackie Robinson, 402;

Napoleon, 345

Weigall, Arthur, Nero: The Singing Emperor of Rome, 350

Weinberg, Meyer, ed, The World of W.E.B.Du Bois, 147

Weiner, Eric, The Story of Frederick Douglass, 142

Weinstein, Edwin A, Woodrow Wilson: A Medical and Psychological Study, 497

Weinstock, Herbert, Chopin: The Man and His Music, 95;

Handel, 210;

Tchaikovsky, 453

Weintraub, Stanley, Aubrey Beardsley: Imp of the Perverse, 28;

Beardsley: A Biography, 28;

Disraeli: A Biography, 139;

Journey to Heartbreak: The Crucible Years of Bernard Shaw 1914–1918, 424;

Private Shaw and Public Shaw: A Dual Biography of Lawrence of Arabia and George Bernard Shaw, 424;

Private Shaw and Public Shaw: A Dual Portrait of Lawrence of Arabia and George Bernard Shaw, 278;

Uncrowned King: The Life of Prince Albert, 5;

The Unexpected Shaw: Biographical Approaches to George Bernard Shaw and His Work, 424;

Victoria: an Intimate Biography, 479;

Whistler: A Biography, 490

Weintraub, Stanley, and Rodelle Weintraub, Lawrence of Arabia: The Literary Impulse, 278

Weir, Alison, The Children of Henry VIII, 314;

The Princes in the Tower, 395;

The Six Wives of Henry VIII, 221, 40

Weir, Rosemary, The Man Who Built a City: A Life of Sir Christopher Wren, 503

Weisberg, Barbara, Susan B.Anthony: Woman Suffragist, 9

Weisheipl, James A, Friar Thomas D'Aquino: His Life, Thought, and Work, 10

Weiss, David, The Assassination of Mozart, 340;

I, Rembrandt, 391, 435;

Myself, Christopher Wren, 503;

Naked Came I: A Novel of Rodin, 129, 332, 392, 397, 404;

Physician Extraordinary: A Novel of the Life and Times of William Harvey, 140, 181;

Sacred and Profane: A Novel of the Life and Times of Mozart, 216, 340;

The Venetian, 328, 462

Weiss, Peg, Kandinsky in Munich: The Formative Jugendstil Years, 263

Weiss, Peter, Trotsky in Exile, 467

Weissman, Stephen M, His Brother's Keeper: A Psychobiography of Samuel Taylor Coleridge, 102

Welch, Becky, The Wright Brothers: Conquering the Sky, 505–506

Welch, Richard E, The Presidencies of Grover Cleveland, 101

Weller, Jac, Wellington at Waterloo, 486;

Wellington in India, 486;

Wellington in the Peninsula, 486

Wellesz, Egon, Arnold Schoenberg: The Formative Years, 418

Wellman, Paul I, The Female: A Novel of Another Time, 260–261;

Magnificent Destiny: A Novel about the Great Secret Adventure of Andrew Jackson and Sam Houston, 232, 242

Wellman, Rita, Eugénie: Star-crossed Empress of the French, 346–347

Wellman, Sam, C.S.Lewis: Author of Mere Christianity, 283;

David Livingstone: Missionary and Explorer, 287;

John Bunyan: Author of the Pilgrim's Progress, 63;

John Wesley: Founder of the Methodist Church, 488

Wells, Stanley, A Dictionary of Shakespeare, 423;

Shakespeare: A Life in Drama, 423

Welton, Jude, Monet, 332

Wenborn, Neil, Joseph Haydn: An Essential Guide to His Life and Works, 216

Wendel, François, Calvin: The Origins and Development of His Religious Thought, 70

Wendell, Barrett, Cotton Mother: The Puritan Priest, 316

Wepman, Dennis, Adolf Hitler, 224;

Helen Keller, 266;

Hernán Cortés, 113;

Simón Bolívar, 41

Werckmeister, Otto K, The Making of Paul Klee's Career, 1914–1920, 275

Werfel, Franz, Verdi: A Novel of the Opera, 477, 481

Werner, Eric, Mendelssohn: A New Image of the Composer and His Age, 315

Werner, Morris R, Brigham Young, 508;

Bryan, 61

Wert, Jeffrey D, Custer: The Controversial Life of George Armstrong Custer, 119

Werth, Alexander, De Gaulle: A Political Biography, 124;

Russia under Khrushchev, 271

Wertheim, Stanley, The Crane Log: A Documentary Life of Stephen Crane, 1871–1900, 114;

A Stephen Crane Encyclopedia , 114

West, Anthony, H.G.Wells: Aspects of a Life, 487

West, E.G, Adam Smith: The Man and His Works, 432

West, Jessamyn, The Massacre at Fall Creek, 333;

A Mirror for the Sky, 15

West, Morris L., The World Is Made of Glass, 259

West, Paul, The Dry Danube: A Hitler Forgery, 224;

Lord Byron's Doctor, 67;

Sporting with Amaryllis, 330;

The Very Rich Hours of Count Von Stauffenberg, 224

West, Red, Sonny West, and Dave Hebler. As told to Steve Dunleavy, Elvis: What Happened?, 384

West, Richard, Daniel Defoe: The Life and Strange, Surprising Adventures, 128

Westcott, Frederick, Bach, 20

Westcott, Jan, The Border Lord, 244;

The Queen's Grace, 221;

The Tower and the Dream, 315

Westernhagen, Curt von, Wagner: A Biography, 481

Westfall, Richard S, Never at Rest: A Biography of Isaac Newton, 353

Wethey, Harold E, El Greco and His School, 207

Wetzel, Charless, James Monroe, 333

Wexler, Alice, Emma Goldman: An Intimate Life, 202

Weyman, Stanley J, From the Memoirs of a Minister of France, 220

Whalin, Terry, Sojourner Truth: American Abolitionist, 469

Wheatley, Dennis, The Man Who Killed the King, 310

Wheatley, Henry B, Samuel Pepys and the World He Lived In, 371

Wheeler, George, Pierpont Morgan and Friends: The Anatomy of a Myth, 337

Wheeler, Guy, Cato's War, 191

Wheeler, Richard, ed, We Knew William Tecumseh Sherman, 428

Wheelwright, Jere H, Kentucky Stand, 42;

The Strong Room, 314

Wheen, Francis, Karl Marx: A Life, 313

Whicher, George F, This Was a Poet: A Critical Biography of Emily Dickinson, 135

Whinney, Margaret, Christopher Wren, 503

Whipple, A.B.C, Hero of Trafalgar, 349

Whitaker, Thomas R, William Carlos Williams, 496

Whitaker-Wilson, Cecil, Sir Christopher Wren: His Life and Times, 503

White, Anne T, Eugene Debs: American Socialist, 126

White, Barbara E, Renoir: His Life, Art, and Letters, 392

White, Beatrice, Royal Nonesuch, 221

White, Chappell, An Introduction to the Life and Work of Richard Wagner, 481

White, Charles W, The Midnight Gardener: A Novel about Baudelaire, 27

White, Christopher, Rembrandt and His World, 391;

Rubens and His World, 410

White, Edmund, Marcel Proust, 385

White, Eric W, Stravinsky: The Composer and His Works, 445

White, Helen Constance, Bird of Fire: A Tale of St. Francis of Assisi, 171;

The Four Rivers of Paradise, 16

White, Hilda, Song Without End: The Love Story of Clara and Robert Schumann, 420

White, Hilda C, Wild December: A Biographical Portrait of the Brontës, 53–57

White, Jon E.M, Cortés and the Downfall of the Aztec Empire, 113

White, Leslie Turner, Scorpus the Moor, 350;

Sir Rogue, 241

White, Max, In the Blazing Light, 205

White, Michael, Isaac Newton: The Last Sorcerer, 353

White, Michael, and John Gribbon, Darwin: A Life in Science, 122;

Einstein: A Life in Science, 156

White, Nelia G, Daughter of Time, 277, 308

White, Newman I, Shelley, 426

White, Norman, Hopkins: A Literary Biography, 229

White, Olive B, The King's Good Servant, 336

White, Terence De Vere, Johnnie Cross, 158

White, Theodore, Caesar at the Rubicon: A Play about Politics, 258

White, Theodore H, Breach of Faith: The Fall of Richard Nixon, 357;

The Making of the President, 1960, 267

White, William A, Calvin Coolidge: The Man Who Is President, 110;

A Puritan in Babylon: The Story of Calvin Coolidge, 110

Whitelaw, Nancy, Charles de Gaulle: I Am France , 124;

Clara Barton: Civil War Nurse, 26;

Lady Diana Spencer: Princess of Wales, 133;

Margaret Sanger: “Every Child a Wanted Child”, 415;

More Perfect Union: The Story of Alexander Hamilton, 209;

Nathaniel Hawthorne: American Storyteller, 215;

Theodore Roosevelt Takes Charge, 407;

William Randolph Hearst and the American Century, 217;

William Tecumseh Sherman: Defender and Destroyer, 428

Whitfield, John H, Petrarch and the Renaissance, 376

Whiting, Lilian, The Brownings: Their Life and Art, 59–60

Whitley, William T, Thomas Gainsborough, 180

Whitmer, Peter O, The Inner Elvis: A Psychological Biography of Elvis Aaron Presley, 384

Whitney, Courtney, MacArthur: His Rendezvous with Destiny, 297

Whitney, Janet, Abigail Adams, 1;

Intrigue in Baltimore, 284

Whitrow, G.J., ed, Einstein: The Man and His Achievement, 156

Whittaker, Frederick, A Complete Life of General George A.Custer: Through the Civil War, 119

Whittemore, Reed, William Carlos Williams: Poet from Jersey, 496

Whittle, Tyler, Albert's Victoria, 479, 5;

The Last Kaiser: A Biography of Wilhelm II, German Emperor and King of Prussia, 493;

The Widow of Windsor, 479;

The Young Victoria, 479

Wiat, Philippa, The Heir of Allington, 40

Wibberley, Leonard, The Good-Natured Man: A Portrait of Oliver Goldsmith, 203;

Man of Liberty: A Life of Thomas Jefferson, 247;

The Testament of Theophilus: A Novel of Christ and Caesar, 248

Wichelns, Lee, The Shadow of the Earth, 311

Wicker, Tom, Kennedy without Tears: The Man Beneath the Myth, 267;

One of Us: Richard Nixon and the American Dream, 357;

Unto This Hour, 243, 279

Wiegand, William, The Chester A. Arthur Conspiracy, 43

Wiener, Jon, Come Together: John Lennon in His Time, 281

Wierzynski, Kazimierz, The Life and Death of Chopin, 95

Wilbur, Marguerite K, The Unquenchable Flame: The Life of Philip II, 377

Wilbur, Sibyl, The Life of Mary Baker Eddy, 152

Wilder, Thornton, The Ides of March, 100, 258

Wildes, Harry E, William Penn, 370

Wilford, John Noble, The Mysterious History of Columbus, 104

Wilhelm, James J, The American Roots of Ezra Pound, 383;

Ezra Pound in London and Paris, 1908–1925, 383;

Ezra Pound: The Tragic Years, 1925–1972 , 383

Wilhelm, Richard, Confucius and Confucianism, 105

Wilkin, Robert N, Eternal Lawyer: A Legal Biography of Cicero, 98

Wilkingson, L.P, Horace and His Lyric Poetry, 230

Wilkins, Ernest H, Life of Petrarch, 376

Wilkins, William H, Mrs. Fitzherbert and George IV, 193

Wilkins, William V, Being Met Together, 179, 345

Wilkins, William Vaughan, Consort for Victoria, 5

Wilks, Brian, The Brontës, 53–57;

Jane Austen, 19

Willert, P.F, Henry of Navarre and the Huguenots in France, 220

Williams, Albert N, Simon Peter, Fisher of Men: A Fictionalized Autobiography of the Apostle Peter, 374

Williams, Alfred M, Sam Houston and the War of Independence in Texas, 232

Williams, Basil, Cecil Rhodes, 393

Williams, Ben Ames, House Divided, 284, 58

Williams, Beryl, Lenin, 280

Williams, Cecil B, Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, 291

Williams, Charles, James I, 244;

The Last Great Frenchman: A Life of General De Gaulle, 124

Williams, Dakin, and Shepherd Mead, Tennessee Williams: An Intimate Biography, 495

Williams, Edwina Dakin, Remember Me to Tom, 495

Williams-Elis, Amabel, The Exquisite Tragedy: An Intimate Life of John Ruskin, 411

Williams, Gordon, Pomeroy, 407

Williams, Gwyn A, Goya and the Impossible Revolution, 205

Williams, Jay, Tomorrow's Fire, 394

Williams, John, Augustus, 17;

Mary Shelley: A Literary Life, 425;

William Wordsworth: A Literary Life, 502

Williams, John Hoyt, Sam Houston: A Biography of the Father of Texas, 232

Williams, John R, The Life of Goethe: A Critical Biography, 200

Williams, Kenneth P, Lincoln Finds a General: A Military Study of the Civil War, 206

Williams, Lawrence, I, James McNeill Whistler, 411;

I, James McNeill Whistler: An Autobiography, 490

Williams, Neville, The Cardinal and the Secretary, 500;

Elizabeth, Queen of England, 160;

Henry VIII and His Court, 221;

The Life and Times of Elizabeth I, 160

Williams, Norman L, Sir Walter Raleigh, 389

Williams, Roger L, The Horror of Life: Charles Baudelaire, Jules de Goncourt, Gustave Flaubert, Guy de Maupassant, Alphonse Daudet, 27;

The Mortal Napoleon III, 346–347

Williams, Stanley T, The Life of Washington Irving, 239

Williams, Thomas H, Lincoln and His Generals, 284

Williams, Wayne C, William Jennings Bryan, 61

Williams, William H.A, H.L.Mencken Revisited, 325

Williamson, Audrey, Thomas Paine: His Life, Work and Times, 363

Williamson, G.A, The Ingenious Mr. Gainsborough: Thomas Gainsborough: A Biographical Study, 180

Williamson, Glen, Repair My House, 171;

Sons of Susanna, 488

Williamson, James A, Sir Francis Drake, 144

Williamson, Joel, William Faulkner and Southern History, 164

Willis, Irene C, The Brontës, 53–57;

Montaigne, 335

Willis, Resa, Mark and Livy: The Love Story of Mark Twain and the Woman Who Almost Tamed Him, 473

Willison, George F, Patrick Henry and His World, 222

Willoughby, Charles A., and John Chamberlain, MacArthur, 1941–51, 297

Wills, Garry, The Kennedy Imprisonment: A Meditation on Power, 267;

Nixon Agonistes: The Crisis of the Self-Made Man, 357;

Saint Augustine, 16

Willson, David H, King James VI and I, 244

Wilson, A.N, C.S.Lewis: A Biography, 283;

Eminent Victorians, 199, 5;

Gentlemen in England, 158, 466;

Jesus, 248;

The Laird of Abbotsford: A View of Sir Walter Scott, 422;

The Life of John Milton , 330;

Paul: The Mind of the Apostle, 369;

Tolstoy, 463

Wilson, Angus, Emile Zola: An Introductory Study of His Novels, 509;

The Strange Ride of Rudyard Kipling: His Life and Work, 274;

The World of Charles Dickens, 134

Wilson, Arthur M, Diderot, 136

Wilson, Barbara Ker, Antipodes Jane: A Novel of Jane Austen in Australia, 19

Wilson, Carol G, Herbert Hoover: A Challenge for Today, 227

Wilson, Charles, Life and Works of Michelangelo Buonarroti, 328

Wilson, Charles M, The Commoner: William Jennings Bryan, 61 d

Wilson, Colin, Strindberg: A Play in Two Scenes, 446

Wilson, Conrad, Giacomo Puccini, 386

Wilson, David A, Life of Carlyle, 73

Wilson, Derek, Her Majesty's Captain, 389;

The World Encompassed: Francis Drake and His Great Voyage, 144

Wilson, Dick, The People's Emperor, Mao: A Biography of Mao Tse-tung, 309

Wilson, Dick, ed, Mao Tse-tung in the Scales of History: A Preliminary Assessment, 309

Wilson, Dorothy C, Alice and Edith: A Biographical Novel of the Two Wives of Theodore Roosevelt , 407;

Lincoln's Mothers, 284;

Queen Dolley: The Life and Times of Dolley Madison, 299–300

Wilson, Dorothy Clarke, Lady Washington, 484

Wilson, Douglas L., Honor's Voice: The Transformation of Abraham Lincoln, 284

Wilson, Earl, Sinatra: An Unauthorized Biography, 430

Wilson, Ellen, American Painter in Paris: A Life of Mary Cassatt, 79

Wilson, Forrest, Crusader in Crinoline: The Life of Harriet Beecher Stowe, 443

Wilson, Ian, Shakespeare: The Evidence: Unlocking the Mysteries of the Man and His Works, 423

Wilson, Jeremy, Lawrence of Arabia: The Authorized Biography of T.E.Lawrence, 278

Wilson, John H, The Private Life of Mr. Pepys, 371

Wilson, Lawrence, The Incredible Kaiser: A Portrait of William II, 493

Wilson, Major L, The Presidency of Martin Van Buren, 474

Wilson, Mona, The Life of William Blake, 38;

Sir Philip Sidney, 429

Wilson, Philip W, William Pitt, the Younger, 379

Wilson, Stephen, Sigmund Freud, 177

Wilson, William E, Abe Lincoln of Pigeon Creek, 284

Wilton, Andrew, J.M.W.Turner: His Art and Life, 472;

Turner in His Time, 472

Wiltse, Charles M, John C.Calhoun, 68

Windle, Janice Woods, Hill Country, 252;

True Women, 232

Windsor, Robert G.W.C., John Constable I.R.A., 107

Wineapple, Brenda, Sister Brother: Gertrude and Leo Stein, 438

Winegardner, Mark, The Veracruz Blues, 219, 399

Winegarten, Renee, The Double Life of George Sand, Woman and Writer: A Critical Biography, 414

Wingate, John, William, the Conqueror: An Historical Novel, 494

Winkler, John, Morgan the Magnificent: The Life of J.Pierpont Morgan: 1837–1913, 337;

W.R. Hearst: An American Phenomenon, 217

Winn, Derek, I Served Caesar, 258

Winn, James A, John Dryden and His World, 146

Winnifriith, Tom, The Brontës and Their Background: Romance and Reality, 53–57;

A New Life of Charlotte Brontë, 53–57

Winslow, Ola E, John Bunyan, 63;

Jonathan Edwards, 1703–1758: A Biography, 155

Winsor, Kathleen, Forever Amber, 91

Winsten, Stephen, Days with Bernard Shaw, 424;

Jesting Apostle: The Private Life of Bernard Shaw, 424;

Shaw's Corner, 424

Winston, Richard, Charlemagne, 89;

Charlemagne: From the Hammer to the Cross, 89;

Thomas Becket, 459;

Thomas Mann: The Making of an Artist 1875–1911, 307

Winston, Robert W, Andrew Johnson: Plebian and Patriot, 251;

Robert E.Lee: A Biography, 279

Winwar, Frances, The Eagle and the Rock, 345;

Gallows Hill, 316;

The Immortal Lovers: Elizabeth Barren and Robert Browning: A Biography, 59–60;

The Last Love of Camille, 286;

The Life of the Heart: George Sand and Her Times, 414;

Oscar Wilde and the Yellow Nineties, 492;

Poor Splendid Wings: The Rossettis and Their Circle, 408

Wirt, William, Sketches of the Life and Character of Patrick Henry, 222

Wise, William, Aaron Burr, 66

Wise, Winifred, Jane Addams of Hull-House, 4

Wisehart, M.K, Sam Houston: American Giant, 232

Wisneski, Henry, Maria Callas: The Art Behind the Legend, 69

Wistrich, Robert S, Trotsky: Fate of a Revolutionary, 467

Witcover, Jules, 85 Days: The Last Campaign of Robert F.Kennedy, 268

Withey, Lynne, Dearest Friend: A Life of Abigail Adams, 1;

Voyages of Discovery: Captain Cook and the Exploration of the Pacific, 109

Wittenberg, Judith B, Faulkner: The Transfiguration of Biography, 164

Wittner, Lawrence S., ed, MacArthur, 297

Wohl, Burton, Soldier in Paradise, 433

Wohlfarth, Hannsdieter, Johann Sebastian Bach, 20

Wokler, Robert, Rousseau, 409

Wolf, John B, Louis XIV, 293

Wolf, John B., ed, Louis XIV: A Profile, 293

Wolf, William J, Benedict Arnold: A Novel, 11

Wolfe, Bernard, Trotsky Dead, 467

Wolfe, Bertram D, The Bridge and the Abyss: The Troubled Friendship of Maxim Gorky and V.I. Lenin, 204;

Diego Rivera: His Life and Times, 399;

The Fabulous Life of Diego Rivera, 399

Wolfe, Donald H, The Last Days of Marilyn Monroe, 334

Wolfe, Michael, The Conversion of Henry IV, 220

Wolfenstein, Eugene V, The Victims of Democracy: Malcolm X and the Black Revolution, 304

Wolff, Christoph, Johann Sebastian Bach: The Learned Musician, 20

Wolff, Christoph, et al., eds, The New Grove Bach Family, 20

Wolff, Cynthia G, Emily Dickinson, 135;

A Feast of Words: The Triumph of Edith Wharton, 489

Wolfson, Abraham, Spinoza: A Life of Reason, 435

Wollheim, Richard, Sigmund Freud, 177

Wolpert, Stanley A, Nehru: A Tryst with Destiny, 348;

Nine Hours to Rama, 183

Womack, Jack, Elvissey, 384

Wood, Alan, Bertrand Russell: The Passionate Skeptic: A Biography, 412

Wood, James P, The Admirable Cotton Mather, 316;

I Told You So!: A Life of H.G.Wells, 487;

The Lantern Bearer: A Life of Robert Louis Stevenson, 442;

The Man Who Hated Sherlock Holmes: A Life of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, 143;

The Snark Was a Boojum: A Life of Lewis Carroll, 75;

Sunnyside: A Life of Washington Irving, 239;

Trust Thyself: A Life of Ralph Waldo Emerson for the Young Reader, 162;

The Unpardonable Sin: A Life of Nathaniel Hawthorne, 215

Wood, Michael, In the Footsteps of Alexander the Great: A Journey from Greece to Asia, 8;

Stendhal, 439

Woodall, Mary, Thomas Gainsborough: His Life and Work, 180

Woodcock, George, The Crystal Spirit: A Study of George Orwell, 362

Woodford, Peggy, Schubert: His Life and Times, 419

Woodhall, James, Borges: A Life, 44

Woodham-Smith, Cecil, Queen Victoria: From Her Birth to the Death of the Prince Consort, 479

Woodham-Smith, Mrs. Cecil, Florence Nightingale 1820–1910, 356;

Lonely Crusader: The Life of Florence Nightingale, 356

Woodhouse, Martin, and Robert Ross, The Medici Emerald, 282;

The Medici Guns, 282, 322;

The Medici Hawks, 282

Woodman, Richard, The Bomb Vessel, 349

Woodress, James, Willa Gather: A Literary Life, 80;

Willa Gather: Her Life and Art, 80

Woods, Katharine P, The True Story of Captain John Smith, 433

Woods, Lucia, Willa Gather: A Pictorial Memoir, 80

Woodstone, Arthur, Nixon's Head, 357

Woodward, Bob, and Carl Bernstein, The Final Days, 357

Woodward, Geoffrey, Philip II, 377

Woodward, William E, George Washington: The Images and the Man, 484;

Lafayette, 276

Woodward, William Harrison, Cesare Borgia: A Biography, 45–47

Woog, Adam, Amelia Earhart, 151;

Duke Ellington, 161;

The Importance of Harry Houdini, 231;

Marilyn Monroe, 334

Woolf, Virginia, Flush: A Biography, 59–60;

Orlando, 244

Wooten, Sara M, Willa Gather, 80

Wootton, Richard, Elvis!, 384

Worcester, Donald E, Bolivar, 41

Wordsworth, Christopher, Memoirs of William Wordsworth, 502

Wormald, Jenny, Mary Queen of Scots: A Study in Failure, 315

Worth, Richard, Edith Wharton, 489

Wortham, Hugh E, Edward VII: Man and King, 154;

Mustapha Kemal of Turkey, 13

Worthen, John, D.H.Lawrence: A Literary Life, 277;

D.H.Lawrence: The Early Years, 1885–1912, 277

Worthington, Marjorie, Miss Alcott of Concord: A Biography , 6

Wotton, Tom S, Hector Berlioz, 33

Wouk, Herman, The Glory, 323, 413;

The Hope, 32

Woznicki, Robert, Madame Curie: Daughter of Poland, 118

Wraight, A.D, In Search of Christopher Marlowe: A Pictorial Biography, 311

Wright, Constance, A Chance for Glory, 276;

A Royal Affinity: The Story of Frederick the Great and His Sister Wilhelmina von Bayreuth, 175

Wright, David K, John Lennon: The Beatles and Beyond, 281;

Paul Robeson: Actor, Singer, Political Activist, 400

Wright, Esmond, Franklin of Philadelphia, 173;

Washington and the American Revolution, 484

Wright, John Lloyd, My Father Who Is on Earth, 504

Wright, Olgivanna Lloyd, Frank Lloyd Wright: His Life, His Works, His Words, 504;

The Shining Brow: Frank Lloyd Wright, 504

Wright, Patricia, Goya, 205;

Journey into Fire, 436;

Manet, 306

Wright, Sarah B, Edith Wharton A to Z: The Essential Guide to the Life and Work, 489

Wrigley, Chris, Lloyd George, 288

Wroth, Fred L., Elvis: His Life from A to Z, 384

Wyckoff, Nicholas, The Braintree Mission, 173, 2

Wyndham, Francis and David King, Trotsky: A Documentary, 467

Yalom, Irvin D, When Nietzsche Wept: A Novel of Obsession, 177, 355

Yannella, Donald, Ralph Waldo Emerson, 162

Yannuzzi, Delia A, Ernest Hemingway: Writer and Adventurer, 219

Yarbro, Chelsea Quinn, Blood Games, 350;

A Candle for D'Artagnan, 396;

Darker Jewels, 241;

A Flame in Byzantium, 260–261;

Path of the Eclipse, 190

Yardley, Michael, T.E.Lawrence: A Biography, 278

Yarmolinsky, Avrahm, Dostoevsky: Works and Days, 141;

Turgenev: The Man, His Art and His Age, 471

Ybarra, T.R., Verdi: Miracle Man of Opera, 477

Yedlin, Tova, Maxim Gorky: A Political Biography, 204

Yellin, David, Maimonides: His Life and Works, 303

Yerby, Frank, Jarrett's Jade, 488

Yoffe, Elkhonon, Tchaikovsky in America, 453

York, Robert, My Lord the Fox, 160, 40;

The Swords of December, 459

Yoseloff, Thomas, A Fellow of Infinite Jest, 440

Young, Bob, Old Rough and Ready: Zachary Taylor, 452

Young-Eisendrath, Polly, and Terence Dawson, eds, The Cambridge Companion to Jung, 259

Young, Francis Brett, The City of Gold, 393

Young, James C, Marse Robert: Knight of the Confederacy, 279

Young, Kenneth, John Dryden: A Critical Biography, 146

Young, Marguerite, Harp Song for a Radical: The Life and Times of Eugene Victor Debs, 126

Young, Michael B, Charles I, 90

Young, Percy M, Debussy, 127;

Dvorák, 150;

Sir Arthur Sullivan, 197–198

Young, Peter, Oliver Cromwell, 117

Young, Philip, Hawthorne's Secret: An Untold Tale, 215

Young, Stanley, Young Hickory, 242

Youngs, J.William, Eleanor Roosevelt: A Personal and Public Life, 405

Yount, Lisa, The Importance of Louis Pasteur, 366

Zagorin, Perez, Francis Bacon, 21

Zagst, Michael, “M.H.” Meets President Harding, 153, 212

Zamir, Shamoon, Dark Voices: W.E.B.Du Bois and American Thought, 1888–1903, 147

Zamoyski, Adam, Chopin: A New Biography, 95

Zara, Louis, Against This Rock, 92;

Dark Rider: A Novel Based on the Life of Stephen Crane, 114;

In the House of the King, 314, 377

Zehme, Bill, The Way You Wear Your Hat, 430

Zeitlin, Solomon, Maimonides: A Biography, 303

Ziesk, Edra, Margaret Mead, 321

Zilahy, Lajos, Century in Scarlet, 327

Zinn, Howard, Marx in Soho: A Play on History, 313

Zochert, Donald, Murder in the Hellfire Club, 173

Zollinger, Norman, Meridian: A Novel of Kit Carson's West, 76

Zolotow, Maurice, Marilyn Monroe, 334

Zubov, V.P, Leonardo da Vinci, 282

Zucker, A.E, Ibsen: The Master Builder, 237

Zuckerman, George, The Last Flapper, 166

Zurcher, Bernard, Vincent van Gogh: Art, Life, and Letters, 475

Zweig, Paul, Walt Whitman: The Making of the Poet, 491

Zweig, Stefan, Balzac, 23;

Conqueror of the Seas, 301;

Marie Antoinette: The Portrait of an Average Woman, 310;

Mary, Queen of Scotland and the Isles, 315

Index of Books and Other Works by Title

Numbers refer to entry numbers. Author or authors appear in parantheses following the title. Titles without authors are either films or television series, or else letters, memoirs, diaries, or autobiographies by the historical figure.

- A&E Biography Video: Abraham Lincoln: Preserving the USA*, 284
- A&E Biography Video: Alexander Graham Bell: Voice of Invention*, 31
- A&E Biography Video: Amelia Earhart: Queen of the Air*, 151
- A&E Biography Video: Andrew Jackson: A Man for the People*, 242
- A&E Biography Video: Andy Warhol: A Life at the Edge*, 482
- A&E Biography Video: Benedict Arnold: Triumph and Treason*, 11
- A&E Biography Video: Benjamin Franklin: Citizen of the World*, 173
- A&E Biography Video: Brigham Young: Architect of Faith*, 508
- A&E Biography Video: Charles Dickens: A Tale of Ambition and Genius*, 134
- A&E Biography Video: Christopher Columbus: Explorer of the New World*, 104
- A&E Biography Video: Cleopatra: Destiny's Queen*, 100
- A&E Biography Video: Complete Churchill Set*, 97
- A&E Biography Video: Confucius: Words of Wisdom*, 105
- A&E Biography Video: Crazy Horse: The Last Warrior*, 115
- A&E Biography Video: Diana: The True Story*, 133
- A&E Biography Video: Dwight D.Eisenhower: Commander-in-Chief*, 157
- A&E Biography Video: Eleanor Roosevelt: A Restless Spirit*, 405
- A&E Biography Video: Elizabeth I: The Virgin Queen*, 160
- A&E Biography Video: Elvis Presley: Story of a Legend*, 384
- A&E Biography Video: Ernest Hemingway: Wrestling with Life*, 219
- A&E Biography Video: Evita: The Woman Behind the Myth*, 372–373
- A&E Biography Video: F.Scott Fitzgerald: The Great American Dreamer*, 166
- A&E Biography Video: FDR*, 406
- A&E Biography Video: Frederick Douglass*, 142
- A&E Biography Video: Gandhi: Pilgrim of Peace*, 183
- A&E Biography Video: General Douglas Mac Arthur*, 297
- A&E Biography Video: General George Patton: A Genius for War*, 368
- A&E Biography Video: Genghis Khan: Terror and Conquest*, 190
- A&E Biography Video: George Armstrong Custer: America's Golden Cavalier*, 119
- A&E Biography Video: George Custer: Showdown at Little Big Horn*, 119
- A&E Biography Video: George Washington: Founding Father*, 484
- A&E Biography Video: Geronimo: The Last Renegade*, 194
- A&E Biography Video: H.G.Wells: Time Traveler*, 487
- A&E Biography Video: Harry S.Truman*, 468
- A&E Biography Video: Henry Ford*, 168
- A&E Biography Video: Henry VIII: Scandals of a King*, 221
- A&E Biography Video: Houdini: The Great Escape*, 231
- A&E Biography Video: J.Pierpont Morgan: Emperor of Wall Street*, 337
- A&E Biography Video: J.Robert Oppenheimer: Father of the Atomic Bomb*, 361
- A&E Biography Video: Jackie Robinson*, 402
- A&E Biography Video: Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis*, 359
- A&E Biography Video: Jesus: His Life*, 248
- A&E Biography Video: Joan of Arc*, 249
- A&E Biography Video: John F.Kennedy: A Personal Story*, 267
- A&E Biography Video: John Paul Jones: Captain of the High Seas*, 255
- A&E Biography Video: John Wilkes Booth: Assassin in the Spotlight*, 43
- A&E Biography Video: Joseph McCarthy: An American Inquisitor*, 319
- A&E Biography Video: Joseph Stalin: Red Terror*, 436
- A&E Biography Video: King George III: Mad or Maligned?*, 191
- A&E Biography Video: Leonardo da Vinci: Renaissance Master*, 282
- A&E Biography Video: Lucky: The Story of Charles Lindberg*, 285
- A&E Biography Video: Lyndon Johnson: Triumph and Tragedy*, 252
- A&E Biography Video: Malcolm X*, 304
- A&E Biography Video: Marco Polo: Journey to the East*, 381
- A&E Biography Video: Marie Antoinette: The Tragic Queen*, 310
- A&E Biography Video: Marilyn Monroe: The Mortal Goddess*, 334
- A&E Biography Video: Mark Twain: His Amazing Adventures*, 473
- A&E Biography Video: Martin Luther King Jr: The Man and the Dream (1997)*, 273
- A&E Biography Video: Michelangelo: Artist and Man*, 328
- A&E Biography Video: Mother Teresa: A Life of Devotion*, 339
- A&E Biography Video: Mozart*, 340
- A&E Biography Video: Mussolini: Italy's Nightmare*, 343
- A&E Biography Video: P.T.Barnum: American Dreamer*, 24
- A&E Biography Video: Pablo Picasso: A Primitive Soul*, 378
- A&E Biography Video: Patrick Henry: Voice of Liberty*, 222
- A&E Biography Video: Pocahontas: Her True Story*, 433
- A&E Biography Video: Rasputin: The Mad Monk*, 354
- A&E Biography Video: Richard Nixon: Man and President*, 357
- A&E Biography Video: Robert E.Lee*, 279
- A&E Biography Video: Saint Patrick: The Man and the Myth*, 367
- A&E Biography Video: Secrets of the Romanovs*, 354
- A&E Biography Video: Sigmund Freud: Analysis of the Mind*, 177

A&E Biography Video: Sir Isaac Newton: The Gravity of Genius, 353

A&E Biography Video: Sitting Bull: Chief of the Lakota Nation, 431

A&E Biography Video: Stonewall Jackson, 243

A&E Biography Video: Susan B.Anthony: Rebel for the Cause, 9

A&E Biography Video: Tennessee Williams: Wounded Genius, 495

A&E Biography Video: The Adventures of Daniel Boone, 42

A&E Biography Video: The James Gang: Outlaw Brothers, 246

A&E Biography Video: The Mystery of Edgar Allan Poe, 380

A&E Biography Video: The Rat Pack: The True Stories of the Original Kings of Cool: Frank Sinatra. Dean Martin, Sammy Davis Jr., Peter Lawford, Joey Bishop, 430

A&E Biography Video: Theodore Roosevelt: Roughrider to Rushmore, 407

A&E Biography Video: Thomas Edison: Father of Invention, 153

A&E Biography Video: Thomas Jefferson: Philosopher of Freedom, 247

A&E Biography Video: Vincent Van Gogh: A Stroke of Genius, 475

A&E Biography Video: Vladimir Ilyich Lenin: Voice of Revolution, 280

A&E Biography Video: Wilbur & Orville: Dreams of Flying , 505–506

A&E Biography Video: William Shakespeare: A Life of Drama, 423

A&E Biography Video: Woodrow Wilson: Reluctant Warrior, 497

Aaron Burr (Lomask, Milton), 66

Aaron Burr (Wise, William), 66

Aaron Burr: A Biography (Schachner, Nathan), 66

Aaron Burr: A Biography Compiled from Rare, and in Many Cases, Unpublished Sources (Wandell, Samuel H., and Meade Minnigerode), 66

Aaron Burr: Portrait of an Ambitious Man (Parmet, Herbert S., and Marie B.Hecht), 66

The Abandoned Woman (Condon, Richard), 193

Abba Abba (Burgess, Anthony), 265

The Abbot (Scott, Walter), 315

Abe: A Novel of the Young Lincoln (Slotkin, Richard), 284

Abe Lincoln in Illinois, 284

Abe Lincoln: Log Cabin to White House (North, Sterling), 284

Abe Lincoln of Pigeon Creek (Wilson, William E), 284

Abigail Adams (Osborne, Angela), 1

Abigail Adams (Whitney, Janet), 1

Abigail Adams: A Biography (Levin, Phyllis L), 1

Abigail Adams: An American Woman. (Akers, Charles W), 1

Abigail Adams: The Second First Lady (Bobbé, Dorothie), 1

Abigail Adams: Witness to a Revolution (Bober, Natalie), 1

About Wright: An Album of Recollections by Those Who Knew Him (Tafel, Edgar), 504

Abraham Lincoln, 284

Abraham Lincoln (Charnwood, Godfrey R.B), 284

Abraham Lincoln: A Biography (Thomas, Benjamin P), 284

Abraham Lincoln: A Constitutional Biography (Anastaplo, George), 284

Abraham Lincoln: A Documentary Portrait Through His Speeches and Writings, 284

Abraham Lincoln: A History (Nicolay, John G., and John Hay), 284

Abraham Lincoln and the Second American Revolution (McPherson, James M), 284

Abraham Lincoln: 1809–1858 (Beveridge, Albert J), 284

The Abraham Lincoln Encyclopedia (Neely, Mark E. Jr), 284

Abraham Lincoln: Redeemer President (Guelzo, Allen C), 284

Abraham Lincoln: Speeches and Writings 1859–1865, 284

Abraham Lincoln: Speeches and Writings 1832–1858, 284

Abraham Lincoln: The Man Behind the Myth (Oates, Stephen B), 284

Abraham Lincoln: The Prairie Years (Sandburg, Carl), 284

Abraham Lincoln: The Prairie Years and the War Years (Sandburg, Carl), 284

Abraham Lincoln: The War Years (Sandburg, Carl), 284

Absolute Elizabeth (Dessau, Joanna), 160

The Absorbing Fire: The Byron Legend (Kenyon, Frank W), 67

Accidental Indies (Martin, Robert Stuart), 104

An Account of the Life and Times of Francis Bacon (Spedding, James), 21

An Actor Named Molière (Dussane, Béatrix), 331

Adam Smith (Campbell, R.H., and A.S.Skinner), 432

Adam Smith (Hirst, Francis W), 432

Adam Smith and the Scotland of His Day (Fay, Charles R), 432

Adam Smith as Student and Professor (Scott, William R), 432

Adam Smith: The Man and His Works (West, E.G), 432

Adams: An American Dynasty (Russell, Francis), 2

The Adams Chronicles, 1, 191, 2, 3, 99

The Adams Chronicles: Four Generations of Greatness (Shepherd, Jack), 1, 2, 3, 99

The Adams Family Correspondence, 1, 2

The Adams Women: Abigail and Louisa Adams, Their Sisters and Daughters (Nagel, Paul C), 1

Adieux: A Farewell to Sartre (Beauvoir, Simone de), 416

The Admirable Cotton Mother (Wood, James P), 316

Admiral of the Ocean Sea: A Life of Christopher Columbus (Morison, Samuel E), 104

Adolf Hitler (Ayer, Eleanor H), 224

Adolf Hitler (Heyes, Eileen), 224

Adolf Hitler (Toland, John), 224

Adolf Hitler (Wepman, Dennis), 224

Adolf Hitler: 1889–1945, 224

Adonais: A Life of John Keats (Hewlett, Dorothy), 265

Adrift in the Old World: The Psychological Pilgrimage of Washington Irving (Rubin-Dorsky, Jeffrey), 239

The Adventure of the Ectoplasmic Man (Stashower, Daniel), 231

The Adventure of the Stalwart Companions (Jeffers, H.Paul), 407

The Adventurer (Waltari, Mika), 295

The Adventures of Conan Doyle: The Life of the Creator of Sherlock Holmes (Higham, Charles), 143

The Adventures of Mao on the Long March (Tuten, Frederic), 309

Adventures of Marco Polo, 381

The Adventures of Mark Twain, 473

Adversary in the House (Stone, Irving), 126

Affairs of Love (Thorne, Nicola), 177

After Egypt: Isadora Duncan and Mary Cassatt (Dillon, Millicent), 79

After Great Pain: The Inner Life of Emily Dickinson (Cody, John), 135

Against the Age: An Introduction to William Morris (Faulkner, Peter), 338

Against This Rock (Zara, Louis), 92

Agatha, 96

Agatha (Tynan, Kathleen), 96

Agatha Christie: A Biography (Morgan, Janet), 96

Agatha Christie A to Z: The Essential Reference to Her Life and Writings (Sova, Dawn B), 96

Agatha Christie and the Eleven Missing Days (Cade, Jared), 96

The Agatha Christie Companion: The Complete Guide to Agatha Christie's Life and Work (Sanders, Dennis, and Len Lovallo), 96

Agatha Christie: First Lady of Crime (Keating, H.R.F., ed), 96

Agatha Christie: How Did She Do It?, 96

The Agatha Christie Mystery (Murdoch, Derrick), 96

Agatha Christie: The Woman and Her Mysteries (Gill, Gillian), 96

Agatha Christie: Writer of Mystery (Dommermuth-Costa, Carol), 96

The Age of Augustus (Nardo, Don), 17

The Age of Catherine de' Medici (Neale, J.E), 81

The Age of Charlemagne (Bullough, Donald A), 89

The Age of Constantine the Great (Burckhardt, Jacob), 108

The Age of Hate: Andrew Johnson and the Radicals (Milton, George F), 251

The Age of Justinian and Theodora (Holmes, William G), 260–261

The Age of Roosevelt (Schlesinger, Arthur M. Jr), 406

The Age of Shakespeare (Laroque, François), 423

The Age of Wellington: The Life and Times of the Duke of Wellington, 1769–1852 (Cooper, Leonard), 486

The Agony and the Ecstasy, 328

The Agony and the Ecstasy (Stone, Irving), 322, 328

Aide to Glory (Devon, Louis), 206

The Alamo., 116, 232

Alamo: Thirteen Days to Glory, 232

Alas, Poor Yorick! (Bill, Alfred H), 440

Albert: A Biography of the Prince Consort (Pound, Reginald), 5

Albert and Victoria (Bernardy, Françoise de), 5

Albert Camus: A Biography (Lottman, Herbert), 71

Albert Camus: A Life (Todd, Oliver), 71

Albert Camus 1913–1960: A Biographical Study (Thody, Philip), 71

Albert Camus: The Artist in the Arena (Parker, Emmett), 71

Albert Camus: The Thinker, the Artist, the Man (Bronner, Stephen E), 71

Albert Einstein (Ireland, Karin), 156

Albert Einstein: A Biography (Folsing, Albrecht), 156

Albert Einstein: A Photographic Biography (Sugimoto, Kenji), 156

Albert Einstein and the Frontiers of Physics (Bernstein, Jeremy), 156

Albert Einstein and the Theory of Relativity (Cwiklik, Robert), 156

Albert Einstein: Creator and Rebel (Hoffman, Banesh, and Helen Dukas), 156

Albert Einstein: Historical and Cultural Perspectives (Holton, Gerald and Yehuda Eikana, eds), 156

Albert Einstein: Philosopher-Scientist (Schlipp, Paul A., ed), 156

Albert Einstein: The Human Side (Hoffman, Banesh, and Helen Dukas), 156

Albert, Prince Consort (Bolitho, Hector), 5

Albert Schweitzer (Cranford, Gail), 421

Albert Schweitzer: A Biography (Brabazon, James), 421

Albert Schweitzer: An Adventurer for Humanity (Robles, Harold E), 421

Albert Schweitzer: Friend of All Life (Greene, Carol), 421

Albert Schweitzer: The Man and His Mind (Seaver, George), 421

Albert’s Victoria (Whittle, Tyler), 479, 5

Albrecht Dürer (Raboff, Ernest), 149

Albrecht Dürer: A Biography (Hutchinson, Jane C), 149

The Alcotts: Biography of a Family (Bedell, Madelon), 6

Aldous Huxley: A Biography (Bedford, Sybille), 236

Aldous Huxley Recollected: An Oral History (Dunaway, David K), 236

Aleksandr Pushkin: Poet for the People (Chancy, J.R), 387

Alexander Graham Bell: A Life (Mackay, James A), 31

Alexander Graham Bell and the Conquest of Solitude (Bruce, Robert V), 31

Alexander Graham Bell: Making Connections (Pasachoff, Naomi E), 31

Alexander Graham Bell: The Life and Times of the Man Who Invented the Telephone (Grosvenor, Edwin, Morgan Wesson, and Robert V.Bruce), 31

Alexander Graham Bell: The Man Who Contracted Space (Mackenzie, Catherine D), 31

Alexander Hamilton, 209

Alexander Hamilton (Brown, Stuart G), 209

Alexander Hamilton (Cooke, Jacob E), 209

Alexander Hamilton (Lodge, Henry Cabot), 209

Alexander Hamilton (Mitchell, Broadus), 209

Alexander Hamilton (O’Brien, Steven), 209

Alexander Hamilton (Schachner, Nathan), 209

Alexander Hamilton: A Biography (McDonald, Forrest), 209

Alexander Hamilton: A Biography in His Own Words, 209

Alexander Hamilton: A Concise Biography (Mitchell, Broadus), 209

Alexander Hamilton: A Profile (Cooke, Jacob E., ed), 209

Alexander Hamilton, American (Brookhiser, Richard), 209

Alexander Hamilton: An Intimate Portrait (Emery, Noemie), 209

Alexander Hamilton and the Idea of Republican Government (Stourzh, Gerald), 209

Alexander Hamilton in the American Tradition (Hacker, Louis M), 209

Alexander Hamilton: Portrait in Paradox (Miller, John C), 209

Alexander Hamilton’s Wife (Desmond, Alice), 209

Alexander I (Hartley, Janet M), 7

Alexander I of Russia: The Man Who Defeated Napoleon (Strakhovsky, Leonid I), 7

Alexander I: Tsar of War and Peace (Palmer, Alan W), 7

Alexander in Babylon (Wassermann, Jakob), 8

Alexander of Macedon: The Journey to the World’s End (Lamb, Harold), 8

Alexander of Macedon: 365–323 B.C.: A Historical Biography (Green, Peter), 8

Alexander of Russia: Napoleon’s Conqueror (Troyat, Henri), 7

Alexander Pope (Dobrée, Bonamy), 382

Alexander Pope (Sitwell, Edith), 382

Alexander Pope (Stephen, Leslie), 382

Alexander Pope: A Life (Mack, Maynard), 382

Alexander Pope: A Literary Life (Rosslyn, Felicity), 382

Alexander Pope: The Education of Genius, 1688–1728 (Quennell, Peter), 382

Alexander the God (Druon, Maurice), 8

Alexander the God (Payne, Robert), 8

Alexander the God (Renault, Mary), 8

Alexander the Great, 8

Alexander the Great (Green, Robert), 8

Alexander the Great (Kazantzakis, Nikos), 8

Alexander the Great (Stewart, Gail), 8

Alexander the Great: Ancient Empire Builder (Ash, Maureen), 8

Alexander the Great: Man of Action-Man of Spirit (Briant, Pierre), 8

Alexander the Great: The Invisible Enemy: A Biography (O’Brien, John Maxwell), 8

Alexandre Dumas (père): His Life and Works (Davidson, Arthur F), 148

Alexandre Dumas (Ross, Michael), 148

Alexandre Dumas: A Biography and Study (Bell, Craig A), 148

Alexandre Dumas: Genius of Life (Schopp, Claude), 148

Alexandre Dumas Père (Stowe, Richard S), 148

Alexandre Dumas: The Fourth Musketeer (Lucas-Dubreton, Jean), 148

The Alexandrian (Rofheart, Martha), 100

Alfred Hitchcock, 223

Alfred Hitchcock (Phillips, Gene D), 223

Alfred Hitchcock and the British Cinema (Ryall, Tom), 223

The Alfred Hitchcock Murder Case (Baxt, George), 223

Alfred Lord Tennyson: A Memoir by His Son (Tennyson, Hallam), 456

Alfred Tennyson (Tennyson, Charles), 456

Alfred Tennyson: A Literary Life (Ormond, Leonée), 456

Alias Billy the Kid: The Man Behind the Legend (Cline, Donald), 36

Alice and Edith: A Biographical Novel of the Two Wives of Theodore Roosevelt (Wilson, Dorothy C) , 407

Alice at 80: A Novel (Slavitt, David R), 75

The Alienist (Carr, Caleb), 337, 407

All Cloudless Glory: The Life of George Washington (Clark, E.Harrison), 484

All for Love (Dryden, John), 100

All for Love: Baby Doe and the Silver Dollar (Vernon, John), 492

All-in-All: A Biography of George Eliot (Gaeddert, Louann B), 158

All My Road Before Me: The Diary of C.S.Lewis, 1922–1927, 283

All or Nothing at All: A Life of Frank Sinatra (Clarke, Donald), 430

All Shook Up: Elvis Day-by-Day, 1954–1977 (Cotten, Lee), 384

All the Brave Rifles (Venable, Clarke), 232

All the Golden Gifts (Fuller, Iola), 293

All the King’s Ladies (Law, Janice), 293

All the Living: A Novel of One Year in the Life of William Shakespeare (Buckmaster, Henrietta), 423

All the Queen’s Men (Anthony, Evelyn), 160

All the Sweets of Being: A Life of James Boswell (Hutchinson, Roger), 48

All the Way: A Biography of Frank Sinatra (Freedland, Michael), 430

All Together Now (Castleman, Harry, and Walter J. Podrazik), 281

All Too Human: The Love Story of Jack and Jackie Kennedy (Klein, Edward), 267, 359

All You Needed Was Love: The Beatles After the Beatles (Blake, John), 281

Alma Mahler: Muse to Genius: From Fin-de-siècle Vienna to Hollywood’s Heyday (Monson, Karen) , 302

Alma Mahler: Or, the Art of Being Loved (Giroud, Françoise), 302

Along With Youth: Hemingway, the Early Years (Griffin, Peter), 219

Always Inventing (Matthews, Tom), 31

Always Rachel: The Letters of Rachel Carson and Dorothy Freeman, 1952–1964: The Story of a Remarkable Friendship, 77

Amadeus, 340

An Amateur Laborer (Theodore Dreiser), 145

The Amazing Howard Hughes, 233

The Amazing Mrs. Bonaparte (Kane, Harnett T), 345

Ambapali (Raina, Vimala), 62

Amelia Earhart, 151

Amelia Earhart (Pearce, Carol A), 151

Amelia Earhart (Randolph, Blythe), 151

Amelia Earhart (Shore, Nancy), 151

Amelia Earhart (Woog, Adam), 151

Amelia Earhart: A Biography (Rich, Doris L), 151

Amelia Earhart: The Final Flight, 151

Amelia Earhart: The Final Story (Loomis, Vincent V., and Jeffrey L.Ethell), 151

Amelia Earhart: The Mystery Solved (Long, Elgen and Marie K), 151

Amelia: The Centennial Biography of an Aviation

Pioneer (Goldstein, Donald M., and Katherine V.Dillon), 151

The American (Fast, Howard), 101, 126, 61

American Aristocracy: The Lives and Times of James Russell, Amy, and Robert Lowell (Heymann, C.David), 294

American Caesar, 297

American Caesar: Douglas MacArthur, 1880–1964 (Manchester, William), 297

The American Ezra Pound (Flory, Wendy S), 383

American Genesis: Captain John Smith as the Founder of Virginia (Vaughan, Alden T), 433

American Gothic: The Story of America's Legendary Theatrical Family: Junius, Edwin, and John Wilkes Booth (Smith, Gene), 43

An American Guerrilla in the Philippines, 297

An American Hero: The True Story of Charles A. Lindbergh (Denenberg, Barry), 285

American Heroine: The Life and Legend of Jane Addams (Davis, Allen F), 4

American Journey: The Times of Robert Kennedy (Stein, Jean, and George Plimpton), 268

The American Notebooks (Nathaniel Hawthorne), 215

American Painter in Paris: A Life of Mary Cassatt (Wilson, Ellen), 79

The American Pietism of Cotton Mother: Origins of American Evangelicalism (Lovelace, Richard F), 316

American Primitive: The Words of John and Abigail Adams Put into a Sequence for the Theater, with Addenda in Rhyme (Gibson, William), 1, 2

The American Red Cross: A History (Dulles, Foster Rhea), 26

The American Roots of Ezra Pound (Wilhelm, James J), 383

American Sphinx: The Character of Thomas Jefferson (Ellis, Joseph J), 247

The American Talleyrand: The Career and Contemporaries of Martin Van Buren, Eighth President (Alexander, Holmes), 474

American Woman (Garcia y Roberston, Rodrigo), 119

The Americans (Jakes, John), 74

America's Children (Thackara, James), 361

Amistad, 3

Amistad (Pate, Alexs), 3

Amistad (Pesci, David), 474

Amistad: The Thunder of Freedom (Pesci, David), 3

The Amorous Master Pepys (Cleugh, James), 371

Anastasia: The Mystery of Anna, 354

Anatole France (Tylden-Wright, David), 170

Anatole France (Virtanen, Reino), 170

Anatole France: A Life without Illusions (Axelrad, Jacob), 170

Anatole France: 1844–96 (Dargan, Edwin P), 170

Anatole France: The Politics of Skepticism (Jefferson, Alfred C), 170

The Ancient Child (Momaday, N.Scott), 36

And Morning in His Eyes (Henderson, Philip), 311

And Never Yield (Pryor, Elinor), 434

“And One Was a Soldier”: The Spiritual Pilgrimage of Robert E.Lee* (Brown, Robert R), 279*

And the Stars Shall Fall (Bowen, True), 354

And Walk in Love: A Novel Based on the Life of the Apostle Paul (Buckmaster, Henrietta), 369

André Gide (Guerard, Albert), 196

André Gide: A Critical Biography (Painter, George D), 196

André Gide: A Life in the Present (Sheridan, Alan), 196

André Gide: His Life and Art (Fowlie, Wallace), 196

Andrew Carnegie (Swetnam, George), 74

Andrew Carnegie (Wall, Joseph Frazier), 74

Andrew Carnegie and the Age of Steel (Shippen, Katherine B), 74

Andrew Carnegie and the Rise of Big Business (Livesay, Harold C), 74

Andrew Carnegie: His Life and Times (Mackay, James A), 74

The Andrew Carnegie Story (Simon, Charlie M), 74

Andrew Jackson (James, Marquis), 242

Andrew Jackson (Judson, Karen), 242

Andrew Jackson (Remini, Robert V), 242

Andrew Jackson (Viola, Herman J), 242

Andrew Jackson and His America (Meltzer, Milton), 242

Andrew Jackson and the Course of American Democracy, 1833–1845 (Remini, Robert V), 242

Andrew Jackson and the Course of American Empire, 1767–1821 (Remini, Robert V), 242

Andrew Jackson and the Course of American Freedom, 1822–1832 (Remini, Robert V), 242

Andrew Jackson and the Search for Vindication (Curtis, James C), 242

Andrew Jackson: Symbol for an Age (Ward, John W), 242

Andrew Johnson, 251

Andrew Johnson: A Biography (Trefousse, Hans L), 251

Andrew Johnson: A Life in Pursuit of the Right Course, 1808–1875 (Brabson, Fay W), 251

Andrew Johnson: A Profile (McKittrick, Eric L., ed), 251

Andrew Johnson: A Study in Courage (Stryker, Lloyd P), 251

Andrew Johnson and Reconstruction (McKittrick, Eric L), 251

Andrew Johnson and the Uses of Constitutional Power (Sefton, James E) , 251

Andrew Johnson—Not Guilty (Tappan, George L), 251

Andrew Johnson: Plebian and Patriot (Winston, Robert W), 251

Andrew Johnson: President on Trial (Lomask, Milton), 251

Andrew Johnson—Presidential Scapegoat: A Biographical Re-evaluation (Royall, Margaret S), 251

Andrew Johnson: Rebuilding the Union (Dubowski, Cathy E), 251

Andrew Johnson: Seventeenth President of the United States (Kent, Zachary), 251

Andrew Marvell (Birrell, Augustine), 312

Andrew Marvell (Bradbrook, M.C., and M.G. Lloyd Thomas), 312

An Andrew Marvell Companion (Ray, Robert), 312

Andrew Marvell: His Life and Writings (Hunt, John Dixon), 312

Andrew Marvell: Poet, Puritan, Patriot (Legouis, Pierre), 312

Andy Warhol, 482

The Andy Warhol Diaries, 482

The Angel: A Novel Based on the Life of Alexander I of Russia (Blech, William James), 7

The Angel Max (Glassgold, Peter), 202

Angel of the Battlefield: The Life of Clara Barton (Ross, Ishbel), 26

Angelheaded Hipster: A Life of Jack Kerouac (Turner, Steve), 269

Angelique (Golon, Sergeanne), 293

Angelique and the King (Golon, Sergeanne), 293

Angelique in Revolt (Golon, Sergeanne), 293

Angels & Ministers (Housman, Laurence), 139

Anita, Anita (Bryant, Dorothy), 186

Anna Bolena, 221, 40

Annals of the Artists of Spain (Stirling-Maxwell, William), 207

Anne (Harrod-Eagles, Cynthia), 7

Anne Boleyn (Anthony, Evelyn), 40

Anne Boleyn (Barrington, E), 40

Anne Boleyn (Beck, L.Adams), 40

Anne Boleyn (Bruce, Marie Louise), 40

Anne Boleyn (Chapman, Hester W), 40

Anne Boleyn (Ives, E.W), 40

Anne Boleyn (Lofts, Norah), 40

Anne Boleyn (Vercors), 40

Anne Boleyn: A Chapter of English History 1527–36 (Friedmann, Paul), 40

Anne Brontë (Gérin, Winifred), 53–57

Anne Brontë: Her Life and Work (Harrison, Ada M. and Derek Stanford), 53–57

Anne Brontë: The Other One (Langland, Elizabeth), 53–57

Anne of the Thousand Days, 221, 40, 500

Anne of the Thousand Days (Anderson, Maxwell), 221, 40

Anne Sullivan Macy: The Story Behind Helen Keller (Braddy, Nella), 266

Another Caesar (Neumann, Alfred), 346–347

Another Such Victory (Weaver, John D), 297

The Answerers (Overton, Grant M), 491

The Anthem (Gerson, Noel B), 200

Anthony Trollope (Glendinning, Victoria), 466

Anthony Trollope (Pope-Hennessy, James), 466

Anthony Trollope (Walpole, Horace), 466

Anthony Trollope: A Commentary (Sadleir, Michael), 466

Anthony Trollope: A Victorian in His World (Mullen, Richard), 466

Anthony Trollope: Aspects of His Life and Work (Booth, Bradford), 466

Antipodes Jane: A Novel of Jane Austen in Australia (Wilson, Barbara Ker), 19

Anton Chekhov (Priestley, J.B), 94

Anton Chekhov: A Life (Rayfield, Donald), 94

Anton Chekhov: The Voice of Twilight Russia (Toumanova, Nina A), 94

Anton Dvorrák (Stefan, Paul), 150

Antonietta (Hersey, John), 33, 340

Antonin Dvorák, My Father (Dvorrák, Otakar), 150

Antony and Cleopatra, 100

Anwar el Sadat: Man with a Mission (Narayan, B.K), 413

Anwar el-Sadat: Middle East Peacemaker (Rosen, Deborah N), 413

Anwar Sadat (Aufderheide, Patricia), 413

Anwar Sadat: Visionary Who Dared (Finkelstone, Joseph), 413

Anything for Billy (McMurtry, Larry), 36

Apache, 194

Apes, Angels, and Victorians: The Story of Darwin, Huxley, and Evolution (Irvine, William), 122

Apologia pro Vita Sua: Being a History of His Religious Opinions (John Henry Newman), 352

The Apostle (Asch, Sholem), 369

The Apostle: A Life of Paul (Pollock, J.C), 369

Apostle of Liberty: A Life of La Fayette (La Fuye, Maurice de, and Emile A.Babeau), 276

The Apotheosis of Captain Cook: European Mythmaking in the Pacific (Obeyesekere, Gananath), 109

Apprentice to Genius: Years with Frank Lloyd Wright (Tafel, Edgar), 504

The Apprenticeship of Ernest Hemingway: The Early Years (Fenton, Charles A), 219

Aquinas's Search for Wisdom (Bourke, Vernon J), 10

Arc d'X (Erickson, Steve), 247

Archbishop Thomas and King Henry II (Corfe, Tom), 459

The Archduke (Arnold, Michael), 174

The Architect (Levin, Meyer), 504

The Architecture of Wren (Downes, Kerry), 503

The Archivist (Cooley, Martha), 159

Ariel: The Life of Shelley (Maurois, André), 426

An Army of Angels: A Novel of Joan of Arc (Marcantel, Pamela), 249

The Army of Frederick the Great (Duffy, Christopher), 175

Arna Bontemps-Langston Hughes Letters, 1925–1967, 234

“Arnold Schoenberg” (Neighbor, Oliver), 418

The Arnold Schoenberg Companion (Bailey, Walter B), 418

Arnold Schoenberg: The Formative Years (Wellesz, Egon), 418

An Arranged Marriage (Trachtenberg, Inge), 177

Arresting Sitting Bull (Jones, Douglas C), 431

Art and Affection: A Life of Virginia Woolf (Reid, Panthea), 501

The Art and Imagination of W.E.B.Du Bois (Rampersad, Arnold), 147

The Art and Life of Georgia O'Keeffe (Castro, Jan G), 358

Art, Life, and Theories of Richard Wagner Selected from His Writings, 481

The Art of the Theatre. (Sarah Bernhardt), 34

Arthur Conan Doyle (Cox, Don R), 143

Arthur Rimbaud (Ivry, Benjamin), 398

Arthur Rimbaud (St. Aubyn, Frederic C), 398

Arthur Rimbaud (Starkie, Enid), 398

Arthur Rimbaud: Presence of an Enigma (Steinmetz, Jean-Luc), 398

Arthur Sullivan: A Victorian Musician (Jacobs, Arthur), 197–198

Artist in Chrysalis: A Biographical Study of Goethe in Italy (Haile, H.G), 200

Arturo Toscanini (Matthews, Denis), 464

Arturo Toscanini (Nicotra, Tobia), 464

Arturo Toscanini (Stefan, Paul), 464

Arturo Toscanini: Contemporary Recollections of the Maestro (Haggin, B.H), 464

Arundel (Roberts, Kenneth), 11

The Aryan Christ: The Secret Life of Carl Jung (Noll, Richard), 259

As Ever, Gene: The Letters of Eugene O'Neill to George Jean Nathan, 360

As Lonely as Franz Kafka (Robert, Marthe), 262

As Long as the Rivers Run (Slate, Sam J), 242

As We Remember Her: Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis in the Words of Her Family and Friends (Anthony, Carl S), 359

The Ashes of Smyrna (Reinhardt, Richard), 13

Aspects of Wilde (O'Sullivan, Vincent), 492

Aspire to the Heavens: A Portrait of George Washington (Clark, Mary Higgins), 484

The Assassination of Henry IV (Mousnier, Roland), 220

The Assassination of Jesse James by the Coward, Robert Ford (Hansen, Ron), 246

The Assassination of Malcolm X (Breitman, George, Herman Porter, and Baxter Smith), 304

The Assassination of Mozart (Weiss, David), 340

The Assassination of Trotsky, 467

Astrophel: Or the Life and Death of the Renowned Sir Philip Sidney (Bill, Alfred H), 429

Asylum for the Queen (Jordan, Mildred), 310

At Ease: Stories I Tell to Friends (Dwight D.Eisenhower), 157

Ataturk (MacFie, A.L), 13

Ataturk: A Biography of Mustafa Kemal, Father of Modern Turkey (Kinross, Patrick Balfour), 13

Ataturk: The Biography of the Founder of Modern Turkey (Mango, Andrew), 13

Atomic Dawn: A Biography of Robert Oppenheimer (Drieman, J.E), 361

The Attainment of Delacroix (Trapp, Frank A), 130

Aubrey and the Dying Lady: A Beardsley Riddle (Easton, Malcolm), 28

Aubrey Beardsley (Calloway, Stephen), 28

Aubrey Beardsley (Fletcher, Ian), 28

Aubrey Beardsley: A Biography (Sturgis, Matthew), 28

Aubrey Beardsley: An Account of His Life (Benkovitz, Miriam J), 28

Aubrey Beardsley and the Nineties (Raby, Peter), 28

Aubrey Beardsley: Imp of the Perverse (Weintraub, Stanley), 28

Auden (Davenport-Hines, Richard), 14

Auden: An American Friendship (Miller, Charles H), 14

Auden and Isherwood: The Berlin Years (Page, Norman), 14

Auden in Love (Farman, Dorothy J), 14

Audubon (Chancellor, John), 15

Audubon: An Intimate Life of the American Woodsman (Arthur, Stanley C), 15

Audubon, by Himself: A Profile of John James Audubon from Writings, 15

Audubon the Naturalist: A History of His Life and Time (Herrick, Francis), 15

August Strindberg (Johnson, Walter G), 446

August Strindberg (Lagercrantz, Olof), 446

August Strindberg: The Bedeviled Viking (McGill, Vivian J), 446

Auguste Rodin (Descharnes, Robert, and Jean-François Chabrun), 404

Augustine: His Life and Thought. (Smith, Warren T), 16

Augustine: His Thought in Context. (Scott, T. Kermit), 16

Augustine of Hippo (Brown, Peter), 16

Augustine the Bishop: Life and Work of a Father of the Church. (Meer, Frederick van der), 16

Augustine through the Ages: An Encyclopedia (Fitzgerald, Allan, et al., eds), 16

Augustine: Wayward Genius. (Bentley-Taylor, D), 16

Augustus (Birkenfeld, Günther), 17

Augustus (Buchan, John), 17

Augustus (Jones, A.H.M), 17

Augustus (Massie, Allan), 100, 17

Augustus (Southern, Pat), 17

Augustus (Williams, John), 17

Augustus Caesar (Shotter, David), 17

Augustus Caesar (Walworth, Nancy Z), 17

Augustus Caesar: Architect of Empire (Stearns, Monroe), 17

The Authentic Life of Billy the Kid, the Noted Desperado of the Southwest (Garrett, Pat F), 36

The Authentic Mark Twain: A Literary Biography of Samuel L.Clemens (Emerson, Everett), 473

An Autobiographical Study (Sigmund Freud), 177

Autobiographical Writings (John Henry Newman), 352

Autobiographies (William Butler Yeats), 507

An Autobiography (Anthony Trollope), 466

Autobiography (Charles V), 92

Autobiography (Eleanor Roosevelt), 405

An Autobiography (Frank Lloyd Wright), 504

Autobiography (Theodore Roosevelt), 407

Autobiography (William Carlos Williams), 496

Autobiography and Other Writing (John Stuart Mill), 329

The Autobiography of Alice B.Toklas (Gertrude Stein), 438

The Autobiography of Benjamin Franklin, 173

The Autobiography of Bertrand Russell, 412

The Autobiography of Charles Darwin, 122

The Autobiography of Harry S.Truman, 468

Autobiography of Henry Morton Stanley, 437

The Autobiography of Henry VIII (George, Margaret), 221

The Autobiography of J.M.Synge, 450

The Autobiography of James Monroe, 333

Autobiography of Jawaharlal Nehru, 348

The Autobiography of Johann Wolfgang van Goethe, 200

The Autobiography of Joseph Stalin (Lourie, Richard), 436

Autobiography of Keats, 265

The Autobiography of Malcolm X, 304

The Autobiography of Maria Callas (Bond, Alma H), 69

The Autobiography of Mark Twain, 473

The Autobiography of Martin Luther King Jr, 273

Autobiography of Maxim Gorky, 204

The Autobiography of Saint Ignatius Loyola, 238

The Autobiography of Sam Houston, 232

Autobiography of Values (Charles A.Lindbergh Jr), 285

The Autobiography of W.E.B.DuBois: A Soliloquy on Viewing My Life from the Last Decade of Its First Century, 147

Autumn of Fury: The Assassination of Sadat (Heikal,Mohamed), 413

The Available Man: The Life Behind the Masks of Warren Gamaliel Harding (Sinclair, Andrew), 212

The Awakened One: A Life of Buddha (Chodzin, Sherab), 62

Aztec (Jennings, Gary), 113

Aztecs and Spaniards: Cortés and the Conquest of Mexico (Marrin, Albert), 113

Bach (Boyd, Malcolm), 20

Bach (Dowley, Tim), 20

Bach (Westcott, Frederick), 20

Bach: A Biography (Terry, Charles Sanford), 20

Bach: A Pictorial Biography (Neumann, Werner), 20

Back Bay (Martin, William), 299–300

Backbeat, 281

A Backward Glance: An Autobiography (Edith Wharton), 489

Bad Lord Byron, 67

Badge of Courage: The Life of Stephen Crane (Davis, Linda H), 114

The Bait and the Trap (Challis, George), 45–47

Balanchine: A Biography (Taper, Bernard), 22

The Ballad of John and Yoko (Cott, Jonathan, and Christine Doudna, eds), 281

Ballet of Comedians: A Novel Based on the Life of J.B.P.Molière (Arnott, Peter D), 331

Balzac (Pritchett, V.S), 23

Balzac (Zweig, Stefan), 23

Balzac: A Life (Robb, Graham), 23

Balzac and the Human Comedy (Bertault, Philippe), 23

The Bank (Longstreet, Stephen), 337, 403

Banners of Gold (Kaufman, Pamela), 394

Bard of Avon: The Story of William Shakespeare (Stanley, Diane, and Peter Vennema), 423

Barnabas (Steen, John W), 369

Barnum, 24

Barnum: A Musical Suggested by the Life of P.T. Barnum (Bramble, Mark), 24

The Barretts of Wimpole Street, 59–60

The Barretts of Wimpole Street (Besier, Rudolf), 59–60

Bartók (Griffiths, Paul), 25

Bartók (Helm, Everett), 25

Bartók (Lesznai, Lajos), 25

Bartók and His World (Laki, Peter, ed), 25

The Bartók Companion (Gillies, Malcolm), 25

Bartók: His Life and Times (Milne, Hamis), 25

Bartók Remembered (Gillies, Malcolm), 25

Baseball Has Done It (Jackie Robinson), 402

Baseball's Great Experiment: Jackie Robinson and His Legacy (Tygiel, Jules), 402

Basilissa: A Tale of the Empress Theodora (Masefield, John), 260–261

Basquiat, 482

The Bastard King (Plaidy, Jean), 494

The Battle (Rambaud, Patrick), 345, 439

Battle of Waterloo, 1815, 345

The Battle Over Citizen Kane, 217

Baudelaire (Pichois, Claude), 27

Baudelaire (Richardson, Joanna), 27

Baudelaire (Sartre, Jean-Paul), 27

Baudelaire (Starkie, Enid), 27

Baudelaire: A Self-Portrait, 27

Baudelaire in 1859: A Study in the Sources of Poetic Creativity (Burton, Richard D.E), 27

Baudelaire: Man of His Time (Hyslop, Lois Boe), 27

Baudelaire, Prince of Clouds: A Biography (De Jonge, Alex), 27

Baudelaire the Damned (Hemmings, F.W.J), 27

Bay of Arrows (Parini, Jay), 104

The Bear Flag (Holland, Cecelia), 176

The Bear Flag: A Novel of the Birth of California (Holland, Cecelia), 76

Beardsley (Reade, Brian), 28

Beardsley: A Biography (Weintraub, Stanley), 28

Beardsley and His World (Brophy, Brigid), 28

Bearing the Cross: Martin Luther King Jr. and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (Garrow, David J), 273

The Bearkeeper's Daughter (Bradshaw, Gillian), 260–261

The Beatles Anthology, 281

Beatles Forever (Schaffner, Nicholas), 281

The Beatles: The Authorized Biography (Davies, Hunter), 281

Beau Brummell, 191, 193, 379

Beautiful Dreamers, 491

Beauvallet (Heyer, Georgette), 144

Becket, 459

Becket (Tennyson, Alfred), 459

Becket: Or the Honor of God (Anouilh, Jean), 459

The Beckett Country: Samuel Beckett's Ireland (O'Brein, Eoin), 29

Becoming Madame Mao (Min, Anchee), 309

Becoming O'Keeffe: The Early Years (Peters, Sarah W), 358

Bedford Row (Rayner, Claire), 356

Beecher (McCall, Dan), 443

Beecher: A Novel (McCall, Dan), 9

Beethoven, 30

Beethoven (Kinderman, William), 30

Beethoven (Solomon, Maynard), 30

Beethoven: A Portrait, 30

Beethoven and the Age of Revolution (Knight, Frida), 30

Beethoven as I Knew Him: A Biography (Schlinder, Anton), 30

Beethoven: Biography of a Genius (Marek, George), 30

The Beethoven Compendium: A Guide to Beethoven's Life & Music (Cooper, Barry, ed), 30

The Beethoven Encyclopedia: His Life and Art from A to Z (Nettl, Paul), 30

Beethoven: His Life, Work, and World (Landon, H.C.Robbins), 30

Beethoven: Impressions by Contemporaries (Sonneck, Oscar G., ed), 30

Beethoven: Letters, Journals, and Conversations (Hamburger, Michael, ed), 30

Beethoven Lives Upstairs, 30

The Beethoven Reader (Arnold, Denis, and Nigel Fortune, eds), 30

Beethoven: The Composer as Hero (Autexier, Philippe A), 30

Beethoven: The First Biography, 1827 (Schlosser, Johann Aloys), 30

Beethoven: The Last Decade 1817–27 (Cooper, Martin), 30

Beethoven's Great Love, 30

Beethoven's Nephew, 30

Before He Was Buddha: The Life of Siddhartha (Saddhatissa, Hammalawa), 62

Before the Colors Fade: Portrait of a Soldier (Ayers, Fred), 368

Before the Trumpet: Young Franklin Roosevelt, 1882–1905 (Ward, Geoffrey), 406

The Beginning of Terror: A Psychological Study of Rainer Maria Rilke's Life and Work (Kleinbard, David), 397

The Beginning of the End, 361

Beginning the World Again (Silman, Roberta), 361

Behold the Fire (Blankfort, Michael), 278

Being Met Together (Wilkins, William V), 179, 345

Béla Bartók (Chalmers, Kenneth), 25

Béla Bartók (Ujfalussy, József), 25

Béla Bartók: His Life in Pictures and Documents, 25

Béla Bartók Letters, 25

Béla Bartók: The American Years (Fassett, Agatha), 25

Believe (Shatner, William, and Michael Tobias), 143, 231

The Belle of Amherst, 135

Belle Starr (Camp, Deborah), 246

Beloved (Delmar, Vina), 123

Beloved Infidel, 166

Beloved Lady: A History of Jane Addams's Ideas on Reform and Peace (Farrell, John C), 4

Ben-Gurion, 32

Ben-Gurion: A Biography (Saint John, Robert), 32

Ben-Gurion: Builder of Israel (Saint John, Robert), 32

Ben-Gurion: In His Own Words, 32

Ben-Gurion of Israel (Litvinoff, Barnett), 32

Ben-Gurion: Prophet of Fire (Kurzman, Dan), 32

Ben-Gurion, State Builder: Principles and Pragmatism 1948–63 (Avi-hai, Avraham), 32

Ben-Gurion: The Armed Prophet (Bar-Zohar, Michael), 32

Ben-Gurion: The Biography of an Extraordinary Man, and expanded to cover the last years of Ben-Gurion’s life. (Saint John, Robert), 32

Ben-Gurion: The Burning Ground: 1886–1948 (Teveth, Shabtai), 32

Ben Jonson (Palmer, John L), 256

Ben Jonson (Smith, George), 256

Ben Jonson (Symonds, John Addington), 256

Ben Jonson: A Life (Riggs, David), 256

Ben Jonson: A Literary Life (Kay, W.David), 256

Ben Jonson and King James: Biography and Portrait (Linklater, Eric), 256

A Ben Jonson Companion (Brock, D.Hayward), 256

Ben Jonson: His Life and Work (Miles, Rosalind), 256

Ben Jonson of Westminster (Chute, Marchette), 256

The Bending Cross: A Biography of Eugene Victor Debs (Ginger, Ray), 126

Benedict Arnold (Wade, Mary D), 11

Benedict Arnold: A Novel (Wolf, William J), 11

Benedict Arnold: A Reader’s Guide and Bibliography (Gocek, Matilda A), 11

Benedict Arnold: Patriot and Traitor (Randall, Willard S), 11

Benedict Arnold, Revolutionary Hero: An American Warrior (Martin, James Kirby), 11

Benedict Arnold: The Dark Eagle (Boylan, Brian R), 11

Benito Mussolini, 343

Benito Mussolini (Hartenian, Lawrence R), 343

Benjamin and William Franklin: Father and Son, Patriot and Loyalist (Skemp, Sheila L), 173

Benjamin Disraeli (McGuirk, Carol), 139

Benjamin Disraeli: An Unconventional Biography (Meynell, Wilfrid), 139

Benjamin Disraeli Letters, 139

Benjamin Disraeli: Prime Minister Extraordinary (Grant, Neil), 139

Benjamin Franklin (Fleming, Thomas), 173

Benjamin Franklin (Looby, Chris), 173

Benjamin Franklin (Van Doren, Carl), 173

Benjamin Franklin: A Biographical Companion (Foster, Leila M), 173

Benjamin Franklin: A Biography (Clark, Ronald W), 173

Benjamin Franklin: A Biography in His Own Words, 173

Benjamin Franklin and a Case of Artful Murder (Hall, Robert Lee), 226

Benjamin Franklin and a Case of Christmas Murder (Hall, Robert Lee), 173

Benjamin Franklin and a Rising People (Crane, Verner), 173

Benjamin Franklin and His Enemies (Middlekauff, Robert), 173

Benjamin Franklin: Philosopher and Man (Aldridge, Alfred O), 173

Benjamin Franklin, Politician (Jennings, Francis), 173

Benjamin Franklin: The New America? (Meltzer, Milton), 173

Berlioz, 33

Berlioz (Cairns, David), 33

Berlioz (Elliot, John H), 33

Berlioz (Holoman, D.Kern), 33

Berlioz (MacDonald, Hugh), 33

Berlioz and His Century: An Introduction to the Age of Romanticism (Barzun, Jacques), 33

Berlioz and the Romantic Century (Barzun, Jacques), 33

Berlioz: His Life and Times (Clarson-Leach, Robert), 33

Berlioz: The Man and His Work (Turner, W.J), 33

Bernard Shaw (Holroyd, Michael), 424

Bernard Shaw: A Chronicle (Rattray, Robert F), 424

Bernard Shaw: A Pictorial Biography (Shenfield, Margaret), 424

Bernard Shaw: A Psychological Study (Dervin, Daniel), 424

Bernard Shaw: An Unauthorized Biography Based on Firsthand Information (Harris, Frank), 424

The Bernard Shaw Companion (Hardwick, Michael, and Mollie Hardwick), 424

Bernard Shaw: His Life, Work, and Friends (Ervine, St. John), 424

Bernard Shaw: Playboy and Prophet (Henderson, Archibald), 424

Bernard Shaw: The Ascent of the Superman (Peters, Sally), 424

Bernard Shaw: The Darker Side (Silver, Arnold J), 424

Bernard Shaw: The Diaries, 1885–1897, 424

Bernard Shaw: The One-Volume Definitive Edition (Holroyd, Michael), 424

Bernstein (Robinson, Paul), 35

Bernstein: A Biography (Peyser, Joan), 35

Bertie, Albert Edward, Prince of Wales (Tyler-Whittle, Michael), 154

Bertie and the Crime of Passion (Lovesey, Peter), 154, 34, 465

Bertie and the Seven Bodies (Lovesey, Peter), 154

Bertie and the Tinman (Lovesey, Peter), 154

Bertolt Brecht: His Life, His Art, and His Times (Ewen, Frederic), 52

Bertolt Brecht in America (Lyons, James K), 52

Bertolt Brecht Journals, 52

A Bertolt Brecht Reference Companion (Mews, Siegfried, et al, eds), 52

Bertrand Russell (Ayer, A.J), 412

Bertrand Russell (Kuntz, Paul G), 412

Bertrand Russell: A Life (Gottshalk, Herbert), 412

Bertrand Russell: A Life (Moorehead, Caroline), 412

Bertrand Russell: A Political Life (Ryan, Alan), 412

Bertrand Russell: A Psychobiography of a Moralst (Brink, Andrew), 412

Bertrand Russell and His World (Clark, Ronald W), 412

Bertrand Russell and the Pacifists in the First World War (Vellacott, Jo), 412

Bertrand Russell: The Passionate Skeptic: A Biography (Wood, Alan), 412

Bertrand Russell: The Spirit of Solitude, 1872–1921 (Monk, Ray), 412

Bess & Harry: An American Love Story (Robbins, Jhan), 468

The Best House in Stratford (Fisher, Edward), 256, 423

The Betrayal of Richard III: An Introduction to the Controversy (Lamb, V.B), 395

The Bette Davis Murder Case (Baxt, George), 96

The Better Angel: Walt Whitman in the Civil War (Morris, Roy Jr), 491

Between Eternities (Pilpel, Robert H), 18

Beware of Caesar (Sheean, Vincent), 350

Beyond Category: The Life and Genius of Duke Ellington (Hasse, John E), 161

Beyond Damascus: A Biography of Paul the Tarsian (Spencer, Floyd A), 369

Beyond Desire: A Novel Based on the Life of Felix and Cécile Mendelssohn (La Mure, Pierre), 315, 420, 95

Big Daddy from the Pedernales: Lyndon Baines Johnson (Conkin, Paul), 252

The Big Fisherman, 374

The Big Fisherman (Douglas, Lloyd C), 374

The Big Sea: An Autobiography (Langston Hughes), 234

The Big Stick (Alexander, Lawrence), 150, 407

Billy the Kid, 36

Billy the Kid (Corle, Edwin), 36

Billy the Kid (Fackler, Elizabeth), 36

Billy the Kid (Green, Carl R., and William R.Sanford), 36

Billy the Kid (Hamilton, John), 36

Billy the Kid: A Bio-Bibliography (Tuska, Jon), 36

Billy the Kid: A Short and Violent Life (Utley, Robert M), 36

A Bio-Bibliography of Langston Hughes, 1920–67 (Dickinson, Donald C), 234

Biographical Sketches of Joseph Smith, the Prophet (Smith, Lucy Mack), 434

Biography of a Family: Catherine de’ Medici and Her Children (Waldman, Milton), 81

The Biography of General George S.Patton (Hogg, Ian V), 368

Bird of Fire: A Tale of St. Francis of Assist (White, Helen Constance), 171

Bird of God: The Romance of El Greco (Hersch, Virginia), 207

Birth Control in America: The Career of Margaret Sanger (Kennedy, David M), 415

Birth of a Nation, 43

Birth of a World: Bolivar in Terms of His People (Frank, Waldo), 41

The Birth of Mischief (Sabatini, Rafael), 175

Birthright (Coburn, Andrew), 285

The Bishop’s Boys: A Life of Wilbur and Orville Wright (Crouch, Tom D), 505–506

Bismarck (Crankshaw, Edward), 37

Bismarck (Hollyday, Frederic B.M., ed), 37

Bismarck (Palmer, Alan), 37

Bismarck (Richter, Werner), 37

Bismarck (Waller, Bruce), 37

Bismarck and His Times (Kent, George O), 37

Bismarck and Modern Germany (Medlicott, W.N), 37

Bismarck and the Development of Germany (Pflanze, Otto), 37

Bismarck and the German Empire (Eyck, Erich), 37

Bismarck: The Man and the Statesman (Taylor, A.J.P), 37

Bismarck: The White Revolutionary (Gall, Lothar), 37

Black and Red: W.E.B.Du Bois and the Afro-American Response to the Cold War, 1944–1963 (Horne, Gerald), 147

Black and White: A Portrait of Aubrey Beardsley (Brophy, Brigid), 28

The Black Arrow (Stevenson, Robert Louis), 395

Black Daniel: The Love Story of a Great Man (Morrow, Honoré), 485

Black Moses: The Story of Marcus Garvey and the Universal Negro Improvement Association (Cronon, Edward D), 188

Black Plume: The Suppressed Memoirs of Edgar Allan Poe (Madsen, David), 380

Black Swan (Dhondy, Farrukh), 311

Blackberry Winter: My Earlier Years (Margaret Mead), 321

The Blacksmith's Daughter (Dessau, Joanna), 349

Blaise Pascal: Reasons of the Heart (O'Connell, Marvin R), 365

Blaise Pascal: The Life and Work of a Realist (Mortimer, Ernest), 365

Blake (Ackroyd, Peter), 38

Blake Records (Bentley, G.E. Jr), 38

Blake Records Supplement (Bentley, G.E. Jr), 38

Blessed Are the Meek: A Novel About St. Francis of Assisi (Kossak, Zofia), 171

Blessed Spinoza: A Biography of the Philosopher (Browne, Lewis), 435

Blonde (Oates, Joyce Carol), 334

Blonde Venus: A Life of Marlene Dietrich (Frewin, Leslie), 137

Blood and Guts Is Going Nuts (Leopold, Christopher), 368

Blood and Iron Chancellor (Snyder, Louis L.), 37

Blood Feud, 228, 267, 268

Blood Feud (Hannibal, Edward), 268

Blood Games (Yarbro, Chelsea Quinn), 350

Blood of the Boar (Abbey, Margaret), 395

The Blood of the Martyrs (Mitchison, Naomi), 350

Blood on the Snow (Elliott, John), 280, 467

Blood Red Rose (Grant, Maxwell), 309

Blood Red, Sister Rose (Keneally, Thomas), 249

Blood Royal (Hardwick, Mollie), 40

A Bloodsmoor Romance (Oates, Joyce Carol), 473

Bloody Mary (Erickson, Carolly), 314

Bloody Mary (Maynard, Theodore), 314

Bloody Poet (Kosztolanyi, Deszo), 350

The Blue and the Gray, 206, 279, 284

The Blue and the Gray (Leekley, John), 279

Blue Angel: The Life of Marlene Dietrich (Spoto, Donald), 137

The Blue Heaven Bends over All (Oliver, Jane), 422

Bobby Kennedy: The Making of a Folk Hero (David, Lester, and Irene David), 268

Boccaccio (Bergin, Thomas G), 39

Boccaccio (MacManus, Francis), 39

Boccaccio: The Man and His Works (Branca, Vittore) , 39

Bold Encounter: A Novel Based on the Life of St. John of the Cross (Rohrbach, Peter-Thomas), 457

Bolívar (Worcester, Donald E), 41

Bolívar and the Political Thought of the Spanish American Revolution (Belaunde, Victor Andrés), 41

Bolívar and the War of Independence (O'Leary, Daniel F), 41

Bolívar: Liberator of a Continent: A Dramatized Biography (Boyd, William Y), 41

Bolívar the Liberator (Paine, Lauran), 41

Bolívar: The Life of an Idealist (Ludwig, Emil), 41

The Bomb Vessel (Woodman, Richard), 349

Bonaparte (Barnett, Corelli), 345

Bond of Honour (Todd, Catherine), 494

The Bonnet Laird's Daughter (Annandale, Barbara), 254

The Book of Abigail and John: Selected Letters of the Adams Family, 1762–1784, 1, 2

The Book of Witnesses (Kossoff, David), 248

The Book, the Ring, and the Poet: A Biography (Irvine, William, and Park Honan), 59–60

Booker T.Washington, 483

Booker T.Washington (Schroeder, Alan), 483

Booker T.Washington (Thombrough, Emma Lou, ed), 483

Booker T.Washington (Troy, Don), 483

Booker T.Washington and the Negro's Place in American Life (Spencer, Samuel R. Jr), 483

Booker T.Washington: Builder of a Civilization (Scott, Emmett, and Lyman Beecher Stowe), 483

Booker T.Washington: Educator and Interracial Interpreter (Mathews, Basil) , 483

The Booker T.Washington Papers, 483

Booker T.Washington: The Making of a Black Leader 1856–1901 (Harlan, Louis R), 483

Boone: A Novel Based on the Life and Times of Daniel Boone (Judd, Cameron), 42

Boone of the Wilderness (Henderson, Daniel), 42

Booth: A Novel (Robertson, David), 43

Boots and Saddles (George Armstrong Custer), 119

The Border Lord (Westcott, Jan), 244

Borges: A Life (Woodhall, James), 44

Borges and His Fiction: A Guide to His Mind and Art (Bell-Villada, Gene H), 44

Borges at Eighty: Conversations, 44

The Borgia Pope: Alexander VI (Ferrarra, Orestes), 45–47

The Borgia Prince (Bennetts, Pamela), 298, 45–47

The Borgia Testament (Balchin, Nigel), 45–47

The Borgias (Cloulas, Ivan), 45–47

The Borgias (Fusero, Clemente), 45–47

The Borgias (Johnson, Marion), 45–47

The Borgias (Latour, Anny), 45–47

The Borgias (Lucas-Dubreton, Jean), 45–47

The Borgias: The Rise and Fall of a Renaissance Dynasty (Mallet, Michael E), 45–47

The Boss: J.Edgar Hoover and the Great American Inquisition (Theoharis, Athan G), 228

Bosworth Field and the Wars of the Roses (Rowse, A.L.), 395

Botticelli (Ettlinger, L.D., and Helen Ettlinger), 49

Botticelli: A Biography (Ripley, Elizabeth), 49

Botticelli: Painter of Florence (Horne, Herbert), 49

Bounder from Wales: Lloyd George's Career Before the First World War (Cregler, Don M), 288

The Boy King, 273

The Boy Who Dared to Rock: The Definitive Elvis (Lichter, Paul), 384

The Boy Who Would Be King (Greenwood, Earl, and Kathleen Tracy), 384

Boyhood on the Upper Mississippi (Charles A. Lindbergh Jr), 285

The Braeswood Tapestry (Can, Robyn), 91

Brahms, 50

Brahms (Latham, Peter), 50

Brahms (MacDonald, Malcolm), 50

Brahms (Mirsky, Reba P), 50

Brahms (Niemann, Walter), 50

Brahms: A Critical Study (James, Burnett), 50

Brahms and His World (Frisch, Walter, ed), 50

Brahms: His Life and Times (Holmes, Paul), 50

Brahms: His Life and Work (Geiringer, Karl), 50

Brahms the Master (Goss, Madeleine), 50

The Braintree Mission (Wyckoff, Nicholas), 173, 2

Brandeis (Paper, Lewis), 51

Brandeis: A Free Man's Life (Mason, Alpheus T), 51

Brandeis and America (Dawson, Nelson L., ed), 51

Brandeis and Frankfurter: A Dual Biography (Baker, Leonard), 51

The Brandeis/Frankfurter Connection: The Secret Political Activities of Two Supreme Court Justices (Murphy, Bruce A) , 51

Brandeis of Boston (Gal, Allon), 51

Branwell Brontë (Gérin, Winifred), 53–57

Brass Target, 368

Brave Warrior, 454

Breach of Faith: The Fall of Richard Nixon (White, Theodore H), 357

Breakthrough to the Big League (Robinson, Jackie, and Alfred Duckett), 402

Brecht: A Biography (Hayman, Ronald), 52

Brecht: A Biography (Völker, Klaus), 52

Brecht: The Man and His Work (Esslin, Martin), 52

Bride of Fortune (Kane, Harnett T), 123

Bride of Frankenstein, 67

Bride of Glory (Field, Bradda), 349

The Bride of the Wind: The Life and Times of Alma Mahler-Werfel (Keegan, Suzanne), 302

Bride of Vengeance, 45–47

The Bridge (Allis, Marguerite), 26

The Bridge and the Abyss: The Troubled Friendship of Maxim Gorky and V.I.Lenin (Wolfe, Bertram D), 204

Briefly Gaudy Hour (Barnes, Margaret C), 40

Brigham Young (Bernotas, Bob), 508

Brigham Young (Werner, Morris R), 508

Brigham Young: American Moses (Arlington, Leonard J), 508

Brigham Young and the Expanding American Frontier (Bringhurst, Newell G), 508

Brigham Young: Frontiersman, 434, 508

Brigham Young: Mormon and Pioneer (Simon, Charman), 508

Brigham Young: The Man and His Work (Nibley, Preston), 508

Bright Captivity (Price, Eugenia), 422

Brimstone Club (Mason, F.van Wyck), 173

The Broken Swords (Edwards, Rhoda), 395

Brontë (Hughes, Glyn), 53–57

The Brontë Family: A Reconsideration of Mrs. Gaskell's Life of Charlotte Brontë (Lane, Margaret), 53–57

The Brontë Sisters, 53–57

The Brontë Sisters, 53–57

The Brontë's (Barker, Juliet R), 53–57

The Brontës (Martin, Christopher), 53–57

The Brontës (Wilks, Brian), 53–57

The Brontës (Willis, Irene C), 53–57

The Brontës: A Life in Letters. (Barker, Juliet R), 53–57

The Brontës and Their Background: Romance and Reality (Winnifrith, Tom), 53–57

The Brontës and Their World (Bentley, Phyllis), 53–57

The Brontës: Branwell, Anne, Emily, Charlotte (Knapp, Bettina L), 53–57

The Brontës: Charlotte Brontë and Her Family (Fraser, Rebecca), 53–57

The Brontës' Secret (Maurat, Charlotte), 53–57

Brother Sun, Sister Moon, 171

Brother to the Enemy (Spicer, Bart), 11

Brotherly Love (Hoffman, Daniel), 370

The Brothers Mann: The Lives of Heinrich and Thomas Mann, 1871–1950 (Hamilton, Nigel), 307

A Browning Chronology: Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning (Garrett, Martin), 59–60

The Brownings (Burdett, Osbert), 59–60

The Brownings: Their Life and Art (Whiting, Lilian), 59–60

Browning's Youth (Maynard, John), 59–60

Bryan (Werner, Morris R), 61

Bryan: A Political Biography of William Jennings Bryan (Koenig, Louis W), 61

Bryan: The Great Commoner (Long, John C), 61

The Buccaneer, 242

The Buddha (Carrithers, Michael), 62

Buddha (Cohen, Joan L), 62

The Buddha (Pye, Michael), 62

The Buddha: Buddhist Civilization in India and Ceylon (Ling, Trevor), 62

Buddha: His Life and His Teaching (Nelson, Walter H), 62

The Buddha: His Life Retold (Mitchell, Robert A), 62

Buddha: The Quest for Serenity: A Biography (Marshall, George N), 62

Buffalo Bill & the Indians, or Sitting Bull's History Lesson, 431

Buffalo Girls, 431

Buffalo Girls (McMurtry, Larry), 431

The Bugles Are Silent: A Novel of the Texas Revolution (Knaggs, John R), 232

Bugles in the Afternoon, 119

Bugles in the Afternoon (Haycox, Ernest), 119

Bula Matari: Stanley, Conqueror of a Continent (Wassermann, Jakob), 437

Bulfinch: The Legends of Charlemagne (Bulfinch, Thomas) , 89

A Bullet for Lincoln (King, Benjamin), 284, 43

A Bullet for Stonewall (King, Benjamin), 243

Bully! (Schorr, Mark), 407

Bully for You, Teddy Roosevelt (Fritz, Jean), 407

The Bunker, 224

Bunyan (Froude, J.A), 63

The Bürgermeister's Daughter (Ozment, Steven), 163

Buried Caesars (Kaminsky, Stuart M), 297

The Buried Life: A Study of the Relation between Thackeray's Fiction and His Personal History (Ray, Gordon N), 458

The Buried Self (MacDonald, Isobel), 12

Burke (MacPherson, C.B), 64

Burke (Morley, John), 64

Burke and the Nature of Politics (Cone, Carl B), 64

Burning Lights (Chagall, Bella), 86

The Burning Man (Longstreet, Stephen), 317, 378, 438

Burning Patience (Skármeta, Antonio), 351

The Burnished Blade (Schoonover, Lawrence), 249

A Burns Companion (Bold, Alan N), 65

The Burns Encyclopedia (Lindsay, Maurice), 65

Burr: A Novel (Vidal, Gore), 209, 247, 299–300, 474, 66

Burr, Hamilton, and Jefferson: A Study in Character (Kennedy, Roger G), 209, 247, 66

The Business of May Next: James Madison and the Founding (Miller, William L), 299–300

By Any Means Necessary: Speeches, Interviews, and a Letter by Malcolm X, 304

By Deeds of Truth: The Life of Leo Tolstoy (Hofmann, Modest, and André Pierre), 463

By Force of Will: The Life and Art of Ernest Hemingway (Donaldson, Scott), 219

Byron (Maurois, André), 67

Byron (Raphael, Frederick), 67

Byron: A Biography (Marchand, Leslie A), 67

Byron: A Novel (Combüchen, Sigrid), 67

Byron: A Portrait (Marchand, Leslie A), 67

Byron: Child of Passion, Fool of Fame (Eisler, Benita), 67

Byron in Italy (Quennell, Peter), 67

Byron: The Flawed Angel (Grosskurth, Phyllis), 67

Byron: The Years of Fame (Quennell, Peter), 67

Byron's Letters and Journals, 67

C.G.Jung (Bennet, E.A), 259

C.G.Jung Speaking: Interviews and Encounters (McGuire, William, and R.F.C.Hull), 259

C.G.Jung: The Haunted Prophet (Stern, Paul J), 259

C.S.Lewis: A Biography (Green, Roger L., and Walter Hooper), 283

C.S.Lewis: A Biography (Wilson, A.N), 283

C.S.Lewis: A Companion and Guide (Hooper, Walter, ed), 283

C.S.Lewis at the Breakfast Table and Other Reminiscences (Como, Jame T., ed), 283

C.S.Lewis: Author of Mere Christianity (Wellman, Sam), 283

C.S.Lewis: Memories and Reflections (Lawlor, John), 283

A Cadenza for Caruso (Paul, Barbara), 386, 464

Caesar (Jelusich, Mirko), 258

Caesar (Massie, Allan), 258

Caesar (Meier, Christian), 258

Caesar: A Biography (Walter, Gérard), 258

Caesar and Cleopatra, 100, 258

Caesar and Cleopatra (Shaw, George Bernard), 258

Caesar at the Rubicon: A Play about Politics (White, Theodore), 258

Caesar: Let the Dice Fly (McCullough, Colleen), 258

Caesar: Politician and Statesman (Gelzer, Matthias), 258

The Caesars (Massie, Allan), 17, 258

Caesar's Gallic War (Coolidge, Olivia E), 258

Caesar's Women (McCullough, Colleen), 258

The Caged Panther: Ezra Pound at Saint Elizabeths (Meacham, Henry M), 383

Caitlin: Life with Dylan Thomas (Thomas, Caitlin, with George Tremlett), 460

Call Lady Purbeck (Lewis, Hilda W), 244

Callus: As They Saw Her (Lowe, David A., ed), 69

Callas at Juilliard: The Master Classes (Ardoin, John), 69

Callas: Images of a Legend (Csampai, Attila, ed), 69

The Callas Legacy (Ardoin, John), 69

Callas: Sacred Monster (Galatopoulos, Stelios), 69

Calvin: A Modern Biography (Moura, Jean, and Paul Louvet), 70

Calvin Coolidge, 1872–1933: Chronology, Documents, Bibliographical Aids (Moran, Philip R., ed), 110

Calvin Coolidge: The Man from Vermont (Fuess, Claude M), 110

Calvin Coolidge: The Man Who Is President (White, William A), 110

Calvin Coolidge: The Quiet President (McCoy, Donald R), 110

Calvin Coolidge: Thirtieth President of the United States (Kent, Zachary), 110

Calvin Coolidge: 30th President of the United States (Stevens, Rita), 110

Calvin: The Origins and Development of His Religious Thought (Wendel, François), 70

Cambridge Biography of D.H.Lawrence 1885–1930, 211

The Cambridge Chaucer Companion (Boitani, Piero, and Jill Mann, eds), 93

The Cambridge Companion to Aquinas (Kretzmann, Norman, and Eleanore Stump, eds), 10

The Cambridge Companion to Bach (Butt, John, ed), 20

The Cambridge Companion to Bacon (Peltonen, Markku, ed), 21

The Cambridge Companion to Beckett (Pilling, John, ed), 29

The Cambridge Companion to Beethoven (Stanley, Glenn, ed), 30

The Cambridge Companion to Brahms (Musgrave, Michael, ed), 50

The Cambridge Companion to Brecht (Thomson, Peter, and Glendyr Sacks, eds), 52

The Cambridge Companion to Chopin (Samson, Jim, ed), 95

The Cambridge Companion to Dante (Jacob, Rachel, ed), 121

The Cambridge Companion to Descartes (Cottingham, John, ed), 131

The Cambridge Companion to Eugene O'Neill (Manheim, Michael, ed), 360

The Cambridge Companion to Ezra Pound (Nadel, Ira B., ed), 383

The Cambridge Companion to Freud (Neu, Jerome, ed), 177

The Cambridge Companion to Galileo (MacHamer, Peter K., ed), 181

The Cambridge Companion to George Bernard Shaw (Innes, Christopher D., ed), 424

The Cambridge Companion to Handel (Burrows, Donald, ed), 210

The Cambridge Companion to Hemingway (Donaldson, Scott, ed), 219

The Cambridge Companion to Henry David Thoreau (Myerson, Joel, ed), 461

The Cambridge Companion to Henry James (Freedman, Jonathan, ed), 245

The Cambridge Companion to Hobbes (Sorell, Tom, ed), 225

The Cambridge Companion to Ibsen (McFarlane, James, ed), 237

The Cambridge Companion to James Joyce (Attridge, Derek, ed), 257

The Cambridge Companion to Jane Austen (Copeland, Edward, and Juliet McMaster, eds), 19

The Cambridge Companion to Joseph Conrad (Stape, J.H., ed), 106

The Cambridge Companion to Jung (Young-Eisendrath, Polly, and Terence Dawson, eds), 259

The Cambridge Companion to Kant (Guyer, Paul, ed), 264

The Cambridge Companion to Kierkegaard (Hannay, Alastair, and Gordon D.Marino, eds), 272

The Cambridge Companion to Locke (Chappell, Vere, ed) , 289

The Cambridge Companion to Mark Twain (Robinson, Forrest G., ed), 473

The Cambridge Companion to Marx (Carver, Terrell, ed), 313

The Cambridge Companion to Nietzsche (Magnum, Bernard, and Kathleen M.Higgins, eds), 355

The Cambridge Companion to Samuel Johnson (Clingham, Greg, ed), 254

The Cambridge Companion to Schubert (Gibbs, Christopher, ed), 419

The Cambridge Companion to Spinoza (Garrett, Don, ed), 435

The Cambridge Companion to T.S.Eliot (Moody, A.David, ed), 159

The Cambridge Companion to Tennessee Williams (Roudane, Matthew C., ed), 495

The Cambridge Companion to Thomas Hardy (Kramer, Dale, ed), 213

The Cambridge Companion to Wittgenstein (Sluga, Hans and David G.Stern, eds), 498

Camelot (Rivers, Caryl), 267

Camille: A Study of Claude Monet (Weeks, C.P.P), 332

Camille Claudel, une Femme (Delbée, Anne), 404

Campaigning with Grant (Porter, Horace), 206

The Campaigns of Napoleon (Chandler, David G), 345

The Campaigns of Napoleon: The Story of the Napoleonic Wars, 345

Camping with Henry and Tom: A Play (St. Germain, Mark), 153, 168, 212

Campion's Ghost (O'Connor, Garry), 140

Camus (Brée, Germaine), 71

Camus: A Critical Study of His Life and Work (McCarthy, Patrick), 71

Camus and Sartre: Crisis and Commitments (Brée, Germaine), 416

Camus: Portrait of a Moralist (Bronner, Stephen E), 71

A Candle for D'Artagnan (Yarbro, Chelsea Quinn), 396

Cannibals of the Heart: A Personal Biography of Louisa Catherine and John Quincy Adams (Shepherd, Jack), 3

Can't You Make Them Behave, King George? (Fritz, Jean), 191

The Capsule of the Mind: Chapters in the Life of Emily Dickinson (Ward, Theodora), 135

Captain Boycott, 364

Captain Cook (MacLean, Alistair), 109

The Captain Departs: Ulysses S.Grant's Last Campaign (Pitkin, Thomas M), 206

Captain from Castile (Shellabarger, Samuel), 113

Captain Grant (Seifert, Shirley), 206

Captain James Cook (Hough, Ralph), 109

Captain James Cook (Villiers, Alan), 109

Captain John Paul Jones: America's Fighting Seaman (Syme, Ronald), 255

Captain John Smith (Bradley, Arthur G), 433

Captain John Smith (Chatterton, E.K), 433

Captain John Smith (Emerson, Everett), 433

Captain John Smith (Hillard, George S), 433

Captain John Smith and Pocahontas, 433

Captain John Smith: His Life and Legend (Smith, Bradford), 433

Captain Kidd (Charyn, Jerome), 368

Captain Paul (Ellsberg, Edward), 255

Captain Sam Grant (Lewis, Lloyd), 206

The Captain's Daughter (Pushkin, Alexander), 83

Captive of Kensington Palace (Plaidy, Jean), 479

The Captive Queen of Scotland (Plaidy, Jean), 315

Caravaggio, 72

Caravaggio (Bonsanti, Giorgio), 72

Caravaggio (Delogu, Giuseppe), 72

Caravaggio (Hibbard, Howard), 72

Caravaggio (Moir, Alfred), 72

Caravaggio: A Life (Langdon, Helen), 72

Caravaggio: A Novel (Payne, Robert), 72

Caravaggio: A Passionate Life (Seward, Desmond), 72

Caravaggio: His Incongruity and His Fame (Berenson, Bernard), 72

The Caravaggio Shawl (Steward, Samuel M), 438

Caravaggio Studies (Michelangelo Caravaggio) (Friedlander, Walter F), 72

Caravaggio's Secrets (Bersani, Leo, and Ulysse Dutoit), 72

A Caravan to Camul (Clou, John), 190

Caravan to Xanadu: A Novel of Marco Polo (Marshall, Edison), 381

The Cardinal and the Queen (Anthony, Evelyn), 396

The Cardinal and the Secretary (Williams, Neville), 500

The Cardinal in Exile (Ross Williamson, Hugh), 314

A Cardinal of the Medici (Beach, Susan Hicks), 81

Cardinal Richelieu, 396

Cardinal Richelieu (Glossop, Pat), 396

Cardinal Richelieu and the Development of Absolutism (Treasure, G.R.R), 396

Cardinal Richelieu: Power and the Pursuit of Wealth (Bergin, Joseph), 396

The Cardinal's Court: The Impact of Thomas Wolsey in Star Chamber (Guy, John), 500

The Career of Victor Hugo (Grant, Elliott M), 235

Careless Love: The Unmaking of Elvis Presley (Guralnick, Peter), 384

Caribbean (Michener, James A), 144, 73

Carl Gustav Jung (McLynn, Frank), 259

Carl Gustav Jung: An Introduction, 259

Carl Gustav Jung: Artist of the Soul, 259

The Carlyles at Home (Holme, Thea), 73

Carnival of Saints (Herman, George), 282, 45–47

Caroline: A Biography of Caroline of Brunswick (Holme, Thea), 193

Caroline, the Unhappy Queen (Russell, Edward F. L), 193

Carver of Tuskegee (Edwards, Ethel), 78

The Case of Salvador Dali (Cowles, Fleur), 120

The Case of the Pederast's Wife (Elfinan, Claire), 492

The Case of the Philosopher's Ring (Collins, Randall), 498

The Case of the Revolutionist's Daughter: Sherlock Holmes Meets Karl Marx (Feuer, Lewis S), 313

“Cassandra” and Other Selections from Suggestions for Thought (Florence Nightingale), 356

The Cast-Iron Man: John C.Calhoun and American Democracy (Styron, Arthur), 68

Casting Her Own Shadow: Eleanor Roosevelt and the Shaping of Postwar Liberalism (Black, Allida M), 405

The Castle and the Crown: Spain 1451–1555 (Miller, Townsend), 240

The Cat and the King (Auchincloss, Louis), 293

Catalina's Riddle (Saylor, Steven), 98

Catherine (Lewis, Hilda W), 91

Catherine de' Medici (Heritier, Jean), 81

Catherine de' Medici (Knecht, R.J), 81

Catherine de' Medici (Ross Williamson, Hugh), 81

Catherine de' Medici (Van Dyke, Paul), 81

Catherine de' Medici and the French Reformation (Sichel, Edith), 81

Catherine de' Medici and the Lost Revolution (Roeder, Ralph), 81

Catherine: Empress of All the Russias (Cronin, Vincent), 83

Catherine: Empress of Russia (Almedingen, Marthe Edith von), 83

Catherine of Siena (Cavallini, Giulani), 82

Catherine of Siena (Undset, Sigrid), 82

Catherine of Siena: Vision through a Distant Eye (Noffke, Suzanne), 82

Catherine: Portrait of an Empress (Kaus, Gina), 83

Catherine the Great, 83

Catherine the Great (McGuire, Leslie), 83

Catherine the Great (Oldenbourg, Zoë), 83

Catherine the Great (Troyat, Henri), 83

Catherine the Great: A Biography (Haslip, Joan), 83

Catherine the Great: A Profile (Raeff, Marc, ed), 83

Catherine the Great: A Short History (De Madariaga, Isabel), 83

Catherine the Great and Other Studies (Gooch, George P), 83

Catherine the Great: Autocrat and Empress of All Russia (Grey, Ian), 83

Catherine the Great: Life and Legend (Alexander, John T), 83

Catherine the Great: Life and Legend (Anthony, Katharine), 83

Cato's War (Wheeler, Guy), 191

Catullus and Horace: Two Poets in Their Environment (Frank, Tenny), 230

Cavalier in Buckskin: George Armstrong Custer (Utley, Robert M), 119

The Cavalier of Tennessee (Nicholson, Meredith), 242

The Cave and the Mountain: A Study of E.M. Forster (Stone, Wilfred), 169

Cease Firing (Johnston, Mary), 279

Cecil Rhodes (Flint, John E), 393

Cecil Rhodes (Millin, Sarah G), 393

Cecil Rhodes (Plomer, William), 393

Cecil Rhodes (Williams, Basil), 393

Cecil Rhodes: By His Architect (Baker, Sir Herbert), 393

Cecil Rhodes: Flawed Colossus (Roberts, Brian), 393

Cecil Rhodes: His Private Life by His Private Secretary (Jourdan, Philip), 393

Cecil Rhodes: The Anatomy of Empire (Marlowe, John), 393

Cecil Rhodes: The Colossus of Southern Africa (Lockhart, J.G., and C.M.Woodhouse), 393

Cecil Rhodes: The Man and His Work (Le Sueur, Gordon), 393

Celeste, 385

Century in Scarlet (Zilahy, Lajos), 327

Cervantes (Bell, Aubrey F.G), 84

Cervantes (Canavaggio, Jean), 84

Cervantes (Duran, Manuel), 84

Cervantes (McKendrick, Melveena), 84

Cervantes (Predmore, Richard L), 84

Cervantes (Schevill, Rudolph), 84

Cervantes: A Biography (Byron, William), 84

Cervantes: The Life of a Genius (Diaz-Plaja, Fernando), 84

Cervantes: The Man and His Time (Juan Arbo, Sebastian), 84

Cervantes: The Man and the Genius (Navarro Ledesma, Francisco), 84

Cesare Borgia, 45–47

Cesare Borgia (Chamberlin, E.R), 45–47

Cesare Borgia (Hancy, John), 45–47

Cesare Borgia: A Biography (Woodward, William Harrison), 45–47

Cesare Borgia: A Study of the Renaissance (Garner, John L), 45–47

Cesare Borgia: His Life and Times (Bradford, Sarah), 45–47

Cesare Borgia: the Machiavellian Prince (Beuf, Maria Luigi), 45–47

Cézanne (Mason, Anthony), 85

Cézanne (Venturi, Lionella), 85

Cézanne: A Biography (Rewald, John), 85

Cézanne: A Pictorial Biography (Beucken, Jean de), 85

Cézanne: A Study of His Development (Fry, Roger), 85

Cézanne from A to 2 (Sellier, Marie), 85

Cézanne: His Life and Art (Lindsay, Jack), 85

Chagall (Compton, Susan P), 86

Chagall (Crespelle, Jean-Paul), 86

Chagall (Pozzi, Gianni), 86

Chagall by Chagall, 86

Chagall: The Russian Years 1907–22 (Kamensky, Aleksandr), 86

A Chainless Soul: A Life of Emily Brontë (Frank, Katherine), 53–57

Chairman Mao Talks to the People (Mao Zedong), 309

The Chairman's New Clothes: Mao and the Cultural Revolution (Leys, Simon), 309

Champion (Balling, L.Christian), 394

A Chance for Glory (Wright, Constance), 276

Chanel (Charles-Roux, Edmonde), 87

Chanel: A Woman of Her Own (Madsen, Axel), 87

Chanel, Chanel, 87

Chanel: Her Style and Her Life (Wallach, Janet), 87

Chanel Solitaire, 87

Chanel: The Couturiere at Work (De La Haye, Amy, and Shelley Tobin), 87

Chaplin, 88

Chaplin and American Culture: The Evolution of a Star Image (Maland, Charles J), 88

Chaplin: His Life and Art (Robinson, Donald W), 88

Chaplin: The Mirror of Opinion (Robinson, Donald W), 88

The Character of John Adams (Shaw, Peter), 2

The Character of Philip II: The Problem of Moral Judgments in History (Rule, J.C., and J. TePaske, eds) , 377

Charco Harbour (Blunden, Godfrey), 109

Charlemagne, 89

Charlemagne (Banfield, Susan), 89

Charlemagne (Biel, Timothy L), 89

Charlemagne (Winston, Richard), 89

Charlemagne: A Study (Almedingen, E.M), 89

Charlemagne and His World (Heer, Friedrich), 89

Charlemagne and the Holy Roman Empire, 89

Charlemagne: From the Hammer to the Cross (Winston, Richard), 89

Charlemagne: Monarch of the Middle Ages (Stearns, Monroe), 89

Charlemagne: The Legend and the Man (Lamb, Harold), 89

Charles & Diana: A Palace Divided, 133

Charles A.Lindbergh: A Bio-Bibliography (Luckett, Perry D), 285

Charles A.Lindbergh: A Human Hero (Giblin, James), 285

Charles A.Lindbergh and the Battle Against American Intervention in World War II (Cole, Wayne S), 285

Charles: A Novel (Lincoln, Victoria), 134

Charles Darwin (Nardo, Don), 122

Charles Darwin: A Great Life in Brief (Moore, Ruth), 122

Charles Darwin, “A Man of Enlarged Curiosity.” (Brent, Peter L), 122

Charles Darwin: A New Life (Bowlby, John), 122

Charles Darwin and His World (Huxley, Julian, and H.B.D.Kettlewell), 122

Charles Darwin and the Evolution Revolution (Steffoff, Rebecca), 122

Charles Darwin and the Origin of Species (Karp, Walter), 122

Charles Darwin and the Theory of Natural Selection (Skelton, Renee), 122

Charles Darwin: The Man and His Influence (Bowler, Peter J), 122

Charles Darwin: Voyager (Browne, Janet), 122

Charles Darwin's Letters: A Selection, 1825–1859, 122

Charles Darwin's Notebooks, 122

Charles de Gaulle (Banfield, Susan), 124

Charles de Gaulle (Barrès, Philippe), 124

Charles De Gaulle: A Biography (Cook, Don), 124

Charles de Gaulle: A Brief Biography with Documents (Cogan, Charles G), 124

Charles de Gaulle: Defender of France (Epstein, Sam), 124

Charles de Gaulle: I Am France (Whitelaw, Nancy), 124

Charles Dickens (Ayer, Eleanor H), 134

Charles Dickens (Martin, Christopher), 134

Charles Dickens (Murray, Brian), 134

Charles Dickens (Pope-Hennessy, Una), 134

Charles Dickens: A Biographical and Critical Study (Lindsay, Jack), 134

Charles Dickens: A Literary Life (Smith, Grahame), 134

Charles Dickens A to Z: The Essential Reference to His Life and Work (Davis, Paul), 134

Charles Dickens: His Life and Work (Leacock, Stephen), 134

Charles Dickens: His Tragedy and Triumph (Johnson, Edgar), 134

Charles Dickens, Novelist, 134

Charles I (Hibbert, Christopher), 90

Charles I (Young, Michael B), 90

Charles I: A Biography (Bowle, John), 90

Charles I: A Study (Higham, Florence), 90

Charles I and Oliver Cromwell: A Study in Contrasts and Comparisons (Ashley, Maurice), 117, 90

Charles I in 1646: Letters of King Charles the First to Queen Henrietta Maria, 90

Charles I: The Personal Monarch (Carlton, Charles), 90

Charles II: King of England (Hutton, Ronald), 91

Charles II: Portrait of an Age (Palmer, Tony), 91

Charles II: Royal Politician (Jones, James Rees), 91

Charles II: The Man and the Statesman (Ashley, Maurice), 91

Charles Lindbergh (Randolph, Blythe), 285

Charles Stewart Parnell (Haney, John), 364

Charles Stewart Parnell (Lyons, F.S.L.), 364

Charles Stewart Parnell: A Memoir (Parnell, John H), 364

Charles Stewart Parnell: His Love Story and Political Life (Parnell, Katherine), 364

Charles Stewart Parnell: The Man and His Family (Foster, R.F), 364

Charles the Great (Hodgkin, Thomas), 89

Charles the King (Anthony, Evelyn), 117, 90

Charles V (Habsburg, Otto von), 92

Charles V: Elected Emperor and Hereditary Ruler (Fernandez Alvarez, Manuel), 92

Charles V: Father of Europe (Schwarzenfeld, Gertrude von), 92

Charles V: Holy Roman Emperor (Grant, Neil), 92

Charlie Chaplin (Bessy, Maurice), 88

Charlie Chaplin (Diamond, Arthur), 88

Charlie Chaplin (Huff, Theodore), 88

Charlie Chaplin (Kamen, Gloria), 88

Charlie Chaplin (Manvell, Roger), 88

Charlie Chaplin (McCabe, John), 88

Charlie Chaplin: A Bio-Bibliography (Gehring, Wes D., ed), 88

Charlie Chaplin: A Guide to References and Resources (Lyons, Timothy J., ed), 88

Charlie Chaplin and His Times (Lynn, Kenneth S), 88

Charlie Chaplin's Own Story (Geduld, Harry M., ed), 88

Charlotte Brontë (Sellars, Jane), 53–57

Charlotte Brontë: A Passionate Life (Gordon, Lyndall), 53–57

Charlotte Brontë: The Evolution of Genius (Gérin, Winifred), 53–57

Charlotte Brontë: The Self Concealed (Morgan, Helene), 53–57

Charmed Circle: Gertrude Stein and Company (Mellow, James R), 438

Chaucer: A to Z: The Essential Reference to His Life and Works (Rossignol, Rosalyn), 93

Chaucer and His England (Coulton, G.G), 93

Chaucer and His World (Brewer, Derek), 93

Chaucer: His Life, His Work, His World (Howard, Donald R), 93

Chavalier de Maison-Rouge (Dumas, Alexandre), 310

Checkmate (Dunnett, Dorothy), 315, 81

Chekhov (Troyat, Henri), 94

Chekhov: A Biography (Simmons, Ernest J), 94

Chekhov: A Life (Magarshack, David), 94

Chekhov: A Spirit Set Free (Pritchett, V.S), 94

A Chekhov Companion (Clyman, Toby W., ed), 94

Chekhov: 1860–1904 (Laffitte, Sophie), 94

Chekhov: Observer without Illusion (Gillès, Daniel), 94

Chekhov: The Hidden Ground (Callow, Philip), 94

Chelsea (Fitzgerald, Nancy), 490, 492

*Chelynn*e (Carr, Robyn), 91

The Chester A. Arthur Conspiracy (Wiegland, William), 43

Chief Crazy Horse, 115

The Chief: The Life of William Randolph Hearst (Nasaw, David), 217

The Child from the Sea (Goudge, Elizabeth), 91

Child of Light (Spark, Muriel), 425

The Childhood and Youth of Charles Dickens (Langston, Robert), 134

Childhood, Boyhood, Youth (Leo Tolstoy), 463

Children of God: An American Epic (Fisher, Vardis), 434, 508

The Children of Henry VIII (Weir, Alison), 314

Children of the Arbat (Rkybakov, Anatoli), 436

Children of the Revolution, 436

The China Card (Ehrlichman, John), 357

Chinese Whispers (Sproat, Robert), 190

The Chivalry of Crime (Barry, Desmond), 246

Chopin (Bidou, Henri), 95

Chopin (Boumiquel, Camille), 95

Chopin (Chissell, Joan), 95

Chopin (Hedley, Arthur), 95

Chopin (Maine, Basil), 95

Chopin (Marek, George, and Maria Gordon-Smith), 95

Chopin: A New Biography (Zamoyski, Adam), 95

Chopin: A Pictorial Biography (Boucoucheliev, André), 95

Chopin: A Self-Portrait in His Own Words, 95

The Chopin Companion: Profiles of the Man and the Musician (Walker, Alan), 95

Chopin: His Life (Murdoch, William), 95

Chopin in Paris: The Life and Times of the Romantic Composer (Szulc, Tad), 95

Chopin Studies (Samson, Jim, and John Rink, eds), 95

Chopin: The Man and His Music (Huneker, James), 95

Chopin: The Man and His Music (Weinstock, Herbert), 95

Chopin: The Reluctant Romantic (Siepmann, Jeremy), 95

Chopin's Letters, 95

The Chord of Steel: The Story of the Invention of the Telephone (Costain, Thomas B), 31

Choura: The Memoirs of Alexandr Danilova (Danilova, Alexandra), 22

Christopher Carson: Familiarly Known as Kit Carson (Abbott, John S), 76

Christopher Columbus, 104

Christopher Columbus (Bradford, Ernle), 104

Christopher Columbus (Collis, John S), 104

Christopher Columbus (Granzotto, Gianni), 104

Christopher Columbus (Madariaga, Salvador de), 104

Christopher Columbus and the First Voyages to the New World (Dodge, Stephen C), 104

The Christopher Columbus Encyclopedia (Bedini, Silvio, ed), 104

Christopher Columbus: His Life, His Work, His Remains as Revealed by Original Printed and Manuscript Records (Thacher, John B), 104

Christopher Columbus, Mariner (Morison, Samuel E), 104

Christopher Columbus: Navigator to the New World (Asimov, Isaac), 104

Christopher Columbus: The Discovery, 104

Christopher Marlowe, (Henderson, Philip), 311

Christopher Marlowe (Poirier, Michel), 311

Christopher Marlowe: A Biographical and Critical Study (Boas, F.S), 311

Christopher Marlowe: A Study of His Thought, Learning, and Character (Kocher, Paul H), 311

Christopher Marlowe: His Life and Work (Rowse, A.L), 311

Christopher Marlowe in London (Eccles, Mark), 311

Christopher Marlowe: The Man in His Time (Bakeless, John), 311

Christopher Wren (Chambers, James), 503

Christopher Wren (Whinney, Margaret), 503

The Chronicler of Barsetshire: A Life of Anthony Trollope (Super, R.H), 466

Chronicles of the House of Borgia (Corvo, Baron Frederick), 45–47

A Chronology of Paul's Life (Jewett, Robert), 369

Churchill & Roosevelt: The Complete Correspondence, 97

Churchill (Robbins, Keith), 97

Churchill: A Life (Gilbert, Martin), 97

Churchill and Hitler: In Victory and Defeat (Strawson, John), 97

Churchill and the Generals, 157, 97

The Churchill Eisenhower Correspondence, 97

Churchill: The End of Glory: A Political Biography (Charmley, John), 97

Churchill: The Struggle for Survival 1940–65 (Moran, Charles), 97

Churchill: The Unruly Giant (Rose, Norman), 97

Churchill Wanted Dead or Alive (Sandys, Celia), 97

Churchill: Young Man in a Hurry 1874–1915 (Morgan, Ted), 97

Cicero (Mitchell, Thomas), 98

Cicero (Shackleton Bailey, D.R), 98

Cicero: A Biography (Petersson, Torsten), 98

Cicero: A Political Biography (Stockton, David), 98

Cicero: A Portrait (Rawson, Elizabeth), 98

Cicero and the End of the Roman Republic (Lacey, W.K), 98

Cicero and the Roman Republic (Fuhrmann, Manfred), 98

Cinq-Mars (Vigny, Alfred de), 396

Circle of Pearls (Laker, Rosalind), 503

Citizen Cohn, 319

Citizen Hearst: A Biography of William Randolph Hearst (Swanberg, W.A) , 217

Citizen Hoover: A Critical Study of the Life and Times of J.Edgar Hoover and His FBI (Nash, Jay R), 228

Citizen Hughes (Drosnin, Michael), 233

Citizen Sherman: A Life of William Tecumseh Sherman (Fellman, Michael), 428

Citizen Tom Paine (Fast, Howard), 173, 333, 363

Citizen Washington (Martin, William), 484

City of Darkness, City of Light (Piercy, Marge), 310, 363, 401

City of God: A Novel of the Borgias (Holland, Cecelia), 45–47

The City of Gold (Young, Francis Brett), 393

The City of Libertines (Hardy, W.G), 258

City of Light (Better, Lauren), 101

City of Light (Macleod, Alison), 70

The Civil War, 206, 284

Civil War Legends, 206, 243, 279

The Civil War World of Herman Melville (Garner, Stanton), 324

The Civilization of Charlemagne (Boussard, Jacques), 89

Clair de Lune: A Novel About Claude Debussy (La Mure, Pierre), 127

Claire Clairmont and the Shelleys (Gittings, Robert, and Jo Manton), 425, 426

Clairvoyant: The Imagined Life of Lucia Joyce (Gold, Alison), 257

Clara Barton: Civil War Nurse (Whitelaw, Nancy), 26

Clara Barton: Founder of the American Red Cross (Stevenson, Augusta), 26

Clara Barton: Healing the Wounds (Dubowski, Cathy E), 26

Clara Barton: In the Service of Humanity (Burton, David Henry), 26

Clara Barton: Professional Angel (Pryor, Elizabeth Brown), 26

Clara Schumann: An Artist's Life (Litzmann, Berthold), 420

Clara Schumann: The Artist and the Woman (Reich, Nancy B), 420

Claude Debussy (Thompson, Wendy), 127

Claude Debussy: An Essential Guide to His Life and Works (Brown, Jonathan), 127

Claude Debussy: His Life and Works (Vallas, Leon), 127

Claude Debussy: Master of Dreams (Dumesnil, Maurice), 127

Claude Monet (Mauclair, Camille), 332

Claude Monet (Waldron, Ann), 332

Claude Monet and His Garden: The Story of an Artist's Paradise (Gwynn, Stephen), 332

Claude Monet: Life and Art (Tucker, Paul H), 332

Claude Monet: Life and Work (Spate, Virginia), 332

Claude of France: The Story of Debussy (Harvey, Harry B), 127

Claudius the God (Graves, Robert), 350

Clear for Action: A Novel about John Paul Jones (Ripley, Clements), 222, 255

Cleopatra, 100, 17, 258

Cleopatra (Bradford, Ermlé), 100

Cleopatra (Grant, Michael), 100

Cleopatra (Green, Robert), 100

Cleopatra (Haggard, H.Rider), 100

Cleopatra (Hoobler, Dorothy), 100

Cleopatra (Lindsay, Jack), 100

Cleopatra (Nardo, Don), 100

Cleopatra: A Study in Politics and Propaganda (Volkmann, Hans), 100

The Cleopatra Boy (Malpass, Eric), 256, 423

Cleopatra: Goddess of Egypt, Enemy of Rome (Brooks, Polly S), 100

Cleopatra: Histories, Dreams, and Distortions (Hughes-Hallet, Lucy), 100

Cleopatra: The Life and Death of a Pharoah (Flamarion, Edith), 100

Cleopatra: The Story of a Queen (Ludwig, Emil), 100

Clive Staples Lewis: A Dramatic Life (Griffin, Henry W), 283

The Cloister and the Hearth (Reade, Charles), 163, 295

A Clouded Star (Parrish, Anne), 470

Clouds of Glory, 502

Cloudsplitter (Banks, Russell), 58

Coco Chanel (Baudot, François), 87

Coco Chanel (Mackrell, Alice), 87

Coco Chanel: Her Life, Her Secrets (Haedrich, Marcel), 87

Coco: The Novel (Soliman, Patricia B), 87

Coleridge (Bate, Walter Jackson), 102

Coleridge (Traill, H.D), 102

Coleridge: Darker Reflections, 1804–1834 (Holmes, Richard), 102

Coleridge: Early Visions, 1772–1804 (Holmes, Richard), 102

Coleridge: Poet and Revolutionary 1772–1804 (Cornwell, John), 102

Coleridge: The Sublime Somnambulist (Charpentier, John), 102

Colette (Davies, Margaret), 103

Colette (Marks, Elaine), 103

Colette (Massie, Allan), 103

Colette (Richardson, Joanna), 103

Colette: A Biographical Study (Le Hardouin, Maria), 103

Colette: A Life (Lottman, Herbert R), 103

Colette: A Passion for Life (Dormann, Genevieve), 103

Colette: A Taste for Life (Mitchell, Yvonne), 103

Colette: Free and Unfettered (Sarde, Michèle), 103

Colette: The Difficulty of Loving: A Biography (Crosland, Margaret), 103

Collected Essays, Journalism, and Letters of George Orwell, 362

Collected Letters (George Bernard Shaw), 424

Collected Letters (Joseph Conrad), 106

Collected Letters (Samuel Taylor Coleridge), 102

The Collected Letters of Dylan Thomas, 460

The Collected Letters of John Millington Synge: 1907–1909, 450

Collected Letters of Katherine Mansfield, 308

The Collected Letters of Thomas and Jane Welsh Carlyle , 73

Collected Letters of Thomas Hardy, 213

The Collected Letters of W.B.Yeats, 507

The Collected Letters of William Morris, 338

The Collected Papers of Albert Einstein, 156

Collected Prose (Robert Lowell), 294

The Collected Works of Abraham Lincoln, 284

The Collected Works of Billy the Kid (Ondaatje, Michael), 36

The Collected Writings of Thomas Paine, 363

Colonel Lawrence: The Man Behind the Legend (Liddell Hart, B.H), 278

Colonel Roosevelt: Theodore Roosevelt Goes to War, 1897–1898 (Jeffers, H.Paul), 407

Color from a Light Within: A Novel Based on the Life of El Greco (Braider, Donald), 207, 462

Colossus: A Novel about Goya and a World Gone Mad (Marlowe, Stephen), 205

Colossus of Europe: Metternich (Archer, Jules), 327

Columbus (Fernández-Armesto, Felipe), 104

Columbus (Sabatini, Rafael), 104

Columbus and the Age of Discovery, 104

Columbus and the World Around Him (Meltzer, Milton), 104

Columbus: His Enterprise (Konig, Hans), 104

Columbus of the Woods: Daniel Boon and the Typology of Manifest Destiny (Sweeney, J. Gray), 42

Columbus: The Story of Don Cristóbal Colón, Admiral of the Ocean (Landström, Björn), 104

Columbus Then and Now: A Life Reexamined (Davidson, Miles H), 104

Come Retribution: The Confederate Secret Service and the Assassination of Lincoln (Tidwell, William A., et al), 43

Come Together: John Lennon in His Time (Wiener, Jon), 281

A Comedy of Murders (Herman, George), 282

Comes an Echo on the Breeze (Ryan, Edward J), 123, 284, 452

Coming Through, 211

Command of the King (Lide, Mary), 500

Commander in Chief: Franklin Delano Roosevelt, His Lieutenants, and Their War (Larrabee, Eric), 406

Commissioner Roosevelt: The Story of Theodore Roosevelt and the New York City Police, 1895–1897 (Jeffers, H.Paul), 407

The Commoner: William Jennings Bryan (Wilson, Charles M), 61

Commonplace Book (E.M.Forster), 169

The Communism of Mao Tse-tung (Cohen, Arthur A), 309

A Companion to Shakespeare (Kasten, David S., ed), 423

The Complete and Authentic Life of Jesse James (Breihan, Carl W), 246

The Complete Correspondence of Clara and Robert Schumann, 420

The Complete Dublin Diary of Stanislaus Joyce (Joyce, Stanislaus), 257

The Complete Idiot's Guide to Elvis (Coffey, Frank), 384

The Complete Letters of Fyodor Doestoevsky (Feodor Dostoevsky), 141

A Complete Life of General George A.Custer: Through the Civil War (Whittaker, Frederick), 119

The Complete Notebooks of Henry James, 245

The Complete War Memoirs of Charles de Gaulle, 124

The Complete Wartime Correspondence of Tsar Nicholas II and the Empress Alexandra: April 1914-March 1917, 354

The Complete Writings of Thomas Paine, 363

Completely Frank: The Life of Frank Sinatra (Holder, Deborah), 430

Conan Doyle: A Biographical Solution (Pearsall, Ronald), 143

Conan Doyle: A Biography (Norden, Pierre), 143

Conan Doyle: His Life and Art (Pearson, Hesketh), 143

Conan Doyle: Portrait of an Artist (Symons, Julian), 143

The Concise Encyclopedic Guide to Shakespeare (Martin, Michael R., and Richard C.Harrier), 423

Concord Rebel: A Life of Henry David Thoreau (Derleth, August), 461

The Concubine (Lofts, Norah), 40

Confederates (Keneally, Thomas), 243

Confession (Leo Tolstoy), 463

Conflict and Crisis, the Presidency of Harry S.Truman, 1945–1948 (Donovan, Robert J), 468

Confucianism (Hoobler, Thomas, and Dorothy Hoobler), 105

Confucius (Dawson, Raymond), 105

Confucius (Sims, Bennett B), 105

Confucius (Smith, D.Howard), 105

Confucius: A Novel (Inoue, Yashushi), 105

Confucius and Confucianism (Wilhelm, Richard), 105

Confucius, His Life and Time (Liu, Wu-Chi), 105

Confucius: In Life and Legend (Kelen, Betty), 105

Confucius: The Man and the Myth (Creel, H.G), 105

Congenial Spirits: The Selected Letters of Virginia Woolf , 501

A Connecticut Yankee in Criminal Court (Heck, Peter J), 473

Conquer: A Tale of the Nika Rebellion in Byzantium (Masefield, John), 260–261

The Conqueror, 190

The Conqueror (Heyer, Georgette), 494

The Conqueror: A Novel of Alexander the Great (Marshall, Edison), 8

The Conqueror: Being the True and Romantic Story of Alexander Hamilton (Atherton, Gertrude), 209

Conqueror of the Seas (Zweig, Stefan), 301

Conqueror of the World (Grousset, René), 190

Conquerors, 345, 375, 8

The Conqueror's Wife (Gerson, Noel B), 494

Conquest, 327, 345

Conquest: Montezuma, Cortés, and the Fall of Old Mexico (Thomas, Hugh), 113

The Conquest of Paradise: Christopher Columbus and the Columbian Legacy (Sale, Kirkpatrick), 104

Conrad and His Circle (Conrad, Jessie), 106

Conrad and His World (Sherry, Norman), 106

A Conrad Chronology (Knowles, Owen, ed), 106

The Consciousness of D.H.Lawrence: An Intellectual Biography (Schneider, Daniel J), 277

Consort for Victoria (Wilkins, William Vaughan), 5

The Conspiracy (Hersey, John), 350

A Conspiracy So Immense: The World of Joe McCarthy (Oshinsky, David M), 319

Constable and His World (Gadney, Reg), 107

Constable: The Natural Painter (Reynolds, Graham), 107

The Constant Circle: H.L.Mencken and His Friends (Mayfield, Sara), 325

The Constant Star (Foote, Dorothy N), 429

Constantine (Killingray, Margaret), 108

Constantine (MacMullen, Ramsay), 108

Constantine (Walworth, Nancy Z), 108

Constantine and the Conversion of Europe (Jones, Arnold H), 108

Constantine the Great (Dörries, Hermann), 108

Constantine the Great (Holsapple, Lloyd B), 108

Constantine the Great (Smith, John H), 108

Constantine the Great and the Christian Revolution (Baker, George P), 108

Constantine the Great: The Man and His Times (Grant, Michael), 108

Constantine the Great: The Reorganization of the

Empire and the Triumph of the Church (Firth, JohnB), 108

Constantine: The Miracle of the Flaming Cross (Slaughter, Frank G), 108

The Consuming Flame: The Story of George Eliot (Kenyon, Frank W), 158, 73

The Contender: Richard Nixon: The Congress Years, 1946–1952 (Gellman, Irwin F), 357

The Contract Surgeon (O'Brien, Dan), 115

Conversations with Bernstein (Burton, William W., ed), 35

Conversations with Jorge Luis Borges, 44

Conversations with Kafka (Janouch, Gustav), 262

Conversations with Marilyn (Marilyn Monroe), 334

Conversations with Picasso (Brassai), 378

Conversations with Tennessee Williams, 495

Conversations with Toscanini (Haggin, B.H), 464

Conversations with Willie (Maugham, Robin), 318

The Conversion of Augustine. (Guardini, Romano), 16

The Conversion of Henry IV (Wolfe, Michael), 220

The Converts: A Historical Novel (Warner, Rex), 16

Coolidge: An American Enigma (Sobel, Robert), 110

Copernicus and the Scientific Revolution (Rosen, Edward), 112

Copernicus: The Founder of Modern Astronomy (Armitage, Angus), 112

Cora Crane: A Biography of Mrs. Stephen Crane (Gilkes, Lillian B), 114

Correspondence (Alexander Pope), 382

Correspondence (Isaac Newton), 353

Correspondence of Aaron Burr and His Daughter Theodosia, 66

The Correspondence of Andrew Jackson, 242

The Correspondence of Edmund Burke, 64

The Correspondence of Erasmus, 163

The Correspondence of George, Prince of Wales, 1770–1812 (George IV), 193

The Correspondence of H.G.Wells, 487

The Correspondence of Henry and Sarah Fielding, 165

The Correspondence of Henry David Thoreau, 461

The Correspondence of King George III from 1760 to December 1783, 191

Correspondence of the Emperor Charles V, 92

The Correspondence of W.E.B.Du Bois, 147

The Correspondence of Walt Whitman, 491

The Corsair: A Biographical Novel of Jean Lafitte, Hero of the Battle of New Orleans (Kent, Madeleine F), 242

Corsair: The Life of J.Pierpont Morgan (Sinclair, Andrew), 337

Cortés and Montezuma (Collis, Maurice), 113

Cortés and the Downfall of the Aztec Empire (White, Jon E.M), 113

Cortés: The Great Adventurer and the Fate of Aztec Mexico (Marks, Richard L), 113

Cortés: The Life of the Conqueror by His Secretary (Gomara, Francesco Lopez de), 113

Cortez and Marina (Marshall, Edison), 113

The Cosgrove Report (O'Toole, G.J.A), 43

Cosima Wagner's Diaries, 481

Costly Performances: Tennessee Williams: The Last Stage (Smith, Bruce), 495

Cotton Club, 161

Cotton Mother: Keeper of the Puritan Conscience (Boas, Ralph, and Louise Boas), 316

Cotton Mother: The Puritan Priest (Wendell, Barrett), 316

Cotton Mother: The Young Life of the Lord's Remembrancer 1663–1703 (Levin, David), 316

Count Belisarius (Graves, Robert), 260–261

Count Manfred (Seymour, Miranda), 425, 426, 67

Counterpoint (Huston, James A), 214, 454

The Countess de Charny: Or, the Fall of the French Monarchy (Dumas, Alexandre), 310

Courage is the Price: The Biography of Amelia Earhart (Morrissey, Muriel), 151

The Courageous Commoner: A Biography of Andrew Johnson (Reece, B.Carroll), 251

The Court Martial of Billy Mitchell, 297

The Court Martial of Daniel Boone (Eckert, Allen W), 42

The Court-Martial of George Armstrong Custer (Jones, Douglas C), 119, 428

The Court Martial of Jackie Robinson, 402

The Court Martial of Robert E.Lee (Savage, Douglas), 123, 279

Court of Honor (Fagyas, Maria), 493

A Court of Owls (Adicks, Richard), 43

Courtesan (Haeger, Diane), 81

The Courts of Love (Plaidy, Jean), 394

The Courtship of Olivia Langdon and Mark Twain (Harris, Susan K), 473

The Courtship of Robert Browning and Elizabeth Barrett (Karlin, Daniel), 59–60

The Covenant (Michener, James A), 393

The Crack Up (F.Scott Fitzgerald), 166

The Cradle Will Rock, 399

The Crane Log: A Documentary Life of Stephen Crane, 1871–1900 (Wertheim, Stanley), 114

Crazy Horse, 115, 119

Crazy Horse (Dugan, Bill), 115

Crazy Horse (McMurtry, Larry), 115

Crazy Horse (St. George, Judith), 115

Crazy Horse and Custer: The Parallel Lives of Two American Warriors (Ambrose, Stephen E), 115, 119

Crazy Horse and Custer: The Untold Story, 115

Crazy Horse in Stillness: Poems (Heyen, William), 115

Crazy Horse: Sioux War Chief(Gutmacher, Larry), 115

Crazy Horse: The Invincible Oglala Sioux Chief: The “Inside Stories,” by Actual Observers, of a Most Treacherous Deed Against a Great Indian Leader (Brininstool, E.A., ed), 115

Crazy Horse: The Strange Man of the Oglalas: A Biography (Sandoz, Mari), 115

Crazy Horse: War Chief of the Oglala Sioux (Goldman, Martin), 115

Crazy Sundays: F.Scott Fitzgerald in Hollywood (Latham, Aaron), 166

Creating Colette (Francis, Claude, and Fernande Gontier), 103

Creation (Vidal, Gore), 105

Crest of the Broken Wave (Barke, James), 65

Crete and James: Personal Letters of Lucretia and James Garfield, 185

The Crime of Galileo (De Santiliana, Giorgio), 181

Crime of the Century, 285

The Crimes of Charlotte Brontë (Tully, James), 53–57

The Crisis (Churchill, Winston), 206, 284, 428

Crockett: A Bio-Bibliography (Hauck, Richard B), 116

Crockett at Two Hundred: New Perspectives on the Man and the Myth (Lofaro, Michael A. and Joe Cummings), 116

Crockett of Tennessee: A Novel Based on the Life and Times of Davy Crockett (Judd, Cameron), 116

Cromwell, 117

Cromwell (Ashley, Maurice, ed), 117

Cromwell (Howell, Roger), 117

Cromwell: A Profile (Roots, Ivan A., ed), 117

Cromwell: The Lord Protector (Fraser, Antonia), 117

The Crossing, 484

Crouchback (Oman, Carola), 395

The Crown and the Shadow (Hill, Pamela), 293

Crown of Aloes (Lofts, Norah), 240

Crown of Roses (Anand, Valerie), 395

Cruel as the Grave (Penman, Sharon K), 394

Crusade in Europe (Dwight D.Eisenhower), 157

The Crusader: A Novel on the Life of Margaret Sanger (Gerson, Noel B), 415

Crusader in Crinoline: The Life of Harriet Beecher Stowe (Wilson, Forrest), 443

The Crusader King: Richard the Lionhearted (Suskind, Richard), 394

Crypt 33: The Saga of Marilyn Monroe: The Final Word (Speriglio, Milo, and Adele Gregory), 334

The Crystal Spirit: A Study of George Orwell (Woodcock, George), 362

The Cultural Education of Gustav Mahler (Loschnigg, Franz), 302

The Cup Trembling (Brown, Karl), 443

The Curse of Cain: The Untold Story of John Wilkes Booth (Nottingham, Theodore J), 43

The Curse of the Misbegotten (Bowen, Croswell), 360

Curtmantle (Fry, Christopher), 459

The Custer Album: A Pictorial Biography (Frost, Lawrence A), 119

Custer and Crazy Horse: A Story of Two Warriors (Razzi, Jim), 119

Custer and the Great Controversy: The Origin and Development of a Legend ((Utley, Robert M), 119

Custer and the Little Big Horn: A Psychobiographical Inquiry (Hofling, Charles K), 119

Custer of the West, 119

Custer Passed Our Way (Kaufman, Fred S), 119

The Custer Story: The Life and Intimate Letters of General Custer and His Wife Elizabeth, 119

Custer: The Controversial Life of George Armstrong Custer (Wert, Jeffrey D), 119

Custer Victorious: The Civil War Battles of George A.Custer (Urwin, Gregory J), 119

Custer's Last Fight, 119

Custer's Last Stand, 119

Custer's Last Stand: The Anatomy of an American Myth (Dippie, Brian W), 119

Czar! A Novel of Ivan the Terrible (Townsend, Larry), 241

D.H.Lawrence: A Biography (Meyers, Jeffrey), 277

D.H.Lawrence: A Composite Biography (Nehls, Edward, ed), 277

D.H.Lawrence: A Literary Life (Worthen, John), 277

D.H.Lawrence: A Personal Record (Chambers, Jessie), 277

D.H.Lawrence: A Reference Companion (Poplawski, Paul), 277

D.H.Lawrence and His World (Moore, Harry T., and Warren Roberts), 277

D.H.Lawrence: As Son and Lover, 277

A D.H.Lawrence Chronology (Preston, Peter), 277

A D.H.Lawrence Companion (Pinion, F.B), 277

D.H.Lawrence: Dying Game, 1922–1930 (Ellis, David), 277

A D.H.Lawrence Handbook (Sagar, Keith M), 277

D.H.Lawrence: Interviews and Recollections (Page, Norman, ed), 277

D.H.Lawrence: Life into Art (Sagar, Keith M), 277

D.H.Lawrence: Novelist, 1885–1930, 211

D.H.Lawrence: Portrait of a Genius, But... (Aldington, Richard), 277

D.H.Lawrence: The Croyden Years (Corke, Helen), 277

D.H.Lawrence: The Early Years, 1885–1912 (Worthen, John), 277

D.H.Lawrence: The Man and His Work: The Formative Years 1885–1919 (Delavenay, Emile), 277

D.H.Lawrence: The Story of a Marriage (Maddox, Brenda), 277

D.H.Lawrence: Triumph to Exile, 1912–1922 (Kinkead-Weekes, Mark), 277

D.H.Lawrence's Nightmare: The Writer and His Circle in the Years of the Great War (Delany, Paul), 277

Daddy King: An Autobiography (King, Martin Luther, Sr), 273

Dakota Days (Green, John), 281

Dali (Maddox, Conroy), 120

Dali and Surrealism (Ades, Dawn), 120

Damned to Fame: The Life of Samuel Beckett (Knowlson, James), 29

Dance of the Planets: The Universe of Nicolas Copernicus (Veglahn, Nancy), 112

Dance on a Sinking Ship (Kilian, Michael), 285

Dance on Blood (Linscott, Gillian), 288

A Dangerous Man: Lawrence After Arabia, 278, 288

Dangerous Water: A Biography of the Boy Who

Became Mark Twain (Powers, Ron), 473

Daniel Boone, 42

Daniel Boone (Lawlor, Laurie), 42

Daniel Boone and the Opening of the Ohio Country (Cavan, Seamus), 42

Daniel Boone: Master of the Wilderness (Bakeless, John), 42

Daniel Boone: The Life and Legend of an American Pioneer (Faragher, John Mack), 42

Daniel Boone: The Opening of the Wilderness (Brown, John Mason), 42

Daniel Boone: Trail Blazer, 42

Daniel Defoe (Watson, Francis), 128

Daniel Defoe: A Critical Study (Sutherland, James), 128

Daniel Defoe: A Study in Conflict (FitzGerald, Brian), 128

Daniel Defoe: Citizen of the Modern World (Moore, John R), 128

Daniel Defoe: His Life (Backscheider, Paula R), 128

Daniel Defoe: The Life and Strange, Surprising Adventures (West, Richard), 128

Daniel Webster (Bartlett, Irving H), 485

Daniel Webster (Fuess, Claude M), 485

Daniel Webster and Jacksonian Democracy (Nathans, Sydney), 485

Daniel Webster and the Rise of National Conservatism (Current, Richard N), 485

Daniel Webster and the Trial of American Nationalism 1843–1852 (Dalzell, Robert F. Jr), 485

Daniel Webster: Defender of the Union (Allen, Robert A), 485

Daniel Webster, “The Completest Man”: Essays and Documents (Shewmaker, Kenneth E., ed), 485

Daniel Webster: The Man and His Times (Remini, Robert V), 485

Dante (Bergin, Thomas G), 121

Dante (Fergusson, Francis), 121

Dante (Grandgent, Charles H), 121

Dante Alighieri (Quinones, Ricardo J), 121

Dante Alighieri: His Life and Work (Toynbee, PagetJ), 121

Dante and His Early Biographers (Moore, Edward), 121

Dante and His World (Chubb, Thomas C), 121

Dante Gabriel Rossetti (Ash, Russell), 408

Dante Gabriel Rossetti (Faxon, Alicia C), 408

Dante Gabriel Rossetti (Riede, David), 408

Dante Gabriel Rossetti: A Victorian Romantic (Doughty, Oswald), 408

Dante Gabriel Rossetti: An Alien Victorian (Dobbs, Brian, and Judy Dobbs), 408

Dante Gabriel Rossetti: His Friends and Enemies (Angeli, Helen Rossetti), 408

Dante the Maker (Anderson, William), 121

Danton, 401

Dared and Done: The Marriage of Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning (Markus, Julia), 59–60

The Dark Ages: The Age of Charlemagne, 89

Dark Eagle: A Novel of Benedict Arnold and the American Revolution (Harr, John Ensor), 11

The Dark Eagle: The Story of Benedict Arnold (Alderman, Clifford), 11

The Dark Fire (Murray, Linda), 72

The Dark Moment (Bridge, Ann), 13

Dark Quartet: The Story of the Brontës (Banks, Lynne Reid), 53–57

Dark Rider: A Novel Based on the Life of Stephen Crane (Zara, Louis), 114

The Dark Side of Camelot (Hersh, Seymour M), 267

The Dark Side of Genius: The Life of Alfred Hitchcock (Spoto, Donald), 223

Dark Thoreau (Bridgman, Richard), 461

Dark Voices: W.E.B.Du Bois and American Thought, 1888–1903 (Zamir, Shamoony), 147

The Darkening Glass: A Portrait of Ruskin’s Genius (Rosenberg, John D), 411

Darker Jewels (Yarbro, Chelsea Quinn), 241

The Darker Side of Genius: Richard Wagner’s Anti-Semitism (Kate, Jacob), 481

Darkling I Listen: The Last Days and Death of John Keats (Walsh, John E), 265

Darkwater: Voices from Within the Veil (W.E.B. DuBois), 147

Darwin: A Life in Science (White, Michael, and John Gribbon), 122

Darwin and the Beagle (Moorehead, Alan), 122

Darwin and the Darwinian Revolution (Himmelfarb, Gertrude), 122

Darwin on Man: A Psychological Study of Scientific Creativity, Together with Darwin’s Early and Unpublished Notebooks (Gruber, Howard E), 122

Darwin: The Life of a Tormented Evolutionist (Desmond, Adrian, and James Moore), 122

The Daughter: A Novel Based on the Life of Eleanor Marx (Chemaik, Judith), 313

Daughter of Earth and Water (Gerson, Noel B), 425

Daughter of Eve (Gerson, Noel B), 433

Daughter of Shadows (Seymour, Miranda), 45–47

A Daughter of the Nobility (Borovsky, Natasha), 354

Daughter of the Sky: The Story of Amelia Earhart (Briand, Paul Jr), 151

The Daughter of Time (Tey, Josephine), 395

Daughter of Time (White, Nelia G), 277, 308

David Ben-Gurion (Silverstein, John J), 32

David Ben-Gurion (Vail, John J), 32

David Crockett: The Man and the Legend (Shackford, James A), 116

David Garrick (Knight, Joseph), 187

David Garrick (Oman, Carola), 187

David Garrick: A Biography (Kendall, Alan), 187

David Garrick: A Critical Biography (Stone, George Winchester Jr., and George M.Karhl), 187

David Livingstone (Hughes, Thomas), 287

David Livingstone: His Life and Letters (Seaver, George), 287

David Livingstone: Letters and Documents, 1841–1872, 287

David Livingstone: Missionary and Explorer (Wellman, Sam), 287

David Livingstone: The Dark Interior (Ransford, Oliver), 287

David Lloyd George (Shearman, Deirdre), 288

David Lloyd George: A Biography (Rowland, Peter), 288

David Lloyd George: A Political Life (Gilbert, Bentley B), 288

David Lloyd George: The Man and the Statesman (Edwards, John H), 288

David Lloyd George: The Official Biography (Thomson, Malcolm), 288

David: The Story of Ben-Gurion (Edelman, Maurice), 32

Davy Crockett and the River Pirates, 116

Davy Crockett: Defender of the Alamo (Sanford, William R), 116

Davy Crockett: King of the Wild Frontier, 116

Davy Crockett: The Man, The Legend, The Legacy 1786–1986 (Lofaro, Michael A., ed), 116

Dawn: A History of Myself (Theodore Dreiser), 145

The Day after Trinity, 361

The Day Christ Died (Bishop, Jim), 248

Day Is Coming (Cameron, William), 338

The Day Jesse James Was Killed (Breihan, Carl W), 246

The Day Lincoln Was Shot, 206, 284, 43

The Day Lincoln Was Shot (Bishop, Jim), 284, 43

The Day of the Lion: The Life and Death of Fascist Italy (MacGregor-Hastie, Roy), 343

Day of Triumph, 248

The Day on Fire: A Novel Suggested by the Life of Arthur Rimbaud (Ullman, James R), 398

Day One, 361, 468

The Day the Sun Died (Every, Dale Van), 431

The Day They Kidnapped Queen Victoria (Fleming, H.K), 456, 479

Daybooks and Notebooks (Walt Whitman), 491

The Days of Dylan Thomas (Read, Bill), 460

The Days of Henry Thoreau (Harding, Walter R), 461

The Days of His Grace (Johnson, Eyvind), 89

The Days of Martin Luther King Jr (Bishop, Jim), 273

The Days of the King (Frank, Bruno), 175

Days with Albert Schweitzer (Franck, Frederick), 421

Days with Bernard Shaw (Winsten, Stephen), 424

Days with Walt Whitman: With Some Notes on His Life and Works (Carpenter, Edward) , 491

De Gaulle (Crozier, Brian), 124

De Gaulle (Lacouture, Jean), 124

De Gaulle (Ledwidge, Sir Bernard), 124

De Gaulle (Mauriac, François), 124

De Gaulle (Shennan, Andrew), 124

De Gaulle: A Biography (Crowley, Aidan), 124

De Gaulle: A Political Biography (Werth, Alexander), 124

De Ma Fentre (Colette), 103

De Quincey (Masson, David), 125

A Dead Man in Deptford (Burgess, Anthony), 311, 389, 423

Dead, Mr. Mozart (Bastable, Bernard), 340

Dear Bess: The Letters from Harry to Bess Truman, 1910–1959, 468

Dear Diego (Poniatowska, Elena), 399

Dear Father/Dear Son: Correspondence of John D.Rockefeller and John D.Rockefeller Jr, 403

Dear Mrs. Boswell (Muir, Marie), 48

“Dear Old Kit”: The Historical Christopher Carson, 76

Dear Sammy: Letters from Gertrude Stein and Alice B.Toklas, 438

Dear Sarah Bernhardt (Sagan, Françoise), 34

Dear to Behold: An Intimate Portrait of Indira Gandhi (Hutheesing, Krishna), 182

Dearest Bubushkin: The Correspondence of Vera and Igor Stravinsky, 1921–1954, 445

Dearest Friend: A Life of Abigail Adams (Withey, Lynne), 1

The Death and Life of Malcolm X (Goldman, Peter), 304

The Death and Life of Miguel de Cervantes: A Novel (Marlowe, Stephen), 84

Death and the Chapman (Sedley, Kate), 395

Death and the Magician: The Mystery of Houdini (Fitzsimons, Raymond), 231

Death in a Promised Land (Andrews, Robert), 273

Death of a Legend (Henry, Will), 246

The Death of Christopher Marlowe (Hotson, Leslie), 311

The Death of Lorca (Gibson, Ian), 184

The Death of Napoleon (Leys, Simon), 345

Death of the Fifth Sun (Somerlott, Robert), 113

Death of the Fox (Garrett, George), 160, 21, 244, 389

Death on the Appian Way (Benton, Kenneth), 98

Death on the Mississippi (Heck, Peter J), 473

Death on the Nile: The Struggle for Peace and the Assassination of Anwar Sadat, 413

Deborah and the Siege of Paris (Davenat, Colette), 220

Debs: His Authorized Life and Letters (Karsner, David), 126

Debussy (Holmes, Paul), 127

Debussy (Young, Percy M), 127

Debussy: His Life and Mind (Lockspeiser, Edward), 127

Debussy: Musician of France (Seroff, Victor), 127

Debussy Remembered (Nichols, Roger), 127

The Decline and Fall of Lloyd George: And Great Was the Fall Thereof (Beaverbrook, Max A), 288

The Deer Cry: A Novel of Patrick of Eirinn (Schofield, William G), 367

Defender of the Faith (Ludwig, Charles), 479

Defender of the Faith: William Jennings Bryan: The Last Decade, 1915–1925 (Levine, Lawrence W), 61

Defoe (Sutherland, James), 128

Defoe’s Early Life (Bastian, F), 128

Degas, 129

Degas (Dunlop, Ian), 129

Degas (Gordon, Robert, and Andrew Forge), 129

Degas: His Life, Times, and Work (McMullen, Roy), 129

Degas in New Orleans: Encounters in the Creole World of Kate Chopin and George Washington Cable (Benfey, Christopher E.G), 129

Degas: The Man and His Art (Loyrette, Henri), 129

Delacroix (Huyghe, René), 130

Delacroix (Jobert, Barthelmy), 130

Delacroix (Johnson, Lee), 130

Delacroix: A Pictorial Biography (Deslandres, Yvonne), 130

Delacroix: The Death of Sardanapalus (Spector, Jack), 130

Delirium: An Interpretation of Arthur Rimbaud (Reed, Jeremy), 398

The Demise of Billy the Kid (Lewis, Preston), 36

The Democrat and the Dictator, 224, 406

Democratic Despot: A Life of Napoleon III (Corley, T.A.B), 346–347

The Democratic Roosevelt: A Biography of Franklin D.Roosevelt (Tugwell, Rexford G), 406

Departing Glory: Theodore Roosevelt as Ex-President (Gardner, Joseph L), 407

Depths of Glory (Stone, Irving), 129, 306, 332, 85

Der Fuehrer: Hitler's Rise to Power (Heiden, Konrad), 224

Descartes (Cottingham, John), 131

Descartes (Grene, Marjorie), 131

Descartes (Pearl, Leon), 131

Descartes (Sorell, Tom), 131

Descartes: An Intellectual Biography (Gaukroger, Stephen), 131

Descartes: His Life and Thought (Rodis-Lewis, Genevieve), 131

Descent from Glory: Four Generations of the John Adams Family (Nagel, Paul C), 2

Desiderius Erasmus (Sowards, J.Kelley), 163

The Desire of My Eyes: The Life and Work of John Ruskin (Kemp, Wolfgang), 411

Desiree, 345

Desires (Selinko, Annemarie), 345

Desolate Angel: Jack Kerouac, the Beat Generation, and America (McNally, Dennis), 269

Despatches, Correspondence, and Memoranda of Field Marshal Arthur, Duke of Wellington, 486

The Detective and Mr. Dickens (Palmer, William J), 134

Deus lo Volt! Chronicle of the Crusades (Connell, Evan S), 292

The Devil & Daniel Webster, 485

The Devil and Ben Franklin (Mathieson, Theodore), 173

The Devil and Daniel Webster: An Opera in One Act (Benét, Stephen Vincent, and Douglas Moore) , 485

The Devil and the Mothers (Elliott, Edward E), 316

The Devil Inside: A Novel of Dostoevsky's Life (Coulter, Stephen), 141

The Devil Is Loose (Shelby, Graham), 394

The Devils, 396

The Devil's Mistress: The Diary of Eva Braun (Gold, Alison), 224

The Devil's Rainbow (Furnas, Joseph C), 434, 508

The Devil's Spy (Hastings, Michael), 278

The Devious Dr. Franklin, Colonial Agent: Benjamin Franklin's Years in London (Morgan, David T), 173

Devotion, 53–57

Di and I (Lefcourt, Peter), 133

Diana (Burchill, Julie), 133

Diana, A Celebration: The People's Princess Remembered, 133

Diana: A Tribute to the People's Princess, 133

Diana: An Intimate Portrait (Seward, Ingrid), 133

Diana: Her Life and Her Legacy (Holden, Anthony), 133

Diana: Her True Story, 133

Diana: Her True Story in Her Own Words (Morton, Andrew), 133

Diana in Search of Herself: Portrait of a Troubled Princess (Smith, Sally Bedell), 133

Diana 1961–1997, 133

Diana, Princess of Wales (Brennan, Kristine), 133

Diana, Queen of Hearts (Cerasini, Marc), 133

Diana: The Last Year (Spoto, Donald), 133

Diana: The Secret Years (Simmons, Simone), 133

Diaries (Thomas Mann), 307

Diaries and Letters of Anne Morrow Lindbergh (Lindbergh, Anne Morrow), 285

Diaries 1920–1922 (Bertolt Brecht), 52

The Diaries of Franz Kafka, 262

The Diaries of George Washington, 484

The Diaries of H.L.Mencken, 325

Diaries of Lewis Carroll, 75

The Diaries of Paul Klee: 1898–1918, 275

The Diaries of Tchaikovsky, 453

Diary and Autobiography of John Adams, 2

Diary and Sundry Observations of Thomas Edison, 153

Diary in Exile, 1935 (Leon Trotsky), 467

Diary of a Genius (Salvador Dali), 120

The Diary of a Writer (Feodor Dostoevsky), 141

Diary of Brigham Young, 1857, 508

Diary of Cotton Mother, 316

Diary of E.B.B (The Brownings), 59–60

The Diary of Emily Dickinson (Fuller, Jamie), 135

The Diary of James A.Garfield, 185

Diary of John Quincy Adams, 1794–1845, 3

The Diary of Richard Wagner 1865–1882: The Brown Book, 481

The Diary of Samuel Pepys, 371

The Diary of Sigmund Freud, 1929–1939: A Record of the Final Decade, 177

The Diary of Virginia Woolf, 501

The Dice of God (Birney, Hoffman), 119

Dick, 357

Dickens (Ackroyd, Peter), 134

Dickens: A Biography (Kaplan, Fred), 134

Dickens: A Life (MacKenzie, Norman, and Jeanne MacKenzie), 134

Dickens Encyclopedia (Hardwick, Michael, and Mollie Hardwick), 134

Dickens: His Character, Comedy, and Career (Pearson, Hesketh), 134

Dickens: Interviews and Recollections (Collins, Philip, ed), 134

Dickens of London (Mankowitz, Wolf), 134

Dickon (Bowen, Marjorie), 395

Dictionary Johnson: Samuel Johnson's Middle Years (Clifford, James L), 254

A Dictionary of Shakespeare (Wells, Stanley), 423

Diderot (Fellows, Otis E), 136

Diderot (France, Peter), 136

Diderot (Wilson, Arthur M), 136

Diderot: A Critical Biography (Furbank, P.N), 136

Diderot: The Virtue of a Philosopher (Blum, Carol), 136

Diego Rivera (Cockcroft, James D), 399

Diego Rivera (Hamill, Pete), 399

Diego Rivera: His Art, His Life (Gonzales, Doreen), 399

Diego Rivera: His Life and Times (Wolfe, Bertram D), 399

Diego Rivera: I Paint What I See, 399

Diego Rivera: Mexican Muralist (Hargrove, Jim), 399

Diego Rivera: The Shaping of an Artist, 1889–1921 (Arquin, Florence), 399

Diego Velázquez and His Times (Justi, Karl), 476

Dietrich (Walker, Alexander), 137

Dietrich: Style and Substance (O'Connor, Patrick), 137

A Different Face: The Life of Mary Wollstonecraft (Sunstein, Emily W), 499

Dillinger (Patterson, Harry), 228

Dim the Flaring Lamps: A Novel of the Life of John Wilkes Booth (Jordan, Jan), 43

The Dime Museum Murders (Stashower, Daniel), 231

The Director: An Oral Biography of J.Edgar Hoover (Demaris, Ovid), 228

Dirt & Deity: A Life of Robert Burns (McIntyre, Ian), 65

Disappearance (Trifonov, Yuri), 436

The Discoveries of Mrs. Christopher Columbus: His Wife's Vision (DiPerna, Paula), 104

Discovering Columbus: How History Is Invented (Pelta, Kathy), 104

The Discovery and Conquest of Mexico (Diaz del Castillo, Bernal), 113

The Discovery, Settlement, and Present State of Kentucke (Daniel Boone) (Filson, John), 42

The Disenchanted (Schulberg, Budd), 166

Disney A to Z: The Updated Official Encyclopedia (Smith, Dave), 138

The Disney Version: The Life, Times, Art, and Commerce of Walt Disney (Schickel, Richard), 138

Disney's World: A Biography (Mosley, Leonard), 138

The Disputed Crown (Anand, Valerie), 494

Disraeli, 139

Disraeli (Blake, Robert), 139

Disraeli (Bradford, Sarah), 139

Disraeli (Davis, Richard W), 139

Disraeli (Komroff, Manuel), 139

Disraeli: A Biography (Weintraub, Stanley), 139

Disraeli: A Brief Life (Smith, Paul), 139

Disraeli and His World (Hibbert, Christopher), 139

Disraeli in Love (Edelman, Maurice), 139

Disraeli Rising (Edelman, Maurice), 199

Disraeli's Reminiscences, 139

Distant Drums, 452

Disturber of the Peace: The Life of H.L.Mencken (Manchester, William), 325

Diva: The Life and Death of Maria Callas (Linakis, Steven), 69

Divided Soul: The Life of Gogol (Troyat, Henri), 201

The Divine Sarah: A Life of Sarah Bernhardt (Gold, Arthur, and Robert Fizdale), 34

Divorced, Beheaded, Survived: A Feminist Reinterpretation of the Wives of Henry VIII (Lindsey, Karen), 221, 40

Dizzy: The Life and Personality of Benjamin Disraeli (Pearson, Hesketh), 139

Dizzy’s Woman (Macbeth, George), 139

Doctor Copernicus (Banville, John), 112

The Doctor from Cordova: A Biographical Novel about the Great Philosopher Maimonides (Le Porrier, Herbert), 303

Doctor Johnson: A Play (Newton, A.Edward), 254

Doctor Johnson and His World (Halliday, F.E), 254

Doctor Rabelais (Lewis, D.B.Wyndham), 388

The Doctor, the Detective and Arthur Conan Doyle: A Biography of Arthur Conan Doyle (Booth, Martin), 143

Does the Queen Still Live? (Fredman, John), 144

Dostoevsky and the Age of Intensity (De Jonge, Alex), 141

The Dogs of Paradise (Posse, Abel), 104, 240

Dolley: A Novel of Dolley Madison in Love and War (Brown, Rita Mae), 299–300

Dolley Madison: Famous First Lady (Davidson, Mary R), 299–300

Dolley Madison, Her Life and Times (Anthony, Katharine), 299–300

Domenikos Theotokopoulos, El Greco, 1541–1614 (Gudiol, José), 207

The Domino Conspiracy (Heywood, Joseph), 271

Don Carlos (Steen, Thorvald), 122

Don’t Tread on Me (Karig, Walter), 255

The Door in the Wall (Jaro, Benita K), 258

Dorothy and Agatha (Larsen, Gaylord), 96

Dostoevski: The Making of a Novelist (Simmons, Ernest), 141

Dostoevsky (1821–1881): A New Biography (Can, Edward H), 141

Dostoevsky (Frank, Joseph), 141

Dostoevsky (Magarshack, David), 141

Dostoevsky: A Biography (Grossman, Leonid), 141

Dostoevsky: A Human Portrait (Payne, Robert), 141

Dostoevsky: A Self-Portrait, 141

Dostoevsky: An Interpretation (Berdyaeв, Nicholas), 141

Dostoevsky and Parricide (Freud, Sigmund), 141

Dostoevsky and the Healing Art (Rice, James L), 141

Dostoevsky Archive: Firsthand Accounts of the Novelist from Contemporaries’ Memoirs and Rare Periodicals, Most Translated into English for the First Time, with a Detailed Chronology and Annotated Bibliography (Sekirin, Peter), 141

Dostoevsky: His Life and Work (Mochulsky, Konstantin), 141

Dostoevsky: Reminiscences (Dostoevsky, Anna), 141

Dostoevsky: The Man and His Work (Meier-Graefe, Julius), 141

Dostoevsky: Works and Days (Yarmolinsky, Avrahm), 141

Dostoyevsky: His Life and Work (Hingley, Ronald), 141

Double Dallilaly (Bowen, Marjorie), 315

The Double Life of George Sand, Woman and Writer: A Critical Biography (Winegarten, Renee), 414

The Double Life of Pocahontas (Fritz, Jean), 433

The Double Life of Stephen Crane (Benfey, Christopher E.G), 114

The Doublet Affair (Buckley, Fiona), 160

Douglas MacArthur (Lee, Clark, and Richard Henschel), 297

Douglas MacArthur: American Hero (Feinberg, Barbara S), 297

Douglas MacArthur and the Century of War (Scott, Robert A), 297

Douglas MacArthur: Something of a Hero (Devaney, John), 297

Douglas MacArthur: The Far Eastern General (Schaller, Michael), 297

Douglas MacArthur: The Philippine Years (Petillo, Carol M), 297

Dove and Sword: A Novel of Joan of Arc (Garden, Nancy), 249

Down and Out in Paris and London (George Orwell), 362

Down at the End of Lonely Street: The Life and Death of Elvis Presley (Brown, Peter H., and Pat H.Broeske), 384

Dr. Freud, a Life (Ferris, Paul), 177

Dr. Johnson and His World (Brown, Ivor), 254

A Dr. Johnson Chronology (Page, Norman), 254

Dr. Johnson: His Life in Letters, 254

Dr. Johnson: Interviews and Recollections (Page, Norman, ed), 254

Dr. Johnson’s Dear Mistress (Carter, Winifred), 254

Dr. Johnson’s Household (Larsen, Lyle), 254

Dr. Livingstone, I Presume? (Anstruther, Ian), 437

Dr. Sam Johnson: Detector (De La Torre, Lillian), 254

The Dragon and the Rose (Gellis, Roberta), 395

Drake (Bradford, Ernle), 144

Drake’s Voyages (Andrews, Kenneth R), 144

The Dream and the Destiny (Cordell, Alexander), 309

Dream of Exile: Robert Louis Stevenson: A Biography (Bell, Ian), 442

The Dream Seekers (Mark, Grace), 126, 4

Dream West (Nevin, David), 176

Dreamer (Johnson, Charles), 273

Dreaming of Samarkand (Booth, Martin), 278

Dreaming with His Eyes Open: A Life of Diego Rivera (Marnham, Patrick), 399

Dreamland (Baker, Kevin), 177

Dreiser (Swanberg, W.A), 145

Dreiser and His Fiction (Hussman, Lawrence Jr), 145

Drive (Codman, Charles R), 368

Druid’s Enchantment (Ragosta, Millie J), 367

Drums (Boyd, James), 255

The Drums of Monmouth (Sterne, Emma G), 484

The Drums of Morning (Stern, Philip Van Doren), 58

The Dry Danube: A Hitler Forgery (West, Paul), 224

Dryden (Saintsbury, George), 146

“Dryden” in Lives of the English Poets (Johnson, Samuel), 146

Duce!: A Biography of Benito Mussolini (Collier, Richard), 343

The Duchess of Duke Street, 154

The Duchess’s Diary (Chapman, Robin), 84

Duel: Alexander Hamilton, Aaron Burr, and the Future of America (Fleming, Thomas), 209, 66

Duet: The Story of Clara and Robert Schumann (Kyle, Elisabeth), 420

Duke: A Portrait of Duke Ellington (Jewell, Derek), 161

Duke Ellington (Collier, James L), 161

Duke Ellington (Woog, Adam), 161

Duke Ellington: A Life in Music (Stwertka, Eve), 161

Duke Ellington: A Spiritual Biography (Steed, Janna T), 161

Duke Ellington and His World (Lawrence, Austin H), 161

Duke Ellington: Great of Jazz (Old, Wendie C), 161

Duke Ellington: His Life and Music (Gammond, Peter, ed), 161

Duke Ellington in Person: An Intimate Memoir (Ellington, Mercer, with Stanley Dance), 161

The Duke Ellington Primer (Travis, Dempsey J), 161

The Duke Ellington Reader (Tucker, Mark, ed), 161

The Duke’s Mistress: The Story of Mary Ann Clarke (Kenyon, Frank W), 191

Dumas: Father and Son (Gribble, Francis), 148

A Durable Fire (Bernhard, Virginia), 433

Dürer: A Biography (Ripley, Elizabeth), 149

Dürer: His Art and Life (Anzelewsky, Fedja), 149

Dusk of Dawn: An Essay Toward an Autobiography of a Race Concept (W.E.B.Du Bois), 147

Dust and Ashes (Rkybakov, Anatoli), 436

Dvorák (Clapham, John), 150

Dvorák (Schönzeler, Hans H), 150

Dvorák (Young, Percy M), 150

Dvorák and His World (Beckerman, Michael, ed), 150

Dvorák: His Life and Music (Hughes, Gervase), 150

Dvorák: His Life and Times (Butterworth, Neil), 150

Dvorák in America, 1892–1895 (Tibbetts, John C., ed), 150

Dvorák in Love: A Light-Hearted Dream (Skvorecky, Josef), 150

Dwight D.Eisenhower, 157

Dwight D.Eisenhower (Brown, D.Clayton), 157

Dwight D.Eisenhower (Sandberg, Peter Lars), 157

Dwight D.Eisenhower: A Gauge of Greatness (Morin, Relman), 157

Dwight D.Eisenhower: Soldier and Statesman (Lee, R.Alton), 157

The Dying President: Franklin D.Roosevelt 1944–1945 (Ferrell, Robert H), 406

Dylan (Michaels, Sidney), 460

Dylan (Summers, John), 460

Dylan Thomas, 460

Dylan Thomas (Ferris, Paul), 460

Dylan Thomas and His World (Perkins, Derek C), 460

Dylan Thomas: His Life and Work (Ackerman, John), 460

Dylan Thomas in America (Brinnin, John M), 460

Dylan Thomas: In the Mercy of His Means (Tremlett, George), 460

Dylan Thomas: No Man More Magical (Sinclair, Andrew), 460

The Dynasts (Hardy, Thomas), 345

The Dynasty, 183, 348

Dynasty (Elegant, Robert S), 447

The Dynasty: The Nehru-Gandhi Story (Adams, Jad, and Philip Whitehead), 182, 348

E.G.: A Musical Portrait, 202

E Is for Elvis: An A-to-Z Illustrated Guide to the King of Rock and Roll (Latham, Caroline, and Jeannie Sakol), 384

E.M.Forster (McDowell, Frederick P.W), 169

E.M.Forster: A Biography (Beauman, Nicole), 169

E.M.Forster: A Life (Furbank, P.N), 169

E.M.Forster: A Literary Life (Lago, Mary), 169

E.M.Forster: A Study (Trilling, Lionel), 169

E.M.Forster and His World (King, Francis H), 169

E.M.Forster: Interviews and Recollections (Stape, J.H., ed), 169

E.Munch (Selz, Jean), 342

E Pluribus Barnum: The Great Showman and the Making of U.S. Popular Culture (Adams, Bluford), 24

The Eagle, 83

The Eagle and the Raven (Michener, James A), 232

The Eagle and the Rock (Winwar, Frances), 345

Eagle in a Cage, 345

The Eagles Die: Franz Joseph, Elizabeth, and Their Austria (Marek, George), 174

Eagles Where I Walk (Longstreet, Stephen), 11

The Earhart Betrayal (Thayer, James S), 151

The Earliest Lives of Dante, 121

Early Auden (Mendelson, Edward), 14

The Early Career of Alexander Pope (Sherburn, George), 382

The Early Career of Samuel Johnson (Kaminski, Thomas), 254

Early Life and Letters of General Thomas J.Jackson (Arnold, Thomas Jackson), 243

The Early Life of Abraham Lincoln (Tarbell, Ida M), 284

The Early Life of Thomas Hardy 1840–91, 213

The Early Life of William Wordsworth, 1770–98 (Legouis, Emile), 502

The Early Lives of Melville: Nineteenth-Century Biographical Sketches and Their Authors (Sealts, Merton M. Jr), 324

The Early Lives of Milton (Darbishire, Helen, ed), 330

The Early Mallarmé (Gill, Austin), 305

Early Romantic Masters I (Temperley, Nicholas), 95

The Early Years of His Royal Highness the Prince Consort (Grey, Charles), 5

The Early Years of Lenin (Valentinov, Nikolay), 280

The Earth Is the Lord (Caldwell, Taylor), 190

Earth Tones: The Poetry of Pablo Neruda (Duran, Manuel, and Margery Safir), 351

Earthly Paradise: An Autobiography (Colette), 103

East and West: A Biography of Rudyard Kipling (Cross, Thomas N), 274

East to the Dawn: The Life of Amelia Earhart (Butler, Susan), 151

Eating Pavlova (Thomas, D.M), 177

Ecce Homo: How One Becomes What One Is (Friedrich Nietzsche), 355

Echo de Paris: A Study from Life (Housman, Laurence), 492

Echo of Lions (Chase-Riboud, Barbara), 3, 474

Eden Renewed: The Public and Private Life of John Milton (Levi, Peter), 330

Edgar A.Poe: Mournful and Never-Ending Remembrance (Silverman, Kenneth), 380

Edgar Allan Poe (LeVert, Suzanne), 380

Edgar Allan Poe (Sinclair, David), 380

Edgar Allan Poe: A Critical Biography (Quinn, Arthur Hobson), 380

Edgar Allan Poe: A Mystery (Anderson, Madelyn Klein), 380

Edgar Allan Poe: A Study in Genius (Krutch, Joseph W), 380

Edgar Allan Poe: Architect of Dreams, 380

Edgar Allan Poe, 1809–1849, 380

Edgar Allan Poe: Terror of the Soul, 380

Edgar Allan Poe: The Man Behind the Legend (Wagenknecht, Edward), 380

Edgar Degas (Meyer, Susan E), 129

Edgar Degas, Life and Work (Sutton, Denys), 129

Edge of Greatness (Neilson, Winthrop, and Frances Winthrop), 173

The Edge of the Sea (Rachel Carson), 77

Edison (Josephson, Matthew), 153

Edison: A Life of Invention (Israel, Paul), 153

The Edison Album: A Pictorial Biography of Thomas Alva Edison (Frost, Lawrence A), 153

Edison: His Life and Inventions (Dyer, Frank L., and Thomas C.Martin), 153

Edison: His Life, His Work, His Genius (Simonds, William A), 153

Edison: Inventing the Century (Baldwin, Neil), 153

Edison, the Man, 153

Edison: The Man and His Work (Bryan, George S), 153

Edison: The Man Who Made the Future (Clark, Ronald W), 153

Edison's Electric Light: Biography of an Invention (Friedel, Robert D), 153

Edison's Miracle of Light, 153

Edith & Woodrow: A Presidential Romance (Shachtman, Tom), 497

Edith Wharton (Lawson, Richard), 489

Edith Wharton (Leach, William), 489

Edith Wharton (McDowell, Margaret B), 489

Edith Wharton (Worth, Richard), 489

Edith Wharton: A Biography (Lewis, R.W.B), 489

Edith Wharton A to Z: The Essential Guide to the Life and Work (Wright, Sarah B), 489

Edith Wharton: A Woman in Her Time (Auchincloss, Louis), 489

Edith Wharton: An Extraordinary Life (Dwight, Eleanor), 489

Edith Wharton: Beyond the Age of Innocence (Turk, Ruth), 489

Edmund Burke: A Biography (Murray, Robert H), 64

Edmund Burke: A Genius Reconsidered (Kirk, Russell), 64

Edmund Burke: A Life (Magnus, Philip), 64

Edmund Burke: A Life in Caricature (Robinson, Nicholas K), 64

Edmund Burke: His Life and Opinions (Ayling, Stanley), 64

Edmund Burke: 1730–1784 (Lock, F.P), 64

Edouard Manet (Perutz, Vivien), 306

Edouard Manet: Rebel in a Frock Coat (Brombert, Beth A), 306

The Education of Caesar: A Biography (Kahn, Arthur D), 258

Edvard Munch (Benesch, Otto), 342

Edvard Munch (Deknatel, Frederick B), 342

Edvard Munch (Hodin, J.P), 342

Edvard Munch: Masterpieces from the Artist's Collection in the Munch Museum in Oslo (Langaard, Johan H., and R.A.Revold), 342

Edvard Munch: Paintings, Sketches, and Studies (Eggum, Arne), 342

Edvard Munch: The Man and His Art (Stang, Ragna T), 342

Edward and Alexandra: Their Private and Public Lives (Hough, Richard), 154

Edward and Mrs. Simpson, 97

Edward and Mrs. Simpson (Smith, A.C.H), 97

Edward and the Edwardians (Jullian, Philippe), 154

Edward the King, 139, 154, 199, 479, 5

Edward the King (David E.Butler.), 199

Edward the Rake: An Unwholesome Biography of Edward VII (John, Pearson), 154

Edward VII (Plumbtre, George), 154

Edward VII: Man and King (Wortham, Hugh E), 154

Edward VII: Prince and King (St. Aubyn, Giles), 154

Edward VII: Prince of Hearts (Butler, David), 154

Edwardian Portraits (Adams, William S), 154

Edwardian Shaw: The Writer and His Age (Hugo, Leon), 424

Eggnog Riot (Agnew, James B), 123

Egypt: Portrait of a President 1971–81: The Counter-Revolution in Egypt: Sadat's Road to Jerusalem (Shoukra, Ghali), 413

Eight April Days (Hart, Scott), 279

Eight First Biographies of William Penn in Seven Languages and Seven Lands (Hull, William I), 370

1876 (Vidal, Gore), 473

1812 (Nevin, David), 242, 299–300

85 Days: The Last Campaign of Robert F.Kennedy (Witcover, Jules), 268

A.Einstein, 156

Einstein (Bernstein, Jeremy), 156

Einstein: A Centenary Volume (French, A.P., ed), 156

Einstein: A Life (Brian, Denis), 156

Einstein: A Life in Science (White, Michael, and John Gribbon), 156

Einstein and Newton: A Comparison of Two Great Scientists (Lerner, Aaron B), 156, 353

An Einstein Dictionary (Kantha, Sachi Sri), 156

Einstein: His Life and Times (Frank, Philip), 156

A.Einstein: How I See the World, 156

Einstein: The First Hundred Years (Goldsmith, Marice, Alan McKay, and James Woudhuysen, eds), 156

Einstein: The Life and Times (Clark, Ronald W), 156

Einstein: The Man and His Achievement (Whitrow, G.J., ed), 156

Einstein's Dreams (Lightman, Alan P), 156

Eisenhower, 157

Eisenhower (Am brose, Stephen E), 157

Eisenhower (Perret, Geoffrey), 157

Eisenhower: A Centennial Life (Beschloss, Michael R), 157

Eisenhower and the American Crusades (Parmet, Herberts), 157

Eisenhower as Military Commander (Sixsmith, E.K.G), 157

Eisenhower: At War, 1943–45 (Eisenhower, David), 157

The Eisenhower Diaries, 157

Eisenhower: Portrait of a Hero (Lyon, Peter), 157

Eisenhower: The President Nobody Knew (Larson, Arthur), 157

The Eisenhowers: Reluctant Dynasty (Neal, Steve), 157

El Caudillo: A Political Biography of Franco (Tryhall, J.W.D), 172

El Greco, 207

El Greco (Lassaigne, Jacques), 207

El Greco (Vallentin, Antonina), 207

El Greco: A Biographical and Critical Study (Guinard, Paul), 207

El Greco: An Account of His Life and Work (Calvert, F., and C.Gascoine Hartley), 207

El Greco and His School (Wethey, Harold E), 207

El Greco Revisited (Keleman, Pál), 207

El Greco: Spirit of Toledo, 207

Eleanor (Lerman, Rhoda), 405

Eleanor and Franklin, 405, 406

Eleanor and Franklin: The Story of Their Relationship Based on Eleanor Roosevelt's Private Papers (Lash, Joseph P), 405, 406

Eleanor and Franklin: The White House Years, 405, 406

Eleanor: First Lady of the World, 405

Eleanor Roosevelt (Cook, Blanche W), 405

Eleanor Roosevelt (Toor, Rachel), 405

Eleanor Roosevelt: A Life of Discovery (Friedman, Russell), 405

Eleanor Roosevelt: A Passion to Improve (Spangenburg, Ray, and Diane K.Moser), 405

Eleanor Roosevelt: A Personal and Public Life (Youngs, J.William), 405

Eleanor Roosevelt: An American Conscience (Hareven, Tamara K), 405

Eleanor Roosevelt: An American Journey (Flemion, Jess, and Colleen M.O'Connor, eds), 405

Eleanor Roosevelt Mystery Series. (Roosevelt, Elliott), 405

Eleanor Roosevelt: Reluctant First Lady (Hickok, Lorena A), 405

The Eleanor Roosevelt Story, 405

Eleanor: The Years Alone (Lash, Joseph P), 405

Eleanora Duse (Stubbs, Jean), 34

An Elephant for Aristotle (De Camp, L.Sprague), 8

Eliot's Early Years (Gordon, Lyndall), 159

Elizabeth, 160, 314, 377

Elizabeth and Alexandra (Lambton, Antony), 354

Elizabeth and the Prince of Spain (Irwin, Margaret), 160, 377

Elizabeth Bacon Custer and the Making of a Myth (Leckie, Shirley A), 119

Elizabeth Barren Browning (Boas, Louise Schutz), 59–60

Elizabeth Barren Browning (Forster, Margaret), 59–60

Elizabeth Barren Browning: A Life (Hewlett, Margaret), 59–60

Elizabeth Barren Browning: A Portrait (Clarke, Isabel C), 59–60

Elizabeth Barren Browning: The Origins of a New Poetry (Mermin, Dorothy), 59–60

Elizabeth Cady Stanton, Susan B.Anthony: Correspondence, Writings, Speeches, 9

Elizabeth, Captive Princess (Irwin, Margaret), 160

Elizabeth I (Bush, Catherine), 160

Elizabeth I (Haigh, Christopher), 160

Elizabeth I (MacCaffrey, Wallace T), 160

Elizabeth I (Somerset, Anne), 160

Elizabeth I: A Biography (Johnson, Paul), 160

Elizabeth I: A Feminist Perspective (Bassnett, Susan), 160

Elizabeth I: The Shrewdness of Virtue (Ridley, Jasper), 160

Elizabeth: Queen & Woman (Thorpe, Helen), 160

Elizabeth, Queen of England (Williams, Neville), 160

Elizabeth R, 160, 314, 377, 389

Elizabeth the Great (Jenkins, Elizabeth), 160

Elizabeth, the Woman (Ellis, Amanda Mae), 160

Ellington: The Early Years (Tucker, Mark), 161

Elvis, 384

Elvis (Goldman, Albert), 384

Elvis (Marsh, Dave), 384

Elvis! (Wootton, Richard), 384

Elvis: A Biography (Hopkins, Jerry), 384

Elvis and Gladys (Dundy, Elaine), 384

Elvis and Me, 384

Elvis and Me (Presley, Priscilla Beaulieu), 384

Elvis Day by Day (Guralnick, Peter, and Ernst Jorgensen), 384

The Elvis Encyclopedia (Stanley, David, and Frank Coffey), 384

Elvis: His Life and Music (Frew, Tim), 384

Elvis: His Life from A to Z (Wroth, Fred L), 384

Elvis in Hollywood, 384

Elvis: In the Twilight of Memory (Juanico, June), 384

Elvis Meets Nixon, 357

Elvis Memories, 384

Elvis on Tour, 384

Elvis Presley (Gentry, Tony), 384

Elvis Presley: A Bio-Bibliography (Hammontree, Patsy), 384

Elvis Presley: A Life in Music (Jorgensen, Ernst), 384

Elvis Presley Calls His Mother After the Ed Sullivan Show (Charters, Samuel B), 384

Elvis Presley: The King of Rock 'n' Roll (Daily, Robert), 384

The Elvis Reader: Texts and Sources on the King of Rock 'n' Roll (Quain, Kevin, ed), 384

Elvis: That's the Way It Is, 384

Elvis: The Beginning, 384

Elvis: The Complete Story, 384

Elvis: The Final Years (Hopkins, Jerry), 384

Elvis: The Novel (Baty, Keith, and Robert Graham), 384

Elvis: What Happened? (West, Red, Sonny West, and Dave Hebler. As told to Steve Dunleavy), 384

Elvissey (Womack, Jack), 384

The Embattled Philosopher: A Biography of Denis Diderot (Crocker, Lester), 136

Emerson Among the Eccentrics: A Group Portrait (Baker, Carlos), 162

An Emerson Chronology (Von Frank, Albert J), 162

Emerson in His Journals, 162

Emerson, Our Contemporary (Derleth, August), 162

Emerson: The Mind on Fire (Richardson, Robert D), 162

Emerson: The Roots of Prophecy (Barish, Evelyn), 162

Emile Zola (Walker, Philip), 509

Emile Zola: A Biography (Schom, Alan), 509

Emile Zola: An Introductory Study of His Novels (Wilson, Angus) , 509

Emily Brontë: A Biography (Gérin, Winifred), 53–57

Emily Brontë: A Critical and Biographical Study (Hewish, John), 53–57

Emily Brontë: Her Life and Work (Spark, Muriel, and Derek Stanford), 53–57

Emily Dickinson, 135

Emily Dickinson (McNeil, Helen), 135

Emily Dickinson (Thayer, Bonita E), 135

Emily Dickinson (Wolff, Cynthia G), 135

Emily Dickinson: A Revelation (Bingham, Millicent Todd), 135

Emily Dickinson: An Interpretive Biography (Johnson, Thomas H), 135

Emily Dickinson: Daughter of Prophecy (Doriani, Beth M), 135

An Emily Dickinson Encyclopedia (Eberwein, Jane D), 135

Emily Dickinson: Friend and Neighbor (Jenkins, MacGregor), 135

The Emily Dickinson Handbook (Grabber, Gudrun, Roland Hagenbuche, and Cristanne Miller, eds), 135

Emily Dickinson: Her Letter to the World (Longworth, Polly), 135

Emily Dickinson: Lives of a Poet (Benfey, Christopher E.G), 135

Emily Dickinson: The Human Background of Her Poetry (Pollitt, Josephine), 135

Emily Dickinson: When a Writer Is a Daughter (Mossberg, Barbara Antonia Clarke), 135

Eminent Victorians (Strachey, Lytton), 356

Eminent Victorians (Wilson, A.N), 199, 5

Emma (Kenyon, Frank W), 349

Emma Goldman (Waldstreicher, David), 202

Emma Goldman: American Individualist (Chalberg, John), 202

Emma Goldman: An Intimate Life (Wexler, Alice), 202

Emma Goldman and the American Left: “Nowhere

at Home.” (Morton, Marian J), 202

Emma Hamilton (Lofts, Norah), 349

Emma, Lady Hamilton (Fraser, Flora), 349

Emma, Lady Hamilton (Hardwick, Mollie), 349

The Emperor, (Chamberlin, E.R), 89

The Emperor Alexander I (Almedingen, E.M), 7

The Emperor Charles V (Armstrong, Edward), 92

Emperor Charles V (Rady, Martyn), 92

The Emperor Charles V (Tyler, Royall), 92

The Emperor Charles V: The Growth and Destiny of a Man and of a World Empire (Brandi, Karl), 92

The Emperor Constantine (Pohlsander, Hans A), 108

The Emperor Constantine: A Chronicle (Sayers, Dorothy L), 108

Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria: A Biography (Redlich, Joseph), 174

The Emperor Franz Joseph (Janetschek, Ottokar), 174

The Emperor General: A Biography of Douglas MacArthur (Finkelstein, Norman H), 297

The Emperor Story: A Historical Romance (Sava, George), 7

The Emperor’s General (Webb, James H), 297

The Emperor’s Ladies (Gerson, Noel B), 345

The Emperor’s Lady: A Novel Based on the Life of the Empress Josephine (Kenyon, Frank W), 345

Empire (Vidal, Gore), 217, 245, 320, 407, 61

Empire of Bones: A Novel of Sam Houston and the Texas Revolution (Long, Jeff), 232

Empire! The Life, Legend, and Madness of Howard Hughes (Bartlett, Donald L., and James B. Steele), 233

The Empress Brown: The True Story of a Victorian Scandal (Cullen, Tom), 479

The Empress Eugénie (Kurtz, Harold), 346–347

Empress of all Russia (Noble, Iris), 83

The Empress of Hearts (Beck, L.Adams), 310

Empty Without You: The Intimate Letters of Eleanor Roosevelt and Lorena Hickok, 405

Enchantress of the Nile (Lindsay, Kathleen), 100

Encounters with Lenin (Valentinov, Nikolay), 280

Encounters with Verdi (Conati, Marcello, ed), 477

Encyclopedia of the McCarthy Era (Klingaman, William K), 319

End and Beginning (Masefield, John), 315

The End of the Age of Innocence: Edith Wharton and the First World War (Price, Alan), 489

The End of the Hunt (Flanagan, Thomas), 288, 97

The End of the World News (Burgess, Anthony), 177, 259, 467

An Enduring Spirit: The Art of Georgia O’Keeffe (Hoffman, Katherine), 358

English Music (Ackroyd, Peter), 134, 226

The English Notebooks (Nathaniel Hawthorne), 215

The Enigma of Mary Stuart (Cowan, Ian B), 315

The Enigmatic Tsar (Paléologue, Maurice), 7

Enola Gay: The Men, the Mission, the Atomic Bomb, 361

Enslaved (Burns, Ron), 247

Enter David Garrick (Stewart, Anna B), 187

Entered from the Sun (Garrett, George), 256, 311, 423

Entertaining Angels: The Dorothy Day Story, 360

An Epic Joy: A Novel Based on the Life of Rubens (Braider, Donald), 410

Epistles of Maimonides: Crisis of Leadership, 303

Epitaph for Three Women (Plaidy, Jean), 249

An Epoch and a Man: Martin Van Bur en and His Times (Lynch, Denis T), 474

Epochs in the Life of Simon Peter (Robertson, Archibald T), 374

Erasmus (McConica, James), 163

Erasmus: A Critical Biography (Halkin, Léon-E), 163

Erasmus: A Study of His Life, Ideals, and Place in History (Smith, Preserved), 163

Erasmus and His Age: Selected Letters of Desiderius Erasmus, 163

Erasmus: His Life, Works, and Influence (Augustijn, Cornelius), 163

Erasmus of Christendom (Bainton, Roland), 163

Erasmus of Europe: The Making of a Humanist, 1467–1500 (Schoeck, Richard J), 163

Erasmus: The Eve of the Hurricane (Mee, Charles L), 163

Ernest Hemingway, 219

Ernest Hemingway (Hays, Peter L), 219

Ernest Hemingway (Lyttle, Richard B), 219

Ernest Hemingway (McDaniel, Melissa), 219

Ernest Hemingway: A Life Story (Baker, Carlos), 219

Ernest Hemingway A to Z: The Essential Reference to His Life and Work (Oliver, Charles M), 219

Ernest Hemingway: An Illustrated Biography (Sandison, David), 219

Ernest Hemingway: Writer and Adventurer (Yannuzzi, Delia A), 219

Eroica: A Novel about Beethoven (Pidoll, Carl von), 30

Eroica: A Novel Based on the Life of Ludwig van Beethoven (Chotzinoff, Samuel), 30

Escapade (Satterthwait, Walter), 143, 231

The Escapades of Frank and Jesse James (Breihan, Carl W), 246

The Essence of Laughter, and Other Essays, Journals, and Letters (Charles Baudelaire), 27

Eternal Lawyer: A Legal Biography of Cicero (Wilkin, Robert N), 98

Eugene Debs: American Socialist (White, Anne T), 126

Eugene Debs, Rebel, Labor Leader, Prophet: A Biography (Selvin, David F), 126

Eugene O’Neill (Carpenter, Frederic I), 360

Eugene O’Neill (Clark, Barrett H), 360

Eugene O’Neill (Coolidge, Olivia E), 360

Eugene O’Neill (Frenz, Horst), 360

Eugene O’Neill (Gassner, John), 360

Eugene O’Neill (Leech, Clifford), 360

Eugene O’Neill: A Poet’s Quest (Skinner, Richard Dana), 360

Eugene O’Neill: Beyond Mourning and Tragedy (Black, Stephen A), 360

The Eugene O’Neill Companion (Ranald, Margaret L), 360

Eugene O’Neill: 1888–1953, 360

Eugene V.Debs (Currie, Harold W), 126

Eugene V.Debs: A Man Unafraid (Coleman, McAlister), 126

Eugene V.Debs: Citizen and Socialist (Salvatore, Nick), 126

Eugene V.Debs: Socialist for President (Morgan, Howard W), 126

Eugene V.Debs Speaks, 126

Eugene V.Debs: Spokesman for Labor and Socialism (Brommel, Bernard), 126

Eugénie (Chapman, Hester W), 346–347

Eugénie and Napoleon III (Duff, David), 346–347

Eugénie: Empress of the French (Aubry, Octave), 346–347

Eugénie: Star-crossed Empress of the French (Wellman, Rita), 346–347

Eva (Melchior, Ib), 224

Eva and Adolf (Infield, Glenn B), 224

Eva Perón (Fraser, Nicholas, and Marysa Navarro), 372–373

Eva Perón: A Biography (Dujovne Ortiz, Alicia), 372–373

Eva Perón: The Myths of a Woman (Taylor, Julie M), 372–373

Evening at Osborne: A Portrait of Queen Victoria in Her Own Words, 479

An Evening with Richard Nixon (Vidal, Gore), 357

Ever After: Diana and the Life She Led (Edwards, Anne), 133

Ever Yours, Florence Nightingale: Selected Letters, 356

Evergreen Gallant (Plaidy, Jean), 220, 81

The Everlasting Fire (Lauritzen, Jonreed), 434, 508

Evermore (Steward, Barbara, and Dwight Steward), 380

Everybody Who Was Anybody: A Biography of Gertrude Stein (Hobhouse, Janet), 438

Everybody’s Autobiography (Gertrude Stein), 438 Evita, 372–373

Evita: An Intimate Portrait of Eva Perón (Elia, Tomás de), 372–373

Evita by Evita: Eva Duarte Peron Tells Her Own Story (Juan Peron and Eva Peron), 372–373

Evita: First Lady: A Biography of Eva Peron (Barnes, John), 372–373

Evita Peron, 372–373

Evita!: Saint or Sinner? (Harbinson, W.A), 372–373

Evita: The Legend of Eva Peron (Lloyd Webber, Andrew, and Tim Rice), 372–373

The Evolution of Walt Whitman (Asselineau, Roger), 491

An Excess of Love (Spellman, Cathy C), 507

The Execution of Jesus, 248

Exile: The Unquiet Oblivion of Richard M.Nixon (Anson, Robert S), 357

Exiles from Paradise: Zelda and Scott Fitzgerald (Mayfield, Sara), 166

Exit Lady Masham (Auchincloss, Louis), 448

The Expeditions of John Charles Frémont, 176

The Expeditions of John Charles Frémont (Kit Carson), 76

Experiment in Autobiography: Discoveries and Conclusions of a Very Ordinary Brain (Since 1866) (H.G.Wells), 487

Explaining Hitler: The Search for the Origins of His Evil (Rosenbaum, Ron), 224

Exploring Gogol (Maguire, Robert A), 201

The Exquisite Siren (Haines, Edwin), 11

The Exquisite Tragedy: An Intimate Life of John Ruskin (Williams-Elis, Amabel), 411

The Extraordinary Adventures of Secret Agent Shipov (Okudzhava, Bulat S), 463

The Extraordinary Mr. Poe: A Biography of Edgar Allan Poe (Mankowitz, Wolf), 380

Ezra and Dorothy Pound: Letters in Captivity, 1945–46, 383

Ezra Pound, 383

Ezra Pound (Norman, Charles), 383

Ezra Pound: American Odyssey, 383

Ezra Pound and His World (Ackroyd, Peter), 383

Ezra Pound in London and Paris, 1908–1925 (Wilhelm, James J), 383

Ezra Pound: The Last Rower: A Political Profile (Heymann, C.David), 383

Ezra Pound: The Solitary Volcano (Tytell, John), 383

Ezra Pound: The Tragic Years, 1925–1972 (Wilhelm, James J), 383

Ezra Pound: The Voice of Silence (Levy, Alan), 383

F.D.R.: A Biography (Morgan, Ted), 406

F.D.R.: An Intimate History (Miller, Nathan), 406

F.Scott Fitzgerald (Greenfeld, Howard), 166

F.Scott Fitzgerald: A Biography (Le Vot, André), 166

F.Scott Fitzgerald: A Concise Biography, 166

F.Scott Fitzgerald: A Critical Portrait (Piper, Henry D), 166

F.Scott Fitzgerald: A Life in Letters, 166

F.Scott Fitzgerald A to Z: The Essential Reference to His Life and Work (Tate, Mary Jo, and Matthew J.Bruccoli), 166

F.Scott Fitzgerald and “The Last of the Belles”, 166

An F.Scott Fitzgerald Encyclopedia (Gale, Robert L), 166

F.Scott Fitzgerald in Hollywood, 166

F.Scott Fitzgerald: One Fine Morning, 166

F.Scott Fitzgerald: The Last Laocoön (Sklar, Robert), 166

F.: The Importance of Scott Fitzgerald (Stewart, GaleB), 166

The Fabulous Life of Diego Rivera (Wolfe, Bertram D), 399

The Fabulous Life of Sarah Bernhardt (Verneuil, Louis), 34

The Fabulous Showman: The Life and Times of P.T.Barnum (Wallace, Irving), 24

Face to Face: Professor Jung, 259

The Facts about Nixon: An Unauthorized Biography (Costello, William), 357

Failure Is Impossible: Susan B.Anthony in Her Own Words (Sherr, Lynn), 9

FairyTale: A True Story, 231

Faith and Compassion: The Life and Work of Mother Teresa (Rai, Raghu, and Navin Chawla), 339

The Faith and the Flame (Houston, Jane Dimmitt), 81

Faith Has Need of All the Truth: A Life of Pierre de Chardin (Simon, Charlie M), 455

Faithful Friend: The Story of Florence Nightingale (Siegel, Beatrice), 356

The Fala Factor (Kaminsky, Stuart M), 405

The Falcon and the Dove: A Life of Thomas Becket of Canterbury (Duggan, Alfred), 459

Falkenhorst (Rascovich, Mark), 37

The Fall of a Titan (Gouzenko, Igor), 204

The Fall of Lloyd George: The Political Crisis of 1922 (Kinnear, Michael) , 288

The Fall of Robespierre and Other Essays (Mathiez, Albert), 401

The Fall of the House of Borgia (Chamberlin, E.R), 45–47

The Fall of the Third Napoleon (Aronson, Theo), 346–347

A Family Called Brontë (Guzzetti, Paula), 53–57

The Family Idiot: Gustave Flaubert 1821–1857 (Sartre, Jean-Paul), 167

Family Letters of Robert and Elinor Frost, 178

A Family Matter (Roosevelt, James, and Sam Toperoff), 406, 97

Family Secrets: W.B.Yeats and His Relatives (Murphy, William M), 507

Famous Generals, 368

Fanny (Jong, Erica), 448

Fanny Brawne: A Biography (Richardson, Joanna), 265

Far Flies the Eagle (Anthony, Evelyn), 327, 7

The Far Side of Paradise: A Biography of F.Scott Fitzgerald (Mizener, Arthur), 166

Far Voyager: The Story of James Cook (Latham, Jean Lee), 109

Farewell, My General (Seifert, Shirley), 279

Farewell to Valley Forge (Taylor, David), 276

Farewell ‘Toinette: A Footnote to History (Harding, Bertita), 310

Fascinating Rhythm: The Collaboration of George and Ira Gershwin (Rosenberg, Deena), 195

Fat Man and Little Boy, 361

The Fatal Friendship: Marie Antoinette, Count Fersen, and the Flight to Varennes (Loomis, Stanley) , 310

The Fatal Inheritance: Philip II and the Spanish Netherlands (Grierson, Edward), 377

Fatal Majesty: A Novel of Mary Queen of Scots (Tannahill, Reay), 315

The Fate of Princes (Doherty, P.C), 395

A Fateful Friendship: Alexander Hamilton and Aaron Burr (Rogow, Arnold A), 209, 66

The Father (Brown, Katharine), 284

Father Abraham (Bacheller, Irving), 284

The Father of the Brontës (Hopkins, Annette B), 53–57

Faulkner: A Biography (Blotner, Joseph), 164

A Faulkner Chronology (Cresset, Michel), 164

Faulkner: The Transfiguration of Biography (Wittenberg, Judith B), 164

“Favored Strangers”: Gertrude Stein and Her Family (Wagner-Martin, Linda), 438

The Favourite (Mallet-Joris, Françoise), 396

FDR, 406

FDR (Davis, Kenneth S), 406

FDR and Hitler, 224

Fear (Rkybakov, Anatoli), 436

Fear No More (Chapman, Hester W), 310

Fearful Majesty: The Life and Times of Ivan the Terrible (Bobrick, Benson), 241

Feast of Jesters (Komroff, Manuel), 7

A Feast of Words: The Triumph of Edith Wharton (Wolff, Cynthia G), 489

Federico Garcia Lorca (Cobb, Carl W), 184

Federico García Lorca (Honig, Edwin), 184

Federico Garcia Lorca: A Life (Gibson, Ian), 184

Felix Mendelssohn: A Life in Letters (Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy), 315

Felix Mendelssohn and His Times (Jacob, Heinrich E), 315

Felix Mendelssohn: His Life, His Family, His Music (Kupferberg, Herbert), 315

Felix Mendelssohn: Letters (Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy), 315

A Fellow of Infinite Jest (Yoseloff, Thomas), 440

The Female: A Novel of Another Time (Wellman, Paul I), 260–261

Fenimore Cooper: A Study of His Life and Imagination (Railton, Stephen), 111

Fenimore Cooper: Critic of His Times (Spiller, Robert E), 111

Fenwick Travers and the Years of Empire (Saunders, Raymond M), 320

Feodor Dostoevsky (Amoia, Alba), 141

Ferdinand and Isabella (Fernández-Armesto, Felipe), 240

Ferdinand and Isabella (Kesten, Hermann), 240

Ferdinand and Isabella (McKendrick, Melveena), 240

Ferdinand and Isabella (Stevens, Paul), 240

Ferdinand Magellan (Brewster, Scott), 301

Ferdinand Magellan (Hargrove, Jim), 301

Ferdinand Magellan and the Discovery of the World Oceans (Steffoff, Rebecca), 301

Ferenz Liszt (Corder, Frederick), 286

The Fever Called Living (Moore, Barbara), 380

The Field Is Won: The Life and Death of Saint Thomas More (Reynolds, Ernest E), 336

Fielding (Dobson, Austin), 165

Fiery Vision: The Life and Death of John Brown (Cox, Clinton), 58

The Fifth Musketeer, 293

The Fifth Queen (Ford, Ford Madox), 221

54–40 or Fight (Hough, Emerson), 68

A Fig in Winter (Gibbs, Willa), 18

Fighter for Independence: Jawaharlal Nehru (Apsler, Alfred), 348

The Fighting Pattons (Sobel, Brian), 368

The Films of Marlene Dietrich (Dickens, Homer), 137

The Final Days, 357

The Final Days (Woodward, Bob, and Carl Bernstein), 357

The Final Years of Thomas Hardy, 1912–1928 (Orel, Harold), 213

Fine Print: A Story about Johann Gutenberg (Burch, Joann J), 208

The Finest Hour, 97

Finishing Becca: A Story of Peggy Shippen and Benedict Arnold (Rinaldi, Ann), 11

Fire and Morning (Leary, Francis W), 395

Fire and Water: A Life of Peter the Great (De Jonge, Alex), 375

Fire from Heaven (Renault, Mary), 8

Fire in Heaven (Bosse, Malcolm J), 309

Fire Over England, 377

Firebrand: The Life of Dostoevsky (Troyat, Henri), 141

The Firedrake (Holland, Cecelia), 494

The Firedrake's Eye (Finney, Patricia), 160, 429

The First Bourbon: Henri IV, King of France and Navarre (Seward, Desmond), 220

The First Captain: The Story of John Paul Jones (Johnson, Gerald W), 255

A First Class Murder (Roosevelt, Elliott), 285

A First Class Temperament: The Emergence of Franklin Roosevelt (Ward, Geoffrey), 406

The First Elizabeth (Erickson, Carolly), 160

First Four Georges (Plumb, John H), 191, 193

The First Henry Ford: A Study in Personality and Business Leadership (Jardim, Anne), 168

First in the Hearts: A Biography of George Washington (Fleming, Thomas), 484

The First Jesuit: Saint Ignatius of Loyola (Purcell, Mary), 238

The First Jesuits (O'Malley, John W), 238

The First Mrs. Thomas Hardy (Kay-Robinson, Denys), 213

The First of Men: A Life of George Washington (Ferling, John E), 484

The First President Johnson: The Three Lives of the Seventeenth President of the United States of America (Thomas, Lately), 251

The First Texan, 232

Fisher of Men: A Novel of Simon Peter (Frieberger, Kurt), 374

A Fitting Death for Billy the Kid (Adams, Ramon F), 36

Five Black Ships (Ponce de Leon, N.Baccino), 301

A Flame in Byzantium (Yarbro, Chelsea Quinn), 260–261

A Flame in Sunlight: The Life and Work of Thomas De Quincey (Sackville-West, Edward), 125

Flame into Being: The Life and Work of D.H.Lawrence (Burgess, Anthony), 277

Flame of Fire (Oliver, Jane), 295

The Flame of the Borgias (Briggs, Jean), 390, 45–47

The Flames of Rome (Maier, Paul L), 350, 369

Flaming Sky (Murray, Earl), 119

Flash for Freedom (Fraser, George MacDonald), 284

Flashman (Fraser, George MacDonald), 486

Flashman and the Angel of the Lord (Fraser, George MacDonald), 58

Flashman and the Redskins (Fraser, George MacDonald), 194

Flaubert (Bart, Benjamin F), 167

Flaubert (Troyat, Henri), 167

Flaubert: A Biography (Lottman, Herbert), 167

Flaubert: A Biography (Spencer, Philip), 167

Flaubert and Madame Bovary: A Double Portrait (Steegmuller, Francis), 167

Flaubert: The Making of the Master (Starkie, Enid), 167

Flaubert's Parrot (Barnes, Julian), 167

Flaubert's Youth, 1821–1845 (Shanks, Lewis P), 167

Flight for Freedom, 151

Flight into History: The Wright Brothers and the Air Age (Freudenthal, Elsbeth E), 505–506

The Flight of the Romanovs: A Family Saga (Perry, John Curtis, and Constantine V.Pleshakov), 354

Florence Harding: The First Lady, the Jazz Age, and the Death of America's Most Scandalous President (Anthony, Carl S), 212

Florence Nightingale, 356

Florence Nightingale (Hobbs, Colleen A), 356

Florence Nightingale (Huxley, Elspeth), 356

Florence Nightingale (Reid, Edith G), 356

Florence Nightingale (Shor, Donnali), 356

Florence Nightingale: Avenging Angel (Small, Hugh), 356

Florence Nightingale: Letters and Reflections, 356

Florence Nightingale: Mystic, Visionary, Reformer (Dossey, Barbara M), 356

Florence Nightingale 1820–1910 (Woodham-Smith, Mrs. Cecil), 356

Florence Nightingale: Reputation and Power (Smith, F.B), 356

Florence Nightingale: The Woman and the Legend (Goldsmith, Margaret L), 356

The Florentine (Shulman, Sandra), 322, 49

The Florentine Woman (Ross Williamson, Hugh), 81

Florestan: The Life and Work of Robert Schumann (Schauffler, Robert H), 420

Flower of Evil: A Life of Charles Baudelaire (Morgan, Edwin), 27

Flowers of St. Francis, 171

Fluke (Blinder, Martin), 212

Flush: A Biography (Woolf, Virginia), 59–60

Flying Blind: A Novel of Amelia Earhart (Collins, Max Allan), 151

Flying in to Love (Thomas, D.M), 267

Focus on Hitchcock (LaValley, Albert J., ed), 223

Following the Guidon (George Armstrong Custer), 119

Fool for Love (Donaldson, Scott), 166

Footman in Powder (Ashton, Helen), 191, 193

Footsteps: Adventures of a Romantic Biographer (Holmes, Richard) , 426

For Malcolm: Poems on the Life and Death of Malcolm X (Randall, Dudley, and Margaret G. Burroughs, eds), 304

For One Sweet Grape (O'Brien, Kate), 377

For the Love of Robert E.Lee (Harper, M.A), 279

For Thee the Best (Aldanov, Mark), 67

For Time and All Eternity (Bailey, Paul), 508

For Us the Living (Lancaster, Bruce), 284

Forbidden Passion: The Oscar Wilde Movie, 492

Ford: An Unconventional Biography of the Men and Their Times (Herndon, Booton), 168

Ford: Decline and Rebirth 1933–62 (Nevins, Allan, and Frank E.Hill), 168

The Ford Dynasty: An American Story (Brough, James), 168

Ford: The Man and the Machine, 168

Ford: The Men and the Machines (Lacey, Robert), 168

Ford: The Times, the Man, the Company (Nevins, Allan, and Frank E.Hill), 168

The Fords: An American Epic (Collier, Peter, and David Horowitz), 168

Forever Amber, 91

Forever Amber (Winsor, Kathleen), 91

Fortune's Circle: A Biographical Interpretation of Niccolo Machiavelli (Tarlton, Charles D), 298

Fortune's Knave: The Making of William the Conqueror (Lide, Mary), 494

The Fortunes of Nigel (Scott, Walter), 244

Fortune's Wheel (Edwards, Rhoda), 395

Forty Centuries Look Down (Austin, Frederick B), 345

The Founder: Cecil Rhodes and the Pursuit of Power (Rotberg, Robert L, and Miles F.Shore), 393

The Founder of Mormonism: A Psychological Study of Joseph Smith (Riley, I.Woodbridge), 434

Founding Father: Rediscovering George Washington (Brookhiser, Richard), 484

The Four Brontës: The Lives and Works of Charlotte, Branwell, Emily and Anne Brontë (Hanson, Lawrence, and Elisabeth Hanson), 53–57

The Four Rivers of Paradise (White, Helen Constance), 16

The Four Seasons of Manuela: The Love Story of Manuela Sáenz and Simón Bolívar (Hagen, Victor Wolfgang von), 41

The Four Voyages (Christopher Columbus), 104

1492 (Frolich, Newton), 104, 240

1492 (Johnston, Mary), 104

1492: Conquest of Paradise, 104

The Fourth King (Petrie, Glen), 387

The Fourth President: A Life of James Madison (Brant, Irving), 299–300

The Fox and the Whirlwind: General George Crook and Geronimo: A Paired Biography (Aleshire, Peter), 194

The Fox at Bay: Martin Van Buren and the Presidency (Curtis, James C), 474

Fragments from My Diary (Maxim Gorky), 204

The Frail Warrior: A Life of Robert Louis Stevenson (Carré, Jean-Marie), 442

France in the Age of Louis XIII and Richelieu (Tapié, Victor-Lucien), 396

France under Napoleon (Bergeron, Louis), 345

Francesco, 111

Francesco Petrarca: The First Modern Man of Letters: His Life and Correspondence (Tatham, Edward H.R), 376

Francis: A Biography of the Saint of Assisi (De La Bedoyère, Michael), 171

Francis Bacon (Zagorin, Perez), 21

Francis Bacon: A Political Biography (Epstein, Joel J), 21

Francis Bacon: His Career and His Thought (Anderson, Fulton), 21

Francis Bacon: Pioneer of Planned Science (Farrington, Benjamin), 21

Francis Bacon: The First Statesman of Science (Crowther, James G), 21

Francis Bacon: The History of a Character Assassination (Mathews, Nieves), 21

Francis Bacon: The Temper of a Man (Bowen, Catherine Drinker), 21

Francis Drake: The Lives of a Hero (Cummins, JohnG), 144

Francis of Assisi (Fortini, Arnaldo), 171

Francis of Assisi (Frugoni, Chiari), 171

Francis of Assisi (Smith, John H), 171

Francis of Assisi: A Life for All Seasons (Longford, Frank P), 171

Francis of Assisi: The Wandering Years (Mockler, Anthony), 171

Francisco Franco (Garza, Hedda), 172

Francisco Goya (Richardson, Martha), 205

Francisco Goya (Waldron, Ann), 205

Francisco Goya y Lucientes 1746–1828 (Tomlinson, Janis A), 205

Franco (Crozier, Brian), 172

Franco (Ellwood, Sheelagh M), 172

Franco (Lloyd, Alan), 172

Franco: A Biography (Fusi, Juan Pablo), 172

Franco: A Biography (Preston, Paul), 172

Franco of Spain: A Full-Length Biography (Coles, Sydney F.A) , 172

The Franco Regime (Payne, Stanley G), 172

Franco: The Man and His Nation (Hills, George), 172

Françoise Rabelais (Tilley, Arthur), 388

Françoise Rabelais: A Study (Frame, Donald M), 388

Françoise Rabelais: Man of the Renaissance: A Spiritual Biography (Putnam, Samuel), 388

Frank and Jesse, 246

Frank Lloyd Wright, 504

Frank Lloyd Wright (McDonough, Yona Z), 504

Frank Lloyd Wright (Rubin, Susan G), 504

Frank Lloyd Wright (Scully, Vincent J), 504

Frank Lloyd Wright (Secrest, Meryle), 504

Frank Lloyd Wright: A Biography (Farr, Finis), 504

Frank Lloyd Wright: A Study in Architectural Content (Smith, Morris K), 504

Frank Lloyd Wright: American Architect, 504

Frank Lloyd Wright: An Illustrated Biography (Boulton, Alexander O), 504

Frank Lloyd Wright: An Interpretive Biography (Twombly, Robert C), 504

Frank Lloyd Wright and the Prairie School (Brooks, H.Allen), 504

Frank Lloyd Wright: His Life and His Architecture (Twombly, Robert C), 504

Frank Lloyd Wright: His Life, His Works, His Words (Wright, Olgivanna Lloyd), 504

Frank Lloyd Wright: Portrait of an Artist, 504

Frank Lloyd Wright: The Mike Wallace Interviews, 504

Frank Lloyd Wright Versus America: The 1930s (Johnson, Donald L), 504

Frank Sinatra: A Celebration (Britt, Stan), 430

Frank Sinatra: A Passionate Life, 430

Frank Sinatra: An American Legend (Sinatra, Nancy), 430

Frank Sinatra: My Father (Sinatra, Nancy), 430

The Frank Sinatra Reader (Petkov, Steven, and Leonard Mustazza, eds), 430

The Frank Sinatra Scrapbook: His Life and Times in Words and Pictures (Peters, Richard), 430

Frank Sinatra: They Were Very Good Years, 430

Frankenstein Unbound, 67

Frankenstein Unbound (Aldiss, Brian), 425, 67

Franklin D.Roosevelt, 406

Franklin D.Roosevelt (Friedel, Frank B), 406

Franklin D.Roosevelt: A Rendezvous With Destiny (Friedel, Frank B), 406

Franklin D.Roosevelt: An Informal Biography (Hatch, Alden), 406

Franklin D.Roosevelt: His Life and Times: An Encyclopedic View (Graham, Otis L., and Meghan R.Wander), 406

Franklin D.Roosevelt: Man of Destiny (Larsen, Rebecca), 406

Franklin D.Roosevelt: The Man, the Myth, the Era, 1882–1945 (Rosenbaum, Herbert D), 406

Franklin Delano Roosevelt (Friedman, Russell), 406

Franklin Delano Roosevelt (Israel, Fred L), 406

Franklin Delano Roosevelt (Nash, Gerald D., ed), 406

Franklin Delano Roosevelt, 1882–1945 (Bremer, Howard F., ed), 406

Franklin of Philadelphia (Wright, Esmond), 173

The Franklin Scare (Charyn, Jerome), 406

Franklin: The Apostle of Modern Times (Fay, Bernard), 173

Franz Joseph (Beller, Steven), 174

Franz Joseph (Bled, Jean-Paul), 174

Franz Joseph I of Austria and His Empire (Murad, Anatol), 174

Franz Kafka (Heller, Erich), 262

Franz Kafka (Spann, Meno), 262

Franz Kafka: A Biography (Brod, Max), 262

Franz Kafka: A Writer's Life (Unsel, Joachim), 262

Franz Kafka: Pictures of a Life (Wagenbach, Klaus), 262

Franz Kafka: Representative Man (Karl, Frederick R), 262

Franz Kafka: The Jewish Patient (Gilman, Sander L), 262

Franz Liszt (Huneker, James), 286

Franz Liszt (Walker, Alan), 286

Franz Liszt: A Biography in Pictures (Lászlo, Zsigmond, and Béla Mátéka), 286

Franz Liszt: A Chronicle of His Life in Pictures and Documents (Burger, Ernst), 286

Franz Liszt: The Man and the Musician (Taylor, Ronald), 286

Franz Schubert (Thompson, Wendy), 419

Franz Schubert: A Biography (McKay, Elizabeth N), 419

Franz Schubert: An Essential Guide to His Life and Works (Jackson, Stephen), 419

Franz Schubert and His Times (Kobald, Karl), 419

Franz Schubert in His Time (Hilmar, Ernst), 419

Franz Schubert: The Ariel of Music (Schauffler, Robert H), 419

Franz Schubert: The Man and His Circle (Flower, Newman) , 419

Frédéric Chopin (Gavoty, Benard), 95

Frédéric Chopin (Maurois, André), 95

Frédéric Chopin: His Life and Letters (Karasowski, Moritz), 95

Frederick Douglass (Banta, Melissa), 142

Frederick Douglass (Foner, Philip S), 142

Frederick Douglass (Kerby, Mona), 142

Frederick Douglass (Martin, Waldo S. The Mind of), 142

Frederick Douglass (McFeely, William S), 142

Frederick Douglass (Quarles, Benjamin), 142

Frederick Douglass (Washington, Booker T), 142

Frederick Douglass: Abolitionist Editor, 142

Frederick Douglass: When the Lion Wrote History, 142

Frederick the Great (Gaxotte, Pierre), 175

Frederick the Great (Hegemann, Werner), 175

Frederick the Great (Kittredge, Mary), 175

Frederick the Great (Mitford, Nancy), 175

Frederick the Great (Reiners, Ludwig), 175

Frederick the Great (Snyder, Louis L., ed), 175

Frederick the Great: A Historical Profile (Ritter, Gerhard), 175

Frederick the Great: A Life in Deed and Letters (MacDonogh, Giles), 175

Frederick the Great: A Profile (Par, Peter), 175

Frederick the Great and His Officials (Johnson, Hubert C), 175

Frederick the Great and the Making of Prussia (Barker, Thomas M., ed) , 175

Frederick the Great and the Rise of Prussia (Reddaway, William F), 175

Frederick the Great: Magnificent Enigma (Asprey, RobertB), 175

Frederick the Great of Prussia: Absolutism and Administration (Hubatsch, Walther), 175

Frederick the Great: Prussian Warrior and Statesman (Snyder, Louis L., and Ida Mac Brown), 175

Frederick the Great: The Ruler, the Writer, the Man (Gooch, George P), 175

Free at Last (Bontemps, Arna), 142

Free Soil (Allis, Marguerite), 58

Free Soil (Lynn, Margaret), 58

Freedom (Safire, William), 284

Freedom, Farewell! (Bentley, Phyllis), 258

Freedom Road (Fast, Howard), 206

Freedom's Daughter: Letters Between Indira Gandhi and Jawaharlal Nehru, 1922–39, 348

Frémont: Explorer for a Restless Nation (Egan, Fero), 176

Frémont: Pathmarker of the West (Nevins, Allan), 176

The French Revolution, 401

The Frenchwoman (Mackin, Jeanne), 310

Freud, 177

Freud & Jung: A Dual Introduction (Storr, Anthony, and Anthony Stevens), 177

Freud & Jung: A Dual Introduction (Storr, Anthony, and Anthony Stevens), 259

Freud: A Biographical Introduction (Balogh, Penelope), 177

Freud: A Life for Our Time (Gay, Peter), 177

Freud: A Novel (Harrison, Carey), 177

Freud: An Introduction to His Life and Work (Isbister, J.N), 177

Freud and His Early Circle (Brome, Vincent), 177

Freud and His Father (Krull, Marianne), 177

Freud and His Followers (Roazen, Paul), 177

Freud and Jung: Years of Friendship, Years of Loss (Donn, Linda), 259

Freud: From Youthful Dream to Mid-Life Crisis (Newton, Peter M), 177

Freud: Living and Dying (Schur, Max), 177

Freud: Master and Friend (Sachs, Hanns), 177

The Freud Scenario (Sartre, Jean-Paul), 177

Freud: The Hidden Nature of Man, 177

Freud: The Man and the Cause (Clark, Ronald W), 177

Freud Under Analysis, 177

Freud's Discovery of the Psychoanalytic Movement (McGrath, William J), 177

The Friar of Wittenburg (Davis, William S), 295

Friar Thomas D'Aquino: His Life, Thought, and Work (Weisheipl, James A), 10

Friedrich Nietzsche: His Life and Work (Mügge, Maximilian A), 355

Friedrich Nietzsche: Philosopher of Culture (Copleston, Frederick), 355

Friedrich Schiller (Passage, Charles E), 417

Friendly Dickens (Epstein, Norrie), 134

The Friendly Jane Austen: A Well-Mannered Introduction to a Lady of Sense & Sensibility (Tyler, Natalie C), 19

From Jesus to Christ: The First Christians, 248

From Noon to Starry Night: A Life of Walt Whitman (Callow, Philip), 491

From Oedipus to Moses: Freud's Jewish Identity (Robert, Marthe), 177

From the Ashes of Ruin (Rawl, Miriam Freeman), 428

From the Banks of the Volga: The Life of Maxim Gorky (Roskin, Alexander), 204

From the Faraway Nearby: Georgia O'Keeffe As Icon (Merrill, Christopher, and Ellen Bradbury, eds), 358

From the Life and Work of C.G.Jung (Jaff , Aniela), 259

From the Memoirs of a Minister of France (Weyman, Stanley J), 220

The Frontiersman (Eckert, Allen W), 42

The Frontiersman: The Real Life and Many Legends of Davy Crockett (Derr, Mark), 116

The Frontiersmen (Eckert, Allen W), 454

Frost: A Literary Life Reconsidered (Pritchard, William), 178

Froude's Life of Carlyle (Froude, J.A), 73

Fryderyk Chopin: Pianist from Warsaw (Atwood, William G), 95

Full of Thy Riches (Ferrell, Elizabeth), 403

The Fun of It: Random Research of My Own Flying and of Women in Aviation (Amelia Earhart), 151

Funeral Games (Renault, Mary), 8

Fyodor Dostoevsky (Dostoevsky, Aimee), 141

Fyodor Dostoevsky: A Critical Study (Murry, John Middleton), 141

Fyodor Dostoevsky: A Writer's Life (Kjetsaa, Geir), 141

G.B.S.: A Full-Length Portrait (Pearson, Hesketh), 424

G.B.S.: A Postscript (Pearson, Hesketh), 424

G-men: The Rise of J.Edgar Hoover, 228

Gainsborough (Waterhouse, Ellis), 180

Gainsborough: A Biography (Ripley, Elizabeth), 180

Gainsborough: Paintings and Drawings (Hayes, John), 180

Galileo, 181

Galileo (Brecht, Bertolt), 181

Galileo (Fisher, Leonard E), 181

Galileo (Ronan, Colin A), 181

Galileo: A Life (Reston, James Jr), 181

The Galileo Affair: A Documentary History (Finocchiaro, Maurice A., ed), 181

Galileo: Astronomer and Physicist (Hightower, Paul N), 181

Galileo at Work: His Scientific Biography (Drake, Stillman), 181

Galileo: Decisive Innovator (Sharratt, Michael), 181

Galileo Galilei: A Biography and Inquiry into His Philosophy of Science (Geymonat, Ludovico), 181

Galileo Galilei: First Physicist (MacLachlan, James H), 181

Galileo: Heretic (Redondi, Pietro), 181

Galileo: His Life and Work (Fahie, John J), 181

Galileo: The Man, His Work, His Misfortunes (Brodrick, James), 181

Galileo's Daughter: A Historical Memoir of Science, Faith, and Love (Sobel, Dava), 181

Gallant Captain: A Biographical Novel Based on the Life of John Paul Jones (Frye, Pearl), 255

The Gallant Mrs. Stonewall (Kane, Harnett T), 243

Gallows Hill (Winwar, Frances), 316

A Game for Empire (Frye, Pearl), 349

The Game of Kings (Dunnett, Dorothy), 315

Gandhi, 183, 348

Gandhi (Ashe, Geoffrey), 183

Gandhi (Bush, Catherine), 183

Gandhi: A Life (Chadha, Yogesh), 183

Gandhi: A Pictorial Biography (Gold, Gerald), 183

Gandhi: Great Soul (Severance, John B), 183

Gandhi: Prisoner of Hope (Brown, Judith M), 183

Gandhi, the Man: The Story of His Transformation (Easwaran, Eknath), 183

Gandhi: The Power of Pacifism (Clement, Catherine), 183

Garc a Lorca: Playwright and Poet (Adams, Mildred), 184

The Garden of Janus (Rojas, Carlos), 84

Garfield (Peskin, Allan), 185

Garfield of Ohio: The Available Man (Taylor, John M), 185

The Garfield Orbit (Leech, Margaret, and Harry J. Brown), 185

Garibaldi (Mack Smith, Denis, ed), 186

Garibaldi (Ridley, Jasper), 186

Garibaldi (Trevelyan, George M), 186

Garibaldi: A Great Life in Brief (Mack Smith, Denis), 186

Garibaldi and His Enemies: The Clash of Arms and Personalities in the Making of Italy (Hibbert, Christopher), 186

Garibaldi: Father of Modern Italy (Davenport, Marcia), 186

Garibaldi: The Legend and the Man (De Polnay, Peter), 186

The Garland Companion to Vladimir Nabokov (Alexandrov, Vladimir, ed), 344

Garrick (Barton, Margaret), 187

Garvey and Garveyism (Garvey, Amy Jacques), 188

Garvey: The Story of a Pioneer Black Nationalist (Fax, Elton C), 188

The Gates of the Alamo (Harrigan, Steve), 116, 232

The Gathering Storm, 224

Gathering Storm, 97

Gauguin (Perruchot, Henri), 189

Gauguin (Thomson, Belinda), 189

Gauguin by Himself, 189

Gauguin: Escape to Eden (Spence, David), 189

Gauguin in the South Seas (Danielsson, Bengt), 189

Gauguin: Letters from Brittany and the South Seas, 189

Gauguin: Life, Art, and Inspiration (Le Pinchon, Yann), 189

Gauguin: The Quest for Paradise (Cachin, Fran oise), 189

Gaul Is Divided (Brown, Esther), 258

Gautama Buddha (Kelen, Betty), 62

The Gay Galliard (Irwin, Margaret), 315

Gay Monarch: The Life and Pleasures of Edward VII (Cowles, Virginia), 154

General Correspondence of James Boswell, 48

General Douglas MacArthur: A Pictorial Biography (Schoor, Gene), 297

General Douglas MacArthur: Soldier-Statesman (Miller, Francis T), 297

The General in His Labyrinth (Garc a Marquez, Gabriel), 41

General Taylor (Howard, Oliver O), 452

The General Who Marched to Hell (Miers, Earl S), 428

The Generals: Ulysses S.Grant and Robert E.Lee (Anderson, Nancy S., and Dwight Anderson), 206, 279

The General's Wife: The Life of Mrs. Ulysses S. Grant (Ross, Ishbel), 206

The Generalship of Ulysses S.Grant (Fuller, J.F.C), 206

Generations of Winter (Aksyonov, Vassily), 436

Genghis Khan, 190

Genghis Khan (Brent, Peter L), 190

Genghis Khan (Fox, Ralph), 190

Genghis Khan (Ho ang, Michel), 190

Genghis Khan (Humphrey, Judy), 190

Genghis Khan (Lister, R.P), 190

Genghis Khan and the Mongol Horde (Lamb, Harold), 190

Genghis Khan: Conqueror of the Medieval World (Webb, Robert N), 190

Genghis Khan: Conqueror of the World (Hartog, Leo de), 190

Genghis Khan: Emperor of All Men (Lamb, Harold), 190

Genghis Khan: His Life and Legacy (Ratchnevsky, Paul), 190

A Genius for Living: The Life of Frieda Lawrence (Byrne, Janet), 277

The Genius of Alexander the Great (Hammond, N.G.L.), 8

The Genius of Louis Pasteur (Compton, Piers), 366

The Gentle Barbarian: The Life and Work of Turgenev (Pritchett, V.S.), 471

A Gentle Calling (Crow, Donna F), 488

The Gentle Colossus: A Study of Jawaharlal Nehru (Mukerjee, H) , 348

Gentle Genius: The Story of Felix Mendelssohn (Marek, George), 315

The Gentle Knight (Lindsay, Philip), 93

Gentle Rebel: Letters of Eugene V.Debs, 126

The Gentleman from America (Banks, Polan), 173

Gentleman of Stratford (Brophy, John), 423

Gentlemen in England (Wilson, A.N), 158, 466

Geoffrey Chaucer of England (Chute, Marchette), 93

George Balanchine (McDonagh, Don), 22

George Balanchine: American Ballet Master (Kristy, Davida), 22

George Balanchine, Ballet Master: A Biography (Buckle, Richard, and John Taras), 22

George Bernard Shaw (Coolidge, Olivia E), 424

George Bernard Shaw: His Life and Personality (Pearson, Hesketh), 424

George Bernard Shaw, His Life and Works: A Critical Biography (Henderson, Archibald), 424

George Bernard Shaw: Man of the Century (Henderson, Archibald), 424

George Eliot (Bellringer, Alan W), 158

George Eliot (Marian Evans): A Literary Life (McSweeney, Kerry), 158

George Eliot (Uglow, Jennifer), 158

George Eliot: A Biography (Haight, Gordon S), 158

George Eliot: A Biography (Sprague, Rosemary), 158

George Eliot: A Life (Ashton, Rosemary), 158

George Eliot: An Intellectual Life (Dodd, Valerie A), 158

George Eliot and Her World (Laski, Marghanita), 158

George Eliot and John Chapman, with Chapman’s Diaries (Haight, Gordon S), 158

A George Eliot Chronology (Hands, Timothy), 158

A George Eliot Companion (Pinion, F.B), 158

George Eliot: Her Life and Her Books (Bullett, Gerald), 158

George Eliot: The Emergent Self(Redinger, Ruby V), 158

George Eliot: The Last Victorian (Hughes, Kathryn), 158

George Eliot: The Woman (Crompton, Margaret), 158

George Eliot: Voice of a Century (Karl, Frederick R), 158

George Eliot’s Life as Related in Her Letters and Journals, Arranged and Edited by Her Husband (Cross, J.W), 158

George Frideric Handel (Lang, Paul H), 210

George Frideric Handel: Composer of Messiah (Ludwig, Charles), 210

George Frideric Handel: His Personality and His Times (Flower, Newman), 210

George Gershwin (Armitage, Merle, ed), 195

George Gershwin (Carnovale, Norbert), 195

George Gershwin (Greenberg, Rodney), 195

George Gershwin: A Biography (Kendall, Alan), 195

George Gershwin: A Study in American Music (Goldberg, Isaac), 195

George Gershwin: His Journey to Greatness (Ewen, David), 195

George Gershwin: Man and Legend (Armitage, Merle), 195

George III: A Personal History (Hibbert, Christopher), 191

George III and the Historians (Butterfield, Herbert), 191

George III and the Mad Business (Mac Alpine, Ida, and Richard Hunter) , 191

George III at Home (Pain, Nesta), 191

George III: The Story of a Complex Man (Long, JohnC), 191

George IV (Leslie, Shane), 193

George IV (Smith, E.A), 193

George IV: Prince of Wales, 1762–1811 (Hibbert, Christopher), 193

George Orwell, 362

George Orwell (Flynn, Nigel), 362

George Orwell: A Life (Crick, Bernard), 362

George Orwell: A Literary and Biographical Study (Atkins, John A), 362

George Orwell: A Literary Life (Davidson, Peter H), 362

George Orwell: A Personal Memoir (Fyvel, T.R), 362

George Orwell: A Political Life (Ingle, Stephen), 362

George Orwell: Fugitive from the Camp of Victory (Rees, Richard), 362

George Orwell: Journalist and Novelist, 1903–1950, 362

George Orwell: The Political Pen (Ferrell, Keith), 362

George Sand: A Biographical Portrait (Jordan, Ruth), 414

George Sand: A Biography (Cate, Curtis), 414

George Sand: A Biography of the First Modern, Liberated Woman (Edwards, Samuel), 414

George Sand: A Brave Man, the Most Womanly Woman (Dickenson, Donna), 414

George Sand: The Search for Love (Howe, Marie J), 414

George Sand: Writing for Her Life (Naginski, Isabell), 414

George Smith Patton Jr.: The Last Romantic (Carpenter, Allan), 368

George the Fourth (Fulford, Roger), 193

George the Magnificent: A Portrait of King George IV (Richardson, Joanna), 193

George the Third (Ayling, Stanley), 191

George Washington, 209, 222, 484

George Washington (Bruns, Roger), 484

George Washington (Flexner, James T), 484

George Washington (Hughes, Rupert), 484

George Washington (Stephenson, Nathaniel W., and Waldo H.Dunn), 484

George Washington: A Biography (Alden, John R), 484

George Washington: A Biography (Freeman, Douglas S), 484

George Washington: A Biography in His Own Words, 484

George Washington: A Life (Randall, Willard S), 484

George Washington and American Independence (Nettels, Curtis P), 484

George Washington and the American Revolution (Davis, Burke), 484

George Washington and the Birth of Our Country (Meltzer, Milton), 484

George Washington Carver (Adair, Gene), 78

George Washington Carver (Neyland, James), 78

George Washington Carver: An American Biography (Holt, Rackham), 78

George Washington Carver: Nature’s Trailblazer (Rogers, Teresa), 78

George Washington Carver: Scientist and Symbol (McMurry, Linda O), 78

George Washington Carver: The Man Who Overcame (Elliott, Lawrence), 78

George Washington: Citizen-Soldier (Wall, Charles C), 484

George Washington, Frontiersman (Grey, Zane), 484

George Washington: In His Own Words, 484

George Washington: Man and Monument (Cunliffe, Marcus), 484

George Washington: The Forging of a Nation, 209, 222, 484

George Washington: The Images and the Man (Woodward, William E), 484

George Washington: The Making of an American Symbol (Schwartz, Barry), 484

George Washington: The Man Who Wouldn’t Be King, 484

George Washington’s Diaries: An Abridgement, 484

Georgia O’Keeffe, 358

Georgia O’Keeffe (Berry, Michael), 358

Georgia O’Keeffe (Nicolson, Lois), 358

Georgia O’Keeffe: A Life (Robinson, Roxana), 358

Georgia O’Keeffe: Art and Letters, 358

Georgia O’Keeffe: The Wildness and Wonder of

Her World (Gherman, Beverly), 358

Gerard Manley Hopkins (Bergonzi, Bernard), 229

Gerard Manley Hopkins (Kitchen, Paddy), 229

Gerard Manley Hopkins (Lahcy, Gerald F), 229

Gerard Manley Hopkins: A Life (Ruggles, Eleanor), 229

Gerard Manley Hopkins: A Literary Life (Roberts, Gerald), 229

Gerard Manley Hopkins: A Very Private Life (Martin, Robert B), 229

Gerard Manley Hopkins: Priest and Poet (Pick, John), 229

Germany without Bismarck: The Crisis of Government in the Second Reich 1890–1900 (Röhl, John C.G), 493

Geronimo, 194

Geronimo (Dugan, Bill), 194

Geronimo: A Biography (Adams, Alexander B), 194

Geronimo: A Freedom Fighter (Hermann, Spring), 194

Geronimo: An American Legend, 194

Geronimo: An American Legend (Conley, Robert J), 194

Geronimo and the Apache Resistance, 194

Geronimo and the End of the Apache Wars (Sonnichsen, C.L., ed), 194

Geronimo and the Struggle for Apache Freedom (Shorto, Russell), 194

Geronimo: Apache Warrior (Schwarz, Melissa), 194

The Geronimo Campaign (Faulk, Odie B), 194

Geronimo: His Own Story, 194

Geronimo: The Man, His Time, His Place (Debo, Angie), 194

Gershwin (De Santis, Florence), 195

Gershwin (Jablonski, Edward), 195

Gershwin (Payne, Robert), 195

Gershwin: His Life and Music (Schwartz, Charles M), 195

Gershwin in His Time: A Biographical Scrapbook, 1919–1937 (Suriano, Gregory R., ed), 195

Gershwin Remembered, 195

The Gershwin Years (Jablonski, Edward, and Lawrence D.Stewart), 195

The Gershwins (Kimball, Robert, and Alfred Simon), 195

Gertrude and Alice (Souhami, Diana), 438

Gertrude Stein (Knapp, Bettina L), 438

Gertrude Stein (La Farge, Ann), 438

Gertrude Stein: A Biography (Greenfeld, Howard), 438

Gertrude Stein and the Present (Stewart, Allegra), 438

A Gertrude Stein Companion: Content with the Example (Kellner, Bruce, ed), 438

Gertrude Stein, Gertrude Stein, Gertrude Stein: A One-character Play (Martin, Marty), 438

Gertrude Stein: Her Life and Work (Sprigge, Elizabeth), 438

Gertrude Stein in Pieces (Bridgman, Richard), 438

Gertrude Stein in Words and Pictures: A Photobiography (Stendhal, Renate, ed), 438

Gertrude Stein Is Gertrude Stein Is Gertrude Stein (Rogers, William G), 438

Gertrude Stein Remembered (Simon, Linda, ed), 438

Gertrude Stein: When You See This, Remember Me, 438

Getting to Be Mark Twain (Steinbrink, Jeffrey), 473

Gettysburg, 279

The Ghost of Monsieur Scarron (Lewis, Janet), 293

Ghost on Horseback: The Incredible Atatürk (Brock, Roy), 13

Giacomo Puccini (Dry, Wakeling), 386

Giacomo Puccini (Wilson, Conrad), 386

Giacomo Puccini, 1858–1924, 386

Giacomo Puccini: The Man, His Life, His Work (Specht, Richard), 386

A Gift Imprisoned: The Poetic Life of Matthew Arnold (Hamilton, Ian), 12

The Gift of Rome (Wagner, John, and Esther Wagner), 98

Gilbert & Sullivan and Their Victorian World (Hibbert, Christopher), 197–198

Gilbert & Sullivan: The Creative Conflict (Eden, David), 197–198

Gilbert and Sullivan (Baily, Leslie), 197–198

Gilbert and Sullivan (Finch, Michael), 197–198

Gilbert and Sullivan (James, Alan), 197–198

Gilbert and Sullivan: Interviews and Recollections (Orel, Harold, ed), 197–198

Gilbert: His Life and Strife (Pearson, Hesketh), 197–198

The Gilded Cage (Bamford, Susannah), 202

Giovanni Boccaccio (Serafini-Sauli, Judith P), 39

Giovanni Boccaccio: A Biographical Study (Hutton, Edward), 39

Giovanni Boccaccio as Man and Author (Symonds, John Addington), 39

The Girl Who Was Never Queen: A Biographical Novel of Princess Charlotte of Wales (Main, Mary), 193

Girl with a Pearl Earring (Chevalier, Tracy), 478

Giuseppe Garibaldi (Viola, Herman J), 186

Giuseppe Garibaldi: A Biography (Larg, David), 186

Giuseppe Garibaldi: A Biography of the Father of Modern Italy (LiPira, Benedict S), 186

Giuseppe Verdi, 477

Giuseppe Verdi (Tames, Richard), 477

Giuseppe Verdi: His Life and Works (Toye, Francis), 477

Give ‘Em Hell, Harry!, 468

Give ‘Em Hell Harry: An Informal Biography of the Terrible Tempered Mr. T (Dayton, Eldorous L) , 468

Give Me Liberty: A Novel of Patrick Henry (Gerson, Noel B), 222, 255

Give Me Liberty: The Story of an Innocent Man (Erskine, John), 222

Give Me Liberty: The Uncompromising Statesmanship of Patrick Henry (Vaughan, David J), 222

Give Me the Wind (Jordan, Jan), 242

Gladstone (Colliou, E.G), 199

Gladstone (Feuchtwanger, E.J), 199

Gladstone (Jagger, Peter J., ed), 199

Gladstone (Shannon, Richard), 199

Gladstone: A Biography (Jenkins, Roy), 199

Gladstone: A Biography (Magnus, Philip), 199

Gladstone: A Progress in Politics (Stansky, Peter), 199

Gladstone: 1809–74 (Matthew, H.C.G), 199

Gladstone: The Making of a Christian Politician (Jagger, Peter J), 199

Glendower Country (Rofheart, Martha), 93

Glorious Folly: A Novel of the Time of St. Paul (De Wohl, Louis), 369

The Glorious Scoundrel: A Biography of Captain John Smith (Lewis, Paul), 433

The Glory (Wouk, Herman), 323, 413

Glory Enough for All: The Battle of the Crater (Schultz, Duane), 206

Glory Hunter: A Life of General Custer (Van de Water, Frederick F), 119

Glorying in Tribulation: The Lifework of Sojourner Truth (Stetson, Erlene, and Linda David), 469

God Gave Us This Country: Tekamthi and the First American Civil War (Gilbert, Bil) , 454

The God of Mirrors (Reilly, Robert), 492

God Save the Tsar (Hoe, Susanna), 354

Goddess of the Green Room (Plaidy, Jean), 193, 427

Goddess: The Secret Lives of Marilyn Monroe (Summers, Anthony), 334

A Goddess to a God (Balderston, John L), 100, 258

Gods and Generals (Shaara, Jeff), 243, 279

God’s Angry Man (Ehrlich, Leonard), 461, 58

The Gods Are Not Mocked (Taylor, Anna), 258

The Gods Are Thirsty (Lee, Tanith), 401

God’s Englishman: Oliver Cromwell and the English Revolution (Hill, Christopher), 117

God’s Fool: The Life and Times of Francis of Assist (Green, Julien), 171

God’s Gold: The Story of Rockefeller and His Times (Flynn, John T), 403

God’s Man: A Novel on the Life of John Calvin (Norton-Taylor, Duncan), 70

God’s Warrior (Slaughter, Frank G), 369

The Godwins and the Shelleys: The Biography of a Family (St. Clair, William), 425, 499

Goethe (Reed, T.J), 200

Goethe (Robertson, John G), 200

Goethe (Thomas, Calvin), 200

Goethe: A Psychoanalytical Study 1775–86 (Eissler, Kurt R), 200

Goethe: His Life and Times (Friedenthal, Richard), 200

Goethe: Man and Poet (Nevinson, Henry W), 200

Goethe: The Man and His Character (McCabe, Joseph), 200

Goethe: The Poet and the Age. Volume One: The Poetry of Desire (1749–1790). Volume Two: Revolution and Renunciation (1790–1803) (Boyle, Nicholas), 200

Goethe: The Story of a Man (Lewisohn, Ludwig, ed), 200

Gogol (Gippius, Vasilii), 201

Gogol: A Life (Magarshack, David), 201

Gogol: His Life and Works (Setchkarev, Vsevolod), 201

The Gold of Their Bodies (Gorham, Charles), 189

Golda Meir (Hitzeroth, Deborah), 323

Golda Meir (McAuley, Karen), 323

Golda Meir: A Leader in Peace and War (Amdur, Richard), 323

Golda Meir: Israel’s Leader (Syrkin, Marie), 323

Golda: The Life of Israel’s Prime Minister (Mann, Peggy), 323

Golda: The Romantic Years (Martin, Ralph G), 323

Golda: the Uncrowned Queen of Israel: A Pictorial Biography (Slater, Robert), 323

Golden Admiral (Mason, F. van Wyck), 144

Golden Fleece: The Story of Franz Joseph and Elizabeth of Austria (Harding, Bertita), 174

The Golden Horde, 190

The Golden Knight (Challis, George), 394

Golden Lads: Sir Francis Bacon, Anthony Bacon, and Their Friends (Du Maurier, Daphne), 21

The Golden Lands of Thomas Hobbes (Reik, Miriam M), 225

The Golden Lyre (Gerson, Noel B), 8

The Golden Mistress (Beyea, Basil), 66

The Golden Princess (Baron, Alexander), 113

The Golden Quill: A Novel Based on the Life of Mozart (Grun, Bernard), 340

The Golden Thread (De Wohl, Louis), 238

The Golden Tulip (Laker, Rosalind), 478

The Golden Veil (Kitchen, Paddy), 408, 411

The Golden Warrior: The Life and Legend of Lawrence of Arabia (James, Lawrence), 278

The Golden Warrior: The Story of Harold and William (Muntz, Hope), 494

The Golden Years: A Novel Based on the Life and Loves of Percy Bysshe Shelley (Kenyon, Frank W), 426

The Golden Yoke: A Novel of the War of the Roses (Eckerson, Olive), 395

Goldsmith: Interviews and Recollections (Mikhail, E.H., ed), 203

The Goldsmith's Wife (Plaidy, Jean), 395

Goldy: The Life and Times of Oliver Goldsmith (Sherwin, Oscar), 203

The Goliath Head: A Novel about Caravaggio (Calitri, Charles J), 72

Gone for Soldiers: A Novel of the Mexican War (Shaara, Jeff), 206

Gone to Texas, 232

A Good Day to Die (Blackburn, Thomas W), 431

Good King Richard?: An Account of Richard III and His Reputation 1483–1983 (Potter, Jeremy), 395

Good Morning, Irene (Douglas, Carole Nelson), 34

The Good-matured Man: A Portrait of Oliver Goldsmith (Wibberley, Leonard), 203

Goodbye, My Son (Coryn, M.S), 345

Goodbye, Norma Jean, 334

Goodnight, Sweet Marilyn, 334

Gore Vidal's Lincoln, 206, 284

Gorgeous Hussy, 242, 485

The Gorgeous Hussy (Adams, Samuel H), 242

Gorky (Troyat, Henri), 204

The Gospel According to Jesus Christ (Saramago, Jose), 248

The Gospel According to St. Matthew, 248

The Gospel According to the Son (Mailer, Norman), 248

The Gospel of Corax (Park, Paul), 248

The Gospel of the Beloved Disciple (Carse, James P), 248

Gothic, 425, 426, 67

Gothic Romance (Carrere, Emmanuel), 425

Government by Pen: Scotland Under James VI and I (Lee, Maurice), 244

Goya (Salas, Xavier de), 205

Goya (Wright, Patricia), 205

Goya: A Biography (Ripley, Elizabeth), 205

Goya: A Pictorial Biography (Holland, Vyvyan B), 205

Goya: A Witness of His Times (Gassier, Pierre), 205

Goya and His Critics (Glendinning, Nigel), 205

Goya and the Duchess of Alba (Waldmann, Susann), 205

Goya and the Impossible Revolution (Williams, Gwyn A) , 205

Goya and the Spirit of the Enlightenment (Perez Sanchez, Alfonso E., and Eleanor A.Sayre), 205

Goya: His Life and Art, 205

Goya: Man Among Kings (Hull, Anthony), 205

Goya: Painter of Terrible Splendor (Baticle, Jeannine), 205

Goya: The Origins of the Modern Temper in Art (Licht, Fred), 205

Grace to a Witty Sinner: A Life of Donne (Le Comte, Edward), 140

Grand Obsession: Madame Curie and Her World (Pflaum, Rosalynd), 118

The Grand Strategy of Philip II (Parker, Geoffrey), 377

Granite and Rainbow: The Hidden Life of Virginia Woolf(Leaska, Mitchell A), 501

Grant: A Biography (McFeely, William S), 206

Grant and Lee: A Study in Personality and Generalship (Fuller, J.F.C), 206, 279

Grant in Peace: From Appomattox to Mount McGregor: A Personal Record (Badeau, Adam), 206

Grant Moves South (Catton, Bruce), 206

Grant Speaks (Ehrlich, Ev), 206

Grant Takes Command (Catton, Bruce), 206

Grant's War: A Novel of the Civil War (Jones, Ted), 206

Gray Fox: Robert E.Lee and the Civil War (Davis, Burke), 279

Gray Victory (Skimin, Robert), 279

Gray Wolf, Mustafa Kemal: An Intimate Study of a Dictator (Armstrong, H.C), 13

Great Ambitions: A Story of the Early Years of Charles Dickens (Kyle, Elisabeth), 134

The Great American Myth (Bryan, George S), 43

The Great American Rascal: The Turbulent Life of Aaron Burr (Vail, Philip), 66

Great Black Russian (Killens, John Oliver), 387

Great Captain (Morrow, Honoré), 284

Great Captains Unveiled (Liddell Hart, B.H), 190

Great Catherine, 83

Great Catherine (Erickson, Carolly), 83

Great Catherine: A Thumbnail Sketch of Russian Court Life in the XVIII Century (Whom Glory Still Adores) (Shaw, George Bernard), 83

Great Contemporaries (Winston S.Churchill), 97

The Great Corinthian: A Portrait of the Prince Regent (Leslie, Doris), 193

The Great Gilbert and Sullivan, 197–198

Great Harry (Erickson, Carolly), 221

The Great Indian Novel (Tharoor, Shashi), 348

Great Lady of the Theatre: Sarah Bernhardt (Noble, Iris), 34

Great Lion of God (Caldwell, Taylor), 369

The Great Little Madison (Fritz, Jean), 299–300

The Great Man: A Portrait of Winston Churchill (Payne, Robert), 97

The Great Meadow (Roberts, Elizabeth Madox), 42

The Great Melody: A Thematic Biography and Commented Anthology of Edmund Burke (O'Brien, Conor Cruise), 64

Great Missouri Raid, 246

The Great Northfield Minnesota Raid, 246

The Great Pierpont Morgan (Allen, Frederick L), 337

The Great Rogue: A Biography of Captain John Smith (Gerson, Noel B), 433

The Great Roxhythe (Heyer, Georgette), 91

The Great Stream of History: A Biography of Richard M.Nixon (Nadel, Laurie), 357

Great Time Coming: The Life of Jackie Robinson from Baseball to Birmingham (Falkner, David), 402

Great Tom: Notes Toward the Definition of T.S. Eliot (Matthews, Thomas S), 159

The Great Triumvirate: Webster, Clay, and Calhoun (Peterson, Merrill D), 485, 68, 99

Great Upon the Mountain: The Story of Crazy Horse, Legendary Mystic and Warrior (Brown, Vinson), 115

The Great War and the Shaping of the 20th Century, 296

Great Westerner: The Story of Kit Carson (Blackwelder, Bernice), 76

The Greatest, 304

The Greatest Showman on Earth: A Biography of P.T.Barnum (Tompert, Ann), 24

The Greatest Story Ever Told, 248

The Greatest Story Ever Told (Oursler, Fulton), 248

The Greatness of Flaubert (Nadeau, Maurice), 167

The Greatness of Oliver Cromwell (Ashley, Maurice), 117

The Greek of Toledo: A Romantic Narrative about El Greco (Borton, Elizabeth), 207, 462

The Greek Tycoon, 359

The Green Salamander (Hill, Pamela), 315

Grishin (Herlin, Hans), 280

Gross Indecency: The Three Trials of Oscar Wilde (Kaufman, Moises), 492

The Grove of Eagles (Graham, Winston), 389

Grover Cleveland (Tugwell, Rexford G), 101

Grover Cleveland: A Man Four-Square (Lynch, Denis T), 101

Grover Cleveland: A Study in Courage (Nevins, Allan), 101

Grover Cleveland, 1837–1908: Chronology, Documents, Bibliographical Aids (Vexler, Robert I), 101

Grover Cleveland, the Man and Statesman: An Authorized Biography (McElroy, Robert), 101

Grover Cleveland: Twenty-Second and Twenty-Fourth President of the United States (Kent, Zachary), 101

Grover Cleveland: 22nd and 24th President of the United States (Collins, David R), 101

Guide to the Works of John Dewey (Boydston, Jo Ann, ed), 132

Guide to Thomas Aquinas (Pieper, Josef), 10

Guns or Butter: The Presidency of Lyndon Johnson (Bernstein, Irving), 252

Gustav (Blaukopf, Kurt), 302

Gustav Mahler (Walter, Bruno), 302

Gustav Mahler: An Essential Guide to His Life and Works (Haylock, Julian), 302

Gustav Mahler and the Courage to Be (Holbrook, David), 302

Gustav Mahler: His Mind and His Music (Cardus, Neville), 302

Gustav Mahler: Memories and Letters (Mahler, Alma), 302

Gustav Mahler: Song-Symphonist (Engel, Gabriel), 302

Gustav Mahler: Songs and Symphonies of Life and Death (Mitchell, Donald), 302

Gustav Mahler: The Early Years (Mitchell, Donald), 302

Gustav Mahler: The Wunderhorn Years (Mitchell, Donald), 302

Gustav Mahler: Vienna: The Years of Challenge 1897–1904 (La Grange, Henry-Louis de) , 302

Gustav Mahler: Vienna, Triumph and Disillusion 1904–1907 (La Grange, Henry-Louis de), 302

H.G.: The History of Mr. Wells (Foot, Michael), 487

H.G.Wells (Nardo, Don), 487

H.G.Wells: A Biography (Brome, Vincent), 487

H.G.Wells: A Biography (MacKenszie, Norman, and Jeanne MacKenszie), 487

H.G.Wells and Rebecca West (Ray, Gordon N), 487

H.G.Wells: Aspects of a Life (West, Anthony), 487

An H.G.Wells Chronology (Hammond, J.R), 487

H.G.Wells, Desperately Mortal: A Biography (Smith, David C), 487

H.G.Wells: First Citizen of the Future (Ferrell, Keith), 487

H.G.Wells: His Turbulent Life and Times (Dickson, Lovat), 487

H.G.Wells: Interviews and Recollections (Hammond, J.R., ed), 487

H.L.Mencken: Iconoclast from Baltimore (Stenerson, Douglas C), 325

The H.L.Mencken Murder Case (Swaim, Don), 325

H.L.Mencken Revisited (Williams, William H.A), 325

H.M.Stanley: The Authorized Life (Hird, Frank), 437

H.—: The Story of Heathcliff’s Journey Back to Wuthering Heights (Haire-Sargeant, Lin), 53–57

“Half Brother, Half Son ”: The Letters of Louis D. Brandeis to Felix Frankfurter, 51

Hamilton (Hendrickson, Robert A), 209

The Hand of Michelangelo (Alexander, Sidney), 328

Handel (Burrows, Donald), 210

Handel (Dent, Edward J), 210

Handel (Hogwood, Christopher), 210

Handel (Sadie, Stanley), 210

Handel (Weinstock, Herbert), 210

Handel: A Documentary Biography (Deutsch, Otto E), 210

Handel and His World (Landon, H.C.Robbins), 210

Handel: The Man and His Music (Keates, Jonathan), 210

The Handsome Sailor (Duberstein, Larry), 324

Hanna ‘s War, 32

Hannibal (Bradford, Ernie), 211

Hannibal (Dodge, Theodore A), 211

Hannibal (Green, Robert), 211

Hannibal (Lancel, Serge), 211

Hannibal (Leckie, Ross), 211

Hannibal Across the Alps: The Enigma Reexamined (Prevas, John), 211

Hannibal: Challenging Rome’s Supremacy (De Beer, Sir Gavin), 211

Hannibal: Enemy of Rome (Cottrell, Leonard), 211

Hannibal: Man of Destiny (Taleb, Mirza), 211

Hannibal of Carthage (Dolan, Mary), 211

Hannibal: One Man Against Rome (Lamb, Harold), 211

Hannibal’s Lieutenant (Capps, Robert S), 211

Hannibal’s War (Peddie, John), 211

Hannibal’s War: A Military History of the Second Punic War (Lazenby, J.F), 211

Happy Days (H.L.Mencken), 325

The Harding Era: Warren G.Harding and His Administration (Murray, Robert K), 212

Hardy (Seymour-Smith, Martin), 213

Hardy of Wessex (Weber, Carl), 213

Harlequin Sheridan: The Man and the Legends (Rhodes, R.Crompton), 427

Harold: The Last of the Saxon Kings (Lytton, Edward Bulwer), 494

Harold Was My King (Lewis, Hilda W), 494

The Harp and the Shadow (Carpentier, Alejo), 104, 417

Harp Song for a Radical: The Life and Times of Eugene Victor Debs (Young, Marguerite), 126

Harpers Ferry: A Play about John Brown (Stavis, Barrie), 58

Harriet Beecher Stowe (Coil, Suzanne M), 443

Harriet Beecher Stowe (Gilbertson, Cathrene), 443

Harriet Beecher Stowe: A Biography (Gerson, Noel B), 443

Harriet Beecher Stowe: A Life (Hedrick, Joan), 443

Harriet Beecher Stowe and the Beecher Preachers (Fritz, Jean), 443

Harriet Beecher Stowe: The Known and the Unknown (Wagenknecht, Edward), 443

Harriet Beecher Stowe: The Story of Her Life (Stowe, Charles E., and Lyman Beecher Stowe), 443

Harriet Bosse: Strindberg’s Muse and Interpreter (Waal, Carla), 446

Harriet: The Life and World of Harriet Beecher Stowe (Johnston, Norma), 443

Harriet Tubman (Conrad, Earl), 470

Harriet Tubman: Antislavery Activist, 470

Harriet Tubman: Antislavery Activist (Taylor, M.W), 470

Harriet Tubman: Conductor on the Underground Railroad (Petry, Ann) , 470

Harriet Tubman: Slavery and the Underground Railroad (McClard, Megan), 470

Harry Houdini: Master of Magic (Kraske, Robert), 231

Harry S.Truman, 468

Harry S.Truman (Feinberg, Barbara S), 468

Harry S.Truman (Leavell, J.Perry), 468

Harry S.Truman (Truman, Margaret), 468

Harry S.Truman: A Life (Ferrell, Robert H), 468

Harry S.Truman and the Modern American Presidency (Ferrell, Robert H), 468

The Harry S.Truman Encyclopedia (Kirkendall, Richard S., ed), 468

Harry S.Truman: Fair Dealer and Cold Warrior (Pemberton, William E), 468

Harry S.Truman, President (Fleming, Thomas), 468

Harry Truman: A Political Biography (Helm, William P), 468

Haunted Summer, 425, 426, 67

Haunted Summer (Edwards, Anne), 425, 426, 67

The Haunting of Lamb House (Aiken, Joan), 245, 489

Haworth Harvest: The Lives of the Brontës (Morrison, Nancy B), 53–57

Hawthorne (Arvin, Newton), 215

Hawthorne (James, Henry), 215

Hawthorne: A Study in Solitude (German, Herbert), 215

Hawthorne’s Secret: An Untold Tale (Young, Philip), 215

Haydn & Mozart, 216

Haydn (Barbaud, Pierre), 216

Haydn (Brenet, Michel), 216

Haydn (Butterworth, Neil), 216

Haydn (Hadden, J.Cuthbert), 216

Haydn (Hughes, Rosemary), 216

Haydn (Landon, H.C.Robbins, and Henry Raynor), 216

Haydn (Mirsky, Reba P), 216

Haydn (Thompson, Wendy), 216

Haydn: A Creative Life in Music (Geiringer, Karl, and Irene Geiringer), 216

Haydn: A Documentary Study (Landon, H.C.Robbins), 216

Haydn and His World (Sisman, Elaine R., ed), 216

Haydn: Chronicle and Works (Landon, H.C.Robbins), 216

Haydn: His Life and Music (Landon, H.C.Robbins, and David Wyn Jones), 216

He Freed the Minds of Men: René Descartes (Hoyt, Edwin P), 131

A Health Unto His Majesty (Plaidy, Jean), 91

The Hearst and Davies Affair, 217

Hearst and the New Deal: The Progressive as Reactionary (Carlisle, Rodney P), 217

Hearst: Lord of San Simeon (Carlson, Oliver, and Ernest Sutherland Bates), 217

The Hearsts: Family and Empire: The Later Years (Chancy, Lindsay, and Michael Cieply), 217

The Hearsts: Father and Son (Hearst, William Randolph Jr., with Jack Casserly), 217

Heart Beat, 269

The Heart Is a Traitor (Abbey, Margaret), 395

Heart of a Queen (Delves-Broughton, Josephine), 160

The Heart of Boswell: Six Journals in One Volume, 48

Heart of the Lion (Plaidy, Jean), 394

The Heart that Would Not Hold: A Biography of Washington Irving (Johnston, Johanna), 239

Heartbreak Hotel, 384

Hearts of Hickory: A Story of Andrew Jackson and the War of 1812 (Moore, John T), 242

Heathen Days (H.L.Mencken), 325

Hector Berlioz (Wotton, Tom S), 33

Hector Berlioz: Rational Romantic (Crabbe, John), 33

Heine (Robertson, Ritchie), 218

Heine’s Jewish Comedy (Prawer, S.S), 218

Heinrich Heine (Spencer, Hanna), 218

Heinrich Heine: A Modern Biography (Sammons, Jeffrey L), 218

Heinrich Heine: Paradox and Poet: The Life (Untermyer, Louis), 218

The Heir Apparent: Robert Kennedy and the Struggle for Power (Shannon, William V), 268

The Heir of Allington (Wiat, Philippa), 40

Helen and Teacher: The Story of Helen Keller and Anne Sullivan Macy (Lash, Joseph P), 266

Helen Keller (Davidson, Margaret), 266

Helen Keller (Markham, Lois), 266

Helen Keller (Wepman, Dennis), 266

Helen Keller: A Life (Herrmann, Dorothy), 266

Helen Keller in Her Story, 266

Helen Keller: Sketch for a Portrait (Brooks, Van Wyck) , 266

Hellfire Jackson (Roark, Garland), 232

Hello, Alexander Graham Bell Speaking: A Biography (Lewis, Cynthia Copeland), 31

Hemingway, 219, 383

Hemingway (Lynn, Kenneth S), 219

Hemingway: A Biography (Meyers, Jeffrey), 219

Hemingway: A Life Without Consequences (Mellow, James R), 219

Hemingway in Cuba, 219

Hemingway, Life and Works (Nelson, Gerald B., and Glory James), 219

Hemingway: The Final Years (Reynolds, Michael S), 219

Hemingway: The 1930s (Reynolds, Michael S), 219

Hemingway: The Paris Years (Reynolds, Michael S), 219

The Hemingway Women (Kert, Bernice), 219

Hemingway's Adventures of a Young Man, 219

Henri de Toulouse-Lautrec, Artist (Bryant, Jennifer), 465

Henri Matisse (Kostenevich, A.G), 317

Henrik Ibsen (Gosse, Edmund), 237

Henrik Ibsen, 1828–88: A Critical Biography (Jaeger, Henrik B), 237

Henrik Ibsen: Life and Drama (Jorgenson, Theodore), 237

Henry and Clara (Mallon, Thomas), 284

Henry Clay (Clay, Thomas Hart, and Ellis P. Oberholtzer), 99

Henry Clay and the Art of American Politics (Eaton, Clement), 99

Henry Clay and the Whig Party (Poage, George R), 99

Henry Clay: Leader in Congress (Peterson, Helen S), 99

Henry Clay: Spokesman of the New West (Mayo, Bernard), 99

Henry Clay: Statesman for the Union (Remini, Robert V), 99

Henry David Thoreau (Miller, Douglas T), 461

Henry David Thoreau (Schneider, Richard J), 461

Henry David Thoreau: American Naturalist (Anderson, Peter), 461

Henry Fielding (Jenkins, Elizabeth), 165

Henry Fielding (Thomas, Donald S), 165

Henry Fielding: A Biography (Rogers, Pat), 165

Henry Fielding: A Life (Battestin, Martin C., and Ruth Battestin), 165

Henry Fielding: A Literary Life (Pagliaro, Harold E), 165

Henry Fielding and the London Theatre 1728–37 (Hume, Robert D), 165

Henry Fielding: His Life, Works, and Times (Dudden, F.Homes), 165

Henry Fielding, Novelist and Magistrate (Jones, Benjamin M), 165

Henry Ford (Harris, Jacqueline L), 168

Henry Ford (Rae, John B., ed), 168

Henry Ford: A Great Life in Brief (Burlingame, Roger), 168

Henry Ford: An Interpretation (Marquis, Samuel S), 168

Henry Ford: His Life, His Work, His Genius (Simonds, William A), 168

Henry Ford: The Wayward Capitalist (Gelderman, Carol), 168

Henry Ford: Young Man with Ideas (Aird, Hazel B), 168

Henry IV (Buisseret, David), 220

Henry James: A Life in Letters, 245

Henry James: A Literary Life (Graham, Kenneth), 245

Henry James at Home (Hyde, H.Montgomery), 245

Henry James: Autobiography, 245

A Henry James Encyclopedia (Gale, Robert L), 245

Henry James: Interviews and Recollections (Page, Norman, ed), 245

Henry James: Man and Author (Edgar, Pelham), 245

Henry James' Midnight Song (Hill, Carol DeChellis), 177, 245, 259, 489

Henry James: The Conquest of London, 1870–81 (Edel, Leon), 245

Henry James: The Imagination of Genius (Kaplan, Fred), 245

Henry James: The Master, 1901–16 (Edel, Leon), 245

Henry James: The Middle Years, 1882–95 (Edel, Leon), 245

Henry James: The Treacherous Years, 1895–1901 (Edel, Leon), 245

Henry James: The Untried Years, 1843–70 (Edel, Leon), 245

Henry James: The Young Master (Novick, Sheldon M), 245

Henry Lunt and the Ranger (McNamara, Tom), 255

Henry Morton Stanley, 437

Henry of Navarre (Gross, Albert C), 220

Henry of Navarre (Hurst, Quentin), 220

Henry of Navarre (Sedgwick, Henry D), 220

Henry of Navarre and the Huguenots in France (Willert, P.F), 220

Henry of Navarre: Henry IV of France (Russell of Liverpool (Edward F.I.)), 220

Henry of Navarre: Le Vert-Galant (Vioux, Marcelle), 220

Henry of Navarre: The King Who Dared (Pearson, Hesketh), 220

Henry St. John, Gentleman (Cooke, John Esten), 222

Henry Stanley and David Livingstone (Clinton, Susan), 287, 437

Henry Stanley and the European Explorers of Africa (Sherman, Steven), 437

Henry Stanley and the Quest for the Source of the Nile (Cohen, Daniel), 437

Henry the Eighth (Hackett, Francis), 221

Henry Thoreau: A Life of the Mind (Richardson, Robert D), 461

Henry Thoreau: Bachelor of Nature (Bazalgette, Leon), 461

Henry VI, part I (Shakespeare, William), 249

Henry VIII (Dwyer, Frank), 221

Henry VIII (Pollard, A.F), 221

Henry VIII (Ridley, Jasper), 221

Henry VIII (Scarisbrick, Jack J), 221

Henry VIII (Shakespeare, William), 221

Henry VIII: A Biography (Bowle, John), 221

Henry VIII and His Court (Williams, Neville), 221

Henry VIII and His Six Wives (Peters, Maureen), 221, 40

Henry VIII of England (Pittenger, W.Norman), 221

Henry VIII: The Mask of Royalty (Smith, Lacey B), 221

Henry W.Longfellow: Biography, Anecdotes, Letters, Criticism (Kennedy, W.Sloane), 291

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow (Williams, Cecil B), 291

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow: A Biographical Sketch (Underwood, Francis H), 291

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow: A Sketch of His Life Together with Longfellow's Chief Autobiographical Poems (Norton, Charles Eliot), 291

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow: America's Beloved Poet (Lukes, Bonnie L), 291

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow: His Life (Peare, Catherine O), 291

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow: Portrait of an American Humanist (Wagenknecht, Edward), 291

Her Life, Letters, and Journals (Louisa May Alcott), 6

Her Little Majesty: The Life of Queen Victoria (Erickson, Carolly), 479

Her Majesty's Captain (Wilson, Derek), 389

Her Name Was Sojourner Truth (Pauli, Hertha), 469

Her Royal Destiny (Eady, Carol Maxwell), 221

Herbert C.Hoover, 31st President of the United States (Polikoff, Barbara G), 227

Herbert Hoover: A Challenge for Today (Wilson, Carol G), 227

Herbert Hoover: A Public Life (Burner, David), 227

Herbert Hoover and the Great Depression (Warren, Harris G), 227

Herbert Hoover, 1874–1964: Chronological-Documents-Bibliographical Aids (Rice, Arnold S), 227

Herbert Hoover: Forgotten Progressive (Hoff Wilson, Joan), 227

Herbert Hoover: The Postpresidential Years, 1933–1964 (Best, Gary D), 227

Herbert Hoover, Thirty-first President of the United States (Clinton, Susan), 227

Here Comes the King (Lindsay, Philip), 221

Here I Stand (Paul Robeson), 400

Here I Stand: A Life of Martin Luther (Bainton, Roland), 295

Here Lies Margot (Hill, Pamela), 92

Here Lies Our Sovereign Lord (Plaidy, Jean), 91

Here Lies Richard Brinsley Sheridan (Foss, Kenelm), 427

Here Was a Man (Lofts, Norah), 389

The Heretic (Macleod, Alison), 70

Herman Melville (Arvin, Newton), 324

Herman Melville (Hardwick, Elizabeth), 324

Herman Melville (Kirby, David K), 324

Herman Melville (Mumford, Lewis), 324

Herman Melville (Steffoff, Rebecca), 324

Herman Melville: A Biography (Howard, Leon), 324

Herman Melville: A Biography. Volume I, 1819–1851 (Parker, Hershel), 324

Herman Melville: American Writer, 1819–1891, 324

Herman Melville: Consider the Sea, 324

Herman Melville: Cycle and Epicycle (Metcalf, Eleanor Melville), 324

Herman Melville: Damned in Paradise, 324

A Herman Melville Encyclopedia (Gale, Robert L), 324

Herman Melville: Mariner and Mystic (Weaver, Raymond), 324

Hernán Cortés (Wepman, Dennis), 113

Hernán Cortés: Conqueror of Mexico (Madariaga, Salvador de), 113

Hernando Cortés (Lilley, Stephen R), 113

Herndon 's Lincoln: The True Story of a Great Life (Herndon, William H., and Jesse W.Weik), 284

The Hero: Charles A.Lindbergh and the American Dream (Davis, Kenneth S), 285

Hero of Modern Turkey: Atatürk (Heller, Deane Fons), 13

Hero of Trafalgar (Whipple, A.B.C), 349

Heroes of the Empty View (Aldridge, James), 278

The Hesitant Heart (Edwards, Anne), 135

A Hesitation Before Birth: The Life of Franz Kafka (Mailloux, Peter), 262

The Hidden Jesus (Spoto, Donald), 248

Hidden Latitudes (Anderson, Alison), 151

The Hidden Life of Emily Dickinson (Walsh, John E), 135

The Hidden Michelangelo (Salvini, Roberto), 328

High Heroic (FitzGibbon, Constantine), 288

High Heroic (Fitzgibbon, Constantine), 507, 97

High Midnight (Kaminsky, Stuart M), 219

High on the Mainmast: A Biography of Herman Melville (Keyes, Charlotte E), 324

The Highwayman and Mr. Dickens (Palmer, William J), 134

Hill Country (Windle, Janice Woods), 252

Hill of the Hawk (O'Dell, Scott), 76

The Hinge of the World (Goodwin, Richard), 181

The Hireling (Macleod, Alison), 70

Hiroshima, 361, 468

His Brother's Keeper: A Psychobiography of Samuel Taylor Coleridge (Weissman, Stephen M), 102

His Day Is Marching On: A Memoir of W.E.B.Du Bois (Du Bois, Shirley G), 147

His Way: The Unauthorized Biography of Frank Sinatra (Kelley, Kitty), 430

His Weird and Wanton Ways: The Secret Life of Howard Hughes (Mathison, Richard R), 233

The Historical Figure of Jesus (Sanders, E.P), 248

The Historical Jesus: A Comprehensive Guide (Theissen, Gerd, and Annette Merz), 248

The Historical Whitman (Rubin, Joseph J), 491

The Histories (Polybius), 211

The History of Friedrich II of Prussia (Carlyle, Thomas), 175

The History of Henry Esmond (Thackeray, William Makepeace), 448

The History of Henry Fielding (Cross, Wilbur L), 165

The History of King Richard III (More, Thomas), 395

The History of Saint Catherine of Siena and Her Companions (Drane, Mrs. Augusta T), 82

History of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, Period I. History of Joseph Smith, the Prophet, by Himself, 434

History of the Conquest of Mexico (Prescott, William H), 113

The History of the Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire (Gibbon, Edward), 108, 260–261

A History of the Later Roman Empire from the Death of Theodosius to the Death of Justinian (Bury, John B), 260–261

History of the Life and Reign of Richard the Third (Gairdner, James), 395

History of the Life and Times of James Madison (Rives, William C), 299–300

A History of the Life and Voyages of Christopher Columbus (Irving, Washington), 104

The History of the Reign of Ferdinand and Isabella (Prescott, William H), 240

History of the Standard Oil Company (Tarbell, Ida M), 403

History of Woman Suffrage (Susan B.Anthony), 9

Hitch: The Life and Times of Alfred Hitchcock

(Taylor, John Russell), 223

Hitchcock (Truffaut, François, and Helen G. Scott), 223

Hitchcock and Selznick: The Rich and Strange Collaboration of Alfred Hitchcock and David O. Selznick in Hollywood (Leff, Leonard J), 223

Hitchcock on Hitchcock: Selected Writings and Interviews, 223

A Hitchcock Reader (Deutelbaum, Marshall, and Leland Poague, eds), 223

Hitchcock's Notebooks: An Authorized and Illustrated Look Inside the Creative Mind of Alfred Hitchcock, 223

Hitler, 224

Hitler & Geli (Hayman, Ronald), 224

Hitler (Fest, Joachim C), 224

Hitler (Stone, Norman), 224

Hitler: A Chronology of His Life and Times (Hauner, Milan), 224

Hitler, a Study in Tyranny (Bullock, Alan), 224

Hitler and Stalin, 436

Hitler and Stalin: Parallel Lives (Bullock, Alan), 224, 436

Hitler: Diagnosis of a Destructive Prophet (Redlich, Fritz), 224

Hitler: 1889–1936: Hubris (Kershaw, Ian), 224

Hitler in Liverpool (Antrobus, John), 224

Hitler: Legend, Myth, and Reality (Maser, Werner), 224

The Hitler of History (Lukacs, John), 224

Hitler: The Last Ten Days, 224

Hitler: The Path to Power (Flood, Charles B), 224

Hitler: The Pictorial Documentary of His Life (Toland, John), 224

Hitler: The Whole Story, 224

Hitler's Angel (Rusch, Kristine Katherine), 224

Hitler's Niece (Hansen, Ron), 224

Hitler's Secret Diaries (Levine, Jacques), 224

Hitler's Vienna: A Dictator's Apprenticeship (Hamann, Brigitte), 224

Hobbes (Robertson, George C), 225

Hobbes (Tuck, Richard), 225

Hobbes: A Biography (Martinich, Aloysius), 225

Hoffman's Row (Carnahan, Walter), 284

Hogarth (Bindman, David), 226

Hogarth (Dobson, Austin), 226

Hogarth: A Life and a World (Uglow, Jennifer), 226

Hogarth: His Art and His World (Lindsay, Jack), 226

Hogarth: His Life, Art, and Times (Paulson, Ronald), 226

Hogarth's Progress (Quennell, Peter), 226

Hollywood (Vidal, Gore), 497

Hollywood: A Novel of America in the 1920s (Vidal, Gore), 212

The Holy Lover (Oemler, Marie C), 488

Holy Terror: Andy Warhol Close Up (Colacello, Bob), 482

Holy Week (Aragon, Louis), 345

Homage to Catalonia (George Orwell), 362

Homage to Chagall, 86

The Home Life of Swinburne (Watts-Duntton, Clara), 449

Home to Kentucky: A Novel of Henry Clay (Crabb, Alfred L), 99

Home to the Hermitage: A Novel of Andrew and Rachel Jackson (Crabb, Alfred L), 242

Homeland (Jakes, John), 126, 26

Honest John Adams (Chinard, Gilbert), 2

Honoré de Balzac (Festa-McCormack, Diana), 23

Honoré de Balzac: A Biography (Hunt, Herbert J), 23

Honor's Voice: The Transformation of Abraham Lincoln (Wilson, Douglas L), 284

The Hooded Hawk: Or the Case of Mr. Boswell (Lewis, D.B.Wyndham), 48

Hoodlum, 161

Hoover's FBI: The Inside Story by Hoover's Trusted Lieutenant (Deloach, Cartha D), 228

The Hope (Wouk, Herman), 32

Hopkins: A Literary Biography (White, Norman), 229

Hopkins the Jesuit: The Years of Training (Thomas, Alfred), 229

Horace: A Biography (Sedgwick, Henry D), 230

Horace: A Life (Levi, Peter), 230

Horace: A Portrait (Noyes, Alfred), 230

Horace and His Age (D'Alton, John F), 230

Horace and His Lyric Poetry (Wilkinson, L.P), 230

Horatio Nelson (Pocock, Tom), 349

Horatio Nelson and the Battle of Trafalgar, 349

The Horn and the Roses: A Novel Based on the Life of Peter Paul Rubens (Wallach, Ira J), 410

The Horror of Life: Charles Baudelaire, Jules de Goncourt, Gustave Flaubert, Guy de Maupassant, Alphonse Daudet (Williams, Roger L), 27

Horseshoe Bend (Palmer, Bruce), 242

Hortensius, Friend of Nero (Pargeter, Edith), 350

Hospital Sketches (Louisa May Alcott), 6

Hostage to Fortune: The Troubled Life of Francis Bacon (Jardine, Lisa, and Alan Stewart), 21

Houdini, 231

Houdini (Alden, Laura), 231

Houdini: A Mind in Chains: A Psychoanalytic Portrait (Meyer, Bernard C), 231

Houdini: His Life and Art (Randi, James, and Bert R.Sugar), 231

Houdini: His Life Story (Kelleck, Harold), 231

Houdini Never Died, 231

Houdini!!! The Career of Ehrich Weiss (Silverman, Kenneth), 231

Houdini: The Life of the World's Greatest Escapologist, 231

Houdini, the Man Who Walked through Walls (Gresham, William L), 231

Houdini: The Untold Story (Christopher, Milbourne), 231

The Hours (Cunningham, Michael), 501

The Hours and Times, 281

House Divided (Williams, Ben Ames), 284, 58

A House Divided: The Lives of Ulysses S.Grant and Robert E.Lee (Archer, Jules), 279

The House of Life: Rachel Carson at Work (Brooks, Paul), 77

The House of Morgan (Hoyt, Edwin P), 337

The House of Morgan: A Social Biography of the Masters of Money (Corey, Lewis), 337

The House of Morgan: An American Banking Dynasty and the Rise of Modern Finance (Chernow, Ron), 337

The House of War (Gavin, Catherine), 13

A House of Women (Malpass, Eric), 423

The House on Garibaldi Street, 32

How Do I Love Thee (Iremonger, Lucille), 59–60

How Do I Love Thee: The Story of Elizabeth Barrett (Waite, Helen Elmira), 59–60

How Far from Austerlitz?: Napoleon 1805–1815 (Horne, Alistair), 345

How I Found Livingstone (Sir Henry M.Stanley), 437

How Pasteur Changed History: The Story of Louis Pasteur and the Pasteur Institute (Reynolds, Moira D), 366

How We Invented the Airplane (Wilbur Wright and Orville Wright), 505–506

Howard Hughes (Keats, John), 233

The Howard Hughes Affair (Kaminsky, Stuart M), 233, 52

Howard Hughes: The Hidden Years (Phelan, James), 233

Howard Hughes: The Secret Life (Higham, Charles), 233

Howard Hughes: The Untold Story (Brown, Peter H., and Pat H.Broeske), 233

The Hoyden and Mr. Dickens (Palmer, William J), 134

Hugh Wynne, Free Quaker (Mitchell, Silas W), 276

Hughes & Harlow: Angels in Hell, 233

The Huguenots and Henry of Navarre (Baird, Henry M), 220

Humbug: The Art of P.T.Barnum (Harris, Neil), 24

Hungarian Rhapsody: The Life of Franz Liszt (Rousselot, Jean), 286, 33, 95

A Hunger for Home: Louisa May Alcott and Little Women (Elbert, Sarah), 6

The Hunt and the Feast: A Life of Ernest Hemingway (Tessitore, John), 219

The Hunt for the Czar (Richards, Guy), 354

Huxley: A Biographical Introduction (Thody, Philip), 236

Huxley in Hollywood (Dunaway, David K), 236

I Accuse!, 509

I Am a Stranger on Earth: The Story of Vincent Van Gogh (Dobrin, Arnold), 475

I Am Houston (Wade, Mary D), 232

“I Am Looking to the North for My Life”—Sitting Bull, 1876–1881 (Manzione, Joseph A), 431

I Am Mary Tudor (Lewis, Hilda W), 221, 314

I am Memory Come Alive: Autobiographical Writings (Franz Kafka), 262

I Am of Irelaunde: A Novel of Patrick and Osian (Osborne-McKnight, Julienne), 367

I Am Vidocq (McConnor, Vincent), 148, 23

I Been There Before (Carkeet, David), 473

I, Caesar: Ruling the Roman Empire (Grabsky, Phil), 17, 350

I Can Remember Robert Louis Stevenson (Masson, Rosaline O), 442

I, Claudius, 17, 350

I, Claudius (Graves, Robert), 17

I, Elizabeth: The Word of a Queen (Miles, Rosalind), 160

I Give You Oscar Wilde: A Biographical Novel (Hall, Desmond), 492

I Have a Dream: The Life and Times of Martin Luther King Jr (Davis, Lenwood G), 273

“I Have Done My Duty”: Florence Nightingale in the Crimean War, 1854–56, 356

I Have Not Yet Begun to Fight: A Life of John Paul Jones (Mackay, James A), 255

I, J.F.K (Mayer, Robert), 267

I, James McNeill Whistler (Williams, Lawrence), 411

I, James McNeill Whistler: An Autobiography (Williams, Lawrence), 490

I, Jane Austen: A Re-creation in Rime Royal Based on the Letters of Jane Austen, Her Novels and the Comments of Her Biographers (Corringham, Mary), 19

I, Jesse James (Ross, James R), 246

I, Juan de Parega (Treviño, Elizabeth Borton de), 476

I, Krupskaya: My Life with Lenin (Casey, Jane B), 280

I Marched with Hannibal (Baumann, Hans), 211

I May Not Get Therewith You: The True Martin Luther King Jr (Dyson, Michael E), 273

I, Michelangelo, Sculptor: An Autobiography Through Letters (Michelangelo Buonarroti), 328

I Never Came to You in White (Fair, Judith), 135

I Never Had It Made (Jackie Robinson), 402

I, Paul (Miller, Rex), 369

I, Rembrandt (Weiss, David), 391, 435

I Remember Balanchine: Recollections of a Ballet Master by Those Who Knew Him (Mason, Francis), 22

I Remember Nelson, 349

I Served Caesar (Winn, Derek), 258

I Shot Andy Warhol, 482

I Shot Jesse James, 246

I, the King (Clewes, Howard), 92

I, the King (Kesten, Hermann), 377

I Told You So! : A Life of H.G.Wells (Wood, James P), 487

I, Victoria (Harrod-Eagles, Cynthia), 479

I Wanted to Write a Poem: The Autobiography of the Works of a Poet (William Carlos Williams), 496

I Was Amelia Earhart (Mendelsohn, Jane), 151

I Will Be Called John: A Biography of Pope John XXIII (Elliott, Lawrence), 250

I Wonder as I Wander: An Autobiography (Langston Hughes), 234

Ibsen: A Biography (Meyer, Michael), 237

Ibsen: A Portrait of the Artist (Heiberg, Hans), 237

An Ibsen Companion (Bryan, George B), 237

Ibsen: The Intellectual Background (Downs, Brian W), 237

Ibsen: The Master Builder (Zucker, A.E), 237

Icon in Love: A Novel of Goethe (Koch, Eric), 200

The Idealists (Carlisle, Henry, and Olga Carlisle), 280

Ideas and Opinions (Albert Einstein), 156

The Identity of Yeats (Ellmann, Richard), 507

The Ides of March (Wilder, Thornton), 100, 258

If I Can Dream: Elvis's Own Story (Geller, Larry), 384

If Die: An Autobiography (André Gide), 196

If I Never Get Back (Brock, Darryl), 473

Ignatius Loyola: A Biography of the Founder of the Jesuits (Caraman, Phillip), 238

Ignatius Loyola: A General in the Church Militant (Harvey, Robert), 238

Ignatius of Loyola: The Pilgrim Saint (Tellechea Idigoras, J.Ignacio), 238

Ignatius of Loyola: The Psychology of a Saint (Meissner, William W), 238

Igor Stavinsky: His Life, Works, and Views (Druskin, Mikhail), 445

Igor Stravinsky (Oliver, Michael), 445

Igor Stravinsky: His Life and Times (Dobrin, Arnold), 445

Igor Stravinsky: The Man and His Music (Tansman, Alexandre), 445

Ike, 157, 368

Ike: A Pictorial Biography (Longgood, William F), 157

Ike: Abilene to Berlin (Ambrose, Stephen E), 157

Ike and Mamie: The Story of the General and His Lady (David, Lester, and Irene David), 157

Ike: His Life and Times (Brendon, Piers), 157

Ike the Soldier: As They Knew Him (Miller, Merle), 157

Il Duce: The Life of Benito Mussolini (Hibbert, Christopher), 343

Il Duce: The Rise and Fall of Benito Mussolini (Lyttle, Richard B), 343

The Illusionist (Mason, Anita), 350, 374

The Illustrated Elvis (Harbinson, W.A), 384

The Illustrated Elvis Presley (Giuliano, Geoffrey, and Deborah Lynn Black), 384

The Illustrated Lives of the Great Composers: Handel (Thompson, Wendy), 210

I'm Nobody! Who Are You?: The Story of Emily Dickinson (Barth, Edna) , 135

The Image of the King: A Biography of Charles I and Charles II (Ollard, Richard), 90, 91

Imagine: John Lennon, 281

Imagine: John Lennon (Solt, Andrew, and Sam Egan), 281

Imagining Hitler (Rosenfeld, Alvin H), 224

Immanuel Kant: His Life and Doctrine (Paulsen, S), 264

The Immortal Atatürk: A Psychobiography (Volkan, Vamik D., and Norman Itzkowitz), 13

Immortal Beloved, 30, 327

Immortal Bohemian: An Intimate Memoir of Giacomo Puccini (Fiorentino, Dante del), 386

Immortal Franz: The Life and Loves of a Genius (Harsányi, Zsolt), 286

The Immortal Lovers: Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning: A Biography (Winwar, Frances), 59–60

Immortal Queen (Byrd, Elizabeth), 315

Immortal Sidney (Denkinger, Emma M), 429

Immortal Wife (Stone, Irving), 176

Immortality (Kundera, Milan), 200

The Immortals (Korda, Michael), 267, 334

An Imperial Affair (Haskin, Gretchen), 354

Imperial Charade: A Biography of Emperor Napoleon III and Empress Eugénie (Brodsky, Alyn), 346–347

Imperial Hearst: A Social Biography (Lundberg, Ferdinand), 217

Imperial Patient (Comfort, Alex), 350

Imperial Venus: A Novel of Napoleon's Favorite Sister (Maass, Edgar), 345

Imperial Waltz (Abrahams, William M), 174

The Importance of Anwar Sadat (Diamond, Arthur), 413

The Importance of Clara Barton (Tilton, Rafael), 26

The Importance of Emma Goldman (Gay, Kathlyn, and Martin K.Gay), 202

The Importance of Harry Houdini (Woog, Adam), 231

The Importance of Julius Caesar (Nardo, Don), 258

The Importance of Louis Pasteur (Yount, Lisa), 366

Impressionist: A Novel of Mary Cassatt (King, Joan), 79

Impressions of Lenin (Balabanoff, Angelica), 280

Impromptu, 130, 286, 414, 95

In a Dark Wood Wandering (Haassc, Hella S), 249

In Africa with Schweitzer (Berman, Edgar Dr), 421

In Lambeth (Shepherd, Jack), 363, 38

In Love and War, 219

In Love with Night: The American Romance with Robert Kennedy (Steel, Ronald), 268

In Memory of Borges (Di Giovanni, Norman T., ed), 44

In My Own Words: Evita (Juan Peron and Eva Peron), 372–373

In My Own Words: Pope John XXIII, 250

In Pursuit of Honor, 297

In Pursuit of Reason: The Life of Thomas Jefferson (Cunningham, Noble), 247

In Quest of Dali (Lake, Carlton), 120

In Search of Christopher Marlowe: A Pictorial Biography (Wraight, A.D), 311

In Search of Identity: An Autobiography (Anwar el-Sadat), 413

In Search of Mozart (Ghéon, Henri), 340

In Search of Muhammad (Bennett, Clinton), 341

In Search of Nixon: A Psychohistorical Inquiry (Mazlish, Bruce), 357

In Search of Swift (Johnston, Denis), 448

The In-Shore Squadron (Kent, Alexander), 349

In the Arena: A Memoir of Victory, Defeat, and Renewal (Richard M.Nixon), 357

In the Blazing Light (White, Max), 205

In the Days of McKinley (Leech, Margaret), 320

In the Days of Poor Richard (Bacheller, Irving), 173

In the Field with Teilhard de Chardin (Barbour, George B), 455

In the Footsteps of Alexander the Great, 8

In the Footsteps of Alexander the Great: A Journey from Greece to Asia (Wood, Michael), 8

In the Green Morning: Memories of Federico (García Lorca, Francisco), 184

In the House of the King (Zara, Louis), 314, 377

In the Matter of J.Robert Oppenheimer (Kipphardt, Heinar), 361

In the Presence of the Creator: Isaac Newton and His Times (Christianson, Gale E), 353

In the Shadow of the Brontës (Brindley, Louise), 53–57

In the Shadow of the Crown (Plaidy, Jean), 221

In the Shadow of the Dreamchild: A New Understanding of Lewis Carroll (Leach, Karoline), 75

In the Steps of St. Paul (Morton, Henry C.V), 369

In the Time of the Poisoned Queen (Dukthas, Ann), 314

Inchon!, 297

The Incorruptible (Coryn, M.S), 401

The Incorruptible: A Tale of Revolution and Royalty (De Bois, Helma), 401

Incredible Era: The Life and Times of Warren Gamaliel Harding (Adams, Samuel H), 212

The Incredible Kaiser: A Portrait of William H (Wilson, Lawrence), 493

The Incredible Pierpont Morgan: Financier and Art Collector (Canfield, Cass), 337

India Under Indira and Rajiv Gandhi (Haskins, James), 182

The Indian Chronicles (Barreiro, Jose), 104

An Indian Dynasty: The Story of the Nehru-Gandhi Family (Ali, Tariq), 182

Indira: A Biography of Prime Minister Gandhi (Bhatia, Krishan), 182

Indira Gandhi (Butler, Francelia), 182

Indira Gandhi (Currimbhoy, Nayana), 182

Indira Gandhi (Moraes, Dom F), 182

Indira Gandhi: A Biography (Masani, Zareer), 182

Indira Gandhi: A Personal and Political Biography (Mallhotra, Inder), 182

Indira Gandhi: A Personal and Political Biography (Mohan, Anand), 182

Indira Gandhi: A Profile in Courage (Drieberg, Trevor), 182

Indira Gandhi: An Intimate Biography (Jayaker, Pupul), 182

Indira Gandhi: Her Road to Power (Sahgal, Nayantara), 182

Indira Gandhi in the Crucible of Leadership: A Political Biography (Carras, Mary C), 182

Indiscretions of the Queen (Plaidy, Jean), 193

The Indomitable Teddy Roosevelt, 407

An Infamous Army (Heyer, Georgette), 486

Infamous Woman: The Life of George Sand (Barry, Joseph), 414

The Infection of Thomas De Quincey: A Psychopathology of Imperialism (Barrell, John), 125

The Infernal World of Branwell Brontë (Du Maurier, Daphne), 53–57

The Ingenious Mr. Gainsborough: Thomas Gainsborough: A Biographical Study (Williamson, G.A), 180

The Ingenious Mr. Hogarth (Jarrett, Derek), 226

Inherit the Wind (Lawrence, Jerome, and Robert E. Lee), 61

Iñigo: The Life of St. Ignatius Loyola for Young Readers (Janda, James), 238

The Inner Circle, 436

The Inner Elvis: A Psychological Biography of Elvis Aaron Presley (Whitmer, Peter O), 384

The Inner Jefferson: Portrait of a Grieving Optimist (Burstein, Andrew), 247

The Inner World of Abraham Lincoln (Burlingame, Michael), 284

Innocence: The Life and Death of Michelangelo Merisi, Caravaggio (McGuinness, Frank), 72

The Innocent Empress: An Intimate Study of Eugénie (Barschak, Erna), 346–347

The Innocents Abroad, 473

The Insanity File: The Case of Mary Todd Lincoln (Neely, Mark E. Jr., and R.Gerald McMurtry), 284

Inside the Mind of Joseph Smith: Psychobiography and the Book of Mormon (Anderson, Robert D), 434

Inside the Third Reich, 224

The Intellectual Development of Voltaire (Wade, Ira O), 480

The Intellectual Milieu of John Dryden (Bredvold, Louis J), 146

The Interpretation of Dreams, 177

Interviews with Robert Frost, 178

Interviews with William Carlos Williams: "Speaking Straight Ahead ", 496

The Intimate Journals of George Sand, 414

An Intimate Portrait of R.L.S (Osbourne, Lloyd), 442

Into My Own: The English Years of Robert Frost (Walsh, John E), 178

Intrigue in Baltimore (Whitney, Janet), 284

Introducing Bach (Vernon, Roland), 20

Introducing Machiavelli (Curry, Patrick), 298

Introducing Verdi (Vernon, Roland), 477

An Introduction to the Life and Work of Richard Wagner (White, Chappell), 481

Introduction to the Psychoanalysis of Mallarmé (Mauron, Charles), 305

Invented Lives: F.Scott and Zelda Fitzgerald (Mellow, James R), 166

Inventing Billy the Kid: Visions of the Outlaw in America, 1881–1891 (Tatum, Stephen), 36

Inventing Leonardo (Turner, Richard A), 282

Inventing Mark Twain: The Lives of Samuel Langhorne Clemens (Hoffman, Andrew), 473

The Invention of Truth (Morazzoni, Martin), 411

The Inventions of Mark Twain (Lauber, John), 473

Invincible Louisa: The Story of the Author of Little Women (Meigs, Cornelia), 6

Invisible Cities (Calvino, Italo), 381

The Invisible Man: The Life and Liberties of H.G. Wells (Coren, Michael), 487

The Invisible Poet: T.S.Eliot (Kenner, Hugh), 159

The Invisible Woman: The Story of Nelly Ternan and Charles Dickens (Tomalin, Claire), 134

Inward Sky: The Mind and Heart of Nathaniel Hawthorne (Hoeltje, Hubert), 215

Irene at Large (Douglas, Carole Nelson), 34

The Irish Boy: A Romantic Biography (Jacob, Naomi), 340

The Iron Duke, 486

The Iron Mask, 293

Iron Mistress, 15

The Irreverent Mr. Mencken (Kemler, Edgar), 325

Is Paris Burning?, 368

Is There One Who Understands Me? The World of James Joyce, 257

Isaac Newton: A Biography (More, Louis T), 353

Isaac Newton: Adventurer in Thought (Hall, A. Rupert), 353

Isaac Newton and the Scientific Revolution (Christianson, Gale E), 353

Isaac Newton: The Greatest Scientist of All Time (Anderson, Margaret J), 353

Isaac Newton: The Last Sorcerer (White, Michael), 353

Isabel the Queen: The Life and Times (Liss, Peggy K), 240

Isabella of Castile: The First Renaissance Queen (Rubin, Nancy), 240

Isabella of Castille: Queen on Horseback (Burch, Joann J), 240

Isabella of Spain: The Last Crusader (Walsh, William T), 240

Isla Negra: A Notebook (Pablo Neruda), 351

Israel: A Personal History (David Ben-Gurion), 32

Israel Potter (Melville, Herman), 255

Israel Potter: His Fifty Years of Exile (Melville, Herman), 173

Israfel: The Life and Times of Edgar Allan Poe (Allen, Hervey), 380

Italian Journey (Johann Wolfgang von Goethe), 200

The Italian Woman (Plaidy, Jean), 81

Ivan the Terrible (Apsler, Alfred), 241

Ivan the Terrible (Butson, Thomas G), 241

Ivan the Terrible (Carr, Francis), 241

Ivan the Terrible (Grey, Ian), 241

Ivan the Terrible (Koslow, Jules), 241

Ivan the Terrible (Payne, Robert, and Nikita Romanoff), 241

Ivan the Terrible (Platonov, Sergei), 241

Ivan the Terrible (Skrynnikov, Ruslan G), 241

Ivan the Terrible (Troyat, Henri), 241

Ivan the Terrible (Von Eckhardt, Hans), 241

Ivan the Terrible (Waliszewski, Kazimierz), 241

Ivan the Terrible: The Life of Ivan IV of Russia (Graham, Stephen), 241

Ivan Turgenev (Lloyd, John A.T), 471

Ivanhoe, 394

Ivanhoe (Scott, Walter), 394

The Ivy Crown: A Biographical Novel of Queen Katherine Parr (Luke, Mary M), 221

J.Edgar Hoover, 228, 267

J.Edgar Hoover, Sex, and Crime: An Historical Antidote (Theoharis, Athan G), 228

J.Edgar Hoover: The Man and His Secrets (Gentry, Curt), 228

J.Edgar Hoover: The Man in His Time (De Toledano, Ralph), 228

J.M.Syngé and His World (Skelton, Robin), 450

J.M.Syngé: Interviews and Recollections (Mikhail, E.H., ed), 450

A J.M.Syngé Literary Companion (Kopper, Edward A. Jr., ed), 450

J.M.Syngé 1871–1909 (Greene, David H., and Edward M.Stephens), 450

J.M.W.Turner (Kenner, Robert), 472

J.M.W.Turner: A Wonderful Range of Mind (Gage, John), 472

J.M.W.Turner: His Art and Life (Wilton, Andrew), 472

J.M.W.Turner: His Life and Work: A Critical Biography (Lindsay, Jack), 472

J.P.Morgan: A Biography (Jackson, Stanley), 337

J.P.Morgan Saves the Nation (Jones, Jeffrey M), 337

J.Pierpont Morgan: An Intimate Portrait (Satterlee, Herbert L), 337

J.Robert Oppenheimer: Shatterer of Worlds (Goodchild, Peter), 361

J.S.Bach (Boyd, Malcolm, and John Butt, eds), 20

J.S.Bach (Schweitzer, Albert), 20

J.S.Bach: A Documentary Portrait, 20

J.S.Mill: The Evolution of a Genius (Glassman, Peter), 329

Jack & the Doctor (Clive, Mary), 140

Jack: A Biography of Jack London (Sinclair, Andrew), 290

Jack and Jackie: Portrait of an American Marriage (Andersen, Christopher P), 267, 359

Jack: C.S.Lewis and His Times (Sayer, George), 283

Jack Kerouac (Clark, Tom), 269

Jack Kerouac: An Illustrated Biography (Sandison, David), 269

Jack Kerouac, King of the Beats: A Portrait (Miles, Barry), 269

Jack London, 290

Jack London (Kershaw, Alex), 290

Jack London (Labor, Earle), 290

Jack London (Schroeder, Alan), 290

Jack London: A Biography (Dyer, Daniel), 290

Jack London: A Biography (O'Connor, Richard), 290

Jack London and His Times: An Unconventional Biography (London, Joan D), 290

Jack London and the Klondike: The Genesis of an American Writer (Walker, Franklin), 290

Jack London: The Man, the Writer, the Rebel (Bartrop, Robert), 290

Jack: The Struggles of John F.Kennedy (Parmet, Herbert S), 267

Jackie, 359

Jackie: A Legend Defined (Osborne, Claire G), 359

Jackie by Josie (Preston, Caroline), 359

Jackie, Ethel, Joan: Women of Camelot (Taraborrelli, J.Randy), 359

Jackie Oh! (Kelley, Kitty), 359

Jackie Onassis: An Intimate Portrait, 359

Jackie Robinson (Roeder, William), 402

Jackie Robinson (Weidhorn, Manfred), 402

Jackie Robinson: A Biography (Rampersad, Arnold), 402

Jackie Robinson: A Life Remembered (Allen, Maury), 402

Jackie Robinson: An Intimate Portrait (Robinson, Rachel. With Lee Daniels), 402

Jackie Robinson: Baseball's Civil Rights Legend (Coombs, Karen M), 402

Jackie Robinson Between the Baselines (Stout, Glenn, ed), 402

Jackie Robinson: Breaking Barriers, 402

Jackie Robinson: My Own Story, 402

The Jackie Robinson Reader: Perspectives on an American Hero (Kahn, Roger, and Jules Tygiel, eds), 402

The Jackie Robinson Story, 402

The Jackie Robinson Story (Mann, Arthur), 402

Jackie Under My Skin: Interpreting an Icon (Koestenbaum, Wayne), 359

Jack's Book: An Oral Biography of Jack Kerouac (Gifford, Barry, and Lawrence Lee), 269

Jackson (Byrd, Max), 242

Jacqueline Bouvier: An Intimate Memoir (Davis, John H), 359

Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy, 359

Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy (Thayer, Mary Van Rensselaer), 359

Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy Onassis (Birmingham, Stephen), 359

Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy Onassis: A Life (Spoto, Donald), 359

Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy Onassis, 1929–1994 (Santow, Dan), 359

Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, 359

Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis (Ladowsky, Ellen), 359

Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis: A Portrait of Her Private Years (David, Lester), 359

Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis Remembered, 359

Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis: The Making of a First Lady (Lowe, Jacques), 359

Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis: Woman of Courage (Anderson, Catherine C), 359

The Jade Cabinet (Ducomet, Rikki), 75

James A.Garfield: Party Chieftain (Caldwell, Robert G), 185

James A.Garfield: 20th President of the United States (Brown, Fern G), 185

James A.Garfield: Twentieth President of the United States (Lillegard, Dee), 185

James Abbott McNeill Whistler (Fleming, Gordon H), 490

James and John Stuart Mill: Father and Son in the 19th Century (Mazlish, Bruce), 329

James Boswell (Vulliamy, C.E), 48

James Boswell and His World (Daiches, David), 48

James Boswell, Psychological Interpretations (Newman, Donald J., ed), 48

James Boswell: The Earlier Years 1740–69 (Pottle, Frederick A), 48

James Boswell: The Later Years 1769–95 (Brady, Frank), 48

James Cook (Kent, Zachary), 109

James Fenimore Cooper (Boynnton, Henry W), 111

James Fenimore Cooper (Grossman, James), 111

James Fenimore Cooper (Long, Robert E), 111

James Fenimore Cooper (Lounsbury, Thomas R), 111

James Fenimore Cooper: An Introduction and Interpretation (Walker, Warren S), 111

James Fenimore Cooper: The American Scott (Dekker, George), 111

James I (Durston, Christopher), 244

James I (Dwyer, Frank), 244

James I (Houston, S.J), 244

James I (Mathew, David), 244

James I (Scott, Otto J), 244

James I (Williams, Charles), 244

James I by His Contemporaries: An Account of His Career and Character as Seen by Some of His Contemporaries (Ashton, Robert, ed), 244

James Joyce (Ellmann, Richard), 257

James Joyce (German, Herbert), 257

James Joyce (O’Brian, Edna), 257

James Joyce: A Literary Life (Beja, Morris), 257

James Joyce: A Portrait of the Artist (Davies, Stan G), 257

James Joyce A to Z: The Essential Reference to the Life and Work (Fargnoli, A.Nicholas), 257

James Joyce and His World (Anderson, Chester G), 257

James Joyce and the Making of Ulysses (Budgen, Frank), 257

James Joyce: Interviews and Recollections (Mikhail, E.H., ed), 257

James Joyce: Poet and Novelist, 1882–1941, 257

James Joyce Remembered (Curran, Constantine P), 257

James Joyce: The Years of Growth, 1882–1915 (Costello, Peter), 257

James Joyce’s Schooldays (Bradley, Bruce), 257

James Joyce’s Ulysses, 257

James Joyce’s Women, 257

James Madison (Brant, Irving), 299–300

James Madison (Gay, Sydney H), 299–300

James Madison (Leavell, J.Perry), 299–300

James Madison (Malone, Mary), 299–300

James Madison (Schultz, Harold S), 299–300

James Madison: A Biography (Ketcham, Ralph), 299–300

James Madison: A Biography in His Own Words, 299–300

James Madison and Dolley Madison and Their Times (Quakenbush, Robert M), 299–300

James Madison and the American Nation 1751–1836: An Encyclopedia (Rutland, Robert A., ed), 299–300

James Madison: The Founding Father (Rutland, Robert A), 299–300

James McNeill Whistler (Berman, Avis), 490

James McNeill Whistler (Walker, John), 490

James McNeill Whistler: Beyond the Myth (Anderson, Ronald, and Anne Koval), 490

James Monroe (Cresson, W.P.P), 333

James Monroe (Old, Wendie C), 333

James Monroe (Wetzel, Charles), 333

James Monroe: 5th President of the United States (Steffoff, Rebecca), 333

James Monroe: The Quest for National Identity (Ammon, Harry), 333

James VI and I (Lockyer, Roger), 244

James VI and I: King of Great Britain (Carrier, Irene), 244

The Jameses: A Family Narrative (Lewis, R.W.B), 245

Jan Vermeer of Delft (Thienen, Frithjof van), 478

Jane (Gould, Jean), 19

Jane Addams (Kittredge, Mary), 4

Jane Addams: A Biography (Linn, James Weber), 4

Jane Addams and the Liberal Tradition (Levine, Daniel), 4

Jane Addams of Hull-House (Wise, Winifred), 4

Jane Addams, Pioneer for Social Justice (Meigs, Cornelia), 4

Jane and the Genius of the Place (Barron, Stephanie), 19

Jane and the Man of the Cloth (Barron, Stephanie), 19

Jane and the Unpleasantness at Scargrave Manor (Barron, Stephanie), 19

Jane and the Wandering Eye (Barron, Stephanie), 19

Jane Austen (Laski, Marghanita), 19

Jane Austen (Le Faye, Deirdre), 19

Jane Austen (Wilks, Brian), 19

Jane Austen: A Biography (Jenkins, Elizabeth), 19

Jane Austen: A Concise Biography, 19

Jane Austen: A Family Record, 19

Jane Austen: A Life (Nokes, David), 19

Jane Austen: A Life (Tomalin, Claire), 19

Jane Austen: A Literary Life (Fergus, Jan), 19

Jane Austen and Her World (Brown, Ivor), 19

The Jane Austen Companion (Grey, J.David), 19

A Jane Austen Companion (Pinion, F.B), 19

A Jane Austen Encyclopedia (Poplawski, Paul), 19

Jane Austen: Facts and Problems (Chapman, R.W), 19

Jane Austen: Her Life (Honan, Park), 19

Jane Austen: Her Life and Letters (Austen, W., and R.A.Austen), 19

Jane Austen: Obstinate Heart (Myer, Valerie Grosvenor), 19

Jane Austen the Woman: Some Biographical Insights (Tucker, George Holbert), 19

Jane Austen’s Letters, 19

Jane Austen’s Life, Society, and Works, 19

Jarrett’s Jade (Yerby, Frank), 488

Jawaharlal Nehru (Finck, Lila), 348

Jawaharlal Nehru (Judd, Denis), 348

Jawaharlal Nehru: A Biography (Moraes, F.R), 348

Jawaharlal Nehru: Rebel and Statesman (Nanda, B.R), 348

Jawarharlal Nehru: A Biography (Gopal, Sarvepalli), 348

Jean-Jacques Rousseau (Conroy, Peter V), 409

Jean-Jacques Rousseau (Crocker, Lester), 409

Jean-Jacques Rousseau (Guélhenno, Jean), 409

Jean-Jacques Rousseau: A Critical Study of His Life and Writings (Green, F.C), 409

Jean-Jacques Rousseau: A Study in Self-Awareness (Grimsley, Ronald), 409

Jean-Jacques Rousseau: The Father of Romanticism (Webb, Robert N), 409

Jean-Jacques: The Early Life and Work of Jean-Jacques Rousseau, 1712–1754 (Cranston, Maurice), 409

Jean-Paul Sartre: A Literary and Political Study (Thody, Philip), 416

Jean-Paul Sartre: Hated Conscience of His Century. Volume One: Protestant or Protester? (Gerassi, John), 416

Jean-Paul Sartre: The Evolution of His Thought and Art (Wardman, Harold W), 416

Jeanne d’Arc (Scott, W.S), 249

Jefferson (Byrd, Max), 247

Jefferson (Kimball, Marie), 247

Jefferson (Koch, Adrienne, ed), 247

Jefferson: A Novel (Byrd, Max), 1, 2

Jefferson: A Revealing Biography (Smith, Page), 247

Jefferson and Hamilton: The Struggle for Democracy in America (Bowers, Claude G), 247

Jefferson and His Time (Malone, Dumas), 247

Jefferson and Monticello: The Biography of a Builder (McLaughlin, Jack), 247

Jefferson Davis (Dodd, William E), 123

Jefferson Davis (Eaton, Clement), 123

Jefferson Davis (King, Perry Scott), 123

Jefferson Davis (Strode, Hudson), 123

Jefferson Davis (Tate, Allen), 123

Jefferson Davis: Ex-President of the Confederate States of America: A Memoir by His Wife (Davis, Varina H), 123

Jefferson Davis: His Rise and Fall (Tate, Allen), 123

Jefferson Davis, Political Soldier (Cutting, Elisabeth B), 123

Jefferson Davis: President of the Confederacy (Burch, Joann J), 123

Jefferson Davis: The Man and His Hour (Davis, William C), 123

Jefferson Davis: The Unreal and the Real (McElroy, Robert), 123

Jefferson Davis: Unconquerable Heart (Allen, Felicity), 123

Jefferson Himself: A Personal Narrative of a Many-Sided American, 247

The Jefferson Image in the American Mind (Peterson, Merrill D), 247

Jefferson in Paris, 247

Jefferson in Power: The Death Struggle of the Federalists (Bowers, Claude G), 247

Jem (and Sam) (Mount, Ferdinand), 371

Jemmy Button (Subercaseaux, Benjamin), 122

Jenny and Barnum: A Novel of Love (Thorp, Roderick), 24

Jesse James, 246

Jesse James (Stiles, T.J), 246

Jesse James: Legendary Outlaw (Bruns, Roger), 246

Jesse James: The Man and the Myth (Brant, Morley), 246

Jesse James Was His Name: Or, Fact and Fiction Concerning the Careers of the Notorious James Brothers of Missouri (Settle, William A. Jr), 246

Jesse James Was My Neighbor (Croy, Homer), 246

Jessie: A Novel Based on the Life of Jessie Benton Frémont (Alter, Judy), 176

Jessie Benton Frémont: A Biography (Herr, Pamela), 176

Jesters (Markish, David), 375

Jesting Apostle: The Private Life of Bernard Shaw (Winsten, Stephen), 424

Jesus (Carpenter, Humphrey), 248

Jesus (Wilson, A.N), 248

Jesus: A Revolutionary Biography (Crossan, John D), 248

Jesus: An Historian's Review of the Gospels (Grant, Michael), 248

Jesus: An Unconventional Biography (Duquesne, Jacques), 248

Jesus and His Times, 248

Jesus and His World: An Archaeological and Cultural Dictionary (Rousseau, John J., and Rami Arav), 248

Jesus Christ, Superstar, 248

Jesus of Nazareth, 248

Jesus of Nazareth (Bornkamm, Günther), 248

Jesus of Nazareth, King of the Jews: A Jewish Life and the Emergence of Christianity (Fredriksen, Paula), 248

Jewels (Perrin, Robert), 154

JFK, 267

JFK: Reckless Youth, 267

JFK: Reckless Youth (Hamilton, Nigel), 267

JFK Remembered, 267

JFK: The Presidency of John F.Kennedy (Parmet, Herbert S), 267

Joan, Maid of Orleans (Guillemin, Henri), 249

Joan of Arc, 249

Joan of Arc (Banfield, Susan), 249

Joan of Arc (Gordon, Mary), 249

Joan of Arc (Lucie-Smith, Edward), 249

Joan of Arc (Smith, John H), 249

Joan of Arc (Stanley, Diane), 249

Joan of Arc: A Military Leader (DeVries, Kelly), 249

Joan of Arc: A Spiritual Biography (Nash-Marshall), 249

Joan of Arc: By Herself and Her Witnesses (Pernoud, Régine), 249

Joan of Arc: Her Story (Pernoud, Régine, and Marie-Veronique Clin), 249

Joan of Arc: Image of Female Heroism (Warner, Marina), 249

Joan of Arc: In Her Own Words, 249

Joan of Arc: Or, the Maid of Orleans (Michelet, Jules), 249

Joan of Arc: The Legend and the Reality (Gies, Frances), 249

Joan the Woman, 249

Joe and Marilyn: A Memory of Love (Kahn, Roger), 334

Joe McCarthy and McCarthyism: The Hate that Haunts America (Feuerlicht, Roberta S), 319

Johann Gutenberg and His Bible: A Historical Study (Ing, Janet), 208

Johann Gutenberg and the Invention of Printing (Harris, Brayton), 208

Johann Gutenberg: The Inventor of Printing (Scholderer, Victor), 208

Johann Gutenberg: The Man and His Invention (Kapr, Albert), 208

Johann Sebastian Bach (Spitta, Philip), 20

Johann Sebastian Bach (Wohlfarth, Hamnsdieter), 20

Johann Sebastian Bach: An Essential Guide to His Life and Works (Headington, Christopher), 20

Johann Sebastian Bach as His World Knew Him (Bettmann, Otto L), 20

Johann Sebastian Bach: The Culmination of an Era (Geiringer, Karl), 20

Johann Sebastian Bach: The Learned Musician (Wolff, Christoph), 20

Johann Wolfgang Goethe (Dieckmann, Liselotte), 200

Johanna: A Novel of the Van Gogh Family (Cooperstein, Claire), 475

Johannes Brahms, 50

Johannes Brahms: A Biography (Swafford, Jan), 50

Johannes Brahms: His Work and Personality (Gál, Hans), 50

Johannes Vermeer, Painter of Delft: 1632–1675 (Swillens, P.T.A), 478

John & Yoko: A Love Story, 281

John Adams (Dwyer, Frank), 2

John Adams (Smith, Page), 2

John Adams: A Biography in His Own Words, 2

John Adams: A Life (Ferling, John E), 2

John Adams and the American Revolution (Bowen, Catherine Drinker), 2

John Adams: Reluctant Patriot of the Revolution (Falkner, Leonard), 2

John Adams: Second President of the United States (Brill, Marlene Torg), 2

John and Anzia: An American Romance (Rosen, Norma), 132

John Barleycorn: Alcoholic Memoirs (Jack London), 290

John Brown (Du Bois, W.E.B), 58

John Brown: A Cry for Freedom (Graham, Lorenz), 58

John Brown and the Legend of Fifty-Six (Malin, James C), 58

John Brown of Harper's Ferry (Scott, John A., and Robert Alan), 58

John Brown 1800–59: A Biography Fifty Years Later (Villard, Oswald G), 58

John Brown: The Making of a Martyr (Warren, Robert Penn), 58

John Brown: The Making of a Revolutionary: (Ruchames, Louis), 58

John Brown: The Sword and the Word (Stavis, Barrie), 58

John Brown's Body (Benét, Stephen Vincent), 58

John Bunyan (Griffith, Gwilym O), 63

John Bunyan (Sharrock, Roger), 63

John Bunyan (Winslow, Ola E), 63

John Bunyan: Author of the Pilgrim's Progress (Wellman, Sam), 63

John Bunyan: His Life, Times, and Work (Brown, John) , 63

John Bunyan: Study in Personality (Harrison, George B), 63

John Bunyan: The Man and His Works (Talon, Henri), 63

John C.Calhoun (Bartlett, Irving H), 68

John C.Calhoun (Brown, Warren), 68

John C.Calhoun (Coit, Margaret L., ed), 68

John C.Calhoun (Holst, Hermann E.von), 68

John C.Calhoun (Hunt, Gaillard), 68

John C.Calhoun (Wiltse, Charles M), 68

John C.Calhoun: A Profile (Thomas, John L., ed), 68

John C.Calhoun: American Portrait (Coit, Margaret L), 68

John C.Calhoun and the Price of Union: A Biography (Niven, John), 68

John C.Calhoun and the Roots of War (Celsi, Teresa N), 68

John C.Frémont and the Great Western Reconnaissance (Harris, Edward D), 176

John Calvin (Potter, G.R., and M.Greengross), 70

John Calvin (Stepanek, Sally), 70

John Calvin: A Biography (Parker, Thomas H.L), 70

John Calvin: A 16th-Century Portrait (Bouwsma, William J), 70

John Calvin: The Organizer of Reformed Protestantism 1509–64 (Walker, Williston), 70

John Charles Frémont: Character as Destiny (Rolle, Andrew F), 176

John Constable I.R.A (Windsor, Robert G.W.C), 107

John Constable 1776–1837: The Man and His Mistress (Fraser, John L), 107

John D.Rockefeller: Empire Builder (Coffey, Ellen G), 403

John D.Rockefeller Interviews, 1917–1920, Conducted by William O.Inglis, 403

John D.Rockefeller: The Heroic Age of American Enterprise (Nevins, Allan), 403

John D.: The Founding Father of the Rockefellers (Hawke, David F), 403

John Dewey (Campbell, Harry M), 132

John Dewey: An Intellectual Portrait (Hook, Sidney), 132

John Dewey: The Reconstruction of the Democratic Life (Nathanson, Jerome), 132

John Donne: A Life (Bald, R.C), 140

John Donne: A Literary Life (Parfitt, George), 140

John Donne and His World (Parker, Derek), 140

A John Donne Companion (Ray, Robert), 140

John Donne: Life, Mind, and Art (Carey, John), 140

John Donne, Sometime Dean of Saint Paul's (Jessop, Augustus), 140

John Dry den (Wasserman, George), 146

John Dryden: A Critical Biography (Young, Kenneth), 146

John Dryden: A Literary Life (Hammond, Paul), 146

John Dry den and His World (Winn, James A), 146

John Dryden: Some Biographical Facts and Problems (Osborn, James), 146

John Edgar Hoover: An Inquiry into the Life and

Times of John Edgar Hoover and the Continuing Partnership of Crime, Business, and Politics (Messick, Hank), 228

John F.Kennedy, 267

John F.Kennedy (Cole, Michael D), 267

John F.Kennedy (Randall, Marta), 267

John F.Kennedy, Commander in Chief(Salinger, Pierre), 267

John F.Kennedy:: Portrait of a President (Goldman, Martin), 267

John F.Kennedy:: The Commemorative Video Album, 267

John Henry Newman (Dessain, Charles S), 352

John Henry Newman (Lapati, Americo D), 352

John Henry Newman: A Biography (Ker, Ian), 352

John Henry Newman: His Life and Work (Martin, Brian), 352

John James Audubon (Ford, Alice), 15

John James Audubon (Forshay, Ella M), 15

John James Audubon (Kastner, Joseph), 15

John James Audubon (Kendall, Martha E), 15

John James Audubon: A Biography (Adams, Alexander B), 15

John James Audubon: Wildlife Artist (Anderson, Peter), 15

John Keats (Bate, Walter Jackson), 265

John Keats (Gittings, Robert), 265

John Keats (Lowell, Amy), 265

John Keats: (Ward, Aileen), 265

John Keats: His Life and Poetry, His Friends, Critics, and After-Fame (Colvin, Sidney), 265

John Keats: His Life and Writings (Bush, Douglas), 265

John Keats, Poet, 265

John Keats: Poet, 1795–1821, 265

John Lennon (Conord, Bruce W), 281

John Lennon and Paul McCartney: Their Magic and Their Muse (Glassman, Bruce S), 281

John Lennon in My Life (Shotton, Pete), 281

John Lennon, My Brother (Baird, Julia), 281

John Lennon: One Day at a Time (Fawcett, Anthony), 281

John Lennon: The Beatles and Beyond (Wright, David K), 281

John Lennon: The Definitive Biography (Coleman, Ray), 281

John Locke (Aaron, Richard I), 289

John Locke: A Biography (Cranston, Maurice), 289

John Locke Revisited (Cope, Kevin L), 289

John Maynard Keynes (Escoffier, Jeffrey), 270

John Maynard Keynes: A Personal Biography of the Man who Revolutionized Capitalism and the Way We Live (Hession, Charles H), 270

John Maynard Keynes: Life, Ideas, Legacy, 270

John Maynard Keynes: Life, Ideas, Legacy (Blaug, Mark), 270

John Maynard Keynes. Volume One: Hopes Betrayed 1883–1920 (Skidelsky, Robert), 270

John Millington Synge (Gerstenberger, Donna L), 450

John Millington Synge: A Biography (Kiely, David M), 450

John Milton (Fuller, Edmund), 330

John Milton: A Literary Life (Brown, Cedric), 330

John Milton: The Inner Life (Thorpe, James E), 330

John Milton: The Self and the World (Shawcross, John T), 330

John Paul Jones, 222, 255, 83

John Paul Jones: A Sailor's Biography (Morison, Samuel E), 255

John Paul Jones: America's Sailor (Simmons, Clara Ann), 255

John Paul Jones: Fighter for Freedom and Glory (Lorenz, Lincoln), 255

John Paul Jones in Russia (Golder, Frank A), 255

John Quincy Adams (Coelho, Tony), 3

John Quincy Adams (Parsons, Lynn H), 3

John Quincy Adams: A Bibliography (Parsons, Lynn H), 3

John Quincy Adams: A Personal History of an Independent Man (Hecht, Marie B), 3

John Quincy Adams: A Public Life, a Private Life (Nagel, Paul C), 3

John Quincy Adams and the Foundations of American Foreign Policy (Bemis, Samuel Flagg), 3

John Quincy Adams and the Public Virtue of Diplomacy (Russell, Greg), 3

John Quincy Adams and the Union (Bemis, Samuel Flagg), 3

John Quincy Adams: His Theory and Ideas (Lipsky, George A), 3

John Quincy Adams: 6th President of the United States (Greenblatt, Miriam), 3

John Quincy Adams: Sixth President of the United States (Kent, Zachary), 3

John Quincy Adams: The Critical Years, 1785–1794 (East, Robert A), 3

John Ruskin (Evans, Joan), 411

John Ruskin (Hilton, Tim), 411

John Ruskin (Larg, David), 411

John Ruskin: The Passionate Moralist (Abse, Joan), 411

John Ruskin: The Portrait of a Prophet (Quennell, Peter), 411

John Ruskin's Wife (McDonald, Eva), 411

John Sebastian Bach, 20

John Smith—Also Pocahontas (Fletcher, John G), 433

John Smith of Virginia (Syme, Ronald), 433

John Stanislaus Joyce: The Voluminous Life and Genius of James Joyce's Father (Jackson, John W., and Peter Costello), 257

John Stuart Mill (Ellery, John B), 329

John Stuart Mill: A Criticism with Personal Recollections (Bain, Alexander), 329

John Stuart Mill and Harriet Taylor (Hayek, F.A), 329

John Stuart Mill and the Harriet Taylor Myth (Pappe, H.O), 329

John Stuart Mill and the Writing of Character (Carlisle, Janice), 329

John Stuart Mill: His Life and Works (Spencer, Herbert, et al), 329

John Stuart Mill in Love (Kamm, Josephine), 329

John Stuart Mill: The Man (Borchard, Ruth), 329

John Wesley (Ayling, Stanley), 488

John Wesley and His World (Pudney, John), 488

John Wesley: Founder of the Methodist Church (Wellman, Sam), 488

John Wesley: His Own Biographer (Heitzenrater, Richard P), 488

John Wesley in the Evolution of Protestantism (Piette, Maximin), 488

John Wilkes Booth and the Civil War (Otfinoski, Steven), 43

John Winston Lennon (Coleman, Ray), 281

Johnnie Cross (White, Terence DC Vere), 158

Johnny Logan: Shawnee Spy (Eckert, Allen W), 454

“Johnny, We Hardly Knew Ye”: Memories of John Fitzgerald Kennedy (O'Donnell, Kenneth P., and David F.Powers), 267

Johnson and Boswell: The Story of Their Lives (Pearson, Hesketh) , 254, 48

Johnson on Johnson: A Selection from the Personal and Autobiographical Writings of Samuel Johnson, 254

Johnson without Boswell: A Contemporary Portrait of Samuel Johnson (Kingsmill, Hugh), 254

The Jonah Man (Carlisle, Henry), 162

Jonathan Edwards (Miller, Perry), 155

Jonathan Edwards, 1703–1758: A Biography (Winslow, Ola E), 155

Jonathan Edwards: The Fiery Puritan (Parkes, Henry B), 155

Jonathan Swift (Rowse, A.L), 448

Jonathan Swift: A Critical Biography (Murry, John Middleton), 448

Jonathan Swift: A Hypocrite Reversed: A Critical Biography (Nokes, David), 448

Jonathan Swift: A Literary Life (McMinn, Joseph), 448

Jonathan Swift: A Portrait (Glendinning, Victoria), 448

Jorge Luis Borges (Lennon, Adria), 44

Jorge Luis Borges: A Literary Biography (Rodriguez Monegal, Emir), 44

Joseph (Jones, Mervyn), 436

Joseph Conrad: A Biography (Meyers, Jeffrey), 106

Joseph Conrad: A Biography (Tennant, Roger), 106

Joseph Conrad: A Chronicle (Najder, Zdzislaw), 106

Joseph Conrad: A Critical Biography (Baines, Jocelyn), 106

Joseph Conrad: A Literary Life (Watts, Cedric), 106

Joseph Conrad: A Psychoanalytic Biography (Meyer, Bernard C), 106

A Joseph Conrad Companion (Orr, Leonard, and Ted Billy, eds), 106

Joseph Conrad: The Three Lives (Karl, Frederick R), 106

Joseph Haydn, 216

Joseph Haydn: An Essential Guide to His Life and Works (Wenborn, Neil), 216

Joseph Haydn: His Art, Times, and Glory (Jacob, HeinrichE), 216

Joseph Haydn: His Life in Contemporary Pictures (Somfai, Laszlo), 216

Joseph McCarthy, 319

Joseph McCarthy and the Cold War (Sherrow, Victoria), 319

Joseph McCarthy: Reexamining the Life and Legacy of America's Most Hated Senator (Herman, Arthur), 319

Joseph McCarthy: The Misuse of Political Power (Cohen, Daniel), 319

Joseph McCarthy: The Politics of Chaos (Landis, Mark), 319

Joseph Smith: An American Prophet (Evans, John H), 434

Joseph Smith and His Mormon Empire (Beardsley, Harry M), 434

Joseph Smith and the Beginnings of Mormonism (Bushman, Richard L), 434

A Joseph Smith Chronology (Conkling, J.Christopher), 434

Joseph Smith: Martyr: Prophet of God (Gibbons, Francis M), 434

Joseph Smith: Selected Sermons and Writings, 434

Joseph Smith: The First Mormon (Hill, Donna), 434

Joseph Smith: The Mormon Prophet (Stewart, John J), 434

Joseph Stalin, 436

Joseph Stalin (Caulkins, Janet), 436

Joseph Stalin (Warth, Robert D), 436

Joseph Stalin: A Biographical Companion (Rappaport, Helen), 436

Joseph Stalin: Man and Legend (Hingley, Ronald), 436

Joseph Stalin: Russia's Last Czar (Otfinoski, Steven), 436

Josephine: A Life of the Empress (Erickson, Carolly), 345

Josephine and Napoleon (Laing, Margaret I), 345

Journal (Henry David Thoreau), 461

Journal a revours (Colette), 103

The Journal of a Voyage to Lisbon (Henry Fielding), 165

The Journal of Eugene Delacroix: A Selection, 130

The Journal of John Wesley, 488

Journal of Katherine Mansfield, 308

The Journal of Mrs. Pepys: Portrait of a Marriage (George, Sara), 371

The Journal of Sir Walter Scott, 422

Journals and Miscellaneous Notebooks of Ralph Waldo Emerson, 162

Journals and Notebooks (Washington Irving), 239

Journals and Papers (Søren Kierkegaard), 272

The Journals of André Gide, 196

Journals of George Eliot, 158

The Journals of James Boswell, 1762–1795, 48

The Journals of Louisa May Alcott, 6

The Journals of Mary Wollstonecraft Shelley, 425

A Journey from This World to the Next (Henry Fielding), 165

Journey into Faith: The Anglican Life of John Henry Newman (Ruggles, Eleanor), 352

Journey into Fire (Wright, Patricia), 436

Journey of a Soul (Pope John XXIII), 250

Journey to Heartbreak: The Crucible Years of Bernard Shaw 1914–1918 (Weintraub, Stanley), 424

Journey to Upolu: Robert Louis Stevenson, Victorian Rebel (Rice, Edward), 442

Journey Toward Freedom: The Story of Sojourner Truth (Bernard, Jacqueline), 469

The Journeyer (Jennings, Gary), 381

The Joy of Bach, 20

Joyce Among the Jesuits (Sullivan, Kevin), 257

The Joyful Beggar: A Novel of St. Francis of Assist (De Wohl, Louis), 171

Juan Domingo Peron: A History (Alexander, Robert J), 372–373

Juan Perón (DeChancie, John), 372–373

Juarez, 346–347

Jubilee (Brick, John), 428

Jubilee Jim and the Wizard of Wall Street (Porter, Donald), 206

The Judas Kiss (Hare, David), 492

The Judges of the Secret Court (Stacton, David), 43

Julius Caesar, 258

Julius Caesar (Bruns, Roger), 258

Julius Caesar (Buchan, John), 258

Julius Caesar (Ferrero, Guglielmo), 258

Julius Caesar (Grant, Michael), 258

Julius Caesar (Gunther, John), 258

Julius Caesar (Shakespeare, William), 258

Julius Caesar (Tingay, Graham), 258

Julius Caesar: A Great Life in Brief (Duggan, Alfred), 258

Julius Caesar: A Political Biography (Balsdon, J.P.V.D), 258

Julius Caesar: Man, Soldier, and Tyrant (Fuller, J.F.C), 258

Julius Caesar: The Pursuit of Power (Bradford, Emle), 258

Jung (Brome, Vincent), 259

Jung: A Biography (Wehr, Gerhard), 259

Jung: A Journey of Transformation: Exploring His Life and Experiencing His Ideas (Crowley, Vivianne), 259

Jung and the Story of Our Time (Van der Post, Laurens), 259

Jung: His Life and Work: A Biographical Memoir (Hannah, Barbara), 259

Jung in Context: Modernity and the Making of a Psychology (Homans, Peter), 259

Jung on Film, 259

Junkets on a Sad Planet: Scenes from the Life of John Keats (Clark, Tom), 265

A Justice for All the People: Louis D.Brandeis (Gross, David C), 51

Justice on Trial: The Case of Louis D.Brandeis (Todd, A.L.), 51

Justinian (Baker, George P), 260–261

Justinian (Moorhead, John), 260–261

Justinian and His Age (Ure, Percy N), 260–261

Justinian and the Later Roman Empire (Barker, John W), 260–261

Justinian and Theodora (Browning, Robert), 260–261

Justinian the Great: The Emperor and Saint (Gerostergios, Asterios), 260–261

Kafka, 262

Kafka (Citati, Pietro), 262

Kafka: A Biography (Hayman, Ronald), 262

Kafka and Prague (Bauer, Johann), 262

The Kaiser (Cowles, Virginia), 493

The Kaiser: A Life of Wilhelm II, Last Emperor of Germany (Kürenberg, Joachim von), 493

Kaiser and Chancellor: The Opening Years of the Reign of Kaiser Wilhelm II (Nowak, Karl F), 493

Kaiser and Führer: A Comparative Study of Personality and Politics (Waite, Robert), 493

The Kaiser and His Court (Müller, George A.von), 493

The Kaiser and His Times (Balfour, Michael), 493

The Kaiser I Knew: My 14 Years with the Kaiser (Davis, A.N), 493

The Kaiser: Warlord of the Second Reich (Palmer, Alan), 493

Kaiser Wilhelm II (Ludwig, Emil), 493

Kaiser Wilhelm II: Germany's Last Emperor (Van der Kiste, John), 493

Kaiser Wilhelm II: New Interpretations (Röhl, John C.G., and N.Sombart, eds), 493

Kampfum Rom, 260–261

Kandinsky (Hahl-Koch, Jelena), 263

Kandinsky (Le Targat, François), 263

Kandinsky (Röthel, Hans Konrad, and Jean K. Benjamin), 263

Kandinsky (Volboudt, Pierre), 263

Kandinsky in Munich: The Formative Jugendstil Years (Weiss, Peg), 263

Kandinsky in Paris 1934–44 (Derouet, Christian, and Vivian E.Barnett), 263

Kandinsky: Russian and Bauhaus Years (Poling, Clark V), 263

Kant (Jaspers, Karl), 264

Kant (Scruton, Roger), 264

Kant (Walker, Ralph), 264

Kant's Life and Thought (Cassirer, Ernst), 264

Karl Marx (McLellan, David), 313

Karl Marx: A Life (Wheen, Francis), 313

Karl Marx: A Political Biography (Raddatz, Fritz), 313

Karl Marx: An Illustrated Biography (Blumenberg, Werner), 313

Karl Marx: An Intimate Biography (Padover, Saul K), 313

Karl Marx and Marxism, 313

Karl Marx: Biographical Memoirs (Liebknecht, Wilhelm), 313

Karl Marx: Founder of Modern Communism (Kettle, Arnold), 313

Karl Marx/Friedrich Engels: Selected Letters. The Personal Correspondence, 1844–77, 313

Karl Marx: His Life and Environment (Berlin, Isaiah), 313

Karl Marx: His Life and Thought (McLellan, David), 313

Karl Marx: His Life and Work (Rühle, Otto), 313

Karl Marx: Interviews and Recollections (McLellan, David), 313

Karl Marx: Man and Fighter (Nicolaevsky, Boris, and Otto Maenchen-Helfen), 313

Karl Marx: The Father of Modern Socialism (Alexander, Albert), 313

Karl Marx: The Story of His Life (Mehring, Franz), 313

Kasia and the Empress (Carnegie, Sacha), 83

Katharine: The Virgin Widow (Plaidy, Jean), 221

Katherine (Seton, Anya), 93

Katherine Mansfield (Daly, Saralyn R), 308

Katherine Mansfield (Fullbrook, Kate), 308

Katherine Mansfield (Hanson, Claire, and Andrew Gurr), 308

Katherine Mansfield (Phillimore, Jane), 308

Katherine Mansfield (Steinbauer, Janine), 308

Katherine Mansfield: A Biography (Alpers, Antony), 308

Katherine Mansfield: A Biography (Meyers, Jeffrey), 308

Katherine Mansfield: A Critical Study (Berkman, Sylvia), 308

Katherine Mansfield: A Secret Life (Tomalin, Claire), 308

Katherine Mansfield: The Memories of L.M. Taplinger (Baker, Ida, and Georgina Joysmith), 308

Katherine Mansfield: The Woman and the Writer (Boddy, Gillian), 308

Kathryn, the Wanton Queen (Peters, Maureen), 221

Kathryn: In the Court of Six Queens (Abbey, Anne Merton), 221

Katrina (Price, Jeramie), 375

Keats (Colvin, Sidney), 265

Keats (Motion, Andrew), 265

Keats and His World (Hutton, Timothy), 265

The Keats Circle (Rollins, H.E), 265

Keeping the Dream Alive: A History of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference from King to the 1980s (Peake, Thomas R), 273

Kelly Blue (Bowen, Peter), 508

Kemal Ataturk (Tachau, Frank), 13

Kemal Ataturk: A Biography (Foermbgen, Hanns), 13

Kennedy, 228, 267

Kennedy (Brogan, Hugh), 267

Kennedy (Sorenson, Theodore C), 267

The Kennedy Imprisonment: A Meditation on Power (Wills, Garry), 267

Kennedy Justice (Navasky, Victor S), 268

Kennedy without Tears: The Man Beneath the Myth (Wicker, Tom), 267

The Kennedy Women: The Saga of an American Family (Learner, Laurence), 359

The Kennedys: Dynasty and Disaster (Davis, John H), 267

The Kennedy's of Massachusetts, 267, 268

The Kennedy's: The Later Years 1962–1980, 268

The Kentuckians (Giles, Janice Holt), 42

Kentucky Stand (Wheelwright, Jere H), 42

Kerouac, 269

Kerouac: A Biography (Charters, Ann), 269

Kerouac and the Beats: A Primary Sourcebook (Knight, Arthur, and Kit Knight), 269

Keynes (Felix, David), 270

Keynes (Moggridge, Donald E), 270

Keynes (Skidelsky, Robert), 270

Khartoum, 199

Khrushchev (Medvedev, Roy A), 271

Khrushchev: A Career (Crankshaw, Edward), 271

Khrushchev: A Political Life (Tompson, William J), 271

Khrushchev and Brezhnev as Leaders (Breslauer, George W), 271

Khrushchev and Khrushchevism (McCauley, Martin, ed), 271

Khrushchev on Khrushchev: An Inside Account of the Man and His Era (Khrushchev, Sergei), 271

Kierkegaard (Gardiner, Patrick L), 272

Kierkegaard (Lowrie, Walter), 272

Kierkegaard (Thompson, Josiah), 272

Kierkegaard: A Fiction (Anderson, Barbara), 272

Kill Devil Hill: Discovering the Secret of the Wright Brothers (Combs, Harry, with Martin Caidin), 505–506

The Killer Angels (Shaara, Michael), 279

The Killing of Chief Crazy Horse: Three Eyewitnesses (Clark, Robert A., ed), 115

The Killing of Richard III (Farrington, Robert), 395

Kind Kit: An Informal Biography of Christopher Marlowe (Ross Williamson, Hugh), 311

The Kindness of Strangers: The Life of Tennessee Williams (Spoto, Donald), 495

King, 267, 273, 304

King: A Biography (Lewis, David L), 273

King Charles I (Gregg, Pauline), 90

King Charles I (John, Evan), 90

King Charles II (Bryant, Arthur), 91

King Edward and His Times (Maurois, André), 154

The King Edward Plot (Hall, Robert Lee), 154

King Edward the Seventh (Magnus, Philip), 154

King Edward VII: A Biography (Lee, Sir Sidney), 154

King George III (Brooke, John), 191

King George III (Green, Robert), 191

King George III and the Politicians (Pares, Richard), 191

King Henry VIII, 221

King in Hell (Balin, Beverly), 315

The King in Love: Edward VII's Mistresses (Aronson, Theo), 154

King James and Letters of Homoerotic Desire, 244

The King James Version (Stewart, Stanley N), 244

King James VI and I (Willson, David H), 244

King James VI and I: Political Writings, 244

King James VI of Scotland and I of England (Beavan, Bryan), 244

King Jesus (Graves, Robert), 248

King Louis XIV (Horn, Pierre L), 293

King: Montgomery to Memphis, 273

The King of Babylon Shall Not Come Against You (Garrett, George), 273

King of Paris (Endore, S.Guy), 148

King of Romance: A Portrait of Alexandre Dumas (Hemmings, F.W.J), 148

King of Two Worlds: Philip II of Spain (Grierson, Edward), 377

The King on the Road: Elvis on Tour, 1954–1971 (Evans, Mike), 384

King Richard and the Crusades, 394

The King Who Lost America: A Portrait of the Life and Times of George III (Lloyd, Alan), 191

King Without Crown (Bennett, Daphne), 5

The Kingbreaker (Linington, Elizabeth), 117

The King's Achievement (Benson, Robert H), 336

The King's Bastard (Elsna, Hebe), 91

The King's Bed (Barnes, Margaret C), 395

The King's Cardinal: The Rise and Fall of Thomas Wolsey (Gwyn, Peter), 500

A King's Commander (Lambdin, Dewey), 349

The King's Good Servant (White, Olive B), 336

The King's Good Servant but God's First: The Life and Writings of Saint Thomas More (Monti, James), 336

The King's Malady: The Young Pitt (Maughan, A.M), 191

King's Masque (John, Evan), 310

The Kings of Vain Intent (Shelby, Graham), 394

The King's Pleasure (Lofts, Norah), 221

The King's Pleasure (Plaidy, Jean), 40

The King's Secret Matter (Plaidy, Jean), 221, 40, 500

The King's Thief, 91

The King's Way (Chandernagor, Françoise d'Aubigne), 293

A Kipling Chronology (Orel, Harold), 274

A Kipling Companion (Page, Norman), 274

Kipling: Storyteller of East and West (Kamen, Gloria), 274

Kipling: The Glass, the Shadow, and the Fire (Mason, Philip), 274

A Kiss for Captain Hardy (Styles, Showell), 349

Kissinger and Nixon, 357

Kit Carson: A Pattern for Heroes (Guild, Thelma S., and Harvey L.Carter), 76

Kit Carson: A Portrait in Courage (Estergreen, M. Morgan), 76

The Kit Carson Campaign: The Last Great Navaho War (Trafzer, Clifford E), 76

Kit Carson Days (1809–1868) (Sabin, Edwin L), 76

Kit Carson: Folk Hero and Man (Gerson, Noel B), 76

Kit Carson: Frontier Scout (Sanford, William R), 76

Kit Carson, the Happy Warrior of the Old West (Vestal, Stanley), 76

Klee: A Study of His Life and Work (San Lazzaro, Gualtieri di), 275

Klee: Biographical and Critical Study (Ponente, Nello), 275

Klemens von Metternich (Von der Heide, John T), 327

Klondike Fever, 290

Knaves Templar (Tourney, Leonard), 140

Knight of the Seas: The Adventurous Life of John Paul Jones (Thomson, Valentine), 255

Kundun, 309

La Fayette (Sedgwick, Henry D), 276

La Marseillaise, 310

Labor's Advocate: Eugene V.Debs (Noble, Iris), 126

Lady Caroline Lamb, 193, 486, 67

Lady Diana Spencer: Princess of Wales (Whitelaw, Nancy), 133

The Lady in the Loch (Scarborough, Elizabeth A), 422

The Lady in the Tower (Plaidy, Jean), 40

Lady in Waiting (Sutcliffe, Rosemary), 389

The Lady Mary: A Biography of Mary Tudor (Waldman, Milton) , 314

The Lady of Arlington (Kane, Harnett T), 279

The Lady of the Lamp, 356

Lady of the Lotus (Barrett, William E), 62

Lady on the Coin (Barnes, Margaret C), 91

Lady Washington (Wilson, Dorothy Clarke), 484

Lady's Maid (Forster, Margaret), 59–60

Lafayette, 173

Lafayette (Gottschalk, Louis R), 276

Lafayette (Woodward, William E), 276

Lafayette: A Biography (Buckman, Peter), 276

Lafayette: A Life (Latzko, Andreas), 276

Lafayette: Hero of Two Worlds (Bernier, Olivier), 276

Lafayette: Man in the Middle (Holbrook, Sabra), 276

The Laird of Abbotsford (Pope-Hennessy, Una), 422

The Laird of Abbotsford: A View of Sir Walter Scott (Wilson, A.N), 422

Lamp at Midnight: A Play about Galileo (Stavis, Barrie), 181

The Lance and the Shield: The Life and Times of Sitting Bull (Utley, Robert M), 431

A Land of Our Own: An Oral Autobiography (Golda Meir), 323

The Land Where the Sun Dies (Carlisle, Henry), 242, 333

Langston Hughes (Emanuel, James A), 234

Langston Hughes (Rummel, Jack), 234

Langston Hughes: A Biography (Meltzer, Milton), 234

Langston Hughes: Before and Beyond Harlem (Berry, Faith) , 234

Langston Hughes: Poet of the Harlem Renaissance (Hill, Christine M), 234

The Lantern Bearer: A Life of Robert Louis Stevenson (Wood, James P), 442

The Lark (Anouilh, Jean), 249

The Last Bastion, 297, 406, 97

The Last Best Hope of Earth: Abraham Lincoln and the Promise of America (Neely, Mark E. Jr), 284

The Last Billionaire (Richards, William C), 168

The Last Christian (Holl, Adolf), 171

The Last Command, 232

The Last Crusader (De Wohl, Louis), 377, 92

The Last Days of Alfred Hitchcock (Freeman, David), 223

The Last Days of Charles I (Edwards, Graham), 90

Last Days of Frank & Jesse James, 246

The Last Days of Hitler (Trevor-Roper, Hugh), 224

The Last Days of John Lennon: A Personal Memoir (Seaman, Frederic), 281

The Last Days of Marilyn Monroe (Wolfe, Donald H), 334

The Last Days of Patton, 368

The Last Days of the Last Tsar, 354

The Last Empress: Life and Times of Alexandra Feodorovna, Empress of Russia (King, Greg), 354

The Last Flapper (Zuckerman, George), 166

Last Flight of Amelia Earhart, 151

The Last Full Measure (Morrow, Honoré), 43

The Last Full Measure (Shaara, Jeff), 206

The Last Great Frenchman: A Life of General De Gaulle (Williams, Charles), 124

The Last Hero (Forbath, Peter), 437

The Last Hero: Charles A.Lindbergh (Ross, Walter S), 285

The Last Journals of David Livings tone in Central Africa, from 1865 to His Death, 287

The Last Kaiser: A Biography of Wilhelm II, German Emperor and King of Prussia (Whittle, Tyler), 493

The Last Lion, Winston Spencer Churchill: Alone 1932–1940 (Manchester, William), 97

The Last Lion, Winston Spencer Churchill: Visions of Glory, 1874–1932 (Manchester, William), 97

The Last Love (Costain, Thomas B), 345

The Last Love of Camille (Winwar, Frances), 286

Last Man to Die (Dobbs, Michael), 224

The Last Mystery of Edgar Allan Poe (Meyers, Manny), 380

Last of His Kind: An Informal Portrait of Harry S. Truman (Robbins, Charles), 468

The Last of the Cocked Hats: James Monroe and the Virginia Dynasty (Styron, Arthur), 333

Last of the Czars, 354

The Last of the Fathers: James Madison and the Republican Legacy (McCoy, Drew R), 299–300

The Last Patrician: Bobby Kennedy and the End of the American Aristocracy (Beren, Michael K), 268

The Last Portrait of the Duchess of Alba (Larreta, Antonio), 205

The Last Rainbow (Parke, Godwin), 367

The Last Roman, 260–261

The Last Stand: A Novel about George Armstrong Custer and the Indians of the Plains (Hoyt, Edwin P), 119

Last Stand at Little Bighorn, 119

The Last Station: A Novel of Tolstoy's Last Year (Parini, Jay), 463

Last Temptation of Christ, 248

The Last Temptation of Christ (Kazantzakis, Nikos), 248

The Last Testament of Oscar Wilde (Ackroyd, Peter), 492

The Last Train to Memphis (Guralnick, Peter), 384

The Last Tsar (Cowles, Virginia), 354

The Last Tsar: The Life and Death of Nicholas II (Radzinsky, Edvard), 354

The Last Twelve Years of Joseph Conrad (Curle, Richard), 106

The Last Victory (Murari, T.N), 348

The Last Voyage: Captain Cook's Lost Diary (Innes, Hammond), 109

The Last Voyage of Drake and Hawkins, 144

The Last Year of Leo Tolstoy (Bulgakov, V.F), 463

The Last Year of Malcolm X: The Evolution of a Revolutionary (Breitman, George), 304

The Last Year of Thomas Mann (Mann, Erika), 307

The Last Years: Journals 1853–1855 (Søren Kierkegaard), 272

Last Years of Napoleon: His Captivity on St. Helena (Korngold, Ralph), 345

The Late Lord Byron (Moore, Doris Langley), 67

The Late Mr. Shakespeare (Nye, Robert), 423

Later Auden (Mendelson, Edward), 14

The Later Correspondence of George III, 191

The Laurel and the Ivy: The Story of Charles Stewart Parnell and Irish Nationalism (Kee, Robert), 364

Laurence Sterne (Cash, Arthur H), 440

Laurence Sterne as Yorick (Connely, Willard), 440

Lautrec by Lautrec (Huisman, Philippe, and M.G. Dortu), 465

Lawrence and Oppenheimer (Davis, Nuel P), 361

Lawrence and the Arabs (Graves, Robert), 278

Lawrence of Arabia, 278

Lawrence of Arabia (MacLean, Alastair), 278

Lawrence of Arabia: A Biographical Enquiry (Aldington, Richard), 278

Lawrence of Arabia and His World (Graves, Richard P), 278

Lawrence of Arabia: The Authorized Biography of T.E.Lawrence (Wilson, Jeremy), 278

Lawrence of Arabia: The Literary Impulse (Weintraub, Stanley, and Rodelle Weintraub), 278

Lawrence of Arabia: The Man and the Motives (Nutting, Anthony), 278

Lawrence: The Uncrowned King of Arabia (Asher, Michael), 278

Lay Siege to Heaven: A Novel of Saint Catherine of Siena (De Wohl, Louis), 82

LBJ, 252

LBJ: A Life (Unger, Irwin, and Debi Unger), 252

LBJ: An Irreverent Chronicle (Mooney, Booth), 252

LBJ: The Early Years, 252

Leaders (Richard M.Nixon), 357

Lee (Dowdey, Clifford), 279

Lee: A Dramatic Poem (Masters, Edgar Lee), 279

Lee After the War (Fishwick, Marshall W), 279

Lee and Grant: A Dual Biography (Smith, Gene), 206, 279

Lee Considered: Robert E.Lee and Civil War History (Nolan, Alan T), 279

Lee of Virginia (Freeman, Douglas S), 279

Lee the American (Bradford, Gamaliel), 279

Lee: The Last Years (Flood, Charles B), 279

Lee the Soldier (Gallagher, Gary W., ed), 279

The Lees of Virginia: Biography of a Family (Hendrick, Burton J), 279

The Lees of Virginia: Seven Generations of an American Family (Nagel, Paul C), 279

The Left-Handed Gun, 36

Leftover Life to Kill (Thomas, Caitlin), 460

Legacy (Kay, Susan), 160

The Legacy of Holmes and Brandeis: A Study in the Influence of Ideas (Konefsky, Samuel J), 51

The Legacy of Rosa Luxemburg (Geras, Norman), 296

Legend: Frank Sinatra and the American Dream (Vare, Ethlie A., ed), 430

The Legend of Henry Ford (Sward, Keith), 168

The Legend of John Brown: A Biography and a History (Boyer, Richard), 58

The Legend of the Master: Henry James (Nowell-Smith, Simon, ed), 245

Legend: The Life and Death of Marilyn Monroe (Guiles, Fred L.), 334

Lélia: The Life of George Sand (Maurois, André), 414

Lenin, 280

Lenin (Brien, Alan), 280

Lenin (Clark, Ronald W), 280

Lenin (Cliff, Tony), 280

Lenin (Gourfinkel, Nina), 280

Lenin (Hollis, Christopher), 280

Lenin (Silverman, Saul N., ed), 280

Lenin (Williams, Beryl), 280

Lenin: A Biography (Fox, Ralph), 280

Lenin: A Biography (Shub, David), 280

Lenin: A New Biography (Volkogonov, Dmitrii A), 280

Lenin: A Political Life (Service, Robert), 280

Lenin and His Rivals: The Struggle for Russia's Future 1898–1906 (Treadgold, Donald W), 280

Lenin and the Russian Revolution (Hill, Christopher), 280

Lenin and the Russian Revolution (Shukman, Harold), 280

Lenin and World Revolution (Page, Stanley W), 280

Lenin: Genesis and Development of a Revolutionary (Theen, Rolf H.W), 280

Lenin in Zurich (Solzhenitsyn, Aleksandr), 280

Lenin: Life and Works (Weber, Gerda), 280

Lenin: Portrait of a Professional Revolutionary (Hollis, Christopher), 280

Lenin: Revolution and Power (Carrère d'Encausse, Helene), 280

Lenin: The Compulsive Revolutionary (Possony, S.T), 280

Lenin: The Man Who Made a Revolution (Levine, I.E), 280

Lenin's Childhood (Deutscher, Isaac), 280

Lenin's Last Struggle (Lewin, Moshe), 280

The Lennon Companion: 25 Years of Comment (Thomson, Elizabeth, and David Gutman, eds), 281

Lennon Remembers, 281

Lenten Lands: My Childhood with Joy Davidman and C.S.Lewis (Gresham, Douglas) , 283

Leo Tolstoy, 463

Leo Tolstoy (Simmons, Ernest), 463

Leo Tolstoy: A Brilliant Look at the Life of Leo Tolstoy, 463

Leo Tolstoy: Resident and Stranger (Gustafson, Richard F), 463

Leon Trotsky (Garza, Hedda), 467

Lean Trotsky (Howe, Irving), 467

Leon Trotsky (Warth, Robert D), 467

Leon Trotsky: The Portrait of a Youth (Eastman, Max), 467

Leonard Bernstein (Burton, Humphrey), 35

Leonard Bernstein (Myers, Paul), 35

Leonard Bernstein: A Life (Secrest, Meryle), 35

Leonard Bernstein: Reaching for the Note, 35

Leonard Bernstein: The Infinite Variety of a Musician (Gradenwitz, Peter), 35

Leonard Bernstein: The Loves of Three Orchestras, 35

Leonardo (Payne, Robert), 282

Leonardo da Vinci (Clark, Kenneth), 282

Leonardo da Vinci (Heydenreich, Ludwig H), 282

Leonardo da Vinci (McLanathan, Richard B.K), 282

Leonardo da Vinci (Stanley, Diane), 282

Leonardo da Vinci (Zubov, V.P), 282

Leonardo da Vinci: A Pictorial Biography (Friedenthal, Richard), 282

Leonardo da Vinci and a Memory of His Childhood (Freud, Sigmund), 282

Leonardo da Vinci: His Life and His Pictures (Douglas, R.Langston) , 282

Leonardo da Vinci: Origins of a Genius (Brown, David A), 282

Leonardo da Vinci: Psychoanalytic Notes on the Enigma (Eissler, Kurt R), 282

Leonardo da Vinci the Florentine: A Study in Personality (Taylor, Rachel A), 282

Leonardo da Vinci: The Marvellous Works of Nature and Man (Kemp, Martin), 282

Leonardo da Vinci: The Mind of the Renaissance (Vezzosi, Alessandro), 282

Leonardo da Vinci: The Tragic Pursuit of Perfection (Vallentin, Antonina), 282

Leonardo: Discovering the Life of Leonardo da Vinci (Bramly, Serge), 282

Leonardo: The Artist and the Non-Artist (Gould, Cecil), 282

Leonardo's Horse (Berry, R.M), 282

Leonardo's Judas (Perutz, Leo), 282

Les Quarant Cing (Dumas, Alexandre (fils)), 81

Less Than a Treason: Hemingway in Paris (Griffin, Peter), 219

Let Me Die in Ireland, the True Story of Patrick (Bercot, David W), 367

Let the King Beware (Morrow, Honoré), 191, 64

Let the Trumpet Sound: The Life of Martin Luther King Jr (Oates, Stephen B), 273

Letters (Alexander Pope), 382

Letters (Carl Gustav Jung), 259

Letters (George Eliot), 158

Letters (Henry James), 245

Letters (Ivan Turgenev), 471

Letters (Nathaniel Hawthorne), 215

Letters (Washington Irving), 239

Letters and Diaries (John Henry Newman), 352

Letters and Documents (Napoleon Bonaparte), 345

Letters and Documents (Søren Kierkegaard), 272

Letters and Life of Francis Bacon (Spedding, James), 21

Letters and Other Writings (Franz Schubert), 419

The Letters and Private Papers of William Makepeace Thackeray, 458

The Letters and Writings of George Frideric Handel, 210

Letters from a Traveller (Pierre Teilhard de Chardin), 455

Letters from Amelia: 1901–37 (Amelia Earhart), 151

Letters from Colette, 103

Letters from Egypt (Florence Nightingale), 356

Letters from Egypt, 1905–1908 (Pierre Teilhard de Chardin), 455

Letters from Father: The Truman Family's Personal Correspondence, 468

Letters from Hastings, 1908–1912 (Pierre Teilhard de Chardin), 455

Letters from His Youth (Charles Baudelaire), 27

Letters from Paris, 1912–1914 (Pierre Teilhard de Chardin), 455

Letters from the Field: 1925–1975 (Margaret Mead), 321

Letters Home (Harry S Truman), 468

Letters, 1905–1965 (Albert Schweitzer), 421

The Letters of Alexander Pushkin, 387

The Letters of Anthony Trollope, 466

Letters of Brigham Young to His Sons, 508

Letters of C.S.Lewis, 283

The Letters of Charles Baudelaire to His Mother, 1833–1866, 27

The Letters of Charlotte Brontë: With a Selection of Letters by Family and Friends. (The Brontës), 53–57

Letters of Cicero: A Selection in Translation, 98

The Letters of D.H.Lawrence, 277

The Letters of Daniel Webster, 485

The Letters of Edgar Allan Poe, 380

The Letters of Edith Wharton, 489

Letters of Eugene V.Debs, 126

Letters of George Sand, 414

The Letters of Gertrude Stein and Carl Van Vechten: 1913–1946, 438

The Letters of Gertrude Stein and Thornton Wilder, 438

Letters of Giuseppe Verdi, 477

The Letters of Grover Cleveland, 101

The Letters of Gustave Flaubert, 167

Letters of H.L.Mencken, 325

The Letters of Jack London, 290

Letters of James Joyce, 257

Letters of John Keats, 265

Letters of John Stuart Mill, 329

Letters of John Wesley, 488

The Letters of Karl Marx, 313

The Letters of King George III, 191

The Letters of King George IV, 1812–1830, 193

Letters of King James VI and I, 244

Letters of Lewis Carroll, 75

The Letters of Louis D.Brandeis, 51

Letters of Maimonides, 303

The Letters of Mary Wollstonecraft Shelley, 425

Letters of Matthew Arnold, 12

Letters of Matthew Arnold 1848–1888, 12

The Letters of Michelangelo (Michelangelo Buonarroti), 328

The Letters of Mozart and His Family, 340

Letters of Oscar Wilde, 492

The Letters of Percy Bysshe Shelley, 426

Letters of Rainer Maria Rilke, 397

The Letters of Ralph Waldo Emerson, 162

Letters of Robert Browning and Elizabeth Barrett Browning (The Brownings), 59–60

The Letters of Robert Louis Stevenson, 442

The Letters of Rosa Luxemburg, 296

The Letters of Rudyard Kipling, 274

Letters of Saint Ignatius of Loyola, 238

The Letters of Samuel Johnson, 254

The Letters of Samuel Pepys and His Family Circle, 111

Letters of Sigmund Freud, 177

The Letters of Sir Walter Scott, 422

The Letters of St. Teresa of Jesus (Teresa of Avila), 457

The Letters of T.E.Lawrence, 278

Letters of the Prince Consort, 5

The Letters of Theodore Roosevelt, 407

Letters of Thomas Mann, 1889–1955, 307

The Letters of Virginia Woolf, 501

Letters of W.B.Yeats, 507

The Letters of William and Dorothy Wordsworth, 502

The Letters of William Blake, 38

Letters of William Wordsworth: A New Selection, 502

The Letters, Speeches, and Declarations (Charles II), 91

The Letters, Speeches, and Proclamations, 90

Letters to Apprentices (Frank Lloyd Wright), 504

Letters to Architects (Frank Lloyd Wright), 504

Letters to Atticus (Marcus Tullius Cicero), 98

Letters to Chief Ministers: 1947–64 (Jawaharlal Nehru), 348

Letters to Clients (Frank Lloyd Wright), 504

Letters to Friends, Family, and Editors (Franz Kafka), 262

Letters to His Family (1901–1962) (Pope John XXIII), 250

Letters to His Family: An Autobiography (Peter Ilyich Tchaikovsky), 453

Lev and Sonya: The Story of the Tolstoy Marriage (Smoluchowski, Louise), 463

Lewis & Clark: The Journey of the Corps of Discovery, 247

Lewis Carroll (Green, Roger L), 75

Lewis Carroll (Hudson, Derek), 75

Lewis Carroll: A Biography (Bakewell, Michael), 75

Lewis Carroll: A Biography (Clarke, Anne), 75

Lewis Carroll: A Biography (Cohen, Motion N), 75

Lewis Carroll: A Portrait with Background (Thomas, Donald), 75

Lewis Carroll: An Illustrated Biography (Hudson, Derek), 75

Lewis Carroll and His World (Pudney, John), 75

Lewis Carroll: Fragments of a Looking-Glass (Gattégno, Jean), 75

Lewis Carroll in Wonderland: The Life and Times of Alice and Her Creator (Stoffel, Stephanie L), 75

Libbie (Alter, Judy), 119

The Liberator Simón Bolívar: Man and Image (Bushnell, David, ed), 41

Liberty! The American Revolution, 1

Liberty!:: The American Revolution, 173

Liberty! The American Revolution, 191, 2

Liberty!:: The American Revolution, 209, 222, 247, 299–300, 363

Liberty! The American Revolution, 484

Libra (Delillo, Don), 267

The Life and Adventures of Daniel Boone (Lofaro, Michael A), 42

The Life and Adventures of Kit Carson, the Nestor of the Rocky Mountains (Peters, DeWitt C), 76

The Life and Adventures of Rear-Admiral John Paul Jones, Commonly Called Paul Jones (Abbott, John S), 255

The Life and Art of Claude Monet: Impressions of France (Taylor, John Russell), 332

Life and Campaigns of Lieut.-Gen. Thomas J. Jackson (Dabney, Robert L) , 243

The Life and Character of the Chevalier John Paul Jones, a Captain in the Navy of the United States during their Revolutionary War (Sherburne, John H), 255

The Life and Character of the Late Reverend Mr. Jonathan Edwards, President of the College of New Jersey (Hopkins, Samuel), 155

Life and Complete Works of Francisco Goya (Gassier, Pierre, and Juliet Wilson), 205

Life and Correspondence of John Paul Jones, Including His Narrative of the Campaign of the Liman, 255

The Life and Crimes of Agatha Christie (Osborne, Charles), 96

The Life and Curious Death of Marilyn Monroe (Slatzer, Robert F), 334

The Life and Death of Adolf Hitler (Hulme, George), 224

The Life and Death of Adolf Hitler (Payne, Robert), 224

The Life and Death of Andy Warhol (Bockris, Victor), 482

The Life and Death of Cardinal Wolsey (Cavendish, George), 500

The Life and Death of Chopin (Wierzynski, Kazimierz), 95

The Life and Death of Crazy Horse (Freedman, Russell), 115

The Life and Death of Lenin (Payne, Robert), 280

The Life and Death of Lean Trotsky (Serge, Victor, and Natalia Sedova-Trotsky), 467

The Life and Death of Mahatma Gandhi (Payne, Robert), 183

The Life and Death of Mary Wallstonecraft (Tomalin, Claire), 499

The Life and Death of Mozart (Levey, Michael), 340

The Life and Death of Stalin (Fischer, Louis), 436

The Life and Death of Trotsky (Payne, Robert), 467

The Life and Good Times of William Randolph Hearst (Tebbel, John) , 217

The Life and Labours of Saint Thomas Aquin (Vaughan, Roger W.B), 10

The Life and Legend of St. Patrick: Problems of Modern Scholarship (Bieler, Ludwig), 367

The Life and Letters of Emily Dickinson (Bianchi, Martha D), 135

Life and Letters of General Thomas J.Jackson (Jackson, Anna Mary), 243

Life and Letters of Harriet Beecher Stowe, 443

The Life and Letters of James Abram Garfield, 185

The Life and Letters of John Brown: Liberator of Kansas and Martyr of Virginia. (Sanborn, Franklin B), 58

The Life and Letters of John Donne, Dean of Saint Paul's (Gosse, Edmund), 140

The Life and Letters of John Paul Jones (DeKoven, Mrs. Reginald (Anna)), 255

The Life and Letters of Laurence Sterne (Melville, Lewis), 440

The Life and Letters of Lewis Carroll (Collingwood, Stuart Dodgson), 75

The Life and Letters of Mary Wollstonecraft Shelley (Marshall, Florence A), 425

The Life and Letters of Peter Ilich Tchaikovsky (Tchaikovsky, Modest), 453

Life and Letters of Robert Browning (Orr, Alexandra), 59–60

Life and Letters of Robert Edward Lee (Jones, J. William), 279

The Life and Letters of Washington Irving (Irving, Pierre M), 239

The Life and Lyrics of Andrew Marvell (Craze, Michael), 312

The Life and Many Deaths of Harry Houdini (Brandon, Ruth), 231

The Life and Mind of Emily Dickinson (Taggard, Genevieve), 135

The Life and Mind of John Dewey (Dykhuizen, George), 132

The Life and Music of Béla Bartók (Stevens, Halsey), 25

The Life and Opinions of Maximilien Robespierre (Hampson, Norman), 401

The Life and Principate of the Emperor Nero (Henderson, Bernard W), 350

The Life and Selected Writings of Thomas Jefferson, 247

The Life and Strange and Surprising Adventures of Daniel Defoe (Dottin, Paul), 128

The Life and the Spirit of Thomas Aquinas (Petitot, Hyacinthe), 10

The Life and Thought of Confucius, 105

The Life and Thought of H.G.Wells (Kagarlitski, J), 487

The Life and Times of Aaron Burr (Parton, James), 66

Life and Times of Benjamin Franklin (Parton, James), 173

The Life and Times of Charles II (Falkus, Christopher), 91

The Life and Times of Chaucer (Gardner, John), 93

The Life and Times of Chopin (Murgia, Adelaide), 95

The Life and Times of Congressman John Quincy Adams (Richards, Leonard L), 3

The Life and Times of Constantine the Great (Kousoulas, D.George), 108

The Life and Times of Cotton Mother (Silverman, Kenneth), 316

The Life and Times of Dante (Rizzatti, Maria Luisa), 121

The Life and Times of Edward VII (Middlemas, Keith), 154

The Life and Times of Elizabeth I (Williams, Neville), 160

The Life and Times of Emile Zola (Hemmings, F.W.J), 509

The Life and Times of Frank Sinatra (Hawes, Esme) , 430

Life and Times of Frederick Douglass, 142

The Life and Times of George III (Clarke, John), 191

The Life and Times of George IV (Palmer, Alan W), 193

The Life and Times of Henry VIII (Lacey, Robert), 221

The Life and Times of Joe McCarthy: A Biography (Reeves, Thomas C), 319

The Life and Times of Laurence Sterne (Cross, Wilbur L), 440

The Life and Times of Lucrezia Borgia (Bellonci, Maria), 45–47

The Life and Times of Mary Tudor (Ridley, Jasper), 314

The Life and Times of Michelangelo (Rizzatti, Maria Luisa), 328

The Life and Times of Muhammad (Glubb, John B), 341

The Life and Times of Oliver Goldsmith (Forster, John), 203

The Life and Times of Richard I (Gillingham, John), 394

The Life and Times of Richard III (Cheetham, Anthony), 395

The Life and Times of the Apostle Paul (Ball, Charles F), 369

Life and Times of the Right Honourable Cecil John Rhodes (Michell, Sir Lewis), 393

The Life and Times of Theodore Roosevelt (Harbaugh, William H), 407

The Life and Times of Theodore Roosevelt (Lorant, Stefan), 407

The Life and Times of Victoria (Marshall, Dorothy), 479

The Life and Times of William I (Ashley, Maurice), 494

The Life and Work of John Ruskin (Collingwood, W.G), 411

The Life and Work of Sigmund Freud (Jones, Ernest), 177

Life and Work of Susan B.Anthony (Harper, Ida Husted), 9

The Life and Work of Vincent van Gogh (Barrielle, Jean-François), 475

The Life and Works of Degas (Mannering, Douglas), 129

The Life and Works of Edgar Allan Poe: A Psychoanalytical Interpretation (Bonaparte, Marie), 380

The Life and Works of Friedrich Schiller (Thomas, Calvin), 417

The Life and Works of Goethe (Lewes, G.H), 200

The Life and Works of Manet (Harris, Nathaniel), 306

Life and Works of Michelangelo Buonarroti (Wilson, Charles), 328

The Life and World of Henry VIII (Feuerlicht, Roberta S), 221

The Life and Writings of Abraham Lincoln (Stern, Philip Van Doren, ed), 284

The Life and Writings of Alexandre Dumas (Spurr, Harry A), 148

Life in Camelot: The Kennedy Years, 267

Life, Letters, and Literary Remains of John Keats (Houghton, Richard Monckton Milnes), 265

Life of a Poet: Rainer Maria Rilke (Freedman, Ralph), 397

The Life of Abraham Lincoln (Barton, William E), 284

The Life of Abraham Lincoln (Tarbell, Ida M), 284

Life of Adam Smith (Haldane, R.B), 432

Life of Adam Smith (Rae, John), 432

The Life of Adam Smith (Ross, Ian Simpson), 432

The Life of Admiral Lord Nelson (Clarke, J.S., and J.MacArthur), 349

The Life of Algernon Charles Swinburne (Gosse, Edmund), 449

The Life of Andrew Carnegie (Hendrick, Burton J), 74

The Life of Andrew Jackson (Bassett, John S), 242

The Life of Andrew Jackson (Eaton, John, and John Reid), 242

Life of Andrew Jackson (Parton, James), 242

The Life of Andrew Jackson (Remini, Robert V), 242

The Life of Andrew Johnson: Seventeenth President of the United States (Jones, James Sawyer), 251

A Life of Anne Brontë (Chitham, Edward), 53–57

The Life of Arthur Conan Doyle (Carr, John Dickson), 143

Life of Arthur, Duke of Wellington (Gleig, G.R), 486

The Life of Beethoven (Kendall, Alan), 30

The Life of Benedict Arnold: His Patriotism and His Treason (Arnold, Isaac N), 11

The Life of Benito Mussolini (Sarfatti, Margherita), 343

The Life of Benjamin Disraeli, Earl of Beaconsfield (Monypenny, William F., and G.E.Buckle), 139

The Life of Berlioz (Bloom, Peter), 33

The Life of Bertrand Russell (Clark, Ronald W), 412

The Life of Buddha as Legend and History (Thomas, Edward J), 62

The Life of Byron (Longford, Elizabeth), 67

The Life of Captain Cook (Beaglehole, J.C), 109

The Life of Captain John Smith, the Founder of Virginia (Simms, William G), 433

Life of Cardinal Newman (Atkins, Gaius G), 352

Life of Carlyle (Wilson, David A), 73

The Life of Catherine of Siena (Raymond of Capua), 82

The Life of Charles Darwin (Darwin, Francis), 122

The Life of Charles Dickens (Forster, John), 134

The Life of Charles Stewart Parnell, 1846–1891 (O'Brian, R.Barry), 364

The Life of Charlotte Brontë (Gaskell, Elizabeth), 53–57

The Life of Chingis Khan (Vladimirtsov, B.Y), 190

Life of Chopin (Liszt, Franz), 95

The Life of Cicero (Trollope, Anthony), 98

Life of Clara Barton (Barton, William E), 26

The Life of Clara Barton (Epler, Percy H), 26

The Life of Confucius (Chunli, Qu), 105

The Life of Countess Tolstoy (Edwards, Anne), 463

The Life of D.H.Lawrence (Sagar, Keith M), 277

The Life of Daniel Boone (Draper, Lyman C), 42

Life of Daniel Webster (Curtis, George T), 485

Life of Dante (Barbi, Michele), 121

Life of Dante Alighieri (Dinsmore, Charles A), 121

The Life of David Garrick (Fitzgerald, Percy H), 187

The Life of David Garrick (Murphy, Arthur), 187

The Life of Debussy (Nichols, Roger), 127

The Life of Desiderius Erasmus (Hyma, Albert), 163

The Life of Dylan Thomas (Fitzgibbon, Constantine), 460

The Life of Elizabeth Barren Browning (Taplin, Gardner B), 59–60

The Life of Emerson (Brooks, Van Wyek), 162

The Life of Emile Zola, 509

A Life of Emily Brontë (Chitham, Edward), 53–57

The Life of Emily Dickinson (Sewall, Richard B), 135

The Life of Ezra Pound (Stock, Noel), 383

The Life of Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy (Lampadius, W.A), 315

The Life of Ferdinand Magellan and the First Circumnavigation of the Globe 1480–1521 (Guillemard, Francis H.H), 301

The Life of Florence Nightingale (Cook, Sir Edward), 356

The Life of Francis Bacon (Montagu, Basil), 21

Life of Françoise Rabelais (Plattard, Jean), 388

The Life of Frederick the Great (Macaulay, Thomas Babington), 175

The Life of Friedrich Nietzsche (Halévy, Daniel), 355

Life of Friedrich Schiller (Nevinson, Henry W), 417

The Life of General George Armstrong Custer (Monaghan, Jay), 119

A Life of General Robert E.Lee (Cooke, John Esten), 279

The Life of Geoffrey Chaucer: A Critical Biography (Pearsall, Derek), 93

The Life of George Gershwin (Rushmore, Robert), 195

The Life of George the Fourth: Including His Letters and Opinions (Fitzgerald, Percy H), 193

The Life of George Washington (Irving, Washington), 484

Life of George Washington (Marshall, John), 484

The Life of Giovanni Boccaccio (Chubb, Thomas C), 39

Life of Goethe (Bielschowsky, Albert), 200

Life of Goethe (Brown, Peter H), 200

The Life of Goethe: A Critical Biography (Williams, John R), 200

The Life of Harriet Beecher Stowe Compiled from Her Journals and Letters, 443

Life of Haydn (Nohl, Ludwig), 216

The Life of Henry Brulard (Stendhal), 439

Life of Henry Clay (Schurz, Carl), 99

The Life of Henry Clay (Van Deusen, Glyndon G), 99

Life of Henry David Thoreau (Salt, Henry S), 461

The Life of Henry David Thoreau (Sanborn, Franklin B), 461

The Life of Henry Wadsworth Longfellow with Extracts from His Journals and Correspondence (Longfellow, Samuel), 291

The Life of Herbert Hoover (Nash, George N), 227

The Life of His Royal Highness the Prince Consort (Martin, Theodore), 5

Life of Ibsen (Koht, Halvden), 237

The Life of J.M.W.Turner, R.A (Finberg, A.J), 472

The Life of J.M.W.Turner, R.A (Hamerton, Philip G), 472

The Life of J.M.W.Turner, R.A., Founded on Let ters and Papers Furnished by His Friends and Fellow Academicians (Thornbury, Walter), 472

The Life of James Madison (Hunt, Gaillard), 299–300

The Life of James McNeill Whistler (Pennell, Elizabeth R., and Joseph Pennell), 490

The Life of James Monroe (Morgan, George), 333

The Life of Jane Austen (Halperin, John), 19

The Life of Jesus (Renan, Ernest), 248

The Life of Jesus: Critically Examined (Strauss, David F), 248

Life of Joan of Arc (France, Anatole), 249

The Life of Johannes Brahms (May, Florence), 50

The Life of John Adams (Adams, John Quincy, and Charles Francis Adams), 2

The Life of John Caldwell Calhoun (Meigs, William M), 68

A Life of John Calvin: A Study in the Shaping of Western Culture (McGrath, Alister E), 70

The Life of John Donne (Walton, Izaak), 140

Life of John Dryden (Scott, Walter), 146

The Life of John Dryden (Ward, Charles E), 146

The Life of John Henry Cardinal Newman (Ward, Wilfrid), 352

Life of John Keats (Rossetti, William Michael), 265

The Life of John Locke (Bourne, Henry R.F), 289

The Life of John Maynard Keynes (Harrod, Roy F), 270

The Life of John Milton (Masson, David), 330

The Life of John Milton (Wilson, A.N), 330

The Life of John Ruskin (Cook, Edward T), 411

Life of John Stuart Mill (Courtney, W.L), 329

The Life of John Stuart Mill (Packe, Michael St. John), 329

Life of John Wesley (Southey, Robert), 488

The Life of Jonathan Swift (Craik, Henry), 448

The Life of Jonathan Swift (Forster, John), 448

The Life of Joseph Conrad: A Critical Biography (Batchelor, John), 106

Life of Joseph Smith: The Prophet (Cannon, George O), 434

The Life of Katherine Mansfield (Alpers, Antony), 308

The Life of Katherine Mansfield (Mantz, R.E., and J.Middleton Murry), 308

The Life of Langston Hughes (Rampersad, Arnold), 234

The Life of Laurence Sterne (Fitzgerald, Percy H), 440

The Life of Laurence Sterne (Traill, H.D), 440

The Life of Lenin (Fischer, Louis), 280

The Life of Leonardo da Vinci, 282

The Life of Lewis Carroll (Lennon, Florence Becker), 75

The Life of Machiavelli (Ridolfi, Roberto), 298

The Life of Mahatma Gandhi (Fischer, Louis), 183

The Life of Mahler (Franklin, Peter), 302

The Life of Mahomet (Dermenghem, Emile), 341

The Life of Malcolm X (Curtis, Richard), 304

The Life of Mary Baker Eddy (Wilbur, Sibil), 152

The Life of Mary Baker G.Eddy and the History of Christian Science (Milmine, Georgine), 152

Life of Mary Wollstonecraft (Pennell, Elizabeth R), 499

A Life of Matthew Arnold (Murray, Nicholas), 12

The Life of Maximilien Robespierre (Lewes, G.H), 401

The Life of Michel Angela (Rolland, Romain), 328

The Life of Michelangelo (Morgan, Charles H), 328

The Life of Michelangelo Buonarroti (Symonds, John Addington), 328

The Life of Mohammed from Original Sources (Muir, William), 341

The Life of Monsieur de Molière (Bulgakov, Mikhail), 331

The Life of Mozart (Holmes, Edward), 340

Life of Mozart (Jahn, Otto), 340

Life of Mozart (Niemetschek, Franz), 340

The Life of Mozart (Rosselli, John), 340

The Life of Mozart: An Account in Text and Pictures (Fischer, Hans Conrad, and Lutz Besch), 340

The Life of Muhammad (Hsykal, Muhammad), 341

The Life of Muhammad (Ibn Ishaq, Muhammad), 341

The Life of Napoleon I (Rose, J.Holland), 345

The Life of Nathaniel Hawthorne (Conway, Moncure), 215

The Life of Nelson (Mahan, Alfred T), 349

The Life of Nelson (Southey, Robert), 349

The Life of Newman (Sencourt, Robert), 352

Life of Oliver Goldsmith (Dobson, Austin), 203

The Life of Oliver Goldsmith (Prior, James), 203

Life of Oscar Wilde (Sherard, Robert H), 492

The Life of Our Lord (Dickens, Charles), 248

The Life of Pasteur (Vallery-Radot, René), 366

The Life of Paul Gauguin (Burnett, Robert), 189

The Life of Paul Jones (Mackenzie, Alexander S), 255

The Life of Percy Bysshe Shelley (Dowden, Edward), 426

The Life of Percy Bysshe Shelley (Hogg, Thomas J), 426

The Life of Percy Bysshe Shelley (Medwin, Thomas), 426

Life of Petrarch (Wilkins, Ernest H), 376

A Life of Picasso (Richardson, John), 378

Life of President Edwards (Dwight, Sereno E), 155

The Life of Prince Metternich (Malleeson, George B), 327

The Life of Ralph Waldo Emerson (Rusk, Ralph L), 162

The Life of Richard Strauss (Gilliam, Bryan), 444

The Life of Richard Strauss (Jefferson, Alan), 444

Life of Richard Wagner (Ellis, William A), 481

The Life of Richard Wagner (Newman, Ernest), 481

The Life of Robert Browning: A Critical Biography (Ryals, Clyde de L), 59–60

The Life of Robert Browning, with Notices of His Writing, His Family, and His Friends (Griffin, William H., and Harry C.Minchin), 59–60

The Life of Robert Burns (Carswell, Catherine), 65

Life of Robert Burns (Lockhart, John G), 65

The Life of Robert Burns (Snyder, Franklyn B), 65

Life of Robert Louis Stevenson (Balfour, Sir Graham), 442

Life of Robert Louis Stevenson (Masson, Rosaline O), 442

Life of Robert Schumann (Wasielewski, Joseph Wilhelm von), 420

The Life of Saint Augustine (Hansel, Robert R), 16

Life of Saint Francis of Assist (Sabatier, Paul), 171

The Life of Saint Paul (Pittenger, W.Norman), 369

The Life of Saint Peter (Pittenger, W.Norman), 374

The Life of Saint Teresa of Avila by Herself, 457

Life of Samuel Johnson (Boswell, James), 254

The Life of Samuel Johnson: A Critical Biography (DeMaria, Robert), 254

The Life of Samuel Taylor Coleridge: A Critical Biography (Ashton, Rosemary), 102

The Life of Samuel Taylor Coleridge: The Early Years (Hanson, Lawrence), 102

Life of Schiller (Carlyle, Thomas), 417

The Life of Schiller (Düntzer, Heinrich), 417

The Life of Schubert (Gibbs, Christopher H), 419

Life of Shakespeare, 311, 423

Life of Sir Isaac Newton (Brewster, Sir David), 353

The Life of Sir Thomas More (Roper, William), 336

The Life of Sir Walter Scott (Gwynn, Stephen), 422

Life of St. Francis of Assist (Cuthbert, Father), 171

Life of St. Louis (Joinville, Jean, Sire de), 292

The Life of St. Patrick and His Place in History (Bury, John B), 367

Life of Tecumseh and His Brother The Prophet with a Historical Sketch of the Shawanoe Indians (Drake, Benjamin), 454

The Life of Teilhard de Chardin (Speaight, Robert), 455

The Life of the Buddha According to the Ancient Texts and Monuments of India (Foucher, Alfred), 62

The Life of the Empress (Sencourt, Robert), 346–347

The Life of the Heart: George Sand and Her Times (Winwar, Frances), 414

Life of the Renowned Sir Philip Sidney (Greville, Fulke), 429

Life of the Right Honourable William Pin (Stanhope, Philip H), 379

The Life of the Very Reverend and Learned Cotton Mother (Mather, Samuel), 316

The Life of Thomas Hardy (Brennecke, Ernst), 213

The Life of Thomas Hardy: A Critical Biography (Turner, Paul D.L), 213

The Life of Thomas Jefferson (Randall, Henry S), 247

The Life of Thomas More (Ackroyd, Peter), 336

The Life of Thomas Paine (Conway, Moncure), 363

The Life of Titian (Ridolfi, Carlo), 462

The Life of Tolstoy (Maude, Aylmer), 463

The Life of W.B.Yeats: A Critinal Biography (Brown, Terence), 507

A Life of Walt Whitman (Binns, Henry B), 491

The Life of Walter Scott: A Critical Biography (Sutherland, John), 422

The Life of Washington (Weems, Mason L), 484

The Life of Washington Irving (Williams, Stanley T), 239

The Life of Wellington (Maxwell, Sir Herbert), 486

Life of William Blake (Gilchrist, Alexander), 38

The Life of William Blake (Wilson, Mona), 38

The Life of William Ewart Gladstone (Morley, John), 199

The Life of William Ewart Gladstone (Reid, T. Wemyss, ed), 199

The Life of William Faulkner: A Critical Biography (Gray, Richard), 164

The Life of William McKinley (Olcott, Charles S), 320

The Life of William Morris (Mackail, J.W), 338

The Life of William Penn: With Selections from His Correspondence and Autobiography (Janney, Samuel M), 370

A Life of William Shakespeare (Adams, Joseph Quincy), 423

Life of William Shakespeare (Lee, Sir Sidney), 423

The Life of William the Conqueror from the Early Chronicles (Benton, Sarah H), 494

The Life Records of John Milton (French, J.Milton, ed), 330

The Life Story of Brigham Young (Gates, Susa Young, with Leah D.Widtsoe), 508

The Life Story of J.Pierpont Morgan (Hovey, Carl), 337

The Life Story of Thomas Alva Edison (Jones, Francis A), 153

Life Studies (Robert Lowell), 294

The Life, Times, and Music of Peter Ilyich Tchaikovsky, 453

The Life, Times, and Treacherous Death of Jesse James (Triplett, Frank), 246

The Life, Trial, and Execution of Capt. John Brown, 58

Life Was Meant to Be Lived: A Centenary Portrait of Eleanor Roosevelt (Lash, Joseph P), 405

Life with Picasso (Gilot, Françoise, and Carlton Lake), 378

A Lifelong Passion: Nicholas and Alexandra: Their Own Story (Nicholas II), 354

Light (Figes, Eva), 332

The Light Bearer (Gillespie, Donna), 350

Light on Lucrezia (Plaidy, Jean), 45–47

The Lighthouse at the End of the World (Marlowe, Stephen), 380

Lightning Time: A Novel (Rees, Douglas), 58

Like to the Lark: The Early Years of Shakespeare (Pohl, Frederick J), 423

Lillie, 154, 492

Lillie (Butler, David), 490, 492

The Lily and the Leopards (Harwood, Alice), 314

The Limits of Glory: A Novel of Waterloo (McDonough, James), 345, 486

Lincoln, 284

Lincoln (Donald, David H), 284

Lincoln (Vidal, Gore), 284

Lincoln: A Foreigner's Quest (Morris, Jan), 284

Lincoln: A Photobiography (Freedman, Russell), 284

Lincoln: A Psycho-Biography (Clark, Leon P), 284

Lincoln: An Account of His Personal Life (Stephenson, Nathaniel W), 284

Lincoln: An Illustrated Biography (Kunhardt, Philip B. Jr., Philip B.Kunhardt, III, and Peter W.Kunhardt), 284

Lincoln and His Generals (Williams, Thomas H), 284

Lincoln as I Knew Him: Gossip, Tributes, and Revelations from His Best Friends and Worst Enemies (Holzer, Harold, ed), 284

Lincoln Day by Day: A Chronology 1809–1865 (Miers, Earl S., ed), 284

The Lincoln Diddle (Steward, Barbara, and Dwight Steward), 284, 43

The Lincoln Encyclopedia: The Spoken and Written Words of A.Lincoln Arranged for Ready Reference (Shaw, Archer H), 284

Lincoln Finds a General: A Military Study of the Civil War (Williams, Kenneth P), 206

Lincoln: In His Own Words (Meltzer, Milton, ed), 284

The Lincoln Murder Conspiracies (Hanchett, William), 43

A.Lincoln: Prairie Lawyer (Duff, John J), 284

Lincoln the Man (Masters, Edgar Lee), 284

Lincoln: The President (Randall, James G), 284

Lincoln's Mothers (Wilson, Dorothy C), 284

Lincoln's Quest for Union: Public and Private Meanings (Strozier, Charles B), 284

Lincoln's Wife (Colver, Anne), 284

Lindbergh, 285

Lindbergh (Berg, A.Scott), 285

Lindbergh: A Biography (Mosley, Leonard), 285

Lindbergh Alone (Gill, Brendan), 285

The Lindbergh Kidnapping Case, 285

Lindbergh of Minnesota: A Political Biography (Larson, Bruce L.), 285

The Lion and the Cross (Hamilton, Joan L), 367

The Lion and the Rose (Oliver, Jane), 315

A Lion for Love: A Critical Biography of Stendhal (Alter, Robert, with Carol Cosman), 439

The Lion in Winter, 394

The Lion of Caprera: A Biography of Giuseppe Garibaldi (Parris, John), 186

The Lion of Christ (Butler, Margaret), 459

The Lion of England (Butler, Margaret), 459

The Lion of Justice (Butler, Margaret), 459

Lion of the Desert, 343

The Lion of the Lord: A Biography of Brigham Young (Hirshson, Stanley P), 508

The Lion of the West (Paulding, James K), 116

Lion Rampant (Shrimsley, Bernard), 244

Lionheart! A Novel of Richard I, King of England (Rofheart, Martha), 394

Lionhearts: Saladin and Richard I and the Era of the Third Crusade (Regan, Geoffrey), 394

The Lionness and the Little One: The Liaison of George Sand and Frédéric Chopin (Atwood, William G), 414, 95

The Lion's Pride: Theodore Roosevelt and His Family in Peace and War (Renehan, Edward J. Jr), 407

The List of 7 (Frost, Mark), 143

Listen America: A Life of Walt Whitman (Stoutenburg, Adrien and Laura N.Baker), 491

Listen for the Voices (Colver, Anne), 162, 461

Liszt (Beckett, Walter), 286

Liszt (Hamburger, Klára), 286

Liszt (Sitwell, Sacheverell), 286

Liszt (Walker, Alan), 286

Liszt (Watson, Derek), 286

Liszt at Weimar, 286

Liszt: My Traveling Circus Life (Allsobrook, David I), 286

Liszt: The Artist as Romantic Hero (Perényi, Eleanor), 286

Lisztomania, 286, 33, 481, 95

Little Big Man, 119

Little Big Man (Berger, Thomas), 119

The Little Chronicle of Magdalena Bach (Meynell, Esther), 20

The Little Fellow: The Life and Work of Charles Spencer Chaplin (Cotes, Peter, and Thelma Niklaus), 88

Little Old New York, 239

A Little Revenge: Benjamin Franklin and His Son (Randall, Willard S), 173

The Little Victoria (Prole, Lozania), 479

The Lives of James Madison and James Monroe: Fourth and Fifth Presidents of the United States (Adams, John Quincy), 333

The Lives of James Madison and James Monroe, the Fourth and Fifth Presidents of the United States (Adams, John Quincy), 299–300

The Lives of John Lennon (Goldman, Albert), 281

Lives of the Artists (Vasari, Giorgio), 328, 390, 462

Lives of the Eminent Spanish Painters and Sculptors (Palomino, Antonio), 207

Lives of the Queens of Scotland (Strickland, Agnes), 315

The Living Legend of St. Patrick (Hopkins, Alannah), 367

Living My Life (Emma Goldman), 202

The Living Wood (De Wohl, Louis), 108

Livingstone (Campbell, Reginald J), 287

Livingstone (Jeal, Tim), 287

Livingstone and Africa (Simmons, Jack), 287

Livingstone and His African Journeys (Huxley, Elspeth), 287

Livingstone the Doctor: His Life and Travels: A Study in Medical History (Gelfand, Michael), 287

Livingstone's Last Journey (Coupland, Sir Reginald), 287

Livingstone's River: A History of the Zambezi Expedition 1858–64 (Martelli, George), 287

Liza Bowe (Barker, Shirley), 311, 423

Lloyd George (Benedictus, David), 288

Lloyd George (Gilbert, Martin, ed), 288

Lloyd George (Jones, Thomas), 288

Lloyd George (Morgan, Kenneth O), 288

Lloyd George (Packer, Ian), 288

Lloyd George (Pugh, Martin), 288

Lloyd George (Wrigley, Chris), 288

Lloyd George: Family Letters 1885–1936, 288

Lloyd George: From Peace to War, 1912–16 (Grigg, John), 288

Lloyd George: The Goat in the Wilderness 1922–31 (Campbell, John), 288

Lloyd George: The People's Champion, 1902–11 (Grigg, John), 288

Lloyd's of London, 254

Locke (Ayers, Michael), 289

The Lodestar (Belle, Pamela), 395

The Log Cabin Campaign (Gunderson, Robert G), 214

Lone Star, 232

Lone Star Rising: Lyndon Johnson and His Times, 1908–1960 (Dallek, Robert), 252

Lonely Crusader: The Life of Florence Nightingale (Woodham-Smith, Mrs. Cecil), 356

The Lonely Muse: A Critical Biography of Mary Wollstonecraft Shelley (Neumann, Bonnie R), 425

Long Day at Shiloh (Bannister, Don), 206

The Long Enchantment (Byrd, Elizabeth), 479

The Long Hunter: A New Life of Daniel Boone (Elliott, Lawrence), 42

The Long March: The Untold Story (Salisbury, Harrison E), 309

The Long Naked Descent into Boston (Eastlake, William), 363

The Long Revolution (Snow, Edgar), 309

The Long Riders, 246

The Long Roll (Johnston, Mary), 243

The Long, Slow Death of Jack Kerouac (Christy, Jim), 269

The Longest Night (Lewis, Ada Cook), 81

Longfellow: A Full-Length Portrait (Wagenknecht, Edward), 291

Longfellow: His Life and Work (Arvin, Newton), 291

Looking Backwards (Colette), 103

Looking for Richard, 395

The Loon Feather (Fuller, Iola), 454

Lorca: A Dream of Life (Stainton, Leslie), 184

Lorca: The Poet and His People (Barea, Arturo), 184

Lord Alfred’s Lover (Bentley, Eric), 492

Lord Bacon (Macaulay, Thomas Babington), 21

Lord Beaconsfield (Froude, J.A), 139

Lord Byron’s Doctor (West, Paul), 67

The Lord Jesus (Payne, Robert), 248

Lord Mountbatten: The Last Viceroy, 183, 348

Lord Nelson (Forester, C.S), 349

Lord Nelson (Gimpel, Herbert J), 349

Lord Nelson: The Immortal Memory (Howarth, David A., and Stephen Howarth), 349

Lord of the Dead: The Secret History of Byron (Holland, Tom), 67

Lord of the Ladies (Dessau, Joanna), 67

Lord of the Two Lands (Tarr, Judith), 8

Lord Randolph Churchill, 97

Lord Vanity (Shellabarger, Samuel), 488

Lorenzo de’Medici (Sturm-Maddox, Sarah), 322

Lorenzo de’ Medici: An Historical Biography (Hook, Judith), 322

Lorenzo de’ Medici and the Renaissance (Mee, Charles L), 322

Lorenzo de’ Medici: The Formation of His Statecraft (Rubinstein, Nicolai), 322

Lorenzo the Magnificent (Ross Williamson, Hugh) , 322

Losing Nelson (Unsworth, Barry), 349

Loss of Eden: A Biography of Charles and Anne Morrow Lindbergh (Milton, Joyce), 285

The Lost Colony (Marshall, Edison), 389

A Lost Commander: Florence Nightingale (Andrews, Mary R.S), 356

Lost Earth: A Life of Cezanne (Callow, Philip), 85

Lost Puritan: A Life of Robert Lowell (Mariani, Paul), 294

Lost Star: The Search for Amelia Earhart (Brink, Randall), 151

The Lost Years: A Biographical Fantasy (Lewis, Oscar), 284

Lotte in Weimar (Mann, Thomas), 200

Louis and Antoinette (Cronin, Vincent), 310

Louis Brandeis: The People’s Justice (Freedman, Suzanne), 51

Louis D.Brandeis and the Progressive Tradition (Urofsky, Melvin I), 51

Louis D.Brandeis, Felix Frankfurter, and the New Deal (Dawson, Nelson L), 51

Louis D.Brandeis: Justice for the People (Strum, Philippa), 51

Louis IX and the Challenge of the Crusade: A Study in Rulership (Jordan, William C), 292

Louis Napoleon and the Genesis of the Second Empire (Cheetham, F.H), 346–347

Louis Napoleon and the Recovery of France (Simpson, Frederick A), 346–347

Louis Napoleon and the Second Empire (Thompson, James M), 346–347

Louis Pasteur (Debré, Patrice), 366

Louis Pasteur (Holmes, Samuel J), 366

Louis Pasteur: A Great Life in Brief(Vallery-Radot, Pasteur), 366

Louis Pasteur: Disease Fighter (Smith, Linda W), 366

Louis Pasteur: Freelance of Science (Dubos, René), 366

Louis Pasteur: The Man and His Theories (Cuny, Hilaire), 366

Louis Pasteur: The Story of His Major Discoveries (Nicolle, Jacques), 366

Louis the Well-Beloved (Plaidy, Jean), 293

Louis XIV (Bluche, François), 293

Louis XIV (Cronin, Vincent), 293

Louis XIV (Erlanger, Philippe), 293

Louis XIV (Ogg, David), 293

Louis XIV (Rule, John C., ed), 293

Louis XIV (Smith, David L), 293

Louis XIV (Wolf, John B), 293

Louis XIV: A Profile (Wolf, John B., ed), 293

Louis XIV: A Royal Life (Bernier, Olivier), 293

Louis XIV: An Informal Portrait (Lewis, W.H), 293

Louis XIV and His World (Hatton, Ragnhild M), 293

Louis XIV: King of France and Navarre (Forester, C.S), 293

Louis XIV of France: Pattern of Majesty (Stearns, Monroe), 293

Louis XIV: The Other Side of the Sun (Michel, Prince of Greece), 293

Louisa May: A Modern Biography of Louisa May Alcott (Saxton, Martha), 6

Louisa May Alcott (Anthony, Katharine), 6

Louisa May Alcott (Burke, Kathleen), 6

Louisa May Alcott (Stern, Madeleine B), 6

Louisa May: The World and Work of Louisa May Alcott (Johnston, Norma) , 6

Love, Anarchy, and Emma Goldman (Falk, Candace), 202

“Love and Admiration and Respect”: The O’Neill-Commins Correspondence, 360

Love and Hatred: The Troubled Marriage of Leo

and Sonya Tolstoy (Shirer, William L), 463

Love and Terror (Jolis, Alan), 310

Love and the Princesses (Iremonger, Lucille), 191

Love and War (Jakes, John), 6

Love, Eleanor: Eleanor Roosevelt and Her Friends, 405

Love Is Eternal: A Novel About Mary Todd Lincoln and Abraham Lincoln (Stone, Irving), 284

The Love Knot (Darby, Catherine), 93

The Love Letters of Robert Browning and Elizabeth Barrett (The Brownings), 59–60

The Love Letters of William and Mary Wordsworth, 502

Lover of Life (Harsányi, Zsolt), 410

Love’s Children (Chernaik, Judith), 425, 426

Love’s Labour’s Won (Fisher, Edward), 423

The Loves of Edgar Allan Poe, 380

The Loves of Franz Kafka (Glatzer, Nahum), 262

The Loves of George Bernard Shaw (DuCann, Charles G.L), 424

Loving Belle Starr (Taylor, Robert), 246

Loving Brecht (Feinstein, Elaine), 52

Loving Emma (Foxell, Nigel), 349

Loving John (Pang, May), 281

Loving Little Egypt (McMahon, Thomas), 153, 168, 217, 31

Lovingly, Georgia: The Complete Correspondence of Georgia O’Keeffe and Anita Pollitzer, 358

Luciano’s Luck (Higgins, Jack), 157

Lucky Forward: The History of Patton’s Third U.S. Army (Allen, Robert S), 368

Lucrezia Borgia: A Biography (Erlanger, Rachel), 45–77

Lucrezia Borgia: A Chapter from the Morals of the Italian Renaissance (Gregorovius, Ferdinand), 45–47

Lucrezia Borgia: A Dramatic Biography (Schirokauer, Alfred), 45–47

Lucrezia Borgia: A Study (Haslip, Joan), 45–47

Ludwig, 481

Ludwig van Beethoven: An Essential Guide to His Life and Works (Johnson, Stephen), 30

Ludwig van Beethoven: Composer (Balcavage, Dynise), 30

Ludwig von Beethoven (Thompson, Wendy), 30

Ludwig Wittgenstein: The Duty of Genius (Monk, Ray), 498

Lusitania (Butler, David), 493, 497

Lust for Fame: The Stage Career of John Wilkes Booth (Samples, Gordon), 43

Lust for Life, 189, 475

Lust for Life (Stone, Irving), 465, 475

Lustre in the Sky (Waldeck, R.G), 327, 7

The Lute Player (Lofts, Norah), 394

Luther, 295

Luther (Marius, Richard), 295

Luther (Osborne, John), 295

Luther (Thiel, Rudolf), 295

Luther: A Life (Todd, John M), 295

Luther: An Experiment in Biography (Haile, H.G), 295

Luther and His Times (Schwiebert, E.C), 295

Luther: His Life and Times (Friedenthal, Richard), 295

Luther: His Life and Work (Ritter, Gerhard), 295

Luther: Man Between God and the Devil (Oberman, Heiko A), 295

Luther's Last Battles: Politics and Polemics 1531–46 (Edwards, Mark U. Jr), 295

Luther's Progress to the Diet of Worms (Rupp, Gordon), 295

Lyndon: An Oral Biography (Miller, Merle), 252

Lyndon B.Johnson (Kaye, Tony), 252

Lyndon B.Johnson (Schuman, Michael), 252

Lyndon B.Johnson: A Memoir (Reedy, George), 252

Lyndon B.Johnson and American Liberalism: A Brief Biography with Documents (Schulman, Bruce J), 252

Lyndon B.Johnson: The Exercise of Power (Evans, Rowland, and Robert Novak), 252

Lyndon Baines Johnson (Eskow, Dennis), 252

Lyndon Johnson and the American Dream (Kearns, Doris), 252

Lyndon Johnson: The Tragic Self; a Psychohistorical Portrait (Muslin, Hyman L., and Thomas H.Jobe), 252

“M.H.” Meets President Harding (Zagst, Michael), 153, 212

M: The Man Who Became Caravaggio (Robb, Peter), 72

Mac Arthur, 297

Mac-Arthur (Blair, Clay Jr), 297

MacArthur (Wittner, Lawrence S., ed), 297

MacArthur as Military Commander (Long, Gavin), 297

MacArthur: His Rendezvous with Destiny (Whitney, Courtney), 297

MacArthur in Korea: The Naked Emperor (Smith, Robert), 297

MacArthur: Man of Action (Kelley, Frank R., and Cornelius Ryan), 297

MacArthur Must Die (Slater, Ian), 297

MacArthur, 1941–51 (Willoughby, Charles A., and John Chamberlain), 297

MacArthur: The Defiant General, 297

Machiavelli (Prezzolini, Giuseppe), 298

Machiavelli (Skinner, Quentin), 298

Machiavelli in Hell (De Grazia, Sebastian), 298

The Mad Booths of Maryland (Kimmel, Stanley), 43

Mad Hatter Summer (Thomas, Donald S), 75

Madame Catherine (Mahoney, Irene), 81

Madame Colette: A Provincial in Paris (Crosland, Margaret), 103

Madame Curie: A Biography (Curie, Eve), 118

Madame Curie: Daughter of Poland (Woznicki, Robert), 118

Madame Sarah (Skinner, Cornelia Otis), 34

Madame Serpent (Plaidy, Jean), 81

Mademoiselle Chanel (Galante, Pierre), 87

The Madisons: A Biography (Moore, Virginia), 299–300

The Madness of George III (Bennett, Alan), 191

The Madness of King George, 191, 379

Madonna of the Seven Hills (Plaidy, Jean), 45–47

The Maestro: The Life of Arturo Toscanini (Taubman, Howard), 464

The Magdalene Gospel (Ashcroft, Mary E), 248

Magellan (Joyner, Tim), 301

Magellan of the Pacific (Roditi, Edouard), 301

The Magic Baton (Sacchi, Filippo), 464

Magic Fire: Scenes around Richard Wagner (Harding, Bertita), 481

The Magic Kingdom: Walt Disney and the American Way of Life (Watts, Steven), 138

The Magician's Wife (Moore, Brian), 346–347

Magnificent Destiny: A Novel about the Great Secret Adventure of Andrew Jackson and Sam Houston (Wellman, Paul I), 232, 242

Magnificent Doll, 209, 299–300, 66

Mahatma Gandhi (Cheney, Glenn A), 183

Mahatma Gandhi (Nehru, Jawaharlal), 183

Mahatma Gandhi (Pyarelai), 183

Mahatma Gandhi: A Biography (Nanda, B.R), 183

Mahatma Gandhi and His Apostles (Mehta, Ved), 183

Mahatma Gandhi: Soul Force, 183

Mahatma Gandhi: The Man Who Became One with the Universal Being (Rolland, Romain), 183

Mahatma: Life of Mohandas Karamchand Gandhi (Tendulkar, D.G), 183

Mahler (Kennedy, Michael), 302

Mahler (La Grange, Henry-Louis de), 302

Mahler: A Biography (Carr, Jonathan), 302

Mahler: A Documentary Study (Blaukopf, Kurt, ed), 302

Mahler: His Life, Work, and World, 302

Mahler Remembered (Lebrecht, Norman, ed), 302

Mahler: The Man and His Music (Gartenberg, Egon), 302

Maid of France (Lang, Andrew), 249

Maid of Honor: A Novel Set in the Court of Mary Queen of Scots (Byrd, Elizabeth), 315

The Maiden of Orleans: A Romantic Tragedy (Schiller, Friedrich), 249

Maimonides: A Biography (Heschel, Abraham J), 303

Maimonides: A Biography (Zeitlin, Solomon), 303

Maimonides: His Life and Works (Yellin, David), 303

Major André (Bailey, Anthony), 11

Major Washington (Kilian, Michael), 484

Make Way for Sam Houston (Fritz, Jean), 232

Making Malcolm: The Myth and Meaning of Malcolm X (Dyson, Michael E), 304

The Making of a King: The Early Years of James VI and I (Bingham, Caroline), 244

The Making of a Mind: Letters from a Soldier-Priest, 1914–1919 (Pierre Teilhard de Chardin), 455

The Making of a Mystic: Seasons in the Life of Teresa of Avila (Gross, Francis L), 457

The Making of Frederick the Great (Simon, Edith), 175

The Making of Henry VIII (Bruce, Marie Louise), 221

The Making of Hitler: The Birth and Rise of Nazism (Davidson, Eugene), 224

The Making of Lloyd George (George, W.R.P), 288

The Making of Mark Twain: A Biography (Lauber, John), 473

The Making of Paul Klee's Career, 1914–1920 (Werckmeister, Otto K), 275

The Making of Sir Philip Sidney (Berry, Edward), 429

The Making of the King, 1066 (Lloyd, Alan), 494

The Making of the Last Prophet: A Reconstruction of the Earliest Biography of Muhammad (Newby, Gordon D), 341

The Making of the President, 1960 (White, Theodore H), 267

The Making of William Penn (Brailsford, Mabel R), 370

Malcolm Speaks: Selected Speeches and Statements (Malcolm X), 304

Malcolm: The Life of a Man Who Changed Black America (Perry, Bruce), 304

Malcolm X, 304

Malcolm X (Rummel, Jack), 304

Malcolm X: By Any Means Necessary (Myers, Walter D), 304

Malcolm X: His Life and Legacy (Brown, Kevin), 304

Malcolm X: Make It Plain, 304

Malcolm X: The Man and His Times (Clarke, John H., ed), 304

Malinche and Cortés (Shedd, Margaret C), 113

Mallarmé (Fowlie, Wallace), 305

Mallarmé (Michaud, Guy), 305

Mallarmé: The Poet and His Circle (Lloyd, Rosemary), 305

Mamaw (Dodd, Susan), 246

Man about Town: Frank Lloyd Wright in New York City (Muschamp, Herbert), 504

A Man and His Mountain: The Life of Paul Cézanne (McLeave, Hugh), 85

A Man Born Again: Saint Thomas More (Beahn, John E), 336

A Man Called Cervantes (Frank, Bruno), 84

A Man Cleansed by God (Beahn, John E), 367

The Man David: An Imaginative Presentation Based on Fact of the Life of David Lloyd George from 1880 to 1914 (Jones, Jack), 288

A Man for All Seasons, 221, 336, 500

A Man for All Seasons (Bolt, Robert), 221, 336

A Man for the Ages (Bacheller, Irving), 284

The Man from Independence (Daniels, Jonathan), 468

The Man from Missouri: The Life and Times of Harry S.Truman (Steinberg, Alfred), 468

Man from Mt. Vernon (Boyce, Burke), 484

The Man in Gray (Dixon, Thomas), 279

The Man in Gray: A Romance of North and South (Dixon, Thomas), 58

The Man in the Iron Mask, 293

The Man in the Iron Mask (Dumas, Alexandre), 293

The Man in the Mirror: A Life of Benedict Arnold (Brandt, Clare), 11

Man in White (Cash, Johnny), 369

The Man Liszt (Newman, Ernest), 286

The Man Mencken: A Biographical and Critical Survey (Goldberg, Isaac), 325

A Man Named Grant (Todd, Helen), 206

A Man Named John: The Life of Pope John XXIII (Hatch, Alden) , 250

A Man Named Thoreau (Burleigh, Robert), 461

Man of Conquest, 232

Man of Defiance: A Political Biography of Anwar Sadat (Israeli, Raphael, with Carol Bardenstein), 413

Man of Liberty: A Life of Thomas Jefferson (Wibberley, Leonard), 247

Man of Montmartre: A Novel Based on the Life of Maurice Utrillo (Longstreet, Stephen, and Ethel Longstreet), 465

Man of Nazareth (Burgess, Anthony), 248

Man of Reason: The Life of Thomas Paine (Aldridge, Alfred O), 363

A Man of Sorrow: The Life, Letters, and Times of Patrick Brontë (Lock, John, and Canon W.T. Dixon), 53–57

Man of the People: A Life of Harry S.Truman (Hamby, Alonzo L), 468

The Man on a Donkey (Prescott, Hilda F.M), 221

Man on Fire: A Novel of the Life of St. Paul (Blythe, LeGette), 369

Man on Fire: John Brown and the Cause of Liberty (Abels, Jules), 58

The Man on the Train (Chaput, W.J), 97

The Man Verdi (Walker, Frank), 477

The Man Whistler (Pearson, Hesketh), 490

The Man Who Built a City: A Life of Sir Christopher Wren (Weir, Rosemary), 503

The Man Who Dared the Lightning: A New Look at Benjamin Franklin (Fleming, Thomas), 173

The Man Who Hated Sherlock Holmes: A Life of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle (Wood, James P), 143

The Man Who Invented Tomorrow (Hughes, David), 487

The Man Who Killed Lincoln: The Story of John Wilkes Booth and His Part in the Assassination (Stern, Philip Van Doren), 43

The Man Who Killed the King (Wheatley, Dennis), 310

The Man Who Presumed: A Biography of Henry M. Stanley (Farwell, Byron), 437

The Man Who Shot Lewis Vance (Kaminsky, Stuart M), 88

The Man Who Was Don Quixote: The Story of Miguel Cervantes (Busoni, Raffaello), 84

The Man Without a Country, 66

Mandate for Change (Dwight D.Eisenhower), 157

Manet (Bataille, Georges), 306

Manet (Cachin, Françoise), 306

Manet (Perruchot, Henri), 306

Manet (Wright, Patricia), 306

Manet: A New Realism (Spence, David), 306

Manet and the French Impressionists (Duret, Theodore), 306

Manet by Himself, 306

Manet by Himself and His Contemporaries, 306

Manet: 1832–83 (Cachin, Françoise, and Charles S.Moffett), 306

Manic Power: Robert Lowell and His Circle (Meyers, Jeffrey), 294

Manifest Destiny (Garfield, Brian), 407

Manly Pursuits (Harries, Ann), 274, 393, 492, 75

Manuela, La Caballeresa Del Sol (Aguilera Malta, Demetrio), 41

Manuscript History of Brigham Young, 508

The Many Lives and Secret Sorrows of Josephine B (Gulland, Sandra), 345

The Many Lives of Andrew Carnegie (Meltzer, Milton) , 74

Many Masks: A Life of Frank Lloyd Wright (Gill, Brendan), 504

The Many Worlds of Herbert Hoover (Terzian, James P), 227

Mao (Breslin, Shaun), 309

Mao (Devillers, Philippe), 309

Mao: A Biography (Terrill, Ross), 309

Mao: A Life (Short, Philip), 309

Mao: A Young Man from the Yangtze Valley (Shih, Benjamin), 309

Mao and China (Karnow, Stanley), 309

Mao and the Chinese Revolution (Ch'en, Jerome), 309

Mao: Long March to Power, 309

Mao: Organized Chaos, 309

Mao Papers: Anthology and Bibliography (Mao Zedong), 309

Mao Tse-tung, 309

Mao Tse-tung (Payne, Robert), 309

Mao Tse-tung (Schram, Stuart), 309

Mao Tse-tung: A Critical Biography (Uhalley, Stephen Jr), 309

Mao Tse-tung and China (Fitzgerald, C.P), 309

Mao Tse-tung and His China (Marrin, Albert), 309

Mao Tse-tung and I Were Beggars (Hsiao, Yü), 309

Mao Tse-tung: Emperor of the Blue Ants (Pálóczi-Horváth, Gyorgy), 309

Mao Tse-tung in the Scales of History: A Preliminary Assessment (Wilson, Dick, ed), 309

Mao Tse-tung: Ruler of Red China (Payne, Robert), 309

Mao Tse-tung: The Man and the Myth (Chou, Eric), 309

Mao Tse-tung: The Man in the Leader (Pye, Lucian W), 309

Mao Zedong (Garza, Hedda), 309

Mao Zedong (Spence, Jonathan D), 309

Mao Zedong: Founder of the People's Republic of China (Stefoff, Rebecca), 309

Mao's China (Meisner, Maurice), 309

Mao's Way (Rice, Edward E), 309

The Marble Man: Robert E.Lee and His Image in American Society (Connelly, Thomas L), 279

Marc Chagall, 86

Marc Chagall (Greenfeld, Howard), 86

Marc Chagall (Kagan, Andrew), 86

Marc Chagall (Meyer, Franz), 86

Marc Chagall: A Biography (Alexander, Sidney), 86

Marcel Proust, 385

Marcel Proust (Cattauì, Georges), 385

Marcel Proust (White, Edmund), 385

Marcel Proust: A Biography (Barker, Richard H), 385

Marcel Proust: A Life (Carter, William C), 385

Marcel Proust on Art and Literature, 1896–1919, 385

Marcel Proust, 1871–1922: A Centennial Volume (Quennell, Peter, ed), 385

Marcel Proust: The Fictions of Life and Art (Bersani, Leo), 385

Marching to Valhalla: A Novel of Custer's Last Days (Blake, Michael), 119

Marco, 381

Marco Polo, 381

Marco Polo (Collis, Maurice), 381

Marco Polo (Humble, Richard), 381

Marco Polo and the Discovery of the World (Larner, John), 381

Marco Polo and the Medieval Explorers (Stefoff, Rebecca), 381

Marco Polo: The Description of the World, 381

Marco Polo: Venetian Adventurer (Hart, Henry), 381

Marco Polo: Voyager to the Orient (Greene, Carol), 381

Marco Polo's Asia (Olschki, Leonardo), 381

Marco the Magnificent, 381

Marco's Millions (O'Neill, Eugene), 381

Marcus (Chinn, Laurene), 374

Marcus Aurelius (Sedgwick, Henry D), 18

Marcus Aurelius: A Biography (Birley, Anthony), 18

Marcus Aurelius: His Life and World (Farquharson, A.S.L), 18

Marcus Garvey (Davis, Daniel S), 188

Marcus Garvey (Lawler, Mary), 188

Marcus Garvey and the Vision of Africa (Clarke, John H., ed), 188

Marcus Garvey: Anti-Colonial Champion (Lewis, Rupert), 188

Margaret Mead (Tilton, Rafael), 321

Margaret Mead (Ziesk, Edra), 321

Margaret Mead: A Life (Howard, Jane), 321

Margaret Mead: A Voice for the Century (Cassidy, Robert), 321

Margaret Mead: American Anthropologist, 321

Margaret Mead and Ruth Benedict: The Kinship of Women (Lapsley, Hilary) , 321

Margaret Mead and Samoa, 321

Margaret Mead and Samoa: The Making and Un

making of an Anthropological Myth (Freeman, Derek), 321

Margaret Mead, Anthropologist: Coming of Age in America (Mark, Joan T), 321

Margaret Mead: Some Personal Views, 321

Margaret Mead: Taking Notice, 321

Margaret Sanger (Bachrach, Deborah), 415

Margaret Sanger: A Biography of the Champion of Birth Control (Gray, Madeline), 415

Margaret Sanger: A Public Nuisance, 415

Margaret Sanger: An Autobiography, 415

Margaret Sanger: "Every Child a Wanted Child" (Whitelaw, Nancy), 415

Margaret Sanger: Pioneer of Birth Control (Lader, Lawrence, and Milton Meltzer), 415

The Margaret Sanger Story and the Fight for Birth Control (Lader, Lawrence), 415

A Marginal Jew (Meier, John P), 248

Maria, 69

Maria Callas (Kesting, Jürgen), 69

Maria Callas: Life and Art, 69

Maria: Callas Remembered (Stancioff, Nadia), 69

Maria Callas: The Art Behind the Legend (Wisneski, Henry), 69

Maria Callas: The Tigress and the Lamb (Bret, David), 69

Maria Callas: The Woman Behind the Legend (Stassinopoulos, Arianna), 69

Maria Meneghini Callas (Scott, Michael), 69

Marian Evans and George Eliot (Hanson, Lawrence, and Elisabeth Hanson), 158

Marie Antoinette, 310, 401

Marie Antoinette (Asquith, Annunziata), 310

Marie Antoinette (Haslip, Joan), 310

Marie Antoinette (Hearsey, John), 310

Marie Antoinette (Huisman, Philippe, and Marguerite Jallut), 310

Marie Antoinette (Kenyon, Frank W.), 310

Marie Antoinette (Kielty, Bernadine), 310

Marie Antoinette (Komroff, Manuel), 310

Marie Antoinette (Seward, Desmond), 310

Marie Antoinette: A Play (Sinclair, Upton), 310

Marie-Antoinette and Count Axel Fersen: The Untold Love Story (Farr, Evelyn), 310

Marie Antoinette: The Last Queen of France (Lever, Evelyne), 310

Marie Antoinette: The Portrait of an Average Woman (Zweig, Stefan), 310

Marie Antoinette: The Tragic Queen (Mayer, Dorothy), 310

Marie Curie (Reid, Robert), 118

Marie Curie: A Life (Giroud, Françoise), 118

Marie Curie: A Life (Quinn, Susan), 118

Marie Curie and Her Daughter Irene (Pflaum, Rosalynd), 118

Marie Curie and the Discovery of Radium (Steinke, Ann E), 118

Marie Curie: Pioneer Physicist (Greene, Carol), 118

Marilyn, 334

Marilyn (Steinem, Gloria), 334

Marilyn: A Biography (Mailer, Norman), 334

Marilyn and Bobby: Her Final Affair, 334

The Marilyn Encyclopedia (Victor, Adam), 334

Marilyn: Her Life in Her Own Words: Marilyn Monroe's Revealing Last Words and Photographs, 334

Marilyn Monroe, 334

Marilyn Monroe (Learning, Barbara), 334

Marilyn Monroe (Lefkowitz, Frances), 334

Marilyn Monroe (McCann, Graham), 334

Marilyn Monroe (Woog, Adam), 334

Marilyn Monroe (Zolotow, Maurice), 334

Marilyn Monroe: A Composite View

(Wagenknecht, Edward, ed), 334

Marilyn Monroe: A Life of the Actress (Rollyson, Carl E. Jr), 334

Marilyn Monroe: Beyond the Legend, 334

Marilyn Monroe: In Her Own Words, 334

Marilyn Monroe: Norma Jean's Dream (Krohn, Katherine E), 334

Marilyn Monroe: The Biography (Spoto, Donald), 334

The Marilyn Scandal: Her True Life Revealed by Those Who Knew Her (Shevey, Sandra), 334

Marilyn: Shades of Blonde (Douglas, Carole Nelson, ed), 334

The Marilyn Tapes (German, Edward), 228, 334

Marilyn: The Last Word, 334

Marilyn: The Tragic Venus (Hoyt, Edwin P), 334

Marilyn: The Ultimate Look at the Legend (Haspiel, James), 334

Marilyn: The Untold Story, 334

Marilyn's Daughter (Rechy, John), 268, 334

Marius the Epicurean (Pater, Walter), 18

Mark and Livy: The Love Story of Mark Twain and the Woman Who Almost Tamed Him (Willis, Resa), 473

Mark Twain: A Biography: The Personal and Literary Life of Samuel Langhorne Clemens (Paine, Albert B), 473

Mark Twain: A Descriptive Guide to Biographical Sources (Horn, Jason G), 473

Mark Twain: A Literary Life (Emerson, Everett), 473

Mark Twain, a Profile (Kaplan, Justin, ed), 473

Mark Twain A to Z: The Essential Reference to His Life and Writings (Rasmussen, R.Kent), 473

Mark Twain: A Writer's Life (Meltzer, Milton), 473

Mark Twain, American Writer, 1835–1910, 473

Mark Twain: America's Humorist, Dreamer, Prophet (Cox, Clinton), 473

Mark Twain and His World (Kaplan, Justin), 473

Mark Twain and Me, 473

The Mark Twain Encyclopedia (LeMaster, J.R., and John D.Wilson, eds), 473

Mark Twain: God's Fool (Hill, Hamlin), 473

Mark Twain Himself: A Pictorial Biography (Meltzer, Milton), 473

Mark Twain: Man and Legend (Ferguson, J. de Lancey), 473

Mark Twain Remembers (Hauser, Thomas), 473

Mark Twain: Son of Missouri (Brashear, Minnie), 473

Mark Twain: The Bachelor Years (Sanborn, Margaret), 473

Mark Twain-The Man and His Adventures (Lyttle, Richard B) , 473

Mark Twain: The Man and His Work (Wagenknecht, Edward), 473

Mark Twain Tonight, 473

Mark Twain's America, 473

Mark Twain's America (DeVoto, Bernard), 473

Mark Twain's Last Years as a Writer (MacNaughton, William R), 473

Mark Twain's Notebooks and Journals, 473

Mark Twain's Western Years (Benson, Ivan), 473

Marlene Dietrich (Kobal, John), 137

Marlene Dietrich (Martin, Wednesday), 137

Marlene Dietrich (Morley, Sheridan), 137

Marlene Dietrich: By Her Daughter (Riva, Maria), 137

Marlene Dietrich: Life and Legend (Bach, Steven), 137

The Marlene Dietrich Murder Case (Baxt, George), 137

Marlene: The Life of Marlene Dietrich (Higham, Charles), 137

Marlowe and His Circle: A Biographical Survey (Boas, F.S), 311

Marlowe: The Critical Heritage (Maclure, Millar, ed), 311

The Marquis (Sanders, Joan), 293

The Marquis de La Fayette in the American Revolution (Tower, Charlemagne Jr), 276

Marquis de Lafayette (Horn, Pierre L.), 276

The Marriage Diaries of Robert and Clara Schumann, 420

Marriage of Harlequin: A Biographical Novel of the Important Years in the Life of Richard Brinsley Sheridan (Walker, Joan), 427

The Marriage of Heaven and Hell: Manic Depression and the Life of Virginia Woolf (Dally, Peter), 501

A Marriage of True Minds: An Intimate Portrait of Leonard and Virginia Woolf (Spater, George, and Ian Parsons), 501

Marriage with Genius (Strindberg, Freda Uhl), 446

Married to Tolstoy (Asquith, Cynthia), 463

Marse Robert: Knight of the Confederacy (Young, James C), 279

Martin and Malcolm and America (Cone, James H), 304

Martin Luther, 295

Martin Luther. (Brecht, Martin), 295

Martin Luther (O'Neill, Judith), 295

Martin Luther (Stepanek, Sally), 295

Martin Luther: A Biographical Study (Todd, John M), 295

Martin Luther: An Illustrated Biography (Manns, Peter), 295

Martin Luther: An Introduction to His Life and Work (Lohse, Bernhard), 295

Martin Luther and the Reformation (Dickens, A.G), 295

Martin Luther and the Reformation (Mackinnon, James), 295

Martin Luther King Jr (Franklin, V.P), 273

Martin Luther King Jr (Jakoubek, Robert E), 273

Martin Luther King Jr.: A Profile (Lincoln, C.Eric, ed), 273

Martin Luther King Jr. and the Freedom Movement (Patterson, Lillie), 273

Martin Luther King Jr.: His Life, Martyrdom, and Meaning for the World (Miller, William R), 273

Martin Luther King Jr.: Leader for Civil Rights (Schuman, Michael), 273

Martin Luther: Leader of the Reformation (Cowie, Leonard W), 295

Martin Luther: Road to Reformation (Boehmer, Heinrich), 295

Martin Luther: The Christian Between God and Death (Marius, Richard), 295

Martin Van Buren and the American Political System (Cole, Donald B), 474

Martin Van Buren and the Making of the Democratic Party (Remini, Robert V), 474

Martin Van Buren: 8th President of the United States (Ellis, Rafaela), 474

Martin Van Buren: Eighth President of the United States (Hargrove, Jim), 474

Martin Van Buren: Law, Politics, and the Shaping of Republican Ideology (Mushkat, Jerome, and Joseph G.Rayback), 474

Martin Van Buren: The Romantic Age of American Politics (Niven, John), 474

Marx (Payne, Robert), 313

Marx and Marxism (Feinberg, Barbara S), 313

The Marx-Engles Chronicle: A Day-to-Day Chronicle of Marx and Engels' Life and Activity (Draper, Hal), 313

Marx, in Soho: A Play on History (Zinn, Howard), 313

Marx without Myth: A Chronological Study of His Life and Work (Rubel, Maximilien and Margaret Manale), 313

Marx's Fate: The Shape of a Life (Seigel, Jerrold E), 313

Mary Baker Eddy (Beasley, Norman), 152

Mary Baker Eddy (Gill, Gillian), 152

Mary Baker Eddy (Peel, Robert), 152

Mary Baker Eddy (Smith, Louise A), 152

Mary Baker Eddy: An Interpretive Biography of the Founder of Christian Science (Silberger, Julius J), 152

Mary Baker Eddy: The Truth and the Tradition (Bates, Ernest S., and John V.Dittmore), 152

Mary Cassatt (Cain, Michael), 79

Mary Cassatt (Carson, Julia), 79

Mary Cassatt (Hale, Nancy), 79

Mary Cassatt (Meyer, Susan E), 79

Mary Cassatt: A Life (Mathews, Nancy M), 79

Mary Cassatt: An Artist's Life (Plain, Nancy), 79

Mary I: The History of an Unhappy Tudor Queen (Roll, Winifred), 314

Mary Lincoln: Biography of a Marriage (Randall, Ruth P), 284

Mary Lincoln: Wife and Widow (Sandburg, Carl, and Paul M.Angle), 284

Mary of Carisbrooke (Barnes, Margaret C), 90

Mary of Scotland, 315

Mary of Scotland (Anderson, Maxwell), 315

Mary of Scotland (Kenyon, Frank W), 315

Mary Queen of Scotland and the Isles (George, Margaret), 315

Mary, Queen of Scotland and the Isles (Zweig, Stefan), 315

Mary, Queen of Scots, 315

Mary Queen of Scots (Donaldson, Gordon), 315

Mary Queen of Scots (Fraser, Antonia), 315

Mary Queen of Scots (Hahn, Emily), 315

Mary, Queen of Scots (Kurlbaum, Margarete S), 315

Mary Queen of Scots (Morrison, Nancy B), 315

Mary Queen of Scots (Stepanek, Sally), 315

Mary Queen of Scots: A Study in Failure (Wormald, Jenny), 315

Mary Queen of Scots: Her Environment and Tragedy (Henderson, T.F), 315

Mary Queen of Scots: Romance and Nation (Lewis, Jayne E), 315

Mary Shelley (Walling, William A), 425

Mary Shelley: A Biography (Grylls, R.Glynn), 425

Mary Shelley: A Literary Life (Williams, John), 425

Mary Shelley: Author of "Frankenstein." (Nitchie, Elizabeth), 425

Mary Shelley: Frankenstein's Creator (Nichols, Joan K), 425

Mary Shelley: Her Life, Her Fiction, Her Monsters (Mellor, Anne K), 425

Mary Shelley: Romance and Reality (Sunstein, Emily W), 425

Mary Stuart, 315

Mary Stuart (Drinkwater, John), 315

Mary Stuart (Schiller, Friedrich), 315

Mary Todd Lincoln: A Biography (Baker, Jean H), 284

Mary Todd Lincoln: Her Life and Letters (Turner, Justin G., and Linda L), 284

Mary Tudor (Prescott, Hilda F.M), 314

Mary Tudor: A Life (Loades, David M), 314

Mary Wollstonecraft: A Biography (Flexner, Eleanor), 499

Mary Wollstonecraft: A Critical Biography (Wardle, Ralph M), 499

Mary Wollstonecraft and the Rights of Women (Miller, Calvin C), 499

Mary Wollstonecraft: Her Life and Times (Nixon, Edna), 499

Mary Wollstonecraft: The Making of a Radical Feminist (Lorch, Jennifer), 499

The Mask of Merlin: A Critical Story of David Lloyd George (McCormick, Donald), 288

The Masks of Jonathan Swift (Ewald, William B), 448

The Massacre at Fall Creek (West, Jessamyn), 333

The Master (Brod, Max), 248

The Master Builders: Le Corbusier, Mies Van der Rohe, Frank Lloyd Wright (Blake, Peter), 504

Master Class (McNally, Terence), 69

The Master of All Desires (Riley, Judith Merkle), 81

The Master of Geneva: A Novel Based on the Life of John Calvin (Barr, Gladys H), 70

The Master of Petersburg (Coetzee, J.M), 141

The Masters of Bow Street (Creasey, John), 165

The Mathematical Science of Christopher Wren (Bennett, J.A), 503

The Mothers: Three Generations of Puritan Intellectuals 1596–1728 (Middlekauff, Robert), 316

Matisse, 317

Matisse (Mason, Anthony), 317

Matisse (Schneider, Pierre), 317

Matisse (Watkins, Nicholas), 317

Matisse: A Portrait (Herrera, Hayden), 317

Matisse: Biographical and Critical Study (Lassaigne, Jacques), 317

Matisse: Father & Son (Russell, John), 317

Matisse: His Art and His Public (Barr, Alfred H. Jr), 317

Matisse in Nice, 317

Matisse: The Man and His Art 1869–1918 (Flam, Jack D), 317

Matter of Heart, 259

Matthew Arnold (Kingsmill, Hugh), 12

Matthew Arnold (Neiman, Fraser), 12

Matthew Arnold (Paul, Herbert), 12

Matthew Arnold (Russell, G.W.E), 12

Matthew Arnold (Saintsbury, George), 12

Matthew Arnold (Trilling, Lionel), 12

Matthew Arnold: A Life (Honan, Park), 12

Matthew Arnold: A Literary Life (Machann, Clifton), 12

Matthew Arnold: A Study (Chambers, E.K), 12

Matthew Arnold: Poet and Prophet (Rowse, A.L), 12

Max (Fast, Howard), 88

Maxim Gorky (Scherr, Barty P), 204

Maxim Gorky: A Political Biography (Yedlin, Tova), 204

Maxim Gorky and His Russia (Kaun, Alexander), 204

Maxim Gorky—Romantic Realist and Conservative Revolutionary (Hare, Richard), 204

Maximilien Robespierre (Carson, S.L), 401

Mayerling, 174

Maynard Keynes: An Economist's Biography (Moggridge, Donald E), 270

McCarthy and His Enemies: The Record and Its Meaning (Buckley, William F., and L.Brent Bozell), 319

McCarthy and McCarthyism in Wisconsin (O'Brien, Michael), 319

McCarthy: Death of a Witchhunter, 319

McCarthy: The Man, the Senator, the "Ism" (Anderson, Jackson, and Ronald May), 319

McKinley, Bryan, and the People (Glad, Paul W), 320, 61

The Measure of a Man (Martin Luther King Jr), 273

The Medici Emerald (Woodhouse, Martin, and Robert Ross), 282

The Medici Guns (Woodhouse, Martin, and Robert Ross), 282, 322

The Medici Hawks (Woodhouse, Martin, and Robert Ross), 282

Meet Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis (Capeci, Anne), 359

The Melting Clock (Kaminsky, Stuart M), 120

Melville (Miller, Edwin H), 324

Melville: A Biography (Robertson-Lorant, Laurie), 324

Melville and His World (Allen, Gay Wilson), 324

Melville as Lecturer (Sealts, Merton M. Jr), 324

Melville in the South Seas (Anderson, Charles R), 324

The Melville Log: A Documentary Life of Herman

Melville, 1819–1891 (Leyda, Jay), 324

Melville's Early Life and Redburn (Gilman, William H), 324

Melvin and Howard, 233

A Memoir of Jane Austen (Austen-Leigh, J.E), 19

A Memoir of Ralph Waldo Emerson (Cabot, James E), 162

Memoir of the Life and Character of the Right Hon. Edmund Burke (Prior, James), 64

Memoir of Washington Irving: With Selections from His Works and Criticism, 239

Memoirs (David Ben-Gurion), 32

Memoirs (Harry S Truman), 468

Memoirs (Napoleon Bonaparte), 345

Memoirs (Pablo Neruda), 351

Memoirs (Tennessee Williams), 495

Memoirs (William Butler Yeats), 507

Memoirs and Letters of Dolley Madison, 299–300

The Memoirs of a Physician (Dumas, Alexandre), 310

Memoirs of a Victorian Gentleman: William Makepeace Thackeray (Forster, Margaret), 458

Memoirs of Aaron Burr, 66

The Memoirs of Cleopatra (George, Margaret), 100

The Memoirs of Columbus (Marlowe, Stephen), 104

Memoirs of General William T.Sherman, 428

The Memoirs of Hector Berlioz, 33

Memoirs of Hope: Renewal and Endeavor (Charles De Gaulle), 124

Memoirs of John Quincy Adams: Comprising Portions of His Diary from 1795 to 1848, 3

The Memoirs of Lord Byron (Nye, Robert), 67

Memoirs of Mary Wollstonecraft (Godwin, William), 499

Memoirs of My Life (John C.Frémont), 176

Memoirs of Rear Admiral Paul Jones: Compiled from His Original Journals and Correspondence, 255

Memoirs of Robert E.Lee (Long, Armistead L.), 279

The Memoirs of Sarah Bernhardt, 34

Memoirs of Sir Isaac Newton's Life: Being Some

Account of His Family and Chiefly of the Junior Part of his Life (Stukeley, William), 353

Memoirs of the Life of George Frederic Handel (Mainwaring, John), 210

Memoirs of the Life of John Constable, Esq., R.A., Composed Chiefly of His Letters (Leslie, Charles R), 107

Memoirs of the Life of Sir Walter Scott, Bart (Lockhart, J.G), 422

Memoirs of the Life of the Right Honourable Richard Brinsley Sheridan (Moore, Thomas), 427

Memoirs of the Protector, Oliver Cromwell, 117

Memoirs of the Second World War (Winston S. Churchill), 97

Memoirs of William Wordsworth (Wordsworth, Christopher), 502

Memories, Dreams, Reflections (Carl Gustav Jung), 259

Memories of My Life (Sarah Bernhardt), 34

Memories of Teilhard de Chardin (De Terra, Helmut), 455

Memory Babe: A Critical Biography of Jack Kerouac (Nicosia, Gerald), 269

The Memory Cathedral: A Secret History of Leonardo da Vinci (Dann, Jack), 282

The Memory of All That: The Life of George Gershwin (Peyser, Joan), 195

The Men and the Mountain: Frémont's Fourth Expedition (Brandon, William E), 176

Men Like Shadows (Charques, Dorothy), 394

Men of Men (Smith, Wilbur), 393

Mencken (Bode, Carl), 325

Mencken: A Life (Hobson, Fred C), 325

Mencken and Sara: A Life in Letters: The Private Correspondence of H.L.Mencken and Sara Haardt, 325

Mendelssohn (Hurd, Michael), 315

Mendelssohn (Radcliffe, Philip), 315

Mendelssohn: A New Image of the Composer and His Age (Werner, Eric), 315

The Mendelssohn Family (1729–1847) from Letters and Journals (Hensel, Sebastian), 315

Mendelssohn: His Life and Times (Moshansky, Mozelle), 315

Mendelssohn: Letters and Recollections (Hiller, Ferdinand), 315

The Mendelssohns on Honeymoon: The 1837 Diary of Felix and Cécile Mendels-sohn-Bartholdy Together with Letters to Their Families, 315

The Mendelssohns: Three Generations of Genius (Kupferberg, Herbert), 315

Menlo Park: Reminiscences (Jehl, Francis), 153

Mercedes of Castille (Cooper, James Fenimore), 104

Meridian: A Novel of Kit Carson's West (Zollinger, Norman), 76

Mermaid Tavern (Cronyn, George W), 311

Merry Monarch: The Life and Likeness of Charles II (Pearson, Hesketh), 91

The Messenger: The Life of Mohammed (Bodley, Ronald V), 341

The Messenger: The Story of Joan of Arc, 249

Messer Marco Polo (Byrne, Donn), 381

The Messiah (Holmes, Marjorie), 248

Metternich (Du Coudray, Helena), 327

Metternich (Herman, Arthur), 327

Metternich (Milne, Andrew), 327

Metternich (Palmer, Alan W), 327

Metternich (Sandeman, George A.C.), 327

Metternich 1773–1859: A Study of His Period and His Personality (Cecil, Algemon), 327

Metternich: The First European (Seward, Desmond), 327

Michael Palin's Hemingway Adventure, 219

Michel de Montaigne (Sichel, Edith), 335

Michelangelo (De Tolnay, Charles), 328

Michelangelo (Einem, Herbert von), 328

Michelangelo (Hibbard, Howard), 328

Michelangelo (Lace, William W), 328

Michelangelo (McLanathan, Richard B.K), 328

Michelangelo (Murray, Linda), 328

Michelangelo (Schott, Rudolf), 328

Michelangelo: A Biography (Bull, George Anthony), 328

Michelangelo: A Psychoanalytic Study of His Life and Images (Liebert, Robert), 328

Michelangelo: Genius of the Renaissance (Petit, Jayne), 328

Michelangelo: His Life, His Times, His Era (Brandes, Georg), 328

Michelangelo: His Life, Work, and Times (Murray, Linda), 328

Michelangelo: Life, Letters, and Poetry (Michelangelo Buonarroti), 328

Michelangelo Merisi da Caravaggio: His Life, His Legend, His Works (Hinks, R.P), 72

Michelangelo: Self-Portrait, 328

Michelangelo, the Florentine (Alexander, Sidney), 328

Michelangelo: The Last Giant, 328

Michelangelo the Man (Finlayson, Donald), 328

The Midnight Gardener: A Novel about Baudelaire (White, Charles W), 27

Midstream: My Later Life (Helen Keller), 266

Midwinter (Buchan, John), 254

A Mighty Afternoon (Mills, Charles K), 119

The Mighty Barnum, 24

Mighty Stonewall (Vandiver, Frank), 243

Miguel de Cervantes (Goldberg, Jake), 84

Milena (Ross, Maggie), 262

Milhous: A White Comedy, 357

Military History of Ulysses S.Grant (Badeau, Adam), 206

The Military Life of Frederick the Great of Prussia (Dupuy, Trevor N), 175

The Military Life of Julius Caesar, Imperator (Dupuy, Trevor N), 258

Milton (Pattison, Mark), 330

Milton (Tillyard, E.M.W), 330

Milton: A Biography (Parker, William R), 330

Milton and His Times, 330

Milton and the English Revolution (Hill, Christopher), 330

A Milton Chronology (Campbell, Gordon), 330

Milton in America (Ackroyd, Peter), 330

Milton: Man and Thinker (Saurat, Denis), 330 Milton: 1608–1674, 330

The Mind and Art of Jonathan Swift (Quintana, Ricardo), 448

A Mind of Her Own: The Life of the Writer George Sand (Hovey, Tamara), 414

The Mind of Leonardo da Vinci (McCurdy, Edward), 282

Mind of Napoleon: A Selection of His Written and Spoken Words (Napoleon Bonaparte), 345

A Mind of One Piece: Brandeis and American Reform (Urofsky, Melvin I), 51

Mine Eyes Have Seen (Rinaldi, Ann), 58

Mine Is the Kingdom (Oliver, Jane), 244, 315

Minna's Story: The Secret Love of Doctor Sigmund Freud (Daniels, Kathleen), 177

Minor Characters (Johnson, Joyce), 269

Miracle at Kitty Hawk: The Letters of Wilbur and Orville Wright, 505–506

The Miracle of Love: Mother Teresa of Calcutta (Spink, Kathryn), 339

The Miracle Worker, 266

The Miracle Worker (Gibson, William), 266

Mirage (McKenney, Ruth), 345

A Mirror for the Sky (West, Jessamyn), 15

The Mirror of the Sea (Joseph Conrad), 106

Miss Alcott of Concord: A Biography (Worthington, Marjorie), 6

Miss Mary Cassatt, Impressionist from Pennsylvania (Sweet, Frederick A), 79

Miss O'Keeffe (Patten, Christine T., and Alvaro Cardona-Hine), 358

The Missiles of October, 267

The Missolonghi Manuscript (Prokosch, Frederic), 67

Mistress Anne (Erickson, Carolly), 40

Mistress Nancy (Bentley, Barbara), 222

Mistress of Fortune (Lancaster, Sheila), 345

Mistress of the Boards (Sumner, Richard), 91

Mistress of the Forge (Taylor, David), 209

Mitz: The Marmoset of Bloomsbury (Nunez, Sigrid), 501

The Modern World: Ten Great Writers, 159, 237, 257, 262

The Moderns, 438

Mohammed (Rodinson, Maxime), 341

Mohammed and the Rise of Islam (Margoliouth, David S), 341

Mohammed: Prophet of the Religion of Islam (Pike, Royston), 341

Mohammed: The Man and His Faith (Andrae, Tor), 341

Molière, 331

Molière (Tilley, Arthur A), 331

Molière: A Playwright and His Audience (Howarth, W.D), 331

Molière: A Romantic Play in Three Acts (Moeller, Philip), 331

Molière: His Life and Works (Matthews, Brander), 331

Molière: His Life and Works (Palmer, John), 331

Molière: The Comic Mask (Lewis, D.B. Wyndham), 331

Molière: The Man Seen Through the Plays (Fernandez, Ramon), 331

A Moment's Liberty: The Shorter Diary (Virginia Woolf), 501

Moments of Being: Unpublished Autobiographical Writings (Virginia Woolf), 501

Mon Cher Papa: Franklin and the Ladies of Paris (Lopez, Claude-Anne), 173

Mona Lisa: the Woman in the Portrait: A Fictional Biography (Mayfield, Sara), 282

Monday After the Miracle (Gibson, William), 266

Monet (Gordon, Robert, and Andrew Forge), 332

Monet (Rachman, Carla), 332

Monet (Welton, Jude), 332

Monet: A Biography (Mount, Charles M), 332

Monet at Giverny (Joyce, Claire), 332

Monet: The Ultimate Impressionist (Patin, Sylvie), 332

Monk in Armour (Barr, Gladys H), 295

Monmouth (Flood, Charles B), 209, 484

Monroe: Her Life in Pictures (Spada, James), 334

Monsieur Butterfly: The Story of Giacomo Puccini (Jackson, Stanley), 386

Monsieur Molière, a Novel (O'Shaughnessy, Michael), 331

Monsieur Proust (Albaret, Celeste), 385

Montaigne (Tetel, Marcel), 335

Montaigne (Willis, Irene C), 335

Montaigne: A Biography (Frame, Donald M), 335

Montaigne's Career (Hoffmann, George), 335

The Moon and the Sun (McIntyre, Vonda N), 293

Moon in Eclipse: A Life of Mary Shelley (Dunn, Jane), 425

The Moon under Her Feet (Kinstler, Clysta), 248

Moral Desperado: A Life of Thomas Carlyle (Heffer, Simon), 73

More Letters of Oscar Wilde, 492

More Perfect Union: The Story of Alexander Hamilton (Whitelaw, Nancy), 209

Morgan: American Financier (Strouse, Jean), 337

Morgan the Magnificent: The Life of J.Pierpont Morgan: 1837–1913 (Winkler, John), 337

The Morgans: Private International Bankers, 1854–1913 (Carosso, Vincent P), 337

The Morning Deluge: Mao Tse-tung and the Chinese Revolution 1893–1954 (Han, Suyin), 309

Morning of a Hero (Boyce, Burke), 484

Mornings on Horseback (McCullough, David), 407

The Mortal Napoleon III (Williams, Roger L.), 346–347

Mortal Victory: A Biography of Paul Cézanne (Hanson, Lawrence), 85

Moses Maimonides: Rabbi, Philosopher, and Physician (Marcus, Rebecca B), 303

The Most Dangerous Man in America: Scenes from the Life of Benjamin Franklin (Bowen, Catherine Drinker), 173

A Most Extraordinary Pair (Detre, Jean), 499

The Moth and the Candle: A Life of James Boswell (Finlayson, Iain), 48

The Moth and the Star: A Biography of Virginia Woolf (Pippett, Aileen), 501

Mother and Daughter: The Letters of Eleanor Roosevelt and Anna Roosevelt, 405

Mother Earth: An Epic Drama of Emma Goldman's Life (Duberman, Martin B), 202

Mother India: A Political Biography of Indira Gandhi (Gupte, Pranay), 182

The Mother of Us All (Thomson, Virgil), 9

Mother R: Eleanor Roosevelt's Untold Story (Roosevelt, Elliott, and James Brough), 405

Mother Teresa, 339

Mother Teresa (Chawla, Navin), 339

Mother Teresa (Clucas, Joan), 339

Mother Teresa: A Complete Authorized Biography (Spink, Kathryn), 339

Mother Teresa: A Life in Pictures (Royle, Roger), 339

Mother Teresa: Beyond the Image (Sebba, Anne), 339

Mother Teresa: Friend of the Friendless (Greene, Carol), 339

Mother Teresa: Her Life, Her Work, Her Message: 1910–1997: A Memoir (Gonzalez-Balado, Jose Luis), 339

Mother Teresa: Her People and Her Work (Doig, Desmond), 339

Mother Teresa of Calcutta: A Biography (Le Joly, Edward, S.J), 339

Mother Teresa: Protector of the Sick (Johnson, Linda C), 339

Mother Teresa: The Early Years (Porter, David), 339

Moulin Rouge, 465

Moulin Rouge: A Novel Based on the Life of Henri de Toulouse-Lautrec (La Mure, Pierre), 129, 465

Mount's Mistake (McCreary, Lew), 153

The Mourning of John Lennon (Elliott, Anthony), 281

A Moveable Feast (Ernest Hemingway), 219

Mozart, 340

Mozart (Blom, Eric), 340

Mozart (Davenport, Marcia), 340

Mozart (Gay, Peter), 340

Mozart (Hildeshiemer, Wolfgang), 340

Mozart (Loewen, Nancy), 340

Mozart (Ottaway, Hugh), 340

Mozart (Sadie, Stanley), 340

Mozart (Sitwell, Sacheverell), 340

Mozart (Steptoe, Andrew), 340

Mozart: A Biography, with a Survey of Books, Editions, and Recordings (King, Alec H), 340

Mozart: A Cultural Biography (Gutman, Robert W), 340

Mozart: A Documentary Biography, 1765–1891, 340

Mozart: A Life (Solomon, Maynard), 340

Mozart: A Musical Biography (Kuster, Konrad), 340

Mozart: A Pictorial Biography (Valentin, Erich), 340

Mozart and His Circle: A Biographical Dictionary (Clive, Peter) , 340

Mozart and His Music (Burk, John N), 340

Mozart and His Times (Schenk, Erich), 340

Mozart and the Archboody (Neider, Charles), 340

The Mozart Compendium: A Guide to Mozart's Life and Music (Landon, H.C.Robbins, ed), 340

A Mozart Diary: A Chronological Reconstruction of the Composer's Life, 1761–1791 (Dimond, Peter, ed), 340

Mozart: From Child Prodigy to Tragic Hero (Parouty, Michel), 340

The Mozart Handbook: A Guide to the Man and His Music (Biancolli, Louis L., ed), 340

Mozart: His Character, His Work (Einstein, Alfred), 340

Mozart: His Music and His Life (Keys, Ivor), 340

Mozart in Person: His Character and Health (Davies, Peter J), 340

Mozart in Vienna, 1781–1791 (Braunbehrens, Volkmar), 340

The Mozart Myth: A Critical Reassessment (Stafford, William), 340

Mozart on the Way to Prague (Mörike, Eduard F), 340

Mozart: Portrait of a Genius (Elias, Robert), 340

Mozart Speaks: Views on Music, Musicians, and the World, 340

The Mozart Story, 340

Mozart: The Golden Years, 1789–91 (Landon, H.C. Robbins), 340

Mozart: The Man and His Works (Turner, W.J), 340

Mozart: The Man, The Musician (Hutchings, Arthur), 340

Mozart's Letters, 340

Mozart's Letters: An Illustrated Selection, 340

Mr. Audubon's Lady (Kennedy, Lucy), 15

Mr. Clemens and Mark Twain: A Biography (Kaplan, Justin), 473

Mr. Darwin's Shooter (McDonald, Roger), 122

Mr. Justice Brandeis (Frankfurter, Felix, ed), 51

Mr. Lloyd George: A Study (Mallet, Charles), 288

Mr. Oddity: Samuel Johnson, LL.D (Norman, Charles), 254

Mr. Pepys: An Introduction to the Diary, Together with a Sketch of His Later Life (Tanner, J.R), 371

Mr. Pepys of Seething Lane (Abernethy, Cecil), 371

Mrs. Abraham Lincoln: A Study of Her Personality and Her Influence on Lincoln (Evans, William A), 284

Mrs. Brown, 139, 479

Mrs. Browning: The Story of Elizabeth Barren Browning (Mander, Rosalie), 59–60

Mrs. Dizzy: The Life of Mary Anne Disraeli, Vicountess Beaconsfield (Hardwick, Mollie), 139

Mrs. Eddy: The Biography of a Virginal Mind (Dakin, Edwin F), 152

Mrs. Einstein (McGrail, Anna), 156

Mrs. Fitzherbert and George IV (Wilkins, William H), 193

Mrs. Ike: Memories and Reflections on the Life of Mamie Eisenhower (Eisenhower, Susan), 157

Mrs. R: The Life of Eleanor Roosevelt (Steinberg, Alfred), 405

Mrs. Shakespeare: The Complete Works (Nye, Robert), 423

The Mudlark, 139

The Mudlark (Bonnet, Theodore), 139, 479

Muhammad (Cook, Michael), 341

Muhammad: A Biography of the Prophet (Armstrong, Karen), 341

Muhammad: A Short Biography (Forward, Matin), 341

Muhammad at Mecca (Watt, William M), 341

Muhammad: His Life Based on the Earliest Sources (Lings, Martin), 341

Muhammad: The Messenger of God (Kelen, Betty), 341

Munch, His Life and Work (Heller, Reinhold), 342

Murder and the First Lady (Roosevelt, Elliott), 252

Murder at Drury Lane (Hall, Robert Lee), 187

Murder at San Simeon (Hall, Robert Lee), 217, 88

Murder at San Simeon (Hearst, Patricia, and Cordelia F.Biddle), 217

Murder at the Palace (Roosevelt, Elliott), 97

A Murder in Macedon: A Mystery of Alexander the Great (Apostolou, Anna), 8

Murder in Montparnasse (Engel, Howard), 219, 438

Murder in Perspective: An Architectural Mystery (Miles, Keith), 504

Murder in the Cathedral (Eliot, T.S), 459

Murder in the Chateau (Roosevelt, Elliott), 438

Murder in the East Room (Roosevelt, Elliott), 88

Murder in the Executive Mansion (Roosevelt, Elliott), 164, 219

Murder in the Hellfire Club (Zochert, Donald), 173

Murder in the Latin Quarter (Hays, Tony), 257

The Murder in the Tower (Plaidy, Jean), 244

A Murder in Thebes (Apostolou, Anna), 8

Murder Is Murder Is Murder (Steward, Samuel M), 438

Murder Most Royal (Plaidy, Jean), 221, 40

The Murder of Albert Einstein (Gitlin, Todd), 156

The Murder of Edgar Allan Poe (Hatvary, George Egon), 380

The Murder of James A.Garfield: The President’s Last Days and the Trial and Execution of His Assassin (Clark, James C), 185

The Murder of Lawrence of Arabia (Eden, Matthew), 278

A Murder on the Appian Way (Saylor, Steven), 98

Murder on the Twelfth Night (Hayes, Tony), 423

The Muscovite (Macleod, Alison), 241

The Muses’ Darling: The Life of Christopher Marlowe (Norman, Charles), 311

The Music Lovers, 453

Mussolini, 343

Mussolini (Fermi, Laura), 343

Mussolini (Gelb, Alan), 343

Mussolini (Joes, Anthony J), 343

Mussolini (Mack Smith, Denis), 343

Mussolini (Ridley, Jasper), 343

Mussolini: A Study in Power (Kirkpatrick, Ivone), 343

Mussolini: An Intimate Biography (Mussolini, Rachele G), 343

Mussolini and Italian Fascism (Halperin, Samuel W), 343

Mussolini and Italian Fascism (Mulvihill, Margaret), 343

Mussolini in the Making (Megaro, Gaudens), 343

Mussolini: The Decline and Fall of Il Duce, 343

Mussolini: The Intimate Life of a Demagogue (Monelli, Paolo), 343

Mussolini’s Empire: The Rise and Fall of the Fascist Vision (Hoyt, Edwin P), 343

Mussolini’s Italy (Gallo, Max), 343

Mustapha Kemal: Between Europe and Asia: A Biography (Mikusch, Dagobert von), 13

Mustapha Kemal of Turkey (Wortham, Hugh E), 13

The Mutual Friend (Busch, Frederick), 134

My Autobiography (Benito Mussolini), 343

My Autobiography (Charlie Chaplin), 88

My Beautiful White Roses (Lechner, Michael), 171

My Bondage and My Freedom (Frederick Douglass), 142

My Brother and I (George, William), 288

My Brother Bill: An Affectionate Reminiscence (Faulkner, John), 164

My Brother Theodore Roosevelt (Robinson, Corinne Roosevelt), 407

My Brother’s Keeper (Joyce, Stanislaus), 257

My Darling Pussy: The Letters of Lloyd George and Frances Stevenson 1913–1941, 288

My Daughter, Maria Callas (Callas, Evangelia, with Lawrence G.Blochman), 69

My Dear Cousin (Hoffmann, Peggy), 299–300

My Dearest Minette (Charles II), 91

My Double Life: The Memoirs of Sarah Bernhardt, 34

My Early Life: A Roving Commission (Winston S. Churchill), 97

My Father and I (Sadat, Camelia), 413

My Father, Bertrand Russell (Tait, Katherine), 412

My Father: Charlie Chaplin (Chaplin, Charles Jr), 88

My Father, Lloyd George (Lloyd George, Richard), 288

My Father, Mark Twain (Gabrilowitsch, Clara Clemens), 473

My Father, Paul Gauguin (Gauguin, Pola), 189

My Father Who Is on Earth (Wright, John Lloyd), 504

My Fight for Birth Control (Margaret Sanger), 415

My Forty Years with Ford (Sorenson, Charles E., with Samuel T.Williamson), 168

My God and My All: The Life of St. Francis of Assist (Goudge, Elizabeth), 171

“My Hideous Progeny”: Mary Shelley, William Godwin, and the Father-Daughter Relationship (Hill-Miller, Katherine), 425

My Jack London: A Daughter Remembers, 290

My Lady of Cleves (Barnes, Margaret C), 221

My Larger Education: Being Chapters from My Experience (Booker T.Washington), 483

My Life (Golda Meir), 323

My Life (Leon Trotsky), 467

My Life (Marc Chagall), 86

My Life (Richard Wagner), 481

My Life as Author and Editor (H.L.Mencken), 325

My Life for My Sheep (Duggan, Alfred), 459

My Life for the Poor: Mother Teresa of Calcutta, 339

My Life in Pictures (Charlie Chaplin), 88

My Life on the Plains (George Armstrong Custer), 119

My Life with Chagall (Haggard, Virginia), 86

My Life with Dreiser (Dreiser, Helen), 145

My Life with Martin Luther King Jr (King, Coretta Scott) , 273

My Lord Brother the Lion Heart (Haycraft, Molly), 394

My Lord Essex (Eckerson, Olive), 160, 21

My Lord Foxe (Gluyas, Constance), 90

My Lord of Canterbury (Turton, Godfrey), 221

My Lord the Fox (York, Robert), 160, 40

My Mark Twain: Reminiscences and Criticisms (Howells, William Dean), 473

My Master Columbus (Belfrage, Cedric), 104

My Mission in Life (Juan Peron and Eva Peron), 372–373

My Mother, Golda Meir: A Son’s Evocation of Life with Golda Meir (Meir, Menahem), 323

My Parents: A Differing View (Roosevelt, James), 405, 406

My Poor Arthur: An Illumination of Arthur Rimbaud (Hanson, Elisabeth), 398

My Relations with Carlyle (Froude, J.A), 73

My Religion (Helen Keller), 266

My Reminiscences (Rabindranath Tagore), 451

My Rise and Fall (Benito Mussolini), 343

My Savage Muse: The Story of My Life: Edgar Allan Poe, An Imaginative Work (Hurwood, Bernhardt), 380

My Sister Marilyn: A Memoir of Marilyn Monroe (Miracle, Berniece Baker, and Mona Rae), 334

My Sister, My Love (Iremonger, Lucille), 67

My Soul and I: The Inner Life of Walt Whitman (Cavitch, David), 491

My Stephen Crane (Linson, Corwin K), 114

My Story (Marilyn Monroe), 334

My Theodosia (Seton, Anya), 66

My Thomas: A Novel of Martha Jefferson’s Life (Grimes, Roberta), 247

My Uncle John: Edward Stephens’s Life of J.M. Synge (Stephens, Edward), 450

My Uncle Theodore (Dreiser, Vera), 145

My Wife Maria Callas (Meneghini, G.B., with Renzo Allegri), 69

Myself and Marco Polo: A Novel of Changes (Griffiths, Paul), 381

Myself, Christopher Wren (Weiss, David), 503

My self Must I Remake: The Life and Poetry of W.B. Yeats (Spivak, Gayatri), 507

Myself, My Enemy (Plaidy, Jean), 90

The Mysterious Case of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle (Adams, Cynthia), 143

The Mysterious History of Columbus (Wilford, John Noble), 104

The Mystery of Agatha Christie (Robyns, Gwen), 96

Mystery of Picasso, 378

Mystery of the Mona Lisa (De’Firenze, Rina), 282

Nabokov: His Life in Art: A Critical Narrative (Field, Andrew), 344

Nabokov: His Life in Part (Field, Andrew), 344

Nabokov’s Blues: The Scientific Odyssey of a Literary Genius (Johnson, Kurt, and Steven L. Coates), 344

Naked Came I: A Novel of Rodin (Weiss, David), 129, 332, 392, 397, 404

The Naked Maja, 205

The Naked Maja (Gerson, Noel B), 205

The Naked Sword: The Story of Lucrezia Borgia (Kenyon, Frank W), 45–47

Naked to Mine Enemies: The Life of Cardinal Wolsey (Ferguson, Charles W), 500

The Names of the Mountains (Lindbergh, Reeve), 285

Nancy Astor, 288

Napoleon, 345, 401

Napoleon (Castelot, André), 345

Napoleon (Ellis, Geoffry J), 345

Napoleon (Fisher, H.A.L.), 345

Napoleon (Hutt, Maurice, ed), 345

Napoleon (Kircheisen, Friedrich M), 345

Napoleon (Lefebvre, Georges), 345

Napoleon (McGuire, Leslie), 345

Napoleon (Weidhom, Manfred), 345

Napoleon: A Biographical Companion (Nicholls, David), 345

Napoleon: A Play (Trench, Herbert), 345

Napoleon and Eugénie: The Tragicomedy of an Empire (Rheinhardt, Emil A), 346–347

Napoleon and His Son (Nezelof, Pierre), 345

Napoleon and His World (Maurois, André), 345

Napoleon and Hitler: A Comparative Biography (Seward, Desmond), 345

Napoleon and Josephine: An Improbable Marriage (Bruce, Evangeline), 345

Napoleon and the Awakening of Europe (Markham, Felix M), 345

Napoleon and the Cossacks (Krasnov, Peter N), 345, 7

Napoleon and the Napoleonic Wars (Marrin, Albert), 345

Napoleon Bonaparte (Schom, Alan), 345

Napoleon Bonaparte (Thompson, J.M), 345

Napoleon Bonaparte: An Intimate Biography (Cronin, Vincent), 345

Napoleon Bonaparte: His Rise and Fall (Thompson, James M), 345

Napoleon I: A Biography (Fournier, August), 345

Napoleon I: A Great Life in Brief (Guerard, Albert), 345

Napoleon III (McMillan, James F), 346–347

Napoleon III (Smith, W.H.C), 346–347

Napoleon III: A Great Life in Brief (Guerard, Albert), 346–347

Napoleon III: A Life (Bresler, Fenton), 346–347

Napoleon III and Eugénie (Ridley, Jasper), 346–347

Napoleon III and His Carnival Empire (Bierman, John), 346–347

Napoleon III: The Modern Emperor (Sencourt, Robert), 346–347

Napoleon: Man and Myth (Jones, R.Ben), 345

Napoleon Self-Revealed (Napoleon Bonaparte), 345

Napoleon: Soldier and Emperor (Aubry, Octave), 345

Napoleon Symphony (Burgess, Anthony), 345

Napoleon: The Myth of a Saviour (Tulard, Jean), 345

Napoleon the Third: A Biography (D’Auvergne, Edmund B.F), 346–347

The Napoleonic Revolution (Holtman, Robert B), 345

The Napoleonic Source Book (Haythornthwaite, Philip J), 345

Narrative and Writings of Andrew Jackson, 242

Narrative of the Life of Frederick Douglass, 142

Nathaniel Hawthorne (Turner, Arlin), 215

Nathaniel Hawthorne (Van Doren, Mark), 215

Nathaniel Hawthorne: A Biography (Stewart, Randall), 215

Nathaniel Hawthorne: A Modest Man (Mather, Edward), 215

Nathaniel Hawthorne: American Storyteller (Whitelaw, Nancy), 215

Nathaniel Hawthorne: An Approach to an Analysis of Artistic Creation (Normand, Jean), 215

A Nathaniel Hawthorne Encyclopedia (Gale, Robert L), 215

Nathaniel Hawthorne in His Times (Mellow, James R), 215

Nathaniel Hawthorne: Man and Writer (Wagenknecht, Edward), 215

Nathaniel Hawthorne: The American Years (Cantwell, Robert), 215

Nathaniel Hawthorne: The English Experience 1853–64 (Hull, Raymona), 215

The Nature of Alexander (Renault, Mary), 8

The Nazarene (Asch, Sholem), 248

Necessary Evil: The Life of Jane Welsh Carlyle (Hanson, Lawrence, and Elizabeth Hanson), 73

The Negotiators (Walder, Francis), 81

Nehru (Brown, Judith M), 348

Nehru: A Contemporary’s Estimate (Crocker, W.R), 348

Nehru: A Political Biography (Brecher, Michael), 348

Nehru: A Political Biography (Edwardes, Michael), 348

Nehru: A Tryst with Destiny (Wolpert, Stanley A), 348

Nehru: A Voice for Mankind (Shorter, B), 348

Nehru: The Making of India (Akbar, M.J), 348

Nehru: The Years of Power (Sheean, Vincent), 348

Nehru: The Years of Power (Tyson, Geoffrey), 348

The Nehrus of India: Three Generations of Leadership (Lamb, Beatrice P), 348

Neighboring Lives (Disch, Thomas M., and Charles Naylor), 329, 73

Nelson (Hattersley, Roy), 349

Nelson (Oman, Carola), 349

Nelson: A Biography (Walder, David), 349

Nelson: A Personal History (Hibbert, Christopher), 349

The Nelson Affair, 349

The Nelson Almanac: A Book of Days Recording

Nelson’s Life and the Events that Shaped His Era (Harris, David, ed), 349

Nelson and His World (Pocock, Tom), 349

Nelson and the Hamiltons (Russell, Jack), 349

Nelson: Hero of Trafalgar (Russell, Jack), 349

Nelson: The Essential Hero (Bradford, Emle), 349

Nelson: The Public and Private Life of Horatio Viscount Nelson (Browne, G.Lathom), 349

The Nelson Touch (Lewis, Paul), 349

Nephew to the Emperor: A Novel Based on the Life of Beethoven (Brenner, Jacques), 30

Nero (Powers, Elizabeth), 350

Nero (Ronalds, Mary T), 350

Nero (Shorter, David), 350

Nero (Suetonius), 350

Nero: Emperor in Revolt (Grant, Michael), 350

Nero: Reality and Legend (Warrington, B.H), 350

Nero: The End of a Dynasty (Griffin, Miriam), 350

Nero: The Man and the Legend (Bishop, John), 350

Nero: The Singing Emperor of Rome (Weigall, Arthur), 350

Neruda: An Intimate Biography (Teitelboim, Volodia), 351

Never at Rest: A Biography of Isaac Newton (Westfall, Richard S), 353

Never Call It Loving (Eden, Dorothy), 364

Never Cross a Vampire (Kaminsky, Stuart M), 164

Never No More: The Story of Rebecca Boone (Seifert, Shirley), 42

Nevermore (Hjortsberg, William), 143, 231

Nevermore (Schechter, Harold), 116, 380

A New Creature (Andrew, Prudence), 488

A New Deal for the World: Eleanor Roosevelt and American Foreign Policy, 1920–1962 (Berger, Jason), 405

The New Grove Bach Family (Wolff, Christoph, et al., eds), 20

The New Grove Beethoven (Tyson, Alan, and Joseph Kerman), 30

The New Grove Dictionary of American Music (Hitchcock, H. Wiley and Stanley Sadie, eds), 195

The New Grove Early Romantic Masters 2 (Warrack, John H), 315

The New Grove Handel (Dean, Winton), 210

The New Grove Haydn (Larsen, Jens Peter, and Georg Feder), 216

The New Grove Mozart (Sadie, Stanley), 340

The New Grove Schubert (Brown, Maurice J.E), 419

The New Grove Wagner (Deathridge, John, and Carl Dahlhaus), 481

A New Life of Anton Chekhov (Hingley, Ronald), 94

A New Life of Charlotte Brontë (Winnifrith, Tom), 53–57

New Light on Pope (Ault, N), 382

New Light on the Youth of Dante (Leigh, Gertrude), 121

The New Walt Whitman Handbook (Allen, Gay Wilson), 491

The New York City Ballet (Kirstein, Lincoln), 22

Newdick’s Season of Frost: An Interrupted Biography of Robert Frost (Sutton, William A., ed), 178

A Newer World: Kit Carson, John C.Frémont, and the Claiming of the American West (Roberts, David), 176, 76

Newman (Trevor, Meriol), 352

Newman's Way: The Odyssey of John Henry Newman (O'Faolin, Scan), 352

Newspaper Days (H.L.Mencken), 325

Newspaper Days (Theodore Dreiser), 145

The Newton Handbook (Gjertsen, Derek), 353

Newton: His Friend and His Niece (De Morgan, Augustus), 353

Newton: The Father of Modern Astronomy (Maury, Jean-Pierre), 353

The Next Kennedy (Laing, Margaret), 268

Next to Hughes: Behind the Power and Tragic Downfall of Howard Hughes by His Closest Advisor (Mahcu, Robert, and Richard Hack), 233

Niccolò Machiavelli (Rufflo-Fiore, Silvia), 298

Nicholas and Alexandra, 280, 354

Nicholas and Alexandra: An Intimate Account of the Last of the Romanovs and the Fall of Imperial Russia (Massie, Robert) , 354

Nicholas and Alexandra: The Last Imperial Family of Tsarist Russia (Mironenko, Sergei, et al), 354

Nicholas Cooke (Cowell, Stephanie), 311

Nicholas II (Vogt, George), 354

Nicholas II: Last of the Tsars (Ferro, Marc), 354

Nicholas II: The Last Tsar (Lyons, Marvin), 354

Nicholas II: The Life and Reign of Russia's Last

Monarch (Warth, Robert D), 354

Nicholas II: Twilight of the Empire (Lieven, D.C.B), 354

Nicholaus Copernicus: An Essay on His Life and Work (Hoyle, Fred), 112

Nicodemus: The Roman Years of Michelangelo Buonarroti (Alexander, Sidney), 328

Nietzsche (Andreas-Salomé, Lou), 355

Nietzsche (Brinton, Crane), 355

Nietzsche: A Critical Life (Hayman, Ronald), 355

Nietzsche: A Novel (Ksell, David F), 355

Nietzsche: A Self-Portrait from His Letters, 355

Nietzsche as Philosopher (Danto, Arthur C), 355

Nietzsche in Turin: An Intimate Biography (Chamberlain, Lesley), 355

Nietzsche: Life as Literature (Nehamas, Alexander), 355

Nietzsche: Philosopher, Psychologist, Antichrist (Kaufman, Walter), 355

Nietzsche: The Man and His Philosophy (Hollingdale, R.J), 355

Nietzsche: The Story of a Human Philosopher (Reyburn, H.A), 355

The Night Inspector (Busch, Frederick), 324

The Night Letter (Spike, Paul), 406

Night of the Dragon's Blood (Pridgen, William), 372–373

The Night of the Tribades: A Play for 1889 (Enquist, Per Olov), 446

Night on Fire: The First Complete Account of John Paul Jones' Greatest Battle (Walsh, John E), 255

The Night Thoreau Spent in Jail (Lawrence, Jerome, and Robert E.Lee), 461

The Nightmare Decade: The Life and Times of Senator Joseph McCarthy (Cook, Fred J), 319

The Nightmare of Reason: A Life of Franz Kafka (Pawel, Ernst), 262

Nijinsky, 445

Nikita Khrushchev (Ebon, Martin), 271

Nikita Khrushchev (Kort, Michael), 271

Nine Hours to Rama, 183

Nine Hours to Rama (Wolpert, Stanley A), 183 1901 (Conroy, Robert), 297, 320, 493

Nixon, 309, 357

Nixon (Ambrose, Stephen E), 357

Nixon (De Toledano, Ralph), 357

Nixon: A Life (Aitken, Jonathan), 357

Nixon: A Political Portrait (Mazo, Earl, and Stephen Hess), 357

Nixon about Nixon, 357

Nixon Agonistes: The Crisis of the Self-Made Man (Wills, Garry), 357

Nixon: An Oral History of His Presidency (Strober, Gerald S., and Deborah H), 357

Nixon: Checkers to Watergate, 357

The Nixon Nobody Knows (Spalding, Henry D), 357

Nixon on Stage and Screen: The Thirty-Seventh President as Depicted in Films, Television, Plays, and Opera (Monsell, Thomas), 357

The Nixon Theology (Henderson, Charles P), 357

Nixon vs. Nixon: An Emotional Tragedy (Abrahamsen, David), 357

Nixoncarver (Maxwell, Mark), 357

The Nixons: An American Family (Hoyt, Edwin P), 357

Nixon's Head (Woodstone, Arthur), 357

No Bed for Bacon (Brahms, Caryl), 423

No Gifts for Chance: A Biography of Edith Wharton (Benstock, Shari), 489

No Hail, No Farewell (Heren, Louis), 252

No Honeymoon for Death (Kruger, Mary), 337

No Man Knows My History: The Life of Joseph

Smith, the Mormon Prophet (Brodie, Fawn M), 434

No Man's Son (Adams, Doris Sutcliffe), 394

No Ordinary Time: Franklin and Eleanor Roosevelt: The Homefront in World War II (Goodwin, Doris Kearns), 405, 406

No Road Too Long (Hawthorne, Hildegarde), 176

No Smoke Without Fire (Harwood, Alice), 244

No Son of Mine (Stern, G.B), 442

No Survivors (Henry, Will), 115, 119

The Nobel Prize (Krotkov, Yuri), 271

The Noble Savage: Jean-Jacques Rousseau, 1754–1762 (Cranston, Maurice), 409

Noble Savage: The Life of Paul Gauguin (Hanson, Lawrence, and Elisabeth Hanson), 189

Nocturne: A Life of Chopin (Jordan, Ruth), 95

Nocturne: The Art of James McNeill Whistler (Sutton, Denys) , 490

Nomad: George A. Custer in Turf, Field, and Farm, 119

Nora: The Real Life of Molly Bloom (Maddox, Brenda), 257

Norma Jean & Marilyn, 334

Norma Jean: The Life of Marilyn Monroe (Guiles, Fred L), 334

The Norman Pretender (Anand, Valerie), 494

North and South, 284

Nostalgia: A Psychoanalytic Study of Marcel Proust (Miller, Milton L), 385

Not for Our Selves Alone: The Story of Elizabeth Cady Stanton & Susan B.Anthony, 9

Not for Our Selves Alone: The Story of Elizabeth Cady Stanton & Susan B.Anthony (Ward, Geoffrey, and Ken Burns, et al), 9

Notable American Women (Franklin, John Hope. “Harriet Tubman” in), 470

The Notable Man: The Life and Times of Oliver Goldsmith (Ginger, John), 203

Notebooks (Feodor Dostoevsky), 141

Notebooks (Samuel Taylor Coleridge), 102

Notebooks and Unpublished Prose Manuscripts (Walt Whitman), 491

The Notebooks of Leonardo da Vinci, 282

Notes on How to Turn a Phoenix into Ashes: The Story of the Stage Production, with the Text of Golda (Gibson, William), 323

Notes on Nursing: What It Is and What It Is Not (Florence Nightingale), 356

Nothing Like the Sun: A Story of Shakespeare's Love Life (Burgess, Anthony), 423

Notorious Eliza (Beyea, Basil), 209, 66

Notorious Woman, 414, 95

November 1916: The Red Wheel/Knot II (Solzhenitsyn, Aleksandr), 354

Nowhere at Home: Letters from Exile of Emma

Goldman and Alexander Berkman, 202

O, Genteel Lady! (Forbes, Esther), 291, 461

O Rare Ben Jonson (Steegmuller, Francis), 256

The Oak and the Ivy: An Intimate Biography of William and Catherine Gladstone (Marlow, Joyce), 199

Octavia: A Tale of Ancient Rome (Van Santvoord, Seymour), 350

Odd Destiny: A Life of Alexander Hamilton (Lomask, Milton), 209

Odd Destiny: The Life of Alexander Hamilton (Hecht, Marie B), 209

Of Human Hearts, 284

Of Laws and Limitations: An Intellectual Portrait of Louis Dembitz Brandeis (Baskerville, Stephen W), 51

Of Women and Their Elegance (Mailer, Norman), 334

Off the Record: The Private Papers of Harry S. Truman, 468

Off the Road: My Years with Cassady, Kerouac, and Ginsberg (Cassady, Carolyn), 269

Official and Confidential: The Secret Life of J.Edgar Hoover (Summers, Anthony), 228

The Official Life of Benito Mussolini (Pini, Giorgio), 343

Oh, Kentucky! (Receveur, Betty Layman), 42

O'Keefe and Stieglitz: An American Romance (Eisler, Benita), 358

O'Keefe: The Life of an American Legend (Hogrefe, Jeffrey), 358

Ol' Blue Eyes: A Frank Sinatra Encyclopedia (Mustazza, Leonard), 430

Old Hickory (Gerson, Noel B), 242

Old Hickory: A Life of Andrew Jackson (Davis, Burke), 242

Old Rough and Ready: The Life and Times of Zachary Taylor (McKinley, Silas B., and Silas Bent), 452

Old Rough and Ready: Zachary Taylor (Young, Bob), 452

Old Soldiers Never Die: The Life of Douglas MacArthur (Perret, Geoffrey), 297

Old Tippecanoe: William Henry Harrison and His Time (Cleaves, Freeman), 214

Oliver Cromwell (Buchan, John), 117

Oliver Cromwell (Coward, Barry), 117

Oliver Cromwell (Gardiner, Samuel R), 117

Oliver Cromwell (Gaunt, Peter), 117

Oliver Cromwell (Kaplan, Lawrence), 117

Oliver Cromwell (Levine, I.E), 117

Oliver Cromwell (Wedgwood, C.V), 117

Oliver Cromwell (Young, Peter), 117

Oliver Cromwell: A Play (Drinkwater, John), 117

Oliver Cromwell and His World (Ashley, Maurice), 117

Oliver Goldsmith (Freeman, William), 203

Oliver Goldsmith (Gwynn, Stephen), 203

Oliver Goldsmith (Wardle, Ralph M), 203

Oliver Goldsmith: A Biography (Irving, Washington), 203

Oliver Goldsmith, His Life and Works (Sells, A. Lytton), 203

The Olympians (Bolton, Guy), 425, 426

Olympic: The Life of Victor Hugo (Maurois, André), 235

On a Voiceless Shore: Byron in Greece (Minta, Stephen), 67

On Golden Wings (Malvern, Gladys), 477

On His Own: Robert F. Kennedy 1964–1968 (Vanden Heuvel, William J., and Milton Gwirtzman), 268

On Jung (Stevens, Anthony), 259

On Mozart: A Paean for Wolfgang, Being a Celestial Colloquy, an Opera Libretto, a Film Script, a Schizophrenic Dialogue, a Bewildered Ruminaton, a Stendhalian Transcription, and a Heartfelt Homage Upon the Bicentenary of the Death of Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart (Burgess, Anthony), 340

On My Own (Eleanor Roosevelt), 405

On Stalin and Stalinism (Medvedev, Roy A), 436

On the Side of My People: A Religious Life of Malcolm X (DeCaro, Louis A), 304

On Trial for My Country (Samkange, Stanlake), 393

On Wings of Song: A Biography of Felix Mendelssohn (Blunt, Wilfrid), 315

Onassis, 69

Onassis: The Richest Man in the World, 359

The Onassis Women: An Eyewitness Account (Moutsatsos, Kiki F), 69

“Once, at a Border...”: Aspects of Stravinsky, 445

One and Inseparable: Daniel Webster and the Union (Baxter, Maurice G), 485

One Brief Shining Moment: Remembering Kennedy (Manchester, William), 267

One Day at Kitty Hawk: The Untold Story of the Wright Brothers and the Airplane (Walsh, John E), 505–506

One Day When I Was Lost: A Scenario (Baldwin, James), 304

One Last Glimpse (Aldridge, James), 166, 219

One Night in Newport (Villars, Elizabeth), 231, 337

One of Us: Richard Nixon and the American Dream (Wicker, Tom), 357

One Woman’s “Situation” : A Study of Mary Wollstonecraft (George, Margaret), 499

O’Neill (Gelb, Arthur, and Barbara Gelb), 360

O’Neill: Son and Playwright (Sheaffer, Louis), 360

Only a Novel: The Double Life of Jane Austen (Hodge, Jane Aiken), 19

The Only Thing to Fear (Poyer, David), 267, 406

The Opium Eater: A Life of Thomas De Quincey (Lindop, Grevel), 125

Oppenheimer and the Atomic Bomb (Larsen, Rebecca), 361

The Oppenheimer Case: Security on Trial (Stern, Philip M., with Harold Green), 361

Oppenheimer: The Story of a Friendship (Chevalier, Haakron), 361

Oppenheimer: The Years of Risk (Kunetka, James W), 361

The Oracle Glass (Riley, Judith Merkle), 293

The Ordeal of Dr. Mudd, 43

The Ordeal of Mark Twain (Brooks, Van Wyck), 473

The Origin: A Biographical Novel of Charles Darwin (Stone, Irving), 122

Orion and the Conqueror (Bova, Ben), 8

Orlando (Woolf, Virginia), 244

Orlok (Dandrea, Don), 190

Orpheus at Eighty (Sheean, Vincent), 477

Orwell Remembered (Coppard, Audrey and Bernard Crick), 362

Orwell: The Authorized Biography (Shelden, Michael), 362

Oscar Wilde, 492

Oscar Wilde (Ellmann, Richard), 492

Oscar Wilde (Gide, André), 492

Oscar Wilde (Jullian, Philippe), 492

Oscar Wilde (Nunokawa, Jeff), 492

Oscar Wilde: A Biography (Hyde, H.Montgomery), 492

Oscar Wilde: A Long and Lovely Suicide (Knox, Melissa), 492

Oscar Wilde: A Pictorial Biography (Holland, Vyvyan B), 492

Oscar Wilde: A Summing Up (Douglas, Alfred), 492

Oscar Wilde and Myself (Douglas, Alfred), 492

Oscar Wilde and the Yellow Nineties (Winwar, Frances), 492

An Oscar Wilde Chronology (Page, Norman), 492

The Oscar Wilde Encyclopedia (Beckson, Karl E), 492

Oscar Wilde: His Life and Confessions (Harris, Frank), 492

Oscar Wilde: His Life and Wit (Pearson, Hesketh), 492

Oscar Wilde: Interviews and Recollections (Mikhail, E.H), 492

Oscar Wilde: Myths, Miracles, and Imitations (Stokes, John), 492

Oscar Wilde: Spendthrift of Genius, 492

The Other Livingstone (Listowel, Judith), 287

The Other Side of the River: Red China Today (Snow, Edgar), 309

Other Worlds (Michaels, Barbara), 143, 231

Otto van Bismarck (Rose, Jonathan), 37

Our Friend James Joyce (Colum, Mary and Padraic) , 257

Our Gang (Roth, Philip), 357

Our Mark Twain: The Making of His Public Personality (Budd, Louis J), 473

Our Unknown Ex-President: A Portrait of Herbert Hoover (Lyons, Eugene), 227

Out of Inferno: Strindberg’s Reawakening as an Artist (Carlson, Harry G), 446

Out of My Later Years (Albert Einstein), 156

Out of My Life and Thought: An Autobiography (Albert Schweitzer), 421

Out of the Wilderness: The Life of Abraham Lincoln (Hanchett, William), 284

The Outlaw, 36

Over There (Vaughan, Robert), 157

Overland with Kit Carson: A Narrative of the Old Spanish Trail in 1848 (Brewerton, George D), 76

The Overreacher: A Study of Christopher Marlowe (Levin, Harry), 311

Oxford Reader’s Companion to Dickens (Schlicke, Paul, ed), 134

Oxford Reader’s Companion to Trollope (Terry, R.C), 466

P.T.Barnum, 24

P.T.Barnum: America’s Greatest Showman, 24

P.T.Barnum: America’s Greatest Showman (Kunhardt, Philip B. Jr., Philip B.Kunhardt III, and Peter W.Kunhardt), 24

P.T.Barnum: The Legend and the Man New York: Columbia University Press, 1989. 437pp. (Saxon, A.H), 24

P.T.Barnum: The World’s Greatest Showman (Fleming, Alice M), 24

Pablo Neruda (Agosin, Marjorie), 351

Pablo Neruda (Roman, Joseph), 351

Pablo Neruda: All Poets the Poet (Bizzarro, Salvatore), 351

Pablo Neruda: Nobel Prize-Winning Poet (Goodnough, David), 351

Pablo Picasso, 378

Pablo Picasso (Beardsley, John), 378

Pablo Picasso (Selfridge, John W), 378

Pablo Picasso: His Life and Times (Cabanne, Pierre), 378

Pablo Picasso: The Man and the Image (Lyttle, Richard B), 378

Pablo Ruiz Picasso: A Biography (O’Brian, Patrick), 378

Paine (Hawke, David F), 363

Paine (Philip, Mark), 363

Painted Lady: Eliza Jumel, Her Life and Times (Falkner, Leonard), 66

The Paintings of Eugene Delacroix: A Critical Catalog (Johnson, Lee), 130

The Paladin: A Novel Based on Fact (Garfield, Brian), 97

The Pandora Secret (Forrest, Anthony), 179

Panther in the Sky (Thorn, James Alexander), 454

Papa and Fidel (Alexander, Karl), 219

Papa Hemingway: A Personal Memoir (Hotchner, A.E), 219

The Papers of Alexander Hamilton, 209

The Papers of Andrew Jackson, 242

The Papers of Benjamin Franklin, 173

The Papers of Daniel Webster, 485

The Papers of Dwight D.Eisenhower, 157

The Papers of James Madison, 299–300

The Papers of Jefferson Davis, 123

The Papers of Martin Luther King Jr, 273

The Papers of Thomas A.Edison, 153

The Papers of Thomas Jefferson, 247

The Papers of Ulysses S.Grant, 206

The Papers of Wilbur and Orville Wright, 505–506

The Papers of William Penn, 370

The Papers of Woodrow Wilson, 497

Parcel of Rogues (Lane, Jane), 315

The Paris Pilgrims (Carlile, Clancy), 219, 257, 438

The Paris Years of Thomas Jefferson (Adams, William H), 247

Parliament and the Crown in the Reign of Mary Tudor (Loach, Jennifer), 314

Parnell, 364

Parnell: A Biography (Haslip, Joan), 364

Parnell and the Englishwoman (Leonard, Hugh), 364

Parnell in Perspective (Boyce, D.George and Alan O'Day, eds), 364

The Parnell Tragedy (Abels, Jules), 364

Parson Austen's Daughter (Ashton, Helen), 19

Part of a Long Story (Boulton, Agnes), 360

Parting the Waters: America in the King Years, 1954–63 (Branch, Taylor), 273

Partner in Revolution: Abigail Adams (Meeker, Clare Hodgson), 1

Parts of a World: Wallace Stevens Remembered: An Oral Biography (Brazeau, Peter), 441

Pascal (Rogers, Ben), 365

Pascal (Steinmann, Jean), 365

Pascal, His Life and Works (Mesnard, Jean), 365

Pascal: The Emergence of Genius (Cailliet, Emile), 365

Pascal, the Life of Genius (Bishop, Morris), 365

Pascal: The Man and His Two Loves (Cole, John R), 365

The Passion Dream Book (Otto, Whitney), 328

A Passion in the Blood (Davis, Genevieve), 45–47

The Passion of Emily Dickinson (Fair, Judith), 135

The Passion of Joan of Arc, 249

The Passion of Letty Fox (Saunders, Diana), 346–347

A Passionate Apprentice: The Early Journals, 1897–1909 (Virginia Woolf), 50 f

The Passionate Brood (Barnes, Margaret C), 394

The Passionate Pilgrim (Terrot, Charles), 356

Passionate Pilgrim: The Life of Vincent Van Gogh (Hanson, Lawrence, and Elisabeth Hanson), 475

Passionate Rebel: The Story of Hector Berlioz (Kenyon, Frank W), 286, 33

Passionate Sage: The Character and Legacy of John Adams (Ellis, Joseph J), 2

Passions and Impressions (Pablo Neruda), 351

The Passions of the Mind (Stone, Irving), 177, 259

Pasteur and the Invisible Giants (Dolan, Edward F), 366

Pasteur: The History of a Mind (Duclaux, Emile), 366

Pasteur's Fight Against Microbes (Birch, Beverley), 366

Pastwatch: The Redemption of Christopher Columbus (Card, Orson Scott), 104

Pat Garrett & Billy the Kid, 36

Paterna: The Autobiography of Cotton Mother, 316

Path of the Eclipse (Yarbro, Chelsea Quinn), 190

Path to the Silent Country (Banks, Lynne Reid), 458, 53–57

Pathetic Symphony: A Novel about Tchaikovsky (Mann, Klaus), 453

Patrick Branwell Brontë (Law, Alice), 53–57

Patrick Henry (Meade, Robert D), 222

Patrick Henry (Tyler, Moses C), 222

Patrick Henry: A Biography (Beeman, Richard R), 222

Patrick Henry and His World (Willison, George F), 222

Patrick Henry: “Give Me Liberty or Give Me Death.” (Fradin, Dennis B), 222

Patrick Henry: The Voice of Freedom (Axelrad, Jacob), 222

Patrick Henry: Voice of American Revolution (Sabin, Louis), 222

Patriotic Rebel: John C.Calhoun (Crane, William D), 68

The Pattern of Maugham: A Critical Portrait (Curtis, Anthony), 318

Patton, 368

Patton (Peck, Ira), 368

Patton: A Genius for War (D'Este, Carlo), 368

Patton: A Study in Command (Essame, H), 368

Patton: Old Blood and Guts, 368

Patton: Ordeal and Triumph. (Farago, Ladislas), 368

The Patton Papers (George S.Patton Jr), 368

Patton, the Man Behind the Legend (Blumenson, Martin) , 368

Patton: The Man Behind the Myth, 368

The Pattons: A Personal History of an American Family (Patton, Robert H), 368

Paul (Sanders, E.P), 369

Paul: A Biography Drawn from Evidence in the Apostle's Writing (Goodspeed, Edgar J), 369

Paul: A Critical Life (Murphy-O'Connor, Jerome), 369

Paul and His Interpreters: A Critical History (Schweitzer, Albert), 369

Paul, Apostle to the Gentiles: Studies in Chronology (Luedemann, Gerd), 369

Paul Between Damascus and Antioch: The Unknown Years (Hengel, Martin, and Anna Maria Schwemer), 369

Paul Cézanne (Mack, Gerstle), 85

Paul Cézanne: His Life and Art (Vollard, Ambroise), 85

Paul Gauguin (Greenfeld, Howard), 189

Paul Gauguin: A Life (Sweetman, David), 189

Paul Gauguin: Life and Work (Hoog, Michel), 189

Paul Gauguin: The Calm Madman (Becker, Beril), 189

Paul Jones: Founder of the American Navy (Buell, Augustus C), 255

Paul Klee (Giedion-Welker, Carola), 275

Paul Klee (Grohmann, Will), 275

Paul Klee: His Life and Work in Documents, 275

Paul Klee: The Thinking Eye: The Notebooks of Paul Klee, 215

Paul of Tarsus (Glover, Terrot R), 369

Paul, Paulus (Bornkamm, Günther), 369

Paul Robeson, 400

Paul Robeson (Duberman, Martin B), 400

Paul Robeson (Ehrlich, Scott), 400

Paul Robeson: Actor, Singer, Political Activist (Wright, David K), 400

Paul Robeson: All American (Gilliam, Dorothy B), 400

Paul Robeson: Artist and Citizen (Stewart, Jeffrey, ed), 400

Paul Robeson: Citizen of the World (Graham, Shirley), 400

Paul Robeson: Here I Stand, 400

Paul Robeson: Hero Before His Time (Larsen, Rebecca), 400

Paul Robeson, Negro (Robeson, Eslanda G), 400

Paul Robeson Speaks: Writings, Speeches, Interviews, 1918–1974, 400

Paul Robeson: The American Othello (Hoyt, Edwin P), 400

Paul Robeson: The Tallest Tree in the Forest, 400

Paul Robeson—Tribute to an Artist, 400

Paul: The Man and the Myth (Roetzel, Calvin J), 369

Paul: The Mind of the Apostle (Wilson, A.N), 369

Paul the Traveller (Bradford, Emle), 369

Paul's Early Period: Chronology, Mission Strategy, Theology (Riesner, Rainer), 369

Peace, My Daughters (Barker, Shirley), 316

Peacock's Memoirs of Shelley with Shelley's Letters to Peacock (Peacock, Thomas Love), 426

A Peep into the 20th Century (Davis, Christopher), 153

The Peerless Leader: William Jennings Bryan (Hibben, Paxton), 61

Peggy (Callahan, North), 11

A People Betrayed (Döblin, Alfred), 296

The People's Emperor, Mao: A Biography of Mao Tse-tung (Wilson, Dick), 309

The People's General: The Personal Story of Lafayette (Loth, David G), 276

Pepys: A Biography (Ollard, Richard), 371

Pepys Himself (Emden, Cecil S), 371

Pepys: His Life and Character (Drinkwater, John), 371

Pepys in Love: Elizabeth's Story (Delaforce, Patrick), 371

Percy Bysshe Shelley: A Literary Life (O'Neill, Michael), 426

Percy Bysshe Shelley: Poet, 1792–1822, 426

Perdita's Prince (Plaidy, Jean), 191, 193, 427

The Perfect Joy of St. Francis (Timmermans, Felix), 171

The Perfect Tribute, 284

Perón: A Biography (Page, Joseph A), 372–373

Perón and the Enigmas of Argentina (Crassweller, Robert D), 372–373

The Peron Novel (Martínez, Tomás Eloy), 372–373

The Persian Boy (Renault, Mary), 8

The Persistence of Memory: A Biography of Dali (Etherington-Smith, Meredith), 120

Persistent Pilgrim: The Life of Mary Baker Eddy (Nenneman, Richard A), 152

The Personal History of Samuel Johnson (Hibbert, Christopher), 254

The Personal Life of David Livingstone (Blaikie, William G), 287

Personal Memoirs (Ulysses S.Grant), 206

The Personal Memoirs of Julia Dent Grant, 206

Personal Recollections of Vincent Van Gogh (Du Quesne-Van Gogh, Elisabeth H), 475

A Personal Record (Joseph Conrad), 106

The Personal Reflections of Joan of Arc (Twain, Mark), 249

Personal Reminiscences, Anecdotes and Letters of General Robert E.Lee (Jones, J.William), 279

The Personal Rule of Charles I (Sharps, Kevin), 90

The Personality of Chaucer (Wagenknecht, Edward), 93

The Personality of Jonathan Swift (Ehrenpreis, Irvin), 448

The Personality of Milton (Wagenknecht, Edward), 330

The Personality of Shakespeare (Wagenknecht, Edward), 423

Perturbed Spirit: The Life and Personality of Samuel Taylor Coleridge (Doughty, Oswald), 102

Peter and Alexis (Merezhkovsky, Dmitry), 375

Peter and Paul: The Rock and the Sword (Thompson, Blanche J), 369, 374

Peter: Apostle for the Whole Church (Perkins, Pheme), 374

Peter Called the Great (Jones, Maurice B), 375

Peter: Disciple, Apostle, Martyr: A Historical and Theological Study (Cullmann, Oscar), 374

Peter Doyle (Vernon, John), 135, 491

Peter Ilyich Tchaikovsky, 453

Peter Ilyich Tchaikovsky (Tames, Richard), 453

Peter in Rome: The Literary, Liturgical, and Archaeological Evidence (O’Connor, Daniel W), 374

Peter Paul Rubens (Fletcher, Jennifer), 410

Peter Paul Rubens (McL.anathan, Richard B.K), 410

Peter Paul Rubens: A Biography of a Giant (Edwards, Samuel), 410

Peter, Prince of Apostles: A Study in the History and Tradition of Christianity (Foakes-Jackson, Frederick J), 374

Peter the First, 375

Peter the Great, 353, 375

Peter the Great (Anderson, M.S), 375

Peter the Great (Klyuchevsky, Vasili), 375

Peter the Great (Lee, Stephen J), 375

Peter the Great (Marshall, William), 375

Peter the Great (McDermott, Kathleen), 375

Peter the Great (Oliva, L.Jay, ed), 375

Peter the Great (Tolstoy, Aleksy), 375

Peter the Great (Troyat, Henri), 375

Peter the Great: A Life of Peter I of Russia, Called the Great (Graham, Stephen), 375

Peter the Great and the Emergence of Russia (Summer, Benedict H), 375

Peter the Great: Emperor of All Russia (Grey, Ian), 375

Peter the Great, Emperor of Russia: A Study in Historical Biography (Schuyler, Eugene), 375

Peter the Great: His Life and World (Massie, Robert), 375

Peter: The Revolutionary Tsar (Putnam, Peter), 375

Petersburg (Hanlon, Emily), 467

Petrarch (Bergin, Thomas G), 376

Petrarch (Mann, Nicholas), 376

Petrarch and His World (Bishop, Morris), 376

Petrarch and the Renascence (Whitfield, John H), 376

Petrarch: Poet and Humanist (Foster, Kenelm), 376

The Petrograd Consignment (Sela, Owen), 280

The Phantom Emperor: The Romance and Tragedy of Napoleon III (Aubry, Octave), 346–347

Philip II (Parker, Geoffrey), 377

Philip II (Walsh, William T), 377

Philip II (Woodward, Geoffrey), 377

Philip II of Spain (Petrie, Charles), 377

Philip II of Spain (Pierson, Peter), 377

Philip of Spain (Kamen, Henry A.F), 377

The Philosophy of Andy Warhol: From A to B and Back Again, 482

The Phoenix and the Flame: D.H.Lawrence: A Biography (Trease, Geoffrey), 277

The Phoenix Rising (Evans, Jean), 90, 91

Physician Extraordinary: A Novel of the Life and Times of William Harvey (Weiss, David), 140, 181

Picasso, 378

Picasso (Boeck, Wilhelm, and Jaime Sabartès), 378

Picasso (Elgar, Frank, and Robert Maillard), 378

Picasso (Levy, Lorraine), 378

Picasso (Warncke, Carsten-Peter), 378

Picasso: An Intimate Portrait (Sabartès, Jaime), 378

Picasso and Company (Brassai), 378

Picasso and His Friends (Olivier, Fernande), 378

Picasso and His Women (Crespelle, Jean-Paul), 378

A Picasso Anthology: Documents, Criticism, Reminiscences (McCully, Marilyn, ed), 378

Picasso: Art as Autobiography (Gedo, Mary), 378

Picasso at the Lapin Agile (Martin, Steve), 156, 378

Picasso: Birth of a Genius (Cirlot, Juan-Eduardo), 378

Picasso: Creator and Destroyer (Huffington, Arianna S), 378

Picasso: His Life and Work (Penrose, Roland), 378

Picasso: Master of the New Idea (Bernadac, Marie-Laure, and Paule Dubouchet), 378

Picasso: The Early Years, 1881–1907 (Palau i Fabre, Joseph), 378

Picasso: The Early Years, 1892–1906 (McCully, Marilyn, ed), 378

Picasso: The Man and His Work, 378

Picture This (Heller, Joseph), 391

Picturing Hemingway: A Writer in His Time (Voss, Frederick), 219

Pierpont Morgan and Friends: The Anatomy of a Myth (Wheeler, George), 337

Pierre-Auguste Renoir (Rayfield, Susan), 392

Pierre Teilhard de Char din: His Life and Spirit (Cristiani, Léon), 455

Pietro Paulo Rubens (Baudouin, Frans), 410

Pilgrim (Findley, Timothy), 259

The Pilgrim Edition of the Letters of Charles Dickens, 134

The Pilgrim of Eternity: Byron: A Conflict (Drinkwater, John), 67

The Pilgrim Prince (Barr, Gladys H), 63

Pillar of Fire: America in the King Years, 1963–65 (Branch, Taylor), 273

A Pillar of Iron (Caldwell, Taylor), 98

The Pilot (Cooper, James Fenimore), 255

Pioneer of the Future (Douglas, Emily Taft), 415

Pistols for Hire (Nye, Nelson Coral), 36

Pin (Rosebery, Archibald), 379

Pitt the Younger (Jarrett, Derek), 379

A Place of Greater Safety (Mantel, Hilary), 401

Plain Speaking: An Oral Biography of Harry S. Truman (Miller, Merle), 468

The Plainsman, 119

The Plantagenet Prelude (Plaidy, Jean), 459

The Playboy Interviews with John Lennon & Yoko Ono, 281

The Players (Cowell, Stephanie), 423

Playing the Game (Buruma, Ian), 139, 492

The Pleasures of Love (Plaidy, Jean), 91

The Plot (Bates, H.C), 91

The Plymouth Cloak (Sedley, Kate), 395

Pocahontas (Donnell, Susan), 433

Pocahontas; or, The Nonpareil of Virginia (Garnett, David), 433

Pocahontas: The Legend, 433

Poe/Cooper/Irving, 239, 380

The Poe Log: A Documentary Life of Edgar Allan

Poe (Thomas, Dwight, and David K.Jackson), 380

The Poet as Philosopher: Petrarch and the Formation of Renaissance Consciousness (Trinkaus, Charles), 376

The Poet Auden: A Personal Memoir (Rowse, A.L), 14

The Poet Dying: Heinrich Heine’s Last Year in Paris (Pawel, Ernst) , 218

Poet in Exile: The Life of Heinrich Heine (Valentin, Antonina), 218

Poetic Justice (Cross, Amanda), 14

Point of Order: A Profile of Senator Joe McCarthy (Ingalls, Robert P), 319

The Political Correspondence and Public Papers of Aaron Burr, 66

The Political Thought of Mao Tse-tung (Schram, Stuart), 309

The Politician: The Life and Times of Lyndon Johnson: The Drive to Power from the Frontier to Master of the Senate (Dugger, Ronnie), 252

The Politics of Fear: Joseph R.McCarthy and the Senate (Griffith, Robert), 319

Pomeroy (Williams, Gordon), 407

Poor Richard’s Game (O’Toole, G.J.A), 173

Poor Splendid Wings: The Rossettis and Their Circle (Winwar, Frances), 408

A Pope Chronology (Berry, Reginald), 382

“Pope” in Lives of the English Poets (Johnson, Samuel), 382

Pope John (Trevor, Meriol), 250

Pope John XXIII (Walch, Timothy), 250

Pope John XXIII: A Pictorial Biography (Pecher, Erich), 250

Pope John XXIII: An Authoritative Biography (Aradi, Zsolt, James Itucek, and James C. O’Neill), 250

Pope John XXIII: His Life and Character (Perrotta, Paul C), 250

Pope John XXIII: Shepherd of the Modern World (Hebblethwaite, Peter), 250

Portia: The World of Abigail Adams (Gellis, Edith B), 1

The Portingale (Macleod, Alison), 91

Portrait for Posterity: Lincoln and His Biographers (Thomas, Benjamin P), 284

Portrait of a Nude Woman as Cleopatra (Chase-Riboud, Barbara), 100

Portrait of a Rebel: Margaret Sanger, 415

Portrait of a Revolutionary: Mao Tse-tung (Payne, Robert), 309

Portrait of an Artist: A Biography of Georgia O’Keeffe (Lisle, Laurie), 358

Portrait of an Artist: Andy Warhol, 482

Portrait of André Gide: A Critical Biography (O’Brien, Justin), 196

Portrait of Camus: An Illustrated Biography (Lebesque, Morvan), 71

A Portrait of Claude Debussy (Dietschy, Marcel), 127

Portrait of Edith Wharton (Lubbock, Percy), 489

Portrait of Emily Dickinson: The Poet and Her Prose (Higgins, David), 135

A Portrait of Isaac Newton (Manuel, Frank E), 3 53

A Portrait of Jane Austen (Cecil, David), 19

Portrait of Jung: An Illustrated Biography (Wehr, Gerhard), 259

Portrait of Lenin: An Illustrated Biography (Gourfinkel, Nina), 280

Portrait of Liszt: By Himself and His Contemporaries, 286

A Portrait of Peter (Findlay, James A), 374

Portrait of Picasso as a Young Man: An Interpretive Biography (Mailer, Norman), 378

Portrait of Rilke: An Illustrated Biography (Holthusen, Hans E), 397

Portrait of Rossetti (Grylls, R.Glynn), 408

Portrait of the Artist as a Young Dog (Dylan Thomas), 460

Portrait of Wagner: An Illustrated Biography (Mayer, Hans), 481

The Power and the Passion (Nicholson, Christina), 375

Powhatan’s Daughter (Bowman, John C), 433

The Poyson Garden: A Bess Tudor Mystery (Harper, Karen), 160, 314

Praeterita (John Ruskin), 411

Praeterita: The Autobiography of John Ruskin, 411

The Pre-eminent Victorian: A Study of Tennyson (Richardson, Joanna), 456

Prelude for Two Queens (Elsna, Hebe), 314

Prepare Them for Caesar (Mabie, Mary L), 258

The Prescott Chronicles (Fried, Albert), 162

The Presidencies of Grover Cleveland (Welch, Richard E), 101

The Presidencies of James A.Garfield and Chester A.Arthur (Doenecke, Justus D), 185

The Presidencies of William Henry Harrison and John Tyler (Peterson, Norma L), 214

The Presidencies of Zachary Taylor and Millard Fillmore (Smith, Elbert B), 452

The Presidency of Abraham Lincoln (Paludan, Phillip S), 284

The Presidency of Andrew Jackson (Cole, Donald B), 242

The Presidency of Andrew Jackson: White House Politics 1829–37 (Latner, Richard B), 242

The Presidency of Andrew Johnson (Castel, Albert E), 251

The Presidency of Calvin Coolidge (Ferrell, Robert H), 110

The Presidency of Dwight D.Eisenhower (Pach, Chester J), 157

The Presidency of Franklin Delano Roosevelt (McJimsey, George T), 406

The Presidency of George Washington (McDonald, Forrest), 484

The Presidency of Harry S.Truman (McCoy, Donald R), 468

The Presidency of Herbert C.Hoover (Fausold, Martin L), 227

The Presidency of James Madison (Rutland, Robert A), 299–300

The Presidency of James Monroe (Cunningham, Noble), 333

The Presidency of John F.Kennedy (Giglio, James N), 267

The Presidency of John Quincy Adams (Hargreaves, Mary W.M), 3

The Presidency of Lyndon B.Johnson (Bornet, VaughnD), 252

The Presidency of Martin Van Buren (Wilson, Major L), 474

The Presidency of Richard Nixon (Small, Melvin), 357

The Presidency of Theodore Roosevelt (Gould, Lewis L), 407

The Presidency of Thomas Jefferson (McDonald, Forrest), 247

The Presidency of Warren Gamaliel Hording (Trani, Eugene P., and David L.Wilson), 212

The Presidency of William McKinley (Gould, Lewis L), 320

The Presidency of Woodrow Wilson (Clements, Kendrick A), 497

A President in Love: The Courtship Letters of Woodrow Wilson and Edith Bolling Galt, 497

President Kennedy: Profile of Power (Reeves, Richard), 267

President Richard M.Nixon, 357

President Richard Nixon—Talking with David Frost, 357

Presidential Problems (Grover Cleveland), 101

The President’s Lady, 242

The President’s Lady: A Novel about Rachel and Andrew Jackson (Stone, Irving) , 242

The President’s Man (Roosevelt, Elliott), 406

Pretty Boy Floyd (McMurtry, Larry, and Diana Ossana), 228

Pride and Passion: Robert Burns 1759–96 (Ferguson, J. de Lancey), 65

Priest of Love, 277

The Priest of Love: A Life of D.H.Lawrence (Moore, Harry T), 277

The Prime Minister’s Wife (Leslie, Doris), 139

Prince Albert: A Biography (James, Robert Rhodes), 5

Prince Albert: His Life and Work (Hobhouse, Hermione), 5

The Prince and the Lily (Brough, James), 154

The Prince and the Princess: The Love Story (King, Norman), 133

The Prince and the Prosecutor (Heck, Peter J), 473

The Prince and the Quakeress (Plaidy, Jean), 191

Prince Consort (Chancellor, Frank), 5

The Prince Consort (Fulford, Roger), 5

The Prince Consort: A Political Biography (Eyck, Frank), 5

Prince Jack, 267

The Prince Lost to Time (Dukthas, Ann), 310

Prince of Foxes, 45–47

Prince of Foxes (Shellabarger, Samuel), 45–47

Prince of Humbug: The Life of P.T.Barnum (Andronik, Catherine M), 24

A Prince of Our Disorder: The Life of T.E.Lawrence (Mack, John E), 278

Prince of Outlaws (Tolstoy, Aleksy), 241

Prince of Players, 43

The Prince of Pleasure and His Regency (Priestley, J.B), 193

Prince of Pleasure: George IV and the Making of the Regency (David, Saul), 193

The Prince of Scandals: The Story of George the Fourth, of His Amours and Mistresses (Thompson, Grace E), 193

The Prince Who Gave Up a Throne (Serage, Nancy), 62

The Princes in the Tower (Weir, Alison), 395

The Princess a Nun (Ross Williamson, Hugh), 377

Princess Diana: Her Life Story 1961–1997 (Buskin, Richard), 133

Princess Elizabeth trilogy. (Irwin, Margaret), 160

Princess in Amber (Mayerson, Evelyn W), 199, 479

Princess Pamela (Russell, Ray), 466

The Principal Speeches and Addresses of His Royal Highness the Prince Consort, 5

Prisoner of Honor, 509

The Prisoner of Tordesillas (Schoonover, Lawrence), 240, 92

The Private Diaries of Stendhal, 439

The Private Files of J.Edgar Hoover, 228

The Private Franklin: The Man and His Family (Lopez, Claude-Anne, and Eugenia W.Herbert), 173

The Private Journals of Aaron Burr, 66

The Private Life of Chairman Mao (Li, Zhizui), 309

The Private Life of Florence Nightingale (Gordon, Richard), 356

The Private Life of Galileo (Allan-Olney, Mary), 181

A Private Life of Henry James: Two Women and His Art (Gordon, Lyndall), 245

The Private Life of Henry VIII, 221, 40

The Private Life of Henry VIII (Morrison, Nancy B), 221

The Private Life of Louis XIV (Bertrand, Louis), 293

The Private Life of Mona Lisa (La Mure, Pierre), 282, 322

The Private Life of Mr. Pepys (Wilson, John H), 371

The Private Lives of Albert Einstein (Highfield, Roger, and Paul Carter), 156

The Private Lives of Elizabeth and Essex, 160, 389

Private Papers of James Boswell, 48

The Private Science of Louis Pasteur (Geison, Gerald L), 366

Private Shaw and Public Shaw: A Dual Biography of Lawrence of Arabia and George Bernard Shaw (Weintraub, Stanley), 424

Private Shaw and Public Shaw: A Dual Portrait of Lawrence of Arabia and George Bernard Shaw (Weintraub, Stanley), 278

The Private World of Pablo Picasso (Duncan, David D), 378

The Private World of William Faulkner (Coughlan, Robert), 164

The Problem of the Evil Editor (Michaels, Barbara), 143

The Problem of the Missing Miss (Michaels, Barbara), 143

The Problem of the Missing Miss (Rogow, Roberta), 75

The Problem of the Spiteful Spiritualist (Michaels, Barbara), 143

The Problem of Unbelief in the 16th Century: The Religion of Rabelais (Febvre, Lucien), 388

Prodigal Father (Murphy, William M), 507

The Prodigal Genius: The Life and Times of Honoré de Balzac (Gerson, Noel B), 23

Profile of Horace (Shackleton Bailey, D.R), 230

A Profile of Paul Robeson, 400

Prometheus: The Life of Balzac (Maurois, André), 23

Promise the Earth (Irving, Clive), 278

Promised Lands (Crook, Elizabeth), 232

Promises to Keep (Bernau, George), 267

The Prophet Armed: Trotsky 1879–1921 (Deutscher, Isaac), 467

The Prophet from Nazareth (Enslin, Morton S), 248

The Prophet Outcast: Trotsky 1919–1940 (Deutscher, Isaac), 467

The Prophet Unarmed: Trotsky 1921–1929 (Deutscher, Isaac), 467

The Propheteers (Apple, Max), 138

Prose Works Other than Science and Health with the Key to the Scriptures (Mary Baker Eddy), 152

Proud Destiny (Feuchtwanger, Lion), 173, 310

The Proud Retreat (Dowdey, Clifford), 123

The Proud Servant (Irwin, Margaret), 90

The Proud Way (Seifert, Shirley), 123

Proust (May, Derwent), 385

Proust (Painter, George), 385

Proust (Shattuck, Roger), 385

Proust: A Biography (Hayman, Ronald), 385

Proust and His World (Sawsom, William), 385

Proust and the Art of Love (Rivers, J.E), 385

Providence and Mr. Hardy (Deacon, Lois, and Terry Coleman), 213

Psyche (Michalos, Peter), 177

The Psychopathic God, Adolf Hitler (Waite, Robert), 224

PT 109, 267

The Public Burning (Coover, Robert), 357

The Public Career of Sir Thomas More (Guy, John), 336

Puccini, 386

Puccini: A Biography (Greenfeld, Howard), 386

Puccini: A Biography (Marek, George), 386

Puccini: A Critical Biography (Carner, Mosco), 386

Puccini Among Friends (Seligman, Vincent), 386

The Puccini Companion (Weaver, William, and Simonetta Puccini, eds), 386

Puccini: Keeper of the Seal (Greenfield, Edward), 386

Puccini: The Man and His Music (Weaver, William), 386

A Puritan in Babylon: The Story of Calvin Coolidge (White, William A), 110

Pushkin (Mirsky, D.S), 387

Pushkin (Simmons, E. J), 387

Pushkin (Troyat, Henri), 387

Pushkin: A Biography (Feinstein, Elaine), 387

Pushkin: A Biography (Magarshack, David), 387

Pushkin on Literature, 387

Pushkin: Poet and Lover (Lambert, Lydia), 387

Pushkin: The Man and His Age (Edmonds, Robin), 387

Pushkin's Button (Vitale, Serena), 387

Pyotr Ilyich Tchaikovsky (Thompson, Wendy), 453

The Quality of Mercy (Kellerman, Faye), 423

Queen Alexandra (Battiscombe, Georgina), 154

The Queen and I (Townsend, Sue), 133

The Queen and Lord M (Plaidy, Jean), 479

The Queen and the Gypsy (Heaven, Constance), 160

The Queen and the Poet (Oakeshott, Walter F), 389

Queen Anne Boleyn (Hackett, Francis), 40

Queen Caroline (Parry, Edward A), 193

Queen Cleopatra: A Novel (Mundy, Talbot), 100

Queen Dolley: The Life and Times of Dolley Madison (Wilson, Dorothy C), 299–300

Queen Elizabeth (Neale, J.E), 160

Queen Elizabeth I (Green, Robert), 160

Queen Jezebel (Plaidy, Jean), 220, 81

Queen Margot (Dumas, Alexandre), 81

Queen Margot: Or Marguerite de Valois (Dumas, Alexandre), 220

Queen Mary (Tennyson, Alfred), 314

Queen of Desire (Toperoff, Sam), 334

Queen of France (Castelot, André), 310

Queen of the Reformation (Ludwig, Charles), 295

Queen of This Realm: The Story of Queen Elizabeth I (Plaidy, Jean), 160

Queen Victoria (Benson, E.F), 479

Queen Victoria (Carb, David, and Walter P. Eaton), 479

Queen Victoria (Green, Robert), 479

Queen Victoria (Shearman, Deirdre), 479

Queen Victoria (St. Aubyn, Giles), 479

Queen Victoria (Strachey, Lytton), 479, 5

Queen Victoria: A Personal History (Hibbert, Christopher), 479

Queen Victoria: Born to Succeed (Longford, Elizabeth), 479

Queen Victoria: From Her Birth to the Death of the Prince Consort (Woodham-Smith, Cecil), 479

Queen Victoria's Secrets (Munich, Adrienne), 479

The Queen's Bastard (Maxwell, Robin), 160

Queen's Caprice (Bowen, Marjorie), 315

The Queen's Confession (Holt, Victoria), 310

The Queen's Corsair: Drake's Journey of Circumnavigation (McKee, Alexander), 144

The Queen's Cross: A Biographical Romance of Queen Isabella of Spain (Schoonover, Lawrence), 240

The Queen's Daughters (Prole, Lozania), 479

The Queen's Grace (Westcott, Jan), 221

The Queen's Husband (Plaidy, Jean), 479, 5

The Queen's Man (Penman, Sharon K), 394

The Queen's Necklace (Dumas, Alexandre), 310

Queen's Play (Dunnett, Dorothy), 315, 81

Queen's Ransom (Buckley, Fiona), 160

The Quest for Sherlock Holmes: A Biographical Study of Arthur Conan Doyle (Edwards, Owen D), 143

The Quest for Sir Arthur Conan Doyle: Thirteen Biographers in Search of a Life (Lellenberg, Jon L., ed ), 143

Quest for the Real Samoa: The Mead/Freeman Controversy and Beyond (Holmes, Lowell D), 321

The Quest of the Historical Jesus: A Critical Study of Its Progress from Reimarus to Wrede (Schweitzer, Albert), 248

The Questing Heart: A Romantic Novel about George Sand (Kenyon, Frank W), 414, 95

A Question of Character: A Life of John F. Kennedy (Reeves, Thomas C), 267

Quiet Lady (Collins, Norman), 346–347

The Quiet Lady (Collins, Norman), 37

The Quiet Light (De Wohl, Louis), 10, 292

Quo Vadis?, 350

Quo Vadis? (Sienkiewicz, Henryk), 350, 374

R.B.: A Biography of Robert Burns (Mackay, James A), 65

R.E.Lee: A Biography (Freeman, Douglas S), 279

Rabble in Arms (Roberts, Kenneth), 11

Rabelais and the Franciscans (Krailsheimer, A.J), 388

Rabelais: His Life (Powys, John Cowper), 388

Rabindranath Tagore: A Biographical Study (Rhys, Ernest), 451

Rabindranath Tagore: A Life (Kripalani, Krishna), 451

Rabindranath Tagore: His Life and Work (Thompson, Edward J), 451

Rabindranath Tagore: Poet and Dramatist (Thompson, Edward J), 451

Rabindranath Tagore: The Man and His Poetry (Roy, Basanta K), 451

Rabindranath Tagore: The Myriad-Minded Man (Dutta, Krishna, and Andrew Robinson), 451

Race First: The Ideological and Organizational Struggle of Marcus Garvey and the Universal Negro Improvement Association (Martin, Tony), 188

Rachel (Powers, Anne), 346–347

Rachel Carson (Gartner, Carol B), 77

Rachel Carson (Jezer, Marty), 77

Rachel Carson (McCay, Mary A), 77

Rachel Carson: Voice for the Earth (Wadsworth, Ginger), 77

Rachel Carson: Witness for Nature (Lear, Linda J), 77

Rage in Silence: A Novel Based on the Life of Goya (Braider, David), 205

The Rage of Edmund Burke: Portrait of an Ambivalent Conservative (Kramnick, Isaac), 64

Ragtime, 483

Ragtime (Doctorow, E.L.), 168, 177, 202, 231, 337, 483

The Rain Maiden (Phillips, Jill M), 394

The Rainbow: A Portrait of John Constable (Shirley, Andrew), 107

Rainer Maria Rilke (Butler, E.M), 397

Rainer Maria Rilke: His Life and Work (Heerikhuizen, F.W.van), 397

Rainer Maria Rilke: Masks and the Man (Peters, H.F), 397

Rainer Maria Rilke: The Years in Switzerland (Salis, Jean Randolphe de), 397

Raising Holy Hell (Olds, Brace), 470, 58

Raleigh and His World (Anthony, Irvin), 389

Raleigh's Fair Bess (Turner, Judy), 389

Ralph Waldo Emerson (Holmes, Oliver Wendall), 162

Ralph Waldo Emerson (Yannella, Donald), 162

Ralph Waldo Emerson: Days of Encounter (McAleer, John), 162

Ramage at Trafalgar (Pope, Dudley), 349

The Ramparts of Heaven (Morris, Gilbert), 488

Random Reminiscences of Men and Events (John D.Rockefeller), 403

Raphael (Beck, James H), 390

Raphael (Fischel, Oskar), 390

Raphael (Jones, Roger, and Nicholas Penny), 390

Raphael (Oppé, Adolf P), 390

Raphael (Pope-Hennessy, John), 390

Raphael (Ripley, Elizabeth), 390

Raphael: His Life and Works (Crowe, J.A., and G.B.Cavalcaselle), 390

Raphael: His Life and Works (Cuzin, Jean Pierre), 390

Raphael of Urbino and His Father Giovanni Santi (Passavant, J.D), 390

Raphael Santi (McCurdy, Edward), 390

Raphael: The Life and Legacy (Thompson, David), 390

Rasero (Rebolledo, Francisco), 136, 205, 409, 480

Rasputin, 354

Rasputin and the Empress, 354

Rasputin: Dark Servant of Destiny, 354

Rasputin the Mad Monk, 354

Rasputin's Revenge (Lescroart, John T), 354

The Rat Pack, 430

The Raven: A Biography of Sam Houston (James, Marquis), 232

The Raven's Bride (Crook, Elizabeth), 232

The Reader's Encyclopedia of Shakespeare (Campbell, Oscar J., ed), 423

The Real Abraham Lincoln: A Complete One-Volume History of His Life and Times (Luthin, Reinhard H), 284

The Real Bernard Shaw (Colbourne, Maurice), 424

The Real Billy the Kid with New Light on the Lincoln County War (Otero, Miguel A), 36

The Real Francis Bacon: A Biography (Bevan, Bryan), 21

Real Life of Mary Ann Evans: George Eliot, Her Letters and Fiction (Bodenheimer, Rosemarie), 158

The Real Lloyd George (Sylvester, A.J), 288

The Real Malcolm X, 304

The Real Nixon: An Intimate Biography (Kornitzer, Bela), 357

The Real Richard Nixon, 357

The Real Romanovs (Botkin, Gleb), 354

The Real Sherlock Holmes: Arthur Conan Doyle (Hoehling, Mary D), 143

The Real Wagner (Sabor, Rudolph), 481

Realizing Metaphors: Alexander Pushkin and the Life of the Poet (Bethea, David M), 387

Reasonable Enthusiast: John Wesley and the Rise of Methodism (Rack, Henry D), 488

Rebel: A Biography of Thomas Paine (Edwards, Samuel), 363

Rebel Genius: The Life of Herman Melville (Bixby, William), 324

Rebel in Paradise: A Biography of Emma Goldman (Drinnon, Richard), 202

Rebel Princess (Anthony, Evelyn), 83

The Recantation of Galileo Galilei: Scenes from History Perhaps (Bentley, Eric), 181

The Reckoning: The Murder of Christopher Marlowe (Nicholl, Charles), 311

Recollections and Letters of General Robert E.Lee (Lee, Robert E. Jr), 279

Recollections of André Gide (Martin du Gard, Roger), 196

Recollections of Gustav Mahler (Bauer-Lechner, Natalie), 302

Recollections of Rubens (Burckhardt, Jacob), 410

Recollections of the Last Days of Shelley and Byron (Trelawney, Edward J), 426

Recollections of Virginia Woolf (Noble, Joan R., ed), 501

Recollections of Wittgenstein (Rhees, Rush, ed), 498

Reconsidering Aubrey Beardsley (Langenfeld, Robert, ed), 28

Reconsidering No Man Knows My History: Fawn M.Brodie and Joseph Smith in Retrospect (Brodie, Fawn M), 434

Recovering Benjamin Franklin: An Exploration of a Life of Science and Service (Campbell, James), 173

The Red Barbarians: The Life and Times of Mao Tse-tung (MacGregor-Hastie, Roy), 309

Red China Today (Snow, Edgar), 309

The Red Cross in Peace and War (Clara Barton), 26

Red Emma, Queen of the Anarchists, 202

Red Emma Speaks: An Emma Goldman Reader, 202

The Red-Haired Brat (Dessau, Joanna), 160

Red Lion and Gold Dragon (Sprague, Rosemary), 494

The Red Monarch: Scenes from the Life of Stalin (Krotkov, Yuri) , 436

Red Morning (Frey, Ruby F), 484

The Red Prussian: The Life and Legend of Karl Marx (Schwarzschild, Leopold), 313

Red Rose: A Novel Based on the Life of Emma Goldman (Mannin, Ethel E), 202

The Red Staircase (Butler, Gwendoline), 354

Red Star over China (Snow, Edgar), 309

Red Tsar, 436

Redemption (Uris, Leon), 97

The Redhunter: A Novel Based on the Life and Times of Senator Joe McCarthy (Buckley, William F), 319

Reds, 202, 360

A Reference Companion to Dylan Thomas (Davies, James A), 460

Refinements of Love: A Novel about Clover and Henry Adams (Conroy, Sarah B), 101, 245

Reflections of Nero: Culture, History, and Representation (Eisner, Jas, and Jamie Masters, eds), 350

Reflections on James Joyce: Stuart Gilbert's Paris Journal (Gilbert, Stuart), 257

Reflections on Toscanini (Sachs, Harvey), 464

The Refugees (Doyle, Arthur Conan), 293

Regency Royal (Hardwick, Michael), 193, 427

The Regent's Daughter (Plaidy, Jean), 193

The Reign of Charlemagne (Loyn, H.R., and J. Percival, eds), 89

The Reign of Henry VIII: Personalities and Politics (Starkey, David), 221

The Reign of Mary I (Tittler, Robert), 314

The Reign of Mary Tudor (Loades, David M), 314

The Reign of Queen Victoria (Bolitho, Hector), 479

The Reign of Terror, 401

Reimagining Thoreau (Milder, Robert), 461

Reluctant Cavalier (Chidsey, Donald Barr), 144

The Reluctant Queen: The Story of Anne of York (Plaidy, Jean), 395

Remaking Queen Victoria (Homans, Margaret, and Adrienne Munich, eds), 479

The Remarkable Voyages of Captain Cook (Blumberg, Rhoda), 109

The Remarkable Young Man (Roberts, Cecil), 265

Rembrandt, 391

Rembrandt (Schmitt, Gladys), 391

Rembrandt (Schwartz, Gary), 391

Rembrandt: A Biographical and Critical Study (Benesch, Otto), 391

Rembrandt and His World (White, Christopher), 391

Rembrandt and Seventeenth-Century Holland (Pescio, Claudio), 391

Rembrandt: His Life, His Paintings (Schwartz, Gary), 391

Rembrandt: Life and Work (Rosenberg, Jakob), 391

Rembrandt: Master of the Portrait (Bonafoux, Pascal), 391

Rembrandt-1669, 391

Rembrandt's Enterprise: The Studio and the Market (Alpers, Svetlana), 391

Rembrandt's Eyes (Schama, Simon), 391

Rembrandt's Portrait: A Biography (Mee, Charles L), 391

Remember Me to Tom (Williams, Edwina Dakin), 495

Remember Santiago (Jones, Douglas C), 26, 407

Remembering Charlie: A Pictorial Biography (Epstein, Jerry), 88

Remembering Ernest Hemingway (Plath, James, and Frank Simons, ed), 219

Remembering Mr. Maugham (Kanin, Garson), 318

Remembering Sinatra: A Life in Pictures (Sullivan, Robert), 430

Remembering Walt: Favorite Memories of Walt Disney (Green, Amy B., and Howard E. Green), 138

Reminiscences (Douglas MacArthur), 297

Reminiscences (Thomas Carlyle), 73

Reminiscences of Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy: A Social and Artistic Biography (Polko, Elise), 315

Reminiscences of Lenin (Krupskaya, Nadezhda), 280

Reminiscing in Tempo: A Portrait of Duke Ellington (Nicholson, Stuart, ed), 161

A Rendezvous with Destiny: The Roosevelts of the White House (Roosevelt, Elliott, and James Brough), 405, 406

René Descartes: A Biography (Vrooman, Jack R), 131

René Descartes: The Story of a Soul (Reith, Herman R), 131

Renoir (Monneret, Sophie), 392

Renoir: A Sensuous Vision (Distal, Anne), 392

Renoir: An Intimate Record (Vollard, Ambroise), 392

Renoir: His Life, Art, and Letters (White, Barbara E), 392

Renoir, My Father (Renoir, Jean), 392

Renoir: The Man, the Painter, and His World (Hanson, Lawrence), 392

Renown (Hough, Frank O), 11

Repair My House (Williamson, Glen), 171

Reports of General MacArthur, 297

Representative Man: Ralph Waldo Emerson in His Time (Porte, Joel), 162

Republic: A Novel of Texas (Thompson, E.V), 232

The Republic of Genius: A Reconstruction of Nietzsche's Early Thought (Taylor, Quentin P), 355

The Republican Roosevelt (Blum, John M), 407

A Requiem for Karl Marx (Manuel, Frank E), 313

Restless Consort: The Invasion of Albert the Conqueror (Tisdall, E.E.P), 5

The Restless Eye: Eugene Delacroix, 130

The Restless Flame (De Wohl, Louis), 16

A Restless Spirit: The Story of Robert Frost (Bober, Natalie), 178

Restoration, 91

Restoration: A Novel of Seventeenth-Century England (Tremain, Rose), 91

Retrospection and Introspection (Mary Baker Eddy), 152

The Return of Little Big Man (Berger, Thomas), 431

The Return of Lono: A Novel of Captain Cook's Last Voyage (Bushnell, Oswald Andrew), 109

The Return of the Musketeers, 293

The Revolt of Martin Luther (Fife, Robert), 295

The Revolutionary (Schoonover, Lawrence), 255, 83

The Revolutionary Career of Maximilien Robespierre (Jordan, David P), 401

Revolutionary Immortality: Mao Tse-tung and the Chinese Cultural Revolution (Lifton, Robert J), 309

The Revolutionist: A Novel of Russia (Littell, Robert), 280, 436

RFK: A Candid Biography of Robert F. Kennedy (Heymann, C.David), 268

RFK: The Man Who Would Be President (De Toledano, Ralph), 268

Rhapsody in Blue, 195

Rhodes: A Life (McDonald, James G), 393

Rhodes of Africa (Gross, Felix), 393

Rhodes: Race for Africa (Thomas, Antony), 393

Richard and the Knights of God (Bennetts, Pamela), 394

Richard Carvel (Churchill, Winston), 255

Richard, Coeur de Lion: A Biography (Henderson, Philip), 394

Richard Coeur de Lion: Kingship, Chivalry and War in the Twelfth Century (Gillingham, John), 394

Richard I in England (Howser, Harry S), 394

Richard III, 395

Richard III (Ross, Charles), 395

Richard III (Shakespeare, William), 395

Richard III: A Medieval Kingship (Gillingham, John, ed), 395

Richard III: A Study in Service (Horrox, Rosemary), 395

Richard III and the Princes in the Tower (Pollard, A.J), 395

Richard III: Crown and People (Petre, James), 395

Richard III: England's Black Legend (Seward, Desmond), 395

Richard III: The Great Debate (Kendall, Paul M., ed), 395

Richard III: The Last Plantagenet (Tyler-Whittle, Michael), 395

Richard Lion Heart (Brundage, James A), 394

Richard M.Nixon: Chronology, Documents, and Bibliographical Aids (Bremer, Howard F), 357

Richard M.Nixon: The Complex President (Goldman, Martin S. and John A.Scott), 357

Richard Milhous Nixon: The Rise of an American Politician (Morris, Roger), 357

Richard Nixon: A Political and Personal Portrait (Mazo, Earl), 357

Richard Nixon: A Psychobiography (Volkan, Vamik, Norman Itzkowitz, and Andrew Dod), 357

Richard Nixon and His America (Parmet, Herbert S), 357

Richard Nixon Reflects, 357

Richard Nixon: Rise and Fall of a President (Larsen, Rebecca), 357

Richard Nixon: The Shaping of His Character (Brodie, Fawn M), 357

Richard Strauss (Ashley, Tim), 444

Richard Strauss (Boyden, Matthew), 444

Richard Strauss (Jefferson, Alan), 444

Richard Strauss (Kennedy, Michael), 444

Richard Strauss (Newman, Ernest), 444

Richard Strauss (Nice, David), 444

Richard Strauss: A Chronicle of the Early Years 1864–98 (Schuh, Willi), 444

Richard Strauss: A Critical Commentary on His Life and Works (Del Mar, Norman), 444

Richard Strauss and His World (Gilliam, Bryan, ed), 444

Richard Strauss: Man, Musician, Enigma (Kennedy, Michael), 444

Richard Strauss: New Perspectives on the Composer and His Work (Gilliam, Bryan, ed), 444

Richard Strauss: The Life of a Non-Hero (Marek, George), 444

Richard Strauss: The Man and His Work (Krause, Ernst), 444

Richard Strauss: The Man and His Works (Finck, Henry T), 444

Richard the Lion Heart (Norgate, Kate), 394

Richard the Lion-Hearted: The Crusader King (Pittenger, W.Norman), 394

Richard the Lionheart (Bridge, Antony), 394

Richard the Lionheart and the Crusades (Gibbs, Christopher), 394

Richard the Third (Kendall, Paul M), 395

Richard Wagner (Gál, Hans), 481

Richard Wagner (Tames, Richard), 481

Richard Wagner: A Biography (Watson, Derek), 481

Richard Wagner: His Life and Work (Bekker, Paul), 481

Richard Wagner: His Life, Art, and Thought (Taylor, Ronald), 481

Richard Wagner: The Man, His Mind, and His Music (Gutman, Robert W), 481

Richard Wagner: Titan of Music (Stearns, Monroe), 481

Richelieu (Auchincloss, Louis), 396

Richelieu (Federn, Karl), 396

Richelieu (Knecht, R.J), 396

Richelieu (Lodge, Richard), 396

Richelieu (O'Connell, D.P), 396

Richelieu and His Age (Bergin, Joseph, and Laurence Brockliss, eds), 396

Richelieu and His Age (Burckhardt, Carl), 396

Richelieu and Mazarin (Treasure, G.R.R), 396

Richelieu and Reason of State (Church, William), 396

Richelieu and the French Monarchy (Wedgwood, C.V), 396

Richelieu;

or The Conspiracy (Bulwer Lytton, Edward), 396

Richest of the Poor: The Life of St. Francis of Assisi (Maynard, Theodore), 171

Rickey & Robinson: The Men Who Broke Baseball's Color Barrier (Frommer, Harvey), 402

Riddle Me a Murder (Crowley, Duane), 93

The Riddle of MacArthur: Japan, Korea, and the Far East (Gunther, John), 297

The Right Honourable Cecil John Rhodes: A Monograph and Reminiscence (Fuller, Thomas E), 393

The Right Stuff, 252

A Righteous Cause: The Life of William Jennings Bryan (Cherny, Robert), 61

Rilke: A Life (Leppmann, Wolfgang), 397

Rilke and Benvenuta: An Intimate Correspondence, 397

Rilke, Man and Poet: A Biographical Study (Purtscher, Nora von Wydenbruck), 397

Rilke's Last Year (Schoolfield, George C), 397

Rimbaud (Bonnefoy, Yves), 398

Rimbaud (Chadwick, C), 398

Rimbaud (Fowlie, Wallace), 398

Rimbaud (Petitfils, Pierre), 398

Rimbaud: The Boy and the Poet (Rickword, Edgell), 398

The Ring Master (Gun, David), 224, 481

A Ring of Conspirators: Henry James and His Literary Circle, 1895–1915 (Seymour, Miranda), 245

The Ringed Castle (Dunnett, Dorothy), 241

A Ringing Glass: The Life of Rainer Maria Rilke (Prater, Donald), 397

A Ripple of Hope: The Life of Robert F.Kennedy (Harrison, Barbara, and Daniel Terries), 268

The Rise and Fall of Alexander Hamilton (Hendrickson, Robert A), 209

The Rise and Fall of Anne Boleyn: Family Politics at the Court of Henry VIII (Warnicke, Retha M), 40

The Rise and Fall of Jesse James (Love, Robertus), 246

The Rise and Fall of Stalin (Payne, Robert), 436

The Rise and Fall of the Confederate Government (Jefferson Davis), 123

The Rise and Fall of the Third Reich, 224

The Rise of Chingis Khan and His Conquest of North China (Martin, Henry Desmond), 190

The Rise of Louis Napoleon (Simpson, Frederick A), 346–347

The Rise of Louis XIV, 293

The Rise of Richelieu (Bergin, Joseph), 396

The Rise of Theodore Roosevelt (Morris, Edmund), 407

The Rise of Warren Gamaliel Harding, 1865–1920 (Downes, Randolph C), 212

Rivals in Parliament: William Pitt and Charles Fox (Noble, Iris), 379

The River and the Horseman: A Novel of the Little Bighorn (Skimin, Robert), 119, 431

The River and the Wilderness (Robertson, Don), 243

RN: The Memoirs of Richard Nixon, 357

The Road to Baltimore (Harper, Robert S), 99

The Road to Damietta (O'Dell, Scott), 171

The Road to Harpers Ferry (Furnas, J.C), 58

The Road to Haworth (Cannon, John), 53–57

The Road to Indian Independence, 183

The Road to Lambaréné: A Biography of Albert Schweitzer (Augustiny, Waldemar), 421

Road to Revolution: Benjamin Franklin in England 1765–75 (Currey, Cecil B), 173

The Road to San Jacinto (Davis, J.Frank), 232

The Road to San Jacinto (Foreman, Leonard L), 116

The Road to Wigan Pier (George Orwell), 362

A Road We Do Not Know: A Novel of Custer at the Little Big Horn (Chiaventone, Frederick J), 119

Roanoak, 389

Roanoke Hundred (Fletcher, Inglis), 144, 389, 429

The Robber Baroness (Clarke, William K), 324, 74

The Robe (Douglas, Lloyd C), 248, 374

Robert Browning: A Life within Life (Thomas, Donald S), 59–60

Robert Browning: A Portrait (Miller, Betty Bryson), 59–60

Robert Browning and His World (Ward, Maisie), 59–60

Robert Burns (Daiches, David), 65

Robert Burns (Fowler, Richard H), 65

Robert Burns: A Play (Drinkwater, John), 65

Robert Burns: An Illustrated Biography (Grimble, Ian), 65

Robert Burns: The Man and His Work (Hecht, Hans), 65

Robert Burns: The Man and the Poet (Fitzhugh, Robert T), 65

Robert Burns: The Man, His Work, the Legend (Lindsay, Maurice) , 65

Robert E.Lee (Brown, Warren), 279

Robert E.Lee (Sanborn, Margaret), 279

Robert E.Lee: A Biography (Thomas, Emory M), 279

Robert E.Lee: A Biography (Winston, Robert W), 279

Robert E.Lee: A Great Life in Brief (Miers, Earl S), 279

Robert E.Lee: A Play (Drinkwater, John), 279

Robert E.Lee: Man and Soldier (Page, Thomas N), 279

The Robert E.Lee Reader (Horn, Stanley F., ed), 279

Robert E.Lee: The Man and the Soldier (Stern, Philip Van Doren), 279

Robert F.Kennedy (Petrillo, Daniel J), 268

Robert F.Kennedy: Promise for the Future (Schulman, Arlene), 268

Robert F.Kennedy: The Brother Within (Thompson, Robert E., and Hortense Myers), 268

Robert Frost, 178

Robert Frost (Thompson, Lawrance), 178

Robert Frost: A Biography (Meyers, Jeffrey), 178

Robert Frost: A Biography (Thompson, Lawrance), 178

Robert Frost: A Life (Parini, Jay), 178

Robert Frost: A Pictorial Chronicle (Morrison, Kathleen), 178

Robert Frost Among His Poems: A Literary Companion to the Poet's Own Biographical Contexts and Associations (Cramer, Jeffrey S), 178

Robert Frost Handbook (Potter, James L), 178

Robert Frost Himself(Burnshaw, Stanley), 178

Robert Frost: Life and Talks-Walking (Merlins, Louis), 178

Robert Frost: The Trial by Existence (Sergeant, Elizabeths) , 178

Robert Fulton (Landau, Elaine), 179

Robert Fulton (Morgan, John S), 179

Robert Fulton: A Biography (Philip, Cynthia O), 179

Robert Fulton and the Submarine (Parsons, William B), 179

Robert Fulton: Engineer and Artist, His Life and Works (Dickinson, Henry W), 179

Robert Fulton: Inventor and Steamboat Builder (Flammang, James M), 179

Robert Fulton 1765–1815 (Virginskii, V.S), 179

Robert Fulton, Steamboat Builder (Henry, Joanne L), 179

Robert Kennedy: A Memoir (Newfield, Jack), 268

Robert Kennedy and His Times, 228, 268

Robert Kennedy and His Times (Schlesinger, Arthur M. Jr), 268

Robert Kennedy: Brother Protector (Hilty, James W), 268

Robert Kennedy in His Own Words: The Unpublished Recollections of the Kennedy Years, 268

Robert Kennedy: The Final Years (Dooley, Brian), 268

Robert Louis Stevenson (Pope-Hennessy, John), 442

Robert Louis Stevenson (Saposnik, Irving S), 442

Robert Louis Stevenson: A Biography (McLynn, F.J), 442

Robert Louis Stevenson: A Life Study (Calder, Jenni), 442

Robert Louis Stevenson and His World (Daiches, David), 442

A Robert Louis Stevenson Chronology (Hammond, J.R), 442

Robert Louis Stevenson: Finding Treasure Island (Carpenter, Angelica S) , 442

Robert Louis Stevenson: Interviews and Recollections (Terry, R.C., ed), 442

Robert Louis Stevenson: Man and Writer: A Critical Biography (Steuart, J.A), 442

Robert Louis Stevenson: Poet and Teller of Tales (Bevan, Bryan), 442

Robert Louis Stevenson: Teller of Tales (Gherman, Beverly), 442

Robert Lowell: A Biography (Hamilton, Ian), 294

Robert Lowell: Interviews and Memoirs (Meyers, Jeffrey, ed), 294

Robert Lowell: Life and Art (Axelrod, Stephen), 294

Robert Oppenheimer: Dark Prince (Rummel, Jack), 361

Robert Oppenheimer: The Man and His Theories (Rouzé, Michel), 361

Robert Schumann (Niecks, Frederick), 420

Robert Schumann: Herald of a New Poetic Age (Daverio, John), 420

Robert Schumann: His Life and Work (Bedford, Herbert), 420

Robert Schumann: His Life and Work (Taylor, Ronald), 420

Robespierre (Hardman, John), 401

Robespierre (Haydon, Colin, and William Doyle, eds), 401

Robespierre (Rudé, George, ed), 401

Robespierre (Thompson, James M), 401

Robespierre: Portrait of a Revolutionary Democrat (Rudé, George), 401

Robespierre the Incorruptible: A Psycho-Biography (Gallo, Max), 401

The Rock Cried Out (Stanley, Edward), 66

Rodin (Champigneulle, Bernard), 404

Rodin (Cladel, Judith), 404

Rodin (Laurent, Monique), 404

Rodin (Rilke, Rainer Maria), 404

Rodin: A Biography (Grunfeld, Frederic V), 404

Rodin: A Biography (Ripley, Elizabeth), 404

Rodin: The Hands of Genius (Pinet, Helene), 404

Rodin: The Man and His Art (Cladel, Judith), 404

Rodin: The Shape of Genius (Butler, Ruth), 404

The Roger Shallot mystery series. 1991– (Clynes, Michael), 500

Rogers' Folly (Idell, Albert E), 24

The Roman (Waltari, Mika), 350

Roman Blood (Saylor, Steven), 98

The Roman Emperors: A Biographical Guide to the Rulers of Imperial Rome 31 BC–AD 476 (Grant, Michael), 18

Roman Nights (Burns, Ron), 18

Roman Shadows (Burns, Ron), 98

The Romance of Charles Dickens (Bloom, Ursula), 134

The Romance of Leonardo da Vinci (Merezhkovsky, Dmitry), 282

The Romance of the Mendelssohns (Petitpierre, Jacques), 315

The Romantic Egoists: A Pictorial Autobiography from the Scrapbook and Album of F.Scott and Zelda Fitzgerald, 166

Romantic Rebel: The Life and Times of George Sand (Seyd, Felizia), 414

Romola (Eliot, George), 298, 322

Roosevelt (Burns, James M), 406

The Roosevelt Family of Sagamore Hill (Hagedorn, Hermann), 407

Roosevelt in the Badlands (Hagedorn, Hermann), 407

The Roosevelt Presence: The Life and Legacy of FDR (Maney, Patrick J), 406

The Roosevelt Women (Caroli, Betty B), 405

The Roots of Treason: Ezra Pound and the Secret of St. Elizabeths (Torrey, E.Fuller), 383

Roots: The Next Generation, 304

Rosa Luxemburg, 296

Rosa Luxemburg (Cliff, Tony), 296

Rosa Luxemburg (Nettl, J.P), 296

Rosa Luxemburg: A Life (Ettinger, Elzbieta), 296

Rosa Luxemburg: A Life for the International (Abraham, Richard), 296

Rosa Luxemburg: A Reappraisal (Basso, Lelio), 296

Rosa Luxemburg: A Revolutionary for Our Times (Bronner, Stephen E), 296

Rosa Luxemburg: Ideas in Action (Frolich, Paul), 296

Rosa Luxemburg: Reflections and Writings (Le Blanc, Paul, ed), 296

Rosa Luxemburg Speaks, 296

A Rose for Virtue (Lofts, Norah), 345

The Rose without a Thorn (Plaidy, Jean), 221

The Roses of Malmaison: The Turbulent Life of the Beautiful Josephine (Schönthan, Gaby von), 345

Rossetti: His Life and Works (Waugh, Evelyn), 408

Rough Diamond (Fish, Robert L), 393

Rough Riders, 217

The Rough Riders, 407

Rousseau (Wokler, Robert), 409

Rousseau and the Religious Quest (Grimsley, Ronald), 409

Rousseau and the Spirit of Revolt: A Psychological Study (Blanchard, William H), 409

A Royal Affinity: The Story of Frederick the Great and His Sister Wilhelmina von Bayreuth (Wright, Constance), 175

Royal Blood: Richard III and the Mystery of the Princes (Fields, Bertram), 395

Royal Charles: Charles II and the Restoration (Fraser, Antonia), 91

Royal Cousin: The Life of Henri IV of France (Mahoney, Irene), 220

Royal Escape (Heyer, Georgette), 91

Royal Family, Royal Lovers: King James of England and Scotland (Bergeron, David M), 244

Royal Flash (Fraser, George MacDonald), 37

Royal Flush: The Story of Minette (Irwin, Margaret), 293, 91

Royal Intrigue (Anthony, Evelyn), 83

The Royal Malady (Chenevix Trench, Charles), 191

Royal Nonesuch (White, Beatrice), 221

Royal Road to Fotheringay (Plaidy, Jean), 315

A Royal Scandal, 193

Royal Scandal, 83

Royal Survivor: The Life of Charles II (Coote, Stephen), 91

The Royal Victorians: King Edward VII, His Family and Friends (Hibbert, Christopher), 154

Rubens (Belkin, Kristen L), 410

Rubens (Cabanne, Pierre), 410

Rubens: A Biography (Ripley, Elizabeth), 410

Rubens: A Double Life (Lescourret, Marie-Anne), 410

Rubens and His Circle (Held, Julius S), 410

Rubens and His Times (Avermaete, Roger), 410

Rubens and His World (White, Christopher), 410

Rubens: His Life, His Work, and His Time (Michel, Emile), 410

Rubens: Painter and Diplomat (Cammaerts, Emile), 410

Ruby, 267

Rudyard Kipling (Birkenhead, Frederick W.F.S), 274

Rudyard Kipling (Fido, Martin), 274

Rudyard Kipling (Seymour-Smith, Martin), 274

Rudyard Kipling: A Life (Ricketts, Harry), 274

Rudyard Kipling and His World (Amis, Kingsley), 274

Rudyard Kipling: His Life and Work (Carrington, Charles), 274

Ruler of the Sky: A Novel of Genghis Khan (Sargent, Pamela), 190

Runaway to Heaven: The Story of Harriet Beecher Stowe (Johnston, Johanna), 443

The Rungless Ladder: Harriet Beecher Stowe and New England Puritanism (Foster, Charles H), 443

The Running of Richard Nixon (Lurie, Leonard), 357

Ruskin: A Study in Personality (Benson, Arthur C), 411

A Ruskin Chronology (Bradley, John L), 411

Ruskin: The Great Victorian (Leon, Derrick), 411

Russell (Grayling, A.C), 412

Russell Remembered (Crawshay-Williams, Rupert), 412

Russia in the Age of Catherine the Great (De Madariaga, Isabel), 83

Russia under Khrushchev (Werth, Alexander), 271

Russia's Last Tsar, 354

Russka: The Novel of Russia (Rutherford, Edward), 241, 375, 83

Sacred and Profone: A Novel of the Life and Times of Mozart (Weiss, David), 216, 340

The Sacred Fire of Liberty: James Madison and the Founding of the Federal Republic (Banning, Lance), 299–300

The Sacred Threshold: A Life of Rainer Maria Rilke (Hendry, J.F), 397

The Sacrificial Years: A Chronicle of Walt Whitman's Experiences in the Civil War, 491

Sadat, 413

Sadat (Hirst, David, and Irene Beeson), 413

Sadat and His Statescraft (Femández-Armesto, Felipe), 413

Sadat: The Man Who Changed Mid-East History (Sullivan, George), 413

The Saga of Billy the Kid (Burns, Walter N), 36

The Sagebrush Bohemian: Mark Twain in California (Lennon, Nigey), 473

Sailor Named Jones: A Novel of America's Greatest Captain (Haislip, Harvey), 255

Sailor on Horseback (Stone, Irving), 290

The Saint (Unruh, Fritz von), 82

The Saint: A Fictional Biography of Thomas Becket (Meyer, Conrad F), 459

Saint Augustine (Wills, Garry), 16

Saint Catherine of Siena: A Study in Religion, Literature, and History of the 14th Century in Italy (Gardner, Edmund G), 82

Saint Catherine of Siena and Her Times (Roberts, Margaret), 82

Saint Francis (Kazantzakis, Nikos), 171

Saint Francis of Assist (Englebert, Omer), 171

Saint Ignatius (Hollis, Christopher), 238

Saint Ignatius and the Jesuits (Maynard, Theodore), 238

Saint Ignatius Loyola: The Pilgrim Years (Brodrick, James), 238

Saint Joan, 249

Saint Joan (Shaw, George Bernard), 249

Saint Joan of Arc (Sackville-West, Vita), 249

Saint Louis: Crusader King of France (Richard, Jean), 292

Saint Louis: Louis IX, Most Christian King of France (Labarge, Margaret W), 292

Saint Oscar (Eagleton, Terry), 492

Saint Patrick (Concannon, Mrs. Thomas), 367

Saint Patrick: His Origins and Career (Hanson, Richard P.C), 367

Saint Patrick, the Irish Saint (Roquette, Ruth), 367

Saint Paul (Grant, Michael), 369

Saint Paul: A Historical Novel of His Life (Poirier, Leon), 369

Saint Peter: A Biography (Grant, Michael), 374

Saint Peter, the Apostle (Walsh, William T), 374

Saint Thomas Aquinas (Chesterton, G.K.), 10

Saint Thomas Aquinas (Torrell, Jean-Pierre), 10

Saints and Scholars (Eagleton, Terry), 498

Saints, Sinners, and Beechers (Stowe, Lyman Beecher), 443

Salame's Last Dance, 492

Salem Is My Dwelling Place: A Life of Nathaniel Hawthorne (Miller, Edwin H), 215

Sally Hemings (Chase-Riboud, Barbara), 1, 2, 247

Salt Lake City (Reife, A.R.), 508

Salvador Dali (Carter, David A), 120

Salvador Dali (Secrest, Meryle), 120

Salvador Dali, the Work, the Man (Descharnes, Robert), 120

Sam Clemens of Hannibal (Wecter, Dixon), 473

Sam Houston (Alter, Judy), 232

Sam Houston: A Biographical Novel (Gerson, Noel B), 232

Sam Houston: A Biography of the Father of Texas (Williams, John Hoyt), 232

Sam Houston: American Giant (Wisehart, M.K.), 232

Sam Houston and the War of Independence in Texas (Williams, Alfred M), 232

Sam Houston: Colossus in Buckskin (Creel, George), 232

The Sam Houston Story (Owen, Dean), 232

Sam Houston: The Great Designer (Friend, Llerena), 232

Sam Houston with the Cherokees, 1829–1833 (Gregory, Jack, and Rennard Strickland), 232

Sam Johnson's Boy: A Close-Up of the President from Texas (Steinberg, Alfred), 252

A Samba for Sherlock (Soares, Jo), 34

Samuel Beckett: A Biography (Bair, Dierdre), 29

Samuel Beckett: The Last Modernist (Cronin, Anthony), 29

Samuel Johnson & His World (Lane, Margaret), 254

Samuel Johnson (Bate, Walter Jackson), 254

Samuel Johnson (Krutch, Joseph W), 254

Samuel Johnson (Stephen, Leslie), 254

Samuel Johnson: A Biography (Wain, John), 254

Samuel Johnson: A Personality in Conflict (Irwin, George), 254

Samuel Johnson and the Life of Writing (Fussell, Paul), 254

The Samuel Johnson Encyclopedia (Rogers, Pat), 254

Samuel Johnson: The Life of an Author (Lipking, Lawrence I), 254

Samuel Johnson: Writer, 1709–1784, 254

Samuel Pepys (Bryant, Arthur), 371

Samuel Pepys (Lubbock, Percy), 371

Samuel Pepys (Ponsonby, Arthur), 371

Samuel Pepys (Taylor, Ivan E), 371

Samuel Pepys: A Portrait in Miniature (Lucas-Dubreton, Jean), 371

Samuel Pepys, Administrator;

Observer, Gossip (Moorhouse, Esther H), 371

Samuel Pepys and His World (Trease, Geoffrey), 371

Samuel Pepys and the World He Lived In (Wheatley, Henry B), 371

Samuel Pepys, Esquire (Barber, Richard), 371

Samuel Pepys in the Diary (Hunt, Percival), 371

Samuel Taylor Coleridge (Fausset, Hugh I'Anson), 102

Samuel Taylor Coleridge: A Biographical Study (Chambers, E.K), 102

Samuel Taylor Coleridge: A Narrative of the Events of His Life (Campbell, James D), 102

San Juan Hill (Henry, Will), 407

Sandro Botticelli: Life and Work (Lightbown, Ronald), 49

The Sands of Sakkara (Meade, Glenn), 406

Santa Evita (Martínez, Tomás Eloy), 372–373

Sante Fe Trail, 119, 123, 58

Sarah (Gross, Joel), 34

Sarah Bernhardt (Baring, Maurice), 34

Sarah Bernhardt (Emboden, William), 34

Sarah Bernhardt and Her World (Richardson, Joanna), 34

Sarah Bernhardt: The Art Within the Legend (Taranow, Gerda), 34

Sarah the Divine (Row, Arthur), 34

Sartre: A Biographical Introduction (Thody, Philip), 416

Sartre: A Life (Cohen-Solal, Annie), 416

Sartre: A Life (Hayman, Ronald), 416

Sartre: Life and Works (Thompson, Kenneth, and Margaret Thompson), 416

The Savage Pilgrimage: A Narrative of D.H.Lawrence (Carswell, Catherine), 277

Savage Prodigal (Bercovici, Konrad), 398

Savanna (Giles, Janice Holt), 232

Sawdust Caesar: The Untold Story of Mussolini and Fascism (Seldes, George), 343

The Scalpel and the Sword (Shannon, Dell), 349

Scandalmonger (Safire, William), 209, 247

The Scarlet Beast (Gerard, Francis), 211

The Scarlet City (Haasse, Hella S), 328

The Scarlet City: A Novel of 16th-Century Italy (Haasse, Hella S), 298, 45–47

The Scarlet Cloak (Plaidy, Jean), 377

The Scarlet Coat, 11

The Scarlet Empress, 83

The Scarlet Pimpernel, 193

The Scarlet Pimpernel (Orczy, Emma), 193

Scenes in the Life of Harriet Tubman (Bradford, Sarah H), 470

Schiller (Garland, Henry B), 417

Schoenberg (MacDonald, Malcolm), 418

Schoenberg: A Critical Biography (Reich, Willi), 418

Schoenberg and His Circle: A Viennese Portrait (Smith, Joan A), 418

Schoenberg and His World (Frisch, Walter, ed), 418

Schoenberg: His Life, World, and Work

(Stuckenschmidt, Hans H), 418

Schoenberg Remembered: Diaries and Recollections (Newlin, Dika), 418

Schubert (Hutchings, Arthur), 419

Schubert (Marek, George), 419

Schubert (Reed, John), 419

Schubert: A Critical Biography (Brown, Maurice J.E), 419

Schubert and His Vienna (Osborne, Charles), 419

Schubert and His World: A Biographical Dictionary (Clive, H.P), 419

Schubert: His Life and Times (Woodford, Peggy), 419

Schubert: His Life, His Work, His Time (Wechsberg, Josef) , 419

Schubert: Memoirs by His Friends, 419

The Schubert Reader: A Life of Franz Schubert in Letters and Documents, 419

Schubert: The Final Years (Reed, John), 419

Schubert: Twelve Moments Musicaux and a Novel (Härtling, Peter), 419

Schubert's Songs: A Biographical Study (Fischer-Dieskau, Dietrich), 419

Schubert's Vienna (Erickson, Raymond, ed), 419

Schumann (Chissell, Joan), 420

Schumann (Fuller-Maitland, J.A), 420

Schumann (Walker, Alan), 420

Schumann and His World (Todd, R.Larry, ed), 420

Schumann and the Romantic Age (Brion, Marcel), 420

Schumann as Critic (Plantings, Leon B), 420

Schumann: His Life and Time (Dowley, Tim), 420

Schumann: The Inner Voices of a Musical Genius (Ostwald, Peter), 420

Schweitzer: A Biography (Marshall, George, and David Poling), 421

Scorpus the Moor (White, Leslie Turner), 350

Scott and His Circle: With Four Portrait Studies (Carswell, Donald), 422

Scott Fitzgerald (Turnbull, Andrew), 166

Scott Fitzgerald: A Biography (Meyers, Jeffrey), 166

The Scottish Queen (German, Herbert), 315

Scratch (Macleish, Archibald), 485

The Scribner Companion to the Brontës (Evans, Barbara, and Gareth Lloyd), 53–57

Sea and Earth: The Life of Rachel Carson (Sterling, Philipp), 77

The Sea-Dragon: Journals of Francis Drake's Voyage Around the World (Sanderlin, George W), 144

The Sea Dreamer: A Definitive Biography of Joseph Conrad (Jean-Aubry, Georges), 106

The Sea Eagles (Jennings, John Edward), 255

The Sea King: Sir Francis Drake and His Times (Marrin, Albert), 144

Sea of Darkness (Huntford, Roland), 104

Sea of Lentils (Benitez Rojo, Antonio), 377

The Sea Officer (Styles, Showell), 349

The Sea Venture (Mason, F. van Wyck), 433

The Sea Years of Joseph Conrad (Allen, Jerry), 106

The Search: A Biography of Leo Tolstoy (Carroll, Sara N), 463

The Search for Alexander (Fox, Robin Lane), 8

The Search for Amelia Earhart (Goerner, Fred G), 151

The Search for Cleopatra (Foss, Michael), 100

The Search for JFK (Blair, Joan, and Clay Blair), 267

Search for the Emperor (Pazzi, Roberto), 354

A Search for the King: A 12th-Century Legend (Vidal, Gore), 394

A Season for Death (Harrison, Ray), 154

A Season in Hell: The Life of Rimbaud (Carré, Jean-Marie), 398

Seats of the Mighty: A Novel of James Stuart, brother of Mary Queen of Scots (Harwood, Alice), 315

Second Empire (Guedalla, Philip), 346–347

Page 591

The Second Mrs. Hardy (Gittings, Robert, and Jo Manton), 213

Second Twenty Years at Hull-House (Jane Addams) , 4

The Second World War (Winston S.Churchill), 97

Secrecy and Power: The Life of J.Edgar Hoover (Powers, Richard G), 228

The Secret Country of C.S.Lewis (Arnott, Anne), 283

The Secret Diary of Anne Boleyn (Maxwell, Robin), 160, 40

Secret Dreams (Korman, Keith), 177, 259

Secret for a Nightingale (Holt, Victoria), 356

The Secret History of the American Revolution (Van Doren, Carl), 11

Secret Honor, 357

The Secret Life of Queen Victoria (Routh, Jonathan), 479

The Secret Life of Salvador Dali, 120

The Secret Lives of Lawrence of Arabia (Knightley, Phillip, and Colin Simpson), 278

The Secret Memoirs of Lord Byron (Nicole, Christopher), 67

The Secret Raven: Conflict and Transformation in the Life of Franz Kafka (Sharp, Daryl), 262

The Secret Road (Lancaster, Bruce), 11

The Secret Speech: The Failure of Comrade Khrushchev's Leadership (Beal, John Robinson), 271

The Secret Speeches of Chairman Mao (Mao Zedong), 309

The Secret Wife (Acland, Alice), 293

The Secret Wife of King George IV (Haeger, Diane), 193

Secrets of the Flesh: A Life of Colette (Thurman, Judith), 103

Selected Correspondence: 1845–1895/Karl Marx and Friedrich Engels, 313

Selected Correspondence of Fryderyk Chopin, 95

Selected Journals and Other Writings (John James Audubon), 15

Selected Letters (D.H.Lawrence), 277

Selected Letters (Edmund Burke), 64

Selected Letters (Franz Liszt), 286

Selected Letters (Gustav Mahler), 302

Selected Letters (Henry James), 245

Selected Letters (John Wesley), 488

Selected Letters (Marcel Proust), 385

Selected Letters (Maxim Gorky), 204

Selected Letters (Samuel Taylor Coleridge), 102

Selected Letters and Journals (Lord Byron), 67

Selected Letters, 1813–63, of Eugene Delacroix, 130

Selected Letters: 1957–1969 (Jack Kerouac), 269

Selected Letters, 1940–1977 (Vladimir Nabokov), 344

Selected Letters, 1940–1956 (Jack Kerouac), 269

Selected Letters 1917–1961 (Ernest Hemingway), 219

Selected Letters of Berlioz, 33

The Selected Letters of Bertrand Russell. Volume One: The Private Years, 1884–1914, 412

Selected Letters of Charles Baudelaire: The Conquest of Solitude, 27

Selected Letters of Cotton Mothor, 316

Selected Letters of E.M.Forster, 169

Selected Letters of Eugene O'Neill, 360

Selected Letters of Ezra Pound, 1907–1941, 383

Selected Letters of Friedrich Nietzsche, 355

Selected Letters of Fyodor Dostoevsky, 141

The Selected Letters of Gustave Flaubert, 167

Selected Letters of James Joyce, 257

Selected Letters of Lewis Carroll, 75

Selected Letters of Louisa May Alcott, 6

The Selected Letters of Mark Twain, 473

Selected Letters of Mary Wollstonecraft Shelley, 425

Selected Letters of Matthew Arnold, 12

Selected Letters of Oscar Wilde, 492

Selected Letters of P.T.Barnum, 24

Selected Letters of Rabindranath Tagore, 451

Selected Letters of Ralph Waldo Emerson, 162

Selected Letters of Richard Wagner, 481

Selected Letters of Robert Frost, 178

Selected Letters of Robert Louis Stevenson, 442

Selected Letters of Walt Whitman, 491

The Selected Letters of William Carlos Williams, 496

Selected Letters of William Faulkner, 164

Selected Letters of William Makepeace Thackeray, 458

Selected Works (Mao Zedong), 309

Selected Writings of Bolivar, 41

Selections from George Eliot's Letters, 158

Seminole, 452

Senator Joe McCarthy (Rovere, Richard H), 319

The Senator's Lady (Seifert, Shirley), 284

Serenissima: A Novel of Venice (Jong, Erica), 423

Sergeant Verity and the Blood Royal (Selwyn, Francis), 154

A Serious Character: The Life of Ezra Pound (Carpenter, Humphrey), 383

The Serpent Among the Lilies (Doherty, P.C), 249

The Serpent Garden (Riley, Judith Merkle), 221, 500

Serpent of the Nile, 100

Sessions with Sinatra: Frank Sinatra and the Art of Recording (Granata, Charles L), 430

Set All Afire: A Novel of St. Francis Xavier (De Wohl, Louis), 238

Seven Conversations with Jorge Luis Borges, 44

Seven Days to Petrograd (Hyman, Tom), 280

The Seven Per-Cent Solution (Meyer, Nicholas), 177

Seven Pillars of Wisdom (T.E.Lawrence), 278

The Seven Strings of the Lyre: The Romantic Life of George Sand, 1804–1876 (Schermerhorn, Elizabeth W), 414

The Seven Worlds of Theodore Roosevelt (Wagenknecht, Edward), 407

1791: Mozart's Last year (Landon, H.C.Robbins), 340

1776, 1, 173, 2, 247

The Severed Crown (Lane, Jane), 117, 90

The Sexual Labyrinth of Nikolai Gogol (Karlinsky, Simon), 201

The Shades of the Wilderness: A Story of Lee's Great Stand (Altsheler, Joseph A), 279

The Shadow and the Moth: A Novel of Espionage with Virginia Woolf (Hawkes, Ellen) , 501

The Shadow Flies (Macaulay, Rose), 330

Shadow in the Sun: A Novel of Elizabeth I, the Virgin Queen (Kenyon, Frank W), 160

Shadow of a Lady (Hodge, Jane Aiken), 349

The Shadow of Blooming Grove: Warren G.Harding and His Times (Russell, Francis), 212

Shadow of the Eagle, 83

The Shadow of the Earth (Wichelns, Lee), 311

The Shadow of the Pomegranate (Plaidy, Jean), 221

The Shadow of the Sun (Pell, Sylvia), 293

The Shadow Riders (Johnston, Terry C), 428

Shadowlands, 283

Shadowlands (Nicholson, William), 283

Shadows and Images (Trevor, Meriol), 352

Shakespeare & Son (Fisher, Edward), 423

Shakespeare (Brown, Ivor), 423

Shakespeare (Burgess, Anthony), 423

Shakespeare (Rosenblum, Joseph, ed), 423

Shakespeare: A Biographical Handbook (Bentley, Gerald E), 423

Shakespeare: A Biography (Quennell, Peter), 423

Shakespeare: A Biography (Rowse, A.L), 423

Shakespeare: A Critical Study of His Mind and Art (Dowden, Edward), 423

Shakespeare: A Documentary Life, 423

Shakespeare: A Life (Honan, Park), 423

Shakespeare: A Life in Drama (Wells, Stanley), 423

Shakespeare: A Pictorial Biography (Halliday, F.E), 423

Shakespeare A to Z (Boyce, Charles), 423

The Shakespeare Handbook (Fox, Levi), 423

Shakespeare in Love, 160, 311, 423

Shakespeare in Warwickshire (Eccles, Mark), 423

Shakespeare of London (Chute, Marchette), 423

Shakespeare: The Evidence: Unlocking the Mysteries of the Man and His Works (Wilson, Ian), 423

Shakespeare the Man (Rowse, A.L), 423

Shakespeare: The Poet in His World (Bradbrook, M.C), 423

Shakespeare's Dog (Rooke, Leon), 423

Shakespeare's Lives (Schoenbaum, S), 423

The Shameful Life of Salvador Dali (Gibson, Ian), 120

The Shape of Hawthorne's Career (Baym, Nina), 215

The Sharpe series. (Cormmwell, Bernard), 486

The Shattered Dream: Herbert Hoover and the Great Depression (Smith, Gene), 227

Shaw: An Autobiography, 424

Shaw in His Time (Brown, Ivor), 424

Shaw: Interviews and Recollections (Gibbs, A.M), 424

Shaw of Dublin: The Formative Years (Rosset, B.C), 424

Shaw the Villager and Human Being: A Biographical Symposium (Chappelow, Allan), 424

The Shawnee Prophet (Edmunds, R.David), 454

Shaw's Corner (Winsten, Stephen), 424

Shelley (White, Newman I), 426

Shelley: A Biography (Fuller, Jean O), 426

Shelley: A Life Story (Blunden, Edmund), 426

Shelley and His Circle, 426

Shelley and His World (Tomalin, Claire), 426

Shelley: The Golden Years (Cameron, Kenneth N), 426

Shelley: The Pursuit (Holmes, Richard), 426

Shelley's Mary: A Life of Mary Godwin Shelley (Leighton, Margaret C), 425

The Shepherd of the Ocean: An Account of Sir Walter Raleigh and His Times (Adamson, J.H., and H.F.Folland), 389

The Shepherd of the Oceans: Sir Walter Raleigh (Norman, Charles), 389

Sheridan (Darlington, W.A), 427

Sheridan: A Ghost Story (Butler, E.M), 427

Sheridan: His Life and His Theatre (Gibbs, Lewis), 427

Sheridan: Interviews and Recollections (Mikhail, E.H., ed), 427

Sheridan of Drury Lane: A Biography (Glasgow, Alice), 427

Sheridan: The Track of a Comet (Bingham, Madeleine), 427

Sherlock Holmes and the Mysterious Friend of Oscar Wilde (Brown, Russell), 492

Sherman: A Soldier's Passion for Order (Marszalek, John F), 428

Sherman: Fighting Prophet (Lewis, Lloyd), 428

Sherman: Merchant of Terror, Advocate of Peace (Vetter, Charles E), 428

Sherman: Soldier, Realist, American (Liddell Hart, B.H), 428

Sherman's Civil War: Selected Correspondence of William T.Sherman, 1860–1865, 428

Sherman's March (Bass, Cynthia), 428

Shield of Three Lions (Kaufman, Pamela), 394

Shiloh (Foote, Shelby), 206

Shining Brow (Muldoon, Paul), 504

The Shining Brow: Frank Lloyd Wright (Wright, Olgivanna Lloyd), 504

A Short Life of Mark Twain (Paine, Albert B), 473

A Short Life of Shakespeare, 423

The Shorter Pepys, 371

Shout! The Beatles in Their Generation (Norman, Philip), 281

The Showman of Vanity Fair: The Life of William Makepeace Thackeray (Stevenson, Lionel), 458

Siddhartha (Hesse, Hermann), 62

Sigmund Freud (Mann, Barry), 177

Sigmund Freud (Steadman, Ralph), 177

Sigmund Freud (Wilson, Stephen), 177

Sigmund Freud (Wollheim, Richard), 177

Sigmund Freud: A Short Biography (Costigan, Giovanni), 177

Sigmund Freud: Explorer of the Unconscious (Muckenhaupt, Margaret), 177

Sigmund Freud: His Life in Pictures and Words (Freud, Ernst, Lucie Freud, and Use Gribrich-Simitis, eds), 177

Sigmund Freud: The World Within (Neimark, AnneE), 177

The Silver Chalice, 350, 374

The Silver Chalice (Costain, Thomas B), 248, 374

The Silver Oar (Breslin, Howard), 316

Simón Bolívar, 41

Simón Bolívar (Madariaga, Salvador de), 41

Simón Bolívar (Masur, Gerhard), 41

Simón Bolívar (Wepman, Dennis), 41

Simón Bolívar and Spanish American Independence (Johnson, John J), 41

Simón Bolívar: Educator (Prieto, Luis B), 41

Simón Bolívar: South American Liberator (Angell, Hildegarde), 41

Simón Bolívar: South American Liberator (Goodnough, David), 41

Simón Bolívar: South American Liberator (Greene, Carol), 41

Simón Bolívar: The Great Liberator, 41

Simon Peter (Elton, Godfrey), 374

Simon Peter, Fisher of Men: A Fictionalized Autobiography of the Apostle Peter (Williams, Albert N), 374

Simone de Beauvoir and Jean-Paul Sartre: The Remaking of a Twentieth-Century Legend (Fullbrook, Kate, and Edward Fullbrook), 416

A Simple Path (Mother Teresa), 339

Sinatra, 430

Sinatra: A Portrait of the Artist (Coleman, Ray), 430

Sinatra: An American Classic (Rockwell, John), 430

Sinatra: An Unauthorized Biography (Wilson, Earl), 430

Sinatra: Behind the Legend (Taraborrelli, J. Randy), 430

Sinatra: The Artist and the Man (Lahr, John), 430

Sinatra: The Best is Yet to Come, 430

Sinatra! The Song is You: The Singer's Art (Friedwald, Will), 430

Sinatra: Twentieth Century Romantic (Shaw, Arnold), 430

Since Silent Spring (Graham, Frank Jr), 77

Sing to the Sun (Borden, Lucille P), 171

A Single Summer with Lord B (Marlowe, Derek), 67

A Singular Conspiracy (Perowne, Barry), 27, 380

The Sins of Herod: A Novel of Rome and the Early Church (Slaughter, Frank G), 374

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle: Interviews and Recollections (Orel, Harold, ed), 143

Sir Arthur Sullivan (Young, Percy M), 197–198

Sir Arthur Sullivan: His Life, Letters, and Diaries (Sullivan, Herbert, and Newman Flower), 197–198

Sir Christopher Wren (Summerson, John), 503

Sir Christopher Wren: A Biography (Hutchinson, Harold F), 503

Sir Christopher Wren: A Historical Biography (Little, Bryan D.G), 503

Sir Christopher Wren: His Life and Times (Whitaker-Wilson, Cecil), 503

Sir Christopher Wren: Renaissance Architect, Philosopher, and Scientist (Gould, Heywood), 503

Sir Christopher Wren, Scientist, Scholar and Architect (Weaver, Lawrence), 503

Sir Francis Drake (Corbett, Sir Julian), 144

Sir Francis Drake (Lloyd, Christopher), 144

Sir Francis Drake (Sugden, John), 144

Sir Francis Drake (Thomson, George M), 144

Sir Francis Drake (Williamson, James A), 144

Sir Francis Drake and the Struggle for an Ocean Empire (Duncan, Alice S), 144

Sir Francis Drake: The Queen's Pirate (Kelsey, Harry), 144

Sir Isaac Newton (Andrade, Edward), 353

Sir Philip Sidney (Addleshaw, Percy), 429

Sir Philip Sidney (Kimbrough, Robert), 429

Sir Philip Sidney (Wilson, Mona), 429

Sir Philip Sidney: A Study in Conflict (Warren, C. Henry), 429

Sir Philip Sidney: A Study of His Life and Work (Hamilton, A.C), 429

Sir Philip Sidney and the English Renaissance (Buxton, John), 429

Sir Philip Sidney as a Literary Craftsman (Myrick, Kenneth), 429

Sir Philip Sidney: Courtier Poet (Duncan-Jones, Katherine), 429

Sir Philip Sidney, Representative Elizabethan: His Life and Writings (Boas, F.S), 429

Sir Philip Sidney: The Maker's Mind (Connell, Dorothy), 429

Sir Philip Sidney: Type of English Chivalry in the Elizabethan Age (Bourne, Henry R.F), 429

Sir Rogue (White, Leslie Turner), 241

Sir Walter Raleigh (Lacey, Robert), 389

Sir Walter Raleigh: A Study in Elizabethan Skepticism (Strathmann, Ernest A), 389

Sir Walter Raleigh and the Quest for El Dorado (Aronson, Marc), 389

Sir Walter Raleigh, Captain and Adventurer (Trease, Geoffrey), 389

Sir Walter Raleigh: His Family and Private Life (Rowse, A.L), 389

Sir Walter Raleigh: The Last of the Elizabethans (Thompson, Edwin J), 389

Sir Walter Raleigh: The Renaissance Man and His Role (Greenblatt, Stephen J), 389

Sir Walter Raleigh (Ross Williamson, Hugh), 389

Sir Walter Raleigh (Wallace, Willard M), 389

Sir Walter Raleigh (Williams, Norman L), 389

Sir Walter Raleigh: A Reference Guide (Mills, Jerry L), 389

Sir Walter Scott (Buchan, John), 422

Sir Walter Scott (Grierson, H.J.C), 422

Sir Walter Scott (Wagenknecht, Edward), 422

Sir Walter Scott and His World (Daiches, David), 422

Sir Walter Scott: The Formative Years (Clark, Arthur M), 422

Sir Walter Scott: The Great Unknown (Johnson, Edgar), 422

Sir William: Or A Lesson in Love (Stacton, David), 349

Sister Brother: Gertrude and Leo Stein (Wineapple, Brenda), 438

Sister Wives (Jones, Cleo), 508

Sisters & Lovers (Thorne, Nicola), 356

Sisters (Callas, Jackie), 69

Sisters and Lovers (Thorne, Nicola), 313, 411

Sitting Bull (Dugan, Bill), 431

Sitting Bull: An Epic of the Plains (Adams, Alexander B), 431

Sitting Bull and His World (Marrin, Albert), 431

Sitting Bull and the Paradox of Lakota Nationhood (Anderson, Gary C), 431

Sitting Bull, Champion of the Sioux: A Biography (Vestal, Stanley), 431

Sitting Bull: Chief of the Sioux (Bernotas, Bob), 431

Six Crises (Richard M.Nixon), 357

Six Feet Six: The Heroic Story of Sam Houston (James, Bessie R., and Marquis James), 232

The Six Messiahs (Frost, Mark), 143

Six Wives of Henry VIII, 221, 40, 500

The Six Wives of Henry VIII (Weir, Alison), 221, 40

The Sixth Wife (Plaidy, Jean), 221

Sixty Glorious Years, 479

A Sketch of My Life (Thomas Mann), 307

A Sketch of the Life and Character of Daniel Boone (Houston, Peter), 42

Sketches of the Life and Character of Patrick Henry (Wirt, William), 222

Skullduggery (Marks, Peter), 455

The Sleepwalkers: A History of Man's Changing Vision of the Universe (Koestler, Arthur), 112

The Slender Reed (Gerson, Noel B), 474

The Slicing Edge of Death (Cook, Judith), 311

The Small Gods and Mr. Barnum (Trell, Max), 24

Smart Moves (Kaminsky, Stuart M), 156, 400

The Snark Was a Boojum: A Life of Lewis Carrol I (Wood, James P), 75

The Snow Mountain (Gavin, Catherine), 354

Snow Wolf (Meade, Glenn), 436

So Brief a Spring—(Manceron, Claude), 345

So Great a Man (Pilgrim, David), 345, 7

So Merciful a Queen, So Cruel a Woman (Harwood, Alice), 160

So Noble a Captain: The Life and Times of Ferdinand Magellan (Parr, Charles M), 301

Soaring Wings: A Biography of Amelia Earhart (Putnam, George P), 151

The Social Context of Paul's Ministry: Tent-Making and Apostleship (Hock, Ronald F), 369

Sojourner Truth (Krass, Peter), 469

Sojourner Truth: A Life, a Symbol (Painter, Nell Irvin), 469

Sojourner Truth: "Ain't I a Woman?", 469

Sojourner Truth: Ain't I a Woman? (McKissack, Patricia, and Frederick L.McKissack), 469

Sojourner Truth: American Abolitionist (Whalin, Terry), 469

Sojourner Truth: Antislavery Activist, 469

Sojourner Truth: God's Faithful Pilgrim (Fauset, Arthur H), 469

Sojourner Truth—Slave, Prophet, Legend (Mabee, Carleton, and Susan Mabee Newhouse), 469

Sojourners (McFarland, Philip J), 239

Soldier in Buckskin (Hogan, Ray), 76

Soldier in Paradise (Wohl, Burton), 433

Soldier of Democracy: A Biography of Dwight Eisenhower (Davis, Kenneth S), 157

Soldier of Destiny: A Biography of George Patton (Peifer, Charles), 368

Soldier of the Church: A Life of Ignatius of Loyola (Marcuse, Ludwig), 238

The Soldier of Virginia: A Novel of George Washington (Bowen, Marjorie), 484

A Soldier Speaks: Public Papers and Speeches of General of the Army Douglas Mac Arthur, 297

Soldier, Statesman and Defendant Aaron Burr (Nolan, Jeannette C), 66

Soldiers of Fortune (Bourne, Peter), 433

Solitary Comrade: Jack London and His Work (Hedrick, Joan), 290

Solitary in the Ranks: Lawrence of Arabia as Airman and Private Soldier (Hyde, H.Montgomery), 278

The Solitary Self: Jean-Jacques Rousseau in Exile and Adversity (Cranston, Maurice), 409

The Solitary Singer: A Critical Biography of Walt Whitman (Allen, Gay Wilson), 491

Solitary Star: A Biography of Sam Houston (Braider, Donald), 232

Some Sort of Epic Grandeur (Bruccoli, Matthew J), 166

Somebody Else: Arthur Rimbaud in Africa 1880–91 (Nicholl, Charles), 398

Somerset and All the Maughams (Maugham, Robin), 318

Somerset Maugham (Morgan, Ted), 318

Somerset Maugham: A Biographical and Critical Study (Cordell, Richard A), 318

Somerset Maugham and His World (Raphael, Frederic), 318

Something Beautiful for God: Mother Teresa of Calcutta (Muggeridge, Malcolm), 339

Something of Myself and Other Autobiographical Writings (Rudyard Kipling), 274

Son and Lover: The Young Lawrence (Callow, Philip), 277

Son of Dust (Prescott, Hilda F.M), 494

Son of Tears: A Novel on the Life of Saint Augustine (Coray, Henry W), 16

Son of the Morning Star, 119, 206, 431

Son of the Morning Star: Custer and the Little Big Horn (Connell, Evan S), 119

A Son of Thunder: Patrick Henry and the American Republic (Mayer, Henry), 222

Son of Woman: The Story of D.H.Lawrence (Murry, John Middleton), 277

The Son of York (Abbey, Margaret), 395

Song for a Lute (Vance, Marguerite), 395

Song in the Green Thorn Tree (Barke, James), 65

Song of Love, 286

Song of Man: A Novel Based on the Life of Eugene V.Debs (Nissenson, Aaron), 126

Song of Metamoris (Anness, Milford E), 454

Song of Norway, 237, 286

A Song to Remember, 414, 95

Song Without End, 481

Song Without End: The Love Story of Clara and Robert Schumann (White, Hilda), 420

Song Without End: The Stcry of Franz Liszt, 286

Sonnica (Blasco-Ibanez, Vicente), 211

Sons and Brothers: The Days of Jack and Bobby Kennedy (Mahoney, Richard D), 267, 268

The Sons of Grady Rourke (Savage, Douglas), 36

Sons of Susanna (Williamson, Glen), 488

Sons of the Steppe: The Story of How the Conqueror Genghis Khan Was Overcome (Baumann, Hans), 190

The Soothsayer (Chinn, Laurene), 369

Sorrow by Day (Coryn, Marjorie), 293

A Sorrow in Our Heart: The Life of Tecumseh (Eckert, Allen W), 454

The Sot-Weed Factor (Barth, John), 433

Soul of Abe Lincoln (Babcock, Bernice), 284

The Soul of Ann Rutledge: Abraham Lincoln's Romance (Babcock, Bernice), 284

The Soul of Samuel Pepys (Bradford, Gamaliel), 371

Soul of the Game, 402

The Sound and the Silence, 31

Sounding the Alarm: A Biography of Rachel Carson (Harlan, Judith), 77

The Sounds of Wings: The Life of Amelia Earhart (Lovell, Mary S), 151

The Southerner: A Romance of the Real Lincoln (Dixon, Thomas), 284

Souvenirs and Prophecies: The Young Wallace Stevens (Stevens, Holly), 441

The Spanish Adventures of Washington Irving (Bowers, Claude G), 239

The Spanish Bridegroom (Plaidy, Jean), 314, 377

Spanish Tudor: Life of Bloody Mary (Prescott, Hilda F.M), 314

Speak for Yourself, Daniel: A Life of Webster in His Own Words, 485

Speak Memory (Vladimir Nabokov), 344

Speak Softly (Alexander, Lawrence), 407

The Spectre of Edgar Allan Poe, 380

The Speeches of Charles Dickens, 134

The Speeches of Malcolm X, 304

Spinoza (Roth, Leon), 435

Spinoza (Scruton, Roger), 435

Spinoza: A Life (Nadler, Steven M), 435

Spinoza: A Life of Reason (Wolfson, Abraham), 435

Spinoza: His Life and Philosophy (Pollock, Frederick), 435

Spirit Like a Storm: The Story of Mary Shelley (Miller, Calvin C), 425

Spirit of Fire: The Life and Vision of Teilhard de Chardin (King, Ursula), 455

The Spirit of St. Louis, 285

The Spirit of St. Louis (Charles A.Lindbergh Jr), 285

The Spirit of Voltaire (Torrey, Norman L), 480

The Splendid Renegade (McCulloch, John H), 255

Split Seconds: A Remembrance (Geva, Tamara), 22

Sporting with Amaryllis (West, Paul), 330

Søren Kierkegaard: A Biographical Introduction (Grimsley, Ronald), 272

Spring Symphony (Painter, Eleanor), 420

The Spur (Kennelly, Ardyth), 43

The Spy (Cooper, James Fenimore), 484

St. Augustine (Chabannes, Jacques), 16

St. Augustine of Hippo (Bonner, Gerald), 16

St. Francis of Assisi (Boase, T.S.R), 171

St. Francis of Assisi (Chesterton, G.K), 171

St. Francis of Assisi (Liversidge, Douglas), 171

St. Francis of Assisi: A Great Life in Brief (Almedingen, E.M), 171

St. Francis of Assisi: A Pictorial Biography (Matt, Leonard von), 171

St. Francis of Assisi: The Legend and the Life (Robson, Michael), 171

St. Ignatius of Loyola (Dudon, Paul), 238

St. Ignatius of Loyola: A Pictorial Biography (Matt, Leonard von, and Hugo Rahner), 238

St. Louis (Louis IX of France): The Most Christian King (Perry, Frederick), 292

St. Patrick and Irish Christianity (Corfe, Tom), 367

St. Patrick, Apostle of Ireland (MacNeill, Eoin), 367

St. Patrick: The Irish Legend, 367

St. Patrick: The Real Story of Patrick Who Became Ireland's Patron Saint (Simms, George O), 367

St. Paul (Knox, Wilfred L), 369

St. Paul (Luce, Harry K), 369

St. Paul (Nock, Arthur D), 369

St. Teresa of Avila (Clissold, Stephen), 457

St. Teresa of Avila (Papasogli, Giorgio), 457

St. Teresa of Avila: A Biography (Walsh, William T), 457

St. Thomas Eve (Plaidy, Jean), 336

St. Thomas of Canterbury (Speaight, Robert), 459

Stage Fright (Linscott, Gillian), 424

Stage of Fools (Brady, Charles A), 336

Stalin, 280, 436

Stalin (Marrin, Albert), 436

Stalin: A Political Biography (Deutscher, Isaac), 436

Stalin: A Time for Judgement (Lewis, Jonathan, and Phillip Whitehead), 436

Stalin: An Appraisal of the Man and His Influence (Trotsky, Leon), 436

Stalin as Revolutionary: 1878–1929 (Tucker, Robert C), 436

Stalin: Breaker of Nations (Conquest, Robert), 436

Stalin in October: The Man Who Missed the Revolution (Slusser, Robert M), 436

Stalin in Power: The Revolution from Above: 1928–1941 (Tucker, Robert C), 436

Stalin: Man and Image, 436

Stalin: Man and Ruler (McNeal, Robert H), 436

Stalin: Order through Terror (Carrère d'Encausse, Hélène), 436

Stalin: The First In-Depth Biography Based on Explosive New Documents from Russia's Secret Archives (Radzinsky, Edvard), 436

Stalin: The Glasnost Revelations (Laqueur, Walter), 436

Stalin: The Man and His Era (Ulam, Adam B), 436

Stalin: Triumph and Tragedy (Volkogonov, Dmitrii A), 436

Stallion Gate (Smith, Martin Cruz), 361

Standing in the Sun: A Life of J.M.W. Turner (Bailey, Anthony), 472

Stanley: An Adventurer Explored (Hall, Richard S), 437

Stanley and Livingstone, 437

Stanley's Africa (Busoni, Raffaello), 437

Stanley's Way: A Sentimental Journey Through Central Africa (Sterling, Thomas), 437

The Star-Gazer (Harsányi, Zsolt), 181

Star of Empire: A Novel of Old San Antonio (Sanders, Leonard), 232

Star of India, 293

Star of Macedon (Eiker, Karl V), 8

Star of the North: A Novel Based on the Life of Catherine the Great (Lehr, Helene), 83

A Star Pointed North (Fuller, Edmund), 142

Star-Spangled Mikado (Kelley, Frank R., and Cornelius Ryan), 297

Stargazer: Andy Warhol's World and His Films (Koch, Stephen), 482

Starry Messenger (Sis, Peter), 181

The Stars Dispose (Roessner, Michaela), 81

The Start of the Road (Erskine, John), 491

State of Revolution (Bolt, Robert), 280

Statesman and Saint: Cardinal Wolsey, Sir Thomas More, and the Politics of Henry VIII (Ridley, Jasper), 336, 500

Statue in Search of a Pedestal: A Biography of the Marquis de Lafayette (Gerson, Noel B), 276

The Steadfast Man: A Biography of St. Patrick (Gallico, Paul), 367

Steal the Sun (Maxwell, A.E), 468

Stealing Home: An Intimate Family Portrait by the Daughter of Jackie Robinson (Robinson, Sharon), 402

Stealing Home: The Story of Jackie Robinson (Denenberg, Barry), 402

Steamboats Come True: American Inventors in Action (Flexner, James T), 179

Stendhal (Fowlie, Wallace), 439

Stendhal (Green, F.C), 439

Stendhal (Keates, Jonathan), 439

Stendhal (Richardson, Joanna), 439

Stendhal (Wood, Michael), 439

Stendhal: A Study of His Novels (Hemmings, F.W.J), 439

Stendhal and the Age of Napoleon (May, Gita), 439

Stendhal: Or the Pursuit of Happiness (Josephson, Matthew), 439

Stendhal: The Background to the Novels (Tillett, Margaret G), 439

Stendhal: The Education of a Novelist (Strickland, Geoffrey), 439

Stendhal: The Life of an Egoist (Kayser, Rudolf), 439

Stéphane Mallarmé (St. Aubyn, Frederic C), 305

Stephen Crane (Berryman, John), 114

Stephen Crane (Cady, Edwin H), 114

Stephen Crane (Colvert, James B), 114

Stephen Crane (Knapp, Bettina L), 114

Stephen Crane (Sufin, Mark), 114

Stephen Crane: A Biography (Stallman, R.W), 114

Stephen Crane: A Study in American Letters (Beer, Thomas), 114

A Stephen Crane Encyclopedia (Wertheim, Stanley), 114

Stephen Crane in England: A Portrait of the Artist (Solomon, Eric), 114

Stephen Crane: The Story of an American Writer (Franchere, Ruth), 114

Sterne: A Study (Sichel, Walter S), 440

Still Missing: Amelia Earhart and the Search for Modern Feminism (Ware, Susan), 151

Stolen Away (Collins, Max Allan), 285

Stone Song: A Novel of the Life of Crazy Horse (Blevins, Winfred), 115

Stonewall (Dwyer, John), 243

Stonewall (Fritz, Jean), 243

Stonewall: A Biography of General Thomas J. Jackson (Farwell, Byron), 243

Stonewall Brigade (Slaughter, Frank G), 243

Stonewall Jackson (Chambers, Lenoir), 243

Stonewall Jackson: A Life Portrait (Kostyal, K.M), 243

Stonewall Jackson: A Military Biography (Cooke, John Esten), 243

Stonewall Jackson and the American Civil War (Henderson, G.F.R), 243

Stonewall Jackson at Gettysburg (Gibboney, Douglas L), 243

Stonewall Jackson: Lee's Greatest Lieutenant (Bennett, Barbara J) , 243

Stonewall Jackson: Portrait of a Soldier (Bowers, John), 243

Stonewall Jackson: The Good Soldier (Tate, Allen), 243

Stonewall Jackson: The Man, the Soldier, the Legend (Robertson, James I. Jr), 243

Storm Center: A Novel about Andy Johnson (McSpadden, J.Walker), 251

Storm from the East, 190

Storm the Last Rampart (Taylor, David), 11

Stormy Petrel: The Life and Work of Maxim Gorky (Levin, Dan), 204

Story of a Novel: The Genesis of Doctor Faustus (Thomas Mann), 307

The Story of Alexander Graham Bell, 31

The Story of Alexander Graham Bell: Inventor of the Telephone (Davidson, Margaret), 31

The Story of Booker T. Washington (McKissack, Patricia, and Frederick L.McKissack), 483

The Story of Carl Gustav Jung, 259

The Story of Davy Crockett (Retan, Walter), 116

The Story of Frederick Douglass (Weiner, Eric), 142

The Story of George Washington Carver (Bontemps, Arna), 78

The Story of J.Robert Oppenheimer (Royal, Denise), 361

The Story of John Keats (Gittings, Robert, and Jo Manton), 265

The Story of My Childhood (Clara Barton), 26

The Story of My Life (Helen Keller), 266

Story of My Life: The Autobiography of George Sand, 414

The Story of Pat Garrett and Billy the Kid (Everitt, David), 36

The Story of the Borgias (Collison-Morley, Lacy), 45–47

A Story of the Red Cross (Clara Barton), 26

The Story of Thomas Alva Edison (Cousins, Margaret), 153

The Story of Walt Disney (Miller, Diane Disney), 138

The Strange Case of Richard Nixon (Voorhis, Horace J), 357

Strange Devices of the Sun and Moon (Goldstein, Lisa), 311

The Strange Life of August Strindberg (Sprigge, Elizabeth), 446

The Strange Ride of Rudyard Kipling: His Life and Work (Wilson, Angus), 274

Strange Vigor: A Biography of Sun Yat-Sen (Martin, Bernard), 447

Stranger on the Earth: A Psychological Biography of Vincent Van Gogh (Lubin, A.J), 475

The Stranger Prince (Irwin, Margaret), 90

The Stranger Wilde: Interpreting Oscar (Schmidgall, Gary), 492

Stravinsky, 445

Stravinsky (Boucourechliev, André), 445

Stravinsky (Griffiths, Paul), 445

Stravinsky (Routh, Francis), 445

Stravinsky (Vlad, Roman), 445

Stravinsky: A Creative Spring: Russia and France, 1882–1934 (Walsh, Stephen), 445

Stravinsky: An Autobiography, 445

Stravinsky and the Russian Traditions: A Biography of the Works through “Mavra.” (Taruskin, Richard), 445

Stravinsky: Chronicle of a Friendship (Craft, Robert), 445

Stravinsky: Glimpses of a Life (Craft, Robert), 445

Stravinsky in Pictures and Documents (Stravinsky, Vera, and Robert Craft), 445

Stravinsky: Selected Correspondence, 445

Stravinsky: The Composer and His Works (White, Eric W), 445

A Streak of Luck (Conot, Robert), 153

The Street of Kings (Dexter, Charles), 244

Street of Knives (Harris, Cyril), 66

Strength to Love (Martin Luther King Jr), 273

The Strenuous Life (Alexander, Lawrence), 194, 403, 407

The Stress of Her Regard (Powers, Tim), 265, 426, 67

Strictly Personal (W.Somerset Maugham), 318

Strindberg: A Biography (Meyer, Michael), 446

Strindberg: A Play in Two Scenes (Wilson, Colin), 446

Strindberg in Inferno (Brandell, Gunnar), 446

The Stringed Lute, 492

Strong Opinions (Vladimir Nabokov), 344

The Strong Room (Wheelwright, Jere H), 314

Struggles and Triumphs (P.T.Barnum), 24

Studies in Chaucer: His Life and Writings (Lounsbury, Thomas R), 93

A Study in Hawthorne (Lathrop, George P), 215

Study in Power: John D.Rockefeller, Industrialist and Philanthropist (Nevins, Allan), 403

A Study of Ben Jonson (Swinburne, Algernon C), 256

A Study of George Orwell: The Man and His Works (Hollis, Christopher) , 362

A Study of Goethe (Fairley, Barker), 200

A Study of Spinoza (Martineau, James), 435

A Study of Vermeer (Snow, Edward A), 478

Subterranean Kerouac: The Hidden Life of Jack Kerouac (Amburn, Ellis), 269

“Subtle is the Lord...”: The Science and Life of Albert Einstein (Pais, Abraham), 156

The Succession: A Novel of Elizabeth and James (Garrett, George), 160, 244

Such a Vision of the Street: Mother Teresa: The Spirit and the Work (Egan, Eileen), 339

Such Men as Billy the Kid: The Lincoln County War Reconsidered (Jacobsen, Joel), 36

A Sudden Fearful Death (Perry, Anne), 356

Suez, 139, 346–347

The Sugar Pavilion (Laker, Rosalind), 193

Suggestions for Thought: Selections and Commentaries (Florence Nightingale), 356

Sultana (Michael, Prince of Greece), 7

The Summer Day Is Gone (Stevens, R.T), 354

The Summer of Jack London (Fenady, Andrew J), 290

The Summing Up (W.Somerset Maugham), 318

The Sun, He Dies: A Novel about the End of the Aztec World (Highwater, Jamake), 113

The Sun in Splendour (Plaidy, Jean), 395

The Sun Is God (Noonan, Michael), 472

The Sun King (Mitford, Nancy), 293

The Sun King and His Loves (Norton, Lucy), 293

Sun, Stand Thou Still: The Life and Work of Copernicus, Astronomer (Armitage, Angus), 112

Sun Yat-Sen (Barlow, Jeffrey G), 447

Sun Yat-Sen (Bergère, Marie-Claire), 447

Sun Yat-Sen (Bruce, Robert), 447

Sun Yat-Sen and the Origins of the Chinese Revolution (Schiffrin, Harold Z), 447

Sun Yat-Sen: His Life and Its Meaning: A Critical Biography (Sharman, Lyon), 447

Sun Yat-Sen: Liberator of China (Restarick, Henry B), 447

Sun Yat-Sen, Reluctant Revolutionary (Schiffrin, Harold Z), 447

The Sunne in Splendour (Penman, Sharon K), 395

Sunnyside: A Life of Washington Irving (Wood, James P), 239

Sunrise at Campobello, 405, 406

The Sunshine Patriot: A Novel of Benedict Arnold (Partington, Norman), 11

Superstar: The Life and Times of Andy Warhol, 482

Supper at the Maxwell House (Crabb, Alfred L), 251

The Supreme Commander: The War Years of General Dwight D.Eisenhower (Ambrose, Stephen E), 157

Surprised by Joy: The Shape of My Early Life (C.S. Lewis), 283

The Surrender and Death of Crazy Horse: A Source Book about a Tragic Episode in Lakota History (Hardoff, Richard G., ed), 115

The Surveyor (Nelson, Truman), 58

The Survival of Charles Darwin: A Biography of a Man and an Idea (Clark, Ronald W), 122

Surviving Picasso, 378

Susan B.Anthony: A Biography of a Singular Feminist (Barry, Kathleen), 9

Susan B.Anthony: Fighter for Women’s Rights (Levin, Pamela) , 9

Susan B.Anthony: Her Personal History and Her Era (Anthony, Katharine), 9

Susan B.Anthony: Rebel, Crusader, Humanitarian (Lutz, Alma), 9

Susan B.Anthony Slept Here, 358

Susan B.Anthony: The Woman Who Changed the Mind of a Nation (Dorr, Rheta Childe), 9

Susan B.Anthony: Voice for Women’s Voting Rights (Kendall, Martha E), 9

Susan B.Anthony: Woman Suffragist (Weisberg, Barbara), 9

Sweet Lass of Richmond (Plaidy, Jean), 193

Sweet Man: The Real Duke Ellington (George, Don), 161

Sweet Marie Antoinette (Prole, Lozania), 310

Sweet Will (Malpass, Eric), 423

Swift: The Man, His Works, and the Age (Ehrenpreis, Irvin), 448

The Swift Years: The Robert Oppenheimer Story (Michelmores, Peter), 361

Swinburne: A Critical Biography (Fuller, Jean O), 449

Swinburne: A Literary Biography (Lafourcade, Georges), 449

Swinburne: Portrait of a Poet (Henderson, Philip), 449

Swinburne: The Poet in His World (Thomas, Donald S), 449

The Sword and the Flame (Hill, Pamela), 315

The Sword and the Rose, 221, 314

Sword of Gideon, 323

Sword of San Jacinto: A Life of Sam Houston (De Bruhl, Marshall), 232

The Sword of the Lord: A Romance of the Time of Martin Luther (Hocking, Joseph), 295

Swords in the North (Anderson, Paul L), 258

Swords of Anjou (Pei, Mario), 89

The Swords of December (York, Robert), 459

Sworn on the Altar of God: A Religious Biography of Thomas Jefferson (Gautstad, Edwin S), 247

T.E.Lawrence (Brent, Peter L), 278

T.E.Lawrence (Stewart, Desmond), 278

T.E.Lawrence: A Biography (Yardley, Michael), 278

T.E.Lawrence: The Selected Letters, 278

T.R.: The Last Romantic (Brands, H.W), 407

T.R.: The Story of Theodore Roosevelt and His Influence on Our Time (Busch, Noel F), 407

T.S.Eliot, 159

T.S.Eliot (Asbee, Sue), 159

T.S.Eliot (Bergonzi, Bernard), 159

T.S.Eliot: A Life (Ackroyd, Peter), 159

T.S.Eliot: A Literary Life (Sharpe, Tony), 159

T.S.Eliot: A Memoir (Sencourt, Robert), 159

T.S.Eliot: A Study in Character and Style (Bush, Ronald), 159

T.S.Eliot: An Imperfect Life (Gordon, Lyndall), 159

A T.S.Eliot Companion: Life and Works (Pinion, F.B), 159

T.S.Eliot: The Philosopher Poet (Dale, Alzina S), 159

T.S.Eliot’s Personal Waste Land: Exorcism of the Demons (Miller, James E), 159

Tail Gunner Joe, 319

Take Heed of Loving Me (Vining, Elizabeth G), 140

Take Her, Mr. Wesley (Drakeford, John W), 488

Taking Charge: The Johnson White House Tapes, 1963–1964, 252

The Talisman (Scott, Walter), 394

The Tamarack Tree (Breslin, Howard), 485

The Tamarisk Tree: My Quest for Liberty and Love (Russell, Dora), 412

Tchaikovsky, 453

Tchaikovsky (Brown, David), 453

Tchaikovsky (Clark, Elizabeth), 453

Tchaikovsky (Evans, Edwin), 453

Tchaikovsky (Garden, Edward), 453

Tchaikovsky (Nice, David), 453

Tchaikovsky (Warrack, John H), 453

Tchaikovsky (Weinstock, Herbert), 453

Tchaikovsky: A Biography (Holden, Anthony), 453

Tchaikovsky: A Biography (Kendall, Alan), 453

Tchaikovsky: A Self-Portrait, 453

Tchaikovsky: A Short Biography (Abraham, Gerald E), 453

Tchaikovsky and His World (Kearney, Leslie, ed), 453

Tchaikovsky in America (Yoffe, Elkhonon), 453

Tchaikovsky Remembered (Brown, David, ed), 453

Tchaikovsky: The Man Behind the Music (Hanson, Lawrence, and Elisabeth Hanson), 453

Tchaikovsky: The Quest for the Inner Man (Poznansky, Alexander), 453

Tchaikovsky through Others' Eyes (Poznansky, Alexander, ed), 453

Tchaikovsky's Last Days: A Documentary Study (Poznansky, Alexander), 453

Tea with Mussolini, 343

Teacher: Anne Sullivan Macy: A Tribute by the Foster-Child of Her Mind (Helen Keller), 266

Teachers and Teaching: An Autobiographical Essay, 35

Tears of the Madonna (Herman, George), 282

Tecumseh (Immell, Myra, and William H), 454

Tecumseh: A Life (Sugden, John), 454

Tecumseh and His Times (Oskinson, John M), 454

Tecumseh and the Quest for Indian Leadership (Edmunds, R.David), 454

Tecumseh and the Shawnee Confederation (Stefoff, Rebecca), 454

Tecumseh, Shawnee Rebel (Cwiklik, Robert), 454

Tecumseh: The Last Warrior, 454

Tecumseh: Vision of Glory (Tucker, Glenn), 454

Tecumseh's Last Stand (Sugden, John), 454

Teilhard (Lukas, Mary, and Ellen Lukas), 455

Teilhard de Chardin: A Biographical Study (Cuénot, Claude), 455

Teilhard de Chardin: Scientist and Seer (Raven, Charles E), 455

Teilhard de Chardin: The Man and His Meaning (Lubac, Henri de), 455

Teilhard de Chardin: The Man and His Theories (Grenet, Paul), 455

The Tell-Tale Heart: A Biography of Edgar Allan Poe (Symons, Julian), 380

Tell Your Sons: A Novel of the Napoleonic Era (Gibbs, Willa), 345

The Teller of Tales: In Search of Robert Louis Stevenson (Davies, Hunter), 442

Teller of Tales: The Life of Arthur Conan Doyle (Stashowcr, Daniel), 143

The Tempering of Eugene O'Neill (Alexander, Doris), 360

Tempestuous Journey: Lloyd George, His Life and Times (Owen, Frank), 288

The Tenants of Time (Flanagan, Thomas), 364

Tender (Childress, Mark), 384

Tennessee: Cry of the Heart (Rader, Dotson), 495

Tennessee Johnson, 123, 251

Tennessee Williams: An Intimate Biography (Williams, Dakin, and Shepherd Mead), 495

Tennessee Williams and Friends: An Informal Biography (Maxwell, Gilbert), 495

Tennessee Williams: Everyone Else Is an Audience (Hayman, Ronald), 495

Tennessee Williams: Orpheus of the American Stage, 495

Tennessee Williams: Rebellious Puritan (Tischler, Nancy), 495

Tennyson (Levi, Peter), 456

Tennyson (Ricks, Christopher), 456

Tennyson (Thorn, Michael), 456

Tennyson: A Modern Portrait (Fausset, Hugh I'Anson), 456

Tennyson: An Illustrated Life (Page, Norman), 456

Tennyson: Aspects of His Life, Character, and Poetry (Nicolson, Harold), 456

A Tennyson Companion: Life and Works (Pinion, F.B), 456

Tennyson: Interviews and Recollections (Page, Norman, ed), 456

Tennyson: Poet and Prophet (Henderson, Philip), 456

Tennyson: The Growth of a Poet (Buckley, Jerome H) , 456

Tennyson: The Unquiet Heart (Martin, Robert B), 456

Tenting on the Plains (George Armstrong Custer), 119

The Tentmaker (Berstl, Julius), 369

102 Boulevard Haussman, 385

Teresa: A Woman (Lincoln, Victoria), 457

Teresa of Avila: The Progress of a Soul (Medwick, Cathleen), 457

Teresa of Calcutta: A Pictorial Biography (Serrou, Robert), 339

Teresa of the Poor: The Story of Her Life (Allegri, Renzo), 339

Teresa: Or Her Demon Lover (Gray, Austin K), 67

Terrible Innocence: General Sherman at War (Coburn, Mark), 428

The Testament of Theophilus: A Novel of Christ and Caesar (Wibberley, Leonard), 248

Testimony, 436

Texas, 232

Texas (Michener, James A), 232

Thackeray (Ray, Gordon N), 458

Thackeray: Prodigal Genius (Carey, John), 458

Thackeray's Universe: Shifting Worlds of Imagination and Reality (Peters, Catherine), 458

That Egyptian Woman (Gerson, Noel B), 100

That Fateful Lightning: A Novel of Ulysses S. Grant (Parry, Richard), 206

That Great Lucifer: A Portrait of Sir Walter Raleigh (Irwin, Margaret), 389

That Hamilton Woman, 349

That Lady, 377

That Lady: A Romantic Drama (O'Brien, Kate), 377

That Same Flower: Fiona Aemilia's Letter to Saint Augustine (Gaarder, Jostein), 16

That Spanish Woman (Kenyon, Frank W), 346–347

That's All Right, Mama (Duff, Gerald), 384

Thayer's Life of Beethoven (Thayer, Alexander W), 30

"The Chucker-Out": A Biographical Exposition and Critique (Chappelow, Allan), 424

Then and Now (Maugham, W.Somerset), 298, 45–47

Theodora (Gerson, Noel B), 260–261

Theodora and the Emperor: The Drama of Justinian (Lamb, Harold), 260–261

Theodora: Empress of Byzantium (Diehl, Charles), 260–261

Theodora: Portrait in a Byzantine Landscape (Bridge, Antony), 260–261

Theodore Dreiser (Gerber, Philip), 145

Theodore Dreiser (Lingeman, Richard R), 145

Theodore Dreiser (Lundquist, James), 145

Theodore Dreiser (Matthiessen, F.O), 145

Theodore Dreiser (McAleer, John), 145

Theodore Dreiser: Apostle of Nature (Elias, Robert), 145

Theodore Roosevelt (Burton, David H), 407

Theodore Roosevelt (Chamwood, Godfrey R.B), 407

Theodore Roosevelt (Grantham, Dewey, ed), 407

Theodore Roosevelt (Markham, Lois), 407

Theodore Roosevelt (Miller, Nathan), 407

Theodore Roosevelt (Thayer, William R), 407

Theodore Roosevelt, a Biography (Pringle, Henry E) , 407

Theodore Roosevelt and His America (Meltzer, Milton), 407

Theodore Roosevelt and His Time (Bishop, Joseph B), 407

Theodore Roosevelt and the Politics of Power (Chessman, G.Wallace), 407

Theodore Roosevelt Cyclopedia (Gable, John A), 407

Theodore Roosevelt, 1858–1919: Chronology, Documents, Bibliographical Aids (Black, Gilbert J., ed), 407

Theodore Roosevelt Takes Charge (Whitelaw, Nancy), 407

Theodore Roosevelt: The Formative Years, 1858–1884 (Putnam, Carleton), 407

Theodore Roosevelt: The Man as I Knew Him (Roosevelt, Nicholas), 407

There Is a Balm in Gilead: The Cultural Roots of Martin Luther King Jr (Baldwin, Lewis V), 273

There Was a Season: A Biographical Novel of Jefferson Davis (Olsen, Theodore V), 123, 452

These Were the Brontës (Cornish, Dorothy Helen), 53–57

They Are Coming: The Conquest of Mexico (Portillo, José Lopez), 113

They Called Him Atatürk (Lengyel, Emil), 13

They Called Him Stonewall: A Life of Li. General T.J.Jackson, C.S.A (Davis, Burke), 243

They Died with Their Boots On, 119

They Were Expendable, 297

Thine Is the Glory (Schreiner, Samuel A), 403, 74

Thinking of Home: William Faulkner's Letters to His Mother and Father, 1918–1925, 164

The Third George (Plaidy, Jean), 191

The Third Rose: Gertrude Stein and Her World (Brinnin, John M), 438

Thirteen Days: A Memoir of the Cuban Missile Crisis (Robert F.Kennedy), 268

Thirty-Five Years of Newspaper Work: A Memoir (H.L.Mencken), 325

This I Remember (Eleanor Roosevelt), 405

This I Saw: The Life and Times of Goya (Vallentin, Antonina), 205

This Is Elvis, 384

This is Lorence: A Narrative of the Reverend Laurence Sterne (Hartley, Lodwick), 440

This Is My Story (Eleanor Roosevelt), 405

This Is Nixon (Keogh, James), 357

This Is the Hour (Feuchtwanger, Lion), 205

This Timeless Moment: A Personal View of Aldous Huxley (Huxley, Laura Archera), 236

This Was a Poet: A Critical Biography of Emily Dickinson (Whicher, George F), 135

Thomas: A Novel of the Life, Passions, and Miracles of Becket (Mydans, Shelley), 459

Thomas Alva Edison (Buranelli, Vincent), 153

Thomas Alva Edison: An American Myth (Wachhorst, Wyn), 153

Thomas Alva Edison: Inventing the Electric Age (Adair, Gene), 153

Thomas Becket (Barlow, Frank), 459

Thomas Becket (Knowles, David), 459

Thomas Becket (Winston, Richard), 459

Thomas Cardinal Wolsey (Harvey, Nancy L), 500

Thomas Carlyle (Campbell, Ian), 73

Thomas Carlyle: A Biography (Kaplan, Fred), 73

Thomas Carlyle: A History of the First 40 Years of His Life, 1795–1835 (Froude, J.A), 73

Thomas Carlyle, 1834–81: A History of His Life in London (Froude, J.A), 73

Thomas Carlyle: The Life and Ideas of a Prophet (Symons, Julian), 73

Thomas De Quincey: A Biography (Eaton, Horace A), 125

Thomas De Quincey: His Life and Writings with Unpublished Correspondence (Page, H.A), 125

Thomas Edison: The Great American Inventor (Egan, Louise), 153

Thomas Gainsborough (Whitley, William T), 180

Thomas Gainsborough: Artist of England (Glendinning, Sally), 180

Thomas Gainsborough, His Life and Art (Lindsay, Jack), 180

Thomas Gainsborough: His Life and Work (Woodall, Mary), 180

Thomas Hardy (Blunden, Edmund), 213

Thomas Hardy: A Biography (Millgate, Michael), 213

Thomas Hardy: A Critical Biography (Hardy, Evelyn), 213

Thomas Hardy: A Critical Biography (Stewart, J.I.M), 213

Thomas Hardy: A Literary Life (Gibson, James), 213

Thomas Hardy: An Illustrated Biography (O'Sullivan, Timothy), 213

Thomas Hardy: His Life and Work (Halliday, F.E), 213

Thomas Hardy: Interviews and Recollections (Gibson, James, ed), 213

Thomas Hobbes (Hinnant, Charles H), 225

Thomas Hobbes: Radical in the Service of Reaction (Rogow, Arnold A), 225

Thomas Jefferson, 247

Thomas Jefferson (Fleming, Thomas), 247

Thomas Jefferson (Meltzer, Milton), 247

Thomas Jefferson (Old, Wendie C), 247

Thomas Jefferson (Risjord, Norman K), 247

Thomas Jefferson: A Biographical Companion (Brown, David S), 247

Thomas Jefferson: A Biography (Schachner, Nathan), 247

Thomas Jefferson: A Life (Randall, Willard S), 247

Thomas Jefferson: A Reference Biography (Peterson, Merrill D., ed), 247

Thomas Jefferson: A Strange Case of Mistaken Identity (Mapp, Alf J), 247

Thomas Jefferson: A View from the Mountain, 247

Thomas Jefferson: An Intimate History (Brodie, Fawn M), 247

Thomas Jefferson and the New Nation: A Biography (Peterson, Merrill D), 247

Thomas Jefferson: Man on a Mountain (Bober, Natalie), 247

Thomas Mann: A Biography (Hayman, Ronald), 307

Thomas Mann: A Chronicle of His Life (Bürgin, Hans, and Hans-Otto Mayer), 307

Thomas Mann: A Life (Prater, Donald A), 307

Thomas Mann and His Family (Reich-Ranicki, Marcel), 307

Thomas Mann: Eros and Literature (Heilbut, Anthony), 307

Thomas Mann: The Making of an Artist 1875–1911 (Winston, Richard), 307

Thomas Mann's Short Fiction: An Intellectual Biography (Léser, Esther H), 307

Thomas More (Chambers, R.W), 336

Thomas More (Kenny, Anthony), 336

Thomas More: A Biography (Marius, Richard), 336

Thomas More: History and Providence (Fox, Alistair) , 336

Thomas More: The Search for the Inner Man (Martz, Louis M), 336

Thomas Paine (Ayer, A.J), 363

Thomas Paine (Vail, John J), 363

Thomas Paine: Apostle of Freedom (Fruchtman, Jack), 363

Thomas Paine: His Life, Work and Times (Williamson, Audrey), 363

Thomas Wolsey: Legate and Reformer (Taunton, Ethereal L), 500

Thomas Woodrow Wilson: A Psychological Study (Freud, Sigmund, and William C.Bullitt), 497

Thoreau (Canby, Henry S), 461

The Thoreau Log: A Documentary Log (Borst, Raymond R., ed), 461

Thoreau of Walden (Hough, Henry B), 461

Thoreau, the Poet-Naturalist (Channing, William E), 461

Thoreau's Seasons (Lebeaux, Richard), 461

Those I Have Known (Anwar el-Sadat), 413

Those Who Love (Stone, Irving), 1, 2

A Thousand Days: John F.Kennedy in the White House (Schlesinger, Arthur M. Jr), 267

The Thousand Fires (Powers, Anne), 345

The Three Crowns (Plaidy, Jean), 91

Three from Galilee (Holmes, Marjorie), 248

The Three Lives of Charles de Gaulle (Schoenbrun, David), 124

The Three Lives of Joseph Conrad (Coolidge, Olivia E), 106

The Three Loves of Dostoevsky (Slonim, Marc), 141

The Three Musketeers, 396

The Three Musketeers (Dumas, Alexandre), 396

Three Roads to the Alamo: The Lives and Fortunes of David Crockett, James Bowie, and William Barret Travis (Davis, William C), 116

The Three Worlds of Albert Schweitzer (Payne, Robert), 421

The Three Worlds of Captain John Smith (Barbour, Philip L), 433

Three Worlds of Michelangelo (Beck, James H), 328

The Three Worlds of Paul of Tarsus (Wallace, Richard, and Wynne Williams), 369

Three Years to Play (MacInnes, Colin), 423

Three Years with Grant (Caldwallader, Sylvanus), 206

Three's Company (Duggan, Alfred), 17

Throne of Isis (Tarr, Judith), 100

Through a Gold Eagle (Monfredo, Miriam Grace), 58

Through Joy and Beyond: A Pictorial Biography of C.S.Lewis (Hooper, Walter), 283

Through the Dark Continent (Sir Henry M.Stanley), 437

A Throw of the Dice: The Life of Stéphane Mallarmé (Millan, Gordon), 305

The Thunder and the Sunshine: A Biography of Joseph Conrad (Allen, Jerry), 106

Thunder at Harpers Ferry (Keller, Allan), 58

The Thunderer: A Romance of Napoleon and Josephine (Beck, L.Adams), 345

Tialoc Weeps for Mexico (Passuth, Laszlo), 113

The Tidal Poole: An Elizabeth I Mystery (Harper, Karen), 160

Time after Time, 487

Time after Time (Alexander, Karl), 487

Time after Time (Appel, Allen), 280, 354

Time Cannot Dim (Carroll, Malachy G), 10

A Time for Judas (Callaghan, Morley), 248

Time for Outrage (Bean, Amelia), 36

A Time for the Death of a King (Dukthas, Ann), 315

A Time for Titans (Delmar, Vina), 247, 333, 345

The Time of Murder at Mayerling (Dukthas, Ann), 174

The Time Returns (Ripley, Alexandra), 322, 328, 49

Timebends: A Life (Miller, Arthur), 334

The Times We Had: Life with William Randolph Hearst (Davies, Marion), 217

A Tinker and a Poor Man: John Bunyan and His Church (Hill, Christopher), 63

'Tis Folly to Be Wise (Feuchtwanger, Lion), 409

Titan: The Life of John D.Rockefeller (Chernow, Ron), 403

The Titans (Jakes, John), 26

The Titans: A Three-Generation Biography of the Dumas (Maurois, André), 148

Titian (Cecchi, Dario), 462

Titian (Gronau, Georg), 462

Titian (Hope, Charles), 462

Titian (Morassi, Antonio), 462

Titian (Rosand, David), 462

Titian: A Biography (Ripley, Elizabeth), 462

Titian and Venetian Painting, 1450–1590 (Cole, Bruce) , 462

Titian: His Life and Times (Crowe, J.A., and G.B. Cavalcaselle), 462

Titian: His World and His Legacy (Rostand, David, ed), 462

Titian the Magnificent and the Venice of His Day (Riggs, Arthur S), 462

To All Gentleness: William Carlos Williams, the Doctor-Poet (Baldwin, Neil), 496

To Appomattox: Nine April Days (Davis, Burke), 279

To Appomattox: Nine April Days, 1865 (Davis, Burke), 206

To Be a King: A Novel about Christopher Marlowe (De Maria, Robert), 311

To Dance with Kings (Laker, Rosalind), 310

To Die in Dinetah: The Dark Legacy of Kit Carson (Truett, John A), 76

To Kill a Black Man (Lomax, Louis E), 304

To Kill an Eagle: Indian Views on the Death of Crazy Horse (Kadlecek, Edward, and Mabell Kadlecek), 115

To Love a Queen (Schoonover, Lawrence L.), 160, 389

To Purge This Land with Blood: A Biography of John Brown (Oates, Stephen B), 58

To Redeem the Soul of America: The Southern Christian Leadership Conference and Martin Luther King Jr (Fairclough, Adam), 273

To See the Promised Land: The Faith Pilgrimage of Martin Luther King Jr (Downing, Frederick J), 273

To See with the Heart: The Life of Sitting Bull (St. George, Judith), 431

To Seize a Dream (Hersch, Virginia), 130

To Seize the Passing Dream: A Novel of Whistler, His Women, and His World (Berkman, Ted), 28, 465, 490, 492

To Set Them Free: The Early Years of Mustafa Kemal Atatürk (Walker, Barbara), 13

To Shield the Queen: A Mystery at Queen Elizabeth I's Court (Buckley, Fiona), 160

To Spit Against the Wind (Levin, Benjamin H), 173, 363

To the Barricades: The Anarchist Life of Emma Goldman (Shulman, Alix), 202

To the Happy Few: Selected Letters (Stendhal), 439

To the Honor of the Fleet (Pilpel, Robert H), 497

To the Indies (Forester, C.S), 104

To the Scaffold: The Life of Marie Antoinette (Erickson, Carolly), 310

Tolbecken (Shellabarger, Samuel), 497

Tolstoy (Rolland, Remain), 463

Tolstoy (Troyat, Henri), 463

Tolstoy (Wilson, A.N), 463

Tolstoy: A Life of My Father (Tolstoy, Alexandra), 463

Tolstoy: A Play in Seven Scenes (Stevens, Henry B), 463

Tolstoy as I Knew Him (Kuzminskaya, Tatyana A), 463

Tolstoy Remembered (Tolstoy, Tatyana), 463

Tolstoy Remembered by His Son (Tolstoy, Sergei), 463

Tolstoy: The Inconstant Genius (Nazaroff, Alexander I), 463

Tolstoy: The Making of a Novelist (Crankshaw, Edward), 463

Tolstoy: The Ultimate Reconciliation (Courcel, Martine de), 463

Tolstoy's Diaries, 463

Tolstoy's Letters, 463

Tom& Viv, 159, 412, 501

Tom and Viv (Hastings, Michael), 159

Tom Mix and Pancho Villa (Irving, Clifford), 368

Tom Paine: A Play in Two Parts (Foster, Paul), 363

Tom Paine: A Political Life. (Keane, John), 363

Tom Paine and Revolutionary America (Foner, Eric), 363

Tom Paine, Friend of Mankind (Pearson, Hesketh), 363

Tom Paine, Revolutionary (Coolidge, Olivia E), 363

Tom Paine: The Greatest Exile (Powell, David), 363

Tom Paine: Voice of a Revolution (Meltzer, Milton), 363

Tom: The Unknown Tennessee Williams (Leverich, Lyle), 495

Tomorrow's Fire (Williams, Jay), 394

The Tontine (Costain, Thomas B), 346–347

Too Many Notes, Mr. Mozart (Bastable, Bernard), 340

Topsy-Turvey, 197–198

Torquemada (Fast, Howard), 240

Toscanini (Marek, George), 464

Toscanini (Sachs, Harvey), 464

Toscanini: An Intimate Portrait (Chotzinoff, Samuel), 464

The Toscanini Musicians Knew (Haggin, B.H), 464

A Touch of Genius: The Life of T.E.Lawrence (Brown, Malcolm, and Julia Cave), 278

Touched by Fire: The Life, Death, and Mythic Afterlife of George Armstrong Custer (Barnett, Louise K), 119

Touched by Love, 384

Toulouse-Lautrec, 465

Toulouse-Lautrec (Adriani, Götz), 465

Toulouse-Lautrec (Mack, Gerstle), 465

Toulouse-Lautrec (Perruchot, Henri), 465

Toulouse-Lautrec: A Life (Frey, Julia), 465

Toulouse-Lautrec: His World (Horwitz, Sylvia L.), 465

Towards a High Attic: The Early Life of George Eliot (Vipont, Elfrida), 158

The Tower and the Dream (Westcott, Jan), 315

Tower of London, 395

The Tower of London (Ainsworth, William Harrison), 314

Towers in the Mist (Goudge, Elizabeth), 429

TR (Gerson, Noel B), 407

TR and His Times, 407

TR: The Story of Theodore Roosevelt, 407

The Tragedy of Charles H in the Years 1630–1660 (Chapman, Hester W), 91

The Tragedy of Edward VII: A Psychological Study (Edwards, William H), 154

The Tragedy of Lyndon Johnson (Goldman, Eric F), 252

The Tragedy of Richard the Third, 395

The Tragic Days of Billy the Kid (Hunt, Frazier), 36

The Tragic Life of Toulouse-Lautrec (Hanson, Lawrence, and Elisabeth Hanson), 465

The Tragic Life of Vincent Van Gogh (Piérard, Louis), 475

The Tragicall History of Christopher Marlowe (Bakeless, John), 311

A Trail of Blood (Potter, Jeremy), 395

Trail of Hope, 434, 508

The Traitor and the Spy: Benedict Arnold and John André (Flexner, James T), 11

Traitor: The Case of Benedict Arnold (Fritz, Jean), 11

Traitorous Hero: The Life and Fortunes of Benedict Arnold (Wallace, Willard M), 11

A Traitor's Kiss: The Life of Richard Brinsley Sheridan (O'Toole, Fintan), 427

Tramp: The Life of Charlie Chaplin (Milton, Joyce), 88

The Tranquil Heart: Portrait of Giovanni Boccaccio (Carswell, Catherine), 39

Traveller (Adams, Richard), 279

The Travels of Livingstone (Humble, Richard), 287

The Travels of Marco Polo, 381

The Travels of Marco Polo (Hull, Mary), 381

Travesties (Stoppard, Tom), 257, 280

Treason (Gessner, Robert), 11

Treatise on Painting (Leonardo da Vinci), 282

The Tree of Knowledge (Figes, Eva), 330

The Tree of Liberty (Page, Elizabeth), 209, 222, 247

Trial and Triumph: A Novel about Maimonides (Morrison, Lester M), 303

The Trial of Adolf Hitler (Van Rjndt, Philippe), 224

The Trial of Charles de Gaulle (Fabre-Luce, Alfred), 124

The Trial of Elizabeth Cree (Ackroyd, Peter), 313

The Trial of Ezra Pound (Cornell, Julien), 383

The Trial of Joan of Arc, 249

The Trial of Queen Caroline (Fulford, Roger), 193

Trial of St. Thomas More (Reynolds, Ernest E), 336

Trials and Triumphs of Marcus Garvey (Nembhard, Lenford), 188

The Trials of Counsel: Francis Bacon in 1621 (Marwell, Jonathan), 21

The Trials of Ezra Pound (Findley, Timothy), 383

The Trials of Franz Kafka, 262

The Trials of Oscar Wilde, 492

The Trials of Oscar Wilde (Hyde, H.Montgomery), 492

The Triumph and Tragedy of Lyndon Johnson: The White House Years (Califano, Joseph A), 252

The Triumph of Integrity: A Portrait of Charles de Gaulle (Grinnell-Milne, Duncan), 124

The Triumph of Tchaikovsky: A Biography (Gee, John, and Elliott Selby), 453

Trollope: A Biography (Hall, N.John), 466

A Trollope Chronology (Terry, R.C), 466

Trollope: His Life and Work (Snow, C.P), 466

Trollope in the Post Office (Super, Robert H), 466

Trollope: Interviews and Recollections (Terry, R.C., ed), 466

Trotsky: A Documentary (Wyndham, Francis and David King), 467

Trotsky: A Photographic Biography (King, David), 467

Trotsky: An Appreciation of His Life (Carmichael, Joel), 467

Trotsky Dead (Wolfe, Bernard), 467

Trotsky: Fate of a Revolutionary (Wistrich, Robert S), 467

Trotsky in Exile (Weiss, Peter), 467

Trotsky: Memoir & Critique (Glotzer, Albert), 467

Trotsky: The Eternal Revolutionary (Volkogonov, Dmitri), 467

Trotsky: World Revolutionary (Archer, Jules), 467

Trouble Enough: Joseph Smith and the Book of Mormon (Taves, Ernest H), 434

The True Conan Doyle (Doyle, Adrian M.Conan), 143

True Crime (Collins, Max Allan), 228

The True Gen: An Intimate Portrait of Ernest Hemingway by Those Who Knew Him (Brian, Denis, ed), 219

The True Patrick Henry (Morgan, George), 222

The True Story of Captain John Smith (Woods, Katharine P), 433

The True Story of Cecil Rhodes in Africa (Gibbs, Peter), 393

The True Story of J.Edgar Hoover and the FBI (Denenberg, Barry), 228

The True Story of Lawrence of Arabia (Thomas, John), 278

True Women, 232

True Women (Windle, Janice Woods), 232

Truman, 297, 468

Truman (Jenkins, Roy), 468

Truman (McCullough, David), 468

Truman: The Rise to Power (Miller, Richard L), 468

Truman's Crises: A Political Biography of Harry S.Truman (Gosnell, Harold F), 468

The Trumpet of Conscience (Martin Luther King Jr), 273

The Trumpet Soundeth: William Jennings Bryan and His Democracy, 1896–1912 (Glad, Paul W) , 61

Trust and Treason (Birkhead, Margaret), 429

Trust Thyself: A Life of Ralph Waldo Emerson for the Young Reader (Wood, James P), 162

The Truth about Geronimo (Davis, Britton), 194

Tsar Alexander I: Paternalistic Reformer (McConnell, Alan), 7

Tsar: The Lost World of Nicholas and Alexandra (Kurth, Peter), 354

Tsar's Woman (Hill, Pamela), 375

Tucker: The Man and His Dream, 233

Tumultuous Years: The Presidency of Harry S. Truman, 1949–1953 (Donovan, Robert J), 468

Turgenev (Troyat, Henri), 471

Turgenev: A Life (Magarshack, David), 471

Turgenev: His Life and Times (Schapiro, Leonard), 471

Turgenev: The Man, His Art and His Age (Yamolinsky, Avrahm), 471

Turgenev's Letters, 471

Turner (Reynolds, Graham), 472

Turner: A Life (Hamilton, James), 472

Turner in His Time (Wilton, Andrew), 472

Tuscan Spring: A Novel about Sandro Botticelli (Cleugh, James), 49

20th Century Gothic: America's Nixon (Cavan, Sherri), 357

Twenty-Four Conversations with Borges, 44

20 hrs. 40 min.: Our Flight in the Friendship (Amelia Earhart), 151

Twenty Years After (Dumas, Alexandre), 117

Twenty Years at Hull-House (Jane Addams), 4

Twice Upon a Time (Appel, Allen), 473

Twilight of Empire (Eckert, Allen W), 452

Twilight of the Habsburgs: The Life and Times of Emperor Franz Joseph (Palmer, Alan W), 174

A Twist of Lennon (Lennon, Cynthia), 281

The Twisted Saber: A Biographical Novel of Benedict Arnold (Vail, Philip), 11

The Twisted Tendril: A Story of 1865 (Glasgow, Alice), 43

The Two American Presidents: A Dual Biography of Abraham Lincoln and Jefferson Davis (Chadwick, Bruce), 123, 284

The Two Carlyles (Burdett, Osbert), 73

Two Crowns for America (Kurtz, Katherine), 484

Two Dreisers (Moers, Ellen), 145

Two from Galilee (Holmes, Marjorie), 248

Two Lives of Charlemagne (Einhard, and Notker the Stammerer), 89

The Two Lives of Edith Wharton: The Woman and Her Work (Kellogg, Grace), 489

Two Loves Have I (Chambrun, Clara Longworth de), 423

The Two Mr. Gladstones: A Study in Psychology and History (Crosby, Travis L), 199

Two of Us: John Lennon & Paul McCartney Behind the Myth (Giuliano, Geoffrey), 281

Two Rivers Meet in Concord (Longstreth, Thomas M), 461

U.S. Grant and the American Military Tradition (Catton, Bruce), 206

The Ultimate Elvis: Elvis Presley Day by Day (Pierce, Patricia J), 384

The Ultimate Marilyn (Cunningham, Ernest W), 334

Ulysses: A Biographical Novel of U.S. Grant (Skimin, Robert), 206

Ulysses S.Grant (Carpenter, John A), 206

Ulysses S.Grant (O'Brien, Steven), 206

Ulysses S.Grant and the Strategy of Victory (Rickarby, Laura A), 206

Ulysses S.Grant: Politician (Hesseltine, William B), 206

Ulysses S.Grant: Soldier and President (Perret, Geoffrey), 206

Ulysses S.Grant: Triumph over Adversity (Simpson, Brooks D), 206

The Unabridged Marilyn: Her Life from A to Z (Riese, Randall, and Neal Hitchens), 334

Uncle of Europe: The Social and Diplomatic Life of Edward VII (Brook-Shepherd, Gordon), 154

An Uncommon Man: The Triumph of Herbert Hoover (Smith, Richard N), 227

Unconditional Surrender: U.S. Grant and the Civil War (Marrin, Albert), 206

Uncorking Old Sherry: The Life and Times of Richard Brinsley Sheridan (Sherwin, Oscar), 427

Uncrowned King: The Life of Prince Albert (Weintraub, Stanley), 5

Under the Hog (Carleton, Patrick), 395

Under the Sea (Rachel Carson), 77

Understanding Toscanini (Horowitz, Joseph), 464

Uneasy Lies the Head (Plaidy, Jean), 221

An Uneasy Victorian: Thackeray the Man 1811–1863 (Monsarrat, Ann), 458

The Unexpected Shaw: Biographical Approaches to George Bernard Shaw and His Work (Weintraub, Stanley), 424

The Unfinished Odyssey of Robert Kennedy (Halberstam, David), 268

The Unhurrying Chase (Prescott, Hilda F.M), 394

Unicorn Rampant (Tranter, Nigel), 21, 244

Unicorn's Blood (Finney, Patricia), 160

The Uninhibited Byron (Grebaniier, Bernard), 67

The Universe of G.B.S (Irvine, William), 424

The Unknown Barnum (Root, Harvey W), 24

The Unknown Brahms: His Life, Character, and Works, Based on New Material (Schauffler, Robert H), 50

Unknown Chaplin, 88

The Unknown Country: A Life of Igor Stravinsky (Tierney, Neil), 445

The Unknown Matisse: A Life of Henri Matisse: The Early Years, 1869–1908 (Spurling, Hilary), 317

The Unknown Orwell (Stansky, Peter, and William Abraham), 362

The Unknown Patton (Province, Charles M), 368

The Unknown Virginia Woolf (Poole, Roger), 501

The Unlocked Book: A Memoir of John Wilkes Booth (Clarke, Asia Booth), 43

The Unmaking of Hitler (Davidson, Eugene), 224

The Unpardonable Sin: A Life of Nathaniel Hawthorne (Wood, James P), 215

The Unpublished Dostoevsky: Diaries and Notebooks (1860–1881), 141

The Unquenchable Flame: The Life of Philip II (Wilbur, Marguerite K), 377

Unquiet Soul: A Biography of Charlotte Brontë (Peters, Margot), 53–57

The Unquiet Spirit: The Life and Art of Edgar Degas, 1834–1917, 129

The Unrepentant Pilgrim: A Study of the Development of Bernard Shaw (Smith, J.Percy), 424

The Unruly Queen: The Life of Queen Caroline (Fraser, Flora), 193

The Unspeakable Confessions of Salvador Dali, 120

Unto This Hour (Wicker, Tom), 243, 279

An Untold Story: The Roosevelts of Hyde Park (Roosevelt, Elliott, and James Brough), 405, 406

The Unvanquished (Fast, Howard), 209, 484

The Unwritten Chronicles of Robert E.Lee (Herrin, Lamar), 243, 279

Unwritten Memories (Mann, Katia), 307

Up from Slavery (Booker T.Washington), 483

Upon This Rock: A Novel of Simon Peter, Prince of Apostles (Slaughter, Frank G), 374

Upon This Rock: The Life of St. Peter (Murphy, Walter F), 374

A Useful Woman: The Early Life of Jane Addams (Diliberto, Gioia), 4

V.I.Lenin (Conquest, Robert), 280

V.I.Lenin (Topalian, Elyse), 280

Valiant Heart: A Biography of Heinrich Heine (Kossoff, Philip), 218

Valiant Pilgrim: The Story of John Bunyan and Puritan England (Brittain, Vera), 63

Valley Forge (Kantor, MacKinlay), 484

Valley Forge: A Play in Three Acts (Anderson, Maxwell), 484

Van Gogh, 475

Van Gogh (Burra, Peter J.S), 475

Van Gogh (Cabanne, Pierre), 475

Van Gogh (Hughes, Andrew), 475

Van Gogh: A Documentary Biography (Hammacher, A.M., and Renilde Hammacher), 475

Van Gogh: A Study of His Life and Work (Elgar, Frank), 475

Van Gogh: His Life and Art (Sweetman, David), 475

Van Gogh's Bad Café (Tuten, Frederic), 475

The Vandal (O'Connor, Richard), 260–261

The Vantage Point: Perspectives of the Presidency (Lyndon B.Johnson), 252

The Vast Memory of Love (Bosse, Malcolm J), 165

Velázquez, 476

Velázquez (Gudiol, José), 476

Velázquez (Harris, Enriqueta), 476

Velázquez (Ripley, Elizabeth), 476

Velázquez (Stevenson, Robert A.M), 476

Velázquez (Trapier, Elizabeth du Gué), 476

Velázquez: Painter and Courtier (Brown, Jonathan), 476

Velázquez: The Technique of Genius (Brown, Jonathan), 476

The Velvet Doublet (Street, James H), 104

The Venetian (Weiss, David), 328, 462

The Venus Throw (Saylor, Steven), 98

Véra (Mrs. Vladimir Nabokov): Portrait of a Marriage (Schiff, Stacy), 344

The Veracruz Blues (Winegardner, Mark), 219, 399

Verdi, 477

Verdi (Budden, Julian), 477

Verdi (Hussey, Dyneley), 477

Verdi (Wechsberg, Josef), 477

Verdi: A Biography (Phillips-Matz, Mary Jane), 477

Verdi: A Documentary Study, 477

Verdi: A Life in the Theatre (Osborne, Charles), 477

Verdi: A Novel of the Opera (Werfel, Franz), 477, 481

The Verdi Companion (Weaver, William, and Martin Chusid, eds), 477

Verdi: His Life and Times (Southwell-Sander, Peter S), 477

Verdi: His Music, Life and Times (Martin, George), 477

Verdi: Miracle Man of Opera (Ybarra, T.R), 477

Verdi: The Man and His Music (Gatti, Carlo), 477

Verdi: The Man and His Music (Hume, Paul), 477

Verdi: The Man in His Letters, 477

Verdict on Schweitzer: The Man Behind the Legend of Lambaréné (McKnight, Gerald), 421

Vermeer (Blankert, Albert, John M.Montias, and Gilles Aillaud), 478

Vermeer (Gowing, Lawrence), 478

Vermeer and His Contemporaries (Slatkes, Leonard J), 478

Vermeer and His Milieu: A Web of Social History (Montias, John M), 478

Vermeer of Delft (Blankert, Albert), 478

A Very Close Conspiracy: Vanessa Bell and Virginia Woolf (Dunn, Jane), 501

A Very Human President (Valenti, Jack), 252

The Very Rich Hours of Count Von Stauffenberg (West, Paul), 224

Very Truly Yours, Charles L.Dodgson, Alias Lewis Carroll: A Biography (Bessett, Lisa), 75

Very Young Mrs. Poe (O'Neal, Cothburn), 380

The Vicomte de Bragelonne (Dumas, Alexandre), 293

The Victim: A Romance of the Real Jefferson Davis (Dixon, Thomas) , 123

The Victims of Democracy: Malcolm X and the Black Revolution (Wolfenstein, Eugene V), 304

Victor Hugo (Duclaux, Mary), 235

Victor Hugo (Houston, John Porter), 235

Victor Hugo (Richardson, Joanna), 235

Victor Hugo (Robb, Graham), 235

Victor Hugo: A Realistic Biography of the Great Romantic (Josephson, Matthew), 235

Victor Hugo: A Tumultuous Life (Edwards, Samuel), 235

A Victor Hugo Encyclopedia (Frey, John A), 235

Victoria: A Play in Four Acts and Twelve Scenes (Morris, Kathleen), 479, 5

Victoria: an Intimate Biography (Weintraub, Stanley), 479

Victoria and Albert (Anthony, Evelyn), 479, 5

Victoria and Albert (Duff, David), 5

Victoria and Albert (Hough, Richard), 5

Victoria and Albert (Richardson, Joanna), 5

Victoria and Her Daughters (Epton, Nina), 479

Victoria in the Wings (Plaidy, Jean), 479

Victoria of England (Sitwell, Edith), 479

Victoria, Queen and Empress (Grant, Neil), 479

Victoria Regina, 139, 479, 5

Victoria Regina (Housman, Laurence), 479, 5

Victoria the Great, 479

Victoria: The Young Queen (Chariot, Monica), 479

Victoria Through the Looking-Glass: The Life of Lewis Carroll (Lennon, Florence Becker), 75

Victoria Victorious (Plaidy, Jean), 199, 479, 5

Victorian American: Henry Wadsworth Longfellow (Gorman, Herbert), 291

Victorian Outsider: A Biography of J.A.M.Whistler (McMullen, Roy), 490

A Victorian Rebel: The Life of William Morris (Eshleman, Lloyd W), 338

Victoria's Heir: The Education of a Prince (Dangerfield, George), 154

The Victors: Eisenhower and His Boys (Ambrose, Stephen E), 157

Victory: The Life of Lord Nelson (Warner, Oliver), 349

Vincent: A Novel Based on the Life of Van Gogh (Poldermans, Joost), 475, 85

Vincent and Theo, 475

Vincent and Theo Van Gogh: A Dual Biography (Hulsker, Jan), 475

Vincent: The Life and Death of Vincent Van Gogh, 475

Vincent Van Gogh (Tralbaut, Marc Edo), 475

Vincent Van Gogh: A Biographical Study (Meier-Graefe, Julius), 475

Vincent Van Gogh: A Life (Callow, Philip), 475

Vincent van Gogh: Art, Life, and Letters (Zurcher, Bernard), 475

Vincent Van Gogh: Artist (Tyson, Peter), 475

Vincent van Gogh: Artist of His Time (Pollock, Griselda, and Fred Orton), 475

Vindication (Sherwood, Frances), 38, 499

Vintage Hitchcock, 223

The Violent Friend: The Story of Mrs. Robert Louis Stevenson (Mackay, Margaret), 442

The Violent Friends (Clewes, Winston), 448

Virgil and Caesar: A Play (Warner, Francis), 17

The Virgin Queen, 160, 389

The Virgin Queen: Elizabeth I, Genius of the Golden Age (Hibbert, Christopher), 160

The Virginia Comedians (Cooke, John Esten), 222

Virginia Woolf, 501

Virginia Woolf (Asbee, Sue), 501

Virginia Woolf (King, James), 501

Virginia Woolf (Lee, Hermione), 501

Virginia Woolf: A Biography (Bell, Quentin), 501

Virginia Woolf: A Literary Life (Mepham, John), 501

Virginia Woolf A to Z (Hussey, Mark), 501

Virginia Woolf: A Writer's Life (Gordon, Lyndall), 501

Virginia Woolf and Her World (Lehman, John), 501

A Virginia Woolf Chronology (Bishop, Edward), 501

Virginia Woolf: Interviews and Recollections (Stape, J.H., ed), 501

Visions of Kerouac (Jarvis, Charles E), 269

Visions of Kerouac: A Play (Duberman, Martin B), 269

Vivat! Vivat Regina: A Play in Two Acts (Bolt, Robert), 315

Vladimir Ilich Lenin (Haney, John), 280

Vladimir Nabokov (Lee, Lawrence), 344

Vladimir Nabokov: America's Russian Novelist (Hyde, George M), 344

Vladimir Nabokov: His Life, His Work, His World: A Tribute (Quennell, Peter, ed), 344

Vladimir Nabokov: Life, Work, and Criticism (Ross, Charles S), 344

Vladimir Nabokov: The Russian Years (Boyd, Brian), 344

Vladimir Nabokov: The Velvet Butterfly (Levy, Alan), 344

VN: The Life and Art of Vladimir Nabokov (Field, Andrew), 344

The Voice and the Light (Fadiman, Edwin), 249

The Voice of Allah (Hoyt, Edwin P), 341

The Voice of the People: William Jennings Bryan (Kosner, Alice), 61

The Volcano Lover (Sontag, Susan), 349

Voltaire (Aldington, Richard), 480

Voltaire (Besterman, Theodore), 480

Voltaire (Gray, John), 480

Voltaire (Hearsey, John), 480

Voltaire (Lanson, Gustave), 480

Voltaire (Morley, John), 480

Voltaire (Noyes, Alfred), 480

Voltaire and the Century of Light (Aldridge, A. Owen), 480

Voltaire! Voltaire! (Endore, S.Guy), 409, 480

The Voyage of the Destiny (Nye, Robert), 389

Voyage to Windward: The Life of Robert Louis Stevenson (Furnas, J.C), 442

Voyages of Discovery:: Captain Cook and the Exploration of the Pacific (Withey, Lynne), 109

W.E.Yeats: A Life (Foster, R.F), 507

W.B.Yeats: A Literary Life (Macrae, Alasdair), 507

W.E.Yeats: A New Biography (Jeffares, A.Norman), 507

W.B.Yeats and His World (Mac Liammóir, Micheal, and Eavan Boland), 507

W.B.Yeats: 1865–1939 (Hone, Joseph), 507

W.B.Yeats: Interviews and Recollections (Mikhail, E.H), 507

W.B.Yeats: Man and Poet (Jeffares, A.Norman), 507

W.B.Yeats: The Man and the Milieu (Alldritt, Keith), 507

W.E.B.Du Bois (McKissack, Pat), 147

W.E.B.Du Bois (Moore, Jack B), 147

W.E.B.DuBois (Stafford, Mark), 147

W.E.B.Du Bois (Tuttle, W.M., ed), 147

W.E.B.Du Bois: A Biography (Hamilton, Virginia), 147

W.E.B.Du Bois: A Profile (Logan, Rayford W., ed), 147

W.E.B.Du Bois: Biography of a Race, 1868–1919 (Lewis, David C), 147

W.E.B.Du Bois: Black Radical Democrat (Marable, Manning), 147

W.E.B.Du Bois: Negro Leader in a Time of Crisis (Broderick, Francis L), 147

W.E.B.Du Bois: Voice of the Black Protest Movement (Rudwick, Elliott), 147

W.H.Auden (Johnson, Wendell S), 14

W.H.Auden: A Biography (Carpenter, Humphrey), 14

W.H.Auden: A Tribute (Spender, Stephen, ed), 14

W.H.Auden: The Life of a Poet (Osborne, Charles), 14

W.R.Hearst: An American Phenomenon (Winkler, John), 217

W.S.Gilbert: A Classic Victorian and His Theatre (Stedman, Jane W), 197–198

W.S.Gilbert: His Life and Letters (Dark, Sidney, and Rowland Grey), 197–198

W.Somerset Maugham: A Candid Portrait (Pfeiffer, K.G), 318

Waging Peace (Dwight D.Eisenhower), 157

Wagner, 481

Wagner (Chancellor, John), 481

Wagner (Millington, Barry), 481

Wagner (Padmore, Elaine), 481

Wagner: A Biography (Westernhagen, Curt von), 481

Wagner: A Biography: With a Survey of Books, Editions, and Recordings (Anderson, Robert), 481

Wagner: A Documentary Study (Barth, Herbert, Dietrich Mack, and Egon Voss), 481

Wagner: A Pictorial Biography (Panofsky, Walter), 481

Wagner and His World (Osborne, Charles), 481

Wagner as Man and Artist (Newman, Ernest), 481

The Wagner Companion (Bunbridge, Peter, and Richard Sutter), 481

The Wagner Compendium (Millington, Barry, ed), 481

Wagner Handbook (Muller, Ulrich, ed), 481

Wait Till Next Year: The Life Story of Jackie Robinson, 402

Waiting for the Mahatma (Narayan, R.K), 183

Waiting for the Moon, 219, 438

Waldo Emerson: A Biography (Allen, Gay Wilson), 162

Walford's Oak (Phillips, Jill M), 102

Walk in My Soul (Robson, Luca St. Clair), 232

Wallace Stevens (Richardson, Joan), 441

Wallace Stevens: A Celebration (Doggett, Frank, and Robert Battel, ed), 441

Wallace Stevens: A Literary Life (Sharpe, Tony), 441

Wallace Stevens: A Mythology of Self (Bates, Milton), 441

Wallace Stevens: A Poet's Growth (Lensing, George A), 441

Wallace Stevens: Poetry as Life (Morse, Samuel French), 441

Walls and Bars (Eugene V.Debs), 126

Walt Disney (Fanning, Jim), 138

Walt Disney: A Bio-Bibliography (Jackson, Kathy M), 138

Walt Disney: A Biography (Ford, Barbara), 138

Walt Disney: An American Original (Thomas, Bob), 138

Walt Disney: Creator of Mickey Mouse (Cole, Michael D), 138

Walt Disney: Hollywood's Dark Prince (Eliot, Marc), 138

Walt Whitman, 491

Walt Whitman (Allen, Gay Wilson), 491

Walt Whitman (Knapp, Bettina I.), 491

Walt Whitman (Loewen, Nancy), 491

Walt Whitman (Miller, James E), 491

Walt Whitman (Reef, Catherine), 491

Walt Whitman (Schyberg, Frederik), 491

Walt Whitman: A Gay Life (Schmidgall, Gary), 491

Walt Whitman: A Life (Kaplan, Justin), 491

Walt Whitman: An American (Canby, Henry S), 491

Walt Whitman: An Encyclopedia (LeMaster, J.R., and Donald D.Kummings, eds), 491

Walt Whitman, His Life and Work (Perry, Bliss), 491

Walt Whitman: Sweet Bird of Freedom, 491

Walt Whitman: The Making of the Poet (Zweig, Paul), 491

Walt Whitman: The Song of Himself (Loving, Jerome), 491

Walt Whitman's America: A Cultural Biography (Reynolds, David S), 491

Walt Whitman's Camden Conversations (Traubel, Horace), 491

Walt Whitman's Poetry: A Psychological Journey (Miller, Edwin H), 491

Walt Whitman's Secret (Aronin, Ben), 324, 461, 491

Walter Scott: His Life and Personality (Pearson, Hesketh), 422

The Wanderer: A Novel of Dante and Beatrice (Schachner, Nathan), 121

Wandering Minstrels We: The Story of Gilbert and Sullivan (Lavins, Sigmund A), 197–198

The Wandering Prince (Plaidy, Jean), 91

War and Peace, 345

War and Peace (Tolstoy, Leo), 345, 7

War and Remembrance, 224, 97

War as I Knew It (George S.Patton Jr), 368

War Diaries of Jean-Paul Sartre: November 1939-March 1940, 416

War Memoirs of David Lloyd George, 288

The War of Two Emperors (Cate, Curtis), 7

The War with Hannibal: Books XXI–XXX of The History of Rome from Its Foundation (Livy), 211

War without Victory: The Downfall of Pitt, 1799–1802 (Mackesy, Piers), 379

Ward of the Sun King (Butler, Mildred A), 293

Warhol (Bourdon, David), 482

The Warlord (Bosse, Malcolm J), 309

The Warlords, 224, 343, 436, 97

Warm Wind, West Wind (Matthew, Anne I), 336

Warren G.Harding, 1865–1923: Chronology, Documents, Bibliographical Aids (Moran, Philip R., ed), 212

Warren G.Harding: Twenty-Ninth President of the United States (Wade, Linda R), 212

Warren G.Harding: 29th President of the United States (Canadeo, Anne), 212

The Warrior and the Priest: Woodrow Wilson and Theodore Roosevelt (Cooper, John M. Jr), 407, 497

Warrior: The Story of General George S.Patton (Anders, Curt), 368

The Wartime Journals of Charles A.Lindbergh (Charles A.Lindbergh Jr), 285

Washington (Freeman, Douglas S), 484

Washington: A Biography (Emery, Noemie), 484

Washington and the American Revolution (Wright, Esmond), 484

Washington, D.C (Vidal, Gore), 319

Washington Irving (Seton, Anya), 239

Washington Irving (Warner, Charles D), 239

Washington Irving: An American Study, 1802–1832 (Hedges, William), 239

Washington Irving and Germany (Reichart, Walter A), 239

Washington Irving and the House of Murray: Geoffrey Crayon Charms the British 1817–56 (McClary, Ben H., ed), 239

Washington Irving at Sunnyside (Cater, Harold D), 239

Washington Irving: Esquire, Ambassador at Large from the New World to the Old (Hellman, George), 239

Washington Irving: Moderation Displayed (Wagenknecht, Edward), 239

Washington: The Indispensable Man (Flexner, James T), 484

Wassily Kandinsky: Life and Work (Grohmann, Will), 263

Watch for Me on the Mountain (Carter, Forrest), 194

Waterloo, 345, 486

Waterloo (Komroff, Manuel), 345, 486

The Waters of Babylon: A Novel about Lawrence After Arabia (Stevens, David), 278

Wave High the Banner: A Novel Based on the Life of Davy Crockett (Brown, Dee), 116

The Way of Siddhartha: A Life of Buddha (Kalupahana, David J., and Indrani Kalupahana), 62

Way to Ilala. David Livingstone's Pilgrimage (Debenham, Frank), 287

The Way to the West and the Lives of These Early Americans: Boone, Crockett, Carson (Hough, Emerson), 76

The Way You Wear Your Hat (Zehme, Bill), 430

We (Charles A.Lindbergh Jr), 285

We Band of Brothers (Guthman, Edwin O), 268

We Dickinsons: The Life of Emily Dickinson as Seen through the Eyes of Her Brother Austin (Fisher, Aileen and Olive Rabe), 135

We Knew William Tecumseh Sherman (Wheeler, Richard, ed), 428

We Need to Dream All This Again (Pomerance, Bernard), 115

We Speak No Treason (Jarman, Rosemary H), 395

Web of Fury: A Novel of the Borgia Fury (Samuel, Maurice), 45–47

Well of the Silent Harp (Barke, James), 65

Wellington (Aldington, Richard), 486

Wellington (Fortescue, Sir J.W), 486

Wellington (Guedalla, Philip), 486

Wellington (Longford, Elizabeth), 486

Wellington: A Personal History (Hibbert, Christopher), 486

Wellington at War, 1794–1815: A Selection of His Wartime Letters, 486

Wellington at Waterloo (Weller, Jac), 486

Wellington in India (Weller, Jac), 486

Wellington in the Peninsula (Weller, Jac), 486

The West End Horror (Meyer, Nicholas), 424, 492

West Goes the Road (Pridgen, Tim), 66

The West of Billy the Kid (Nolan, Frederick W), 36

Westward Ho! (Kingsley, Charles), 144, 389

The Whales of Lake Tanganyika (Hagerfors, Lennart), 287, 437

What Happened to Kerouac?, 269

What Is Remembered (Toklas, Alice B), 438

What Manner of Man: A Biography of Martin Luther King Jr (Bennett, Lerone), 273

What's the Big Idea, Ben Franklin? (Fritz, Jean), 173

Wheels of Time: A Biography of Henry Ford (Gourley, Catherine), 168

When Even Angels Wept: The Senator Joseph McCarthy Affair—A Story without a Hero (Thomas, Lately), 319

When Karl Marx Died: Comments in 1883 (Foner, Philip S., ed), 313

When Knighthood Was in Flower (Major, Charles), 221, 314

When Lilacs Bloom Again: A Novel Based on the Life and Times of Abraham Lincoln (DuGarm, Henry K), 284

When Nietzsche Wept: A Novel of Obsession (Yalom, Irvin D), 177, 355

When the Cheering Stopped: The Last Years of Woodrow Wilson (Smith, Gene), 497

When the Word is Given (Lomax, Louis E), 304

When This You See Remember Me: Gertrude Stein in Person (Rogers, William G), 438

Where Do We Go From Here? (Martin Luther King Jr), 273

Where Do You Think You're Going, Christopher Columbus? (Fritz, Jean), 104

Where Jesus Walked, 248

Where the Buck Stops: The Personal and Private Writings of Harry S.Truman, 468

Where Was Patrick Henry on the 29th of May (Fritz, Jean), 222

Whistler (Laver, James), 490

Whistler (Spalding, Frances), 490

Whistler: A Biography (Weintraub, Stanley), 490

Whistler Journal (Pennell, Elizabeth R., and Joseph Pennell), 490

The White Angel, 356

The White Boar (Palmer, Marian), 395

The White-Boned Demon: A Biography of Madame Mao Zedong (Terrill, Ross), 309

The White Buffalo (Sale, Richard), 115

The White Hotel (Thomas, D.M), 177

The White House Pantry Murder (Roosevelt, Elliott), 97

The White Plumed Henry: King of France (Slocombe, George E), 220

The White Queen (Fallen, Frederic), 315

The White Queen (Nickell, Lesley J), 395

The White Tecumseh: A Biography of General William T.Sherman (Hirshson, Stanley P), 428

Whitman: An Interpretation in Narrative (Holloway, Emory), 491

A Whitman Chronology (Krieg, Joann P), 491

Whitman's Journeys into Chaos: A Psychoanalytic Study of the Poetic Process (Black, Stephen A), 491

Who Was Jesus? (Cross, Colin), 248

Who Was Kit Marlowe? (Hilton, Delia), 311

Who Was St. Patrick? (Thompson, E.A), 367

Who Was Van Gogh? (Leymarie, Jean), 475

The Whole World in His Hands: A Pictorial Biography of Paul Robeson (Robeson, Susan), 400

Who's Who in Wagner: An A-to-Z Look at His Life and Work (Hodson, Phillip), 481

Why Norma Jean Killed Marilyn Monroe (Freeman, Lucy), 334

Why Not, Lafayette? (Fritz, Jean), 276

Why Sinatra Matters (Hamill, Pete), 430

Why Waterloo? (Herbert, A.P), 345

Why We Can't Wait (Martin Luther King Jr), 273

The Wicked Queen: The Origins of the Myth of Marie-Antoinette (Thomas, Chantal), 310

The Wider Sea: A Life of John Ruskin. (Hunt, John Dixon), 411

The Widow of Windsor (Plaidy, Jean), 199, 479

The Widow of Windsor (Tyler-Whittle, Michael), 199

The Widow of Windsor (Whittle, Tyler), 479

Wife to Great Buckingham (Lewis, Hilda W), 244

Wife to Mr. Milton (Graves, Robert), 330

Wife to the Bastard (Lewis, Hilda W), 494

Wilbur & Orville Wright: A Chronology (Renstrom, Arthur G), 505–506

Wilbur and Orville: A Biography of the Wright Brothers (Howard, Fred), 505–506

Wild December: A Biographical Portrait of the Brontës (White, Hilda C), 53–57

Wild Excursions: The Life and Fiction of Laurence Sterne (Thomson, David), 440

The Wild Wheel: The World of Henry Ford (Garrett, Gare), 168

Wilde, 492

Wilde: A Novel, 492

The Wilde Album (Holland, Merlin), 492

Wilde West (Satterthwait, Walter), 492

Wilderness Empire (Eckert, Allen W), 42

Wilhelm II and the Germans: A Study in Leadership (Kohut, Thomas A), 493

Wilhelm II: Prince and Emperor (Cecil, Lamar), 493

Wilkes Booth Came to Washington (Starkey, Larry), 43

Will Shakespeare: The Untold Story (Mortimer, John), 423

Willa Cather (Keene, Ann T), 80

Willa Cather (O'Brien, Sharon), 80

Willa Cather (Wagenknecht, Edward), 80

Willa Cather (Wooten, Sara M), 80

Willa Cather: A Critical Biography (Brown, E.K), 80

Willa Cather: A Literary Life (Woodress, James), 80

Willa Cather: A Memoir (Sergeant, Elizabeth S), 80

Willa Cather: A Pictorial Memoir (Woods, Lucia), 80

Willa Cather: Double Lives (Lee, Hermione), 80

Willa Cather: Her Life and Art (Woodress, James), 80

Willa Cather Living: A Personal Record (Lewis, Edith), 80

Willa Cather: The Emerging Voice (O'Brien, Sharon), 80

Willa: The Life of Willa Cather (Robinson, Phyllis), 80

William Blake (Margoliouth, Herschel M), 38

William Blake: A Concise Biography, 38

William Blake: A New Kind of Man (Davis, Michael), 38

William Blake: An Introduction to the Man and His Work (Lister, Raymond), 38

William Blake: His Life (King, James), 38

William Blake: His Life and Work (Lindsay, Jack), 38

A William Butler Yeats Encyclopedia (McCready, Sam), 507

William Carlos Williams (Whitaker, Thomas R), 496

William Carlos Williams: A New World Naked (Mariani, Paul), 496

William Carlos Williams and Autobiography: The Woods of His Own Nature (Fischer-Wirth, Ann W), 496

William Carlos Williams: Poet from Jersey (Whittemore, Reed), 496

William Ewart Gladstone: Faith and Politics in Victorian Britain (Bebbington, David W), 199

William Faulkner: A Biographical and Reference Guide (Cox, Leland H), 164

William Faulkner: American Writer (Karl, Frederick R), 164

William Faulkner and Southern History (Williamson, Joel), 164

A William Faulkner Encyclopedia (Hamblin, Robert W., and Charles A.Peek, eds), 164

William Faulkner: His Life and Work (Minter, David), 164

William Faulkner: The Making of a Modernist (Singal, Daniel J), 164

William Faulkner: The Man and the Artist (Oates, StephenB), 164

William Gladstone (Brand, Eric), 199

William Henry Harrison: A Political Biography (Goebel, Dorothy B), 214

William Henry Harrison: Ninth President of the United States (Fitz-Gerald, Christine M), 214

William Henry Harrison, 1773–1841;

John Tyler, 1790–1862: Chronology, Documents, Bibliographical Aids (Durfee, David A., ed), 214

William Henry Harrison, 9th President of the United States (Stefoff, Rebecca), 214

William I and the Norman Conquest (Barlow, Frank), 494

William Jennings Bryan (Anderson, David D), 61

William Jennings Bryan (Coletta, Paolo E), 61

William Jennings Bryan (Williams, Wayne C), 61

William Jennings Bryan: A Profile ((Glad, Paul W) , 61

William Jennings Bryan: Champion of Democracy (Ashby, LeRoy), 61

William Jennings Bryan: Golden-Tongued Orator (Allen, Robert A), 61

William McKinley (Hoyt, Edwin P), 320

William McKinley and His America (Morgan, H. Wayne), 320

William McKinley: Twenty-fifth President of the United States (Kent, Zachary), 320

William McKinley: 25th President of the United States (Collins, David R), 320

William Morris (Noyes, Alfred), 338

William Morris (Stansky, Peter), 338

William Morris: A Life for Our Time (MacCarthy, Fiona), 338

William Morris: A Study in Personality (Compton-Rickett, Arthur), 338

William Morris and His World (Bradley, Ian C), 338

William Morris: Artist, Writer, Socialist (Morris, May, ed), 338

William Morris As I Knew Him (Shaw, George Bernard), 338

William Morris Chronology (Salmon, Nicholas, and Derek Baker), 338

William Morris: Craftsman, Socialist (Jackson, Holbrook), 338

William Morris: His Life and Work (Coote, Stephen), 338

William Morris: His Life and Work (Lindsay, Jack), 338

William Morris: His Life, Work, and Friends (Henderson, Philip), 338

William Morris: His Work and Influence (Clutton-Brock, Arthur), 338

William Morris: Poet, Craftsman, Socialist (Cary, Elisabeth), 338

William Morris: Romantic to Revolutionary (Thompson, E.P) , 338

William Morris: The Man and the Myth (Arnot, Robert P), 338

William Penn (Stefoff, Rebecca), 370

William Penn (Vulliamy, C.E), 370

William Penn (Wildes, Harry E), 370

William Penn: A Biography (Peare, Catherine O), 370

William Penn: A Topical Biography (Hull, William I), 370

William Penn and Early Quakerism (Endy, Melvin B), 370

William Penn and the Founding of Pennsylvania: A Documentary History, 370

William Penn: Apostle of Dissent (Fantel, Hans), 370

William Penn, Founder of Pennsylvania (Graham, John W), 370

William Penn, Politics and Conscience (Dunn, Mary M), 370

William Penn: Quaker Colonist (Doherty, Kiernan), 370

William Penn, the Politician: His Relations with the English Government (Illick, Joseph E), 370

William Pitt the Younger (Evans, Eric J), 379

William Pitt the Younger (Reilly, Robin), 379

William Pitt, the Younger (Wilson, Philip W), 379

William Randolph Hearst: American (Older, Mrs. Frémont), 217

William Randolph Hearst and the American Century (Whitelaw, Nancy), 217

William Randolph Hearst: His Role in American Progressivism (Littlefield, Roy Everett, III), 217

William Randolph Hearst: Press Baron (Frazier, Nancy), 217

William Randolph Hearst: The Early Years, 1863–1910 (Procter, Ben), 217

William Shakespeare (Shellard, Dominic), 423

William Shakespeare (Thrasher, Thomas), 423

William Shakespeare: A Compact Documentary Life, 423

William Shakespeare: A Literary Life (Dutton, Richard), 423

William Shakespeare: A Popular Life (O'Connor, Garry), 423

William Shakespeare: A Study of Facts and Problems, 423

William Shakespeare: His Life and Times (Kay, Dennis), 423

William Shakespeare: Poet and Dramatist, 1564–1616, 423

A William Somerset Maugham Encyclopedia (Rogal, Samuel J), 318

William Tecumseh Sherman (Merrill, James M), 428

William Tecumseh Sherman and the Settlement of the West (Athearn, Robert G), 428

William Tecumseh Sherman: Defender and Destroyer (Whitelaw, Nancy), 428

William Tecumseh Sherman: Defender of the Union (Blassingame, Wyatt), 428

William the Conqueror (Freeman, Edward), 494

William the Conqueror (Green, Robert), 494

William the Conqueror (Russell, Phillips), 494

William, the Conqueror (Slocombe, George), 494

William, the Conqueror: An Historical Novel (Wingate, John), 494

William the Conqueror: The Norman Impact upon England (Douglas, David), 494

William Wordsworth: A Biography (Davies, Hunter), 502

William Wordsworth: A Biography (Moorman, Mary), 502

William Wordsworth: A Life (Gill, Stephen), 502

William Wordsworth: A Literary Life (Williams, John), 502

William Wordsworth: A Poetic Life (Mahoney, John L), 502

William Wordsworth: His Life, Works and Influence (Harper, George M), 502

William Wordsworth: The Wandering Poet (Bober, Natalie), 502

Willie: The Life of W.Somerset Maugham (Calder, Robert L), 318

Willowwood (Savage, Elizabeth), 338, 408, 411

Wilson, 288, 497, 61

Wilson (Link, Arthur S), 497

Winchell, 217

The Wind and the Lion, 407

Wind in the Tower: Mao Tse-tung and the Chinese Revolution 1949–1975 (Han, Suyin), 309

The Wind that Shakes the Barley (Barke, James), 65

The Winding Stair: Francis Bacon, His Rise and Fall (Du Maurier, Daphne), 21

The Winds of Kitty Hawk, 505–506

The Winds of War, 224, 97

Windsor Castle (Ainsworth, William Harrison), 221, 40

Wine of Life: A Novel about Balzac (Gorham, Charles), 23

Winged Legend: The Story of Amelia Earhart (Burke, John), 151

Wings of Madness: A Novel of Charles Baudelaire (Wagner, Geoffrey), 27

Winston and Clementine: The Personal Letters of the Churchills, 97

Winston and Clementine: The Triumphs and the Tragedies of the Churchills (Hough, Richard), 97

Winston Churchill (Pelling, Henry), 97

Winston Churchill (Rodgers, Judith), 97

Winston Churchill: A Biography (Brendon, Piers), 97

Winston Churchill: An Illustrated Biography (Grant, R.G), 97

Winston Churchill: An Unbreakable Spirit (Driemen, John E), 97

Winston Churchill as I Knew Him (Bonham Carter, Violet), 97

Winston Churchill: Soldier, Statesman, Artist (Severance, John B), 97

Winston S.Churchill (Churchill, Randolph S), 97

Winston S.Churchill (Gilbert, Martin), 97

Winter Quarters (Duggan, Alfred), 258

The Winter War (Haines, Edwin), 431

The Wisdom of Confucius (Lin, Yutang, ed), 105

The Wisest Fool in Christendom: The Reign of King James I and VI (McElwee, William), 244

With a Daughter’s Eye: A Memoir of Margaret Mead and Gregory Bateson (Bateson, Mary C), 321

With All My Heart (Barnes, Margaret C), 91

“With Bleeding Footsteps”: Mary Baker Eddy’s Path to Religious Leadership (Thomas, Robert D), 152

With Kennedy (Salinger, Pierre), 267

With Lawrence in Arabia (Thomas, Lowell), 278

With Malice Toward None: The Life of Lincoln (Oates, Stephen B), 284

With Trotsky in Exile (Van Heijenoort, Jan), 467

With Walt Whitman in Camden (Traubel, Horace), 491

Within Reason: A Life of Spinoza (Gullan-Whur, Margaret), 435

Without Precedent: The Life and Career of Eleanor Roosevelt (Hoff, Joan, and Marjorie Lightman, eds), 405

Witness to My Life: The Letters of Jean-Paul Sartre to Simone de Beauvoir, 1926–1939, 416

Wittgenstein, 270, 412

Wittgenstein (Bartley, William W), 498

Wittgenstein (Hacker, P.M.S), 498

Wittgenstein: A Life: Young Ludwig 1889–1921 (McGuinness, Brian), 498

The Wives of Henry VIII (Fraser, Antonia), 221, 40

Wizard of Tuskegee: The Life of George Washington Carver (Manber, David), 78

The Wolf at the Door, 189

The Wolf by the Ears: Thomas Jefferson and Slavery (Miller, John C), 247

Wolfgang Amade Mozart (Hussey, Dyneley), 340

Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, 340

Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart (Thompson, Wendy), 340

Wolsey (Pollard, A.F), 500

A Woman Called Golda, 32, 323

A Woman Called Moses, 470

A Woman Called Moses (Heidish, Marcy M), 470

The Woman He Loved, 97

A Woman Named Jackie, 359

A Woman Named Jackie (Heymann, C.David), 359

Woman of Contradictions: The Life of George Eliot (Taylor, Ina), 158

A Woman of Destiny (Card, Orson Scott). 434

A Woman of Egypt (Sadat, Jehan), 413

Woman of Letters: A Life of Virginia Woolf (Rose, Phyllis), 501

A Woman of Valor: Clara Barton and the Civil War (Oates, Stephen B), 26

Woman of Valor: Margaret Sanger and the Birth

Control Movement in America (Chesler, Ellen), 415

A Woman on Paper: Georgia O’Keeffe (Pollitzer, Anita), 358

The Woman Question (Malm, Dorothea), 9

The Woman Who Created Frankenstein: A Portrait of Mary Shelley (Harris, Janet), 425

The Woman Who Loved John Wilkes Booth (Russell, Pamela R), 43

The Woman Who Loved Paul (Neilson, Winthrop, and Frances Neilson), 369

The Woman with the Whip: Eva Peron (Main, Mary), 372–373

The Women in Wagner’s Life (Kapp, Julius), 481

Women of Power: Catherine de’ Medici (Strage, Mark), 81

Wonder of All the Gay World (Barke, James), 65

Woodrow Wilson, 497

Woodrow Wilson (Auchincloss, Louis), 497

Woodrow Wilson (Heckscher, August), 497

Woodrow Wilson (Leavell, J.Perry), 497

Woodrow Wilson (Walworth, Arthur), 497

Woodrow Wilson: A Great Life in Brief (Garraty, John A), 497

Woodrow Wilson: A Life for World Peace (Schulte Nordholt, J.W), 497

Woodrow Wilson: A Medical and Psychological Study (Weinstein, Edwin A), 497

Woodrow Wilson: A Profile (Link, Arthur S), 497

Woodrow Wilson and the Politics of Morality (Blum, John M), 497

Woodrow Wilson and World War I, 1917–1921 (Ferrell, Robert H), 497

Woodrow Wilson: Life and Letters (Baker, Ray S), 497

Woodrow Wilson, 1856–1924: Chronology, Documents, Bibliographical Aids (Vexler, Robert I., ed), 497

Woodrow Wilson: President (Randolph, Sallie G), 497

Woodrow Wilson: The Academic Years (Bragdon, Henry W), 497

Woodrow Wilson: The Early Years (Osborn, George C), 497

Woodrow Wilson: Visionary for Peace (Rogers, James T), 497

Woodstock: Or the Cavalier (Scott, Walter), 117, 91

The Words (Jean-Paul Sartre), 416

The Words of Wellington: Collected from His Dispatches, Letters, and Speeches, 486

Wordsworth and His World (Halliday, F.E), 502

A Wordsworth Chronology (Pinion, F.B), 502

Wordsworth, 1770–1850, 502

Wordsworth: The Chronology of the Early Years 1770–99, 502

Wordsworth: The Chronology of the Middle Years 1800–15, 502

Wordsworth’s Formative Years (Meyer, George W), 502

The Work and the Glory (Lund, Gerald N), 434

The Work of Christopher Wren (Beard, Geoffrey W), 503

The Work of William Morris (Thompson, Paul), 338

The World and Richard Nixon (Sulzberger, C.L), 357

The World as I Found It (Duffy, Bruce), 412, 498

The World as I See It (Albert Einstein), 156

The World Crisis 1911–18 (Winston S.Churchill), 97

The World Encompassed (Sir Francis Drake), 144

The World Encompassed: Francis Drake and His Great Voyage (Wilson, Derek), 144

World Enough and Time: The Life of Andrew Marvell (Murray, Nicholas), 312

World Flight: The Earhart Trial (Pellegreno, Ann H), 151

The World I Live In (Helen Keller), 266

The World in the Time of Marie Antoinette (MacDonald, Fiona), 310

The World Is Made of Glass (West, Morris L), 259

The World of Andrew Carnegie (Hacker, Louis), 74

The World of Charles Dickens (Wilson, Angus), 134

The World of Delacroix (Prideaux, Tom), 130

The World of Duke Ellington (Dance, Stanley), 161

The World of Emily Dickinson (Longworth, Polly), 135

The World of Franz Kafka (Stern, J.P., ed), 262

The World of George Orwell (Gross, Miriam, ed), 362

The World of James McNeill Whistler (Gregory, Horace), 490

A World of Love: Eleanor Roosevelt and her friends, 1943–1962, 405

The World of Marc Chagall (Bidermanas, Izis, and Roy McMullen) , 86

The World of Marcel Proust (Brée, Germaine), 385

The World of Marcel Proust (Maurois, André), 385

The World of Marcus Garvey: Race and Class in Modern Society (Stein, Judith), 188

The World of Mary Cassatt (McKown, Robin), 79

The World of Mother Teresa, 339

The World of Rubens: 1577–1640 (Wedgwood, C.V), 410

The World of Samuel Beckett: 1906–1946 (Gordon, Lois G), 29

The World of Tennessee Williams (Leavitt, Richard F., ed), 495

The World of Van Gogh: 1853–1890 (Wallace, Robert), 475

The World of Vermeer 1632–1675 (Koningsberger, Hans), 478

The World of W.E.B.Du Bois (Weinberg, Meyer, ed), 147

The World of Whistler: 1834–1903 (Prideaux, Tom), 490

World of Willa Gather (Bennett, Mildred R), 80

The World of William Penn (Dunn, Mary M., and Richard S.Dunn, eds), 370

The World of William Penn (Foster, Genevieve), 370

World War II: When Lions Roared, 406, 436, 97

The Worlds of Christopher Columbus (Phillips, William D., and Carla R.Phillips), 104

The Wounded Jung: Effects of Jung’s Relationships on His Life and Work (Smith, Robert C), 259

Wren and His Place in European Architecture (Sckler, Eduard F), 503

The Wright Brothers (Haynes, Richard M), 505–506

The Wright Brothers: A Biography Authorized by Orville Wright (Kelly, Fred C), 505–506

The Wright Brothers: Conquering the Sky (Welch, Becky), 505–506

The Wright Brothers: Fathers of Flight (McMahon, John R), 505–506

The Wright Brothers: How They Invented the Airplane (Freedman, Russell), 505–506

The Wright Stuff, 505–506

A Writer’s Notebook (W.Somerset Maugham), 318

Writings and Drawings (John James Audubon), 15

The Writings and Speeches of Oliver Cromwell, 117

The Writings of a Savage (Paul Gauguin), 189

Writings of George Washington, 484

The Writings of J.M.Synge (Skelton, Robin), 450

The Writings of James Monroe, 333

Writings of Leon Trotsky, 467

The Writings of Sam Houston, 232

The Writings of Thomas Paine, 363

Writings on Wright: Selected Comment on Frank Lloyd Wright (Brooks, H.Allen), 504

Written in the Stars: A Novel about Albrecht (Fisher, Frances H), 149

Wystan and Chester: A Personal Memoir of W.H. Auden and Chester Kallman (Clark, Thekla), 14

The Yankee from Tennessee (Gerson, Noel B), 251

The Year of the Spaniard (Castor, Henry), 114

The Years and Hours of Emily Dickinson (Leyda, Jay), 135

The Years of Lyndon Johnson: The Path to Power (Caro, Robert), 252

The Years of MacArthur (James, D.Clayton), 297

The Years That Are Past (Lloyd George, Frances), 288

Yeats (Tuohy, Frank), 507

Yeats: The Man and the Masks (Ellmann, Richard), 507

Yeats’s Ghosts: The Secret Life of W.B.Yeats (Maddox, Brenda), 507

Yellow (Lynch, Daniel), 217

The Yellow Robe: A Novel of the Life of Buddha (Payne, Robert), 62

Yellowstone Kelly (Bowen, Peter), 407

Yorktown (Davis, Burke), 484

You, My Brother: A Novel Based on the Lives of Edmund and William Shakespeare (Burton, Philip), 423

Young Adolf (Bainbridge, Beryl), 224

The Young and Lonely King (Lane, Jane), 90

The Young Augustine: The Growth of St. Augustine’s Mind Up to His Conversion. (O’Meara, JohnJ), 16

Young Bess, 221

Young Bess (Irwin, Margaret), 160

Young Booker: Booker T.Washington’s Early Days (Bontemps, Ama), 483

Young Boswell (Tinker, Chauncey B), 48

The Young Brecht (Munsterer, Hans Otto), 52

The Young Caesar (Warner, Rex), 258

The Young Calvin (Ganoczy, Alexandre), 70

Young Carl Jung (Brockway, Robert W), 259

Young Catherine, 83

The Young Catherine (Almedingen, E.M), 83

Young Charlie Chaplin, 88

The Young Churchill: The Early Years of Winston Churchill (Sandys, Celia), 97

The Young Cosima (Richardson, Henry H), 481

The Young Disraeli (Jerman, B.R), 139

Young Disraeli (Thane, Elswyth), 139

Young Disraeli, 1804–1846 (Ridley, Jane), 139

Young Dreiser (Hakutani, Yoshinobu), 145

The Young Elizabeth (Letton, Jennette and Francis), 160

Young Frederick Douglass: The Maryland Years (Preston, Dickson J), 142

The Young Hamilton: A Biography (Flexner, James T), 209

The Young Hemingway (Reynolds, Michael S), 219

Young Henry Ford: A Picture History of the First 40 Years (Olsen, Sidney), 168

The Young Henry James: 1843–70 (Le Clair, Robert C), 245

Young Henry of Navarre (Mann, Heinrich), 220

Young Hickory (Young, Stanley), 242

The Young Jefferson: 1743–1789 (Bowers, Claude G), 247

Young John Dewey: An Essay in American Intellectual History (Coughlain, Neil), 132

The Young Lenin (Trotsky, Leon), 280

The Young Lewis Carroll (Richardson, Joanna), 75

The Young Lloyd George (Grigg, John), 288

Young Longfellow 1807–43 (Thompson, Lawrance), 291

The Young Man from Mount Vernon (Pier, Anthony S), 484

Young Man Luther: A Study in Psychoanalysis and History (Erikson, Erik H), 295

Young Man Thoreau (Lebeaux, Richard), 461

The Young Mary Queen of Scots (Plaidy, Jean), 315

The Young Maxim Gorky 1868–1902 (Holtzman, Filia), 204

The Young Men of Paris (Longstreet, Stephen), 317, 378

Young Mr. Lincoln, 284

Young Mr. Newman (Ward, Maisie), 352

Young Mr. Pepys (Hearsay, John), 371

Young Mr. Pitt, 345

The Young Mr. Pitt, 379

Young Mussolini and the Intellectual Origins of Fascism (Gregor, A.James), 343

Young Nietzsche Becoming a Genius (Pletsch, Carl), 355

Young Philip Sidney 1572–1577 (Osborn, James M), 429

Young Pitt (Maughan, A.M), 379

The Young Richelieu: A Psychoanalytic Approach to Leadership (Marvick, Elizabeth W), 396

Young Sam Johnson (Clifford, James L), 254

The Young Sarah Bernhardt (Hope, Charlotte), 34

Young Shakespeare (Fraser, Russell A), 423

The Young Shelley (Rush, Philip), 426

The Young Shelley: Genesis of a Radical (Cameron, Kenneth N), 426

The Young Stalin: The Early Years of an Elusive Revolutionary (Smith, Edward), 436

Young Thomas Hardy (Gittings, Robert), 213

Young Tom Edison, 153

The Young Victoria (Whittle, Tyler), 479

The Young Whistler 1834–1866 (Fleming, Gordon H), 490

Young Wilhelm: The Kaiser’s Early Life, 1859–1888 (Röhl, John C.G), 493

Young Winston, 288, 97

The Younger Pitt: The Reluctant Transition (Ehrman, John), 379

The Younger Pitt: The Years of Acclaim (Ehrman, John), 379

The Youth of André Gide (Delay, Jean), 196

The Youth of Frederick the Great (Lavisse, Ernest), 175

Zachary Taylor (Dyer, Brainerd), 452

Zachary Taylor (Hamilton, Holman), 452

Zachary Taylor: 1784–1850 and Millard Filmore, 1800–1874: Chronology, Documents, Bibliographical Aids (Farrell, John J), 452

Zachary Taylor: Soldier, Planter, Statesman of the Old Southwest (Bauer, K.Jack), 452

Zachary Taylor: Twelfth President of the United States (Kent, Zachary), 452

Zachary Taylor: 12th President of the United States (Collins, David R), 452

Zelda: A Biography (Milford, Nancy), 166

Zina, 467

Zola (Richardson, Joanna), 509

Zola (Walker, Philip), 509

Zola: A Life (Brown, Frederick), 509

Zola and His Times (Josephson, Matthew), 509

Zola and the Bourgeoisie (Nelson, Brian), 509

Zola Before the Rougon-Macquart (Lapp, John S), 509

Index of Figures by Nationality

Numbers refer to entry numbers. This index is sorted by region, then by time period rather than alphabetically. Countries within regions are listed alphabetically following entries for the general region.

Jesus Christ, 248

Albanian

Mother Teresa, 339

American

Abigail Adams, 1

John Adams, 2

John Quincy Adams, 3

Jane Addams, 4

Louisa May Alcott, 6

Susan B.Anthony, 9

Benedict Arnold, 11

John James Audubon, 15

George Balanchine, 22

P.T.Barnum, 24

Clara Barton, 26

Alexander Graham Bell, 31

Leonard Bernstein, 35

Billy the Kid, 36

Daniel Boone, 42

John Wilkes Booth, 43

Louis D.Brandeis, 51

John Brown, 58

William Jennings Bryan, 61

Aaron Burr, 66

John C.Calhoun, 68

Maria Callas, 69

Andrew Carnegie, 74

Kit Carson, 76

Rachel Carson, 77

George Washington Carver, 78

Mary Cassatt, 79

Willa Gather, 80

Henry Clay, 99

Grover Cleveland, 101

Calvin Coolidge, 110

James Fenimore Cooper, 111

Stephen Crane, 114

Davy Crockett, 116

George Armstrong Custer, 119

Jefferson Davis, 123

Eugene V.Debs, 126

John Dewey, 132

Emily Dickinson, 135

Walt Disney, 138

Frederick Douglass, 142

Theodore Dreiser, 145

W.E.B.Du Bois, 147

Amelia Earhart, 151

Mary Baker Eddy, 152

Thomas Alva Edison, 153

Jonathan Edwards, 155

Dwight D.Eisenhower, 157

T.S.Eliot, 159

Duke Ellington, 161

Ralph Waldo Emerson, 162

William Faulkner, 164

F.Scott Fitzgerald, 166

Henry Ford, 168

Benjamin Franklin, 173

John C.Frémont, 176

Robert Frost, 178

Robert Fulton, 179

James A.Garfield, 185

Marcus Garvey, 188

George Gershwin, 195

Emma Goldman, 202

Ulysses S.Grant, 206

Alexander Hamilton, 209

Warren G.Harding, 212

William Henry Harrison, 214

Nathaniel Hawthorne, 215

William Randolph Hearst, 217

Ernest Hemingway, 219

Patrick Henry, 222

Herbert Hoover, 227

J.Edgar Hoover, 228

Harry Houdini, 231

Sam Houston, 232

Howard Hughes, 233

Langston Hughes, 234

Washington Irving, 239

Andrew Jackson, 242

Stonewall Jackson, 243

Henry James, 245

Jesse James, 246

Thomas Jefferson, 247

Andrew Johnson, 251

Lyndon B.Johnson, 252

John Paul Jones, 255

Helen Keller, 266

John F.Kennedy, 267

Robert F.Kennedy, 268

Jack Kerouac, 269

Martin Luther King Jr., 273

Robert E.Lee, 279

Abraham Lincoln, 284

Charles A.Lindbergh Jr., 285

Jack London, 290

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, 291

Robert Lowell, 294

Douglas MacArthur, 297

James Madison and Dolley Madison, 299–300

Malcolm X, 304

Cotton Mather, 316

Joseph R.McCarthy, 319

William McKinley, 320

Margaret Mead, 321

Herman Melville, 324

H.L.Mencken, 325

James Monroe, 333

Marilyn Monroe, 334

J.Pierpont Morgan, 337

Vladimir Nabokov, 344

Richard M.Nixon, 357

Georgia O’Keeffe, 358

Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy Onassis, 359

Eugene O’Neill, 360

J.Robert Oppenheimer, 361

Thomas Paine, 363

George S.Patton Jr., 368

William Penn, 370

Edgar Allan Poe, 380

Ezra Pound, 383

Elvis Presley, 384

Paul Robeson, 400

Jackie Robinson, 402

John D.Rockefeller, 403

Eleanor Roosevelt, 405

Franklin D.Roosevelt, 406

Theodore Roosevelt, 407

Margaret Sanger, 415

William Tecumseh Sherman, 428

Frank Sinatra, 430

Joseph Smith, 434

Gertrude Stein, 438

Wallace Stevens, 441

Harriet Beecher Stowe, 443

Zachary Taylor, 452

Henry David Thoreau, 461

Harry S.Truman, 468

Page 607

Sojourner Truth, 469

Harriet Tubman, 470

Mark Twain, 473

Martin Van Buren, 474

Andy Warhol, 482

Booker T. Washington, 483

George Washington, 484

Daniel Webster, 485

Edith Wharton, 489

James McNeill Whistler, 490

Walt Whitman, 491

Tennessee Williams, 495

William Carlos Williams, 496

Woodrow Wilson, 497

Frank Lloyd Wright, 504

Wilbur Wright and Orville Wright, 505–506

Brigham Young, 508

American Indian

Crazy Horse, 115

Geronimo, 194

Sitting Bull, 431

Tecumseh, 454

Arabian

Muhammad, 341

Argentinian

Jorge Luis Borges, 44

Juan Peron and Eva Peron, 372–373

Austrian

Franz Joseph I, 174

Sigmund Freud, 177

Gustav Mahler, 302

Marie Antoinette, 310

Klemens von Metternich, 327

Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, 340

Arnold Schoenberg, 418

Franz Schubert, 419

Ludwig Wittgenstein, 498

Byzantine

Justinian I and Theodora, 260–261

Carthaginian

Hannibal, 211

Chilean

Pablo Neruda, 351

Chinese

Confucius, 105

Mao Zedong, 309

Sun Yat-Sen, 447

Czech

Antonín Dvořák, 150

Franz Kafka, 262

Danish

Søren Kierkegaard, 272

Dutch

Desiderius Erasmus, 163

Rembrandt, 391

Benedict de Spinoza, 435

Vincent Van Gogh, 475

Jan Vermeer, 478

Egyptian

Cleopatra, 100

Anwar el-Sadat, 413

English

Matthew Arnold, 12

W.H.Auden, 14

Jane Austen, 19

Francis Bacon, 21

Aubrey Beardsley, 28

William Blake, 38

Anne Boleyn, 40

The Brontës, 53–57

The Brownings, 59–60

John Bunyan, 63

Edmund Burke, 64

Lord Byron, 67

Thomas Carlyle, 73

Lewis Carroll, 75

Charlie Chaplin, 88

Charles I, 90

Charles II, 91

Geoffrey Chaucer, 93

Agatha Christie, 96

Winston S.Churchill, 97

Samuel Taylor Coleridge, 102

Joseph Conrad, 106

John Constable, 107

James Cook, 109

Oliver Cromwell, 117

Charles Darwin, 122

Thomas De Quincey, 125

Daniel Defoe, 128

Diana, Princess of Wales, 133

Charles Dickens, 134

Benjamin Disraeli, 139

John Donne, 140

Arthur Conan Doyle, 143

Sir Francis Drake, 144

John Dryden, 146

Edward VII, 154

George Eliot, 158

Elizabeth I, 160

Henry Fielding, 165

E.M.Forster, 169

Thomas Gainsborough, 180

David Garrick, 187

George III, 191

George IV., 193

Gilbert & Sullivan, 197–198

William Gladstone, 199

Oliver Goldsmith, 203

Thomas Hardy, 213

Henry VIII, 221

Alfred Hitchcock, 223

Thomas Hobbes, 225

William Hogarth, 226

Gerard Manley Hopkins, 229

Aldous Huxley, 236

James I, 244

Samuel Johnson, 254

Ben Jonson, 256

John Keats, 265

John Maynard Keynes, 270

Rudyard Kipling, 274

D.H.Lawrence, 277

T.E.Lawrence, 278

John Lennon, 281

C.S.Lewis, 283

David Livingstone, 287

John Locke, 289

Katherine Mansfield, 308

Christopher Marlowe, 311

Andrew Marvell, 312

Mary I, 314

W.Somerset Maugham, 318

John Stuart Mill, 329

John Milton, 330

Sir Thomas More, 336

William Morris, 338

Horatio Nelson, 349

John Henry Newman, 352

Isaac Newton, 353

Florence Nightingale, 356

George Orwell, 362

Samuel Pepys, 371

William Pitt, 379

Alexander Pope, 382

Sir Walter Raleigh, 389

Cecil Rhodes, 393

Richard I, 394

Richard III, 395

Dante Gabriel Rossetti, 408

John Ruskin, 411

Bertrand Russell, 412

William Shakespeare, 423

Mary Shelley, 425

Percy Bysshe Shelley, 426

Richard Brinsley Sheridan, 427

Sir Philip Sidney, 429

John Smith, 433

Sir Henry M.Stanley, 437

Laurence Sterne, 440

Algernon Charles Swinburne, 449

Alfred Lord Tennyson, 456

William Makepeace Thackeray, 458

Thomas a Becket, 459

Anthony Trollope, 466

J.M.W.Turner, 472

Victoria, 479

Arthur Wellesley, Duke of Wellington, 486

H.G.Wells, 487

John Wesley, 488

William the Conqueror, 494

Mary Wollstonecraft, 499

Thomas Wolsey, 500

Virginia Woolf, 501

William Wordsworth, 502

Sir Christopher Wren, 503

Flemish

Peter Paul Rubens, 410

Frank

Charlemagne, 89

French

Honoré de Balzac, 23

Charles Baudelaire, 27

Hector Berlioz, 33

Sarah Bemhardt, 34

John Calvin, 70

Albert Camus, 71

Page 608

Paul Cézanne, 85

Coco Chanel, 87

Colette, 103

Marie Curie, 118

Charles De Gaulle, 124

Claude Debussy, 127

Edgar Degas, 129

Eugene Delacroix, 130

René Descartes, 131

Denis Diderot, 136

Alexandre Dumas, 148

Gustave Flaubert, 167

Anatole France, 170

Paul Gauguin, 189

André Gide, 196

Henri IV, 220

Victor Hugo, 235

Joan of Arc, 249

Marquis de Lafayette, 276

Louis IX, 292

Louis XIV, 293

Stéphane Mallarmé, 305

Edouard Manet, 306

Henri Matisse, 317

Molière, 331

Claude Monet, 332

Michel de Montaigne, 335

Napoleon Bonaparte, 345

Napoleon III and Eugenic, 346–347

Blaise Pascal, 365

Louis Pasteur, 366

Armand-Jean du Plessis, Due de Richelieu, 396

Marcel Proust, 385

François Rabelais, 388

Pierre-Auguste Renoir, 392

Arthur Rimbaud, 398

Maximilien Robespierre, 401

Auguste Rodin, 404

Jean-Jacques Rousseau, 409

George Sand, 414

Jean-Paul Sartre, 416

Stendhal, 439

Pierre Teilhard de Chardin, 455

Henri de Toulouse-Lautrec, 465

Voltaire, 480

Emile Zola, 509

German

Albert, Prince, 5

Johann Sebastian Bach, 20

Ludwig van Beethoven, 30

Otto von Bismarck, 37

Johannes Brahms, 50

Bertolt Brecht, 52

Marlene Dietrich, 137

Albrecht Dürer, 149

Albert Einstein, 156

Frederick the Great, 175

Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, 200

Johann Gutenberg, 208

George Frideric Handel, 210

Franz Joseph Haydn, 216

Heinrich Heine, 218

Adolf Hitler, 224

Immanuel Kant, 264

Martin Luther, 295

Rosa Luxemburg, 296

Thomas Mann, 307

Karl Marx, 313

Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy, 315

Friedrich Nietzsche, 355

Rainer Maria Rilke, 397

Friedrich Schiller, 417

Robert Schumann, 420

Albert Schweitzer, 421

Richard Strauss, 444

Richard Wagner, 481

Wilhelm II, 493

Hungarian

Béla Bartók, 25

Franz Liszt, 286

Indian

Buddha, 62

Indira Gandhi, 182

Mahatma Gandhi, 183

Jawaharlal Nehru, 348

Rabindranath Tagore, 451

Irish

Samuel Beckett, 29

James Joyce, 257

Charles Stewart Parnell, 364

Saint Patrick, 367

George Bernard Shaw, 424

Jonathan Swift, 448

John Millington Synge, 450

Oscar Wilde, 492

William Butler Yeats, 507

Israeli

David Ben-Gurion, 32

Golda Meir, 323

Italian

Saint Thomas Aquinas, 10

Giovanni Boccaccio, 39

The Borgias, 45–47

Sandro Botticelli, 49

Michelangelo Carvaggio, 72

Catherine de' Medici, 81

Catherine of Siena, 82

Christopher Columbus, 104

Dante Alighieri, 121

Francis of Assisi, 171

Galileo Galilei, 181

Giuseppe Garibaldi, 186

Pope John XXIII, 250

Leonardo da Vinci, 282

Niccolo Machiavelli, 298

Lorenzo de' Medici, 322

Michelangelo Buonarroti, 328

Benito Mussolini, 343

Petrarch, 376

Marco Polo, 381

Giacomo Puccini, 386

Raphael, 390

Titian, 462

Arturo Toscanini, 464

Giuseppe Verdi, 477

Macedonian

Alexander the Great, 8

Mexican

Diego Rivera, 399

Mongolian

Genghis Khan, 190

Norwegian

Henrik Ibsen, 237

Edvard Munch, 342

Polish

Frédéric Chopin, 95

Nicolas Copernicus, 112

Portuguese

Ferdinand Magellan, 301

Roman

Saint Augustine, 16

Augustus, 17

Marcus Aurelius, 18

Marcus Tullius Cicero, 98

Constantine the Great, 108

Horace, 230

Julius Caesar, 258

Nero, 350

Saint Paul, 369

Saint Peter, 374

Russian

Alexander I, 7

Catherine the Great, 83

Marc Chagall, 86

Anton Chekhov, 94

Feodor Dostoevsky, 141

Nikolai Gogol, 201

Maxim Gorky, 204

Ivan the Terrible, 241

Wassily Kandinsky, 263

Nikita Khrushchev, 271

Vladimir Ilyich Lenin, 280

Nicholas II, 354

Peter the Great, 375

Aleksandr Pushkin, 387

Joseph Stalin, 436

Igor Stravinsky, 445

Peter Ilyich Tchaikovsky, 453

Leo Tolstoy, 463

Leon Trotsky, 467

Ivan Turgenev, 471

Scottish

James Boswell, 48

Robert Burns, 65

Mary Queen of Scots, 315

Sir Walter Scott, 422

Adam Smith, 432

Robert Louis Stevenson, 442

Spanish

Miguel de Cervantes, 84

Charles V, 92

Hernán Cortés, 113

Salvador Dali, 120

Francisco Franco, 172

Federico Garcia Lorca, 184

Francisco Goya, 205

El Greco, 207

Ignatius of Loyola, 238

Isabella I, 240

Moses Maimonides, 303

Philip II, 377

Pablo Picasso, 378

Page 609

Teresa of Avila, 457

Diego Velázquez, 476

Swedish

August Strindberg, 446

Swiss

Carl Gustav Jung, 259

Paul Klee, 275

Turkish

Kemal Ataturk, 13

Venezuelan

Simón Bolívar, 41

Welsh

David Lloyd George, 288

Dylan Thomas, 460

Index of Figures by Occupation

Numbers refer to entry numbers.

Actor/Actress

Sarah Bernhardt, 34

John Wilkes Booth, 43

Charlie Chaplin, 88

Marlene Dietrich, 137

David Garrick, 187

Molière (Jean-Baptiste Poquelin), 331

Marilyn Monroe, 334

Elvis Presley, 384

Paul Robeson, 400

Frank Sinatra, 430

Architect

Sir Christopher Wren, 503

Frank Lloyd Wright, 504

Artist see also Illustrator; Painter; Sculptor

John James Audubon, 15

Aubrey Beardsley, 28

William Blake, 38

Sandro Botticelli, 49

Branwell Brontë, 54

Michelangelo Merisi da Caravaggio, 72

Mary Cassatt, 79

Paul Cézanne, 85

Marc Chagall, 86

John Constable, 107

Salvador Dali, 120

Edgar Degas, 129

Eugene Delacroix, 130

Walt Disney, 138

Albrecht Dürer, 149

Thomas Gainsborough, 180

Paul Gauguin, 189

Francisco José de Goya y Lucientes, 205

El Greco, 207

William Hogarth, 226

Wassily Kandinsky, 263

Paul Klee, 275

Leonardo da Vinci, 282

Edouard Manet, 306

Henri Matisse, 317

Michelangelo Buonarroti, 328

Claude Monet, 332

William Morris, 338

Edvard Munch, 342

Georgia O’Keeffe, 358

Pablo Picasso, 378

Raphael, 390

Rembrandt, 391

Pierre-Auguste Renoir, 392

Diego Rivera, 399

Auguste Rodin, 404

Dante Gabriel Rossetti, 408

Peter Paul Rubens, 410

Titian, 462

Henri de Toulouse-Lautrec, 465

J.M.W.Turner, 472

Vincent Van Gogh, 475

Diego Velázquez, 476

Jan Vermeer, 478

Andy Warhol, 482

James McNeill Whistler, 490

Astronomer

Nicolas Copernicus, 112

Galileo Galilei, 181

Aviator

Amelia Earhart, 151

Howard Hughes, 233

Charles A.Lindbergh Jr., 285

Orville Wright, 505

Wilbur Wright, 506

Biographer

James Boswell, 48

Business Figure

P.T.Barnum, 24

Andrew Carnegie, 74

Walt Disney, 138

Henry Ford, 168

William Randolph Hearst, 217

Howard Hughes, 233

J.Pierpont Morgan, 337

John D.Rockefeller, 403

Chemist

Marie Curie, 118

Louis Pasteur, 366

Choreographer

George Balanchine, 22

Composer see also Musical Figure

Johann Sebastian Bach, 20

Béla Bartók, 25

Ludwig van Beethoven, 30

Hector Berlioz, 33

Leonard Bernstein, 35

Johannes Brahms, 50

Frédéric Chopin, 95

Claude Debussy, 127

Antonin Dvorák, 150

Duke Ellington, 161

George Gershwin, 195

George Frideric Handel, 210

Franz Joseph Haydn, 216

John Lennon, 281

Franz Liszt, 286

Gustav Mahler, 302

Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy, 315

Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, 340

Giacomo Puccini, 386

Arnold Schoenberg, 418

Franz Schubert, 419

Robert Schumann, 420

Richard Strauss, 444

Igor Stravinsky, 445

Arthur Sullivan, 198

Peter Ilyich Tchaikovsky, 453

Giuseppe Verdi, 477

Richard Wagner, 481

Conductor (music) see also Musical Figure

Leonard Bernstein, 35

Arturo Toscanini, 464

Consort

Albert, Prince Consort of Queen Victoria, 5

Anne Boleyn, 40

Catherine de’ Medici, 81

Diana, Princess of Wales, 133

Eugenie (Empress of France), 347

Marie Antoinette, 310

Theodora, 261

Critic

Matthew Arnold, 12

W.H.Auden, 14

Thomas Carlyle, 73

Samuel Taylor Coleridge, 102

Denis Diderot, 136

André Gide, 196

Aldous Huxley, 236

Samuel Johnson, 254

C.S.Lewis, 283

H.L.Meneken, 325

George Orwell, 362

Edgar Allan Poe, 380

John Ruskin, 411

Dancer see also Choreographer

George Balanchine, 22

Director (film)

Alfred Hitchcock, 223

Dramatist see also Writer

Samuel Beckett, 29

Bertolt Brecht, 52

Robert Browning, 60

Albert Camus, 71

Miguel de Cervantes, 84

Anton Chekhov, 94

Theodore Dreiser, 145

John Dryden, 146

Alexandre Dumas, 148

T.S.Eliot, 159

Henry Fielding, 165

Federico Garcia Lorca, 184

W.S.Gilbert, 197

Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, 200

Nikolai Gogol, 201

Oliver Goldsmith, 203

Maxim Gorky, 204

Henrik Ibsen, 237

Ben Jonson, 256

Christopher Marlowe, 311

Molière (Jean-Baptiste Poquelin), 331

Eugene O’Neill, 360

Jean-Paul Sartre, 416

Friedrich Schiller, 417

William Shakespeare, 423

George Bernard Shaw, 424

Richard Brinsley Sheridan, 427

August Strindberg, 446

Arthur Sullivan, 198

Algernon Charles Swinburne, 449

John Millington Synge, 450

Oscar Wilde, 492

Tennessee Williams, 495

William Butler Yeats, 507

Economist

John Maynard Keynes, 270

John Stuart Mill, 329

Adam Smith, 432

Educator

George Washington Carver, 78

John Dewey, 132

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, 291

Booker T.Washington, 483

Engineer

Robert Fulton, 179

Entertainer see also Dancer; Singer

P.T.Barnum, 24

Harry Houdini, 231

Elvis Presley, 384

Explorer see also Frontiersman

Daniel Boone, 42

Kit Carson, 76

Christopher Columbus, 104

James Cook, 109

Hernán Cortés, 113

Sir Francis Drake, 144

John C.Frémont, 176

David Livingstone, 287

Ferdinand Magellan, 301

Marco Polo, 381

Sir Walter Raleigh, 389

John Smith, 433

Sir Henry M.Stanley, 437

Fashion Designer

Coco Chanel, 87

Filmmaker see also Director (film)

Charlie Chaplin, 88

Walt Disney, 138

Alfred Hitchcock, 223

Andy Warhol, 482

First Lady (U.S.)

Abigail Adams, 1

Dolley Madison, 300

Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy Onassis, 359

Eleanor Roosevelt, 405

Frontiersman see also Explorer

Daniel Boone, 42

Kit Carson, 76

Davy Crockett, 116

Government Official

J.Edgar Hoover, 228

Cecil Rhodes, 393

Armande-Jean du Plessis, Due de Richelieu, 396

Thomas Wolsey, 500

Gunfighter

Billy the Kid, 36

Historian

Thomas Carlyle, 73

Winston S.Churchill, 97

Illustrator see also Artist

John James Audubon, 15

Aubrey Beardsley, 28

Industrialist

Andrew Carnegie, 74

Henry Ford, 168

Howard Hughes, 233

J.Pierpont Morgan, 337

John D.Rockefeller, 403

Inventor

Alexander Graham Bell, 31

Thomas Alva Edison, 153

Henry Ford, 168

Robert Fulton, 179

Johann Gutenberg, 208

Orville Wright, 505

Wilbur Wright, 506

Journalist see also Writer

H.L.Mencken, 325

Sir Henry M.Stanley, 437

Emile Zola, 509

Lawyer

Louis D.Brandeis, 51

Henry Clay, 99

Mahatma Gandhi, 183

Sir Thomas More, 336

Mathematician

Lewis Carroll, 75

René Descartes, 131

Galileo Galilei, 181

Isaac Newton, 353

Blaise Pascal, 365

Bertrand Russell, 412

Military Figure

Alexander the Great, 8

Benedict Arnold, 11

Kemal Ataturk, 13

Augustus, 17

Cesare Borgia, 45

Kit Carson, 76

Charlemagne, 89

James Cook, 109

Hernán Cortés, 113

Crazy Horse, 115

Davy Crockett, 116

Oliver Cromwell, 117

George Armstrong Custer, 119

Jefferson Davis, 123

Charles DC Gaulle, 124

Sir Francis Drake, 144

Dwight D.Eisenhower, 157

Francisco Franco, 172

John C.Frémont, 176

Giuseppe Garibaldi, 186

Genghis Khan, 190

Geronimo, 194

Ulysses S.Grant, 206

Hannibal, 211

William Henry Harrison, 214

Adolf Hitler, 224

Sam Houston, 232

Andrew Jackson, 242

Thomas J. "Stonewall" Jackson, 243

Joan of Arc, 249

John Paul Jones, 255

Julius Caesar, 258

Marquis de Lafayette, 276

T.E.Lawrence, 278

Robert E.Lee, 279

Douglas MacArthur, 297

Napoleon Bonaparte, 345

Horatio Nelson, 349

George S.Patton Jr., 368

Richard I, 394

William Tecumseh Sherman, 428

Sitting Bull, 431

John Smith, 433

Zachary Taylor, 452

Tecumseh, 454

George Washington, 484

Duke of Wellington (Arthur Wellesley), 486

William the Conqueror, 494

Musical Figure see also Composer; Conductor (music); Singer

Johann Sebastian Bach, 20

Béla Bartók, 25

Ludwig van Beethoven, 30

Hector Berlioz, 33

Leonard Bernstein, 35

Johannes Brahms, 50

Frédéric Chopin, 95

Claude Debussy, 127

Antonin Dvorák, 150

Duke Ellington, 161

George Gershwin, 195

George Frideric Handel, 210

Franz Joseph Haydn, 216

John Lennon, 281

Franz Liszt, 286

Gustav Mahler, 302

Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy, 315

Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, 340

Giacomo Puccini, 386

Arnold Schoenberg, 418

Franz Schubert, 419

Robert Schumann, 420

Richard Strauss, 444

Igor Stravinsky, 445

Arthur Sullivan, 198

Peter Ilyich Tchaikovsky, 453

Arturo Toscanini, 464

Giuseppe Verdi, 477

Richard Wagner, 481

Nobleman/Noblewoman

Lucrezia Borgia, 46

Diana, Princess of Wales, 133

Lorenzo de' Medici, 322

Sir Philip Sidney, 429

Novelist see also Writer

Louisa May Alcott, 6

Jane Austen, 19

Honoré de Balzac, 23

Samuel Beckett, 29

Anne Brontë, 53

Charlotte Brontë, 55

Emily Brontë, 56

Albert Camus, 71

Willa Gather, 80

Miguel de Cervantes, 84

Agatha Christie, 96

Colette, 103

Joseph Conrad, 106

James Fenimore Cooper, 111

Stephen Crane, 114

Daniel Defoe, 128

Charles Dickens, 134

Benjamin Disraeli, 139

Feodor Dostoevsky, 141

Theodore Dreiser, 145

Alexandre Dumas, 148

George Eliot, 158

William Faulkner, 164

Henry Fielding, 165

F.Scott Fitzgerald, 166

Gustave Flaubert, 167

E.M.Forster, 169

André Gide, 196

Nikolai Gogol, 201

Thomas Hardy, 213

Nathaniel Hawthorne, 215

Ernest Hemingway, 219

Victor Hugo, 235

Aldous Huxley, 236

Henry James, 245

James Joyce, 257

Franz Kafka, 262

Jack Kerouac, 269

Rudyard Kipling, 274

D.H.Lawrence, 277

C.S.Lewis, 283

Jack London, 290

Thomas Mann, 307

W.Somerset Maugham, 318

Herman Melville, 324

Vladimir Nabokov, 344

George Orwell, 362

Marcel Proust, 385

George Sand, 414

Sir Walter Scott, 422

Mary Shelley, 425

Stendhal, 439

Laurence Sterne, 440

Robert Louis Stevenson, 442

Harriet Beecher Stowe, 443

August Strindberg, 446

William Makepeace Thackeray, 458

Leo Tolstoy, 463

Anthony Trollope, 466

Ivan Turgenev, 471

Mark Twain, 473

H.G.Wells, 487

Edith Wharton, 489

Virginia Woolf, 501

Emile Zola, 509

Nurse

Clara Barton, 26

Florence Nightingale, 356

Margaret Sanger, 415

Outlaw

Billy the Kid, 36

Jesse James, 246

Painter see also Artist

Sandro Botticelli, 49

Michelangelo Merisi da Caravaggio, 72

Mary Cassatt, 79

Paul Cézanne, 85

Marc Chagall, 86

John Constable, 107

Salvador Dali, 120

Edgar Degas, 129

Eugene Delacroix, 130

Albrecht Dürer, 149

Thomas Gainsborough, 180

Paul Gauguin, 189

Francisco Jose de Goya y Lucientes, 205

El Greco, 207

Wassily Kandinsky, 263

Paul Klee, 275

Leonardo da Vinci, 282

Edouard Manet, 306

Henri Matisse, 317

Michelangelo Buonarroti, 328

Claude Monet, 332

Edvard Munch, 342

Georgia O'Keeffe, 358

Pablo Picasso, 378

Raphael, 390

Rembrandt, 391

Pierre-Auguste Renoir, 392

Diego Rivera, 399

Dante Gabriel Rossetti, 408

Peter Paul Rubens, 410

Titian, 462

Henri de Toulouse-Lautrec, 465

J.M.W.Turner, 472

Vincent Van Gogh, 475

Diego Velázquez, 476

Jan Vermeer, 478

James McNeill Whistler, 490

Philosopher

Marcus Aurelius, 18

Francis Bacon, 21

Marcus Tullius Cicero, 98

Confucius, 105

René Descartes, 131

John Dewey, 132

Denis Diderot, 136

Ralph Waldo Emerson, 162

Desiderius Erasmus, 163

Thomas Hobbes, 225

Immanuel Kant, 264

Søren Kierkegaard, 272

John Locke, 289

Niccolo Machiavelli, 298

Moses Maimonides, 303

Karl Marx, 313

John Stuart Mill, 329

Isaac Newton, 353

Friedrich Nietzsche, 355

Thomas Paine, 363

Jean-Jacques Rousseau, 409

Bertrand Russell, 412

Jean-Paul Sartre, 416

Albert Schweitzer, 421

Benedict de Spinoza, 435

Pierre Teilhard de Chardin, 455

Voltaire, 480

Ludwig Wittgenstein, 498

Physician

Arthur Conan Doyle, 143

Sigmund Freud, 177

Carl Gustav Jung, 259

Albert Schweitzer, 421

Physicist

Albert Einstein, 156

J.Robert Oppenheimer, 361

Pioneer

Daniel Boone, 42

Poet see also Writer

Matthew Arnold, 12

W.H.Auden, 14

Charles Baudelaire, 27

William Blake, 38

Bertolt Brecht, 52

Emily Brontë, 56

Elizabeth Barrett Browning, 59

Robert Browning, 60

Robert Burns, 65

George Gordon, Lord Byron, 67

Geoffrey Chaucer, 93

Samuel Taylor Coleridge, 102

Dante Alighieri, 121

Emily Dickinson, 135

John Donne, 140

John Dryden, 146

T.S.Eliot, 159

Ralph Waldo Emerson, 162

Robert Frost, 178

Federico Garcia Lorca, 184

Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, 200

Oliver Goldsmith, 203

Thomas Hardy, 213

Heinrich Heine, 218

Gerard Manley Hopkins, 229

Horace, 230

Langston Hughes, 234

Victor Hugo, 235

Ben Jonson, 256

John Keats, 265

Rudyard Kipling, 274

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, 291

Robert Lowell, 294

Stéphane Mallarmé, 305

Christopher Marlowe, 311

Andrew Marvell, 312

Herman Melville, 324

John Milton, 330

William Morris, 338

Pablo Neruda, 351

Petrarch, 376

Edgar Allan Poe, 380

Alexander Pope, 382

Ezra Pound, 383

Aleksandr Pushkin, 387

Rainer Maria Rilke, 397

Arthur Rimbaud, 398

Sir Walter Scott, 422

William Shakespeare, 423

Percy Bysshe Shelley, 426

Sir Philip Sidney, 429

Wallace Stevens, 441

Robert Louis Stevenson, 442

Jonathan Swift, 448

Algernon Charles Swinburne, 449

Rabindranath Tagore, 451

Alfred Lord Tennyson, 456

Dylan Thomas, 460

Walt Whitman, 491

Oscar Wilde, 492

William Carlos Williams, 496

William Wordsworth, 502

William Butler Yeats, 507

Political Figure see also Government Official

John Adams, 2

John Quincy Adams, 3

Albert, Prince Consort of Queen Victoria, 5

Kemal Ataturk, 13

Francis Bacon, 21

David Ben-Gurion, 32

Otto von Bismarck, 37

Simon Bolivar, 41

Cesare Borgia, 45

Rodrigo Borgia (Pope Alexander VI), 47

William Jennings Bryan, 61

Edmund Burke, 64

Aaron Burr, 66

John C.Calhoun, 68

Winston S.Churchill, 97

Marcus Tullius Cicero, 98

Henry Clay, 99

Grover Cleveland, 101

Calvin Coolidge, 110

Davy Crockett, 116

Oliver Cromwell, 117

Jefferson Davis, 123

Charles De Gaulle, 124

Eugene V.Debs, 126

Benjamin Disraeli, 139

Frederick Douglass, 142

W.E.B.Du Bois, 147

Dwight D.Eisenhower, 157

Francisco Franco, 172

Benjamin Franklin, 173

John C.Frémont, 176

Indira Gandhi, 182

Mahatma Gandhi, 183

James A.Garfield, 185

Giuseppe Garibaldi, 186

Marcus Garvey, 188

William Gladstone, 199

Ulysses S.Grant, 206

Alexander Hamilton, 209

Warren G.Harding, 212

William Henry Harrison, 214

Patrick Henry, 222

Adolf Hitler, 224

Herbert Hoover, 227

Sam Houston, 232

Andrew Jackson, 242

Thomas Jefferson, 247

Andrew Johnson, 251

Lyndon B.Johnson, 252

Julius Caesar, 258

John F.Kennedy, 267

Robert F.Kennedy, 268

Nikita Khrushchev, 271

Marquis de Lafayette, 276

Vladimir Ilyich Lenin, 280

Abraham Lincoln, 284

Charles A.Lindbergh Jr., 285

David Lloyd George, 288

James Madison, 299

Malcolm X, 304

Mao Zedong (Mao Tse-tung), 309

Joseph R.McCarthy, 319

William McKinley, 320

Golda Meir, 323

Klemens von Mettermich, 327

James Monroe, 333

Sir Thomas More, 336

Benito Mussolini, 343

Jawaharlal Nehru, 348

Pablo Neruda, 351

Richard M.Nixon, 357

Charles Stewart Parnell, 364

William Penn, 370

Eva Peron, 373

Juan Peron, 372

William Pitt, 379

Armand-Jean du Plessis, Due de Richelieu, 396

Sir Walter Raleigh, 389

Cecil Rhodes, 393

Maximilien Robespierre, 401

Eleanor Roosevelt, 405

Franklin D.Roosevelt, 406

Theodore Roosevelt, 407

Anwar el-Sadat, 413

Richard Brinsley Sheridan, 427

Joseph Stalin, 436

Sun Yat-Sen, 447

Zachary Taylor, 452

Leon Trotsky, 467

Harry S Truman, 468

Martin Van Buren, 474

George Washington, 484

Daniel Webster, 485

Duke of Wellington (Arthur Wellesley), 486

Woodrow Wilson, 497

Brigham Young, 508

Pope

Rodrigo Borgia (Pope Alexander VI), 47

Pope John XXIII, 250

Publisher

William Randolph Hearst, 217

Religious Figure or Leader see also Pope

Saint Thomas Aquinas, 10

Saint Augustine, 16

Rodrigo Borgia (Pope Alexander VI), 47

Patrick Brontë, 57

Buddha, 62

John Bunyan, 63

John Calvin, 70

Catherine of Siena, 82

Confucius, 105

John Donne, 140

Mary Baker Eddy, 152

Jonathan Edwards, 155

Francis of Assisi, 171

Mahatma Gandhi, 183

Gerard Manley Hopkins, 229

Ignatius of Loyola, 238

Jesus Christ, 248

Pope John XXIII, 250

Martin Luther King Jr., 273

David Livingstone, 287

Martin Luther, 295

Moses Maimonides, 303

Cotton Mather, 316

Mother Teresa, 339

Muhammad, 341

John Henry Newman, 352

Blaise Pascal, 365

Saint Patrick, 367

Saint Paul, 369

Saint Peter, 374

Armand-Jean du Plessis, Due de Richelieu, 396

Joseph Smith, 434

Laurence Sterne, 440

Jonathan Swift, 448

Pierre Teilhard de Chardin, 455

Teresa of Avila, 457

Thomas a Becket, 459

John Wesley, 488

Thomas Wolsey, 500

Brigham Young, 508

Revolutionary

Simon Bolivar, 41

John Brown, 58

Patrick Henry, 222

Vladimir Ilyich Lenin, 280

Rosa Luxemburg, 296

Thomas Paine, 363

Maximilien Robespierre, 401

Sun Yat-Sen, 447

Leon Trotsky, 467

Ruler

Alexander I, 7

Alexander the Great, 8

Augustus, 17

Marcus Aurelius, 18

Catherine the Great, 83

Charlemagne, 89

Charles I, 90

Charles II, 91

Charles V, 92

Cleopatra, 100

Constantine the Great, 108

Oliver Cromwell, 117

Edward VII, 154

Elizabeth I, 160

Eugenic (Empress of France), 347

Franz Joseph I, 174

Frederick the Great (Frederick II of Prussia), 175

Genghis Khan, 190

George III, 191

George IV, 193

Henri IV, 220

Henry VIII, 221

Adolf Hitler, 224

Isabella I, 240

Ivan the Terrible, 241

James I, 244

Justinian I, 260

Louis IX, 292

Louis XIV, 293

Mary I, 314

Mary Queen of Scots, 315

Napoleon Bonaparte, 345

Napoleon III, 346

Nero, 350

Nicholas II, 354

Peter the Great, 375

Philip II, 377

Richard I, 394

Richard III, 395

Theodora, 261

Victoria, 479

Wilhelm II, 493

William the Conqueror, 494

Scientist

John James Audubon, 15

Francis Bacon, 21

Alexander Graham Bell, 31

Rachel Carson, 77

George Washington Carver, 78

Nicolas Copernicus, 112

Marie Curie, 118

Charles Darwin, 122

René Descartes, 131

Albert Einstein, 156

Benjamin Franklin, 173

Sigmund Freud, 177

Galileo Galilei, 181

Carl Gustav Jung, 259

Margaret Mead, 321

Isaac Newton, 353

J.Robert Oppenheimer, 361

Blaise Pascal, 365

Louis Pasteur, 366

Albert Schweitzer, 421

Pierre Teilhard de Chardin, 455

Sculptor see also Artist

Michelangelo Buonarroti, 328

Auguste Rodin, 404

Singer see also Actor/Actress; Entertainer; Musical Figure

Maria Callas, 69

Marlene Dietrich, 137

John Lennon, 281

El vis Presley, 384

Paul Robeson, 400

Social Reformer

Jane Addams, 4

Susan B.Anthony, 9

Clara Barton, 26

Louis D.Brandeis, 51

John Brown, 58

Eugene V.Debs, 126

Frederick Douglass, 142

W.E.B.Du Bois, 147

Frederick the Great (Frederick II of Prussia), 175

Marcus Garvey, 188

Emma Goldman, 202

Martin Luther King Jr., 273

Rosa Luxemburg, 296

Malcolm X, 304

Florence Nightingale, 356

Margaret Sanger, 415

Sojourner Truth, 469

Harriet Tubman, 470

Sports Figure

Jackie Robinson, 402

Tribal Chief

Crazy Horse, 115

Geronimo, 194

Sitting Bull, 431

Tecumseh, 454

Women's Rights Activist

Susan B.Anthony, 9

Sojourner Truth, 469

Mary Wollstonecraft, 499

Writer see also Dramatist; Journalist; Novelist; Poet

Louisa May Alcott, 6

Saint Thomas Aquinas, 10

Matthew Arnold, 12

W.H.Auden, 14

Marcus Aurelius, 18

Jane Austen, 19

Honoré de Balzac, 23

Charles Baudelaire, 27

Samuel Beckett, 29

William Blake, 38

Giovanni Boccaccio, 39

Jorge Luis Borges, 44

James Boswell, 48

Bertolt Brecht, 52

Anne Brontë, 53

Charlotte Brontë, 55

Emily Brontë, 56

Elizabeth Barrett Browning, 59

Robert Browning, 60

John Bunyan, 63

Edmund Burke, 64

Robert Burns, 65

George Gordon, Lord Byron, 67

Albert Camus, 71

Thomas Carlyle, 73

Lewis Carroll, 75

Rachel Carson, 77

Willa Gather, 80

Miguel de Cervantes, 84

Geoffrey Chaucer, 93

Anton Chekhov, 94

Agatha Christie, 96

Winston S.Churchill, 97

Samuel Taylor Coleridge, 102

Colette, 103

Joseph Conrad, 106

James Fenimore Cooper, 111

Stephen Crane, 114

Dante Alighieri, 121

Charles Darwin, 122

Thomas De Quincey, 125

Daniel Defoe, 128

Charles Dickens, 134

Emily Dickinson, 135

Denis Diderot, 136

Benjamin Disraeli, 139

John Donne, 140

Feodor Dostoevsky, 141

Arthur Conan Doyle, 143

Theodore Dreiser, 145

John Dryden, 146

W.E.B.Du Bois, 147

Alexandre Dumas, 148

George Eliot, 158

T.S.Eliot, 159

Ralph Waldo Emerson, 162

William Faulkner, 164

Henry Fielding, 165

F.Scott Fitzgerald, 166

Gustave Flaubert, 167

E.M.Forster, 169

Anatole France, 170

Benjamin Franklin, 173

Sigmund Freud, 177

Robert Frost, 178

Federico Garcia Lorca, 184

André Gide, 196

W.S.Gilbert, 197

Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, 200

Nikolai Gogol, 201

Emma Goldman, 202

Oliver Goldsmith, 203

Maxim Gorky, 204

Thomas Hardy, 213

Nathaniel Hawthorne, 215

Heinrich Heine, 218

Ernest Hemingway, 219

Thomas Hobbes, 225

Gerard Manley Hopkins, 229

Horace, 230

Langston Hughes, 234

Victor Hugo, 235

Aldous Huxley, 236

Henrik Ibsen, 237

Washington Irving, 239

Henry James, 245

Samuel Johnson, 254

Ben Jonson, 256

James Joyce, 257

Carl Gustav Jung, 259

Franz Kafka, 262

John Keats, 265

Helen Keller, 266

Jack Kerouac, 269

Rudyard Kipling, 274

D.H.Lawrence, 277

C.S.Lewis, 283

Jack London, 290

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, 291

Robert Lowell, 294

Niccolo Machiavelli, 298

Stéphane Mallarmé, 305

Thomas Mann, 307

Katherine Mansfield, 308

Christopher Marlowe, 311

Andrew Marvell, 312

Cotton Mather, 316

W.Somerset Maugham, 318

Margaret Mead, 321

Herman Melville, 324

H.L.Mencken, 325

John Stuart Mill, 329

John Milton, 330

Molière (Jean-Baptiste Poquelin), 331

Michel de Montaigne, 335

Sir Thomas More, 336

William Morris, 338

Vladimir Nabokov, 344

Pablo Neruda, 351

John Henry Newman, 352

Eugene O’Neill, 360

George Orwell, 362

Thomas Paine, 363

Samuel Pepys, 371

Petrarch, 376

Edgar Allan Poe, 380

Marco Polo, 381

Alexander Pope, 382

Ezra Pound, 383

Marcel Proust, 385

Aleksandr Pushkin, 387

François Rabelais, 388

Sir Walter Raleigh, 389

Rainer Maria Rilke, 397

Arthur Rimbaud, 398

Dante Gabriel Rossetti, 408

Jean-Jacques Rousseau, 409

John Ruskin, 411

George Sand, 414

Jean-Paul Sartre, 416

Friedrich Schiller, 417

Albert Schweitzer, 421

Sir Walter Scott, 422

William Shakespeare, 423

George Bernard Shaw, 424

Mary Shelley, 425

Percy Bysshe Shelley, 426

Richard Brinsley Sheridan, 427

Sir Philip Sidney, 429

Sir Henry M.Stanley, 437

Gertrude Stein, 438

Stendhal, 439

Laurence Steme, 440

Wallace Stevens, 441

Robert Louis Stevenson, 442

Harriet Beecher Stowe, 443

August Strindberg, 446

Jonathan Swift, 448

Algernon Charles Swinburne, 449

John Millington Synge, 450

Rabindranath Tagore, 451

Alfred Lord Tennyson, 456

William Makepeace Thackeray, 458

Dylan Thomas, 460

Henry David Thoreau, 461

Leo Tolstoy, 463

Anthony Trollope, 466

Ivan Turgenev, 471

Mark Twain, 473

Voltaire, 480

H.G.Wells, 487

Edith Wharton, 489

Walt Whitman, 491

Oscar Wilde, 492

Tennessee Williams, 495

William Carlos Williams, 496

Mary Wollstonecraft, 499

Virginia Woolf, 501

William Wordsworth, 502

William Butler Yeats, 507

Emile Zola, 509

Index of Figures by Time, Period, and Place

Numbers refer to entry numbers.

Ancient World/Greece

Alexander the Great, 8

Ancient World/Roman Empire

Saint Augustine, 16

Augustus, 17

Marcus Aurelius, 18

Marcus Tullius Cicero, 98

Cleopatra, 100

Constantine the Great, 108

Hannibal, 211

Horace, 230

Jesus Christ, 248

Julius Caesar, 258

Nero, 350

Saint Paul, 369

Saint Peter, 374

Asia, China, India, and the Middle East/Before Twentieth Century

Buddha, 62

Confucius, 105

Genghis Khan, 190

Muhammad, 341

Asia, China, India, and the Middle East/Twentieth Century

Indira Gandhi, 182

Mahatma Gandhi, 183

Mao Zedong, 309

Golda Meir, 323

Mother Teresa, 339

Jawaharlal Nehru, 348

Anwar el-Sadat, 413

Sun Yat-Sen, 447

Rabindranath Tagore, 451

Europe/Before Eleventh Century

Charlemagne, 89

Justinian I and Theodora, 260–261

Saint Patrick, 367

Europe/Middle Ages

Saint Thomas Aquinas, 10

Francis of Assisi, 171

Genghis Khan, 190

Johann Gutenberg, 208

Moses Maimonides, 303

Richard I, 394

Europe/Renaissance

Albrecht Dürer, 149

Desiderius Erasmus, 163

Françoise Rabelais, 388

Europe/Sixteenth Century

John Calvin, 70

Catherine de' Medici, 81

Charles V, 92

Nicolas Copernicus, 112

Martin Luther, 295

Ferdinand Magellan, 301

Mary Queen of Scots, 315

Europe/Seventeenth Century

René Descartes, 131

Molière, 331

Rembrandt, 391

Peter Paul Rubens, 410

Benedict de Spinoza, 435

Jan Vermeer, 478

Europe/Eighteenth Century

Johann Sebastian Bach, 20

Frederick the Great, 175

Franz Joseph Haydn, 216

Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, 340

Europe/Napoleonic Era (1790s–1815)

Francisco Goya, 205

Napoleon Bonaparte, 345

Horatio Nelson, 349

Arthur Wellesley, Duke of Wellington, 486

Europe/Nineteenth Century

Honoré de Balzac, 23

Charles Baudelaire, 27

Ludwig van Beethoven, 30

Hector Berlioz, 33

Frédéric Chopin, 95

Franz Joseph I, 174

Henrik Ibsen, 237

Søren Kierkegaard, 272

Franz Liszt, 286

Gustav Mahler, 302

Karl Marx, 313

Klemens von Mettemich, 327

Franz Schubert, 419

Robert Schumann, 420

August Strindberg, 446

Vincent Van Gogh, 475

Richard Wagner, 481

Europe/Twentieth Century

Kemal Ataturk, 13

Béla Bartók, 25

Samuel Beckett, 29

David Ben-Gurion, 32

Maria Callas, 69

Marc Chagall, 86

Charlie Chaplin, 88

Winston S.Churchill, 97

Marie Curie, 118

Salvador Dali, 120

Antonín Dvorák, 150

Albert Einstein, 156

T.S.Eliot, 159

Franz Joseph I, 174

Sigmund Freud, 177

Pope John XXIII, 250

Page 617

James Joyce, 257

Carl Gustav Jung, 259

Franz Kafka, 262

Wassily Kandinsky, 263

Paul Klee, 275

Rosa Luxemburg, 296

Gustav Mahler, 302

Thomas Mann, 307

Katherine Mansfield, 308

Edvard Munch, 342

Pablo Picasso, 378

Ezra Pound, 383

Arnold Schoenberg, 418

Albert Schweitzer, 421

Gertrude Stein, 438

Igor Stravinsky, 445

August Strindberg, 446

Arturo Toscanini, 464

Ludwig Wittgenstein, 498

Europe/World War I (1914–1918)

Vladimir Ilyich Lenin, 280

Nicholas II, 354

Europe/World War II (1939–1945)

Winston S.Churchill, 97

Adolf Hitler, 224

Benito Mussolini, 343

Joseph Stalin, 436

England/Middle Ages

Geoffrey Chaucer, 93

Richard I, 394

Richard III, 395

Thomas a Becket, 459

William the Conqueror, 494

England/Tudor Period (1485–1557)

Anne Boleyn, 40

Henry VIII, 221

Mary I, 314

Sir Thomas More, 336

Thomas Wolsey, 500

England/Elizabethan and Jacobean Periods (1558–1625)

Francis Bacon, 21

John Donne, 140

Sir Francis Drake, 144

Elizabeth I, 160

James I, 244

Ben Jonson, 256

Christopher Marlowe, 311

Mary Queen of Scots, 315

Sir Walter Raleigh, 389

William Shakespeare, 423

Sir Philip Sidney, 429

England/Seventeenth Century

John Bunyan, 63

Charles I, 90

Charles II, 91

Oliver Cromwell, 117

John Dryden, 146

Thomas Hobbes, 225

John Locke, 289

Andrew Marvell, 312

John Milton, 330

Isaac Newton, 353

Samuel Pepys, 371

Sir Christopher Wren, 503

England/Georgian Period (1714–1810)

William Blake, 38

James Boswell, 48

Edmund Burke, 64

Robert Burns, 65

John Constable, 107

James Cook, 109

Daniel Defoe, 128

Henry Fielding, 165

Thomas Gainsborough, 180

David Garrick, 187

George III, 191

Oliver Goldsmith, 203

George Frideric Handel, 210

William Hogarth, 226

Samuel Johnson, 254

Horatio Nelson, 349

Isaac Newton, 353

Alexander Pope, 382

Richard Brinsley Sheridan, 427

Adam Smith, 432

Laurence Sterne, 440

Jonathan Swift, 448

John Wesley, 488

Mary Wollstonecraft, 499

Sir Christopher Wren, 503

England/Regency Period (1811–1820)

Jane Austen, 19

William Blake, 38

Lord Byron, 67

Samuel Taylor Coleridge, 102

John Constable, 107

Thomas De Quincey, 125

George IV, 193

John Keats, 265

William Pitt, 379

Sir Walter Scott, 422

Mary Shelley, 425

Percy Bysshe Shelley, 426

Richard Brinsley Sheridan, 427

J.M.W.Turner, 472

Arthur Wellesley, Duke of Wellington, 486

William Wordsworth, 502

England/Victorian Period (1837–1901)

Albert, Prince, 5

Matthew Arnold, 12

Aubrey Beardsley, 28

The Brontës, 53–57

The Brownings, 59–60

Thomas Carlyle, 73

Lewis Carroll, 75

Joseph Conrad, 106

Charles Darwin, 122

Charles Dickens, 134

Benjamin Disraeli, 139

Arthur Conan Doyle, 143

Edward VII, 154

George Eliot, 158

Gilbert & Sullivan, 197–198

William Gladstone, 199

Thomas Hardy, 213

Gerard Manley Hopkins, 229

Rudyard Kipling, 274

David Livingstone, 287

John Stuart Mill, 329

William Morris, 338

John Henry Newman, 352

Florence Nightingale, 356

Charles Stewart Parnell, 364

Cecil Rhodes, 393

Dante Gabriel Rossetti, 408

John Ruskin, 411

George Bernard Shaw, 424

Sir Henry M.Stanley, 437

Robert Louis Stevenson, 442

Algernon Charles Swinburne, 449

John Millington Synge, 450

Alfred Lord Tennyson, 456

William Makepeace Thackeray, 458

Anthony Trollope, 466

J.M.W.Turner, 472

Victoria, 479

H.G.Wells, 487

James McNeill Whistler, 490

Oscar Wilde, 492

William Wordsworth, 502

William Butler Yeats, 507

England/Edwardian Period (1901–1910)

Edward VII, 154

E.M.Forster, 169

Henry James, 245

John Maynard Keynes, 270

Rudyard Kipling, 274

D.H.Lawrence, 277

John Millington Synge, 450

H.G.Wells, 487

England/World War I

T.E.Lawrence, 278

David Lloyd George, 288

England/Twentieth Century

W.H.Auden, 14

Agatha Christie, 96

Winston S.Churchill, 97

Joseph Conrad, 106

Diana, Princess of Wales, 133

Arthur Conan Doyle, 143

E.M.Forster, 169

Thomas Hardy, 213

Alfred Hitchcock, 223

Aldous Huxley, 236

John Maynard Keynes, 270

D.H.Lawrence, 277

John Lennon, 281

C.S.Lewis, 283

David Lloyd George, 288

W.Somerset Maugham, 318

George Orwell, 362

Bertrand Russell, 412

George Bernard Shaw, 424

Dylan Thomas, 460

Virginia Woolf, 501

William Butler Yeats, 507

France/Middle Ages

Louis IX, 292

France/Fifteenth Century

Joan of Arc, 249

François Rabelais, 388

France/Sixteenth Century

Henri IV, 220

Michel de Montaigne, 335

France/Seventeenth-Century

René Descartes, 131

Louis XIV, 293

Molière, 331

Blaise Pascal, 365

Armand-Jean du Plessis, Due de Richelieu, 396

France/Eighteenth Century

Denis Diderot, 136

Marquis de Lafayette, 276

Marie Antoinette, 310

Napoleon Bonaparte, 345

Maximilien Robespierre, 401

Jean-Jacques Rousseau, 409

Voltaire, 480

France/Nineteenth Century

Honoré de Balzac, 23

Charles Baudelaire, 27

Hector Berlioz, 33

Sarah Bernhardt, 34

Mary Cassatt, 79

Paul Cézanne, 85

Claude Debussy, 127

Edgar Degas, 129

Eugene Delacroix, 130

Alexandre Dumas, 148

Gustave Flaubert, 167

Paul Gauguin, 189

Victor Hugo, 235

Stéphane Mallarmé, 305

Edouard Manet, 306

Claude Monet, 332

Napoleon Bonaparte, 345

Napoleon III and Eugenic, 346–347

Louis Pasteur, 366

Pierre-Auguste Renoir, 392

Arthur Rimbaud, 398

Auguste Rodin, 404

George Sand, 414

Stendhal, 439

Henri de Toulouse-Lautrec, 465

Emile Zola, 509

France/Twentieth Century

Sarah Bernhardt, 34

Albert Camus, 71

Mary Cassatt, 79

Paul Cézanne, 85

Coco Chanel, 87

Colette, 103

Marie Curie, 118

Charles De Gaulle, 124

Claude Debussy, 127

Edgar Degas, 129

Anatole France, 170

André Gide, 196

Henri Matisse, 317

Claude Monet, 332

Marcel Proust, 385

Jean-Paul Sartre, 416

Pierre Teilhard de Chardin, 455

Germany/Renaissance

Albrecht Dürer, 149

Germany/Sixteenth Century

Martin Luther, 295

Germany/Eighteenth Century

Johann Sebastian Bach, 20

Frederick the Great, 175

Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, 200

Immanuel Kant, 264

Friedrich Schiller, 417

Germany/Nineteenth Century

Ludwig van Beethoven, 30

Otto von Bismarck, 37

Johannes Brahms, 50

Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, 200

Heinrich Heine, 218

Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy, 315

Friedrich Nietzsche, 355

Richard Wagner, 481

Wilhelm II, 493

Germany/Twentieth Century

Bertolt Brecht, 52

Albert Einstein, 156

Adolf Hitler, 224

Rosa Luxemburg, 296

Thomas Mann, 307

Rainer Maria Rilke, 397

Richard Strauss, 444

Wilhelm II, 493

Italy/Middle Ages

Saint Thomas Aquinas, 10

Catherine of Siena, 82

Dante Alighieri, 121

Francis of Assisi, 171

Marco Polo, 381

Italy/Renaissance

Giovanni Boccaccio, 39

The Borgias, 45–47

Sandro Botticelli, 49

Galileo Galilei, 181

Leonardo da Vinci, 282

Niccolo Machiavelli, 298

Lorenzo de' Medici, 322

Michelangelo Buonarroti, 328

Petrarch, 376

Raphael, 390

Titian, 462

Italy/Sixteenth Century

Michelangelo Carvaggio, 72

Italy/Seventeenth Century

Michelangelo Carvaggio, 72

Italy/Nineteenth Century

Giuseppe Garibaldi, 186

Giacomo Puccini, 386

Giuseppe Verdi, 477

Italy/Twentieth Century

Pope John XXIII, 250

Benito Mussolini, 343

Giacomo Puccini, 386

Russia/Before Nineteenth Century

Catherine the Great, 83

Ivan the Terrible, 241

Peter the Great, 375

Russia/Nineteenth Century

Alexander I, 7

Feodor Dostoevsky, 141

Nikolai Gogol, 201

Aleksandr Pushkin, 387

Peter Ilyich Tchaikovsky, 453

Leo Tolstoy, 463

Ivan Turgenev, 471

Russia/Early Twentieth Century

Anton Chekhov, 94

Maxim Gorky, 204

Nicholas II, 354

Russia/Soviet Era

Nikita Khrushchev, 271

Vladimir Ilyich Lenin, 280

Joseph Stalin, 436

Leon Trotsky, 467

Spain/Before Nineteenth Century

Miguel de Cervantes, 84

Charles V, 92

Christopher Columbus, 104

Hernán Cortés, 113

Francisco Goya, 205

El Greco, 207

Ignatius of Loyola, 238

Isabella I, 240

Moses Maimonides, 303

Philip II, 377

Teresa of Avila, 457

Diego Velázquez, 476

Spain/Twentieth Century

Salvador Dali, 120

Francisco Franco, 172

Federico Garcia Lorca, 184

Pablo Picasso, 378

United States/Colonial Period (1600–1774)

Daniel Boone, 42

Jonathan Edwards, 155

Benjamin Franklin, 173

Cotton Mather, 316

William Penn, 370

John Smith, 433

United States/American Revolution (1775–1783)

Abigail Adams, 1

John Adams, 2

Benedict Arnold, 11

Benjamin Franklin, 173

Page 619
George III, 191
Alexander Hamilton, 209
Patrick Henry, 222
Thomas Jefferson, 247
John Paul Jones, 255
Marquis de Lafayette, 276
Thomas Paine, 363
Tecumseh, 454
George Washington, 484
United States/Early United States (1784–1814)
Abigail Adams, 1
John Adams, 2
Daniel Boone, 42
Aaron Burr, 66
Robert Fulton, 179
Alexander Hamilton, 209
Thomas Jefferson, 247
James Madison and Dolley Madison, 299–300
James Monroe, 333
Tecumseh, 454
George Washington, 484
United States/Antebellum Period (1815–1860)
John Quincy Adams, 3
Susan B.Anthony, 9
John James Audubon, 15
John Brown, 58
John C.Calhoun, 68
Henry Clay, 99
James Fenimore Cooper, 111
Davy Crockett, 116
Frederick Douglass, 142
William Henry Harrison, 214
Sam Houston, 232
Andrew Jackson, 242
Edgar Allan Poe, 380
Joseph Smith, 434
Zachary Taylor, 452
Martin Van Buren, 474
Daniel Webster, 485
United States/Civil War (1861–1865)
Clara Barton, 26
John Wilkes Booth, 43
George Armstrong Custer, 119
Jefferson Davis, 123
Frederick Douglass, 142
John C.Frémont, 176
Ulysses S.Grant, 206
Stonewall Jackson, 243
Andrew Johnson, 251
Robert E.Lee, 279
Abraham Lincoln, 284
William Tecumseh Sherman, 428
Harriet Tubman, 470
United States/Reconstruction Era (1866–1889)
P.T.Barnum, 24
Billy the Kid, 36
Grover Cleveland, 101
James A.Garfield, 185
Ulysses S.Grant, 206
Andrew Johnson, 251
United States/American West (1840s–1890s)
Billy the Kid, 36
Kit Carson, 76
Crazy Horse, 115
George Armstrong Custer, 119
John C.Frémont, 176
Geronimo, 194
Jesse James, 246
William Tecumseh Sherman, 428
Sitting Bull, 431
Brigham Young, 508
United States/Nineteenth Century
Louisa May Alcott, 6
Emily Dickinson, 135
Ralph Waldo Emerson, 162
Nathaniel Hawthorne, 215
Washington Irving, 239
Henry James, 245
Henry Wads worth Longfellow, 291
Herman Melville, 324
Harriet Beecher Stowe, 443
Henry David Thoreau, 461
Sojourner Truth, 469
Mark Twain, 473
Walt Whitman, 491
United States/Progressive Era (1890s–1910s)
Jane Addams, 4
Susan B.Anthony, 9
P.T.Barnum, 24
Clara Barton, 26
Alexander Graham Bell, 31
Louis D.Brandeis, 51
William Jennings Bryan, 61
Andrew Carnegie, 74
Rachel Carson, 77
George Washington Carver, 78
Grover Cleveland, 101
Stephen Crane, 114
Eugene V.Debs, 126
John Dewey, 132
Mary Baker Eddy, 152
Thomas Alva Edison, 153
Marcus Garvey, 188
Emma Goldman, 202
William Randolph Hearst, 217
Helen Keller, 266
Jack London, 290
William McKinley, 320
J.Pierpont Morgan, 337
John D.Rockefeller, 403
Theodore Roosevelt, 407
Mark Twain, 473
Booker T.Washington, 483
Wilbur Wright and Orville Wright, 505–506
United States/World War II (1941–1945)
Dwight D.Eisenhower, 157
Douglas MacArthur, 297
J.Robert Oppenheimer, 361
George S.Patton Jr., 368
Eleanor Roosevelt, 405
Franklin D.Roosevelt, 406
Woodrow Wilson, 497
United States/Twentieth Century
George Balanchine, 22
Leonard Bernstein, 35
Louis D.Brandeis, 51
Maria Callas, 69
Rachel Carson, 77
George Washington Carver, 78
Willa Gather, 80
Charlie Chaplin, 88
Calvin Coolidge, 110
Eugene V.Debs, 126
John Dewey, 132
Marlene Dietrich, 137
Walt Disney, 138
Theodore Dreiser, 145
W.E.B.Du Bois, 147
Amelia Earhart, 151
Thomas Alva Edison, 153
Dwight D.Eisenhower, 157
Duke Ellington, 161
William Faulkner, 164
F.Scott Fitzgerald, 166
Henry Ford, 168
Robert Frost, 178
Marcus Garvey, 188
George Gershwin, 195
Emma Goldman, 202
Warren G.Harding, 212
William Randolph Hearst, 217
Ernest Hemingway, 219
Alfred Hitchcock, 223
Herbert Hoover, 227
J.Edgar Hoover, 228
Harry Houdini, 231
Howard Hughes, 233
Langston Hughes, 234
Lyndon B.Johnson, 252
Helen Keller, 266
John F.Kennedy, 267
Robert F.Kennedy, 268
Jack Kerouac, 269
Martin Luther King Jr., 273
Charles A.Lindbergh Jr., 285
Robert Lowell, 294
Malcolm X, 304
Joseph R.McCarthy, 319
Margaret Mead, 321
H.L.Mencken, 325
Marilyn Monroe, 334
Vladimir Nabokov, 344
Richard M.Nixon, 357
Georgia O'Keeffe, 358
Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy Onassis, 359
Eugene O'Neill, 360
J.Robert Oppenheimer, 361
Ezra Pound, 383
Elvis Presley, 384
Paul Robeson, 400
Jackie Robinson, 402
John D.Rockefeller, 403
Eleanor Roosevelt, 405
Franklin D.Roosevelt, 406
Margaret Sanger, 415
Frank Sinatra, 430
Wallace Stevens, 441
Arturo Toscanini, 464
Harry S Truman, 468
Andy Warhol, 482
Edith Wharton, 489
Tennessee Williams, 495
William Carlos Williams, 496
Woodrow Wilson, 497
Frank Lloyd Wright, 504

South and Central America/Before Nineteenth Century

Hernán Cortés, 113

South and Central America/Nineteenth Century

Simón Bolívar, 41

South and Central America/Twentieth Century

Jorge Luis Borges, 44

Pablo Neruda, 351

Juan Peron and Eva Peron, 372–373

Diego Rivera, 399

Subject Index

Numbers refer to entry numbers.

abolition

John Brown, 58

Frederick Douglass, 142

Ralph Waldo Emerson, 162

Harriet Beecher Stowe, 443

Sojouraer Truth, 469

Harriet Tubman, 470

African Americans

George Washington Carver, 78

Frederick Douglass, 142

W.E.B.Du Bois, 147

Duke Ellington, 161

Marcus Garvey, 188

Langston Hughes, 234

Lyndon B.Johnson, 252

Martin Luther King Jr., 273

Malcolm X, 304

Paul Robeson, 400

Jackie Robinson, 402

Sojourner Truth, 469

Harriet Tubman, 470

Booker T.Washington, 483

agriculture

George Washington Carver, 78

American

Andrew Johnson, 251

American frontier

Daniel Boone, 42

Kit Carson, 76

James Fenimore Cooper, 111

Davy Crockett, 116

Sam Houston, 232

American Indians see Native Americans

American Revolution

Abigail Adams, 1

John Adams, 2

Benedict Arnold, 11

Daniel Boone, 42

Edmund Burke, 64

Aaron Burr, 66

Benjamin Franklin, 173

Robert Fulton, 179

George III, 191

Alexander Hamilton, 209

Patrick Henry, 222

Thomas Jefferson, 247

John Paul Jones, 255

James Madison and Dolley Madison, 299–300

James Monroe, 333

Thomas Paine, 363

George Washington, 484

American West

Billy the Kid, 36

Kit Carson, 76

John C.Frémont, 176

Geronimo, 194

Jesse James, 246

Sitting Bull, 431

anarchist movement

Emma Goldman, 202

animation

Walt Disney, 138

anthropology

Margaret Mead, 321

architecture

Thomas Jefferson, 247

Leonardo da Vinci, 282

Michelangelo Buonarroti, 328

Raphael, 390

Sir Christopher Wren, 503

Frank L.Lloyd Wright, 504

art, American

Mary Cassatt, 79

Georgia O’Keeffe, 358

Andy Warhol, 482

James McNeill Whistler, 490

art, Dutch

Rembrandt, 391

Vincent Van Gogh, 475

Jan Vermeer, 478

art, English

Aubrey Beards ley, 28

William Blake, 38

John Constable, 107

Thomas Gainsborough, 180

William Hogarth, 226

William Morris, 338

Dante Gabriel Rossetti, 408

John Ruskin, 411

J.M.W.Turner, 472

art, Flemish

Peter Paul Rubens, 410

art, French

Paul Cézanne, 85

Edgar Degas, 129

Eugene Delacroix, 130

Paul Gauguin, 189

Edouard Manet, 306

Henri Matisse, 317

Claude Monet, 332

Pierre-Auguste Renoir, 392

Auguste Rodin, 404

art, German

Albrecht Dürer, 149

art, Italian

Sandro Botticelli, 49

Michelangelo Carvaggio, 72

Leonardo da Vinci, 282

Michelangelo Buonarroti, 328

Raphael, 390

art, Mexican

Diego Rivera, 399

art, Norwegian

Edvard Munch, 342

art, Russian

Marc Chagall, 86

Wassily Kandinsky, 263

art, Spanish

Salvador Dali, 120

Francisco Goya, 205

El Greco, 207

Pablo Picasso, 378

Diego Velázquez, 476

art, Swiss

Paul Klee, 275

art, Venetian

Titian, 462

art, wildlife

John James Audubon, 15

astronomy

Nicolas Copernicus, 112

Galileo Galilei, 181

Sir Christopher Wren, 503

aviation

Alexander Graham Bell, 31

Amelia Earhart, 151

Howard Hughes, 233

Charles A.Lindbergh Jr., 285

ballet

Edgar Degas, 129

Igor Stravinsky, 445

Peter Ilyich Tchaikovsky, 453

Bauhaus School

Wassily Kandinsky, 263

Paul Klee, 275

Beat movement

Jack Kerouac, 269

birth-control movement

Margaret Sanger, 415

black nationalism

Marcus Garvey, 188

Bolshevism

Vladimir Ilyich Lenin, 280

Buddhism

Buddha, 62

business

Andrew Carnegie, 74

Howard Hughes, 233

J.Pierpont Morgan, 337

Cecil Rhodes, 393

John D.Rockefeller, 403

Byzantine empire

Justinian I and Theodora, 260–261

cartoons

Walt Disney, 138

chemistry

Marie Curie, 118

Louis Pasteur, 366

circuses

P.T.Barnum, 24

civil rights

W.E.B.Du Bois, 147

Dwight D.Eisenhower, 157

Lyndon B.Johnson, 252

John F.Kennedy, 267

Martin Luther King Jr., 273

Malcolm X, 304

Jackie Robinson, 402

Eleanor Roosevelt, 405

Civil War, U.S. (1861–1865)

Louisa May Alcott, 6

Clara Barton, 26

John Wilkes Booth, 43

John Brown, 58

Kit Carson, 76

George Armstrong Custer, 119

Jefferson Da vis, 123

Frederick Douglass, 142

John C.Frémont, 176

James A.Garfield, 185

Ulysses S.Grant, 206

Stonewall Jackson, 243

Jesse James, 246

Andrew Johnson, 251

Robert E.Lee, 279

Abraham Lincoln, 284

William Tecumseh Sherman, 428

Sir Henry M.Stanley, 437

Harriet Beecher Stowe, 443

Harriet Tubman, 470

Walt Whitman, 491

Cold War

Dwight D.Eisenhower, 157

John F.Kennedy, 267

Robert F.Kennedy, 268

Nikita Khrushchev, 271

Vladimir Ilyich Lenin, 280

Joseph Stalin, 436

communism

J.Edgar Hoover, 228

Nikita Khrushchev, 271

Vladimir Ilyich Lenin, 280

Mao Zedong, 309

Karl Marx, 313

Joseph R.McCarthy, 319

Pablo Neruda, 351

Richard M.Nixon, 357

George Orwell, 362

Paul Robeson, 400

Joseph Stalin, 436

Sun Yat-Sen, 447

Leon Trotsky, 467

Harry S Truman, 468

Conrad, Joseph

Stephen Crane, 114

cubism

Paul Cézanne, 85

Pablo Picasso, 378

Gertrude Stein, 438

deaf education

Alexander Graham Bell, 31

Declaration of Independence, U.S.

Abigail Adams, 1

John Adams, 2

diplomacy see also politics

John Adams, 2

John Quincy Adams, 3

Otto von Bismarck, 37

Catherine of Siena, 82

Catherine the Great, 83

Geoffrey Chaucer, 93

Winston S.Churchill, 97

Benjamin Franklin, 173

Thomas Jefferson, 247

William McKinley, 320

Lorenzo de’ Medici, 322

James Monroe, 333

Michel de Montaigne, 335

Pablo Neruda, 351

Richard M.Nixon, 357

Armand-Jean du Plessis, Due de Richelieu, 396

Franklin D.Roosevelt, 406

Peter Paul Rubens, 410

Sir Philip Sidney, 429

drama

Samuel Beckett, 29

Sarah Bernhardt, 34

Bertolt Brecht, 52

Anton Chekhov, 94

John Dryden, 146

Alexandre Dumas, 148

Henry Fielding, 165

Federico Garcia Lorca, 184

David Garrick, 187

André Gide, 196

Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, 200

Nikolai Gogol, 201

Maxim Gorky, 204

Victor Hugo, 235

Henrik Ibsen, 237

Ben Jonson, 256

Robert Lowell, 294

Christopher Marlowe, 311

Molière, 331

Eugene O’Neill, 360

Paul Robeson, 400

Jean-Paul Sartre, 416

Friedrich Schiller, 417

William Shakespeare, 423

George Bernard Shaw, 424

Richard Brinsley Sheridan, 427

August Strindberg, 446

Algernon Charles Swinburne, 449

John Millington Synge, 450

Tennessee Williams, 495

William Butler Yeats, 507

economics

Louis D.Brandeis, 51

John Maynard Keynes, 270

John Stuart Mill, 329

Adam Smith, 432

Booker T. Washington, 483

education

Alexander Graham Bell, 31

John Dewey, 132

Jean-Jacques Rousseau, 409

John Ruskin, 411

Bertrand Russell, 412

Booker T. Washington, 483

Mary Wollstonecraft, 499

empiricism

John Locke, 289

engineering

Leonardo da Vinci, 282

Enlightenment

Denis Diderot, 136

Thomas Jefferson, 247

Jean-Jacques Rousseau, 409

Voltaire, 480

environmental movement

Rachel Carson, 77

evolution

William Jennings Bryan, 61

Charles Darwin, 122

Pierre Teilhard de Chardin, 455

existentialism

Albert Camus. 71

Jean-Paul Sartre, 416

exploration

Christopher Columbus, 104

James Cook, 109

Hernán Cortés, 113

Sir Francis Drake, 144

John C.Frémont, 176

Isabella I, 240

David Livingstone, 287

Ferdinand Magellan, 301

Marco Polo, 381

Sir Walter Raleigh, 389

John Smith, 433

Sir Henry M. Stanley, 437

expressionism

Marc Chagall, 86

Edvard Munch, 342

fascism

Adolf Hitler, 224

Benito Mussolini, 343

Ezra Pound, 383

H.G.Wells, 487

fashion design

Coco Chanel,

Fauvism

Henri Matisse, 317

feminism

Abigail Adams, 1

Susan B. Anthony, 9

Margaret Mead, 321

Marilyn Monroe, 334

Georgia O'Keeffe, 358

Eleanor Roosevelt, 405

George Sand, 414

Mary Shelley, 425

Harriet Beecher Stowe, 443

Teresa of Avila, 457

Edith Wharton, 489

Mary Wollstonecraft, 499

film

Sarah Bernhardt, 34

Charlie Chaplin, 88

Marlene Dietrich, 137

Walt Disney, 138

Alfred Hitchcock, 223

Marilyn Monroe, 334

Frank Sinatra, 430

Andy Warhol, 482

Franco-Prussian War (1870)

Clara Barton, 26

Otto von Bismarck, 37

Giuseppe Garibaldi, 186

French Revolution

Edmund Burke, 64

Thomas Carlyle, 73

Heinrich Heine, 218

Marquis de Lafayette, 276

Marie Antoinette, 310

Napoleon Bonaparte, 345

Horatio Nelson, 349

Maximilien Robespierre, 401

Jean-Jacques Rousseau, 409

George III (king of England)

George IV, 193

William Pitt, 379

Great Depression

Herbert Hoover, 227

Franklin D. Roosevelt, 406

gunslingers

Billy the Kid, 36

Jesse James, 246

history, American

Abigail Adams,

John Adams,

John Quincy Adams,

John Wilkes Booth,

John C. Calhoun,

Henry Clay,

Grover Cleveland,

Christopher Columbus,

Calvin Coolidge,

Crazy Horse,

Davy Crockett,

George Armstrong Custer,

Jefferson Davis,

Eugene V. Debs,

Dwight D. Eisenhower,

Henry Ford,

Benjamin Franklin,

John C. Frémont,

James A. Garfield,

Ulysses S. Grant,

Alexander Hamilton,

Warren G. Harding,

William Henry Harrison,

Patrick Henry,

Herbert Hoover,

J. Edgar Hoover,

Sam Houston,

Andrew Jackson,

Stonewall Jackson,

Jesse James,

Thomas Jefferson,

Lyndon B. Johnson,

John Paul Jones,

John F. Kennedy,

Robert F. Kennedy,

Abraham Lincoln,

Douglas MacArthur,

James Madison and Dolley Madison,

Cotton Mather,

Joseph R. McCarthy,

William McKinley,

James Monroe,

J. Pierpont Morgan,

Richard M. Nixon,

Thomas Paine,

George S. Patton Jr.,

William Penn,

Eleanor Roosevelt,

Franklin D. Roosevelt,

William Tecumseh Sherman,

John Smith,

Zachary Taylor,

Harry S. Truman,

Martin Van Buren,

George Washington,

Daniel Webster,

Woodrow Wilson,

history, Argentinean

Juan Peron and Eva Peron, 372–373

history, Austrian

Franz Joseph I, 174

Giuseppe Garibaldi, 186

Klemens von Metternich, 327

history, Bolivian

Simón Bolívar, 41

history, Brazilian

Giuseppe Garibaldi, 186

history, Chinese

Confucius, 105

Page 624

Mao Zedong, 309

Sun Yat-Sen, 447

history, Colombian

Simón Bolívar, 41

history, Ecuadorian

Simón Bolívar, 41

history, Egyptian

Cleopatra, 100

Anwar el-Sadat, 413

history, English/British

Francis Bacon, 21

Anne Boleyn, 40

Thomas Carlyle, 73

Charles I, 90

Charles II, 91

Winston S.Churchill, 97

Oliver Cromwell, 117

Benjamin Disraeli, 139

Sir Francis Drake, 144

Edward VII, 154

Elizabeth I, 160

Mahatma Gandhi, 183

George 111, 191

George IV, 193

William Gladstone, 199

Henry VIII, 221

James I, 244

T.E.Lawrence, 278

David Lloyd George, 288

Mary I, 314

Mary Queen of Scots, 315

John Stuart Mill, 329

Sir Thomas More, 336

Horatio Nelson, 349

John Henry Newman, 352

Florence Nightingale, 356

Charles Stewart Parnell, 364

William Pitt, 379

Sir Walter Raleigh, 389

Cecil Rhodes, 393

Richard I, 394

Richard III, 395

John Smith, 433

Victoria, 479

Arthur Wellesley, Duke of Wellington, 486

William the Conqueror, 494

Thomas Wolsey, 500

history, French

Catherine de' Medici, 81

Charles De Gaulle, 124

Henri IV, 220

Joan of Arc, 249

Marquis de Lafayette, 276

Louis IX, 292

Louis XIV, 293

Marie Antoinette, 310

Napoleon Bonaparte, 345

Napoleon III and Eugénie, 346–347

Armand-Jean du Plessis, Due de Richelieu, 396

Maximilien Robespierre, 401

history, German

Otto von Bismarck, 37

Adolf Hitler, 224

history, Greek

Alexander the Great, 8

history, Indian

Indira Gandhi, 182

Mahatma Gandhi, 183

Jawaharlal Nehru, 348

history, Irish

Saint Patrick, 367

history, Israeli

David Ben-Gurion, 32

Golda Meir, 323

Anwar el-Sadat, 413

history, Italian

The Borgias, 45–47

Catherine of Siena, 82

Giuseppe Garibaldi, 186

Niccolo Machiavelli, 298

Lorenzo de' Medici, 322

Benito Mussolini, 343

history, Latin American

Simón Bolívar, 41

Christopher Columbus, 104

Hernán Cortés, 113

history, Mexican

Hernán Cortés, 113

Diego Rivera, 399

history, Mongolian

Genghis Khan, 190

history, Panamanian

Simón Bolívar, 41

history, Peruvian

Simón Bolívar, 41

history, Polish

Rosa Luxemburg, 296

history, Prussian

Frederick the Great, 175

history, Roman

Augustus, 17

Marcus Aurelius, 18

Marcus Tullius Cicero, 98

Cleopatra, 100

Constantine the Great, 108

Hannibal, 211

Julius Caesar, 258

Justinian I and Theodora, 260–261

Nero, 350

Saint Patrick, 367

Saint Paul, 369

Saint Peter, 374

history, Russian

Alexander I, 7

Catherine the Great, 83

Ivan the Terrible, 241

Vladimir Ilyich Lenin, 280

Nicholas II, 354

Peter the Great, 375

Leon Trotsky, 467

history, Soviet

Nikita Khrushchev, 271

Joseph Stalin, 436

Leon Trotsky, 467

history, Spanish

Charles V, 92

Francisco Franco, 172

Ignatius of Loyola, 238

Moses Maimonides, 303

history, Turkish

Kemal Ataturk, 13

history, Uruguayan

Giuseppe Garibaldi, 186

history, Venezuelan

Simón Bolívar, 41

humanism

Desiderius Erasmus, 163

Sir Thomas More, 336

Françoise Rabelais, 388

imperialism

Cecil Rhodes, 393

Wilhelm II, 493

impressionism

Mary Cassatt, 79

Paul Cézanne, 85

Claude Debussy, 127

Edgar Degas, 129

Claude Monet, 332

Pierre-Auguste Renoir, 392

Diego Velázquez, 476

industrialization

Andrew Carnegie, 74

J.Pierpont Morgan, 337

William Morris, 338

John D.Rockefeller, 403

inventors and inventions

Alexander Graham Bell, 31

Thomas Alva Edison, 153

Benjamin Franklin, 173

Robert Fulton, 179

Johann Gutenberg, 208

jazz

Duke Ellington, 161

journalism

Albert Camus, 71

William Randolph Hearst, 217

H.L.Mencken, 325

Sir Henry M.Stanley, 437

Korean conflict (1950–1953)

Douglas MacArthur, 297

Harry S Truman, 468

law

Louis D.Brandeis, 51

William Jennings Bryan, 61

John C.Calhoun, 68

Justinian I and Theodora, 260–261

Abraham Lincoln, 284

Louis IX, 292

Daniel Webster, 485

law enforcement

J.Edgar Hoover, 228

literary criticism

Matthew Arnold, 12

W.H.Auden, 14

John Dryden, 146

T.S.Eliot, 159

Anatole France, 170

Samuel Johnson, 254

literature, American

Louisa May Alcott, 6

Willa Gather, 80

James Fenimore Cooper, 111

Stephen Crane, 114

Emily Dickinson, 135

Theodore Dreiser, 145

T.S.Eliot, 159

Ralph Waldo Emerson, 162

William Faulkner, 164

F.Scott Fitzgerald, 166

Benjamin Franklin, 173

Robert Frost, 178

Nathaniel Hawthorne, 215

Ernest Hemingway, 219

Langston Hughes, 234

Aldous Huxley, 236

Henry James, 245

Jack Kerouac, 269

Jack London, 290

Henry Wadsworth Longfellow, 291

Robert Lowell, 294

Herman Melville, 324

Eugene O'Neill, 360

Edgar Allan Poe, 380

Ezra Pound, 383

Gertrude Stein, 438

Henry David Thoreau, 461

Mark Twain, 473

Edith Wharton, 489

Walt Whitman, 491

Tennessee Williams, 495

William Carlos Williams, 496

literature, Argentinean

Jorge Luis Borges, 44

literature, Austrian

Franz Kafka, 262

literature, Chilean

Pablo Neruda, 351

literature, English

Matthew Arnold, 12

W.H.Auden, 14

Jane Austen, 19

Aubrey Beardsley, 28

Samuel Beckett, 29

William Blake, 38

The Brontës, 53–57

The Brownings, 59–60

John Bunyan, 63

Robert Burns, 65

Lord Byron, 67

Thomas Carlyle, 73

Lewis Carroll, 75

Geoffrey Chaucer, 93

Samuel Tay lor Coleridge, 102

Joseph Conrad, 106

Thomas De Quincey, 125

Daniel Defoe, 128

Charles Dickens, 134

Benjamin Disraeli, 139

John Donne, 140

Arthur Conan Doyle, 143

John Dry den, 146

George Eliot, 158

T.S.Eliot, 159

Henry Fielding, 165

E.M.Forster, 169

Oliver Goldsmith, 203

Thomas Hardy, 213

Gerard Manley Hopkins, 229

Aldous Huxley, 236

Samuel Johnson, 254

Ben Jonson, 256

John Keats, 265

Rudyard Kipling, 274

D.H.Lawrence, 277

C.S.Lewis, 283

Katherine Mansfield, 308

Christopher Marlowe, 311

Andrew Marvell, 312

W.Somerset Maugham, 318

John Milton, 330

Sir Thomas More, 336

William Morris, 338

George Orwell, 362

Samuel Pepys, 371

Alexander Pope, 382

Sir Walter Raleigh, 389

Dante Gabriel Rossetti, 408

William Shakespeare, 423

George Bernard Shaw, 424

Mary Shelley, 425

Percy Bysshe Shelley, 426

Sir Philip Sidney, 429

Laurence Sterne, 440

Jonathan Swift, 448

Algernon Charles Swinburne, 449

Alfred Lord Tennyson, 456

William Makepeace Thackeray, 458

Anthony Trollope, 466

H.G.Wells, 487

Mary Wollstonecraft, 499

Virginia Woolf, 501

William Wordsworth, 502

literature, French

Honoré de Balzac, 23

Charles Baudelaire, 27

Samuel Beckett, 29

Albert Camus, 71

Colette, 103

Denis Diderot, 136

Alexandre Dumas, 148

Gustave Flaubert, 167

Anatole France, 170

André Gide, 196

Victor Hugo, 235

Stéphane Mallarmé, 305

Molière, 331

Michel de Montaigne, 335

Marcel Proust, 385

François Rabelais, 388

Arthur Rimbaud, 398

Jean-Jacques Rousseau, 409

George Sand, 414

Jean-Paul Sartre, 416

Stendhal, 439

Voltaire, 480

Emile Zola, 509

literature, German

Bertolt Brecht, 52

Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, 200

Heinrich Heine, 218

Thomas Mann, 307

Rainer Maria Rilke, 397

Friedrich Schiller, 417

literature, Indian

Rabindranath Tagore, 451

literature, Irish

James Joyce, 257

George Bernard Shaw, 424

Richard Brinsley Sheridan, 427

John Millington Synge, 450

Oscar Wilde, 492

William Butler Yeats, 507

literature, Italian

Giovanni Boccaccio, 39

Dante Alighieri, 121

Petrarch, 376

literature, Nobel Prize for

Albert Camus, 71

T.S.Eliot, 159

William Faulkner, 164

Anatole France, 170

André Gide, 196

Ernest Hemingway, 219

Rudyard Kipling, 274

Thomas Mann, 307

Pablo Neruda, 351

Bertrand Russell, 412

Jean-Paul Sartre, 416

Rabindranath Tagore, 451

William Butler Yeats, 507

literature, Norwegian

Henrik Ibsen, 237

literature, Roman

Horace, 230

literature, Russian

Anton Chekhov, 94

Feodor Dostoevsky, 141

Nikolai Gogol, 201

Vladimir Nabokov, 344

Aleksandr Pushkin, 387

Leo Tolstoy, 463

Ivan Turgenev, 471

literature, Scottish

James Boswell, 48

Robert Burns, 65

Sir Walter Scott, 422

Robert Louis Stevenson, 442

literature, Soviet

Maxim Gorky, 204

literature, Spanish

Federico García Lorca, 184

literature, Swedish

August Strindberg, 446

literature, Welsh

Dylan Thomas, 460

magic

Harry Houdini, 231

manufacturing

Henry Ford, 168

Marxism

Bertolt Brecht, 52

Vladimir Ilyich Lenin, 280

Rosa Luxemburg, 296

Karl Marx, 313

Diego Rivera, 399

Joseph Stalin, 436

Leon Trotsky, 467

mass production

Henry Ford, 168

mathematics

Lewis Carroll, 75

René Descartes, 131

Isaac Newton, 353

Blaise Pascal, 365

Bertrand Russell, 412

Sir Christopher Wren, 503

medicine

Moses Maimonides, 303

Françoise Rabelais, 388

Albert Schweitzer, 421

metaphysics

Jonathan Edwards, 155

Immanuel Kant, 264

Stéphane Mallarmé, 305

Andrew Marvell, 312

Mexican War (1846–1848)

Zachary Taylor, 452

Henry David Thoreau, 461

military history see also American Revolution; French Revolution; Russian Revolution

Alexander the Great, 8

Benedict Arnold, 11

David Ben-Gurion, 32

Simón Bolívar, 41

Charlemagne, 89

George Armstrong Custer, 119

Jefferson Davis, 123

Sir Francis Drake, 144

Dwight D.Eisenhower, 157

Frederick the Great, 175

Giuseppe Garibaldi, 186

Genghis Khan, 190

Ulysses S.Grant, 206

Hannibal, 211

William Henry Harrison, 214

Adolf Hitler, 224

Sam Houston, 232

Stonewall Jackson, 243

John Paul Jones, 255

Julius Caesar, 258

T.E.Lawrence, 278

Robert E.Lee, 279

Douglas MacArthur, 297

Benito Mussolini, 343

Napoleon Bonaparte, 345

Napoleon III and Eugenie, 346–347

Horatio Nelson, 349

J.Robert Oppenheimer, 361

George S.Patton Jr., 368

Peter the Great, 375

Richard I, 394

Franklin D.Roosevelt, 406

William Tecumseh Sherman, 428

Sitting Bull, 431

Joseph Stalin, 436

Zachary Taylor, 452

Tecumseh, 454

Harry S Truman, 468

music, American

Leonard Bernstein, 35

Duke Ellington, 161

George Gershwin, 195

Elvis Presley, 384

Frank Sinatra, 430

Igor Stravinsky, 445

music, Austrian

Franz Joseph Haydn, 216

Gustav Mahler, 302

Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, 340

Arnold Schoenberg, 418

Franz Schubert, 419

music, classical

Johann Sebastian Bach, 20

Béla Bartók, 25

Ludwig van Beethoven, 30

Hector Berlioz, 33

Leonard Bernstein, 35

Johannes Brahms, 50

Frédéric Chopin, 95

Claude Debussy, 127

Antonín Dvorák, 150

George Frideric Handel, 210

Franz Joseph Haydn, 216

Franz Liszt, 286

Gustav Mahler, 302

Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy, 315

Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, 340

Arnold Schoenberg, 418

Franz Schubert, 419

Robert Schumann, 420

Richard Strauss, 444

Igor Stravinsky, 445

Peter Ilyich Tchaikovsky, 453

Arturo Toscanini, 464

Richard Wagner, 481

music composition

Johann Sebastian Bach, 20

Béla Bartók, 25

Ludwig van Beethoven, 30

Hector Berlioz, 33

Leonard Bernstein, 35

Johannes Brahms, 50

Frédéric Chopin, 95

Claude Debussy, 127

Antonín Dvorák, 150

Duke Ellington, 161

George Gershwin, 195

Gilbert & Sullivan, 197–198

George Frideric Handel, 210

Franz Joseph Haydn, 216

John Lennon, 281

Franz Liszt, 286

Gustav Mahler, 302

Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy, 315

Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, 340

Giacomo Puccini, 386

Arnold Schoenberg, 418

Franz Schubert, 419

Richard Strauss, 444

Igor Stravinsky, 445

Peter Ilyich Tchaikovsky, 453

Giuseppe Verdi, 477

Richard Wagner, 481

music, Czech

Antonín Dvorák, 150

music, English

Gilbert & Sullivan, 197–198

John Lennon, 281

music, French

Hector Berlioz, 33

Claude Debussy, 127

music, German

Johann Sebastian Bach, 20

Ludwig van Beethoven, 30

Johannes Brahms, 50

George Frideric Handel, 210

Felix Mendelssohn-Bartholdy, 315

Robert Schumann, 420

Richard Strauss, 444

Richard Wagner, 481

music, Hungarian

Béla Bartók, 25

Franz Liszt, 286

music, Italian

Giacomo Puccini, 386

Arturo Toscanini, 464

Giuseppe Verdi, 477

music, Polish

Frédéric Chopin, 95

music, popular

George Gershwin, 195

Gilbert & Sullivan, 197–198

John Lennon, 281

Elvis Presley, 384

Frank Sinatra, 430

music, Russian

Igor Stravinsky, 445

Peter Ilyich Tchaikovsky, 453

music, vocal

Marlene Dietrich, 137

John Lennon, 281

Elvis Presley, 384

Paul Robeson, 400

Frank Sinatra, 430

mystery novels

Agatha Christie, 96

Arthur Conan Doyle, 143

mysticism

Teresa of Avila, 457

Native Americans

Kit Carson, 76

Crazy Horse, 115

George Armstrong Custer, 119

Jonathan Edwards, 155

Geronimo, 194

William Henry Harrison, 214

Sam Houston, 232

Andrew Jackson, 242

Sitting Bull, 431

John Smith, 433

Tecumseh, 454

natural history

John James Audubon, 15

Charles Darwin, 122

New Deal

Louis D.Brandeis, 51

Franklin D.Roosevelt, 406

Nobel Peace Prize

Jane Addams, 4

Martin Luther King Jr., 273

Mother Teresa, 339

Theodore Roosevelt, 407

Anwar el-Sadat, 413

Woodrow Wilson, 497

Nobel Prize for literature

Albert Camus, 71

T.S.Eliot, 159

William Faulkner, 164

Anatole France, 170

André Gide, 196

Ernest Hemingway, 219

Rudyard Kipling, 274

Thomas Mann, 307

Pablo Neruda, 351

Bertrand Russell, 412

Jean-Paul Sartre, 416

Rabindranath Tagore, 451

William Butler Yeats, 507

Nobel Prize for physics

Albert Einstein, 156

Nobel Prize for science

Marie Curie, 118

nursing

Clara Barton, 26

Florence Nightingale, 356

opera

Maria Callas, 69

George Gershwin, 195

Gilbert & Sullivan, 197–198

George Frideric Handel, 210

Giacomo Puccini, 386

Giuseppe Verdi, 477

Richard Wagner, 481

ornithology

John James Audubon, 15

outlaws

Billy the Kid, 36

Jesse James, 246

pacifism

Jane Addams, 4

Eugene V.Debs, 126

Mahatma Gandhi, 183

Bertrand Russell, 412

paleontology

Pierre Teilhard de Chardin, 455

philanthropy

Andrew Carnegie, 74

philosophy

Saint Thomas Aquinas, 10

Marcus Aurelius, 18

Francis Bacon, 21

Buddha, 62

Marcus Tullius Cicero, 98

Confucius, 105

René Descartes, 131

John Dewey, 132

Denis Diderot, 136

Desiderius Erasmus, 163

Benjamin Franklin, 173

Thomas Hobbes, 225

Immanuel Kant, 264

Søren Kierkegaard, 272

John Locke, 289

Moses Maimonides, 303

Karl Marx, 313

John Stuart Mill, 329

Friedrich Nietzsche, 355

Blaise Pascal, 365

Jean-Jacques Rousseau, 409

Bertrand Russell, 412

Jean-Paul Sartre, 416

Benedict de Spinoza, 435

Pierre Teilhard de Chardin, 455

Voltaire, 480

Ludwig Wittgenstein, 498

physics

Marie Curie, 118

René Descartes, 131

Albert Einstein, 156

Isaac Newton, 353

J.Robert Oppenheimer, 361

Blaise Pascal, 365

political corruption

The Borgias,

Warren G.Harding,

Napoleon III and Eugenic,

political theory

John Adams,

Edmund Burke,

Albert Camus,

Benjamin Disraeli,

Alexander Hamilton,

Thomas Hobbes,

Thomas Jefferson,

John Locke,

Niccolo Machiavelli,

George Orwell,

Thomas Paine,

Franklin D.Roosevelt,

Jean-Jacques Rousseau,

Woodrow Wilson,

politics see also diplomacy

William Jennings Bryan, 61

Aaron Burr, 66

John C.Calhoun, 68

Charlemagne, 89

Charles II, 91

Winston S.Churchill, 97

Marcus Tullius Cicero, 98

Henry Clay, 99

Calvin Coolidge, 110

Jefferson Davis, 123

Charles De Gaulle, 124

Indira Gandhi, 182

Giuseppe Garibaldi, 186

William Gladstone, 199

Emma Goldman, 202

Warren G.Harding, 212

William Henry Harrison, 214

Andrew Johnson, 251

Lyndon B.Johnson, 252

Julius Caesar, 258

John F.Kennedy, 267

Abraham Lincoln, 284

Mao Zedong, 309

Mary Queen of Scots, 315

Joseph R.McCarthy, 319

Lorenzo de’ Medici, 322

Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy Onassis, 359

Juan Peron and Eva Peron, 372–373

Maximilien Robespierre, 401

Theodore Roosevelt, 407

Peter Paul Rubens, 410

Anwar el-Sadat, 413

Richard Brinsley Sheridan, 427

Harry S Truman, 468

printing

Johann Gutenberg, 208

prohibition

William Jennings Bryan, 61

Jack London, 290

Protestant Reformation

Anne Boleyn, 40

John Calvin, 70

Desiderius Erasmus, 163

Martin Luther, 295

Sir Thomas More, 336

psychoanalysis

Sigmund Freud, 177

Carl Gustav Jung, 259

Pulitzer Prize

John F.Kennedy, 267

Robert Lowell, 294

Punic Wars

Hannibal, 211

rationalism

René Descartes, 131

Benedict de Spinoza, 435

realism

Giovanni Boccaccio, 39

Gustave Flaubert, 167

religion see also theology

Buddha, 62

John Bunyan, 63

Catherine de’ Medici, 81

Catherine of Siena, 82

Confucius, 105

Constantine the Great, 108

John Donne, 140

Mary Baker Eddy, 152

Jonathan Edwards, 155

Desiderius Erasmus, 163

Francis of Assisi, 171

Galileo Galilei, 181

Mahatma Gandhi, 183

El Greco, 207

Henri IV, 220

Ignatius of Loyola, 238

James I, 244

Jesus Christ, 248

Joan of Arc, 249

Pope John XXIII, 250

Franz Kafka, 262

Helen Keller, 266

Søren Kierkegaard, 272

Martin Luther King Jr., 273

David Livingstone, 287

Martin Luther, 295

Moses Maimonides, 303

Malcolm X, 304

Mary I, 314

Cotton Mather, 316

Sir Thomas More, 336

Mother Teresa, 339

Muhammad, 341

John Henry Newman, 352

Blaise Pascal, 365

Saint Patrick, 367

Saint Paul, 369

William Penn, 370

Saint Peter, 374

Philip II, 377

Armand-Jean du Plessis, Due de Richelieu, 396

François Rabelais, 388

Peter Paul Rubens, 410

Albert Schweitzer, 421

Sitting Bull, 431

Joseph Smith, 434

Teresa of Avila, 457

Thomas à Becket, 459

John Wesley, 488

Thomas Wolsey, 500

Brigham Young, 508

Renaissance

Giovanni Boccaccio, 39

The Borgias, 45–47

Sandro Botticelli, 49

Leonardo da Vinci, 282

Michelangelo Buonarroti, 328

Petrarch, 376

Raphael, 390

Sir Philip Sidney, 429

Titian, 462

Diego Velázquez, 476

Russian Revolution

Vladimir Ilyich Lenin, 280

Nicholas II, 354

Joseph Stalin, 436

Leon Trotsky, 467

saints

Saint Thomas Aquinas, 10

Saint Augustine, 16

Francis of Assisi, 171

Joan of Arc, 249

Louis IX, 292

Sir Thomas More, 336

Saint Patrick, 367

Saint Paul, 369

Saint Peter, 374

Teresa of Avila, 457

Thomas à Becket, 459

science see also specific disciplines, such as chemistry and physics

Francis Bacon, 21

Marie Curie, 118

Galileo Galilei, 181

Thomas Jefferson, 247

Immanuel Kant, 264

Leonardo da Vinci, 282

Louis Pasteur, 366

scriptwriting

F.Scott Fitzgerald, 166

Seven Years War (1756–1763)

Frederick the Great, 175

Six-Day War (1967)

David Ben-Gurion, 32

slavery

John Quincy Adams, 3

John Brown, 58

John C.Calhoun, 68

Henry Clay, 99

Jefferson Davis, 123

Frederick Douglass, 142

Thomas Jefferson, 247

Robert E.Lee, 279

Abraham Lincoln, 284

David Livingstone, 287

Zachary Taylor, 452

Sojourner Truth, 469

Harriet Tubman, 470

Martin Van Buren, 474

Booker T.Washington, 483

social reform

Jane Addams, 4

Susan B.Anthony, 9

Clara Barton, 26

Louis D.Brandeis, 51

Thomas Carlyle, 73

Ralph Waldo Emerson, 162

H.L.Mencken, 325

William Morris, 338

Bertrand Russell, 412

Emile Zola, 509

social theory

John Ruskin, 411

social work

Jane Addams, 4

socialism

Eugene V.Debs, 126

Adolf Hitler, 224

Rosa Luxemburg, 296

Karl Marx, 313

William Morris, 338

Benito Mussolini, 343

George Bernard Shaw, 424

socialist realism

Maxim Gorky, 204

Spanish-American War (1898)

Stephen Crane, 114

William Randolph Hearst, 217

William McKinley, 320

Theodore Roosevelt, 407

sports

Jackie Robinson, 402

Supreme Court, U.S.

Louis D.Brandeis, 51

surrealism

Marc Chagall, 86

Salvador Dali, 120

Symbolists

Stéphane Mallarmé, 305

Arthur Rimbaud, 398

television

Walt Disney, 138

Alfred Hitchcock, 223

theology see also religion

Saint Thomas Aquinas, 10

Saint Augustine, 16

John Calvin, 70

Charlemagne, 89

Jonathan Edwards, 155

Desiderius Erasmus, 163

Martin Luther, 295

Armand-Jean du Plessis, Due de Richelieu, 396

Albert Schweitzer, 421

transcendentalism

Thomas Carlyle, 73

Ralph Waldo Emerson, 162

Henry David Thoreau, 461

treason

Benedict Arnold, 11

Charles I, 90

Marie Antoinette, 310

Sir Thomas More, 336

Sir Walter Raleigh, 389

Vietnam War (1965–1973)

Lyndon B.Johnson, 252

John F.Kennedy, 267

Richard M.Nixon, 357

visual impairments

Helen Keller, 266

War of 1812 (1812–1815)

Henry Clay, 99

Andrew Jackson, 242

James Madison and Dolley Madison, 299–300

woman suffrage

Jane Addams, 4

Susan B.Anthony, 9

Clara Barton, 26

William Jennings Bryan, 61

Frederick Douglass, 142

women’s history

Abigail Adams, 1

Marie Curie, 118

Amelia Earhart, 151

Mary Baker Eddy, 152

Indira Gandhi, 182

Emma Goldman, 202

Margaret Mead, 321

Victoria, 479

women’s issues

Louis D.Brandeis, 51

Juan Peron and Eva Peron, 372–373

Anwar el-Sadat, 413

Margaret Sanger, 415

Sojourner Truth, 469

Mary Wollstonecraft, 499

woodcuts

Albrecht Dürer, 149

World War I (1914–1918)

Kemal Ataturk, 13

Winston S.Churchill, 97

Charles De Gaulle, 124

Franz Joseph I, 174

John Maynard Keynes, 270

D.H.Lawrence, 277

T.E.Lawrence, 278

Vladimir Ilyich Lenin, 280

David Lloyd George, 288

Jack London, 290

Rosa Luxemburg, 296

W.Somerset Maugham, 318

Nicholas II, 354

George S.Patton Jr., 368

Theodore Roosevelt, 407

Bertrand Russell, 412

Gertrude Stein, 438

Harry S Truman, 468

Edith Wharton, 489

Wilhelm II, 493

Woodrow Wilson, 497

World War II (1939–1945)

Albert Camus, 71

Winston S.Churchill, 97

Charles De Gaulle, 124

Dwight D.Eisenhower, 157

Adolf Hitler, 224

John Maynard Keynes, 270

Charles A.Lindbergh Jr., 285

Douglas MacArthur, 297

Thomas Mann, 307

Benito Mussolini, 343

Jawaharlal Nehru, 348

George S.Patton, Jr., 368

Ezra Pound, 383

Eleanor Roosevelt, 405

Jean-Paul Sartre, 416

Joseph Stalin, 436

Richard Strauss, 444

Harry S Truman, 468

Zionism

David Ben-Gurion, 32

Louis D.Brandeis, 51

Golda Meir, 323